15,000 Celebrate At Childress

DEFENSE DAY IS OBSERVED OVER NATION

Estimate That Two-Thirds of Last Year's Total Registered.

OFFICIALS SATISFIED

No Report Will Be Made for Some Time of the Results.

WASHINGTON, July 4.—(AP)—Reports to the war department from the nine corps area commanders on today's defense test muster indicated at a late hour tonight that the civilian to the response to the request for one day volunteers had been about two-thirds of the number reported as enrolled on September 12 last, when the first test was held.

Officials Satisfied.

War department and corps area officials, however, apparently were satisfied with the results in view of the short time of preparation allowed them this year and the added handicap of the double week-end holiday.

At the time of the first test it was estimated that more than 16,000,000 citizens participated as spectators or otherwise in all ceremonies incident to the test. In today's muster patriotic exercises were combined with local Fourth of July celebrations and the instructions sent to corps area commanders directed that they give special attention to these assemblies.

In many communities as in Washington there was no military parade of reserves, national guard or regular army units filled up with one day volunteers, an element of the first test in almost all parts of the country. Until detail reports from the corps area are received here no comparative figure of civilization participation will be available.

No Report Yet.

So far as practical military value of the test is concerned sometime must lapse before the corps area commanders who are the chief agents of the war department in the operation of the defense centralized national defense machinery can determine what progress has been made during the nine months since the first test in preparation of unit mobilization plans. The September test showed that approximately 25 per cent of the localized units, particularly of the organized reserves, lacked any plans whatever. Since then instructions were sent to the reserve officers in immediate command and to regular officers having general supervision to remedy this condition and it is expected a final checking up of the muster today will show that practically all units now have tentative plans for local mobilization on which the war department can base its studies for further development of the new military system.

Youth Shoots Self On New York Street

NEW YORK, July 4.—(AP)—Peter Malavres, 40, of Saranac, N. Y. shot himself through the heart at the entrance of the crowded Pennsylvania railway terminal today. Persons in the rotunda scattered.

In Malavres pocket was found a picture of himself. On the back of the picture was written:

COPS BEAT HI-JACKERS.

Liquor Smugglers Never Had a Chance.

BEAUMONT, Texas, July 4.—The eight men arrested in connection with the seizure of 6,000 quarts of bonded liquor an da boat last night by deputy Sheriffs Artie Pollock and Homer French never had a chance to get away with their liquor according to Pollock. Four auto loads of hi-jackers were watching fo rthe heavily-laden trucks of booze ready to pounce upon the drivers and relieve them of their cargoes.

GIRL FALLS FROM TRUCK

Wichitans To Drink Punch From Bowl Which Once Served Lafayette, Hamilton and Geo. Washington

TOM MIKE MILLER, a June graduate of the Terrell College at Dallas, has recently taken charge of the basement at Miller-Ferguson Company Ladies' Ready-to-Wear. Mr. Miller, who is the son of Claude Miller of the firm, is an enthusiastic worker and progressive. On Wednesday, July 8, he will open a "Bargain Basement Blowout" to run for a period of ten days.

The feature of the "Blowout" will be the serving of punch in an old family heirloom punch bowl. Punch will be served daily. This punch bowl which was left to Claude Miller by his mother, has quite a history. It has been handed down through several generations of the Haviland family. Over a hundred years ago, it was broken and rivited together its pure silver ladle was a present from Commodore Samuel Decatur, who as well as Commodore Perry, Robert Fulton, who in 1897 completed the first steamboat; Dewitt Clinton, who secured the construction of the Erie Canal; George Washington and wife; Patrick Henry, Thomas Jefferson, Alexander Hamilton, first secretary of the United States treasury, Marquis de Lafayette, Aaron Burr, Martin Van Buren, and many other distinguished persons took punch from this bowl.

The bowl is unlike the punch bowl of the modern day in size, china, and design, but none could be as beautiful.

CAL OBSERVES BIRTHDAY ON BOARD YACHT

President Is 53 Years Old on Birthday of Nation.

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., July 4.—(AP)—President Coolidge boarded the Mayflower today for his 53rd birthday dinner on ship. He was accompanied by Mrs. Coolidge and their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Stearns, Secretary and Mrs. Sanders, Captain Adolphus Andrews, commander of the Mayflower and Mrs. Andrews.

The presidential party went by motor to the Corinthian Yact club at Marblehead Neck three miles from the summer white house and were taken out to the yacht on a tender. A salute of 21 guns was fired as the president went up the right side of the vessel.

Contrary to expectation the Mayflower did not put out to sea, remaining at anchor until Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge and their guests were ready to return tonight to Swampscott. Swimming around the picturesque harbor were hundreds of sailing craft, many of them taking part in a Fourth of July regatta. Shortly after the president boarded the Mayflower, a steady drizzle set in, which with a chilly wind blowing in from sea kept the presidential party below decks except for the time when they went out to watch a spectacular display of fireworks on shore.

Greetings reached the president today by mail and wire in voluminous quantity. The first of the gifts he received was a fancy birthday cake baked by Camille Denboeven, pastry chef at the New Ocean house, where Secretary Sanders and other members of the presidential party are staying. Denboeven who was once pastry chief to King Albert of Belgium, delivered his present at White Court in person, dressed in a chef's white uniform.

A number of persons called at the summer white house to leave cards. Among them was Baron Ago Von Maltzan, the German ambassador.

READY FOR AMUNDSEN

All Oslo Awaits Arrival of Arctic King.

OSLO, Norway, July 4.—(AP)—Finishing touches for Captain Roald Amundsen's home coming tomorrow were made today. The decorations lining the route from the quay where the explorer will land to the royal palace, where they will be received by King Hakon and the members of the royal family, were finally completed.

The way will be lined by members of the various sports clubs in colorful costumes; there will be innumerable banners, a choir will sing patriotic hymns, and children will strew flowers in the path of the national hero.

Hobart Case Echo In Charge Against Ex-Potter Attorney

AMARILLO, July 4.—Ernest T. (Dusty) Miller, former district attorney, who with Mrs. Ruth Hobart, was acquitted of murder charges by an instructed jury at Floydada recently, is now at liberty here under a $2,000 bond, charged with assault with intent to murder following an alleged attempt to shoot Mrs. Hobart last Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Hobart and Miller were acquitted at Floydada of charges of murder in connection with the finding of the body of Edward W. Hobart, husband of Mrs. Hobart, slain near this city.

In her statements to the sheriff's department, Mrs. Hobart said she met Miller at the carnival grounds Tuesday night and upon his request took him home. Arriving at home he refused to get out of the car. The two then went for a ride and a quarrel arose. Driving back to town they stopped at a corner in the residential district when Miller is said to have drawn a pistol. By desperate fighting Mrs. Hobart says she pulled the muzzle of the gun away and the shot went wild.

Miller and Mrs. Hobart were acquitted at Floydada on change of venue from here after the jury in their first trial here had been dismissed on account of illness of one of the jurors.

Prominent Officials of Railroad Participate In Huge Parade

FREE TRANSPORTATION

Dallas to Texline Cities Represented at Great Independence Day Fete

CHILDRESS, July 4—The Fourth was celebrated here today by a picnic among the employes of the Ft. Worth and Denver City railway. More than 3,000 railroad men and officials with their families attended and, coupled with city and other vistors, it is estimated that 15,000 people were present.

At Fair Park.

The program for the afternoon was carried out at Fair park where amusements of all kinds were indulged. A big parade, 14 blocks long, was held at noon. The parade was led by Reese Barton of Childress, the world's oldest active cowboy. Barton was 96 years old last March and rides the range every day. Prominent officials of the railroad and city officials came next in line, wto bands being used. Railroad employes were here from Dallas, Ft. Worth, Wichita Falls, Amarillo, Texline, Stamford and Waurika.

Breaks Records.

It is said by railroad officials that never before in Texas has such a big railroad employes' jubilee been held. The railroad company furnished free transportation to all employes and their families to attend the jubilee.

Good showers covered the entire Panhandle section last night and the weather was ideal.

WHERE DEATH PAYS

OSSINING, N. Y., July 4.—(AP)—John Hulbert, executioner in Sing Sing prison, completed today a banner year in the collecting of fees for putting to death convicted murderers. Hulbert received a total of $2,100 for 14 executions, in addition to his salary as electrician of Auburn prison. In the previous fiscal year he received but $750 for nine executions.

Durnal Tire Shop Damaged in Blaze

A blaze believed to have started in the vulcanizing burner in the rear of the new Durnal Tire and Vulcanizing shop, 811 Tenth street, last night, had gained considerable headway before firemen were called to the scene. No damage was reported to the building, but the fixtures were almost completely destroyed. No estimate was made of the loss by Chief J. L. McClure, though it is thought the damage will not exceed $100.

SEEK INDICTMENT OF JUDGE

Attorney General Promises Action in Bank Failure Case.

JACKSON, Tenn., July 4.—(AP) Indictment of Judge J. W. Ross of the federal district court for western Tennessee, on perhaps a half dozen counts including charges of accessory before the fact, larceny, embezzlement and fraudulent breach of trust will be asked of the Madison county grand jury Tuesday when that body meets to investigate the recent failure of the Peoples Savings bank, it was announced tonight by T. J. Murray, attorney general.

Tammany Hall Starts New Al Smith Boom

NEW YORK, July 4.—Tammany Hall's celebration of Independence day turned into a second "Al Smith for president" boom today. Speakers from Governor Ritchie of Maryland to chiefs of the historic Wigwam, predicted that New York's governor would be the next president of the United States.

Governor Smith himself presided at the meeting. It was Tammany's 136th celebration of the fourth of July.

HUNT GOES ON FOR BODIES IN RUINS OF FIRE

Boston Building Blaze Toll to Run High, Is Belief

BOSTON, July 4.—(AP)—Six bodies, five men and one woman were taken from the wreckage of the Pickwick club building at 11:15 tonight, bringing the total of known dead to 12, 11 of which have been extricated from the ruins. The bodies were huddled together in a "pocket" in the wreckage near where the front door of the building had stood.

A search for an unknown number of dead was being pressed tonight. The building collapsed early this morning carrying with it members of a party of Fourth of July merrymakers estimated to number 125. Some escaped but many were known to have been carried down in the wreck.

Bore Into Ruins.

Throughout the day scores of firemen, aided by police officers and wrecking crews, and working with a big steam shovel and automobile trucks, bored their way into the tangled ruin. At night they continued their work under a huge battery of searchlights. It was not expected that the full list of dead would be known before Sunday night.

Three women and two men were previously taken from the ruins dead or died a short time later. Five or six other dead were seen in wreckage, according to rescue workers.

Seventeen persons were taken to Boston hospitals. Four were said to be dangerously hurt.

Searchers admitted that they did not know how many persons they might find in the wreckage. Persons who escaped being borne down to death or serious injury in the sudden collapse estimated the number carried down with the building from 30 to as high as 75. The Pickwick club, a popular night resort in the Chinatown district on Beach street near Washington, occupied the second story of the former hotel building.

Program in Progress.

A Fourth of July program was in progress, when shortly after 3 o'clock without warning, the roof and all five stories went plunging downward in a twisted ruin. One side wall, next to which an excavation for a new building was being made buckled in the middle and fell in on a part of the ruin. The front sagged forward and leaned at a crazy angle.

In a wild rush for safety, many fled out of rear windows and down a fire escape. Others found their way down a flight of stairs close to a standing wall. Still others were hurled clear in the fall and suffered only slight injury.

The cracking of snapping timbers and rafters before the crash failed to alarm the dancers. The noice was drowned in part by the dance orchestra. Survivors said that they thought the crackling was the sound of firecrackers being exploded outside.

FRIENDS WATCH BOY DROWN

Boys Laugh at Waco Youth Who Goes Down.

WACO, July 4.—Lionel Davis, 18, drowned today at 8 a. m. in 20 feet of water at the mouth of the Bosque river while companions, circling near him in boats, looked on and smiled, thinking his cries for help were "make believe."

His mother and two sisters, with whom he had come to the east bank of the river for a sunrise breakfast, witnessed the accident. Mrs. Davis collapsed and was carried across the river in a boat and taken home in one of the ambulances which arrived later.

13 HURT IN CAR WRECKS

Dallas Motorists Have Unlucky Day Saturday.

DALLAS, July 4.—Thirteen persons were injured, four of them seriously in and near Dallas today in automobile accidents.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Rogers of Dallas, are believed to have sustained internal injuries when an automobile they occupied overturned on a curve on the Cleburne road south of Dallas.

The others more seriously injured today were: Mrs. Ella Collins, of Shreveport, La., and Mrs. T. D. Bass of Dallas, who sustained internal injuries in an automobile collision.

LEBENSON DAUGHTERS LEAVE

Children of Prominent Merchant to Attend Summer Camp.

Little Misses Nathaline and Helen Sylvia Lebenson left Tuesday, accompanied by Mrs. C. C. Leatherwood, for Camp Rondack, on the Schroon lake in the Adriondack mountains, where they will stay until September. Mrs. Leatherwood will spend a few days in New York City before returning home.

Frederick Friends See That Newly Weds Start Off New Life Correctly

FREDERICK, Okla., July 4.—Frederick has its share of June brides—and grooms!

And likewise, in all due commemoration of the events, many novel charivari have been sponsored by localities.

Fellow band members placed Hudson Carter on a hastily constructed platform recently and told him to sell chewing gum packages and safety pins to passersby. A large crowd soon assembled and Carter did an excellent business.

He was later handcuffed to a baby carriage and made the center of a circle where the band played several selections in his bride's honor.

Carter bought drinks for the band boys. However, he cleared several dollars in his sale venture and says that the joke is on the band members.

Hastings Kniffe, a newlywed, was placed with Carter for a while and forced to sell gum and pins.

Lloyd Hightower, just returned from his honeymoon, is starting married life with a suspended sentence of 10 days in jail and a fine of $20 hanging over him.

He was nabbed Thursday morning by police officers when he had his rear wheel of his car an inch over the parking line. He was brought into court and before a throng of friends was convicted and sentenced.

An appeal was filed and argument caused the mayor to release the culprit on good behavior.

Charivara promoters have promised some real fun for Randall Lewis, local iceman, who has been away for a month on his honeymoon

"For The Babies," Says Letter With $100 Cash For Milk and Ice Fund

"To the Milk and Ice Fund for the babie," was all a letter received yesterday by The Record News said. Enclosed was $100 in currency. No name was mentioned, and the postmark on the envelope was that of this city.

The generosity of the unknown donor adds much to the fund being maintained by the Salvation Army under the sponsorship of The Record News for Wichita Falls kiddies. This is one of the largest amounts received so far this year from any source, and certainly the biggest donation from an unknown giver.

Two other week-end donations helped to swell the fund. Old Timer number two sent in a $5 check, and N. E. Bernard added $5 more. This brings the weeks' donations to a considerably higher level than has been reported in some time.

Commandant Johnson of the Salvation Army reports that the many calls each day are making a continuous drain on the fund and states that the money donated has done more good this year than ever before.

Law Holds Man Unjustly For Five Years, Gives Him Overalls On His Release

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 4. — Tony Molea, for five years a convict at Newman, Ga., passed through here last night and stopped long enough to tell a story of miscarried justice that won him an interested audience.

Molea said that in January, 1920, he was working on a government boat on the river at Baton Rouge when officers of the law arrested him on charges of murdering a man at Newman, Ga. He was carried to the Georgia town for trial, he said, and was convicted on a charge of manslaughter. He was sentenced to from 10 to 20 years and has been serving his time until a man confessed to the murder in New Orleans.

When released by the officials at Newman, Molea said that he was given a new suit of overalls and three cents. His fellow prisoners raised money to buy him a ticket to this city.

The accused man said that he had never been in Newman until the time of his trial and that he had forgotten the name of the man he was accused of killing. He did not even know the name of the man that had confessed to the crime.

"I HAVE never bought or sold a share of stock speculatively in my life, except one small lot that I bought early in life. I determined to sell all my interests in every outside concern and concentrate my attention upon our concerns in Pittsburgh. Such a course should commend itself to everyman. For a business man especially the rule would seem all-important. His mind must be kept calm and free if he is to decide wisely the problems which are continually coming before him. Nothing tells in the long run like good judgment, and no sound judgment can remain with the man whose mind is disturbed by the mercurial changes of speculation. It places him under an influence akin to intoxication. What is not, he sees, and what he sees, is not. He cannot judge of relative values or get the true perspective of things. Speculation is a parasite feeding upon values, creating none." — ANDREW CARNEGIE

A DOG was crossing a brook with a bone in his mouth. Looking into the stream he saw, as he supposed, another dog with another bone. Desiring to possess that also he made a snap at it, when lo and behold! the bone he was carrying dropped into the water and straightway sunk to the bottom.—An Old Fable.

* * *

This dog "took a chance" (as some of us humans sometimes do) and lost all he had. Maybe you at sometime have grasped at a shadow in the form of a get-rich-quick scheme that promised everything but became a total loss.

Anyone who wants to INVEST money and not speculate or gamble with it can find a safe working place for his savings in the electric light and power business.

A large investment banking firm of New York and Chicago, states that:

"A careful analysis of the dividend records of practically every electric power and light company with gross earnings of $2,000,000 per year or more, the combined capitalization of which represents approximately 90% of the industry, shows that:

1. Current cash dividends are being paid on ALL of the preferred stocks.
2. In NO case are there accumulated back dividends unpaid.
3. In fifteen cases dividends have been deferred, but have subsequently been paid off in stock or cash.
4. In all other cases the Preferred Stocks have unbroken dividend records.

We feel justified in believing that this remarkable record definitely establishes the investment position of the Preferred Stocks of large power and light companies."

GIVEN GOOD LUCK SHOWER.

Among the summer social functions given by friends and neighbors recently was the good luck shower tendered Mrs. Bryan Cunningham in the home of Mrs. R. L. Freeland.

The latter's rooms were beautifully decorated in pink and blue; and in the midst of the dainty colors several contests were presented in which Mrs. J. Deisher won high and was awarded a pretty towel.

The fortune teller then arrived and among other pleasing forebodings for the guests told the honoree of a lucky event; and in came little Miss Freeland and Roberts with a large basket of dainty gifts from her neighbors and friends assembled.

The program of the afternoon party was closed with a delicious refreshing treat of cream in the colors of the hour served with splendid cake.

Those enjoying this pleasant occassion were Mesdames Woods, Roe, Butts, Somons, Roberts, Johnson Deisher, Helen Francis and Cunningham. Other friends were represented by their dainty contribution to the good luck shower though they could not be present in person.

INJURED IN CAR WRECK.

Horace O. Stiggins was painfully injured and his car wrecked Wednesday night in an accident on the Wichita-Burk pavement near the Cashion school house.

MOVE INTO NEW HOME.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Speed who have lived for several years in the King apartments, moved Saturday to their beautiful new home on South Avenue C. Their residence added much to the civic beauty of this close-in residential district.

CHOATE-ROSE WEDDING.

The marriage of Harlin Choate and Miss Ruby Lee Rose was among the recent announcements of the season, the ceremony having taken place in Wichita Falls.

Mr. Choate was formerly cashier in the local Piggly-Wiggly store but is now in charge of one of the same stores in Wichita Falls where they will reside. He is a young man of good character and well esteemed.

The bride is the young daughter of Mrs. and the late J. R. Rose of this city, a popular girl of the younger social set. Both these young people have many friends here and in Wichita Falls who wish them every happiness and prosperity.

BRASHERS INFANT SON DIES.

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Brashers sympathize with them in the loss of their infant son that was buried from the Owens chapel Saturday in the Burkburnett cemetery.

PERSONALS.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Cline and son, Albert Cline, have returned from Glen Rose where Mr. Cline spent a few weeks for the benefit of his health. They were accompanied home by his sister, Mrs. R. D. McCready of Blunt, Texas, who will visit in the Cline home and also in that of their daughter, Mrs. J. Deisher.

Owing to the extreme heat and to the fact that Monday was the fifth Monday of the month no regular meeting of the Presbyterian Auxiliary was held this week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Yellush of Dallas will be summer visitors in the home of her parents, Mr and Mrs. Hayworth on Avenue D.

Miss Clara Walling came in from California to spend the summer vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. O. Walling.

H. W. Norwood, one of the wealthy citizens of Vernon, was here on business interests this week.

Henry Schradder who resides west of Clara was a business visitor in Burkburnett this week.

"Shorty" Moore, head gauger for the Waggoner wells, was here this week from Electra.

Alvin Swinburne with his wife were visitors in Burkburnett this week. He formerly lived in this city during the boom days and has recently returned from California to Vernon. Mr. and Mrs. Swinburne have two children in their household.

L. D. Rushing and family were here this week from Walters, Okla., visiting friends.

B. D. Martin of the Gulf Production department of the company has returned from a summer trip to Galveston and other South Texas points.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Chatham and family returned this week from a vacation visit with relatives in Beaumont, Houston and neighboring cities.

Dr. E. L. Palmley of Lemesa, Texas, was in the city Saturday.

W. R. Hill, Herman Dodson and John L. Day are serving on jury duty in Wichita Falls this week.

Dr. Seay and Dr. Huckberry of Wichita Falls were visitors in Burkburnett Tuesday night.

Mrs. Brooks Robertson, who has been a surgical patient in the general hospital for the past two weeks is recovering and was returned to her home Thursday.

Mrs. Paul Browning and daughter, Pauline, with Mrs. Ferguson of Wichita Falls, left this week for Colorado where she will spend the latter part of the summer with her sister and other relatives.

Clois Green, Bud Daniels, and E. L. (Bud) Pigg of Vernon, were here this week on oil and other interests in the Burkburnett oil sections.

Judge W. L. Morris, the first justice of the peace of this city, was here from his present home in Magnor this week.

Mrs. C. H. Slayton of the West field is visiting relatives in Little Rock, Ark., where she will be joined by Mr. Slayton late in the season.

Earl Fuller of Grandfield was a business visitor in Burkburnett this week.

Mrs. Lynch Sr., of Shreveport, La., is visiting her son, Nathan Lynch, and family, on East Seventh street.

Mrs. M. J. Mull and daughter, Miss Florence Hanning, of Dewey, Okla., are guests this week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Hanning at the T. F. Noble refinery.

John Waggoner of Nacadoches, a former resident of this city, was here this week on business interests.

Miss Mary Louise Davis left Wednesday for San Antonio where she will join a party of teachers who are former college mates and instructors and will tour Old Mexico, spending two months in the Mexican university of Mexico City. Miss Davis is a member of the Burkburnett school faculty for the coming year.

Mrs. J. E. Humphrey went to Wichita Falls this week and was operated on for appendicitis Tuesday morning.

Rev. B. A. Hodges of Waxahachie delivered a splendid sermon on educational work in the Presbyterian church here Friday evening.

The business and social circles planned a number of out of tow enter-tainments for July 4, and the continuing week-end.

Jack Hamilton of Wichita Falls was in the city this week on business interests.

Miss Creatie Dockey, formerly of R. H. Henry's store in this city, but now of McClurkin's in Wichita Falls, was a Sunday guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Moss this week.

Miss Altha Mallory has returned from Wichita Falls where she was the guest of the Misses Nusses of that city.

N. Y. CELEBRATES FOURTH

Governor's Island Cannon Ushers in Day

NEW YORK, July 4.—Booming of cannon from Governor's Island, mingled with the tolling of church and cathedral bells today ushered in this city's tow-fold celebration of defense day and the Fourth of July.

Army authorities estimated that 1,000,000 persons in the second corps area took part in the defense test mobilization of man power and industrial resources. Maneuvers were carried out as though an actual war emergency existed.

4,000 PLEDGE ALLEGIANCE.

Austin and Travis county Citizens in Flag Drive.

AUSTIN, July 4.—Approximately 4,000 residents of Austin and Travis county pledge allegiance to the United States flag and volunteered to participate in any natonal emergency, in the one-week drive conducted by Reserve Officers, Major S. N. Ekdahl, chairman, announced Saturday afternoon. The drive was not officially closed until blanks had been passed to members of the audience in the university memorial stadium Saturday, but estimates of the number signing were sent to headquarters of the eighth corps area late Friday night.

NEWEST HOME SITES IN CITY PUT ON SALE

Westmoreland Addition Is Opened to the Public.

Westmoreland Park, Wichita Falls' newest suburban addition, went on the market this week, inaugurating one of the most pretentious extensions to the growth of Wichita Falls that the city has ever known.

Located on the Seymour road, Westmoreland Park affords, its announcements have indicated, everything that the home owner could desire in the way of enjoyable living truly one of the "newest and most delightful residential sections."

Westmoreland home tracts approximate 100 by 250 feet and are in no sense lots in the ordinary realty term. Natural gas, telephones, electric lights, sewerage, irrigation, city water and paved streets, all the conveniences of the city are afforded, announce Westmoreland owners. Paved avenues and winding boulevards are a feature of the addition, while reservations for lakes, parks, playgrounds, school sites and a community center have been made. The underground irrigation main furnishes unlimited water for the home tracts, it is announced, at a rate of $15 per year per tract.

Restrictions are provided, the homes to be built fifty and sixty feet from the front street and 25 feet from side property lines, to assure uniform beauty of development.

John W. Thomas, vice-president of the Westmoreland company, 410 City National bank building, is in charge of the development and sales.

Morning worship 10:45, sermon by Milo Atkinson. Evening worship 8:00 o'clock.

Senior and Intermediate Christian Endeavors at 7 o'clock. Good programs have been planned.

Woman's Missionary society meets Monday afternoon at 4 p. m. A good program has been arranged and every woman is earnestly urged to attend.

The Missionary society is working on plans for a school of Missions this fall. Beginning about the middle of October. Enlisting the whole church in the study of missions. More detailed announcements will be made within the next ten days.

SOUTH SIDE BAPTIST CHURCH
(2208 Holliday Drive.)

Sunday school 9:45, W. C. Perkins, superintendent. The revival meeting will come to a close Sunday night. Evangelist and Mrs. J. W. Hickerson have done a great work these two weeks. Brother Hickerson has not shunned to declare all the gospel of Christ. His every message is rich with Christ's gospel. He has presented the simple plan of salvation with a simplicity which children understand. Several souls have been saved and others have reconsecrated and joined the church. We have received twenty-tight additions to the church up through Thursday night. We hope to see others yet.

Sunbeams at 3 p. m., B. Y. P. U. at 6:45. Baptism at 6 p. m. Preaching services at 11 a. m. and 8:15 p. m. Come to all these services and let us with the Lord's help make Sunday in reality the Lord's day. Everybody welcome. Cool arbor.

A. C. TURNER, Pastor.

YALE AVENUE EVANGELICAL CHURCH.
(Cor. Yale Ave. and Twenty-second)

W. D. Cook, pastor; J. L. Arnold, superintendent.

Sunday school beginning promptly at 9:45 a. m. followed by the morning worship. Subject: "What I Mean to Christ." We trust that the parents will endeavor to awaken to the great opportunity that is offered them in helping to make this a good place to live in by bringing their children to the Sunday school and remaining with them for the other services. It will only be four more Sunday services until this conference year will close; will each of you come and help the Lord to bring to pass the desires of your hearts?

The Juniors will meet at 2:3 p. m. and the Intermediates at 6:30 p. m. and we would like to insist that some of the mothers of the Intermediates come to this service and help the superintendent, Miss McClung, by being here to encourage the work. The Seniors will meet at 7:30 and they will study the pledge for the service of the evening. Let each member be prepared to say something on the lesson for the evening. Evening worship will follow the Senior service. Subject: "Hindered Christians." Please hear this discussion and see if this is us. Prayer service Wednesday evening for the whole family. Ladies' Aid society will meet in an all day meeting at the parsonage with devotional services at the church in the afternoon. Young people's prayer service Friday evening at 8:15 p. m.

Special music at the morning service will be: organ numbers by Mrs. Blance Kuykendall, prelude, "Over' ture from William Tell," Rossini; offertory, "In Paradise," DuBois. Mrs. Grady Fletcher will sing, "Come Gracious Spirit," by Ashford. The organ numbers at the evening service will be "Melody From the Second Sonata," by Beethoven, and "Largo," Mandel. The Rev. Leslie Miller will sing, "There Is a Land Mine Eye Hath Seen," Crowneshield.

Sunday school 9:30 a. m. The whole family is welcome to the Sunday school.

The week's activities will give way to district conference and school of methods to be held at Anadarko, Okla., from the eighth to the twelfth.

Next Sunday morning, July 12, Dr. F. C. Laslette of Dallas will preach in this church.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
(Corner Tenth and Bluff Streets.)

Sunday school promptly at 9:30 a. m. with graded classes for all pupils. Special music by the orchestra under the leadership of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Pitman.

Quarterly communion service will be held at the close of a brief communion meditation by Rev. John H. Burma on the subject "A New Covenant." The quartet will sing as an offertory "There Is a Green Hill," by Somerset.

The evening service is held on the lawn at eight o'clock. Dr. Burma will speak on "A Nation's Chief Assets." The music program will consist of a solo by Mrs. T. C. Brownell, "The Green Cathedral," by Mahn; violin offertory by Miss Rebecca Meadors, and "Recessional" by DeKoven sung by the quartet.

The evening services on the lawn are very poular. Come and enjoy the music and worship with us.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH, SOUTH.

Rev. Walter J. Johnson, the pastor, will preach both mrning and evening at the First Methodist church, south, Tenth and Lamar streets. The subject in the morning will be "The Blessings of Unrealized Aims," and at night "You Cannot Forget." Mr. Geo. Taylor will sing at the morning service. The night service will be held out in the cool, open air on the lawn next to the church. The community band of thirty instruments will give a sacred concert before and after the heart to heart message by the pastor. Over a thousand enjoyed this service last Sunday night. Come early to get a good seat. The men are invited to come without their coats.

The Sunday school opens at 9:30. The Kay Bible class for men meets at the Strand theatre. An excellent worship program is given before the lecture. This Sunday school has a class for every member of the family.

The Junior league meets at 5:30. The Senior league at 6:45. Interesting and helpful programs are offered by each of the three Senior leagues.

The prayer service is held each Wednesday evening at eight o'clock. Come out and enjoy these services.

CATHOLIC CHURCH
Lawrence Hoyt, O. S. B.

Communion 6:15 and 7:00, Masses 7:00 and 9:00 a. m. Sacramental benediction directly after second mass. The junior choir will sing at the first mass and the senior at the second and benediction. The church today reads the epistle from St. Peter, first letter, 3, 18-15, and the gospel from St. Matt. 5, 20-24, in which Christ tells us that God has no use for a hypocrite and that unless we love our neighbors and forgive our enemies we are hopeless.

CHURCH OF THE GOOD SHEPHERD.

Fred T. Datson, rector.

Holy communion 7:30. In place of the 11 o'clock service there will be held the graduating exercises of the church school at 10 o'clock. Each class will outline the work they have done during the past year. Please remember that t his service will take the place of the 9:30 school and the 11 o'clock service. We cordially invite you to be present.

CENTRAL PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.
(Corner Eleventh and Bluff Streets)

C. Fred Hancock, pastor.

Sunday school 9:45 a. m., preaching at 11 a. m. Subject, "Christ the Great Sufferer," after the sermon there will be the reception of members and the Lord's supper. Christian Endeavor 7 p. m. A lecture on China at 8 p. m. If we expect to build and grow we must be faithful and loyal. A most cordial welcome is extended to any who will worship with us. We hope that all Southern Presbyterians whom we have not been able to find will come to use that we may know you. We believe the church a good place to meet.

LAMAR AVE. BAPTIST, CHURCH
(On Fourth and Lamar.)

A. J. Holt, pastor.

How shall we spend the Lord's day, which follows our celebration of July the fourth? "If the son therefore shall make you free, you shall be free indeed." We are always glad to have visitors worship with us. Sunday school at 9:45 a. m. Preaching at 11:00 a. m. and 8:00 p. m. by the pastor. Subject in the morning: "Will This Generation of Christians Succeed Or Fail?" Evening: "Limiting the Lord by Our Faith." Sunbeams meet at 3:30 p. m.; B. Y. P. U's. at 6:45 p. m. Prayer meeting each Wednesday evening.

Lemons Tighten Wrinkled Skin

Squeeze the juice a bottle containing of two lemons in three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents, shake well and you have the very mildest anti-wringle lotion to tighten relaxed skin, erase fine lines and eradicate crows feet.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion into the skin at night. By morning most of the tell-tale wrinkles, tired lines and crows feet are smoothed out, giving a more youthful contour to cheeks, chin, throat. It leaves the skin velvety soft, clear and fresh.

Beauty experts use this fragrant lotion for enlarged pores, also to bleach and whiten sallow, tanned skin.

Mix this harmless lotion yourself since it acts best immediately after prepared.—Adv.

Man Enjoins Brother And Judge Lectures Them On Art of Brotherly Love

SAN ANTONIO, July 4.—Brotherly love, manifested as the scriptures dictate would keep many litigants out of court, Judge S. G. Tayloe told two brothers in the 45th district court.

"God created men to love one another and it is painful to see two brothres in court with bad feeling between them," he declared.

The brothers had gotten into a dispute over the cutting of trees on their dividing property line. The difference had extended to various members of the family.

Then an injunction was sought. When the evidence was all in Judge Tayloe granted the injunction—reluctantly.

"You should be shaking hands, loving one another instead of engaged in a law suit," the court said.

"I'm going to grant the injunction because the law justified it, but I want you to go out of here and forget your differences and live like brothers should."

HENRIETTA COUPLE MARRIES

Prominent Young People of City Are Wed Saturday.

HENRIETTA, July 4.—Miss Tennie Mae Kerr and Frank Layton, both well known young people of Henrietta, were married this afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Kerr. Rev. Kerr officiated at the ceremony. Following the wedding the couple left for Colorado, where they will spend several weeks. They will be at home in this city on their return.

HENRIETTA GETS A RAIN

Approximately an Inch of Rain Is Record in City July 4.

HENRIETTA, July 4.—A rain that started here shortly after 8:30 o'clock this morning continued with some violence for several hours. Approximately an inch of rain was recorded. No damage was done to crops by the downpour and it is thought farmers will receive untold benefit from the water.

MIDLAND—The Midland chamber of commerce in co-operation with local pastors here have organized a United Charity association. This was done to protect the citizens of Midland against itinerant beggars who infest the Bankhead highway.

WICHITA FALLS NEWEST SUBURBAN ADDITION

Protected Home Tracts Approximately 100 x 250 feet and larger.

Natural Gas, Telephones, Electric Lights, Sewerage, Irrigation, City Water, Paved Streets—All the conveniences of the city and More.

AWAY from the bustle and dust of a busy city — far from traffic din and danger —lies beautiful Westmorland Park—Wichita Falls' newest and most delightful of all residential sections.

Westmoreland Park is not composed of lots—but of spacious Home Tracts, situated on paved avenues and winding boulevards, Home Tracts that are 100 by 250 feet and larger—sites that make possible roomy lawns, shady nooks and splendid gardens.

Work is well under way at Westmoreland Park. When completed it will resemble the drawing pictured below. Broad paved streets and boulevards winding gracefully by lakes, parks, playgrounds. Reservation of school sites and a community center have been provided for.

Westmoreland Park will have all the conveniences of the city and more. Electric lights, city water, natural gas, sewerage and will have an underground irrigation main furnishing unlimited water to the Home Tracts at $15.00 per year, per tract.

Restrictions require that homes be built fifty and sixty feet from the front street and twenty feet from the side property lines and such other restrictions as are necessary to a high class suburban addition. This will assure a uniform beauty prevailing throughout the entire addition. Westmoreland Park will be beautified by landscape gardeners and when completed will rank as one of the finest residential sections in the country.

You'll want to live in beautiful Westmoreland Park. You'll want to build the home of your dreams amid the quiet dignified beauty of that beautiful restricted suburb.

The pre-development sale of home tracts is now going on. You can make your selection now—there are 1,000 choice sites ranging in price from $2,500.00 to $4,000.00. Terms may be arranged. These prices are pre-development sale prices and will be advanced at least 10 per cent within 90 days.

Special inducements will be made persons who plan to build at once. These prices include paving and all improvements.

Shallow Sand Development Features Week In Texas Oil Field

POWELL AREA GIVES 5,000 BARREL WELL

Humble Completion in 2,000-Foot Sand There Very Important

CROSS CUT, TOO

Largest Well in Northern Brown County Makes 1,000 in 12 Hours

FORT WORTH, Texas, July 4.—It was a week for the shallow sands of Texas and there was everything from a barrel pool openers in the long lived Wichita districts to gushers in the Balcones fault line district of East Central Texas.

The shallow sands of East Central Texas have been coming forward for recognition the last year. Mexia may be redrilled for the shallow stuff found in Powell, while Wortham already has one or two shallow sands.

Powell Developments.

It remained for sensational Powell to provide the gusher. Humble Oil and refining company No. 2B-30 Ramsey, J. Smith survey, southeast of Mildred, Navarro county, finding a gas blowout at 1,967 feet earlier in the week, made 2,000 barrels in 10 hours, at the rate of 4,800 barrels daily, when drilled to 2,046 feet. It was almost to the top of the Austin chalk and on a lease thickly dotted with Woodbine sand wells.

A well in the Powell field this spring, long ago abandoned, began showing oil and it was known to be coming from atop the Austin chalk. It is believed the well is from the 2,000-foot stuff that the Humble has uncovered.

The find will result in another Humble harvest if the sand proves to be widespread, as that company dominates Powell, having about one-fourth of the leases there.

Cross Cut Area.

Cross Cut, in north Brown county near Cross Plains, also yielded a sensation. In a district of 75 and 100 barrel wells now and then broken by a 250 barrel well, Conway Brothers and Gilman J. W. Newton No. 7, in the extreme northwest edge of the field, is gauging 35 barrels an hour in the usual 1,200 foot sand. It is six feet higher than the field, however, and the first 12 hours it made close to 1,000 barrels. It is easily the largest ever drilled in the Cross Cut district and is in the northwest edge, a district that is about 400 feet outside the line of former development and carries production into a section that has been receiving but slight attention.

There were five other wells in Cross Cut last week and two in the Burkett shallow district eight miles southeast of Cross Plains. Burkett production is at about 375 feet.

Gilman et al. Teston No. 4 made 100 barrels at 1,230 feet in the old field. Gilman, McMurray and Wilson No. 1 Thompson, started for a deep test, made 75 barrels in the regular sand. Gilman et al. No. 4 J. M. Moore made 50 barrels, on the east side of the field.

Culbro Brothers Oil Syndicate Prater No. 2 made 30 barrels, located in the old field, while Mendenhall No. 6 J. W. Newton made 100 barrels at 1,250 feet.

West Texas Fields.

In West Texas there was little new, though the Big Lake field was semi-defined to the northwest with two new wells. Big Lake Oil company No. 26 University, center of the southwest of the southeast section 25, block 9, Reagan county, made 112 barrels an hour at 2,948 to 2,970 feet. Big Lake No. 28, southwest corner of the southeast of the southwest of section 25, block 9, filled up 200 feet in oil at 2,983 to 2,985 feet, much lower than No. 26. No. 28 is one-eighth of a mile east and slightly south of No. 26, the farthest east of any producer in the field.

It now appears as if all the production northwest, one of the few bounds of the field which has not yet been fully defined, will be confined to the leases of the Big Lake Oil compnay, the sand pinching off on the east. However, Texon No. 2 Oil corporation is starting a well in the southwest corner of section 24, block 9, just east of Big Lake No. 28, which is expected to be dry.

New Ranger Areas.

The Barney Carter pool of West Central Texas, eight miles north of Ranger but in southern Stephens county, furnished still more disappointments in both the Lake Eastland and the regular Ranger pays.

Cholson and Carter No. 1 W. T. Pierce, southeast corner of section 2, block "B" T&NORY survey, is drilling at 3,600 feet, dry in the Lake Eastland sand, from which the other wells in the field are producing.

Cornelius Brothers No. 1 Spicer, southwest of the southwest of the third quarter of section 2, block "B", shot in what is supposed to be the Ranger pay at 3,771 to 3,800 feet in a broken sand and shale, swabbed 67 barrels in two and one-half hours, but did not fill up enough again to hold this production. It will be only a small well.

Gulf Coast.

Completion of a successful producer at High Island brings that field and the Gulf Coast into the limelight this week. Sun Oil company B. & O. No. 1 made 600 barrels of grade "B" oil at 2,197 feet. It is located about 3,000 feet north of the Gulf's George Smith No. 3, wrich came in about a month ago for 1,500 barrels.

Gulf production company Davis No. 22 extended the Big Creek field 500 to 600 feet in Fort Bend county when it made 1,500 barrels at 2,040 feet.

Orange had the biggest well of the week in Hayes Fee No. 14, which made 2,000 barrels at 4,680 feet. It is holding up at that figure. There were no producers at South Liberty this week for first time in several months, the only completion being a dry hole.

District Sees An Active Week

By A. HALLMAN
Record News Oil Editor

Definite extensions to two formative pools in the north half of Archer county, an important wildcat completion in South Wichita county, and the finding of a new deep pay horizon in the old Petrolia district in Northern Clay county furnished the salient features of North Texas field work during the past week. A rapid survey of the whole district shows plenty of drilling, an unusual condition for North Texas in mid-summer, with at least four pools in Archer county which should in themselves account for anywhere from 10 to 20 barrels apiece during the coming month.

In town the refiners found their favored commodity, new navy gasoline, 58-60 gravity, end point 437, down below 13 cents again as a definite reaction to the announcement of a rebate policy by the Standard of Indiana over their territory which is in effect a lowering of their own tank wagon schedule for the purchaser, both wholesale and retail of any consequence, ranging from one-half to one and one-half cents. The reaction broke a two-week stretch of quiet, tincutred only with a tendency to strengthen.

Production, as figures elsewhere on this page show, suffered only a 50-barrel drop during the week, every area remaining practically stationery.

Kentucky Pool Gets 2,000-Foot Extension to Southwest in Well

Burns and Maxson put a new aspect to the Kentucky pool north of Archer City early in the week with the completion of their No. 3, Wilson, in the southeast corner of lot 1, block 75, ATNCL, the first oil well of consequence to be completed in the pool. The well is good for about 150 barrels a day from sand at 1,406-09 feet, although as it is pumped with a slow stroke and 2,000-foot pull it will hardly do that.

The well effects a 2,000-foot southeastern extension to the pool. Sun company is offsetting it to the east with their No. 2, Wilson. Kentucky to the southeast with its No. 1, Wilson, in the northwest corner of lot 4, block 75; and Gulf to the south; Burns Maxson No. 4, Wilson, will be a location west of the No. 3. In the northwest end of the field White Eagle Oil and Refining company was reported early in the week looking for the sand in its No. 1, Wilson, offsetting the discovery well to the west.

Considerably east of the pool Consolidated Oil company and Larkin and White are moving on for their No. 2, Wilson, 1,000 feet north of the Noll, section 76, ATNCL, Wilson land.

Roy I. Carter No. 1, Parkey "B" Shows Lots of Oil at 1,714-15

Roy I. Carter gave Northwest Archer county an oil well nearly a half mile southwest of the Waite Phillips Mankins well. The well is being equipped for the pump with the looks of making an initial of about 200 barrels from sand at 1,714-15 feet. The hole is standing almost full of oil, with some water in it, which bailing has failed to lower. There is a good gas show.

As it stands now this area, south of Mankins, offers unusual interest. There are three oil wells, corners each of a triangle whose base measures about a mile, and whose sides are only a little less than a mile. Each of these wells shows a lot of oil, with the Carter well possibly the best of the three, and a lot of water. As is characteristic of the area the longer the wells are pumped the more water that will show up.

There are no dry holes for some piece around, and the three oil wells at such a distance from each other, seemingly show that somewhere in that area will be found such a pool as Waite Phillips had in first L. F. Wilson pool, where there will be more than four or five inches of sand to drill into without running into water.

Roy I. Carter is moving another rig on the lease and will get both offsets to the well going at once.

Barkley-Meadows Area Shows Three Wells Drilling and One Moving On

Northwest of Archer City both offsets to the Barkley and Meadows extension well of a week or so ago should be down on the sand by today, the middle of the week seeing each below 1,000 feet. Lomax has the west offset, SE of NW of SW of block 88, ATNCL, while Barkley and Meadows have the south offset. Freeman and Hampton and Burton and Ruff have spudded and are drilling on their No. 1, Wilson, in the northeast corner of block 1,008, just to the west, while to the south, 450 feet from the west line and 150 feet south of the north line Kentucky Oil corporation is moving on for a test in the William Walker survey.

Bridwell and Hedryick have spudded on their offset to their extension well to the Oil Investment company pool of last week, while Humble and Gulf have both made offset locations southeast corner of the John Richards survey, block 125. The well itself is flowing around 100 barrels a day from sand below 1,400 feet.

On the Jefferson county School Lands survey, northeast corner, Simms No. 1, Cassidy, failed to pick up the 1,000-foot sand and at last reports was drilling below 1,250 feet dry. Consolidated Oil company had a sand and was setting casing at 958 feet in No. 1, Turbeville, located in the northwest corner of quarter section 1, same survey.

Norday Section Interests As Wells Get Sand Around Discovery

Three wells in the Norday group had the sand during the week, and by this time should be wells. L. H. Cullum No. 1, Anderson, two locations east of the discovery well found it at 1,413 feet; the Norday No. 2, west of the discovery well found it at 1,410 feet, while Empire's south offset found it at 1,409 feet. The Norday No. 3 between the well and the Cullum hole is still a fishing job. Empire is drilling on two others on its lease to the heuth.

Southeast of the pool in the SPRR-CO survey, abstract 1237, Lauster land, Petroleum Producers have spudded and drilling on their No. 1.

Murchison and Fain completed both their Nos. 2 and 3, Echols B, south of the No. 1, a well, east line of block 2405, as dry holes. No. 4, B, is a location west and north of the No. 1. Gulf has an offset up to the east of the No. 1 and should be spudded.

Marland-Humble are starting another wildcat in their No. 1, Krupka block, J. Scott survey, abstract 374, seat of Swastika, this time located near the northeast corner of the survey.

Olney Townsite Gets Big Play As Murchison-Fain Well Tests Sand

The city of Olney itself was given a bit of play early in the week when the ball park well, Murchison and Fain Oil company and Humble No. 1, Bloodworth, in the center of the west line of the southwest quarter of block 157, TE&LCO survey, on the edge of the town itself, shut down at 1,100 feet in sand since 1,093 feet. Considerable trading developed, and some nice prices were paid for nearby stuff. Bailing showed dry, however.

Murchison and Fain are planning another townsite well in their No. 1, G. A. Hutchins, in north part of the south half of block 231, just southeast of town.

The Mercer pool showed two new wells, both light, Humble getting one to the south of their big well and Texas Unity one to the north. Humble has two others on the sand.

The old Petrolia field came back with a sensation during the week when the Lone Star Gas company's No. 24, Waggoner, was completed for something around 50 barrels a day from an 1,800-foot sand. The well was dry in the gas sand above. It is located near a 900-foot productive area, the oldest field in North Texas. Other deep drilling for the area is expected as a result of this well.

George Pace Well Gives South Wichita County Its Best Wildcat

George Pace et al opened a new productive horizon for South Wichita county Thursday with their No. 1, Mitchell, a half mile west of the Howell pool, southwest of Iowa Park, Castleman survey. The well swabbed around 200 barrels from sand at 1,289½-93 feet, and Friday started flowing about 15 barrels an hour. It is estimated at about 400 barrels a day, probably the largest wildcat completion in Wichit county in several months. It is about half a mile south of some shallow production and half a mile west of the 1,400-foot stuff of the Howell pool. Considerable drilling for the area is expected as a result of the completion.

Elsewhere Wichita county was quiet during the week.

Montague sprung another good one in Newblock Oil company's No. 1, Rolls, on the northwest edge of production. The well showed 750 barrels in three days swabbing and flowing from sand at 890-924 feet, and is possibly the best well ever completed in the county. The oil is low gravity, measuring 21.4 degrees Baume. Texhoma has cemented easing at 719-29 feet on a gas sand in No. 1, Lemons, and has either an oil sand or a gas sand in No. 1, Rowland, Chambliss survey, at 739 feet.

The Humphreys No. 1, Hinton, is flowing about 50 barrels a day.

RAINY SEASON HURTS MEXICO

Tampico Drilling Seriously Hampered As Wet Period Begins

TAMPICO, Tamps., July 4.—The beginning of the rainy season has virtually made transportation of material impossible and consequently cut deeply into drilling operations of the Tampico district.

Only seven new wells were spudded in during the week ended June 20, the smallest number in any weekly period thus for in 1925. Twelve wells were completed for an estimated initial production of 7,200 barrels then. Of this 6,000 barrels is credited to Mexican Petroleum corporation for its Chijol No. 30. Completed at 1,838 feet, it started off at 2,000 barrels but increased to 6,000.

SMACKOVER'S DEEPER STUFF IS EXTENDED

2,600-Foot Horizon Goes Two And a Half Miles Northwest

53 NEW WELLS

Heavy Oil Output From Second Horizon Toboggans Downward

By D. H. BANCROFT.

SHREVEPORT, La., July 4.—Extension of production in the Graves (third) sand in the Smackover district two and one-half miles northeast of the discovery well, as it had already been extended about the same distance southwest, by a 1,500 barrel producer; an abrupt slackening in the rate of decline in Smackover heavy oil runs; considerably more completions in the Meakin (second) sand but a decided difference downward in average initial production; and the adoption of uniform classification or nomenclature for the three producing horizons in Smackover were the principal features of the week in Shreveport oil territory. Smackover "hogged" the limelight, but North Louisiana had a few interesting developments itself as will appear later.

Completions for the week throughout the district totaled 61, twelve more than last week, while the new producers 53, matched total completions for the entire district last week. New production of these 50 totaled 47,101 barrels 11,669 more than last week's 40 new wells. There were three gassers and six failures, paralleling last week.

Smackover Nets 53.

Smackover accounted for all of Arkansas' completions and Caddo with two and DeSoto with one, completed North Louisiana's roster of new producers, adding only 217 barrels. The Arkansas wonder had 53 completions, 50 producers with 46,884 barrels initial, one gasser and three failures, all junked—two second completions going for Graves sand production and one in the Nacatoch going after Graves pay. One gasser in the Meakin sand made 10 million feet and a sprayer in the Graves made 10 million feet with 500 barrels of oil. The average initial production of Smackover wells, which were about equally divided between the Ouachita and Union county sides of the Graves sand area, was 938 barrels compared with 1094 barrels for 32 wells last week.

There were a number of wells making from 1,000 to 3,000 barrels but only one, the Texas company's No. 5, Effie Johnson in 3-16-15 resembled the giant wells of the flush period of the Graves sand development, 8,500 barrels at 2,390 feet. The northeast extension well in this horizon was Houston Oil company's 3 Reynolds in the center of the south line of the southwest of 27-15-15, two and one-half miles northeast of T. and P. Coal and Oil company's 5 Laney in 31, the discovery well. The Houston well, according to reports from the field was making about 8,000 barrels but guaged it made only 1,500 though showing signs Thursday of increasing.

Surprise Well.

One completion, somewhat surprising in view of results previously obtained in the Meakin sand in that locality, was Estes et al's 900 barrel completion at 2,470 feet in 15-16-15, No. 1, Murray. Location is approximately a mile south of previous completions in 10-16-15 which have almost invariably been heavily cut by salt water, none of which appears in the Estes well. Either the well was more carefully and successfully finished, the pay thickens, or else it was not drilled into so far. Just how far in the sand it is and how it was finished is not known at this writing.

The first extension of the Graves sand, Laurel O. and G. company, 1 Houston, in 12-16-16, completed in fact two weeks ago but not until this week on the records, is two and one-half miles southwest of the T. and P. discovery well and is listed as a 100 barrel producer at 2,610 feet. El Dorado and Camden reports gave it as high as 1,500 barrels.

Several months ago L. V. Ulrey, who has been pioneering in the Trinity group in southeastern DeSoto parish, tested 50 barrels of oil in his No. 1, Robinson, section 22-11-12 at 2,290 feet. It was his third attempt in the Pelican district, the other two having gone approximately 3,000 feet deeper to the Trinity. In these tests he had financial assistance from a number of the big companies operating in this district and in the present case there was an agreement that if he got production Fortuna Oil company, one of these backers would take it over. Fortuna accordingly did so but somewhere between the factory and Shreveport the gas engine to be used to pump the well got lost and was not delivered until recently. The well was completed during the week as a ten barrel pumper of 42 gravity oil with the bottom in 24 feet of soft black shale streaked with sand.

Atlantic Water Well.

Another well which occasioned somewhat of a flurry several weeks ago was Atlantic Oil Producing company's No. 3 Bodcaw in 23-23-12, Bossier parish, 18 miles northeast of Cotton Valley production. At the time it appeared there was a good chance of making a producer of it at 2,722 feet as it was shrowing for about 50 barrels of oil. There was considerable water with it however, and after several attempts to get rid of the water and save the oil had failed, it was abandoned this week as a salt water hole. Two other wells in the immediate vicinity have met the same fate. They had much the same experience as pioneers in Webster had during their four years of drilling which led up to the discovery of Cotton Valley and it is believed that northern Bossier is as good a field for further prospecting as there is in Shreveport territory, hence the fate of these three wells, and Estes and Bolinger's well in the same locality will not be the end of exploration there.

Urbania Favored

Despite the uninterrupted succession of failures which has been registered against the Urbania district of LaSalle-Winn parishes since the "discovery" well of Urbania Petroleum company, March 23, faith in that district is apparently as strong as ever. The latest completion is Urbania Petroleum company's No. 7 in 19-10-2e reported 50 barrel producer of clean oil, heavy gravity from around 1,512 feet and, according to reports from Monroe and Urbania is apparently about the best promise of production in that territory. It is not yet listed on the records as a completion. Ford and Banner, in 23-10-1e, got a salt water test similar to the Gould-Monroe 1 Harper in the same section several weeks a go. Two or three other wells in the Urbania district are scheduled to test within the next two weeks and Cleve Love is starting still another well.

The amazing rapidity with which Smackover production has been skidding down the toboggan for the last few weeks, going from more than 400,000 barrels during the last days of May to 240,000 barrels (heavy oil) this week, hit a rough spot this week and slowed up, the drop from last week being only 17,788 barrels in daily average runs—about half the difference between last week and the week before, and a quarter of that between the week ending June 11 and June 18.

Production Figures.

Production for the week, all districts, averaged 333,267 barrels, all pools in the district except Bellevue and Smackover light and heavy oil reporting gains. Total output for the week was 2,332,869 barrels compared with 2,449,097 last week. Louisiana daily runs were 51,185, a gain of 1,253 and Arkansas were 282,082, a decline of 16,604, El Dorado's gain of 394, Stephens' of 90 and Nevada county's 155 barrels lessening to slight degree the losses in Smackover.

Total production and daily average runs by pools, compared with last week's figures follow:

Louisiana — Caddo light 9,300, gained 200; Gross 65,100 gained 1,400; Caddo heavy 2,275, gained 75, gross 15,625, gained 525; Homer 6,700, gained 90, gross 46,900, gained 630; Haynesville 13,055, gained 255, gross 91,385, gained 1,785. Red River DeSoto 5,010, gained 305, gross 35,070, gained 2,135. Bellevue 8,370, lost 35, gross 23,590, lost 245; Cotton Valley 11,475, gained 365, gross 80,325, gained 2,555.

Arkansas—El Dorado 8,400, gained 394, gross 58,800, gained 1,768; Smackover light 29,015, lost 710, gross 203,105, lost 4,870. Smackover heavy 241,312, lost 17,788, gross 1,689,184, lost 124,516. Stephens 1,900, gained 90, gross 13,300 gained 630. Nevada county 1,455, gained 155, gross 10,185, gained 1,085. Louisiana 51,185, gained 1,253, gross 358,295, gained 8,785. Arkansas 282,082, lost 17,859, gross 1,974,574, lost 125,013. Total 333,267, lost 16,604, gross 2,332,869, lost 116,228 barrels.

The Fourth of July yesterday found every office in town closed, and with most every operator spending the day somewhere away from Wichita Falls, Medicine Park, or some other place.

Several of the companies planned and executed picnics despite a threatening sky early in the morning.

There were none so jubliant or none who celebrated the Fourth with more zest and fervor than George Pace and Roy I. Carter, both recipients of good wells on the few days just preceding the Fourth.

SOONERS LOOK HIGH--OUTPUT LOSS IS 5,000

Majors Draw on Crude Oil Stocks Over Oklahoma Areas

OUTLOOK PROMISING

A Number of Small Pools Promise Much With No Big Showing

TULSA, Okla., July 4.—A 5,000-barrel decline was registered in Oklahoma daily production the past week, according to estimates of a major pipeline company which reports the state with 448,850 barrels as compared with 453,600 barrels the previous week. The Kansas fields are still holding steady at 102,000 barrels. The production situation looks better than it did three weeks ago and talk of an advance in light oil prices has been revived.

The major purchasing companies are still taking some oil from storage with the single exception of the Prairie Oil & Gas Company, which is having little difficulty in meeting its requirements on account of buying stored oil here and there and increased connections in some of the new fields. The Prairie, however, is said to be drawing very slightly on stocks during the latter part of June to make up its quota of oil for the Standard of New Jersey and other buyers.

Situation Favorable.

In the Burbank district official reports indicate that operators were still drawing oil from storage with the Carter Oil Company and the Mid-Kansas Oil & Gas Company filling up some of their tanks. During the past week it is said that 153,924 barrels of oil were withdrawn from storage at Burbank, leaving 11,295,946 barrels of oil in storage and 3,885,054 barrels of unfilled tankage. Phillips Petroleum Company, Sinclair Oil & Gas Company, Gypsy Oil Company and others were reported to have withdrawn considerable oil from stocks.

Most oil authorities seem to feel that the oil situation is in better shape than reports indicate and that an advance rather than a decrease in prices is due soon. Much depends on what the new fields do in the next 30 days. Nobody expects any one of them to be a market breaker but collectively they may surprise the fraternity. The most important fields to be reckoned with are the Braman field in Kay county, the Garber deep sands in Garfield county and the Thomas pool in southern Kay county. Isolated wells which may overnight become major pool possibilities are the K-D Oil Company deep wildcat near Billings in Noble county, the Gypsy Oil Company well near Holdenville in Hughes county, the Shaffer Oil & Refining Company wildcat near Ripley in Payne county and the Dixie Oil Company wells in the Yeager pool, Hughes county. Each of these wells is important enough to cause another Cromwell or Tonkawa to bob up on the oil horizon. They are being closely watched and their outcome will determine the ultimate trend of the oil market in the Mid-Continent field.

Deep Rock Well.

One of the recent wildcat wells regarded very highly is the Deep Rock Oil Company (Shaffer) No. 1 Goodnough in sec. 23-18-3, about 10 miles west of Cushing, which started off at 1,100 barrels at only two feet in the sand, total depth 4,275 feet. Gravity of the oil was 46 degrees Baume which exceeds that of the Garber field, credited with being the highest grade in the Mid-Continent. The sand in the Wilcox formation such as the Tonkawa deep sands produce from and indications are that a major pool of large proportions exists in that region. The well is about 8 miles from nearest production, which is the Ingalls field., where the deepest production is around 3,600 feet.

In the new Holdenville pool, Roxana Petroleum corporation brought in the second producing well in sec. 35-8-8 for 65 barrels an hour flow at 3,295 feet, sand being penetrated 17 feet. The discovery well brought in by the Gypsy Oil Company several weeks ago is still making 1,100 barrels. Scouts of some of the larger companies estimate the potentiality of the Holdenville pool at 25,000 barrels a day at the minimum. The large number of drilling wells indicates that this production may be reached within the next thirty days.

Braman Area Booming.

The Braman field in northern Kay county is fast assuming major proportions. Thirty-four rings are reported up and 24 wells are said to be drilling. The Herbert Oil & Gas Company discovery well which has been gradually deepened since brought in six weeks ago is still increasing, having made 2,723 barrels in the last 24 hours, June 30. It is understood that the Moore Refining Company will lay a six-inch line to the field connecting with its refinery at Arkansas City, Kansas. The owners of the discovery well have also announced construction of a natural gasoline plant.

In the Winnfield, Kansas, pool the natural gasoline plant of the J. A. Hull Oil Company of Tulsa has been completed and put in operation with an initial production of 4,400 gallons of raw gasoline. Production is being gradually increased as the plant is made ready and an ultimate output of 7,500 gallons is expected within a few weeks. This is the first gasoline plant to be built in Kansas since the completion of the Waite Phillips Company plant in the Rainbow Bend field three months ago. The latter is now turning out its capacity of about 25,000 gallons a day.

J. G. Denton, general counsel of Cosden & Company, now the Mid-Continent Petroleum Corporation, has been made vice president and general manager of operations, succeeding E. R. Perry, who resigned a few months ago to go with the Bell Oil & Gas Company as special refinery representative. Jacob France, president of the company, made the announcement June 25th together with the statement that the company intended to continue active drilling in both new and older fields. The promotion of Denton is taken by most Mid-Continent oil men to mean that the former Cosden company will start an aggressive campaign in the Mid-Continent fields looking for new sources of production.

Sammy Simple, Prairie scout, spent the morning signing up the defense day patriots at the Harmon drug store corner. The usual gang hung around the Kemp, unperturbed by the holiday.

Superior Oil corporation is planning a housewarming at its new offices on the second floor of the Bradford building. See W .D. Rowland or C. G. Summers for particulars.

Production Figures Show Wichita Field Average About Stationary

Daily production stood practically at a standstill during the past week when a compilation of pileline runs by a major purchaser showed only a 50 barrel decrease in the week's runs over the runs of the week before.

In the main there were only minor fluctuations to note. Baylor county failed to show after its first week in the column, South Vernon passed 9,000 barrels a day again; otherwise the figures are as the week before.

In detail they are:

District	Past Week	Week Before
Electra	17,005	16,280
Burkburnett	14,200	14,200
Archer County	36,105	36,225
Young County	9,510	9,510
South Vernon	9,025	8,970
Iowa Park	4,300	4,220

Clay County	445	120
Nocona	195	120
Jack County	35	—

Baylor County	—	60
Total	90,860	90,910

Decrease 50 barrels a day.

Twenty More Wells Started In June Than In May

Increase Surprising in Face Of Unusual June Slump

WICHITA FALLS, July 4.—Indicative as nothing else of a "different" sort of a summer for the oil industry in North Texas is the report of the Texas state railroad commission of new work started in the ten or twelve counties comprised in the Wichita Falls district. The report shows an increase of 20 in the total number of operations started during June, with Archer county accounting for eight of the increase and Wichita county thirteen. Archer as usual led with 96 new wells started, Wichita following with 81 new operations.

The average for the month was a little better than nine starts a day as compared with better than seven a day during May. Applications to drill filed the last two days of the month are not included in the June report, since, due to the absence of T. L. Coplin from the city they were not actually filed until July 2.

The increase in new operations marks the first break in a decline that has lasted for three months, dating from March with a total of 303 operations, through April with 213 and May with 204. The figure is the second best of any attained during any month of this year, only March with its 303 new wells, beating it. This is especially surprising for a summer month, and is without precedent over the last four or five years when every summer has seen a marked dceline in operations. It is only accounted for by the general optimism and belief in a firm foundation for the light oil industry.

Detailed figures, by counties, follow:

County	Jun	Ma	Ap	Mar	Feb	Jan
Archer	96	98	94	151	118	114
Baylor	10	2	3	3	5	2

Tendency Is To Strengthen In Refined Market

The Mid-Continent refined oil market has assumed a stronger attitude over the former stationary condition last week. The continued hot weather and decreasing crude production appear to have been important factors behind the market. U. S. navy is behind the strength of the gasoline movement at 13 cents straight and seems to be headed for higher levels as jobbers are fast working off their surplus. Higher gravities are correspondingly high. Natural gasolines are still very verm, all grades bringing 15 3-8 to 15 3-4 cents a gallon.

Burning oils are softer with fuel oil getting sluggish. Kerosene 41-43 is 4 to 4 1-8 cents and distillates are about 3 1-8 to 3 1-4 cents. Fuel oil 24-36 is sluggish at 92 1-2 to 95 cents a barrel and may cheapen to the 90-cent level. The industrial demand, notably from railroads, who have gone back to coal in some instances, is responsible.

Women At Prize Fights

By Rupers Hughes

By RUPERT HUGHES.

The hullabaloo raisers are so horrified by the increasing attendance of women at prize fights that they are almost speechless and inkless with rage. Yet the prize fights grow in feminine favor.

There are more boxing women, too, though the sport is evne more dangerous for them than basket ball, from which many girls have received dangerous injuries of peculiarly regretable nature.

It is evident at a glance that women were not meant to fight with their fists, for they are built neither to give nor receive blows. Their fighting should be rather of the feline nature, and a woman properly trained in jiu-jitsu tricks and native wildcat tactics can whip almost any man that she wants to whip—that is if she really wants to whip him.

But there is no more reason why a woman should not witness a prize fight, than smoke, vote or earn her own living and spend her own money as she pleases.

There are countless things going on today in the most respectable circles that are far more cruel than prize fighting. One of them is the massacre by the moralists of school teachers who try to teach youth the truth. No end of honest young scientists are being knocked out and even robbed of their livelihood by bullies masquerading as protectors of the young.

The thing that must not be forgotten is that nobody is compelled to go into a prize ring against his will, or to receive one more blow than he is willing to accept. The fighter who has had enough can simply say so, or motion his seconds to throw up the sponge or the towel, or he can be down and decline to get up.

The referee will protect him from his opponent and the police will protect him from such of the spectators as may have bet money on him or paid to see him fight and not to see him surrender.

Being knocked out is not pleasant, I am told, though it does not differ much from taking laughing gas or ether, and some of the finest physical speciments in the world have received many a K. O. without ceasing to be the reverse.

Infinitely more people die under anaesthetics than in the prize ring, and the one regret of the gentlemen who frequent the exhibitions of the monly art is that the true knckout is such a rarity.

There is a good deal of dishonesty about the prize ring and many of the fighters are considerably short of moral perfection; but is this not true of every other walk of life?

I have seen lawyers accused of dishonesty somewhere. Doctors ase occasionally alluded to as capable of deception and even of performing operations unnecessarily—and the ugliest pug I ever heard of never did to his adversary one-tenth as much as a surgeon does to his patient. No prize fighter on record ever laid his opponent on a slap, drugged him, broke into his interior with burglarious tools, and jimimed him out of one or more vital organs.

The pugilist may tie his rival's solar plexus into a bow knot, but he neve runties it.

And suppose a prize fighter does encourage wicked thoughts and brutally maul the features of his ringmate, and even at times lay him out cold. That is as far as he goes.

According to nearly every paper I pick up, one or more clergymen accuse numberless other clergymen of ruining their parishioners, not only here but hereafter. I have never read a denunciation of prize fighters that accused them of anything like such crimes as the fundamentalists allege against the modernists, or the Protestants against the Catholics, and vice versa.

No, dear readers, let us not for a moment assume that a thing or a person is evil simply because it is called so by some respectable denouncer. For if that were true, absolutely everything and everybody in the world is and always has been absolutely hopeiessly corrupt.

So I find myself earnestly advising ladies to attend prize fights in the full knowledge that professionally respectable people insist that prize fighting, prize fighters, prize fight witnesses and the whole business of prize fighting belong among the vilest of human works.

In most of the states there are laws against prize fighting, as there are laws against no end of highly desirable and noble things. In some of the states it is against the law for a teacher of science to teach the theory of evolution, in which absolutely every respectable scientist on earth believes absolutely. Worse things are said about evolutionists, by the way, than about prize fighters, and usually by people who are proud of their ignorance of either.

There are some women, however, who will not be led around by the nose ring any longer or frightened by the bugaboos of self-appointed respectability.

I was present in New York some years ago at a banquet given in honor of a woman legislator who had cast the deciding vote in favor of a bill to permit boxing. The politicians had been bullied as usual by the militant moralists and half of them were contemptible enough to vote against permitting the citizens of a so-called republic to practice or to witness the noble art of fisticuffs.

If that woman had not been a believer in liberty and fair play, the millions of New York citizens would have been treated like naughty children and denied a right that nobody had a right to deny them.

But this lady voted Yes. And the lovers of pugilism gave her a huge banquet. In the center of the ball room of a great hotel a hing was erected and there several bouts were held for the entertainment of this woman, and numbrs of others who sat in boxes in evening dress.

Of course, evening dress in itself is a horrible sin to many people and was forbidden by law in the good old Puritan days, but in these evil times it is permissible.

The bouts were all of them mild, and some of them laughably tame, especially in the case of several once-famous champions who had grown so old and fat that they soon gave out of breath. But there was a picturesque encounter between Major Biddle, an aristocrat of Philadelphia, and his gigantic son. It was a beautiful sight to see this white haired father dancing about the ring and exchanging blows with his loving and beloved son.

The marvelous physique of the major who had boxed in innumerable contests, was answer enough to the sickly critics who maintain that boxing is harmful, though infinitely more people die of blows from potatoes or ill-made bread landed in their bread baskets by the cooks.

Still it amused me to see the legislative lady wince when the first boxing glove landed in the first stomach pit. She felt as other ladies feel when they smoke their first cigarette, or make their first dive into cold water, or do any of the other things will give them lifelong pleasure though the initiation is shocking.

It is characteristic of women at prize fights as in times of war to be timid and a trifle nauseated at first, and then to become more ferocious than the men.

So we now see women shrieking with excitement or eating their own hats during the wild crises of prize fights, just as they call for blood at a bull fight in Spain, the most religious country in Europe; and just as they used to in witnessing the battles in the arena.

As one result of feminine frequentation of prize fights, enormous sums have been earned for charities. In New York City and Los Angeles the milk funds for providing poor children with good free milk have garnered in tens of thousands of dollars on each occasion.

In Boston last month the blue blood of Beacon Hill made a vast amount of money for an American legion fund by crowding to a series of prize fights.

So long as mankind loves a struggle, athletic contests will draw great throngs. They resemble criminal trials and executions in a way, and they far surpass in thrill the most exciting dramas ever enacted. In a prize fight, as in a murder trial, the contestants can never tell just what the opposite side will do next.

Of course to the haters of enthusiasm, great public fervor is in itself abominable. When the first boxing bill was passed in New York and the first bout held at Madison Square Garden, such immense crowds tried to get in that the police reserves had to be called out to hold thme. Immediately steps were taken to discontinue the disgrace. One editorial writer put the whole case of the moralists in a nutshell: A certain privilege is granted to the public. In this republic. So many people want it that great mobs rush for it. Therefore certain reformers rise and demand that it should be abolished at once. Isn't it astounding that people could exist in a free country and have the insolence to point to the excessive popularity of a thing as a reason for rendering it illegal?

But before we condemn the women of our time for attending prize fights, let us compare them with the women of th egood old times.

There was bear-baiting, where throngs gathered to watch the torture of a chained bear. The Puritans stopped it, but as Macauley said "not because it gave pain the bear but because it gave pleasure to the spectators."

In our own good Puritans days, the dear little Priscillas and Patiences gathered in throngs to watch the poor Quaker women stirpped to the waist, fastened to carts and dragged through the snow streets while they were lashed to ribbons by the authorities.

The sweet maidens of the Pilgrim days gathered round while Baptists were whipped till their skin hung in bloody rags.

They collected to see men and women made t omount a ladder till a halter was fixed aruond their necks, then the ladder was kicked out and they swung and kicked for no other reason than that the Quaker doctrine differed from the Congregational.

The darling girl of then, the flappers of Puritania, saw the witches hung at Salem, poor old women who had been accused by hysterical lying children and condemned to death by superstitious authorities. The society women of that day watched poor Giles Corey slowly squeezed to death by weights piled on top of his blacksmith form.

In New York City in 1741 the best people gathered to watch thirteen poor negro slaves burned alive because a servant girl was scared into accusing them of planning to burn the city and rule it.

In a town in France in 1765 three boys not yet twenty years old were accused of sacrilegious acts committed in spite of most careful raising. One of them fled. One of them, named La Barre, was first subjected to the extraordinary torture, a cruel grotesque affair, and then hung.

After his death somebody looked up the books and found that there was no law to authorize such punishment for such an offense. The good people had simply assumed that judges had a right to do anything they had a mood to. The third young blasphemer was not punished at all.

The prize fights that the police permit to be fought today are voluntary matters. Nobody has to fight them, and nobody has to witness them. But in the good old days when people took life seriously, the public had festivals provided for it that make a modern prize fight look like a battle of roses.

We forget ancient horrors that were common, and imagine ancient virtues that were rare. It is hard for us to believe the hideous cruelties of those times.

The Puritan ladies lived in towns decorated with poles on which were stuck the heads of Indians, not only of warriors but of women and children. When King Phillip's war was ended, the Puritans paraded the head of his slaughtered wife on a pole.

The Puritan girls could see their fathers paying good money for the scalps and better money for the heads of Indian women and children. They could hear the stories of whole Indian villages surrounded and set on fire, and Indian women and children thrown back in the flames to crackle.

These are not the base accusation of the Indians; they are the boasts of the Puritans.

Let him who would condemn a woman who watches a prize fight today first consider the women of the previous centuries who stood about and laughted or wept to see old men, old women, little children lashed till the blood streamed down to their heels.

Those must have been lively days in Europe when witch hunting was carried on for a hundred years or more with such devotion that three million men and women, mostly women, were burned alive for having sold themselves to the devil. And the burning alive was the least part of it, for it was the restful conclusion of prolonged torture.

I have a book of the confessions of three women. It is taken from the official records of 1617. A footnote explains that the confessions are punctuated with colons following many short phrases. This was because the colons represented points where questions were asked and not answered to the pleasure of the judges, so that the victims had to be taken out and tortured some more.

The confessions are ridiculous descriptions of seeing people turn into cats and dogs and fly through the air on broomsticks, and ruin crops and dry up cattle and destroy unborn children by virtue of certain charms bought from the devil.

It is ridiculous that human beings ever said or listened to such things, yet who would not have confessed to anything that such judges demanded with such frightful instruments, and on the grounds of the preservation of religion and morals?

No, no, let us hear no more criticism of our foibles today from the fanatics who raise the past. Neither the men nor the women of the past had an inkling of what we call mercy and liberty today.

They found amusement and entertainment in the agonies of helpless beings put to the "pain strong and long."

If our prize fights of today were like the gladitorial battles of Rome, where the men were slaves compelled to slaughter one another, I should never witness one nor advise anyone else to.

If our prize fights were like the bull fights of Spain or the cock fights of many regions of America and elsewhere, where animals are goaded to the mangling of each other, I should abhor them.

But the prize fight of today is a duel with fists, according to elaborate rules which disqualify the man who deals a blow outside of bounds. The police are on hand, and physicians, also seconds with every ingenious device for keeeping their fighters fit.

The fighters are not secured as sailors used to be, by shanghaiing them. They are zealous volunteers who undergo Spartan training and enjoy for a little while a supreme expression of their physical selves and their stragetic gifts.

It is exciting, tremendonsly exciting. And what is the use of living if we avoid everything supreme? If we cannot or will not exert ourselves to our utmost, then by all means let us watch others at it.

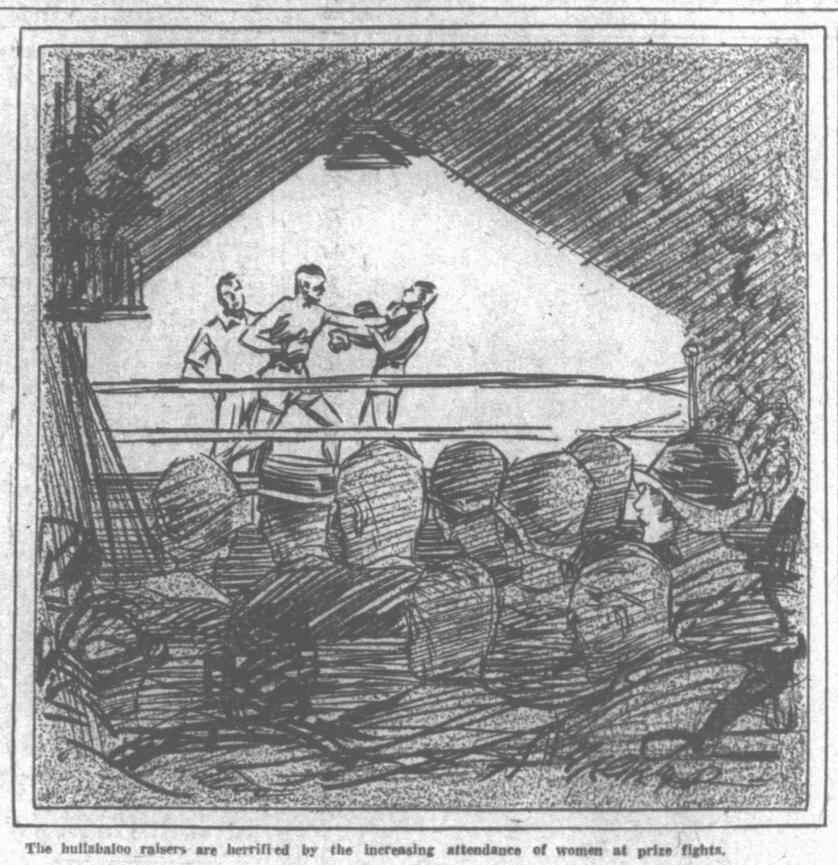

By such physical culture we are proving the evolution of the race by carrying it on. Men are growing bigger and more powerful year by year.

So are women, now that athletics have engaged their interest. The improvement in the physique of our girls in the last decade has been astounding.

The moralists who kept women in seclusion and made modesty and laziness their ideals were driving them into their early graves in droves. Now women go about the world glorifying their glorious powers.

It is good training for their courage and their minds to see how men have developed self-defense into as pretty an art as ever was. We shall in another generation, perhaps, see a still cleverer art developed into the womanly art of self-defense, with champions of every weight, from heavy to feather.

There are still a few things that men can teach women. Perhaps the most important is the ability to give and take fierce punishment in friendly contests with good sportsmanship. And good sportsmanship is, in many respects, the most important of all the social virtues.

The hullabaloo raisers are horrified by the increasing attendance of women at prize fights.

Champions Celebrate At Spudders' Expense In Twin Bill

TOP O' MORN STUFF

By BLONDY CROSS.

FOR WHY WAS THE SEASON SPLIT ON THOSE BIRDS, ANYWAY?

* * *

Texas league percentage column looks this morning just like it always did.

* * *

Now since Cats whopped up on Morgan, Williams, and Sutherland, it would be a good grandstand manager idea to aver Buddy should have made Bob Osborn pitch 'em both.

* * *

The second guessers and anvil crew may now play their inning.

* * *

Ping, let us recall, Ping connected for numbers 24 and 25. There should be at least a meager satisfaction garnered from that.

* * *

More pleasantries: Cats won't scratch Spudders today, for Spudders are scheduled to be in Shreveport.

* * *

HURRAY!

Bull fighters slated to appear at Fairpark this week under auspices of legion are signed up by Tex Rickard for New York and have already shown in Galveston, was startling statement eloquently enunciated by legion's announcer.

* * *

El toro scrapping gentry also having performed abroad, announces in next city they visit probably will enthusiastically open up with something like this: "These great toreadors, picadors, warriors of the bull ring, cream of the bovine battling fraternity, ladies and gentlemen, have had the distinction of performing both in Wichita Falls and Europe!"

Carramba!

* * *

Lissen, Bill Bryan.

Cecil O'Hara, the refreshing Apee operator, after nervously witnessing the Trammel-Padgett fisticuff and intermittantly holding his breath every round right up to the finish when Duke knocked his famous opponent kicking, emitted a long sigh, and uttered in low and dramatic tones: "Now I believe in evolution!"

* * *

Padgett, using the psychology of the ring, did make quite a few monkey faces at Duke. Incidentally, at one stage of the bout, the veteran mauler leered: "Why, you can't fight, you bum! Who told you you could?" Trammel interrupted the conversation with a hard right to the mouth.

* * *

THE DENOUEMENT.

Nothing but male cows will be used in that Fairpark performance, advises Don Wofford, highly perturbed boxing promoter who is still in a trance (just as if anybody could be perturbed and in a trance at the same time) over the "surprising" Trammel victory. Which causes Cowbells, the cub reporter, to arise and query which is the difference if what between a male cow and a lady bull.

* * *

The answer is: how?

* * *

ASTONISHING!

Ichabod, the well known Wichita Falls sports writer, after a heavy celebration of the Fourth, romps to the fore with the exhilarating news item (Mr. Printer, please be sure to print this just as Ichabod wrote it) to effect: "The Glorious Fourth found all baseball in Wichita Falls, including Wichita Falls at Fort Worth, at a standstill. No amateur games were to be had!"

* * *

"Pink Slip Handed Trio of Beaumont Players." Didn't know male athletes wore 'em, too.

ONE REDEEMING FEATURE, BODIE HITS 2 HOMERS

Jakie Southpaws Boys to Frazzle With Pate and Johns.

FORT WORTH, July 4.—Fort Worth won a doubleheader from Wichita Falls today at Panther park 9 to 4 and 9 to 2. The first game saw Joe Pate settle down after the third inning while his mates hopped on Morgan and Williams unmercifully. "Lefty" Johns scored his thirteenth win of the season by winning the second game. He held the Spudders scoreless up to the seventh inning, when Ping Bodie got his second home run of the day with one on. Smith, Davis and Konetchy hit homers for the Cats. These two circuit smashes bring Bodie's total for the season to 25.

Pate Tightens.

The Wichita Falls team got to Pate in the first three innings of the opening game for three runs, but he clamped down the rest of the way, emitting but one more score, a home run over the left field fence by Bodie in the seventh. Double by Callaghan followed by a single by Bodie, scored the first Spudder counter. Golvin opened the second with a double into the right field crowd. Tanner grounded out, and Jonnard singled to right, scoring Golvin. Callaghan singled in the third. Bodie hoisted out to center. Fitzgerald singled. Turgeon was purposely walked. Golvin grounded out to first and Callaghan scored. Tanner walked and Jonnard flied out to center.

Two walks, an infield out and singles by Konetchy and Windle gave the Cats two in the fourth. They reared up on Morgan in the sixth. Five safe blows, including a home run by Smith with two on, and an error scored four runs.

Cats Jump at Start.

The Cats got to Williams in the eighth for three more.

Fort Worth jumped Sutherland at the start of the second game, counting a quartet of markers. Four hits, including doubles by Davis and Moore, abetted by three miscues, accounted for the scores. Behind the big lead, Lefty Johns hurled highly effective ball and the Spudder attack wilted. The Cats continued to score almost at will with exception of the fourth and fifth innings when they were blanked.

LaCoste Captures British Net Title

WIMBLEDON, July 4 (AP).—Rene LaCoste, 20-year-old French player, tonight holds the all-England lawn tennis singles championship. He wrested the title from his countryman, Jan Borotra, in clean cut fashion today in a match witnessed by the king and 14,000 persons. The score was 6-3, 6-3, 4-6, 8-6.

LaCoste played a steady strategic game, devoid of sensationalism, against an opponent who repeated. They performed the almost impossible in brilliant strokes at the net but whose lack of precisio inn long rallies and faulty service finally spelled his own defeat.

Mlle. Lenglen, who yesterday won the women's singles in brief style and Miss Elizabeth Ryan, formerly of California, won the women's doubles defeating Mrs. A. V. Bridge and Mr. C. G. McIlquaham of England, 6-2, 6-2.

DALLAS 2; SHREVEPORT 0

DALLAS, July 4.—Hack Miller, Steer right-fielder broke up a pretty pitchers' battle with a home run in the seventh inning, scoring a man ahead of him, giving Dallas the first game of the second half of the season. Slim Love, pitching for Dallas, struck out 11 men. This is said to be the season's record. The first game of a double-header scheduled today was called off because of wet grounds. The score:

AMERICAN LEAGUE

DETROIT 7-10; ST. LOUIS 1-12

ST. LOUIS, July 4.—(AP)—Detroit and St. Louis broke even in their double-header here today, the Tigers taking the morning game 7 to 1, and the Browns the afternoon game, 12 to 10. Leonard allowed the Browns only five hits in the first game and won handily. Fifteen hits combined with numerous bases on balls and Detroit's erratic playing was largely responsible for the Brown's victory this afternoon. Ken Williams of the Browns hit his 19th home run of the season in the second game. Jacobson and Manush also hit for the circuit in the second game. The scores:

Nerve! That's Dick's Greatest Asset!

DICK MORGAN.

Dick took a terrible licking at behest of Cowtown bludgeons Saturday in the first game of the double header the Spudders dropped to the champions, but you can wager your last bit of the long green that the big right hander won't catch many more drubbings.

As the Spudders swing into the last half scramble for the Texas league flag, handicapped at the start a two-game loss, they're depending on Dick to go a long way toward pulling them up around the top of the percentage column. And should the Spudders travel very high it will be greatly through the efforts of Morgan.

There isn't a pitcher in the league who has more sheer nerve and grit than has this husky hurler. Knocked from the box in his first five ventures to the hillock this season, he fought back, never wavering until now he rates as one of the most effective pitchers in the league. Dick won 11 games during the first half, and he'll win more than that for the second portion of the race if given anything like fair support and a run or so to work on.

Morgan boasts a heavy assortment of curves, a speed ball, and both an overhand and underhand delivery, but his greatest asset is NERVE, spelled with capital letters.

WASHINGTON 4-5; BOSTON 7-1

BOSTON, Mass., July 4.—(AP)—Ehmke pitched Boston to a 7 to 4 victory over the world champion Washington Senators in the first game of a double-header here today, but Washington took the second game, 5 to 1, Wingfield weakening in the closing innings. Joe Harris of Washington, for the third successive day, knocked a home run over the left field fence. The Senators took four games out of the five-game series. The scores:

CHICAGO, July 4.—(AP)—Home run smashes again fatured the second game of the double-header between Chicago and St. Louis, both ends of which were won by the locals, by scores of 7 to 6 this morning and 9 to 1 in the afternoon. After winning the opener, the locals came back strong in the afternoon game and drove Sherdel from the hill.

Chicago chalked up three homers in the second game, Kaufmann making two and Grimm one. Kaufmann pitched great ball allowing the visitors only three hits, which came in one inning and saved them from a shutout. Hornsby turned an ankle in the second game and had to retire. It will be several days before he will be able to play. The scores:

CAMPBELL AND DAVIS GOLF HEADS

TEMPLE, Texas, July 4.—Charles M. Campbell and J. H. Davis, Jr., were elected president and secretary, respectively, of the Central Texas Nine Hole Golf association organized here today at an invitation tournament under auspices of the local golf club. Eleven clubs were represented.

Charles Leavell Campbell, Temple, shooting 77 for 18 holes turned in the lowest gross score for the day. He and his father, Charles L. Campbell, with a score of 160 won the loving cup offered for the best pair from any club.

T. C. Hall, Temple, won the driving contest on points getting three pretty drives down the middle. W. R. Eason, West, had the longest drive, which was 275 1-2 yards.

The organization plans a number of tournaments at the various clubs.

ACCUSED JUDGE TO APPEAR

DALLAS, July 4.—Judge George W. Riddle, who was indicted yesterday on four charges of unlawfully receiving deposits as manager of insolvent failing banks at Farmers Branch, and Vickery near here, will voluntarily appear in district court Monday and make bond, Cullen F. Thomas, his attorney, declared today.

Tyrus R. Cobb, 40 Years Young, Leads American

Seasoned Hitters of Nat'l Begin to Creep On Hornsby

CHICAGO, July 4 (AP).—Tyrus Raymond Cobb, for 20 years a star in baseball, today has an opportunity to laugh at the moth eaten adage that "youth must be served." Cobb, 40 years young, is fooling youth—fooling the youngsters of the American league at least—for he is safely perched at the top of the leading sluggers with an average of .400.

For eight consecutive years from 1907 to 1915, the famed Georgian led the American league in hitting, losing the honors to Tris Speaker in 1916. Then the following year Cobb came back and retained the title until George Sisler swept into baseball's hall of fame as batting leader in 1920.

Today, after a week of brilliant play the sensational veteran is back on top. His batting performance in his last nine games netted him sixteen hits shoving him up the ladder from fourth place. The work of the "Georgie peach" is noticeable in almost every department. He is tied for second place honors in two-base hitting, having 25, the same number as Boone of Boston. Cobb also has pounded out nine triples and 11 home runs, but the stolen base column testified to creaky underpinning as the former speed king has stolen only three bases since the start of the season.

Ty Inspires Team.

Cobb's sensational batting has been an inspiration to his team mates, three of whom are trailing him, all hitting around .400. Wingo is second to the Tiger pilot with .405 while Heilmann and Burke are tied for third with .400. Sammy Hale of the Athletics the leader a week ago has dropped from the picture.

Although the home runs have been rattling over the fence tops during the past week the leaders have not made as rapid strides as some of the lesser lights. Meusel of the Yankees ran his total to 19 and Williams of the Browns boosted his mark to 16.

Johnny Mostil of the White Sox increased his base stealing mark to 23 by adding another theft, while Simmons of the Athletics brought his total scoring figure to 62.

Other leading batters: H. Rice, St. Louis, .388; Lamar, Philadelphia, .384; Fothergill, Detroit, .381; Carlyle, Boston, .371; Simmons, Philadelphia, .370; Speaker, Cleveland, .369; Paschall, New York, .368; Hale, Philadelphia, .367; Combs, New York, .360; K. Williams, St. Louis, .355; Sisler, St. Louis, .354; Collins, Chicago, .354.

Stock and Fournier Show.

Seasoned hitters of the National league are beginning to creep toward the top to vie with Rogers Hornsby for the leadership.

Milton Stock and Jack Fournier, buddies with the Dodgers, have made the greatest strides toward the top, Stock advancing to third place with an average of .389, while his teammate added 25 points to his average for a mark of .382 and a berth in sixth place. Hornsby dropped six points, but continues to lead with .421 with Wilson, of the Phillies, the runner up with .410. Barnhart of the Pirates remains in third place with .395. Bottomley of the Cardinals is lodged between Stock and Fournier with .38.

Hornsby failed to add to his string of 21 homers, but the circuit drive fever has taken a firm hold on other contenders. Jimmy Bottomley of the Cardinals collected two and ran his total to 11, Fournier smashed one for a total of 11 and Irish Meusel of the Giants poled three for a total of nine. Hartnett of the Cubs has 17 and George Kelly of the Giants and Glenn Wright of the Pirates boosted 11 each.

Sparky Adams of the Cubs failed to increase his base stealing mark of 16.

Other leading batters: Mokan, Philadelphia, .382; Brooks, Chicago, .378; Bancroft, Boston, .378; Blades, St. Louis, .371; Bentley, New York, .367; Carey, Pittsburgh, .364; Harper, Philadelphia, .360; Wrightstone, Philadelphia, .360; Grantham, Pittsburgh, .356; Cuyler, Pittsburgh (no figures); Burrus, Boston, .352.

AUTOISTS—
There Is Only One DUCO—
DUPONT DUCO
WHY YOU SHOULD LET US PUT DUCO ON YOUR CAR
1 Duco is the longest wearing finish known.
2 Gasoline, oil, mud, tar, turpentine, battery acids, alkaline dust, salt air, etc., cannot harm it.
3 You need not lose the use of your car for more than a few days.
4 You can secure any of the season's most popular shades—in any degree of lustre, either dull, satin or polished.
5 A Duco finish is easier to keep clean.
6 The lustre of Duco actually improves with age if given ordinary care.
7 It will increase the resale value of your car.

Duco has been adopted as standard by twenty-five of the leading car manufacturers because of recognized merits.

Our shop is fully equipped, manned with trained men, experienced in applying genuine Duco finish. All the old finish is removed, the rough, bare metal brought to a smooth, even surface with undercoatngi and several coats of Duco applied, sanded, rubbed and polished. There are fourteen separate operations.

The remarkable success of Duco The remarkable success of Duco has resulted in the production of a number of finishes for which similar claims are made. Do not accept a finish "like Duco" of the "Duco type." We can guarantee you genuine Du-Pont Duco, applide by the Du-Pont system.

Potash & Perlmutter Discuss How to Dignify Dishwashing Not to say Pants Pressing —By Montague Glass

"Well, Mawruss, I see where President Coolidge went to Minneapolis and Saint Paul the other week to make a few speeches in celebration of the settlement of Minnesota by the Nordics and the Swedics," Abe Potash remarked the other day.

"Some people have a very funny idea of a celebration," Morris Perlmutter commented.

"They probably also served hot coffee and sandwiches," Abe said, "although, Mawruss, when it comes to celebrations of settlements in America by immigrants from Europe, y'understand, the immigrant's relations now living in Europe, who want to come over here and are stopped by the quota, 'understand, probably consider that such a settlement would be appropriately celebrated by all present drinking a silent toast in ice water."

"At that, Abe, it must be already quite a trick for Mr. Coolidge to combine in one speech the idea that immigrants are the greatest asset this country had, coupled with the idea that for the same reason, we don't want any more of them," Morris observed.

"He got over it by praising the Nordics and the Swedics as farmers and not as immigrants," Abe said.

"Well in that case, Abe," Morris continued, "I look to see President Coolidge coming to New York and making speeches to celebrate the settlement of Seventh avenue by the grament manufacturers and furriers and Park Row by the editors and reporters."

"And such celebrations wouldn't be out of the way, neither," Abe retorted, "because in a few years from now, Mawruss, the immigration question ain't going to be a matter of are we going to admit any more Italians, but are we going to admit an more ditch diggers and pants operators on account of the nativ eborn quota of ditch diggers and pants operators from the States of Vermont, New Hampshire, Connecticut and points west, being exhausted before it was started."

"A few other native born quotas which was exhausted before their birth," Abe went on to say, "is buttonhole makers, professional bass fiddle players, pressers, bushelers, peanut peddlers, cross-legged tailors on men's fine suits, to say nothing of a few dozen other quotas beginning with hotel and restaurant waiters and cooks in New York City hotels and comparatively white bootblacks. So therefore, Mawruss, if we want to keep all these foreign born, ex-immigrant workers contented with their jobs, we've not only got to raise their wages, but we must kid them along, by getting President Coolidge to come to New York and make speeches at the celebration of the twentieth anniversary of the settlement of the wholesale clothing business by natives of Latvia, Ukrania, and Bessarabia. There will also be celebrations in Chicago of the thirtieth anniversary of the settlement of the stockyards district by Huns and Polaks, and celebrations in California of the fortieth anniversary of the settlement of railroad track repairing by Mexicans, and one way or another, Mawruss, Mr. Coolidge will have to make so many speeches at such anniversaries, that he's going to get clergyman's sore throat from straddling only one r otwo sections fo the Johnson Immigration Law alone."

A Course for Janitors, Now Enters College Curriculum.

"Well, his troubles has just begun in that direction," Morris said, "because it's only a matter of time now when instead of making speeches of immigrants apologizing for keeping their Eurbpean relations out of the country, y'understand, the president will have to tour the country and make speeches to native born Americans, apologizing for a law which forces them to do work once done by low grade foreigners."

"But I see where a start has been made to overcome such a difficulty, Mawruss," Abe interrupted. "A Pacific Coast university has just announced that they are going to have a course for janitors and superintendents of buildings, y'understand, and naturally a job which an American father has got to send his son to college to learn, is good enough for anybody. Pretty soon now, boys will be writing home to their fathers from college, that not only was they admitted to one of the best fraternities in the whole university, but that they also got an A in Milk Bottle Collecting last month, and that their marks in Ashcan Repairing show a big improvement."

"Well, naturally any owner of a tenement house would prefer a native born graduate janitor to one of the old fashioned Platzdeutsch janitors without a sheepskin," Morris said, "and after all there is a whole lot of angles to the job of janitor which might be just as well taught in a university as by experience. A janitor which has been scientifically trained, for instance, stands a much better chance of arguing a tenant into believing that it's good for his own and his family's health to have the steam heat not working right, especially if such a graduate janitor can give the Latin names for all the diseases which come from living in an overheated apartment. But on the other hand, Abe, take a one-track occupation like dish washing, for example, and there ain't enough to be taught about it for a college to lay out even a two days' course in dish washing."

Dentistry Formerly and Dish Washing Now.

"Leave that to the colleges, Mawruss," Abe replied. "If a native born white American is so dumb that he ain't fit for nothing else but to be a dish washer, Mawruss, and his father can afford to send him to college, understand me, the colleges will take him. Why, when I was a boy, Mawruss, dentistry was a one track occupation the same like dishwashing is today. All the qualifications that a dentist needed was a strong stomach and a hard heart, and he was considered fit to pull the most painful tooth from the head of the most cowardly sufferer with toothache, udnerstand me. If you had told a toothpuller in the old country forty years ago that in America today they would be charging a man who wanted to pull teeth fro a living, two hundred and fifty dollars a year for four years before he could so much as oil a pair of forceps, y'understand, he would have laughed in your face. And now today, monkeying with teeth is one of the highest paid professions there is."

"But monkeying with teeth ain't done by a common tooth puller no more," Morris said.

"Well, maybe in ten years from now, washing dishes won't be done by a common dish washer no more," Abe continued. "Dishes will be cleaned by a process which involves electricity, radium, compressed air and the services of a D. D. W. or Doctor of Dish Washing who will charge fifteen dollars an hour and who will make an appointment to wash your dishes a week from next Monday at 10:15 a. m. on account all his time is taken up by previous appointments until then."

"It is certainly going to make dish washing expensive," Morris commented.

"Say, dish washing is only a beginning," Abe said. "Wait till the foreign born supply of pants pressers becomes exhausted with no more foreign born pants pressers coming into the country and see what happens to pants pressing as well as dish washing."

"I suppose when that occurs," Morris concluded, "that people will consider the expense, and will neglect their pants like they do their teeth."

IF SICK TODAY! TAKE NO CALOMEL

"Dodson's Liver Tone" Straightens You Up Better Than Salivating, Dangerous Calomel and Doesn't Upset You—Don't Lose a Day's Work—Read Guarantee

I discovered a vegetable compound that does the work of dangerous, sickening calomel and I want every reader of this paper to buy a bottle for a few cents and if it doesn't straighten you up better and quicker than salivating calomel just go back to the store and get your money back.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodsons' Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your thirty feet of bowels of the sour bile and constipation poison which is clogging your sysetm and making you feel miserable.

I guarantee that one spoonful of this harmless liquid liver medicine will relieve the headache, biliousness, coated tongue, ague, malaria, sour stomach or any other distress caused by a torpid liver as quickly as a dose of vile, nauseating calomel, besides it will not make you sick or keep you from a day's work.

Calomel is poison—it's mercury—it attacks the bones often causing rheumatism. Calomel is dangerous. It sickens—while my Dodson's Liver Tone is safe, pleasant and harmless. Eat anything afterwards, because it can not salivate. Give it to the children because it doesn't upset the stomach or shock the liver. Take a spoonful tonight and wake up feeling fine and ready for a full day's work. —Adv.

The Will To Live - By FANNIE HURST

Copyright, 1925, by
The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

The World's Highest Paid Short Story Writer

Author of "Lummux", "Humoresque"

Marshall was the sort of servant known as a FIND. A big strapping fellow. Fine integrity and dependability that had never failed.

There were eight little Marshalls, and a wife. It was a pretty tough pull, even with the fairly generous salary from Lathrop.

Food. Rent. Gas. SHOES. SHOES. SHOES.
BILLS. BILLS. BILLS.

To Lathrop, whose eyelids were a little weary, there was something about this man that made him yearn.

Yet Lathrop ENJOYED LIFE.

Yet—what Lathrop lacked was THE WILL TO LIVE.

THE Lathrop house was twenty rooms too large.

Because actually Thomas Lathrop, who lived in it alone, occupied only four out of twenty-four.

It was a house full of ringing silence.

When Thomas Lathrop dined alone in it, as he not unfrequently did, in full dinner dress and to the faint rhythm of crystal and silver, the fine paneled walls and the noble oak fireplaces and the great framed portraits seemed to stare of sheer ennui.

Eight servants served Thomas Lathrop one way or another. There were housemaids, chefs, a butler, a house man and Marshall, the chauffeur.

Of all of his servants, and for the most part they had been with him eighteen years and upward, Marshall was the indispensible one.

And well might he be. Marshall was one of those servants known as a "find." To begin with, he was a big strapping fellow with an easy habit of laughter that could be heard a block away. Big shining healthy teeth. Wind-slapped cheeks. A sturdy buxom body. Fine integrity and a dependability that had never failed.

Lathrop had twice added a codicil to his will in behalf of Marshall.

He was remembered to the extent of fifteen thousand dollars outright.

It lay in Lathrop's mind to make it twenty-five. The expectation of life in these two men was about the same. Lathrop was forty-nine and Marshall forty-eight, and yet, because of the disposition of his great properties, the thought of death naturally lay more to the fore of Lathrop's mind, what with the rigarmarole of will-making, the adjustments of public endowments, the provision for memorials to the great financial name that was in danger of dying out.

Marshall, on the other hand, was perhaps too intricately caught in the meshes of the struggle for existence to have sufficient time for even a necessary amount of introspection or meditation upon the course of life and its destiny.

There were eight little Marshalls and a wife with hair that was still prettily yellow, and two of the willingest hands, and yet Marshall would frequently come home to find her prostrate of the pains in her back and her legs from day after day of tending the eight little Marshalls, the eldest one fourteen.

It was a pretty tough pull, even with the fairly generous salary from Lathrop. In fact, as chauffeurs' salaries go, Marshall's was very generous to one who did not know the frightening private reckonings sometimes over the kitchen table after the children were in bed, and Amy had dropped off to sleep, literally, over the supper dishes.

Food. Rent. Gas. Shoes. Shoes. Shoes.

Sometimes, in Marshall's sleep, all night long the dancing of children's shoes was across his eyelids and along his brow. Shoes. Four dollars for shoes every time you so much as looked around.

And doctor bills. Marshall had never reached the stage where a croupy child at night would not frighten him into tearing around for the nearest doctor. Five dollars a night-call. And Eda had croup ever so often, and Marshall and Amy knew just what to do for it, and yet, somehow, the sight of little Eda, gagging there for breath, was more than he could bear without the moral support of a doctor. And then didn't every father's son of them break an arm growing up? And the dreadful bearing down pains of Amy, they had to be doctored. And twice there had been operations.

Bills. Bills. Bills. Sometimes, battling against fatigue after a long day's driving of the high-power car of Lathrop, Marshall's head swam with them.

Then it was hard to deny Elsie, the second child and a little beauty, the organdie frock when she was chosen Queen of the May for the Central Park Festival. Amy and Marshall gladly stinted for that. Bob, too, was an irresistible child when he begged for roller skates. It kept Marshall on the jump eking out of his sixty dollars a week the necessities and just a few of the luxuries for that brood of his. Sometimes in that ruddy, good-natured face of his the mouth was a little tight and the eyes a little grim.

And yet, withal, those evenings that Lathrop did not want the car for opera or dinner, it was a pretty eager fellow that scuttled home for a piping hot supper with Amy and the youngsters at the merry round table she had spread for them in the center of the little kitchen directly under the bright electric light.

It was a hard fight, but a good fight. Many a time, driving Lathrop out to his country club alone, Marshall and his employer swapped their views about the performance called life. It interested Lathrop to hear the trials of Marshall. At Christmas he sent great hampers of toys to the children whom he had never seen, but whom he knew by name. Once when Amy was down of sciatica for five weeks, he sent her orchids from his hot houses in Tarrytown and paid the doctor's bills. It interested him to hear Marshall's trials and pleasures. And rested him. There was something wholesome and simple about this man. And to Lathrop, whose eyelids were a little weary, something that made him yearn.

Not that it was conceivable that under any conditions would he have changed places with this man, Marshall. Lathrop was not the proverbially restless, unhappy, wealthy man. He enjoyed life. In good measure. He had never married for the simple reason that he had never met the woman who imbued him with that desire. There was no dark spot of disappointment in Lathrop's life. It had been the full life of a favored person. And yet—and yet—well, Lathrop liked Marshall, and from the safe vantage of his own snug harbor, admired the husky fellow and his honest fight to rear a straight, clean family.

And then one day, motoring along the Boston Post Road on the drive from Lathrop's country club to town, Marshall, driving at his usual conservative clip, was borne down upon from an intersecting road by a careening taxi-cab.

It was unpreventable catastrophe from the first. The intersecting road had been closed by law two years before. The cruising taxi-cab had found itself in a cul-de-sac and was coasting out.

As it was, the miracle was that Marshall managed to swerve sufficiently to avoid a full broadside of crash.

The Lathrop car was bashed in like an eggshell. Lathrop himself landing fifty yards away, Marshall caught and jammed under the crash of debris.

Of the two, Marshall was the more seriously wounded. Internal injuries, fractured skull and an arm that hung loose as a wing from his collar bone when they extricated him.

Lathrop was shaken up, badly cut about the face, and there was an internal dislocation that was troublesome.

And yet, although Marshall was the more seriously wounded, it was he who surprised the hospital doctors by showing signs of recovery first.

There was so much to be done. It preyed on Marshall until he plunged off the covers and sat up in bed with superhuman strength. There was no holding him down. There were Amy and the kids to be worried over every minute of the time. Their morale must not be allowed to sag. Three weeks before the doctors would have sanctioned it, Marshall was up and limping about his hospital room. There was simply no holding down this fellow who was so hard put to get back to the taking up of his responsibilities. There were Amy and the children, you see—up against it.

Lathrop, poor fellow, had no such will to live. There was no pressing need for him to get well. No one was depending on it, desperately. There just was no need much for him to get well. And so the will was not there. The will to live.

The doctors attributed his death to "internal injuries."

Marshall, weeping at his funeral, knew the truer cause.

What Lathrop had lacked was the will to live!

DAWES CLAIMS FLAG SHOULD BE PRESERVED

Vice-President Broadcasts Independence Day Address

CHICAGO, July 4 (AP).—The true American, however poor and weak he may be himself, sees in the flag of the country only the right to work and hope for better days, Vice President Charles G. Dawes said in an Independence Day address broadcast from Chicago tonight. "It behooves us as a people," he said, "to celebrate the anniversary of the nation's birth with solemn thought as well as happiness for the blessings which we may enjoy under our great government and to endeavor to realize how much depends for us and for the work upon its preservation."

Consider Defense.

His address follows:

"It is most appropriate that on this anniversary of the birth of our nation we consider our nation defense for, in so doing we are only combining with our tribute to the past a definite and earnest thought of our nation's future. But I will leave to others to speak tonight of the great and wise system of national defense which as embodied in the national defense act has been worked out on the basis of experience gained from the world war and will only express a few thoughts which should be uppermost in our minds as American citizens on this day.

"We are living in one of the great epoches of the world's history. In the world war an elemental convulsion of humanity occurred which has had a profound and lasting effect upon life on the earth.

Guarantees Opportunity.

"We look upon the flag as that which guarantees to our people the opportunity to right wrongs, to strive after better things, to look upward, and press forward toward the fulfillments of God's destiny for our race. The true American, however poor and weak he may be in himself sees in the flag of his government only the right to work and hope for better days.

"Without indifference to the seriousness of nations' problems upholding our constitution which recognizes and protects in the weakest rights equal to those of the strongest—with that charity which knows no resentment towards those who honestly differ with us—standing together as brothers and patriots, let us, on this historical anniversary again pledge our love and devotion to our government and its flag and thank God that we live under them."

PARIS CELEBRATES JULY 4

French Capital Gay With United States Colors.

PARIS, July 4.—(AP)—America's Independence day was celebrated in traditional fashion in France's capital today with the dedication of the new embassy as the principal feature of the program. Exercises were held in most of the schools and other institutions having American connections or benfeiting from American endowments and the city was gay with the intertwined tri-color and the Stars and Stripes.

The annual pilgrimage to Lafayette's tomb was followed by the placing of wreaths on his statue in the Louvre garden and on the monument to the Amrican volunteers who served with the French forces in the World war.

PLAINVIEW — At the request of the interstate commerce commission, the Texas railroad commission will hold a hearing in this city on the application for the construction of three roads in the Panhandle. The date set for this hearing is July 20.

Childress Plans To Extend Industrial District Two Blocks

CHILDRESS, July 4.—There has been a movement on hand to establish the industrial district of Childress on land lying just east of the Travis street for about two blocks and running along the railroad right of way. This land belonged the Panhandle Townsite company which has sold several tracts for industrial purposes.

The new cotton oil mill has purchased a large tract for their new mill, and a wholesale grocery house has an option on a tract for a warehouse.

This land is idealy situated as it is located right on the right of way and it is said that there will be a railroad switch running righ through the tract and switching rights will be sold with the land.

These advantages will probably make this east section the industrial center of Childress.

MINE STRIKERS GET BOOZE

Liquor in Nova Scotia Warehouse Is Seized.

SYDNEY, N. S., July 4.—(AP)—Plentifuly supplied with liquor seized in a raid on a customs house vandals have started anew their depredations in the Cape Breton district where 12,000 United Mine Workers are on strike against the British Empire Steel company.

Incendiarism, looting and assaults which were stopped for a time with the arrival of 500 or more provincial and dominion troops and the organization of special union police are again causing concern.

TORRENT CARRIES AWAY CAR

Motorist Climbs on Top to Escape Drowning.

BARSTOW, Cal., July 4.—(AP)—A desert cloudburst four miles east of here sent a torrent of water across the trans-continental motor highway that picked up Tom Murphy's closed car and carried it 500 yards off the road to a railroad embankment.

Murphy, a merchant of Ludlow, Cal., on his way to Los Angeles clambered to the top of his automobile and remained there until other motorists discovered his plight and threw a rope to him from the railroad tracks. With the aid of the rope he swam the swift torrent to safety.

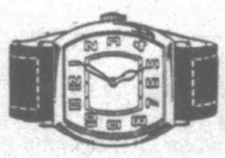

The highway was badly damaged.

AMARILLO — Plans are already under way for the eighth annual convention of the West Texas chamber of commerce which is to be held in this city next year.

One of the most popular brides of the season, Miss Zona Bachman, is now on her [illegible] in the Ozark mountains. They were married Tuesday evening. On their return they will be at home in Wichita Falls.

Say Express Agent Took a Ring From A C. O. D. Package

VICTORIA, Texas, July 4.—H. L. Hurt, also known as J. B. Wright, railway and express agent at McFadden, this county, was arrested late Friday by H. M. Wallace of Kingsville and J. H. Gilespie of Corpus Christi, special agents of the Gulf Coast lines, and J. V. Bell of San Antonio, special agent of the American Railway Express company. Hurt was charged with theft of property valued at more than $50 in connection with the alleged disappearance of a diamond ring sent to McFadden by express.

The prisoner was turned over to Sheriff L. O. Hudler of Victoria county.

According to htespecial agents, four different jewelry firms received wire orders from a man giving the name of Hill at McFadden for the shipment of valuable rings, c.o.d. One of the orders apparently was ignored, two of the firms sent the rings through Victoria banks, and one by express, c.o.d. It was the latter ring which Hurt is accused of having taken from the box. It is charged the package was re-sealed and marked "unclaimed, address unknown."

The agents stated that Hurt made a statement and that he produced a ring from a coat hanging in the express office.

Sheiks Try To Abduct Girls Who Refuse Them Dates; Another Taken

SAN ANTONIO, July 4.—Upon the repeated refusals of dates from two young women, "apache sheiks" Friday night tore the screen from a window of the girls' home in an attempt to abduct them.

Their design was frustrated when one of the girls notified the city detectives of her predicament.

Less than an hour later two men, believed to be the same "sheiks" who attempted the abduction, fled with their victim when L. D. Huckaba went to the assistance of a woman screaming for help in front of his home.

"Please don't kill me; please don't," were the anguished cries of a woman which awakened Mr. Huckaba.

Mr. Huckaba jumping from bed ran to the street in his night clothes. "Help," the woman cried as she saw assistance coming.

As one of the attackers placed his hand over the victim's mouth, the other man speeded the car away before Mr. Huckaba reached them.

The intended victims of the would-be abduction were relieved from duty late Friday night at a downtown cafe.

Hardly had they reached the street before the two "sheiks" appeared asking them to go riding. Rebuffs were not enough to stop them.

They followed slowly in their car as the girls walked home.

If Ex-convict Stays In Kansas, Texas Can Not Put Him in Pen

FORT WORTH, July 4.—Assistant District Attorney Morrison and County Detective Hamilton are in Kansas City, Kan., to appear Monday morning in federal court at the habeas corpus hearing of W. B. Spencer, member of the Joe Furey confidence gang, wanted in Texas to begin an eight year sentence for his complicity in the J. Frank Norfleet swindle years ago.

When Spencer was released from Leavenworth penitentiary recently, Hamilton was at the prison to return him to Texas, but was thwarted by habeas corpus proceedings filed by Spencer's attorneys. Federal Judge Pollock released Spencer on his own recognizance to appear again July 6, Monday.

So far Spencer has avoided being brought to Texas to serve his term by an unusual law. Spencer, while serving a term in Leavenworth for violating the narcotic laws in Utah, was involuntarily brought back to Fort Worth to stand trial on Norfleet's charges. He was then taken back to Leavenworht after his conviction here.

Under the reported law, Spencer is not a fugitive from justice in Texas, and not being a fugitive, cannot be extradited, it was said. However, if Spencer ever leaves the state of Kansas, he will become a fugitive and can be extradited, it was explained.

APPEAL MURDER SENTENCE

Motion for New McCarty Trial Denied at Ft. Worth.

FORT WORTH, July 4.—Robert McCarty whose motion for a new trial was denied by Criminal Judge Hosey Friday afternoon will appeal.

McCarty is under 47-year sentence for the murder of G. M. Rogers on the Fort-Worth-Dallas highway. At the same time, he accidentally killed Mrs. Pat Rogers, estranged wife of Rogers.

CROSSWORDS BREAK UP HOME

New Puzzle Fad Cause of Divorce Suit By Wife.

KENSETT, Ark., July 4.—(AP)—Alleging that her husband is so wrapped up in solving cross word puzzles that he has neglected her and failed to provide, Mrs. W. N. Fairfax, a former resident of Kensett, has brought suit against her husband, William Fairfax, for divorce. They were married in 1902 and lived together in harmony until the cross word puzzles craze arrived, the complaint says.

Don't Hide Them With a Veil; Remove Them With Othine—Double Strength

This preparation for the removal of freckles is so successful in removing freckles and giving a clear, beautiful complexion that it is sold by all drug and department stores with a guarantee to refund the money if it fails.

Don't hide your freckles under a veil or waste time on lemon juice or cucumbers; get an ounce of Othine and remove them. Even the first few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the lighter freckles vanishing entirely.

Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine; it is this that is sold on money-back guarantee.—Adv.

ASKS FOR FEWER LAWS

Maryland Governor Makes Appeal in Address.

NEW YORK, July 4.—(AP)—A plea for a federal government of fewer laws was made today by Governor Ritchie of Maryland in an Independence day address at Tammany hall.

"Democracy demands that we trust the people back home to decide home questions as they will and to fulfill home responsibilities as they will," he said.

NEGROES DISCARDING RAZORS

Iron Steadily Gaining in Favor in Dallas.

DALLAS, July 4.—The razor as a national weapon is losing favor with Dallas negroes. Homer Murphy was treated last night at the emergency hospital for scalp wounds inflicted by another negro with a flat iron. A negro woman in an adjoining ward was treated for wounds, caused, she said, when her "sweetie" caressed her with an iron.

HEREFORD—At a business meeting of the local chamber of commerce, T. D. Moss was unanimously elected for the current year.

MAJOR CURRIN'S VERDICT.

Commissioner Henry H. Curran of New York holds a very important position. He is commissioner of immigratio nand the king of Ells Island. Major Curran was a close friend of the late Theodora Roosevelt. He has held a number of high offices. He began life a newspaper reporter on Manhattan Island.

Our new immigration law has been tested for a year. It has started upon its second year. It is known as the Quota Law. It bears out hordes of immigrants from southern and eastern Europe. It gives the preference to immigrants from the British Isles, Germany, the Scandanavian country, France, Beelgium and Holland. In the not distant past a million immigrants a year landed on these shores. This new law has reduced the number to less than 300,000.

Counting the arrivals and departures, the net number of new comers or addition to the foreign population of this country may not go beyond 200,000 every year. Commissioner Curran is delighted with the new law. He says the existing situation is the best he has witnessed in 25 years of close study of immigration, the last two years being in charge of the principle entry port.

This new law shuts out the Russians in great numbers; it shuts out great numbers who would come from the nations of central Europe, including Poland, and the Balkin nations. Now, immigrants are selected on the other side by the consular agents of the United States. They must get their pass ports from consular agents. They must get certificates that they are desirable from consular agents. No longer the agents of steamship companies pick the immigrants who are to be granted admission to these shores.

Coommissioner Curran says a better class of immigrants is a result of the law. It is certain the national lawmakers will never go back to the old system. It is probable that a registration of all aliens who refuse to take out naturalization papers will be the next step taken by the government.

More than 40 years ago the labor leaders of that period launched the movement for more drastic immigration laws. Then the great mine owners of America, the great captians of industry, ever in quest of cheap labor, fought the proposition and they defeated the program of the labor leaders for many years.

Samuel Gompers was for drastic immigration legislation and Samuel Gompers was the voice of organized labor for almost half a century. Then came the World war. Then came the victory of the allies. Then came the announcement from all the war ridden countries that there would not be ships enough on the seas to carry Europeans across the ocean to this favorite land.

Then the exclusionists joined hands with the leaders of organized labor, the people recognized that the country would be flooded with aliens, that the standards of wages would fall to a low level and that in the years to come the high standards of living maintained by American wage workers and wealth producers would sink to a level almost as low as those in vogue in countries where workers eke out a miserable existence from the cradle to the grave.

Self-preservation is said to be the first law of nature. It is the first law of mankind. Commissioner Curran's ancestors came from the other side of the ocean. They were Celts. He is a student and a thinker and a close observer. He did not receive in vain a high grade education and a high grade training in one of the great newspaper offices of America.

There are millions of Europeans who must go elsewhere. All the central nations have vast surplus population. Engand has a vast surplus. Italy has twice the number that she is capable of sustaining. South America is going to get the overflow from Europe in years to come and some day the United States of South America may rival in wealth and population and progress as the United States of North America.

LAWYERS AND LAWS.

Tennessee lawyers were in session last week. It was the annual session of their state association. Robert F. Keebler of Memphis made a fierce attack upon the Tennessee evolution law. He condemned the legislature which enacted the bill, characterizing it as an attempt, half pitiful, half ludicrous, to set up by legislation, a form for science which in itself contradicted its asserted purpose.

Mr. Keebler spotlighted. He held the center of the state for a few brief moments. He raised a row. Champions of the legislature jumped into the arena and then the association, by a vote of 86 to 53 voted to expunge from its records the Keebler attack on the evolution law.

Strange to say the chairman of the association ruled the motion to expunge out of order, but this did not save Keebler. A majority of the members present overruled the chair and then the followers of Blackstone tackled dry topics and tame subjects.

They said that it was a shame to precipitate discussion or debate on an issue which had not been placed on the program by the program makers of the August body.

Where do we go from here. How is McAdoo on the evolution topic? How is Al. Smith? How are all the ambitious ones of the democratic tribe?

SWINGING AROUND THE CIRCLE.

Tom Connally of Texas, representative in congress from the 11th district, is swinging around the circle making speeches. He visited Port Arthur the other day and his topic was commercial and industrial development of Texas and its ports and transportation.

A big theme, yes.

A theme that would fill a dozen pages of a Texas newspaper. While at Port Arthur he told his fellow Texans of Texas' vast agricultural resources and the production of her fertile acres during the last few years, not overlooking the mineral resources of the commonwealth.

This is an off year in politics but the senators and representatives are swinging around the circle. They dearly love to talk of Texas and its possibilities in the good old dog day period of the summer.

DOUBLE PRIMARY A FAILURE.

Is the double primary a failure? T. W. Davidson says it is. He was a candidate in 1924 for the democratic nomination for governor and lost. He will not be a candidate for the nomination in 1926, but will be a candidate in 1928.

Davidson is for a preferential primary. That is, he would change the law to enable a voter to express his second as well as his first choice for governor and all other offices. A preferential primary bill was enacted by the lower house of the 39th legislature. It was slain in the senate and by the senate. No doubt there were outside influences brought to bear on some of the senators who might have voted for the house bill if left alone.

There are many politicians in Texas who believe in the majority or runoff primary system. They do not believe in the preferential primary system, and yet it is the fairest and the least costly of the two systems. A voter has a second choice where there are a field for candidate for any office and he should be permitted to express his choice. Why a run-off which costs the candidates and their friends a lot of money, disturbes business and makes the political situation tense. One agony a year should be sufficient, or at least one political agony, every two years.

T. W. Davidson is a native Texan. He has been a state senator and lieutenant governor. He has an army of friends in the democratic party. He is going to work for a change in the primary system. He is going to do his best to create public sentiment for the preferential primary. Now what does he predict as to the conditions in Texas next year. Read his words:

"The public mind in the next primary will flow toward the polls through three main channels. First, the administration forces. Second, the anti-administration forces. Third, a great body of more or less apathetic citizens who would like to see a new deal."

Lastly he predicts that there will be a run-off "and then the final or second primary will be between the administration candidate and the anti-administration candidate. Our politics swing like the pendulum, from one extreme to the other, and in the absence of a preferential primary or a convention, it will be difficult to stop on any sane middle ground."

This favorite son of East Texas has a remedy. It is the preferential primary. This is his warning to the politicians.

"We need first of all an emendment to the primary election system. The people will not support a candidate in the coming race whose platform declarations are averse to such a law. If during the next two years I can be instrumental in improving our primary election laws, I shall have contributed a substantial service to the people of Texas."

All reformers come from the ranks of the people; all reforms are initiated by the people, or those who are close to the people. T. W. is on the road.

WELL, THE ISSUE IS HERE.

William Jennings Bryan has his new paramount issue for the campaign for 1928. Of course, this issue had its birth place in the south and all economic or governmental issues may be temporarily sidetracked by the W. J. B.'s. That is, until the craze has died out. Every few years a craze of some sort overwhelms the democratic donkey aand the donkey butts in. It is different with the republican elephant. He walks around the craze as he walks around a stump and lands at his stable door without injury.

This time it happened in Kentucky. Miss Lela Scopes has been denied a position in the Paducah schools because she declined to repudiate the theory of evolution as espouced by her brother, John Scopes of Tennessee. Miss Scopes, who is now studying in the University of Kentucky at Lexington had filed application for a position as instructor in mathamatics. She cannot teach in rural Kentucky, in the main streets of Kentucky, the smaller cities and small towns where an independent thinker is branded as a menance and a man or woman who fails to accept the story of creation is looked upon as a nut or a heretic.

This is a merry old world. It has jogged along for millions of years. It will continue along regardless of the evolutionists or the anti-evolutionists, but it is going to be hard sleding in Kentucky for a girl who declined to repudiate his views on the doctrine of evolution. John P. Scopes turned down offers that would have netted him $150,000 because he would not commercialize himself. Did he make a mistake?

Ask W. J. B. who has never spurned an honest dollar since he first appeared in public with hair hanging down his back and wrapped in a Prince Albert coat. W. J. B. is thrifty as well as pious. He knows the value of living in the lime light. It is impossible to drag him out of the lime light. Pat Morris Neff in a recent epistle begged for a place far removed from the maddening crowd, far from the politicians and political discussions.

A man is entitled to that which he crazes if it does not injure his neighbor. If J. W. B. lived in an isolated place for a single week he would be a victim of heart failure. Dog days are almost here. John P. Scopes is going to be on trial at Dayton. His acquittal won't settle anything his conviction won't settle anything, but Miss Scopes of Kentucky lost her job of teaching because she had a brother and he had a view point.

WHY HE VETOED THE BILL

Wisconsin lawmakers enacted a bill calling for the sterilization of feeble minded and insane persons. It was the mandated of the measure to make it compulsory on the part of the board of control of Wisconsin, even though protests were made by the patient or relative. Gov. John J. Blaine vetoed the bill. He said that it would keep away from the asylums.

How? Just a month ago all the feeble minded or insane persons confined in the jails or poor houses of Texas were removed to a state institution and now the superintendent of the state institution has information that the jails and the poor houses will overflow again in the near future.

There are insane persons everywhere; there are feeble minded persons everywhere. They are the wards of the state and the tax payers must support them. This isn't the law of the jungle; it is the law of civilized man, or semi-civilized man.

LAME DUCK ALLEY TO BE CROWDED.

Lame Duck alley is to be crowded in the near future. There is a new prohibition enforcement officer, and he has a new policy. He has divided the country into 22 administration districts with 22 chiefs. He is going to drop 400 persons from the Washington prohibition headquarters staff.

There will be 200 general agents employed instead of the 900 now on the roll.

All the police court cases in the 48 states are to be handled largely by local enforcement agencies operated by the state.

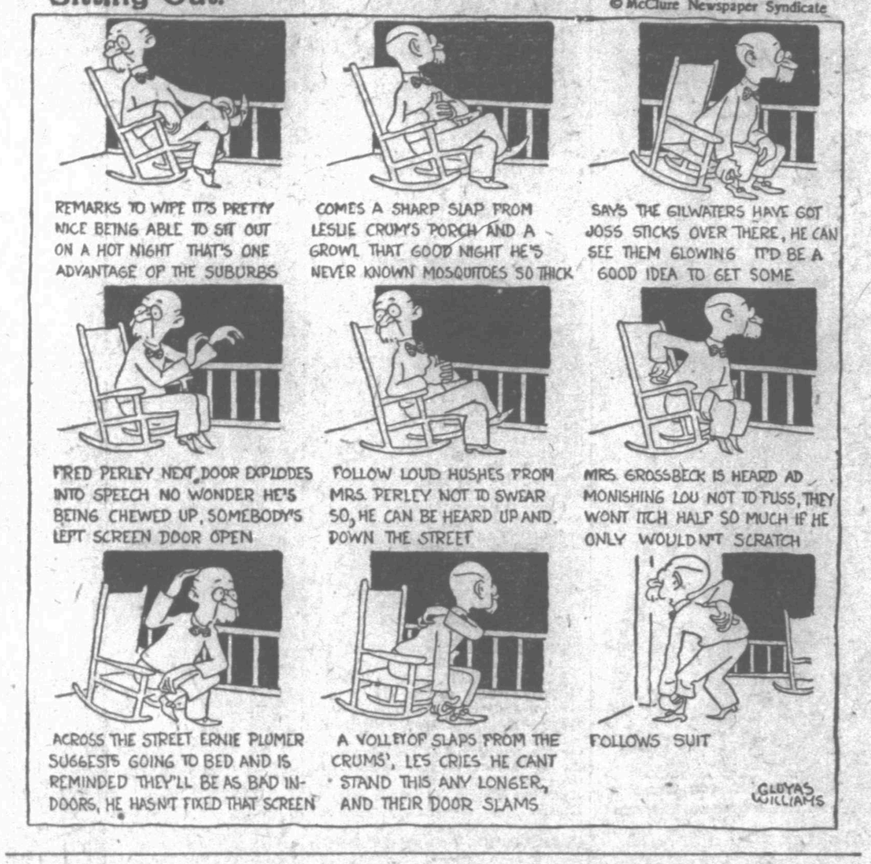

Dr. Coolidge is the head of the economy department of the government. There are to be no idlers at headquarters, no ornaments, no parasites, no strikers who are the henchmen of the big political leaders.

And the tax payers will welcome the new order of things.

Fable of Stepping On It —By George Ade

A Landscape Which Had Been Manicured and Given a Skin Treatment.

Once there was a Group of Pleasure-Seekers packed into a Motor Car. They were out for Relaxation and they were going to find it by whizzing to a Point 800 Miles distant and then turning around and beating it back Home.

Notwithstanding which it is said that People live longer than they used to live.

There were two Captains on Board. One was the high-priced Lad at the Wheel, who thought that every every stretch of Good Road was part of the Indianapolis Speedway. The other Mrs. Henry Gibble, whose Husband had paid for the Car just twice what a dandy Queen Anne Cottage would have cost before Lumber went up. Mr. Gibble thought he was the Captain but he was only the Cabin Boy. They wouldn't even let him hold the Road Map.

The Others who had embarked were three in Number, as follows:

Estelle, only daughter of the Gibbles, who held the World's Record for Nose-Dabbing—475 times in one Day.

Herbert Poindexter, supposed to be almost engaged to Estelle because he looked Aristocratic and was a heavenly Hoofer, even if he was on Salary.

Miss Leonora Peevy, unmarried sister of Mrs. Gibble—a Positive Character who held back nothing except her True Age.

That made six in All and any good Mind-Reader might have discovered that no two of them were agreed on anything—no even Evolution.

For instance the Chauf felt that when he was doing less than 95 he was chilling his Tires.

Confidence and Ignorance.

Estelle always said that 80 miles an Hour was a reasonable Clip.

Mr. Poindexter said that when he traveled about 60 he coud feel his Brain Substance turning to Jell.

As for Mrs. G. she couldn't see any sense in doing more than 50 because her Heart had not been the same since she carried on her long but victorious Fight for the reorganization of the Woman's Club.

Mr. Gibble would have stayed around 40 all the Time if he had been permitted to give Directions, which he was not.

Miss Peevy had read a great deal about Motor Accidents. Every time she crawled into a high-powered Hurry-Up, she expected to be killed before she got back. Up to the present time she had been disappointed but, just the same, she allowed that all those who succeeded 30 were taking their Lives into their own Hands and, as for her, it made her feel as if she were continuing on her Way while the Stummick was loitering some Six Feet in the Rear.

The Law said that any one who traveled at better than 25 Miles could be yanked up and tried. Through the Towns the Limit was 8 Miles an Hour. A man on Crutches can do 8 Miles an Hour.

Be that as it may, the Gibbles and their two Victims got away at 9:05, which was almost on Schedule. The Starting Time had been set for 7:03, so that they could get to Bald Rock in time for the Noonday Luncheon.

It seemed that Estelle had some Trouble getting her Eye-Brows to match and Mr. Poindexter sat for an Hour, in a Brown Study, looking at his Collection of Ties and trying to make a Selection. The one that he finally decided upon didnt look as if Anybody had spent an Hour in picking it out.

After the Old Folks had sat in the Car, silent and motionless, for what seemed to be a Couple of Days, taking the Morning Sun in the Eyes, the two jovial Juveniles appeared and hoped that they hadn't kept anyone waiting. How lucky it is that Looks cannot kill!

It was a Hot Morning but, as an extra Precaution, five of the six Tourists had their Feet snugly covered with Suit Cases.

Just as they crossed the Town Limits and passed into the Agricultural District, Mrs. G. asked, in a Tone suggesting that she wanted either Information or an Argument. "Well, what Root are we going to take?".

Mr. Gibble crossed his Fingers and looked at the Road ahead. He had learned his Lesson on previous Outings. He knew that any poor Goofus who takes the Responsibility upon himself and guarantees any particular Plan of Action is thereafter blamed for every Pebble in the Road, for Engine Trouble, Delays at Railway Crossings and Red Ants in the Sandwiches. He knew also, that the Good Woman never asked for advice except when she wanted to hang a Jinx onto the Party of the Second Part.

Mr. Poindexter, bursting with Confidence and Ignorance, said that he had heard, somewhere that by bearing over toward Muschburg and following the River Road through Ransom and Wems, you would come out on State Road 23 and get a direct Shoot to Bald Rock, where they would have Luncheon, if any one would be speaking to any one else by that time.

A Sad Meal.

We will always insist that Mr. Poindexter had no way of knowing about the New Stone between Jericho and Whiffingdale or the Détour made necessary by the Bridge being out between Milton's Grove and Sassfras Ridge.

At the very Moment when they should have been unpacking the Luncheon Basket under the Trees at Bald Rock, while merry Laughter echoed through the Glen and good-natured Quips leaped from Lip to Lip they were, as Mr. Gibble afterward described it, hellwards between Francesville and Sacwett's Corners, on a Dirt Road that hadn't seen a Scraper since the Civil War. As far as the Eye could reach there was a verdant Expanse of Bullrushes. For the first time in 1925 the Car was obeying the Law. It was doing less than 25.

It came out, while they were Exploring, that Mrs. Gibble had wanted to go via Milford, but Mr. Poindexter had talked her out of it. As for Mr. Poindexter, he kept regeating, over and over, "They told me this was the best Way to come," which, under the Circumstances was just the same as no Conversation at all."

If the Noonday Luncheon served promptly at 3 p. m. carried the general Gloom of a Child's Funeral it was because Mr. and Mrs. Gibble and Miss Peevy could find time to say a Word. They were too busy hoping that Estelle would never marry Mr. Poindexter.

Everthing Fell Flat—Even a Tire.

It is said that the Trans-Siberian Railway, running half way around the Globe from Kowchuck to Vladivosizovitch is the longest straight-away Road in the World but the Gibble Expedition, in proceeding from Bald Mountain to Lake Wanana, when they proposed spending the night at a well-known Resort Hotel which serves everything fresh from the Can, got on a plainly marked Highway and remained there for Weeks and Weeks.

Mr. Gibble will always insist that he wrote for Reservations and he thinks that he mailed the Letter. Nevertheless when the travel-stained and red-eyed Outcasts found themselves grounded in the Hotel Office, like a Huddle of Lithuanian Immigrants, the Unpopularity which had been lavished upon Mr. Poindexter was transferred, by a vote of 4 to 1, to Henry and he didn't have a Come-Back in his System.

Finally, about an Hour after the Dance was over, the Women Folks were shown to a Cottage on the Hill while Mr. Poindexter and his never-to-be Father-in-Law occupied Cots in the Laundry.

When they started for Home next A. M. it was Mrs. G. who gave the Orders and so she was to blame when the Speed Cop got them just outside of Jimpson Heights. They had six Witnesses who testified that they were creeping along at about 15 Miles per Hour, so the Justice soaked them $28 and after they were out on the Road again, the Engine and Miss Peevy developed a Knock.

It had to be of the new Tires that went flat. The man in the Garage had guaranteed it for 12,000 Miles, which Explanation seemed to satisfy everyone except Mr. and Mrs. Gibble, Miss Peevy and Mr. Poindexter.

The Shades of Night were falling fast when the Joy-riding Bus passed through a quiet Village which was 50 miles from a Bath-Tub.

The Moon was smiling in the Sky when the Bodies were removed from the Car but the Moon had a practical Monopoly of all that Smiling Stuff.

The Chauffeur had been fired, once more, and if you think that Estelle, and Mr. Poindexter were holding hands on the Back Seat then you must be Crazy.

No One had anything to say to any one Else except what Mrs. Gibble was handing to the Mental Defective who paid her Bills, and what she said cannot be inserted herewith as the Newspaper using this Article is limited as to Space.

What's Doing Here and There In West Texas

At Haskell

HASKELL SOCIETY BUSY

Owing to the number of out-of-town guests of club and society women of Haskell, the last week of June registered a whirlwind of social activities. A much attended affair was the lawn party given by Mrs. Chas. Chonner in honor of her aunt, Mrs. T. C. Williams of Cisco. Thirteen tables dotted the lawn that is framed in zenians and these bright flowers were banked in vases, bowls, and hanging baskets everywhere, and around the tables the guests spent the afternoon playing 42. Mrs. Conner refreshed her guests with chicken sandwiches, and apricot sherbet. They were Mesdames W. H. Murchison, Tom Davis, Travis Arbuckle, Carlton and John Couch, Hardy Grissom, O. E. Patterson, R. V. Robertson, Marshall and Alfred Pierson, R. E. Sherrill, M. B. Lobo, B. M. Whiteker, John P. Payne, Clayborn Payne, Ted Alexander, Sam Roberts, Clarence Lewis, Jim Bailey, R. R. English, Courtney Hunt, Hugh Smith, Hill Oates, A. H. Wair, John W. Pace, A. J. Smith, O. E. Oates, N. T. Smith, Marvin Post, Bailey Post, Virgil Meadows, John Oates, Roy Shook, Wiley Reid, J. U. Fields, Bruce W. Bryant, Fred Sanders, Marvin Hancock, Clyde Grissom, Paul Kuentsler, Chas. Parsons, Irene Ballard, R. J. Reynolds, W. B. Smith, J. E. Bernard, S. R. Rike, E. Sutherlin, M. L. Baker, F. L. Daugherty, Elmer Irwin, Hollis Fields, Dallas; R. P. Moore, Fort Worth, and Miss May Fields.

MOTHER IS HONORED

Mrs. Clayborn Payne honored her sister, Mrs. R. P. Moore of Fort Worth, with a tea here last Thursday afternoon. A large concourse of ladies, gowned in summery frocks enjoyed Mrs. Payne's hospitality. Mrs. Hardy Grissom met the guests at the door and presented them to the hostess who in turn introduced them to the honoree and to those in the receiving line who were Mesdames O. V. Payne, J. D. Westbrook of Rule; Earnest Grissom, Abilene; C. M. Frances and Miss Blanch Baldwin, Stamford; Courtney Hunt, R. R. English, Bruce W. Bryant, J. E. Bernard, J. P. Payne, Mrs. J. U. Fields poured tea from a table centered by a large bowl of shasta daisies. The young ladies who served the tea and accessories were Misses Anita Grissom, Frances Grissom, Brucie Bryant and Bobby Irby of Forreston. Little Miss Maryena Post presided over the card basket.

JOINT HOSTESSES ENTERTAIN

One of the most elaborate affairs of the week was the two parties in one day at the beautiful new home of Mrs. E. J. Reynolds when she aws joint hostess with Mrs. B. M. Whiteker in entertaining with "42." one hundred ladies last Friday. The color scheme for decorations, score cards and menu was white and yellow and was carried out with shasta daisies, sunflowers and the last which, was served the guests by Misses Marjorie Whiteker, Lucy Cummins and Maybell Taylor, was Hawaiian tea, sandwiches, brick ice cream and angel food cake. The guests were met at the door by the hostesses and Mesdames T. C. Williams of Cisco; Ben and Wofford Hardy, and the sunflower score cards were pinned on the guests by Miss Marjorie Whiteker. Guests of the morning party from 9 to 11 were: Mesdames H. D. Neff, S. R. Rike, R. C. Couch, F. T. Sanders, Chas. Conner, T. C. Williams of Cisco; R. P. Moore of Fort Worth; W. M. Reid, Courtney Hunt, Alfred Pierson, R. V. Robertson, R. R. English, Will Whitman, Ethel Irby, Hill Oates, Ben Hardy, Wofford Hardy, J. U. Fields, W. H. Murchison, John Oates, Clayborn Payne, John P. Payne, J. E. Bernard, John W. Pace, Virgil Meadows, D. L. Cummins, Bailey Post, C. D. Grissom, Bruce Bryant, Roy Shook, Clyde Grissom, Hardy Grissom, Hollis Fields, Dallas; J. V. Hudson, Clarence Lewis, Ted Alexander, Wayne Koonce.

Then in the afternoon these charming hostesses continued their hospitality to fifty more guests, using the same decorations and kind of score cards, when the ever fascinating game of "42" was enjoyed from 6 to 8. The hostesses then served brick ice cream and angel food cake in harmony with the color scheme used in the entire party and while the guests were enjoying these refreshments in a delightfully informal way, Miss Marjorie Whiteker sang an A. and D. number: "The Silent Legion," by Bernard Hamblin and "My Curly Headed Baby," by Geo. Clutsam, and Mrs. C. M. Kaigler gave an original reading, "Aunt Lucindy's Annetite," and encore "How Do You Do." Miss Mary Emma Whiteker rendered a very appropriate reading, "The Submerged Hushand," by Edgar A. Guest. The guest list follows: Misses May and Dulin Fields, Maybell Taylor, Lucy Cummins, Marjorie and Mary Emma Whiteker, Mesdames R. T. Smith, Lynn Pace, L. P. Taylor, C. M. Kaigler, Alvie Couch, Carlton Couch, V. Bailey, S. Squires, Mary Oates, A. H. Wair, S. P. Kuentsler, A. J. Lewis, Leo Southern, Irene Ballard, D. Scott, C. J. Hensen, W. A. Duncan, Tom Davis, R. E. Sherrill, Marvin Hancock, Chas. Parsons, Jim Bailey, Brockman of Bryan; O. E. Patterson, J. M. Gilstrap, I. N. McCollum, C. C. Maples, Guy Mayes, Elmer Irwin, Sam Roberts, F. L. Daugherty, M. B. Watson, T. J. Arbuckle, M. B. Lobo, Earnest Sutherlin, Tom Pinkerton, Ryan Bay, A. J. Smith, Tom French, of Indiana; H. M. Smith, G. M. Bowie of Weatherford.

HOSTESS TO BRIDGE CLUB

Mrs. John Oates was the last hostess for the Thursday Bridge club and at the appointed hour each of the nine members were on hand, Mrs. Oates used zenians as her decoration and served punch during the entire afternoon. At the close of the games she passed caramel nut cream and cake to Mesdames W. H. Murchison, R. E. English, Hill Oates, Clayborn Payne, John P. Payne, Wiley Reid, J. E. Bernard and Roy Shook.

LAWN PARTY TUESDAY

Mrs. John Ellis complimented her host of friends with a delightful lawn party last Tuesday afternoon and placed pedestals containing bowls of shasta daisies artistically over the lawn among the six tables where the guests prayed "42." From 5:30 to 6:30. Mrs. Ellis served her guests ice cream and sandwiches. They were: Mesdames George Fields, A. B. Couch, J. A. Couch, Scott Green, J. W. Hudson, M. Pierson, R. J. Reynolds, R. E. Sherrill, D. Scott, E. Sutherlin, C. C. Maples, T. J. Arbuckle, Clayborn Payne, R. P. Moore, B. M. Whiteker, Sam Roberts, Guy Mayes, H. S. Wilson, Ethel Atchison, N. I. McCollum, Hardy Grissom, J. U. Fields, N. T. Smith and Miss May Fields.

NEW BRIDGE CLUB

A new bridge club was organized last week and met with Mrs. Bailey Post for their first games. Mrs. Post used dahlias and shasta daisies as decorations and served apricot sherbet and cake to her guests. They have not decided on a name yet. Members are Mesdames Wayne Koonce, Bailey Post, Hill Oates, John P. Payne, Clyde Grissom and Marlin Wilson, and Jesse Campbell of Rule. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Brevard Long, Wichita Falls, and Mrs. Geo. Cannon of San Antonio.

MISSION WOMEN MEET

The city's Federated Missionary societies met last Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the Methodist church with Mrs. Fred Sanders in the chair as director on a peace program. The opening song was "Onward Christian Soldiers," prayer by Mrs. P. G. Alexander, Bible lesson by Mrs. R. E. Sherrill, then Mrs. C. M. Kaigler told in a few words how the work of home, school, church and state correlate to build up our common wealth and to reach the coveted goal, "Peace." This was depicted in a pageant led by Uncle Sam (Miss Marjorie Whiteker) and Miss Columbia (Miss Mary Young of Cameron), followed by students, teachers, preachers, missionaries, Bible women, deaconesses and Red Cross workers, as Mrs. O. E. Patterson played "My Country, 'Tis of Thee," and as they marched out she played "Blest Be the Tie That Binds." Mrs. H. D. Neff played the accompaniment for Misses Anita Grissom, Frances Grissom, Mary Sherrill, Glenda Wingo, as they sang "My Texas." Those taking part in the pageant were Mesdames B. E. Sherrill, F. G. Alexander, Duncan, Baker, Burl Cox, Charley Conner, Leo Southern, George Morrison, Rev. Den Hardy, Rev. G. Forrester, Rev. Baker, Misses Marjorie Whiteker, Mary Young of Cameron, Lucy Cummins, Lela Welch, Agnes Cox, Cyrene Simmons, Naomi Poteet, Bessie B. Kaigler and Lewis Smith. Officers for the year was then elected: President, Mrs. R. C. Couch; first vice-president, Mrs. H. S. Wilson; second vice-president, Mrs. H. S. Post; secretary, Mrs. Hugh Smith. The circle leaders of the Methodist Women's Missionary society served sherbet and cake to the guests.

In Childress

BUILD NEW BOAT

J. M. Crews, Ernest Davis, J. H. Harrison and others are having a large boat boat built to put on Lake Childress. Several other boats are already on the lake. These will be used for fishing. There are many pleasure parties out at the lake these hot days.

CROPS IN GOOD SHAPE

The farmers report the growing crops in fine condition, although rain is badly needed. The cotton is in bloom on some farms and everything points to a good crop, if rain comes in a reasonable time.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

Cancer.

During the morning, today's planetary aspects are not very reassuring, and indicate a condition of restlessness and nervousness that is not compatible with pleasantness of disposition or productive or harmonious surroundings. The inclination to nag must be combatted, and the desire to vent your spleen on others must be overcome. In the afternoon, the conditions assume a much more favorable character, and presage a changed mental outlook, which will insure a great deal of pleasure and enjoyment out of those pastimes and recreations ordinarily associated with Sunday. In home circle, the atmosphere promises after a few trying hours in the morning, contentment, peace of mind, and tranquility of spirit.

A child born today will cause many misgivings as a result of the delicate physical condition. These signs, however, denote that she will possess remarkable recuperative powers, and, through lacking in outword indications of strength, she will have a resistance that will insure her a happy issue out of all her ailments. A boy brought into the world today will, on physical grounds, cause no worry, and attain maturity without being subjected to anserious illness. In temperament and disposition, after making due allowance for the difference of sex, both boy and girl will be very similar. They will be largely irresponsible and carefree, getting out of present whatever pleasure they can, and taking no heed of tomorrow or what it may bring forth. They will both be demonstratively affectionate.

If today is your birthday, you make up in plodding and preserving habits for what you lack in brilliancy. You are slow to grasp a situation, and you preception, although ultimately sure, is not keen. Once, however, you have formed judgment, it is sane and invariably correct. Foresight is not one of your attributes, you always profit by hindsight, and never make the same mistake twice.

You are slow to make friends, but, once made, you retain them, as your loyalty is unquestioned and your sincerity undoubted. Just the same in your love: you are not liable to capitulate at sight, but, when sure of yourself, you will love with your whole heart and soul.

Successful people born on this date are:

Isaac Hays, physician.

David G. Farragut, first admiral U. S. navy.

Phineas T. Barnum, showman.

Henry G. Murphy, lawyer.

William C. Whitney, lawyer of New York.

Joseph B. Foraker, soldier.

HEADS SHARPSHOOTERS

For First Time in History Woman Scores Highest Mark.

BERLIN, July 4.—For the first time in German history the Schuetzenverein, or Sharpshooters club will have a queen instead of a king as it's head for the ensuing year. At the annual sharpshooting contests at the Ringenwald club, Frau Koppen, wife of a Junker estate owner, scored the highest number of points and thereby earned the right to the title "Queen of the Sharpshooters."

LEGION RAISES VET QUOTA AT MONDAY RALLY

Chillicothe Body Goes Over The Top At Rally

CHILLICOTHE, July 3. — The American Legion rally was well attended Monday night, it was reported by many to be the largest crowd ever assembled on the main streets of Chillicothe.

Good speeches were made by Rev. W. B. Vaughn, Rev. James D. Hester and Leon H. Brown of Vernon.

The Hardeman county band furnished music for the occasion, which was enjoyed by all.

The purpose of the rally was to raise $330.00 which was the local Legion's boys quota on the American Legion endowment fund. About $200.00 was raised at the rally, but the Legion boys are confident that the remainder will be raised this week.

Immediately after the rally and band concert a fine plate lunch was served to the band and the Legion boys and a few friends a t the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Barlow on the lawn. All report a fine time.

Royal Engagement In Italy Is Talked Of

BERLIN, July 4.—The engagement of Princess Mafalda, daughter of King Victor Emmanuel of Italy, to Prince Philip of Hesse is being much discussed in German court circles. This is due not only to the fact that it is the first betrothal of royal blooded nationals of opposing camps in the world war, but also because while Mafalda is a Catholic, Prince Philip intends to remain a Protestant. This may necessitate a special dispensation of the Pope to the princess.

To many German aristocrats the engagement came as a surprise, frequent dispatches from Brussels and Paris having asserted that Mafalda likely would become the bride of Crown Prince Leopold of Belgium. The fact that Philip no longer possesses a throne indicates to the Germans that the engagement represents a pure love match and has no political background.

Philip distinguished himself in the world war as on eof the bravest of the princes who saw service. Two elder brothers fell in the fighting one in Rumania and the other in France, making Philip, whose mother is a sister of former Emperor William, a possible pretender to the German throne in the event the Hohenzollerns should not be acceptable or all of them should be dead if the monarchy were re-established. Philip's interest now is chiefly centered in art.

Grace Methodist To Offer Band Concerts

The community band will give a concert both before and after sermon. A large crowd assembled for the service on last Sunday evening. An even larger one is expected next Sunday evening. It is perfectly comfortable out on the lawn. The men are at perfect liberty to leave off their coats. The band music is fine. The heart to heart message will be brief. The public generally is invited. We are not asking the members of other churches to attend but the thousands who do not attend any church.

PARIS QUIET, NO CUT-OUTS

Latest Decree of City Officials Tones Down Motorists.

PARIS, July 4.—A sudden silence seems to have fallen on Paris since the government issued a decree last week prohibiting the use of automobile cut outs.

The removal of speed limits on the streets two years ago did not noticeably increase the number of casualties from accidents considering the increasing number of cars in use, but the volume of noise has been multiplied many fold.

Every young driver, it seems, was anxious to hear his engine pop and complaints against the noise became almost a chorus of the population, which the newspapers have lately taken as a text in vigorously demanding that the government do something about it.

The mere announcement of the decree against open mufflers acted like magic, although arrests have not yet begun for violation of the regulation.

Reveals Startling Interview With Mysterious Southpaw, Left-Hander Invents Invisible Ball—By Lardner

Finely We Come to a Sign Which Said Watch Little Neck Grow—

But I Am Still Wondering What that Sign Meant

To the editor:

Very few items of interest happens around a little community like where I live in and that is what makes it so difficult to get out a article once a wk. Like for inst. you half to pick on a incidence like this.

The other day I and the madam was coming back from Long Beach which is right acrost the island and if we had not of been there we would of been coming back from somewheres else but it happened to be Long Beach where we was to, so that is why we come back from there. Any ways in the car coming home the madam said would not it be funny as she speaks very good English if we was forced to obey all the signs that appears along the road.

Tim Alias Walter in Trouble

So I ast her what she was talking about and she begun pointing out different signs such as stop in 3 hundred yds. and get a hot dog. And she says if those was positive orders and you had to obey all of them you wouldn't never get home from no place.

So after that remark I started looking at the different signs and finely we come to one which said watch Little Neck grow. So then I got into the spirit of the occasion and said leave us just set here and watch Little Neck grow.

But she says what will become of our kiddies wile we set here and watch Little Neck grow, and I had to ask her where is her patriotism to think of kiddies when she might set and watch Little Neck grow. Any ways she win the argument and we had to come home instead of setting there for the next 50 yrs. watching Little Neck grow, which would of been wonderful compared to setting at home and watching the old man work.

The next morning I had to go into New York for no reason but any ways we went past a bus which had a sign on the outside which says Young Stribling's Mobile Bungalow and underneath it said in smaller letters California here I come, so I asked the madam what did that mean and she could not possibly answer so we quietly left the suject drop, but I am still wondering.

And now I suppose we come to the important part of this little article, namely the remarkable, mysterious case of Walter Catlett, or as his real name is, Tim Noonan. He bought bought a home in Great Neck and hasn't no idear where it is. Now between you and I friend it is hard enough to find your home in Great Neck when you know where it is and when you have boughten a home without no knowledge of where it might be, that makes it all the more difficult. Well, all I have got left to say is that if they is anything to say, will somebody please tell Walter where his home is. Rewards of one dollar apiece will be welcome as far as Walter is concerned.

Another night I met a left-hand pitcher named Dutch Leonard and he was talking about the Detroit ball club and he said Detroit was changing its style in regards to Ty Cobb, he was swinging his bat much faster than he used to, now he is swinging his idear in his mind, he must hit a lively ball.

Neither of us could understand what he was talking about, so I says can't we get on another subject. All I want to know is how you are still pitching when you are as old as I am. He looked at me a moment. And then said:

"Mr. Lardner::

I have got a new ball, which I have nicknamed the invisible ball which I throw in this manner. In the first place, I can't see very well myself, and when I start to pitch, I always first flip the ball back to second base, and then turn around and make the impression of throwing toward the plate and the batter wonders for years where that ball was."

At this point I begin to think everybody was a maniac, so just as I was judging in came a music writer named udy Friml and he said he could play the piano if you would lay a clean white sheet over the keys and the played several songs that he has wrote over the sheet over the keys and he played them just as well as I could of played them with a blanket over the keys including a mattress.

I'm sorry I made you cry.

Fairs In Tillman County Certainty

FREDERICK, Okla., July 4. — Voting to allow $100 for each township entered in the Grandfield and Tipton district fairs, the Tillman County Free Fairs association has made the holding of these two expositions a surety. Townships eligible for this money are Stevens, Loveland, Carr and Alfalfa in the Grandfield district, and Richland and Hunter in Tipton district.

The money is not to be allowed if the township does not show an exhibit at the county fair. For every township that brings an exhibit to the Tillman county fair a transportation expense fee of $30 will be allowed, it has been decided.

BABY BURNED TO DEATH AT CHILLICOTHE

Child Dies When Home Burns to The Ground

CHILLICOTHE, July 4.—The 15-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Mayfield, living nine miles north of town, was burned to death Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock when the home was destroyed by fire.

The parents were working in the field, leaving two children, aged three and five years, at home with the baby which was asleep on the porch.

When the parents saw the fire they hurried to their home to find their little son so badly burned that he died within thirty minutes.

The children were unable to account for the origin of the fire. The home and contents was a total loss.

The baby's remains were brought to this city by Undertaker E. W. Geco and preared for burial. Funeral services were held Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock at the Chillicothe cemetery.

Chillicothe Pastor Suffers Sunstroke

CHILLICOTHE, July 4.—Rev. J. T. Jones is confined to his home in this city, suffering from the effects of a sunstroke, received last week en route to Dallas. Revl Jones accompanied by his family, took Mrs. Nelson and her mother, Mrs. S. R. Stewart to Dallas Tuesday of last week, where Mrs. Nelson entered the Baptist sanitarium.

Mrs. Jones and the children stopped off at St. Joe to visit relatives until his return. Soon after he left St. Joe he had a puncture and while fixing the tire suffered a sunstroke, however he was able to make the trip on to Dallas, returning home with his family Thursday.

He filled the pulpit Sunday at both services with great effort, and retired Sunday night feeling very badly. He was sick all night and attending physicians Monday reported him suffering from the effects of the sunstroke. It was reported he had typhoid fever, but this is incorrect and his many friends hope he soon will recover.

GIRL THRILLS BERLIN CRITICS

Russian Cellist Player Enthralls Audience in Germany.

BERLIN, July 4.—Berlin musical critics encountered a real thrill at the end of the long concert season by the appearance of 16-year-old Raya Garbousova, a Russian cellist, from Tiflis, in Georgia. Small frail and physically immature the girl plays an instrument almost as large as herself with virtuosity, finish and feeling which gives promise of her becoming one of the greatest performers on the violin cello. During the revolution in Russia Raya often had to play with bleeding, frost-bitten fingers to help keep her family from starving.

CHANGING CONDITIONS ARE CHARACTERISTIC

One of the characteristics that makes the provision of natural gas interesting as well as hazardous is the liability of wells to quit just when they are needed.

The history of every natural gas field is alike in this respect. Here and there is a well that might almost be called "Old Reliable." It supplies gas in marketable quantity over a period of five to ten years. But all around it may be wells that last six months, a year, even two years, and then dwindle to too small production to be of use. Sometimes a whole section, or pool, as it is generally called, will drop off almost over night to nothing.

This characteristic of natural gas is responsible for a great amount of pipe laying and a large investment of both thought and money. Since little reliance can be placed on any one field, the producing company must at all times be connected to a much greater supply than it is likely to need—a matter that increases the cost of production appreciably.

When the pool fails, the pipelines to it are worthless except as junk. Often they represent an initial cost of more than the wells, and have to be taken up and relaid elsewhere. Thus many changes are necessary each year in the producing plant, and few of the changes increase the capacity. In fact, most of this work is simply a constant struggle to keep up the supply.

SEEK 7-CENT DALLAS FARE

Traction Company Asks Raise In Traction Rates.

DALLAS, Texas, July 4.—A demand for a seven-cent fare has been made by the Dallas Street Railway company, Mayor Blaylock announced today. The company has notified the city it can make no more extensions or improvements unt ilthe increased fare is granted.

The mayor stated the city commission has no intention of granting a seven-cent fare, intimating that the commission may grant applications for the establishment of motor bus lines.

C. W. Hobson, chairman of the company's board, said if the street car company were given the same consideration accorded other utilities, transportation needs of the city could be met. "The six-cent fare does not enable us to operate profitably," he said.

FIRE CLAIMS HEAVY TOLL

Seven Dead In New York as Apartment Burns.

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., July 4 (AP).—Seven persons are dead and one is believed to be dying as the result of a fire in a three-story apartment house here early this morning.

The dead:

Peter Dwyer of Saranac Lake.

George Dukett of Saranac Lake.

Patrick Martin, believed to be of Chateaugeay.

Kenneth Monakey, 12-year-old son of Mrs. Sarah Monakey of Saranac Lake.

Infant of Mr. and Mrs. George Dukett.

Two unidentified men.

Mrs. George Dukett is in the hospital here and believed to be dying of her burns.

Mrs. Sarah Monakey also is in the hospital, but her injuries are believed to be not serious. Several persons suffered minor injuries in escaping from the house.

JEALOUSY CAUSES KILLING

Houston Shooting Fatal to Divorced Husband of Woman.

HOUSTON, July 4.—Jealousy is blamed by authorities for the killing here last night of A. G. A. Fischer, by Johnnie Loonan, husband of Fischer's divorced wife.

Fischer was fatally wounded in a domino hall where he was playing. Loonan, according to eye witnesses to the shooting, entered the hall and commenced shooting without a word of warning.

In a statement to police Loonan declared that Fischer had sent word to him he would kill him (Loonan.) A charge of murder has been filed against Loonan.

LAND'S END

-By William Almon Wolff

"What is it?" she said.

"I just thought—Denny!" he said. "I—I mean—I don't want to—"

"Oh, Denny!" she said. "I'm not engaged to him any more. Pete, do you suppose I'd have let you—if I had been—"

Pete couldn't quite grasp it

"I—look here—I know you're going to marry me—" he began.

"Yes!" said Elizabeth, in a voice he had never heard before.

It took them a long time to reach the house. Bill didn't seem to be surprised, though, and didn't complain about having had to wait.

"That bird didn't drown—the water was only up to his neck," he said. "And I found some ham and eggs and canned corn beef hash and soup and things. And there was a case marked champagne, and I got a couple of bottles here, just so's we can make sure it's the real stuff—I'd hate to have them bulls give us the laugh."

Pete looked at Elizabeth and she looked at him. Then they both looked at Bill, and laughed, and so did he.

"All right," said Bill. "Beat it, now—into that big room in front, see? I'm cooking, and I don't like folks in the kitchen."

"Can you beat him?" Pete asked. "I ask you!"

They went into the living-room. It was cold and some people might have thought it cheerless. They didn't care. As they looked out of the great windows they could see a faint radiance against the horizon.

"Heavens!" said Elizabeth. "Pete, that must be the sun! It'll be coming up in a minute! Oh, well, I haven't seen a sunrise for years, and I suppose the only way we ever would, would be by staying up all night!"

"I guess so," said Pete. "Bet, I—I can't talk, somehow—but you know how I feel, don't you, sweetheart About—oh, everything! you—and the house—"

"The dear house!" she said. "But Pete, we oughtn't to keep it, ought we?"

"Keep it!" said Pete. "I'd like to see anyone get it away from us now!"

"But it's so far—my job—"

"Job!" he said. "You haven't any job! You've quit. We're going down to Amagansett after breakfast, and find Morgan, and make him show us where they sell the marriage licenses and Bill shall be best man, and then we'll go back to town and get some clothes and have a party, and—"

She turned and looked at him for a long time. Her face was sober, her eyes almost somber. Then suddenly, gloriously, she laughed and flung her arms about him.

"We can!" she cried. "We will! Oh Pete! You can do anything! I know that now! Pete!"

THE END.

37-FOOT OAK BLOWN DOWN

VISALIA, Cal., July 4.—(AP)—An oak tree having a circumference of 37 feet 4inches and a spread of 150 feet was blown down by the wind storm which struck near here yesterday. Known as the giant oak and considered locally as the largest living oak tree in the world it was thought to be between 700 and 1,000 years old. The storm caused little other damage.

SIX DROWNED IN AUTO

Flood Carries Car Along With Fatal Results.

ROCK SPRINGS, Wyo., Puly 4 (AP)—Six persons were drowned at Hay Junction 12 miles north of here, late yesterday when the automobile in which they were riding was caught in a flood resulting from a cloudburst.

The dead:

Mrs. S. A. Fertig and her three children, Louis, 5; Robert, 3; Leo, 2.

ALLEGED MURDER IDENTIFIED

Two Spectators Identify Man As One Sought.

ST. LOUIS, July 4.—(AP)—Two spectators late last night identified Frank Biard, 17, held as one of five men who yesterday shot to death Patrolman John Grogan, 49, and seriously wounded Harvey Hammett, 29, a bystander. The shooting occurred in the lobby of a 10-story business building following the robbery of a printing company on the sixth floor.

A second man was implicated by one of the thirteen suspects held today for invesigation.

The five robbers, all said to be about 17 years old, were fleeing from the building when they were intercepted by Grogan who was off duty.

ELEVEN INJURED AT DALLAS

Five Autos Mixed Up in Run of Injuries.

DALLAS, July 4.—Eleven were injured in five automobiles in Dallas and vicinity last night. One collision between two machines resulted in injuries to seven persons, among them Mrs. Ella Collins, 50, of Shreveport, La., who has serious internal injuries. George Huth of Bowie, Texas, was hurt in the same accident.

Mrs. Collins was visiting Mrs. T. D. Bes,, who with a daughter and three sons also were hurt. They were on the way to Bowie to spend the week-end.

Luke Watkins, negro boy, aged 8, Miss Anna Belle Freeman, Everett Hyde, and Archie Proctor, aged 4, were injured in other accidents.

YOUTH DROWNS AT WACO

Fourth of July Outing Results Fatally This Morning.

WACO, July 4. — Lionel Davis, aged 18, was drowned in the Bosque river at 8 o'clock this morning. He together with his father, mother, brothers and sisters had gone to the river, three miles from Waco, for a Fourth of July outing. The young man was drowned while taking an early morning plunge. He called for help but went down for the last time before other members of the party, who were also in swimming at the time, could reach him.

ROBBER IS SCARED AWAY

Forman Chances By Factory to Chase Away Thief.

SAN ANTONIO, July 4—Chancing by the Lewis Pattern company where he is employed as shop foreman, C. W. Smith interrupted a burglar at his work before the thief could take anything of value Friday night.

When no answer came after calling three or four times, the foreman discovered a window which had been broken. Arming himself with a piece of scrap iron, Smith went into the building.

As he did the light in the rear was turned off.

All Theatres Offer The Best Cinema Stars

Good acting should feature the bills for the week at the local theatres. Every show appears to have its share of stars and some are boasting as many as three in one film.

Marie Prevost and Monte Blue playing opposite each other, Betty Bronson, Adolphe Menjou, Florence Vidor, Jack Holt, Noah Beery, Alma Bennet, Patsy Ruth Miller, House Peters, Tom Mix, Tony, Helen Holmes and Jack Hoxie. All of them are stars who have already made a name for themselves in the movies. They all will appear at Wichita Falls theatres during the week.

"Deadwood Coach."

The Strand stepped out of the usual line this week and started the Sunday program on Saturday instead. The show however will run for four days, until Wednesday.

The film "The Deadwood Coach," starring Tom Mix brings back the wild west hero in one of his favorite roles. Tony also comes back and marks the end of the attempts to break Mix into society roles. The star plays his part in the story well and establishes himself as the best wild west hero on the screen today.

The story is adapted from the famous stage play "The Orphan" and centers around the feats of Tom Mix who on Tony rides triumphantly through scene after scene, leaving behind him gaps and thrills aplenty.

The plot deals with the story of the youth who sees his father shot by a renegade cattle rancher. From that day on the youth set out to make a name for himself. He soon becomes known as the most dangerous character in the country. The manner in which he is reformed and in which the romance in the story is worked out is best told in the film that will run until Wednesday.

Great Talent Array.

The Olympic opens the week with one of the greatest arrays of talent ever shown in Wichita Falls in any one film. Betty Bronson and Florence Vidor take the leading roles in the Paramount picture "Are Parents People" starting at the theatre today for four days run.

Playing opposite them is the smiling Adolphe Menjou, the man who has gained a place on the list of cinema stars by his ability to shrug. He is known as the "man who shrugged his way to fame." He plays the part best suited to his ability in the film, that of a cynical man of the world, in this case he is married, who cares nothing for the worries of life.

The plot centers about the story of two parents who decide to separate on their vacations. They call their girl home from school to ask her which she would rather go with. The girl returns to school instead where she meets a young doctor whom she falls in love with. She learns from him that her parents are entitled to some worry as well as herself. So she gives it to them. The outcome is best told in the acting of the three super-stars.

Jack Holt Also Here.

"The Light of the Western Stars," is the offering of the Mission theatre beginning today. The film is a reproduction of Zane Grey's famous novel of the same name.

Jack Holt takes the leading role and plays the part of the villian marrauder to perfection. He is ably supported by Noah Beery and Alma Bennet, who plays opposite him in the characterization of a young Spanish girl who holds an attraction for the bandit.

The plot centers about the driving off of cattle and the fight between the ranchers and the thieves. The story contains plenty of action that carries suspense with it to the last picture. The acting with such stars as Jack Holt and Alma Bennet is of an unusually high class character.

While a typically western story the film contains romance in a setting calculated to make the scenes some of the most beautiful filmed in the plains. A dash of the Spanish color makes the picture all the more attractive and on the whole the entire film is above the usual character of the average western show.

Son of Congressman.

Sunday the Palace presents Big Boy Williams, son of Congressman Guinn Williams, in "The End of the Ropes" also a Jack Hoxie serial. Baseball of the Texas league and big leagues will be shown on the score board while the Wichita game will be reproduced on the automatic score board at 3 o'clock.

Throughout the week the Garden of Mirth Musical Comedy will continue to present three-act comedies in addition to a series of novelty acts. The company has already gained quite a name for itself here for its good acting and entertaining features.

Monday and Tuesday the film offering will be Edmond Cobb in "Battling Bates"; Wednesday and Thursday it will be "The Phantom Shadow"; Friday the show "In the West" featuring Dick Hatton will begin a two day run.

The Garden offers "Barriers of the Law" today only. The film, a picture depicting life in a New York whiskey ring, features Helen Holmes in the star role.

The drama pictures a truthful narrative of the high whiskey smuggling rings that flourish in New York and along the Atlantic coast. One of the big scenes of the picture is that where Miss Holmes boards the boat containing the contraband booze and sets fire to the vessel. She is forced to swim to safety.

Famed Actor's Team.

What is probably the most famed and popular team on the screen comes to the Olympic Thursday in "Recompense" featuring Monte Blue and Marie Prevost.

These two actors have proved their ability in the past and have gained much recognition by the character of their work playing opposite each other.

The story setting is in Africa, first with the soldiers, where Marie Prevost plays the part of an army nurse in the South African campaigns, and Monte Blue the role of a soldier whose love is first returned and then rejected. The story of how he tries to sink his love by going into Africa and of how he is brought back to the girl makes one of the best films in which either of the two stars have ever taken a part.

"Recompense" is a strong drama with some comedy and is highly recommended by pre-release reviewers. It is a sequel to the sensational novel "Simon Called Peter" carrying in the supporting cast such well-known actors as John Roche, George Siegman, and Etta Lee.

"Headwinds," Thursday.

The Mission departs from the usual Thursday and offers "Headwinds," a drama of the sea, as seen through the eyes of the wealthy, featuring Patsy Ruth Miller and House Peters.

The plot is a strong story containing both romance and adventure. The drama of the story is portrayed by the two actors to the best of their well known ability. It deals with the story of the rich bachelor who kidnaps the willful society flapper in order to make her love him. The girl is carried away to the sea and will have none of her would be lover, claiming that her love is for another, a typical lounge lizard of society. Through a simple and effective ruse the girl is made to marry her wooer and the story ends.

The show will be the week end offering at the Mission and furnishes one of the best shows seen at the local theatres in some time.

"Light of the Western Stars" Begins At the Misson Today

"The Light of Western Stars," the latest of the Zane Grey novels to be transferred to the screen by Paramount is a roaring western romance of the picturesque Arizona border, packed with vital drama, heroic deeds and dark villainies—a leaf torn from the gripping story of the West in which is pictured the last desperate stand of banded outlawry on the remaining vestige of frontier America.

The fierce action, which includes the driving off of cattle herds and the looting of a peaceful town by marauders, centers about four main characters: Jack Holt, the daring, virile cowboy whose six-shooter speaks a forceful language; Billie Dove, the lovely eastern girl thrust into the adventurous tumult of the border region; Noah Beery, the heavy-fisted outlaw leader; and Alma Bennett, a young Spanish girl of rare attractiveness.

The picture, true to the locale, was filmed in the magnificent stretch of mountain and desert land of southern Arizona through which winds the historic Apache trail. Many of the scenes were photographed against the remarkable scenic background of the Superstition Mountains.

William K. Howard, who jumped into the directorial limelight with that epic masterpiece, "The Thundering Herd," has produced "The Light of Western Stars," in a big, smashing way. Not for a moment does the photoplay fail to maintain its dynamic tempo: from the tense beginning to the thrilling finish, its powerful situations, dramatic climaxes and realistic atmosphere grip the interest like a vise.

With a tremendously absorbing plot, an outdoor setting of marvelous beauty, expert direction and a sterling cast, "The Light of Western Stars" represents the concentrated essence of fascinating and colorful film entertainment. And furthermore, the fact that it vividly recreates another stirring chapter in the winning of the West, gives it an historical significance that raises it above the average socalled western.

Great Array of Stars in "Are Parents People?" At Olympic

The Paramount picture, "Are Parents People?" which features Adolphe Menjou, Betty Bronson ("Peter Pan") and Florence Vidor, comes to the Olympic theatre for a four day's run today. The picture, directed by May St. Clair, is an adaptation of Alice Duer Miller's Saturday Evening Post serial—a domestic comedy drama that blends very effectively humor, pathos and romance, with everything in favor of the humor.

Human Qualities.

The story, because of its intensely human qualities, is an extremely powerful one. Betty, as Lita Hazlitt attends a select finishing school for girls. A telegram from her parents brings her home to find them with trunks packed—one headed for Paris, the other Reno. They have called Lita home to learn which one she is going with, but the daughter gives them something to think about by returning to school, refusing to make a choice as she loves them both.

So it is that the parents separate. At school Lita falls in love with a young doctor, in whom she confides, telling of her troubles and how much she would like to see her mother and father reconciled. Dr. Dacer, played by Lawrence Gray, Paramount's latest "find," tells her that parents are people after all — she should give them a "mutual worry." Lita has never looked at the matter in this light before and decides to give it a trial.

Infatuation For Dancer.

As it develops, this "mutual worry" comes in the form of Lita's supposed infatuation for a romantic motion picture actor. Photos and a "mash" note, really written by her roommate, are found in Lita's bureau at school. They are brought to the attention of the mother, who immediately summons the husband. But the minute the parents, who still have a deep regard for one another, get together they take to quarreling over who is to blame for the girl's predicament. The father stalks out in a rage, and Lita's little plan goes up in smoke. She goes to Dr. Dacer for advice. He is out, and she decides to wait. Lita falls asleep; the doctor returns, passes through the waiting room without noticing the girl and retires for the night. In the morning he discovers Lita, and there's a great scene.

A night of worry has the desired effect upon the parents. They patch things up. What follows when Lita and Dacer put in an appearance makes "Are Parents People?" a picture out of the ordinary run of screen entertainment.

"Are Parents People?" was adapted for the screen by Frances Agnew. Emily Fitzroy, Andre de Beranger, as the movie "shiek," Mary Beth Milford and William Courtwright complete the cast of the production.

This is Betty Bronson's first screen appearance since "Peter Pan."

NEW QUAKE IN YONAGO

Numerous Houses Crumpled in Sharp Shock.

TOKYO, July 7—(AP)—Numerous houses houses crumbled today when an earthquake described as "somewhat severe" struck Yonago, 100 miles west of Kowe, which was also shaken. No casualties were reported.

Helen Holmes Coming to the Garden Today Only in "Barriers of the Law"

Helen Holmes, heroine and featured player of "Barries of the Law," an Independent Pictures corporation, offering at the Garden, is now at her home recuperating from a severe attack of pneumonia which she contracted during the filming of the picture. The picture is the story of the operations and capture of a wide spread whiskey ring that is landing liquor in defiance of the national prohibition laws.

Miss Holmes' part requires that she board the contraband boat, set fire to the cargo, and then swim away to safety. Despite the fact that the day on which the scene was shot was warm and the sun was shining brightly, there was a real snap in the air and it seems that Miss Holmes exposed herself to its chill unnecessarily with the result that she contracted pneumonia soon after and was dangerously ill for several days. She is now out of danger and recuperating.

Incidents like this are continually cropping up to demonstrate to the public the dangers which the performers engage in the making of motion pictures hazard and to prove to the skeptical that these thrill scenes which they witness with so much calm are not faked but actually take place.

Marie Prevost and Monte Blue In "Recompense" At Olympic Thursday

The Olympic theatre offers its patrons "Recompense," next Thursday, a picture that promises to prove something of a double-header. To begin with, "Recompense" is the sensational "best seller" that Robert Keable wrote as a sequel to "Simon Called Peter," and those who remember Mr. Keable's story of Peter and Julie, know what to expect.

Then, the two powerful personalities of Peter and Julie will be interpreted on the screen by Monte Blue and Marie Prevost, which mans that these parts will receive the finest shades of dramatic finish, if the past performances of these two artists are to be depended on.

"Recompense" has been reproduced on the screen by Warner Bros., the producing company that is celebrated for its success in translating "best sellers" onto the silver sheet. Harry Beaumont handled the directorial end of the picture, which was adapted for the screen by Dorothy Farnum of "Beau Brummel" and "The Lover of Camille" fame.

John W. Patrick, John Roche, Etta Lee, Wm. C. Davidson, Virginia Brown Faire, Charles Stevens, George Seigman, and Katherine Lewis support Monte Blue and Marie Prevost in the leading roles.

Those who have read Robert Keable's famous book "Simon Called Peter" and its sequel "Recompense," will remember the poignant emotional struggle that Peter and Julie made for happiness. The two characters, Peter and Julie, have become so well known to the people of America that the announcement that "Recompense" has been made into a motion picture is of considerable importance to the reading and screen public.

Marie Prevost and Monte Blue renowned for their harmonious team-work in many screen successes, are portraying the fierce drama of the Army Chaplain and the nurse who battled with sin, horror and unutterable misery to gain a foothold for their love—until that love rose so high above the spattering mud of entangling deceit that it carried them to heights of unknown bliss.

Warner Bros. are responsible for the motion picture version of "Recompense," which achieved the distinction of being last year's biggest "best seller." John Patrick, John Roche, Etta Lee, Wm. C. Davidson, Virginia Brown Faire, Chares Stevens, George Seigman and Katherine Lewis constitute the balance of the cast that will enact Mr. Keable's story of the screen.

"Head Winds," a Drama of Society Life on the Sea At the Mission

"Head Winds," the Universal-Jewel feature starring House Peters with Patsy Ruth Miller, opens at the Mission Monday. It is a picture which would appeal to two kinds of people. They are, briefly, the young and the old. Commonplace as this will at first appear, it is in point of fact "nothing but the truth," and dramatic situations are well handled by director Herbert Blache.

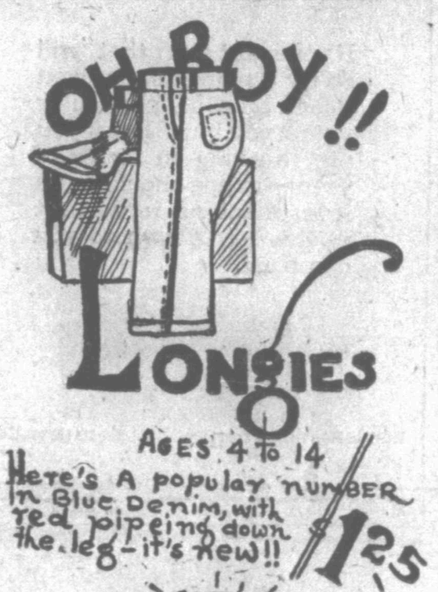

In "Head Winds" House Peters, cast in the role of a wealthy yachtsman, brings to the fore a character seldom seen in the silent drama. He is o new type of character and there's the novel twist to the situation that lifts "Head Winds" out of the sphere of the ordinary drama.

As a millionaire sportsman, Peters, ni order to win the love and respect of Patricia Van Pelt, a wilful society shrew, kidnaps her and spirits her away to sea and woos his "bride-by-error" with the most abject humble submission. All this is brought about and made necessary by Patricia herself.

Headstrong to a fault, Patricia insists that she is going to become the bride of John Templeton Arnold, a typical lounge lizard of society. Her two brothers realize the folly of their sister's threat—and know, that if she can, she will carry out her fancy, much to her regret. Through a simple, though effective ruse, Patricia is married to Peter Rosslyn.

Three Oriental players are cast in important roles in "Head Winds." They are Togo Yamamato, George Kuwa and K. Nambu. Others in the supporting cast whose work is effective are Arthur Hoyt, William Austin, Richard Travers and Lydia Yeamans Titus.

CHEVROLET CO. ADDS 3 UNITS TO ITS SCHOOL

Company Now Boasts Ten Schools in Various Parts of U. S.

The Chevrolet Motor Company, expanding its policy of assuring long years of driving satisfaction through proper service, has added three more units to its chain of service schools.

There are now ten schools in various parts of the country, each in charge of two highly skilled instructors. It is axiomatic that there always is one right way and several wrong ways of doing anything. The Chevrolet instructors teach that right way. Their classes are small—not more than six or eight men—to permit of individual attention. Each week the ten schools return to the service organization between 60 and 80 graduate mechanics whose specialized knowledge of the car and its servicing equipment eliminates of chance and guesswork.

May Cause Damage.

"Improper fitting of a minor part may cause expensive damage to any automobile," declares C. B. Baldwin, director of Chevrolet parts and service department. "But when a man leaves one of our schools he is a precision mechanic. He does not guess, he knows. He has knowledge of the Chevrolet mechanism unobtainable in any other way."

The seven original service schools were established last summer at each of the Chevrolet assembly plants in the United States located at the following cities: Flint, Mich., Tarrytown, N. Y., Buffalo, N. Y., Norwood, Ohio, St. Louis, Mo., Janesville, Wis., and Oakland, Calif. The success of this group resulted recently in the establishment of the three additional schools at Dallas, Texas, Denver, Colo., and Portland, Ore., for service men in territory geographically remote from the assembly plant schools.

Traveling Instructor.

A chief instructor travels constantly from one school to another. In the schools are Chevrolet chassis, used motors, gears, axle and transmission assemblies upon which the students work with Chevrolet precision equipment. Often a motor is intentionally disabled and then placed in perfect order.

The students come from the service departments of the 3,400 direct dealers and the many associate dealers. The intensive course lasts one week. Shop foremen predominate but many subordinate mechanics also attend the schools. Only Chevrolet men are accepted as students.

Another angle in the work of giving the owner the ultimate in driving satisfaction is the service promotion department, also under Mr. Baldwin. This department sends experts to suggest improvements in shop practice and arrangement that patrons may obtain maximum speed and accuracy in servicing.

"This combination o fservice training for the men and installation of intelligent shop methods is causing a growth of the flat rate service plan among Chevrolet service stations," says Mr. Baldwin. "Proper training enables the men to determine exactly what a particular service will cost. Thus they can give the owner a price before they start the work. The plan is of mutual benefit to dealer, service man and car owner."

Begin New Culverts In Tillman County

FREDERICK, Okla., July 4. — Work has just started on the construction of several new culverts in Tillman county by the county highway builders. The highways, with the exception of these culverts, are now in excellent condition, especially the 72 miles of state highways which are being patrolled by salaried patrolmen who are keeping them in the best of shape.

Building of the new 40-foot bridge across Deep Red river, near Grandfield has begun. The span is located between sections 17 and 18, in township 3 south range 14. The bridge is to be a low truss steel bridge on concrete pilings and will have 20-foot approaches.

Claying of the stretch of state highway leading out of Tipton on the Altus road will start soon and will be in charge of the state highway department. Half of the project expense will fall to the county, and half to the state highway commission.

MAN AT BURK HAS NARROW AUTO ESCAPE

Burkburnett Undertaker Is Hit by Car; Not Badly Hurt

BURKBURNETT, July 4. — John Wright, funeral director of the Owens Funeral Home, narrowly escaped fatal injury Wednesday night when he was stepping from a car at his home on South Avenue D, and a passing automobile curved around at a rapid rate and swung him across the lights where he hung face downward, helpless and breathless for some time before the driver could stop his car.

He was taken back to his room and but for a number of bruises and soreness seemed normal Thursday morning.

That he was not seriously injured is considered quite unusual considering the dangerous accident.

PLAINVIEW — A campaign has been launched here to raise $150,000 for the building program of the Wayland Baptist college. The board of trustees voted to do this in order to meet the challenge of Mrs. Jack Heflin who proposes to give this college $50,000 ater the completion of their building program.

NEW OVERLAND FEATURES ARE GAINING FAVOR

Economy Features Prove Popular Among New Owners

Automobile dealers and prospective buyers everywhere concede that one of the most important features in the minds of motor car purchasers is economy of operation and maintenance of their automobile.

It was with this feature in mind that engineers of Willys-Overland designed and built the new Overland standard sedan, a car of lighter weight and greater room, backed by hundreds of fine records in gasoline consumption, and withal a car built specifically to provide the maximum of comfort and ease of operation with the minimum of upkeep, at a new low price of $655, factory officials declare. The new addition to the Overland line is a roomy, five-passenger sedan combining these features together with long and narrow windows and one-piece windshield that provide greater vision and ventilation.

The new Overland standard sedan is powered by the four-cylinder engine developing 27 brake horsepower. It has the improved Borg and Beck clutch. A heavy duty crank shaft, selective type transmission and special carbon gears make for rigidity and long service. The same motor that made a grand average of 27.28 miles per gallon in the Overland economy-endurance run powers this new sedan.

Lighter weight, incorporated in this model of dark blue Duco finish, greatly lessens the fuel consumption of the car because of heavy door post elimination necessary in the body construction of four-door models, officials say. Full-sized balloon tires and the patented triplex springs greatly absorb road shocks, making an easy riding car whose body is never distorted by road jars.

Willard Batteries Use Rubber Instead Of Wood In Making

The greatest advances in storage battery construction in recent years have been brought about by the use of rubber instead of wood.

In Willard batteries, especially, rubber has been adapted to use almost to the total exclusion of wood.

In a single 6 volt Willard battery rubber is used in five forms, totalling from 35 to 50 pieces, according to the size of the battery. These five arms are jars, covers, vent plugs, gaskets and insulation. Where hard rubber is used for the battery fuse—a most recent development which is becoming more popular— the jars are not needed as the monobloc case forms its own jars.

Common to Trade.

The use of rubber for jars, plugs, covers and gaskets has been common to the battery trade for a long time.

The hard rubber case, however, is a comparatively new development. In thn use of rubber for cases there were many difficulties to overcome and Willard pioneered the way.

The battery encased in hard rubber is decidedly better looking and is better able to withstand vibration and acid.

The greatest value rubber has been to the battery industry however, lies in insulating the positive plates from the negative plates. Here again, Willard was the pioneer and developed the famous Thread Rubber Insulation, a patented product to be had only in Willard batteries.

Take Two Steps.

With Thread Rubber Insulation, Willard battery manufacturers were able to take two more advance steps toward the goal of a perfect storage battery. These were, bone dry and charged bone dry batteries.

The first step enabled handling of batteries for storage and shipment without acid. Absence of acid prevented the plates from being damaged by "self wear" which occurs whenever moisture in the battery combines with the material in the plates.

Charged Bone Dry batteries were the next step. This process enables the buyer to get a fully charged battery at a moment's notice. The old method of necessitating a wait of a day or two for the new battery to be formed and charged.

Thread Rubber Insulation and Charged Bone Dry plates make a battery which is always new until actually put in use. Not a moment of its life is lost through self wear. These advantages can be found only in Willard Batteries as Threaded Rubber is a patented Willard Product.

WOMEN CROWD DISPLAYS

Paris Fair Association Charges Admission to Clear Out Throng.

PARIS, July 4.—Women's desire to see t he big dressmakers' displays has had to be curbed at the modern arts exposition by charging admission that varies from 5 to 50 francs. It was found from the opening day that crowds sometimes even stopped the parade of models, so great was the pressure of those who wanted to view the latest fashions.

The police were called to handle the crowds but eventually a sliding scale of fees was found the most satisfactory method of regulating the numbers viewing the exhibits.

One dressmaker who has three boats on the Seine as a part of the exhibition, one devoted to interior decoration, another to perfumes and a third to restaurant purposes—for he feels that cooking and eating also are arts—charges admission to his floating sales room. He also has put "keep off" signs on the seats on deck because tired sightseers were disposed to spend the afternoon with him, crowding out possible buyers.

WALTER P. CHRYSLER'S TRAFFIC TALKS

The city of yesterday was laid out when horse-drawn vehicles and low buildings were the rule.

This is an age of motor cars and sky-scrapers. And in this new age the same streets that were used yesterday are being taxed to the limit by all types of motor vehicular traffic.

Question might well be raised whether it wouldn't be better to require that new buildings be constructed ten feet further back from the building line than originally. What would be the result? As old buildings were replaced the street would become twenty feet wider.

Then, too, this plan would make the public more conscious of certain buildings and steps would be taken to replace them.

New York has a building with 14,000 tenants. That building has 65 elevators which carry 100,000 people every day. Those people pack the streets below, which are of the same width as those of twenty-five years ago.

The control of vehicular traffic of our towns and cities is a problem of great importance. It is not only a police problem but it is also a problem affecting business interests.

The number of motor vehicles in use in our cities has doubled every four years.

It is unfortunate when a city thinks because it has no immediate traffic problem that it should neglect building for the future. Now is the time to build for tomorrow. It will not only add to the comfort and happiness of the town's inhabitants but it is good business as well.

Chillicothe Man Ill With Typhoid

CHILLICOTHE, July 4.—Wallace Waldrip, returned Thursday of last week from Fort Worth where he went for an examination. Fort Worth physicians diagonsed his case as typhoid fever, and he is now at his home in this city under the care of a trained nurse. He is reported to be resting as well as could be expected, and his many friends hope for a rapid recovery.

AMERICANS THINK PRICES IN PARIS ARE CHEAP

PARIS, July 4.—High prices in the restaurants and hotels of Paris seemed quite moderate to the trainload of American bankers and business men who arrived here this week from Brussels where they attended the sessions of the congress of the International Chamber of Commerce.

They arrived in time for the grand Prix when prices are at their peak but they did not mind for they had been heralded in Belgium, after traveling from America on the liner George Washington as a "boat load of billionaires." They found Belgium on a gold basis so far as they were concerned.

Shaves cost the equivalent of forty cents, haircuts were $1.25 and meals from $2.00 up. The Americans found the explanation in the popular European supposition that people from the United States have all the gold in the world and do not know what to do with it.

When the party from Brussels reached Paris and got lost in the crowd of all nationalities where none called them billionaires they were able to drop back to normal world prices.

STATE PEN GETS PRISONERS

600 Federal Convicts to Be Sent To Texas.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., July 4.—(AP)—Warden William I. Biddle of the federal penitentiary here announced today that due to crowded prison conditions arrangements have been made through the department of justice at Washington to send 600 prisoners to the Texas penitentiary at Huntsville, Texas, and to fourteen prison farms in that state.

One hundred of the prisoners will be sent to Huntsville and the remainder distributed to the various farms, he said.

Warden Biddle explained that no prisoner now at Leavenworth will be sent to Texas, but that the consignments would be made up of new convicts, sentenced after the order went into effect.

LITTLEFIELD—At a recent meeting of the Littlefield chamber of commerce the following officers were elected for the fiscal year: President E. A. Bills; vice-president, G. M. Shaw; treasurer, J. M. Pope. The secretary will be selected by the board of directors.

MAY BRING "WOLF" BACK

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 4.—(AP)—John Worthington, "the wolf of LaSalle street," Chicago, may be returned to the United States from Lower California late today or early tomorrow, it was reported at the federal building here.

Although officials were adverse to talking, it was reported that four department of justice agents from Los Angeles arrived in San Diego and departed for Potrero, about 65 miles below Ensenada, where Worthington is said to have gone after eluding his guard in Ensenada about a week ago.

Mexican officials, it is reported here, are willing that Worthington should be extradited to the United States without legal proceedings.

HUPMOBILE

FOURS AND EIGHTS

One chief consideration for 16 years—

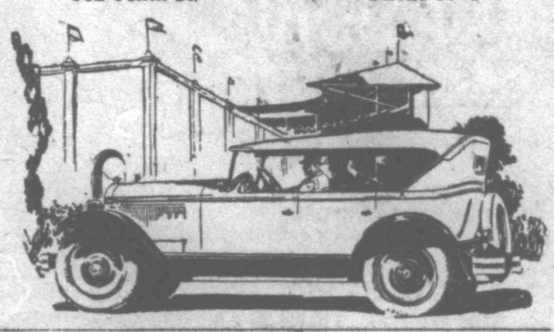

The determination to so build the Hupmobile that it will do the very utmost that a good car should do, brilliantly, and over the longest possible period—at the lowest possible outlay.

That accounts for the Hupmobile as it is today—that is why the public believes and says that "it pays to own a Hupmobile."

Greeted as a Great Contribution to 4-Cylinder Motoring

As anticipated, the new Chrysler Four is being received with unrestrained enthusiasm.

$895 Touring Car F.O.B. Detroit, Tax Extra

The warmth of the welcome given Walter P. Chrysler's latest achievement indicates how far he has carried the four-cylinder principle beyond conventional practice.

Never before has there been a four that delivers so much in fine performance, so much in roadability and riding and driving ease.

Those who have been fortunate enough to ride in the new car are unstinted in their praise. They enjoyed a thrilling experience comparable only to that which electrified Chrysler Six owners on their first ride.

For the Chrysler Four is a true companion to the Chrysler Six. It represents in a very definite and practical sense the application of the same quality and fine manufacture that raised the Chrysler Six to its peak of popularity.

Consequently it is not surprising that the new Chrysler Four is already hailed as the most modern and soundest contribution to finer four-cylinder motoring.

See it—ride in it—drive it! Call on us—we are only too glad to extend you the opportunity to learn at first hand the many advantages of owning a new Chrysler Four.

First car of its price with the option of hydraulic four-wheel brakes at slight extra cost. Closed bodies by Fisher.

GRAHAM BROS. MOVE INTO A BIGGER HOME

Factory Finds it Necessary To Seek New Quarters For Truck

Following closely the information that Graham Brothers produced more 1½-ton trucks than any other manufacturer during the first quarter of 1925, and ranked second in the 1-ton and 1½-ton fields combined, comes the announcement that their Detroit factory has again found it necessary to take greatly enlarged space.

On June 18, it is also announced, Graham Brothers opened a new Pacific coast plant in Stockton, Calif. Including Graham Brothers, Canada, Ltd., this gives them four factories.

Rapidity of Growth

The rapidity of Graham Brothers' growth is clearly indicated by the repeated increases in their space requirements—which have much more than doubled each year since 1921.

The first Detroit plant, in 1921, had 13,000 square feet. During 1922 this was increased to 27,000 and during 1923 to 40,000. In May, 1923, they moved into a plant of 60,000 square feet, more advantageously located with respect to Dodge Brothers from whom they obtain the engine for their trucks. Soon, still more space was required. First, 36,000, then 50,000 more square feet were added, and on June 1, 1925, another move gave them 250,000 square feet.

Graham Brothers now have a space under one roof 400 feet by 600 feet in a steel and concrete building which was erected by Dodge Brothers during the winter of 1917 as an ordnance plant for the manufacture of recoil mechanism for 155 millimeter French heavy guns.

The new plant has been laid out for direct flow of materials, units and parts from the receiving docks through the various departments and stockrooms to the assembly line without any retracing or unnecessary handling.

Materials from the railroad cars are unloaded on covered platforms 400 feet long by 40 feet wide by 540 feet long in the main building to the proper stockrooms or departments.

Frame Goes 100 Feet.

At the extreme end of this aisle and at right angles to it is the frame assembly line. While the frame travels a distance of 100 feet, wrong side up, on a conveyor, the necessary brackets are hot riveted in place and the springs and front and rear axles are attached.

The frame is then taken by a small overhead conveyor, turned right side up, carried through an enamel spray and then through an enamel oven 200 feet long. The passage is timed at 30 minutes and the temperature is carefully controlled to insure proper baking of the durable, lustrous enamel.

As the frame emerges from the oven it is picked up by another overhead conveyor which takes it around a right angle turn and places it upon the final assembly conveyor. This conveyor is 400 feet long and travels about 4 feet per minute to produce 150 trucks per 9 hour day.

During the first 100 feet the wheels with tires are mounted on the axles. Then, the chassis, still moved by the long chain, rolls onward on its own wheels. With the regularity of clockwork the various units are placed in position and the various bolts and nuts are securely tightened with special pneumatic wrenches.

Inspection of the assembly line in full swing shows clearly how, with increased production and adoption of the assembly methods of Dodge Brothers, it is possible for Graham Brothers to deliver such exceptional truck value at a low price.

Rheumatism

"Good-bye old crutch!"

THERE IS positively no longer any excuse for suffering the agonies of rheumatism! Especially in the autumn of your life, when the vital organs weaken, impurities multiply and linger in the muscles and joints, as never before. It is now, just now, when you cannot afford to guess. No day returns!

Here is a joyous fact which can mean to you a fond farewell forever to all the miseries, the tortures, the body-twisting pains that you have suffered from the demon of rheumatism. It is a fact that rheumatism means "blood poverty." It is a fact with the increase of red-cells in your blood, impurities are destroyed. It is a fact that S.S.S. will help Nature build these red-blood-cells! S.S.S. is one of the most powerful blood cleansers in existence. Its results in thousands of rheumatic cases have been nothing short of amazing! The medicinal ingredients of S.S.S. are purely vegetable. This is very important to remember! What can be more inspiring, more wonderful than to see the shackles of pain released from your struggling body, swellings, lingering pains, stiffness of joints and muscles all disappear; your stomach made strong; your face pink with the old sweetheart glow, your blood enriched and your cheeks more plump as they used to be. You can do it! Take S.S.S., the great destroyer of rheumatic impurities.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

S.S.S. Makes You Feel Like Yourself Again

YOUR TIRES

by T. S. LINDSEY General Sales Manager Kelly-Springfield Tire Co.

AMATEUR tire patching ruins thousands of automobile tires each year. It is common practice among automobile owners and drivers, when they get a cut or puncture, to insert a patch on the inside of the casing where the injury has occurred, thinking that the damage has been permanently repaired.

Such a repair will in time ruin any tire. It is a good practice to apply patches in such cases, but a tire sleeve should always be placed on the outside of the tire opposite the patched portion at the same time. This sleeve serves to bind the tire, hold the torn and injured parts of the fabric in place and so prevent further chafing and rupture.

The sleeve and patch are merely first aid appliances and should be removed as soon as possible. It will pay motorists to drive immediately to the nearest repair shop after such a first aid has been used.

Often, too, when it is necessary to change or repair an inner tube on the road, some small particle of gravel or dirt will get in between the tube and casing, due to poor light or some other cause, no matter how careful one may be. If you go to a repair shop as soon as you can, you may avoid ruining a tube which would continue to chafe and soon wear through if neglected. You may think that spending more money, or time, or both, in this way is foolish but you will always find that in the end you have saved both time and money.

NEW HIGHWAY MAPS AID TO ROAD DRIVERS

New Edition of Maps Show Everything That Is Needed

Motorists who intend making their vacation at ouring trip will find not only new maps and itineraries, but a large folder map covering the United States east of Chicago, a resume of both speed laws and state laws, and the gasoline tax, in the 1925 Associated Tours Guide, the official road book compiled and published by the Automobile club of America.

Route Numbers.

The new itineraries contain the route numbering system, as do the maps.

By following the carefully selected itineraries and clearly defined road maps with which the Guide is filled, summer vacationists are enabled to tour by motor through the most charming sectons of eastern United States and Canada to seaside, mountain and country resorts. All tours in the Guide are compiled with a view to scenic charm; the roads mapped are the best stretches of hard highway that the country affords.

For transcontinental motor tourists, there is a double-page Atlantic-to-Pacific road map showing the several routes across the United States, accompained by complete itineraries for this increasingly popular trip.

Aid to Tourists.

A feature of the associated tours guide that motorists particularly appreciate is that the itineraries are arranged to allow for logical stopping places at the end of each day's run at towns where accommodations may be readily secured. Not only are there synopses of state motor laws, but ferry schedules and lists of good hotels and garages also go to increase the guide's usefulness to the automobilist.

For the accommodation of car owners, the guide will be distributed through local news dealers, bookstores and drug stores in all parts of the country, or may be obtained by remitting 50 cents to cover cost, and postage, to The Automobile club of America, 12 East 53rd street, New York City.

BALLINGER—The building committee of the Runnels County Fair association have begun work on several new building, including a grandstand, stock sheds, etc., for the county fair this fall. The dates are October 13-14-15-16.

LUBBOCK — Announcement has been made by Garnett Reeves of the Lubbock chamber of commerce that preliminary work has been started on the catalogue of the 1925 Panhandle and South Plains fair. The premium list is much larger than ever before!

BALLOON TIRES PROVE POPULAR ON FORD CARS

New Owners all Choose Improved Tires For Their Cars

One of the most interesting illustrations of the popularity of balloon tires is revealed in figures just given out by the Ford Motor company showing how Ford car owners have accepted these tires.

About the middle of February the company announced that it would provide balloon tires as optional equipment on all new Ford cars at small additional cost and would also provide balloon tire wheels for owners who wished to change over to the new equipment simultaneously dealers were quested to furnish estimates as to the number of new cars they would require with balloon equipment. Under these estimates 20 per cent of the cars produced during the first month were equipped with balloons.

Requirements for this kind of equipment immediately began to increase until in May more than 60 per cent of the new car production was equipped with balloon tires with every indication that the percentage for June would be even higher.

In connection with the use of balloon tires the company has checked thoroughly into the matter of correct inflation and recommends the following table for the guidance of Ford car owners:

	Front	Rear
Coupe	24lbs.	24lbs.
Runabout	24 "	24 "
Touring Car	24 "	27 "
Tudor Sedan	24 "	30 "
Fordor Sedan	24 "	30 "

It is explained that in order to secure the maximum service and comfort from balloon tires it is essential that the foregoing table of tire pressures be rigidly followed. Under inflation results in rapid wear of the tread and also tends to break down the walls of the tire. If over inflated, the cushioning effect of the tires is lost and the owner of the car does not enpoy the easy riding qualities which come from the use of properly inflated balloon tires.

MRS. COOLIDGE TAKES BLAME

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., July 4. — (AP)—Mrs. Coolidge today laughed off the incident of yesterday when she was very nearly run down by a motorcycle during a walk near here.

Sergeant Charles B. Cooley of the state police, driver of the machine which shot between her and James Haley, secret service man, on a turn in the road, called at White Court today and Mrs. Coolidge took the blame for the affair.

"It was all right,' Mrs. Coolidge assured him as she shook his hand. "Any way, I was on the wrong side of the road."

Confessions of a Niblick—Toed Caddy As Made to J. J. Montaguea

You rotten players make a big mistake to go to pros for lessons all the time. Pros don't do you no good. You can play all right when they're lookin' at yu, maybe, but just as soon as you get out on the course and try to do what they tell you, you get all tangled up, and it takes you three or four weeks to get back where you was.

I done a lot for men like you whose game was terrible—some of 'em right here in this club. I never try to tell 'em nothin' about their swings or keepin' their heads down, for that just gets 'em sore and they're likely to cuss you out and blame you because they are so bad. Not you, of course. You seem to know you're bad and to have give up hope, and of course you might as well, for since I been caddyin for you I can see that you ain't cut out for no golfer.

Most of the men I've helped don't never know I've helped 'em or at least they dont never let on they do. But they come up to the caddy master and ask him to leave me go out with them every time, and they generally do the right thing when the game's over. You know what I mean by that, don't yo?

The trouble of me cutting down the score of a player like you would be that with them little short shots you don't never get as far as the rough, and you always keep me right along wth you. It's different with the ones that can make long drives, but you can't get 'em straight.

Fellas like that is always stuck on the way they drive and always sends me out way ahead, because when other people see me out there they say "gee the caddy is way out; that bird must be a long driver." I generally know when I've caddied for a few holes whether a guy is a slicer or a hooker, which all bum players are one or the other, so I can be almost where the ball is coming to when it goes off the tee.

Of course, if they are playing with smart players I have to be careful, but the funny thing about golf is that everybody is so interested in their own game that they don't pay no attention to where the other fellow's ball is as long as it's in the rough or in a bunker where it will take him maybe six or seven shots to get it out.

When the ball comes out to where I am right beside the rough and rolls in I spot it right away but I begin walking up and down in the grass with my head down as if I was hunting for it to beat the cars, and every time I pass it, if it is in a bad lie I flip it a little bit with my toe till pretty soon it is setting up on a tussock where the player can get a terrible wallop at it.

When he comes up to me he always says:

"Well, caddy, I was lucky to land in that spot right here in this awful tough rough, wasn't I."

I Flip it a Little Bit With my Toe.

And I says:

"You sure was, but maybe it was because you slammed it so hard that you got a good lie."

"He says," what do you mean by that?" and I says, "well, when the ball is goin' terribly swift like it does when a hard clouter like you drives it it just skates through the grass and bounds upon a tussock, and sets there."

So he takes a crack at it, and because he has to keep his head down to see it at all with tall grass growing all around he gets way out on the fair, and maybe beats the other fellow to the green, and then he's happy for the rest of the day.

"That was a corking shot I made out of the rough, wasn't it caddy?" he says to me, "with a brassie too," and I says: "You can handle a brassie in the rough better'n some of them can handle their irons," and hesays "Do you think so?" and when he comes in he does the right thing. You know what I mean by that, I s'pose.

It's the same in bunkers, especially them bunkers that is in the way and a lot of people gets into and gets full of heel marks. No ball never rolls into no bunker if it's drove by a man I'm caddying for and the bunker is so far away that the other player can't watch me.

If it does get in it is out by the time the players get there, and I says, "That ball looked as it if was dead for the bunker, but it stopped just short."

And my man says, "I think you must have stopped it," he says it for a joke, and if the other players say they think I stopped it he says he seen it land just where it is and has had his eye on it right from the start, and maybe I've had to kick it ten or fifteen feet to get it out of a heel hole in the sand.

It's the same with brooks. I'm generally up to the brook before my player's ball rools in, and I just pretend to be watchin' it till it comes in reach of me toe. Of course the other fellows kid my player about having a lot of luck, and getting away with murder, but he don't care so long as he don't get into no serious trouble.

There's one long driver but wild on this course that's cut his score down about ten holes since I been caddyin' for him. I don't suppose he suspects I do anything to help him, for you can't tell a golfer who is getting better that it is anything but him getting good that is doing the work. But lately he comes to the course early in the morning before I get out, and if I'm engaged he goes back home or does practicing, instead of trying for a fund.

"I like that caddy because he's cheerful, and don't try to tell me how to play the game," he tells the other fellows. " Most of these kids is little grouches, or rotten ball finders or else the talkative kind that bothers you. This Joe boy is just a kaddy and nothin' else, and that's why I want him."

Of course, as I was sayin before a party like you that ain't got no long drive is kind of hard to help, for the others is always right up with you, and they must be suspicious of you or think you're funny or ridiculous or something because they always seem to have their eyes on you. Still if you'd let me be your regular caddy now my steady customers is out of town, it might help in bunkers and brooks and things. I can't promise of course, but I'd do what I could. And I suppose if I cut your score down you'd be willing to do the right thing. You know what the right thing is don't you?

Joint Revival At Childress Planned

CHILDRESS, July 4—The Presbyterian and Methodist churches are to hold a joint revival meeting here beginning July 5. Rev. Burke Culpepper, noted evangelist, will conduct the revival and John U. Robinson well known evangelist singer will have charge of the music. A temporary tabernackle will be built for the services a nd everyone will be urged to attend and help make the services a success. This is the first union service to be held here in a number of years. Rev. Culpepper is said to be one of the greatest evangelists in Texas. He has held very successful meetings in Tennessee and Arkansas also.

TIPTON MAN MAKES MURDER BOND OF $5,000

Is Charged With Slaying Wife in Yard In Scuffle

FREDERICK, Okla., July 4. — Grover Jones of Tipton, being held in the county jail here under a charge of murder in connection with the death of his wife from a gunshot wound several months ago, was released from the jail Thursday under a $5,000 bond for his appearance to face the charge.

Jones, together with Mrs. Eva Jacobs, are alleged to have committed the murder, the death coming after a scuffle in the yard of the Jones' home southwest of Tipton. Mrs. Jacobs was convicted of manslaughter by a jury in her case and setenced to serve two years in the state penitentiary. She is now serving her time.

Tipton Man Sues The Katy for Lost Goods

FREDERICK, Okla., July 4.—Suit has been filed in district court by J. M. Burke against the M. K. T. railroad company asking for $1,545.42 and $500 attorney fees, alleged loss when a car of furniture and household goods belonging to the plaintiff was destroyed. Burke was moving to Tipton last fall and his household goods were in a freight car on a siding at the Tipton depot when a gasoline and oil storage tank nearby caught fire and destroyed all the contents.

"ARK" IS LATEST HOTEL

BERLIN, July 4—A modern Noah's Ark now affords shelter for hiking young folk passing through Berlin. Since the abandonment of militarism, one of the favorite diversions of the German young people is long hikes, especially at week-ends. In many parts of the country special young people's inns have been established where members of hiking clubs can find cheap and unpretentious shelter for the night.

In Berlin housing conditions are trying that a large ark-like barge holding 80 beds and 30 hammocks has been constructed. It has been christened "Oberbuergermeister Doctor Boess" in recognition of the lord mayor's great interest in outdoor life. The barge originally was ordered by the Belgians on the reparation account but they did not claim it. Other barges are to be constructed shortly, as the experiment with the first one has more than proved its worth in popularity during the few weeks it has been open for guests.

Credit Buys More Than All the Gold In Existence

CREDIT is the faith man has in his fellowman.

It buys more than gold, for it is more valuable than gold.

CREDIT today is the most wonderful thing in the commercial world.

It has made MILLIONARIES overnight. World-bankers float billion-dollar loans on "the faith man has in the integrity of his fellowman," upon CREDIT.

Each individual is born into the world with an equal call on credit.

It is withheld from none. It is open to all. It's merely a matter of integrity, linked with the determination to be honest.

We are organized to supply our retail merchants with accurate credit information.

At any time any member can learn just what each individual owes and how he pays his bills.

If a person has ABUSED HIS CREDIT at a certain store, hasn't paid the account promptly, the other merchants will know it.

If a person has been fair and square in his dealings with one or more stores, paid up promptly, this information too is given to the other stores, opening all doors to him, and making him welcome everywhere.

There's no room in this town for the "deadbeats." He may fool one merchant, but no more. After that he will have to pay cash, or "move on."

TAKE HEED, if you're slipping into this class of undesirables. Stop that habit of neglecting bills. Pay up, and keep paid up.

Then you'll be able to look the whole world in the eye. You'll maintain your self-respect and the respect of others.

Your credit-character is worth more than gold. KEEP IT GOOD.

Eighth Semi-Annual Financial Statement and Dividend Notice

W. P. FERGUSON
DIRECTOR
Capitalist and Director First National Bank

The stockholders of this company are notified of the declaration of the company's eighth semi-annual dividend of 5% on installment and prepaid stock as of June 30th, 1925. Pass books will please be brought or mailed to the office of the company for balancing.

The financial statement below is the best, we believe, that has ever been issued by a building and loan association in Texas and is we further believe, a record for consecutive collections among the more than 11,000 Building and Loan Associations of the United States. FOR THE EIGHTH CONSECUTIVE time this company has closed its six-month fiscal period without a single dollar of delinquent principal or interest on its loans. In four years the company has never had a loss of any kind, has never had a law suit, has never had a foreclosure and has never had a delinquent loan at close of business June 30th, or December 31st of each year.

In addition to earning 10% compounded semi-annually for four years for its stockholders, the company has consistently each six months set aside an amount in its reserve fund for possible losses. This fund is now beginning to reach a representative amount as shown in the statement below.

The company's assets have increased more than $2,846 a day for the past six months for a total of $512,425.31. This amount would have been even greater if the company could have accepted for investment all of the funds that were offerd to it. Loan applications have been numerous, the company has averaged lending more than $75,000.00 a month since January 1st., but more could have been loaned if suitable loan applications had been received. We regret that we were unable to take this money when so freely offered for investment in the company by people of this community.

Our installment investment shares have been issued without interruption to investors and it is the company's desire to issue these at any time on request. The pre-paid and full paid shares, however, have been issued at frequent intervals as the funds from which could be promptly reloaned.

The company has assisted exactly 700 people to own homes. Some of these loans have been paid off leaving the total loans in force as given below. This company is the pioneer Building and Loan Association of Wichita Falls and West Texas. It was organized at a time when money was greatly needed for home owning purposes. The people of this community did not know what such an institution was. They did not know if it were a proper thing in which to invest their funds. This Building and Loan Association sent its representatives among the people and its advertisements into their homes. It spent literally thousands of dollars in educational propaganda providing authoritive information as to the nature of this particular form of financial institution. As a result it has established an enviable reputation in this community of which reputation its officers and directors are extremely proud and has builded for itself the greatest institution of Thrift and home Ownership in the empire of West Texas. We request your careful consideration of the following financial statement. A comparison of it with the financial statement of any Building & Loan Association in the United States will prove highly satisfactory and pleasing to the stockholders of this company. We solicit your business on the basis of this statement with a company that has no substitute for safety.
