Groups Reach Final Pact

Colorado River Municipal Water District has agreed to provide water rights to Colorado City and all Mitchell County.

The action by CRMWD is in exchange for the dismissal of a legal suit in 53rd District Court, Austin, opposing the CRMWD moving of a new Colorado River reservoir site from Mitchell County to Coke County.

It is a compromise settlement, already signed by all parties in the dispute, and paves the way for immediate work toward construction of the new dam north of Robert Lee.

The compromise agreement follows several days of conferences between attorney representatives of CRMWD board of directors, County Judge Elmer Martin, Industrial Team President Charles C. Thompson and City Manager Ford Merritt.

Officials of the CRMWD signed the agreement this week as did officials of the municipalities of Colorado City, Lorraine and Westbrook; officials of Mitchell County, Colorado City Industrial Team and Colorado City Chamber of Commerce.

Efforts toward a compromise between the water district and the local factions began soon after the Mitchell County interests (including all three cities, the county, industrial team and chamber) filed suit Sept. 27 in the Travis County district court against the CRMWD.

It was announced at that time the legal action would be continued all the way to the Supreme Court, if necessary to protect the interests within Mitchell County.

However, since opposition was first formed to the change in reservoir sites from Mitchell to Coke County, it has been the aim of most local leaders to obtain some guarantee of water rights from the Colorado River reservoirs (the new site and Lake Thomas) instead of actually blocking construction of a new lake.

And the agreement, signed this week and being filed as part of the court action in 13rd District Court in Austin, provides that guarantee.

Here are the main features of the agreement for Colorado City and Mitchell County, according to Charles Griggs of Sweetwater, attorney representing local interests in the suit and agreement along with County Attorney Frank Gintel.

1. The court suit is dismissed and the compromise becomes part of the court order and judgement.

2. Municipal and or Industrial Water from the district is assured any time in the future when there is need shown by the cities or county governments of Mitchell County.

3. There will be no standby charge or expense — only the expense of the purchase of the water at rates determined on the basis of charges to other cities served by the CRMWD.

4. If there is a critical supply of CRMWD water when the local need arises, then the amount supplied Mitchell County will be determined in ratio to the amounts other cities receive from the district.

5. This agreement provides for water, at future need, not only for Colorado City, Lorraine, Westbrook and Mitchell County — but also for any other governmental body that is formed within the county, such as a local water district.

6. Delivery of the water from the district to the requesting city or cities will at the most feasible point from viewpoint of both contracting parties city making the request and the district.

7. Cost of pipeline from the requesting city to the delivery point will be paid by the city involved, but the agreement stipulates that the district can build the line and then be repaid by the contracting city.

Colorado City now has a presently adequate water supply from Lake Colorado City and Lake Champion — both on tributaries of Colorado River. And the compromise agreement provides assurance of future water supply for either municipal or industrial growth in any area of the county.

Of Cabbages And Kings

All the shows weren't at the midway this past week-end in Dallas.

In fact many of the important exhibitions downtown on Commerce St. far outshone the fat ladies (not all were in the tents), the woman with skin like an alligator or the man with an additional leg growing from his hip.

One of the shows downtown the night before somehow compared to one at the fair the next afternoon.

Downtown I saw a girl walk barefooted for three blocks on a sidewalk literally covered with broken glass. At the fair a man stuck pins into himself. Neither flinched. Probably for somewhat different reasons.

They're everywhere! They're everywhere!

This was bound to be among the many thoughts passing through the mind of those poor, poor and harried policemen attempting to — well, by late Saturday night it was anybody's guess as to what anyone else was trying to do.

It was easy to tell the policemen who had been on duty Friday and Saturday nights. They were the bleary-eyed ones looking somewhat shell-shocked and numb.

And they were there. The students, from every imaginable college — the older ones, perhaps trying to capture a fleeting, staggering glimpse from those days when they were the ones breaking the bottles and drinking beer on the streets.

Members of the local population who came to look and perhaps to make noise themselves. They were all there — in that honking, shouting, noisy, bottle-breaking havoc.

And the fair. They were all there too. From the rich in their $300 suits and big diamonds to the citizens in striped overalls who still had some of the black mud on their high-top work shoes acquired in such places as Bug Tussle and Mud Dig.

All there to view the freaks, the burlesque — to pitch pennies and throw darts at balloons — to see the new cars — and look at new inventions for burning electricity and gas.

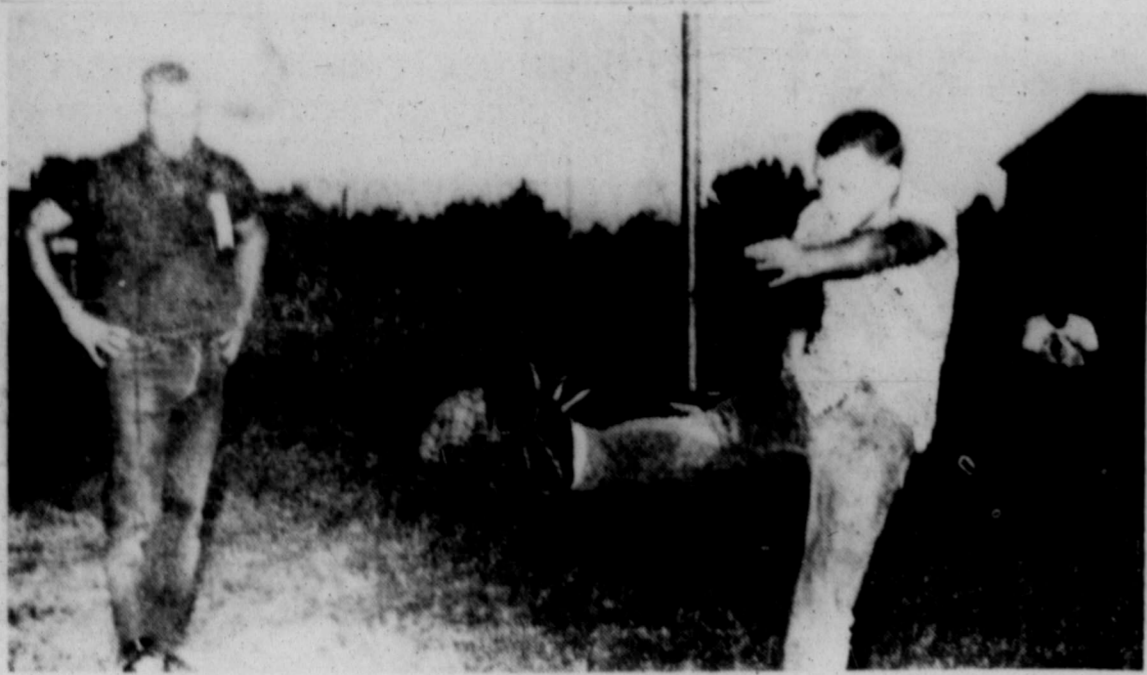

The State Fair of Texas is officially open.

The "Texas-over" week-end is over with the only known casualties being the Sooner football team.

Guilty Plea Made In County Court

Tommie Royce Thornton entered a plea of guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated in Mitchell County Court Monday.

Thornton was sentenced to three days in jail and put on 15-months probation in addition to a $75 fine plus court costs.

High Riding Wolves Set Clash

The Stage Is Set: To Make A Champion

By JAMES ANDERSON

It's going to be an interesting weekend of football in District 5AA and the Southwest Conference and some one is going to be worse for wear in bringing about the outcome.

In our district the big question mark for Colorado City and district fans is the Wolves' battle with the tremendously tough Winters Blizzards. Quite a few people were surprised at the C.C. City victory over Haskell and many thought it to be a "flash in the pan" type of win. Many were skeptical as to any real possibility of the Wolves whipping the solid group of Anson Tigers.

But win they did — and in good fashion. Now comes the Winters contest against a team ranked tops in the area and well up there in the state. Skepticism still prevails among many people. If the Wolves win, most of the skeptics will say the Wolves' chance for a district title is good despite the lurking shadow of Ballinger still hovering over the schedule.

Winters is going to be an exceptionally hard team for the Wolves to beat. There will be no room for mistakes or even any small ones. In one sense of the game Winters shapes up as being too much for the Wolves to handle. However, there are other senses that win football games.

One is spirit and hustle — the will to win. I believe the Wolves have just that — and also that the Blizzards are going to feel the tremendous weight of that spirit and hustle with every block thrown and every tackle made.

A victory will require an exceptional effort, but the potential is there to make such an effort.

The Southwest Conference tightens considerably as it braces for the clash between the Texas Longhorns and the Razorbacks from Fayetteville.

It is always said that the Hogs are tough to beat in their home pen. It is our prediction that the Hogs will indeed be hooked themselves and Arkansas will emerge victorious. The Longhorns are riding the crest of a good season, but the Arkansas team, while not being quite as impressive, will be much of a match for the Teasips.

What has happened to the early season ways of the Dallas Cowboys?

After getting away to a pair of fast and impressive victories, the team has taken a real plunge in losing to St. Louis and Philadelphia.

As one Dallas sportswriter said, "The only time Eagle Quarterback King Hill got dirt on his uniform was when he accidentally sat on a dusty spot on the dressing room bench."

Another writer talking about the Eagles tremendous pass protection said, "Bill had time to lace up a pair of combat boots each time he retreated into the pass pocket."

Craig Morton and Jerry Rhome, the talented pair of rookies who shared the man under spot Sunday, performed well but made the usual rookie mistakes that hurt.

The touted Dallas defensive team went to pieces again and led all-league tackle Bob Lilly to say that perhaps they were trying too hard — trying to be too perfect.

The Cleveland Indians should send the Cowboys on the road to recovery or further downward Sunday when they battle in Cleveland in the "do-or-die" game for the Dallas team.

The Colorado City Wolves, riding the crest of a three game winning streak, slam head into the Winters Blizzards in one of the top area contests of the football season. The Wolves have come on strong in the last three weeks in whacking Merkel, Haskell and Anson in league battles. The Wolves beat Haskell 12-7 and Anson 21-10 while the Blizzards conked the same teams 20-3 over Anson and 34-0 over Haskell.

Wolf Starters

TOP — Marvin Iglehart is the Wolf starting right tackle. David Way, behind, is the starting fullback and a linebacker. BOTTOM — Quarterback Wayne Snowden hands off to Halfback Artie Butler during practice session Tuesday prepping for the Winters tilt.

Both teams are undefeated in district play as Winters have taken the measure of Haskell and Anson in league battles. The Wolves beat Haskell 12-7 and Anson 21-10 while the Blizzards conked the same teams 20-3 over Anson and 34-0 over Haskell.

From looking at those scores, the Blizzards appear to be somewhat stronger than the Wolves. And Head Coach Truman Nix commented Wednesday morning that "Winters was without a doubt the best team in the district personnel wise."

The Wolves are plainly and simply going to have "a hard row to hoe."

Wolves Almost Well
Injury-wise the Wolves are coming around and are expected to be in peak condition for the 7:30 clash in Wolf Stadium Friday night.

Topper Steakley is expected to return to his post after recovering from an injured ankle.

Despite the fact of being out of contact work all week, 190-pound Marvin Iglehart, a leader in the Wolves' offensive line, should be ready to go full speed against the Blizzards. He was the victim of an ankle sprain last week and saw no action against Anson.

Coach Nix was high in praise of Doug Aycock who filled in for the injured Iglehart against the Anson Tigers. "Doug learned the plays while riding on the bus to Anson and did a real fine job for us," Nix commented.

Sub Halfback Bubba Kennedy, who was slowed by a bruised side, is back in good condition.

The Blizzards
Summing up the Blizzards team, Coach Nix said, "They have everything — size, speed, ability, desire and tradition. They're a real good club."

Perhaps the top lineman on the Winters team is 230-pound all-state prospect Roger O'Neal who heads the defensive line that has allowed only 17 points all season. O'Neal also fills in some at the offensive center post. Coach Nix described O'Neal as "being good enough to play college football right now."

The backfield is led by Quarterback Richard Puckett, a fine all-around player who has been slowed in workouts this week by bruises inflicted by Anson and Haskell.

Other members of the backfield include district 100-yard champion Leroy Kettler, 160-pound Jerry Awalt and 182-pound Chane Bishop, who is used mainly as a blocker and pass receiver.

The Blizzards run from a pro-type offense shifting from an 'I' into a 'Winged-T' and splitting both ends.

Thus far this year, Winters has used a well-balanced attack of passing and running. Their lone loss has been to Brady 14-0. In their non-conference victories, they have walloped Lakeview (San Angelor 36-0, Mason 45-0 and Albany 41-0.

The Winters' defense is a six-man line with two tackles, two ends and two cornerbacks playing up on the line. Then there are two inside linebackers, a pair of halfbacks and a safety.

In an interview with the COLORADO RECORD, Winters Head Mentor L. G. Wilson said, "We are really expecting a rough one from the Wolves, they have good stick-ability and scrap right down to the final gun."

Wilson also mentioned that his scouting staff has been much impressed with the Wolves' passing attack during the year.

The Wolves
Following three days of "good workouts" the Wolves are expected to be in high spirits for the Blizzards.

Coach Nix is expected to formulate a game plan containing a considerable amount of throwing in order to loosen up the tough Winters line.

Nix added that the win over the Anson Tigers had given the Wolves some much needed confidence.

The Wolves will almost certainly be facing a better team of Blizzards than tied Stamford for the district title in 1964.

HERE IN COLORADO CITY

Jay Adams Displays New Olds Thursday

Oldsmobile's 1966 line of automobiles — with new advances engineering and design — make their debut Thursday with a premier showing at Jay Adams Chevrolet & Oldsmobile, east Highway 80 in Colorado City.

There are 10 model series in the '66 Oldsmobile line — plus the unique new front wheel drive Toronado — with 11 Rocket V-8 engines and a brand new in-line 6.

From the all-new Toronado to the thrifty F-85, Olds cars offer a wide spectrum of models, performance, appointments and price.

You can select from five models in the luxury Ninety-Eight series, a sports coupe in the Starfire line, four models in each the Delta 88, Dynamic 88 and Vista-Cruiser lines; five models in each of the Cutlass, F-85 and 4-4-2 lines; three among the Jetstar 88's and two in the F-85 Station Wagon group.

Silhouette of the Olds Ninety-Eight appears longer and lower for 1966.

The Ninety-eight has the comfort of coil-spring suspension and the power responsiveness of 425-cubic inch Super Rocket V-8 with Turbo-ette is obvious, too, in the Dynamic 88 series — two sedans, hardtop coupe and convertible. And a 425-cubic inch Super Rocket V-8 delivers fine performance for the Dynamic, up to 365 horsepower.

Popular price is a keynote of the Jetstar 88's with regular or premium fuel Rocket V-8 delivering to 320 horsepower.

A new 4-door hardtop is a highlight of the Cutlass series, with 294 inches. Adding to the sassy appearance of the Cutlass are round wheel-cuts, new grille, optional vinyl roof of hardtops with 320-horsepower V-8.

Olds for '66 in its chassis design offers these engineering high points:

Guard Beam Frame — perimeter-type design that cradles the chassis, adds to passenger comfort and increases ground clearance.

Vibra-Tuned Body Mount-

ings — durable combination of synthetic rubber mountings Hydra-Matic Drive. Standard equipment includes power steering, power brakes, electric clock, courtesy lights and parking brake lights on all models. Luxury sedan, Holiday sedan, Holiday coupe, Town sedan and convertible.

Delta 88, with full 123-inch wheelbase and full-width Guard Beam frame, is the top of-the-line among Olds 88's for 1966. There's a choice Celebrity sedan, Holiday sedan and coupe or the brand-new Delta 88 Convertible.

ELECTRIC DRYER Fall Festival OF SAVINGS

See your dealer now about his special installation offer on a flameless ELECTRIC dryer

SAVE MONEY. Low in initial cost and economical to install, an electric clothes dryer will cost you even less now because of your dealer's special installation offer.

SAVE TIME. You'll save hours of time every week with fast, flameless electric drying. It takes only minutes to load and set your dryer. And you can dry clothes day or night in any kind of weather.

SAVE WORK. You're spared all the backbreaking work of hanging heavy wet clothes on the line when you dry electrically. There's less sprinkling to be done and many pieces come out of your dryer so fluffy-soft, they need little or no ironing.

SAVE CLOTHES. Your clothes will wear longer because the precision-controlled heat of an electric dryer is safe for even the faintest fabrics. Clothes don't fade or deteriorate as when dried outdoors. And you actually need fewer clothes because they can be dried quickly and worn often.

See the new flameless electric clothes dryers now on display at your dealer's. Ask about his special installation offer.

CONVERSATION CORNER

NATIONAL Newspaper Week started Sunday and will end Saturday at midnight. And just what makes National Newspaper Week any different? Nothing. Not one thing. Newspaper people celebrate it exactly like they celebrate the 51 other weeks in any year.

It's spent gathering news, writing news, editing news, headlining news, proofing print. And sometimes gnashing the teeth. It's spent answering the phone... consulting the dictionary to see how to spell fuchsia peau de soie... looking into the Texas Almanac, the World Almanac... even, on occasion, the Holy Bible.

NATIONAL Newspaper Week is nothing to write home about. When it comes to special events, at any rate. Mitchell County Fair, The State Fair, PTA receptions, football games, engagement announcements, and Old-Timer reunions go right on. And it's "business as usual" all over town.

Course City National Bank closed its door all day Tuesday. But only to honor a man named Christopher Columbus. The holiday didn't have much to do with newspapers or newspaper people.

Heck, they didn't even close the schools. They just gave the kids six-weeks tests up there. Which may, or may not have any connection with Newspaper Week, per se.

BECAUSE this is a funny business... and also a very "fun" job... this column appointed itself a committee of one to celebrate the week, anyhow.

Celebrate, as is customary, by advice to the young and tender. Concerning a career in journalism. It's sure to be full of "Dont's." If you want to get rich, don't eye this business. If you can't stand the slightest fault-finding, don't try it. If you like regular hours and long vacations, give it up before you start. If you mind ink on the nose stay out. If you have no natural interest in what's going on when and where, and finding out how come, don't bother.

If, on the other hand, you are by nature curious... if you can grin at mistakes, starting with those you make yourself... if you don't mind eating at odd hours... and working overtime when necessary... you might give it a fling.

Specially if you like words and are fairly literate... can hold your own when you take a stand you believe to be right... and don't care who knows it. If you like all—or a big percent of the human race, you're right for it.

And, as the British poet Kipling said, "If you can keep your head when all about you are losing theirs and blaming it on you... well... you can always write another head (skip talk for headline) and then get back to work on copy for the next issue."

NEWSPAPERS — and the people who work for them are private business. But not in the opinion of people who read them. People believe local papers are public institutions and belong to everybody. Or should.

People fuss when they read them. And fuss more when they miss them. But there's always this to remember: when readers fail to comment, never disagree, never criticize, never find fault, then newspapers might as well quit. 'Cause they aren't being read.

And the only way you can really get a real newspaper man (or woman) down is to ignore his worthy — or wacky — efforts. So there!

MEET THE PRESS: newspapers, big or little, like stores and offices of other businesses, usually have a staff of people assigned to special duties or services. Not that it always works out like that — specially over the phone.

Right now, getting out your Colorado City Record, twice a week, is Joe Bell, publisher, owner, editor-in-chief. He's a Howard Payne product, formerly worked at Brownwood, Ft. Worth Press, Star-Telegram, and was a WWII Marine War correspondent. He's husband of Madge, father of Brenda, University of Texas student, and of Craig, CHS senior student.

James Thomas Anderson (Jamie) is news editor and photographer. He's a local boy, CHS grad and ex-student in journalism at Texas Tech. He's still single!

Yours truly, Ruth Coffey, wife of Bill, is editor of women's news and columnist. Mother of Bill Coffey Jr. of Midland, Michigan; Doris Ann Coffey Mann; grandmother of Jim and Betsy, of C-City. MRS. degree acquired at Baylor U.

ADVERTISING man is Lacy Bales, married to Dolores, father of two little daughters. Educated at Hardin-Simmons. Formerly worked at Snyder and at Brownfield.

Annie Dixon, widow of Ross Dixon Sr., is our best all-around gal. She keeps the books, takes care of classified ads, subscription department, and — if the rest of us can wish it off on her — heads the complaint department. Annie grew up in Lorraine as Annie-Bess Wilkerson. She's mother of Judy Williams (Mrs. Tommy) of Snyder, grandmother of two little ones.

Mechanical force is headed by John Bordeaux, Arlington native who moved here from Floydada. He's a US Navy veteran, active in VFW, is married and fathers three young sons.

Also working in the shop are Joe Landeros, husband of Lou and daddy of Joey and Herman Ornelas whose wife is Mary Victoria. They have two little boys.

Steve Oyler, son of Wilford and Betty, grandson of Margaret, works the addressograph, develops the pictures and gets the mailing list papers to the postoffice. Loyce Jones manages local circulation. She's wife of Harvey, mother of three, grandmother of one.

Newspaper week, or any other week, these people are your Record.

AT WESTBROOK the Record's correspondent, as newsy as they come, is Blanche McCarley Bell, wife of Willie Bell, mother of four. She's active in Baptist, school and community affairs.

Out at that thriving cotton-raising community, China Grove, Mrs. N. F. Hall sends in the news.

Mrs. George Fugate who used to be a reporter for Silver News, has moved to Colorado City. And a nice addition to town, the family is, too.

Add to those, all the willing reporters of organizations, and you have a pretty good idea of how many people sometimes have a hand in getting eight or twelve or 14 or 16 pages on the press, off the press, and on the grass for you.

Even a little paper takes pains —
Though readers may sometimes doubt it.
We're wrong when they write
Better keep out of sight
And that's the truth about it.

NOT SURPRISING —

You probably weren't surprised that the captain of leading team in the Chamber of Commerce membership drive was J. Ralph Lee, the venerable citizen and laundryman.

You will have to hunt a long, long time before you find a gent who has given more of his time, interest, enthusiasm to our community than Ralph.

He was in good company, too, in the membership campaign — for all of those volunteer workers are the type who contribute the extra effort for our community and, therefore, benefit all of us.

ENRICHMENT SERIES

Zetagathian Club Studies 'How Children Learn'

Second in their series of "Endeavors towards Enrichment" programs was presented for members of the Zetagathian Study Club with Mrs. Sam L. Majors Jr. and Mrs. Joe D. Burchard as speakers.

Club members met in the country home of Mrs. Warren Anderson, route 3, Thursday, Topik for the afternoon "Enrichment Through Children" featured the program subject, "How Children Learn."

Mrs. Majors discussed "The Love of Learning" with emphasis on influence of the home, church and school.

"In developing a love for learning," Mrs. Majors said, "the child must have an awareness of parental love, a respect for constituted authority, a basic self-respect, a sense of values, and a faith in God."

She then named three general principles to make teaching more effective: clarity, patience and responsibility. Mrs. Majors also gave a number of long-range goals for a lifetime of education.

"Too many children are learning to accept and not to create," she said, "to sit and view instead of do." Parents should want a child, she added, to have a healthy personality, to live effectively with others in his group, to think critically so that he can evaluate what he sees and hears and reads, to work creatively. Parents can help achieve these goals by setting an example, she said.

"Many factors influence how a child learns — his age and mental ability, his home background and experience, his physical condition and emotional makeup, his self-confidence or lack of it, his interests and needs. With stimulating experiences in a good atmosphere for learning, a child should be given a wish increase."

"The important thing is not recent guests in the N. F. Hall home have been Mrs. Molly Durham of Midland, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Prescott and Smitty Smith of Colorado City; Mrs. Stella Mize, Mrs. Curtis Shaw and Mrs. L. C. Mize of China Grove.

so much that every child to learn," she concluded. "Children in a changing world should learn as that every child should die given a wish."

World" was the subject discussed by Mrs. Burchard. "One of the things we can be absolutely sure of in the world around us is change," she began. "We know our children will have to adjust to tremendous changes in order to survive. How can we help them to live in a period when change is inevitable?"

"First of all," she said in answer to the question, "we need to keep in mind the goal of all thoughtful parents — to help our children believe in themselves and to have faith in their own ability."

"We need to foster in our children these positive attitudes," she said. "I can do it. I like things that are different. I expect things to change, and there are so many interesting things to do! Help your child stretch, reach out — but with satisfaction, not frustration," she said.

The hostess served refreshments to one guest, Mrs. Harlan Birdwell, and to Mrs. J. S. Craddock, Jr., Mrs. Bob Foe, Jr., Mrs. L. S. TIPS FOR OUTDOORSMEN

By Vern Sanford

There is no such thing as an all-purpose rifle.

Nevertheless, for financial reasons the average hunter must make one weapon do all his hunting needs.

Let's say that he wants to hunt mule deer in West Texas or Colorado, whitetail deer somewhere else, even antelope. In that case he needs a rifle that will adequately cover his needs.

Then let's consider the 30.06. With Texans it still is the most popular of all hunting rifles.

This time-honored weapon will do the job even on the bigger mule deer and the huge black bear. And it's adequate for whitetails and even antelope within certain limitations.

Nowadays, however, there are other rifles just as good, like the 308 and the 243. But to operate within full potential and satisfy all the needs, the weapon demands a sight that will give comparable performance.

Today the trend is to scope-sight. Under almost all circumstances the scope will do the job better than will conventional iron sights. But a fixed-power scope is, at best, a poor compromise.

Suppose you have a four-power (4x) sight. It isn't quite strong enough for antelope shooting, yet at times it is a little too powerful for hunting whitetails, particularly when shooting at a fast-moving deer.

So what's the answer? Nearest thing to an all-around sight is a variable.

Modern engineering improvements have made the variable scope adequate for all most all-hunting needs. And the price tag is coming down to compare favorably with fixed-power scopes.

You'll pay more for the variable, but the old saying that "you get just what you pay for" certainly is apt here.

Early variables weren't too favorable. For one thing, they tended to be unnecessarily bulky. For another, the size of the crosshairs changed size as you switched power. And in damp weather they often fogged up and were practically worthless.

Any resemblance between this first model and modern day variables is purely coincidental. At first glance it is difficult to tell a variable from a fixed-power scope anymore. And when you change power the crosshairs remain constant in size.

Modern scopes are sturdy and greatly improved. Sturdy mounts make them almost as durable as iron sights. Sure, the scope is sticking up there just begging to be knocked out of alignment, but it takes quite a blow to throw one off anymore.

One model even has a range finder built into the scope. In long distance shooting, like with antelope, you actually can tell how far the game is away. So, if you know the range your rifle is sighted in, you can compensate for any added distance by holding it slightly high to offset any drop of the bullet. Or aim lower at closer targets.

Most variables range from about 2.5X to 7X or 8X or even 9X. This means at lower power you have two-and-one-half times the magnification of your normal eyesight, and with 8X you have eight times. But magnification is just part of the scope story. A quality glass has the ability to gather and intensify light. This makes it much easier to use early in the morning and late in the day or during heavy overcast. These are the times when iron sights tend to blur.

With a scope it's also easier to pick out game standing still in underbrush. Good scopes almost seem to "see" through the brush. Only real drawback is that a scope is difficult to use on running game at close range, such as when hunting deer. But this is more a matter of experience than anything else—as we quickly learned.

Loraine Soph Officers

ter; Minfa Marentes, secretary-at-arms; Shirley Rose, secretary; and Peter Galvan, parliamentarian.

Canada Program Topic At Hesperian Daughters

Hesperian Daughters Study Club heard Mrs. A. L. Geer, club member present a "Study of Canada" Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Warren C. Olin, 105 First 11th St. was hostess for the program. Meeting Mrs. H. F. Poe, Sr., vice-president presided during a business session.

Members approved a club donation to the Forest Smith fund and set the date and show for 1966. Dinner was served at 6:30 p.m. at the old Adams home.

Mrs. Geer's discussion of Canada began with a review of pertinent facts about the neighbor to the north of the United States of America. She talked her listeners of a host of facts by Gerald Clark, "Canada, the Unhappy Neighbor," recently praised by Richard Starnes.

The speaker reviewed briefly Canada's capital, arctic, flag, monetary unit. Her description of Canada's location, size, and extent as "the second largest country in the world," was more detailed. She named the country's 10 provinces and two territories and pictured its terrain and its climate where "winters last from seven months in the south to eleven months in the north."

Floral, bird, and animal life study completed Mrs. Geer's introductory information. Then she spoke of the population, the origins of Canada's peoples, the languages, both French and English, spoken in Canada's natural resources of lakes and rivers, forests and fish, and the mining industry there.

In conclusion, she explained the educational system, with each province having its own system; the tourist attraction and business. She climaxed her paper by reading from an article in National Geographic of April, 1964, and quoting Livingston Werchard, former U.S. Ambassador to Canada who said, "Canada is more important to the United States than any other single country."

Members attending the Friday afternoon program were Mrs. John M. Worrell, Sr., Mrs. Frank Glanz, Mrs. Don Albright, Mrs. Willis Jones, Mrs. Curtis Erwin, Sr., Mrs. F. V. Grantland, Mrs. Fee and Mrs. Geer.

COOKERY

Quick

- Q What is the name of this cut of meat?
A Beef tenderloin Chuck Roast.
- Q Where does it come from?
How is it obtained?
A It comes from the inside of the chuck or shoulder section, the fore-quarter of beef. It's a lean cut, but unlike many similar appearing cuts, it does not need to be tied with cord or string for holding together. One end, pictured in the front, shows the rib eye muscle.
- Q How is it prepared?
A By broiling. Brown the meat first in lard or dripping. Pour off drippings. Season as desired with salt, pepper, herbs or spices. Add liquid, but not more than 1 cup. This may be water, vegetable juice, beef bouillon or even catsup. Cover tightly and cook slowly 1 to 2 hours or until tender.

Sandwich Comes in King Size

Super-sized sandwich gets the popularity vote these days and this one made with deviled ham in the slices is no exception.

Sandwiches are one of the most popular of American foods. There is literally no calling in the ways they can be prepared.

How about a whole loaf of sandwiches for a family meal? A foot-long loaf of French bread can be filled with a combination of seasoned, deviled ham, tomato and cucumber slices to add vegetables and texture. It's almost a meal in a loaf!

Deviled ham makes sandwiches with mustard and mayonnaise, or with a spicy sauce. Spread the mixture on the slices of the bread before adding the other fillings. The bread slices are best if they can be separated easily for serving.

King Size Ham Sandwich
2 cups (1 1/2 cups) sliced ham
1 loaf French bread, approx. 12 inches long
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
2 tablespoons prepared mustard

4 small tomato slices
12 thin cucumber slices
Cut bread into 1/2 inch thick slices, being careful not to cut all the way through the loaf.
Combine deviled ham, mayonnaise and mustard. Spread ham mixture between bread slices, leaving every fourth slice without filling. Place tomato slice in first cut and 2 cucumber slices in second cut, with filling and fourth cut plain. Repeat, using remaining cucumber and tomato slices. Place loaf on a baking sheet and bake in a hot oven (400° F.) 20 minutes. Slice between every fourth cut to make 8 sandwiches.

Mr. and Mrs. George Dawson returned Monday from Albuquerque, New Mexico, where they visited in the home of their son, Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Dawson and family. They visited another son and family, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Dawson in Fortuna on their return trip.
