PLANE PROPELLER CRUSHES VERNON GIRL'S HEAD

Officers Hunt Man Named By Negro As Slayer Of Clarendon Watchman

BLACK MAKES STATEMENT ON 1927 KILLING

District Attorney's Aide Takes Story of Offer Made by Suspect

$50 TO REMOVE BODY

Special Investigator at Clarendon Hopes to Close Search

An immediate arrest in connection with the death of John Slaughter, Clarendon nightwatchman, two years ago, is expected to follow a statement made to officials here early Thursday morning by a negro who said he had refused a $100 bribe from his white employer for the murder of Slaughter a few weeks before the fatal shooting.

The negro's statement was made to Mike Anglin, assistant district attorney, about 3 o'clock Thursday morning just before the prisoner, who gave his name as Walter Scott, was taken to Clarendon by Frank Bergsley and Bert Smith, special investigators of the case. Scott was arrested here by Ellis Sommers, plain clothes officer, and held for the Clarendon officials who have been working on the case since the bullet riddled body of Slaughter was discovered in March 1927.

Offer Refused

Scott said that his employer, formerly a well-known Clarendon business man, who no longer lives in that city, had promised him $100 to get rid of Slaughter but that he had refused the offer, Mr. Anglin declared. A few weeks later, the negro told Mr. Anglin, Slaughter appeared at the front door of the Clarendon place of business, while the white employer went out the back door, shot gun in hand. A few minutes later the shot was fired, according to an account of the statement given by Mr. Anglin. The negro declared that he and another negro had been called upon to help move the body and were given $50 and told to get out of town.

Negroes Threatened

The white man threatened to kill them both if either talked, Scott added.

No arrest had been made late Thursday evening, but Mr. Berkley, in Clarendon, announced that the investigations were expected to be complete within the next 24 hours. Scott is being held in Clarendon for the present.

CLARENDON OFFICERS QUESTION NEGRO

Special to The Record News

CLARENDON, Texas, July 4.—Sheriff M. W. Mosley said tonight that officers would have a further statement to make tomorrow in regard to the questioning of Walter Scott, negro, in connection with the death of John Slaughter, Clarendon nightwatchman, here two years ago.

Scott was placed in jail here today by officers who brought him from Wichita Falls. While in Wichita Falls, the officers said, the negro made a statement in which he told of refusing a bribe of $100 to kill Slaughter.

Slaughter, Sheriff Mosley said, was shot down in the rear of a Clarendon business house late on a night in March, 1927. The body was discovered lying in the middle of a street in the rear of the establishment.

Sheriff Mosely said that soon after Slaughter's death citizens of Clarendon contributed to a fund to be offered as a reward for the capture and conviction of his slayer. This fund aggregated $2,000 the sheriff said. Several arrests were made immediately following the shooting, but all suspects were released subsequently, he added.

Slaughter was widely known, and had many friends in Clarendon.

Injured Youth Vividly Describes Fatal Plunge Into Rainier Gulch

SEATTLE, Wash., July 4. (AP)—It was "very man for himself," E. P. Weatherly Jr., declared here today in describing how he and his companions tried to save themselves after plunging into a crevasse on Mount Rainier Tuesday.

Lying on a hospital bed suffering from a sprained back, the young Massachusetts Institute of Technology graduate told how four of the six men saved their lives after the fall that took the lives of Edwin Wetzel and Forrest Greathouse. Weatherly's home is in Kansas City, Mo.

After their climb to the top of the mountain, the guide, Leon Brigham, told them that conditions were the worst he had ever seen there.

"When we started down from the rim I wondered how we'd ever make it," Weatherly said, "but it was impossible to stay at the summit. There was no shelter and we would have frozen. There are some steam caves up there, but if we had taken refuge near them, our clothing would have frozen stiff as soon as we tried to leave.

"Wetzel had been virtually played out ever since the blizzard started when we were about 1,000 feet from the top. Brigham was dragging him along and we were all crawling most of the time. On the way down all of us were slipping. We couldn't see anything.

GREETING SETS MADRID AGOG

Huge Throngs Welcome Rescued Fliers

MADRID, July 4. (US)—Spain today celebrated the Fourth of July as never before—and probably as never again—in its history.

The one day in the year which throughout the world is known as America's great anniversary, was here devoted to scenes of enthusiasm and emotion welcoming Major Ramon Franco and his three companions of the disaster-stricken Numancia, as well as the five British officers who represent their saviors.

The greetings were two-fold. The series of wild demonstrations by the public was interspersed by formal functions, such as the reception by the queen and the visit to Primo de Rivera.

Wherever the airmen and their rescuers appeared, it was a signal for outbursts of enthusiasm which, at times, became so delirious as to make the onlookers anxious for the welfare of not only the objects of demonstration but also the demonstrators themselves.

But tonight the Spanish airmen —Franco, Major Eduardo G. Gallarzo, Capt. Julio Ruiz de Alda and Sgt. Pedro Madariaga—are within the privacy of their homes with their families, with whom they are resting safely again after a fortnight jammed with danger and emotion.

In railroad station, streets, hotels, palaces, clubs and at the race track, spectacular scenes were repeated, the delirious heights of which are seldom witnessed, certainly never outside the Latin countries.

The milling thousands crushed about the heroes, dodging the police lines, crowding ever closer. Some wanted to see, some to touch their idols. Franco good-naturedly autographed one senorita's white blouse just over the heart.

1,000 TROLLEY WORKERS TAKE PART IN FIGHT

One Man Seriously Hurt When Strikers and Breakers Riot

POLICE HELPLESS

Officers Fear to Use Guns To Quell Free for All At New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, July 4. (AP)—One man was probably fatally wounded here early tonight, in a riot between street car company strikers and strike breakers. More than a thousand men participated in the outbreak.

Joseph Molinary, 60, trolley worker was shot and physicians said his condition was critical.

The riot occurred near the Canal street barn, as 400 strike breakers, escorted by 50 policemen, marched to the building. As the marchers neared the barn more than 500 striking carmen, armed with sticks, bricks and other heavy objects rushed them.

Fist fights, club attacks, and brick throwing developed, and a free for all fight resulted, with police helpless, fearing to shoot into the men.

Pistols, however, were fired frequently although police were unable to say whether they were in the hands of the strikers, or strike breakers.

After a half hour of battling, police began to disperse the crowd with nightsticks, and it was then that Molinary was discovered, lying in the street.

Many others were hurt, although none seriously, a rough checkup showed. A number suffered cuts requiring treatment.

Theodore Ray, superintendent of police, told union officials late in the day "if the strikers are peaceful, the police will be peaceful. If the strikers adopt methods of violence, police will retaliate."

It was indicated police would be provided with sawed-off shotguns, long barreled shotguns, regulation pistols and tear bombs.

In commenting on the carmen's union's rejection of the Public Service ultimatum that the men return to work today or face an "open shop" policy, J. B. Lawson, union official, asserted the proposal of the Public Service company meant carmen could be discharged without cause and would have no right of appeal or arbitration.

Cop Performs Doctor's Task When Baby Is Born In Auto

NEW YORK, July 4. (US)—A policeman today assisted in bringing a Fourth of July baby into the world. The back-end of a sedan was the baby's birthplace.

Mrs. Florence de Maio, 26, and her husband, Daniel, had completed five miles of the 10-mile drive from their home to the Kings County hospital in Brooklyn when the stork arrived with a nine-pound boy.

When Mrs. de Maio informed her husband the stork was approaching, he drove the wrong way on a one-way street, drawing up in front of a police booth.

Policeman John Tribby, in charge of the booth, was notified. He called an ambulance. Before it arrived, and while De Maio frantically rushed about seeking a doctor, Tribby assisted a nine-pound boy into the world.

The baby was named John after the policeman.

4,000 Join in July 4 Celebration and Observance of Vernon Progress

Wilbarger County's New Courthouse and City's Airport Dedicated; Paducah Holds Celebration

VERNON, Texas, July 4. (Spl)—About 4,000 citizens of Vernon, Wilbarger county and other sections of Texas took stock of recent progress here today and celebrated the formal opening of the Vernon Chamber of Commerce Airport and new $375,000 Wilbarger county courthouse. Twelve visiting planes gave the city the appearance of an air center throughout the day and crowds milled about the flying field five miles south of Vernon where a new hangar has just been completed.

Colonel James Kelly, co-pilot of the Fort Worth on its 172-hour endurance flight, arrived about 9 a. m. and made a brief speech to the crowd assembled, stressing the safety of aviation.

"In five years everyone of you that has not been killed by an automobile in the meantime will be flying," the former cowboy declared.

Robbert J. Smith, general traffic manager of the Southern Air Transport, also made a brief speech. Seven U. S. army planes took part in the ceremonies, three from Fort Sill and four from San Antonio.

County Judge J. V. Townsend formally presented the courthouse to the county and W. N. Stokes accepted it in a brief speech.

A meeting of some 200 old settlers who lived in Wilbarger county 25 years or more ago also was the feature of the day. They discussed old times and modern progress in a meeting in the new court house, with Mrs. Bertha Doan Ross, daughter of the late C. F. Doan, first man to bring his family to this county.

The celebration was opened with a parade on the streets of Vernon at 9 a. m., a number of floats featuring community activities, old model automobiles, and hundreds of citizens passed in review. The program closed with a boxing match and fireworks display tonight.

Talk of Tax Reduction Lags on Capitol Hill

WASHINGTON, July 4. (AP)—Talk of a reduction in federal taxes, aroused by the treasury surplus, lapsed today while congressional leaders studied President Hoover's announcement on this subject.

Developments included a White House denial that there was any discrepancy between the views of President Hoover and Secretary Mellon on the possibility of an early cut, and a reiteration by Chairman Smoot of the senate finance committee that no reduction can be effected and that application of the surplus to the national debt was a preferable course.

CITY OBSERVES HAPPY FOURTH

"99 Degrees in Shade" and Day Is Perfect

It was hot enough at 99 degrees all Thursday afternoon to give to various and hearty activities of Wichitans that good old Fourth of July zest known only under a blazing sun with a tingle of dust in a warmish breeze.

The city en masse and invidually, made holiday in all the ways dear to the heart of the nation on its birthday. No large crowds, except for the throngs at Lakeside Park, assembled, but small groups set out on missions of pleasure all over the section, leaving the city deserted and dozing under a brave display of flags.

The celebrants took to the out-of-doors at dawn, taking their fishing tackle, their golf sticks and in some cases only their lunches and their sweethearts to parks, lakes and resorts all over the district. After the preliminary burst of fireworks Wednesday night, Lakeside park went forward with its program all through the day, beginning with the sound of orchestral music at 5 o'clock Thursday morning. The entertainment there was concluded only when the last spark died away from the second "Battle of the Clouds" late Thursday evening.

Swimming pools received hundreds throughout the day and un-

Fourth Quiet Day For Wichita Police

Wichita Falls enjoyed a comparatively quiet Fourth of July insofar as police activities are concerned, only 17 arrests having been made during the day, none of them for unusual charges.

Two arrests for negligent collision, two for disturbing the peace, five for investigation on various cases, and one each on driving while intoxicated, assault, drunkenness, vagrancy and possession of beer were entered on the police docket Thursday night. Four minor traffic violations were also booked. Officers stated that this was one of the quietest July Fourths in many years.

ACCIDENTS ON HOLIDAY TAKE HEAVY TOLL

Henrietta Youth and Decatur Woman Killed in Auto Mishaps

Three Injured Here When 100 Dynamite Caps Explode

Two North Texans were killed and six were injured in July 4 accidents reported to The Record News.

Carl Eaton, Hernietta youth, was killed in an automobile collision near Cooper, Texas. Eaton's companion, Bob Howard, also of Henrietta was seriously injured.

Mrs. A. E. Yeager, of Decatur, was fatally injured when she was struck by an automobile on the streets of Kings Mill, near Pampa.

Rushing excitedly in front of an airplane in which she had just landed from a pleasure flight with her parents, Harriett Shanor, 6, of Vernon, was struck by the propeller of the plane. Her injuries may prove fatal.

J. P. Moore, his son, J. P. Jr., and his daughter, Edna of Wichita Falls, were injured when 100 dynamite caps exploded at their home.

Taylor Cash of Electra suffered a broken leg when struck by an automobile near Electra.

PROPELLER CRUSHES VERNON GIRL'S HEAD

Special to The Record News

VERNON, Texas, July 4.—Harriett Shanor, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Shanor of Vernon, was probably fatally injured late today when she was struck in the head by the propeller of an airplane in which she and her parents had been passengers on a flight over the new municipal airport which was being dedicated as a special feature of Vernon's Independence day celebration.

As the plane came to a halt on the field, the little girl, unaware of her danger, scampered from the cabin of the plane and ran in front of it, coming in contact with the propeller. By a miracle only the very tip of the twirling blade struck her head, witnesses said, but though instant death was averted, the girl sustained a critical fracture of the skull, virtually one whole side of the head being crushed.

Operation Performed

She was taken immediately to the King hospital and placed on the operating table. After the operation, Dr. T. A. King and Dr. A. C. Rogers, attending physicians, announced that the patient's breathing was somewhat more regular, and the heart beat sustained, but neither could offer assurances of her recovery.

The accident occurred about 6:15 p. m. Mr. Shanor, a geologist here, with his family, joined several others in a ride over the airport in the cabin monoplane piloted by W. T. Tonder, formerly of Vernon but now a Fort Worth aviator. They circled over the field several times and landed. The young girl victim, unused to the thrill of airplane rides, was overjoyed and highly excited with pleasure, her vivacity probably leading her to leap from the plane with joy, it was said.

Dozen Planes on Field

Tonder's was one of a dozen or more airplanes here for the airport dedication, though of these only two were used to take up passengers. It was not the intention of any of the fliers to accommodate passengers, it was said, but the two planes were pressed into service at the urge of the enthused crowd.

EXPLOSION HERE INJURES THREE

Independence day took its toll of serious injuries when three persons were critically wounded about 9 o'clock Thursday night by the explosion of 100 dynamite caps being used as noise makers at a home about two miles from the city on the Henrietta highway.

The injured were J. P. Moore, employe of the Harrison Construction company; his son, J. P. Jr., 10; and his daughter, Edna, 12. The accident occurred when a part of a glowing fuse from one of the caps which had been exploded blew into the box containing 100 other caps with fuses attached. Mr. Moore was standing several feet from the box and the children were

More and Bigger Fireworks Due When Ann's Foes Quiz Her Today

CHICAGO, July 4. (US)—Ann Livingston, young Tulsa divorcee, tomorrow will return to the stand, to prove that her former lover, Franklin S. Hardinge, 63-year-old millionaire, has been "framing" her, and renew her battle to obtain $250,000 heart balm for having been left at the church.

Yesterday Mrs. Edith Heath, of Omaha, threw a bombshell into the proceedings by taking the stand for the defense and telling little happenings that tended to show that Ann was everything but a "nice, quiet little country girl."

These little affairs were alleged to have taken place in Pine Bluff and Little Rock, Ark., and involved Lieut. Robert J. Puderbaugh, who later married Ann and then divorced her.

Ann promptly went back to the stand and passed the lie to Mrs. Heath and concluded by flatly denying that she had ever seen the woman before, let alone having roomed and worked with her in Pine Bluff and Little Rock.

Tomorrow, after perhaps a brief examination, she will be turned over to defense counsel for cross-examination and the fireworks — bigger and better ones—are expected.

Fire Wagons in Capitol Grounds Detract Solons from Serious Work

AUSTIN, July 4. (AP)—The house of representatives was in session exactly four minutes today.

In the absence of Speaker W. S. Barron Representative Phil Sanders of Nacogdoches presided. Adjournment was taken until tomorrow afternoon and this process will be continued until a quorum is attained and organization can be perfected.

This is what transpired:

Mr. Sanders rapped the speaker's gavel and said:

"The house will please come to order."

Reading Clerk A. C. Dunn read a letter from Speaker Barron in which he appointed Mr. Sanders to preside in his absence.

"Will the members please register," Sanders requested.

Ten red lights flashed on the voting board.

Sirens of fire wagons in the capitol grounds sent the four newspaper correspondents and everyone else in the house, except the speaker scurrying to the windows.

"Will the sergeant-at-arms please see that everyone is in his seat?" Sanders suggested.

"I move that we stand adjourned until 2 p. m. tomorrow, Representative Leonard Tillotson said.

"The house stands adjourned until 2 p. m. tomorrow," shouted Sanders banging the gavel.

JUST THE Baer Facts

CALIFORNIA GOES VEGETARIAN

HOLLYWOOD, July 4.—Los Angeles is up to its hubs in an 18 day diet and strict quarantine has been slapped on tourists with egg on their chins.

This diet is supposed to remove the spare tires from your neck. Ethel Barrymore got the reducing recipe, it is reliably reported, from the Mayo Brothers of Rochester, Minnesota.

Only reason why we figure the Mayo Brothers are dishing out diets is that their knives must be dull.

You start the diet with eight slices of cucumber and continue until exhausted.

Then a dash of birdseed from a non-refillable cage. Rub half a lemon into your hair.

Spoon a grapefruit clockwise. Absorb what goes into your eye.

One bale of lettuce. A stack of watercress. One half of a a hod of tomato catsup and a hamper of radishes.

That's the first week. If you are still paying taxes, take three reefs in your belt and see if you can act like Barrymores.

The second week you don't eat at all. You just play tiddlywinks with watermelon seeds.

At the end of 18 days you will find that you have lost everything except your appetite, your voice will have that schoolgirl complexion and you will be as happy as a red ant on a picnic plate.

You will have a figure like a punctured tire. Everybody in California is on 18-day diet and expects to break the non-top flight record for Mexican jumping beans.

We almost forgot the asparagus. You eat your stalks of this rubbery shrub with every meal.

On the fifteenth day you eat two olives. Not ordinary olives. But two which have been endorsed and registered by a certified public accountant.

Even the restaurants have caught the craze and are featuring the 18-day diet. That seems a little long to stay in any restaurant.

Habitues of cafeterias are knee-deep in spinach, broccoli and autographed artichokes.

You can start another gold rush out here with one lamb chop.

The fruit and berry season of 1929 reveals the fact that the covered wagon was merely a fireless cooker for the New England boiled dinner. Out in Beverly Hills the beautiful hedges and trees are being slowly chewed up by desperate dieters.

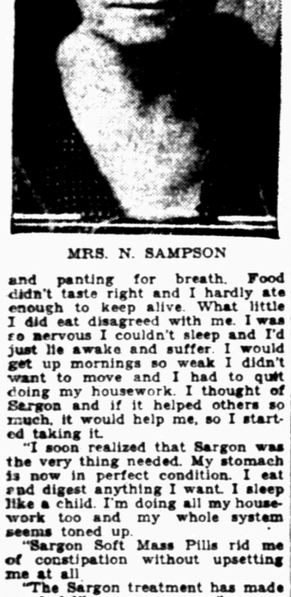

It is now considered good table manners to eat with your lawn mower.

Ethel has recovered her figure. Which brings the average of the Barrymore family up to one game won and two lost.

John Barrymore stayed on the diet for three days and then quit when they wanted him to make the blindfold test on an onion.

SHE WAS HARDLY ABLE TO WALK A BLOCK, SHE SAYS

and panting for breath. Food didn't taste right and I hardly ate enough to keep alive. What little I did eat disagreed with me. I was so nervous I couldn't sleep and I'd just lie awake and suffer. I would get up mornings so weak I didn't want to move and I had to quit doing my housework. I thought of Sargon and if it helped others so much, it would help me, so I started taking it.

"I soon realized that Sargon was the very thing needed. My stomach is now in perfect condition. I eat and digest anything I want. I sleep like a child. I'm doing all my housework too and my whole system seems toned up.

"Sargon Soft Mass Pills rid me of constipation without upsetting me at all.

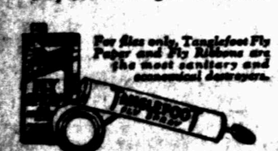

"The Sargon treatment has made me feel like a new person."

The above statement was made by Mrs. N. Sampson of 308 W. Jefferson St., Dallas.

Sargon may be obtained in Wichita Falls from the Renfro Drug Co., Eighth and Scott streets, No. 1 main store, and Seventh and Indiana, No. 2; in Electra from Lough's Drug store; and in Burkburnett from Burkburnett Pharmacy.—Adv.

"I remember sliding and then falling. It took only a second, and I was sure everything was all up. My leg was caked with ice. Brigham and Yancy (Bradshaw) chipped it off before they left.

"We didn't do any talking—any of us—or say anything about coming out together. When Bob Strobel got to the top he called back 'I've found a way out,' but that's the only statement that was made. We were all tied together when we landed, but I was hanging on a shelf about 15 feet above the rest. Then we all climbed out one by one. I understand Brigham and Bradshaw made the trip down together."

Weatherly said it was impossible to bring Greathouse out of the crevasse because of his great weight and the extremely dangerous footing. He paid tribute to the guide, saying that without his assistance Wetzel would have been forced to give up 1,000 feet from the top.

"Brigham certainly did a man's work. He deserves all the credit in the world."

Fake Calls for Aid Take City Ambulances on Four Emergency Runs

Local undertaking companies rushed ambulances to points in and near the city on four separate emergency calls during Thursday afternoon without finding any trace of accidents or learning the source of the calls, according to reports given The Record News.

About noon both the Merkle and Burris companies received calls to the vicinity of Staley field on the Henrietta road, the informer stating that an airplane had crashed at that location.

The Burris ambulance answered a call about 4:30 o'clock which reported that a man had been struck by an automobile about 10 miles out on the Henrietta road and had suffered a broken leg. Motorcycle officers Clyde Bentley and Jess Leverett also investigated.

Shortly after 5 o'clock the Burris ambulance was called to an address on Flood street, the message apparently coming from a small girl, and asking that her mother be taken to the hospital. It was found that there was no such address as that given.

Officials of the undertaking companies deplored the necessity of making dangerous runs when possibly no emergency of any kind existed.

der every couple of trees a family sat picnicing.

Highways were crowded until late Thursday evening with motorists returning from jaunts into the country, to say nothing of the fans who had laughed and cried with the Spudders in Fort Worth in the afternoon.

Theaters were filled in the afternoon and evening, and dancing halls all over town were chartered until midnight.

All business, except of the most urgent official kind, was ignored all through the day, with stores, banks, offices, and official bureaus all closed.

STUDENTS HOLD ANNUAL PICNIC

Summer school activities for the Junior college, high school, and junior high schools adjourned to Week's park Thursday afternoon for the second annual Fourth of July picnic. Games of baseball, washer pitching, croquet, and yo-yo kept a crowd of a hundred students and teachers entertained for three hours, while large supplies of lemonade and ice cream refreshments combatted the effects of the torrid temperature. Students and teachers enjoyed seeing each other out of the classroom environment.

In 1928 Director A. K. Presson started the plan, as practiced by many colleges, or having a Fourth of July picnic as a grand social event for the short session. The response in both sessions has been sufficient to encourage making a tradition of the affair.

The event is always made a joint student-faculty affair, the teaching staff furnishing refreshments and entertainment plans and students bringing sandwiches and fruit. A central committee consisting of B. T. Adams, chairman, Miss Madge Davis, and W. A. Franklin directed Thursday's affair. Special committees included J. W. Webb, ice cream; Misses Ellene Collins, Lona Brown, and Jane McCulloch, sandwiches and fruit; Ted Brumbalow, A. F. Edwards, and Miss Orville Headrick, games; Joe McNiel and Miss Lena McKee, lemonade; W. A. Mangum and A. K. Presson, transportation; R. O. Jonas, pictures and publicity.

Members of the club also were shown a moving picture detailing the life of a banana from the planting of the seed to the dropping of the peel on the sidewalk.

Cleveland Fliers Start On Last Lap of Flight

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 4. (US)—With six full days behind them on their endurance flight, Byron Newcomb and Roy Mitchell in the City of Cleveland started tonight on the final lap of their grind, at the municipal airport. They passed the 144-hour mark at 6:38 p. m. E. S. T. with 30 hours to go and with every indication that the record of Robbins and Kelley, established at Fort Worth, will fall. Notes dropped say the men are both in good shape, the plane functioning without a murmur.

Five Questioned In Family Hatchet Murder

DETROIT, July 4. (US)—The authorities tonight were searching in a maze of witchcraft and spiritualism in an effort to solve the hatchet slaying of Benjamin Evangelist and his family of five yesterday.

Five men had been taken into custody during the day all of whom admitted that they were friends of Evangelist but each denied any knowledge of the brutal slaying.

FRENCH URGE PACT CHANGE

Finance Committee Recommends Reservations

PARIS, July 4. (AP)—The finance committee of the chamber of deputies by a vote of 17 to 16, with 11 abstaining, today decided to recommend to parliament that reservations be incorporated in the text of the bill ratifying the Mellon-Berenger debt accord with the United States.

This action is diametrically opposed to the policy laid down by Premier Poincare and as a consequence of the vote, Francois Pietri, reporter of the committee, resigned.

The action of the finance committee caused considerable excitement in the chamber of deputies. The committee only a few days ago had apparently pledged itself to follow the wishes of Premier Poincare and recommend unreserved ratification of the accord. It was the premier's idea that the position of France in respect to receipt of debt payment funds from Germany could then be set forth in a separate resolution which would be transmitted to Washington apart from ratification of the accord.

It was reported the committee members changed their minds as the result of intense lobbying by adversaries of the ratification measure. This lobbying had been going on since Tuesday when the committee took its stand with Poincare.

The vote today and the resignation of M. Pietri were interpreted as a setback to the process of ratification.

Unless the resignation is withdrawn, the committee must elect a new reporter and begin its consideration of ratification all over again. This would delay the open debate on the measure in the chamber and bring the final vote perilously close to Aug. 1.

That date is important because on it a payment of $400,000,000 for war stocks purchased from the American army, falls due. The American congress authorized the administration to postpone this payment provided the accord was ratified by the end of this month.

Prominent Women Snicker at Prof's 'Blueprint' of Today's Ideal Husband

NEW YORK, July 4. (UP)—Prof. Charles C. Peters' "Blueprint of the Ideal Husband," gathered at great labor and with the assistance of 100 graduate students, was greeted with lady-like guffaws today by three pretty and prominent women.

They were Francine Larrimore, actress; Vina Delmar, author of the best seller "Bad Girl," and Amelia Earhart, trans-Atlantic flier.

Professor Peters' "Blueprint" carried 143 specifications, including ability to make love, repair water pipes, dress and amuse the children, the knack of disposing of old clothes and furniture at a good price and a knowledge of how to destroy insects.

"Such a man would be a puttering old woman," said Miss Larrimore. "You can hire most of such things done. Imagine falling in love with such a person!"

Miss Earhart thought it would be a waste of time for a man to cultivate the category of useful qualities, because—"no matter what disagreeable habits men have, women will still fall in love with them. No matter how useless they are around the house, women will marry them."

Only Miss Delmar had a kind word to say for the "blueprint ideal."

"My husband was an experienced cook when we were married," she admitted. "I couldn't cook. He taught me. If the wife is feminine and takes an interest in the purely womanly jobs around the house, I believe the husband will do his part."

Member of Rowing Crew Drowns in Race

BOSTON, July 4. (AP)—One of the nine members of the Omicron Delta Canoe club's war canoe crew drowned here today in the Charles river during the New England Amateur Rowing association's annual regatta. Francis Cassidy of Newton and his mates capsized in the choppy water while paddling to the starting point. He sank immediately but his companions clung to their overturned craft and were picked up by the press and police boats.

"Smith is unlucky—he put his whole fortune into his wife's name so that his creditors could not get it."

"He did right."

10,000 EXPECTED AT GRAHAM AIRPORT FETE JULY 13 - 14

RECORD FLIERS MAY ATTEND

Jim Kelly and Reg Robbins Invited

GRAHAM, Texas, July 4. (Spl)—Graham is making preparations to entertain 10,000 people here Saturday and Sunday, July 13 and 14, on the occasion of the opening of the Graham Municipal airport. All arrangements for the opening are being rounded into shape by the various committees in charge. Letters, wires and telephone messages are being sent to prominent aviators and aviation camps of the army in order to obtain ships for these two days.

News of the opening of the airport has spread far and wide over the country and it is expected that thousands of people will be present over the week-end to witness the ceremonies. The hotel facilities will be heavily taxed, from all indications.

The program committee is diligently at work trying to furnish entertainment and thrills for the huge audience. Many of those who attend will be having their first close-up view of an airplane and but a few of those present will have ever gone up in one.

The program committee is making an attempt to secure for this occasion either Jim Kelly or Reg Robbins, the men who recently broke the endurance record in the air at Fort Worth. Every effort is being made to get one of these men, together with the $20,000 airplane given by the Wright Motor company.

The concessions committee has visited the grounds and laid out tentatively the plots for stands—sites that will be convenient both to the properietors of the stands and to the public to be served.

Special to The Record News.

Burkburnett Man Gives Statement

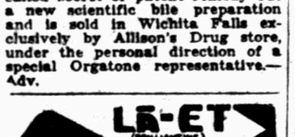

"My Sister-in-Law Thinks Orgatone Is the Grandest Medicine There Is," He Says

"My sister-in-law had a bad case of stomach and digestive troubles, and tried al kinds of medicines, but Orgatone was the only thing that did her any good," said O. V. Gomer, of Burkburnett, Texas, while in Allison's Drug store the other day.

"She (Tossie L. Gomer), lost her appetite and got to where she couldn't hardly eat anything, for fear of it disagreeing with her. She had gas that formed on her stomach, and would have bilious, dizzy and bloating spells, and would suffer for hours after eating. She was just unable to eat an ordinary meal, and always felt tired and worn-out and found it difficult to even do her own housework. She was nervous and restless and didn't get the proper amount of sleep, and was always taking some kind of medicine, trying to find something that would relieve her troubles.

"Orgatone was advertised so highly, she decided to give it a trial. And, you should just see her now. She eats anything she wants and everything she wants, and even eats heavy meats and desserts and does not suffer from any bad effects whatsoever. The gas has stopped forming on her stomach, and she isn't bothered with those bilious, dizzy and gas spells. She sleeps fine every night, and in fact, her general condition has improved greatly and Orgatone has helped her so much, she is sending it to her mother in Texline, Texas, and knows that anyone suffering as she did will be benefited if they give it a fair trial."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called secret or patent remedy but a new scientific bile preparation and is sold in Wichita Falls exclusively by Allison's Drug store, under the personal direction of a special Orgatone representative.—Adv.

"My! you look lovely to-night"

SHE knew the compliment to be true—for the last pimple had vanished.

If you are one of the embarrassed—and men are not exceptions—with skin blemishes that linger, and sometimes leave scars, you must realize that the logical cause may come from the blood.

A clear, smooth, velvety skin bespeaks loveliness. Men admire it. Women praise and, secretly envy. Hope, joy, happiness, and even love, may depend on the possession of a clear, unblemished skin.

On the other hand—skin eruptions are outward evidences of the condition within. Authorities state it is an indication that the body's power of resistance to disease and infection is low. Meaning, that there is a deficiency of red-blood-cells.

Without plenty of rich, red blood, there could be no strong, sturdy, powerful men, or beautiful, healthy women.

When you get your red-blood-cells back to normal, that sluggish let-down feeling, loss of appetite, boils, pimples, and skin troubles disappear. You get hungry again and you sleep soundly; firm flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby. You feel strong. Your nerves become steady. You are resistant to diseased.

Made from fresh vegetable drugs

S.S.S. is Nature's own tonic for improving the appetite, building strength, and clearing the body of so-called skin troubles, by increasing the red-cells of the blood.

ALL FOR ONE: ONE FOR ALL

Daily Editorial

A HUNDRED and fifty-three years ago, a community of farmers, craftsmen and shopkeepers, with a sprinkling of professional advisors, launched a cooperative business at Independence hall.

Hardly a promoter of the new enterprise could boast of any extensive experience in great affairs—either in commerce or politics.

All the money in their combined strongboxes wouldn't meet Manhattan's current taxes, and could scarcely keep present national legs in annual high heels and silk stockings.

Meanwhile, the humble experiment promoted on July 4, 1776, has solidified into the most successful and efficient government since man chose to live under law.

Its record in every field transcends the accomplishment of all contemporaries.

Within a bare century and a half, the American people have developed a wilderness into earth's vastest machine shop, granary and schoolroom—articulated an entire continent with railways, paved roads and power stations, and have contributed more than 50 per cent of the man-saving, time-conserving tools with which entire civilization operates its intricate fabric of production: thereby demonstrating that a democracy alone can realize the inherent abilities which monarchies and tyrannies tend to stifle, discourage and abort.

THESE hundred and fifty-three years have also shown that no single race monopolizes constructive qualities or originality.

The United States are indebted to Celt, Latin, Slav, Teuton, Scandinavian and Levantine, as well as Anglo-Saxon resourcefulness, for omnipresent wealths, conveniences and prosperity.

Our genius is alloyed with universal strains. American prowess and glory derive from Noguchis, Carrels, Teslas, Pupins, Ericssons, Lindberghs and Duponts, as well as the Franklins, Edisons, Fords, Bells, Carnegies and Hamiltons who have so notably advanced the fortunes of the republic, engineered its possibilities and organized their exploitation.

The melting pot has tempered our collective brain with Germanic, Welsh, Gallic and Gothic fervors, to enrich and diversify the Dutch and English stabilities with which it undertook history's oldest adventure in self-sufficiency.

The Star Spangled Banner is striped with their commingled blood, and starred with statehood achieved through common peril, drudgery and valor.

"One for all, and all for one." And let ingratitude and unworthy bigotry attaint the Chauvinist who demeans the fiber of any citizen whose labors and loyalties have helped create and preserve our estate—the balance sheet of which has just been presented by Mr. Mellon as a timely reminder that "all's well along the Potomac"—the Atlantic and the Pacific.

Your treasurer begs to report total receipts of $4,033,000,000 for the fiscal year—a debt reduction of 800 millions, and a surplus of 185 millions.

The Value of Mankind's Tendency to Forget

IT MAY BE TRUE, as Mark Antony remarked, that the evil that men do lives after them; yet there are times when it seems as if the surest way to win oblivion is to establish a reputation for wickedness.

The other day the newspaper printed a picture of a man whom the last 30 years have covered with the veil of obscurity. Three decades ago every American knew him, and despised him. His name was a sort of symbol for cruelty and ruthlessness. Yet in the picture he was frail, apologetic looking, stooped with the weight of his 90 years. Not one American in ten thousand would have recognized him.

Who was he? Weyler—the former governor general of Cuba during the last days of the Spanish regime there; the man we all blamed for the miseries and sufferings of that luckless island.

Thirty years is not a long time. The men who fought in our war with Spain are still for the most part, hale and hearty. There are soldiers and sailors on active service who can wear the campaign ribbons of that conflict. Yet Weyler has been completely forgotten. We hardly remember that we once shuddered at the deeds that were attributed to him.

Part of this, perhaps, may be due to the fact that Weyler was accused of many things that he did not do. There has to be a villain in every war, and this Spaniard was admirably cast for the part. Yet there is more to it than that.

It would seem, in fact, that the race is not very interested in remembering its villains. It is quite willing to let the men who have wronged it drop out of sight. It does not like to think about them very long.

We may not have reached the point where we are ready to forgive our enemies; but we do the next best thing, after all—we forget about them.

Who remembers the name of the German general who ordered Edith Cavell shot—or the skipper of the submarine that torpedoed the Lusitania—or the English official who inflicted the Black and Tan terrorism on Ireland after the war? There was a time when those names symbolized evil, for all of us; and now we cannot recall them.

We are wiser, probably, than we know. The world is not quite as glad and blithe a place as we might want it. There are ugly traits in human nature that pop to the surface every so often and cause suffering and death. If we thought about them too long we could easily sink into a profound discouragement.

So we don't let ourselves remember too well. Unconsciously, we make optimists of ourselves. We force ourselves to believe that human nature is finer and nobler than it really is.

So, without exactly intending to, we have set ourselves a standard to live up to. And gradually, age by age, we move a little bit closer to it.

Creager vs. Brookhart: Both Right

THE ROW between R. B. Creager, Texas Republican leader, and Senator Brookhart of the senate patronage committee, is one of the sorriest spectacles this newspaper ever has seen presented by two men so prominent in public life.

If it were not for the fact that the conduct of our government ought to be on a dignified and intelligent plane, the dispute between these two men would furnish the nation with a fine comedy needing only the addition of a few custard pies to make it a perfect example of slap-stick. As it is, the intelligent citizen must feel that a committee from our highest lawmaking body has exposed itself to a justifiable charge of being moved by prejudice and personal animus; and a man who should be devoted to the cause of good government has shown himself contemptous of the institutions he should uphold.

It may be that the senate committee has no right to investigate the affairs of Texas Republicans, as Mr. Creager contends. It ought to have the right, this newspaper believes, but it hasn't. Mr. Creager would reflect more dignity and credit on his party and state if he refused to answer its questions, or contented himself with impersonal statements showing the lack of truth in testimony offered the committee. The Record News has little respect for a senator who uses his great office in a petty, personal campaign of innuendo against another citizen, as Senator Brookhart has apparently done against Mr. Creager. Neither has this newspaper anything but censure for a public figure, such as Mr. Creager may be considered, who loses no opportunity to show his disrespect for an important branch and function of government, just because the leader of that branch is personally distasteful to him.

The language which these two men address to each other, and the lack of substance in their charges would hardly be approached in a roadside brawl between two candidates for precinct weigher. Neither of the two thinks anything of the other, and their dispute proves they might both be correct.

Von Luckner's New Voyage

COUNT FELIX VON LUCKNER is putting out to sea again. He has embarked from Nordenham, Germany, in a sailing yacht in which he will make a three-month deep sea exploration cruise in the Caribbean sea, taking the famous New York naturalist, Dr. William Beebe, as passenger.

One cannot help contrasting this peaceful trip with the famous count's former excursions at sea, when he sailed in the raider "Sea Devil," roamed the seven seas as a terror to British shipping and made a name for himself that will live for centuries in the annals of the sea's heroes.

Few men emerged from the world war with greater luster than Von Luckner. Here's wishing the doughty skipper a successful and happy voyage.

TOONERVILLE FOLKS By Fontaine Fox

The GREEN SHADOW - By Herman Landon

(Copyright by Public Ledger)

Police Captain Summers is meditating on the escapades of the Picaroon, whom he is convinced is really his friend, Martin Dale. Mr. Alexander Ferryman calls to relate a tale of strange happenings at 262 Bank street and requests police investigation. Axelson, a watchman employed by Ferryman, has heard footsteps and seen an eerie green light. Ferryman is showing the captain a picture when the telephone rings. A voice tells of finding a woman's body at the above address—the dead woman is Ferryman's wife. Summers finds only one clue, a bit of green lens.

Meantime, the Picaroon has written a note to Adele Castle requesting a meeting in Central Park. Adele has had a terrifying experience. Taken by a mysterious Miss Conway to a strange light through which she could glimpse only the faint outline of a man, calling himself Dr. Moffett, she is told that her father has been connected with a crooked financial deal. Dr. Moffett demands $100,000 for his silence and certain papers.

Adele and Dale meet. He tells her he was present during her strange interview with Dr. Moffett, and promises to help her. Dale also meets Adele's friend, Paul Ainsworth. They become suspicious of one another. Dale "on his own" enters the house where the murder occurred and is trapped within by Summers, Ferryman and Axelson, who discover Dale taking a rope of pearls from behind a sliding panel. Dale darkens the room, throws Axelson through a window, and in the resultant confusion escapes.

Summers at luncheon next day receives a note and package from the Picaroon. In the package he finds the missing pearls.

Meantime, Dr. Moffett is getting anxious and telephones, giving Miss Castle just 24 hours in which to make payment to save her father from disgrace and prosecution.

Dale draws cash from his bank and makes an appointment with Adele. He then visits the Ferryman home, agreeing to capture the murderer within a week.

Adele Castle is instructed by Dale how to handle Dr. Moffett when he telephones. Wambsley, a servant, is revealed as a spy.

All is set for the Mummers Frolic, where Adele is to make a $50,000 payment to Dr. Moffett's agent. Dale is also present, disguised as the Picaroon.

The Skyrocket

"Do you want a light?" Joan suggested. She struck a match, cupped her hands over it, and held it so the wavering sheen fell on the papers. "I want you to be satisfied with your purchase."

Adele started to run her eyes over the written lines. The phraseology was strange, full of technical terms and involved meanings and much of it she could not understand. But the broad outlines were clear. They showed plainly that her father was the mysterious Mr. Graves, the accomplice of the notorious Daniel Forrester. Little by little her doubts left her. Yes, these must be some of the damning documents to which Dr. Moffett had alluded in the course of that strange interview.

The papers shook in her trembling hand. Indignation, bitterness, a strange, rebellious excitement were growing apace within her. Her poor father! What an inferno of anguish he had passed through on account of the secret guilt which these papers revealed! She read on and on, turned page after page, while her companion struck match after match. At length she was through. She gazed down at the sheaf of papers. Only papers, flimsy, inflammable stuff, yet how devastatingly vital they were!

"Satisfied?"

Adele looked up. In the dim light she studied the other girl's face. Joan had cast off her artlessness and simplicity, and the unmasked portions of her face looked a little hard and cruel, but there was no sign of duplicity. The eyes were gazing at her narrowly, intently, through the openings in the black mask.

"Another match, please," Adele murmured.

In the yellow flicker she studied the writing again, but her thoughts raced far beyond the margins. Only a few sheets of paper, yet they were charged with the power to wreck lives! Luridly the light of the match fell on characters penned in a crude, robust hand. Still another match. The yellow sheen seemed to blaze a path through a corner of her mind. If she could only—

Her heart beat a little faster. If she could only thrust a little corner of the sheaf of paper within the flame's destroying reach! In imagination she saw them wrinkle and become a black flake. Her father's secret reduced to ashes!

Her heart pounded chokingly. The little flame was beginning to dwindle, but there was still time. And then, at an instant's glance, she caught a look of intent watchfulness out of the holes in Joan's mask. A little smile, hard and subtly threatening, played about the rouged lips. The match went out. Adele shook herself. A mad hope had died with the match. Besides, she suddenly recalled, all the papers were not here, only half of them. The remaining ones were probably just as effective.

She felt the little packet of money inside her bodice. It was only a little over $2,000, but a small fraction of the stipulated amount. To toss it over the railing seemed such a simple thing to do. But surely the woman at her side would not be taken in by such shallow deception. She would insist upon examining the money before the papers were surrendered. At a glance she would see through the ruse, and then—what would happen then?

"Well, Miss Castle," said Joan impatiently. "Aren't you satisfied yet?"

Adele tried to play for time. There was nothing else to do.

"Are you sure these papers are genuine?"

"Genuine? Of course. They're in Forrester's own handwriting."

Adele felt an ache of indecision. Where was Dale? If he would only transmit a message of some kind! Her wits appeared to have deserted her in the first great crisis of her sheltered and soft-cushioned existence. She must gain a little more time.

"Just another match, please."

"It will be the last," said Joan. "There is only one more left, and I must save that for the signal."

Again Adele bent her eyes to the papers. Daniel Forrester's kinky signature sprawled beneath her burning gaze. A fugitive doubt assailed her again while she tried to make the most of the speeding moments. Never before had she seen Forrester's handwriting. For all she knew, this might be a forgery. Her stampeding brain steadied to the thought. Just before the match went out she bent another look of critical scrutiny on the signature.

"Just as I thought," she declared, "this is only a copy—a forgery."

Her companion's short laugh cut clear and hard through the crashing syncopation of the orchestra.

"You poor little fool! You are only making a stupid bluff. You never saw Daniel Forrester's signature. Now I know you didn't bring the money. You have only been playing for time. Now I'm—"

She stopped short. From the dark depth below came a little sizzling sound. A little streak of fire immediately shot into the air and broke into a burst of sparks.

Joan snatched the papers away from Adele.

"The deal is off," she declared, a faint hiss in her voice. "That was a warning. There is something wrong below. Go back to your drunken emperor!"

After he had left Adele Castle and the newcomer on the balcony, Dale gathered up his trailing purple-bordered robe and returned to the ballroom. The gayety was at its noisest, most tumultuous height. Faces were flushed and masks were awry or removed altogether. A little unsteadily Dale edged his way through the swirling, carousing throng. His eyes seemed dull and heavy and he offered his apologies in a thick lisp when occasionally he bumped into a merrymaker.

At length he found an unoccupied chair, and sat down. His head slumped to his chest and he seemed half asleep, but, through the corner of an eye, he took in every detail of the boisterous scene. Everywhere he looked for the swaggering caballero he had encountered earlier in the evening, but that haughty cavalier was nowhere in sight.

His eyes grew a little heavier. Now and then he roused himself and looked groggily across the floor, in the direction of the balcony. He wondered what Adele Castle and the person who had joined her out there were talking about.

A knowing little smile twitched his lips. He could make a fairly close surmise. The armored little maiden had not deceived him with her naive looks and artless manners. She had approached Adele with all outward appearance of casualness, but Dale's keen eyes had seen through all that.

Joan had carried casualness to an extreme that roused his suspicions. He had read design and premeditation in her most innocent glances. Doctor Moffett was certainly exercising a queer judgment in his choice of agents. Yet his choice in this particular instance had much to commend it. Joan's airy patter and unsophisticated manner would have deceived the average observer.

Yet the arrangement puzzled Dale. What could Doctor Moffett's amiable accomplish out there on the balcony where an interruption might occur any moment and where a trap might easily have been set for her? Surely she did not mean to receive the blackmail money in such an unprotected place. Doctor Moffett was too shrewd and far-sighted a scoundrel not to have anticipated such risks. He must have chosen this particular place for the delivery of the money because he considered it the safest one he could find.

Dale pondered, and of a sudden his brows went up and a faint gleam of comprehension kindled in his eyes. He had just asked himself how he would have made his arrangements if he had been in Doctor Moffett's place and if he had chosen this particular balcony as the scene of the transaction. The answer came instantly.

The money was to be dropped over the railing, of course, to another of Doctor Moffett's agents who was waiting down below to receive it and make a sudden flight the moment it was in his hands.

Dale smiled thinly. No other arrangement was conceivable, so his surmise must be correct. On the whole the scheme was rather ingenious. It offered the maximum of success with the minimum of risk. The ball itself, with its raucous hilarity, gave the best sort of protection. Attention if any, would be focused on Joan of Arc, not on the person waiting down below. A transaction in blackmail was always more or less dangerous, but this scheme reduced the danger to the lowest possible minimum.

As he viewed the arrangement from all angles, Dale found himself conceiving a new respect for Doctor Moffett. Then he fell to wondering how far Miss Castle would be able to lead the emissary on before the latter should discover that the roll of blackmail money was padded. Nearly 10 minutes must have elapsed since he left the balcony, and he was thoroughly convinced that he must act quickly and to the best possible advantage.

He formed a mental picture of the terrain. The ballroom was on the very top of the Hotel Vandermoore, one of the largest and most sumptuous hostelries in the city, although not very fastidious with regard to its clientele. The balcony 26 stories above the ground, looked out upon a narrow court with tall buildings on all sides. At this hour most of the windows in those buildings would be dark. A watcher waiting down below for a packet of money to be dropped from the top would be in no great danger of detection.

He got up from the chair, swayed a little, stroked his brow as if suffering from a slight headache, and looked out over the room. Still there was no caballero in sight. The room was becoming sufferably hot and stuffy. Unsteadily he made his way through the eddying crowd. In the hall outside he removed his mask while he wiped the moisture from his forehead, then replaced it again.

Now he moved to the window at the farther end and drew the fresh night air into his lungs. Leaning out only slightly, so that his head barely showed beyond the window frame, he looked down into the black cavern below, then to the side. On a balcony about 20 feet away he described two dim figures. A scarcely audible word was brought to him by a slight puff of wind:

"Satisfied?"

It was Joan of Arc speaking, of course. From the one little word he could make a fairly accurate guess as to the trend of the conversation on the balcony. He tried to hear more, but the rest was indistinguishable. Again he scanned the black depth below, then left the window and, disdaining the elevators, sought the stairs. It would not matter greatly if he should meet any one. On this particular night almost any sort of conduct would pass unquestioned at the Vandermoore. He descended 16 flights, then stepped to a hall window which was directly beneath the window above.

For an instant he looked back. The long hall, flanked by doors on either side, was deserted. In the ceiling glowed a row of frosted lights. Cautiously he leaned over the sill and looked down. He strained eyes and ears. From this lower level he could distinguish the flagged surface of the court. He saw a row of milk cans, a stack of packing cases, a cat slinking across the murky space, but there was neither sound nor movement.

Disappointed, and wondering if he had reasoned falsely, he let his eyes slant upward along the wall. High up was a series of projections, like bird's nests clinging to a sheer cliff. One of them, he knew, was the balcony on which Miss Castle and Joan of Arc were standing, but at this distance he could not determine the exact one.

Again he looked down, straining ears and eyes, still loath to think that he had made a mistake. Again, as his pupils responded to the lower darkness, the objects down there began to take shape. Back and forth his eyes roved, searching every foot of space and presently they fastened on a point near the stack of packing cases. A blur scarcely distinguishable from its background, riveted his attention. It was a formless thing at first, only a slight shade blacker than the darkness which framed it.

"Protective coloring!" he mused.

His eyes began to ache from the intense strain. Little by little the blurry thing began to differentiate itself from its surroundings. A shape stood out vaguely from the shadowy masses. He gave a surprised start. Then, leaning a little lower over the sill, he formed a tube with his hands and whistled softly. Something stirred in response. A pair of eyes seemed to be peering upward.

"A dog!" Dale thought. "My hat off to you, Dr. Moffett. You've trained him for this job, of course—rehearsed him, very likely. Great idea!"

Dale grew thoughtful. He could admire the cleverness of an adversary, even a despicable one like Dr. Moffett. He saw the plan clearly now. When the packet dropped from the balcony the dog would clutch it in his jaws and, by a prearranged route, slink off to a waiting car and a waiting master somewhere in the neighborhood. There were hundreds of cars parked in the vicinity of the Vandermoore tonight. Nobody would suspect a dog of mischief. If seen in the act, he would merely excite admiration for his cleverness.

Suddenly Dale jerked up his head. A slight scraping sound like that of a window being cautiously raised, had reached his ears. He glanced upward along the wall, most of it dark, but with here and there an isolated light. From a dark window a little to the side and a few floors higher up a head protruded. A dim light fell on it from the window just above, and Dale could see it was a man's head. The man was looking upward, toward the row of balconies at the top, perhaps at the very balcony where Miss Castle and Joan of Arc were.

Dale nodded. In addition to the dog there would be a watcher, of course, waiting to see if there should be a hitch in the proceedings. As well as he could in the dim light, Dale studied the shape of the head and the long blond wig which framed it. Evidently the watcher was one of the merrymakers. And Dale thought he had seen that blond head before.

The Day Book of a New Yorker

Broadway Chatter by Grant Dixon

NEW YORK, July 4.—Last week I mentioned the fact that the electric phonograph had revolutionized the art of making off-stage noises, and had marked the passing of the extra actors and actresses who were hired to simulate off-stage crowds. I have just learned that another occupation—barking—is threatened by the same loud speaking phonograph. Concessionaries at the resorts are having spiels recorded. A good barker is an artist, a good spiel is a work of art, and both cost money. So why not hire a good barker and a good spiel for one day, and have a set of records made? These new phonographs can talk even louder than a barker.

Vox Populi

Not long ago a newspaper polled its readers on the question whether New York should have Sunday theatrical performances. As it stands now, Sunday theaters are barred by law, but the movie stage presentations and vaudeville shows get by under the guise of sacred concerts. They prove they are sacred concerts and not commercial enterprises by not distributing programs. As I was saying, this newspaper printed ballots on which the readers could mark an X for yes or an X for no. There was a deluge of replies—but scores of supposedly intelligent New Yorkers were wide of the mark. They did not realize what the ballot was for, and they didn't seem to know that Sunday shows have always been banned in their own city. "What are the reformers trying to do now?" a befuddled many wrote the editor. "They aren't satisfied with taking away our liquor. Now they want to take away our Sunday shows."

"Stolen" Plots

Any successful book or play is almost sure to be the subject of a suit for plagiarism. Several persons brought suit against the authors of a mystery play, claiming the central idea had been pilfered. And the New York courts, with nothing less than genius, consolidated the two principal suits, although one set of plaintiffs has less than no interest in the other, and would be upset if the other should win.

A Great Book

One of the most interesting of recent claims of plagiarism has been made by a little old lady, who has made the rounds of nearly every theatrical office, telling her story. "Street Scene," "Journey's End" and "Strange Interlude," she claims, were all lifted, stolen, pilfered and otherwise swiped from a single book of which she is the author. All things considered, the courteous attention she has received is remarkable.

A Laugh on Broadway

I dropped in on a convention of theatrical stock managers to see whether the drama in what New York calls the stocks is drifting. A more or less confirmed Broadwayite, I was astounded and not a little uncomfortable at what I heard. Broadway hits, it appears, are not in as great demand as I thought. One manager said his company did $4,000 business in a weeks run of "Rain," and $10,000 the week following, when "The Old Homestead" was the feature.

Clear Drama

The current crop of New York plays appears to offer little to the stock players. Most of the productions, they declare, are too much involved with sex—not necessarily in bad taste, but involving a theme of which the provinces have grown tired. The current New York plays that are most popular in stock circles are "Skidding" and "Jonesy."

Visiting Firemen

I wonder what was the origin of the phrase, visiting firemen—meaning hit-and-run tourists who must have the aid of permanent residents to see the town right. I first heard of visiting firemen in Paris, and many's the v. f. that I entertained there. They ask you to do the strangest things. But to a friend of mine has fallen the opportunity of doing what I consider the strangest of all tours with an outlander. This girl, who works in a publishing house and is a successful short story writer, was called upon to entertain a woman who might very well have been the little old lady from Dubuque. This little old lady comes from an illustrious family whose name has been prominent in New York ever since the days of the big rum deal for Manhattan island. And what must she do but choose the hottest day of the summer to visit, with her friend's help, the graves of all her ancestors. She has a book of the family history and the tour began at the old Trinity churchyard and ended, hours later, in the far reaches of the Bronx.

So Help Me

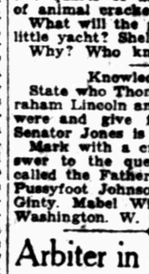

I know it sounds too good to be true, but I'll take my oath on it nevertheless. Last summer I ushered a couple from the far West about town, and the young wife was disappointed with the Woolworth building. So help me, she expected it to be done red, and to contain 60 floors of five-and-ten-merchandise.

Arbiter in Rum Ship Case Spotted

WASHINGTON, July 4. (US)—Secretary Stimson has received the promise of a prominent New York lawyer, an authority on constitutional law, to serve as American delegate on the arbitration commission to settle the famous "I'm alone" incident between the United States and Canada.

The I'm Alone, a Canadian schooner and a rum runner, was sunk by gunfire of a coast guard vessel during a chase in the gulf of Mexico last March.

The identity of the American will not be revealed until the secretary has conferred with Canadian Minister Vincent Massey. The names of both arbitrators will be announced simultaneously. Chief Justice Anglin, of the Canadian supreme court and Judge Duff of the same tribunal, have been prominently mentioned as delegates for the dominion.

We Women

By BETTY BRAINERD

Minerva's Mirror

A woman who can no longer weep is like a soldier without any ammunition.

Quatrain from A. E. Housman, one of my most favorite poets:

"Some lads there are, 'tis shame to say,
Who only court to thieve,
And once they bear the gloom away
'Tis little enough they leave."

In the summer a young man's fancy sometimes lightly turns to thought of another love.

Let's rewrite the old saying and have it read: "It's bliss to be wise and folly to be ignorant." The original is dishonest, cowardly and expedient thinking.

If we are not our brothers' keepers, we can, at least, be decent to our brothers-in-law and sisters-in-law, and fathers-in-law and mothers-in-law.

Life is real and life is earnest—as Longfellow said—but life to be real and life to be earnest, should also be frank . . . thus may be the phrase "Frank and Ernest."

Show me two minds that beat as one and I will show you two hearts that are potentially capable of beating as one.

The only difference between jackasses and some women is that jackasses have long ears and the women have long tongues!

The easiest and sanest thing to do is often the thing that seems the hardest to do.

Some women are like cows—and how!

Constancy is the triumph of mind over flesh and matter.

An ounce of self-control is worth a ton of temper.

It's a wise man who knows he isn't wise.

NEW 'CROP' OF WIVES DIFFERS

Flappers May Disappoint Male Admirers

Men May Think That the Modern Flapper Will Make a More Satisfactory Wife Than Her Mother Did, but They Will Live to Regret the Passing of the Domestic And Credulous Spouse.

We were discussing the marital unrest of the day and divorce and the revolt of husbands and a man whose own marriage has not been happy or successful said that he thought that the modern girl will make a better wife than the woman of the past has. He thought that she will be more understanding, more tolerant, broader-minded and do more to keep her husband interested than her mother and grandmother did and that she will not consider that a wife's whole duty consists in being chaste and a good housekeeper.

Whether the flappers will make better wives than their ancestresses did remains to be seen. Certainly they will be different and whether men will prefer the new variety to the old is open to doubt. Myself, I think they will be like caviar and olives. A cultivated taste.

Men think that they are bored with the old, domestic variety of wife who is kitchen-minded, so to speak, and whose world is pretty much bounded by the four walls of her home. They think that what they long for is a wife who is brilliant and sophisticated and wise-cracking and always ready to step out with them when they feel like going. They think that matrimony wouldn't be so dull and monotonous with a wife who wasn't bound down by narrow moral traditions and who would realize that a man tires of one woman and desires freedom to roam at will.

This is all very well as theory, but in reality men's ideal of wifehood is as homely and domestic as a big gingham apron. In spite of all they say, men are not new-fashioned where women are concerned. They are old-fashioned. They are positively primitive.

Every man wants the kind of a wife that his father and his grandfather and his great-grandfather had. A wife who will coodle him and cook the dishes he likes, and believe him to be the greatest man in the world and be scared to death every time he has a headache and who believes in God and says her prayers every night.

When a man visions the picture of his wife he sees a contented and happy woman bending over her babe with the ineffable beauty of motherhood and wifehood in her face. He doesn't see a keen-eyed, nervous business or professional woman checking her kids at a day nursery while she pursues her career.

So I have grave fears that, at first, men are not going to like the new variety of wife as much as they think they will. Of course, in time they will get used to her and find her snappy and piquant and wonder how they ever could have preferred the old bread-and-buttery kind, but in the meantime, there has to be a lot of scrapping of old customs and habits and beliefs, and the sound of the breaking and rending of marriage vows will be loud in the land.

For consider the wife of the future that the flapper will make. To begin with, she is hard-boiled and men have always like them so soft they were not even set. There is no silly tenderness, no fatuous credulity about the modern young woman, no pitying tears. She is a materialist and if her husband makes good with her he will have to bring home the bacon.

She will never see him through a romantic haze as a godling. Instead, she will have his number to the last figure. She won't coo over him when he fails and blame everybody else but him for it. She will point out with relentless logic just where he fell down. Her vocabulary will not consist of yes-yes. It will be yeah.

And somehow up to now men have never seemed to care very much for wives who sat in judgment on them and who had a close-up of all their faults and weaknesses. They wanted wives who were comforters, wives who would weep over them when things went wrong and bind up their bruised vanish with the salve of flatteries. And they wanted wives before whom they could pose as oracles and who would quote what John said as the final authority on any subject, not wives who sized them up impartially and didn't find much in them to cheer about.

Of course, the wife of the future will understand men better than the wives of the past did. That is inevitable, since the modern girl works shoulder to shoulder with men and perforce gets wise to all of their little tricks and manners. Also she acquires a large and complete diagram of all of men's vices and shortcomings. No husband will be able to put anything over on her. She knows all the old alibis about going into conference and out-of-town customers and taking stock, etc. It will be folly for the man to tell his wife, who has been a private secretary and done a lot of telephoning for her boss, that he will be detained downtown on business.

But will this make things pleasanter for the woman and easier for the men? Will it eliminate curtain lectures? I trow not. It will only furnish the wife with facts for her few remarks instead of having her guess things. The less men and women know about each other and the more illusions they have, the happier they are and to destroy a wife's belief in the overworked business man myth is like taking away a child's faith in Santa Claus.

When the girl of the past got married she expected to be a wife and mother and housekeeper. The wife of the future is going to go on with her career, if she happens to like it and is successful in it. That is, of course, perfectly fair and just and logical, only the trouble seems to be that careers and matrimony don't mix very well. At any rate, most men want to monopolize their wives' interests and time and attention instead of having to play second fiddle to the store or the office or the shop.

It is true that the wife of the future will probably be a lot more broad-minded about her husband's side-stepping than the wife of the past has been, but that will be because she is doing a good deal of zig-zagging herself. And, anyway, she has outgrown all of that old until-death-do-us-part stuff and she doesn't expect to stay with her husband any longer than he makes it pleasant and interesting for her.

This will give men much more liberty, but I wonder if they won't miss that feeling of deep security that grandpa had when he knew he didn't have to watch grandma because she held her marriage vows so sacred that she would have died sooner than break them?

Possibly the modern girl will make a better wife than the women of the past did, but, believe me, the husband of the future will have to watch his step, because if his wife gets tired of the job or doesn't like the way he treats her she will give notice and quit.

Oh, These Women

By LEOLA ALLARD

CHICAGO, July 4. (US)—He was an old black man and he had both arms full of the lady's luggage, as they walked the long walk to her car on the Century.

"We don't most generally get big tips from folks on this road," said the black man. "The old porters don't want jobs on these fancy trains, so they takes the new fellows. There ain't no money in it missus. No money at all!"

Conversational pause.

"Seems like the folks who travel on these here show trains, figure they've given their tips to the railroad company. It certainly don't get us nothin'."

Another pause.

"Seems like the folks 'at travel on fancy trains has enough money to stay home with but they ain't got enough to go places on. I guess that's the trouble, so we don't expect nothin'."

He tipped his cap politely as he slid the baggage under the seats.

After that what could she do? She gave him a dollar.

Whether she writes her stories now or whether she doesn't makes little difference, he allows. The trouble with most story writers being that they have no story to tell. "A girl with a lively imagination and a literary husband just hasn't anything left to desire," says he.

ELOPERS USE STOLEN NAGS

Quarrel, Reconciliation and Arrest Come Quickly

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., July 4. (INS)—They shunned the fast automobile, the motor boat, the airplane and decided to elope in the saddle.

So today Robert Conway, 22, and his intended bride, Constance Meyers, 21, were in jail, charged with horse stealing, while their short lived romance lay in ruins about them.

In one of the strangest elopments of modern times, the young couple hired two horses from a riding academy and started north to be married. When they reached Saugus they had their first quarrel. They turned back to Lancaster, where another quarrel resulted in young Conway's dismounting to walk.

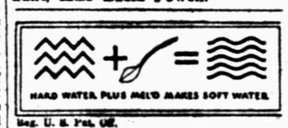

As they entered Hollywood, they experienced their first reconciliation, followed closely by an arrest. While police officers rode the horses back to their owners, the elopers were taken to the police station in a patrol wagon.

Modern science emphasizes that a limited diet is monotonous and that it is bad for us. For enjoyment and for health, eat varied, balanced foods.

The greatest ally of the balanced diet is flavor. Good cooking is the foundation of healthful eating. The woman in the home is the guardian of our diet, and thus of our health.

Learn the secret of a dash of sugar in making cereals, fruits and milk desserts delicious. Try also the old secret of delicious cookery just rediscovered by four women cooking experts working in a New York skyscraper. Add a tablespoon of sugar to vegetables while they are cooking in a small amount of water. Note how the vegetables improve in color, in freshness and in flavor. The dash of sugar does not make the vegetables taste sweet. It makes them more delightfully their own natural vegetable selves than ever.

Slimness has gone out of date. The angular figure is no longer fashionable. Don't gorge and don't limit your family's diet to a few foods. Most foods are more delicious and nourishing with sugar. Good food promotes good health. The Sugar Institute.

WILTSE EFFECTIVE AND SPUDDERS BAT HARD TO COP OPENER

PANTHERS WIN SECOND GAME

Turgeon Leads Day's Attack With 5 Hits, 1 Homer

Special to The Record News

FORT WORTH, July 4—The Spudders divided the Independence day double-header with Fort Worth today. Hal Wiltse hurled eight-hit ball and with his teammates batted hard to cop the opener, 7 to 4. The Cats won the nightcap, 9 to 5.

Wichita Falls hammered Whitworth and Phillips for 10 hits in the first game, including home runs by Turgeon and Hermann, triples by Lapan, Turgeon and Fitzgerald and doubles by Bennett, Benton and Sullivan. It was the third consecutive game in which Hermann blasted a circuit drive.

Benton, Turgeon, Fitzgerald and Wiltse clouted two hits apiece.

Hal in Fine Fettle

Hal hurled almost invincible ball the first six innings and though the Cats tallied two runs in the seventh and eighth, aided partly by errors, he was never in serious danger.

Fort Worth hopped on Goff and drove the righthander off the hill in the third inning of the second game with six runs and as many hits. They made their remaining three tallies and five blows off O'Neal.

The second game was curtailed to seven innings by agreement.

They Bat Hard Again

Wichita Falls shellacked Rufus Meadows for nine hits, including a home run by Bennett, and again showed an attack that would have won with effective chucking. Turgeon maintained his terrific pace at bat with three hits, giving him five for nine for the day. Crouch got two blows and Lapan smacked a two-base wallop in the role as pinch-hitter.

Milt Steengrafe probably will pitch the opener tomorrow of the three-game series with Shreveport at Wichita Falls.

SAN ANTONIO, July 4. (AP)—The college twins—Neal Baker, formerly of the University of Texas, and Harold (Hobo) Carson, formerly of Texas Christian university, pitched the San Antonio Indians to a Fourth of July double-header victory. The former defeated Waco, 5 to 4 in the first game in 11 innings and the latter limited the Prattmen to one hit to win the nightcap, 2 to 1.

The second game was played through a rain which at times assumed the proportions of a downpour. Scores:

Bill Hargrove Obtained By San Antonio Club

SAN ANTONIO, July 4. (AP)—Pitcher Bill Hargrove has been obtained by San Antonio from Pueblo of the Western league, it was announced today. He is expected to arrive here this week.

There are no new developments in the case of Southpaw Jack Giard, who Clark Griffith ordered to report to San Antonio and still seems to be with the Atlanta, Southern league club. The San Antonio club has placed the matter before Commissioner Landis in the hope of getting Giard.

RUTH AND VANCE MAY LOSE CROWNS AS STICK AND HILL KINGS

STARS SUFFER FROM ILLNESS

Babe May Regain Title But Dazzler Is Far Behind

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

NEW YORK, July 4. (UP)—With the season half over many of the major league stars of 1928 are in danger of losing their laurels this year.

Two champions who are far behind their 1928 stride are Babe Ruth and Dazzy Vance. Handicapped by illness which kept him out of the game more than three weeks, Ruth has been forced to relinquish the major league home run lead to young Melvin Ott of the New York Giants.

Although Ruth can wipe out his poor start by some steady slugging during the last half of the season, there is small chance that Dazzy Vance will retain the major league strikeout laurels he has held for seven years.

Vance Behind 1928 Mark

Like Ruth, Vance has been hindered by illness which kept him on the shelf for six weeks. He has pitched in but 12 games and has a scant 46 strikeouts to his credit.

Vance registered 200 strikeouts last season, winning the major league strikeout crown over Lefty Grove of the Athletics, who hung up 183.

Grove is away to a flying start this year and promises to win the honor denied him a year ago by Vance. He leads both leagues in strikeouts with 85 to his credit. Pat Malone of the Cubs leads the strikeout artists of the National league with 72.

In 1927 when Vance was laid up with a sore arm Grove won the major strikeout championship, but in six of the eight seasons since Vance came to Brooklyn from New Orleans the dazzler has led both leagues. Vance has registered 1,338 strikeouts during his major league career.

Tough for Pitchers

Last year's two leading pitchers on the basis of games won and lost are experiencing rough going this season. Larry Benton, New York Giants' ace who led the National league last season with 25 victories and only nine defeats, is proving one of the biggest disappointments of the year. He has lost seven games and won only five.

General Crowder of the St. Louis Browns, who led the American league with 21 victories and five defeats, has experienced a complete loss of form. Crowder has won only five games and lost eight, three more than he lost all last season.

The present major league leaders in pitching are Grove, who tops the American leageu with 12 victories and two defeats, and Burleigh Grimes, who leads the National league with 12 victories and one defeat.

Foxx Shows the Way

Jimmy Foxx, young Philadelphia Athletics' first baseman, is showing the way to all major league batters with an average of .413. He is followed by Manush, who is batting .389.

In the National league Rogers Hornsby, who won the batting crown in his league last year with an average of .387, is hovering around the top again with .387.

Babe Herman, Brooklyn outfielder, leads the National league with a mark of .388.

Kiki Cuyler, fleet Chicago Cubs' outfielder, led both leagues in stolen bases last season with 37, and is again blazing the trail with 23 to his credit.

Spudders Home Today for Week

Sports to Open Stand Here With Three-Game Series

Our Spudders are home today for a week's stand, on which eight games are to be played. The pennant chasing Shreveport Sports open the seven-day stand here today with a three-game engagement.

The "champion" Dallas Steers are here Monday and Tuesday, with a double header scheduled Tuesday, for some reason. Fort Worth completes the week's schedule here with games Wednesday and Thursday.

After playing at Fort Worth July 12, the Spudders return home July 13, 14 and 15, again with the "champions," the last appearance here this season of the Dallas club. Then they go on the road for two weeks on a swing of the southern half of the circuit and which is concluded at Shreveport, returning home on July 30.

War Cruiser to be Sold By Navy Department

WASHINGTON, July 4. (US)—The light cruiser Salem, now at Mare Island, Calif., where it was placed out of commission Aug. 16, 1921, is to be sold by the navy department as unfit for further service, it was announced today. The U. S. S. Salem was launched July 27, 1907. During the world war the vessel served with the patrol force, squadron L under Rear Admiral Albert P. Niblack and helped to keep open the shipping lanes from Mexican and gulf oil fields. She has a displacement of 3,750 tons.

Three Boys Accused Of Slaying Student

ELDORADO, Kan., July 4. (UP)—Three high school boys tonight were free on $5,000 bond each, charged with causing the torturous death of Albert Watkins, 17, of Augusta. The trio, Wilbur Hunt, Andrew Gahm and Cole Thompson, sons of prominent citizens here, were charged with manslaughter. Watkins died in a hospital after having been beaten and run over by an automobile, May 24.

New Zealand Island Again Feels Quakes

LONDON, July 4. (INS)—South Island, New Zealand, has again been rocked by terrific earthquake tremors, according to a Central News dispatch received from Auckland today. Mount Glasgow was split from top to bottom by the shocks, according to the dispatch. A 20-mile road was reported to have been completely obliterated.

The SPORTLIGHT

By GRANTLAND RICE

(Copy't, 1929, New York Tribune Inc.; Trademark Registered U. S. Patent Office)

More About Ten Years Ago

Mention was made of the fact that just 10 years ago Jack Dempsey crashed his way into fame quicker than any heavyweight champion ever did before in the history of the ring. Within 47 seconds the challenger had the champion on the floor, practically out.

It was in 1919 that Walter Hagen won the open golf championship at Braeburn, after overcoming a five-stroke lead with only 18 holes left.

It was around 1919 that Babe Ruth began firing his home run salvos out of various parks. It was in 1919 that Bill Tilden played his way to the final round of the national tennis championship at Forest Hill, just before Tilden and Johnston started for Australia to bring back the Davis cup.

It was in 1919 that Bobby Jones at the age of 17, reached the final round of the amateur golf championship at Oakmont.

Since date mentioned Dempsey has drawn more than $9,000,000 through the gate, Jones has won eight national championships, Hagen has won four British opens and five professional championships, Babe Ruth has fired more than 500 home runs, Tilden has won six tennis championships.

They are all in the thick of competitive play today, with the exception of Dempsey, who is a good bet for one more shot.

Concerning R. T. Jones Jr.

"Here are a pair of stories about Bobby Jones," writes his friend, J. M. Nye, who is one of the smartest golfers in the game because he picks the Georgian for his partner about four times a year. "I was writing to the Prince of Wales," writes Bill, "and told him I saw where he and Hagen had beaten Boomer and some one else. I told him that Bobby and I would play him and Hagen any time or any place. Bobby came into my office just after the challenge and he added a postscript, backing up my challenge, and added he hoped the match would take place in 1930. After signing it he turned to me and said: 'Bill, I'll hold the prince if you'll hold Hagen.'

"On the 543-yard fifth hole at Knollwood," Mr. Nye continued, "he hit a terrific drive. On his second he sliced and was lodged directly back of a big rock, in an impossible lie. As far as I could figure, it was unplayable by anybody. Being his partner and having already had four shots and still not even up to his second, I said: 'This is a hell of a hole to leave me to carry.' He turned and said: 'I haven't picked up yet, have I?' After which he made an impossible shot from an impossible lie and got his par."

As for Pitching

In several all-star pitching groups named lately I have seen this list: Mathewson, Johnson, Young, Alexander; and also Waddell and one or two others.

What about Ed Walsh? Ty Cobb said once, in discussing this subject, that if he could pick one pitcher for a five-year turn his first choice would be Walsh. What other modern pitcher every worked 66 games in one season, to win 40 of them and save 12 more? How many pitchers have been called in with the bases full and no one out, to throw nine consecutive strikes? Walsh did that once, and later on, under the same conditions, threw nine strikes and one ball. And he was pitching to hard hitters on both occasions, including Nap Lajoie. Walsh pitched himself out, but while he was out there pitching he was about as valuable a ball player as any team ever had. What other single ball player has been responsible for more than 50 winning games in one season as Walsh was through one year? If Young Ed can pitch up to the old man there'll be no one else who is even close today.

For Mack and Maryland

Dear Sir: If the Philadelphia Athletics win the American league pennant, Baltimore is going to close up house and move up to the world's series. Connie Mack owes much of his success to the men developed in Baltimore by the late Jack Dunn. On the Athletic team there are Lefty Grove, George Earlshaw, Ed Rommel, Max Bishop and Joe Boley. Jimmy Foxx is a native Marylander and Gordon Cochrane started his professional career with the Eastern Shore league. So Maryland has a great interest in the team.

—CHESAPEAKE BAY.

Where Flags Are Won

Dear Sir: Of how much value is a great double play combination in baseball? Cincinnati, around eighth place in the National league, is tied with Chicago, fighting for first place in double plays. In the American league Detroit and Cleveland are leaders in two-ply executions, yet neither are in the pennant race. After all, pitching and hitting win pennants. Few clubs have ever fielded themselves into a championship.

—JOE DICKEY.

The Davis Cup Again

"Don't be surprised," a leading tennis expert on this side writes, "if the United States brings back the Davis cup."

The United States may bring back the Davis cup, but that won't keep a number of us from being surprised. Stopping Lacoste, Cochet, Borotra and Brugnon will be something more than a surprise. It will be an explosion. It can happen, since more astonishing things can happen. There will be a world of competitive courage on the United States' side. But no one has seen any of these French stars fold up, and they can play their full share of tennis also.

JACK LISTENS TO RING'S CALL

Dempsey Indicates He'll Fight Again

By ED FRAYNE

NEW YORK, July 4. (US)—A way out in San Francisco this afternoon, a fire engine or one of those Market street trolleys must have gone clanging past the theater where William Harrison Dempsey is playing.

Now, if there is any one thing that Mr. Dempsey cannot resist, it is a bell. It brings back memories of youth and leather gloves and $300,000 checks and such matters. You know how it is with those old fire horses.

So Mr. Dempsey picked up the nearest telephone and impatiently ordered the lady operator to get "Bill" Duffy at Chickering 6217, New York. Right away, he said. There'll be a couple of ducats for the show up there if you hurry it up, he added.

The Conversation

Eventually, the thrilled young lady said, "here's your party, Mr. Dempsey," and the following conversation ensued:

"Listen, Bill, I'm gonna fight, and I want you to do my business. You can handle everything, the matchmaking and the managing and the training. Go ahead and line something up and everything you do will be kayo."

"Great, Jack, great! You better make plans to get back here by Aug. 15, or not more than a week later. I have a training spot lined up at Auburn, N. Y., on Mayor Charles Osbourne's place."

"All right, pal, anything you say. Wait a minute—here's a offer. It's Gene Normile.

"Hello, Bill, this is Normile. Say, my people want Jack at Agua Caliente, and we're willing to guarantee him $500,000. You can have George Godfrey or any of three leading contenders for his opponent."

He Talks Real Money.

"Well, I can't tell you right now, Gene," said the newly made manager, briskly. "I don't think we would consider less than $750,000 but I can't make any decision right now."

Anyway, that's exactly what happened, and if you insist on believing it, we can't stop you. It has happened befors, and it will happen again, and some day it possibly may come true.

We can assure you that Billy Duffy thinks Dempsey means what he said. Duffy was the most excited man in town. Duffy is convinced that the big moment has finally arrived, and that Dempsey has definitely made up his mind to come back.

Scott Anxious To Batlte Max

August 7 Fight at Ebbetts Field Up to Schmeling

NEW YORK, July 4. (UP)—All that remained tonight to settle the Max Schmeling-Phil Scott heavyweight match for Ebbets field Aug. 7 was for Schmeling to agree to the bout.

Phil Scott, British heavyweight champion, is ready and anxious to meet the German contender, according to a cablegram received by the New York State Athletic commission from the British board of boxing control.

The cablegram read:

"Scott ready to leave for America to fulfill contract to box Schmeling, awaiting your cable instructions."

The commission will reply at its next meeting on Tuesday, secretary Bert Stand said.

Meanwhile Schmeling, so far as known, has no intention of fulfilling any contract made for him by Arthur Bulow, the German newspaperman who brought him to this country.

An affidavit was introduced in supreme court yesterday by Schmeling in answer to the suit instituted against the German's American managers, Joe Jacobs and Charley Rose, to prevent them from sharing in the boxer's profits. Bulow charges that Jacobs and Rose alienated Schmeling from him. Schmeling denied this.

Tolan Defeats Claude Bracey

Texan Loses by Inches in A. A. U. 100-Yard Dash

By CHESTER A. LETTS

DENVER, Colo., July 4. (UP)—Eddie Tolan, Michigan university's "midnight express" this afternoon won the "century of the century," and became the new National A. A. U. senior champion without having a chance to become the world's fastest human.

Facing one of the fleetest fields of sprinters ever gathered in this country, Tolan ran a brilliant race directly against a stiff wind and displayed the heart to finish only inches ahead of the fast coming Claude Bracey of Rice institute, the Dixie flyer, who had a big following that expected him to win.

Russell Sweet, Pacific coast champion, led until 15 yards from the finish when he faltered, and was third.

The five speedsters in the 100-yard final flashed over the finish line almost abreast, the time of the winner being 10 seconds.

Wind Prevents Records

The track was fast but the wind reduced the chance of record breaking in this and other events of today's senior events.

Frank Wykoff, the dethroned sprint champion, got a poor start and never seemed to be able to get his best stride, finishing fourth.

An hour later Tolan added another championship to his list when he defeated a selected field in the 220-yard run. In spite of the wind the great little Wolverine handily beat his rivals in 21.9, coming within five-tenths of a second of Charley Borah's mark of last year.

Simpson Does Not Run

George Simpson of Ohio state, holder of unofficial mark of 9.4 in the 100-dash, who badly injured a leg in training here two days before the meet, and Charley Paddock, five times winner of the National A. A. U. championship, watched the race from the stands. Paddock did not feel equal to the trials and finals today and is holding himself for the relays, which will be the climax of the closing events Friday.

Harold Osborne, Illinois A. C., lost his title of high jump champion today when he knocked off the bar three times, at 6 feet 2 inches, and was automatically eliminated from the event. Osborne is holder of the world's championship, 6 feet, 8¼ inches and also held the Olympic and American championship.

Running a smart race and reserving his best for the finish, Leo Lermond, Boston A. A., New England champion, beat a speedy field in the mile run, one of the day's features, Ray Conger, former champion, never being in the going after the third lap.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 4. (AP)—Coming from behind at the 50-mile mark in today's 100-mile automobile race on the Bridgeville board speedway, Wilbur Shaw, Indianapolis speeder, forged ahead to win over "Shorty" Cantlon of Detroit who was a close second. Deacon Litz, Dubois, Pa., was third and Chet Gardner, Douglas, Ariz., fourth.

DAILY DOPE

By LARRY DAILEY

TEXAS LEAGUE clubs which occupied lowly places in the standing the first half set about strengthening their teams for the second half dash. At least, they took on new players with the idea and hope they would be strengthened. Fort Worth fired Jake Atz and hired Frank Snyder as manager-catcher, which will help them mechanically. Whether the change of pilots is to be beneficial remains to be seen. Palmero, veteran Cuban left-hander who pitched for years in the Western league and American association, also was added recently to the Cat hurling staff.

Ray Blades, a great outfielder in the National league until two years ago and Reinhart, a pitcher, were sent to Houston from Rochester by the St. Louis Cardinal parent club. It is rumored that Blades is to be named manager of the Buffs. That probably will depend on how the 1928 champions play under Gene Bailey's direction.

SAN ANTONIO has taken on Brosowich, an outfielder, whoever he is. Waco acquired Stuvengen, a veteran first baseman, and an excellent fielder. Whether he will hit Texas league pitching is problematical. Waco also sold Roy Johnson to Chattanooga for some reason and Del Pratt has installed Gene Rye as the Cub left fielder.

The three leading clubs in the first half—Dallas, Shreveport and Wichita Falls—have made no changes within past weeks and apparently are going to stand or fall with the material at hand.

THE STAND of the Dallas club in favoring the split season was unpopular with at least one scribe of the "metropolis of the Southwest," (with apologies to Fort Worth). At least, Jere R. Hayes, sports editor of the Dallas Times-Herald, writing in his column Monday, the day before the split was voted, so expressed himself. I wonder what Jere says now? Here is what he wrote in The Times Herald Monday:

AS THINGS now stand, with one of the closest races in history being waged for the pennant, this writer sees no reason for dividing the schedule. The "split" has its advantages in some cases, but in this particular instance we cannot see any excuse for it.

No real sportsman would get a kick out of watching a boxer who had his opponent hopelessly outclassed wallop him all over the ring. He'd much prefer to see the referee stop the bout and start another one. No real sportsman cares about an uneven battle, be it boxing, baseball or what have you.

If any one club had stepped out and gained a lead of a half dozen games or more during the first part of the race, we could see some reason for a split. It would afford the fans a chance to see the boys get a fresh start.

But as things stand, we believe a split season would be a bad move. It would certainly not increase the attendance in Dallas. The fans here are willing to battle it out with the best of 'em.

ALLISON AND VAN RYN WIN

Youths Beat Tilden-Hunter In Wimbledon Semi-Final

By HENRY CAVENDISH

WIMBLEDON, England, July 4. (US)—California took over the stage management of Wimbledon's famous center court this afternoon, when Berkeley's two great Helens slashed their way through to an all-American final in the women's singles championship.

Helen Wills won a clean-cut victory over Miss Goldsack of England, 6-2, 6-0, while Helen Jacobs met a little stronger opposition in her 6-2, 6-2 win over Miss Joan Ridley, also of Britain's isles.

It was a great Independence day celebration on the lawns of the All-England club, the Americans playing all four of their matches on the center court. All-American men's doubles semi-finals, which brought together Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn, America's youthful Davis cup stars, and William T. Tilden and Francis T. Hunter, proved a victory of youth and agility over age and experience.

Allison and Van Ryn, conquerors of Henri Cochet and Jacques Brugnon of France, swamped Big Bill and Frank, the veterans, 6-3, 12-10, 6-3.

America's other youthful pair, George Lott and John Hennessey, gave all they had in a great doubles semi-final against J. C. Gregory and I. A. N. Collins of England, but their best was not good enough, and they fell before the British onslaught, 6-4, 5-7, 1-6, 6-4, 5-7.

Health And Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by Dr. McCoy who can be addressed in care of this paper

(Copyright 1929 by The Bell Syndicate Inc.)

Dr. McCoy's menus suggested for the week beginning Sunday, July 7.

Sunday

Breakfast: Poached eggs on toasted cereal biscuit; stewed raisins.

Lunch: French artichokes; combination salad of lettuce, cucumbers, small green peas and tomatoes.

Dinner: Jellied tomato bouillon, served in cubes; roast veal, asparagus, baked grated carrots; celery, ripe olives, pineapple whip.

Monday

Breakfast: French omelet made of the whites of two eggs and two ounces of milk, served on melba toast; pear sauce.

Lunch: Watermelon as desired.

Dinner: Boiled fresh beef tongue, cooked celery, spinach, salad of shredded raw cabbage; baked apple a la mode.

Tuesday

Breakfast: Wholewheat muffins, peanut butter; stewed prunes.

Lunch: As much as desired of one kind of fresh acid fruit, such as apples, peaches or pears, etc.

Dinner: Leg of mutton, string beans, buttered beets; head lettuce, with olive oil if desired; Jell-o or Jell-well with cream.

Wednesday

Breakfast: Coddled eggs, melba toast; stewed apricots.

Lunch: Dish of cooked carrots and peas; raw celery.

Dinner: *Broiled steak, cooked zucchini (small Italian squash); green peas; salad of sliced tomatoes; ice cream, small portion.

Thursday

Waffles, small slice of broiled ham; applesauce.

Lunch: Raw acid fruit as desired.

Dinner: Roast pork, cooked celery, spinach; salad of quartered cucumbers; apricot whip.

Friday

Breakfast: Baked stuffed apple, with milk or cream.

Lunch: Corn on the cob, buttered beets, lettuce.

Dinner: Broiled file of sole, cooked cucumbers; string beans; salad of sliced tomatoes with parsley; pineapple gelatin, no cream.

Saturday

Breakfast: Eight-ounce glass of orange juice 30 minutes before breakfast; poached eggs on retoasted cereal biscuit; stewed raisins.

Lunch: Cantaloup as desired.

Dinner: Cottage cheese, cooked lettuce, steamed carrots with parsley, celery and toasted nut salad, raspberry whip.

*Broiled steak: First remove all fat from the steak, as the fat sputtering upon the lean part during broiling will toughen it against the digestive juices. Place under flame for about 15 seconds then turn quickly. Continue turning every few minutes until cooked as desired. The object of this quick turning at the start is to get both sides of the steak seared as soon as possible and thus avoid losing the juice which would otherwise run away immediately if the underside of the steak became hot before being seared. Steak may be eaten rare, medium, or well-done, as preferred, for digestion is aided by a greater flow of gastric juice when meat is cooked to the degree most relished by the individual.

Sirloin steak, on account of its tenderness, is generally used for broiling, although round steak may be broiled under the flame if it is properly hammered beforehand so that the connective tissue is well broken down.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Hay Fever

Question—Mrs. D. G. H. writes: "I have been very much interested in your health talks and am asking you for advice about hay fever, as my father has it so bad. Sometimes it lasts for two or three months."

Answer.—The cure of hay fever depends entirely upon curing hyperacidity of the stomach. The irritation from an extra acid stomach extends to many of the mucous membranes, including the nose and throat. When the gastric irritation is removed the hay fever disappears like magic. Then, dust from hay or pollen from plants cannot bring on an attack.

Bread

Question—R. S. asks: (1) "Is bran bread, made of whole rye, a starchy food?" (2) "Can brown bread be used with acid fruit?" (3) "Can toasted bread be used with acid fruit?" (4) "Is the combination of milk and bread a good one?"

Answer—(1) Yes. (2) No. (3) Yes. (4) No.

Cataract

Question—C. W. S. asks: "Will you please tell me what is the cause of a cataract on the left eye? Haven't had it long. Would like to know if there is an absolute cure without an operation. Am 55 years old."

Answer—A cataract can sometimes be stopped by the fasting cure and the wearing of properly fitted glasses. Most cataracts would never start if the afflicted one did not wait too long to put on glasses. Continued eye strain brings about an inflammation of the eye which is the first cause of cataract. After that, injudicious living feeds the trouble, and if proper treatment is not taken in time, an operation is the only thing that will restore the sight.

Trivial Arrest Threatens Brawl

BERLIN, July 4. (UP)—The comparatively unimportant arrest of a railway ticket agent on the Hungarian-Czecho-Slovakian frontier has developed into a diplomatic issue because it is a link in a series of serious conflicts between the two countries since the Trianon treaty was signed.

Relations between the two countries have been among the bitterest in post war Europe as a result of the treaty which gave Czecho-Slovakia a part of Hungary occupied by Czecho-Slovakians.

The territory had formed part of Hungary for a thousand years and the Hungarian government has been openly demanding its return.

In 1920, Czecho-Slovakia actually mobilized against Hungary to prevent return of the late Emperor Charles, and diplomatic charges of a more or less serious nature have recurred since.

Czecho-Slovakia now has served an ultimatum on Hungary that the ticket agent, Wenzel Pecha, must be released by noon tomorrow or all railway traffic to the Hungarian frontier will be cut.

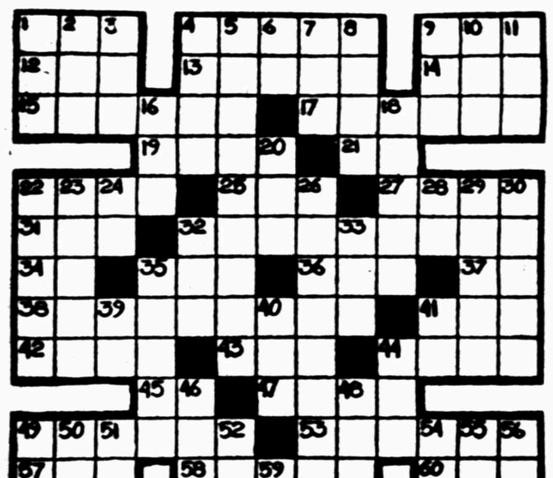

Couldn't See It Then

Grandmother: When I was a girl we used to keep our money in our stocking tops.

Granddaughter: But how risky to put it just where it could be seen. —Karikaturen, Oslo.

The "Dead Line"—

is a necessary thing with the modern newspaper which has editions that must be off the press at certain times to realize full benefit from the news and advertising they carry. Like trains, they must be on schedule.

So, news, display advertising and Classified advertising must come in before a certain time. That time is called the "dead line."

Our trained Ad-takers will gladly explain this to you. Call 4391.

DAIRY TRADE GAINS GROUND

Steady Progress Made Here In Early Part of '29

By W. L. UNDERWOOD
The Record News Staff

During the first six months of 1929, a period of high milk production in which deliveries in Wichita Falls reached a point of more than 75,000 pounds daily, numerous material improvements have been effected in the dairying industry.

Conspicuous among the steps taken to stabilize and increase the business of milk production were the organization of a dairymen's association, with W. K. Emmert as president, and the formation of an association for the purpose of providing adequate milk testing equipment, available without charge to all herd owners in this section of the state.

Considerable increases have been made in the total number of milk cows maintained in the county. Steady sales to farmers and dairymen in this vicinity from the herd of high grade Jerseys held on the Petrolia road by J. M. Baber have required frequent shipments from East Texas for replacement purposes. This stock has been selected personally by Mr. Baber, and has not only added to Wichita county's dairy stock numerically, but to the higher grade of cattle used for milk production.

The same purposes have been served materially by the recent importation of more than 20 registered Jerseys from Michigan and Ohio, part of which number was used in the formation of a bull circle among the farmers north of Electra. Others were placed near Iowa Park.

While various marketing agencies have drawn constantly throughout the year upon Wichita county for beef stock, the total number of cattle has gradually increased, through natural processes and through enlargement of dairy herds. Many of the animals sold for beef are being replaced with milk cows. This elimination of stock with low milk productivity will be furthered by more extensive use of the milk testing equipment now maintained in the City National bank basement.

New routes from Oklahoma, Montague county, Archer county, and others now being contemplated have materially increased the sources of milk for the Kraft Cheese factory here, and promise for the coming year the heaviest deliveries in the history of the plant.

Further evidence of the serious attention being given generally to dairy development is found in the increasingly large acreage being given to feed crops. Many tracts devoted in the last several years to questionable wheat crops have been diverted to the growth of various kinds of feed for cattle. Large areas are now being planted to alfalfa, with the prospect of a multiple increase in the county's yield of this forage.

While a decline in milk deliveries will be registered during the next few months, owing to many cows being withdrawn from the milking herds, the situation indicates that the coming year will show a much greater production than at any other period in the history of Wichita county.

DUPED WOMAN SEEKS CHILD

Mother Claims She Was Held Prisoner

LOS ANGELES, Calif., July 4. (INS)—Declaring she had been confined against her will in a Kansas City institution and prevented from contesting her husband's suit for divorce, Mrs. Mary Filer, 20, sought possession of her 2-year-old child in an action under submission here today in superior court.

Mrs. Filer said her husband, Kenneth Filer, brought the divorce action in September, 1927, and while she was preparing to fight it, her mother and sister asked her to visit the institution in Kansas City. When she entered the place she found she was a prisoner, she declared. She escaped by climbing a 20-foot fence, but was recaptured and confined for 15 months.

Meanwhile, she said, her husband had obtained a divorce and custody of the child, Alice Joyce.

HOLIDAY TOLL OF LIFE HEAVY

North Texans Victims of Accidents

hardly two feet away from it when the terrific blast occurred.

The boy was cut in many places over his body, several stitches being required in his leg and chin, and amputation of the index finger of his left hand being necessary. The hand was split open by the blast and the bone of the finger blown completely out. Pieces of the caps were buried in the flesh of the entire body and serious powder burns were made in several places.

Mr. Moore received severe cuts in the right leg and smaller cuts all over the body and face, with powder burns around the broken flesh. The detonation of the explosion impaired his hearing. Small cuts were made in several places on the faces of each of the injured but no injuries were received in the eyes.

The girl was badly cut on the legs and body, having received smaller injuries, however, than the others, attendants stated. The injured persons were taken to the Wichita General hospital in ambulances of the Burris and Hines companies. They will probably have to remain in the hospital for several days, it was said.

HENRIETTA MAN DIES, ANOTHER HURT IN CRASH

Carl Eaton, 24, son of M. A. Eaton, prominent citizen of Henrietta, was fatally injured in an automobile accident near Cooper, Texas, early Thursday afternoon, and Robert Howard, son of T. K. Howard, Clay county probate judge, was injured, according to Associated Press dispatches received by The Record News.

The report said the Eaton-Howard machine collided with one driven by Dr. F. S. Blair, of Cooper, who was uninjured.

Reports said Howard received only slight hurts, but word was received by Judge Howard at Henrietta that his son was critically injured and not expected to live, and both he and Mrs. Howard departed immediately for Paris, where the injured man was taken. Howard is 22 years old.

An ambulance was sent from Henrietta Thursday night to return Eaton's body. He is survived by his parents, a brother, M. E. Eaton, Olney, and two sisters, Dorsey Lee and Mae Eaton, both of Henrietta.

TAYLOR CASH HURT WHEN HIT BY CAR

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, July 4.—Taylor Cash, who is connected with the drafting department of the Wichita Motor Truck company at Wichita Falls, is in the Parmley-Ogden hospital here with a broken leg as a result of being struck by an automobile tonight about 9 o'clock while riding a motorcycle on East Cleveland avenue.

According to reports given by the police department, the driver of the automobile which struck Cash's machine, drove quickly away from the scene of the accident without having stopped.

TEN YOUTHS DROWN IN LAKE MICHIGAN

GRAND HAVEN, Mich. July 4. (AP)—Ten persons were drowned at a municipal bathing beach here this afternoon, all at virtually the same time. While life guards struggled to rescue four persons swept off a pier by wind lashed waves of Lake Michigan, one of whom drowned, nine bathers nearby were carried out into the lake by an undertow.

Guards, after pulling the first four from the water, launched a boat to attempt rescue of the bathers but in the heavy surf which pounded the beach the small life saving craft was swamped.

The dead are Mildred Fifield, 19; Robert Shindler, 19; Julius Tusch, 19; Leonard Kellogg, 20; Carl Rhloff, 21; Walter Schwartz, 19; John Giddings, 21; Frank Petrowski, 40; Rudolph Pitulik, 22, and Erwin Pitulik, 21.

All but the last two, brothers, were residents of Grand Rapids, Mich. The Pitulik brothers were from Detroit.

All the drownings occurred while attention of three life guards was diverted to the four carried off the pier by one of the smashing waves which all day had kept swimmers close in shore.

DALLAS MAN IS KILLED IN CRASH

DALLAS, July 4. (UP)—Dr. Roy L. Keller, 33, was instantly killed here early Thursday when the automobile in which he was riding crashed into another car at Mockingbird Lane and Preston street. Keller was thrown from his car by the force of the impact, flung against a telephone pole and his skull cracked. He was prominent in medical and social circles here.

Charges of negligent homicide were filed against R. B. Irion in connection with the affair. He made $2,000 bond and was released. He is said to have been a close friend of Dr. Keller.

THREE YOUTHS SUFFER INJURIES

SHERMAN, Texas, July 4. (UP)—Their car crashing into a switch while they were en route to Fourth of July celebration at Denison, three Sherman boys were injured today, one critically.

Those who have seen hope of a standard in moving picture drama approaching that of legitimate stage productions, effected through the sound synchronization, will find additional support for their theory in George Bancroft's "Thunderbolt," now showing at the Majestic.

Any aversion to an underworld atmosphere may safely be discarded with reference to "Thunderbolt," for the picture presents primarily a character study; one that might with equal success be laid in a dozen other settings. Strength and courage are the personality of Jim, which Bancroft portrays consistently to the last fadeout.

The story has comparatively little action, and needs less than it has. The unfolding of the relentless strength of the killer, securely entombed in a death cell, to the point of subduing its own force in the moment of decision, has a fascination more binding than most rapidly moving plots.

The producer of "Thunderbolt" should be given credit for allowing a bad man to be consistently bad. The story offers a striking contrast to much of current life in that the killer is allowed to go to the execution chamber on the appointed day.

Tully Marshall is the warden—and he isn't a preaching reformer, which is something new and refreshing in screen wardens. Tully does the comedy stuff as perhaps a warden should.

A speaking acquaintance with Ramsey MacDonald, the new English premier, and his children is offered in the Paramount news review. Mr. MacDonald, his son and daughter say some very poignant things relative to improvement of living and working conditions in England.

Man Given Life Sentence at Graham Believed Held After 7-Year Search

Special to The Record News.

GRAHAM, Texas, July 4.—A man believed to be H. L. (Happy) Conley, under a 99-year sentence for the murder of Happy Jack Robertson at Oil City seven years ago, is being held for Young county officers at Houston, according to word received by George Berry, assistant district attorney, Thursday evening.

Sheriff J. B. Foster and D. A. Howard, of the Graham police, left Thursday for Houston where they will attempt to identify the prisoner as the man who escaped from the Young county jail during Christmas week of 1922, Mr. Berry explained.

Conley was found guilty of the fatal stabbing of Robertson and sentenced to life imprisonment by a jury in the 30th district court for Young county in September, 1922. An appeal was filed and Conley was lodged in jail pending the action of the court of criminal appeals. He escaped almost seven years ago and has been the object of a continued search directed during the past five years by Sheriff Foster, Mr. Berry said.

The prisoner held in Houston is charged with assault with intent to kill in connection with a shooting affray, the attorney explained. He has been operating a roadhouse near Houston. Officials in Graham and Houston both believe the man is Conley and expect to send him back to the penitentiary, Mr. Berry declared.

Business Here Holds Good Despite Low Rates

Postal receipts for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1929, totaled $329,503.87, according to the report of O. P. Maricle, postmaster. The receipts for the year ending June 30, 1928, totaled $332,211.60, indicating a decrease of $2,707.73 this year. The decrease may be explained by the fact that postal rates on second class matter were reduced extensively in the last year, Mr. Maricle said. With the large lowering of rates, the apparent decrease may be in reality an increase in the total receipts, it was said.

Tri-Motor Plane Lands Near Here for Repairs

A northbound Ford tri-motored plane of the S. A. F. E. lines landed in a field about 12 miles northeast of Wichita Falls shortly before noon Thursday when the pilot discovered that a small area of sheet metal on the top of the wing had become loosened from the frame.

Robert Cantwell, chief pilot for the company, brought a metal worker from the shops at Tulsa shortly after noon and the minor repairs required were completed Thursday evening. The plane will resume its flight Friday morning.

Mr. Cantwell stated that the metal probably became loose as a result of some one having walked beyond the walk-way of the wing during the overnight stop Wednesday night in Sweetwater.

Oral Jones Goes To Hospital for Operation

Oral Jones, vice president and cashier of the City National bank, went to the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital Thursday night, and expects to undergo an operation Friday morning. Mr. Jones will be absent from his duties at the City National for about 30 days, it was said, but expects to be able to see friends at the clinic within a week.

SILVER CASES SET JULY 15

Stanley and Butler Make Bonds of $2,500

Hub Stanley and Hugh Butler, charged with theft and burglary in connection with the loss of $700 from the Silver store here on June 23, will probably be tried during the week beginning July 15, Sam Spence, district attorney announced Thursday afternoon.

The two were indicted for both theft and burglary in the report of the 30th district grand jury Wednesday. Both were released Thursday when they made $2,500 bond in each case.

The grand jury brought in 18 other indictments naming 15 defendants. Mr. Spence said that the docket for the week of July 15 would include all defendants already under arrest. The bills include one for murder brought against Raymond Lewis, negro, in connection with the fatal stabbing of Henry Toles, another negro on May 19. Other prisoners already held are W. L. Gorman, charged with forgery, Eddie Boone, negro, indicted for burglary; Grover Johnson, negro, billed for theft; Ben Jones, accused of receiving and concealing stolen property; Frank Houston, charged with burglary; and Bailey Craig, indicted for attempt to rape. Three wife desertion charges, several bills for swindling and one for driving while drunk, were also included in the initial report.

Demos Blamed In Advance

If Tariff Fails, It Will Be Their Fault, Smoot Says

By FRASER EDWARDS

WASHINGTON, July 4. (US)—Democratic opponents of the excessive rates in the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill will be blamed if the measure fails to become a law before the regular session begins in December.

That was made plain today by Senator Smoot, Republican, of Utah, chairman of the finance committee, after a conference with President Hoover at the White House.

By the simple device of blaming the Democrats in advance of any consideration of the measure, which still is in the making, Smoot is seeking to pave the way for hasty and ill-considered passage of the bill through the senate, in the opinion of Democratic senators.

At the same time, however, Smoot informed the president that it is extremely doubtful whether the finance committee will be able to whip the bill into shape to present to the senate when it reconvenes on Aug. 19.

Hearings on the free list and the vital administrative features of the bill will not begin until July 11, Smoot said. And he could not estimate the length of time it will require to complete that inquiry before the committee takes the bill behind closed doors for the final touches.

"If the Democrats want to block the passage of the bill at this session, they can protract those hearings," said Smoot. "When the bill gets to the senate will depend upon that."

DEATHS

PAUL WAYNE LEWIS

Paul Wayne Lewis, 8-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Lewis, 1307 North Sixth street, died in a local hospital at 11 o'clock Thursday morning. Funeral services will be held from the chapel of the Merkle Undertaking company at 10 o'clock Friday morning with Rev. E. M. Agee, county Baptist missionary, officiating. Interment will be in Rosemont.

Survivors are the parents; one sister, Yvonne Lee; and a brother, Raymond Kenneth.

TWO GRASS FIRES

Two more grass fires to add to the large total of such calls within the last two weeks were reported by the fire department Thursday. Firemen were called to an alley between Beverly and Garfield streets about 10:45 a. m. and to a lot in the 1600 block on Elizabeth street about 1:25 p. m. Thursday, both calls made because grass fires were menacing nearby houses. No damage was reported in either case.

Traditions of Barrymore Family To Pass to 17-Year-Old Debutante

Ethel Barrymore Dreams of Having Her Daughter Uphold Family's Reputation in Theater World

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service Dramatic Editor

NEW YORK, July 4.—Poets, peasants and great actresses have their dreams.

That of Ethel Barrymore is to have her beautiful, talented 17-year-old daughter, Ethel Barrymore Colt, carry on the traditions of the Barrymore family, which for six generations have upheld the highest standards of the theater.

Her daughter recently graduated with highest honors from Notre Dame convent at Moylan, Pa., where both Ethel Barrymore and her mother, Georgie Drew Barrymore, attended. Miss Barrymore left the convent at the age of 13 to go on the stage.

Talented Student

"I shall take her with me to start her on her stage career," said Miss Barrymore. "She is a wonderful girl, with remarkable intelligence. And she can dive and swim astoundingly well. She is also very fond of her music.

"I shall send her to Europe soon to study for a year before she makes her stage debut. Yes, I shall have her act with me."

Then she added with maternal wistfulness—"unless she gets married and loses her love for the stage."

Miss Barrymore does not believe that stage life offers any snares to girls of innate refinement. She thinks, on the contrary, that the broad contacts of the theater add to the character of a girl. However, she does believe that a girl should conserve her energy for the arduous hours which the theater demands.

Her children often come to the theater to watch their mother in her plays. Sam, her 18-year-old son, was visiting her in her dressing room previous to the interview.

"Sam is going to Princeton," said Miss Barrymore. "He is wild about going on the stage. I shall eventually have both Ethel and Sam in the company with me—I hope."

She laughed happily and I do not think she was acting.

The Barrymore company is strikingly different from the average theatrical troupe. They are all devoted to their leader, some of them having been with her for many years. The company leaves tomorrow for a national tour which will last into January and will include performances in Colorado Springs, Denver, Los Angeles, San Francisco and throughout the Northwest.

Misses Balcony

While Miss Barrymore is a modernist, there is at least one thing in the past of the theater which she misses.

"I always loved the second balcony theater," she said. "It would be filled with real theater lovers, even school girls who had saved their pennies for a seat up there. Now they tell me it is out of date. I shall always miss it."

At 50, Miss Barrymore looks amazingly young at close range. Her figure is slender and her face, a somewhat Egyptian face, is clear of wrinkles. And her lustrous, spiritual eyes carry a song of youth in their depths.

She still plays tennis, swims and rides horseback and reads incessantly. She longs for the country.

"I do not ever go to a night club or that sort of thing," she said. "I think I shall move out to the country when I return from my tour. I love green things."

So that is the real Ethel Barrymore who believes her power to hold an audience is partially psychic, who turned down only the other day the largest offer ever made to a stage star to enter the talking motion pictures and whose big dream is to have her children on the stage with her.

She is a great actress, a great mother and a great lady.

POLICE RENEW LIQUOR RAIDS

Three Negroes Held After Beer Is Seized

Continuing their efforts to convince Wichita Falls bootleggers that the city has "gone dry," Ellis Summers and A. L. Stubblefield, plainclothes men, conducted three raids Thursday in which three negroes were arrested and quantities of evidence seized.

Several sacks of beer bottles, all of which had been recently broken, were discovered near the field in which 1,500 bottles of beer were found Wednesday night. None of the bottles found Thursday were intact, the owners evidently having feared another raid by the officers and broken all the evidence.

About 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon, the officers raided a servant house at an address on Grant street seizing two 50-gallon kegs which container large amounts of grapes and evidences of wine. One negro man was arrested and is being held at the city jail for investigation. At the same place, one full case and one tub containing about 50 bottles of beer were found.

Shortly before 8 o'clock the officers seized about 800 empty bottles, a small amount of beer, several stone crocks, bottle caps, cappers and other beer making apparatus at an address on Franklin street. At this place a negro woman was arrested and was placed in the city jail for investigation Friday.

As the officers were returning to the police station with the haul from Franklin street, they stopped at a house on Barwise street and found several empty pint bottles, a small amount of whisky and whisky glasses. One negro woman was also arrested at this place and is being held for investigation.

Girl Crash Victim Reported Improving

Mary Dailey, 15, of Edwardsville, Ill., who received serious injuries in an automobile crash Wednesday evening, was resting well at the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital, attendants stated Thursday night. The injuries consisted of three fractures of the pelvis, suffered when the car in which she was riding overturned following a collision between the car driven by Lloyd Detlefs, 1662 Collins street, and another car driven by Merwyn Hudgins, 1511 Buchanan street, at the corner of Ninth street and Kemp boulevard about 7 o'clock Wednesday evening.

Four other young people in the same car escaped with only minor bruises and shock. Miss Dailey had been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Longan, 1202 Travis street.

SCOUT JAMBOREE CANCELLED

The Boy Scout jamboree planned for the afternoon of July 4 was postponed on account of the great numbers of boys out of town during the holiday, it was announced Thursday by Frank Creighton, scout executive. The jamboree will be held sometime during the summer, but the exact date will probably be six weeks distant, Mr. Creighton said.
