The SDN Column

Keeping tab on our neighbors:

Sam Pendergrast, in his "Blowing with the Wind," column in the San Angelo Standard-Times, quoted Dr. Verna Mae Crutchfield, who heads the Volunteer Services Council for San Angelo Center—

"Don't look for volunteers who have nothing to do. People who have nothing to do are usually those who aren't looking for anything to do."

That seems to be true not only in volunteer community work, but also in employment these days.

Anyway, if you see someone out working in the United Way drive who has been identified with umpteen other projects recently, this may explain it. Those who are willing get called upon most and respond most.

And there will be some potential contributors, of course, who will act as if they think the workers are collecting the United Way money for themselves when they are contacted as they try to think up excuses to avoid giving.

Late season rains have produced a mosquito crop on the Plains, reports Charles Didway in the Post Dispatch.

"The mosquitoes had more fun at last Friday night's high school football games north of here than ants have at a picnic," Didway said. It seems that a Denver City Press sportswriter complained about the mosquito situation at Cooper, and Post fans found plenty of mosquitoes at Slaton. They also were in evidence at the Pampa-Lubbock game, Didway said, resulting in cans of repellent being used by fans.

"The city sprayed the area during the game, but it didn't seem to help much."

Fans throughout the nation witnessed a spraying in Lubbock a couple of years ago when a fogging machine circled Jones Stadium on the Texas Tech Campus while the Coaches All-America game was on nation-wide television.

CAMPAIGN LAUNCHED—Jack Cummins, general chairman, points to the sign proclaiming the United Way goal at the kickoff dinner Thursday night in the Scurry County Coliseum. At left is Roger B. Mize, who heads the advance gifts division, and at right is Don Woofen, Branch house division chairman. The advance gifts and branch house divisions already have reported in with substantial gifts and pledges in the campaign to provide funds for 13 participating agencies.

AT KICKOFF BANQUET

United Way Workers Told All Dependent On Others

"We're here because there is a need, and we think we can help with that need," declared Dale Johnson, public relations supervisor for Southwestern Bell in Lubbock, who spoke last night at the kickoff Banquet for the Scurry County United Way. Some 200 persons attended the dinner in the Scurry County Coliseum.

Johnson said that the United Way is a good way to take care of the needs of the community. He said "none of us is self-sufficient–we all are affected by other people. We have to depend on others."

The former newspaperman said the United Way does not exist "just for the down and out" but for a number of other worthy causes. For instance, he pointed out the United Way supports youth groups such as Girl Scouts and the Boys' Club and helps pay for medical research. The USO, Red Cross and Salvation Army–organizations that help people daily–also are the beneficiaries of the United Way, Johnson pointed out.

"The United Way is an essential part in the solution of the problems that face the community today," Johnson declared.

He said United Way workers have the responsiblity of talking others into contributing, and he told them that it is important for them to understand and to believe in the United Way.

"Don't get complacent about the drive just because you've already reached 33 per cent of your goal," Johnson cautioned the driver workers, "Complacency is our biggest obstacle," he said.

Johnson said the success of the United Way campaign can not be taken for granted, that it requires the support of virtually everyone in the community for a successful campaign.

Discussing the importance of public opinion, Johnson quoted

WTC Play Held Over

The Western Texas College Drama Department's fall production, "The Last of the Red Hot Lovers," will be held over for a Monday night performance, it was announced this morning.

Charles Holland, director, said the Fine Arts Theatre at WTC had been sold out for the remaining performances this week. It opened Wednesday night and had been scheduled for performance each night through Saturday.

Tickets for Monday night's performance may be purchased at Roy McCloskey Insurance office, at Snyder Drug and at the business office and book store at WTC.

CRMD Lakes Record Gains

Lakes of the Colorado River Municipal Water District picked up nearly 17,000 acre feet of water from rains of last Sunday and Monday.

Lake E.V. Spence at Robert Lee made the biggest catch, approximately 13,000 acre feet.

Lake J.B. Thomas picked up nearly 3,500 acre feet and its elevation gained over a foot, standing at 2223.87 Thursday.

Emigration Pact Clears Way For Trade With USSR

By BARTON REPPERT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., announced today at the White House what he described as a historic step aimed at ensuring free emigration from the Soviet Union of at least 60,000 persons a year.

The accord involving Congress, the Ford administration and the Soviet Union, also opens the way for congressional passage of major trade legislation and ends a two-year fight by Jackson and others to liberalize Soviet emigration policies.

Following a half-hour meeting with Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, Jackson was given the use of a White House podium to unveil a six-point agreement outlined in an exchange of correspondence between him and Kissinger.

The White House made no announcement of its own and all press releases distributed there on the matter were from Jackson's office.

In essence, Jackson and other proponents of freer Soviet emigration agreed to an 18-month trial period during which the new Soviet policies will be implemented and, in return, Congress will authorize the granting of tariff concessions and credits to the Soviets.

Noting that Congress can end the arrangement after 18 months if it feels the Soviets are not upholding their part of the bargain, Jackson told reporters, "I think the safeguards are more than adequate."

In a letter to Jackson, Kissinger wrote, "I should like, on behalf of the administration, to inform you that we have been assured that the following criteria and practices will henceforth govern emigration from the USSR."

Kissinger listed six points.

Jackson, Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., have been working to formulate final legislative language for the compromise accord, seeking to spell out an acceptable level of Soviet Jewish emigration and provide assurances that the Soviets will cease harrassing persons seeking to leave.

The points listed by Kissinger were:

1. "Punitive actions against individuals seeking to emigrate from the USSR would be violations of Soviet laws and regulations and will therefore not be permitted ...."

2. "No unreasonable or unlawful impediments will be placed in the way of persons desiring to make application for emigration ...."

3. "Applications for emigration will be processed in order of receipt, including those previously filed, and on a nondiscriminatory basis as regards the place of residence, race, religion, national origin and professional status of the applicant."

4. "Hardship cases will be processed sympathetically and expeditiously ...."

5. "The collection of the so-called emigration tax on emigrants which was suspended last year will remain suspended."

6. "With respect to all the foregoing points, we will be in a position to bring to the attention of the Soviet leadership indications that we may have that these criteria and practices are not being applied. Our representations ... will receive sympathetic consideration and response."

USSR, Egypt To Support New State

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union and Egypt agreed today to support the creation of a Palestinian state as a prerequisite for an over-all peaceful settlement in the Middle East.

"The USSR and Egypt have come to understanding that full and ultimate political settlement which must be accomplished within the framework of the Geneva conference with the aim of establishment of a just and lasting peace in the Middle East is possible only on condition of securing the legitimate rights of the Arab people of Palestine, including its right to creation of its national home," Tass said.

The official Soviet news agency said the two countries called for seating the Palestine Liberation Organization at any future Geneva peace talks as a full participant.

Egypt's official Middle East News Agency issued a similar statement.

The communique was issued after a visit to Moscow by Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy.

Dean Testifies About Demands

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former White House counsel John W. Dean III testified today that John D. Ehrlichman said he would talk to then President Richard M. Nixon about demands by some of the Watergate burglars for assurances of help from the White House.

Dean, testifying at the Watergate cover-up trial of Ehrlichman and four other men, said the demand was communicated to special counsel Charles W. Colson from E. Howard Hunt, one of the principals in the Watergate burglary.

On Jan. 3, 1973, Dean said, Colson reported that he had met with Hunt's attorney, William O. Bittman, who said Hunt was "most distraught, washed out, his ulcers were bothering him, his mental attitude was bad and he wanted to plead guilty" unless assurances were coming from the White House.

"Ehrlichman said Colson should not get into any specific executive clemency or grants of leniency with Mr. Bittman," Dean said. He added that Ehrlichman said he "would take it up with the President himself and that Colson should not bring it up but wait until Ehrlichman gets back to him."

On Jan. 5, three days before Hunt and the six other men were scheduled to go on trial, Colson told Ehrlichman and Dean that "I have given Bittman assurances, but no hard commitments," Dean testified. He said that Colson related he had told the Hunt lawyer:

"You can tell Hunt a year is a long time and clemency is generally considered around Christmas time."

After hearing that, Dean said, he told Ehrlichman that the word certainly would spread among the other defendants and asked what he should do if they also made demands on the White House.

"He said give the others the same assurances but no hard commitments," Dean related.

Afterward, he said, he told former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, also one of the defendants in this case, about the assurances given to Hunt but said he could not recall Mitchell's response.

Dean also testified that Ehrlichman and Mitchell became uneasy about the prospect of re-election committee official Frederick LaRue traveling about the country soliciting funds without being able to say what the money would be used for.

Dean quoted Ehrlichman as saying, "It's a very bad idea for LaRue to go around the country raising this money."

Dean said Ehrlichman suggested that a Greek millionaire and long-time Nixon campaign supporter, Thomas Pappas, be contacted as a possible source of funds to help the original Watergate defendants.

Dean's testimony came after the court was told that Nixon may soon be well enough to testify in person.

Ford Inks Compromise Aid Bill With Reservations

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford today signed "with serious reservations" a compromise bill that postponed until Dec. 10 a ban on military aid to Turkey while attempts are made to negotiate a Cyprus dispute.

Ford said in a statement he considered the action of Congress "ill-advised and dangerous" but, he signed the measure because Congress "has eased the most troublesome of the earlier restrictions."

As a result of signing of the continuing resolution, funds for the operations of several departments and agencies, held up for three weeks, can now be released.

Ford twice vetoed similar versions of this bill because he said it would impede U.S. efforts at diplomatic negotiations to reach a settlement in Cyprus.

He was still dissatisfieed and said: "Whatever we can still do to assist in resolving the Cyprus dispute will be done. But if we fail despite our best efforts, those in Congress who over-rode the congressional leadership must bear the full responsibility for that failure."

A compromise on a twice-vetoed money bill suspends aid to Turkey Dec. 10, or sooner if Turkey increases its 40,000-man occupation force in Cyprus or sends it any more U.S. "implements of war."

The compromise was worked out after the House failed Thursday for the second time in a week to override Ford's veto of a normally routine funding resolution. The Turkey military aid ban was attached to the resolution.

The House vote on the veto was 161 to 83, two short of the two-thirds majority required to override. The compromise was passed by the House 191 to 33 and in the Senate by voice vote.

Both houses of Congress then closed up shop for a 32-day recess until after the Nov. 5 election, when they will return to tackle unfinished business, including appropriations for several major government departments.

Final action on the money resolution and the President's agreement to sign it took the squeeze off thousands of government employes who had been facing payless paydays next week.

Pupils To Get Holiday Monday

Public School pupils will get a holiday Monday as their teachers take a day out of the classroom to attend the annual meeting of District XIV, Texas State Teachers Association.

The TSTA session for this district will be held in Sweetwater this year.

Regular classes in local public schools will resume on Tuesday morning.

Local Bank Deposits Up Over 1973

Snyder bank deposits are up nearly $5½ million over last year, according to reports today in response to calls from regulatory agencies.

The two banks here had a total of $50,775,558.80 on deposit Oct. 15, the date specified in the call, compared to a total of $45,376,007.64 for the comparable period in 1973.

Loans, at $20,915,749.27, were down slightly from last year's figure of $21,573,590.68.

Although the deposits were up substantially over those of a year ago, they were off slightly from June 30 totals of $51,927,829.73, which was an all-time record for mid-year.

The 1974 third quarter figures showed West Texas State Bank with deposits of $22,267,204.04 and loans of $9,878,157.74. Snyder National Bank had deposits of $28,508,354.76 and loans of $11,037,591.53.

Wants no wheels at her wedding

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by The Chicago Tribune

DEAR ABBY: I am being married soon. My fiance's favorite brother, who was asked to be our best man, has just undergone his third operation. He will be out of the hospital in time for our wedding, but he'll be in a wheel chair for several months.

My fiance insists that his brother be in the wedding party, wheelchair or no wheelchair.

Abby, there will be over 500 people at the wedding and reception. I'm having a professional photographer take pictures of the whole thing—even movies—and I just know that wheelchair will ruin everything. Imagine, the best man going down the aisle in a wheelchair! I'm afraid people will laugh.

Please don't get me wrong, Abby. I love my future brother-in-law and am sorry for what he's had to go through, but I think someone else should take his place as best man. Am I wrong for wanting everything to be perfect?

PHOENIX BRIDE

DEAR BRIDE: If by "perfect" you mean appearances over the feelings of your fiance and his favorite brother, you are indeed wrong.

A best man in a wheelchair (or for that matter, ANY member of the wedding in a wheelchair) is not unique in the annals of wedding ceremonies. And it's not apt to be laughed at.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 13-year-old girl. I'm writing this for my brother (he's 12) and myself because we both have the same problem. It's our father.

He refuses to take a vacation. Dad says he can't spare the time. He's in the insurance business and he makes a good living, but what good is the money if he works himself to death? Mom is a housewife. We live in a nice home in the suburbs, have two cars, nice clothes and my brother and I go to a good camp.

Mom and Dad haven't had a vacation together since they've been married. Other families take a vacation every year. All our dad knows is work. Is there some way we can get him to take a vacation?

We're not asking for a trip ourselves. We'd be happy if he took Mom and went someplace for a rest. Can you solve our problem?

MILWAUKEE KIDS

DEAR KIDS: You might tell Dad that because you love him you want him to live a long time, so he'd better take care of his health. Being in the insurance business he knows that all work and no play may make a lot of jack, but it also makes Jack a poor insurance risk.

DEAR ABBY: Sixteen years ago I read a letter in your column urging readers to remove the doors from stored and abandoned iceboxes and refrigerators so children couldn't crawl into them and become accidentally trapped. (You called them "potential coffins.")

I remembered that letter so vividly because the year before, I had lost a precious four-year-old grandson in such a senseless accident. Following his death, his mother (my daughter-in-law) had psychiatric treatment for a year to overcome her recurring nightmares and feelings of guilt.

I read the same warning in your column three more times over the years.

Yesterday I read a small item in our local newspaper. A seven-year-old girl, who had been missing for 12 hours, was found dead in an abandoned icebox stored in the basement of a playmate's home. During a game of hide and seek, the child had crawled into the icebox, was trapped, and eventually died of suffocation.

Abby, will you please warn your readers again? It may save a young life.

GRANDMA

DEAR GRANDMA: I will. But most people are strange. They think the weird things about which they read can never happen to them.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Commemorate Churchill Centennial

NEW YORK (AP) — The hundredth anniversary of Winston Churchill's birth is Nov. 30, and among the books to commemorate the occasion is Rand McNally's new "Winston Churchill: A Pictorial Life History." According to the book, 18 year-old Winston once complained to his mother, "I can never do anything right." Yet on his 90th birthday, greetings poured in addressed simply "To The Greatest Man Alive."

Happy In Excellent Condition

By CHARLES WHITE
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Vice President-designate Nelson A. Rockefeller's wife, Happy, was reported in excellent condition today after a breast cancer operation similar to that performed three weeks ago on First Lady Betty Ford.

"Mrs. Rockefeller had a very comfortable night and her condition this morning is reported to be excellent," said a bulletin released in mid-morning by Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center, where her left breast was removed in a 3½-hour operation Thursday.

Doctors have said there was no evidence of cancer in Mrs. Rockefeller's lymph nodes, and chances of long-term survival are about 90 per cent.

Rockefeller arrived at his midtown Manhattan offices shortly after 9 a.m. and told newsmen he had spoken with his wife by telephone and she was "in fine spirits."

He said he planned to have lunch and supper with her at the hospital.

"She is now off intravenous fluids and is on a light diet. She is able to get out of bed and sit up in a chair. Her spirits are excellent," the hospital report said.

"The rehabilitation team has already begun working with her and she is now able to raise her left arm above her head. Every indication is that her recovery will be rapid and she will be able to return home by next Friday."

Her surgeon, Dr. Jerome Urban, had said after the operation that "she recuperated fantastically rapidly."

Asked if his wife's operation would affect his political plans, Rockefeller said that because of the type of person she is, he didn't think it would.

Democrats To Press Override

By CARL C. CRAFT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Key Democrats plan to press Congress to override President Ford's veto of what he brands an "unconstitutional and unworkable" bill to amend the Freedom of Information Act.

The bill, overturning a 1973 Supreme Court decision in a secrecy-stamping case and closing what the measure's authors call major loopholes in the law, could adversely affect intelligence secrets and diplomatic relations, Ford said as he vetoed it Thursday.

"The President is demonstrating an arrogance that would be believable if a man holding a mandate from the people occupied the office of the presidency. But it is unbelievable, almost incredible, arrogance for a man whose only mandate came from a single congressional district," said Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., who headed an 11-year drive for the Freedom of Information Act enacted in 1967.

The Supreme Court decided that a president could classify documents basically free of judicial review. This bill would give federal courts power to see if documents were properly classified.

Ford argued that this would mean courts would be allowed to make what amounts to "the initial classification decision in sensitive and complex areas where they have no expertise."

Moss, in a telephone interview from Sacramento, Calif., said, "I would rather trust the courts, and I think their action through the whole unhappy history of Watergate proves that we can place our confidence in the judicial system of this nation."

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., who headed Senate supporters of the legislation, termed Ford's veto "a distressing new example of the Watergate mentality that still pervades the White House." The bill is "a major effort by Congress to insure that the public's business is carried out in public," Kennedy added, saying he will work for a veto override.

Study Says Crisis Can Be Beaten

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A two-year study says the energy crisis can be beaten by all-out conservation instead of all-out fuel production, avoiding the need to strip-mine the West or to drill for oil off Atlantic beaches.

The report, issued Thursday by the Ford Foundation's Energy Policy Project, sharply challenged the present government inclination toward energy development. It was attacked immediately by the oil industry.

The American Petroleum Institute said reliance on energy conservation would be a reckless gamble. The president of Mobil Oil Corp. called it "a formula for perpetual economic stagnation."

However, the report anticipated and rejected such charges.

It urged cutting the growth rate of U.S. energy consumption in half, from the historic 4 per cent to about 2 per cent a year.

This could be done by more efficient use of energy, it said.

Even at the lower growth rate, U.S. energy supply in 1985 would have to increase 28 per cent above last year's level, the report said.

But it added that low growth "will make unnecessary additional developments which threaten serious environmental damage or increased oil imports which pose foreign policy concerns."

The report said energy cuts need not lead to economic stagnation.

It claimed the nation could even adopt a policy of zero energy growth beyond 1985 without harming standards of living.

"We can level off energy consumption and continue with an economy in which consumer well-being continues to improve," it said.

A major government study of energy policy is due for delivery in early November. But federal agencies already are deep in preparations to lease areas off the Atlantic, Pacific and Alaskan coasts for petroleum drilling, to strip-mine coal and oil shale in the West, and to speed development and construction of atomic power plants.

Scholarship Awarded To Ira Student

ODESSA—Janie Elizabeth Roddy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy L. Roddy of Ira has been awarded the Area Junior College Tuition Scholarship for the fall semester at the University of Texas of the Permian Basin in Odessa.

Miss Roddy, a junior majoring in accounting, is a graduate of Ira High School and attended Western Texas College before entering UT Permian.

Registration at the new upper-level university now stands at 1352, more than 200 above the total registration for the Fall 1973 Semester, when 1112 students signed up for first courses.

More than 350 courses are currently offered at UT Permian, representing the broadcast curriculum offering yet which includes 28 undergraduate degree programs, and eight graduate degree programs.

United Way

Abraham Lincoln as having said that, "Public sentiment is everything; with it, nothing can fail; without it, nothing can succeed."

"The United Way depends on an informed public opinion," he stated.

The speaker was introduced by Bill Gilliland, local manager of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.

Bassett Keller, president of the United Way, expressed appreciation to the many people who are helping with this year's campaign.

Jack Cummins, drive chairman, said he appreciated the work that has already resulted in the United Way reaching 33 per cent of its goal, but reminded those present that a lot of work remains to be done. He urged group captains to discuss the importance of the drive with everyone they come in contact with.

Roger Mize, chairman for advanced gifts, said his division has already collected about $10,500 of its goal of $13,000. He said if everyone works hard, "We can reach the total goal of $45,000."

Delbert Downing was master of ceremonies. Dinner music was provided by Joe Williamson, and the invocation was given by Rev. Miller Robinson. Benediction was given by the Rev. John Gaston.

Percentages of the total goal earmarked for the various agencies are as follows: Boys' Club, 33.75 per cent; Boy Scouts, 18.25 per cent; Girl Scouts, 10.50 per cent; Mental Health, .88 per cent; USO, .88 per cent; Texas Rehabilitation, 1.25 per cent; Cerebral Palsy, .75 per cent; Red Cross, 9 per cent; Salvation Army, 8.50 per cent; Snyder Child Day Care Center, 6 per cent; Southwest Diabetic Foundation Center, .75 per cent; Scurry County Commission on Alcoholism and Drug Abuse, 1.88 per cent; and, Texas Medical Research, .75 per cent.

Goals for each division of the United Way:

Advance, $13,000; Branch House, $1,000; Commercial, $8,500; Educational, $5,000; Oil and Industries, $8,000; Professionals, $2,000; Public Employes, $2,000; Rural, $1,500; Utilities, $4,000.

GNP DROPS THIRD MONTH

Recession Signs More Pronounced

By G. DAVID WALLACE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — While President Ford prescribes anti-inflation medicine for the economy, the symptoms of a recession are growing more pronounced.

The real value of the goods and services churned out by the economy showed the third consecutive quarterly decline.

The face value of the gross national product for July through September rose 8.3 per cent projected at an annual rate, to $1,114.6 billion, the Commerce Department said Thursday. Yet inflation sapped the dollars of 11.5 per cent of their value in the same period, so the real value of the economy's output shrunk by 2.9 per cent.

That left the output just slightly ahead of where it was in 1972. It was the first time since the 1960-61 recession the output dropped in three successive quarters. The most recent recession, that of 1969-70, was marked by only two consecutive quarters of decline.

There are other symptoms, such as a maximum drop of 1.9 per cent in industrial production so far, which are less severe than in the most recent recessions.

Yet even before the latest national product figures came out, Federal Reserve Board Chairman Arthur F. Burns and other economists dubbed the current economic slump a recession.

The administration's contention, repeated anew by Commerce Secretary Frederick B. Dent and his top economists, is that the decline in the economy's output is the product of isolated quirks. The Arab oil embargo, higher oil prices, overeager stockpiling by industry in anticipation of inflationary price increases and a home building industry staggering under high interest rates are examples.

"It appears to me the economy is actually moving sideways at the current time," said economist James L. Pate.

"We're talking about sideways waffling," said Dent.

Economists such as Leif H. Olsen of New York's First National City Bank argue that inflation's doom already is sealed and the nation "now confronts a decidedly new situation with new and different complications."

While supporting the spending programs in the President's economic proposals, Olsen said in a recent speech that the proposed 5 per cent surtax "is ill-timed politically — as Mr. Ford himself acknowledged — and it is far worse timed economically."

Dent rejected any notion that the proposed tax increase endangers the economy. "It was not offered to deny purchasing power to the economy, but to redistribute it," he said.

Commerce also reported that starts on new houses edged upward in September by four-tenths of 1 per cent to a level at which 1.120 million units would be built over a year's time.

The figure is off by 55 per cent from the industry's peak activity of 2.509 million units in October 1972, however, and both industry and government officials expect no revival in homebuilding before next year.

County Court Pleas Heard

Several pleas were entered in county court yesterday.

A. Y. Corona, Robert Grav Chappell, Guadalupe Surita Zamora, Josefina Vera and Oscar Garcia all pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated.

Corona and Garza each received a $100 fine plus court costs and a 30-day jail term, probated for six months. Corona was arrested Oct. 12 by Highway Patrolmen. Garza was arrested Oct. 6 by City Police.

Chappell, Zamora and Mrs. Vera each received a $100 fine plus court costs and a 3-day jail term. Chappell was arrested by Highway Patrolmen June 21. Zamora was arrested Oct. 6 and Mrs. Vera was arrested Oct. 13 by City Police.

Lloyd Ray Cross and Ralph Lane Johnson each pleaded guilty to criminal mischief. Each received a $100 fine plus court costs and a one year jail term. They were apprehended for shooting out the windshield of Deputy Sheriff Paul Alexander's patrol car.

Sandra Kay Welsh Shannon pleaded "no contest" to a charge of driving while her license was suspended. She received a $25 fine plus court costs and a 72-hour jail term. She was arrested Oct. 7 by City Police.

Frankie Doyle Teague pleaded guilty to evading arrest. He received a 180-day jail term plus court costs. He was arrested March 6 by City Police.

Court Rejects Kalmbach's Bid

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Herbert W. Kalmbach, former personal attorney to Richard M. Nixon, has lost a bid to have his interim suspension from law practice lifted.

The California Supreme Court rejected Kalmbach's bid Thursday to have the suspension lifted and also denied him a hearing on whether moral turpitude was involved in his conviction on a charge of promising a European ambassadorship in return for a $100,000 political contribution.

How To Examine For Breast Cancer

By BRIAN SULLIVAN
AP Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Happy Rockefeller detected her own breast cancer at an early stage, apparently before any spread to the lymph nodes.

Doctors recommend that breast self-examination or self-palpation should be practiced once a month.

The following instruction on self-palpation accompany the numbered sketches with this article:

1. Sit before a mirror with your back straight, arms relaxed at your sides.

Study your breasts in the mirror for changes in size or shape. Look for puckering or dimpling of the skin or discharge or change in the nipples.

2. Raise your arms high above your head and look again for the same signs. Look for any changes since your last examination.

3. Bring your hands to chin level. Place the heels of your hands together and press to make your chest muscles contract. Look for dimpling of the skin.

Now, lie down on your back on a bed. Place a flat pillow about 13 inches by 16 inches, or a folded bath towel, under your left shoulder.

4. Raise the left arm over your head and rest it on the bed. Keep the fingers of your right hand together and straight. Use a gentle patting motion, feeling with the flat part of your fingers throughout the examination.

5. Start at your breast bone and press carefully on the inner, upper quarter of your breast, moving toward the nipple. Still using the flat of your fingers, feel the area around the nipple.

6. Next feel the lower, inner part of the breast. You will find, among this lower, inner section, a ridge of firm tissue or flesh. This is normal.

7. Now, bring your left arm down to your side. With your right hand, with the flat of the fingers, feel under your armpit.

8. Continue to use a gentle patting motion with your fingers straight out and feel the upper outer quarter of your breast.

9. Complete the examination of your left breast by feeling the lower, outer section of the breast, moving from the outer part to the nipple.

Shift the pillow or towel to the right side and repeat the procedure on your right breast.

Instructions were provided by the New York State Health Department.

Air Force Girls Given Tough Test

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The Air Force says its basic training may become better standardized for both sexes if a test conducted with female recruits at Lackland Air Force Base proves valid.

The 106 female recruits—who volunteered for the test undertook the basic trainee confidence and obstacle course to determine how women compare to their male counterparts in terms of agility, strength, and stamina. Officials at the Air Force Military Training Center at Lackland believe it was the first time the test was conducted on such a large scale for women in any of the Armed Forces.

The confidence course contains 19 obstacles over its nine-tenths of a mile length.

Volunteers were advised not to attempt any obstacle they considered too difficult, but they tackled almost every obstacle en masse.

However, they were not permitted to crawl through the "mine field," a 138-foot long wire enclosed tunnel featuring the detonation of fireworks and smoke bombs for realistic effect.

Col. Thomas C. Richards, Basic Military Training School Commander, said the women could have completed the obstacle, but they are not issued long-sleeved uniforms to protect their elbows.

Four of the obstacles are over water. Several women failed to make these, and they ended up taking a dunking. The water obstacles are a maximum four and a half feet deep.

The most difficult obstacle the women encountered was one called "monkey bars." Only 31 per-cent of the volunteers managed to negotiate the maze of iron pipes, which requires strength and agility to complete.

The "belly buster," a wall-like device which a person must jump onto and then struggle across the top, and the "weaver," a ladder like affair which a recruit must weave her body through also proved extremely difficult.

Overall, however, the women had a success rate of better than 94 per cent on 11 of the obstacles.

No serious injuries were incurred by the volunteers who required about 2 hours to complete the course, the Air Force said.

Local TV Show To Teach How To Save Fuel

Television viewers in Scurry County will learn how to save fuel– and cut home heating and cooling bills–with a program on caulking and weatherstripping Saturday at 4:30 p.m. on KLBK-TV, Channel 13 (SCAT 13).

The upcoming half-hour program is part of the "You Can Do It!" television series, sponsored locally by the Scurry County Family Living Committee and KLBK-TV.

"This week's topic has become very important to the conservation of home heating and cooling fuel," Miss Ruby Butts, county Extension agent, observed.

"Air leaking in or out of a house wastes fuel and accounts for 15-30 per cent of home heating or cooling bills," she said.

Conducted by hostess Cindy Kidwell, "You Can Do It!" programs "provide local homeowners an opportunity to acquire skills necessary to care for and maintain their homes inexpensively and effectively," the agent said.

The 13-part "You Can Do It!" educational series was created and produced by home economics specialists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, through a United States Department of Agriculture grant.

Next week's program will focus on painting house exteriors.

Love Program Presented To Lambda Kappa

The Martha Ann Woman's Club was the scene on Tuesday night of a regularly scheduled meeting of the Lambda Kappa Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi. Eighteen members were present. President Billie Smith presided over the business meeting. Committee chairmen gave reports on various activities and upcoming events.

Following the business meeting, refreshments were served by the evening's hostesses Jerita Harper and Jean Clanton. The program was then presented by Bette League, entitled "Understanding Love."

She began by explaining that the words "understanding" and "Love" are inseparable; there cannot be one without the other.

Mrs. League stated that our lives are touched every day be love, and she pointed out some of the different types of love, such as love between parent and child, husband and wife, friends, love for God and love for country. She concluded that the ability to love must be cultivated.

The next regularly scheduled meeting will be held on November 5 at the Woman's Club.

Swimming Pool Plans Sidetracked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration's anti-inflation campaign has sidetracked plans to build a new swimming pool at the White House with private contributions.

"The President asked the American people to tighten their belts and avoid unnecessary expenditures, and it doesn't seem the proper time to ask people to contribute to a swimming pool," Press Secretary Ron Nessen explained Thursday.

Nessen said some legal and financial problems have arisen, but the economic situation was the main reason for shelving the pool project.

KNOCK ON WOOD

"Knocking on wood is going to be harder to do as time goes by. The scarcity and high cost of lumber, as well as changes in taste and design, are already phasing out some wood furniture. We will be seeing more metal and man-made materials such as acrylic and plexiglas. So if you're fond of wood it is sound financial strategy–as well as sound sentiment–to baby your wood furniture.

To keep it in top condition, try to avoid these common furniture abuses: overheating rooms, which may cause furniture to dry out; placing furniture next to a radiator or over a heat register; allowing too much or too little humidity in the room; permitting extended periods of exposure to direct sunlight. All of these result in "checking," very fine cracks that crisscross each other over the entire surface and look like alligator skin.

A word about checking: if the damage is severe the only cure is a complete (and perhaps expensive) refinishing job. If the damage is only slight, though, sometimes a paste wax will help improve the appearance. Apply a very thin coat of wax, using a circular motion, and polish immediately with a clean dry cloth, working with the grain of the wood. Work on a small area–no more than a square foot–at a time.

The above abuses relate to the environment you create for your furniture. Here are a few pitfalls of usage you and your family can avoid:

Plastic doilies and cloths should never be put directly on a wood surface. If you use a plastic tablecloth on a wood dining table, slip a cloth undercover between it and the wood. Cultivate the coaster habit and train your family not to set wet or sweating glasses on a wood surface. If you're an indoor gardner, place nonporous saucers under your plants and keep a sharp lookout for stray drops when you water.

Wipe up all spills as soon as possible. Remember that if a wood surface is protected with wax, liquids won't penetrate the surface as quickly to cause permanent damage. Examine the bottoms of lamps, bookends, ashtrays and the assorted trinkets and souveniers you keep on desk tops, bureaus, coffee and end tables. Are you allowing them to scratch and mar the surface? Applying felt at the bottoms of abrasive objects will protect the surface of the furniture.

Did you know that even the way you dust makes a difference in how furniture looks? Dry dusting tends to grind dust particles into the surface and results in scratches. It moves the dust around, but doesn't get rid of grime, smudges, spots and fingerprints. A far more efficient method is to spray a small method is to spray a small amount of an aerosol dusting wax on the furniture surface or on a clean soft cloth and wipe to a shine.

The finish on furniture--whether it's high or low luster--is one way to determine the type of wax to use. Wood with a shellac, varnish or lacquer finish can be waxed with either a high- or medium-luster product, depending on personal preference. You might choose paste wax, which requires rubbing, or a quick-and-easy liquid spray wax that is applied and then wiped off with a soft cloth. Each will leave a protective finish and a lovely glow.

Contemporary furniture of teak, rosewood and even walnut often has a low-luster look and should be cared for with a creamy liquid wax, a multi-surface cleaner wax or a fine paste was.

Even in the best-regulated homes accidental damage to furniture does occur. Next week "On The Home Scene" will tell how to cope with scratches, water and alcohol rigns, burns and other furniture disfiguring disasters.

Dear Dorothy,

What's the best way to store sterling silver flatware to keep it tarnish free? Several of my friends say plastic wrap is good.

Mrs. Mike Butler
Austin, Texas

Dear Mrs. Butler,

Plastic wrap is definitely not the best choice for silver storage. If your silver is left in it for a long time the plastic could cause pinhead-size black marks that are difficult to remove. A chest or drawer lined with a tarnish-resistant cloth is the best. And the best way to keep it bright is to use it frequently and occasionally give it a going over with Goddard Silver Care, the polish they use at Buckingham Palace.

Bill Collector Offers Advice

NEW HAVEN (AP) — The hated bill collector can win a debtor's appreciation by giving a simple lesson in budgeting, says one of the top women in the business.

"The average debtor really wants to pay bills, but he mismanages money," Helyn Lapides said in an interview. "We really feel that the average person who's in debt is happy if someone helps him out of it. I've encountered very few people who have been really obnoxious."

Mrs. Lapides, who operates a collection agency with her husband, Edward, said he instructs her staff to help debtors set up a schedule for paying their bills.

"If you can teach a child to play the piano, you can teach a person to pay a bill," she explained, drawing on her earlier occupation for the example.

"It's the same psychology. You've got to make them like it."

Reason usually prevails.

"You tell them the doctor should be paid because they may need him next month."

Utilities Are In Trap Now And Need Sympathy

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Few people waste any sympathy on electric utilities. Utilities always are big and impersonal, and often they are over-computerized and unresponsive. Many critics claim they are poorly managed.

The product they supply is taken for granted, and their bills therefore usually seem excessive. They are unwelcome neighbors too, accused of erecting ugly, even dangerous plants, and of polluting the air and water.

Their image often is that of self-interest and arrogance, a perception sometimes reinforced by appearances and actions. They often are nepotistic. It is assumed by cynics that they have compromised the power regulators.

Even their investors seldom have anything nice to say to them, at least of a personal nature. Occasionally they are complimented on the regularity and size of their dividends, but usually that is expected of utilities.

But now the utilities need sympathy. The mighty mastadons of industry have fallen into a trap that seems to get deeper the harder they try to escape.

See if you can solve the puzzle:

1. Because of the expensive equipment needed to operate utilities, they are very heavy borrowers. Interest rates have risen sharply, greatly adding to their costs. In some instances this forces them to borrow even more.

2. Their credit rating falls, forcing them to pay more.

3. They consider cutting dividends, but this would lead inevitably to lower stock prices, thus eliminating or reducing that source of capital.

4. Having no choice, the utility skips the dividend, which automatically forecloses the likelihood that it can offer a new issue of stok. If customers don't like the existing stock — and some analysts don't — why should investors be interested in more shares?

5. Meanwhile, the price of fuel continues rising. Switch to other cheaper fuels? The environmentalists won't like that. Raise prices? Yes, even if it offends customers.

6. The customers cut back on their usage. Financing is further disrupted.

7. Burdened with ill will, insufficient revenues, an unsympathetic bond market and a disinterested stock market, the utilities postpone construction.

8. In so doing they generate great problems for the future. Utility plants become worn out and outmoded. Old plants can't use new fuels. They are costly to operate and maintain. They break down.

If you believe there is no resolution of the scenario, you might add these possibilities:

1. Shrinking profits look increasingly unattractive to investors. Brownouts demonstrate to millions of people that utilities are "mismanaged." The public demands nationalization or municipal expropriation.

2. Utility managers agree. Faced with bankruptcy, they find their only source of funds is the government.

Nobody can demonstrate that the latter two possibilities will occur, and among stock market analysts a preponderance agrees a solution will be found in time — through tax changes, most likely.

But nobody can deny, either, that much of the preceding scenario is being enacted right now. On the stock market, to use one illustration, utility shares are selling far below book value.

One analyst observes that at current prices investors have even discounted nationalization. Presumably, the government would pay book value, he said.

Junior Editors' Quiz on DOGTOOTH VIOLETS

QUESTION: What is a dogtooth violet?

* * *

ANSWER: Dogtooth violet is the common name for Erythronium denscanis, an Old World perennial herb unrelated to the violet. It is really a member of the lily family. It is also called Adder's Tongue or Trout Lily. Fawn, snow and glacier lily are used for various species. Dogtooth violets are favorites in Europe, particularly England. In the United States, they are grown in the rock garden or naturalized in masses in the wild garden.

In the United States and Canada, the dogtooth violet is frequently seen as an attractive early spring wildflower, growing along the moist banks of brooks. Like other members of the lily family, it grows from a bulb. It has a stem 6 to 12 inches long with mottled leaves and yellow bell-shaped flowers with a faint fragrance. No part of the foliage or blossoms resembles a dog's tooth. It is a welcome sight in early spring because it appears before the leaves are on the trees.

Electric Car Used By Family

By TOM FENTON
Associated Press Writer

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Dick Bassett says he took a basket of surplus military electrical parts and a junk auto body and turned them into a little electric car that hums along at 40 miles an hour for up to 50 miles.

"My wife and daughters drive it continuously," he said. "It's an awful lot cheaper than a gasoline-driven car.

"The idea of an electric car isn't anything new, but putting one together and driving it around town sure is," said Bassett, 48, an engineer at Sandia Laboratories.

Bassett said the car costs a little over half-a-penny per mile to operate, based on the current price of electricity. He said he has about $1,000 invested in the car. Nearly three-fourths of the cost is in the 10 lead-acid storage batteries, five each in what had been the car's engine and trunk spaces.

"It's a weird feeling, sitting at a stoplight in the car. When the accelerator isn't depressed, there's no sound. No power is consumed. You always wonder if you're really going to move when you hit the pedal," Bassett said. "My wife has a problem with it while shopping. People in parking lots constantly walk in front of the car, because they can't hear it coming.

"We also have trouble getting service at drive-in bank windows, because tellers depend on an intercom to alert them that a customer is coming. We usually wind up blowing the horn."

The idea of the car, he said, had been in the back of his mind a long time.

"I really decided to do something about it when the energy crisis came. The car body had to be light and boxy, so I bought a 1963, four door foreign compact sedan. I began by stripping everything out of the car—motor, radiator heater, hoses, the works.

"It weighed about 1,595 pounds to begin with. I stripped about 300 pounds off of it," Bassett said.

He acquired a surplus aircraft generator from a California firm — a 28 volt, 300-amp generator that weighed about 80 pounds and delivers about 36 mechanical horsepower.

Bassett discarded the car's clutch assembly and bolted the generator directly to a four-speed transmission he rebuilt.

"I rigged a flexible coupling, but I was counting on the syncromesh in the transmission to let me shift gears without a clutch. It worked out real fine, but we never use first gear. It's such a high gear ratio, it just spins the wheels or tends to lift the front end of the car."

Controlling the speed proved another problem.

"That was solved by rigging the accelerator pedal to sequenced micro switches, which are used to operate surplus, 400-amp, 28-volt relays," he said. "That gives the car three electrical speeds in each gear. The pickup is fantastic. And when you let up on the accelerator pedal, it becomes almost freewheeling."

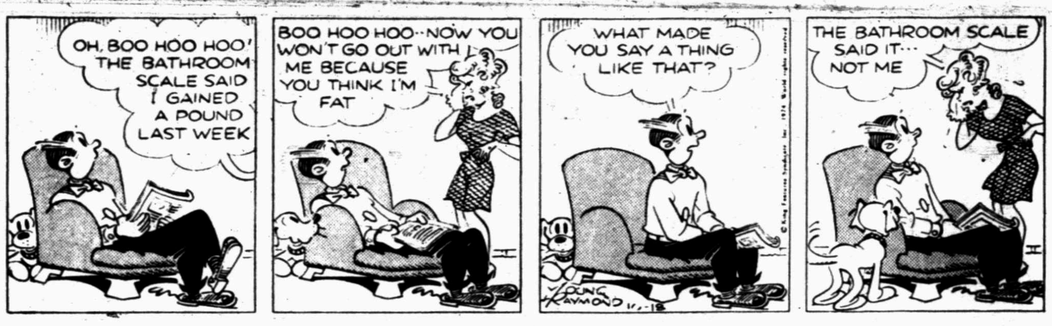

The batteries are charged by plugging a charger into a connector in the grill.

"An overnight charge is sufficient to restore even a completely dead battery," Bassett said.

TOUGH TIGERS—These Snyder high School football players will be in the thick of the action when the Tigers take on Lake View's Chiefs there at 7:30 tonight in a crucial District 3-AAA contest. From left, are Kerry Fritz, 160-pound senior end; Roy Lee Carter, 175-pound strong end; Greg Gary, 215-pound senior defensive tackle; and, Billy Allbritton, 160-pound junior end. Carter also is a starting linebacker.

Tigers, Chiefs To Vie For 3-AAA Loop Lead

The Snyder Tigers and the Lake View Chiefs will be fighting for the lead in the District 3-AAA football race when the two teams collide at 7:30 p.m. tonight in Lake View Stadium.

Each team is 5-1 for the season and 2-0 in district play. The only other unbeaten team in district action is Denver with a 1-0 loop record. The Panthers visit Lamesa tonight while Brownfield journeys to Sweetwater.

Estacado has an open date.

Coach Maurice (Mo) Hodges expects the Chiefs to be fired up, but he feels the Tigers can win if they keep playing consistently well as they have in the past.

Coach Clovis Hale's Chiefs use a similar offense, and both teams have strong running attacks. Both use the Winged-T. Defensively, Lake View prefers the Split 6 while the Tigers' basic alignment is the Oklahoma 5.

The Tigers have a little edge in experience, but the Chiefs have a slight weight advantage.

Snyder will operate with an All-Senior backfield that includes Win Bunch, 160-pound senior, at quarterback; Rickey Howell, 160-pound senior, at fullback; Welton Cobb, 195-pound senior, at tailback; and, David Mayes, 180-pound senior, at halfback. Cobb is the leading rusher on the team with 669 yards on 96 carries. Howell has gained 365 paces on 85 efforts, and Mayes has 152 yards on 34 thrusts. Bunch, who is recovering from a "hip pointer" has netted 193 yards on 32 carries.

Also ready for action tonight in the backfield will be Tim Flynn, 160-pound junior, at tailback, and Danny Brumley and Bernie Weems at halfback. Brumley and Weems are both 160-pound seniors.

Lake View's leading rusher is Ted Butts, 165-pound junior fullback, who missed action last week. He'll be ready to go tonight. Charlie Warren, 170-pound junior, also is slated for action as a subsititute for Butts at fullback. Guiding the Chiefs' attack will be Doug Phillips, 175-pound senior quarterback. John Maberry, a 150-pound freshman, will be at halfback, and Todd Butts, a 170-pound soph, will be at flanker back. Levi Cauley, 150-pound junior, also plays at flanker back. Phillips is an accurate passer.

The Chiefs have scored more points than the Tigers in six previous contests. They have tallied 146 points compared with 119 by the Tigers. Both teams have tough defenses. Snyder has yielded only 51 points while the Chiefs have given up 57.

The Tiger defense is sparked by linebackers Welton Cobb and Roy Lee Carter and tackle Tim Sonnier.

Lamar 8th Wins 12-6

BIG SPRING—After a scoreless first quarter, Clay Johnson ran 61 yards on a quarterback draw with 3:10 left in the half to give Lamar 8th grade command of their contest with Goliad here last night and the Snyder team stayed out front to preserve a 12-6 victory.

Johnson also ran for the extra points but was stopped inches short. On the last play of the half, Goliad tried a screen pass and Sidney Mack Sullenger stepped inside the screen, intercepted the pass, and returned it 39 yards for a TD with not time showing on the clock. Again, the run for points was short at the half as Lamar led 12-0.

Goliad returned the second half kickoff to the Lamar 29 and eventually scored on a 1-yard plunge by the fullback. He runs for bonus points was denied by the Lamar defense.

In the fourth quarter, Lamar fumbled on its own 32. On fourth and one at the 23, Travis Babcock and Mark Davis stopped the Giliad ball carrier for no gain. This was the turning point for Lamar as the Snyder lads were able to control the ball with some hard running by halfback Wes Partain.

Outstanding performances on offense were turned in by Mike Greenfield, Chuck Wilson, C.B. Edmiaston, Mark Davis and Clay Johnson. On defense, Davis, Babcock, Sullenger and Scott Crenwelge led a determined team effort.

Lamar 8th is now 2-2-1 for the year and hosts Stamford next Thursday at 5:30 p.m. on the Travis field.

Horn-Hog Clash On National TV

By DENNE H. FREEMAN

The winner of the Texas-Arkansas game Saturday doesn't get a ticket punched to the Cotton bowl—only the right to survive in the wildest Southwest Conference race in years.

Baylor, Southern Methodist and Texas A&M own the only unscathed SWC ledgers at 1-0.

Texas, the winner of 31 consecutive games in Austin and six consecutive titles, and the perennial runnerup Razorbacks each own a conference loss. No team has EVER lost two SWC games and made the trip to the Cotton Bowl as the host team.

The nationally televised match between the 16th ranked 'Horns and the unranked Razorbacks will draw a crowd of some 68,000—some 10,000 short of capacity. That would mark the first time since 1960 the game hasn't sold out.

Texas is a nine-point favorite in the game at Memorial Stadium in Austin.

Baylor is idle while the eighth-ranked Texas Aggies are 27-point favorites to maul hapless Texas Christian at College Station.

SMU is a seven-point pick over Rice as the Owls open conference warfare in the Cotton Bowl.

Texas Tech, trying to rebound after a 28-7 thumping by Texas A&M last week, get a non-conference toughie at Lubbock in ninth-ranked Arizona. The oddsmakers favor the Red Raiders by four points.

Houston, playing an independent schedule before its 1966 SWC debut, is a three-touchdown choice over Villanova in a game in the Astrodome.

Arkansas comes into the Texas game after suffering a heart-breaking 21-17 loss to Baylor. Texas lost 16-13 to No. 2 ranked Oklahoma as the 'Horns came close to pulling off the upset of the year.

Arkansas' Ivan Jordan gives an excellent insight into the Texas-Arkansas game although both teams have suffered their bumps this year.

Jordan says "This game is really going to be a battle because we were both beaten last week. We've each got something to prove to the other.

Oakland Reigns As World Champs

By KEN RAPPAPORT
AP Sports Writer

OAKLAND (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers brought out the best in the Oakland A's. As it turned out, the best was good enough to win the 1974 World Series.

"They needed a little humility," said Sal Bando, and the A's gave it to them by whipping the Dodgers 3-2 Thursday night to win their third straight world title, this one in five uneasy games.

The season ended officially when Oakland relief star Rollie Fingers collared pinch-hitter Von Joshua's bleeding grounder and hopped in joy as he threw out the runner.

Actually, the Dodgers were dead but didn't know it when they popped off against the A's before this bizarre Series started.

They called the A's doubtful champions, even though they had won two straight baseball titles.

"After they beat Pittsburgh in the (National League) playoffs, the Dodgers said they weren't impressed by us," said Joe Rudi, who hit the winning home run Thursday night. "Well, they have all winter to think about it."

Reggie Jackson, the most emotional of all the dynamic A's, wouldn't gloat over the obviously sweet victory. But you got some idea how he felt when he announced: "We're the champs ... I don't have to say anything more."

What the Dodgers learned from the 1974 World Series is that you don't give the A's a break and expect to get away with it.

In the first game at Los Angeles, the Dodgers outhit the A's 11-6, but the A's outscored the Dodgers 3-2. Jackson homered for the A's, and they got their winning runs on a squeeze bunt by Bert Campaneris and an error by Dodger third baseman Ron Cey. Fingers throttled the Dodgers with some great relief pitching before 25-game winner Jim "Catfish" Hunter came in to get the last out.

Another 3-2 score resulted in the second game at Los Angeles, but this time the Dodgers were the winners. Joe Ferguson hit a two-run homer for the National League champions and strongman Mike Marshall snuffed out a ninth-inning Oakland rally.

After the A's scored two runs on Joe Rudi's base hit in the ninth inning, sprinter Herb Washington ran for Rudi but was picked off first base by Marshall in the most embarrassing play of the Series for Oakland.

It was a big mistake, Washington admitted, but the last one for the world champions.

Back in the comfort of their own ballpark, the A's took a typical 3-2 decision in game No. 3. The A's scored two unearned runs after Ferguson, moved from right field to catcher, fumbled Jackson's 15-foot bouncer in front of the plate. Bill Buckner and Willie Crawford hit home runs for the Dodgers, but they came too late.

The omnipresent Fingers saved the victory for Hunter. As you might expect, the A's were outhit by the Dodgers 7-5 but Oakland still found a way to win.

Pitcher Ken Holtzman, who hits as well as he pitches in World Series play, unloaded a home run in Oakland's 5-2 victory in game No. 4.

Jim Holt, hitless in 25 pinch-hitting appearances during the regular season, delivered a two-run single to key a four-run sixth inning that broke the game open. The tireless Fingers bailed out an Oakland starter once more.

That set the stage for Thursday night. Movie star Rock Hudson threw out the first ball — and the A's picked up the same, tired script.

"We never win them easily," said Oakland second baseman Dick Green.

Coahoma Shuts Out Travis 9th

COAHOMA—Host Coahoma defeated Travis 9th grade 16-0 here last night, scoring all of their points in the first half.

Coahoma got both of their touchdowns after Travis fumbles on the 8 yard line. The first TD came in the first quarter. The second one resulted from a 6-yard pass in the second period. Coahoma added the two bonus points after each touchdown.

Richard Willis and Dennis Pitts both were outstanding on defense for Travis. Travis had trouble blocking the stunting Coahoma defenders.

Travis 9th hosts Sweetwater at 5:30 p.m. next Thursday in Tiger Stadium.

Jr. Varsity Lineup Told

Three Snyder football teams have Saturday games slated. Lamar 9th grade hosts Brownwood at 12 o'clock noon in Tiger Stadium. The sophomore varsity will be at Lubbock Coronado for a 10:30 a.m. clash, and the junior varsity visits Odessa for a 2 p.m. bout with Permian.

Coach Albert Lewis of the JV listed probable starters, as follows:

Offense: Billy Allbritton, strong end; Rich Balderama, strong tackle; James Smiley, strong guard; George Miller, center; Dusty Land, Kyle Sikes, quick guard; Paul Tovar, quick tackle; Scott Clark, swing man; David Rice, Quarterback; Bobby Thompson, fullback; Rudy Rodriguez, tailback; and, Pat Dryden, halfback.

Defense: Smiley and Allbritton at end, Land and Balderama at tackle; Tovar at nose guard; Thompson and Mike Quiros at linebacker; Sikes at rover; Pat Dryden at cornerback; Jamie Ortegon at halfback; and, Rodriguez at safety.

Linebackers Ricky Beard and Kelly Burton are injured.

The JV has a 6-0 record.

Ira Girls Win 69-49

IRA—The Ira girls split a couple of basketball tilts with O'Brien here last night with the varsity winning 69-49 after the junior girls dropped a 17-16 decision.

Susie Hester and Nancy Sterling sparked the Ira varsity with 30 and 26 points, respectively. Betty Gutierrez pitched in 23 and her sister, Peggy, tallied 13 for O'Brien.

Ira trailed by two points after one quarter and by one point at halftime, but took command of the game in the third quarter.

Lesa Sterling sparked the Ira junior girls with 12 points while Brenda Adkisson was high point girl for O'Brien with 8 points.

IRA (69)—Sterling 8-8-26; Hester 10-8-30; Corbell 4-0-8; Wiggins 1-0-2; Clements 1-0-2; Autry 0-1-1; totals 26-17-69.

O'BRIEN (49)—Alsides 1-3-5; Hewih 2-0-4; B. Gutierrez 4-15-23; Watson 1-0-2; P. Gutierrez 2-9-13; Adkisson 1-0-2; totals 11-27-49.

Ira 10 18 22 19—69
O'Brien 12 17 3 17—49

Travis 8th Falls 40-0

LAMESA—Travis 8th grade dropped a 40-0 decision to a pass-minded Lamesa team here last night.

Travis fumbled the ball seven times during the contest and was socked with six 15-yard penalties.

Lamesa took the opening kickoff and drove 59 yards for a touchdown. They added the two bonus points.

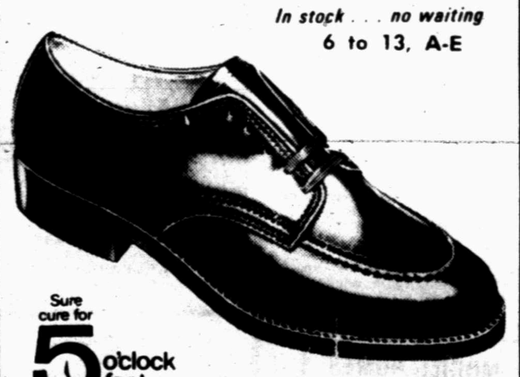

The hosts scored twice in the second period, on a 40 yard pass play and a double reverse good for 38 yards, and led 20-0 at halftime.

Lamesa scored on two long passes in the third quarter and one long aerial in the fourth frame. All of them were good for about 40 yards.

Feedlot Operators And Investors Lose On Cattle

HOUSTON (AP) — Seventeen months ago, the chief executive officer of the nation's largest custom cattle feeding operation said the cattle business was equal to the value of the crude oil business in the United States.

But while oil companies have seen their profits zoom, Stratford of Texas Inc., saw stockholder equity drop from $22 million o $10 million in the past year.

Robert H. Gow, chairman of Stratford, pioneered the selling of joint venture participations to investors looking for profits and tax advantages in the feeding of beef cattle in giant feed lots.

In March of 1973, Gow said participations in the joint ventures—which ran from three to five years—would be maturing this year.

"Some of those people have made, or will make, a lot of money on rising beef prices," Gow observed, adding that Stratford would be getting 15 per cent of those profits.

But this week when Stratford released its third quarter report, it revealed losses of $13,697,000 for the nine months ending Aug. 31. Losses per common share were $3.91 for the three quarters.

The company has lured investors in the past with a promise to limit their downside risks, with the limits varying on each of the 87 different joint venture plans the company has in effect, said President Todd Simpson.

The company now has a total reserve of $15,650,000 to cover those losses.

Stratford, like many cattle operators, has seen prices drop in the face of stiff customer reactions to high beef prices. At the same time, the cost of feed grains has skyrocketed, sparked by a bad growing season.

Some cattle ranchers have reacted to the squeeze with well-publicized killings of calves. Stratford officials say they are still hopeful.

"We are still selling participations," Simpson said, while adding it was too early to say anything about success in attracting investors. "We feel cattle feeding can be a profitable market. We can't give any assurances that this is the best time to feed cattle."

Stratford had 180,000 head of cattle on feed 13 months ago, Simpson said. Now they are down to 100,000 head at their three feedlots in the Texas Panhandle.

Feeder calves are being slaughtered at prices which bring the producer less money than it will cost him to replace the animals, Simpson said.

"The near time future of the cattle business is uncertain," he said. "But very likely by the end of 1975, markedly higher beef prices are inevitable. And that is irregardless of what happens to grain prices, because of the liquidation of stock which is now occurring.

"This liquidation is not only happening in beef but in chicken and pork," Simpson said.

More and more supplies of grass fed beef, usually younger slaughter calves, are being sold in supermarkets now. The grass fed beef, while usually not as tender as grain fed, does escape the expensive fattening in feed lots.

But Simpson said there is no way the present levels of beef production in this country can be maintained on grass alone.

"There is not sufficient grass capacity to produce the present level," he said. "Also grass production is more expensive per unit of energy than the cost of adding that energy through grain at current prices."

Because of the losses this year, Stratford has had to ask its principal lenders to waive financial covenants in loan agreements and the company said they have received general willingness from the lenders.

The company claims it currently "has not yet" had cash problems, but adds it will be making payments of $3.4 million to investors during the next six months.

In order to improve its cash position, the company said it is negotiating to sell some of its farm lands and oil properties and "may be required to seek additional, short term borrowings."

Says In-Fighting Hurting Oilmen

HOUSTON (AP) — The chairman of the American Petroleum Institute says in-fighting among oilmen is strengthening the risks of greater governmental restrictions and interference.

"There simply is no commonality of understanding within the industry on many of the basic issues facing our nation in an energy deficient era," Charles E. Spahr said Thursday.

"We have the option of wasting our fire within our own ranks, or concentrating that fire on the long range issues that face us."

Spahr, board chairman of Standard Oil Co. of Ohio, spoke before the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association.

"The longer we delay the united attack, the more vulnerable we become to being destroyed one by one," he said.

"As long as we remain fragmented, policy will be formed by others and we may find ourselves, as has already happened this year in many legislatures, subject to greater restrictions and further governmental interference."

Spahr said in-fighting over oil's 22 per cent depletion allowance is causing the public to conclude that the tax provision could be eliminated without causing price increases.

Thursday has been designated as a good day to visit for the church.

"And bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ." 2 Corinthians 10:5

"There is nothing wither good or bad but thinking makes it so."
Thus penned the brilliant Shakespeare in a drama long ago;
For thoughts lend virtue to an act, find it base indeed,
And what once was deemed a worthy herb, may now be called a weed.
So it's thought that must determine what is false and what is true,
And thought it is that makes a man seek out his God anew.

Kerleys At 1st Assembly Here Sunday

The First Assembly of God Church will have as guests Sunday the Kerley Family, recording artists from Duncan, Okla.

The Kerleys will present the "Teen Roundup Story." Teen Roundup is a retreat there teenagers can have fellowship with their friends and make new ones.

The first Teen Roundup was held on May 22, 1965 with 130 persons attending. Since then as many as 2,000 have attended one roundup, one at which former gangster Nicky Cruz was the featured speaker and gave a stirring witness about his conversion.

The Kerleys will minister in both the 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. services at First Assembly. Pastor John Grappe said the public is invited to attend.

East Side C Of C

Sam Kitching will be the host on the Saturday morning radio program on KSNY at 8:15 a.m. "Love of Living." He will be the speaker Sunday morning on KSNY on the 8:15 a.m. program, "Give Me the Bible;" his subject will be "Are Works Opposed to Faith?" His sermon subject for the 10:25 a.m. worship service will be "Why Some Churches Grow." His sermon topic for the 6 p.m. worship will be "Is There a Place for Me?"

Bible classes for all ages are held each Sunday morning at 9:30. Ladies' Bible class is held each Wednesday morning at 10. There are classes for all preschool children. The mid-week worship service is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. each Wednesday. Visitors are always welcome at all services.

For a free ride to services, please call 573-5666, 573-6519 or 573-7204.

Youth Meet Set At Morningside

The Youth For Christ of the Central West Texas Baptist Association will meet at the Morningside Baptist Church Saturday evening at 7:30.

Young people from 16 churches are expected to be present. Many of the churches will bring their buses loaded with youth. The young people of the Morningside Church will provide the program and host the meeting.

Refreshments of punch, cookies, and coffee will be served in the fellowship hall after the meeting.

Hermleigh C of C

A Gospel Meeting begins this Sunday at the Hermleigh Church of Christ. J.B. Hudson from Cisco will do the preaching. He is well known in this area.

The youth department will present a musical program at 3 p.m. All local talent will be welcome. There will be guests from two neighboring towns.

Activities for the coming week include Mission groups at 7 p.m. Monday, youth choir rehearsal and Bible study at 7 p.m. and prayer at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, senior choir rehearsal at 7 p.m. Thursday.

Briscoe To Veto Agency Shop Bill

HOUSTON (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe says he'll veto any bill passed in the Texas Legislature that would produce an agency shop or repeal the so-called right-to-work law.

"I've always been opposed to such legislation," Briscoe said here Thursday prior to a speaking engagement. "I've been in favor of the right to work and I'll oppose any legislation to do away with it."

Briscoe has said he opposes repeal of the law, which forbids union and management to agree on a contract requiring persons to join a union as a condition of employment.

Briscoe's main opponent in the November election, Republican Jim Granberry, has repeatedly charged that Briscoe is in favor of the agency shop proposal the Texas AFL-CIO is expected to present to the 1975 legislature.

Granberry said in Fort Worth Thursday night he was not surprised Briscoe came out with a statement that he would veto any agency shop provision.

"The only reason he came out with that statement is because I forced the issue," Granberry said. "The fact is that Mr. Briscoe is a close political ally of the AFL-CIO and he is throwing out a smoke screen of right-to-work statements shortly before the election to confuse the public on where he really stands."

Granberry said last spring Texas AFL-CIO President Harry Hubbard said "he had the personal assurance of Mr. Briscoe not to support right to work in the Constitutional Convention ... Mr. Hubbard should be asked how the AFL-CIO can continue to support a candidate who is against the No. 1 goal of that organization, passage of agency shop legislation."

Briscoe said later Thursday at a reception in San Antonio that he was running for re-election on his record.

The governor noted he was proud of his record and said the state was living within its income and will have a surplus this year.

A higher voter turnout than is being anticipated will give him "his greatest victory ever," Briscoe said.

Briscoe said the Raza Unida Party would receive substantially fewer votes than it did two years ago when that party's gubernatorial nominee Ramsey Muniz, received 6.28 per cent of the vote.

Colonial Hill Bapt.

Youth will meet at 7 p.m. Saturday in fellowship hall for Bible study and fellowship with Vic Johnson leading.

The Early Bible Class will meet at 7 a.m. Sunday in fellowship hall with the Rev. Miller Robinson teaching. Sunday School is set for 9:45 a.m. and morning worship for 11. Rev. Robinson will bring the message.

Youth choir will meet at 4:45 p.m. and church training will begin at 6.

The evening worship service will begin at 7, with Rev. Robinson preaching. There will be a fellowship for junior high youth following the service.

The Rachel Sunday School Class will have a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the home of Peggy Clark, and the Naomi Class will have a meeting at the same hour in the home of Joann Bell.

The 50th anniversary meeting of the Mitchell-Scurry Baptist Association will be held Tuesday at First Baptist Church in Snyder. It will begin at 3 p.m. with reports, and at 3:55 p.m. Charles Baker of the Baptist General Convention of Texas will speak on "Sharing Christ's Reconciling Love." The executive board will meet at 5:15 p.m. and at 6 p.m., supper will be served by the host church.

The evening session will begin at 6:45. It will include special music, reports, a memorial service and the annual associational sermon by the Rev. Miller Robinson, Colonial Hill pastor.

The WMU will meet at 10 a.m. Wednesday in the home of Carol Prewitt. The Sunday School Council will meet at 6:30 p.m. and planning time is set for 6:45. Outreach leaders will meet with Nona Williams at 6:45.

At 7:30 p.m., children's choirs and youth sharing groups will meet, while the mid-week prayer service will be held in the sanctuary. The adult choir will rehearse at 8:05. The choir will have a supper at 7 p.m. next Friday.

Sisters Victims Of Disease

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Her sister collapsed and died while jogging earlier this month, but 20-year-old Vicki Penfold had no idea that she, too, may have suffered from a rare genetic disease that could result in death during even light exercise.

Vicki began her early morning college exercise class as usual Thursday with some warmups. But suddenly she pitched forward into the arms of a fellow student and died almost instantly.

Vicki and her 18-year-old sister, Janet, apparently died of a one-in-a-million heart condition that strikes members of the same family, according to pathologist Karl Kirschner.

Kirschner examined Janet after her death Oct. 7 at California State Polytechnic University at San Luis Obispo. He said that under a microscope "her heart almost looked like that of a little old man that has been exposed to an awful lot of stress over the years."

Although the Los Angeles County coronor has not yet officially determined the cause of Vicki's death, Kirschner said in an interview Thursday that he belived the sisters were victims of a disease called obstructive cardiomyopathy.

Undetectable in normal physical exams, the disorder causes a progressive scarring of heart muscles. Then, at some critical point, even light exercise can result in sudden heart failure, said Kirschner.

Vicki, a senior at California State University at Northridge, was popular and apparently healthy.

Life Different Now For Lulu

By PATRICIA MOORE
Lufkin News Staff Writer
Written for Associated Press

LUFKIN, Tex. (AP) — The life of Lulu, the fat girl on the "Hee Haw" television program, was upside down, as she relates it. Drugs were the cause. But she tells you that it's right side up now.

The reason? Bertha Louise "Lulu" Roman says it wasn't her professional success as a fat comedienne on the country-western show that did it. It was her turn to Christianity, she declares.

During a recent gospel businessman's rally in this East Texas city, she described herself as being "a year-and-a-half old in the Lord."

Before, her life was filled with narcotics. Police followed her, trying to arrest the 28-year-old for possession of drugs.

And police succeeded. Miss Roman was arrested in Dallas on several charges involving drugs.

She bore an illegitimate child because the baby's father wouldn't marry her. And after her last arrest, the producers of "Hee Haw" were notified the show would lose air time if Miss Roman were arrested again. She left the show.

"I used drugs for about 12 years," she said in an interview here. "It all began because of insecurity more than anything else. I was always the fat kid on the block that nobody ever talked to."

Miss Roman graduated from high school in Dallas with honors. Then she went to work for a telephone company but didn't keep the job long. "They fired me because I had such a filthy mouth," she said.

Her next job was as a dancer in a Dallas nightclub.

"They paid me a dollar for every pound I weighed. That was about $300 a week and I needed the money to support my drug habit," Miss Roman said.

She was "discovered" for "Hee Haw" at the nightclub. Buck Owens was a regular on the show.

Miss Roman said, "He asked me to be on the show, 'Hee Haw,' that was supposed to be a country and western take-off on 'Laugh-In.' He was interested in getting a fat, dumb chick for the show."

Miss Roman had other problems. "I was living with a man because I didn't believe in marriage. When I found out I was pregnant, he walked out."

She had used every drug from marijuana to methedrine or "speed" and continued to use speed during her pregnancy.

"I used it the whole nine months I was pregnant and six months afterward," Miss Roman said. "It crossed my mind that my baby might be deformed, but I vaguely remembered my doctor telling me that heroin would cause deformity but that speed wouldn't."

After her son, now 22 months old, was born, Miss Roman's doctor told "me that my baby had a respiratory disease like President Kennedy's son that died. He told me there was no hope."

That night Miss Roman confronted God—"bargained with him" as she put it.

"I told God that if he saved my baby's life, I would do anything He wanted," she said. "I was shaking from head to toe and that was the first time I ever tried reaching out for God."

The baby's health improved but she reverted back to drugs.

"I had a child to support, couldn't pay my rent and someone stole my car," she said.

That was when police arrested her for the last time and she left "Hee Haw."

Soon after the arrest a friend from Miss Roman's earlier drug days visited her. "I noticed there was something different about her," Miss Roman said. "She had this kind of glow about her."

The friend asked her to attend a service at Beverly Hills Baptist Church in Dallas.

"I went to talk to the pastor and told him all the reasons I shouldn't be saved," she said. "I cussed him up one side and down the other and told him about my drug habit and my illegitimate baby.

"Every time I gave him a reason that I shouldn't be saved, he would just say, 'Let Jesus take care of it.'" She did, she said, and her life has been right-side-up since.

About three months after being converted to Christianity, Miss Roman began telling others how her life had been changed.

Still unemployed, Miss Roman went to California to appear on a religious television program. "I went by the offices of 'Hee Haw' just to share with them what had happened to me," she said. "I didn't expect to be rehired."

She said the producers and staff "couldn't believe I didn't use one cuss word," Miss Roman said.

The producers asked her to come back and she is in this season's shows.

Meanwhile she formed a corporation in Dallas with a board of advisors to help her with the witnessing trips she makes. The board helps her with any business problems that crop up and makes appointments.

"Saved To Serve," the corporation's name, pays for a business and personal secretary. Miss Roman's personal secretary, Virginia Widner, said, "The group that asks her to speak for them pays all the expenses to and from Dallas and expenses during the time we're there. Then a 'love' offering is taken, which pays the salaries of the secretaries. The rest goes back into the business for buying equipment and stuff like that."

During the gospel rally at Lufkin, she sang two songs. "Before I was saved," Miss Roman said, I never carried a tune. "Hee Haw's" first show of the season starred her singing "How Great Thou Art."

Doubleknit "corduroy" which is designed to look like the traditional woven cord material, has all the advantages of a knit fabric, Beverly Rhoades, clothing specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, pointed out.

Belief in the Little Things...

Maybe they are just a couple of pups, "eye-pealing" their way into your heart. Or maybe it's just a far away candle flickering in the night. Or it could be a neighbor, whose car won't start . . . or a friend with a broken heart. And it could be that your home town may have a tax problem or a discontented minority

Believe me, a little problem can grow to encompass a whole country and all of it's people. Perhaps we need a lot of genuine Belief on the part of a lot of our friends and neighbors and everybody.

It could be that the Supreme Being, God Himself needs your true belief and mine. The Great God needs all of us little folk. You know you've got to believe in the little things in order to grow into belief in the big ones. Take your children to church this week and watch them grow in belief of all good things.
