No Early Decision On Gas Rate Hike

City Council will discuss in detail the request made last week by the Aransas Natural Gas. Co., for a rate increase before any action is taken, according to Mayor Delmar R. Hiller.

The council will study data submitted by Vernon J. Kleypas, operations manager of the gas company, in support of the requested rate increase which average approximately 18 per cent, the mayor said.

Area's Economy Population And Land Use Plan

Editor's Note: This is another in a series of articles about the Comprehensive Plan for the city developed by Harland Bartholomew and Associates and local advisory committees.

The Land Use Plan

The functional relationships between uses and activities in the urbanizing portions of the Rockport planning area are indicated on the land use plan. The plan proposes a pattern of development that would enable the community to capitalize on its major economic aspects and at the same time to solve problems such as limited major street routes and poorly drained inland areas. With the establishment of well defined neighborhoods, a pattern of major streets is proposed and community facilities such as schools, parks, and utilitiy systems are designed to serve new growth areas.

Land Use Areas

Based upon long-range population forecasts and the land use study and analysis, estimates of the future amount of land required by the end of the planning period were prepared. A factor analysis of the amount of land used for each 100 persons in 1968 was used in preparing these estimates. In general terms, the trend analysis indicated that the amount of land required to serve residential uses would decrease slightly during the planning period as a more compact urban pattern develops. Since the type of development which has occurred in the Rockport area has been relatively spacious, the trend analysis indicates that slightly less than nine acres would be used to accommodate each 100 persons. This is substantially greater than the amount of land which would be required to accommodate 100 persons in a city the size of Corpus Christi, for example, where long-range estimates indicate that only five acres would be required for each 100 persons. Forecasts indicate that in the planning period there will be increasing emphasis on multiple-family housing and trailers. In spite of this trend, the single-family residential category will remain dominant. A total land area of almost 1,800 acres will be required to serve the 1990 population.

Commercial uses are expected to increase substantially as the tourist-recreation industry gains in importance. At present, a little

Following sale of $400,000 in Rockport general obligation bonds at par with 6 per cent interest last week at a meeting of the City Council, arrangements are underway for printing of the actual bonds, according to Mayor Delmar R. Hiller.

The First Southwest Co., which purchased the bonds jointly with the Rauscher Pierce Co., Inc. of San Antonio, is arranging for the printing on behalf of the city. It is anticipated that the bonds will be ready for delivery to purchasers within 30 days, Mayor Hiller said.

He pointed out that approval for the city to obtain $315,000 Housing and Urban Development grant to supplement municipal funds already has been obtained. Next step is to obtain from the Fort Worth HUD office approval of detailed construction plans for projected storm and sanitary sewers. Plans for the former are finished and the latter are expected to be completed within two weeks by the Urban Engineering Co. The street, curb and gutter part of the project is not eligible for federal assistance, the mayor said.

When construction plans are completed for the several aspects of the overall drainage and street and curb improvements they will be submitted to the City Council for approval. Next the council will advertise for bids with actual construction expected to start about Nov. 1, Hiller said.

MORE FOR LESS

Per capita spending on apparel last year, according to experts in the clothing industry, was $215.00. This was 33 per cent above 1963.

Judging by the receding hemlines, seldom has so much more been spent for so much less.—Norfolk (Neb.) Daily News.

ARE YOU A PARENT DROPOUT?

August is the month in which parents begin to prepare their children for the school year. Mostly, they take good care of the physical needs of their children, but do they prepare as well for a successful academic year?

As September approaches, is there a dread of the homework battle, of failure, of discipline problems, and personality conflicts? Is there a feeling of being the only parent with these problems concerning his children and school work? Is there a better way to handle them, to get the children off to a good start, to learn ways others overcome these problems?

The answer is "yes". Start early in the school year. Become acquainted personally with teachers and the school program. Your PTA offers just these things. What better way to learn how other parents solve these problems than through PTA, an organization dedicated solely to the welfare of children?

The PTA in Rockport desperately needs concerned parents. Parents who bring their problems and share their answers are the heart of a strong PTA. Too many parents in Rockport have not made it their business to know when PTA meets, much less attend. It is only one-half an organization, when out of 40 persons present, five are parents in addition to the officers. If parents feel that PTA has failed them, they need to ask themselves what they have done to make it a success. Won't you let PTA be a meeting ground to help our country's greatest natural resources—your children?

EDITOR'S VIEWPOINTS

TRAGEDY IN THE WINGS

Cuba's agreement to permit hijacked planes to return directly to the United States with their passengers—instead of shifting to smaller planes—marks a small but promising step toward solving a problem that has reached epidemic proportions.

Even more encouraging are indications that Havana will consider accepting the return of some Cubans living in the United States aboard the American aircraft that now fly Cuban refugees to the United States twice daily. Such a shuttle would reduce the incentive for stealing commercial airliners by providing some potential hijackers with a legitimate alternative means for reaching Havana.

However, the remedy would not be total since not all hijackers would qualify for the proposed reverse airlift. Many are criminals or disturbed persons who must be discouraged by other means—either by the extradition of hijackers to the United Sates for prosecution or by publicized punishment in Cuba. —New York Times.

RENT OUR GI'S

Britain is starting a "rent a soldier" plan to give idle troops something to do. Private individuals will be able to hire a soldier to help out in disaster areas or during emergencies, to work in construction or demolition, or to drive special transport units.

The program has been set up to prevent boredom among troops being pulled back from foreign areas and to help pay the army's upkeep. Perhaps the program could be further extended.

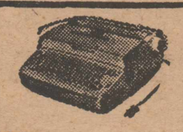

The United States could solve problems in troubled cities and in Vietnam, and the British could gain badly needed dollars, if we discharged all of our servicemen and leased needed soldiers from the British. —Albuquerque Journal.

Couple Injured In Car, Truck Collision

A local couple was injured about 2:50 p.m. Friday when their car and a truck collided about a mile north of here.

Admitted to Memorial Medican Center in Corpus Christi were the driver of the car, Minnie Lee Marion, 71, and the passenger, R. L. Marion, 81, both of Rockport.

Highway patrolmen reported the truck was turning off the road when the vehicle driven by Mrs. Marion struck the truck from behind. Both vehicles were going south.

Hurricane Camille Loss of Life Could Have Been Avoided

"Most of the loss of life in Hurricane Camille could have been avoided if people in the path of the storm had heeded official warnings," declared Russell P. Mozeney, meteorogist-in-charge at the Corpus Christi Weather Bureau, who spoke at the luncheon meeting of the Rockport Rotary Club at Corkey's restaurant Wednesday noon.

Mozeney said that Hurricane Camille was probably the most accurately forecast and carefully charted hurricane in history. It also was probably the most devastating ever to strike the mainland of the United States, he added. Despite the accuracy and frequency of advance warnings, thousands of residents of the threatened areas failed to leave the threatened areas, Mozeney reported.

His discussion of the hurricane, "the greatest storm on earth," was illustrated with a color motion picture which described the many scientific procedures which have been developed to forcast and chart the storm's path. The origin progress and characteristics of hurricanes were described and illustrated with scenes from Hurricane Carmen, including the gradual rise of wind and water until buildings, boats and vegetation began to disintegrate. Next came the characteristic lull in the eye of the storm followed by a violent renewal of the storm from the other direction. The awesome force of the hurricane was graphically illustrated by scenes of destruction in its wake.

"No one who has not experienced the full force of a hurricane can possibly imagine its power," Mozeney declared.

Trees and Shrubs Affected By Dry and Hot Weather

By D. P. Pawlik
County Agricultural Agent,
San Patricio - Aransas Cos.

Trees and shrubs, like humans and livestock, are being affected by the continuing dry and hot weather.

The most common symptom of drouth injury to trees and shrubs, says County Agent Dan Pawlik, is the dying around the margin of leaves with the dead area progressing into the leaf and causing desiccation of leaf tissue between the veins toward the midrib.

A deficiency of water affects the marginal leaf tissue most, as compared with other parts of the plant. If prolonged, the lack of soil moisture results in the death of feeder roots, says the county agent.

Beautiful shade trees add much to the comfort and pleasure of the home, but they do need attention. Now is one of those times when water and attention may be necessary to pull them through concludes Pawlik.

Thirty-four cards and 28 visits were reported for the month of July.

Band Instruments Resale Aids

This article is to inform the people of the Rockport-Fulton area as how they might resell band instruments that they no longer have any use for. The best possible plan for this resale is as follows:

A. Parents are asked to either call or write Bob Massey, band director, informing him of the instrument for sale, the brand, the condition, the price, and the seller's address and phone number.

B. Bob Massey will compile a list of all instruments for resale and make this list available to parents who would like to purchase a used instrument.

C. Interested parents can contact the seller and if he chooses he could take the instrument to a repair shop or instrument shop for an evaluation as to cost of necessary repairs and/or estimated value of the instrument.

Bob Massey and Bill Stephens, local band directors, hope that this plan will be satisfactory with all area people. If this plan is followed all concerned should have an equal share in the process of resale of instruments.

Church Circle Meets At Pat Greene Home

Circle 4 of the First Presbyterian Church held its August Meeting last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Pat Greene. Five members were present.

Refreshments and a social half hour were enjoyed prior to the business meeting. The chairman, Mrs. Ed Godde, called the meeting to order with prayer. Mrs. Hatley then led the prayer which accompanied "The Least Coin" offering. The minutes of the July meeting were read as well as a report from the treasurer. It was reported that 19 visits made and 16 cards sent in the past two months.

Because of the diminished attendance in past months, there was some discussion on combining the two morning circles. There was also discussion on how to bring our budget up to date.

Mrs. Godde moderated the lesson, a continuation of Jesus' ministery in Jerusalem, and each member participated.

Before joining hands and reciting the Mizpah benediction, Mrs. Ragot read Billy Graham's answer to the question "Do you believe man's probing of space is a sin?", and Mrs. Godde read Eric Sevareid's analysis of "Who's a Hypocrite" from the press section of the August Readers' Digest.

Question and Answer Column

This column of questions and answers on Federal tax matters is provided by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q—I am a traveling salesman. What kind of records do I need to support the deductions I take for travel expenses on my return?

A—Cancelled checks, receipts or other records should be kept to establish the amount of the expenses, the date paid and the purpose. You should keep a diary or similar record of your expenses and enter them as they occur. This will be helpful in supporting your claim.

For more details on recordkeeping, ask for a free copy of Publication No. 463, "Travel, Entertainment and Gift Expenses," which is available at all IRS offices.

Q—Is there any tax advantage in having my husband claim my exemption for withholding purposes on his job rather than me doing it on mine? I was married a month ago and will be working the rest of the year.

A—No. In a community property state such as Texas, all salaries earned after marriage are community income, and it won't make any difference who claims your exemption for withholding purposes.

If your husband claims your withholding exemption then you will no longer be entitled to claim it. To make a change in the number of exemptions claimed, a new withholding certificate, Form W-4, "Employee's Withholding Exemption Certificate" should be filed with your employer.

Q—Someone was telling me that all guns had to be registeder with IRS last year. Is that true?

A—No. Ordinary guns, such as revolvers, pisols, rifles and shoguns used for hunting and sporting purposes, did not have to be registered with IRS. Only criminal or gangster-type weapons such as sawed-off shotguns, machine guns and short-barreled rifles had to be registered by Dec. 2, 1968.

Grenades, bombs, rockets and projectile firing weapons such as bazookas and mortars also had to be registered.

Q—My son graduated from high school and has started to work. If he lives at home, can we still claim him as a dependent?

A—The general rule is that you cannot claim anyone as a dependent who has income of $600 or more during the year. This rule does not apply to your own child if he is under 19 at year end or was a full-time student for any part of five calendar months of the year.

The other dependency tests must also be met. Among them is the requirement that you provide more than one-half your son's total support for the year.

Area's Economy—

more than one acre per 100 persons is required to serve the commercial needs of the city. In the planning area, the current ratio is almost two acres per 100 persons. The long-range forecasts indicate that approximately three acres per 100 persons will be needed by 1990, requiring approximately 600 acres within the planning area.

Industrial areas would increase slightly over the 1968 figures maintaining approximately the present ratio of acres per 100 persons found in the Rockport environs analysis. The long-range estimates indicate that about 1.65 acres would be required for each 100 persons, and this would mean a total of approximately 330 acres in industrial use. Most of this expansion would occur in the light and heavy industrial categories with the addition of slightly more heavy industrial lands during the planning period. Most of the land areas are estimated to be needed in waterfront locations near Cove Harbor. Railroads should serve new industrial areas south of the existing city limits. Rail service north of the proposed south drainage channel would be terminated with railroad yards serving the Cove Harbor area.

Public use areas will continue to account for the greatest proportion of all land use areas. The need for parks and recreation facilities during the planning period will require substantial new investments in these facilities. At present, there are approximately two acres of park land for each 100 persons. With the addition of several major new park areas and expansion of existing sites, including a new golf course, the present acres per 100 persons would double by the year 1990. By the end of the planning peroid, there should be approximately 800 acres in park areas. These lands would serve both the needs of existing residents and would accommodate the numerous tourists coming into the area. Investments of this nature are as important as new streets and roads.

Public and semi-public areas would include special purpose areas needed to serve the community. This would include scenic easements, open spaces the addition of protected areas for wildlife and such uses as the Aransas County Airport. Highways, streets, and roads will likely remain the major land use category during the planning period. The overall amount of land required to accommodate these facilities would, however, decrease to approximately 15 acres for each 100 persons. By the year 1990, public lands would amount to approximately 25 acres for each 100 persons.

The developed area is estimated to expand to about 7,700 acres by 1990. This would be an overall average about 38.5 acres for each 100 persons. Much of these increases are estimated to be required in the public sector for roadways, drainage facilities, water sports areas and park lands. By the end of the planning period, 25 percent of the planning area will be utilized for urban purposes.

Density of population is anticipated to be between 1,200 and 1,300 persons per square mile. Seasonal fluctations in population will have a major impact on density, particularly in the tourist resort district and in residential areas along the coast.

NEW RULES OF RIGHT-OF-WAY AND FOLLOWING TOO CLOSELY

Austin — Col. Wilson S. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said today that effective Sept. 1, laws passed by the Texas legislature will establish new rules of right-of-way and new rules on following too closely.

The right-of-way law sets out four rules governing the right-of-way at intersections. Speir urged all drivers to review the rules carefully and to note the instances in which they must stop, yield and grant the right-of-way.

Drivers at intersections controlled by stop, yield or traffic control devises must obey the signs.

Drivers of vehicles on a single lane street or roadway consisting of two traffic lanes, upon approaching an intersection not controlled by signs of a divided street or a street or roadway divided into three or more marked lanes, must stop, yield and grant the privilege of right-of-way to vehicles on the larger street.

Drivers of vehicles on unpaved streets intersecting a roadway that is paved must stop, yield and grant the right-of-way to vehicles on the paved street.

Drivers of vehicles on streets of equal size and paving must stop, yield and grant the privilege of immediate use of such intersection to any other vehicle which has entered the intersection from such driver's right, or is approach such intersection from the driver's right in such proximity as to constitute a hazard.

Speir said the act further provides a rule of evidence that in cases of collision, the person shall have been presumed not to have yielded the right-of-way if the four conditions have not been satisfied.

The following too closely law, as amended, will require drivers to maintain an assured distance between the vehicle ahead, exercising due regard for the speed of the vehicles and the traffic upon and conditions of the street or highway. Drivers must be able to bring their vehicle to a stop, using these guidelines, without colliding with the preceding vehicle, or veering into other vehicles, objects or persons on or near the street or hibhway.

Slow-moving drivers who drive on the inside lanes of divided highways may find themselves in trouble after Sept. 1. On that date, Department of Public Safety patrolmen will begin enforcement of a new state law which requires that vehicles traveling at less than the normal speed of traffic be driven in the right-hand lane, or as close as practicable to the right-hand curb or edge of the roadway, except when passing.

Another section of the law requires moving traffic to stay to the right of the center line on roadways having four or more lanes of traffic, except when authorized to go to the left of such center line by traffic control devices or when making left turns into or from alleys, private roads or driveways, regardless of whether there is a double yellow stripe or not.

Speir said the measure requires that all machinery, tractors, or other vehicles which operate at a maximum speed of 25 miles per hour or less must display a triangular emblem approved by the Department of Public Safety on the rear of the vehicle.

Operators of such vehicles will have until Jan. 1, 1970 to obtain emblems approved by the DPS and mount them as prescribed by law. Use of the emblem on other types of vehicles, or on fixed objects, is prohibited by law.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

May relatives marry each other? A quaint clue to the law's attitude may be found in an old Latin phrase, "jus oculi," which means "the right to kiss." If the two relatives do have a right to kiss, like "kissing cousins, then they do not have a right to marry.

In more specific terms, marriage is usually forbidden between relatives closer than first cousins—and usually allowed between relatives more distant than first cousins. As for marriage between first cousins, the states split fairly evenly on the question.

Occasionally, as in the famous story of Oedipus, the two parties marry without realizing their close relationship. But in the typical case they go ahead in full awareness of the facts. Accordingly, neither one of them is likely to make any complaint to the authorities.

Nonetheless, there may still be serious legal consequencies. Take this case:

Two first cousins were wed, in a state where this was forbidden, and lived together for several years. When the husband was killed in a job accident, the wife applied for workmen's compensation as his widow.

But in a court test, her claim was denied because they had never been married in the eyes of the law. The court said the parties could not make valid what the law made invalid.

In another case, an uncle married his niece. Later, the uncle decided to seek an annulment on grounds of their kinship. Even though the niece pointed out that he himself had agreed to the marriage, the court granted him the annulment he wanted. Again, the court said such a marriage is simply null and void.

In most states and in most situations, courts continue to take this strict view of the matter. In part this reflects ancient religious restrictions, going back to the biblical Book of Leviticus. And in part it reflects the fear that the offspring of closely-related parents are more likely to be defective. As the poet Byron once put it:

"Marrying their cuosins—nay, their aunts, and nieces,

This Costs Texans $ 2 MILLION A DAY

YOU HELP PAY THE BILL

The way cars are being wrecked and the way folks are being injured and killed in traffic accidents, it looks like this year's Texas traffic toll will top $800 million. This figures out to be more than $2 million a day and that is a lot of money!

When you pay for your auto insurance you help pay this bill because most of your insurance rate is for the amount of money insurance companies pay for traffic accidents. Add to this the amount they pay for autos destroyed or damaged by collision, fire, hail, theft and pilferage. Lower these amounts and your insurance costs will go down. Raise these amounts that insurance companies must pay and your auto insurance costs will have to go up. It is as simple as that.

Here are three ways to cut your auto insurance costs.

1. Help reduce the number of Texas traffic accidents. You can do this by driving the very best you can and by insisting that traffic laws are enforced in your town, county, and state. Let your Mayor, County Officials and Governor Smith know that you want all traffic laws enforced.

2. Help cut down on car thefts and vandalism by locking your car and taking the keys whenever you park. Always try to park your car in a safe place.

3. Ask your insurance agent to show you how you can save money on your auto insurance by taking full advantage of the Driver Education, Two Car and other discounts now offered in Texas.

Auto insurance costs will be cut in Texas after accidents and their costs go down. You and other motorists of Texas can bring this about . . . if you really want to. IT IS UP TO YOU!

Cadet David Picton Honored at Camp

David Picton, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Picton, has received the following letter from Colonel John J. Lavin, Professor of Military Science at Notre Dame University, Notre Dame, Indiana:

Dear Cadet Picton:

The summer camp reports have arrived. I thought both you and your parents would be pleased to know about your standing at summer camp ,and where you were rated by your peers who attended the summer camp at Fort Riley, Kans.

Your peers and Regular Army Army Evaluator ratings placed you first in your platoon, first in your company and number one out of 130 cadets from the University of Notre Dame. Out of a possible score of 100, you obtained a score of 95. Among the comments used to describe you were: "Cadet is very competent and a natural leader. He is athletic and has very good bearing. He has initiative, drive, and a desire to excell. He possesses the physical, mental and moral qualities expected in a commissioned officer."

Congratulations! We are looking forward to seeing you again this fall.

Letters to the Editor

Aug. 18,1969

Rockport Pilot,
Rockport, Texas

Dear Sirs:

I was in Rockport last week and picked up one of your centennial editions in a drug store which I enjoyed reading very much as my parents and my two sisters and I moved there in '27, living in the house I believe Chas. Blathrope has now, till my mother died in '48. There was another paper published there at the, the Register and I believe our next door neighbor, Mattie Bailey worked there. A short time later they combined with the Pilot though and it was the Register-Pilot for awhile.

During the summer of '32 I believe I worked a short while for J. O. Blackwell on the paper, who came there from Gonzales. His son Jack was with him for awhile, but went back to Gonzales.

There is a mistake in the picture on page 6 when it says it was Rockport's first football team. This was in 1929, 40 years ago next month, my senior year there and the other three senior boys on the team were Joe Lowery, Byron Ince and Charles Bracht.

We only played three games however, a practice game at Aransas Pass, a regular game at Rockport, (the field being the outfield of the old baseball diamond where the softball diamond is now) against Aransas Pass again and then Goliad. The boys wouldn't show up for practice though, they would ride donkeys in the brush or cut off shrimp heads for pay and a game with the Alamo Heights "B" team from here was called off.

We took a vote on a name for the team and "Pirates" won. We were the ones who voted this name. (I remember one vote for "grassburrs" as there were so many in the new field.)

The coach was J. C. Smith who was only there one year, (Dunn succeeded him) living at Mrs. Lowery's. He was the first teacher to teach typewriting, short-hand and bookkeeping there.

His time devoted to coaching was gratis after school. Pat Mixon under whom I later worked one summer at the bank was one of the organizers allright, but so was Wm. S. Delery a civil engineer with Fred Percival, the County Surveyor in the Courthouse who you would call co-coach, I guess. He played high school football at Alamo Heights here and I believe is deceased.

There was no picture but the players as I remember them (14 in all) were the Seniors, Joe Lowery, full-back; Byron Ince, Chas. Bracht and myself left-end with Roy Hinson, Gerald Adolphus was the quarterback and also in back-field were Norvell Jackson, Harry Mills and James Carrier. The center was Carl Kelly who died in the Spanish Civil War, also Bernard Fox, Herbert Mills, Cecil Smith, and Ed Barnard, I am not sure of.

I have a picture somewhere at home of the team the second year, 1930. This was the first year there were letter sweaters issued.

Thanking you, I beg to remain,

Very truly yours,
Harry L. Ingersoll.

PS: You have probably already heard about this mistake. I talked to Joe Lowery about it, in Corpus, last week when we had supper at his house. You should have carried something too about Rockport's first dance orchestra, the Gulf Coast Syncopators, organized in the winter of '27 with John Hawes, Saxophone; Wayland Harrison (the school supt's. son), Sax; Henry Ballou, Trumpet; Donald (Buck) Hawes, (drums and Lucille Hawes, piano.

In '29 the name was changed to Johnny and his Sharps and Flats. Johnny Hawes, Sax, his mother, Mrs. Hawes on piano, Buck Hawes on drums, Joe Lowery, banjo and myself, trumpet.

EXERCISING a woman's prerogative, Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, after some maneuvering, cast the key vote against an amendment which would limit spending on any ABM system to research only. The amendment was defeated, thus opening the way for passage of the Nixon administration's original Safeguard system. Mrs. Smith has long been a st ng opponent of any spending for missile defense.

THENCE East along such Easterly prolongation of the North boundary lines of said Lots Nos. 8 and 9 in Block No. 52 of the Townsite of Fulton a distance of 50 feet more or less, to the point of intersection thereof with the West boundary line, that is, the shore line, of Aransas Bay, for the most Westerly Northeast corner of this tract;

THENCE along the meander line of the shore line of Aransas Bay in a general Southeasterly and Easterly direction, passing the most Easterly Northeast corner of this tract, and continuing along such meander line of the shore line of Aransas Bay in a generally Southerly direction to the point of intersection thereof with the Easterly prolongation of the South boundary lines of said Lots Nos. 6 and 11 in Block No. 52 of the Townsite of Fulton, for the Southeast corner of this tract:

Wherein Bernard Clare DeForest, Independent Executor of the Estate of Thomas Emil DeForest, deceased, as plaintiff alleges that Thomas Emil DeForest as the owner of such aforedescribed property was dispossessed from such property by said Defendants and such possession was still withheld from him on January 5, 1969 and thereafter, and this notwithstanding his good and perfect title thereto under the 10-Year Statute of Limitations under the State of Texas as he, and those whose title he holds, had used, occupied and enjoyed said property openly and notoriously, adversely and continuously for in excess of ten years after Defendants' alleged cause of action and claim to such property, if any, arose.

Plaintiff in such suit also seeks damages from the Defendants in the amount of $500.00 for wrongfully dispossessing and withholding possession of such property by the Defendants and for reasonable rental value thereof computed on the basis of $100.00 per annum.

Texas Boasts 7 "World Capitals"

Austin.—Some Texas cities have a "capital" idea.

They claim to be one. And, perhaps they are.

Tyler is Rose Capital of the World. More than half of the field-grown rose bushes in the United States come from an area surrounding Tyler.

Bandera is the Cowboy Capital. And a corral-full of modern dude ranch resorts are sprinkled throughout the Central Texas Hill Country.

Terlingua, in the Trans-Pecos, may be the capital with the fewest citizens. Population is 9. But it's the site of the annual chili cook-out contest. And it's called the Chili Capital of the World.

The panhandle has two capitals—Friona for its maize, and Perryton for wheat.

And the Spinach Capital is located in Crystal City—complete with a statue to Popeye.

Ralio Equipment To Be Sold

Austin — The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, through the State Board of Control, is conducting a sale of surplus radio equipment.

Console radios, mobile radios and aluminum towers are included in the items to be sold. They may be inspected at 101 West 50th St., Austin, Texas.

The sale is being conducted on a sealed bid basis. Proper forms and instructions may be obtained from the above address.

Confederate Air Force Prowl Texas Skies

Harlingen.—Jethro E. Culpepper and his Confederate Air Force prowl the skies deep in the Texas valley, guarding the nation's heritage.

The commander of this mythical Air Force is leading Harlingen's rebel forces in the fight to preserve a vital part of American history.

Eddie May, a "colonel" in the CAF put it this way:

"During the early sixties it became apparent that the government and the American people weren't going to preserve the aircraft of the second World War. The 'airmada' protected the country during some of the blackest days of the way."

And so five men in South Texas, all WWII pilots, became rebels with a cause. They had to pay tribute to the thousands who built and serviced the aircraft, and to the men who flew them.

They have made a good start.

The Confederates now have over 500 members, from 42 states and 11 foreign countries. Over a million dollars is invested in the planes and the buildings that house them.

The flying museum began in 1957 at Mercedes when Royce Norman, Hugh Williams, Lloyd Nolen, Vorgie Plyant, and Billy Drawe bought a P51 "Mustang" and a battle-scarred Navy F8F "Bearcat" from government surplus.

Until then the fighting aircraft had been destined to scrap heaps and blast furnaces.

The Confederate Air Force vowed to "rescue at least one flying specimen of every American airship that fought in the war."

The present collection includes 32 different planes, which brings the ghost squadron to a force of 39 aircraft. All have fought in the war and are still flown during training weekends of the CAF.

The planes include a B17 "flying fortress," a B26 Martin "Marauder," a B-24 "Liberator," a B25 "Mitchell" of the type used by Jimmy Doolittle, an A26 "Invader," and A20 "Havoc," a Grumman TBF "Avenger" and a Douglas "Dauntless."

There are four Nazi Swastikas in the line up and one British supermarine "Spitfire."

The CAF's friendly competitor, the U.S. Air Force sent the rebels a B-47 Nuclear bomber, and a twin-jet F-89 "Scorpion." They are the only planes in the collection that aren't flown.

Nowhere in the world is there another group of men like the rebel "Colonels" of the CAF. They want to preserve the spirit in which WWII fighters toppled Nazi Germany and Imperial Japan.

They want to fly as a group symbolizing American Heritage.

And they want to honor the planes that fought on every battlefront in the world from Pearl Harbor, across Europe, to Normandy, Berlin and finally over Japan.
