MACHINE GUNS FAIL TO WORK

Wife of Slain Man Has Newborn Child

DALLAS, April 30. (AP)—Choosing to "shoot it out" with 50 policemen who charged his home, rather than accept arrest, B. G. Perdichi, 35, was dead today.

He was killed last night in the apartment where he had barricaded himself, after shooting and seriously wounding John Techias, 35, cafe operator, and wounding W. R. Greenlee, policeman who sought to arrest him.

Techias was shot in the head as he sat with his wife and child in a park. When Officer Greenlee sought to enter the Perdichi apartment, after the shooting of Techias, he was answered by shots, one bullet striking him in the arm.

A general riot call was turned in, and 50 detectives and uniformed policemen answered, bringing machine guns and surrounding the house. The machine guns jammed, so the policemen whipped out pistols and kept up a fusillade of shots through the windows until Perdichi was dead.

His wife, in a hospital with a newborn baby, was not told of his death. Police seized a quantity of liquor at the Perdichi apartment. He had lived here 25 years, coming to Dallas from Greece.

Friends of Perdichi said he had suffered from mental trouble for two years.

Theft of Trees Puzzles Police

A daring and unusual theft made here Sunday night has the city police "rueasing," according to Police Chief J. I. Downs.

What the officers are trying to determine is the identity of nocturnal marauders who dug three young maple trees from the lawn of E. R. Sunkel at his residence at No. 1105 East Francis. Just why those particular maple trees were taken is of interest to the Sunkels who yesterday reported the theft to the police.

Police are also trying to connect the robbery with one made a month ago when another local resident awoke one morning and discovered that one of his finest lawn trees had been carefully dug up by the roots and taken. Furthermore, the officers are wondering if the same person who took the tree also stole garden and lawn hose and cultivating implements from residences here this week.

Men Are Burned Alive in Oil at Chicago Refinery

CHICAGO, April 30. (AP)—Two men were burned alive in oil today in an explosion at the refinery of the Dardas Products corporation. Four others escaped unhurt, dragging with them a fifth, so severely burned he was not expected to live.

One of the 500-gallon stills was believed to have become overheated while oil was being poured into it, causing the explosion, which sent a column of oil through the metal roof and one side of the plant.

James Fleming, foreman of the exploding still, was one of those burned to death. In a laboratory twenty feet away, the body of Walter Kitch, 22-year-old Northwestern university graduate, was found.

CITY PAVING ACCEPTED AND OPENED TO TRAFFIC—CITY HALL EXCAVATION HAS BEEN FINISHED

Several blocks of new paving accepted last night by the city commission were opened to traffic this morning by the Stuckey Construction company.

That approved included: North Cuyler to the bridge south of the Cook-Adams addition; on Starkweather from Browning to Francis and Browning to Short street; and on Browning from Cuyler to Ballard. The commission also closed the hearing on four blocks to be paved on Easter Foster avenue. The first two blocks joining the present paving will be 50 feet wide and the last two 36 feet wide. Heavy traffic toward the Magnolia property caused widening of the first two blocks.

Excavating on Starkweather made possible beginning of work this morning on South Cuyler below the paving, where the gap between the city and county paving will be closed. The Starkweather dirt will be used to make the fill necessary to the elevation to conform with the high county slab at the city limits.

Having completed the basement excavating, workmen today were pouring the concrete footings at the city hall construction job. The basement will be only 3 feet in depth of excavation, and there will be an 18-inch terrace around the building.

Money Is Taken At Local Store

How burglars entered the Panhandle Hardware company at No. 120 West Foster last night and took about $125 in cash and $75 in checks is puzzling officials of the company today.

There was no evidence that the robbers entered through either the rear or the front doors. The windows were intact.

At noon today no merchandise had been missed. The safe was not touched.

County officers are working on the case.

Five-Year Term Is Given Adams

Grady Adams was found guilty on a charge of robbery with firearms yesterday and given a 5-year sentence in the penitentiary by a jury yesterday in 31st district court, presided over by Judge W. R. Ewing.

Testimony attempting to prove that Adams held up Alton Sudduth and then struck him was introduced by District Attorney C. G. Engledow. Judge Ben Baldwin was appointed by the court to defend Adams.

Ossie Lee Lewis, 17-year-old negro, was given a five-year suspended sentence this morning after pleading guilty to a charge of car theft.

Five Big Switch Engines Now Necessary to Handle Work Here

"Big boys they are," L. W. Klein said in describing the five new switch engines which were recently dispatched here to replace old engines and to improve switching facilities. Each new engine has 200,000 pounds of pressure on the drivers.

There is an average of about 100 cars per day of oil, gasoline, casing-head products and carbon black shipped out of Pampa, Mr. Klein said. Although figures were said not to be obtainable on the subject,

SPEAKS UPON LODGE WORK, NOT POLITICS

Borger Is Likely to Be Next Host City

FOUR HUNDRED VISITORS HERE

Banquet Is Held at Baptist Church at Noon

Barry Miller of Dallas, lieutenant-governor of Texas and past grand master of I. O. O. F. of Texas, is today the guest of Panhandle Odd Fellows in their twenty-seventh annual session here.

Judge Miller arrived here this morning on a "visiting" tour of the Panhandle and will remain here until Thursday morning. He was scheduled to address the convention at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the high school gymnasium on the subject, "Odd Fellowship."

Mr. Miller insists that he is not visiting the Panhandle at this time in the interests of his candidacy for governor and will not refer to it in any of his speeches. He said he will not open his campaign for governor until next month. During last weekend he addressed lodges and other organizations at Vernon, Lockney, Paducah, Plainview, and Lubbock. He traveled north to Pampa from Midland. He also stopped at Crowell and visited friends.

Impressed by Plains "I am astounded at the growth of the Panhandle and especially the North Plains section," Mr. Miller said. "It is not difficult to see that this part of Texas is rapidly realizing its destiny. I was astonished when I learned that the Panhandle of Texas is larger than the state of Ohio. One could reasonably predict that this will be the great agricultural and industrial empire of the future."

Mr. Miller visited friends of the Order and renewed acquaintance with local citizens this morning. It is his first visit to Pampa, although he said he had been to Amarillo many times.

Borger apparently was in a favored position to receive the next I. O. O. F. convention. Her delegates were actively seeking the honor.

Election of the president and other officers and selection of the next meeting place was to take place at the business session this afternoon, according to President C. E. McPherson of Amarillo.

More than four hundred delegates had been in attendance when the second day of the convention dawned. Many visitors were here last night for the individual contests and degree work. Pampa's I. O. O. F. lodge won the cup in degree work, and the Shamrock Rebekah lodge won the same honor in that division.

Taken On Tours This morning the visitors were taken on tours of the city and the oil, gas, and wheat fields. At noon they were guests at a banquet given by the local lodges and prepared by the women of the First Baptist church.

Plates for 345 persons were laid at the First Baptist church dining room, where the colors of the Odd Fellow and Rebekah lodges were lavishly employed in a festive setting.

WASHINGTON, April 30. (AP)—Chairman Legge of the Farm Board today challenged members of the United States Chamber of Commerce to join with him in setting up a private organization which would carry on work now done by the Farm Board.

Departing from the text of a prepared address in which he sharply criticized the attitude of the chamber toward the board, Legge said the proposed organization would be free of government aid.

"How many of you," he asked, "will match dollar for dollar my subscription in helping out such an organization into effect? It is not too late. The problem is still to be solved."

After no one answered, the Farm Board chairman said he would be glad to open his offer and discuss it with any of those interested at a later time.

Saying that under recent conditions there was nothing to encourage the farmer to improve his property, Legge continued: "One modern improvement on which the farmer has kept strictly up to date is the farm mortgage. Most of them have it.

"After many years of discussion and deliberation congress finally passed the agricultural marketing act, which many of you people are now branding as socialistic, or anarchistic, and complaining of interference with, or necessitating some readjustment in, the present system of handling certain commodities."

"It is rather difficult," Legge continued, "to see how progress can be made toward improvement in the agricultural marketing situation without necessitating some readjustment of existing conditions."

"The country generally and business men for the most part gave their approval of the agricultural marketing act before it became a law."

"I am sorry to say that there has been considerable evidence the past several months that entirely too many of your members were for the principle of cooperation only so long as it didn't work.

"When it became apparent that a means had been provided that really would help the farmer get organized cooperatively so that he, like other producers, would have some voice in determining the sale price of his commodity, the effort was branded as government price fixing, putting the government in business, etc. And all of this notwithstanding the fact they had declared unmistakably for the principle of cooperative marketing only a year previously.

STRUCTURE WILL COST ABOUT $100,000

McKean and Connor Award Work to H. L. Case

Contract for the erection of a three-story hospital to cost more than $100,000 was let yesterday by Dr. J. C. McKean and Dr. C. J. Connor to H. L. Case Construction company. The new hospital clinic will be built at the northwest corner of West Francis avenue and Somerville street on a site purchased about two months ago from R. E. Kinzer.

Cost of the building and the lot will be approximately $80,000, and equipment and other fixtures will run the total cost to well over $100,000. Plumbing contract was let to the Sullins Sheet Metal shop, Broome Electric company, Amarillo, was given the contract to install electric fixtures. The American Elevator company will furnish the elevators.

Work is scheduled to start immediately, as the building site was cleared six weeks ago. The contract calls for completion, in 100 working days.

Architects' drawing of the building, shows that it will have approximately 44 rooms and will be 100 feet long and 44 feet wide. The latest and most approved ideas in hospital architecture were combined by Berry and Hatch, architect firm of Amarillo, in drawing the plans. When completed the new clinic-hospital will have no superior in the Panhandle or West Texas in equipment, building, location and staff personnel.

Excellent Location The builders are being congratulated upon securing the location at the intersection of Francis and Somerville. It is believed that the hospital will not be too close to the business district of the city and neither will it be too far away. It is declared to be an ideal location.

The architectural style of the new hospital will be Spanish with enough French, English, and Italian features to produce a type often described as "Southwestern." The buildings of Texas Tech at Lubbock are built in this style. The type of structure planned by the architects is said by them to be the most widely approved for a scientifically arranged clinic.

The new hospital will contain an X-ray room, operating suite, nursery, main kitchen, diet kitchens, nurses' home, elevator and laundry chutes as well as private rooms and wards for patients. It will be built of mingled, buff-colored brick in variegated colors, with Spanish clay roofs, tile floors. The Spanish motif will predominate in the front entrance. The hospital will also contain a basement.

In planning the hospital, the builders kept in mind the needs of the future as well as the requirements of the present. Aware that the trade territory of Pampa is expanding all the time, they planned to build a hospital large enough to care for patients of the north plains. They expect the hospital

HOOVER WILL GET LONDON PACT TODAY

Secretary Stimson in Messenger Role

SENATE TO BE GIVEN TREATY

Heavy Cruiser Row Certain to Be Aired

WASHINGTON, April 30. (AP)—Formal presentation of the official copy of the London naval treaty today held a place of outstanding importance upon President Hoover's engagement list.

Three members of the delegation which represented the United States at the arms conference, were invited to the White House at noon to deliver the treaty to the chief executive, receive his expressions of felicitation and join in a luncheon table discussion of the momentous events which they helped in shaping.

Secretary Stimson of the state department; Secretary Adams of the navy, and Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, the returning envoys, arrived in Washington late yesterday after being accorded a public reception in New York City.

Overnight the treaty reposed in a green steel safe at the state department, no stronger than an ordinary filing case. It was brought to the city by William Beck, Mr. Stimson's secretary.

President Hoover plans to submit the document to the senate within a few days, as soon as he has completed a message of transmittal, setting forth the merits of the pact, as he sees them, and urging its prompt ratification.

An uncertain reception, however, awaits it on capitol hill. Only a few members of the senate have expressed themselves as approving or disapproving the pact, preferring to withhold judgment until after a more complete study of its provisions.

It will be referred officially to the foreign relations committee, which plans public hearings. Two other congressional committees, the naval committee of both the house and senate, also will hold hearings on the treaty.

Chairman Borah of the foreign relations committee has given the pact his conditional approval. He believes it is a real contribution to the cause of disarmament and is particularly pleased that it contains no political commitments.

Chairman Hale of the senate naval committee, however, believes that it embodies a departure from the American principle of building up the fleet of heavy cruisers. Congress has authorized the construction of 23 vessels of this type, while the treaty limits America to eighteen.

Hale intends to call officials and ranking officers of the navy department before his committee to determine their views on the big cruisers provisions of the treaty. Secretary Adams is to be the first witness.

A similar inquiry is planned by the house naval committee. Representative Britten, the chairman, is drafting a bill, for introduction soon, intended to authorize appropriations for the construction of all vessels needed to bring the American navy up to parity with that of Great Britain as provided in the treaty.

COURTESY TO OUR VISITORS

It may be said that there are no strangers in the oil belt. Peoples are gathered from the far corners of the nation, and it is the stuff that is in the heart and character of the people which counts.

The oil capital, however, is a busy place, and words are not wasted. The friend in need gets more attention in an hour than one's other acquaintances get in a busy year.

We think it pays to go an extra mile when a stranger is concerned. We know from experience that a few kind words in a strange place are remembered more than a thousand impressive rows of brick buildings.

Building a city involves right attitudes on the part of the humblest citizen and the greatest. Be courteous to strangers.

NAMING OUR NEW SCHOOLS

There appears to be a growing feeling that the East and West ward schools should be re-named. It is argued that there is no distinction in the designation by directions.

Two local schools have honored names—Baker and Lamar. B. M. Baker was a pioneer district judge who believed in education and who helped to organize this independent district.

If the East and West ward schools wish to be similarly designated, we favor letting them have their choice. There are presidents whose names would grace these schools—Jefferson, Jackson, Lincoln, McKinley, Roosevelt, Wilson.

We will not presume to say how the names should be selected. If the patrons and teachers wish to make the choice, so good. Or if the pupils wish to study the lives of great men and have an election, that would be fine.

We would like to hear from pupils, patrons, and teachers of these two schools. We have only one suggestion, and that is that no public institution should be named for a living person, not even Lindbergh. Humans are frail, but the dead change not.

There are ways to get rains without holding revivals. One of them is to exchange congregations with neighboring towns. When the McLean choir came here a few weeks ago, it rained. When the Presbyterian choir, including the writer, went to McLean last Sunday, the rain fell in torrents and mud chains were in order.

The good die young, so they say, or was it that those who die young do not have time to have been bad? The saying originated before this age of "young ideas."

We still have Lynch and T. W. Davidson, Dan Moody, and three or four other would-be governors nibbling about the gubernatorial bait. There are plenty of people who think there are candidates a-plenty if Clint Small can be elected, but if he can't, the "right man" hasn't announced, in the opinion of many who talk to us.

There seems to be an over-production of everything, including school teachers. This statement ought to get a cheer from the lads who long for bare-foot freedom, if such remains in the bag of youthful pleasures. Pupils have so changed, however, that they like summer school.

And speaking of year-round education—did you know that many educators consider it wasteful to close down three months each year school plants costing hundreds of millions of dollars? The year-round school term is near, although the pupils will no doubt have vacations as usual under the plan.

There is an old newspaper slogan: When in doubt, leave out. Applied to the Supreme Court, that would settle Judge Parker's case rather quickly, wouldn't it?

Mrs. R. M. Byers has as her guests her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Albury of Keystone, Okla., her brother, G. C. Albury, and the latter's wife of Osage, Okla. They arrived yesterday. After a visit of a few days in Pampa, they will leave for an extended visit in California. Mrs. Byers is to leave Pampa within a few days to make her home near Levelland. Mr. Byers is already there.

Odos Caraway of Clarendon was a visitor in the city this morning.

During a Liberty loan drive in World War days, Secretary of Treasury Andrew W. Mellon took part in a Pittsburgh parade to promote sale of the bonds and tramped the seven-mile route on foot.

Wisconsin Fire Levels Forests

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 30. (AP)—More than 250 men today fought fires burning over approximately 20,000 acres of Wisconsin's forests. A heavy smoke hung over the entire Chequamegon bay region as fighters hacked in attempts to save threatened farm dwellings.
Near Herbster, Wis., 125 men worked to extinguish a blaze spreading northward toward Lake Superior over thousands of acres thousands of acres of forest. Approximately 4,000 acres have already been burned. A slight drizzle yesterday failed to hinder the progress of the fire. Much of the burned territory included valuable blue berry tracts.

Carnival Draws Large Crowds

The J. George Loos shows under American Legion auspices on North Sloan street are drawing large crowds each evening.

On the midway among the eight rides, the whip, caterpillar, Hey-Dey and a Tilt-A-Whirl have made decided hits.

The big freak animal show, with its collection of over 200 freak animals, is both interesting and instructive.

The Dixieland minstrel show, one of the biggest and largest ever carried with a carnival, plays each night to large houses. There are sixteen of the best colored performers, 5000 band and orchestra. They change their bill each night.

ODD FELLOW NOTES

Oklahoma, Illinois, Texas, Iowa, Washington, West Virginia and Kansas were among the states with lodges represented at the Panhandle Odd Fellows association's annual meeting. Some pointed out that the many outside states represented opportunity for local lodges to obtain demits for members residing in the respective communities.

Ben W. Baggett secretary for many years of Amarillo bodies, was initiated into Amarillo lodge 26 years ago last November. He served in all the chairs and is a retired colonel in the Canton.

Several inquiries were made about J. M. Smith, former owner of the Pampa News. He was for several years a member of Amarillo Encampment and occasionally attended the meetings.

John F. Ross, inspector of the Amarillo Grain Exchange, went to Amarillo about 20 years ago in charge of the experiment station formerly on the Panhandle highway. He belonged to an Oklahoma lodge and knew so little about the work that he was not allowed to visit Amarillo Lodge No. 410. It was necessary to get a letter from his local lodge stating that he was an Odd Fellow before he could attend. Today Mr. Ross is considered one of the best authorities in the Panhandle on the work.

Miss Irene O'Keefe, society editor of the Panhandle Herald, was not only one of the youngest Rebekahs in years, but also in membership in the lodge. She was graduated a year ago from high school as valedictorian and was initiated by Pampa Rebekah lodge Saturday night as a courtesy to the Panhandle Rebekahs.

MAY DAY TO BE OBSERVED BY SCHOOLS

May day will be celebrated at West Ward school with a fete tomorrow afternoon in which a May pole dance will be held and the king and queen of the May will be crowned. The fete will take place on the campus, beginning at 5 o'clock.

Students and teachers of the school urge that all their friends and the pupils of other schools attend. Two hundred and seventy-five pupils will take part in the festivities.

Betty Curtis and Chester Hunkapillar of the fourth grade will be May queen and king, having been selected in a vote by the pupils. Their attendants will be as follows: Lorraine Delhotel, Doris Stone, Janice Purviance, Helen Frances Draper, Katharine Aikens, Betty Jo Anderson, Mildred Mae Sharp, Harvey Shadwick, Jimmie Stroup, Bobbie Ward, Clifton Stone, Buster Stapp, and Kenneth Nunley.

Joe Thorn will be Robin Hood. The flower girls are to be Louise Baines and Doris Jean Baines. Frankie Foster and Bobby Curtis will be train bearers. The crown will be carried by Jacqueline Davidson.

The program will begin with a march by all the classes of the school. Carl Camp, as Father Time, will read the prologue. Robin Hood will then approach, followed by the flower girls, the court attendants, the train and crown bearers, and the king and queen. The queen will be crowned, and immediately a welcome chorus will be sung.

The rhythm band of the primary grades will perform. Miss Mary Nell's first grade pupils will give a "dumb bell" drill. A dance of the butterflies will be executed by Miss Nettie Sims' third grade pupils. Miss Nettie Sims' third grade pupils will represent millers. Mrs. Peddicord's fourth grade pupils will appear as dandelions and violets. A poppy dance will be given by Mrs. C. W. Stowell's low fifth grade.

Miss Sue Rody's high fifth grade pupils will appear as farmers. The blue bell dance will be performed by Mrs. Stowell's class. The May pole dance will be given by the pupils of Mrs. T. E. Cox and Mrs. C. C. Cockerill.

Garner Too Ill to Head Party

WASHINGTON, April 30. (AP)—The condition of Representative Garner, of Texas, the minority leader, will prevent him from leading the Democrats when the tariff is brought before the house tomorrow.

Mr. Garner, ranking Democrat on the ways and means committee, has been confined to his bed since Friday with influenza.

It was expected that he would be able to be present for house consideration of the complex report on the tariff bill reached by conferees of the senate and house.

Garner was the leader of the house Democratic conferees.

In his absence, the Democrats probably will be under the leadership of Representatives Crisp, Ga., and Collins of Mississippi.

Purvis Case Not to End Tomorrow, Observers Think

Testimony intended to show that Mrs. Mary J. Purvis bought 1,000 acres of farm land near Pampa with her own money and that she never made an agreement with her son J. A. Purvis to give him half of the land, was introduced by the plaintiff yesterday and today in trial of a civil suit in 114th district court, presided over by Judge Clifford Braly.

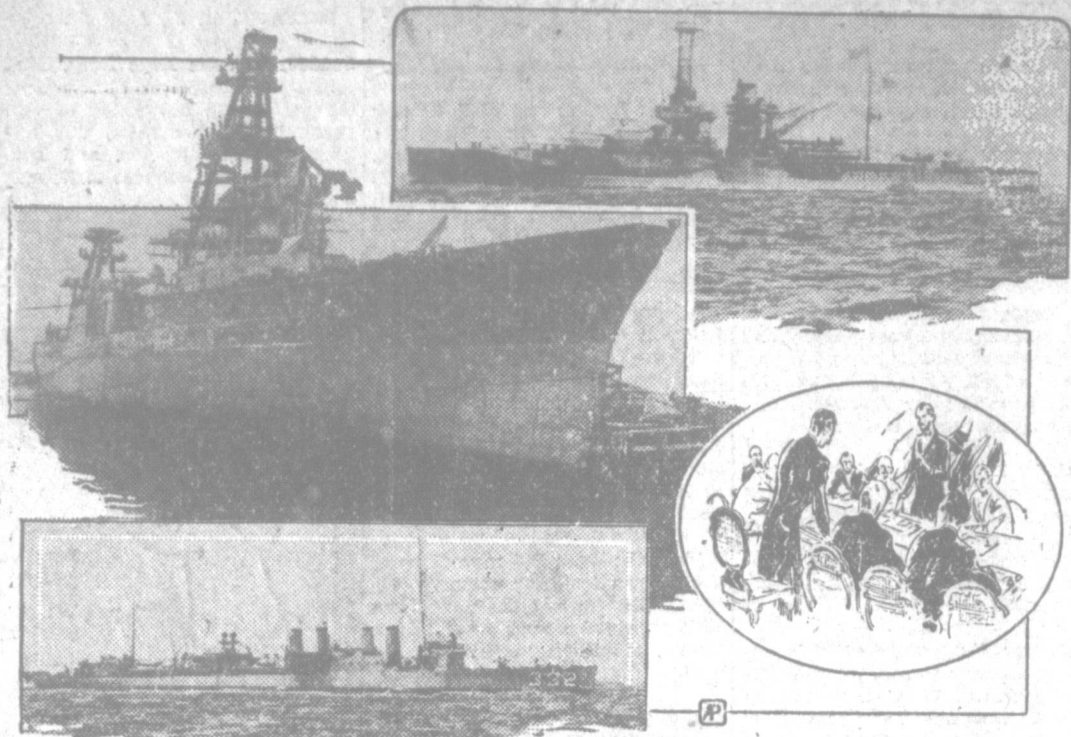

Mrs. Purvis who stated on the witness stand that she is 75 years old was examined and cross-examined three hours yesterday afternoon and two hours this morning.

As subpoenas for ten witnesses were issued by clerk at noon today, it was believed that the trial would continue through tomorrow and possibly Friday. Those who were called to the stand this morning by the plaintiff were L. C. McMurtry, local grain dealer, and A. H. Purvis of Ralston, Okla.

In her petition to the court, Mrs. Purvis alleges that her son owes her wheat rentals aggregating $4,000. Answering the pleading, Mr. Purvis denied the allegations and asked for title to half of the land, claiming that in verbal agreement she promised him half of the farm. Yesterday on the stand Mrs. Purvis denied that she made such an agreement. Purvis claims that he leased the land in 1923 for seven years.

Grand Secretary Says Odd Fellows' Progress Rapid

Odd Fellowship in Texas is making substantial progress, according to E. Q. Vestal, grand secretary, who stated there were 555 subordinate lodges with 40,000 members. The state has 80 encampments and 22 cantons.

A canton was organized at Smithville on March 6. An encampment was formed at Navasota April 10 and a subordinate lodge was set to work at Angleton April 11, while an auxiliary to Amarillo Canton No. 14 was organized in Pampa yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Vestal's thoughts day and night are of Odd Fellowship and he never loses an opportunity to do some good work in behalf of the order. He has been grand secretary for 10 years and grand scribe of the Encampment for 13 years. He is also adjunct department council of the Patriarch Militant or the Council. He is past grand patriarch of the grand encampment, and past department commander of the Canton.

The man whose duty it is to keep in touch with the various lodges in Texas hopes that the Panhandle will have a good representation at the Grand Encampment and Council at Corsicana in October. Arrangements will be made for the Patriarch Militant to go into camp for a few days at Corsicana.

Odd Fellows of Texas care for 80 persons in an old folks home at Ennis. At Corsicana 350 children and a number of mothers are taken care of. It costs approximately $252 a year to maintain an adult or child in these homes, Mrs. Vestal said.

Two Odd Fellows Members 45 Years

Two Odd Fellows, L. S. Warriner of Chamberlain, S. D., is the sole survivor of the Last Man's Club of Civil War veterans, and to him goes the honor of drinking a bottle of old Burgundy wine purchased in 1869 when it was agreed the "last man" should drink a toast to his dead comrades. The only other surviving member died recently.

C. Y. Wells, Lone Star Gas company official of Duncan, Okla., is transacting business in Pampa today.

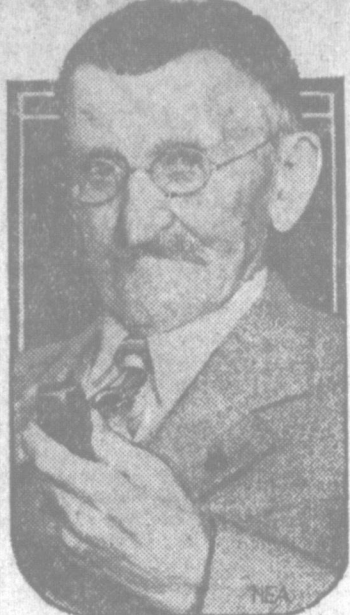

Barry Miller, past grand master, has been an Odd Fellow more than 35 years. Ben S. Baldwin of Pampa was initiated into Kaufman Lodge No. 127 more than 30 years ago.

Thirteen others have been Odd Fellows more than 25 years. Mr. Warriner was initiated into Clay Mills Lodge No. 341, Jones County, Iowa, 49 years last November. Before he had been a member two years he had served as noble grand.

Mr. Warriner moved to Panhandle in the spring of 1921. He has also lived in Oregon and Mississippi. He was 72 years old last September, but still takes considerable interest in the fraternity.

Mr. Munger competed in a number of the charges yesterday. The effectiveness with which a man of his age, past seventy, gave the charges brought about cordial applause.

Last Survivor

Charles Lockwood, 89, above of Chamberlain, S. D., is the sole survivor of the Last Man's Club of Civil War veterans, and to him goes the honor of drinking a bottle of old Burgundy wine purchased in 1869 when it was agreed the "last man" should drink a toast to his dead comrades. The only other surviving member died recently.

Murder Backstairs

by ANNE AUSTIN AUTHOR OF "THE AVENGING PARROT" "THE BLACK PIGEON" ETC. ©1930 by NEA SERVICE INC.

Doris Matthews, lady's maid, is murdered Friday night in a summerhouse on the Berkeley estate, by blow from heavy perfume flask, given Mrs. George Berkeley by Seymour Crosby, engaged to Clorinda Berkeley, whose scarf binds the rock-weighted body when it is taken from the lake by Detective Dundee.

Suspicion falls first on Mrs. Berkeley, from whose rooms the murder flask had been taken; then on Dick Berkeley, infatuated with Doris; next on Eugene Arnold, her fiancé; then on Clorinda, who is cleared by John Maxwell, former suitor to whom she becomes engaged.

An unfinished letter of Doris to her sister in London shifts suspicion to Seymour Crosby, linking the maid's murder with the suicide of Phyllis Crosby, Doris's former mistress, 14 months before. Captain Strawn, ready to arrest Crosby, whom he believes responsible for his wife's death and the maid's murder, considers the latter case solved when Harvey Johnson, valet, is discovered missing after a robbery of the house, and sets net for Johnson, leaving Dundee in charge.

Dundee quizzes Mrs. Lambert, social secretary, on the death of Phyllis Crosby and Doris's murder, but learns nothing new. George Berkeley, who unaccountably sprinkled everyone Friday evening with perfume from the murder flask, overhears Dundee theorizing and ridicules all his suspicions. Dissatisfied himself, Dundee finally hits upon an idea which revolutionizes the case. Proving his new theory, he then asks 15-year-old Gigi: "How long has your mother been a perfume addict?"

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY. CHAPTER XXXVIII

Gigi gasped, shrank away from Dundee, her topaz eyes widening to enormous size. Then suddenly she got control of herself; terror changed to blank innocence on her childish face.

"A—what?" she asked.

"Don't pretend innocence, Gigi!" Dundee commanded sternly, his eyes were filled with pity for her. "I have more than enough evidence that your mother is addicted to drinking perfume for the alcohol it contains. Now will you please tell me how long she has had the habit?"

She crumpled suddenly and sank upon the beautiful old four-poster bed.

"I—I don't know, exactly," she shivered. "Oh, why can't you let us all alone? We haven't done anything to you—"

"Doris Matthews has been murdered, Gigi," Dundee reminded her. "But Abbie's drinking perfume hasn't got anything to do with that!" Gigi protested, with too passionate vehemence.

"I'm afraid it has, Gigi," the detective retorted slowly. "Doris knew, didn't she?"

"I don't know," Gigi sobbed. "Oh, yes, I suppose she did, but if you're thinking Abbie would kill Doris, just because she knew—Doris wasn't the only one who knew—"

"Who else, Gigi?" "Oh, shut up!" Gigi cried wildly.

"The whole family, and the other servants?" Dundee persisted.

"I—I suppose so," she sobbed. "We—we didn't talk about it."

"Doris did," Dundee corrected her. "For your sake, Doris begged your mother only last night not to drink the stuff any more; refused, in fact, to open a new bottle for her. And your mother slapped her for the impertinence!"

"Was that why Abbie slapped her?" Gigi stopped crying and stared fearfully at the detective. "How do you know it was for my sake that Doris—"

"Because Doris said so, in a letter she was writing last night to her sister," he explained gently. "Has it been very bad, honey?"

"Awful!" Gigi began to sob again. "Abbie and I had got along together pretty well before—before she went abroad for that year with Clorinda, but as soon as she got back I could tell something was wrong. She acted so peculiar! She was either awfully sentimental about me, or—horribly cruel. Then—I found out—I found her that way one morning when I went in to kiss her before she'd got up, and I—I smelled perfume on her breath and I—I knew what was wrong with her. I—I well, I guess I wasn't very tactful. I'm—terribly frank, and I—I told her she was making a fool of herself. She—she's had it in for me ever since and I guess I can't keep it out of my eyes when I look at her—what I think of her for—"

"I understand, Gigi. Have you talked with anyone about this?" "Only Mrs. Lambert," Gigi confessed miserably. "I can tell her anything, because—because she loves me and I simply adore her. She said Abbie must have got the habit in Paris. It seems that a lot of people do it, and—maybe Abbie thought it was the smart thing to do. You see, Abbie's father drank a regular old town's drunkard. And—and I guess Abbie bottle, intended for your mother!" "No, no!" Gigi cried, shuddering. "I just thought he was helping her into a drunkard's grave," Dundee said she laughed shakily. "Don't I sound like a temperance pamphlet?" "You really don't think—?" "I'm going to find out!" Dundee said grimly, as he rose.

"But the perfume has all been spilled!" she reminded him. "For a very good reason, probably: to destroy the evidence. . . . But it is not so easy to be rid of traces of poison. The stuff is in our clothes and they can be analyzed—"

"You shan't spoil my new dress!" she interrupted vigorously. "If a sample is all you need, I can give you the handkerchief with which I wiped off my hands after I sprinkled you all. . . . Wait!"

She dashed into her bathroom and was back in a moment. "Got it out of my clothes hamper," she announced triumphantly. "It still smells," and she thrust the little square linen and lace against his nose. "Can they really tell from

HERE'S PROOF

THIS is to certify that I was diagnosed as having cancer of the stomach by three up-to-the-minute physicians, before I was brought to a chiropractor office by Uncle Frank and Aunt Mary Cope. I was hardly able to sit up at that time, and had lost 47 pounds. I had a Radionic analysis which verified the diagnosis of the other doctors.

With the Copes' aid I purchased a card of Radionic Vibrations—that being Armistice Day, 1929. Today—March 15, 1930—I have gained 32 pounds, can work hard every day, and feel good all the time. I was too sore to be adjusted for the first few weeks, so I just took the Radionic alone for the first three weeks. I was dismissed today—and I can do a man's work and feel good all the time.

I can highly recommend the Radionic and Chiropractic. (signed) HARRY ANDERSON, Box 95, Pampa, Texas.

BIG INNING IS VERY POPULAR THIS SEASON

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The idea of having one big inning to win a baseball game seems to be coming more and more into favor in the major leagues, either by accident or intent. The sluggers of the big leagues, now finding their batting eyes rapidly after a slow start, are becoming a group of opportunists, pounding out enough runs to gain the victory at the moment the opposing team weakens.

The seven big league games played yesterday gave just one set of illustrations of this fact out of the many that have turned up lately. Three of these seven were decided directly by the one big inning, while the same factor had an important bearing on the result of the Brooklyn-New York Giant slugging match in which most of the innings were big ones. The Cincinnati Reds and St. Louis Cardinals had no chance to hit, due to wet grounds.

The Robins and the Giants carried the idea to its limit as Brooklyn won for the second time in a row by a score of 19 to 15. Brooklyn scored eleven runs off four Giant pitchers in the second frame only to have the Manhattan warriors come back with a nine run third frame.

Philadelphia's National league club otherwise won a game in one inning with the Boston Braves as their victims. After scoreless stanzas of a duel between Ray Benge of the Phillies and Bob Smith of Boston, Philadelphia suddenly started hitting in the eighth to score all its runs in an 8 to 2 triumph.

The Pittsburgh Pirates gave the Chicago Cubs seven runs in the first inning and got them all back in one to beat the National league champions 13 to 9. The Pirates picked up a few runs first, but it was the seven counters in the sixth that gave them their ninth victory in eleven games and put them at the top of the National league standing.

The Washington Senators produced the only big inning in the four American league games to win their eighth in a row and make their winning streak the longest either major league has seen this year. They also gave away seven runs in three innings, then tied the score in the third as they pounded Tom Zachary and Ray Sherid from the mound and went on to defeat the New York Yankees 11 to 8.

The Philadelphia Athletics were content to get their runs in pairs, but, led by Al Simmons and Mickey Cochrane, they got four twosomes and a single to beat the Boston Red Sox, 9 to 5.

Old Red Faber of the Chicago White Sox brought forth one of the day's two good pitching feats as Chicago downed the Detroit Tigers, 8 to 6. Faber went the full line innings, and, although he gave 14 hits, he fanned seven and had the backing of two home runs by Carl Reynolds and one by Bill Cissell.

Cleveland's 6 to 4 victory over the St. Louis Browns had the 1,101st consecutive appearance of Joe Sewell as its feature although he had nothing to do with the triumph. Joe was in no shape to play as he had been running a high temperature for two days, but he has missed but one game since he joined the Indians ten years ago and wanted to preserve his record. Johnny Ho-dapp's home run in the third, the first one hit by a Cleveland pitcher this season, was the leading factor in the overthrow of the Browns.

Slugging Record Set Yesterday in Major Leagues

NEW YORK, April 30. (P)—Major league batsmen must have set some sort of a slugging record yesterday although comparative figures are not available to prove it.

In the seven major league games played, the batsmen pounded out 186 hits good for 269 bases and scored 123 runs. Twenty-five errors were made and 39 pitchers saw service.

Slugging honors for the day, of course, went to the Brooklyn Robins and New York Giants, who pounded out 41 hits good for 63 bases, scored 34 runs and used up eight pitchers. Brooklyn compiled a batting average of .456 for the day while the Giants satisfied themselves with an average of .404.

The six National league teams who got into action compiled a joint batting average of .366 to .329 for the eight American league teams.

Orphan of the Storm

Umpire Says Work Is Nerve Wracking

NEW YORK, April 30. (P)—The National league has lost one of its best umpires, Albert (Dolly) Stark, because he couldn't stand the nervous strain.

In turning in his resignation to President John A. Heydler, Stark said he had come to the conclusion that the "nervous strain of umpiring was too much for him" and that he had decided that he should not try to make umpiring his life work.

Stark, who coaches basketball at Dartmouth in the winter, played considerable professional baseball in his younger days. He umpired his first big league game at Cincinnati on the opening day of the 1928 season.

BEAUMONT IS TOPPLED BY SPUDDER MEN

By The Associated Press

About the biggest news in the Texas league today was Beaumont's fall from the seats of the mighty, brought about by the 10 to 8 trimming from the Wichita Falls Spudder men coupled with Shreveport's 4 to 2 win over San Antonio.

Shreveport mounted to the top of the percentage column as a result of Beaumont's disaster, with Beaumont, Houston and Wichita Falls the other three ranking teams in that order.

The fall from grace of Dallas to the tune of three straight losses to Houston—yesterday's by the score of 5 to 2—was emphasized by the size of the crowd on the home field generously estimated at around 400 cash playing customers. Skipper Jackie Ats will send his Steers against the Exporters today and tomorrow. Hoping to bolster up the weak support accorded by home town fans, the gates will be thrown open by the new owner, Sol Dreyfuss.

Dallas' loss threw the Steers into a tie for sixth and seventh with the Cubs of Waco. The Cubs did themselves proud at Fort Worth, taking

Coach Mitchell and Four High School Athletes Leave Today for Austin Meet—Typing Star Along

Coach Odus Mitchell and four Harvesters today are aboard the special Interscholastic League train which is traveling to Austin for the state meet beginning Friday.

The athletes are Jim Ayres, high and low hurdles and broad jump; Charles James, mile run; Albert Lard, 230 and 440-yard dashes; and "Fest" Martindale, high jump, high hurdles, and running broad jump.

Also on the train is Miss Katy Walker, who won first place in the typing contest at the Canyon meet. She wrote 50 words per minute. She joined the Amarillo debate party, and will be with that group while in Austin.

Coach Mitchell said last night that more than 75 boys had signed up for fall football activities, which will begin August, with a training camp. The coach has their summer addresses and plans to keep in touch with them during vacations. He will urge them to keep in training.

The training will open at a camp, location of which has not been determined. The first game will be with Spur, and probably will be played here as a practice affair.

AMERICANS OF GOLF SQUAD LEAVE TODAY

NEW YORK, April 30. (P)—The second American golfing expedition of the year leaves for Europe today when the Mauretania steams out of New York Harbor with the American Walker Cup team aboard.

Bobby Jones, captain of the squad, and his seven comrades have timed their voyage so that they can get in about two weeks practice in England before the cup matches against the pick of British amateurs at Sandwich May 15 and 16.

Players accompanying Jones are Harrison R. Johnston, George Von Elm, George Volgt, Dr. O. F. Willing, Don Moser, Roland Mackenzie and Frances Quimet.

In addition to the team match with England, Jones and most of his mates plan to compete in the British amateur at St. Andrews May 28-31, and the British open at Holyoke, June 16-21.

Also sailing on the Mauretania is Leo Diegel, professional champion, who plans to compete in the British open.

BARBER HAS SURPRISE FOR MR. MICHAELS

Bad news a-plenty and of the most terrifying and discouraging kind was taken to Red Michaels this morning by persons whom Kelly the barber termed as Red's "spies." It seems that last night, Kelly, West Foster barber, who plans to stop the meteoric career of Michaels Thursday night in a 10-minute match, went down to the Loos carnival and just for practice accepted challenges of a rough-neck carnival wrestler.

The result can be told briefly: Kelly left the carnival lugging a sizable wad of dough. He not only stayed with the tough carnival wrestler for 13 minutes but he displayed surprising agility and technique for a novice at the game. The carnival wrestler was flabbergasted and almost powerless to handle Kelly.

Michaels declared it was a frame-up and that Kelly's movements resembled those of an insane seal. He declared that he could have thrown the carnival wrestler in three minutes. "Just what I expected him to say," Kelly retorted. "That Red every day and every way becomes more like a cross between Art Shires and Primo Carnera—I don't mean physically. I mean mentally."

Kelly continues to work out with Tiger Mills, Clingman's opponent Thursday night, and is thinking about having a 4-ton truck driven over his neck and stomach at the same time. Red is being tutored by Leo Chase, who declared several months ago from the Pla-Mor mat that Red was one of the brightest pupils he ever had.

Clingman is expected to arrive home today from El Paso where he wrestled last night. He sent word to The News that he wasn't worrying much about Tiger Mills even if the latter permitted a Pickwick bus to be driven over his neck.

In the semi-final event Thursday night, Rob Roy will go for 30 minutes with Dutch Betke, the Berger ape man.

Former Residents of County Killed

Mary Sudik No. 1, famous Oklahoma City gusher which ran wild for days, is blamed for the death of three former Gray county residents.

Mrs. H. E. Shipman, 35, wife of a restaurant man, and two of her children were killed April 28 when gas from a broken main swept into her house, was ignited by a stove, and exploded. The gas was from the Mary Sudik well.

The Shipman family formerly had a business at LeFors, it was said today by acquaintances.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Cate of Pampa are visitors today.

Supremacy in polo, like golf passed from Britain to America with the post-war stimulation of Yankee activity and has remained on this side ever since—the somewhat decided annoyance of our friendly English rivals and in spite of their most courageous efforts to alter the situation.

Just now the British are concentrating on a third successive attempt to lift the classic International Polo Cup from American hands.

Advices to this department from abroad are that it is by far the most serious expedition yet organized and that the leading candidates for the British team, under the leadership of Captain Charles Tremayne, already are in training.

The British polo four this year is being built around the dashing figure of the Irish internationalist Captain C. T. Y. (Pat) Roark, a sensation in American tournaments last summer.

With him in training are Captain Tremayne, Major G. H. Phipps Hornby, and H. P. Guinness.

The latter two are experienced but it is the American view that the British stand little chance of winning this year unless they call some younger stars, such as Pat Roark's brother, Aiden Roark, and the Baldings, Cecil and Gerald to the colors—this is on the theory that it will take speed, dash and plenty of it to overcome the American side.

The ordinarily conservative London Times, discussing the polo situation remarks: "The English team is likely to be strong and as the Americans rely mostly on players who will be new to international polo, it is thought there is an excellent chance of the cup being brought back to England."

This will be news to Captain Tommy Hitchcock and Winston Guest, two pretty well known internationalists, as well as such other American stalwarts as Pedley, Boeske, young Earl Hoppings, and others, who are seasoned performers even if they haven't had much competition against the British.

As a matter of fact most any American team that can be picked, will have an edge over the British in general experience in spite of its youth.

Alone of the eight pilots involved in a major league managerial shifts since last year, Bill Carrigan of the Boston Red Sox quit of his own accord. Jack Hendricks, former Cincinnati pilot, was in a receptive mood for a new job. He made a strong bid for the presidency of the International League but lost out and 'p at his home in Indianapolis, minus any diamond connections—Donie Bush, Dan Howley and Bill

McKechnie still are pilots but in different surroundings. Bush and Howley exchanged leagues. Lena Blackburne, ex-White Sox manager, went to the Browns as a coach. Death checked the career of Miller Huggins and in Boston, Emil Fuchs decided responsibilities of president were sufficient, withdrawing in favor of McKechnie.

British Fearful of Troop Revolt

LONDON, April 29. (AP)—Behind a bare announcement of unsatisfactory conduct by Garwahli native troops in the rioting at Pershawar last Wednesday observers today saw a threat of mutiny with consequent danger to peace in India.

Until now there has been no word that loyalty of the native troops, or Sepoys, had ever been questioned, despite their having been called upon at various times to put down disturbances growing out of Mahatma Gandhi's civil disobedience campaign.

An official India office communique published today however, said:

"In view of the possibility of exaggerated and misleading rumors, the government of India thinks it advisable to make known that during the recent disturbances at Pershawar, when troops had to be employed, the conduct of a small element, namely two platoons of the second battalion of the eighteenth royal Garwahli rifles was found to be unsatisfactory.

"The battalion has been sent to Abbottabad, where an inquiry will be conducted in due course."

No details of the "unsatisfactory conduct" were to be obtained here, and it was believed the censorship which has been imposed on news out of India might prevent further information from sources there.

Loyalty of native troops to the British in the present critical time obviously is of cardinal importance. The Sepoy mutiny of 1857 is still too fresh in British memories not to make the people here wary at anything implying loss of discipline among the native soldiery.

The Garwahli are recruited from the hill men of Rajputana, and are a professional military caste of fine physique, proud of their uniform and military service. They have proved their gallantry on many battle fields. During the world war two regimental Victoria crosses were awarded them.

Hollywood Sights

HOLLYWOOD—Strangers touring the film city are usually surprised to see a Chester Conklin minus his mustache, and a Chaplin utterly smooth-shaven.

More astonishing, to me at least, was my first off-stage view of Andy Clyde, the quizzical "Pop Martin" of hundreds of short film comedies, silent and talking.

Clyde in character is rather a pathetic, homely and lovable, philosophical old geezer with voice to fit his guise.

Off-screen he's a youngish fellow, just in his thirties, dapper as they come, without a sign of the big brush which obscures the lower regions of Pop Martin's face.

But it's ten to one you won't recognize him. Better watch for the voice—it's the only clue in this case.

Speaking of directors—who was?—Melville Brown has led an adventurous life. Twice he has "returned to life" after his friends were rehearsing funeral hymns.

Once he was given up for dead after a swim in the waters around Hawaii. But he was rescued and breathed again after due ministrations. The other time he was saved after a shipwreck when all seemed lost.

How to Get There
Mary Pickford's advice to a young actor: "You don't have to be a great artist. Just be natural, be sincere, and work hard."

Some of the studios are still producing a studio's idea of college life, adorned for the talking screen with audible rah-rah as the hero dashes away for the touchdown in the last minute of play.

The latest college epic, like most of the others, features gin, wild parties, campus spooning and football above all other studies in the curriculum, and the only classroom scene shown begins with a clowning act and ends with a fist fight.

Halfback Is Killed
PITTSBURGH, April 30. (AP)—Leo Murphy, 24, halfback on the University of Pittsburgh football team, died today in a hospital of a broken neck. Murphy, a student in the school of medical education at Pitt, was injured in a scrimmage Thursday of last week.

HOSPITAL—

to serve residents living on both sides of the Santa Fe running East and North of Pampa.

Drs. McKean and Connor have been operating the McKean and Connor clinic hospital at the present location on North Cuyler street for the last three years, although the two physicians have been practicing in Pampa and Gray county for four years. A steady increase in the number of patients was one factor that necessitated the erection of a new building. For several years, the McKean-Connor hospital has cared for accident cases of most of the oil and petroleum products companies operating in Gray county. In addition, the number of private cases has steadily increased.

The two doctors maintain hospitals at Wink and Van. Dr. McKean spends most of his time in Pampa. He is an aviation enthusiast and flies his own plane, being a licensed pilot. He is also an appointee of the aeronautics branch of the Department of Commerce to make physical examinations of all applicants for mechanics and pilots in this area.

MUSIC WEEK—

ical pageant, "Achievements," in which 400 children will take part. American history is the theme of the pageant. Massed singing, tableaux, drills, and folk dances will be features of the entertainment. Attractive costuming will lend interest.

Miss Iva June Willis, public school music supervisor, and five music instructors are to be in charge. A small admission fee will be charged to defray expenses of the presentation.

A timely application of the National Music week movement to one of the problems of current musical life is being planned for the seventh annual celebration, May 4 to 10, inclusive. In that observance emphasis will once more be laid upon the need for a greater degree of active participation in music on the part of the people in general—not only among the children, but especially on the part of adults.

All previous music weeks have been enlisting children and grown-ups alike, but the coming celebration, while again featuring the schools, will also emphasize the value of conserving in adult life the musical aptitudes which are now being developed through public school music.

To the keynote of the music week established last year, "Hear Music, Make Music, Enjoy Music," there is added, for the approaching celebration, the following rallying call: "Make Music Your Friend From Youth to Age."

In announcing this special feature of next week's celebration, the National Music week committee of the National Bureau for the Advancement of Music explains that this step has been taken in cooperation with the growing movement in America for an adult education and participation in music which will keep step with the remarkable strides being made in public school music.

Such adult participation will be given a stimulus, through music week, by making that celebration a special objective for musical activities among both youth groups and adults, especially those groups which have not been majoring in music. It is expected that many of the activities thus begun in preparation for National Music week will carry over into the permanent programs of the participating groups.

Posses Search for Crazy Killer

MODESTO, Calif., April 29. (AP)—Armed posses today were seeking an apparently crazed slayer who shot and killed three men yesterday.

The killer was believed to be a itinerant named Jack Crowley.

His victims, all ranch hands, were identified as Jack Murphy alias Jacques Fornier, 40; Deolce C. Fultz, 35, and Joseph Barton, 45.

Barton's body was found in the doorway of his shack 300 yards from a cabin where the bodies of Murphy and Fultz were discovered in their bunks.

The shooting occurred yesterday.

Capone Popular—His Tips Large

HAVANA, April 30. (AP)—Largest of Searface Al Capone, Chicago business man and gangster, is winning him friends in Havana, whatever his status in Florida, where state officials are attempting to close his home under the nuisance law.

Arriving here yesterday by airplane from Miami the gangster chief, seven of his henchmen and a physician took a corner suite on the third floor of an expensive hotel and made themselves at home. Mr. Capone sent for a 'manicurist and the hotel barber to come to his room, and when they had finished he tossed each a five dollar bill. All meals were served there, the waiters and bell boys reporting tips of proportionate size. It was a great day for them all when he arrived.

CLEVELAND, April 30. (AP)—Former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker was suffering from bronchial pneumonia today, but physicians said there was no cause for alarm so long as he continued to show the improvement noted last night.

Baker has been confined to his home here since attending a Democratic rally Saturday night. Dr. Lester M. Taylor and Dr. Roy W. Scott, heart specialist, reported their patient better last night.

Prince Carol Wants to Ask Forgiveness

The newspaper Cuventual says it has confirmation of rumors that the former Crown Prince is attempting a reconciliation with his wife and that he has broken off with Mme. Luescu. The prince is supposed to have written a letter conveying this idea to the princess at Easter.

Indian Life Is Chapel Subject

Life in an Indian pueblo and the customs of little Laguna Indian boys and girls were described to fourth and fifth grade pupils of East Ward school, at chapel yesterday morning, by Mrs. G. T. Nicholson, who spent the first few years of her life in an Indian village in Mexico, where her father was a missionary. Pictury, baskets, beaded garments, and toys from the Laguna lodge, and some of the mud balls with which the Indian children played their games were exhibited by Mrs. Nicholson from her interesting collection.

The speaker told many entrancing stories for her young audience. Until she was nine years old, she said, she carried her doll on her back in a flat cradle, as the Indian mothers carry their papooses, and little Indian girls carry their dolls. She was almost ready to discard her dolls before she learned to carry them in her arms, as other white children do.

LODGE—

Welcome signs extending almost the width of the hall, streamers which wrapped the pillars, and other draping the ceiling, were in the colors of the Odd Fellow lodge, red and white.

Green and pink, the Rebekah colors, predominated in the appointments for the luncheon and the menu. Panels of frilled paper which decorated the tables, individual mint baskets and blossoms in tall bud vases featured the colors.

Lieut. Governor Miller was guest of honor at the banquet. At 8 o'clock this evening in the Central auditorium there will be a ceremony to which the public is invited. This will be the Decoration of Chivalry, which will be conferred upon Judge W. A. McIntosh of Memphis for long and effective service to the order. At 9 o'clock there will be a dance at the Schneider hotel.

"Torch" Slayers Are Mere Boys

WEWOKA, Okla., April 30. (AP)—Two alleged "torch" slayers of 2-year-old Ray Yaden of Cromwell, Okla., were held in jail here today while officers considered filing curfew charges against the prisoners, eight and ten years old respectively.

The baby died yesterday. Investigators said death resulted from burns received when S. T. Treadwell, 10, ignited clothing which previously had been soaked with gasoline by the boy and his brother, Paul, 8 years old.

S. A. Boyle, juvenile officer, said the brothers would be given a hearing in juvenile court.

Instructed Verdict

In an instructed verdict returned by a jury yesterday afternoon in the 31st district court, A. R. Pribble was acquitted of a charge of driving while intoxicated. The defendant was represented by Willis, Studer & Studer. The case required only a short time for trial.

Automobile Stolen

A Buick coupe owned by the Sun Oil company and parked last night in front of the Pease Armature company was stolen last night about 10:30 o'clock, according to a report made this morning at police headquarters.
