Midland man drowning victim

Don Browne holds one of the "Litter Gitter" trash receptacles which his company has designed, with distribution beginning this week.

All assembly, labeling, packaging and boxing for shipment of "Litter Gitters" is being handled at the Browne Bros. facilities here in Colorado City. Initially it will require about 10 employees to handle the processing locally.

Three tragedies in two weeks in same area

A third drowning victim in only 14 days was claimed in the restricted discharge area at Lake Colorado City Wednesday.

Twenty-four year old Michael Dell Smithers, 508 S. Bentwood, Midland was the latest in a series of drowning tragedies at the hot-water discharge site on the east side of Lake Colorado City.

A companion, Joe Gillett, also of Midland, told Game Warden Ronnie Aston that the pair had been fishing in the off-limits area, gaining entrance through the protective cables on the lake side. He said Smithers had gone to the east side of the discharge water falls in the calm waters of the channel to catch some minnows. Smithers was reported to have fallen head-first into the channel, swept over the falls, and into the churning waters.

Gillett attempted to get a rope from a nearby fisherman in a boat, but soon saw it would be to no avail. The fisherman from Sweetwater then drove his boat to the shore and reported the incident to the local Sheriff's Office, at about 5:15 p.m.

Aston, deputy sheriffs, highway patrolmen and others, began dragging the area for the victim. Aston recovered the body at 6:35 p.m. County Judge Bill Carter was called to the scene, in the absence of the Justices of the Peace, and pronounced Smithers dead at 7:01 p.m. The body was picked up by Kiker-Seale Funeral Home and later transported to Midland.

He was said to be survived by a wife and 3-month-old daughter.

A 20-year-old man from Snyder, Benjamin Ray Barrera, was drowned in the same spot on May 11. Then on May 20, Jamie

Brownes design 'Litter Gitter'

They say, "Don't mess with Texas", but if a local company's product proves successful, Colorado City could be placed on the map as the headquarters for nation-wide distribution of a vehicle trash container.

The "Litter Gitter" receptacle, designed and distributed by Litter Gitter Company, a new division of Browne Bros. of Colorado City, went on sale at local stores this week and marketing efforts are now underway to get the product in several nation-wide chain stores.

"Litter Gitter" is a trim 12"x11"x4" plastic container with a hinged top, which hangs behind the driver or passenger seat by a strap from the head rest post. It is, thus, convenient to the reach, yet out of the way of any front or back seat occupants while providing enough disposal space for six full-size popular size drink cans.

"Litter Gitters" come in five different colors—black, navy blue, brown, red and gray. They are very attractively designed and packaged in shrink wrap with instructions and professional labels illustrating use and manufactured by "The Litter Gitter Co., Star Route 1, Colorado City, Texas." They have a suggested retail price of $4.74.

To say the least, the Browne Bros., Don and Jimmy, are excited by the potential of their product. Contacts have already been made, and acceptance already looking good with such nation-wide chains as Wal-Mart

FROM THE SCRIPTURES—"But the people stirred up feeling among the women of standing...and among the leading men of the city." Acts 13:50.

Keeping this column on the "Lite" side, I like to encourage a bit of laughter. And I think that it is good that the City Council members can occasionally poke a little fun and humor at their otherwise serious, time-consuming and mostly thankless jobs. It really came rolling out at a special meeting of the Council last Tuesday. Any time, one of its meetings draws a big crowd, I'm sure the members can get "up tight". As they gathered for the meeting, one by one, they were confronted with a huge throng of people lined up and going into the Civic Center, where the meetings are currently held in the board room. One Councilman said, I tapped the shoulder of the last man in line and asked "What's your complaint?" Another, said "the only things that can draw a crowd like this are dogs or water." Another added, "Gosh, I hope a dog has not died from drinking the water!"

As it turned out, the big crowd was there for an Awards Banquet for the Westbrook schools. It appeared that everybody from Westbrook was there.

Relieved of their anxiety, the Council then began wandering where Mayor Jim Baum was. After being told that the Mayor was taking a couple days vacation, and was probably in the historical archives in Austin...he loves it. Mayor Pro Tem Tom Carlock expressed the thought, "Boy, what a way to spend a vacation...all day in a library." Councilman Don Webb said, "I don't know about that, I think it would be rather enjoyable!" Webb, who had already been bemoaning the fact that he had reached the stage in life of having a 30 year old son and the "baby" of the family was soon to be married, was then reminded, "Yes, but I'm not over the hill like you."

Oh, well, everybody likes to do his own thing.

THE LONE WOLF SAYS, "You are really not old until your feet cannot make the appointments you head makes."

Councilman Rex Thackerson then had to tell its story about his dog and the postman. Thackerson's dog had apparently barked at the postal carrier. Thus, his mail was not delivered. The next day he received a notice from the Postmaster formally notifying him of no delivery until his dog was restrained. Thackerson said he bought all the chain he could get for $10, laid it on the postal counter and said, "I have bought his chain, and will chain up my dog. I would have brought him, too, but now I cannot find my dog. Please start delivering my mail again."

The Council meeting finally got underway.

DID YOU KNOW? The VFW sold its first replicas of the Flanders Field poppies on Memorial Day 1923. They are now assembled by disabled veterans in VA centers and hospitals for therapy and extra spending money.

and K-Mart Discount Stores and Pep Boys, a 230-store chain handling auto accessories. They have said, "this is the best concept in trash containers, we've seen," Don Browne said. And if any one of them stock "Litter Gitter", "they will demand all we can produce at the present time, and that's about 40,000 to 45,000 per month".

The Brownes's uncle, Bryan Rowland, first came up with the basic idea. The Browne's, who have built a large manufacturing and fabrication business of oil-field and farm products on innovative ideas, took the idea and began working on a design in March, 1987. Considerable market research, revealed great potential, since the only competing products are the floorboard-type "caddies" and hanging litter bags. "We suddenly realized that in 8 out of 10 cars manufactured nowadays with center consoles, gearshifts, and push buttons and automatic windows, there is no place for the caddies on the floorboards or places to hang the give-away Litter bags."

They were able to get an exclusive patent on their product for all vehicles—cars, trucks, boats, aircraft, etc. In September of last year they began work on the design of a mold, which weighs over 4,500 pounds and requires a 100-ton press when the plastic polymer is injected into the mold at 25,000 psi.

North Texas Tooling Co. in Sanger, Texas built the mold, and is now handling the manufacture of the product. With the single mold, the company can produce up to 45,000 pieces per month. The Brownes are already at work on a huge four-mold design.

After their manufacture in Sanger, the "Litter Gitters" are shipped to Colorado City, where they are assembled labeled, wrapped, packaged in shipping boxes and otherwise prepared for distribution, at Browne's local facilities.

The first 12,000 pieces were received this week and are being processed. "In the beginning, it appears that it will take about 10 employees to handled the local packaging and shipping," Browne said.

The "Litter Gitters" are available locally at Fuller Foods, Corky's True Value, NAPA Auto Parts, Meyers Auto Parts, and Gas 'n Grub. Abilene Independent Grocers which distributes to hundreds of stores through the area have also expressed an interest.

Browne said, "the potential is so great that it's really scary." He pointed out that it has taken a huge capital investment, just to get the product to the point of first sales. "We could never have gotten this far, if it hadn't been for the faith and support of the local City National Bank which has backed us all the way," he said.

"But if it works, we'll really put Colorado City on the map."

A Baldwin, 18, of Big Spring, was claimed in almost the identical spot.

"There's no may we can further impress upon people the dangers of the discharge area after three straight victims." The area is surrounded by a six-foot high steel fence with strands of barbed wire on top. Cable strands guard the lake side of the area. Danger and off-limits signs are posted in numerous places. "They really have to work at it to get in," Astor said.

The water used to cool the generating unit at the TU Morgan Creek Power plant, about a mile away, flows through a channel and series of holding pools. It is still about 92 degrees when it is discharged over a spillway and flows back into the lake. The water is so turbulent just below the spillway, that thus far, no one who has fallen into the area is known to have escaped. Many others have died there over the years.

A calm channel of warm water flows from the TU Morgan Creek Power Plant to the discharge area on the east side of Lake Colorado City.

Water flows over a spillway into a small pool creating boiling turbulence and strong undercurrent, from which no one is known to have escaped.

Folks!
It's Not Just Dangerous ...
It's Deadly!

Law enforcement officers are shown retrieving the body of one of the victims that have drowned in the discharge area in a short two week period.

The six-foot wire fence with strands of barbed wire at the top surrounds the land area with signs warning against trespassing.

Danger signs are posted throughout the discharge area warning of the strong current and deep water.

A corner of the high fence surrounding the area which has been cut through several times has been reinforced with steel bars.

The lake side area of the discharge area is guarded by a strong cable fence to keep boats out of the area.

The air is brisk and there is a feeling of excitement as fans start filling the stadium.

One baseball team, dressed in purple and white, is warming up on the field and the other team, in bright red and white uniforms, is in the dugout, getting last-minute instructions from the coaches.

The smell of frito pie, hotdogs and pickles fills the air.

The umpire yells "Play ball!"

The fans become excited as the first pitch of the game is thrown. Batter after batter gets a hit. It's starting to look like it's going to be a one-sided game. Fans of the team scoring all the runs become even more excited as they try to keep up with the number of runs.

Finally, the other team gets to bat. That team scores, too, although not as many runs as the other team.

The team that's behind starts narrowing the lead.

An excited fan runs up to the fence with a brick. Other fans are relieved when she throws the brick into a garbage can.

One fan, busy talking to another fan, looks up to see the catcher miss a ball. The fan jumps up and yells at the catcher, only to realize that it's the other team's catcher who had missed the ball.

"I didn't realize we were batting," she says sheepishly as she sits back down.

The other team has two power hitters. Each one gets a homerun. Fans on both sides applaud the homerunners.

The losing team continues to narrow the lead. The excitement continues to build.

A player, obviously tiring, asks a fan to bring him a soft drink from the concession stand. The fan obliges.

Between innings, play is halted briefly when one team's catcher has difficulty with his shin guards because of a broken strap. The other team gladly provides a pair of protectors. Talk about sportsmanship!

Play is again halted when a batter gets hit on the hand with the ball as he takes a strong swing. A bag of ice is provided from the concession stand before the player is whisked away to the hospital emergency room. Luckily, nothing is broken and the player is back before the game is over.

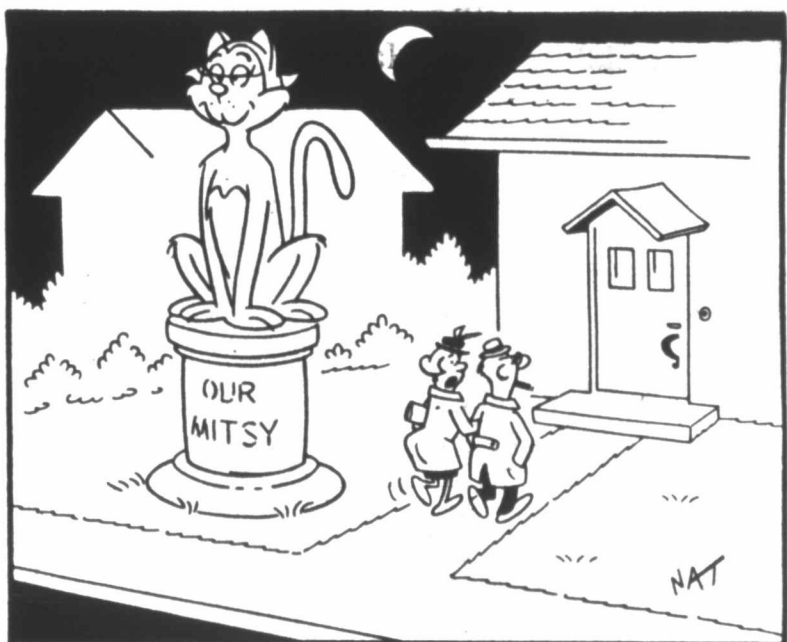

Excitement continues to mount as the bottom of the last half rolls around and the first team is still ahead by some five points.

But wait, the bases are loaded and one of the power hitters is up a bat. Sure enough, there's another homerun. The score is 15-14 and there are two outs.

The fans hold their breaths as the pitcher for the team ahead throws one strike, then two, then three to win the game!

Welcome to Little League baseball.

A friend from California tried to swap insults with me recently, and as is usually the case, the Californian lost.

There are obvious reasons for this.

They make up all the rules out there, and after the rest of the country slowly adapts, they tear them up and write new ones.

Texans never make up rules. You've got a pair of Wranglers, a set of boots and pickup truck? Why mess 'up perfection? Californians, on the other hand, will wear sandals one day, go barefooted the next, and wear biker boots the next. They punch holes in their ears, their navels and their breasts. They decorate them with skeleton bones.

Californians can't stick to anything but change. They'll change your tire, if nothing else. They'll change the subject.

Face it, Californians have no roots.

The roots of most Texans, on the other hand, are longer than the roots of the mesquite trees in their front yards. Knock a Texan over, he'll spring back into place, as firmly rooted as ever.

California roots barely reach beneath the top soil. Most were born somewhere else. They suffer from too much concrete and not enough dirt. Whereas a Texan will begin to worship his land, even if it's nothing but sand, a Californian will worship his Harley Davidson.

Knock a Californian over, he'll have to re-assemble himself, part by part. He may vow to run over you when he's reassembled. But he'll change his mind before it's fixed.

Californians invented the bikini, and by the time the rest of the country was bold enough to show its collective belly button, Californians were going naked on the beaches. Most Texans wouldn't to naked on the beach even if they were dead.

Texans have more places of worship than Californians, too. Californians just have more denominations. Texans are mostly Baptist because they know this pleases God. Most of us have never heard of California's denominations - some of which date as far back as 1968. Whereas Texas church services feature the religious sounds of the pipe organ, Californians play tamborines, wear bed sheets and sandals.

A Texas woman will wear a hat to church that doesn't look much different than the hats Mamie Eisenhower used to wear. What was good enough for Ike's wife, is certainly good enough for us.

A California woman will wear a bandana with a feather sticking up in the back, and her husband will shave his head and ask for money, rather than putting it in the collection plate.

Californians are prone to wear two-tone shoes. To a man, they wear sun shades, even at night while sleeping. Texans prefer to squint because the wrinkles give them more dignified foreheads. Californians who squint are usually stoned.

Californians have too many convertibles. They take them onto the freeways, something Texans regard as showy. The only texans who have convertibles are rich oilmen, which means there aren't any Cadillac convertibles in the state anymore. They never used them for anything but cruises through their ranches, anyway. Nobody but the cows even got close enough to smell them.

Californians don't understand roots and foundations. They build houses alongside cliffs, too. But only in West Texas, where it's never going to rain, anyway.

The truth is, Texas is a republic posing temporarily as a state until we get some decent leadership in Austin. California is an amusement park built by Walt Disney. Everything there is made out of paper mache and colored lights. The workers all sound like Donald Duck.

Everything in Texas is made out of granite and cow hides, and Texas workers look like the leather they tan. To a man, we sound like John Wayne.

So help me, if I've perpetuated a single stereotype, may the gods of stathood lash me senseless with the wettest noodles.

This is yet another Texas virtue, dealing with the facts, ma'am, just the cold hard facts.

Alzheimer's Disease

What are the Symptoms?

The symptoms vary with each person. However, some of the early symptoms include the loss of memory for recent events, poor judgment, difficulty in learning new information, the inability to concentrate, and personality changes. Many of the early symptoms are mistakenly attributed to other causes such as marital or job stress, alcohol or drug abuse, depression, or "contrariness." As the disease progresses, the symptoms become more severe until there is a total loss of functioning and the person becomes totally dependent on others.

The local Alzheimer's Support Group meets the last Tuesday of each month at 1:30 p.m. at Wallace Center. Any person having a member off the family suffering from the disease is encouraged to attend. Contact Marj. Koleman, 728-8403.

TO ALL INTERESTED PERSONS AND PARTIES

You are hereby notified of the opportunity for written public comment concerning the Construction Permit Application No. C-18784 by Mobil Exploration & Producing U.S. Inc. as Agent for Mobil Producing Texas & New Mexico Inc., to add a 1MM BTU/hr. burner to a heater treater at their Mary Foster Tank Battery in Mitchell County, Texas. The site is in the Southwest Quarter of Section 8, Block 29, T-1-S, T&P RR Co. Survey, Mitchell County, Texas. This is approximately 2.5 miles east, southeast of Coahoma, Texas. Additional information concerning this application is contained in the public notice section of this newspaper.

Now's the time to spray for pecan casebearers

Pecan growers and homeowners in Mitchell County should begin spraying for the pecan nut casebearer May 29-June 7, according to Mitchell County Extension Agent Mike Mauldin.

The casebearer can completely destroy a pecan crop if it is not controlled. Casebearer eggs are found on the tips of nutlets. The eggs are white when first laid, then turn red over a 3-5 day period before turning white again after hatching.

Insecticides should be applied the third day after the first eggs hatch to kill the larvae before they enter the nutlets. Since the larvae will hatch over a week-long period or more, a second spraying may be necessary.

Insecticides recommended for casebearer control include, Diazinon, Pydrin, Cymbush, Malathion and Zolone. Zinc sulfate or NZN should be applied at the same time. Pecans require zinc for normal stem and leaf growth.

With erratic night time temperatures this spring, commercial producers should continue checking for eggs to determine an even more accurate spray date for their particular orchard. If large numbers of eggs are found after spraying on the anticipated spray date, a second application 7-10 days later may be warranted, said Mauldin.

Bertie Kidd resigns from commodities

Bertie Kidd, coordinator of the Commodities Distribution program in Mitchell County, submitted her resignation at a special meeting of the Commissioners Court Wednesday.

Mrs. Kidd, who had administered the program since about 1982, indicated that the program is winding down and only butter is to be available in the future. There is little demand for butter and the organization would have difficulty storing it. Her resignation will be effective June 14. Mrs. Kidd also serves as the local Veterans Service Officer.

Also at the meeting, R. D. McDaniel and offered to pay $200 for lots in downtown Loraine that had been taken in delinquent tax suits. The Court agreed to accept the offer, in order to get the property back on the tax rolls, subject to approval of the other taxing entities involved.

Ed Vernon, resident engineer of Snyder, appeared before the court to urge the county to proceed with right-of-way purchase of about three acres for the bypass to the new bridge to be constructed at Cedar Bend.

Current bills totaling $25,114.33 were authorized for payment.

All members of the court were present for the meeting.

Early childhood screening tests set

Early childhood screening tests for 3, 4 and 5-year-old children will be conducted the first two weeks in June.

1988 GRADS, THREE QUESTIONS, PLEASE

You've made it, congratulations! Now try these three questions.

1) What does society require of you--but to earn your keep, to pay your taxes, and to vote?

2) And, what does life require of you--but to make the most of today, to be healthy, and live wisely?

3) Now what does God require of you--but to be fair and kind, "and to walk humbly with your God?" (Micah 6:8)

Indy 500!

Former Colorado City resident will be in the middle of action

This year's Indianapolis 500 race will have a special meaning for some Colorado City residents when the annual event gets underway today (Sunday).

Otis Ruffin of Midland, 26-year-old son of Billie Ruffin of Colorado City and grandson of Cecil and Vera Schafer of Colorado City, will be in the pit area working with the racing teams for which engines have been supplied by Race Engine Service, Inc. of Midland where Ruffin has worked the past four years.

In a telephone interview, Ruffin said the company he works for qualified seven engines for the Indy 500. The best time for one of the engines is in a car driven by Derek Daly who qualified at 212.2 miles per hour and who will be in the third row when the race gets underway.

He said rookie Dominic Dobson will be driving with one of the Midland company's engines and has a chance of being named Rookie of the Year after he qualified at 210 miles an hour.

Ruffin said he will be in the pit area during the race, "helping out and maintaining the engines."

This will be his first time at the Indy 500 and he said he is looking forward to it. He spent the weekend of May 13-17 in Indianapolis for pole day qualifying.

Ruffin said his pit pass is actually for John Andretti's pit area. Andretti is the nephew of racing great Mario Andretti.

Ruffin has been working with Gerald and Shawn Davis of Race Engine Services building Cosworth engines used in CART-Indy car type race cars. Race Engine Services regularly supplies engines to Derek Daly, Randy Lewis, Scott Brayton, Ludwig Heimrath Jr. and John Andretti. For the Indy 500, they have built engines for Phil Krueger and Tom Sneva, also. All have qualified to start in Sunday's race.

Besides building pumps and fuel systems, Ruffin works on the alternators and other accessories on the Indy cars. Race Engine Service also builds stock block Chevy engines on which Ruffin does the balancing and machine work. The regular drivers for these engines are Junior Robertson and Joe Jackson.

His company has a busy schedule for the remainder of the year with races scheduled July 24 for the Indy Grand Prix in Meadowlands, N.J., Sept. 4 in Lexington, Ohio for the Escort Radar Warning 200, Sept. 25 in Nazareth, Penn. for the Bosch Spark Plug Grand Prix and Nov. 6 in Miami, Fla. for the Nissan Indy Challenge.

Ruffin traces his love for cars and racing to his childhood. His father, the late Eldon Ruffin, took him to drag races and machine shops. He raced motorcycles and won in his age group at the Jaycee Motorcycle rodeo years ago.

He later took auto mechanics at Colorado High School under the watchful eye of Glenn Dunn, teacher.

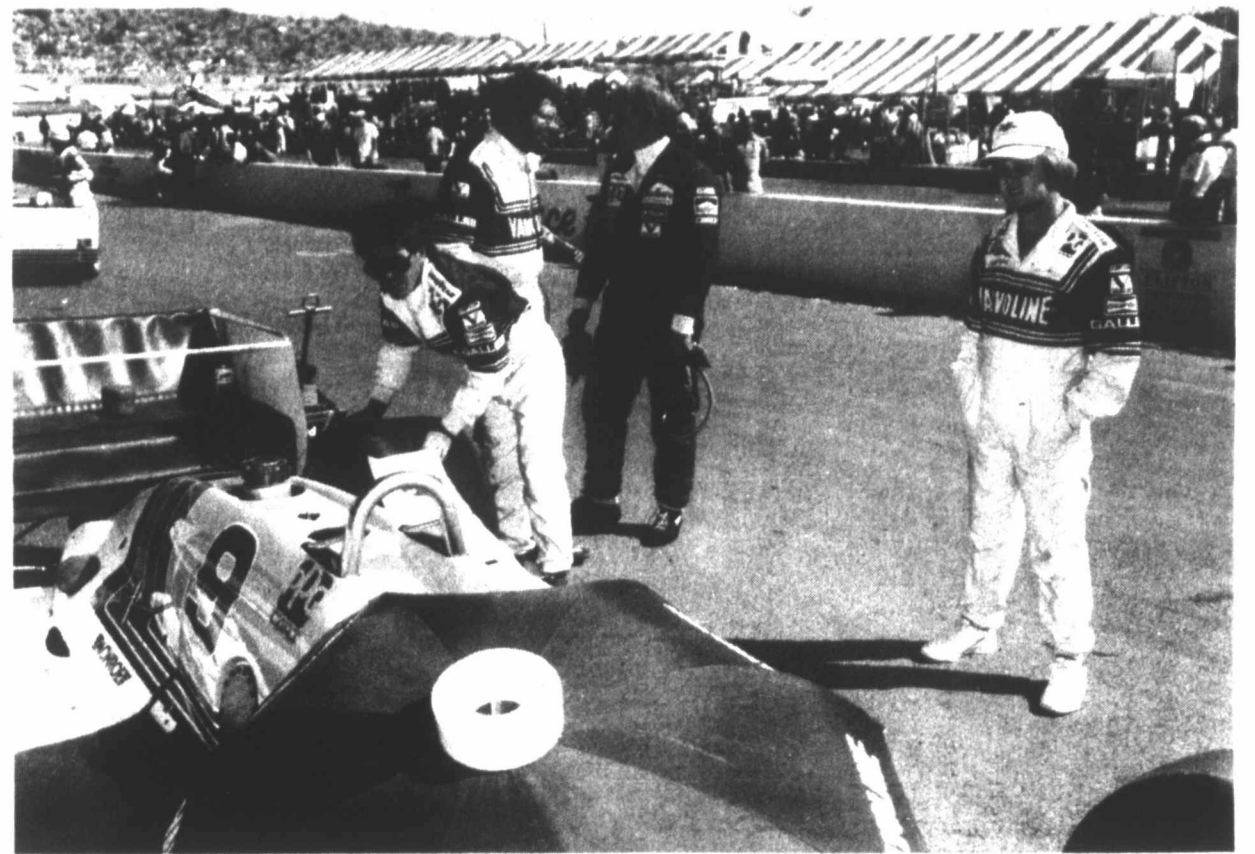

"Glenn Dunn sure helped me out a lot," Ruffin said.

Ruffin is still tinkering with a 1972 Vega that was started the first time in auto mechanics at CHS.

Before graduating from Midland College in 1983, Ruffin worked for Wayne Machinery and Hissom Racing team (SCCA-Amateur Series racing). They won the regional championships and sixth at the Atlanta Nationals besides setting numerous track records.

Ruffin's family is quite proud of his accomplishments. His mother even knows the qualifying times of the seven drivers that qualified with the Midland-built engines.

"Otis can given credit to his sisters, Debbie Day and Elaine Scott, both of Midland, for being ready to travel," said his mother. "They do his laundry for him when doesn't have time."

Ogelsby hosts club meeting

The "C" City Lake Extension Homemakers met Tuesday, May 24, at the Westbrook Golden Age Club with Helen Ogelsby as hostess.

The meeting was called to order with Lily Farrar leading the club prayer. Billie Woods brought recreation. Opal Long read the minutes of the previous meeting and Marie Harlow presented the treasurer's report. Billie Woods gave the council report.

Plans were made for a trip to Stanton on Thursday. It was voted to abolish the telephone committee and just have Helen Ogelsby as telephone chairperson to let members that were absent know of the next meeting and of any changes.

Libbi Garnett, county extension agent, presented the program on "Accessories on a Shoe String." She stressed that color is the main accessory, adding to choose colors you wear best. She noted that there are four seasons of color - spring and autumn which are warm colors and winter and summer which are cool colors. Other accessories include jewelry, hose, shoes and even glasses.

Others present were Inez Richardson, Belle Snider, Bobbie Norman and visitor Mrs. Ethel Clawson.

Man injured in accident

A worker at Hanks Oil Field Service at Westbrook was injured in an accident Wednesday morning.

A spokesman for the company in Snyder would not release any information about the accident. However, The Record learned from other sources that the man, identified as Felix Lujan, had apparently been run over by a forklift. He was transported to Mitchell County Hospital by the local ambulance, where he was treated for the injuries and was able to be released from the hospital Thursday morning.

County Oil and Gas Report

Wildcat drilling action is planned in Mitchell County, three miles southwest of Westbrook, with Kohler Energy Inc. of Wichita Falls as the operator.

The explorer well will be known as the No. 1 Chaney. Kohler is situated in an 80-acre drilling unit in the T&P Survey Section 17 Block 28. Total drilling depth is projected to 9,100 feet.

A completion rig has been called on station at the No. 1 Schattel in Mitchell County's part of the East Howard-Iatan Field, about five miles southwest of Westbrook. Consolidated Producing of Abilene is the operator. The well was spudded on Jan. 20 and is bottomed at a depth of 2,850 feet.

Mobil Producing is nearing the projected total depth at the company's No. 243 Mary Foster in the East Howard-Iatan Field, nine miles southwest of Westbrook. The well bottomed at a depth of 3,386 feet after being spudded on March 30. Mobil Producing is the operator. No details have been released regarding prospects of commercial pay.

Hrubetz Operating of Dallas is testing for potential at the company's No. 3 Gospel Trumpet in Mitchell County's Turner-Gregory Field, about six miles northwest of Westbrook. The well was spudded on Feb. 8 and probed to total depth of 2,945 feet. It has been perforated for possible production in the Clear Fork Formation.

Playhouse auditions scheduled

Auditions for the next Colorado City Playhouse production will be Monday and Tuesday at 7 p.m. at the Opera House.

The production, to be directed by David Shelton, will be one of two mysteries, either The Butler Did It or Hide and Seek.

The production is scheduled for performance in early or mid-August. Both casts call for 6-8 actors, both men and women, from early 20s to middle aged. Hide and Seek will also require a young girl with a small build around age 12.

Shelton and the Playhouse staff urge all interested persons to come to the auditions either Monday or Tuesday at 7 p.m.

Williams All-American

Sandra Williams, top sprinter for the Angelo State University Rambelles, earned All-American honors during a national track and field meet held at San Angelo last weekend.

Williams, a 1986 graduate of Colorado High School and a four time state qualifier for the Lady Wolves, has been at ASU for one and a half years. She first enrolled at ASU for the 1987 spring semester and since then has been awarded a full scholarship.

The 1988 track and field season ended for Williams during the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) Division II National Track and Field Meet held at ASU Wednesday through Saturday of last week.

Williams was the leadoff leg for the Rambelles' 400 meter relay team that took seventh at Nationals with a time of 46.8. It was ASU's top time of the season and earned the foursome All-American honors.

Williams also competed in the long jump where she went 18'3 but did not make the finals. Williams was to have competed in the 100 meter dash.

She was not allowed to because her qualifying time of 11.6 was wind aided.

Williams ran the 11.6 at the Lone Star Conference meet where ASU finished second by 17 points to Abilene Christian University. ACU also won the National meet.

"Sandra's done fantastic," said ASU coach Wayne Dolan. "She's my top sprinter as far as the 100 and 200 meter dashes. She's also gone twenty feet in the long jump during practice."

"She's done an excellent job," said coach Dolan. "We're pretty proud of her."

"She's done the 400 relay, the open 400 and the mile relay," said Dolan. "I knew what Sandra was capable of doing and that she could get faster. She's got to be pushed. In high school she was used to blowing everyone away."

"She had a little hip problem but she's worked really hard. She's even anchored the mile relay. I think she'd be an excellent quartermiler."

"Next year I look for her to run about an 11.4 if she comes on like she's been coming."

Pest Control Hotline

Q. Can I get rid of Webworms by cutting off the branch they are on?

Sandra Olivas
Colorado City

A.No, the larvae overwinter in the bark of the tree, debris on the ground, under the house, etc. Cutting off the branch or burning the webbing while its on the tree will damage the tree and not solve the problem. A regular spraying program using Diazinon, Dursban, or Methoxychlor will help reduce the problem. Several sprays may be required.

Home Economics

FOCUS

by LIBBI GARNETT
County Extension Agent

Twenty-one Mitchell County EH members recently participated in an educational exchange with Martin County. The trip was organized and sponsored by the Education and Exhibits committee of the Extension Homemakers Council. The committee consists of Billie Woods, Lydia Blagg, Blondie Hamilton and Iva Prescott, representing each of the four precincts in Mitchell County.

The day began with a driving tour of the historic Millhollen House. Members then toured the Martin County museum to gain insight into the overall history of the county. Stanton was settled by four German Carmelite monks and several German people. They built a church, a monastery, a convent, and a boarding school. Today, the original convent still stands and is in need of repair and restoration. The Martin County Extension Homemakers will be in charge of restoring the kitchen in the convent. Martin County Judge Bob Davenport guided the Mitchell County visitors through the convent and explained what work is being done. We also were fortunate to tour the first house built in Stanton, now the home of Greta Connell.

Martin County EH members provided a covered dish luncheon and monetary contributions were given by Mitchell County EH members to help with their restoration project.

The day concluded with a visit to the old jail, which now houses the Stanton Chamber of Commerce offices.

Friendships made during the event allowed some of the group to tour individual homes which featured special private collections including a doll collection and a quilt collection.

The exchange of ideas, the knowledge gained through the tours and pamphlets, and the fellowship with other Extension Homemakers made a very exciting and memorable trip.

Those attending were Billie Woods, Marie Harlow, Opal Long, Ann Myers, Etta Lee Gibson, Lonie Pruitt, Bea McGuire, Belle Snider, Lily Farrar, Inez Richardson, Vada Carlile, Dorothy Sneed, Velma Hester, Muriel Thurman, Lydia Blagg, Ginny Moore, Iva Prescott, Peggy Faulkenberry, Bess Cooper, Betty Boedecker, Fern Thompson, Blondie Hamilton and Libbi Garnett, CEA-EH.

Commodity distribution make-up day scheduled

A make-up day for commodity distribution will be at the ag barn Wednesday from 9-10 a.m.

The make-up day is being scheduled because of such a poor turnout at the ag barn last time.

Wednesday's program will be primarily for those who missed the regular distribution at the ag barn and will be on a first-come, first-served basis. There will be no home deliveries nor set aside for the disabled.

Flour and cheese will be distributed. Workers helping with the distribution should be at the ag barn by 8:45 a.m.
