

County Registration Day Plans Complete

Conservation Pay to County May Top $400,000 Mark

Collingsworth County's payments under the AAA program will top $400,000 this year, C. V. Griffin, administrative officer in charge, estimated Wednesday morning. Already, 125 applications for conservation payment have been sent into the state office, and the first of the checks covering payment on this division are expected during the latter half of November.

This amount represents a cut of out one-fifth from the amount received in Conservation payments last year, Mr. Griffin said. This is general over the southern states.

The rate of payment will include use rates: cotton, 1.44 cents per acre and on the normal yield times allotted acreage; feed, an average of 70 cents per acre; the 2 payment, 55 cents for each acre plus 10 cents per acre for pasture land. This rate is slightly higher than last year provided a sufficient number of acres is earned.

An optimistic note in connection with this was announced by Mr. Griffin at this time, however, he pointed out that the Department of Agriculture has already announced that 1941 payments will likely be slightly higher. To date, approximately 90 per cent of the applications for payment under the conservation program have been signed, and by the end of next week, the AAA office plans to have at least 1,000 of the applications sent to the state office.

rs. Whitley To Open Beauty Shop

Mrs. Wiley Whitley of Memphis last week announced the opening of the Dorris Lee Beauty Shop at Cochran Drug Store in Wellington. The opening day for the shop will be Thursday, October 11.

Mrs. Whitley is already widely known in Wellington. For a number of years, she made her home in Wellington, but more recently has owned and managed a beauty shop in Memphis. She will manage that shop as well as the one in Wellington.

Assisting her will be Miss Lota Wine of Memphis. Miss Wine had five years experience in beauty shop work, and comes to Wellington highly recommended.

Much new and modern equipment has been placed in the shop in Wellington, Mrs. Whitley stated. "We give all old friends a cordial invitation to drop by and see the shop and meet Miss Wine," Whitley said, "and to each one in the county with whom I am not acquainted, I invite to drop by and make the acquaintance of our personnel and see the shop the type of work we do."

Ex-Students Of West Texas State To Meet Saturday

Ex-students of West Texas State College at Canyon will meet Saturday, October 12, to organize a local Ex-students unit, and to select a queen to represent this county at the annual homecoming Saturday, October 19.

The meeting will be held in the district court room and will begin at 2:30 o'clock. This meeting is being called at the request of officials of the college.

All former students of the county are urged to attend the meeting and to help with the organization and selection of the queen.

Capt. Hook, Adventurer, To Speak Here Monday

Capt. Art Hook, famous sea diver and adventurer, will appear in Wellington at the High School Auditorium Monday afternoon, at 2:00 o'clock, according to announcement made by John Hooper, band director. Capt. Hook's appearance here is being sponsored by the Skyrocket band, which will play for the occasion.

Thrilling stories of adventures will be recounted by Captain Hook. In addition, he will display a number of oil paintings, showing the kinds of plant and animal life in the bottom of the ocean. He will also exhibit his diving apparatus—helmet, shoes, weights, life belt, knife, and diving dress.

"We extend a cordial invitation to the public to attend this lecture," Mr. Hooper stated. "This feature is something new to Wellington, and we feel that not only the students, but adults as well will get a big thrill out of his talk."

Wellington Rotarians Tuesday honored members of the Rocket football team with their annual luncheon in recognition of their achievement, and of the high type of sportsmanship which they show.

John Williams, head coach and a member of Rotary, introduced Joe Beard, superintendent of schools, Hoyet Williams, and Lwood Dow, assistant coaches. The Skyrockets were introduced to the Rotarians by Mr. Williams, and by members of their own group.

Speaker for the event was Rev. J. Edmund Kirby, pastor of the Methodist Church. Pointing out that the principles involved in a game of football were not so different from those of actual life, he made comparisons on four points.

"There will always be forces opposing you in life. No boy can play his best game till he is master of himself," Rev. Kirby said. Naming consistency as his second point, he urged the group to be dependable and consistent in all things.

"There is the matter of reserve. No team is better than its reserve power, and the reserve force which you have within yourself," he pointed out.

As the last point he stressed, "The game is never over till the last whistle has blown. Don't ever give up in your football or in your living."

Tickets for the entertainment will go on sale late this week by members of the band.

Capt. Hook, whose home is in Bellingham, Washington, will tell of many of his thrilling experiences at this time, including an encounter with an octopus when he saved a drowning man from its slimy tentacles. During his career, he has saved twelve persons from drowning, and has recovered seventeen bodies from the ocean. During his nineteen years as a deep sea diver he has made seven thousand trips to the bottom of the ocean and estimates he has walked 600 miles along the ocean's floor.

Nationally circulated magazines have carried the story of his experiences, and he has appeared on many coast-to-coast radio hookups.

Capt. Hook is reported by those who have heard him as a fascinating speaker, who tells his stories with thrill and charm. An opportunity will be given for his audience to ask any questions they may care to in connection with deep sea diving.

Senator Hatch Declares Axis Move Expected

Senator and Mrs. Carl Hatch of New Mexico were Wellington visitors Tuesday night and Wednesday morning, the guests of his brother, Frank Hatch and family. Senator and Mrs. Hatch were on their way to their home at Clovis, after having been in Washington since December, 1939.

"I'm no stranger in Wellington," Senator Hatch said. "I used to come here lots, and I knew quite a number of people here then."

He pointed out that he grew up, went to school, and was married at Eldorado, Okla. Wellington friends that he recalled included R. L. Gillentine, Henry Wells, Joe and Bill McClaskey, and the Thomas family.

Senator Hatch talked freely of the current problems of national interest—the defense program and the war situation.

"It is very necessary for us to continue with a strong preparedness program," he emphasized. "America should prepare as quickly and as thoroughly as possible—not for the purpose of making war on anybody, but solely for the purpose of being prepared to defend against any eventuality or any power or combination of powers in the world."

He expressed belief that decided progress is being made in the work of the defense program, but at the same time recalled that this is slow work, and that a long time will be required to carry out the program.

"As a matter of fact, we are better prepared today—this country—than we have ever been in the history of the country in peace time, but we are not prepared for war," he commented.

Jimmie L. Darrow Junior High Queen

Jimmie Lee Darrow was chosen as Junior High Queen by popular vote of the students of that school Friday morning, October 4.

Immediately preceding this week's assembly program, Friday morning, a Junior High King will be chosen, and the young couple will be crowned in colorful ceremonies at the assembly. Worley Invited To Speak On "We The People"

Pampa News Is Trying To Locate
Congressman-Elect

Johnny Campbell was packed and ready to hop a plane for New York City, but his friend, Congressman-Nominee Eugene Worley of Shamrock, apparently today had not received their invitation for Mr. Worley and Johnny to appear on the famous radio program, We The People, Oct. 15 in New York.

The invitation came as a direct result of Johnny's story of the Mr. Worley Goes to Washington club in Life magazine last Friday. The We The People program Friday invited Gene and Johnny to appear on the program. The telegram was forwarded to Washington, and today the News received a telegram from Congressman R. E. Thompson of El Paso who introduced Mr. Worley on the house floor last week, stating that he was unable to locate Mr. Worley and that he understood the Panhandle congressman-elect was en route home.

It is believed that Mr. Worley had not received the telegram from We The People. The Associated Press, and Mrs. Van Huff, Marvin Jones' secretary, today cooperated in attempting to trace Mr. Worley. It is believed that he will accept the offer. The News today received this message from We The People:

"We have invited Congressman Worley and Johnny Campbell to appear on We The People program of Oct. 15. So far we have not received his acceptance to our invitation." (Continued on Page 8, Sec. 1)

New REA Maps Go Off This Week

Revised maps on the application for the third REA allotment will be sent to the Rural Electrification Administration in Washington this week, Orval Couch, project superintendent, said Wednesday.

"We hope to have this allotment granted us this month," he said.

This third allotment will serve approximately 360 members, and will be for $120,000. Should this allotment be granted at this time, work will likely begin on construction of the lines around January 1. "This allotment would bring the total money expended by the Rural Electrification Administration on the Greenbelt projects to approximately $350,000," Mr. Couch (Continued on Page 8, Sec. 1)

Driver Takes Gas, Then Shoots At Loco Pursuers

The driver of a green coupe bought ten gallons of gas at the Lester Hunter Filling Station at Loco, drove off without paying for it, and then shot at Mr. Hunter and Elvis Crawley as they pursued him, was still not located by Childress officers early this week.

The incident occurred early Saturday morning.

The car was later reported as one stolen at Frederick, Okla., Childress officers told Loco residents.

Rockets Play Lakeview Eagles Here Friday

Wellington Skyrockets will play their second home game this season Friday night, when they meet the Lakeview Eagles at Powell Field. This will be the second conference game of the year.

No information has been received concerning the Eagles. They represent, however, the smallest school in District A. Although they have been overwhelmed by the Rockets during the last two years, local fans recognize them as a plucky, hard fighting, clean playing team. Because of this, admiration of the Lakeview boys has steadily grown throughout the district.

The Rockets will go into this game with no injuries, Coach John Williams said Wednesday. Herbert Bearden, who was out of the Perryton game with a broken finger, will be back in the starting lineup.

The Eagles this year have played Wheeler, Estelline, McLean and Memphis. They suffered defeat at the hands of the Wheeler, McLean and Memphis teams, but were victorious over Estelline.

Probable starters for the Rockets this week will include: Herbert Bearden, left end; Freeman Wind (Continued on Page 8, Sec. 1)

Final Pointers Will Be Given Judges Saturday

Collingsworth County's plans for Registration Day, Wednesday, October 16, are rapidly nearing completion, Judge C. C. Bishop, county judge and Margaret Shields, county clerk, said Tuesday evening. At this time, all male citizens of the county between the ages of 21 and 35, inclusive, will be registered for the selective draft, as provided recently by the national Congress.

Final instructions will be given the election judges of the 17 voting precincts of the county when they meet with Judge Bishop Saturday afternoon, October 12, in the District court room. All these persons who are volunteering their services to the judges as assistants are urged to meet with the group at this time. This meeting was previously announced for Tuesday, but at the request of the Governor it was changed to Saturday.

Registration will be held at the regular voting boxes, Judge Bishop and Miss Shields reminded. The booths will be open from 7 o'clock in the morning until 9 o'clock at night.

Notice of a change in regulation received this week states that men who will come within the registration may assist with the work on that day. They had previously been forbidden to do so.

In stressing the necessity of registering for the selective service draft, special provisions have been made for the registering of those men who may be out of their home voting precinct on the day of registering. Any man who for any reason fails to register on the day fixed may present himself before any local board. The local board shall register him, and if he has a valid reason for having failed to register, shall issue him a registration certificate.

Any person who on Registration Day is prevented by illness from appearing to register, shall have a competent person apply to the election judge, or person in charge, and provision will be made for a deputy or assistant to register him at his home. Should he be under quarantine or too sick to be registered. (Continued on Page 8, Sec. 1)

Airport Hopes Given Setback

Wellington's hopes for a federally financed airport dropped Friday when the U. S. Senate rejected an $80,000,000 appropriation for beginning a program of improvements on 4,000 airports throughout the nation. An airport for Wellington had been recommended as one of these.

Approval of this would have meant expenditure of $188,616 on an airfield here.

This program had received an OK by the House, and was designed to finance a start on the airport program as part of the national defense appropriations.

Highway Body Encouraging On Proposed Road

Request for paving Highway 52 running from Wellington east to the Oklahoma State Line was presented the State Highway Commission last week by the Commissioners Court of this county. Representing the court at Austin was Judge C. C. Bishop, Jason Young, and C. E. Strong. Judge Bishop was spokesman of the group.

More encouragement was offered the group this time than at either of the previous times surfacing of the road has been asked, Judge Bishop reported. Members of the Commission questioned the group as to the co-operation which the county would give in extending the (Continued on Page 8, Sec. 1)

STRENGTH Is One Among The Essentials Of Banking

Unless a bank is fortified by a strong financial foundation it cannot render continual banking service to the community which it serves; it cannot resist the attacks of changing economic and other adverse conditions, local, as well as otherwise. It must have the essential of strength to be dependable under any and all conditions.

Senator Carl Hatch of New Mexico was in Wellington Wednesday. He thinks the furor over taking Japan into the axis is simply the effort of a desperate Germany and a frightened Italy to divert the efforts of the United States from giving aid to Britain. His intimation was that Germany and Italy are deeply concerned over the eventual consequences of American airplanes and ships being sent to England. His words follow: "To Washington the announcement of the alliance between Japan, Germany and Italy was no surprise since the trend had been known for several months. The publicity given this alliance by Berlin and Rome is simply seeking to stop us from giving aid to Britain and to engage our attention elsewhere."

Lee O'Neill, Luther Gribble and Clark Anderson have been appointed as the three members of the draft board. They have a difficult and a trying task. They will serve without pay. It happens to be a job that nobody wanted, but somebody had to take it. If the appointments are as representative and as excellent all over the state as they were in this county, there is cause for Texans to be proud. These men did not ask for this job, but they will do it well. They deserve our consideration and our co-operation.

Due to volunteers, Collingsworth will send only a small number of men to the first draft. For instance out of the first 800,000 men called Texas will send only 8,000 men while 50,000 will be called from Michigan. Oklahoma will be called upon for 1,600 men while Kansas with less population will have to contribute 10,500 men. The Carolinas, Georgia, Alabama, Kentucky, Oklahoma, and Texas have contributed so many volunteers that only 32,400 men will be called from these states while New York and Illinois will be called on for 175,700 men. My information on these figures is Peter Molyneux of the Texas Weekly and he does not make mistakes in arithmetic.

You don't need to subscribe to The New York Times to find out how the war is coming out. Here is a conversation on the streets of Wellington:

M. P. Watkins: Germany is going to have to knuckle under.

Frank Royal: When did you find that out?

Fatty: On August 15, when Hitler didn't take England. By next summer there will be enough airplanes over there to blow the Germans off the face of the map. They admitted it when they joined up with Japan.

It is different language, but it amounts to about the same thing that Senator Hatch said while in Wellington three days later.

It is beginning to dawn on my dull country mind that I may thoroughly enjoy the publicity battle over our new Congressman-elect—Gene Worley. Mr. Worley, who went to Washington at the so-called summons of Marvin Jones when Marvin Jones was not in Washington—did not have a publicity man, he had five to say the least. In the order of their original importance they were Lewis Nardye of Amarillo, Albert Cooper of Shamrock, Archer Fullington of Pampa, Doyle Vinson of Childress and E. D. Fyke of Paducah. Each of these has a very definite opinion of the value of his services during the campaign, but since August 24, "Archie" has so far outdistanced his contemporaries that there is no comparison. He has already put Mr. Worley in life and on the "We the People" radio program while at the same time subtly suggesting that Mr. Worley would be willing to serve as president of the United States four years from now. It looks like the consummation. How will Lewis, Albert, et al outdo such a performance?

Why does this tickle me? It is simple. I know enough about these men to know that they have pride in their craftsmanship. Each one of them wants to be known as the man who did the best job. Editors and publicity men are not as jealous of one another as doctors, and they are a little more jealous than lawyers, but they sure are human. All the while the man who shot the bear—the man who got the job done—has said absolutely nothing. Perhaps he has been enjoying the show all the way just as I am beginning to now.

Richard Bailey is doing a very creditable job of reporting the Rocket football games. Give the old boy a hand when you see him. It is his first venture into journalism, and he is sweating over it much more than he ever did over busting into the Panhandle line.

Virginia Robey went over to the Hatch store to get a story from Senator Carl Hatch. She is a sweet gal and she does a sweet job. By a twist of the wrist—changing the lead—she could have made that story one for any daily paper. Not all the ability in this country is found in big cities. Personally I am glad that we have women in the front end of this business. They won't be drafted. I have been speculating on getting a girl for our next apprentice in the back end.

Large Group At Co-op Open House

A large group of Collingsworth County people were guests of the Farmers Co-op Gin Saturday at the open house held throughout the day.

They were shown through the gin plant, during the time it was in operation, and the working of the machinery explained.

Both officials and employees of the Co-op Society expressed satisfaction with the day, and appreciation for the interest shown by the patrons and other visitors.

Wheat Mixture Ruling Given

County farmers who anticipate planting a wheat mixture for 1941 were reminded this week that under the AAA regulations, they should not have more than 50 per cent of the mixture wheat. A notice of this was sent the local office this week.

This mixture can be harvested and the acreage will be counted against the feed allotment.

C. V. Griffin, administrative officer of the AAA here estimated that the acreage planted to this wheat mixture in the county this year will be unusually large, due to the summer drouth the grass for winter pasturage.

University Library Again Ranks First In South's Colleges

AUSTIN. — Closed European book marts handicapped the University of Texas Library last year, but it managed to secure 26,117 new volumes, bringing its total catalogued items to 639,732, Librarian Donald Coney reports.

These new acquisitions again cinched the library's rank as first college library in the South, Coney said.

Of the new books added last year, 6,375 were gifts.

The library's circulation record was broken during the year as 1,068,256 volumes were borrowed, registering a gain of 1.2 per cent over the 1938-39 mark. It was the second consecutive year in which the million mark had been passed.

Mumps Cases Reach New High

AUSTIN.—Reports to the State Health Department this week from physicians indicate that the prevalence of mumps over Texas is reaching a new high in the seasonal trend. Total reported cases of mumps during the summer just ended have exceeded all previous years, and the opening of schools with attendant increased contagion possibility among children has pushed the total mumps cases to additional higher levels to date, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, announced in Austin this week.

Mumps, in itself, is not a particularly serious disease, but the after-effects may be very serious. Encephalitis (inflammation of the brain) is a most serious complication which may follow mumps since it is apparently caused by the virus responsible for mumps. In large epidemics, as many as one in each hundred mumps patients has developed encephalitis. Encephalitis may be followed by personality changes of such a character as to make the individual useless in future life. It causes paralyses and palsies, and four per cent of the total deaf mutes can trace their condition to mumps in early infancy.

Another serious complication which may follow mumps is the involvement of other glands in the body by the mumps virus. Severe pain accompanies this manifestation, and such involvement results often in sterility of the individual for life. It may so closely resemble appendicitis that the individual is subject to an operation. Peculiar infections of the kidney and pancreas may also result from the mumps virus.

Mumps is contracted through close contact with a person who either has mumps or is in its preliminary stages. Usually there is a period of twelve to twenty-one days between exposure and illness. Typical mumps reaction is the swelling of the parotid or salivary glands. These glands, lying beneath the angle of the jaw, produce swelling of the side of the face and neck.

The Texas statutes require that mumps cases shall be isolated from school for a period of twenty-one days at the discretion of the local health official. And since complications following mumps may be quite serious, every person with mumps should remain in bed under a physician's care.

The theory that a person who had mumps on one side (involve ment of single parotid gland) was not immune on the other side has been disproved by recent scientific knowledge. Immunity produced from mumps (single gland, double gland or many glands) is a long lasting immunity and since this disease is a constitutional disease, the immunity is not one that applies to a single isolated gland, but protects the entire system against a recurrence of mumps.

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Curry and Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Curry of Fort Worth, were guests this week of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Curry and Mrs. Annie Wall. T. G. Curry is chief of police in Fort Worth, and is a brother of R. F. Curry.

Mrs. Kaarlo Kussamo, wife of the Finnish consul in New York City, is collecting clothing for the needy in her homeland and has established a branch of the Finnish Red Cross in New York.

Many Advantages Found In 1941 Ford Motor Line

The new Ford line has been received for inspection by Collingsworth County drivers, according to Kelly Pigg, Wellington dealer.

There was a lot of advance discussion of changes. And changes there are, starting off with a considerable increase in size for the Ford V-8's, DeLuxe and Super DeLuxe.

Designers have taken full advantage of increased wheelbase and overall lengths to give added spaciousness, and Ford engineers have worked right up from bigger tires through to luxury seat cushions and new softer springs for the solid enhancement of riding comfort.

A new four-cylinder truck and commercial car engine is part of the economy features included in the Ford working line.

The wheelbase of these big new DeLuxe and Super DeLuxe Ford V-8's is longer and the overall length greater. The designers have taken advantage of this extra overall to increase the inside body length both in foot room and seating width. In fact, the front seat of the sedan is seven inches wider than last year. The head room is greater and the window area, already large in previous Ford cars, is even larger this year.

Running boards have practically disappeared from sight, due to the width of the new bodies. But they are there to step off when the doors are opened.

The 35 horsepower V-8 engine is still unique as it is in the only eight cylinder car in the low price field. These new Fords have lower transmission gear ratios thus hiking up the "get-away."

In addition to beauty both inside and outside the Ford engineers emphasize the greatly improved ride in all 1941 models. This extra riding comfort starts with two inches longer wheelbase and a new electrically welded "X" type frame. This new frame structure is 100 per cent more rigid, making the body now mounted on big rubber cushions still quieter in service. The springs, front and rear, with their increased effective length, have balanced action eliminating any "pitching" and give the easiest kind of ride. The rear seat cushions are two inches farther ahead of the rear spring and axle, which further improves the riding qualities.

The four level-type hydraulic shock absorbers now have a more sensitive adjustment to match the new softer acting springs. The new improved ride stabilizer, connected by swinging shackles to the front axle, minimizes side sway and improves steering.

The new Fords have big 12-inch hydraulic brakes, for quick, smooth action and long service. The emergency, or parking brake, is on the rear wheels and operated by a steel cable. The brake lever is under the instrumental panel, at the left of the driver. The new hood lock knob is located under the instrumental panel near the brake lever. This protects the engine, battery and accessories from theft.

Hens Don't Like Lice, Either

COLLEGE STATION.—Lice are prevalent in exceptional numbers in many poultry houses at the present time and in many cases have caused egg production to drop sharply.

Geo. P. McCarthy, poultry specialist of the Texas A. and M. Extension Service, recommends one of these three treatments: dust the birds with sodium flouride; dip the birds in sodium flouride mixture prepared according to the directions on the package; or paint the roosts with nicotine sulphate.

To dip the bird in sodium flouride, hold the fowl by the head with the fingers over the beak, and by the legs, and draw through the mixture backward. This will force the mixture into the feathers. Such dipping is recommended only during warm weather.

Large poultry producers prefer the nicotine sulphate method, especially if they have houses in which they can control the air circulation. It is most effective on still nights.

The roosts are painted lightly with nicotine sulphate about 30 minutes before the hens come in at night. When they perch on the roosts, the fumes from the chemical penetrate the feathers and kill the lice. The treatment should be repeated in 10 days to take care of any lice that have hatched out in the interval. If the ventilators are closed during the treatment, they should be opened about nine o'clock the same night to allow the fumes to escape.

Home runs by DiMaggio, Dahlgren and Selkirk brought in all the runs scored by the New York Yankees in a recent game.

Your Stomach—How To Help It

CHICAGO.—"I'm having trouble with my stomach," is one of the most frequent complaints in all walks of American life. One third of the people of this country suffer from gastro-intestinal allergy, medical experts declare, according to the Hospital Research Institute, Chicago.

In a discussion on the subject, it was explained that gastro-intestinal allergy is a hypersensitivity of the digestive tract. It gives rise to a train of symptoms upon the ingestion of certain foods. In the same amounts, such foods cause no disturbance in the average person.

"The symptoms complained of by sufferers are almost without limit," it was stated by an authority. "Bad taste, indigestion, gas, constipation, nausea, soreness and burning in the lower abdomen, skin rashes, dizziness, nervousness, and pain in the extremities are only a few of the gastric and intestinal and general body symptoms complained of. Should the symptoms persist, it would be wise to consult the family physician and a short period of hospitalization may be advisable in order to clear the digestive tract and to make certain that there are no indications of ulcers or cancer."

Foods to which patients suffering from food allergy of the digestive system are usually not sensitive, include:

Chicken; some meats either broiled or boiled; butter, white bread; rice; noodles; salt; lettuce; tomatoes; potatoes, either boiled or baked or mashed; carrots; sorghum; and green peas, string beans, cauliflower and spinach.

A few foods to which such patients may be sensitive, include:

Chocolate; oatmeal; strawberries; and almost any foods that are fried or stewed.

The total number of broadcast stations in the world is about 1,400, almost half of which are in the United States.

Theme of the convention was "Citizenship, Responsibility—the Price of Liberty." Present was Mark A. Smith of Thomaston, Ga., the president of Kiwanis International. The local representatives reported that this convention had the third highest number of members present of any convention ever held by the Kiwanis Club.

The 1941 convention will be held in Beaumont.

School Honors Flag In Service Wednesday Morning

In an impressive service on the high school lawn a group of members from the American Legion were in charge of a flag raising program Wednesday morning, Oct. 9.

Students were called from their classes by the playing of Reveille, and the high school band played briefly before the raising ceremony. Judge C. C. Bishop paid tribute to the flag and this was followed immediately by the raising of the flag to the top of the newly erected pole.

The pledge of allegiance was given by the students, followed by a gun salute by members of the Legion firing squad. "America," by the high school band, and the singing of "God Bless America," concluded the service.

John R. Self Buried At Quail October Second

Funeral services for John Richard Self, an early day Texas merchant and school teacher, and for many years a Quail resident, were conducted Wednesday afternoon, October 2, from the Church of Christ in Quail, with Guy N. Woods, minister of the Church of Christ in Wellington, in charge. Mr. Self died Tuesday, October 1, at the home of a daughter in Clarendon, with whom he had made his home. He had been ill for many months.

Pall bearers for the service were R. M. Webb, R. W. Moore, H. Mann, A. O. Hott, William Pierce, and H. M. Reid. Flower bearers were Mrs. H. M. Reid, Gilbert Mann, Mrs. Frank Wofford, Mrs. A. O. Hott, Mrs. R. M. Webb, Mrs. G. A. Meyers, and Ruby Cottingham. Hymns included "Sweet Bye and Bye," "Shall We Gather at the River," and "Where We Never Grow Old." Interment was in the Quail Cemetery.

Mr. Self was born December 8, 1863, at Jonesboro, Ark., and at the time of his death he was 76 years, 9 months, and 23 days of age. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Self. His childhood was spent in Arkansas, and there he was married to Miss Laura Swindell on June 29, 1882.

In 1890, the couple and their family came to Texas, settling in Collin County. In Arkansas, and after he moved to Texas, Mr. Self was a school teacher. He was also a merchant during his early days in Texas.

Twenty-six years ago, the Self family moved to Collingsworth County, and for a large part of that time, they have been identified with the community growth of the Quail section.

Mr. Self was widely known, both in this county and in Donley County, and throughout the section his many friends loved and respected him.

He was a member of the Church of Christ, and had been a member of the Masonic Lodge since he was 21 years of age.

Survivors include these children, French Self, Ira Self, and Mrs. Janie Atkinson of Quail, George Self and Mrs. G. G. Reeves, of Clarendon, and T. M. Self of Winters, Calif. Sixteen grandchildren and four great grandchildren also survive.

Food For Farm Dogs Important

COLLEGE STATION.—Proper feeding of the farm dog is becoming as much of a science as the feeding of other farm animals. At least it should be, for the well trained dog on a Texas ranch or livestock farm fills a real need and works as hard as anybody.

In Louisiana a dog lover initiated the practice of filling a canning budget for her dog at home butchering time, and numbers of other homemakers have followed her example in providing for the farm dog.

Work done in the last four years by the Alabama Experiment Station has revealed that the home mixing of a dog's rations is both practical and economical.

These rations have been found to be complete for the growth and maintenance of dogs:

(1) 58 pounds of ground yellow corn, 20 pounds of wheat shorts, 20 pounds of meat scraps, 1 pound of salt and 1 pound of cod liver oil or

(2) 46 pounds of ground yellow corn, 20 pounds of wheat shorts, 29 pounds of peanut meal, 2.5 pounds of bone meal, 1 pound of salt, 1-2 pound of limestone and 1 pound of cod liver oil, or

(3) 55 pounds of ground yellow corn, 20 pounds of wheat shorts, 10 pounds of meat scraps, 12 pounds of peanut meal.

Glasses No Bar Under Draft Act

Glasses are not considered a handicap to military service—in fact, they will help many men to get into the army in the coming selective draft, according to the Better Vision Institute. The visual requirement for service under the selective draft is 20-100 in each eye without glasses, correctable to 20-40 in either eye. That means that recruits are required to see sharply without glasses about one-fifth the distance seen by normal eyes. If glasses bring up the vision in either eye to a seeing distance of half of that of normal eyes, the recruit is acceptable as far as vision goes. Most young men wearing glasses, says the Institute, will be able to pass that visual qualification.

Promotion in the army, however, calls for better eyes. The minimum requirement for a regular army commission is 20-40 in each eye without glasses, although in some of the non-combatant divisions visual standards are somewhat lower. In the air corps normal vision, 20-20 in each eye without glasses, is required for a commission.

Mrs. A. L. Nowlin Exhibits Junior High School Work

An exhibit by Mrs. A. L. Nowlin of work done in the social service class of the Junior High School, directed by Mrs. Reda Brickey, was held last Friday at 12:30 in connection with a luncheon served to the class. The seventy pupils have been studying Mexico since September, and each pupil had made and had on exhibit, some item showing the habits, dress, furniture or customs of Mexico.

The individual exhibits, one made by each student, were varied and excellent. They showed skill and study on the part of the class and some object as patio strings, pottery, maps of the country, Mexican hand painted pictures and landscapes, as well as note books, weaving and many others, showing serious study on the part of these students.

The Mexican menu consisted of chilis, tortillas, Mexican beans, chocolate and candies. This was served by the WPA lunch-room under the direction of Mrs. A. C. Boverie.

Teachers of the Junior High were honor guests. They were Mrs. Elliott, Mrs. Cummings, Mr. Lehmborg, Mr. Lee and Miss Cowan. Mrs. Nowlin was a special guest invited by the class.

Mexican music was played on guitars and sung during the luncheon by members of the class.

Jerry Atkinson Dies Monday Of Brief Illness

Edward Jerry Atkinson, member of one of Collingsworth County's most widely known pioneer families, died Monday night, October 7, at 9:40 o'clock, in a Wellington hospital following a brief illness. Mr. Atkinson was 70 years of age.

Mr. Atkinson was the son of the late Dr. and Mrs. T. C. Atkinson, who came to Collingsworth County in the early 1890's, and who were instrumental in the founding of the Quail community. Not only did he work toward the material progress of the county, but he devoted much time and effort toward the development of the church and community life in general. He, with his brothers, were a driving influence in the making of the present day Collingsworth County. And like they, and many other of the pioneers of this section, he asked no reward for what he contributed in time and money.

Mr. Atkinson owned a section of land adjoining the Quail township, and on which the Quail Baptist Church is now located.

Although he lived here during the early days of the county, Mr. Atkinson moved to New Mexico a number of years ago and resided until about two years ago, when he returned to this county. At the time of his death, he was making his home with a daughter, Mrs. Earl Sartin of Lillie, Oklahoma.

Funeral services were conducted from the First Methodist Church in Wellington Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. In charge of the services were Rev. J. R. Plant, pastor of the Quail Methodist Church, and Rev. U. S. Shirrell, pastor of the Methodist Church at Quitaque.

Pall bearers were Howard Atkinson, Orville Atkinson, John Atkinson, Buford Graham, George Aaron, and Ira Brisbin. Flower bearers: Vena Atkinson, Annette Atkinson, Cleo Brisbin, and Verna Lee Harris.

Hymns included "Farther Along," and "Shall We Gather at the River," by the Kelo Girls Ensemble.

The body was taken overland to Roswell, New Mexico, where brief funeral services were scheduled to be held Wednesday. Interment is to be by the side of his wife. The Kelo Funeral home was in charge of arrangements.

A native of Gnatville, Cherokee County, Alabama, Mr. Atkinson was born December 19, 1870, and at the time of his death he was 70 years, 2 months and 12 days of age. He was the son of Dr. and Mrs. T. C. Atkinson, both natives of North Carolina.

He spent his childhood in the vicinity of his birth. During his entire adult life, until he retired, Mr. Atkinson engaged in farming. He was a member of the Methodist Church, and for many years was active in church and Sunday School work.

He was married to Mrs. Mollie King, a sister of the late Rev. J. S. Aaron of this county. Mrs. Atkinson preceded him in death by about fifteen years.

Surviving Mr. Atkinson are two sons, Noel Atkinson of Vancouver, Washington; Ennis J. Atkinson, of Roswell, New Mexico; a step son, Aaron King, of Canby, Oregon; two daughters, Mrs. John Sims of Pittsfield, Ill., and Mrs. Sartin of Wellington; and a step daughter, Mrs. Jessie Shelton of Canby, Ore. Brothers and sisters include Mrs. Willie Graham of Lillie community, Henry Atkinson of Buck Creek, A. W. and V. D. Atkinson of Quail, Thomas Atkinson of Phoenix, Ariz., and Edgar Atkinson, whose address is unknown. Three grandchildren also survive.

In addition to these, a number of other more distant relatives and a host of friends throughout this section mourn the passing of Mr. Atkinson.

invitation to come to New York WITH ALL EXPENSES PAID BY US. We do hope that he will accept as we are sure our listeners would enjoy hearing his story. Thanks very much for your interest. Tom McDonnell, We The People, 285 Madison Ave., N. Y. C.

We The People, one of the most famous radio programs in America, first introduced Wendell Willkie and a host of other noted Americans to the nation. It has been said often that Mr. Willkie received his greatest boost as a result of appearing on the program.

Today Johnny declared that the reason he wrote the Life article which gave Mr. Worley national prominence was because "I want him to get a place on the agricultural committee. He deserves it, and I believe that congress ought to give him that place. I know that if the nation could hear Gene over the radio they would see how smart he is and that he ought to have Marvin Jones' place on the committee. If he doesn't get it the Mr. Worley Goes to Washington will think of something else. Maybe we will go to Washington." Meanwhile Johnny has his suitcase packed and is ready for Gene to turn up.

It is believed that the two will ride the airliner from Amarillo to New York if Mr. Worley hears of the invitation in time to accept. It will be necessary for both to be in New York by Sunday, Oct. 13. Mrs. W. L. Campbell, and captain of the Peepees is already planning to take in the World's Fair.—The Pampa Daily News of Monday, Oct. 7.

Senator Hatch -

the first line of defense is always the navy, supplemented by a strong air force, and he stated that the United States must advance most rapidly in those two branches. "We have the best navy in our history, but it is still only a one-ocean navy, a thing which we had always believed sufficient. But now it is apparent that we must have a two-ocean navy."

Although the announcement that there would be an embargo on wheat shipments to the Far East, especially to Japanese controlled ports, was made after he left Washington, Senator Hatch termed the move most logical, as viewed in the light of recent developments. The scrap iron embargo placed on Japan has proved most popular in Washington circles, he said.

To Washington, the announcement of the alliance between Japan, Germany and Italy came as no surprise, since the trend had been known for several months. "The publicity given this alliance by Berlin and Rome is simply to stop us from giving aid to Britain and to engage our attention elsewhere," he declared.

Expressing a sentiment that aid should be given England, he added, "If Britain can survive, we will have nothing to fear in this country, but if Britain is conquered—if Britain's navy should fall into the hands of the Germans, we have everything to fear. In saying that, I am not pro-British, I am pro-American—an undisputed fact."

AN ENLIGHTENED PEOPLE CANNOT BE ENSLAVED...

In America the People Have

FREEDOM OF SPEECH
2.
FREEDOM OF WORSHIP
3.
FREEDOM OF ASSEMBLY
4.
FREEDOM OF THE PRESS

"And These Shall Never Pass Away"

The world has learned many lessons since Hitler strode across the stage destroying, corrupting, hating. It has looked at this horror and seen one inalterable fact—that the disease of fascism first strikes at the Press!

Once the Press loses its voice, the people are blinded to the truth, gagged, silenced. Once the Press is dictated to, the people are put in chains—and fascism plants its barbarism upon a nation.

Whenever dictatorship has come into power, the first shadow of its coming has been cast upon the pages of the Press . . . If in America, the Press is ever denied its right to differ, argue, opionate; if it be deprived of its inalienable heritage to cry out against injustice, to challenge corruption—then the Bill of Rights would be dead, the Declaration of Independence a memory, the Constitution a myth—and America a land of goose-steps!

Consider the Press abroad—silenced, inert, decadent; told what to write, when to write, how to write! Consider the people abroad—crushed, blinded, gagged; told what to do, when to do it, how to do it! Fascism annihilates the liberties of all by first crushing the Press. With a free Press dead, the people are easier victims . . . this is the picture under Fascism!

IN AMERICA THE PRESS IS FREE — PRODUCT AND GUARDIAN OF DEMOCRACY —

us face the facts . . . Today, free men and free institutions are fighting for their very lives. Leading this fight for freedom in America is the Press! Every heart of liberty, the very core of our heritage is the Press. That truth can no longer be mumbled or mouthed in truisms. It must now become a living, fighting message for the American people. During the years that this nation has forged ahead as the outstanding champion of civilization as we know it, the Press has clarified the voice of the people. Never once has it faltered, never once has it laid down its cudgels in behalf of truth and justice. While there is darkness in the world, the Press will struggle to bring light. It is your weapon against chaos.

Rockets Bow To Perryton In Non-Conference Game

Good timing and an accurate kick was the deciding point of a 7-6 Perryton win, which even then failed to show which team was stronger as the Rockets and Rangers met on the Ranger field Friday night, October 4. This was a non-conference game and will have no bearing on the Rockets' standing in District 3A.

The Rangers scored first at the opening of the second quarter. Recovering a Rocket fumble almost on the 50-yard line, the Perryton boys, led by Lillie, an elusive little right halfback, drove down the field to the goal line territory. A Rocket penalty put the ball on the one-yard line. On the next play, a pass from Lillie to Boston was good for the touchdown. The Rangers kicked for the extra point.

Not until the first minutes of the fourth period were the Rockets able to score. A 25-yard run by L. E. Gribble, left half, and a series of short gains by Fred Cox, Rocket quarterback, took the ball dangerously near the Perryton goal line. A short plunge by Gribble at the opening of the last period put the ball on the one-foot line and Cox, on the next play, carried the ball over for a touchdown.

With the exception of the drive which netted the Rangers their touchdown, most of the playing in the first half was in Perryton territory. During the second half, although they were slowed down by the higher altitude in which they were playing, the Rockets kept the Rangers well in midfield.

Entertainment at the half was furnished by Perryton's drum and bugle corps and high school band. After a series of marching drills and the playing of school songs, the band formed a large W for the Wellington team, while the bugle corps made a box around the W.

FIRST QUARTER

Wellington kicked off to the Perryton 5-yard line, and Lillie returned eight yards. Luthi added seven yards around left end, and after an incomplete pass, went over left tackle for a first down. On the next two plays, Lillie lost ten yards, and Lawrence punted 20 yards to the Rockets.

Cox returned five yards over right guard. A Perryton penalty for off sides added five yards to the Rocket gains. Two plays later, after the Rockets had lost a yard, M. Wallace plunged through for a first down. Cox added four yards over right tackle and passed to Gribble for another first down. M. Wallace picked up six yards around left end, Cox added five at right end, for a first down, and Gribble hit right tackle for two yards. Young picked up two more yards through the middle, but the Rockets failed to make the required distance on the next two tries, and Perryton took the ball on their 32-yard line.

Luthi and Lillie took the ball forward three yards, when a 15-yard penalty for holding set them back. Lawrence punted to Cox on the Wellington 30, and he returned ten yards. M. Wallace smashed tackle for five yards and Cox skirted left end for six yards as the quarter ended.

SECOND QUARTER

A fumble by Gribble was recovered by Perryton, which set the scene for the Rangers' touchdown. On the next play, however, the Rangers drew an offside penalty. On the next two plays, Lillie regained the lost ground, then completed a pass for a first down. Luthi went through center for two yards and on the next two plays Lillie picked up nine yards and a first down. A five yard penalty against the Rockets put the Rangers farther down the field. Lillie and Lyle, substitute fullback for Luthi, pushed the ball ten yards. A Rocket penalty at this point set the ball within one yard of the goal, and on the next play Lillie's pass to Boston was good for the touchdown. Lillie kicked the extra point.

Wellington received the ball on their five yard line and Cox returned 20 yards. M. Wallace went around left end for 12 yards and a first down. Cox added five yards over right tackle, and Young got two through the center. Cox hit center for a first down. Gribble circled right end for two yards, Cox picked up five more at left end and eight yards and a first down through the middle. A pass from Cox to Gribble was good for three yards as the half ended with the ball on the Rangers' 33-yard line.

THIRD QUARTER

Cox received the kickoff on his 10-yard line and behind perfectly timed blocking and by skillful turns, he returned the ball 35 yards. M. Wallace added two yards over left tackle, but two passes were incomplete, and Cox punted 35 yards to the Rangers' 18-yard line.

Luthi's plunge around left end was good for a first down, but a pass to Luthi fell incomplete. A five yard penalty was gained back by Lillie on a left end run, and on the next play he added six yards over right tackle.

Here again Lillie offset a five yard penalty, but the Rangers were unable to make further gain, and the ball went over to the Rockets in midfield.

On two plays Cox advanced the ball six yards. Gribble, taking the ball behind powerful blocking, tore through the center of the line for 25 yards. Cox carried the ball five times in succession, picking up a first down.

FOURTH QUARTER

Already in the vicinity of the Perryton goal, Gribble carried the ball over right guard to the one-foot line, and on the next play Cox went over for the touchdown.

An attempt to pass for the extra point failed.

Perryton received the ball on their five-yard line, with Lillie returning the ball fifteen yards. A five yard gain around left end by Luthi was nullified by a penalty assessed against the Rangers. Nine yards gained by Lyle failed to gain the first down, and Lillie punted to Cox, who received the ball on the Rocket 40, returning 25 yards. The Rockets lost 12 yards on a penalty and a fumble which was recovered, after which Cox punted to the Perryton 8-yard line.

Lyle hit tackle for four yards, Lillie got a yard at center, and Lyle picked up seven more around left end for a first down. Allen's dash around the right wing netted another first down. The Rockets stalled on two incomplete passes and a short gain by Luthi, when Lillie punted to Cox. Cox returned sixteen yards. Two Rocket passes fell incomplete, and a third, Cox to M. Wallace, netted only two yards. Cox punted out of bounds on the Perryton 30-yard line.

Lillie lost three yards, and the Rangers received a five yard penalty. Lillie plunged right tackle for 12 yards as the game ended.

Larry Sanders Is Member Of Buffalo Football Squad

Larry Sanders of Samnorwood is one of the members of the West Texas State College football team, and is due to see considerable action in games which the Buffaloes will play during the remainder of the season, reports from the team indicate.

Sanders, who plays in the full-back position, was regarded as one of the starters at the opening of the season, but a dislocated elbow kept him out of the early games. This is his second year to play with the Buffaloes.

He is the son of Supt. and Mrs. E. G. Sanders.

Night Call. Sharp Cold. 11-Hour Parking. Comes dawn . . . and the car starts in "no time"

Bad days ahead. But here's how Winter OIL-PLATING maintains needed lubricant in advance—for Safe Quick Starts . . .

Your mind can easily picture a layer of lubricant staying all night—or longer—on a flat metal shelf. But now if you'd tip that shelf straight up, and all the lubricant still wouldn't drain off or dry up in weeks, you'd have some picture of wondrous OIL-PLATING—the drain-proof extra Winter safeguard to give your engine now, by changing to Conoco Germ Processed oil.

Winter doubly proves the worth of OIL-PLATING your engine, since proper starting can greatly depend on speedy lubrication of every cold engine part. And there's no way to outspeed OIL-PLATING. For it stays PLATED direct to engine parts all the while the car stands. Not even the steep cylinder walls drain dry of OIL-PLATING, because it's bonded to inner engine surfaces—"joined up" lastingly—by the rare man-made substance in patented Germ Processed oil.

You change just as simply and quickly as usual—at a perfectly usual price. But your engine gets this decidedly unusual OIL-PLATING that must stay up on duty in advance—your strong defense against the worst wear of Winter starts. And that's how to make your oil mileage stay up. Today at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station, get this long-lasting Germ Processed oil for your Winter OIL-PLATING. Continental Oil Company

Cotton Marketing Referendum Set for December 7

Voting procedure in the cotton marketing quota referendum, December 7, will be the same as was in the referendum last year, Kingsworth County farmers learned this week.

All cotton producers in the state will be given the opportunity to vote in the referendum to decide their quotas will be in effect in 1941, George Slaughter, state AAA committee chairman, pointed out.

Last year's referendum, 82 percent of the cotton producers voted in Texas favored quotas, while 18 percent of the producers in the state voted "yes."

A national cotton marketing quota of approximately 12,000,000 bales, the same as is in effect for the current year, has been proposed by the Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard.

The county AAA committees will be in charge of all arrangements for the referendum in the various counties, the chairman said, and voting will be handled just as in any regular election. The committee will choose three local farmers to serve as election officers for each community. Voting places will be provided for all communities where cotton is produced, the county committee designating the places and providing ballot boxes. Voting places will open at 9 a. m., December 7.

All voting will be by secret ballot, each farmer marking his ballot and casting it in the customary manner used in secret balloting. To be effective in 1941, cotton marketing quotas must be approved by two-thirds of the farmers voting in the nation. If approved, quotas will apply to all states, counties and communities where cotton is produced.

Texas First State To Get Funds For Military Highway

AUSTIN.—At long last the bottle-neck that threatened to stifle the full use of the rapidly expanding mechanized forces of the United States Army is due for a stretching and Texas is slated to play a vital part in the process. Work already is in progress leading to the immediate construction of three Texas highway projects regarded as of urgent military importance.

"It is of great significance," writes Charles E. Simons in "The Preparedness Road" in the September issue of Texas Parade, "that those in charge of the national defense program chose two of the most efficient road building agencies in the country to supervise the construction of these projects, the public roads administration and the Texas highway department. The selection was made by the war department.

"A total of $2,200,000 in emergency national defense funds has been earmarked for the projects. The money will come from a special appropriation voted by Congress to the President to provide finances for emergency work needed to round out the national defense picture. It is believed likely that additional funds, either from this emergency appropriation or from a supplemental appropriation, will be made available for military road construction in Texas and other states.

"The military highway projects set up for Texas are the first in the United States and the Texas highway department is the first such state organization in the country to be called to the colors in constructing roads primarily for the use of the armed forces. The projects include a connection between Fort Sam Houston in San Antonio, headquarters for the Eighth Corps Area, with Camp Bullis and Stanley, large military training reservations in the northern part of Bexar county. This project is about 34 miles long. A second project will connect Fort Bliss at El Paso with the Fort Bliss target range at Dona Ana, N. M., 9.5 miles of which are in Texas. The third project provides for approximately six miles of service roads within the military reservation at Camp Palacios.

"Engineers have been detached from routine work in other sections of the state to speed the work on military highways. All available resources of the Texas highway department have been placed at the disposal of the national government. Within the few hours after he had received confirmation of the order to proceed with the work, D. C. Greer, state highway engineer, had issued instructions to all district engineers advising them of the projects and requisitioning all transits, levels, calculating machines and other equipment not absolutely needed for work in the respective divisions, for use in rushing the military projects through the preliminary and planning stages.

"It was emphasized that the work will be financed from an emergency national defense grant and that no additional regular federal funds have been made available to Texas for the construction of highways on the federal aid highway system which are regarded as of military value in the movement of troops, artillery and supplies to strategic defense areas.

"The war department has designated 6,000 miles of Texas main highway network as being of strategic military value. It is hoped that additional funds will be made available for the improvement of this mileage, independent of the emergency defense grants for construction of the military reservation roads. These roads are regarded as the most important for the movement of civilian traffic in all parts of Texas. They would become primary military roads in the event the United States found it necessary to defend its southern border, bearing out the statement of army engineers and highway planners that the roads that best serve the nation in time of peace, serve best, also, in time of war.

"Americans looking at the defense needs of the United States should be thankful to the army of civilian motorists whose taxes have provided us with the present system of highways. But they should not stop there. They should look further to the vast amount of civilian motorists' taxes that are being diverted to other uses. They should insist that all taxes collected from motor transportation be re-invested in the road system. They should look further and demand that steps be taken immediately to make available such additional sums of money as might be absolutely necessary to bring out strategic road systems to a standard of efficiency that will at least be equal to the demands that will be made by the huge mechanized army the United States has set out to build.

"We could have guns to spare at Fort Sam Houston, but they would be utterly useless unless we could get them speedily to Houston, Galveston, Corpus Christi or hundreds of other points to repel an invader."

THE WORKINGMAN'S FOOD

"Preparedness" is now the watchword in the American scheme of life. While the Government tackles the general problem of national defense, each individual must do his part to see that the men and women, boys and girls of this country are strong and healthy.

As the wheels of industry speed up, good health for the workingman and his family becomes more important than ever before. Good health rests on a foundation of good nutrition, which in turn depends on well-planned diets.

The trained dietitian can plan meals in terms of energy, protein, minerals, and vitamins. But the average homemaker plans meals in terms of meat, vegetables, bread, milk and other groups of common food. She wants help in planning well-balanced meals that will fit the family pocket book.

For these American homemakers, the Federal Bureau of Home Economics has worked out a set of diet plans that are simple and easy to understand. The nutritionists first did a great deal of research. From these diet plans, the homemaker can make out her marketing list, and plan her menus accordingly, knowing that the meals will supply the family with all the food values needed for good health. The plans have the advantage of being very flexible. They can be adjusted to suit any family, whether there are ten children, or none. They are also varied to suit the amount of money the family can afford to spend for food.

The aim of each diet plan is to suggest to the family a variety of foods that cover all the needs of good nutrition. At each cost level the need for protein, fats, minerals, and vitamins is taken care of. Milk has a prominent place because it contains so much calcium, protein, and vitamins A and G. Eggs are also important because they are an excellent source of protein, and furnish some of the important vitamins and minerals. There is a generous allowance for vegetables in each diet plan; especially tomatoes, yellow vegetables, and the green leafy ones. These, like dairy products and eggs, provide some of the necessary vitamins and minerals. In order to get enough vitamin C, there is special emphasis placed on citrus fruits and tomatoes. Both fresh and dried fruits are important in all diets. Meat, fish, poultry, and dried legumes and nuts add to the protein furnished by milk and eggs.

The diet plans, as worked out by the Bureau of Home Economics, are helpful guides in planning well balanced meals. But each homemaker is responsible for working out the individual variations to suit her particular family.

The Bureau of Home Economics diet plans have been put together in a bulletin, called "Diets to Fit the Family Income." You can get a copy free by writing to the Department of Agriculture in Washington, D. C. Simply ask Farmers' Bulletin, No. 1757.

WEATHER AND THE WAR

Not only England, but a large part of the whole world, is speculating on what effect the coming of bad weather may have on German bombing raids. It has been generally believed that the storms and fogs soon to be prevalent over Britain and the English Channel will serve to hamper the German attacks.

It has been observed, however, that in some instances in recent weeks successful German air raids have been made in spite of heavy clouds and rain. British bombers have also inflicted much damage on the Germans at times when the weather was apparently unfavorable.

There is little likelihood that bombing raids by either side will be discontinued except temporarily because of bad weather, but it will be difficult to do more than attempt to reach objectives through blind flying and drop bombs pretty much at random. Thus any damage done will likely be at the expenditure of an enormous amount of bombs in comparison with the results obtained and hitting important military bases will be largely accidental.

Because storms travel mostly from west to east, the British will have a considerable advantage, as the weather England has one day will generally prevail over Germany about 24 hours later. No weather forecasts are given out in England, so the Germans will have little information as to what to expect until they run into it.

On the whole, England expects to get much relief from the fogs and mists which prevail from about October until March, and they are hopefully awaited.

NEW USES FOR ODORS

From time immemorial certain materials in common use have been offensive to sensitive persons because of unpleasant smells, such as those emitted by oilcloth, rubber, fresh paint and the like. In the last few years much has been done by "odor engineers" toward eliminating these unpleasant effects, and perfumer-chemists now have more than 1,000 pleasing scents with which to make various articles of merchandise more attractive.

Perfume mixed with printer's ink has been used by Chicago and New York newspapers on special occasions to lend novelty to florists' and other advertisements. The use of perfumed advertising blotters is already an old practice.

A bus line has overcome irritating gasoline fumes by adding quantities of perfume to the fuel, and experiments have been similarly made with diesel engines on suburban trains. Perfumed typewriter ribbons and carbon paper have been introduced, and are said to be popular with stenographers.

The odor of antiseptics, characteristic of hospitals, is being overcome by the spray of scents suggesting woods and flowers, which are also said to have a beneficial effect on convalescents. Two Swiss chemists are said to have enhanced the effectiveness of a motion picture by the introduction of suitable odors in various scenes. Some of the more smelly ones might be improved by the employment of a simple deodorant.

A BUILDER OF SHIPS

An important and unusual career ended a few days ago in the death of Lewis Nixon, one of the greatest of modern shipbuilders, at the age of 79. A native of Virginia, Nixon was graduated from the Naval Academy at the head of his class in 1882, and was transferred to the Navy's construction corps two years later.

In 1890, at the age of 29, he designed the battleships Oregon, Indiana and Massachusetts of Spanish-American War fame and then resigned from the Navy to enter shipbuilding in civil life. After a few years as superintending constructor of the Cramp shipyard in Philadelphia, he organized and headed the Crescent shipyard at Elizabeth, N. J., where he built 100 vessels in six years, including many ships for the Navy.

Subsequently he headed various other shipyards and munitions works, and was internationally known as one of the world's greatest industrialists. He was received in special audiences by the king of England, the czar of Russia, Pope Pius X and XI, the king of Belgium, and the presidents of several Latin-American countries.

In addition to his many industrial activities, Mr. Nixon devoted much attention to politics, and was leader of Tammany Hall, besides holding several state offices at various times and being a delegate to seven Democratic conventions, the last in 1932.

Few Americans have had a longer span of active life than Lewis Nixon, who will be remembered as one of the foremost shipbuilders of his day.

Best Shooting In Five Year Ahead For Duck Hunters

Some 65 million ducks, geese and other migratory waterfowl are currently observing an annual custom that has long puzzled the scientific world. They have turned their beaks southward and are quite unobtrusively winging their way toward the sandy, sunlit beaches and the warm winds of lands below the equator.

Thousands of these will never reach the warmer clime. Some will be unable to complete the long, hazardous flight over the water, to stand the strain on the flight muscles that move their wings. Others will never even reach the open sea. They'll wind up on platters on the tables of American hunters whose aims are true.

For the time has come to bring out the shotgun, perhaps whistle to a dog, and begin tramping the fields and marshes of autumn for game.

American duck gunners cannot set forth, as their ancestors did, to kill birds when and how they like. This ancient branch of the art of fowling is played under rules these days. There are seasons to be observed, limits set on the daily bag, and times of day when hunting is restricted.

Some hunters grumble at these regulations. They like to think of Pilgrim days when there were birds on every bush, when the slaves of Virginia complained they were fed quail so often they got sick. But were it not for conservation, there would be little left to hunt today.

Game regulation in America dates back to 1629 when hunting privileges were granted to persons establishing colonies in what is now New York State. There followed an ever increasing volume of legislation to control the taking of game. By 1860, 31 states had hunting laws, as our forefathers began to realize the rich wildlife heritage of the continent was threatened with extermination by constant slaughter.

Today the migratory waterfowl picture is far from pessimistic. Government biologists predict better shooting for U. S. duck hunters this fall than they have had for the last five years. The current bird "census" reveals that the wildfowl population has more than doubled since 1935.

The nationwide establishment of 266 federally operated refuges and sanctuaries has played an important role in bringing back the ducks. Observance of the rules by veteran hunters, and the poor aim of novices, will keep the skies dark enough with birds to suit every sportsman.

The Childhood Of Jesus

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Oct. 13.
Text: Luke 2:40-52.

Glimpses into the babyhood and childhood of Jesus give us appreciation of His real humanity, to complete the fullness of the Gospel revealed in His mature life, His teaching, and His death and resurrection.

The strong emphasis upon the divinity of Jesus has sometimes obscured the fact that that divinity was revealed in humanity. We could not have had a real incarnation if the earthly life of Jesus had not been in harmony with the laws of birth, life, and growth from the cradle to the grave.

Here in the opening verse of our lesson, we have this emphasized. Luke is writing of Jesus as a boy of 12, and he sums up the years between babyhood and that age with the record that "the child grew and waxed strong." As Jesus grew physically, so He grew in wisdom, and as Luke says, "The grace of God was upon Him."

Now Luke gives us a vivid picture of this boy of 12 in action—a picture that far more effectively than any description emphasizes His remarkable nature.

And yet, it is not at all an abnormal picture. The parents of Jesus, as was the custom, had gone to Jerusalem at the Feast of the Passover. The boy must have been thrilled with his visit to the city. He saw and heard a great deal to interest Him, but above all things He had come to the city of the Temple and He had come with the zeal of a youth, precocious in his religious interest.

The parents of Jesus had started on the return journey and had gone a day when they realized that Jesus was not with them. They were not anxious because they supposed that He was among some of the company, for evidently they had many kinsfolk and acquaintances who had come to Jerusalem with the same mission as themselves.

But when they did not find Him, they became anxious. Returning to Jerusalem, they found Him where they might have expected to find Him, in the Temple sitting in the midst of the teachers.

It is a moving spectacle that we have here. If it were merely that of Jesus instructing the teachers, we should be somewhat startled at the presumption of a boy of 12, but even with the grace of God upon Him, presumption was not a sin of the young lad of Nazareth. He was in the midst of the teachers to hear them and to ask them questions, as well as to answer when they questioned Him. They were astonished at His knowledge and His wisdom.

When His parents found Him, His mother spoke as any mother might have spoken in mild reproach expressive of her sorrow. The answer of Jesus is impressive, and in itself marks the depth and feeling of the boy, "Know ye not that I must be in my Father's house?"

It was not necessary to seek Him. The one thing they could have been sure of was that He would not be in any mischief or doing anything unworthy of them or of the teaching that they had given Him.

The teachers might have been willing to keep Jesus with them, but He was a dutiful as well as an inspired son. He came back to Nazareth with His parents, and as the lesson says, "He was subject unto them." But Mary, we might remember, kept all these sayings and pondered them in her heart.

So our lesson concludes with an even stronger word than that with which it began. "Jesus advanced in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and man."

American Boy Is Companion To Thousands

Hundreds of thousands of boys and young men read THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine every month and consider it more as a living companion than as a magazine.

"It's as much a buddy to me as my neighborhood chum," writes one high school senior. "THE AMERICAN BOY seems to understand a boy's problems and considers them in such a sympathetic and helpful way. It gives advice and entertaining reading on every subject in which a young fellow is interested. It is particularly helpful in sports. I made our school basketball team because of playing tips I read in THE AMERICAN BOY."

Many famous athletes in all sports credit much of their success to helpful suggestions received from sports articles carried in THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine. Virtually every issue offers advice from a famous coach or player. Football, basketball, track, tennis, in fact every major sport is covered in fiction and fact articles.

Teachers, librarians, parents and leaders of boys' clubs also recommended THE AMERICAN BOY enthusiastically. They have found that as a general rule regular readers of THE AMERICAN BOY advance more rapidly and develop more worthwhile characteristics than do boys who do not read it.

Trained writers and artists, famous coaches and athletes, explorers, scientists and men successful in business and industry join with an experienced staff to produce in THE AMERICAN BOY, the sort of reading matter boys like best.

THE AMERICAN BOY sells on most newsstands at 25c a copy. Subscription prices are $2.00 for one year or $3.50 for three years. Foreign and Canadian rates 50c a year extra. To subscribe simply send your name, address and remittance direct to THE AMERICAN BOY, 7430 Second Blvd., Detroit, Michigan. Adv.

Singers Will Go To Clinton Sun.

A large group of singers from Collingsworth County are expected to attend the annual Texas, Oklahoma Singing Convention to be held in Clinton, Oklahoma, Sunday, September 13. Several thousand persons from 34 counties in western Oklahoma and the eastern Panhandle will be present. A similar convention was held in Wellington year before last, and was attended by between three and four thousand persons.

Because of this singing and the large number attending from here, the regular monthly county singing convention scheduled at Lillie will not be held. This singing, however, will be held at that place on the Second Sunday in November, Bob Spears of Wellington, announced early this week.

Jimmy Foxx of the Boston Red Sox hit the 500th home run of his major league career late this season, a record exceeded only by that of Babe Ruth, who retired with 741 homers to his credit.
