Paint Horse Owners, Fans Slate Show

Persons who are interested in promoting paint horses or who have registered paints they would like to show are asked to contact Beverly Nicholson, secretary or Quenette Collins, secretary of the West Texas, New Mexico Paint Horse Club.

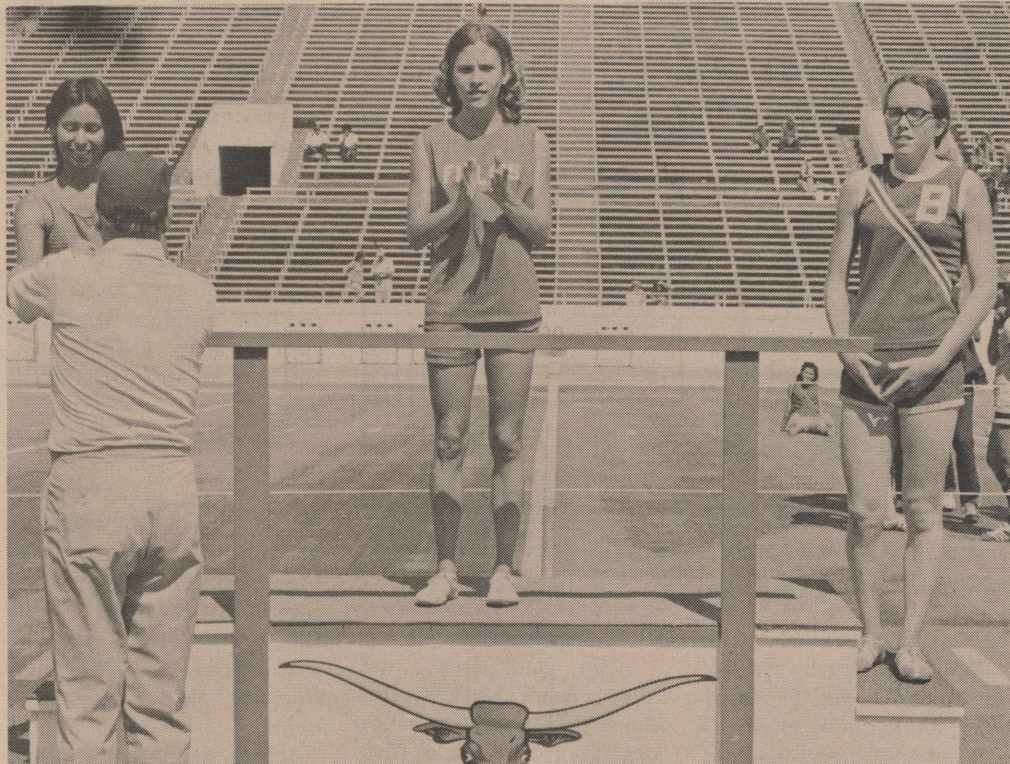

The club is affiliated with the American Paint Horse Association, a non-profit organization APHA is dedicated to the quarter or stock type Paint Horse.

"The Association knows that color alone is no basis for breed registry," Mrs. Collins says. "However, by demanding quality conformation and adding to the beautiful color, the association has made tremendous impact on the light horse industry in the last decade."

Halter shows and performance contests gives breeders and exhibitors opportunities to compete for awards and demonstrate to the public progress in breeding for type, quality and the ability to perform.

The next paint show in this area is June 1 in Clovis, N.M. Sponsored by the WTSMPHC, interested persons are asked to attend. Show time is at 9 a.m. New Mexico Time.

Jearl James of Earth is president of the West Texas, New Mexico club.

THE BIG WIN -- Kay Givens, center, applauds the presentation of the third place winner in the 880 run at the girls state track meet last Saturday in Austin. Turning in her best performance ever with a 2:21.2, Kay took the 880 title to bring OHS their first state track title. The 440 relay team placed third; Donna Hodges finished sixth in triple jump and Marla Faver, seventh in the 60 yard dash. Finishing fourth, the 880 relay team was disqualified on a hand-off.

No Watering Tuesday, Electricity Off At Booster

"The electricity will be cut off at the booster station ONLY," come the word from Melvin Rape, manager of Southwestern Public Service.

The statement was made in order to clarify a story that appeared last week in the Enterprise regarding the use of water Tuesday, May 21.

A new booster will be installed and in order to do so, the electricity will be off...at the booster station only.

However, the warning issued by the city hall and Orian Hackler, city water superintendent, is that unless water is used for drinking purposes ONLY, the city will be out of water before the new booster can be tied in.

Hackler says, "NO WATER SHOULD BE USED except for drinking purposes. No watering yards, no washing, no nothing, so to speak. Or THE CITY WILL BE OUT OF WATER before we can get it pumping again. We will have only what is in the water tower."

Farms, Furniture & Washers

"Don't let her know that we don't know how to fix it," Roscoe Thomas cautioned Richard Alcora Sr., back in 1954 when they got their first service call for an appliance the new "Thomas Furniture Store" had sold.

Roscoe laughs today as he confesses that admonition but recalls it worked out well since the customer's only trouble was sand in the pump. He explains, too, that he had a repair manual which he expected to help him learn how to be an appliance "doctor."

"I guess Richard and I both must have had some natural gift for repair work," Roscoe says recalling one of their early repair jobs required the complete re-wiring of a range.

"The house had been wired wrong and when the stove was turned on, it blew everything. I asked Richard if he thought he could re-wire it (by using the manual.)"

"The customer talked as much as I do," Roscoe says with a grin. "Richard said, 'I can if we take it to the store but I can't if I have to listen to her talk.'"

Alcora re-wired the range and continued to be a valuable employee for a number of years and a close friend still. (Father of Mrs. Pat Gloria, Alcora now lives in Abilene.)

The Thomases continued in the furniture business until 1965. In 1971 they went back into furniture business, buying and selling used furniture and handling some new.

In 1960, Bert and Roscoe opened "Thomas Speed Wash" in the eastern portion of their building at Avenue E and 8th Street.

The new coin-operated laundry was not the first for Olton however since a small shop "Econ-O-Wash" had been opened on Main Street. Soon after the Thomases opened their laundry, the first shop was moved away.

Ever since their opening, the shop has featured Speed Queen commercial washers

For a time, Roscoe says, the machines were operated with a commercial sized water softener but women used to the hard water of this area "over-soaped" and the many frequent suds "accidents" caused him to discontinue its use.

When coin operated dry cleaners became popular, Bert and Roscoe added those, too, but they proved to be more work than the two could manage. Bert remembers well the long exhausting hours standing in one spot helping customers "spot" garments.

Bert and Roscoe moved to Olton in 1942 from Mobeetie and farmed until they went into the furniture business.

The building which houses the furniture portion of the business was formerly located on Main Street and housed Higginbotham-Bartlett Lumber Company.

Appliances were just becoming readily available when Bert and Roscoe went into business. They secured the Hot Point franchise, a division then of General Electric.

Bert recalls their grand opening and says a General Electric home economist gave demonstrations.

"Russell (Rucker, of Olton Bakery) liked the cookies she baked and still uses one of her recipes."

Trips to market were exciting and fun, Bert remembers. The company they brought from in Dallas is a five-stored building which spreads over a block and a half.

"Roscoe would get so tired he'd say he wished he had a wheel chair so I could just push him around while I looked." She says she never gets tired of looking at the enormous selections they had to choose from.

Their customers of today, can if they wish, go the company and select furniture of their choice through "Thomas Furniture."

Last fall the Thomases became dealers for Neco sewing machines.

Bert and Roscoe became "rock hounds" a few years ago, getting the interest from a friend and neighbor, the late Walter Schreier. They enjoy their membership in the Gem and Mineral Club.

The Thomases' eldest son, Drummond B., lost his life in World War II. Harry and his family live here. The Thomases are very proud grandparents of three granddaughters and one grandson.

Bert and Roscoe have together compiled 15 years as bus drivers for Olton schools. It has been a rewarding experience, they say, keeping up with the children of Olton.

Academic Awards Given In Junior High Assembly

Academic awards were presented to outstanding students Friday morning in an awards assembly for Olton Junior High.

Recipients of medals for outstanding work during the semester were presented in each department.

Math awards were presented to Ramon Marquez, sixth grade; Chris Prentice, seventh; and Jeff Sampler, eighth.

Awards for science went to Scott Parker, sixth; Tim Watt, seventh; and Jeff Sampler, eighth. English honors were earned by Ramon Marquez, sixth; Caleb McClure, seventh; and Jeff Sampler, eighth.

Reading and spelling awards went to Carolyn Smith, sixth; Jan Spain, seventh; and Pam Nafzger, eighth. Social studies awards were claimed by Carolyn Smith, sixth; Caleb McClure, seventh; and Jeff Sampler, eighth.

Outstanding honors in P.E. went to Dorothy Rodriguez and Vance Stroebel, sixth; Jan Spain and Brad Allcorn, seventh; and Elizabeth Criswell and David Johnson, eighth.

Choir awards were presented to Brad Burgess, sixth; Nina Spurlin, seventh; and Mary Lee Smyth, eighth. Art honors went to Rick Staker, sixth; Lionor Herrera, seventh; and Roger Russell, eighth.

Vance Stroebel received the outstanding band award for sixth grade band and Jeff Sampler, the award for seventh-eighth grade band.

George Guerrero received the vocational award and Elvia Cortez the resource achievement award.

Student Council members were recognized and Citizens of the Year announced. Named to the coveted honors were Melinda Ables and Ramon Marquez, sixth grade; Dusty Kinnison and Caleb McClure, seventh; and Mary Lee Smyth and Mike Sifuentes, eighth.

Pictures of scholastic awards winners will be carried in next week's Enterprise.

Page To Honor

Departed Ones

The Enterprise will feature a page next week "In Memoriam", honoring the memory of departed loved ones. Persons wishing to have their loved ones' names listed on the page are reminded that the deadline for getting those names in, is Wednesday, May 22.

Cost for listing each person is $2. A form which may be used to submit names is on page two of this issue of the Enterprise.

Assembly

Set Wednesday

Awards assembly for students of Olton High School has been scheduled for 10 a.m. Wednesday in the high school auditorium. Outstanding students in all departments will be honored. Other achievements will be recognized.

Parents and other interested persons are invited.

City Clean Up Continues

Clean up efforts continue this week in the city, with emphasis being put on the southeast section of town. Intensified effort will be put forth Wednesday, May 22, according to that section's captains, Melvin Rape and Roy Salas.

Persons in that area who need help with removing trash are asked to call Melvin Rape at 285-2295. Salas may be reached at Olton Auto. Old cars will be moved away if persons will call the city hall or the captains.

City wide efforts to clean every part of the town began last week in the northeast section. The program calls for a section each week to be cleaned. Next week, the southwest part will be cleaned, with special emphasis Wednesday, May 29. Captains are David Maxey, 5-2725; K.Y. Givens, 5-2380; and Joe Hall, 5-2765.

Larry Garvin and Stephen

Smith will head up the clean up campaign in the northwest part of town to finish the city wide cleaning.

June 5 has been designated by them as the day for the biggest effort in cleaning that section of the city. They may be reached at 5-2924 or 5-2482 for any assistance in cleaning.

The city dump will remain open on Wednesdays throughout the month of May from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. for those wishing to haul trash. It will be open each day during May from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

"Everyone is encouraged to help in this special effort to help get the city cleaned up," cleanup chairman Billie Norfleet said. "Of course, each and everyone of us is expected to clean our own property and help any who aren't able to do their own cleaning, if we are to accomplish what we have set out to do."

OHS Cheerleaders To Have Car Wash

OHS Cheerleaders will conduct a car wash from 8 a.m. until 7 p.m. Saturday and are extending a hearty "Call all dirty cars."

Free pick up and delivery is offered to all customers in the city limits. Vehicles will be picked up and delivered outside the town section at a minimum charge of 25 cents per mile.

Persons are asked to contact any OHS cheerleader or the high school office.

'Pass The Buck' Coffees To Aid Cystic Fibrosis Fund

"Pass the Buck Coffees" will give Oltonites a rather unique opportunity to contribute to the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation and thereby help fight children's lung diseases.

Mrs. Gene Trotter, local co-ordinator of the Annual Spring Fund Campaign, asks cooperation in making the events successful.

"Pass the Buck Coffees" are fun and, for Oltonites, a new and different way to raise needed funds for a worthwhile cause. Mrs. Trotter will host the initial coffee, inviting just seven guests and requesting each to contribute one dollar to the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation. Each guest will be asked to also host a coffee, invite SIX guests and request one dollar donations.

Each guest at the second series of coffees will be asked to host coffees for FIVE GUESTS with the get-togethers continuing to diminish.

This type fund drive requires minimal donations and little effort and can bring an amazing amount of monetary help for the needy cause.

Few persons are aware that millions of American children suffer from lung damaging diseases and that lung disease is the second major cause of death among children.

Cystic Fibrosis occurs once in every 1,500 births. Children born to parents with the C/F gene will have a one-in-four chance of having the disease, a two-in-four chance of being a symptomless carrier and a one-in-four chance of escaping both the carrier gene and the disease. When asked to participate in a "Pass the Buck Coffee" for Cystic Fibrosis, won't you say "Yes."

Everything But The Kitchen Sink

BY MOZELLE TROTTER

Oh, the blessings of a small home town! It has its faults, of course (oh, yes, it has its faults) but it's great to live in a little town where most everyone knows everyone. (Where they know your good points -- if you've got 'em -- and your bad -- if you've got 'em.)

Nothing makes the little town's assets escape the taken-for-granted category better than a visit to the "city."

For instance! Driving along the streets of Olton might be hazardous to your health - you could get a crick in your neck from a chug hole or be struck by a car making a U-turn under the red light on Main Street or run down by a big truck hell-bent to make that red light.

Those things COULD happen.

But not until you've driven the loop in Houston nor some of their busier thoroughfares do you realize how lucky it is you live in Little Town USA, population under 2,000 (not counting the canine residents).

It isn't really so bad if you have lightning quick sign perception and a bit of Barney Offield in you. The fretting thing is to know where you want to go but to get in the lane of traffic that's headed where you don't want to go and every driver seems to be trying to get there an hour ago!

After driving in Houston in March and again last weekend, I'm about to learn how to get where I didn't plan to go, at a place where I don't know where I am! Some hour or so later I've, with dumb luck, reached my destination completely unaware of where I've been!

All my carefully mapped out navigation has led me to Sharpstown in the southeast corner of Houston when I was supposed to be departing the northern city limits (incidentally, a bit more than one mile two-tenths of Olton's City limits!)

Why is it so easy to get off a freeway exit if it's the wrong one and so dratted difficult to get back where you were, driving with all the confidence and security of a Conestoga wagon driver with today's mighty horse-powered conveyances bearing down on you from four or five lanes.

Really, I'm just exaggerating to make the story colorful. I didn't have all those things happen to me but once - each trip, that is.

It all happened 'cause I thought I was good! Pride does come before a fall, oh, but does it ever!

My navigating was flawless on our entry into Houston the first time. With the accuracy of a NASA technician I breezed straight to our destination.

Then the first hint I had that I wasn't a natural for a Houston taxi company came when I couldn't get around the medical complex - did you ever try to drive through a carnival maze?

My real come-uppance was on our departure home, tho. It all began when I THOUGHT I was supposed to exit on "59." I'd nearly left Houston behind in the direction I should have been traveling when the revelation dawned. An hour later, all was well, as I guided my wheels past the exit on "59."

Last week's haggle with the freeway, I'll just forget. It's better to just pretend I wanted to go AROUND Houston.

Oh, well, it could have been worse. I could have still been driving if I'd got caught in the five o'clock traffic!

Oltonites Attend Alumni Reunion In Olustee, Okla.

Mr. and Mrs. Duane Eby and Mr. and Mrs. Barton Prestridge attended an alumni reunion at Olustee, Okla. last weekend.

The oldest graduate, attending this year, was a member of the Class of 1921. Attendance of the reunion was one of the "best ever," according to Mrs. Eby.

Foremost topic of discussion among the exes was the January visit William Conrad paid to Olustee. Star of the TV show "Cannon," Conrad lived there as a boy.

Conrad, whose real name is William Cann Jr., moved from Olustee to California when he was 14 years old, following the death of his father.

Greetings from the television star were shared in the form of a letter to one of the Olustee alumni.

Helping narrate the Cotton Bowl parade New Year's Day, Conrad took advantage of being nearer Olustee than he had been since boyhood and rented a car to make a visit to his old hometown.

Mrs. Raymond Tomlin of Plainview stayed Friday until Tuesday afternoon with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Waker and Leslie Aline.

Olustee folk learned a bit of what happened to perhaps their most famous former resident. Conrad began working on movie studio lots when he was 16 and his first job was a radio's Matt Dillion in the audio version of "Gunsmoke." He earned three dollars per day wages.

Prior to "making it big" with his role of the chubby "private eye," he worked 15 years as a producer and director.

Other Oltonites who attended school or lived in Olustee include Meredith Crawford, Hazel Whittington, the late Don Bryant and perhaps others.

IN PLAINVIEW

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Burgess of Plainview had with them Sunday, their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Burgess, Sherry, Janice and Dannette.

HOSPITAL VISIT

Mr. and Mrs. Malcom Ogletree and Miss Theo Hackler visited with their nephew Lewis Kimes in Lubbock Methodist Hospital Sunday afternoon.

FROM NEW MEXICO

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Granbery of Truth or Consequences, N.M., visited this week with his mother, Mrs. L.E. Silcott, who had as other guests her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Irby and Rich of Clovis, N.M.

EVELYN GALLAGHER

Cook Of The Week

Wedding bells will sound in the near future for our Cook of the Week, Evelyn Gallagher. Evelyn and "Jito" Diaz will be wed in St. Peter's Catholic Church June 15.

Evelyn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Gallagher, was born here and has lived here all her life. A 1972 graduate of Olton High School, she has four older brothers, Jerry, Bob, Kenny and Gene, and a younger sister, Laurie.

Cooking is a hobby for the Enterprise staff member. Evelyn came to work at the newspaper about the first of December. An "ad builder," she has shown a natural flair for her work, coming up with clever and original ideas. She also handles "mail-out" of the paper - the uninspiring job of addressing, wrapping, bundling and sacking the papers for their journey to the readers.

Evelyn also likes to ride her dad's trail bike - "if there's no one watching," she says. She loves children and, before she came to work at the paper, did baby sitting. Her love of children is one of the reasons she teaches a catechism class for second and third grade boys and girls.

PINEAPPLE DELIGHT
Make crust of 1/2 stick margarine and 2 c. vanilla wafer crumbs. Whip together: 2 boxes powdered sugar 1 1/2 sticks softened margarine juice of two cans crushed pineapple 2 eggs

Pour this mixture over crust. Whip two cartons of whipping cream, stir in pineapple and pour over first mixture. Freeze. Strawberries may be substituted for pineapple.

PORK CHOPS & RICE
6-8 pork chops
1 can stewed tomatoes

1 can Campbell's turkey vegetable soup
1/2 can cream of mushroom soup
1/2 can cream of chicken soup
1 small bell pepper
1 T. rice per pork chop (long grain rice uncooked not minute rice)
salt and pepper to taste

Brown pork chops in small amount of cooking fat. Drain and place in single layer in 9x13 pan. Add soup and 1 T. rice per pork chop. Slice bell pepper and arrange slices over chops.

Top each chop with one stewed tomato. (Do not add tomato juice) Add 1/2 to 1/2 c. water to prevent mixture from boiling dry. (add extra water during cooking if needed) Salt and pepper to taste. Cover tightly with aluminum foil. Bake at 350° 30-45 minutes.

GRILLED POTATOES

Peel and cut in thin slices enough potatoes to make 2 c. Spread evenly on a large piece of aluminum foil. Coat potatoes generously with melted margarine. Season with 1/2 t. each, celery salt, garlic salt and seasoning (or savory) salt. Sprinkle with about 2 T. of parsley flakes. Fold edges of aluminum foil over potatoes to form a flat, rectangular packet. Seal edges tightly. Place on barbecue grill for about one hour, turning frequently to prevent scorching. (onion slices are good this way, too.)

Sugar, Spice, And Sage

By Jan Sherman

Dear God,
The little plans you tried to carry through have failed. I will not sorrow. I'll pause a while, Dear God, and try again, tomorrow.

This is a little prayer-poem that appeared in our church bulletin some weeks ago. Rusty noticed it first, smiled and indicated for me to read it. It is such a comforting little prayer I felt you would enjoy it also.

Why is it so comforting, so uplifting? I guess because it gives us hope for tomorrow. There are days for all of us that we feel we have lived so well. We didn't kick the cat when we got up on the wrong side of the bed. We didn't knock coffee grounds all over the cabinet when we made that first cup of the day. As our mate arose and came skipping in to eat breakfast (coffee and a bright-too bright-orange napkin). And on and on and on. It was a good day from start to finish. Hooray for my day, self.

Oh, but my!-those other days. When you go to bed at night, what do you think of self? Perhaps that you'll never ever do anything right again. Because of your plastered scowl, did you bring on the black clouds from everyone that met you-did they growl at yourself? You're so blue, you feel like crawling under the bed instead of on it. Well, take heart! There's always tomorrow. There is a solution! Confess all those little nasties as you do them to the Man upstairs, and you erase your problems as you go. Of course, this doesn't mean you can go on and glare and stare and growl-fess up and keep on. Try to meet the next guy with at least one side of your frown turned up. As you go along, work on the other side and whistle, under your breath at first and then maybe a little louder and gradually work yourself into a full, double star rated whistle-and lo and behold-your mood will catch up with your whistle. You see, my friend, the world doesn't really hate you because your hair is messed up, or you wore pink instead of blue today and you don't really look horrendous in pink anyway. We get this all worked up inside of self, and before long we're in such a grumpy mood, with a poor self image, and imagine that everyone's surely against us. In reality, maybe they had a cold breakfast too.

As you crawl under the bed tonight, speak candidly to the Man upstairs, who loves you in pink or blue - tell Him your troubles - that you're really sorry you messed up (A) the whole cotton pickin' day (B) everyone else's cotton pick-in' day, (C) everything you touched, or (D) all of the above. He'll listen and do you know what He'll say? My guess would be: Dear One, The little plans I tried to carry through have failed. Please don't sorrow. Pause awhile, sweet child, and try again tomorrow. Good-night!

Cubs Take Airplane Ride

Members of Cub Scout Den 5 were guests of Den Mothers Mmes. Lyndol Kinser and Randall Roper last Wednesday afternoon. The group traveled to Hale County Airport in Plainview, where Randall Roper took them for an airplane ride. For several of the boys this was their first time aloft. When asked what they thought about it the eight year olds had these comments.

"It's smoother up there than on the ground and it tickles." - Mike Brown

"Everything looks like a toy from up there." - Jimmy Kinser

"Try it, you'll like it." - Jeff Younger

After the flight, the scouts had a hamburger supper in a Plainview park. In addition to scouts and den mother guests were Randall Roper, Sherre and Crystal Kinser, and Todd, Brad and Tony Roper.
