Indonesia Is Given U.S. Economic Help

By EDWARD E. BOMAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27—The United States extended political support and economic aid to the new-born Indonesian republic today in the expectation it will help bolster southeast Asia against the advance of Communism.

President Truman will grant American diplomatic recognition to the new nationalist regime "within 24 hours," the State department announced. Other western and Asian governments acted almost immediately when the United States of Indonesia came into being, but this government must comply with "certain formalities" which the State department left unexplained.

HST Absent

Presumably they were connected with the absence of Mr. Truman from the capital and with delays met with by Merley Cochran, U. S. envoy, who ran into weather trouble in his flight to the Indonesian capital.

Cochran is reported to be Mr. Truman's choice as the first American ambassador to Indonesia.

Marshall Plan assistance came to an end as the 77,000,000 Indonesians graduated from colonial status, but shipments of rice and textiles already dispatched or contracted for will continue for several weeks. Meantime Indonesian leaders have been told this government will listen sympathetically to requests for loans to help restore the foreign trade of the former Netherlands East Indies to its prewar levels.

Friendship Made Plain

Although the United States lagged behind several other nations in announcing formal recognition, American friendship was made plain in other ways. The State department's "Voice of America" started daily news broadcasts as the United States of Indonesia came into being with ceremonies at the Hague and in the Indonesian capital, now renamed Jacarta. Dutch Rule Of Indonesia Ends

By KENNETH LIKES
Associated Press Staff Writer

BATAVIA, Dec. 27—The 77,000,000 people of Indonesia snapped their colonial bond with Holland today and took their place as a new nation in Communist-threatened southeast Asia.

Throughout the chain of islands stretching 3,000 miles between the Pacific and Indian oceans, Indonesians tonight peacefully celebrated their first hours of freedom after 347 years of Dutch rule.

Thousands of the red and white banners of the new United States of Indonesia draped the Dutch brick buildings and Chinese shops of Batavia's streets.

One Tie Remains

The one tie that remains between Holland and Indonesia is the Dutch crown. They are partners in a union under that crown, but each is free to go her own way. The arrangement resembles that of the British commonwealth nations.

The USI is the seventh new and independent nation formed since the war. Others are the Philippines, India, Pakistan, Ceylon, Burma and Israel. In addition, Korea gained independence from Japan, and split into sections along lines of the Russian and American occupation zones.

Most of the Indonesian islands were under martial law, a hangover from the turbulent years of guerrilla warfare.

Lt. Col. Daan Jahja, military governor of Batavia, warned that "irresponsible elements" would be dealt with severely. Officials had feared Communists might seek to make trouble.

Indonesians became custodians of their riches of oil, tin, rubber and spices even as British commonwealth foreign ministers and U.S. State department officials prepared

Four Men Charged In Robbery Of Two Dallas Grocery Stores

DALLAS, Dec. 27 (AP) — Four men arrested last weekend were charged today with parts in armed robberies of two Safeway stores here that netted more than $13,000.

Three of the men were charged with the actual holdups of the Safeway stores Wednesday night and Friday night. They are Ras Duke Hardy, 44; Raymond Carl Brown, 25, and Dale Tyler, 36—who is charged only with the Friday night holdup. All are from Dallas.

James Edward Brown, 27, brother of Raymond Brown, was charged with receiving and concealing $850 of the holdup money. The complaint against him says police found the money inside a garbage can at his home Christmas eve.

U. S. Citizen Is Released By Hungary

(By The Associated Press)

VIENNA, Wednesday, Dec. 28.—Austrian border guards said early today that Israel Jacobson has been expelled from Hungary and is being held by Russian troops just inside the Austrian border.

U. S. legation sources said in Budapest last night that Jacobson, director in Hungary of the American Joint Distribution committee, a Jewish welfare agency, would be released from prison and expelled. They gave no date or time.

Other informants in Budapest said Jacobson, 37, a U. S. citizen who was arrested by Hungary's Communist-led government on Dec 15, had already been taken to the Austrian-Hungarian border, and would cross over sometime today. Hungarian officials had refused to confirm he was already on his way out of the country.

Release Expected

Austrian police at Nickelsdorf on the frontier said Jacobson "will probably be released sometime this morning." They did not know why the Russian troops were holding him.

Jacobson had been held incommunicado in Hungary despite attempts of the American legation there to see him. A brief communique issued last Friday accused him of being a spy.

Another American, Robert A. Vogeler, a vice president of the International Telephone and Telegraph company, is still being held by the Hungarian government on charges of spying and sabotage. Mrs Vogeler is in Vienna, hoping for her husband's release. Attempts by U. S. diplomatic officials in Budapest to interview him have also met with failure.

U. S. Bans Travel

As a direct result of the arrests of Jacobson and Vogeler the United States government clamped a ban on travel by its citizens in Communist Hungary.

The Austrian police said Jacobson was escorted to the border in his own automobile, presumably by Hungarian police. When he had left here for Budapest a little less than two weeks ago he had a travel permit good for just 12 days.

American authorities here probably will not be able to do anything to secure Jacobson's release until much later this morning.

The Russians, however, may

Posse Combs Creek Bottom For Convicts

HUNTSVILLE, Dec. 27. (AP)— A 75-man posse combed a Walker county creek bottom tonight for the last of three of seven convicts who tunneled to freedom Monday.

But a car stolen here Monday night—one that may have been used by the fugitives—was found early tonight at White settlement, a village near Fort Worth.

Fort Worth police have been asked to watch for the three remaining escapees.

Two of the escapees were captured by a Walker county commissioner. Two others had been arrested six hours after their escape shortly before noon yesterday.

Captured today by Commissioner Felix Hardey were Don Kemper, serving six years for forgery from Mitchell, Comal, Scurry and Howard counties, and Weldon Green, serving life as an habitual criminal.

Still at large are Thomas W. Tucker, 38, serving 64 years for murder from Brazoria and Tarrant counties; Walter Thorp, serving 25 years from Dallas county for robbery, and Collin M. Mershon, 38, serving life from Limestone county as an habitual criminal.

First Wave Of Christmas Gift Exchangers Storm Stores Here

By EMMETT SHOCKLEY
Avalanche Staff Writer

LUBBOCK merchants Tuesday felt the first wave of an inevitable aftermath of Christmas—gift exchanging.

And from the testimony of tired clerks, it was one of the main items of business during the day.

But with few exceptions, customers exchanging their gifts were courteous and friendly, storekeepers reported, even though depleted post-Christmas stocks made it difficult to fit some in the sizes or colors for which they were searching.

Few requested their money back. They either would substitute when correct sizes were not available, or they would have the item ordered by the store, most clerks agreed.

And many stayed to buy other things with Christmas money.

Actual exchanges of gifts by those who were displeased with what they found Sunday morning under their Christmas trees were few. Instead, merchants reported that most of the exchanges were brought on because of wrong sizes.

Servicemen Held By China Reds Reported Alive, Well

By GEORGE DURNO
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27. — The State department announced today that direct word has been received that two U. S. servicemen missing for 14 months in Communist China are alive and well at a Red military base outside Tsingtao.

The two Americans are Marine Master Sgt. Elmer C. Bender, of Cincinnati, and Navy Chief Electrician William C. Smith, of Long Beach, Calif. They have been missing since October, 1948.

The department declared that it is "continuing its efforts to obtain additional information regarding the whereabouts of Sgt. Bender, and Chief Smith and to secure their release."

Pair Held At Base

Information relayed the State department from U. S. consular officials at Tsingtao was that Bender and Smith are being held "at a large Communist miiltary base" just outside the Chinese city.

This information actually was sent out of Tsingtao the first week in December, but its transmission to Washington was long delayed due to lack of radio communication with officials in the Chinese city.

The department sent telegrams containing this information to Mrs. E C. Bender, wife of the missing sergeant, and Mrs. William C. Smith, wife of the naval petty officer. It also notified Mrs. Charles M Smith, Smith's mother, who lives at Great Falls, Mont.

Four Still In City

At the same time, the department said that although the consulate general at Tsingtao has been closed on orders from Washington since Oct. 15, four members of the consular staff still are in the Chinese city awaiting transportation to Shanghai and subsequent evacuation.

They are Consul Carl O. Hawthorne, Vice Consul William W. Blackerby, Lloyd D. Clemens, and George M. Hein.

Custody of U. S. official property and the protection of American nationals in Tsingtao has been assumed by the local British consulate.

Men Reported Alive

The State department appealed to the British several weeks ago to use their good offices to ascertain whereabouts of Bender and Smith. A report subsequently was received from indirect sources that they were alive and in the area.

Information received today was more specific, however, in that it was given to U. S. consular officials at Tsingtao by an official of the Chinese Communist foreign affairs bureau.

The two men disappeared 14 months ago while on a routine training flight in the Tsingtao area at a time when the United States had a naval mission there.

Tsingtao is a seaport on the Shantung peninsular of north China.

Rita Hayworth Is Rushed To Clinic For Baby's Birth

(By The Associated Press)

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, Wednesday, Dec. 27. — Rita Hayworth—the Princess Aly Khan—was rushed to the Montchoisi clinic early today to have a baby.

She was taken to the clinic at 3:10 a.m. (8:10 p.m. CST) accompanied by her husband Aly Khan. Their car was escorted by two Swiss police cars.

The clinic was one mile from the Palace hotel where she has been awaiting the baby's birth since Nov. 5.

Rita's physician, Dr. Rudolphe Rochat, has been standing by on a 24-hour alert for nearly two weeks.

Operation Possible

Rochat said recently Rita may have to undergo a caesarian operation but that he would not make a final decision until the last moment.

Rita's first child, Rebecca Welles, whose father was movie actor Orson Welles, was born by a caesarian section in Los Angeles Dec. 17, 1944.

Rochat has received the full medical case history of Rita's earlier caesarian which he said would provide him with invaluable information if another operation is required.

The early morning dash to the hospital followed a high publicized confinement.

Shortly after the marriage of the beautiful American movie star to the heir to the Aga Khan—spiritual ruler of millions of Moslems and one of the world's wealthiest men—rumors began to fly that she was expecting a child.

They were married at Villaris on the French Riviera last May 27 in one of the most glamorous ceremonies of post-war Europe.

On Aug. 18 Aly Khan told newsmen Rita was expecting a baby.

Man Found Dead In Closed Room

The body of Paul E. Bagley, 32-year-old Lubbock construction worker, was found by sheriff's officers about 7:30 p.m. Tuesday sprawled across the bed in a room he rented at 2206 Ave. J. A gas heater was burning in the tightly-closed room.

Dr. L. B. Woods, city physician, listed the cause of death as asphyxiation. Bagley had been dead "several days," he said.

J. A. Dagley, owner of the house, asked officers to investitagte the room after he and other tenants had become convinced "something was wrong." Wanell Mize, another tenant of the Ave. J address, said she saw Bagley enter his room about noon Saturday. None in the house had seen him since that time.

Windows Tightly Closed

Deputy Sheriff's B. F. Forrester and John Barnett were dispatched to the scene and found the body, partially decomposed. Both said all windows in the room were tightly closed.

Justice of the Peace C. E. Lynn, who conducted the inquest ruled out any possibility of foul play. He was assisted in the investigation by District Attorney Lloyd Croslin and his assistant, A. W. Salyars.

Hog Support Prices May Have To Be Invoked Next Spring

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27. (INS).—Federal farm officials today believe they will be able to avoid supporting hog prices at least until next spring.

Earlier, it was thought that the government would have to actively prop producer prices.

A government survey of pork supplies now indicates, however, that farmers already have sent most of last spring's pig crop to market this fall and winter, and prices should strengthen for the next three months.

The Agriculture department reported today that the margin between producer hog prices and approximate government support levels more than doubled last week.

Producer prices for high-grade hogs at seven midwestern markets last week averaged $15.46 per hundred pounds.

The government had figured that it would have to step in and support hog prices through purchases of pork products if midwest producer returns for barrows and gilt fell below $14.75 per hundred pounds.

Truck Leaves With Water For Parched Texans In New York

By MAC RASOR
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Dec. 27.—Bent elbows today toasted a 3,000-gallon tank truck of Texas water off to New York to quench the thirst of Texans in the water-short metropolis.

Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson hoisted a water-filled cup to wish "peace on earth—and a chaser" for parched Texans who couldn't get home for Christmas. Other officials gurgled in on the toast.

Thompson was designated by Gov. Allan Shivers to represent the state in the brief ceremonies which started the 45-foot long truck on its 1,998-mile journey from the Texas capitol.

The cargo, drawn from Central Texas' highland lakes, is the gift of the Highland Lakes News, a weekly devoted to fishing, hunting and loafing. When it gets to New York about New Year's eve, spigots on the rear of the tank will be opened to spill the water into paper cups for Texans wherever they can be found. "Have a drink on Texas" says a sign on the tank.

Thompson also sent along some advice with the water.

Convict Near Death, Another Seriously Wounded In Fight

SUGAR LAND, Dec. 27 (AP) — One convict was near death tonight and another seriously wounded following a fight at the Harlem prison farm.

Warden Joe Hines said Pete Navarro, about 41, is not expected to live through the night, while Medaro Silva, about 35, is recovering from serious stab wounds to the face and arms.

Both are in the Central prison farm hospital.

Navarro received six stab wounds to the stomach, back and arms.

Hines said the two men, farm trusties assigned as building caretakers at Harlem, were attacked by five other convicts in a farm dormitory last night. He said about 45 other convicts were in the tank at the time.

Their 14-foot aluminum skiff was found anchored in the mud Friday afternoon near Pelican Spit. The men are Clifford Muehe, 32, and Albert Spencer Chimene, jr., 19, both of Galveston, and Elmer Dever, 39, of Texas City.

Nation Counts 580 Holiday Death Victims

(By The Associated Press)

AT LEAST 580 persons died in accidents over the Christmas holiday.

An Associated Press survey showed that traffic took 413 lives, fires killed 66 and 101 persons died in a variety of other accidents.

Violent deaths in Texas totaled 79 with traffic deaths accounting for half of this toll. The rest for Texas included 22 deaths in varied causes such as fires and plane crashes, 18 suicides and homicides.

Hike Is Shown

The heavy auto death rate for the 78-hour period from 6 p.m. (local time) Friday to midnight Monday was approximately 78 per cent higher than the average number of deaths for an equally long period. Based on statistics for the first 10 months of this year, the average number of traffic deaths for a 78-hour period is 269.

The average figure includes deaths occurring long after the accident. The count for the holiday period, of course, does not.

Although the traffic deaths for the Christmas weekend numbered less than the 435 predicted by the National Safety council, the group's president, Ned H. Dearborn, pointed out:

"The actual death toll for our three day celebration was more than that for the Texas City disaster of two years ago which horrified the nation."

Exceeds Texas Disaster

Dearborn, said the national toll of 580 violent deaths was higher than the 550 victims of the Texas City disaster of two years ago.

"Our holidays have become a series of 'Texas Cities,'" Dearborn said. "In a week we may expect another one—a 'joyous' weekend of mass murder over New Year's—unless the people have sickened of making horror days out of holidays."

The Texas Department of Public Safety predicted 80 persons would die in Texas in traffic accidents during the combined Christmas and New Year's holidays—from Dec. 23 to midnight on Jan. 1.

Highway officers in the Marshall area sent radio appeals to people to stay off highway 80 except in emergencies because of the heaviest flow of traffic Monday in their recollection.

The only fatality reported in that area was Dan Marsh, 75-year-

Four Burglaries Are Probed Here

Police last night were investigating four burglaries and several thefts reported Tuesday.

Rushing drug at 2810 Ave. H was burglarized during the night Monday, but it had not been determined what merchandise had been removed pending the return of store officials from Christmas trips.

Police said they believed, after talking with employed personnel there, that several watches and other jewelry had been taken, perhaps billfolds and other merchandise.

Entrance was at a side door.

Church Is Entered

Burglars kicked a hole in a window and entered Redeemer Lutheran church, at Twenty-second and Ave. W, but City Patrolmen V. P. Stephens and Doyle Clark said they believed nothing was taken.

Dr. O. W. English of 2809 Nineteenth was listed on officials reports as victim of two burglaries.

A .38 caliber revolver and a .22 caliber long rifle were taken from his residence sometime during the past 30 days, he told officers. In addition, he said, a .16mm film projector had been removed from his offices at the West Texas hospital during the Christmas holidays.

No theory had been advanced

Yugoslavia To Sign More Trade Pacts With West, Official Says

By STANLEY MILOSAV
INS Staff Correspondent

BELGRADE, Dec. 27.—Yugoslav Foreign Minister Edvard Kardelj said today his anti-Moscow Communist land will sign more trade agreements with western bloc nations, but that these will not influence domestic or foreign policy.

Kardelj told the national assembly that Yugoslavia's relations with the United States, Britain and France have become "better," and that increased trading with the west is making Yugoslavia "stronger economically and politically."

Further trade agreements will be signed, he said, with Latin American nations and with Turkey, following yesterday's signing of a $616 million agreement with Britain.

In a stab at the Moscow-led Cominform the minister said Yugoslavia is prepared to come to an agreement only on a basis of mutual respect and equality, and he added:

"The government (of Yugoslavia) does not belong to any bloc. It is an organ of the Yugoslav people who will not submit to any hege-

Winter Fooled By Heat Wave

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Dec. 27. — A record-breaking heat wave brought shirt sleeves weather to the northeastern United States today.

And a drenching rain temporarily eased the critical water shortage in New York and New Jersey.

New York City's temperature hit a humid 62 degrees at 3 p. m. (CST), shattering the previous record for the date—59.1 in 1936. Binghamton, N. Y., had 59 degrees, one more than the 1936 record.

Boston recorded 61 degrees, beating a 54-year record, and Worcester's 59 broke the record set in 1895. It was a record breaking 62.5 at Newark airport.

Solon Predicts Spending Cut

(By The Associated Press)

HAVANA, Ill., Dec. 27.—Senator Lucas (D-Ill) beginning his campaign for reelection, forecast tonight a $3,000,000,000 cut in military and foreign aid spending next year.

He said Congress must not endanger national defense or let foreign aid collapse "in the name of meat axe economy and a balanced budget."

The Senate majority leader defended the Marshall plan costs and federal deficit spending as a necessary choice against possible atomic war with Russia.

He asserted that in the next fiscal year the Truman administration "will be able" to cut military forces spending by $2 billion.

Cut Is Possible

"We may be able" to cut Marshall plan expenses by almost a billion dollars below current amounts, he went on.

"We can do these things because our Allies in Europe are growing stronger" and because Western Europe's postwar production is 20 percent above prewar, Lucas said.

Military appropriations total $15,585,000,000 including a billion to help arm Atlantic pact nations. The current Marshall plan (ECA) cost $3,778,000,000.

The Senate leader's forecast of a $3,000,000,000 cut added considerable weight to hopes of other administration leaders for spending reductions.

So far, Lucas has no formal opposition for renomination.

His Republican opponent in November probably will be former Rep. Everett M. Dirksen, who also has no primary opposition in sight.

"I hate deficit spending" Lucas said, "I hate to have the government borrowing more money from the American people.

"But if we must make a choice between a period of deficit fi-

Start Of Armed Aid To Europe Delayed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP)—The start of arms aid shipments to Western Europe has been delayed about a month to around February 1.

Disclosing this today, officials said they still are confident that the entire $1,000,000,000 available for arms aid to Atlantic pact nations can be spent or allocated before next June 30. Any of the money unspent or not earmarked by that time would revert to the treasury.

American officials hoped originally that shipments would begin around January 1.

The delay is due partly to unexpectedly long talks with the British over terms of the assistance.

Solon Doubts Action Likely Before 1951

By FREDERIC TUTTLE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27—President Truman's plan to press for repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor law was handed a virtual death sentence today just one week before the 81st Congress reconvenes for its second session.

Chairman Thomas (D-Utah), of the Senate Labor committee, said that the administration must wait until 1951 before launching a new effort to wipe Taft-Hartley from the statutes in line with the President's 1948 Democratic platform pledge.

At the same time, Taft-Hartley's two bitterest labor foes—the CIO and AFL—abandoned hope that the law can be repealed before the 1950 congressional campaigns are climaxed by senatorial and house elections.

Defeats Sought

Both labor organizations have set their sights on attempting to defeat congressmen who opposed repeat of Taft - Hartley. They are gunning for their seats and maneuvering to try to elect candidates who will carry out labor's bidding and repeal T-H.

The AFL's political league today listed 26 senators and 81 representatives as having voted against "the best interests" of labor, small business and the farmer "throughout" the last session.

Topmost of the issues was the vote on Taft-Hartley. The list indicated that the AFL would oppose 107 "enemy" members of Congress who try for relection next year

"Blacklist" Given

The AFL "blacklist" concentrated on Senate and House Republicans. It named only one Democratic senator—Byrd, Va.—and two House Democrats—Reps. Chatham and Bulwinkle, both of North Carolina.

Goal of both the AFL and CIO is in line with the President's—repeal of Taft-Hartley and substitution of legislation along the lines of the old Wagner labor relations act.

Thomas, author of the T-H repeal bill which was smashed by the GOP - Southern Democratic coalition in the Senate, said today that the parliamentary situation in the next session will be

MAJOR FIELD CROPS INVOLVED

Half Of Farms In U. S. Expected To Go Under Production Controls

By VINCENT J. BURKE
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 — About half of the nation's farms will be under government crop production controls next year.

A survey showed today that controls, ranging from mild to rigid, will be used in an effort to curb surplus planting of seven, possibly nine, major field crops.

The aim will be to stop the multi-billion dollar price support drain on the federal treasury. The government's support "investment" in farm surpluses is expected to hit the $4 billion mark by next June.

Crop Controls Certain

The seven crops on which controls are certain are corn, wheat, cotton, tobacco, peanuts, rice and potatoes. These crops accounted for 55 percent of the total 369,400,000 acres planted in the principal crops this year. Total crop plantings were the largest since the depression year of 1932.

The controls seek to reduce plantings of the seven crops by about 15 per cent — 32 million acres. Marketing quotas, the most rigid type of control, will be used on only cotton, peanuts and tobacco. Acreage allotments will be used on the other crops.

Crop Acreage Given

Here is the acreage planted this year, by crops, and government proposals for 1950:

Corn—87,910,000 acres. Acreage allotments will be used to cut at least 10 million acres, probably more. The program probably will be announced next week.

Wheat—84 million acres. An acreage allotment has already been announced to cut 15 million acres. Indications are that farmers will actually cut back plantings by about 12 million acres.

Cotton—27,300,000 acres. Rigid marketing quotas will be used to reduce plantings by 6,300,000 acres.

Rice—1,839,000 acres. The government will try to reduce plantings by using acreage allotments. The program will be announced soon.

Tobacco On List

Tobacco—1,600,000 acres. Marketing quotas were used this year and will be used again next year to reduce plantings of major types, some as much as 15 percent.

Peanuts—2,600,000 acre planting allotment was in effect this year enforced by marketing quotas. Quotas will be used in 1950 to cut the crop to 2,100,000 acres. A 20 percent reduction.

Potatoes—1,923,600 acres. Acreage allotments will be used to seek a moderate reduction.

Allotments may also be ordered also for soy beans and dry beans. Farmers this year harvested 9,912,000 acres of soybeans and 1,852,000 acres of dry beans.

Five persons will be chosen from about 500 local winners to go to Hollywood to compete for Queen of America on the Queen for a Day radio program originating from there.

Mrs. Milam was nominated by Lubbock Woman's club in the local contest, KCBD radio station announced. A committee in Hollywood chose the winner.

The nine other finalists, who will receive bracelets, were Mrs. Mamie Holland of Floydada, Mrs. V. A. Johnston of Ralls, Mrs. Lola Mae Adams of Hale Center, Mrs. T. W. Allen of Abernathy, Mrs. J. C. Austin Man Displays Uncanny Skill In Predicting Death Toll

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

Ever wonder who figures in advance how many Texans will die violently on a holiday weekend and how he does it?

The man is N. K. Woerner of Austin, a medium-sized fellow, white-haired at 41. "Maybe my job turned my hair white," he laughed. He has an uncanny record of predictions. He is chief of the statistical division of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

How good is Woerner? Well, at the start of 1948 he predicted 2,056 Texans would die in traffic accidents during the year. He missed it by three - - - 2,059 died!

Deaths Near Total

For the Christmas and New Year holiday—from 12:01 a. m. Dec. 23, to 11:59 p. m., Jan. 1—Woerner said 80 would die on the highways and violent deaths of all types would come to 194. As this is written, deaths are mounting steadily toward his totals.

"Tell us how you do it?" we asked Woerner.

"I have several things to go on," said he, "mainly what has happened in the past.

"This year Christmas and New Year's Day fall on Sunday — a holiday on Sunday is a double bad day. Then I consider whether the general trend of accidents is increasing or decreasing. My biggest gamble is the weather — for this holiday I gambled on generally good weather. So far, it has been pretty good. There are more deaths in good weather — more people on the highway and faster driving. When roads are icy, people don't go fast enough to kill themselves. Christmas is a long-trip holiday. People go home for Christmas. July 4, is a short-trip holiday — a picnic holiday. San Jacinto day is a holiday but not many people travel.

"On a long-trip holiday I take into consideration that lots of city office workers who are used to driving 30 miles per hour get out on the highway and travel 60 and 70. When something goes wrong at that speed, they just can't handle the situation.

When it comes to other kinds of deaths, there are big differences in holidays. Christmas and the Fourth of July are alike in that they are big holidays for suicides —Depressed persons become more depressed, I think, when other people are really gay.

"But when it comes to murder, the Fourth of July is bad for shootings and Christmas is a time of varied murder—lots of cuttings and knifings as well as poisonings and shootings. You get more variety for Christmas."

At the beginning of 1949, expert Woerner predicted 1,948 Texans would die on the highways.

"How'll you come out, Mr. Woerner?"

"I think I'll hit it within 10 the way things are going,' he replied a little grimly. "The only thing I can't tell you in advance is their names."

Administrative Offices At Tech Reopen After Holidays

U. S. Adds Hangover As Own Contribution To Idea Of Celebrating New Year's Eve

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.— We inherited the idea of a New Year's Eve celebration from the old world, but the business of a hangover on the next day is our own invention.

Here, we lift a cup, kiss all the ladies in the party at the stroke of 12 and wish everyone a happy and prosperous new year.

Next day we vow never again to mix scotch, bourbon, wine, gin and beer. Perhaps to ease the pain, we tune in on a bowl football game.

Some Events Unique

Research shows that although some American observances are unique, others are just copies of celebrations held abroad.

Take France and Scotland for instance.

Over there, New Years Day has been an important festival of the year. It's a time for exchanging gifts, cards and visits with kinfolk and old friends.

The Scot in the long ago pitched tradition to the winds and called his New Year's Eve, "hogmanay," grouping it with New Year's Day as the "daft days."

"Hogmanay" still is the cry of Scottish youngsters who flood the streets on the eve of the new year and demand cakes and fruits from the neighbors. Everyone has a gay time.

Grapes Play Part

On New Year's Eve in Spain, a dozen grapes are a part of the celebration in the Puerta Sel Sol, which is the Times Square of Madrid. At the stroke of midnight, the grapes are held high and eaten for luck—one grape for each month of the year.

Britain follows still a different custom.

There, a glass of wine and a slice of bun loaf are rewards for visitors who "first-foot." That is, those who arrive first at a home following the start of the new year.

Sometimes they call a "first foot" a "lucky bird." The honor is supposed to bring this person the symbols of warmth and prosperity. That would be coal, bread and salt.

This fellow is welcomed in England because he "lets in" the new year. But he represents the old year, too. So he leaves by the back door.

Apart from lifting a glass to "Auld Lang Syne," America has its New Year's traditions, too.

The "mummer's parade" is a fourth cousin of the old English mummer's plays and had its start in the City of Brotherly Love in 1876. A year ago the event had grown to a point where 2,000,000 spectators from all over the East watched the masqueraders troop up Broad street.

In Mobile, the carnival grew out of a spontaneous celebration in 1831. At that time a group of men dining at a creole restaurant felt the urge to wake up everybody in the early morning hours of New Year's Day.

The custom certainly will not be confined to Mobile in the coming celebration of New Years. It's typically American now and many a phone will ring and many a door will be knocked in the early hours of Jan. 1.

Any celebration of Christmas was a crime in the Puritan England of Oliver Cromwell.

Lubbock Optimists Hear 'One Easy Lesson' On Atom Splitting

"Atom Splitting in One Easy Lesson' was the topic of John Bradford at the Optimist club luncheon Tuesday in Hotel Lubbock.

Bradford, a former Tech instructor who is studying for his doctorate at Case Institute of Technology at Cleveland, Ohio, illustrated his talk with photo slides including cartons of comic characters in order that his audience could comprehend his statements.

He closed by warning that atomic plants supposedly for the purpose of commercial use in foreign countries could be converted within a few weeks to producing atom bombs.

Billy Davis was program chairman. L. O. Neill gave the invocation and G. C. Stewart presided.

UNION CHIEF OBEYS INJUNCTION

Cleveland Streetcars And Buses Run Again As Strike Is Broken

CLEVELAND, Dec. 27. (AP).—Streetcars and buses ran again in Cleveland today after the city's six-day transit strike ended.

Striking members of the AFL-transit union voted to comply with a court injunction ordering the walkout to stop.

Within 90 minutes after the session, partial service was restored on all lines. Two hours later service was reported normal.

In a voice that sometimes verged on a scream, union President Thomas P. Meaney told the workers:

"We can got out again in March, April or May, but you have to return to work now. Do you want to break your union?"

He was referring to the injunction granted by Judge Joseph A. Artl yesterday.

Judge Artl, following a plea by attorneys for the city-owned Cleveland transit system, ordered the men back to work by 2 p.m. today. He also told union leaders to order the action.

Meaney told his union meeting the "cards were stacked against" the union before it went into court. He added:

"If the judge fines you $50,000 or $60,000, where are you going to get it? I've been accused of being second to John L. Lewis. But I'm not trying to put my feet in his shoes."

Judge Artl termed the walkout "a rebellion against the government" and maintained that public employes have no right to strike.

He cited both federal law and the state's new Ferguson act, which prohibits strikes by public workers.

The strike began over a ruling by Ralph Hertz, CTS umpire, that starting Jan. 1 operating workers should receive only 88 hours pay for two-week vacations.

The union wanted the 96 hours pay — put into effect when long hours were worked during wartime — continued.

Tennessee Child Must Lose Hand, Physicians Report

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 27 (AP) — Little Betty Lou Marbury, for whom the nation prayed, must have her right hand amputated.

Her doctor said tonight this move is imperative if her life is to be saved. She has a highly malignant lesion on her third finger.

He announced the operation will take place tomorrow, the Commercial Appeal said tonight in a copyrighted story.

The 10-year-old girl herself was undismayed.

"Daddy, if the Lord wants my hand, that's all right with me," she whispered to her father, Clay Marbury, after he broke the news.

Thousands of persons throughout the country have prayed that the fifth grader's hand might be spared. But many ministers added this phrase to their plea: "If it be God's will."

Betty captured sympathy through a letter she wrote the Commercial Appeal Dec. 1 after hearing of the possible amputation.

"I want those who may read this letter. . .to pray that I may not have to lose my hand and that I may soon completely recover. I believe the Lord will answer their prayers."

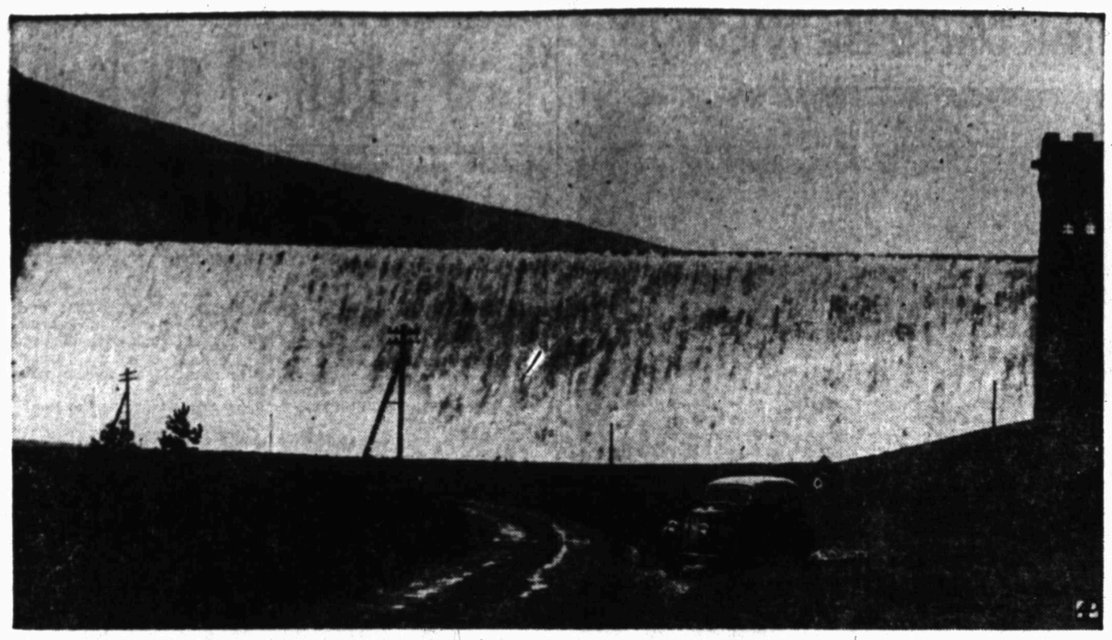

The Memphis physician made his announcement only after talking with Boston specialists who examined Betty last week. They agreed amputation was the only way to stop the bone tumor.

The arm will be amputated midway between the wrist and the elbow.

Bob Hope Scheduled To Star In New Movie 'The Lemon Drop Kid,' By Damon Runyon

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 27—I just love the idea of Bob Hope's next epic, "The Lemon Drop Kid," a Damon Runyon story. While Bob and Dolores, complete with family, were in Alaska to entertain our service men, Eddie Beloin started work on the script of the very funny story.

If you have never read "The Lemon Drop Kid" it's an hilarious tale about a character who suffers from kleptomania but he can keep from stealing if he diverts his thoughts by poping a lemon drop into his mouth. But evil forces want to use his skill for thieving and steal his lemon drops! Can't you just see Hope romping through this?

Incidentally, Runyon stories are lucky for him. "Sorrowful Jones" (remake of "Little Miss Marker") was solid gold at the tills.

Duryea Takes Bit Part

Dan Duryea is a wise lad, and he doesn't mind playing a bit role if he thinks it's right for him. That's what he's doing in "Death on a Side Street," which stars James Mason and Marta Toren.

When he took the role Dan did it over the bitter protests of his agent, who parted company with him because he agreed to do the part. But maybe the agent wouldn't have left if he knew that Dan will receive $10,000 a day for a six day period—and that isn't a bit!

The role is not unlike the one Dan played in "Scarlet Street" with Joan Bennett, which is the one that brought him to our attention.

Rains Wash Out Wedding

Cary Grant and Betsy Drake were ready to fly to Phoenix December 19 to get married when the rains came in such torrents it was unsafe to fly.

It wasn't the rains alone but the bad weather in Phoenix that made it impossible for a plane to land. If they had gone to Phoenix then, they would have been married a week before Christmas. I had heard this a week ago last Sunday, but discounted it as one of the many rumors that had been flying about.

However, I knew they planned to marry during the holidays. I said in my column, on the radio and in a magazine story that Cary would marry the lovely Betsy Christmas week. I knew this was true from something Cary dropped one day when he and Betsy stopped by my house for a cup of tea.

Frances wants to do it, too.

After Mrs. Phillips' husband was killed by the Japanese, she opened a night club on the waterfront, and kept the Americans informed on ship movements. Her autobiography also tells of the tortures when the Japs finally picked her up.

Boy Sits Through Movie With Knife Wound In Back

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 27. (INS).— Ten-year-old David Houston of Portland had a pain in his back last night as he sat through a long western movie to see his cowboy hero outwit the villains.

It wasn't the ache from a double-feature either. Dave was, in true cowboy grimness, enduring a stab in his back accidentally given him with his own six-inch Christmas hunting knife by a companion who grabbed the rubber-handled knife out of a sheath thinking it a rubber toy.

David's mother sat with him through the movie, unaware of the episode in the boys' restroom.

The theatre manager applied first aid but the boy's wound began bleeding after he returned home and David was rushed to police emergency and later to a hospital.

Attendants said the wound, about four inches above the belt, was a minor one.

Lubbock Child Claimed After Sudden Illness; Rites Today

Lavelle A. Morrison, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Morrison of 407 Ninth, died in Porter clinic-hospital at 3 p.m. Tuesday after a sudden illness.

Burial will be in Lubbock cemetery.

Survivors other than the parents include two sisters, Martha Jean and Katherine Pauline; a brother, Leonard Dale; the grandmmothers, Mrs. J. C. Fletcher of Lubbock and Mrs. W. W. Leatherwood of Snyder; and the grandfathers, D. L. Byrnes of Sulphur Springs and Andrew Morrison of Oklahoma.

McDonald is in charge of arrangements.

Baptist Leader Warns Nation Must Return To Spirituality

DALLAS, Dec. 27 (AP) — Dr. Robert G. Lee of Memphis, president of the Southern Baptist convention, warned tonight that the "pallbearers which carried off previous great nations will do the same to America unless this nation returns to spirituality."

"Our greatest danger is translation of freedom of worship to freedom from worship," Dr. Lee said in a speech prepared for delivery at the Baptist Sunday School conference here. The meeting opened today.

Attendance at the conference—the first in 10 years because of the war—is expected to total 6,000 church and Sunday school leaders from 22 states of the Southern Baptist convention.

"Our greatest peril is the lack of spirituality in our homes and schools," Dr. Lee said.

Before Dr. Lee spoke, Dr. W. O. Vaught of Little Rock, Ark., talked on the need of unchurched communities. His church established 11 new churches in ten years in the Little Rock area as missionary work.

Dr. J. Howard Williams, Texas mission secretary and executive secretary of the Baptist General convention of Texas, and Andrew Q. Allen, Texas secretary for Sunday school work, welcomed delegates. Both are from Dallas. Allen is in charge of conference arrangements.

J. N. Barnette of Nashville is head of the Sunday school department of the SBC Sunday school board. He will preside at all general sessions of the four-day conference.

Hard to believe but —

This Buick costs less than Butter!

MAYBE you never thought of it that way, since you don't buy butter in 3600-pound lots.

But pound for pound, this prideful Buick SPECIAL sells today for less than store-bought butter!

Actually, it costs less per pound than some of the cars in the so-called "lowest price" bracket—less than any other straight-eight on the market.

Now that's a pretty important yardstick.

Because cost-per-pound is a pretty stable measure of a car's merit. It takes skilful engineering, careful buying, efficient manufacturing to keep this figure around the half-dollar mark—and that's where it is on the 1950 SPECIAL 4-door Sedan.

The real point, of course, is that this is a Buick at that figure.

Buick styling. Buick valve-in-head straight-eight power. Buick steadiness and roadability. The gentle cushioning power of Buick 4-wheel coil springing.

Buick room, finish, standing—with a special plus these days in greater maneuverability to help you slip into tight parking spaces and home-size garages. Buick's unmistakable appearance, through gracefully tapering fenders and that new "Buick first," that sturdy, shock-absorbing, triple-purpose bumper-guard grille.

All this at price tags that "sound like a six" and a cost-per-pound right down with the very lowest!

So—if you can afford butter, why not a Buick? Talk to your dealer about it—delivered prices, trade-ins, delivery dates, all the rest—and make your next car a Buick.

TEN-STRIKE!
Only Buick SPECIAL has all these Features!
TRAFFIC-HANDY SIZE • MORE ROOM FOR THE MONEY • DYNAFLOW DRIVE optional at extra cost • JET-LINE STYLING • NON-LOCKING BUMPER-GUARD GRILLES • HIGH-PRESSURE FIREBALL STRAIGHT-EIGHT ENGINE • COIL SPRINGING ALL AROUND • LOW-PRESSURE TIRES ON SAFETY-RIDE RIMS • GREATER VISIBILITY FORE AND AFT • SELF-LOCKING LUGGAGE LIDS • STEADY-RIDING TORQUE-TUBE DRIVE • THREE SMART MODELS WITH BODY BY FISHER

The Woman's Angle

INSTEAD of buying up surplus potatoes, why doesn't the government predict a shortage and then stand back out of the way and let the people fall all over themselves buying potatoes?

WHY, OH WHY?

UNTIL Tuesday there was a sprig of mistletoe hanging over the doorway to our office, but so far as we know no one took advantage of the hint suggested by the parasite. Perhaps the force felt the way this bit of poetry (not ours) suggests:

To kiss under the mistletoe
Is O. K. theoretic
But there are some I wouldn't kiss
Under an aesthetic.

EATING DOES IT

DURING the holiday season, when most overweight people have upset their stomachs and their disposition with too much rich food, it seems as good a time as any to remind that there is no use kidding ourselves if we are fat.

It's not a matter of what you eat, but rather a matter of how much of each thing you eat.

Dr. Vlado A. Getting, commissioner of public health for the state of Massachusetts, addressing a recent public health meeting in Oklahoma City, spoke at length on the subject of overweight and pointed out that most of the time it may be laid to overeating.

THERE was another angle to this thing which occupied the doctor's mind. He called overweight persons a public health problem because excess weight contributes to heart disease, which accounts for one out of five deaths. It also increases the chances of a person getting diabetes, kidney disease and high blood pressure.

The good doctor, who has trouble fighting fat himself, said you can't make a person lose weight. You've got to motivate him so he wants to and trying to talk him into it by showing the danger of excess fat usually works.

LOW CALORIE MEAL

WHAT with your rich holiday feasting and New Year's resolutions, there'll be a lot of your bridge friends watching their calories at January luncheons. If it is your turn to play the hostess, they will praise you if you make it a "Slim-Jane party." Here is a suggested menu from Good Housekeeping magazine:

Herb-tomato-juice cocktail.
Celery fans with celery salt.
Broiled halibut, cod or haddock steaks.
Whole wheat toast.
Grapefruit and orange dessert.
Salad with Slim-Jane salad dressing.
Russian tea.

For nibbling at 4 o'clock: Apple wedges brushed with lemon juice.

About one hour before serving, add a pinch of different herb to each glass. Float a bit of water cress or parsley in each.

Here's how to prepare the Slim-Jane salad dressing: Three-fourths cup water, two teaspoons cornstarch, one-fourth cup lemon juice, three-fourths teaspoon salt, one and one-half teaspoons sugar, two tablespoons salad oil, one teaspoon bottled horse radish, one and one-fourth teaspoons prepared mustard, one-half teaspoon paprika, one peeled clove garlic, one-half teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, one-fourth cup catchup.

Cook together water and cornstarch until clear and thickened—about five minutes. Cool. Add remaining ingredients; beat with hand or electric beater until smooth and blended. Store, covered, in refrigerator. Use as needed, shaking well before using. Makes about one and one-fourth cups.

AS PRIZES it is suggested one give: First, a book on calorie counting; booby, a tape measure. It might be well to have handy for discussion a chart on weight according to height.

Don't make a mistake and invite a slender friend to the low calorie luncheon. She would only be bored by all of the proceedings; she'd also be hungry.

Let's Eat, Drink And Be Merry

NEW YEAR'S BUFFET—Try a canape-pie clock.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Here's a new idea for a New Year's eve snack. Arrange an assortment of several different kinds of crackers such as pretzels, whole wheat wafers, cheese crackers, shredded wheat wafers around a layered cheese, ham and egg pie. Then at serving time cut the pie in thin wedges—the wedges will lift out perfectly without any stickiness or separation. Guests spread a bite of their portion on a cracker—and happily let the three flavors of the pie blend while they enjoy it!

The pie will keep perfectly for 24 hours or more in the refrigerator covered with waxed paper or aluminum foil—in fact it should be made at least several hours in advance of serving so it will chill and "set" for easy cutting. Here's the recipe:

MIDNIGHT CANAPE PIE

Cheese Layer: Cream together 6 ounces of cream cheese and 1½ ounces of blue cheese. Season with Worcestershire sauce and finely chopped parsley. Add enough milk or cream to make it spreading consistency. Spread in an even layer in the bottom of an eight-inch pie plate.

Ham Layer: Mix together 5 ounces of deviled ham spread and 2 tablespoons of chopped pickles. Spread on cheese layer.

Egg Layer: Chop 4 hard-cooked eggs. Season to taste with salt, pepper, mayonnaise and chopped pimiento. Spread on top of ham layer. Cover with waxed paper or aluminum foil. Store in refrigerator several hours or overnight if desired.

To Decorate: Cut slim straight pretzel sticks into small pieces to mark minute on clock and to form hands of clock pointing to midnight. Cut numbers 1 and 2 out of "curly" pretzels and put on the clock.

Marriage Announced

Announcement is being made of the marriage of Miss Vada Nell Gladden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Gladden, Rt. 2, and Elton L. Carlile, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Carlile of Wolfforth, which took place Friday night at the home of the bride's brother, C. E. Gladden, in Abilene. Rev. W. A. Cole performed a double ring ceremony before a fireplace decorated with white gladioli and carnations and silver tinted greenery. Light was provided by candles.

Soft organ music was played.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a navy blue gabardine suit with a pink blouse and gray accessories. Her corsage was an orchid. For something old and borrowed, she wore a lavaliere worn by the bridegroom's mother at her wedding 25 years ago.

Miss Elnora Somnizith of Abilene, maid of honor, wore pink crepe with pink carnations, tied with silver ribbon. R. J. Gladden, brother of the bride, served as best man.

At the reception, a white lace cloth covered the bride's table which was arranged with white gladioli and carnations and a two-tiered cake, topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

After a wedding trip, the couple will be at home at Wolfforth where both are employed by the Graham-Holmes Gin company. MRS. EDWARD LEE WHITTENBURG

Vows Are Said Here

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Wells of 3412 Twenty-fifth are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Miss LaVerne Wells, and Edward Lee Whittenburg which took place in the Wells home Saturday night at 6 o'clock. The bridegroom is son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Whittenburg of Levelland.

Rev. T. F. Suttle of Levelland performed a double ring ceremony before a candlelighted setting of white gladioli and greenery. Mrs. Zoel Allen, pianist, accompanied Miss Virginia Howard of Levelland as she sang "I Love You Truly," "Always" and the musical benediction, "The Wedding Prayer." The pianist also offered traditional wedding marches.

The bride was dressed in moss blue crepe with wine accessories and a white orchid corsage. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace and earrings, gift from the bridegroom.

Miss Ruby Joyce Whittenburg, sister of the bridegroom, attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore a soft pink gabardine dress with black accessories and a pink carnation corsage.

Lloyd Baskin of Whiteface served as best man.

A few close friends and relatives attended a reception given after the ceremony. Miss Joyce Ledbetter and Miss Glenna Lee presided at the punch bowl. Gladioli and carnations and a tiered wedding cake, decorated with a miniature bride and bridegroom, were arranged on the bride's table.

For her wedding trip, the bride chose a taupe suit with a matching hat and green accessories. Her corsage was a white orchid. When Mr. and Mrs. Whittenburg return to Lubbock, they will be at home at 1711 Fifteenth. British-Yugoslav Trade Treaty May Ease Burden Of Americans

By SIGRID ARNE
Associated Press Staff Writer

The British and the Yugoslavs have gotten together on a trade deal that ought to take some of the load off the American taxpayer.

They have agreed to swap goods for the next five years worth something more than a half billion dollars.

The two countries have what each other wants. Yugoslavia has the ores and timber British factories need, and British factories turn out the machinery Yugoslavs need.

ECA Officials Pleased

This kind of European swap is the thing American directors of the Marshall plan have wanted from the start. American money went into Europe just to get the Europeans on their feet again so they could turn out goods for swapping.

But now the Marshall planners think the time has come for Europeans to hunt what they need from other nations—at least part of what they need. They could pay their bills here if this country bought enough from them to cover all they need, but the U. S. does not do that.

Stories from London and Belgrade say:

The Yugoslavs will get British wool, yarns, chemicals, rubber and rubber products and all manner of machinery.

The British will get Yugoslav lead, copper, timber and corn..

Slavs Seek Loans

Since the war the British have gotten much ore and timber here on Marshall plan dollars. And since Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito slipped the Moscow noose his government has sounded out the American government for loans for machinery.

Neither nation now sells enough to the U. S. to pay for what it wants here. But U. S. foreign policy makers think it important that both get what they need lest their hard-driven workers be open to the Communist grant.

The British-Yugoslav agreement won't be a straight barter deal.

The British government puts few restraints on its importers. It won't say to British importers "you must buy so much timber from Yugoslavia," but there is one British limitation which may drive the trade to Yugoslavia. It is difficult for a British importer to get all the American dollars he wants. He may find it easier to get Yugoslav money. That technicality may switch British trade to Yugoslav markets.

In Yugoslavia, a Communist dictatorship, the government can very well say "so much ore and timber has to go to Britain this year because we want their machinery."

Buick Pares $75 To $310 Off 1950 Prices

FLINT, Mich., Dec. 27 (U.P.)—Buick announced price cuts on its 1950 models ranging from $75 to $310 when combined with the recent $40 reduction for automatic transmissions.

The Buick price cuts came despite a $4 a ton boost in the price of steel. The reductions were the second announced by a General Motors division. Oldsmobile shaved a minimum of $65 from 1950 models the day before the steel price boost was announced.

Changes in list prices for Buicks principally affected the Roadmaster and Super series. But by cutting prices on optional equipment and making other optional items standard, the price of the Special now is $87.10 under the announced price last August.

All price cuts included the $40 reduction for dynaflow, Buick's automatic transmission. Comparatively few cars were made after the price for Dynaflow was reduced.

Biggest slash was on the Riviera in the Roadmaster series, now listing at $2,675 compared with the 1949 price of $2,985. The Roadmaster sedanette was cut $75 from $2,430 to $2,365.

The Super Estate wagon price was chopped $300, listing at $2,675. An $85 reduction was made on convertibles in the Super series and $75 in the Roadmaster line.

The Super four-door sedan was unchanged at $2,006, but its twin in the Roadmaster series was cut $76 to list at $2,465.

Details of the new Super and Roadmaster Buicks will be announced tomorrow. The Special series, introduced last August, was not changed.

Elimination of many "extra" on the popular-priced Special followed the pattern set by Oldsmobile to shave prices below 1949.

Pre-Christmas Sales Boosted In New York City, Bank Claims

NEW YORK, Dec. 27. (AP).— The New York Federal Reserve bank reported today an 11-percent increase in New York City department store dollar sales in the week ended Dec. 24 over the like pre-Christmas week in 1948.

For the four weeks before Christmas, however, dollar sales were one percent lower than in the same period last year.

The 1949 week had six shopping days, while the 1948 pre-Christmas week had only five, accounting in large part for the gain this year, the bank noted.

Eight Persons Killed In Jap Earthquakes

TOKYO, Dec. 27. (AP)— Heavy snow today spread a new blanket of misery over central Japan, where eight persons were killed and hundreds left homeless by 20-odd earth temblors between Sunday night and this morning.

National rural police said eight were killed and one person was missing. Many were injured but only one seriously. Eighty-six homes and buildings collapsed and 283 others were badly damaged.

The earth's convulsions were felt in nine prefectures of Honshu, Japan's big central island. Imaichi, a city of 17,000 about 85 miles north of Tokyo, suffered most.

Approximately 100 Americans were in the stricken area. All escaped injury.

Mount Aso on Kyushu island quieted down after blowing its volcanic top yesterday.

Young Victim Of Christmas Night Auto Mishap Claimed

HENRIETTA, Dec. 27. (AP).— Eleven-year-old Zula Blevins, victim of a Christmas night auto wreck in which nine members of the same family were injured, died in a hospital here today.

On Christmas night the auto containing Cecil Blevins of Wheeler, his wife, and seven children left the pavement and overturned about six miles west of Henrietta on the Fort Worth-Wichita Falls highway. They were returning from a visit to Hooker, Texas. Some rain had fallen.

Mr. and Mrs. Blevins and all but two of the children remained tonight in a critical condition in the hospital here.

Because of the season and the number of injured the accident threw a heavy load on personnel at the Henrietta hospital. But Henrietta people turned out to offer their services, and the hospital described their aid as "invaluable."

Raiders Leave Today For Bowl Tilt

Morgan Takes 36 Squadmen

In search of its first post-season bowl victory after four fruitless attempts, the Texas Tech football squad is scheduled to leave Lubbock at 8:40 p. m. today for Fresno, Calif., to battle San Jose State on Saturday in the Raisin Bowl.

A 36-man squad, four coaches, two managers and a trainer will board a special pullman at the Santa Fe depot this morning, with arrival at Fresno set at 2:05 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Tuesday the Red Raider team demonstrated its eagerness for the trip and game with a hard, one-hour scrimmage that left little to be desired by Coach Dell Morgan.

The players were running, blocking and tackling hard, and the passing was generally good against a San Jose defensive setup.

Price Injures Ankle

Pacing the running attack were Cal Steveson, with several long runs, and Herman Bailey and Bud Conley. Hitting their marks with short aerials were Ernest Hawkins and Milton Rathbone, with Hugh and Dick Jackson on the receiving end of many of the passes.

The scrimmage might prove costly, however, as Jerrell Price, 210-pound tackle, injured his left ankle. A preliminary examination showed a slight sprain, but Price was expected to be all right for Saturday's game. Center J. B. Mahler received a slight cut over the eye, but he too is expected to be ready to go against the Spartans.

Spirit on the team is high, and enthusiasm shown by the team has been better in the last few weeks than at any time during the year, with everyone looking forward to the game and trip.

Victory Hopes High

Hopes for a victory are high, with the Raiders rated on the same level as the Spartans nationally, only a few points separating the two clubs.

Coach Morgan said earlier that passing might be the difference in the game, and since that time he has worked up a series of very snappy pass plays which should add life to the Raider aerial offensive.

Leading passer is Ernest Hawkins with 32 completions in 84 attempts for 500 yards and three touchdowns.

On the ground he can rely on Fullback Conley, who has averaged 4.67 yards per in picking up 699 yards rushing; Halfback Steveson with 393 yards on 91 tries; J. W. Thompson with 327 yards on 60 carries; and Ike Stuver with 335 yards on 44 carries.

The bowl game will be the third for a Morgan-trained squad. His 1947 squad played Miami of Ohio in the Sun Bowl, losing by one point, 13-12, and the 1941 squad lost a 6-0 battle to Tulsa in the same bowl.

Tech lost to St. Mary's, 20-13, in the Cotton Bowl in 1939 and to West Virginia, 7-6, in the Sun Bowl in 1938.

Traveling Squad Listed

In addition to Coach Morgan, Coaches G. B. Morris, Tipp Mooney and Allie White will accompany the team to Fresno, also Trainer Mason Gorby and Managers E. J. Hutchins and Gabby Hawkins.

Members of the squad follow:

Westerners Meet Abilene Tonight

With a tough game with Abilene on tap at 8 o'clock tonight in Abilene, Coach David Cook sent the Westerner basketball squad through a long, hard workout Tuesday at Chapman fieldhouse in the second drill since a brief holiday period.

One week ago tonight, the same teams played at Chapman fieldhouse, with the Eagles winning a close, 43-41 victory over the Westerner five with a last quarter rally. The loss was the second for the Westerners in 11 starts, and tonight they seek to get back in the win column.

Hard Workout Held

The entire "book" was thrown at the local quintet yesterday, and the drill left the squad limp from fatigue as Coach Cook expressed dissatisfaction with the showing of the boys by the hard workout.

However, the first team was showing a good eye for the basket in later scrimmaging, with Walter Norton, Tom Cheatham, Carl Ince, Jimmy Sexton and Morris Turner playing the first five positions.

For the second team Jim Wilson showed flashes of his old form, and Tommy Yelvington was accurate from the floor.

Passing, shooting and ball-handling drills occupied the early stages of the long session, with offensive patterns being stressed in half-court drills.

"B" Game Slated

In addition to the varsity game, a "B" team game will also be played tonight. Members of the Westerner traveling squad will make up the team for the opening game, with the addition of Yelvington and Sammy Adams from the Cow-Land squad.

The team will leave at 1 p.m. today by bus and return following the game.

Making the trip are Sexton, Wilson, Cheatham, Ince, Turner, Norton, Adams, Yelvington, Richard Allen, Bill Williams, Jimmy Hamilton, Charles Lambert, Dean White, Bobby Day and Garnet Reeves.

MILLION ATHLETES MAY COMPETE

Ferris Expects Record-Breaking Year In Track, Field Events

By PAT ROBINSON
INS Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 27. — Dan (AAU) Ferris, who has been running track and field events for half a century, predicts a record-breaking year—without records—for his favorite sport in 1950.

"The competition," Dan told us today, "will be terrific with more than a million boys and gals competing all over the country.

"They have no olympics in sight but they have an incentive just as good in the Pan-American games to be held in Buenos Aires in 1951.

"We will send a team down there, of course, and its make-up will depend on what the athletes show next year."

Dan can't recall a year when at least one new world record was set in track and field and more often than not there were several new marks established.

No New Marks Seen

"But next year," he declares, "I don't expect to see a single new world mark although the boys and gals will come close to world figures in everything except, perhaps, the pole vault. There are no Cornie Wamerdams in sight."

Dan thinks a situation like that will be all for the best. It means closer, keener competition all along the line.

He estimates there will be more than a million track and field athletes in action from the school boys on up to lads with world-wide reputations.

Foreign Stars To Enter

Dan is planning a gig influx of foreign stars for the big indoor meets starting next month. Viljo Heino, Finland's greatest running star since Paavo Nurmi, will be here to run in all our championships. He holds the world record for six and ten miles and 10,000 meters. He will concentrate on the two and three mile events in this country.

John Joe Barry, the Irish mile and two mile champion, is already on hand and ready to do his stuff. Ferris also has invited some Swedes, English and Frenchmen to run in our indoor meets.

Barry will have his hands full handling Don Gammon of Wisconsin who probably is our best miler today. Dan covered the eight furlongs in close to 4:09 last year and Ferris believes he might do 4:08.

Old Favorites Liked

Fred Wilt, Curt Stone and Horace Ashenfelter will supply the main contention for Heino at the middle distances.

Old favorites like Jim Fuchs, Yale's world record holder in the shot put, and Harrison Dillard in the hurdles will strive to improve their best marks but Dan doubts that they'll make it.

"However," says Dan, "young stars are cropping up every year and when the kids show class it forces the seasoned campaigners to do their best.

"I have said that I don't expect to see a single new record made in 1950 but with a million athletes in action I'd hate to bet that there won't be at least one. Anyhow, we are due for some great sport."

Denver Nuggets To Meet Tri-City Five

DENVER, Dec. 27 (INS)—The victory-hungry Denver Nuggets will meet another of the National Basketball association's powerhouses, the Tri-City Blackhawks, Friday night in the D. U. arena.

The Nuggets, who have taken two beatings from the Blackhawks so far this season, are expected to have their hands full.

The Tri-Citians are headed by Dwight Eddelman, well-known for his achievements at the University of Illinois. Eddelman was recognized as the greatest athlete ever to graduate from the Illinois school.

So far this season, the six-foot, three-inch sensation has averaged almost 12 points per game.

He is followed closely by Don Otten, former Bowling Green player, who is averaging better than 11 points per game.

The mid-westerners recently added another consistent point-maker in Mike Todorovich, former Wyoming university basketball star.

Cash Given To Wildcat Coach

LITTLEFIELD, Dec. 27. (Spl.)—Littlefield's Wildcats were back home today, with the Texas Class A football championship safely in tow.

The Wildcats, who gained the crown Monday with a 13-0 win over Mexia at Abilene, returned late Monday night by bus to meet a rousing welcome.

Presentation of $1,866.40 in cash to Head Coach J. S. Fikes, and of $265.20 each to Assistant Coaches Forrest Martin and Pat Patterson and School Superintendent Joe Hutchinson, was one of the first results of the Wildcats' title triumph. The ifts came from a fund contributed by followers of the Littlefield team.

Early today, Coach Fikes traded his automobile—plus part of his cash award—for a new Buick, in which he later left to visit his parents at Anson, near Abilene.

Several events honoring the Wildcat gridders are planned, but these probably will not be held until Fikes returns from his holiday vacation early next week.

Members of the Littlefield squad escaped serious injury in Monday's championship playoff, although several suffered minor bruises and pulled muscles.

The victory over Mexia climaxed a 14-game winning streak which began after Littlefield bowed to Dalhart in a non-conference game at the start of the season. The final triumph was achieved before a crowd estimated at 11,500 fans—including some 3,500 Lamb county fans who accompanied the Wildcats to Abilene.

Oklahoma Sooners Gain 66-57 Victory Over Iowa State Team

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 27. (INS)—The Oklahoma Sooners, playing a steady game, defeated the Iowa State Cyclones, 66 to 57, tonight in the opening contest of the Big Seven Conference holiday basketball tournament.

A capacity crowd of 9,500 fans witnessed the game. Oklahoma led 37 to 33 at halftime.

NAVY ARRIVES

DALLAS, Dec. 27. (AP)—The Navy basketball team, one of four teams scheduled to play Friday and Saturday in the Cotton Bowl basketball tournament, arrived here today. Navy meets Southern Methodist university Friday night. Others in the tournament are St. Louis university and Baylor.

Braves Officials Deny 'Purge' Of 1949 Dissenters

BOSTON, Dec. 27. (INS).— The Boston Braves have severed connections with half of their 1949 roster, but they stoutly deny that they are "purging" players who participated in last summer's rebellion against Manager Billy Southworth.

Rather, say Braves officials, the wholesale housecleaning represents the club's anticipation of its first harvest from its budding farm system.

"For the first time since the present ownership assumed control in 1944, we're able to place the accent on youth and speed," a spokesman said.

Rookies To Perform

Seventeen rookies will accompany the Bostonians to spring training, and several figure to be first string performers. In addition, the Braves anticipate increased value for youthful holdovers like Del Crandall, the 20-year old catcher, and John Antonelli, 19-year-old bonus pitcher.

Since this time last year, the Braves have disposed of 19 of the 38 players then on the roster. And off the regular season list of 25 players, 12 no longer draw Boston pay checks.

Among the departed are pitchers Red Barrett, Nelson Potter and Bill Voiselle, catcher Bill Salkeld, second baseman Eddie Stanky, shortstop Al Dark and outfielders Jeff Heath, Marv Rickert, Jim Russell and Ed Sauer.

Players Go To Minors

At first glance, the big turnover seems to be according to script. When Southworth left the team in mid-season, obstensibly because of illiness, and later when the players voted him less than a full world series cut, it seemed obvious that some changes would be made.

It's not necessarily so, say the Braves. A club official stated:

"I'd say that more than half the players who have departed since the season ended had no quarrels with Southworth. Barrett, for instance, was the first to go, yet he was outspokenly pro-Southworth."

The spokesman pointed out that many of the castoffs slipped back to the minors, indicating they simply could not help the Braves or any other major league team.

Tech Five Takes On Checker Cab Tonight

Texas Tech's basketball squad, rested by a brief Christmas vacation, returns to action tonight against the independent Checker Cab quint at San Angelo.

Coach Polk Robison's Techsans thumped the Checker Cab crew, 62-43, in a game here 10 days ago, and will be heavily favored to score a repeat triumph tonight.

To date, Tech has a 5-3 mark for the season.

The Raiders' next home game will be at 8 p.m. Monday against the Wayland college Pioneers.

Tickets to the Tech gym game will be available to the public at $1 each, and ample seating capacity is assured, since Tech students are away for the yuletide holidays.

Tech defeated Wayland, 58-50, in an earlier meeting of the two teams at Plainview this season.

Wyoming Quint Downs Texas, 44-35

Oklahoma Ags Gain All-College Victory

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 27 (AP) — The Oklahoma Aggies opened defense of their All-College basketball title tonight, getting past Vanderbilt, 62-61, in a tough scramble.

The Aggies oppose Oklahoma City university in the first semi-final game at 7:45 Wednesday night. Arkansas and Wyoming meet in the other semifinal.

Oklahoma City qualifid for a shot against the Aggies by beating Baylor, 43-32. Arkansas moved up with a 41-33 victory over Alabama and Wyoming downed Texas, 44-35.

Cowboy Experience Counts

Texas and Wyoming were neck and neck the first half, Wyoming holding a 19-16 edge.

Wyoming's experience and height proved the difference as the Cowboys scored their sixth straight victory this season.

John Pilch, 6-4 Wyoming senior, led the scoring with 12 points while Texas' Bill Huffman and Bill McGee got 11 points each.

Both teams were accurate at the free throw line, Texas hitting 11 of 13 and Wyoming six of eight.

Jim Cathart counted 16 points to lead Arkansas past Alabama.

Game Slow Affair

The Arkansas - Alabama game was a slow-shooting affair, marred by fouls. Alabama tried only 12 shots from the field in the second half, making four.

The lead changed 13 times and the score tied 11 times before Arkansas finally forged ahead with six minutes to play, after trailing at the half, 18-13.

Guard Sammy Smith dropped in a free throw to give Arkansas a 32-31 advantage and from there went on to their eight point victory.

East Squad Picked To Whip West Team

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 27 (AP)—Three Eastern coaches who have seen a lot of football talent in their respective lengthy careers were still puzzled today as to the potentialities of the squad they have assembled for the East-West game here, Saturday.

The mentors who are admittedly stumped are Bernie Bierman of Minnesota, Tuss McLaughry of Dartmouth and Andy Kerr of Lebanon Valley. Their amazement rose when they sent their 24 stars into action at various times during an hour and a half scrimmage yesterday.

At the finish, the Easterners had piled up a score of 114 to 0 against an amateur team known as the Santa Cruz Seahawks. The visiting club is rated around here as a fairly strong outfit, composed mainly of former college players.

Already established as 7½ point favorites to win the 25th annual classic played for the Shriners crippled children's hospital here, the East now may become an even stronger choice.

To date, Tech has a 5-3 mark for the season.

Western Stars, drilling at Stanford university, polished offensive plays. The West gets tremendous running power off the double wing installed by head coach Matty Bell of Southern Methodist.

Lindy Berry of Texas Christian, one of the tailbacks, has impressed onlookers with his terrific drive. For a 166-pounder, he is one of the best to show around here in a long time.

Berry also throws a string-straight pass. So does Eddie Le Baron of the College of the Pacific, who will alternate at the tailback spot.

Wrestle Royal Set Tonight

A wrestle royal at Sled Allen's arena tonight will spotlight the grappling card, and five wrestlers, a bear and the referee will fill the squared circle to capacity.

With such grapplers at Pat O'Dowdy, George Overhull, Bob Cummings, Jack Papenheim and Pierre LaBell in the ring at the same time, it seems that this would be enough to bring the crowd to its feet. But the wrestling bear, Gorgeous Gus, should bring out some unexpected thrills and color for the fans.

Overhull put up a good scrap with Gus the Bear last week, but there was no question as to the outcome, with Gus winning in 10 minutes.

One man could not beat the bear, and it will be interesting tonight to see if all the wrestlers will try to gang up on Gus or go after each other. All five might be able to pin the big boy.

The first two men downed in the free-for-all will be eliminated from further competition for the night, and the second two go into the semi-final event. The last two remaining draw the main event.

The semi-main will be for two of three falls with a 45-minute limit, and the final has an hour limit on the bout.

Tickets may be bought during the day at the arena until 5 p. m. Doors open at 7 p. m., and matches begin at 8 p. m.

Two-A-Day Workouts Occupy Rice's Owls

HOUSTON, Dec. 27 (AP)—Rice's Cotton Bowl Owls came back from Christmas holidays today with a surprising amount of energy and altertness.

"I believe they look better now than they did before they left," Head Coach Jess Neely said following a 30-minute afternoon scrimmage.

Neely plans to keep the squad on a two-a-day workout schedule until the Sunday departure for Monday's game in Dallas against North Carolina.

Morning sessions will include running and limbering up, with tougher sessions following in the afternoon.

Before today's scrimmage Neely had told the squad they could expect to work hard until he found them in good condition.

Their sharpness and aggressiveness in the scrimmage impressed him so greatly, however, that he later said he thought they would need no more offensive scrimmage.

He plans to concentrate now on defensive patterns, mixed with light drills on offense.

Ohio State Players Deny Rumors Of Dissension Among Squadmen

Captains Declare Team Morale High

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 27 (AP) —Ohio State players today blew down a report the squad was seized by dissension and proceeded to prove their point by demanding hard work on the practice field.

Giant Jack Wilson, captain and tackle of the Rose Bowl invaders, called together visiting newspapermen, particularly from Ohio, and vigorously denied there was any trouble.

Prior to this, the players told Coach Wes Fesler they were not pleased with their achievements in yesterday's scrimmage and asked for another heavy drill today.

The report about difficulties within the squad said the players were unhappy about expense money; they didn't like the somewhat isolated location of their hotel, the Huntington, which is the traditional stopping place of visiting Rose Bowl teams; that they were worried because of the possible resignation of Fesler after the game Jan. 2, with the University of California, and other less vital details.

Fesler Denies Reports

Fesler last week was reported to have already resigned. He issued a prompt denial but said he was considering accepting a lucrative offer to go into private business. As for having quit, he's still very much the head coach.

Both Wilson and Tackle Jack Jennings, prior to today's practice, said they thought spirit of the team was excellent. Wilson said the team members have worked well together, some of them for the past three years. Both were confident high morale would prevail in the game.

COACH WALDORF SAYS BEARS' TIMING IS OFF

RIVERSIDE, Cal., Dec. 27 (INS)—California's Golden Bears went through a light practice session today at Riverside Junior college, where the squad is shaping up for its clash with Ohio State's Buckeyes in the Rose Bowl on January 2.

Coach Lynn (Pappy) Waldorf said that in his opinion the Bears were "better in two departments of play—defense and passing—than they were last year.

"However, we don't have a great elimax runner like Jackie Jensen of the '48 Bears," Waldorf mourned.

"Our big problem is to bring our squad up to where it was at the end of the season. Frankly, I believe we are farther along at this stage of the game than we were last year but we still have a long way to go—lots of work to do."

"Pappy" said that the timing of California's offensive plays, run strictly from the "T," was off and the Bears' defensive plans needed tinkering "since we have never met a team which uses Ohio State's basic offensive patterns."

Waldorf continued:

Have Respect For Bucks

"We have a lot of respect for every phase of Ohio State's game. Any team that finishes on top of the Big Ten has to be great defensively and we are not unmindful that the Buckeyes were the leading offensive team in their conference."

(As far as defense is concerned, Ohio State's defensive platoon, headed by Jack Lininger, Bob McCullough and Bucky Wertz, held their season's opponents to an average of 166 yards per game by rushing and 94 yards through the airlanes.)

California is counting on its two great passers, Bob Celeri and "Boots" Erb, to manufacture scores. While Celeri is rated a gambler in some quarters, Waldorf insisted that "he uses pretty good judgment. Moreover, he has an uncanny ability to sense the weakness in whatever defense he is up against."

Providing, of course, that there are weaknesses.

Dan Reeves Quits As Manager Of Pro Rams

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 27. (INS)—Stock broker Dan Reeves announced today that he was giving up active management of the Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League and that he would "probably sell most of his interest in the club."

Reeves explained that other business interests demanded more of his time than he could devote to the Rams as their manager. He added that no one was being considered at present for the position of general manager.

Other Ram partners include Fred Levy, jr., Edwin W. Pauley, Harold Pauley and James H. Seley. Withdrawal of Reeves would leave Edwin Pauley as the chief stockholder.

Sources close to the Rams indicated that Bing Crosby and Bob Hope would be sold some of Reeves' stock. The two movie and radio stars had announced two weeks ago that they were interested in the club.

The Rams were beaten recently by the Philadelphia Eagles, 14 to 0, in a game to determine the National League championship.

Wilkinson, Sooners Arrive In Biloxi For Final Practices

BILOXI, Miss., Dec. 27. (AP)—Sober-faced Bud Wilkinson led his Sugar Bowl-bound Oklahoma football team into Biloxi today for its final practices.

"I don't feel as happy in my own mind this year as I did this time last year," Wilkinson said. "I'm wondering if my players aren't more interested in the trip than the game."

Wilkinson arrived by train several hours ahead of the plane that brought in most of the football team.

BY CHOC HUTCHESON

In capturing the Texas Class A football championship, Littlefield's Wildcats not only brought grid glory to their school and town, but greatly boosted the prestige of South Plains schoolboy football in general.

For it must be remembered that the Wildcats met some of their stiffest competition of the year within their own District 4-A bailiwick.

Littlefield's only 1949 defeat, of course, was administered by Dalhart, a Panhandle team. But that game, the campaign curtain-raiser, was played under such miserable weather conditions that all observers agree that it wasn't a fair test of the strength of either of the two teams involved.

Later, after Coach J. S. Fikes' Littlefield steamroller gained momentum, it encountered its roughest going against Sudan and Levelland, both of District 4-A North. Sudan battled the Cats to a 7-7 scoring deadlock, but dropped the decision on penetrations. A week later, Levelland led at the half before losing a hard-fought 20-13 verdict to the eventual state champion.

Nowhere down the playoff line did Littlefield run into such difficult sledding. In five playoff games, the Wildcats were behind just once (against Garland), and then only until they gained possession of the ball and rammed over a touchdown.

There was nothing shaky about any of Littlefield's playoff triumphs. The Fikesmen clearly outplayed, outgained and outscored every opponent. Certainly such a convincing performance must have gained statewide respect for the brand of football played on the South Plains.

So, before closing the cover on the area's top sports success story of the year, hats off to the Littlefield Wildcats and their coaches for a job well done.

Press box observers at Abilene Monday agreed that Littlefield's Tom Bailes and Frank Gage must have set a new schoolboy record by carrying for a total of 62 times from scrimmage against Mexia. And nobody could recall having heard of a high school back who had equalled Bailes' total of 36 carries . . . Oregon Signs Home-And-Home Grid Contract With Nebraska

EUGENE, Ore., Dec. 27. (INS)—Oregon announced today that it has signed a home-and-home football contract with Nebraska, calling for a game at Eugene Sept. 27, 1952, and the second at Lincoln either in 1953 or in 1954.

The 1952 game will be the first between the teams, although Nebraska has played 13 games against Coast Conference teams. The Cornhuskers have played Oregon State seven times, UCLA and Washington twice each and Washington State and Leland Stanford once each.

The 34-man squad will leave Kansas City at 8 a.m. tomorrow by train and are due in Galveston at 9:50 a.m. Thursday.

Wolf Takes Tulane Post

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 27. (AP)—Raymond "Bear" Wolf, former head coach at Florida, becomes Tulane's football line coach next Sunday.

The Tulane athletic department announced today he would replace Hank Crisp who will return to Alabama "where he served more than 20 years on the athletic staff."

Until recently Wolf was head football coach at Florida. Before the war he filled a similar position at the University of North Carolina.

Wolf is now in Montgomery, Ala., as one of the coaches of the Southern team in the Blue-Gray game there.

He began his coaching career in 1928 at Texas Christian university. The next year he became varsity line coach under Francis Schmidt. In 1935 he became athletic director and left after that season to become head coach at North Carolina.

Missouri's Tigers See Films Of Maryland-Boston Tussle

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., Dec. 27. (AP)—The University of Missouri's Tigers managed to sandwich about an hour's workout between showers today in preparation for their Jan. 2 date in Jacksonville's Gator Bowl with Maryland.

Coach Don Faurot, behind on his training schedule because of persistent rains, said the 48-man squad had to spend nearly half of today's workout indoors viewing pictures of the Maryland-Boston college game.

DIMAGGIO TAKES SECOND SPOT

Boston's Ted Williams Captures American League Slugging Title

CHICAGO, Dec. 27 (AP)—Boston's dynamiting duo of Ted Williams and Vern Stephens tied for the runs-batted-in title, but the 1949 American league slugging crown went to Williams.

Final official statistics, also listing 30 major league records bettered or matched by the junior circuit, today awarded Thumpin' Ted overall slugging laurels with a .650 percentage.

Stephens and Williams, the latter a hairline loser .3429 to .3427 to Detroit's George Kell in the hitting race, each drove across 159 runs. The slugging percentage is derived by dividing total bases by times at bat. Williams had 368 total bases in 566 AB's and Stephens 329 AB's in 610 trips, good for a .539 slugging average and third place.

Di Maggio Runner-Up

Runner-up to Williams in slugging was New York's Joe Di Maggio, whose .596 mark was accomplished in 76 games after the Yankee clipper was benched half the season by a heel injury. Williams and Stephens were in 155 games.

Williams again was the batter most respected by American loop pitchers, coaxing 162 bases on balls. That was 13 more than Philadelphia's Eddie Joost collected for his second spot in this department.

Following Williams and Stephens in the RBI list were Vic Wertz of Detroit with 133; Boston's Bobby Doerr, 109; and Sam Chapman, Philadelphia, 108. Only five players topped 100 in this important branch.

Williams struck out only 48 times, while Dick Kokos of St. Louis whiffed the most, 91 times, once more than Cleveland's Larry Doby.

Another unwanted championship, hitting into the most double plays, was bestowed on Doerr, who grounded into 31 twin killings.

New major league records included 217 double plays by Philadelphia, and fewest errors for a season, 103, by Cleveland. The Indians also matched their own fielding percentage record of .983. Boston which set the former double plays record of 198 also bettered that feat with 207.

The American loop established major league records in most bases on balls for a season, 1,487, and fewest passed balls, 53.

GERMAN TO BE GIVEN 'TEST'

Doctor Claims Mother's Eyes Clue To Sex Of Unborn Child

By TOM AGOSTON
INS Staff Correspondent

WEISBADEN, Dec. 27. — A German physician who claims he can predict the sex of an unborn child by looking into the eyes of the expectant mother is going to get a chance to test his claims under the watch of U.S. Army doctors.

The German gynecologist is 63-year-old Wilhelm Witzel, a graduate of Heidelberg and Leipzig universities.

Invited For Visit

International News Service learned tonight that Witzel has been invited by Col. M. E. Griffin, commanding officer of the 97th General hospital in Frankfurt, to visit there in the next few days.

At the hospital he will be allowed to look into the eyes of "some 50 expectant American and allied mothers and go on record as to whether he can predict the sex of unborn babies."

Witzel said in an interview:

"If I had been able to look into the eyes of Rita Hayworth three months ago I could have predicted with reasonable certainty when the baby is due, whether it will be a boy or girl, or whether she would have twins."

American Film actress Rita Hayworth is in Lausanne, Switzerland, awaiting the birth of a child.

Experimented For Years

Witzel said "I have been experimenting in this field, of advanced diagnosis of the iris in the eyes, for ten years, but only realized last year that I am on the right track."

Witzel also claims that he can "influence the sex" of a child by administering homeopathic medicines in the early stages of cases, but acknowledged that fellow German physicians are not impressed with his claims.

American doctors, who declined use of their names, showed interest in Witzel's prediction claims since they said "there has been no unusual progress in this field in many years and we will not pass up an opportunity to further science."

In the forthcoming test Dr. Witzel will only be allowed to study the iris in the eyes of expectant mothers. He will be given no heredity data nor be permitted to make other usual gynecological examinations.

usual, and took a 22-minute walk over slippery ice-caked streets, without overshoes, as usual. One of the newsmen accompanying him fell down twice.

Rufus Burrus, Independence attorney and president of the Missouri Bar association, joined the President one block from his home and finished the walk with him, chatting about local matters.

The President then went to the presidential "penthouse" suite at the Muehlebach hotel in Kansas City and did a little routine work. It was one of the few work periods he has had since he came home for Christmas last Friday.

Soon callers started coming. Among them were Gov. Forrest Smith of Missouri, John H. Hendren, Democratic state chairman, and J. E. Taylor, Missouri attorney general.

Mayor Roger Sermon of Independence called and tried in vain to persuade the President to accept the appointment of honorary fire chief of his home town.

Other callers included Eddie Jacobson, the President's old-time partner in an ill-fated haberdashery venture, and Edgar Hinde, Independence postmaster.

The President lunched on chili in the hotel suite with a group of friends. The dish was prepared by Ernie Ahlfeldt, friend of the President and by common consent a chili maker without a superior. Ahlfeldt mixed six gallons. Fifteen persons put it down in no time.

Partakers of the delicious concoction included Vivian Truman, the President's brother, and Mary Jane Truman, his sister.

Mr. Truman's first task, when he reaches Washington, will be to complete the preparation of his opening messages to Congress. The first will be the "state of the union" message. Others will be the annual economic report and the budget message.

He said the sacrifice is worth while "to save our sons from the agony of fighting in Siberian snows or dying in the wreckage of devastated cities."

He said the Truman administration doesn't plan an atomic arms race "but that doesn't mean we will not add to our stockpile of bombs" or quit sending arms "to our friends all over the world."

Mexico Announces Discovery Of New Oil Field Near Border

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 27. (AP)—Discovery of a new oil and gas field 10 miles south of Reynosa, Mexico has been announced by Pemex, the government oil administration. Reynosa is on the Texas-Mexican border opposite McAllen, Texas.

A statement by Antonio J. Bermudez, Pemex director, gave these details: The well came in Christmas eve with "gas and good quality oil." It is in an area where fields have generally produced gas. The exploration well showed gas at 5,700 feet. Oil was found a few feet lower. The new field will be called "Monterrey" because it is the closest one yet to that industrial city in northern Mexico.

Gift Exchanges Begin

were the clothing and department stores. They reported that shirts led the list of exchanges, with sport coats in some stores coming in a close second. Outside of clothing, exchanges were comparatively few.

Estimates on the percentage of the day's customers that had come in primarily for exchanging gifts varied considerably. Sylvan Skibell, manager of the Hub Clothiers estimated that four-fifths of their customers had come in for that purpose, with most of that number changing shirt sizes.

High Percentage Cited

"Probably 90 percent of our customers today have come in to make exchanges," said George Walton of Walton's Store for Men. "Our first 15 customers this morning wanted to exchange gifts."

Spokesmen for two other stores gave lower estimates. The manager at Franklin's Ladies Apparel gave an estimate of 15 percent, while Hanna-Pope and company estimated as little as 10 percent.

The size dilemma was explained in part by Alvin Goldstucker, manager of the S and Q Clothiers, who said, "Every woman seems to get an exaggerated conception of men's clothing sizes, and if they don't know what they are, they invariably get them too large."

Husbands Ill At Ease

Robes, slips, and similar items were most numerous on the exchange lists at Franklin's. A spokesman said it was because husbands don't go in for buying dresses and such things, and they are uneasy when they buy intimate underthings. "So they settle on robes, which aren't considered unmentionables," he said.

House slippers, hosiery, lamp shades, dishes, infant's wear, and many other items showed up for exchange. Books, normally an item that cannot be brought back for exchange, showed up about a dozen times during the day at Hemphill-Wells bookstore, according to Mrs. Mildred Hill, manager.

"It is so easy for a person to read a book, and then bring it back for exchange," she said, "but if they will just come in early enough, we usually can accommodate them."

Rings Join Parade

Jewelers reported a brisk exchange business, but these also were regarding sizes, on rings especially. Type sizes on typewriters and different styles of gardening tools entered the list from the hardware stores and office supply companies.

But although there were a good many of these exchanges in other stores, the department stores took the brunt of the exchange crowd Tuesday, and are expecting to repeat again today.

Said one weary clerk at the Hub Clothiers, "They ought to invent a city directory that carries sizes on people's clothing as well as their occupations. That would help us settle the problem."

Winter Fooled

tered 55 at 12:30 p. m.

At Philadelphia's airport the mercury hit 64, two degrees higher than the 1881 record.

Today's record was New York's second in a week. The 62.2 recorded last Thursday was the highest ever for the date.

Rain and fog slowed shipping in New York harbor and caused cancellation of 84 flights at La Guardia field.

The rain in New York and New Jersey was the heaviest since last spring and started a number of dangerously low reservoirs rising for the first time in seven months.

Heavy Rain Falls

Sections of New Jersey got an inch and a half of rainfall in 24 hours.

Less rain fell in the New York watershed but officials said about four days' supply of water was added to the storage lakes in Westchester county and the Catskill mountains.

Edward J. Clark, chief engineer of the water department, said the city would have to continue its water-saving program indefinitely despite the break in the drought.

But he put off until the new year, at least, any further "water holidays" like the recent one in which New Yorkers were asked to go shaveless and bathless.

CONTINUED FAIR SKIES PREDICTED FOR AREA

Fair skies which brought rising daytime temperatures to Lubbock and vicinity Monday and Tuesday are scheduled to remain here today and Thursday, the Weatherman said last night.

Temperatures today are expected to rise as high as the upper 50's, showing an upward trend over Tuesday's maximum temperature of 50. And early-morning minimum temperatures today are expected to be in the low 20's, reflecting a slight rise over Tuesday morning's low of 18 degrees.

Temperatures are expected to be much the same on Thursday the U. S. Weather bureau station here said last night.

State Skies Cleared

Meanwhile, cool, dry air which moved into Texas cleared skies over most of the state Tuesday, according to an Associated Press dispatch last night.

A weak cold front dissipated. By midafternoon skies were fair over all the state except the southern coast and parts of East Texas. A light rain fell at Palacios.

Temperatures ranged from 48 at Salt Flat, and 50 at Amarillo to 64 at Brownsville, 68 at Alice, and 70 at San Antonio. Some fog clung on at Houston and Galveston.

The Dallas Weather bureau said the cool, dry air would tend to clear clouds on the coast and in East Texas within the next 24 hours.

Temperatures went below freezing early Tuesday in a dozen Panhandle and West Texas areas after the cold wave moved in. Early morning minimums included Salt Flat 17, Lubbock 18, Dalhart 21, Marfa 27, Midland 28, Wink 24, Clarendon 22, Childress 28, Ozona 26, Presidio 28, Big Spring 27, and Amarillo 21.

Heavy fog had disrupted Houston shipping and air traffic Monday night. But traffic at the airport was moving again by 8:30 a. m. Tuesday and resumed at noon on the Houston ship channel.

T-H Act Repeal Plans Rebuffed unchanged from the last.

The far westerner pointed out that the Senate has passed, 51 to 42, the bill by Sen. Taft (R-Ohio), which makes some modifications in the law bearing his name but is far from any semblance of the outright repeal sought by the administration.

Thomas said Senate conferees would be in the position of having to bargain on the basis of this bill in any attempt to reach agreement with the House on new legislation.

Earlier, the CIO, through its political action committee's weekly news letter, officially gave up on T-H repeal at the next session. PAC asserted:

"Repeal of the Taft-Hartley law is still the President's No. 1 labor objective, according to the White House, but there still aren't enough votes in the Capitol to carry it through at the coming session of Congress."

Dutch Rule Ends

to study strategy for preventing the spread of Communism from China southward.

An achievement of four and a half years of intermittent guerrilla warfare and tedious negotiation, freedom came in brief, colorful ceremonies held almost simultaneously in the marble civic hall on Dam square in Amsterdam and in the glistening white palace of Dutch governors in Batavia.

At 10:15 a. m. in Amsterdam (3:15 a. m. CST) Queen Juliana of the Netherlands soberly signed the deed relinquishing sovereignty over the greater part of her rich colonies. In five more documents she transferred sovereignty to the United States of Indonesia and became head of the new Netherlands-Indonesian union that was approved at the Hague round table conference No. 1.

In a short broadcast, Queen Juliana called the occasion "one of the most deeply moving events of the times, piercing, as it were, to the very roots of our existence."

"In the Netherlands this is viewed with solicitude," she said, referring to the strong minority which opposed the grant of independence.

But she added: "Immeasurable is the satisfaction of a nation that finds its liberty realized, however immense the burden shouldered by the young nation."

And she pledged Dutch asistance when asked, and declared, "both countries feel sufficiently strong and resilient to start afresh, East and West working to one end."

In Batavia, Sultan Hemangku Buwono made a conciliatory address on behalf of the Indonesians. He is deputy premier.

He said this day "incorporated the spirit of Christmas," a spirit which he prayed would bring "inward and outward peace for the Netherlands people, the Indonesian people and for other nations all over the world."

The Amsterdam ceremony was performed in the presence of seven Indonesians, including Dr. Mohamed Hatta, the premier.

The republic of Indonesia at Jogjakarta signed away its sovereignty and became one of the 16 states in the new federal republic.

President Soekarno, who headed the republic and who leads the new nation, will fly to Batavia tomorrow for a triumphant parade and speech.

His government was recognized formally today by India, Australia, Burma, Canada and South Africa. President Truman was reported ready to extend recognition.

Not included in the transfer of sovereignty was the Dutch half of New Guinea at the eastern end of the island chain. Its status is to be determined later.

Identification Cards For Reserve Officers Available

AUSTIN, Dec. 27. (Spl.)— Letters to 11,000 active Organized Reserve corps officers of Texas are now being mailed from Texas Military district headquarters to inform the officers that their identification cards are now available, Col. Oscar B. Abbott, chief of TMD, announced today.

As the forms used as inclosures with the letters are limited, letters are being sent only to active Reserve officers at present. When additional forms become available, 5,000 inactive and honorary ORC officers will be notified.

The letter itself is a certificate authorizing the Reserve officers to obtain the identification card. Two forms are attached to each letter. After these forms are completed, Reserve officers will be able to present the letter and the forms, either in person or by mail, to a designated Regular Army post to obtain the laminated identification card.

West Texas officers will be able to obtain their cards from Fort Bliss, El Paso.

Arizona's Miss America Wed In Simple Single Ring Rites

LITCHFIELD PARK, Ariz., Dec. 27 (AP) — Miss America of 1949, Jacque Mercer, and Douglas Cook, 20, were married in an informal, single-ring ceremony here today.

The wedding, in the non-denominational Community church, was performed at 5:30 p.m. (MST) with only members of the two families and a few personal friends present.

The Rev. James B. Ostergren, pastor of the church, conducted the service. Arthur Mercer, Arizona rancher and father of the beauty queen, gave his 18-year-old daughter in marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. Neil E. Cook of nearby Phoenix, parents of the groom, listened as the couple, sweethearts since high school days, recited their vows without a falter.

New Mexico Rancher Charged In Fatal Shooting Of Wife

SAN JOSE, Calif., Dec. 27 (AP)—Thomas P. Talle, heir to a New Mexico cattle ranching fortune, was formally accused of murder today for the shooting of his wife Margaret.

Talle, whose marriage according to the sheriff's office had been on the verge of divorce action only a few weeks ago, has been in the Santa Clara county jail since early Saturday — the morning Mrs. Talle, 29, was found slain. He has refused to talk.

Sheriff Howard F. Hornbuckle made another attempt today to question the prisoner, even asking him if he didn't want to deny the shooting. The 37-year-old Raton, N.M., rancher refused to comment.

State Health Program Aids In Fight Against Venereal Disease

AUSTIN, Dec. 27. (INS).—Eighty-seven thousand Texans have been helped along the road of recovery from venereal disease by a program instigated by the Texas State Health department in 1943.

Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, said that the "rapid treatment center" plan, born of wartime emergency, has been continued because of its excellent results.

"The treatment program for venereal disease patients is carried on through two hospitals known as rapid treatment centers located in San Antonio and in Overton," Dr. Cox said.

Treatment of indigent gonorrhea cases is handled through local health units, he added.

Dr. Cox said that the hospitals are also able to treat the less prevalent and little-known venereal diseases—granuloma inguinale, and lymphorgranuloma venereum.

Four Burglaries

as to how intruders gained access to the property.

Two persons, 18 and 21, of Shallowater were arrested and questioned briefly in connection with the drugstore burglary.

They probably will be able to establish their innocence, a city detective said. They were arrested at a tourist court, where one allegedly was associating with a prostitute and the other was slumped down in a car as though hiding, police reports said.

Woman Eludes Men

Police were asked to investigate the alleged activities of two men about 11:40 p. m. Monday at Twenty-eighth and Ave. N. A young husband said his wife eluded them after one had got out of a car and seized her, placing a hand over her mouth to muffle her screams. He sought to place her in the car, the wife told her husband. She had just got off a bus, it was explained.

Harrell T. Parks, proprietor of Harrell's drive-in at 1006 Ave. Q, reported theft of a coat from a car parked there Saturday. The coat was valued at $150.

Matador Car Looted

From the Sheriff's office at Matador came a report that car prowlers had looted a car there, taking property valued at $700. Included in the missing items, officers said, was a quantity of clothing, traveling bags, a .22 rifle and a movie camera.

S. A. Gibson of Lubbock route 5 told the sheriff's office he would like for the owner of a trailer that overturned about Nov. 26 in his field, spilling out cotton, to identify the trailer and take it and the cotton.

He has the property but doesn't know what to do with it, he said.

General description of the trailer was made by sheriff's deputies, under theory it may have been stolen: four-wheel trailer made out of a wagon running gear, painted red; green body; auto tires.

Lubbock Man Arrested

Earl Wager Tucker, 38, of Lubbock was arrested Tuesday after the court of criminal appeals had sent its mandate here announcing it had affirmed a county court judgment of $50 fine and 30 days in jail for drunk driving.

William Kenneth Blankenship, 40, of Altus, Okla., charged by indictment with robbery, was delivered here Tuesday afternoon from Vernon by Dep. Sheriff Gene Lewis.

He and Bernie Lee Rhoderick, 25, of the Trigg addition, were charged in connection with an alleged whisky hijacking in late November.

Tires, Wheels Taken

Two tires and wheels were reported taken off a trailer belonging to Louie Mote of Woodrow. P. M. Cade of Slaton reported cotton and two cotton forks stolen.

The following county court judgments were filed by Judge Walter Davies since Christmas Eve:

W. T. Baker, $250 and costs, liquor law violation; Truman Hutson, $5 and costs, check law violation; John H. McMahan, $75 and costs, drunk driving; Eldon Thomas Rawald, 21, $75 and costs, drunk driving; Rito Gonzales, carrying a pistol, $100 and costs; Peter B. Bennett, 21, $15 and costs, check law violation; Miguel Reyes, $75 and costs, drunk driving; Alberta Dillard, 39, a negro woman, and Roual Bryand, 38, were fined $100 and costs each for illegally carrying a pistol. Roger Homer Williams, 37, pleaded innocent of drunk driving. Bond of $400 was set.

AUSTIN, Dec. 27. (Spl.)— More than $4,500,00 was paid to Texas Organized Reservists during 1949 for various types of duties in which they are eligible to participate, Col. Oscar B. Abbott, chief of the Texas Military district, announced today.

Organized Reservists in the home armory training program, in which two-hour training periods are conducted weekly, received approximately $1,900,000.

Other large expenditures allocated to the state's Reservists included $818,290 for unit summer field training, which is expected to be doubled in 1950; $345,416 to Reservists attending various Army service schools for special training; and $317,90[illegible] those taking home station training.

The balance o[illegible] total was paid to Reservists who accepted tours of active duty with the various Army installations in the Southwest and participated in some of the special activities conducted during the year.

NEWS BRIEFS

A contribution of $1 from Jack B. Cox increased the total of the 1949 Goodfellow's Christmas fund for the needy children of Lubbock to $3,991.02 Tuesday.

Christmas holidays in Lubbock county rural schools will continue through this week. Classes will be resumed Monday, said Roy Boyd, county superintendent. All schools were dismissed for the holidays Dec. 21 except Frenship, where holidays opened at close of classes Dec. 22 and Idalou, where holidays opened at close of classes Dec. 23.

J. Lynn Swarts of Clovis, N. M., brother-in-law of Swain Rodgers of 3106 Twenty-seventh, was injured seriously in a three-car collision in front of his home Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Swain Rodgers and son were in Clovis to spend Christmas and are remaining there while Swart's condition is serious. Swartz suffered a fractured leg, four fractured ribs and a spinal injury, extent of which had not been determined at noon today.

County court judgments filed Tuesday: Jimmie D. Rawlston, 28, of Lubbock route 3, $75 and costs, drunk driving; Euselio Munchaca, 19, theft of four hub caps, $15 fine, costs and one day in county jail.

Former Lubbock Dep. Sheriff and Mrs. Cap Moore, of Abilene, were visiting friends here Tuesday and plan to remain "a day or two." They spent Christmas with their two sons in Plainview.

Texas Technological college was getting its face washed Tuesday—so far as floors and hallways were concerned. Members of the custodian staff are scrubbing floors in the main campus buildings to get them thoroughly cleaned before students begin pouring back into classrooms next Tuesday.

Condition of Willard A. Nelson, about 26, of 100-block Ave. X, was listed as "good" today by attendants at the Cowper clinic-hospital in Big Spring where he was taken for treatment of minor injuries following a highway mishap about 30 miles northwest of Big Spring on the Lamesa highway late Monday. Nelson reportedly ran his car into a concrete abutment about midnight Monday. A series of x-rays revealed that no bones had been broken.

Miss Helen Gossett, 21, of 1212 Ave. M, was reported in "fairly good" condition last night at Lubbock Memorial hospital where she is under treatment for head injuries suffered in a wreck about 12 miles west of Lubbock Sunday. Miss Gossett, a supervisor of the hospital's maternity department, was hurt when a car she was driving toward Lubbock on the Levelland highway was rammed in the rear by another vehicle.

same as that in New York. But in Texas we are learning to conserve our water. We have built dams to save it all over the state," he said.

Driving the truck are Douglas "Red" Tipton and Billy F. Davis, both of Houston, who have driven 600,000 and one million miles, respectively, without accident. Traveling in an advance car are John Babcock, development supervisor for the Lower Colorado River authority; Bob Swanson, local automobile agent supplying the car; and Charles Ogle, safety director of the Texas Motor Transportation association sponsoring the shipment.

They carried with them a letter from Austin's Mayor Taylor Glass attesting to the water's purity and a letter from Gov. Shivers asking "appropriate courtesies" for the party.

From the belt of each of the travelers hung a canteen filled with water.

"So they won't have to sponge off the 3,000 gallons in the tank," explained Wick Fowler, co-editor with Henry Fox of the Highland Lakes News and co-father with Fox of the "operation waterlift."

It is not believed here that release of Jacobson means that Vogeler, who was arrested Nov. 18, will soon follow Jacobson out of Hungary. The Hungarian government has announced that Vogeler signed a confession of espionage and sabotage. The Hungarian communique on Jacobson was much milder, saying only he was arrested on "suspicion of spying against the Hungarian state."

Mrs. Vogeler said early this morning she was delighted Jacobson had been released, but added "I do not expect to see my husband until there has been some form of trial for him in Budapest."

The Hungarian government outlawed emigration to Israel the first part of 1949 despite Israeli protests, and later imprisoned a group of Hungarian Zionist leaders on charges of helping Jews get out of this country illegally.

The AJDC was mentioned in the Budapest trials, but Jacobson himself was not involved.

Two members of the United States delegation to the United Nations voiced the implied assurance that the U. S. is ready to back an Indonesian application for UN membership. Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt said she hoped the Indonesians "may be a part of the family of nations as we work together for a peaceful world." She reminded the Indonesians in a message over the "voice" that freedom brings responsibility.

Ambassador Warren R. Austin said in another message he looks forward to the day when the U. S. Indonesia becomes a member of the UN.

Russia and the Soviet bloc states are expected to oppose the membership application. Soviet delegates denounced the Indonesian leaders as traitors during the recent UN General Assembly session when they reached an amicable settlement with the Dutch and agreed to enter a union with their former colonial overloads under the Netherlands crown.

SOVIETS PLAN TO BLOCK INDONESIA FROM UN

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 27 (INS)—UN sources close to the Russian delegation indicated today that the Soviets plan to block the admission of the U. S. of Indonesia to the United Nations by vetoing the expected application.

These sources said the Russian veto will be an act of retaliation against the crushing of Communist aspirations by police measures ordered by Indonesian republican leaders.

Soviet Delegate Jacob Malik already has expressed bitter resentment in the Security Council on that issue and has charged that the United States is master-minding the policies of the newly created government.

Red Agitators Aided

It was recalled that two years ago the Russian delegation at the UN used every opportunity to exploit the situation in the Dutch East Indies and openly sponsored Communist agitators.

When the Dutch invasion a year ago put an end to Communist-led bands and the Indonesian republican leaders disowned the agents imported from abroad—hanging the native ringleaders of subversive organizations—the Russians roared in anger at UN and denounced the UN commission for Indonesia as well as the Hague round table conference.

Earlier, Interior Minister Gen. Alexander Rankovic denied Cominform charges that anti-Tito bands are active in Yugoslavia, saying "all those armed clashes exist only in their imagination."

Rankovic denied Yugoslavia was a "police state," and said his political police "worked on humane principles" in contrast with the methods of police in the Cominform lands.

Kardelj said the Yugoslav-British agreement was one of "complete economic reciprocity."

The Russian-led Cominform nations who broke with Marshal Tito's Yugoslavia in mid-1948 have instituted an economic blockade.

Scientist Comes To Rescue Of Old Proverbs About Weather

NEW YORK, Dec. 27. (AP)—Old proverbs about the weather are usually likely to be true, if they deal with rainbows, clouds or other weather factors.

This was reported today by Dr. Vaden W. Miles of Wayne University, Detroit, to the American Association for the Advancement of science. He said a jury of three qualified teachers judged 333 different proverbs. Of 153 dealing with weather phenomena or changes, 56.9 percent were true according to scientific principles.

So you could probably use them with reasonable accuracy to predict the weather, he said.

But proverbs dealing with aches and pains, or with long-range seasonal forecasts, don't have scientific merit, Dr. Miles said.

DEMOS MAP PLANS FOR SLASH

GOP Solon Accused Of 'Playing Politics' In Tax Cut Demands

By ROSE McKEE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Senate Democrats today charged House Republican leader Martin, Mass., with "playing politics" in his call for swift repeal of excise taxes.

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala). said it appeared that Martin was "grabbing at something after it was all set up," and Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) accused Martin of "just making a political move" by "jumping at a sure thing."

Demos Map Plans

Meanwhile, top House Democrats came forward with tax plans of their own one week before the convening of the second session of the 81st Congress.

Rep. Dingell (D-Mich), a leading member of the revenue-raising House Ways and Means committee, declared that he will introduce legislation for a $1 billion boost in corporation taxes.

Rep. Forand (D-RI), another ways and means committeeman, indicated that he may call upon Congress to crack down on tax evaders and close some tax "loopholes" before it considers any measure to raise tax rates on corporations.

Tighter Laws Urged

Forand said he believes the budget could be balanced without new taxes if the government could collect its legally owed levies.

Dingell said repeal of the wartime excise levies would reduce government revenue by $2 billion. He estimated that half this amount would be made up by the stimulation which repeal would give business.

The midwesterner said, however, that an increase of up to four percent in the corporate normal income tax would be needed to offset the rest of the loss.

Tax Cut "Worked Out"

Sparkman, in criticizing Martin's move, said that he understood Democratic tax leaders and "I assume the White House" have "pretty well worked out a satisfactory manner to cut wartime excise taxes."

Martin invited conservative Democrats to join a GOP move to force action on excise tax repeal next month. Martin said a discharge petition would be signed to get the repeal bill out of committee.

He explained that this strategy would bring action on excise taxes not only quickly but in separate legislation. Martin charged that President Truman wanted to hook the repeal measure onto a general tax revision bill which would increase other levies. He announced opposition to a "one package" tax measure.

Sparkman said the "most logical way" for Congress to consider the tax issue would be in "one package" legislation. He added:

"I understand Sen. George and Rep. Doughton, the Democratic leadership, and, I assume, the White House have pretty well worked out a satisfactory manner to cut wartime excise taxes."

George and Doughton head the Senate and House committees which handle tax matters.

Sparkman said his own view is that excise taxes will be cut "far more than the $600 million mentioned by Martin."

HST Expected To Seek Office Again In 1952 Election

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 27 (INS) — Two Washington correspondents said today that President Truman, convinced of the vote-getting potential of his Fair Deal, will run for re-election in 1952.

The prediction was made by Joseph and Stewart Alsop in this week's Saturday Evening Post.

The Alsops said Mr. Truman is no longer the apprentice to President Roosevelt but has emerged to become "a magician in his own right." They added:

"Truman became wholly sure of himself and wholly bold about his future sometime last spring, when . . . he decided he had Congress where he wanted it."

An additional outlay of approximately $4,000 will be spent for other equipment during the winter months, Dr. J. J. Willingham, aehd of the dairy manufactures department, announced.

Welcome For Texans Planned By Fresno

A rousing welcome has been planned for the Red Raider football team and supporting Texas Tech alumni when they arrive in Fresno, Calif., Friday for the Raisin Bowl game Saturday, according to word received by the Ex-Students' association here.

Headquarters were set up in the Hotel Californian there Tuesday to intercept all Tech students and alumni upon their arrival to the city and several Double T functions have been planned. Registration will continue through Saturday morning.

According to a letter written by Ralph Barker, California chairman of the ex-student association, Fresno city administrators may continue the lighting of the famous Christmas Tree Lane through Friday so that visiting Texans may view the sight which has made the city famous.

Highlight of the pre-game Tech festivities will be a breakfast "for all Texans" in the Californian at 10 a. m. Saturday. The traditional Double T name cards will be available for former students of the college to wear to the Saturday afternoon game between the Raiders and San Jose State.

Dallas Police Decline Comment On Ambulance Ride For Woman

DALLAS, Dec. 27. (AP) —Officially the Dallas police department said "no comment" today about the woman who got a free ride to Parkland hospital.

Saturday night police were removing the injured from a wreck and noticed a bare-footed woman clad only in pajamas and a coat.

"Get in that ambulance," a policeman told her. She protested.

But he made her get in and they sped to the hospital. When attendants started checking, she patiently explained she had not been in any car, was not hurt, and merely had rushed out to watch.

At last report she was sitting barefooted on the concrete wall outside the emergency entrance of the hospital demanding to know who was going to take her home.

Negro Man Shot To Death While Resisting Arrest In Arkansas

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ark., Dec. 27. (AP)—A negro accused of killing a white woman taxi driver and wounding two peace officers was shot to death yesterday while resisting arrest.

Sheriff Cecil V. Goodwin said his deputies Gladstone Williams and C. M. Rieves were forced to shoot when the negro — Hinus Wilson, alias Eddie Hall—resisted them in a cafe.

Police had been searching for Wilson since Dec. 9 when Mrs. Joe McDaniel, 37, wife of the Luxora, Ark., town marshal, was shot to death. McDaniel and night Marshal Ralph Williamson were wounded.

Woman Treated For Shock In Explosion

An explosion and a resultant fire damaged the inside of the house and its attic at 4401 Ave. J, Tuesday at about noon and sent one woman to the hospital.

Mrs. Bob King, was taken to West Texas hospital suffering from shock as a result of the explosion, and was given a sedative there. Her attending physician said she suffered no other injuries, and probably would be released today.

King rubbed a match to light a kerosene heater, unaware that someone had left a butane gas tap open, city firemen said. Approximately $600 damages was occasioned by a resultant fire. Windows were blown out and a fire started in a closet. King suffered slight burns of the hands, firemen said.

The alarm was turned in at 11:37 a.m.

Twelve minutes earlier, a residence occupied by Sally Jones, a negro, at Twenty-sixth and Ave. B caught fire from a faulty flue. The inside of the house and the attic were damaged.

Three Feared Lost Off Texas Coast

GALVESTON, Dec. 27 (U.P) — Coast Guardsmen waited grimly today for the sea to give up the bodies of three hunters, missing since early Thursday when they started an ill-fated expedition.

Missing and presumed drowned in heavy seas kicked up by an unexpected norther were Albert S. Chimene, jr., 19-year-old high school student here; Clifford Muehe, 25, also of Galveston, and Elmer Dever, 32-year-old Texas City pipefitter.

The trio left the yacht basin early Thursday, telling a boat worker they would hunt ducks on Pelican Spit, a narrow fringe of land 15 miles out in the bay.

Their 14-foot aluminum boat, too light for duty in rough waters, was found on the spit Friday by U. S. Coast Guard searchers. There has been no trace of the men, and a search by the Coast Guard and planes from the Civil Air patrol was halted yesterday.

Young Chimene's father, however, refused to believe his son was not still alive. He said he would personally search foot-by-foot hundreds of isolated spots along the coast.

"I know too many isolated spots along that coast to give up hope that they reached land. I am going to keep up a search myself until I am sure," he said.

70-GROUP AIR ARM IS URGED

U. S. Security Claimed Menaced By Lack Of Strong Air Force

By LEON SHLOSS
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27. — America's warplane manufacturers warned today that failure to build a 70-group Air Force "is one of the vital issues" confronting United States security.

The warning was sounded by Adm. Dewitt C. Ramsey, spokesman for the aviation industry, and recalled White House pressure to hold the Air Force to 48 groups for "economy" reasons.

Funds Impounded

The last two sessions of Congress have voted for a larger Air Force. The last session approved a 58-group force but President Truman has impounded the $435,000,000 necessary to activate such a strength.

Ramsey, as president of Aircraft Industries association, reported that military plane production in 1949 was up about 10 percent and "probably" will be increased a like amount in 1950 He explained that the increases are in weight, due to emphasis on the very heavy B-36 bomber.

Production Increases

Production rose from 25,100,000 pounds in 1948 to 28,000,000 pounds in 1949, and may rise another 3,000,000 pounds next year, Ramsey said. Other developments reported were:

1. Transport plane production dropped from 260 in 1948 to 165 in 1949.

2. Personal plane production was down from 7,039 in 1948 to 3,400 in 1949.

3. Total industry sales in 1949 were $1,700,000,000, with aggregate net profits slightly higher than in 1948, However, contract renegotiations now in progress will reduce these profits so that several companies will show smaller incomes than in 1948 and one or two companies will sustain losses.

4. Difficulties caused by the 1948 expansion have been solved with new personnel trained and new manufacturing techniques functioning smoothly.

5. Employment rose from 213,000 in 1948 to 218,000 in 1949.

But despite his generally optimistic report, Ramsey warned that three key recommendations made by the President's Air Policy commission and the congressional air policy board have not been met.

Those recommnedations called for a 70-group Air Force, simplified plane procurement procedures, and "establishment of an adequate industrial base capable of effective expansion in the event of an emergency."

Ramsey called the 70-group Air Force recommendation the "most important" and added:

"The program approved by Congress has not been implemented, however, because of decisions by President Truman and the secretary of defense to place part of the funds 'in reserve.'"

Texas Lawmaker Hits 'Injustices'

By TEX EASLEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27. — Prompt consideration by Congress of changes in the cotton area quota law was urged today by Rep. Lucas (D-Tex).

"Something must be done at once to remove injustices of the present program," he told a reporter.

"I was aghast to learn of the kind of allotments received by scores of farmers throughout every county in my district.

"They were given no credit for lands they had planted to peanuts in line with the government's program to produce more edible oils. Yet they had been promised they would get credit for war crops when quotas were fixed for a cotton crop control program."

Lucas described the situation as "so serious with many farmers that they face financial ruin" unless Congress takes some action to change the program before planting time.

Texas' share of the national cotton acreage was based on 95 percent of the land actually planted in cotton in 1948 The law provides that allocation to counties must be based on the same method used in assigning an individual state's share of the total. Some state quotas reflected war crops grown in the 1945-1948 period.

Lucas said there are hundreds of farmers throughout central and western Texas counties who planted heavily in peanuts and grain sorghums during the past four or five years.

He said their plight is identical with that of growers in Texas gulf coastal bend counties, where much land formerly devoted to cotton had been planted in grain sorghums and flax in recent years.

Ten growers from the coastal bend section have filed a suit against Agriculture Secretary Charles Brannan, seeking credit for the war crops in computing cotton acreage quotas. The trial date has been set for Jan. 23.

Senator Warns Of Coal Crisis

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (INS)— Senate Republican leader Wherry, Neb., charged today that President Truman is inviting a "very serious industrial crisis" by not invoking the Taft-Hartley law to restore full coal production.

The Nebraskan denounced Mr. Truman's failure to use the law to return the mines to full production from the present three-day work week as "deplorable evidence of negligence."

Wherry declared that Mr. Truman's position that there is no national coal emergency "does not square" with information the senator has received. Wherry said:

Warns Of Crisis

"Unless the President acts, and acts forthrightly, there will be a very serious industrial crisis within a few weeks. By spring a lot of industrial cities will be without coal."

Wherry, unleashing his blast at the President just one week before the reopening of Congress, accused Mr. Truman of having "political reasons" for not using Taft-Hartley provisions which permit court action when a labor crisis threatens national health and safety.

The Nebraskan stressed that he was speaking as the "Republican senator from Nebraska," and not in his role as GOP floor leader.

Wherry, at the same time, assailed the bi-partisan foreign policy, earlier endorsed by Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich). Wherry said that the policy is "not satisfactory" because he contended international commitments are made before Senate approval is sought.

The senator suggested a "non-partisan" foreign policy which would result from "full debate" in the Senate, "with no preliminary commitments."

Wherry called for a slash in foreign aid funds, and insisted that the U. S. "encourage" the gradual return to private enterprise in European countries instead of American "gifts and grants."

The GOP leader called for a "cut" in federal spending so that the cost of government "stays within the income." Wherry added:

"People don't want deficit spending; they want this government to remain sound and stable."

Wherry said that businessmen "report that taxes have reached the saturation point" and "are becoming intolerable."

Christmas Wrappings Pose Problem

City Removes Tinsel, Glitter From Holidays

The bright and shiny wrappings are gone from under the Christmas tree today, but holiday tinsel and glitter—tons of it—will create a major problem for at least a week in the city garbage department.

Under the direction of Ed Branch, superintendent of the city garbage department, the entire force of some 40 men and 11 trucks will be working under greater than usual pressure to meet the heavy demands of the holiday season.

As each of the collection trucks makes its semi-weekly rounds to every alley in the city, it will be accompanied by two men who will walk 30 to 35 miles a day, lifting heavy containers. Each man will lift 12,000 pounds of refuse, much of it Christmas wrappings, for the final trip to the dumpgrounds, during his day's work.

Although the department normally works a seven-day schedule, the men quit at noon last Saturday for the holiday and no collections were made Sunday or Monday.

That brief respite, plus the fact that many housewives are discarding Christmas trees and such assorted items as rugs, linoleum, and other bulky items that were replaced by Christmas-gift new ones, aggravates the collection situation this week.

Facilities Above Average

Each of the packer-trucks and trailer-trucks used by the department will make four loads a day to the dumpgrounds, carrying 6,000 pounds per load, Mr. Branch said.

That means 264,000 pounds a day of refuse will go to the dumpgrounds this week.

Among the collections will be scores of Christmas trees, as a survey of alleys showed this morning. Many persons, however, will leave their trees up for a few days and the rush of Christmas-tree collections is not expected to start until about New Year's.

Despite the fact that Lubbock is one of the few Texas cities of its size that make no charge for garbage collection, the city's collection facilities are far above average, a survey reveals.

Abilene's trucks, for example, are taking three loads a day to the dumpgrounds, as compared with Lubbock's four per truck. A charge is made for collections.

Business Rush Factor

Amarillo and Albuquerque both of which make garbage collection charges, employ 20 to 21 trucks, respectively, to do so.

Some city officials attribute the huge strain in which the garbage department is being placed to the general prosperity and excellent business here.

"In the pre-Christmas rush of business, Lubbock stores were uncrating tremendous quantities of packed items," Branch explained, "so our Christmas rush started about the time the retail business rush did."

In some downtown sections, col-

Cotton Jams Texas Coastal Warehouses

GALVESTON, Dec. 27. (AP).— Cotton piled higher in Galveston and Houston warehouses today awaiting shipment.

A rail embargo has been imposed in Galveston on two warehouses already loaded to capacity. One Houston warehouse firm also has an embargo. A Houston cotton exchange official said the restrictions were voluntary.

Officials of the Cotton Concentration company in Galevtson said their warehouses are full and about 75 to 100 cars were waiting to be unloaded. The Bayside Warehouse company was full and had about 40 cars waiting.

G. Harrell Brown, secretary of the Galveston Cotton exchange, said it is hoped a break in shipping will occur within ten days.

The Houston exchange reported Friday night stocks at 530,007 bales, compared to 422,143 last year.

Houston exchange officials said the increase came from higher grades of cotton being received. This quality cotton, they said, is being stored longer than usual awaiting buyers. The Texas crop was a bumper.

Receipts from Central and Southwest Texas and the Rio Grande valley have been of considerable higher grade than sales contracts called for. Much of it had to be stored. This left less space for West Texas cotton coming in now.

Rush Continues At Post Office

Thousands of packages still stacked in the Lubbock postoffice were dwindling rapidly as Lubbock residents called for them and the end of the holiday Monday speeded up deliveries Tuesday.

After the last delivery was made Saturday, five train cars filled with packages for Lubbock residents arrived, said Postmaster Amos H. Howard.

Delivery Difficult

Those marked for special delivery were delivered immediately Delivery of the remainder was attempted Monday, but postal help found many persons to be away from home.

The canceling machine at the postoffice showed a total of 1,324,000 letters and Christmas cards had been cancelled in the 12 day period closing Sunday. That represented only a portion of the letter-size items going through Lubbock postoffice. Many cards and letters were canceled through the approximately 70 meter machines of Lubbock business firms.

It represented far less than half of the number of items handled through the postoffice during those 12 days, because it included none of the parcels, none of the incoming letters and cards and none of the outgoing mail that was not letter-size.

One Lubbock man has been scratching his head in puzzlement over the delivery of a Christmas card to his family from another city when the card bore nothing except the name, without either a street address or city listing.

Postmaster Howard figured out the most likely explanation, which was that the card was mailed from another city along with several letters addressed to Lubbock. The card was left, despite its lack of address, with the letters coming to Lubbock. Upon arrival here, a postal employe evidently looked up the street address and placed the card with other mail to the family.

MUD ACID TREATMENT APPLIED TO PAY ZONE

First Kent County Oil, Gas Producer From Canyon Reef Lime Completed On Testing As New Discovery

MIDLAND, Dec. 27. — Kent county's first oil and gas producer from the Canyon reef lime—Chapman & McFarland No. 1 Cogdell, has been completed for 11½ barrels of oil per hour, flowing from open hole at 6,800-39 feet.

Size of the choke used on the completion test, the gravity of the oil and the gas-oil ratio have not been officially reported.

The completion test was taken following the washing of the pay zone with 500 gallons of mud acid. After the load and residue from the acid had been swabbed out the well kicked off and flowed at the average rate of 11½ barrels of pipe line oil per hour for an extended period. No formation water was developed.

Operator ordered the well finished and put on production, using the latest flow of 11½ barrels of oil per hour flow as the potential test.

That was at the rate of 276 barrels per day.

Top of the Canyon reef was picked at 6,796 feet. This new discovery is eight miles north and east of the nearest completed oil wells from the Canyon on the northeast side of the North Snyder field in Central-North Scurry county.

It is 16 miles north of Snyder and 467 feet from south and west lines of section 716, block 97, H&TC survey.

CASING SET IN PROSPECTIVE DISCOVERY NEAR SNYDER

Gene Goff of Midland, and associates, have set a string of 5½-inch casing at 7,170 feet, 23 feet above bottom, at their No. 1 Joe Rylander, prospective discovery from the Strawn lime, in the northeast side of the Snyder townsite, in central Scurry county.

Operators will test the 23 feet of open hole and try to complete a commercial producer from that interval.

This venture, located 330 feet from north and 1,665.5 feet from east lines of section 124, block 3, H&GN survey, filled the drill pipe almost to the surface with pipe line oil during a two hour and 40 minute drillstem test at 7,171-93 feet, corrected.

There was a good blow of air at the surface at the start and gas came to the surface in five and one half minutes. The gas continued throughout the remainder of the test.

The gas volume was not gauged or estimated. When the tool was closed and the packer loosened, the drill pipe started unloading oil, and it continued to unload all the way out of the hole.

Final recovery was 30 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mud. There were no signs of formation water.

This development missed the Canyon lime pay which is the producing formation in the nearby North Snyder and Kelley fields.

An electric log survey showed a possible pay section at 7,042-62 feet. That zone was not drillstem tested while the hole was being made.

Interested operators think the No. 1 Rylander has a good chance of being completed as a producer and the opener of a new area for Strawn development.

The closest Strawn producer is

OUR AIR SERVICE

First Things First

THE Morning Avalanche is keenly appreciative of the value to this city and area of the three airlines—Braniff, Continental and Pioneer—which serve Lubbock. We have commended and supported them in various ways on many occasions.

The conflicts of the interests of the three lines have been amazingly few. But one involving Braniff and Pioneer exists now which is of much concern to the Lubbock area.

Both lines operate flights between Lubbock and the Fort Worth-Dallas district. The Braniff flights are direct. The Pioneer planes go in an indirect route and stop at several intermediate cities. Most persons flying direct between the two points naturally take Braniff planes.

Several weeks ago the Civil Aeronautics board ordered the Braniff service discontinued on the grounds it duplicated that of Pioneer. Braniff appealed. A hearing before a CAB examiner was followed by his recommendation recently that the service be continued. The decision now rests with the CAB, which may, or may not, do as recommended.

Pioneer understandably would like to have exclusive right to service between Lubbock and Fort Worth-Dallas. It urged the discontinuance of the present Braniff flights and is now opposing the approval of the CAB examiner's recommendation.

THE Morning Avalanche cannot go along with Pioneer in this matter. We feel that both services—the direct and the intermediate—are needed; are justified by traffic volume and should be continued. Our position is not based on any bias for, or prejudice against, Braniff or Pioneer. We appreciate and want them both. But the interests of Lubbock are paramount, in our book, to those of either line, or any line.

And we are convinced the interests of Lubbock demand direct air connections with the Fort Worth-Dallas district which Braniff now provides and which, if discontinued, would not be duplicated by Pioneer.

It is our earnest hope that the examiner's recommendation as to the continuation of the Braniff flights will be adopted by the CAB.

Furthermore, we do not believe the service would be greatly, if at all, injurious to Pioneer. Many persons traveling between Lubbock and Fort Worth and Dallas would travel in other ways—by train or car—rather than by planes which made several stops en route. We feel that Pioneer would have much to gain in terms of good will if its operators would withdraw their opposition to approval of the recommendation.

Only Solution

HARMON W. NICHOLS, veteran United Press reporter, violated one of the most sacred laws of his craft—that which calls for brevity—when he did a half-column the other day on the subject of, "What to Do With Leftover Turkey."

Instead of writing a half-column, all Mr. Nichols needed to say was, "Eat it, and like it!"

If there's anything better than a freshly roasted turkey it's leftover turkey late the same night in the kitchen, the next day at noon—or three days thereafter for light supper!

It takes all kinds of people to make up a world and, that being the case, there may be a few who don't like leftover turkey. But if there are such misguided souls, there aren't many of 'em and they don't amount to very much.

"What to Do With Leftover Turkey?"

Ask the guy who owns one! He'll tell you—with his mouth full!

I'm High Enough--

I Love My Doctor

By EVELYN BARKINS
Distributed By NEA, Inc.

(THE STORY: John and I eloped, after discouragement from my parents and despite the fact that John is an intern at a hospital and receives only $15 a month, plus board and room. But soon John will be a full-fledged doctor and have a large practice and I'll finish my law school education and have a career as an attorney-at-law. Right now we are spending our honeymoon in a modest little hotel and dreaming of the future.)

BUT being married, even thus privately married, felt funny: the intimacy, the close relationship, the understanding.

"Now who would ever guess," I told John one day as I watched him shave, "that a black-haired man like you could grow a yellow mustache!"

John swung his razor blade at me in mock alarm. "Don't you ever tell a soul," he threatened, but I could see a seriousness beneath his comic stance.

"Not a soul," I promised and never did until now.

He found out many things about me: that I never sew slip straps when they break but use safety pins; that I have to sleep with curlers in my hair unless I have a fresh permanent; and that I always go to bed with an apple.

In common with all other newlyweds, I suppose, we reviewed our personal history from first meeting onward. It seemed to us, as is the case with thousands of other couples (and it still does), one of God's major miracles that we met at all, and that out of all the teeming millions of people in the world we found each other.

"Do you remember," John asked, "how the first time we met, we danced, and I told you that I wasn't much of a dancer?"

"And you still aren't," I answered.

The record of our wondrous achievement never failed to astound us, only. After seven momentous meetings, we could no longer resist the tide.

"Remember my proposal?" John asked.

"Do I? That's one for the next generation," I laughed.

One evening, our seventh date, John had told me that he had had a dream that he and I were married.

Not wanting to appear overanxious, I had answered: "I'll bet you were glad when you woke up and found it wasn't real."

"Nope," John had said drawing me close, "It was a horrible disappointment."

From there on in, the path was straight ahead, and our eight months' period of engagement had been a sop to family argument, professional convenience, and general convention.

ALL in all, we lived our honeymoon days in a kind of complete, communal solitude, despite the many people we encountered and conversed with. Sometimes, I honestly feel that most newlyweds deserve absolute surcease of all relatives and friends for one whole private year. Much incipient mother-in-law trouble, too, if you ask me, is directly traceable to those early months when Mama is trying to make herself heard above daughter's thorough absorption in her new world, and seeming indifference to the old; although it should be obvious to anyone that there is usually such a visible haze about the chosen couple, that trying to make real live contact with them is harder than trying to get the Statue of Liberty to sing.

John and I were no different. Not that we punctuated every sentence with a kiss, or went around looking like Election Day's chief drunk on a super bender.

It was just that we were basically unaware of everything and everyone but ourselves, although having been well trained, we both went through the proper social motions. Winston Churchill could have been pitching for the Dodgers that season, and we wouldn't have heard or cared.

Everything was new and exciting and different and wonderful. After a lifetime of broadcloth pajamas and flannels, I was suddenly immersed in trousseau satin and lace. The trailing robes, the flimsy nightgowns all went to my head. I felt like the star of an amateur theatrical in hired clothes. Indeed, the very next day after we were married, I sat John down and tried on one item after another for our mutual admiration until his exaggerated responses assured me that he too was convinced.

Whenever we lolled and talked and laughed into the late early morning hours, I expected at any moment to hear my mother's voice calling from her bedroom, like a town crier in a medieval village: "It's 1 o'clock, dear. You better tell John to go home."

How solemnly we spoke, and how seriously we resolved. We would never become like so many other husbands and wives. Heaven forbid! Bored with each other, eating in silence, living in anger, arguing like mortal enemies! How shocked we would have been, and outraged, to be told that that too had been said before.

HOW we laughed at everything that happened. There was the time when John was looking for me in the lobby, and the elevator

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

WILL you do me a favor?

In view of ample evidence I have that most of my readers are my friends, please don't turn me down.

It is important—to me—and you need not be ashamed to admit it.

Furthermore, I promise to keep the information strictly confidential, so you don't have to be afraid of publicity.

Here is the favor I ask.

You read statistics, just as I do, I am sure.

You, like myself, have seen many, many percentage figures.

Only a few days ago I read somewhere that the average family has 3.5 children.

BRANDEIS

I have made dozens of inquiries. I have knocked at many doors.

But I have never found that half child behind the decimal point which is supposed to be in the average family.

So if you are the one, won't you please come forward and let me know? If possible send along a snapshot.

I have seen Siamese twins. I have seen two-headed calves and even five-legged pigs.

But I have never in my life seen that extra half child of which every average American family has one—according to statistics.

You may be too shy to make yourself known.

Very well then. I am looking for another statistical species. Possibly you are it.

According to the latest government figures, there are 100.7 men to every 100 females in this country.

I want to meet that 7/10th man.

A 7/10 man is not as good as a 10/10th man, of course.

But there are thousands of girls who would rather have a 7/10th man than no man at all.

And, if there is an extra 7/10th man available for every 100 women, just imagine how many women can be made happy if those partial men are properly distributed among them.

I am also quite sure that a lot of wives would gladly exchange their present husbands for something even a bit less manly than 7/10th.

THERE is, of course, another possibility.

It could be that I don't know how to interpret my statistics properly.

It could be that our statisticians and red-tapists in Washington purposely blow a lot of commas and decimal points into our eyes to blind us to the real truth.

If anybody tells us that it costs the government ten dollars in clercial expense to order five dollars' worth of pencils, that is something we all understand.

If they were Republican pencils it might be all right. But such inefficiency in the purchase of Democratic pencils may be bad for the next election. So they talk about billions and percentages. Nobody understands it, but it look impressive.

But, at any rate, if you are that five-tenths child or that seven-tenths man, please get in touch with me.

Labor Attacks 'Ike'

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Organized labor has revealed its political strategy for 1950 and 1952 by sponsoring a "smear" of the Republican Party's two most potential presidential candidates—General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower and Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

The fact that they also seem to be the most powerful G.O.P.-ers on the horizon gives special importance to this opening blast by the Administration's allies for two decades.

TUCKER

Another significant sidelight to the barrage is that the Senator from Ohio and the World War II commander appear to be the opposition's only two outstanding figures for the 1952 elections. If they can be discredited, the Republicans will have to fall back on such supposedly weak men as Harold E. Stassen, Governor Earl Warren of California or even Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

EARLY: The outburst against General Eisenhower, coming almost three years before the 1952 convention and election, serves to substantiate his well-wishers' fear that he entered the oratorical and political arena far too early, especially if he has any political ambitions. Despite his disclaimers, it is believed that he has.

Although it is necessary for the president of Columbia university to keep his name in the news, his political promoters think that he should have confined his public addresses to more non-controversial subjects than the "welfare state."

As Wendell Wilkie did in 1940, he should have limited his talks to such questions as national defense and foreign affairs.

The unfortunate feature of that theory, however, is that Eisenhower is in general agreement with the Truman Administration's policy on those issues. He could not remain alive, politically, if he did not start a controversy on domestic, bread-and-butter problems.

TIRADES: The anti-Eisenhower, anti-Taft tirades have been unveiled first in the latest issue of the League Reporter, which is the weekly publication of Labor's League for Political Education, an A F of L organization.

The League Reporter apportions about half of the issue to demeaning General Eisenhower, and another half to assailing Senator Taft. They are bracketed as "two of a kind."

The officers of Labor's League happen to be three of President Truman's political friends and aides. They are William Green, president of the A F of L, George Meany, secretary-treasurer, and Joseph D. Keenan, director of the political annex. They confer regularly with White House ballot-box aides, and with Administration supporters on Capitol Hill.

ABUSE: Right behind Labor League's attack on Eisenhower stands the Americans for Democratic Action, which is masterminded by New Dealers, Fair Dealers, members of the Roosevelt family and the liberal elements of the Administration. Chairman is Senator Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, a White House confidant.

Thus, despite presidential professions of friendship for the General, the movement to tear him down originates in sources and circles extremely close to the White House and the Democratic National Committee's headquarters at Washington.

So, whether he is or is not a candidate for the presidency, the erstwhile head of SHAEF can look forward to almost three years of political abuse.

PAY: The lead editorial in the League Reporter is entitled "Eisenhower's Security," and here are a few excerpts:

"As a General of the Army, Dwight D. Eisenhower receives retirement pay of $18,761 a year. It's his for the remainder of his life.

Eisenhower's base pay is $11,457 a year, his rental allowance is $1,800 and his subsistence allowance is $504. On top of all this, he gets a personal money allowance of $5,000. (He also has the government-paid services of a major, who serves as his aide, and an enlisted orderly).

The editorial then notes that, according to a Congressional committee's report, 10,000,000 families earned less than $2,000 last year, "or quite a bit less than the rental and subsistence allowances granted to Eisenhower."

SECURITY: "The General," the article continues, "has been on the government pay-roll for almost forty years. He never had to worry about losing his job or paying for the necessities of life. He never had to worry about his medical or dental bills, or about those for his family. The government took care of them.

"And right now, General Eisenhower gets free medical, dental and hospital care. Furthermore, he can take advantage of the cheaper, tax-free prices of goods sold at Army commissaries.

"It seems, then, exceptionally poor grace for Eisenhower to criticize the great number of Americans who also want security—if only just a small portion of the security which he himself is guaranteed by the federal government.

"General Eisenhower's professed concern for the men who carried the rifles and faced the mortar shell barrages for him in Europe should cause him to cut out that sort of talk."

Some say they want only the necessities of life, such as an automobile and all of the electrical equipment for the home.

Americanism: The government trying to get people to make business investments and then using a big stick on business.

TEXTILE WORKERS' CASE CITED

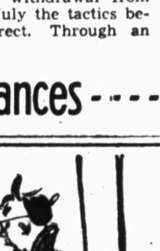

No Labor Monopoly In South

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—There is much talk these days about "big labor" and "the labor monopoly."

This refers to giant unions embracing, in some cases, hundreds of thousands of workers in basic industries—coal, steel, automobiles and the like—which were organized on an industry-wide scale to meet the corporate power of giant industry with which they had to deal.

But there is one part of the country where they haven't seen much of "labor monopoly." That is the south where the "monopoly" power seems still to be on the other side. Trade unionism is in the pioneer era yet in some respects and encounter old tricks abandoned long ago elsewhere.

STOKES

Example Is Given

There is, for example, the illuminating case history of two textile mills in northern Alabama, at Albertsville and Guntersville in the heart of the TVA area, formerly the Saratoga-Victory mills which employed 750 persons. The workers there were organized into unions of the Textile Workers Union of America and contracts went into effect July 1, 1946.

The mills were operating subsidiaries of M. Lowenstein and Sons, Inc., which owned other mills in North and South Carolina and one more recently acquired in New Orleans, in all of which the TWUA had contracts covering the workers.

This spring the two Alabama plants were closed down by the company with the announcement that they could not, be operated profitably, and immediately things began to happen.

THE supervisory force left at the plants, under direction of W. H. MaGaha, formerly superintendent of the Aloertsville plant who became superintendent of both when they were closed, began a campaign to break up the union, upon which later developments throw some light.

The first tactics were to circulate printed cards to the workers authorizing withdrawal from the union. In July the tactics became more direct. Through an employee of the Albertsville plant the superintendent had the word passed around among former workers there that there was a prospective buyer for the mill who operated nine other non-union plants. The deal would not go through, the workers were informed, if there was a union at the plant, and it was suggested that union members go to the superintendent's office and indicate whether they would work without a union.

Since the plant had been closed three months by that time, this was persuasive with a number of workers who needed jobs.

At Guntersville, Mr. McGaha told a committee of former employees at that plant that it would begin operations if the workers would sign a petition saying they would not join a union, and such a petition was circulated which said, as published in the local newspaper:

Notice Is Published

"To any prospective buyer of the Gunterville Saratoga-Victory Mill, Inc.:

"We, the undersigned, do hereby pledge ourselves to work in the said mill as a non-union worker and to continue as such taking no active part as a union employee as long as the wages and working conditions are just, fair and satisfactory."

The plot unfolded neatly in early October when sale of the plants was announced to the J. R. Abney interests of Anderson, S. C., which operate several mills in the Greensville area, none of which have unions. The mills were reopened October 17. In its rehiring, the company avoided workers formerly active in the union and hired some persons who had not worked in cotton mills for years and had never worked at either of the two plants.

THE union notified the company October 20 that it was the collective bargaining agent for the workers, protested the rehiring policies and asked for a conference. It got no reply until early this month in a letter which, in effect challenged the union's right to representation. The union has filed charges with the NLRB claiming violation of the National Labor Relations Act, listing 400 workers who have been denied employment. It will take a long time for this to go through the procedures and possibly the courts.

The "labor monopoly" does not seem to work in the south. It is still not so simple as the propaganda makes out.

Diet Of Low Income Families In U. S. Improved, Scientist Claims

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 27. Low income Americans are improving their diets, but they still eat less good food than their fellow citizens.

This report was made to the American Association for the Advancement of science today by Dr. Hazel K. Stiebeling.

More than 2,000 scientific reports—the largest number on research ever made at such a gathering—are to be made during the six-day meeting, now in its second day.

Approximately 10,000 scientists are attending.

Dr. Stiebeling, chief of the Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home economics of the Agriculture department's research administration, said families with incomes of $7,500 or more a year eat about two-thirds more milk and meat than $2,000-income families.

Those with the higher incomes, she said, eat more than twice as much fruit as those with low incomes.

Nevertheless, she said, the low income Americans have been making significant gains in diet quality. To do this they are spending two-and-a-half times more now on what they eat than at the beginning of the war.

A revolution is going on in food agriculture, said Dr. E. C. Stakman, University of Minnesota, president of the American Association for the Advancement of science.

This revolution, he said, produces better crops and better food plants and animals at less labor and expense. Today a farmer works less than half as long as 50 years ago to produce 100 bushels of wheat.

Rust diseases that once destroyed U. S. wheat at the rate of 300 million bushels a year now do little serious harm. Farm machinery in the last war freed enough land previously used for feeding farm work animals, to feed 16 million cattle.

WEDDING GOES THROUGH

GOLDEN, Col. (U.P.)—Harold J. Mikola promised his fiancee, Marion Dawicki, that they would be married soon. He went ahead with his plans, even though the ceremony had to be performed in the Golden jail. Mikola had been picked up on a bad check charge.

French Government Faces Budget Crisis

PARIS, Dec. 27 (AP) — Premier Georges Bidault's battle of the budget moved tonight toward a vote of confidence — the second within a week—which would determine whether his two-months-old government stays in office. Bidault was expected to ask for the vote and if he loses France would be on the way to a general election.

The constitution calls for a 24-hour cooling off period after a vote of confidence is asked before the vote is actually taken, however.

Bidault wants to spend a record-breaking 2,257,000,000,000 francs ($6,440,000,000) in 1950, but both right-wingers and Communists oppose the 1,523,000,000 ($435,000,000) in new taxes necessary to make the budget balance.

In a test early Saturday the Assembly voted 303 to 297—a margin of six votes—to take up the budget. Now, with expenditures being examined item by item, Bidault faced a stiffer test. It will be up to him to decide on just which item he will risk his cabinet's fate.

The constitution provides that under the present procedure if two governments lose confidence votes within 18 months a new election can be called without asking the approval of the assembly.

Because of the reluctance of many members of the assembly to risk a new election, all governments that have fallen in the Fourth republic so far have chosen to resign when they saw they could not win a confidence vote.

Author Of Best Sellers Charged With Striking French Policeman

PARIS, Dec. 27. (AP) — Arthur Koestler, author of "Darkness at Noon" and other best sellers, has been charged with striking a French policeman, police at suburban Charenton announced today.

The police commissioner's office told reporters Koestler was brought to the station early Saturday morning. An anonymous telephone caller had reported a man lying on the quai next to a parked automobile along the Seine river at Alfortville.

The man identified as Koestler was brought to the station in a police bus. Police said he had refused to pay the fee for towing his car to the station house.

When a policeman gave him a cigaret and then offered his lighter, according to the official account, Koestler said "all this is your fault," and punched him in the eye.

An assistant prosecutor charged him with "battery and violence on the person of an officer of the police in the exercise of his duties." The offense may bring as much as a year in jail.

Koestler was released late in the afternoon. In the evening, police said, he returned and offered his apologies to the policeman.

Air Force Drops Probe Of Flying Saucers, Denies Space Ship Idea

By DARRELL GARWOOD
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 — The Air Force today dropped its probe of "flying saucers" and said they result from misinterpreted "conventional objects, a mild form of mass hysteria and hoaxes."

A formal statement denied that the "saucers" could be space ships or "any other unnatural phenomena."

The statement was issued following a claim in "True" magazine that the saucers were in reality space ships from other planets.

'Project Saucers' Stopped

The Air Force said that it is discontinuing its "project saucers" which has investigated 375 saucer reports in the last two years. The statement said:

"All evidence and analysis indicate that the reports of unidentified flying objects are the result of (1) Misinterpretation of various conventional objects, (2) A mild form of mass hysteria and (3) Hoaxes.

"Continuance of the project is unwarranted since additional incidents now are simply confirming findings already reached."

Objects which have been misinterpreted as flying saucers include weather balloons, guided missile testing devices, flares and meteors and other astronomical manifestations.

Long Study Released

"Project saucer" was established in January, 1948 at the Air Force's air material command in Dayton, Ohio.

Last April, it issued a lengthy analysis in which the reports of saucers were taken up in detail and explained as far as possible.

The report dealt somewhat lightly with various claims, referring to them as a "celestial chain reaction" and as a "sky potpourri."

An Air Force spokesman said that because of this, and because not all of the reports were completely explained, the analysis in some cases has been misinterpreted as giving support to fantastic claims for saucers.

Unusual Evidence Lacking

The statement today sought to clear up the misunderstanding by stating flatly that "there is no evidence that the reports are not the result of natural phenomena."

The Air Force's lenghy analysis said that "commonplace answers" had been found for the saucer reports and were drawn from factors such as:

"Guided missile research activity, weather balloons, astronomical phenomena, flights of migratory birds, shots from flare guns, practical jokers, victims of optical illusion and the phenomena of mass hallucination."

Kent County Oil

Sunray Oil corporation No. 1 Sentell, on the southeast side of the North Snyder field, and approximately five miles north and one mile east of the Goff and others No. 1 Rylander.

Some corelations made the Goff well at least 125 feet high to the Sunray discovery from the Strawn. That project also was a failure in the Canyon.

APPLICATION FILED FOR NEW SCURRY WILDCAT

Warren Oil corporation has filed application to drill a wildcat in the extreme southwest corner of Scurry county. Operators hope to tap the Canyon Reef with a 7,200 foot depth. The new location will be 1½ miles west of the Sharon Ridge-Canyon field west-side producers.

Warren No. 1 J. M. Reynolds is to be 660 feet from the east and south lines of the northeast quarter of section 101, block 25, H&TC survey, 2¼ miles west of Knapp.

This site is two miles northeast of Amerada Petroleum corporation No. 1 Von Roeder, a recently completed Canyon lime discovery in the southeast corner of Borden county.

Pentex Oil corporation and Milner Oil company have staked two new locations in the Kelley-Canyon field, five miles northwest of Snyder, in Scurry county. Operators hope to tap again the Canyon reef with a planned 7,000 foot depth for both operations.

Pentex & Milner No. 1 Mackey is to be 467 feet from south and east lines of the southeast quarter of section 293, block 97, H&TC survey. Rotary tools will be used.

Pentex & Milner No. 2 Mackey will be 467 feet from north and west lines of unit B in the southeast quarter of section 293, block 97, H&TC survey. Rotary tools will also be used in this operation.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 27 (AP)—Quiet trading took place in cotton futures today as the market turned irregular. Nearby March and May contracts advanced a few points on trade price fixing which in part was against export sales or for mill account. Commission houses sold deferred contracts, presumably evening-up for over the year-end.

The ECA announced a grant of $1,400,000 to Greece to buy United States cotton. This would involve about 8,750 bales.

Futures closed unchanged to 20 cents higher than the previous close.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 27 (AP)—The holiday feeling continued in cotton futures here today and prices moved over a narrow range. Closing quotations were five cents to 30-cents a bale higher.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 27. (AP)—The average price of middling 15/16ths-inch cotton today at 10 designated southern spot markets was 20 cents a bale higher at 30.63 cents a pound; average for the past 30 market days 29.93; middling ⅞ths-inch average 29.14.

Grain

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Dec. 27 (AP) — Wheat No. 1 hard 2.36-41.

Oats No. 2 white 92¾-94¾.

Corn No. 2 white 1.62-64.

Sorghums No. 2 yellow milo per 100 lbs. 2.35-40.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Dec. 27 (AP) — Gains worked lower in light trading at today's board of trade session. Many pit traders took to the sidelines early in the day, and at times trading was at a complete standstill.

Corn held around last Friday's close during the early part of the session, but reacted to the weakness of wheat. March wheat was influenced by reports of rain in the southwest.

At the finish wheat was 1⅜ to 1⅝ lower than Friday's close, March $2.16⅞-17. Corn was ⅞ to 1¼ lower, March $1.31-31⅛. Oats were 1⅛ to 1¼ lower, March 72¼. Rye was 1¼ to 2½ lower, May $1.41½. Soybeans were 1 to 2¼ cents lower, March $2.29¼-28¾. And lard was 5 to 15 cents a hundredweight lower, January $10.37.

STOCKS TAKE SLOW DECLINE

NEW YORK, Dec. 27. (AP)—A late slow decline took shape in stock trading today in the broadest market of the year.

Late in the session the tempo of selling quickened and final prices in most cases were at the bottom for the day.

Activity stepped up as prices curved downward. The late flurry helped to lift turnover to 1,560,000 shares from 1,470,000 Friday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped .2 of one point to 71. The utility group showed the largest decline, with smaller losses registered for the industrials and rails.

A total of 1,206 individual issues changed hands, the largest in the history of the exchange. The previous high of 1,191 issues was established on Dec. 14. Declines were posted for 678 issues while 291 advanced. There are 1,457 issues listed.

Pennsylvania R. R. took top honors in the most active list, rising ⅛ to 16¼. Nickel Plate and Santa Fe also improved but declines were posted for Southern Railway at 33¼, Chesapeake and Ohio 28, Union Pacific 81¾, and Southern Pacific 49⅝.

Pepsi-Cola, second most active issue, skirted its 1949 low with a loss of ½ at 8⅝.

Anderson-Prichard Oil, also heavily traded, showed pronounced weakness, losing 2⅜ at 23⅝.

Smaller losses were noted for Paramount Pictures, Du Pont, Greyhound, Canadian Pacific, International Paper (new), Radio Corp., Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, Douglas Aircraft, Zenith, American Telephone, United Gas Corp., Consolidated Natural Gas, Dow Chemical, Westinghouse Electric, Philip Morris, Standard Oil (NJ), Texas Co., and U. S. Gypsum.

Higher were U. S. Rubber, Sears Roebuck, Dome Mines, Barnsdall Oil, United Air Lines, Transcontinental and Western Air, and Johns-Manville.

Lower in the curb were Humble Oil (off 4¼ at 83½), Kaiser-Frazer, Niles-Bement-Pond, United Light, and Creole Petroleum.

Clinchfield Coal jumped nearly 3 points to 28 and smaller gains were noted in American Mfg., Barium Steel, Mesabi Iron, and Lefcourt Realty. Sales of 350,000 shares with 320,000 Friday.

Corporate bonds moved narrowly. U. S. governments were mostly unchanged in over-the-counter dealings.

lection trucks have been able to cover only a block or a block and a half before emptying a full load at the dump grounds.

Dump Trip Short

A total of 36 men are working at collecting, with two more men sweeping and cleaning downtown streets and alleys and two at the dump grounds taking care of the sanitary fill process by which garbage is levelled into ditches or the canyon and bulldozed into more sanitary and sightly form.

"We're fortunate that our trip to the dumpgrounds is a short one,' Branch commented.

The department will hardly recover from the post-Christmas pressure until the spring rush starts. Then, when Lubbock householders prune trees and begin to mow grass, the refuse will once more constitute a major and continuing problem.

Hobbs, Carlsbad Asked To Check On Phone Rate Hikes

SANTA FE, N. M., Dec. 27. (INS) — State corporation commission Chairman Dan Sedillo today invited Hobbs and Carlsbad chambers of commerce to check opinion on proposed telephone rate increases in the two communities.

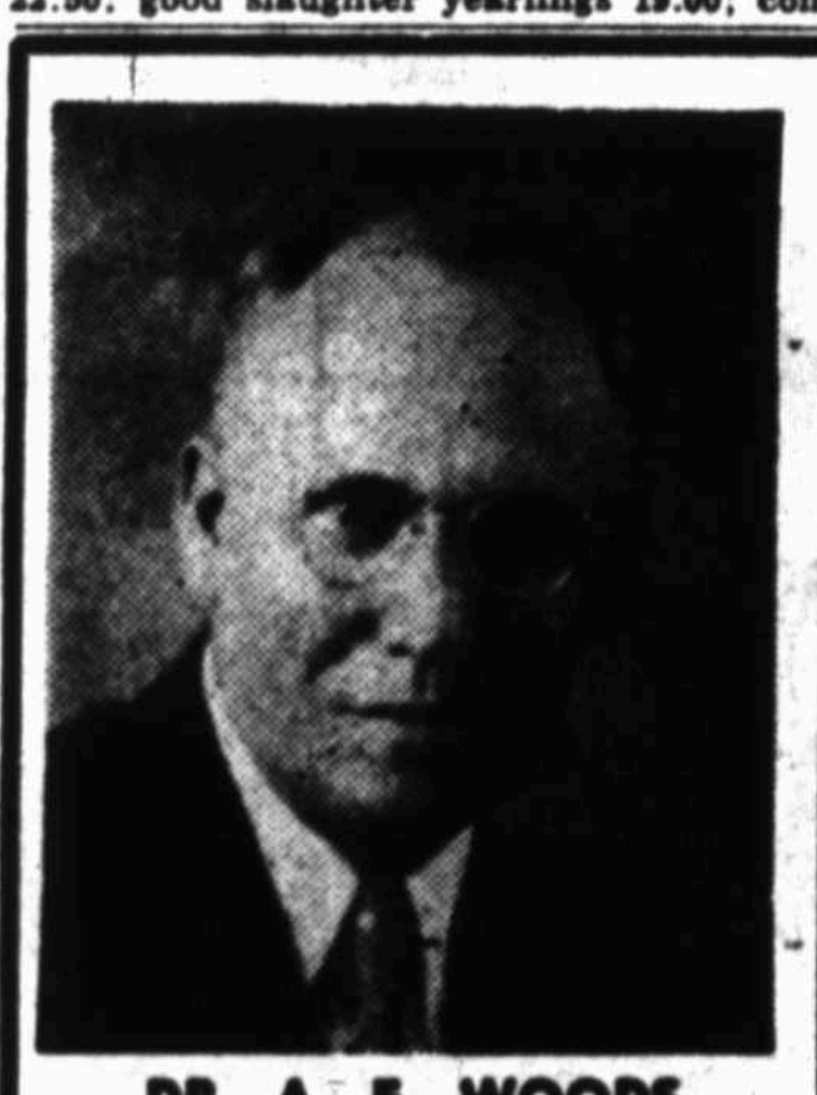

The Southwestern Associated Electric Co. wants to boost rates in anticipation of installation of dial phones. But Sedillo said he wants local opinion checked first to see whether residents are willing to pay higher rates for the dial phones.

Cotton Picker Sentenced To Gas Chamber For Slaying Of Child

FRESNO. Dec. 27. (AP) — Paul Gutierrez stood unmoving and with down-cast eyes today as Superior Judge Arthur C. Shepard sentenced him to die in the gas chamber for the sex-slaying of a 17-month-old baby.

Judge Shepard found the 25-year-old cotton picker guilty of first degree murder last Wednesday in the non-jury trial Guiterrez had requested.

Guiterrez was charged with the slaying of tiny Josephine Yanez last Nov. 20.

Explanation Of New Gravitation Theory Fails To Clarify Issue

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Dec. 27. — Our shop shrewdly assigned a fellow named Einstein (Charley) to cover the story of the new theory about gravitation revealed by Einstein (Albert).

There was a ghastly silence from our Einstein for a long time —during which he is reported to have been trying to buy a $2 gun with which to destroy himself. But then the phone rang and it was our Einstein, asking for a rewrite man.

He shouted some incomprehensibile polysyllables into the bloke's ear and hung up, sobbing. Hasn't been heard from since, and may be remembered with Steve Brodie as an authority on gravitation.

New Rule Adopted

Now, we've got a new rule around our shop which says that stories must be written so that even reporters can understand them. So, I have volunteered to explain Prof. Einstein's new theory. It's really quite simple.

First, you check with the source. (Source wouldn't come to the phone.) So, with that much attended to, you take one of the prof's shop-worn theories, E equals MC square, see, and divide it 13 times by 3.1416. Toss in the size of your hat, peer over your left shoulder at the new moon, toss a bowling ball in the air, close your eyes, and when it conks you on the conk—that's gravitation.

Reference Work Helps

Of course it helps out the explanation—and classes up the story—to refer to the Encyclopedia Britannica. Encyc comes right to the point:

"The classical formulation of the well-known Newtonian theory, expressed by the inverse square law of attraction, and due mainly ot Laplace and Poisson, may be briefly sketched as follows. There is a scalar gravitational potential which obeys Poisson's equation."

How does that bum Poisson get 'em to do it? My kids never obey me. The rod? Me, I'm afraid they'll snatch it from me and beat their old winner of bread silly. Sillier.

More Advance Given

But to go on with the lesson, always remember this, the encyc warns, when you're toying with the whole subject of gravitation:

"For a particle moving in any way whatever, the equations of motion in S1 are FX equals M and D2X1 over DT 1, 2."

Speaking of the DT's, I suppose you know the one about the Third avenue bartender who looked up early one morning and saw a whole, horrible menagerie of dragons and pink elephants tromping in. So this fellow whose name was Costello, he leans over the bar, see and says, "sorry, fellows, he ain't come in yet."

Einstein (theirs) has been dabbling in gravitation since 1905 and is said to have come to the conclusion that when something is dropped it falls. With searching clarity the encyc says in this connection:

"One must send a signal from the observer anchored to one reference system to the observer anchored to another.

"Since the only kind of signal which can be sent in general between two reference systems in motion with respect to each other is a light signal, and because the speed of propagation of light in space is finite, Einstein (the prof) showed that, as a consequence, time depends on the co-ordinate system. Hence: The time of an event is one of its co-ordinates, and depends on the reference system."

Must put in a reference system myself, come 1950. Can't find any of my notes any more. And when I do I can't read them.

One thing disturbs me about gravitation. It's that all-embracing sum-up sentence the encyc uses for a curtain line. It goes, "It is certain that the advent of the modern gravimeter has relagated the eotovos balance to its logical function, the measurement of very local perturbations in the gravitational field."

Personally, I preferred the eotovos balance, and admired its inherent extrovertism, which kept it from its logical functions. There won't be as much fun around these parts as before. You know how stuffy those reformed playboys become. Did you ever have one of them put the ray on you, when you were out of town? Makes you feel undressed in public.

Anyway, now you know about Prof. Einstein's new theory. Will be happy to answer all further questions, if letters are accompanied by a token donation—say a double sawbuck—to defray the cost of handling.

And, incidentally, if you run into our Einstein—tell him don't come back. We're going to hire the other one.

Funeral services for Robert S. Jordan, 80, of 2120 Eighth, who died at his home Tuesday, will be held at 2 p.m., today, in McLean, where the body was taken for burial.

Jordan had been in ill health for about three years. Rix Funeral home transferred the body overland to McLean.

I Love My Doctor

man said: "Want your wife, sir?" and John, taken by surprise forgot and gulped: "My—what?"

And yet, in another way, we felt as if we had always been married. It was thrilling to belong like this together, to do things together, and to always go everywhere together.

"I feel as if it's been this way forever," I told John one night.

"It is and so do I," he answered with a mouthful of toothpaste and water.

"And talk of being tied down," I scoffed. "Why, people are crazy! I'm freer than a hobo on a train." And I was.

To this day, I am always puzzled by the proverbial ball and chain talk. For me, marriage has always seemed the ultimate in liberty, like a convict in his first walk out of Alcatraz. Not that home life had been imprisonment by any means, but, on the other hand, neither had it been like this. No more "Hang your clothes up at night" talk. No more: "Be home at 12 dear, or what will the neighbors think?"

The latitude was great. If John ever even noticed my best dress in a heap on the chair, I'm sure he never cared. If we decided to come home at 3 a.m. or not at all, who was to object? If we chose pickles and ice cream and frankfurters, my favorite dinner, four times a week, it was strictly a matter between John and me and our stomachs.

In those cases where objectionable conduct arises within the marriage itself, there is a world of difference between John's, "Please, sweetheart, don't do that now," and my mother's stern, "Young lady, you're staying home the rest of the week." As for actual reconciliations after a quarrel, no parent holds a candle to a husband, unfair though it may be.

"Darling," I told John blissfully from the shallow depths of a happy honeymoon, isn't marriage wonderful? It always will be just like this, won't it?"

"It will," said John firmly, "just like this."

And, as he drew me close for further answer, I am sure it was just as well that neither of us knew any better.

THE first insidious change that marked our marital progress, however, began almost immediately with our search for a place to live. History, of course, flowed calmly onward, completely undisturbed by us or any other single couple's catastrophic events. With unbelievable contempt, it records inaugural processions, Presidential successions, and war and peace, while totally ignoring the day Henry proposed to Anna, or the time Uncle Hiram accidentally burned down the barn. But in true love-conquers-all fashion, John and I kept our own egotistical reckoning in which we, in turn, abandoned the Roosevelt administration for one of our own. High at the top of world shaking occasions we wrote: "Wedding Day," and underneath, in only very slightly smaller print we inscribed: "The time we found our home."

Unfortunately, even in those prehistoric years when apartments were not quite so hard to find as polar bears in Times Square, house hunting was still a tough problem.

"Must we?" I asked John half-seriously, half jokingly, when first the call to duty resounded through Room 518 like reveille in an army camp, and we launched our original discussion: "I'm having a wonderful time right here."

"So am I," said John, "but two weeks are up already. In a few more, I'll be finished at the hospital, and we have to be all ready to start our practice and begin making some money. And before you know it, you'll be back at law school."

"I guess you're right," I admitted reluctantly. "Everything has seemed so far away, that I've almost forgotten. Well," I finished, sighing dramatically for the world that is too much with all of us, "what do we do?"

"Find a place to live," he answered immediately, as if he were filling in a prescription blank. Then he laughed. "Not that it won't be hard! We need four rooms at least to accommodate both home and office, but we can only afford two. We want a decent, middleclass neighborhood where the people can manage medical care, but we can only pay for a poor one. And if we do find a nice apartment, then we have to make sure that the price and location check too. Otherwise." he ended cheerfully, "it's as easy as solving a simultaneous quadratic equation with four unknowns."

With these immortal words, we started. Whenever John was off duty from the hospital (the grindstone having called for him the week before), we hunted. We walked upstairs and downstairs and in our lady's chamber to no avail. If the rental price was fine, then the location wasn't; if the neighborhood checked, then nothing else did.

"There's always something," I told John mournfully one night, as I lay on the bed resting my aching feet in the air, a curative beyond John's mere medical comprehension.

"I know," he answered. "Like ants on a picnic or thorns on a rose—"

"And blisters on a hike," I finished the trilogy pointedly.

Gable, Bride Draw Cheers From 10,000

HONOLULU, Dec. 27. (INS)— Clark Gable and his bride began their romantic Hawaiian honeymoon today with the cheers of more than 10,000 admirers welcoming them to the sun-bathed islands.

The pier and adjacent streets were jammed with shrieking fans as the luxury liner Lurline nosed into the sparkling water of the harbor with the famous honeymooners after a happy four and one-half day voyage from San Francisco.

A typical big grin wreathing his face, Gable clasped his blond bride around the waist as he watched the shouting crowd from the top deck of the liner and veteran observers termed it "the greatest dockside demonstration in Hawaii's history."

Prehistoric Animal Fossils To Be Displayed In Texas Museum

AUSTIN, Dec 27. (AP) — Some real old time Texas and New Mexico residents will be put on exhibit here soon.

Prehistoric elephant and buffalo fossils are being prepared for showing in the Texas Memorial museum at the University of Texas.

Museum Director E. H. Sellards and four museum staff members made the collection in the Panhandle and New Mexico high plains region.

Remains of a bison hunt by prehistoric men were first discovered at Plainview in 1945. The University of Texas geologists reopened the site for a visit by Geological Society of America members before making the new collection.

Instructor Claims Credit For Basic Gravitation Theory Work

MARLBORO, Mass., Dec. 27 (U.P.) —William G. Graves, 32, an English instructor at Worcester Junior college, said today that he developed the theory of gravitation which was announced yesterday by Prof. Albert Einstein.

"This is my material, and I hate to let it go," Graves said.

He worked for 15 years to develop the equation on which he contended Einstein's new theory was based, he added.

The young instructor called it "Graves gratjational theory," and said he discussed the general subject with Einstein in 1942 and considered it "very unlikely" that a coincidence was involved.

Graves said the famed physicist's work undoubtedly was based on his equation: G equals X times NG squared.

He said he informed Professor Norbert Wiener of Massachusetts Institute of technology of his studies last month but had no idea whether Wiener discussed the matter with Einstein.

Wiener was unavailable for comment.

There was nothing sacred or religious about the American Indian's totem pole. It simply represented his claim to wealth and fame.

Fort Worth Transit Company Seeks Okay On Fare Increase

FORT WORTH, Dec. 27. (AP)— Fort Worth Transit company requested today 12-cent cash bus fare and abolishment of the 60-cent nickel pass.

Increased operating costs and reduced revenues necessitate the jump from the present 10-cent fare, according to W. A. Robertson, company president.

The request, second fare hike sought by the company in 20 months, was filed at the city hall and addressed to the city council. It sought no change in student cards, 5-cent half fare or the extra 5-cent charge for rides beyond a radius of six airline miles.

In may of last year the city council approved a straight 10-cent fare, eliminated tokens and the 40-cent nickel pass. It was the first change for the buses since 1927.

Ships now have to queue for harbor room at Dar-es-Salaam, Tanganyika.
