Ray's Motive Probed

WASHINGTON, (AP)-House investigators today acknowledged they cannot prove conclusively that racial hatred motivated James Earl Ray to assassinate civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr.

Several incidents in Ray's background, which have been cited as showing his hatred of blacks, may not have been reported, the House assassinations committee staff said.

Mideast Treaty Snag

WASHINGTON (AP)-President Carter, trying to overcome a snag in the Mideast peace talks, says Egypt and Israel should put aside differences over how to link peace between them to future negotiations on a more-detailed settlement.

The issue is one of the few remaining obstacles to completion of a treaty.

Meir's Health Stable

TEL AVIV, Isarel (AP)-Former Prime Minister Golda Meir, who has been in and out of the hospital for the past two months with various ailments, remains in stable condition in Jerusalem's Hadassah Hospital, the hospital spokesman said today.

Spokesman Azariah Rappaport, who told of rumors originating in Canada that the 80-year-old Mrs. Meir had died, said her condition actually had improved slightly in the past few days.

No Pity For Democrats

HOUSTON (AP)—The head of the state Democratic Party said losses in the U.S. Senate and governor's races "hurt very deeply," but he asked that no one mourn for the party.

"It's alive and well," Billy Goldberg, Houston investment banker, said Thursday during a post-election critique at The Press Club of Houston. "This has been a shock to us, but sometimes shock therapy is used for a cure.

"We've got a Big Thicket here in Texas, and now we really saw the Big Ticket that was willing to put 10 big bills, $10 million, on the line," he said. "What concerns me is that those who would want to be in public office would get the idea that it takes this kind of money to run.

"We have also found out in recent weeks that regardless of whether we sit in front of the television all Sunday afternoon or turn it off and go out in the workshop or backyard, the outcome of the NFL games will not be any different," Buckel continued.

He was leading up to a point concerning the general election: "Regardless of who wins the elections Tuesday, the courthouse, the statehouse, the whitehouse and the outhouse will be intact Wednesday morning—and still in business."

And they were.

Democrats Still Dazed By Republican Victories

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP)-State officials worked on an informal election recount today while dazed Democratic campaign officials still tried to figure out what happened in Tuesday's general election.

Latest unofficial results from the Texas Election Bureau gave close decisions to Republican Bill Clements in the governor's race and Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, seeking re-election.

Secretary of State Steve Oaks, a Democrat and the state's chief elections officer, instructed his staff to gather election results from the 6,600 precincts by phone. He hoped to have the informal canvass complete this afternoon, before the formal canvass of returns is due Monday in commissioners courts in each of the 254 counties.

Oaks said the survey is authorized by the election code and was requested by Democrat Bob Krueger, currently a 14,000 vote loser to Tower.

Also interested in the survey will be the gleeful supporters Republican Bill Clements who posted a 16,000 vote win over Democrat John Hill.

Clements and his headquarters staff gave much of their victory credit to a statewide organization of 25,000 volunteers, particularly those manning telephone banks.

The Clements volunteers made more than 2 million telephone calls to remind their voters to get out and vote.

Clements also made wide use of direct mailings to voters.

The new Republican governor told reporters that he believes Texas is not as Democratic as some candidates would have voters believe.

"Most of the voters out there are really independents," Clements argued. "They are not really Democratic. That's the reason they supported me. There are about 45 percent at least."

Q--What happens to the prairie dogs at the park? I noticed their numbers were way down again. I know there is only so much food available out there, so a large number probably couldn't survive the winter. Do they sell them to zoos, or just humanely get rid of the excess ones?

A--Park Superintendent Jimmy Dyess says they are not missing any prairie dogs. The last count he made, about a week ago, accounted for around 50. They don't sell them or do anything to control their numbers. He suspects that a lot of them were underground when you noticed them. There are times when only a few will be above ground.

Rotan Event Set For Veterans Day

ROTAN-In a salute to all veterans and to lend a hand to the West Texas Rehabilitation Center the Chamber of Commerce has plotted a full day of activities for tomorrow.

A flag-raising ceremony at the Rotan football field conducted by a color guard from Dyess Air Force Base will launch the holiday activities at 10:30 a.m.

A parade will follow at 11 with a 90 year old World War I veteran, George Cathey, acting as honorary parade marshall.

From noon to 4 p.m. a barbecue dinner will be served. Tickets are $3 for adults and $1.50 for children 12 and under.

A Music Fest begins at 1 p.m. with concerts by the Roby and Rotan High School bands and many other groups including a precision marching troop from Fort Worth.

Country music performers, and gospel singers, local and from surrounding towns, will also be on hand for benefit performances.

Admission to the afternoon's entertainment is by donation. All proceeds from the Music Fest will go to the West Texas Rehabilitation Center.

BCD Hoping For More Rallies Here

The Board of County Development plans to look into the possibility of providing permanent connections for water and electric service for recreation vehicles on the Scurry County Coliseum grounds.

BCD members heard a report at their meeting Thursday from Bill Warner which cited the need for such services if the organization is going to continue seeking conventions and rallies for motor home and trailer clubs. Warner, manager of the chamber of commerce and consultant to the board, attended a rally of Winnebago owners in Grand Prairie last weekend and extended that organization an invitation to hold a state-wide rally here. This resulted in Sr ier being selected as the site for the organization's rally in the fall of 1980.

Warner said that water and electric hook-ups were stressed in discussion concerning the selection of sites for such rallies.

The BCD also was reminded of the job fair which will be held Nov. 18 in the National Guard Armory. Also discussed was a proposal to purchase mementos which could be used in connection with hosting conventions, etc. Guy Sullivan, chairman of the board, will look into this proposal between now and the next board meeting.

For Anti-Inflation Plan...

Steel Industry Support Claimed

WASHINGTON (AP)-The Carter administration is claiming support for its anti-inflation program from the steel industry, which often resists presidential efforts to hold down steel prices.

It would be a big victory for President Carter if the steel industry does agree to follow the voluntary wage-price standards since steel price increases usually are passed on to auto makers and other industries which in turn raise their prices for consumer goods.

Treasury Undersecretary Anthony M. Solomon said Thursday that virtually all of the steel companies he had talked with promised to go along with the anti-inflation plan.

He declined to list the companies he talked to, but said:

"The key steel executives in the country have indicated to me they will comply with the president's program."

In other economic developments Thursday, Carter's anti-inflation plans received a blow when the leader of the nation's largest union said the president's 7 percent voluntary wage-benefit guideline is unacceptable. But Carter got good news in Agriculture Department figures showing American farmers winding up a record 6.89-billion-bushel corn harvest that could help hold down 1979 food price increases.

USDA economists have predicted food prices will rise six percent to 11 percent next year, but what could be the largest surplus of corn since 1964 would help fight price rises since corn is the main feed grain used to produce meat, poultry and milk.

Meanwhile, Frank E. Fitzsimmons, president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, complained that while Carter's price guidelines are flexible, wage and fringe-benefit guidelines are rigid.

Fitzsimmons said during a union-sponsored radio broadcast, "I don't think the actual guideline of 7 percent is a reality..."

Carter said Thursday he had "gotten fairly substantial encouragement" from the United Auto Workers and the Teamsters, but Fitzsimmons countered, "If he said we endorse his program, then he is wrong."

He said the Teamsters want such fringe benefits as health and welfare and pension costs excluded from the guidelines.

The administration's claims of support from big steel weren't helped when Bethlehem Steel Co., the nation's second largest steel maker, issued a statement Thursday indicating it also might have trouble with the guidelines.

While promising to be "responsive and responsible," Bethlehem said existing labor agreements and price increases from suppliers "may increase costs to a point where it would be difficult to adhere to the president's price target."

3B Playoff Game Here

A football game to determine the champion of District 3B will be played in Tiger Stadium next Friday night, Nov. 17, the Chamber of Commerce athletic committee has announced.

The game will match Jayton and Wilson who won their respective zones in the district. The winner of the game here will determine the district champion which will then advance to the bi-district round of playoffs with the champion of District 4B.

Details for staging the District 3B playoff here were being mapped out today by the chamber committee and local school officials.

4-H Banquet Set Saturday Night

Scurry County 4-H Clubs will hold their annual awards banquet Saturday night in the Western Texas College Cafeteria.

The banquet is set for 7 p.m.

Achievement awards for the year will be presented, including awards to the county's gold star girl and boy.

Veterans Day Observance Set

Veterans Day will be observed tomorrow, with the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars posts taking the lead in local activities.

The American Legion and its Auxiliary will hold their annual Veterans Day breakfast at the post home located at 1800 Avenue R. The pancake breakfast is for all Legionnaires, VFW members and their families, plus all other veterans of the area.

Serving will continue through most of the morning as the veterans are urged to come at their leisure.

The local VFW post has scheduled its annual Veterans Day dinner for Saturday evening at its post home. All veterans who are eligible for VFW membership are being invited along with current members and their families. Both the VFW and the American Legion have membership drives underway.

Legion Auxiliary members also are selling the traditional poppies today and tomorrow.

Veterans Day has been officially restored to its traditional Nov. 11 date after being designated as one of the Monday holidays for several years. Both the Legion and the VFW here have always observed the occasion on Nov. 11 however. This date was first established as Armistice Day commemorating the signing of the Armistice which officially ended World War I in 1918. The name was changed to Veterans Day following World War II.

The Post Office will be closed tomorrow and there will be no mail delivery. Most other offices which usually close on general holidays are not open Saturdays anyway. Retail business firms will be open.

In Davis Trial...

Judge Tells Jury He Staged Own 'Murder'

HOUSTON (AP)—A state judge told a jury today how he staged his own "murder" in an FBI plot to trap Fort Worth millionair Cullen Davis.

Judge Joe Eidson of Fort Worth said he agreed to cooperate with authorities after listening to a tape recording in which his death allegedly was discussed by Davis.

He said he was "shaken" by the episode last August.

Davis, 45, is accused of trying to hire a contract killer to dispose of Eidson, 60, the presiding judge in his bitterly contested divorce case at the time.

The defense sought on cross-examination to minimize the judge's role in the four-year-old divorce case, noting that key issues would be resolved by a jury.

Defense lawyer Phil Burleson succeeded also in showing that many of the judge's rulings might be construed as favorable to Davis and not his estranged wife, Priscilla.

The questioning was designed to illustrate that Davis had no motive for ordering the judge killed.

However, Judge Eidson testified he heard Davis tell a television newsman at his acquittal on murder charges last year that while he liked the Amarillo judge, "I don't like the Fort Worth judges."

Eidson told how at the request of FBI agents he curled up in the trunk of his car in a ketcup-splattered shirt and posed for pictures as if he were dead.

The state contends an FBI informant showed the counterfeit picture to Davis as proof of Eidson's death and that he received a $25,000 payoff from the defendant.

A prosecutor led off today's session with a revised version of a question that earlier triggered a defense motion for mistrial.

That occurred late Thursday and referred to the fact that Eidson had excused himself from the divorce case last Aug. 29.

hot dog endangered

The "slightly" exaggerated reaction shown on the TV commercial in relation to "taking away my gusto" may come to life for real if the FDA messes up our hot dog. Can anyone imagine a baseball game with no hot dogs?"

Now comes the story that the Food and Drug Administration is taking a new hard look at the meat industry which this industry claims could lead to the demise of the American hot dog as we know it.

There is little doubt that the FDA is determined to phase out the use of nitrites as a preservative for meats. Another study is under way by this agency's scientists along with the Agricultural Department and the National Institute of Health.

We have heard and mentioned that the nitrites which are ingested average about 20 percent of the total for the average person. It has also been revealed that the other 80 percent comes from, in the main, celery and some of the other leafy vegetables including lettuce and spinach.

There is little doubt the meat products now protected by nitrites could be a source of immediate sickness and death through botulism, if some other means is not found to preserve these foods.

The FDA planned its phaseout in the use of nitrites when it said it had discovered that they cause cancer in rats and may do so in humans. Note should be made here that the word may was used in relation to humans.

Also, it appears that releases have not revealed how much of the nitrite preservative was fed to the rats in the study. The protectors of our health probably found they made a mistake when they revealed the amount of saccharin which was shoved into the rats when they tried to ban the sweetener.

When people related the amounts of saccharin force-fed to the rats to what was ordinarily ingested by humans, the reaction caused the FDA to back off.

The study on the nitrites is said to have cost a half million dollars and took three years to complete and has now set the federal regulators on a course to ban the use of the century-old means of preserving processed meats.

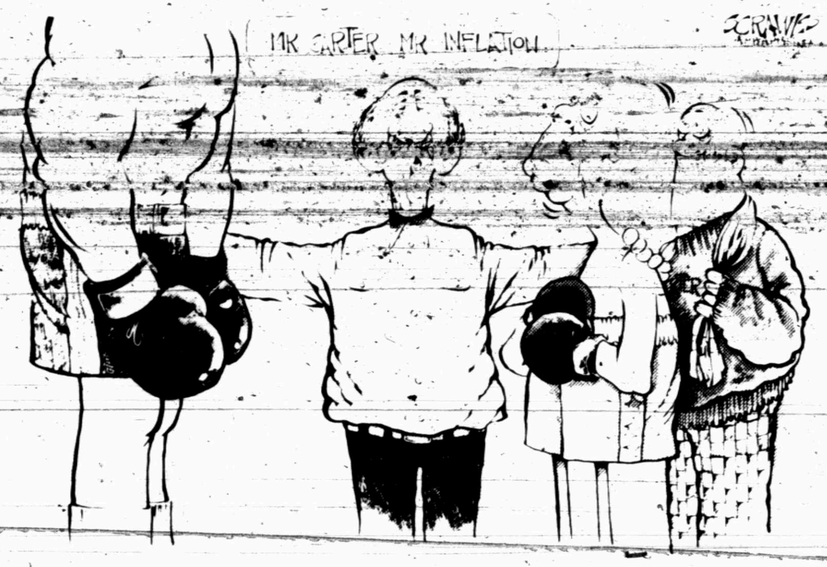

The meat industry has warned that such traditional foods as hot dogs and bologna would never look or taste the same if our "protectors" have their way.

Even some government officials have warned that botulism, a deadly form of food poisoning, would haunt American supermarkets. The AP story ended with this paragraph: "There has been some concern by members of the panel and other FDA officials that the scientific review was regarded as a mere formality and that moving toward a phaseout was a foregone conclusion."

From this it would seem that even some of our regulators are a bit suspicious that the study was directed toward a "foregone" conclusion. Perhaps there are still many in government who are inclined to go along with the rest of us in a more moderate consideration of some of the dreamed-up dangers.

Even the more fanatical bureaucrats, who are bent on deciding everything for us, should take pause before they incur the wrath of hot dog comsumers. This might just make the saccharin reaction look like an afternoon tea, by comparison.

The hot dog ban might just become a modern Boston Tea Party which could dump the regulators themselves overboard.

When the story of the courageous women of our times is being written, the Three-Piece Polyester Slack Suit Group will deserve an entire volume.

The TPPSS (may their tribe increase) began as a small, non-violent task force of women who got sick of hemlines going up and down like a yo-yo, so they switched to slacks. When their stomachs strained at the polyester, they added an overblouse and over that a jacket. It was to become the marching uniform of the women who had had it with fashion dictators.

I have not seen my mother's legs in 10 years.

When you think about it, no other group in our times has dared defy the trend-setters from Paris, London, and New York. Their tactics are some of the best in the world. They don't demonstrate, protest, lobby, burn anything, intimidate, or take their cause to the White House. They just ignore whatever fashion goes in or out.

Mother has remained firm but drip-dried through mini-skirts, maxi-coats, vests, gauze, wrap-arounds, layers, jump suits, tents, jumper, bush jackets, Chinese quilted tops and caftans.

She has weathered wedgies, berets, scarfs, pleats, padded shoulders, cowl collars, satins, denims, pajamas, and signature blouses.

That takes a special kind of guts.

The other day I said to Mother, "What do you think of the new stlyles?"

"Tell me what they are and I'll tell you what I think of 'em."

They're bringing stockings with seams back."

"It's all right if your legs haven't grown together, then they look like they're sectioning off meat at the butcher's."

"Shoulder pads are going to be in and so are culottes."

"That's nice," she said, "come see what I'm making."

On her sewing table was another TPPSS. "Mother, why do you limit yourself to just one style?"

"I'd like to change 'em once in awhile, but if I put the zipper on the side, and tucks in the front, next year some designer would say the zippr has to be in the back and tucks are out. If I tucked the blouse in, next year designers would put it out. The jacket with the big patch pockets would be redesigned to be shorter and with puffed sleeves and the whole suit would be made out of foil or something. If I left the hem at the ankle, some smart-aleck would say it had to drag on the floor. We're hanging in there because we dress to be comfortable."

I wish I had the guts to join her...but I'm weak.

Installment Overdue On Endowment

MEDFORD, Mass. (AP —Charity may begin at home, but if Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos wants a chair named after him at the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy, the charity will have to end up in Medford.

Marcos is four months behind on payment of a $500,000 installment to establish the chair. So the Fletcher School, a training ground for diplomats and other foreigh affairs specialists, has not activated a Ferdinand E. Marcos Chair of East Asian and Pacific Affairs, a Tufts University spokesman said Wednesday. Fletcher is part of Tufts.

"His people said they were unable to get the money together," said Harry Zane, the spokesman.

Zane said the installment was due June 30 under an agreement that provoked anti-Marcos demonstrations on the campus when it was announced in October 1977. Under the agreement, the Marcos Foundation - an institution to which Marcos says he has turned over all his wealth - said it would provide a $1.5 million gift.

my turn

by john dunnam

The sins of the father are visited upon the son," goes the old saying. Sometimes it works with good things, too.

In 1953, Troy Williamson was a member of the marching band that started a tradition when it took a Division 1 rating in University Interscholastic League competition. I'll bet he never dreamed that 25 years later he would have a son who would share a piece of the responsibility of continuing that tradition. But that is the way it was Wednesday and Dale Williamson and some 180 other marching musicians carried it off like champs.

Don't you know the pressure was tremendous. Who wants to be responsible for shattering a winning streak two and a half decades in the making?

"A lot of us didn't get much sleep the night before," admitted John Malott a junior in the cornet section. "My mom came in my room at 5 o'clock to wake me and I jumped right up. I wasn't asleep."

Ronnie Mayfield, assistant band director, was more secure. "It's very possible we will play better today than we ever have before," he said moments before the band went into its act. Then he added, as if to knock on wood, but it might all turn to rot, who knows?"

It's that element of risk that makes competition exciting.

I'm not qualified to say whether it was the best the band has ever played but immediately following the performance, Dow Mathis who plays a mean tenor sax said, "If we don't get it this year, we didn't deserve it last year."

But all in all there was as much relief as joy speading through the ranks of the black and gold when the decision was announced 30 minutes later. They could etch another notch in their horns, the tradition was intact for another year.

How does a school manage a string of 25 uninterrupted victories? Don Eiring, director for the last 11 victories said it takes good kids and hard work. Almost sounds too simple to explain that many in a row.

Does the pressure help or hurt the kids?

"It definitely helps," he said. "It makes them give their all when they know they are carring the ball."

"One of the most important things they are learning out there is how to perform under pressure," added Mayfield, "That will help them the rest of their lives."

RICHLAND, Wash. (NEA)—Every parent is familiar with the trail of clothes toys and games scattered behind by children as they proceed from one new adventure to another, blithely ignoring the discards left in their wake.

But in households across the land, kids eventually are forced to heed the universal command: "You'd better clean up the mess you left behind, because Mommy and Daddy aren't going to do it for you."

That analogy is especially appropriate to the problem of nuclear waste disposal—and nowhere in the nation is there a more compelling case for a long-overdue housecleaning that here in south-central Washington.

Sprawling over 570 square miles just northwest of this community is the Hanford Reservation, one of three sites selected in 1943 by the federal government for the World War II "Manhattan Project" that produced the world's first atomic bombs.

But long after that weapon brought the war to a dramatic conclusion, the research and development of both military and commercial applications of atomic energy continued unabated at Hanford.

For more than three decades, both federal agencies and major corporations holding government contracts have been engaged in a constant search for more sophisticated next-generation nuclear theories, techniques and equipment.

In the process of exploring those scientific frontiers, however, they produced an incredible amount of nuclear waste—and nobody ever bothered to really clean up.

Today there are more than 50 million gallons of liquid and solid high-level commercial and military radioactive wastes being "temporarily" held at Hanford, at an annual cost of $166 million. That represents almost one-third of the total Department of Energy (DoE) budget at Hanford.

A disingenuous DoE slide show and speech offered to members of the public visiting the federal reservation is replete with both deceptive and blatantly false statements about the scope and seriousness of the problem.

For instance, DoE claims that all high-level wastes are isolated in concrete and steel tanks. In fact, more than 350 pounds of plutonium, one of the most toxic materials known to man, has been dumped into open trenches.

After becoming belatedly concerned about that situation, Hanford officials now are spending approximately $7 million to excavate a single trench containing more than 83 pounds of plutonium waste.

Most of the radioactive waste has been stored in supposedly safe tanks. But at least 20 of the 152 storage structures have developed leaks, releasing 450,000 gallons of high-level waste into the ground.

Another 14 tanks have been emptied because of fears about their structural integrity. Only during the last 10 years have Hanford officials started constructing double-walled tanks to provide greater security.

Some of the waste has been solidified into "saltcake," a temporary solution to the storage problem, but capsules containing strontium and cesium generate such intense heat that they must be held in specially cooled water basins.

Similarly, no permanent solution has been found for the problem of safely disposing of 12 million gallons of highly toxic and corrosive "terminal liquors" that remain after the separation process used to solidify other wastes.

At Hanford and elsewhere, DoE officials have for far too long been content to spend millions of dollars in public funds each year on "waste management."

But the permanent and safe disposal of radioactive waste has emerged as a major public concern in the increasingly intense debate over the future of nuclear power and other commerical applications.

Mother and father - the country's citizens - belatedly have told the kids that it's time to stop playing with their new toys and to clean up the mess they've made for more than 30 years. The youngsters should have done the job long ago.

neighbors buying

KANSAS CITY (AP)- With the number of farmers decreasing almost every year, somebody must be buying up the rich farmlnd that makes up the nation's Midwest the world's most bountiful cornnoopia.

Is it the Arabs, with their bundles of dollars from oil sales? West Europeans seeking security? Land-hungry, dollar-rich Japanese, intrigued by the huge size and strength of American farms?

To some degree. But those who have a handle on the question say foreign interest, which already has led to restrictive legislation in some states, pales beside that of the seller's neighbor.

"Not only is the fellow next door interested, but also people in the community looking for an investment or a hedge against inflation," said Lee Schuster.

He should know. He farms 2,700 acres in northwest Missouri, and serves also as executive vice president of Oypenheimer Industries.

In the latter capacity, Schuster helps buy and sell farms, raise farm capital, and manage farm and livestock operations. Currently, the company manages one million acres and 80,000 breeder cows.

Changes are occurring, well known to the farmer but perhaps less appreciated by the city dweller. For one thing, 20 percent of the farms account for 80 percent of the production.

"Because of greatly increased efficiency, farms today can manage much more," explained Schuster, who chose Purdue, a degree in agricultural economics, and the life of a ruralist, to a Princeton education and perhaps the life of a banker or stock broker.

Because of mechanization, the minimum tillable acreage for an efficient family farm is now 640, said Schueter. To handle it, the family needs $200,000 in machinery, in addition to working capital.

For example: A farmer has 160 acres, all tillable, on which he produces 80 bushels of corn, or a total of 12,800 bushels. At $2 a bushel, his gross is $25,600.

Out of this gross must come the cost of fertilizer, seed and herbicides, which amounts to $80 an acre, or a total of $12,800, shrinking the gross to $12,800.

The economics are oppressive and convincing. From what remains, the farmer then must pay the cost of fuel, the price of purchased and rented equipment, his taxes and other costs. His maximum net is $6,400.

When the parcel goes up for sale, the mechanized farmer quite understandably is interested, most importantly because his equipment permits him to farm much more land at little more cost.

At this point, quite likely, the farmer might face the temporary obstacle of money, which brings up another change occurring in the farmbelt: Farmers today don't have to own their land; they lease.

Schuster and his company often are right there with the cash, provided by others in the farm community, by city dwellers anxious to invest in the substantiality of land, and by those foreign investors.

Square Dance At Coliseum

The square dance festival to be held in the Scurry County Coliseum tomortow, is the seventh annual workshop and dance to be sponsored by the local Sparkle City Squares.

Dancers and friends from all over Texas will begin to arrive by noon Saturday to participate in the round dance workshop which will begin at one o'clock and will be taught by the Dave Smiths of Lubbock. This past year the Smiths have been coordinators of the Round Dancers of Texas, as sponsored by the Texas Federation of Square and Round Dancers, and are currently serving as president of the Texas Round Dancer Assn.

The square dance workshop begins at 3 p.m. with two callers being featured. Pat Barbour of Houston, began calling as a teenager and has become well known in square dance circles all over the United States. He records for Rhythm records, and is a staff caller at Fun Valley and Lighted Lantern in Colorado, and at Lehigh in Florida.

Sleepy Browning, local club caller, is equally well known in this area and throughout the Southwest. He shares his instructing time between clubs in Abilene, Lubbock, Jayton and Snyder, as well as annually calling in resorts in Colorado. He records on the Bogan label.

The grand march and dance will begin at 7:45, and the public is invited to attend any part of the Saturday activities.

De Gaulle's Widow Is Leaving Paris

PARIS (AP)—The 78-year-old widow of French leader Charles de Gaulle is moving to a religious rest home here from her vast mansion at Colombey-Les-Deux-Eglises, according to family sources.

The sources said the move to Paris would bring Yvonne de Gaulle closer to her surviving children and grandchildren. She will return in summer to the family manison, La Boisserie, where her son, Vice-Adm. Phillippe de Gaulle, takes vacations with his family.

When Rome besieged Carthage in 146 B.C., Carthaginian women sacrificed their long tresses of hair to make catapult slings for the defense of the city.

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

The unlucky expert had just finished second in the weekly duplicate game and as usual has a sad story to explain the bad luck that had hit him. This time he really was unlucky. It seems that he was the only declarer to go down at four hearts.

The five of clubs was the standard lead. East cashed two clubs and shifted to the jack of spades. Some declarers finessed the queen unsuccessfully and won the spade return. Others rose with the ace right away.

All went after diamonds. A diamond to the ace, ruff a diamond, trump to the eight, ruff a diamond, trump to the 10, ruff a diamond, trump to the queen and discard the three of spades on dummy's last diamond.

Then what happened to our unfortunate friend?

Against him East did some high-powered thinking. He saw that there was no hurry about the spade play and that all dummy's possible entries were in trumps. So at trick three he simply led his three of trumps. This simple play killed one of dummy's reentries. There was no way to set up that fifth diamond and South was doomed to defeat.

Ask the Experts

We keep getting asked when we must declare honors in rubber bridge.

In theory, you can declare them any time before the rubber has been scored. In practice, they should be declared as soon as the hand is finished so that the claim may be substantiated.

Information on insulin

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I would like to know if you have any information about the drug insulin? What diseases is this drug used for? What are the aftereffects of insulin and what happens if you have an overdosage?

DEAR READER — Insulin is not a drug. It is a hormone. It is a protein. The insulin protein is made up of a combination of many different amino acids. It's chemical structure is relatively complex.

The islets of Langerhans in your pancreas form insulin. The insulin is a major factor in controlling the level of your blood glucose (sugar). If you don't produce enough insulin, that is one cause of diabetes, meaning a high blood glucose level. This is the main reason for giving insulin to anybody.

In the past, small amounts have been used in an effort to try to stimulate people's appetites, or larger amounts have been used to induce insulin shock in psychiatric therapy. But, in general, the main purpose of insulin is in individuals who don't produce enough insulin hormones themselves, and that means in the treatment of diabetes.

Too much insulin can cause you to develop a low blood sugar. You can have mild symptoms of this with sweating and tremulousness, or the symptoms can progress to the point of being in shock. To give you a better understanding of insulin's role in diabetes, I am sending you The Health Letter number 3-11, Diabetes: Diagnosis, Prevention and Management.

Other readers who want this information can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Address your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — About two years ago I was cutting grass with a gas lawnmower. In order to start it I would have to wind up the arm of the mower. It was not easy to do and I had to do this several times a day with my right arm.

That summer I noticed that the right side of my chest was larger than the left side. I also noted that the left side went in, especially at the top, under the collar bone to the left of my breast bone. My pediatrician said I have a pigeon chest. Could this have been caused by the excessive development from starting the lawnmower? I am 14 years old, 5-feet-8 and weigh 110 pounds.

DEAR READER — A deformity of the breast bone (sternum) and chest area is not uncommon. This can be with the breast bone bowed forward causing the chest cage to be in the shape of a chicken's breast, which is the source of the term pigeon chest. Or, the breast bone could be depressed inward, called pectus excavatum. Then it is quite common for one side of the body to be a bit larger than the other side.

As long as these are minor variations, they usually cause no disorder in body function. But they can cause a person to be concerned about his physical appearance, usually more concerned than the condition warrants.

If they are simply minor deformities, you are probably better off not to worry about them, or to do anything about them. If there is a major distortion, particularly a depression of the sternum, the deformity can dislocate the normal position of the heart, and perhaps cause changes in the normal dynamics of breathing. These sometimes need surgical correction.

I don't believe your condition was caused by running the lawnmower. The fact that you are able to do that amount of physical exertion suggests to me that the deformity you have does not limit your physical capacity. You will probably always have a disproportion in the size of your chest and some deformity.

About Time For This One

By BILL McCLELLAN

IT'S ABOUT time they came up with something like this in Snyder. Now let's see whether the hometown folks will support it or not.

I'm talking about the WTC Classic set for Scurry County Coliseum on Nov. 16-18. It promises to be the best junior college basketball classic throughout West Texas and New Mexico and its six-team lineup is a good indication of that fact.

Independence Community College, the 1976-77 and 77-78 national junior college championship team, will headline the three-day tournament which also serves as a showcase for the Mexican Olympic team, national tournament qualifier Western Texas College, McMurry of Abilene, four-year college Bay Ridge, and three-time champion Tyler College.

DAY ONE, Nov. 16, opens the classic at 3:45 with Juarez - strengthened with several top players since WTC played them last - going against McMurry. At 6:30 the Westerners will take on Bay Ridge, followed by an 8:30 game pitting Tyler against the Independence team from Kansas.

Gearing the Tyler Apaches will be 6-9 sophomore Arthur Housey, considered one of the best players in the conference and an All-American prospect. Complementing the New York City standout - who averages 19 points a game - will be teammate Lawrence Williams, a 5-10 guard from Whitehouse. Williams is reputed to be as quick as any player in the league, and averages 12 points a game.

Day two, Nov. 17, begins with Bay Ridge taking on McMurry at 5 p.m., followed by WTC against Tyler at 8 and Independence versus Juarez, the Mexican Olympic team, at 8:30. Saturday's fare will climax the tournament with Tyler going against McMurry at 5, Juarez and Bay Ridge playing at 7 and WTC battling that tough Independence team at 8:45 p.m.

THE TOURNAMENT is a classic opportunity, if you'll excuse the pun, for local and area residents to see some of the best basketball in the state. It is a drawing card for Western Texas College when registration comes around, and a source of tourist income for local merchants.

In fact, besides the tournament, the Westerners only play one ballgame (Dec. 7) here before the spring break Dec. 11. The Dusters play two, one on the 14th of this month and also on the 11th of December.

WTC will appreciate your participation. I think you'll be glad you took yourself.

TAKE CARE, and thanks.

Lady Cats Clinch Title!

SWEETWATER -- Snyder varsity volleyball team cinched the District 3-AAA championship here last night, ripping the Mustangs 15-8 and 14-8.

The girls, under direction of Coach Joyce Elrod, will compete in reigonals at Lubbock High on Dec. 2.

"I'm proud of the way the girls have performed this season, even though its not over yet," commented Coach Elrod, who concludes the regular season Tuesday in Brownfield. "They've worked very hard and given up a lot of other activities in order to play. They have the kind of dedication that makes a champion."

Pacing the effort last night were Cindy Koonsman 13 points, Kathy Harrell 5, Dana Elrod 4, Debbie Myers 3, and Danna Myers and Kim Harlin 2 each.

"We still have Brownfield to go, and naturally we want to go through district play undefeated. Brownfield has the kind of team that picks up everything, and of course, they have the home court advantage. Hopefully we'll have everybody well for that match and then try to get everybody back in top physical condition for regional."

The team has been beset with a number of nagging injuries, and more recently hit with minor illnesses.

Snyder junior varsity also collected a victory over the Mustangs, winning 15-9 and 15-3. Vanessa White led the troops with 10 points while Sherry Mayes scored 9, Beth Ellison, Shauna Pate, and Billie Owens grabbed 3 each, and Patsy Casas noted 2.

Tigers Tromp By Breckenridge, 34-8

The local junior varsity extended its record to 8-1 for the season as it handed Breckenridge a loss here last night, 34-8. The Tigers rolled for 318 total yards; 156 through the air.

Snyder's first score came on an 8-yard run by Keith McClain. Robert Rodriquez's point-after kick climaxed the 60-yard drive.

From then on it was a passing combination of Mike Roemisch to Dale Jenkins. The duo connected on scoring strikes of 23,47,23 and 55 yards and Rodriquez booted three more conversions to give the host team its 34 points.

Breck also scored, taking advantage of a Cat fumble to go 19 yards in five plays.

Coach Winferd Shipp noted the defensive play of Eddie Yuregas, Rodriquez and Trussell Thane, and pointed out four interceptions; two by Michael Ortegon and one each by Vonnie Voss and Tracy Loyola.

Divided Dusters Split With Abilene Christian

ABILENE—Western Texas College's Dusters split a double header with Abilene Christian University here yesterday. The Dusters, divided into two groups for the occassion, handed ACU junior varisity a 74-36 loss. Abilene varsity then thumped the other Snyder-based team by a score of 72-58.

The second Duster crew held ACU's varsity to a deadlock for much of the game, and came from behind several times to put pressure on the Wildcats, which returned all starters at the beginning of the season. But with three minutes left in the contest, ACU hit six straight shots to take a strong lead, and pulled off the victory.

WTC hit 35 percent from the floor and 57 from the free throw line. The girls managed 12 steals, but committed 28 turnovers -.

Nodia Vaughn led the team with 18 points, followed by Joyce Plagens with 11, Liz Hooper and Brigett Hamilton with 7 each, Belva Marsh and Karen Williams with 4 and Delbra Ray with 2.

Plagens accounted for 10 rebounds and 4 steals. Vaughn had 8 rebounds and Ray and Hooper noted 5 each.

Katie Fisher scored 20 points to pace the other Duster unit past ACU junior varsity. Betsy Benson scored 14 points, Kathy Hunter had 12, Cindy Betts noted 10, Pennie Page had 8, Ginger Peden scored 6 and Verna Trimble accounted for 4.

WTC will take on a tough New Mexico State squad Saturday in Odessa before hosting McMurry 7 p.m. Nov. 14.

Eighth Graders Conclude Season With Two Wins

SWEETWATER --Snyder eighth grade concluded its season with a pair of victories here yesterday. The Tiger Gold team whipped the Mustangs 30-12 to post a 5-1 record, while the Black team won 27-12 and for a 5-2 mark.

Sweetwater got on the board first against the Gold team with a 10-yard pass. The 6-0 lead held throughout the first half, but Snyder opened up in the second as Roemisch threw to Johnny Overton 20 yards for a TD, Kirk Herrley ran 43 yards for another score, and Herrley passed 25 yards to Russell Martinez for a third.

In the fourth period, Curtis Gafford found the strip on a 7-yard run and Herrley galloped 47 yards for the final Tiger TD. Sweetwater scored once more on a 35-yard run.

Snyder Black utilized some good blocking and the all-around ability of Glenn Parham to defeat Sweetwater. The Mustangs scored first on a 10-yard pass, but Snyder countered with Parham scoring runs of 15, 34 and 6 yards to take a 20-6 halftime lead.

Sweetwater scored again on a screen pass for 47 yards to open the final two quarters. In the fourth period Parham passed to Michael Leura for a 14-yard strike. Then with Casey Peterson holding, Parham booted the PAT.

Coaches this year for the Black team were Larry Scott and Felix Garza. Jim Mavroulis and Boxie Weems guided the Gold group.

Frosh Hold Back Visiting Breck

Snyder freshman edged Breckenridge last night, 14-13 at Tiger Stadium. The Tigers plowed for 247 yards total offense in their fifth win of the season against two losses.

Breckenridge scored first with about four minutes to go in the first half. The PAT was good.

Snyder came back in the third period with Bryan Limmer scoring from five yards out. Gary Don Edmiaston ran over the conversion.

The Tigers scored again when Mark Shaw broke loose on a 62-yard touchdown run with six minutes left in the game. The point-after try failed. Shaw carried 26 times for 142 yards in the game.

Breck scored with 32 seconds in the game. The visiting team went for two points on the conversion, but Perry Echols made the defensive stop for Snyder.

Coach Albert Lewis praised both ball clubs and cited the defensive effort of Limmer and Echols on the Tiger team.

Church Campaign Reaches 1st Goal

Colonial Hill Baptist Church has reached the first of three goals the congregation had set for financing a major construction project.

Members of the church have contributed and pledged $251,556 in the fund-raising campaign, which still is in progress.

The church had initially set three goals, one to raise $250,000, then to reach $300,000 and finally, $350,000.

Gifts and pledges will be received continually, although the organized fund campaign will end this Sunday.

Colonial Hill plans to build a new addition to its facilities at 37th and El Paso and to remodel portions of existing buildings. The new structure will provide classroom space for six adult Sunday School departments.

Doc Is Able, But Unstable

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1978 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: If a doctor is not stable in his personal life, would you lose confidence in him as a physician?

I think my doctor is the best for miles around, but now that he is in the process of getting his fourth divorce, I wonder if it's possible for his judgment to be so bad in one department but not in another.

His first wife was a fine, attractive woman. He simply tired of her and found a new love. It was the same story with the other three. He made generous settlements on all of them.

How would you feel, Abby? Would you still have confidence in him as a doctor?

WONDERING IN TEXAS

DEAR WONDERING: I know it's possible for some people to be brilliant in their own fields, but inept, inexperienced and hopelessly naive in other matters. Personally, as long as my physician provides me with competent, professional care, how he handles his personal life is his own business.

DEAR ABBY: I am 42 and very much in love with a beautiful, 27-year-old model. Her divorce (for which I am paying) is now pending. She has three children.

I bought her a new car, and have spent more than $15,000 on clothes for her and her children in the last six months. She says she loves me, but I don't see much of her. I see her only on Monday nights because on Tuesdays she sees an old boyfriend she says she has to "let down easy." On Wednesday night she goes out with her boss. On Thursday night she goes out with the girls, On Friday night she stays home and does her laundry, and she lets her husband come over on weekends because he misses the kids.

My friends say I am being taken for a ride. Am I?

SAMMY-IN MIAMI

DEAR SAMMY: Not only are you being taken for a ride, you'll be lucky if you aren't killed in the traffic.

DEAR ABBY: My conscience is bothering me and I have other problems, too. I'm a 15-year-old who everybody thinks is a "very nice girl." But I'm not as nice as they think.

My girlfriend and I went to a movie one Saturday and let ourselves be picked up by a couple of guys. They had a car so we went for a ride afterwards. We parked and made out (only light necking—nothing serious). We really aren't pickups and don't know what made us act like that.

Well, I've seen this guy a couple of times on the sneak since then, but he never wants to come in and meet my parents. All he ever wants is to park and make out. I really like him, Abby. How can I make this a respectable relationship? I feel ashamed and dirty.

AIRES

DEAR AIRES: Even nice girls sometimes act on an impulse, so don't be so quick to put yourself down. You can make your relationship respectable by telling the boy that you (a) are through sneaking around to meet him, (b) insisting that he meet your parents. If he doesn't agree, lose him. He's only interested in using you.

Who said the teen years are the happiest? For Abby's new booklet "What Teenagers Want to Know," write Abby: 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Enclose $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents), self-addressed envelope, please.

Flirting Infants Grow Up And Wed

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP —For Timothy Schwab and Debra Jean Anderson, it must have been a case of love at first sight. At least that's the way Schwab sees it and Debra, his new bride, isn't arguing.

They first met 23 years ago when they were new borns and had side-by-side cribs at a local hospital nursery.

Schwab claims he still remembers turning his head toward her crib and winking at her. They were born within a half-hour of each other in the same hospital and were delivered by the same doctor.

They discovered the coincidence while going steady in the ninth grade. Although their romance cooled during high school, Schwab rekindled it with a dinner on their common birthday during college.

Property Data Of Disabled, Elderly Sought

AUSTIN (AP) — The legislative committee on public school finance voted Thursday to seek detailed statistics on property owned by the elderly and disabled in each county and what it is worth.

The job of collecting that data was given to the School Tax Assessment Practices Board.

Such information will be needed, the committee staff said, to determine the impact of the "Tax Relief Amendment" that was approved in Tuesday's general election.

Two persons were sentenced Thursday in county court. Both pleaded guilty.

Pedro Rios, charged with possession of marijuana, drew a $200 fine and a 30-day jail term.

Thurman Dean Jones, charged with driving while intoxicated, received a $200 fine and a three-day jail term.

Vocational Nursing Students Graduate

Graduation and recognition ceremonies for Vocational Nursing students at Western Texas College will be held at 7:30 Saturday night in the Colonial Hill Baptist Church.

Dr. James Tully, Dean of Learning Resources at WTC, will be the speaker for the program. Dr. Ben Brock, college vice president, will present certificates to the graduates. Pins for the graduates will be presented by Winnie Poyner, RN, nursing instructor.

Guests attending the program will be welcomed by Dr. Gene McClurg, Dean of Occupational Education and Technology. Nolan Richardson, Westerner basketball coach at WTC, will give the invocation and benediction. The processional and recessional will be played by Barbara Wilkerson, and she will accompany the soloist, Darrel Collins.

Nursing students who began their studies last September will be recognized and will receive Bibles as gifts from the Women's Auxiliary of Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

A reception honoring the graduates and students and their families is planned in the fellowship hall of the church following the ceremonies.

Applications are now being accepted for a new Vocational Nursing class to begin in March, Ms. Poyner said. Applicants may contact her or Mrs. Beard for further information.
