Diplomas Handed 379 PHS Students

The 379 members of the 1965 graduating class of Pampa High School received their diplomas last night at commencement exercises in the school field house.

The seating capacity of both balconies and benches erected along the sides of the basketball floor was filled to overflowing and there was only standing room when the ceremonies started at 8 p.m.

Today the seniors returned to the high school to receive semester report cards and their high school careers officially ended.

This also was report card day in the public junior high schools and elementary grades. All pupils were dismissed for the summer vacation.

There were 22 members of last night's graduating class whose diplomas will not be signed until they have completed credit requirements at summer school.

The commencement exercises featured talks by Salutatorian Kyle Vann, Class President Jim Arthur and Valedictorian Cynthia Plaster.

"Determination is the seed of success and work will be the price of this success," Salutatorian Vann told his classmates.

Class President Arthur said: "We are like astronauts who are about to explore the unknown. We are entering a new way of life in which time is the most important element."

Miss Plaster, the valedictorian said: "We have reached a milestone tonight and now we go out to establish our identity. We must have purpose and determine a need for our talents. Tomorrow lies in the hands of the educated and dedication to purpose is indispensable."

Special awards were given to 16 honor students. They were: Carol Akst, Avril Doucette, Ronnie Edmondson, Dean Evans, George Henderson, Larry Hollis, Carl Johnson, Carletta Johnson, Patricia Ludeman, Jane Moore, Guy Nanney, Cynthia Plaster, Kyle Vann, Larry Veale, James Warren and Terrie Watson.

Diplomas were handed to the graduates by Jack Edmondson, school superintendent, as they marched by in single file. Edmondson said: "Determination is the seed of success and work will be the price of this success."

Commission Receives Bids For Leases on Farm Land

In a short session today the Pampa City commission opened bids for 5-year leases on farm land at the sites of the Pampa sewage treatment plant and the old airport south of the city.

Five bids were received for the sewage plant land and four for the airport area.

The bids will be studied and contracts awarded next week.

Four bids also were opened for supplying gasoline, oil and lubricants for city vehicles for one year.

Farm land bids were received from Green Brothers, Clyde Organ, Emil Urbanczyk, W. T. Epperson, Rex McAnelly, Alvin Dauer, Bronda Skaggs and Richard V. White.

Gasoline, oil and lubricant bids were received from Gulf, Humble, Continental and Mobil Oil companies.

The commission today also gave final approval to the summer water rate ordinance which will go into effect June 1. The new rates will mean approximately $1 a month saving to water users in the 10,000 to 20,000 gallon consumption category.

Authorization was voted to transfer $15,483 from the general fund to the Lovett Memorial Library fund.

The mayor was authorized to sign contracts for the new sewage treatment plant and the sewage outfall line.

It was announced that City Hall will be closed on Monday, May 31, since Memorial Day falls on Sunday this year.

U.S. Mediators Still Working On Settlement in Santo Domingo

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI) — Mediators are still working on a settlement to the Dominican peacekeeping force, it was reported here today.

A U. S. State Department spokesman said two members of President Johnson's fact-finding team, McGeorge Bundy and Cyrus R. Vance "are still here continuing their labors."

At last reports, they were working to get Dominican junta leader Maj. Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera to step down in favor of a coalition regime. Their favorite for the provisional presidency at that time was Antonio Guzman, a wealthy landowner who was agriculture minister in the cabinet of ex-President Juan Bosch.

The city, meanwhile, appeared slowly to be returning to normalcy under the supervision of the inter-American military force set up Monday by the Organization of American States (OAS).

Bars and some stores reopened Monday. Others were expected to be doing business today.

The cease-fire proclaimed Friday was still effectively in force, although it lasted officially only 24 hours. Rebels armed with rifles or sub-machine guns manned sniper posts through the night, but there was virtually no firing.

International patrols, each comprising one U. S. soldier and two or three other men of differing nationalities drawn from the Brazilian, Costa Rican, Honduran and Nicaraguan elements of the OAS force, cruised the supply corridor across the city in jeeps.

The international units were ordered not to shoot, even if they were fired on, if there were other U. S. troops in the area to defend them. They were authorized to fire back if no American troops were available.

The OAS force is to be commanded officially by Brazilian Maj. Gen. Hugo Panasco Alvim who was chief of artillery in the force his country sent to Europe to fight during World War II.

Lt. Gen. Bruce Palmer Jr., commander of U. S. forces amounting to about eight times as many troops as Brazil plans to send here, is nominally Alvim's deputy.

Hearing Set to Determine Judge in Ruby Sanity Trial

DALLAS (UPI) — A visiting smalltown judge today set a hearing to determine whether Trial Judge Joe B. Brown should be disqualified from sitting at a sanity trial for condemned slayer Jack Ruby.

Judge Louis T. Holland of Montague, Tex., said the hearing would be held during the week of June 7. If he disqualifies Brown, he probably will set a sanity trial for Ruby "sometime in July," the judge said.

Holland replaced Brown Monday at a hearing to determine which lawyers should represent the slayer of presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald.

Ruby, a surprise witness at Monday's hearing, testified that he knew it was "a lost cause for me to try and save myself."

Earlier, it appeared that Ruby would be brought back into court today to hear a date set for the sanity trial.

But Judge Holland granted defense counsel requests for a delay when they argued they needed more time to prepare further legal moves.

Holland had told the court Monday that he would "see you all here at 9 a.m. tomorrow." Then, he granted the postponement.

If Ruby is later found sane, Tonahill could appeal Holland's decision and try to get back on the Ruby defense team.

Until then, Ruby's defense will be handled by his family's lawyers, Sol Dann of Detroit and William Kunstler of New York. Kunstler said Texas attorneys Phil Bursleson — of the original trial team — and Sam Houston Clinton of Austin, would handle the sanity trial.

Holland will announce a date for the sanity trial today, and possibly will rule on a motion by the defense to have Judge Brown removed from further action in the case. The defense has charged that Brown mishandled Ruby's trial in March of last year.

At Monday's hearing on which lawyer should represent Ruby, the one-time nightclub owner asked Holland if he could take the stand. Permission was granted.

Ruby rambled for more than half an hour about the circumstances that led to his shooting Oswald and of the shooting itself.

Although his family and lawyers insist Ruby has become insane since he shot Oswald, Ruby said he was not.

"I know it is a lost cause for me to try and save myself," he said. "If I am insane, the rest of the world is crazy."

Five Soldiers Shot In Tragic Accident

SAIGON (UPI) — Four American jets today accidentally shot up a South Vietnamese military base near the border with the Communist north in one of the tragic incidents of the Viet Nam war.

Five South Vietnamese soldiers were wounded. One bulldozer was destroyed and another damaged.

A U. S. military spokesman said the four planes "strayed off course."

Meantime, sources within the U. S. military headquarters reported that American fighting forces in South Viet Nam will be bolstered by an additional 25,000 combat troops within the next two months.

The sources said the reinforcements will come from Army combat divisions stationed in the continental United States. They will bring to about 70,000 the total of U. S. troops committed to the war against the Communists in Viet Nam.

On the political front, Premier Phan Huy Quat announced his long-expected cabinet reshuffle amid reports of sudden unrest among segments of the capital's population.

Dropped was the powerful interior minister, Nguyen Hoa Hiep, who was replaced by Tran Van Thuan. Also replaced was Psychological Warfare Minister Brig. Gen. Kinh Quang Vinh, who has promised to return to the armed forces.

With the general went the title psychological warfare ministry, which was renamed the information ministry and which will be headed by Dinh Trinh Chinh.

First reports on the accidental raid on the South Vietnamese base raised the possibility the planes were Communist MIG fighters. A U. S. spokesman at Da Nang, issuing the original announcement, said the planes were "presumed to be" the Soviet-built fighters.

But that theory was later spiked at a briefing in Saigon called by U. S. military headquarters.

Hit in the mistaken raid was the government outpost at Gia Linh, about five miles south of the demilitarized zone between the two Viet Nams.

Two Strafe Troops

Two of the planes strafed units of the 101st Engineer Battalion of the South Vietnamese army while the other two flew cover. All four planes streaked out to sea after the attack.

"The best evidence we have indicates that the shells (fired by the planes) were 20 millimeter," the Saigon spokesman said. "No MIGs are armed with 20 millimeter cannons."

Although the spokesman expressed certainty that the planes were American, he was unable to say whether they were carrier-based Navy craft or land-based Air Force jets.

South Vietnamese officers at Gia Linh said it appeared the (See BODY, Page 3)

House Action Due On Cloture Bids Foreign Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two of President Johnson's priority proposals were expected to pass major milestones on their road to congressional approval today. A third went into final committee sessions.

In the Senate, members voted on a cloture motion to choke off unlimited debate and a virtually unlimited flow of southern amendments to the bipartisan voting rights bill, which is aimed at guaranteeing Negroes their right to register and cast ballots.

Approval of the motion was considered assured, clearing the way for final approval within days.

The House planned to take final action on Johnson's $3.37 billion foreign aid authorization request for the fiscal year beginning July 1. Despite an expected attempt by a group of Republicans to cripple the program, its passage was expected.

The Senate Finance Committee, meanwhile, went into closed sessions on a Social Security and welfare proposal that includes President Johnson's health care for the elderly program.

U.S. Space Satellite On Successful Orbit

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — America's Saturn I rocket orbited a huge "space duster" satellite today, putting on a spectacular display of flame and fury as it raced into the night sky.

Minutes after reaching orbit, the bat-like meteoroid detection satellite called Pegasus sprouted 96-foot wide wings and began studying the hazards tiny bits of space debris would pose to three-man Apollo moonships.

The satellite, expected to be visible to the naked eye on earth, was circling the globe every 97 minutes in a near perfect orbit ranging from 316 to 466 miles high. Scientists said it would remain in space for at least three years.

The 188-foot Saturn I rocket made its first after dark launch before crowds of missile watchers lured to nearby beaches despite the early hour. It roared into life at 1:35 a.m. CST with a great burst of flame that

Body of Miner Found by Workers In Coal Mineshaft

ROBBINS, Tenn. (UPI) — A rescue squad early today sent out word that it had found one body in a coal mineshaft deep in the Brimstone Mountains where an explosion Monday trapped five miners.

The squad, wearing oxygen masks, said the body was discovered at a loading point deep inside the shaft. It was not immediately identified and the search continued for the other four miners.

"I don't see how any of them could be alive. They could either be burned or they could have suffocated," said J. M. Sisson, assistant director of mine inspections for Tennessee, directing rescue operations.

The five men, working 3,000 feet below the surface, were trapped Monday when an explosion ripped through the mine, searing the shaft with such heat that its walls were "like a coal stove."

Rescue officials said there was some rubble in the shaft, but the principal obstacle was the deadly gas fumes. Three rescuers were overcome by the fumes but were revived.

The special rescue team, led by S. M. Sampson, superintendent of the Pocahontas Coal Company's Morco Mine, prepared and reinforced the mine shaft so that a giant fan at one of the entrances could suck the fumes out.

Cunningham to Try Again To Stop Red Propaganda in Mail

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Nebraska congressman is planning to try again to write a law permitting the government to restrict U. S. mail delivery of foreign Communist propaganda publications.

The Supreme Court, in an 8-0 vote Monday, ruled unconstitutional Rep. Glenn Cunningham's original "Red mail" law. The justices held that the 1962 statute violated the First Amendment's guarantee of free speech.

But, said Cunningham, a Republican, "while this legislation was on the books, it did its jobs. The flow of Communist propaganda was staunch. Now our mail will again be flooded. I, for one, do not propose to see our deficit-ridden postal system utilized for the subsidized carriage of Communist propaganda, and I feel certain that my colleagues in Congress, Democrats and Republicans alike, do not propose to take it lying down either."

As if in anticipation of Cunningham's argument, Justice William J. Brennan Jr., in a separate but concurring opinion, said:

"The argument that the statute is justified by the object of avoiding the subsidization of propaganda of foreign governments ... needs little comment. If the government wishes to withdraw a subsidy or privilege, it must do so by means and on terms which do not endanger First Amendment rights. That the governments which originate this propaganda themselves have no equivalent guarantees only highlights the cherished values of our constitutional framework; it can never justify emulating the practice of restrictive regimes in the name of expediency."

Struck down by the high court was the requirement that Communist mail from foreign sources could not be delivered in this country unless the recipient specially requested the material from the Post Office Department. Under the law, it was up to the Customs Bureau to decide what was propaganda.

Financial Gossip

By JESSE BOGUE
UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — American business is not all made up of corporate giants. The contributions of the smaller units to the nation's economic health are saluted this week: President Johnson has proclaimed it National Small Business Week.

Roughly speaking, by definition of the Small Business Administration (SBA) a small businessman in a fabricating or manufacturing industry is one with 500 employees or less. There are other definitions of size for service and other industries.

Perhaps no one individual among them can be said to occupy a key position in the American business complex. But lumped altogether, they are an essential element.

Important To Economy

In Washington, the SBA puts their number at 4,600,000. They provide a living for 75 million Americans; employ 40 per cent of the labor force; account for over 70 per cent of the dollar volume of business done in construction, in retail and wholesale trade and in services; and for more than 30 per cent of the volume added in manufacturing.

Some busy agencies of the federal government devote themselves to furthering the interest of the small businessman. The SBA, for example, helps him to find the credit to keep his business going or to expand it; to participate in his share of government business; sets up management seminars for a small fee.

The credit arrangements cover a wide range of needs. Last week, SBA Administrator Eugene P. Foley announced new ceilings on loans. The top for immediate participation bank loans was set at $100,000 if the bank's share is less than 25 per cent; if it is that or more, the top is $350,000. This is the limit for guaranteed bank loans.

Small Loans Program
A year ago this month, the SBA embarked on a program of small loans, by which it could loan up to $15,000 for six years to small retail or service firms. These constituted about two-fifths of the $425.8 million in business loans which the SBA approved during last year.

The SBA has figured that the average loan to a small manufacturer is $72,000; to non-manufacturers, $38,000. Most of the loans are approved in the 68 regional offices scattered throughout the United States, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

One of the bigger services which the SBA has provided has been in the field of defense contracts. Working with the Department of Defense, it has helped to deliver the message that the government is in the market for thousands of products which are within the production or service range of the smaller producer.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Now you have a day and evening to get busy and put into effect that new plan of action that so interests you. For, by expressing your own magnetic nature and with the assistance of an influential man you must contact, you find that conditions flow much more easily towards the success for which you are working.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — Be dynamic in pursuing what you truly want and you will not fail. Any changes that need to be made will pave the way for you nicely. Be sure your health is at its peak for best results.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) — Contact the person who has the greatest experience if you want right advice in confidence to gain your aims. Make this a very productive day. Nightclubbing, or the theatre ideal for you.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — Finding new associates is relatively easy if you contact persons you have been considering for some time. You have excellent judgment, but at this time, make good use of it.

MOON (June 22 to July 21) — A shift to higher-up for additional backing will meet with success if you use tact and are practical. Then do whatever will make you more affluent. Show that you can repay with interest.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) — You must try a new tack if you want to finally solve those problematical affairs that have had you stymied for some time. You are the one with vision now. Impress others with this fact.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) — Handling tax and insurance and other practical matters early leaves you free to please mate later. Follow your intuition in dealing with friends. Be affable but not naive.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — If you are enthusiastic at your job, co-workers will follow suit, much can be accomplished. Getting wide-range in order for busy days ahead is also wise. Show you have good taste.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Taking a positive course and pushing straight through to your goals can bring the happiness you desire. Don't tolerate poor conditions about you. Make others more comfortable, too.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 30) — If you sit down with close ties and figure out how to make future brighter, all around, they cooperate more with your ideas. Entertain at home. Make family happy.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 31 to Feb. 19) — You are thinking very clearly and sharply, so make this a day for forging ahead quickly. Talk over with family and friends what you want to the days ahead. Come to fine understanding.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — An opportunity is at hand that will help you to increase abundance and add much to property holdings as well. Seize it. Take good advice from a big business person.

Methodists Open Business Meeting At Conference

LUBBOCK (Sp) — The 56th annual session of the Northwest Texas conference of the Methodist Church formally opened its business meeting here Tuesday morning and around 500 voting delegates immediately began consideration of several important issues.

During the morning the conference adopted a proposed constitution for the Northwest Texas Conference Council.

This is a document which spells out the purpose of the council and its works in implementing the various programs of the conference. The constitution sets forth the membership of the council and its structure and provides for an additional staff member to be added this year, an associate executive secretary.

As the noon hour approached the conference was considering a report submitted by the committee on number of districts. This committee has been working for more than two years in making a study of the present district structure of the conference.

It recommended Tuesday morning that the number of districts be reduced from nine to eight for the conference year 1965-66, and that a reduction to seven districts be completed as soon as flexibility in appointments makes this feasible.

The chairman of the districting committee, Dr. J. H. Crawford, Lubbock, told the conference that developments of the past two years indicate a trend toward extended ministry arrangements and merger of smaller churches with larger ones.

Crawford said that it appears there is to be a further decline in the total number of pastoral charges. There are to be 256 pastoral charges in the years 1965-66, a decline of five from 1964-65.

If the redistricting plan is approved, Bishop Eugene Slater, the presiding Bishop of the conference, would have responsibility of redesignating of conference lines.

Scheduled later today, were a number of other reports and to-night the conference minister, Dr. Dow Kirkpatrick, pastor of the First Methodist Church in Evanston, Ill., will deliver the first of a series of sermons scheduled during the conference this week.

Principal Resigns To Take New Job

Floyd M. Smith, principal of Woodrow Wilson elementary school, has resigned to accept a teaching post in El Paso public schools, Jack Edmondson, school superintendent announced today.

Smith's wife, a teacher at Lamar elementary school, also resigned, Edmondson said.

Smith has been in the Pampa school system for 12 years serving as a teacher at Pampa Junior High, assistant principal at Robert E. Lee Junior High and for the past seven years principal at Woodrow Wilson.

Replacements for the two vacant posts will be considered soon, Edmondson said.

Pampa Youngster Wins Scholarship

A Pampa High School senior has won an $85 scholarship to the college of his choice by Southwest Technical Institute of Oklahoma City.

Kermit Koen, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Koen, 1708 Hobart, won the scholarship over youths from Oklahoma, Texas, Kansas and Arkansas.

Koen, through his high school instructor, E. J. Deaver, sent in the winning mechanical draft.

Mr. Williams was born July 10, 1912, in Malone. He died at 10:25 a.m. yesterday in a local hospital.

Mr. Williams moved to Pampa from Wellington in 1935. He was employed at Kitchens Gulf Service Station.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Ruby Williams, of the home; three daughters, Mrs. Stella Faye Hester and Mrs. Patsy Hester, both of Bakersfield, Calif., and Mrs. Willie Mae Holmes of Lawton, Okla., and 14 grandchildren.

Palbearers will be James Morgan, W. Harris, Jimmy Wilson, C. Levent, J. Henry and W. Dickson.

Mrs. Louise Faye Wright CANADIAN (Sp) — Funeral services for Mrs. Louise Faye Wright, 31, of Hurst, former Canadian resident, will be conducted at 2 p.m. tomorrow in Canadian First Christian Church with Rev. Myri Powers officiating. Burial will follow in Canadian Cemetery under direction of Stickleby Funeral Home.

Mrs. Wright was born March 4, 1934, in Canadian. She died yesterday morning in a Dallas Hospital.

Survivors include her husband, Ernest Wright, a daughter, Robin, and a son, David, all of the home; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Zybach of Canadian, and a sister, Mrs. Freida Tucker of Dalhart.

Clean-Up Work To End Friday

Pampa's annual clean-up campaign has been extended through the remainder of this week, City Manager Jim White said today.

City trucks will continue to pick up trash that normally is not picked up by garbage trucks.

Householders have been advised to put out trash that needs to be picked up and the clean-up service will be maintained through Friday.

Trucks have been running behind schedule, the city manager said, due to the recent rains which made some of the alleys inaccessible.

"If the trucks have not yet picked up the trash in your neighborhood," White said, "they will get around to it before the week is over."

The high school band played the processional and recessional marches and Marshall Gardner, John Phillip Sousa scholarship winner, entertained with "Concerto for Trumpet," accompanied by the band.

Invocation was given by the Rev. Carson Snow and the benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Olin Wright.

The graduating class stood at their places on the field house basketball floor and sang "Dear Old Pampa High School" as their parting song.

C-C Hears Committee Reports At Monthly Directors' Meeting

The monthly Directors' Meeting of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce was held Monday morning in the Coronado Inn, with committees reporting activities of the organization since last month.

Norman Henry, Finance Director, reported that the recent membership campaign was one of the most successful in the history of the organization, with a total of $33,775 collected toward the $35,000 budget of the Chamber. With a number of firms and individuals yet to be contacted, Henry stated that the budget would be met.

Frank Culberson, Chairman of the Industrial committee, brought the board up to date on activities of his group. He stated that contacts are being made through a number of different channels to try to interest industrial concerns in giving consideration to Pampa for any industrial expansion they might have coming up.

Paul Crouch, Chairman of the Highway committee, along with a member of the committee, G. K. Reading, gave a report on highway construction now underway and on the planning boards. Reading, who is Resident Engineer of the Texas State Highway Department, said that work had started on State Highway 273 between Pampa and McLean and should be finished by fall. He also stated that work was going forward on right-of-way requirements for the construction of U.S. Highway 60 west to the county line, which would provide a four-lane divided highway.

Harold Barrett, Chairman of the Tourist Development committee, reported for his group and showed pictures of new signboards being placed at the entrances of the city proclaiming Pampa as the hometown of World Champion Shot Putter, Randy Matson. Barrett also reported that the 1966 convention of the U.S. Highway 60 Association would be held in Pampa and that Howard Buckingham Jr. had been elected president of the Association at the Clovio convention last month.

Don Lane, Chairman of the Legislative and National Affairs committee, announced a meeting of the Congressional Action Committee for Tuesday, June 1, in the Coronado Inn where the Toastmasters Club will present a program on current national issues.

Joe Fischer, Chairman of the Fire Prevention and Safety committee, reported that to date 140 loads of trash and debris has been hauled away by city dump trucks and that the work was probably about 50 per cent complete. Fischer said that cooperation on the part of individuals within the city had been most gratifying.

Mack Hiatt, reporting for the Retail Trade committee, discussed plans for the July 4 Independence Day celebration, and the board approved the budget for the free fireworks display and program which will be held Sunday night, July 4, at Recreation Park. Jerry Sims and Mack Hiatt are co-chairmen of the Retail Trade committee and will have charge of the day's activities.

Recording Artist To Entertain at All Civic Club Fete

Fred Lowery, recording artist, will top the entertainment program at the Pampa Key Club's first annual All Civic Club Coordination banquet Thursday night in the high school field house.

Members of the Kiwanis, Lions, Optimists, Rotary and Jaycee luncheon clubs and their wives have been invited to the banquet scheduled for 7 p.m. Thursday.

Mrs. Richard Raymond will be the main banquet speaker. She will explain the program of the High Plains Eye Bank, a project sponsored in Pampa by the Lions clubs.

All luncheon club meetings have been cancelled this week so that civic club members can join at the Key Club banquet and receive credit for their weekly attendance.

The coordination banquet is a project of the Key Club which hopes to combine the efforts of all civic clubs on community-wide projects.

"Eventually," George Snell, Key club president, said, "we hope to be instrumental in forming a Council of Men's Clubs which would function similarly in Pampa to the Council of Women's Clubs."

Former Pampa To Get Doctor of Philosophy Degree

Richard Malcolm Brown Jr., 26, son of Dr. and Mrs. R. Malcolm Brown, 1919 Charles, will receive his Doctor of Philosophy degree from the University of Texas in graduation exercises Saturday.

Brown is a 1957 graduate of Pampa High School and entered the University that same year. Majoring in botany, he received his Bachelor of Science degree in 1961 and continued his studies at the University.

Immediately after graduation, Brown and his family will fly to Hawaii for the second straight summer to teach at the University of Hawaii. He will return to Austin in August to assume a teaching assignment with the University.

C-C Member Drive Winners Given Prizes

Workers in the recent Chamber membership campaign were guests of the Chamber at a luncheon in the Coronado Inn Monday noon and awards were made to the winning teams and individuals.

Norman Henry, finance director of the Chamber, presented engraved electric clocks to first-place team, No. 4, headed by Eddie Polnac and assisted by Jake Webb, Duggan Smith, Jim Morris, and Charlie Vaughn.

Engraved electric clocks were also presented to the second-place team, No. 19, headed by Gene Imel, consisting of Mack Hiatt, Kay Fancher, and Jim Brown. The third-place team headed by Bill McComas and assisted by Lou Troja, Dennis Smith, Ken Shearer, and Doc Barker was presented engraved cigarette cases.

Jim Morris and Gene Imel were presented weekend trips to Quartz Mountain Lodge for their individual salesmanship of first and second places, respectively.

Jack Vaughn and members of his team, consisting of J. E. Gunn, Gene Hellar, John McCausland and Malcolm Hinkle, were the recipients of the proverbial Mother Goose as the reward for last-place team.

Gene Green, president of the Chamber, presided at the meeting and commended Finance Director Norman Henry, along with directors and workers for the fine job they did in connection with the recent campaign.

Since it was not possible to contact all business firms and individuals during the two-week period, workers will continue their calls in order that everyone will be given an opportunity to participate in the Chamber's 1965 budget and work program.

Highland General Gets Three Year Accreditation

Bill Robertson, administrator at Highland General Hospital, said today he has been notified that the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals has approved the accreditation of Highland General for a period of three years. This is the result of the evaluation of the hospital by a survey conducted last April 12, by a representative of the Joint Commission.

Accreditation is a measuring stick the medical and hospital professions have developed to help hospitals measure the success of various activities.

The accreditation program sets up carefully designated standards for every area of activity in an average hospital. The philosophy of this program is to look at the hospital from the patient's viewpoint — to safeguard the patient's life and health, Robertson said.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plates dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little PASTETEX, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get PASTETEX at any drug counter.

TEC Needs Employer's Help To Detect and Prevent Fraud

The Texas Employment Commission's capacity to detect and prevent fraud and improper payments in its unemployment insurance program can be measured by the amount of employer cooperation received. W. HERMA Birdwell Jr., commissioner representing employers, told members of the Fraud Detection and Prevention Committee of the Interstate Conference of Employment Security Agencies in Silver Springs, Maryland this week.

"We are not asking the employer to assume responsibility for policing the program, since that is our responsibility," Birdwell told the group. "but we have learned that some employers need reminders from time to time that their role in a well-administered unemployment insurance program calls for more than the payment of taxes."

He cited a recent fraud prevention study in which the Commission requested 12,000 employers to supply a daily breakdown of quarterly wages.

"The fact that we received an 85 per cent employer response is indicative of the willingness of Texas employers to help protect the program against abuse, though in some instances we know it is a hardship on some employers to supply this information," Birdwell said.

He pointed out that several thousand dollars per month are saved by the fraud prevention efforts of the Commission. During the four quarters ending in March, $259,350 was returned to the fund as a result of fraud detection or non-fraudulent overpayments discovered by Commission investigative efforts.

"The electronic data processing equipment installed last year now enables us to conduct a benefit wage survey on every claimant, but investigative efforts by local TEC office personnel and other efforts dependent upon employer cooperation are still an important part of our fraud prevention program," Birdwell declared. "Unemployment insurance serves a real need in our economy as well as in the lives of those unemployed through no fault of their own when it is paid under the conditions for which it is intended, and we have a responsibility to the general public to conduct the program fairly and with minimum abuse."

Mills Working Hard To Catch Up on Backlogs

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — Steel magazine said today mills are pushing hard to catch up on shipment backlogs and are instituting strict controls on order acceptance.

The heavy demands on the mills for the past few months, the trade weekly said, are beginning to take a toll in equipment with a resulting additional disruption of shipments.

Despite the efforts to become current on deliveries, ingot output and finished steel shipments in May will slip below the April total because of equipment downtime for repairs.

Steel said ingot production this week will decline slightly from the 2,650,000 tons the magazine estimates were produced last week. This output would indicate production for the year at 139 million tons, still far ahead of the record 127 million tons in 1964.

No Orders Canceled

New ordering has subsided only moderately despite the interim settlement with the United Steelworkers Union and customers have not canceled orders or requests for shipments, Steel said. One mill in Chicago, according to the magazine, reported an increase of 20 per cent over the week-ago level and that its order inflow was equal to 80 per cent of capacity.

A check of metalworking managers by steel indicated they were optimistic about the outlook for incoming orders during the summer, but still expect problems because of the order backlogs and vacations, higher expenses due to overtime and other economic factors.

The magazine said purchasers will have to fight for materials as lead times continue to extend and price stability is threatened.

According to Steel, the effort to ship material before May 1, which was the original steel strike deadline, has left some mills short of semifinished products for processing this month.

Steel said one midwestern mill concentrated on shipping hot rolled sheet tonnage before May 1 rather than produce the hot bands needed for its cold mill. The result was that the mill has not been able to operate at capacity since then because of a lack of hot bands.

Plates continue in strong demand, the magazine said, spurred by strong construction schedules in cargo shipbuilding, deep pressure tanks, dam projects and equipment in the chemical processing and refining industries.

A high demand for structural steels and reinforcing bars continues and fabricating shops report order backlogs are growing.

NEWARK, N.J.: The merger of Penick & Ford, Ltd., Molasses and Foodmakers, into R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. was approved by a federal judge in Newark but the Justice Department is expected to appeal the case.

NEW YORK: Prices of Portland cement have been falling in some areas in the past 60 days and cement companies say their earnings will be affected. The reason usually given is that extensive building of new mills has created at least temporary overcapacity.

The possibility of using the balloon in war was envisioned from its invention in the late 18th century by the Montgolfier brothers, French paper makers. At that time, Benjamin Franklin wrote, while in Paris: "It (the balloon) may be sufficient for certain purposes, such as elevating an engineer to take a view of an enemy's army."

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Market opinion:

A. W. Zelomek's Securities Guide and Market Timer says that "irrespective of the near-by trend, the 1965 high is yet to be seen. The current reaction will be moderate and temporary . . . to assume that, of necessity, a sharp downturn is a nearby likelihood because business has advanced for 32 months and the present upward trend in the stock market had been one of the longest for some time, would be unrealistic."

Robert T. Allen, for Shearson, Hammill & Co., says that "Thus far, the weakness that has taken place in most of the list seems to reflect little more than the desire of investors to lock up profits, which have become plentiful at this stage of the long bull market. We see nothing wrong with a program of selective profit-taking in stocks that have advanced sharply and may have temporarily run out of steam. However, we do not consider it wise to entirely remove such funds from the market."

Alexander Hamilton Institute's Investment Bulletin notes that the expanding military operations have focused attention on defense stocks. It finds that the market "still offers profit opportunities for the astute trader but would caution the investor not to sacrifice investment grade holdings for poorer quality speculations at this stage of the market."

United States swapped 630-acre El Chamizal in El Paso to Mexico for 193 acres of Cordova Island after the Rio Grande changed its course a century ago.

The residence of the president of the U.S. was first called the White House in 1811, but not until Theodore Roosevelt put the name on stationery in 1902 was it made official.

'An Informal History of Texas' Reviewed For Genealogical and Historical Society

Fifty-three members and guests of Pampa Genealogical and Historical Society were entertained with a review of Frank X. Tolbert's "An Informal History of Texas" presented by Mrs. N. Dudley Steele at the May meeting of the Society Monday evening in the auditorium of Lovett Memorial Library.

Following the pledge to the U. S. and Texas flags, each member of the Society answered the roll call with an unusual fact of Texas' history. The president, Tracy D. Cary, then introduced Mrs. Steele who in turn introduced several members of the Tolbert family including the uncle and aunt of the author, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Tolbert and a cousin, Mrs. Jeff Bearden, and Mr. Bearden, who were guests of honor.

In opening her presentation, Mr. Steele stated that Frank Tolbert and his son had traveled the thousands of miles which outline the borders of Texas just to prove it really was the same shape as it is on the map, and to learn first-hand the more elusive details of its fabulous history.

"Frank Tolbert has captured a view of the Lone Star State as a place where one may 'inhale eternity', where even the very grass of the Panhandle Plains 400 years ago was described by the explorer Coronado as being tall, blue-green and thick like waves on a vast sea," Mrs. Steele emphasized.

Among the first to come to Texas was the explorer Cabeza da Vaca who was shipwrecked on the Texas coast in 1528. While other explorers met with hardship and death at the hands of the Indians, da Vaca saw that the medicine men exerted even more power on the tribes than the chiefs, and he won their confidence and faith by giving them medicine, corn, and supplies. He even performed an operation on an Indian by removing an arrow from just above the Indian's heart, and had success with them from then on.

A little known heroine of Texas was "Octaroon Emily", described as a very beautiful and charming 'maid of color' who belonged to the Morgan family, belonged to the Morgan family, Houston's men attacked the Camp of Santa Anna in 1836, Emily slipped into the Mexicans' camp and distracted the enemy with her wily charms, leaving them so exhausted from the night of revelry that they were defeated the next day by Houston's vastly outnumbered forces. Emily, a true Texas patriot, is supposedly the girl that the song "Yellow Rose of Texas" described in such glowing terms.

Other sketches included that burying of $80,000 on Padre Island by the Singer Family (of Sewing Machine fame) during the Civil War, eagerly sought after by treasure hunters; the Reconstruction Day shipment of camels to Texas by the carpet-bag regime because, "Texas was dry as a desert and only camels could survive"; and Mrs. Jim Clark's (for whom Clarksville was named) famous 20 mile horseback ride just to catch a glimpse of the famous Davy Crockett who was passing through the country.

Getting closer to home, Mrs. Steele pointed out that Temple Houston, son of Sam Houston, DANCE RECITAL SOLOIST - Miss Shelia Blakemore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Blakemore, 325 N. Sumner, will perform a tap dance solo, "Sunny Side of the Street," in Tuesday night's presentation of "Santa Fe Rhythm Train," being presented by students of Beaux Arts Dance Studio.

"Miss Amarillo" - Representing "Miss Amarillo" in Tuesday night's 17th Annual Beaux Arts Dance Studio Revue will be Miss Sue Jane Sanders, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jere Sanders, 2223 N. Nelson. Some 200 students, directed by Jeanne Willingham will appear in the revue to be held at 7:30 p.m. in Pampa Junior High School Auditorium. Ticket sale receipts from the production, "Santa Fe Rhythm Train," will go toward a scholarship fund. Miss Sanders will be appearing as a tap dance soloist.

Groninger: W. F. Taylor, D. V. Wagner, Paul Reimer, Hall Burton, Glenna Jones, O. A. Skidmore and Grantham.

Winners Named For Flower Show

Winners have been announced in the flower show, "Rhapsody in Flowers," co-sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Garden Club and Top O' Texas Garden Club. The show was held from 2 to 7 p.m. Saturday in Lovett Memorial Library.

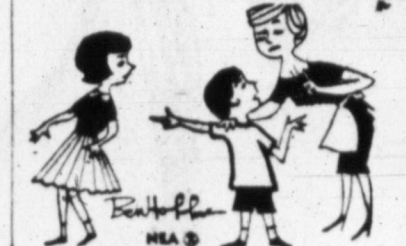

In the artistic division Mrs. Fauncine Mack received the Tri-Color Award for the most outstanding arrangement and also received the Sweepstakes Award for winning the most blue ribbons in the division.

Ira Carlton won the Sweepstakes Award in the horticulture division. Mrs. Dan Glaxner won the Award of Merit in this division for entering the best specimen.

More than 100 guests registered during the afternoon.

Judges for the show were Mrs. Thelma Bray, Mrs. Myron Dorman Jr. and Mrs. John Sweeney.

Manners Make Friends

Don't encourage a child to tattle.

DEAR ABBY...

Best Friend Can Be Dad

DEAR ABBY: In just a few weeks my brother is getting married. He asked Dad to be his best man, and it doesn't sound proper to me. Please give me your opinion. I would appreciate an answer in your column so he can see it, too. Thank you.

JANE
DEAR JANE: It is entirely proper and I think a beautiful gesture on the part of your brother. In these days when diamonds are a girl's best friend, how refreshing for a man's best friend to be his Dad.

DEAR ABBY: I have a pet peeve that sounds so petty and stupid that I am almost ashamed to mention it. It's people who come and sit down beside me on the piano bench while I am playing. I don't know why this bothers me so much, but it does. Now you know, Abby, you can't tell someone to get up and go sit somewhere else without hurting their feelings. But it would be a big relief to me if I could get them to move in a nice inoffensive way. Any suggestions from you, or anyone who has solved this problem, would be greatly appreciated.

DEAR LOST: People want to sit beside you while you're playing because they're fascinated. Change your attitude and regard their presence as a compliment and it might be easier to bear. P.S. You might also change your piano bench for a piano stool.

DEAR ABBY: I am having a problem with my sister. She is always running down the place where I get my meat, groceries and even the place where I take my dry cleaning. She keeps after me to shop where she shops and gets mad if I don't take her suggestions. Her husband makes more than mine and I can't afford to spend money like she does. Besides, I have no car and I have to shop near to where I live. Abby, I am satisfied with my life the way it is, but she makes me feel everything I have is second-rate. I'm not jealous of her. I just wish she would leave me alone and quit suggesting things I can't afford. I am older than she is, but she makes me feel like a helpless child. What can I tell her?

LOST CHORD
SISTER TROUBLE

DEAR TROUBLE: Thank her for her suggestions. Then tell her you must shop where it is convenient for you, and the price fits your pocketbook. And if she resumes the suggestions, tune her out and change the subject.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ROBERT: There's only one way to succeed. You've gotta want it. And it's a do-it-yourself project all the way. You can't borrow the ambition. You can't borrow the perseverance. Nor can you borrow the self-confidence it takes to become a success. But above all, you've gotta want so passionately that nothing — and no one — can discourage you.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif.

Year's Work Is Ended by Lamar P-TA

Lamar P-TA met Thursday afternoon in the school auditorium with Brownie Troup 63 giving the Flag Ceremony, under the leadership of Mrs. B. Helm and Mrs. Joe Ford. Mrs. B. L. Smith gave the invocation.

Joe Page, principal, welcomed the parents and gave words of appreciation for the cooperation this past year. He presented Mrs. N. L. Nicholl, outgoing president, a certificate for Life Membership, on behalf of Lamar P-TA and the executive board.

Mrs. Nicholl was in charge of the meeting and introduced Mrs. Lawrence Paronto, program leader, who presented "A Parade of Fashions" with Mrs. Sue Higdon furnishing music for the models.

Reports were given by committee chairmen. The scrapbook was shown which received superior awards as did the yearbook, achievement sheet and membership. These were the highest awards given at the District 19 Spring Conference at Shamrock.

Mrs. B. L. Smith's third grade room won ice cream for having most parents present, and Mrs. David Green won the door prize, a cake baked by Mrs. Herschel Lewis.

Mrs. E. C. Pulse installed the following officers using the symbol of a flower: president, Mrs. Lawrence Paronto; vice president, Mrs. R. E. Warren Jr.; secretary, Mrs. David Green; treasurer, Mrs. Paul Jones; parliamentarian, Mrs. Roy Franke; historian, Mrs. Dennis Stafford; and City Council representatives, Mrs. N. L. Nicholl and Mrs. Glen Day.

The new officers were congratulated by the outgoing president, Mrs. Nicholl, and a gift of appreciation was given Mrs. Pulse for installing them.

Mrs. Joy Thomas was presented a gift to be given her husband for printing the newsletter each month.

The meeting was turned over to the incoming president, Mrs. Paronto, who presented Mrs. OES Gavel Club Has Supper Meet

Mrs. V. M. Voyles, 1001 S. Hobart, was hostess to OES Past Matrons' Gavel Club when the group met recently for a covered dish supper. Serving as co-hostess was Mrs. Lorena Rallsback.

Invocation was given by Mrs. Sweet Shearer.

During the business session, presided over by Mrs. Viola Pennington, president, Mrs. Ruth Sewell gave the secretary's report. A committee report was given by Mrs. Maude Andis concerning the hosting of Senior Citizens' Center and Mrs. Emma Lee Gray gave a report on the Borger Past Matrons' Gavel Club meeting on May 12 attended by members of the local club. Attending the Borger meeting were Mmes. Viola Pennington, Ruth Casey, Emma Lee Gray, Ethel Stilwell, Sweet Shearer, Loleta Byars, Blanche Morrison, Ruth Sewell, Maude Andis, Johnny Price and Vi Cobb.

Announcement was made of the next meeting to be held June 10 in the home of Mrs. W. L. Parker at 1521 Williston.

Members present were Mmes. Evelyn Nace, Blanche Morrison, Loleta Byars, Sweet Shearer, Ethel Stilwell, Emma Lee Gray, Ada Warner, John Reeves, Ruth Casey, Maude Andis, Ruth Sewell, Stella Wagner, Viola Pennington, W. N. Voyles and Lorena Rallsback.

DAR Las Pampas Chapter Members Hear Mrs. W. R. Ewing Give Speech

Las Pampas Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution met May 15 at Jackson Cafeteria for a luncheon. Mrs. John McKnerney acting for Mrs. Katie Vincent, the chaplain, gave the invocation.

Following the luncheon there was a short business meeting presided over by Mrs. A. D. Hills, the regent. The pledge of allegiance and the American Creed were given. A letter was read from Mrs. Leslie Harris, organizing Secretary General of the National Society DAR. She congratulated the chapter for having met all requirements for confirmation by the National Board of Managers. The Chapter received a citation signed by Mrs. Harris and the National Board for having organized in the first six months of the Jubilee year.

Four new members were received into the Chapter. They are Mrs. Irene Osborne, Mrs. C. R. Grimsley, Mrs. George Hrdlicka of Pampa and Mrs. C. T. Boone of Lubbock.

Mrs. W. R. Ewing was guest speaker. She told of her experiences in coming to the Panhandle in 1882. She came with her family when she was a little girl. Her father brought the family to Old Mobeetie when that was the only town in this area. Old Tascosa, Old Clarendon and Old Mobeetie were the only towns in the Panhandle. She said they have been called "Old" because there came to be newer towns of that name.

They lived at the hotel until they could find a place to live. Their first home was a two roomed house with large cracks in the floor. She and her younger sister enjoyed watching the chickens which nested under the house. Later they were able to find a more suitable home.

Guests besides Mrs. Ewing were Mrs. Jake Garman, and Miss Ruth Huff. Members attending were Mrs. Turner Kirby, Mrs. John McKnerney, Mrs. C. R. Grimsley, Mrs. Irene Osborne, Mrs. George Hrdlicka, Mrs. C. E. Cary, Mrs. B. R. Shultz, Mrs. A. D. Hills, Mrs. Henry Merrick of Groom and Mrs. Lawrence Rice of Dumas.

Had a full house of Senior Citizens at the Center this week. Twenty tables of games were played.

Mrs. Kate Humphrey was welcomed back after being absent since November. Mrs. Loyd Miller of Golden City, Col., visited the center with her aunt, Mrs. E. C. Curtis. Mrs. M. M. Kilcrease of Duncan, Okla. was also a guest as was Mrs. R. W. Barry of Laketon. Mrs. Kilcrease is visiting a daughter and family, Mrs. Naomi Gill, and Mrs. Barry was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ennis Jones.

Mrs. Katie Vincent spent the weekend in Lubbock visiting relatives.

Wednesday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Moseley were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Dilly of Canadian.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Hefner of Modesto, Calif., have been house guests of a sister-in-law, Mrs. Libby Trimble.

R. W. Tucker visited last week in Sudan with a sister, Mrs. Roland Daurer.

Maggie Morris, who was ill. J. M. Forrest attended the Center this week after being absent for some time. Mr. Forrest has been working and unable to attend. Mrs. Forrest was working and could not come with him.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Evans visited his brother Otis Evans and family, in Sentinel, Okla., the first of the week.

Mrs. Maggie Deal spent Monday visiting friends in Hedley. Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Moseley attended graduation services for a granddaughter, Doris Moseley, in Cyril, Okla.

Mrs. H.B. Williams and family of Kermit were weekend guests of Mrs. Williams' mother, Mrs. P. G. Turner, and brother, Carl Ray Allen, and family.

Serving as hostesses this week were members of Civic Culture Club. Refreshments of apple pie, ice cream and coffee were served during the social hour by Mmes. J. B. Townsend, J. W. Duke, C. E. Pennington, R. A. Sorenson, George Neef, W. J. Morris, Irvin Cole, Katie Vincent, A. D. Hills, W. C. Scott and Roland Daurer.

'Hobo' Supper Held Recently by Group

Highland Hobby Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Walter Hurst for a "Hobo" supper with Mrs. Orvin Calvert serving as co-hostess.

Mrs. Hurst served the meal from tables covered with gunny sacks lighted by oil lamps.

Following the meal games were enjoyed with Mrs. H. T. Nail receiving the door prize. Members present planned a picnic to be held June 6.

Immunology Deals Blow to Paralysis

By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Few sciences deal more directly with human health than that of immunology, and it is of vast potential value to people that the science has found it possible to thwart "immunological paralysis."

Such a paralysis occurs when body chemistry meets up with a chemical invader from the outside — an "antigen" — and fails to produce the specific antibodies which could make the invader harmless.

Any outside substance capable of stimulating antibody production is an antigen. Viruses are. So are bacteria. That is why people as a rule have any viral or bacterial disease only once. The second time the antigens come around their antibodies are present to rebuff them.

Also Cause Allergies
Antigens also are the causes of allergies. Some people are entirely immune to antigens to which other people are highly allergic. All this is the meat of immunology whose scientists have long known the relatively large amounts of an antigen injected into an animal will paralyze its immunological chemistry. No antibodies are produced to make it immune to the antigen.

Immunologist Marcus S. Brooke of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology countered this paralysis with what will seem a drastic and dangerous weapon — and found that it worked with truly amazing efficiency.

Certain bacteria produce within themselves a poison which is released as they disintegrate. This greatly enhances the seriousness of some bacterial diseases. This poison is an "endotoxin" and Brooke's weapon was the poison of a lesser but persistent bacterial enemy of people, salmonella typhosa.

Mice Used

He injected tiny amounts of it into 10-week-old mice after they had been injected with a substance of a bacteria which causes pneumonia. This substance in relatively large amounts causes immunological paralysis.

An equal number of mice got the bacterial substance but got no endotoxin. Some five weeks later all the mice were injected with the bacteria themselves — diplococcus pneumonia — in amounts 100 times the known lethal dose for mice. The mice which had received no endotoxin to counter their immunological paralysis were all killed at once by such a "challenge."

But 62 of the 64 mice which got the endotoxin were not bothered by it. They had the antibodies to diplococcus P — immunological paralysis had been thwarted in them by a bacterial poison.

US Businessmen Watching EFTA

By JESSE BOGUE
NEW YORK (UPI)—United States businessmen with stakes in export dealings to Europe will be watching a meeting at Vienna this week for some idea of the future pathway of that other big trade bloc — the European Free Trade Association (EFTA).

This group set itself up in 1960; it is composed of seven nations, Austria, Denmark, Norway, Portugal, Sweden, Switzerland and the United Kingdom, plus an associate member, Finland. It sometimes is called the "outer seven;" the other and, to now, stronger bloc of the European Economic Community (EEC) consists of Belgium, France, Germany, Italy, Luxembourg and the Netherlands.

U.S. trade with the EFTA nations, the First National City Bank of New York points out in a current study, has grown over the last five years. In 1959, the United States exports to the nations of this group totaled $1,571,000,000; in 1964, they were $2,508,000,000. Imports from them were $1,803,000,000 in 1959; last year, they were $1,954,000,000.

Vital Question
As for the future, however, the most vital question to the U.S. businessman of export interests may lie not in the fluctuations of year to year trade figures, but in what sort of working relationship eventually emerges between the EEC and the EFTA: will differences between the two blocs be ultimately worked out so that Western Europe becomes, in effect, one unified trading area.

Britain has proposed that the EFTA move toward a single European market. At present, tariff barriers have reduced sales by EFTA members to those nations in the EEC, and in consequence, the bank study says, the EFTA must extend cooperation among members to more than just eliminating internal tariffs and quotas, and must reach into the area of wiping out some tax practices which discriminate against foreign competition.

When the EFTA came into existence, it was with the idea that it would act as a bridge between the Common Market group and a Europe-wide trading organization.

The United Kingdom and other members of the EFTA over the following three years sought some kind of close link with the Common Market with the general idea that the EFTA could ultimately be dissolved.

Turn Down Britain
But, under the leadership of the French government of Gen. Charles de Gaulle, the EEC refused Britain's application for EEC membership and the EFTA found it necessary to continue with a trade organization of its own.

EFTA continental members were unhappy when Britain, in an attempt to correct a payment imbalance, recently slapped a 15 per cent surcharge on imports, although this has since been reduced by 5 per cent. But it has continued as a working organization.

Young Negroes To Get Help on New Careers

By AL KUETTNER
ATLANTA (UPI)—With business and industry picking up the cost, a serious effort will be made here this summer to open new career opportunities for disadvantaged youngsters. Most of those benefited will be young Negroes.

Starting July 19, a group of public high school counselors will meet for two weeks at Georgia State College to study with experts means of inspiring and helping Atlanta youth who might otherwise end up as dropouts or on the unemployment rolls.

While the program is not designed with racial implications, Negroes will benefit most because of their economic and educational status.

Despite the outward appearance of prosperity in this booming Dixie-metropolis, some authorities estimate that almost one-third of the population is living in disadvantaged or slum conditions.

Director of the seminar will be Dr. Robert E. Garren, head of Georgia State's department of sociology. He will be assisted by Lewis G. Van Gorder, director of the school of special

Change Direction

The seminar will operate on a budget of about $12,500, contributed by a number of blue chip companies of the area.

"We hope to give these youths and their school counselors a new image of what is expected from business," Garren said in an interview.

Another objective is to "turn the direction of hope from government to private business."

"Too many young people have developed a sort of 'government syndrome' in which they think only the government will help them," Garren said.

The concept for the program — formally known as Seminar on Employment Problems of Disadvantaged Youth in the City of Atlanta — was born in the federal government's "Plans for Progress," the national effort to enlist business in opening up opportunities for Negroes.

Business Takes Over

The government offered to pick up the tab for the Atlanta program, first of its kind in the South. But business said it wanted to undertake the entire venture. Enthusiasm mounted quickly, with high level industrialists giving full support.

Delegates to the seminar were selected with help from Atlanta school Superintendent John Letson.

A maximum of 40 counselors from Negro and white schools will be paid stipends of $65 per week for attending the session. In addition to class lecture sessions, they will attend workshops with industrial relations directors and visit a number of plants.

Their mission will be to return to their schools in the fall and begin a new approach in counseling of students who are moving closer to job-hunting time.

Birth Control Need For 'Ignorant' Cited

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A scientific group Monday called for a national program to make the "basic right" of birth control as available to the poor and ignorant of America as it is to the better off.

"No family," the group said in a report, "should be fated through poverty or ignorance to have children they do not want and cannot care for."

"Responsible parenthood requires that couples of all social strata have the ability and means to limit births when they wish to do so, in accordance with their personal convictions."

"Critical" Problem
The report was written by the Committee on Population of the National Academy of Sciences. Although U.S. population problems are not as severe as those of many other nations "they are nonetheless critical," according to Dr. Frederick Seitz, president of the academy.

If present trends persisted, the report said, "in the very long run, continued growth of the United States population would first become intolerable and then physically impossible."

Of more immediate concern, the committee said, are such evil fruits of rapid population growth as continuing unemployment, over-crowded schools, slums, delinquency, and pollution.

The report said "the freedom to limit family size" should be made "effective throughout American society." This, it said, "would greatly diminish one of the conditions that perpetuates poverty in the midst of plenty."

Urges Federal Action
The committee urged the federal government to act as promptly as possible to promote research, educational, and public service programs in behalf of family planning.

It might be a good idea, the report said, for the President to appoint "a person at a high national level with specific responsibility for leadership in implementing population programs."

The report said the great majority of American couples approve and practice family planning. Nevertheless, it said, the population is growing at a rate which jeopardizes the nation's "noble goals of optimum education for all, universal abundance, enriched leisure, equal opportunity, quality, beauty and creativity."

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Reaction in the U. S. capital to the ominous news of Russia's latest scientific breakthrough has, on the whole, been remarkably restrained.

I am referring, of course, to the claim by Soviet scientists that they have discovered a way to make synthetic caviar that tastes and smells like the real thing.

Obviously, the prospect that the Soviet Union may one day be able to blanket the world with mass-produced ersatz fish eggs has far-reaching implications for this country.

Thus far, however, the federal government has made no move to seize the railroads, which is usually the first step after an emergency arises. Nor has President Johnson asked for television time to explain the crisis.

Bad Sign
Even Congress has remained calm. Which is generally a bad sign. Anytime Congress remains calm it usually means nobody sees anything to get excited about.

Fearful that such might be the case in this instance, I resolved to call up a couple of lawmakers for comment.

For reasons too subtle to explain, I decided that Sen. Ross Bass, D-Tenn., and Rep. Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., would be the most appropriate sources.

(There is no congressman named Sturgeon.)

I was unable to reach Bass, but Pike quickly set my mind at rest. He made it clear that some congressmen do indeed grasp the significance of the fish egg breakthrough.

"I have given this matter very serious consideration and I am concerned about what it will lead to," Pike reported.

New Weapon

"My concern, however, is not based on the possibility that Russia will sell synthetic caviar to the masses, and thus win over the undeveloped countries to their side.

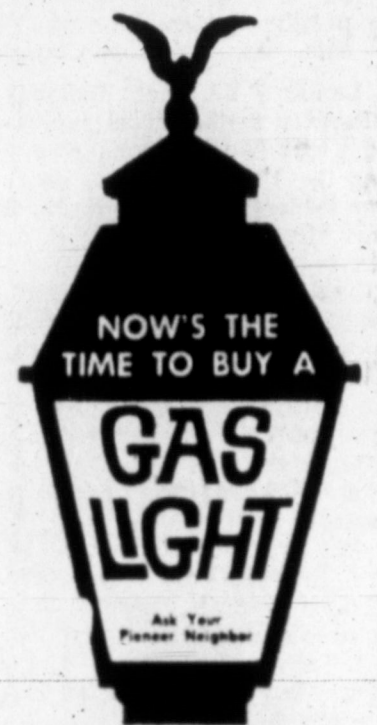

"It is my belief that people who eat caviar do so, not because they like it, but because they derive a masochistic pleasure from chomping on little fish eggs."

"But if the Soviets can imitate the eggs of the sturgeon, it is only a question of time until they will be able to produce synthetic pigeon eggs."

"And if they can do that with pigeons, they can do it with chickens. So what we will actually be facing in the long run are synthetic hen eggs."

"Something like that could upset our entire economy. It's one more weapon that the Communists are using against us in the cold war."

As they say at the Pentagon, understanding the problem is half the battle.

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM

UPI Foreign News Analyst
Any commander planning a military operation must consider an alternative in case his plan fails. Thus, if plan "A" does not work, plan "B" must be ready.

In South Viet Nam, it appears the United States is instituting plan "B".

Plan "A" calling for air strikes against Communist North Viet Nam went into effect last February. Its objective was to convince the Communists they could not win the war in Viet Nam and that to continue it would only make it more expensive for them.

Then, the reasoning went, the Communists would be willing to negotiate.

The air strikes so far have produced no sign of a lessening of Communist determination.

Plan "B" now going into effect calls for a vast increase in American manpower in South Viet Nam.

Forces Increased

Within the last month, U.S. military forces there have increased by about 15,000, including more Marines and combat-ready paratroops.

Double or more that number within the next year is not an impossibility.

The idea seems to be that the American forces could establish beachheads which gradually would be expanded to accommodate hundreds of thousands of U.S. troops should it become necessary.

Involved are a number of vital questions.

Does this remain a Vietnamese war or does it become an American war?

Who commands it, the Americans or the Vietnamese?

How firmly established is the Saigon government? What happens in case of another coup d'etat and the possibility that a new government might ask the Americans out in favor of a peace with Hanoi?

Show Little Interest

When the French lost the war for Indo-China at Dien Bien Phu in 1954, they had been fighting what clearly was a French war. The rank-and-file Vietnamese had very little interest in it.

Such a possibility cannot be overlooked again.

Militarily, at least some South Vietnamese commanders ardently hope that the Americans will abandon their advisory role and enter the combat as organized units. Earlier this month, in Da Nang, Maj. Gen. Nguyen Chanh Thi spoke frankly about activities beyond the Da Nang air base defense perimeter.

In Saigon, Prime Minister Phan Huy Quat indirectly voiced the same sentiments when he said in an interview that peace in Asia could only be an armed peace enforced by military might. The might obviously must come from the United States.

But in almost the same breath the prime minister admitted that many South Vietnamese did not understand the nature of the war against communism.

In Saigon, Western diplomats cross their fingers when they voice hopes for the future of the Quat government. So far, they say Quat has been "adroit" in balancing his government between rival religious and military factions.

Buddhist leaders have adopted a frank wait-and-see attitude toward the government and at the moment are quiet. The minority Catholics are uneasy and suspicious that both Quat and the current military leaders lean toward the Buddhists. They believe the Buddhists continue to lean toward neutralism.

And, in this war which is not a war, U.S. paratroops fan out through Communist Viet Cong territory. It's called a training exercise but the paratroops are carrying live ammunition.

THE PAMPA Track Club, although scoring low in points, was satisfied with performances at the USTFF meet in Norman last weekend and, as always, this scribe had an extremely enjoyable time due to the fine hospitality of the Sconers.

MARK WESTBROOK and Randy Johnston both went up in rather poor physical shape. Mark just recovering from shin splints and Randy with an injured foot. Johnston, after watching the action for a while, went ahead and tried the intermediate hurdles anyway, although not taking a chance with meeting later this summer. CONSIDERING that I had been mistaken about the high hurdles being college and not high school highs, and the fact that neither Randy nor Bullard had ever run the college course before, both boys did excellently. Randy led the hurdlers going into the last hurdle, finishing third in his heat and fifth in the race. Bones led going around the curve until he tired in the intermediates, and marked up a creditable 158 in the college highs.

THE PTC even had a good

the highs. Westbrook suffered a thousand deaths, and decided to go out and try it on with Oklahoma state coach Willie Rios anyway, but coach Norman Phillips issued a flat "no." Mark and Willie had a long visit, and this scribe and Willie's coach tried to work out the possibility of the two youngsters

Rifle & Pistol Club Notes

There will be a bench rest match held on July 4. There will be four classes of events: sports, light varmint, heavy varmint and unrestricted (this class conforms to NRA current regulation). Entry fee is $1.50 per class per gun. The course of firing will be 15 rounds at 100 and 15 rounds at 200 yards. Trophies and a box of bullets will be given to each winner.

Pistol scores from last night's shooting: Ralph Day 245; Paul Giesler 230; Roger Mabry 253; Ron Earnest 276; Fred Corothers 274; Fred Brown 286; Carl Laflin 146; Leon Ward 124; Al Phillips 213; Cam Murchison 241.

RICKY WAS proud of his performance in football spring training, having moved up to the second team on both offense and defense. Ralph, due to an injured leg, was red-shirted this year, which works to his advantage as he is in a five-year pharmacy course. Bobby's freshman baseball team saw relatively little action, with the big lefthander eagerly awaiting the Pampa Colts' summer season.

IN ADDITION to the usual friendly treatment from everyone we met, especially sports publicity director Harold Keith and track coach J. D. Martin, the PTC visitors were guests at a barbecue and party for the track team after the meet, and everyone had a thoroughly good time.

CHANGING the subject, in answer to those who have inquired as to whether the American Legion Rebels are having tryouts open to everyone, or whether only high school baseball players can compete, Jerry Sims of the Legion says that any boy who wants a chance to play will get one and that anyone interested should contact him, not me.

Our understanding is that any boy between the ages of 15 and 19 can play, regardless of high school experience, with the only stipulation being that a graduated senior must have played for that same Legion team before graduation. When I passed that question on to Jerry, he informed me in a rather unpleasant tone that "I was trying to stir up controversy, and that if I did, he could stir up controversy too." Apparently that's my thanks for two years of coaching the Rebels, guess I've made an enemy of another organization. It's wonderful the way everybody loves you when you give them "publicity," but you turn into a troublemaker and an enemy when you ask even an innocuous question. If a newspaperman went along with the status quo, never criticized and never asked questions, then everyone would love him. . . only trouble is he wouldn't be much of a newspaperman.

Cocky Pepitone Leads Yankees On Road Back

By United Press International Joe Pepitone likes pizza, Yankee fans tapered pants and Joe Pepitone. The easy-going first baseman-outfielder, who lifts spirits when things look worst with a light remark or makes himself the brunt of a joke if that's the best way to get a laugh, is the one-man gang generating the power for New York's scoring machine. Since going one for 28 the first week of the season, Peppy has been pounding the ball at a .324 clip, and says, "How can I miss? I've got confidence in myself."

The Brooklyn-born Yankee supplied the spark Monday night with a grand slam homer in New York's 15-5 slaughter of Cleveland.

Baltimore nipped Washington 2-1 and Detroit defeated Chicago 8-3 in the only other games scheduled in the American League. Pepitone's hitting spree hasn't been the lefthanded slugger's only contribution. Joe was tapped by Manager Johnny Keane as Roger Maris' replacement while the ailing rightfielder is sidelined with a pulled muscle and has filled the void as if he had been playing the tricky caroms for years. Peppy's once-anemic average now stands at .262. Joe's bases-filled blast Monday night was his fourth homer in the last five games and enabled starter Mel Stottlemyre to post his fifth victory against two setbacks. Tom Tresh, Phil Linz and Cleo Boyer also displayed big bats in the 16-hit attack. Tresh belted his sixth homer with a mate aboard in the seventh inning while Linz drove in three runs with three hits and Boyer added a single, double and triple.

Indian starter Jack Kralick

(1-3) was tagged with the loss.

Baltimore hurlers Jim Palmer and Wally Bunker combined to limit Washington to four hits and little Luis Aparicio accounted for the winning run with a line double in the seventh. The hit scored Russ Snyder, who had drawn a two-out walk from loser Bennie Daniel's Palmer, a 19-year-old right-handed pitcher, gained his second win with defeat. Bunker, 20, pitched hitless ball over the final three frames.

Tiger catcher Bill Freehan drove in five runs with two homers, one the first grand slammer of his career, as Mickey Lolich went the route in picking up his sixth victory against two losses. The Detroit outburst handed White Sox starter John Buzhardt his first loss after four triumphs. Chicago opened the scoring with John Romano's two-run homer in the first but Detroit put the game on ice with six runs in the third.

Spahn, Lary Lead Way

Mets Win Doubleheader!

By United Press International Warren Spahn and Frank Lary, a pair of castoffs who can still cast some long shadows.

Spahn, the oldest major leaguer at 44, feels he has something to prove to his former employers at Milwaukee and Lary, a winner of 123 games in 10 seasons with Detroit, believes he can still pitch and is trying to convince the rest of the league.

Both men looked ten feet tall to Gene Mauch's Phillies Monday as they led the hapless New York Mets to a 6-2, 4-1 sweep of a twin bill with Philadelphia.

Viewing the comparative ease with which the two veterans handled the opposition Monday, Mauch and any other big league manager would be glad to add them to his staff.

Elsewhere, in the National League, Cincinnati downed Houston 5-2; Pittsburgh defeated Chicago 6-4; Milwaukee edged San Francisco 4-3; and St. Louis beat Los Angeles 6-4. The winningest lefthander in baseball history and the top winner on the Met staff this season, Spahn helmed New York break the six Jim Bunning had held, dealing the perfect game hurler his first defeat ever against the Mets after six victories.

The triumph, Spahn's 360th, places the balding southpaw in a tie for sixth place on the list of all-time winners. Eddie Kramoool and Charley Smith backed Spahn with roundtrippers.

Lary, 34, making his second start of the year, permitted only three safeties in eight innings in winning his first decision of the campaign. The one-time Yankee killer got help from young Tom McGraw in the ninth after Tony Gonzalez got the Phillies' only run of the game with his fourth home run. The big hit for the Mets was Johnny Lewis' three-run clout in the sixth when New York scored all its runs.

Gets Three Hits
Julian Javier's three hits and Tracy Stallard's pitching led St. Louis to its victory which out the Los Angeles league lead to one game. The Cards went ahead for good in the fifth with three and added two more in the seventh. Claude Osteen was tagged with the loss, his fourth in seven decisions.

Moss Resigns At Buckland

WHITE DEER — Jackie Moss, football line coach at White Deer High School for three years, has resigned to accept a similar position at Class AA Olton. Moss, who was also a science teacher, came to WD following graduation from Hardin-Simmons.

Superintendent Ray Schultz announced that the school was accepting applications for Moss' post, and indicated that the School Board would prefer a coach with science or mathematics as his teaching field. WD posted a 9-2 record last year, winning the district 2-A championship.

Comments: Dale Ammons started for Hoover and went 3 innings. Gave up 3 runs 4 hits SO 6, walked 2.

Winning Pitcher: Nachlinger
Losing Pitcher: Whiddon
Leading Hitters: Tim Jones 2 for 3 including one double. Randy Blumer and Billy Forkner each had a double.

Home Run: Donnie Cain in the 3rd with 2 men on.
Highlights: Charlie Combs batted in 2 runs in the bottom of the 6th inning with a double to erase a 6 to 5 lead for Richardson and give McCathern the 7 to 6 victory.

Winning Pitcher: Lewis Davis SO14, BB 3, Hits 1
Losing Pitcher: Denny, SO 4, BB 2, Hits 1

Leading Batter: HiLand: Hopper 1 for 2 Your Laundry: Sam Heasley: 1 hits for 1 AB
Comments: Lewis Davis won out over HiLand in a tight pitching duel Monday night in a Northern League game. Davis struck out fourteen and walked only three in five innings. Heasley for Your Laundry and Hopper for HiLand collected the only hits.

Second place Cincinnati tallied three times off loser Dave Giusti in the second inning and coasted home behind the pitching of Jim Maloney and Joey Jay. Maloney left the contest after seven frames when his arm tightened. Deron Johnson, John Edwards, Leo Cardenas and Maloney had four hits each.

Muhammed and Monster Battle Again Tonight

LEWISTON, Maine (UPI) — The first scene, second act of boxing's greatest drama will unfold tonight in a high school hockey rink in this old Maine city of 41,000 people.

It's loquacious Cassius Clay vs. scowling Sonny Liston for the heavyweight championship of the world. This one truly has everything. It will draw the smallest number of on-the-scene spectators since ring championships were decided on barges back in the days of John L. Sullivan. Yet, through the magic of television, it will be viewed by more people than any fight in history.

It also has all the ingredients of a movie thriller, including a reported plot that the champion, Clay, a militant member of the separatist Black Muslim sect, will be bumped off by gun-toting followers of a rival movement, the Black Nationalists.

Banned In Boston
And to add spice to this suspenseful drama, it already has been banned in Boston.

Everybody connected with the production of this latest battle for boxing's richest prize insists that Clay is in "NO" real danger.

Nevertheless, officials of Sports Vision Inc., which will televise the fight around the world, took the precaution of plunking down $1,000 for a $1,000,000 insurance premium on the life of the 23-year-old undefeated champion from Louisville, Ky. That figures out 1,000 to 1 odds against any harm befalling Clay.

It is significant, though, that the insurance policy became effective at midnight Monday night and will remain in force for three days.

The first bit of trouble — if there is any — could occur at the official weigh-in today at 12:30 p.m. EDT, at the Central Maine Youth Center. In this same hangar-like building, commonly known hereabouts as St. Dom's Arena, Liston and Clay will start trading punches at approximately 10:30 p.m. tonight.

Surprise at Weigh-In Clay has maintained throughout his training period he would provide "a surprise — call it more a shock" at the weigh-in. Monday, though, he said the only surprise he was planning for this ceremony was "complete silence."

In the hours leading up to the fight, Clay baffled reporters at his temporary headquarters at an inn in nearby Auburn with his subdued attitude. He admitted he was "edgy" and he even discussed the prospects of losing.

"I know I can get beat—that's why I've trained so hard for this fight," Cassius said Monday.

"If I lose, I may as well retire because I'd never get another shot at the title. I know the majority of the people—the press and the fans—want to see me beat. I can feel it when I talk to them. They want to see how I'll look on the canvas."

These were strange statements from a young man who has been insisting "I'm the greatest" since he won the title from Liston on a seventh round TKO at Miami Beach 15 months ago.

The oddsmakers continued to quote Liston as a 13-10 favorite for the return fight. However, the very men he feels are against him, the sports writers, are stringing along with Clay.

Clay Picked
A total of 71 chose Clay while 48 picked Liston to win in a press poll. All but six of the writers predicted the bout would end in a knockout. Five selected Clay to win on a decision while one voted for a draw.

This fight was originally scheduled for Boston last Nov. 16 but was postponed three nights earlier when Clay underwent an emergency hernia operation.

Dairy Queen Wins Tourney

Dairy Queen swept the Men's Volleyball Tournament at the YCC last night, downing the Skelly Oilers in the final game, 14-12, 15-4. Drawing a bye in the first round, they defeated the Stompers, who had downed Lewi Spikers, in their second round tilt. Skelly defeated Montgo mery Ward in their first game, then upset favorite Cabot in their second.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Divining Rod — Take It or Leave It

The front page photo of Mrs. Florence Sonntag in a recent issue of the Woodward County Journal of Woodward, Okla., is our idea of a dramatic news-picture in these days when everyone everywhere is fretting over descending water tables and we read that the world must soon find a practical means of converting seawater into fresh if its various populations are to survive. Mrs. Sonntag, a grandmotherly type, pinner: resident of northwest Oklahoma, is shown holding the forked ends of a willow stick and walking intently over a bare field.

As Reporter Robert E. Lee described the scene:

"She grasped the forked stick in both hands, palms up. The butt of the stick stood out from her hands horizontal to the ground.

"She appeared intensely absorbed in the work as she started forward, one slow step after another. She stared straight ahead, much as if she was daydreaming.

"Suddenly, the stick swung down — so violently that the butt end slapped her skirt. "There's a water vein right here," she announced. "A strong one. I can't even force the stick back up."

"She appeared to be fighting the forked stick. The muscles in both hands strained to pull the stick from its downward position, while some unseen force — like a pair of invisible hands — pulled it down. "Fascinated by this experience, Mr. Lee made an extensive study of "water-witching," reading books, both "pro" and "con" on the subject and discussing it with all who might have experience or worthy opinions. "There is," he concluded, "no middle-of-the-road thought on water-witching. Either you believe in it or you don't."

Mrs. Sonntag discovered her powers in 1932, reports Mr. Lee, when another "water-witcher" offered her his divining rod and told her to try it. Since then, the story says, she has brought in 35 to 40 wells — with no misses.

In one case, a well-driller found it inconvenient to drill over her peg and set up his rig four feet away, only to dig a dry hole. Moving over to the stake, he produced a well that today, years later, is still flowing.

Reporter Lee says that most of the U. S. water-witching is done in New England these days, where it is called "dowsing." He quotes Kenneth Phillips as the "Down East" authority on the subject: "The man who sneers at the dowsing rod today would have scoffed, 50 years ago, at radio, television and jet planes that travel at supersonic speeds."

All in all, we do not see how it would do any harm if the young ladies in our high schools were given divining rods to work with instead of batons to twirl.

Know How Much He ...

It is now official, and you patients have been right all along. Doctors do indeed make something besides "diagnoses and house calls. They make a good buck at their trade.

Their business is so healthy, in fact, that they make more money on the average than bank presidents.

But bank presidents, as economists have suspected, make considerably more than shoe-shine boys.

All this, and more, is revealed in a survey by the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Inasmuch as there's scarcely anything more fascinating than poking a nose into someone else's business or bankbook, it is interesting to learn that doctors head a list of 321 occupations by earning an average annual income of $14,561.

This may not be as much as you have suspected your doctor makes, even on the average. But it's almost $20,000 more than the average yearly income of bankers and financiers, who are in second place with $12,757. Lawyers are third with $10,587.

It is perhaps indicative of something or other that clergymen with an average of $7,171 years of education, do somewhat better financially than bartenders but not as well as truck drivers.

The clergymen earn an average of $4,008 a year to rank 245th, while the truck drivers make $4,188 and the bartenders $3,740. But bartenders meet such interesting people.

As long as we're snooping, we may as well know that airline pilots average $10,000 a year, college presidents $9,704, funeral directors and embalmers $5,803, veterinarians $6,882, and boot-blacks $847.

And while the survey didn't say so, an important fact to you, the reader, is that no matter how much you may make compared with all these other people, it isn't enough.

And you don't need a survey to tell you so, right?

Responsibility for Castro?

The State Department doesn't want to use the funds seized from Cubans to finance processing of American claims against Fidel Castro's Cuba for seizing property of Americans. It wants the million dollars in costs to come from the American taxpayers.

According to the Allen-Scott Report, "The department contends (using the Cuban funds) would penalize Cubans not responsible for Castro."

Are we to assume that the American taxpayers are responsible for Castro?

Both covet the governorship nomination, though Collins is considered willing to go for the Senate against Republican Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, assuming the latter makes another try.

McCormack has the loyalty of many older party professionals, though his bitter fight against Ted also left a trail of enemies. The Kennedy people fear him. Says one: "If he won, we'd all be on the second bus."

His prospects alone are not rated too bright today. Hence, some guessers are figuring he and Collins may try to team up. They have some mutual supporters, and together might give the Kennedy forces a pretty good struggle.

Kennedy's problem is to break into the old-line group to get his majority. The man he'll pick to do it will have no free ride to the top.

CAPITOL EYE

Ted Coming Strong in Home State

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — By midsummer Sen. Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy's strong hand could begin to have decisive effect on the presently wild course of Democratic politics in Massachusetts. Both the governorship and a U.S. Senate seat are at stake next year.

The whole weird tangle is suffused with the aura of the Kennedy family and their old associates, which is why the nation is looking in on it.

Unless Congress lingers much longer, Ted Kennedy should know by mid-August whether Lawrence O'Brien, his late brother's trusted organizer and now President Johnson's top congressional liaison man, wants to try for either the governor's chair or the Senate.

From knowledgeable sources, the word is that Kennedy today sees O'Brien as the more salable of these two in a governorship race. The young senator is not yet openly committed in any way. But the people pressing O'Brien to keep the door open have very high credentials.

Some of Ted Kennedy's Massachusetts contingent doubt that either O'Brien or O'Donnell is sufficiently known there to make a winning race. They hope the senator lands on Maurice Donohue of Holyoke, Democratic president of the state Senate and a man with a good deal of independent political strength with both the Kennedy followers and the old-line professionals who don't like the Kennedys.

Donohue's problem is image. He is said to come across on television like a stern schoolmaster. One observation:

"If we could get him to look like Ronald Reagan, you could just send a big scale here to weigh the votes."

At next year's party convention (whose verdict is advisory and must still be followed by a September primary), Ted Kennedy would command the largest bloc of delegate votes — though not a majority.

Furthermore, his backers — the Kennedy "campaign secretaries" of earlier days — now dominate the Democratic state committee and bulk heavily on many county, city and ward committees.

On top of these things, Teddy has charisma — the curious quality that served John Kennedy so well. Says a friend: "Plug him into a wall and everybody lights up. And he uses that to a fare-thee-well."

Ted is determined to exert leadership in Massachusetts party affairs, and especially in the coming 1966 races. He is sensitive to criticisms of his late brother as inattentive in this field. He does not want to have applied to him a similar charge, acidly expressed in a line once uttered by a friend describing a political defunct:

"He wouldn't help you fix an overdue library card."

Yet, for all his strong intentions and his sturdy party position, Kennedy does not have truly full command in Massachusetts.

Two big threats to his evolving plans for 1966 are Edward McCormack, his 1962 Senate opponent and nephew of the House speaker, and Mayor John Collins of Boston.

Both covet the governorship nomination, though Collins is considered willing to go for the Senate against Republican Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, assuming the latter makes another try.

McCormack has the loyalty of many older party professionals, though his bitter fight against Ted also left a trail of enemies. The Kennedy people fear him. Says one: "If he won, we'd all be on the second bus."

His prospects alone are not rated too bright today. Hence, some guessers are figuring he and Collins may try to team up. They have some mutual supporters, and together might give the Kennedy forces a pretty good struggle.
