

BILL WOULD LET WOMEN VOTE IN ALL PRIMARIES

SUFFRAGE BY STATUTE PROPOSED IN MEASURE INTRODUCED TODAY BY SEN. LATIMORE—FOURTH WEEK SESSION STARTS

LITTLE DONE SO FAR

Amount of Actual Legislation to Date Very Small, With Submission Still to Forefront—Early Adjournment is Talked of Now

By Associated Press. Austin, Texas, Jan. 29.—Senator Latimore created somewhat of a stir in the Senate today when he introduced a bill to provide that women may vote in all primary elections in Texas. The bill contains only one section which follows:

From and after the passage of this act and subject to the provisions of all the laws of the State as to age, residence, citizenship, payment of poll taxes and otherwise regulating the manner and form of holding same, but especially exempt from every disqualification direct or indirect on account of sex, every woman in this State shall have the right to vote at primary elections held under the laws of this State."

Thus he proposes to have woman's suffrage in Texas merely by statutory enactment.

Platform demands, such as the $200,000 rural school appropriation bill and the bill establishing a West Texas A. & M. College remain to be considered. Prohibitionists and submissionists are announcing their position if the Legislature fails to pass submission as favoring adjournment immediately upon consideration of the appropriation bill which they will urge at once.

The old time fights are cropping out. The Texas Company and the pipe line bill and the oil and gas board of pharmacy and board of chiropractic, divorce of A. & M. College and State University, the state warehouse department and others are again coming to the front demanding attention and side tracking other legislation. These measures crop up continually and have never been settled.

The joint committee considering the bill is expected to report to the Senate today. The bill is expected to be passed by the House committee on banks and banking.

The Legislature opened its fourth week here today with the adjournment of both Houses congested and little accomplished to date. On the calendar of the House were more than 200 bills and in the Senate about 200 bills ready to be acted upon.

Submission continues to demand the major portion of attention in the House where a final vote will be taken Friday. The bill is expected to be scheduled for consideration in the Senate these measures are hanging in the air.

Investigation and agitation have about worn out although there are numerous resolutions asking investigation of certain departments yet to be considered.

When the Senate met today, Senator King sent up a petition from labor organizations of Fort Archer, Tex., asking for a hearing on the bill.

Senator Harbord made the point of order that such objection on the part of Senator King is not in order for discussion in executive session and this ended the discussion.

Petitions urging the legislature to pass the bills now pending, providing for the stopping of moving picture shows on Sunday were sent up.

Senator Bailey today introduced a bill permitting cities and towns to issue bonds for the purpose of providing for the stopping of moving picture shows on Sunday were sent up.

FARM TENANTRY IN THIS COUNTY

A. & M. COLLEGE REPORT DISCUSSES CONDITIONS—SAYS MANY RENTERS IN DEBT

PERSONAL REPORTS

Interviews With Tenants Shows Conditions Need Improvement Throughout Texas

Some interesting reading on the subject of farm tenantry in this county is furnished in a report on "Farming Credit in Texas" by Clarence Gusele, director of the extension service of A. & M. College. The report is made up largely of the personal statements of bankers, land owners and tenant farmers, and the general tenor of the information given by the latter is pessimistic and discouraging.

The report indicates the urgent need for a new system of farm credits in Texas. The condition set forth in the reports from Wichita county do not differ from those of other counties, indicating that renters are usually in debt, are not buying land and their social and economic status is not improving.

No. 191—Banker: "Farmers in this county are in better financial condition than for many years. Despite the fact that this year (1917) most of them will get a crop of wheat, expenses and keep up payments on land notes. Local loan companies are hunting for land loans at 8 per cent interest. There is practically no credit in this county now. Cash stores and banks have put an end to the old time credit system here. Interest rates on crop loans are 10 per cent per annum. Loans are made to the better class of renters. In recent years we are refusing to make loans to renters that are small farmers who have only a team and one cow to offer as security. We encourage farmers, especially young men, to borrow money and buy milk cows. Have had many such loans which have been discharged by one half of profits on sales of milk and butter. We also encourage farmers who are able to buy to buy automobiles to facilitate deliveries."

No. 192—Renter, age 60, rents 160 acres on shares. "Land valued at $100 an acre, but price was fixed by tradition. Original price paid $100 per acre. Sold farm in Central Texas 7 years ago and came to this county with $1000 in cash. In 7 years have lost it all and will lose this fall. No man living can make enough renting land in this county to pay for it. Many have tried it and failed. Nearly all renters are in debt. I have borrowed money at 10 per cent per annum, but many of my neighbors have told me that they are compelled to pay from 20 to 40 per cent. There is no store credit here."

No. 193—Renter, aged 32, rents 200 acres on shares. "I came here 4 years ago from North Texas and lost my home. Every farmer of his acquaintance is in debt and was in debt before the war. Renters who bought land are paying for it and several have lost everything they had. Interest on crop loans is 10 per cent flat. This should compel large land owners to sell at fair prices and if they refuse the government should condemn their land and sell it to the people. Says he is not a socialist."

No. 194—Renter, aged 32, rents 320 acres, 130 acres in crop and 200 acres in wheat. Owns 160 acre farm in Clay county. Moved here to get more land for boys to cultivate. Been here 3 years but has not made more than a living. Has been opportunistic in buying land and has not been able to do more than pay the interest since he purchased it and will give up his place this fall. Knows of three similar cases here and has heard of more. Renters cannot make money enough farming to pay for land. Interest eats them up. Think renters are to cultivate much land. Says little credit system here and not much debt except on land.

No. 195—Banker: "When this year's (1917) wheat crop has been sold farmers will be in better shape than for a long time. They will pay their current debt and land notes. The interest rate on crop loans varies from 10 per cent per annum to 15 per cent per month, depending in a measure on the character of the borrower and his ability to pay."

than for a long time. They will pay their current debt and land notes. The interest rate on crop loans varies from 10 per cent per annum to 15 per cent per month, depending in a measure on the character of the borrower and his ability to pay."

No. 180—Merchant: "Does a fall credit business, but credit business is diminishing. Has had practically no losses on farmers' accounts. Many farmers buy on 30 days credit and settle with money borrowed from banks. Renters in this county are not buying land."

No. 181—Banker: "When farmers have sold this year's wheat crop most of them will be out of debt. The two banks here loan about $2000 each year to farmers for that purpose. Our own loans are on commercial paper. We loan the money of depositors and friends to farmers at 10 per cent per annum. This part of the county was settled about seven years ago and only a very few farmers have paid for their land. The first three years after purchase they could not pay the interest. In the last two years they have paid the interest and this year many will make payments on the principal. Know of only two foreclosures in 7 years. Farm population is about equally divided between owners and renters. Wheat is the principal money crop and over-shadows cotton in importance. We loan to tenants as well as to owners."

No. 182—Renter, age 32, unmarried, rents 160 acres for one half of crop. Original price paid $100 cash rent in advance. Farm is owned by man who paid $30 per acre for it four years ago. He paid $2000 and will lose it if he moves away last fall after selling crop team and feed at half their value."

No. 183—Renter, aged 32, rents 200 acres on shares. Is not prosperous. Says that is the principal money crop and over-shadows cotton in importance. We loan to tenants as well as to owners."

No. 184—Land owner, age 48, owns 200 acres. First four years after purchase made all payments. "In last three years have paid only the interest on this. This year my neighbors who bought land when I did and paid one half cash will lose their farms and all they have paid down. Renters are not buying land."

No. 185—Renter, aged 32, unmarried, rents 90 acres, all planted to wheat. Net profit on four years operations represented by seven head of horses and rest of farm implements. No renters have bought land in last few years, three neighbors who bought five years ago have not made payments on the principal and will lose their farms and all they have paid on them."

farm of 320 acres purchased with proceeds of a town business. "Farmers need to cooperate but are too ignorant and suspicious to act together. Ignorance of renters is the reason they do not buy homes. The remedy for tenancy is to educate the renters."

No. 196—Renter, age 42, rents 200 acres planted in grain for one third of crop. "I came from the West. Have been unsuccessful and will move this fall to escape the extortion of a landowner who requires me to look after his cattle and haul his share of the crop to market with out compensation. I cannot make enough while renting land to buy a farm. Interest on crop loans is 8 per cent flat discount. The chief obstacle to the acquisition of homes by renters is oppression by landlords and the buyers of farm products."

No. 197—Owner, age 60, bought 200 acres eight years ago at $20 per acre; paid $1000 cash and gave notes bearing 8 per cent interest for balance. At end of first year realized that he could not pay notes and sold 112 acres back to vendor, leaving him 88 acres on which he owed $1,000. In eight years he has not been able to pay more than the interest and three years ago renewed the mortgage at 10 per cent interest. Is afraid he will never pay out. Says most American neighbors are in debt and that no renters have bought land and that no renters have bought land sell their land at fair prices, and if they refuse the government should condemn the land and sell it to the people. I am not a socialist."

No. 198—Owner, age 46, owns 320 acres on which I owe $2100. Have paid nothing on the principal in 8 years. Many foreigners bought land here eight years ago and lost it. No renters have bought land here in last five years. Know of only three men who own farms free of debt. The greatest need of farmers is a rural credit system. The interest rate on crop loans is one per cent per month."

No. 200—Owner, age 48, owns 560 acres and am out of debt. No renters have bought land around here in last four or five years. Majority of farmers in this community are owners. The renters starved out and moved away three years ago. The rate of interest on crop loans is 12 per cent per annum. The laxness of renters is the chief cause of tenancy." No. 201—Owner, age 42. "I own my farm free of debt, but most of my neighbors are in debt for current expenses and for land. Many have been in debt for borrowed money for three or four years. No renters are buying land in this community. The rate on crop loans is 15 per cent flat discount. The high price of land and the high rate of interest are causes of the increase of tenancy."

No. 202—Manager of a cooperative store. "Many farmers are in debt because of drought and low price of cotton last year. Very few renters who raise cotton can get credit from the banks, and such as do get loans pay high interest rates. This company is owned by farmers and sells on credit, charging ten per cent on credit purchases. Merchants, bankers and wholesalers fought this company for several years and refused to do business with it. The need of farmers is a warehouse system and the benefits of the present warehouse law should be explained to them."

No. 203—Rural preacher. "Practically all the farmers may have renters. Owners of the land live in the city or out of the state. All renters are in debt and are making a bare living. The social and moral life of the people is poor. The few prosperous farmers own automobiles and go to town for their social life. The most the church can do here is not to retrograde. The hard life of farmers and their families prevents co-operation in social and religious affairs. Landlords oppress their tenants in many ways and tenants feel that they are not getting a square deal from business men with whom they deal in the handling and sale of their products. No renters have bought land in the last three or four years and many who bought four or five years ago have lost their farms and others will be closed out this fall."

No. 204—Owner, age 52; owns 1100 acres; 400 in grain, balance in pasture. "I came to the United States from Germany 25 years ago with wife and child and small sum of money. Got help from my father and bought team and began farming in Illinois. Three years later I moved here and bought 77 acres at $2.50 per acre on credit. Worked hard, saved money and bought more land from time to time. The reason why Germans succeed in buying land is that most of them were raised poor and are used to working for low wages in the old country. They save what they make. They do not work harder than Americans but they do not spend as much. For illustration when I was struggling to pay for my home I sent my 12-year old daughter into Wichita Falls to 'work out'. This relieved me of the expense of her board and clothes and brought in some money. When an American neighbor who is a good man and works as hard as I do, told me what a hard time he was having, I asked him why he did not send his four daughters to town to work. He thought this would be wrong, but I do not think so. I think more of a girl who works than one who does not. I find it impossible, however, to raise my boys to work as hard as I have worked when I was a boy and to be as saving in their habits as I was."

CITY IS DEFENDED BY JUDGE R. E. HUFF

Speaker at First M. E. Church Says Wichita Falls' Reputation is Not Justified

"I know Wichita Falls is called the wickedest city in Texas—but that isn't so. There is a larger proportion of Christian men and women in Wichita Falls than in any other city of her size anywhere and these people are the ones that really count." Thus Judge R. E. Huff, president of the Chamber of Commerce, speaking before a Sunday night audience in the First Methodist Church, refuted the charge of wickedness laid at the door of Wichita Falls and went on to prove that his statement was correct. The talk, was one of a series of Sunday night addresses given by leading business and professional men of the city.

"Take the churches away, take the Christian people away, remove the refining, uplifting influence of the church, and soon your city will be degraded," Judge Huff declared, "standpoint the church pays; it pays in the people and the enterprises it attracts to the city and were there no churches here, new-comers would soon be a thing of the past and business would stagnate. No parents would rear their children in a city without the aid of the church and the young people are of the greatest moment to a city."

"I could scarcely tell of the personal 'failings' I have had from the church," Judge Huff continued, "but I can say that the spiritual gains which come from the church. Since I made my public confession back in Tennessee years ago, but a boy I have always endeavored to bear public witness of Him whom I strive in every way to serve and never have a selfish desire when in the dust. Not that I have always been satisfied with myself as a Christian for I do not think any of us are ever wholly satisfied with ourselves. If we were we would be ready to go to heaven right now and none of us are ready to leave this earth just yet. My personal gains from the church are innumerable."

Continuing to enumerate the worldly gains the city and its people have gotten from the church, Judge Huff recounted some of the noteworthy experiences of Wichita Falls.

"In those early days when there was scarcely a respectable woman in town, when conditions were so adverse and circumstances trying, there were still enough honest, genuine Christians to keep up the fight and they are what caused Wichita Falls finally to get to where the church has helped make this city and it will continue to help maintain its standards. Through temptations and tests of every kind, the city has been able to stand the fire and those it is who are the worthwhile citizenship of any other city."

Following the talk, the pastor, Rev. Harry F. Draper spoke for a few minutes along the same lines. "What are the gains from the church?" The next business man to speak will be C. W. C. Giltrease, president of the National Bank of Commerce on Sunday evening, Feb. 4.

An Old Room.
There is an old room I love;
Dark, brown plaster spreads above,
Near by is heard the muffled tone
Of roaring sluice and sawmill's drone.

The furniture of ancient mold,
Apple and stoolly made,
With curved legs of white and gold,
And flower wrought brocade.

There in a corner, dim and swart,
Stands a bronze bust of Bonaparte,
Who, with his white horse, rides in all
The pale engraving on the wall.

Karl-Johan faces, dim with dust,
Napoleon's mute and rigid bust,
The long, thin nose is bold and free,
The tight closed lips curl sardonically.

A bookcase old of speckled birch,
Where massive carvings daily perch
Holds many a poet of romance,
We see, as for the backs we glance

First Atterborn with flowing hair,
Tegner, the second guest,
The lord of Sharon's bard is there,
And Brief-Rose's priest.

A lonely fly buzzes on the sill,
The clock's pendulum is still,
The incense breath of jasmine
Hours.

From blooming bushes out of doors
While pungent from a nearby vase
Comes scent of rose leaves,
Which through the bright prismatic glass.

BLACK AND WHITE COMBINATIONS POPULAR IN MID-WINTER STYLES

Special to The Times.
New York, January 27.—The black-and-white combination is one of the very strong notes from Paris just at this time. Even while some bright colors are being shown, black and white comes to the front again. White Georgette and black satin are chosen very often to carry out this effect, and while it is not looked upon in the light of a real novelty, it is so entirely pleasing that its acceptance goes without saying.

Dresses of white Georgette are sometimes made with a deep band of black satin at the lower edge of the skirt. As in the accompanying sketch, there are often additional touches of black about the dress, for instance on the belt and sleeves and the trimming on the front of the waist. Silver thread embroidery is the popular darling of the riches.

(That in some instances there is a tendency to break away from the very straight lines.)

Tassels of silk, wool or beads as well as buttons, form the decoration for dresses of a simpler and more tailored type. The apron string belts on the chemise dresses are usually finished with tassels, and frocks with the loose floating panels are weighted at the ends with tassels on either side.

Colored ribbon on white crepe and lace waists, is another new trimming which has appeared of late. Ribbons with two or more colors give very dainty effects on these waists.

Midseason Hats.
Now that the midseason is here, hats of velvet are giving place to those of satin and silk. Figured silks are used for some smart, colorful hats, while crepe is another material favored by the milliners. Combinations of straw and satin are likely to be very popular also. Black straw formed the trim of the crown and the lower part of a very high crown of a chic hat. The top of the crown and the upper part was of blue satin. Medium size brims on rather drooping lines are also noted. A hat of crepe was trimmed with three rows of pleated ribbon, at the top of the work is used. As an example of this last, white Georgette crepe elaborately worked with beads forms the upper part and sleeves of a black satin dress. Separate skirts of black satin are also worn with white Georgette blouses made in Russian style.

Russian styles still keep at the height of popularity. When they are worn with suits they appear in any of the varying lengths, from the short hip length to below the knee. A striking black satin dress recently seen was made with a slip-on Russian blouse of medium length over a very full pleated skirt. The lower part of the blouse was richly embroidered in silk with Japanese embroidery in the cherry blossom design. The embroidery was in white and pale green.

To return to the black-and-white combination, a very effective waist of white crepe was trimmed with black crepe collar, cuffs and revers and, in addition, black beads. The lighter shades which are again returning to favor are patty, sand and beige. Rose colored beads in deep and lighter shades trim a sand-colored waist very effectively.

Pleated Skirts and Panels.
Pleated skirts, though still requiring a liberal amount of material in the fashioning of them are made to hang quite straight. Some charming effects are seen where striped material is employed. In a purple-and-black striped fabric, the purple stripe is arranged beneath the pleat, so that to all intents and purposes the skirt appears to be black, but in walking the colored stripes show. This arrangement of pleats in striped materials is seen in striped fabrics of all colors.

Panel effects are still considered very good style for they preserve the straight lines at which fashion aims. Here and there, however, exaggerated pockets break the monotony of the straight lines and stand out at the hips. Draped effects in some afternoon and many evening gowns also show crown with a beaded ornament in front.

The veil is still the faithful companion of the hat. Embroidered veils are even more popular than the plain ones, and the flowing veils more favored than other styles. Some of the flowing veils are worn very short."

ASKS JURY TRIAL ON TRAFFIC LAW VIOLATION

Fourteen cases were on the police court docket this morning, of which 5 were disposed of by Judge Whitelaw this morning, and the remainder passed for the securing of additional witnesses, or for various other reasons. An even half dozen were fined for intoxication, 5 in each case. One was reincarcerated on an old fine and another dismissed on recommendation of the chief of police, on the same charge. One case of intoxication, one of disturbance, two of speeding and two of passing a street car were passed until tomorrow morning. A jury trial, a very unusual occurrence in the police court, was asked by one of those charged with passing a street car.

SIX JURORS FINED TODAY FOR FAILING TO APPEAR

Six jurors failing to answer present when their names were called this morning in the 30th district court were fined $5 each for contempt of court by Judge Bonner. Those fined were R. H. Best, M. H. Barwise, W. M. Goehs, Jodie Cobb, J. D. Cooper and Ed Foster. R. C. Giltrease was also absent when his name was called, but another juror reported that he was exempt. Judge Bonner pointed out that while Mr. Giltrease was subject to a fine he would mark him excused but stressed the importance of those exempt from jury service filing an affidavit to that effect with the district clerk advising of this fact, and thus prevent their being drawn for this service."

INITIATION HERE LARGELY ATTENDED

Knights of Columbus From Dallas, Fort Worth and Other Points Take Part

Nearly 200 Knights of Columbus from Dallas, Fort Worth, Childress, Scotland, Rhineland and Wichita Falls took part in the ceremony Sunday when 25 candidates were conducted across the hot sands into the mysteries of the order. The ceremony lasted all of the afternoon, being followed by a banquet served by the ladies of the Catholic church.

Charles F. Roehl of Fort Worth, district deputy, was in charge of the ceremony. The initiation was delayed somewhat by the failure of Father John of Rhineland to arrive on time on account of a busted fliover.

A feature of the ceremony which was held at the old Catholic church, was the organization of a lodge of the Order of the Yellow Dog, nearly 100 members being initiated. J. M. Strupper and R. E. Finn of Fort Worth conducted the initiation. This order does honor to a class of candidates often abused and neglected, and the benefits are said to be far reaching and extensive.

Fort Worth members and candidates attending were Dr. M. V. Creagan, District Deputy Charles Roehl, J. M. Strupper, R. T. Winn, William Bammon, G. W. Greathouse, W. P. Higgins, Dallas visitors were Tom E. Goodwin and F. E. Campbell. District Deputy Roehl will remain in this city several days, working on lodge matters.

The initiation brought about 70 visitors from out of the city and was one of the most successful affairs of the kind yet held here. Another initiation is planned for later in the year.

KEMP LEAVES FOR AUSTIN MEETING

To Attend Conference on Irrigation Measure—Prospects For Passage Improved

J. A. Kemp left this afternoon for Austin, where a meeting of Texans interested in the irrigation and drainage district amendment to the constitution will be held tomorrow morning. At this meeting steps will be taken to secure early action on the resolution submitting the amendment and preliminary plans for a campaign will be laid.

"I feel very much encouraged over the outlook," said Mr. Kemp, "we are told there is very little opposition to the resolution, and that with some one to push it, its passage is certain. I do not think there is much doubt that the people will adopt it and it will certainly mean much to Wichita Falls."

Mr. Kemp expressed the hope that submission in some form, would carry at this session of the legislature and said he thought it likely that the anti would agree to a compromise perhaps providing for an election in 1918, with prohibition, if adopted, effective in 1920.

A. G. KARRENBROCK IS BURIED SUNDAY

Masons Conduct Last Services For Youth and Large Crowd in Attendance

With the Masonic burial rites and attended by more than 100 members of the order the body of Alvin G. Karrenbrock was laid in its resting place in Riverside cemetery Sunday afternoon, following services in the First Methodist church at 3 o'clock. No better tribute to the worth of the young man could be made than the sorrowing throng of more than 500 people, old and young, gathered at the church and the extended funeral procession which attended the body to the grave. The casket and the altar were completely covered by flowers sent by individuals and firms, business associates of the young man and his father, and by the Masonic order.

Rev. R. C. Miller, pastor of the First Baptist church, with which the mother of the young man is affiliated, Rev. G. E. Alstad pastor of the Evangelical church, of which the father is a member and Rev. Harry F. Draper pastor of the First Methodist church, the church of Alvin Karrenbrock's choice, conducted the funeral services. The following short sketch of his life and tribute to his memory was given by Rev. F. Draper.

Alvin K. Karrenbrock was born June 26, 1891 in St. Charles county near Wentzville, Mo. In January 1901 he came with his parents to Wichita Falls and lived on a farm near the city. He attended the rural school, later the city school in the grades and High School, living with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Karrenbrock, so well known in our city at 1209 Ninth street. About two years ago he completed a business course in the Branley-Draughon Business College in Fort Worth. Immediately he was employed in the Wichita State Bank as bookkeeper where he gave efficient service and entire satisfaction until his sickness began Jan. 2nd.

The cause of his first sickness was a slow attack of typhoid fever which weakened him very much. Had he not received a slight attack of pneumonia January 25, he would have recovered from the typhoid completely last. Through all the sickness, he was brave and faithful, never complaining, wore a smile that cheered all who came near, and proved the qualities of his beautiful life.

While but a boy he took up active Christian work, and later joined the First Methodist Episcopal Church, Jan. 10th, 1911. He was one of those active, dependable, sweet-spirited Christian workers that was a blessing to all. Laudable expressions cannot be vent to the appreciations of his associates in the church, bank, Masonic order, city, and elsewhere.

With strong abiding faith, a pure heart, and a prayer on his lips, he ascended to the last few minutes, without pain or struggle, he left us to join the immortal throng of his Christ and glory, "Precious in the sight of Jehovah is the transformation of his saints."

Besides the bereaved father and mother, two brothers, August and Frank, and two sisters, Miss Cora and Mrs. C. F. Friberg, with a host of intimate friends mourn the great loss of the departed.

New York, Jan. 29.—Cotton met considerable realizing at the opening today. Liverpool was relatively steady but the opening here was at a decline of four to twelve points and present crop deliveries sold 20 to 21 points lower right after the call while the new crop worked 12 to 14 points net lower. WOOLWORTH TO HAVE STORE HERE BUILDING LEASED

Announcement that J. W. Woolworth & Company will shortly establish a store in Wichita Falls as one in the chain of several hundred such stores throughout the United States was made this afternoon. The store will occupy part of the Kahn building at Eighth and Indiana, the company having leased all except 2240 feet on the corner, which will be taken by the Art Loan & Jewelry Company. The remaining portion of the building, an L-shaped arrangement with entrances on both Eighth and Indiana, will be occupied by Woolworth.

Remodeling of the Kahn building will start shortly. The plans provide for extensive improvements, among which is the construction of a basement and other changes. The Woolworth company enters only the larger cities of the states where it does business, the store here being the tenth in Texas. The home office is in New York, the tallest store in the world. The store handles only five, ten and 25 cent goods and is known as a rival of the Kress stores in this business.

WORK IS OFFERED GIRLS FROM FLATS

Efforts Being Made Today to Secure Places—Habitués Harassed by Bill Collectors

An offer to give employment to one or more of the girls soon to be evicted from the flats has been received by The Times, as a result of the article appearing in yesterday's issue, stating that some of the girls who were seeking work had met with refusals from those to whom they applied. It is understood that other offers of this kind may be expected. The offer came from a very estimable woman residing in the country and efforts were being made this afternoon to get in touch with some of the girls who erally want work.

On account of the large number of women from the flats who have been seen driving around the city in service cars during the past few days, an impression has been taking form that a large number of the girls are decided to carry out their threats to move "up town" on the closing of the flats by Sheriff Hawkins Thursday.

Several women have made such threats, but there has been some doubt expressed as to their carrying them out.

However that may be, preparations on the part of the greater number for leaving are going on where are said to be evident on every hand. A number have already left the city but not yet in numbers sufficient to be noticed.

Bill collectors, have flooded the flats since the first announcement of Sheriff Hawkins' purpose and as the matter came rather by surprise and considerable outlay being necessary for moving, some of the girls have had to "stand off" the collectors for a few days and report very ugly treatment at the hands of the collectors.

Some of the girls report that regular bills, which average seven or eight dollars a month, this month have jumped to $15 and charge that the prospect of breaking up the re-arrangement and depriving these business of a profitable trade is responsible.

331 POLL TAXES ARE PAID TODAY, RUSH DEVELOPS

Results of campaigns for the payment of poll taxes are apparently beginning to bear fruit, judging from the fact that 331 had been paid up to 3 o'clock this afternoon. This brings the total number of payments to date up to 237, only 1500 short of the number issued last year. As the last day is usually to be counted on for 1,200 payments and more than two days were left when this report was made, hopes that the number of polls paid will run ahead of last

VAUDEVILLE TO BE RESUMED SHORTLY

Wichita Theatre Management Has Arranged For Interstate Bill Starting February 8

Big time vaudeville will again come to Wichita Falls beginning Thursday of next week, February 8, according to Harry C. Bradshaw, manager of the Wichita Theatre. A contract with the Interstate vaudeville agency for three nights of vaudeville each week, Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights and one or two matinee performances probably on Friday and Saturday afternoons was closed today.

Negotiations lasting more than a month since Mr. Bradshaw leased the local theatre late in December, were necessary before this contract could be closed. Difficulty in routing acts into Wichita Falls is given as the reason for the delay in restoring the vaudeville.

No introduction to the Interstate vaudeville is necessary to Wichita Falls people one night a week having been given at the Wichita Theatre for a time last fall. The show, five acts, will be routed into Wichita Falls from Denver where it closes an engagement on Sunday night, plays Monday night in Pueblo, Colo., and on into Wichita Falls for the three last days of the week. Closing here Saturday night the show will go into Dallas, opening up at the Majestic there Sunday morning. With the exception of one act which will be routed into Dallas from Little Rock the vaudeville given at the Wichita Theatre will comprise the same program playing at the Majestic the week following its appearance here.

In addition to the five acts of vaudeville two reels of pictures will be shown, from the "Purple Mask" and "Liberty." Prices will be 25 and 50 cents, Mr. Bradshaw stating that this is as reasonable as he can book these acts and "get by" playing three nights a week.

At the Theaters

The Gem. "Giant Powder" is the attraction at the Gem today. To make this Bison drama, Director Henry McRae took his company, including Edith Johnson, Fred Church and Ivoe McFadden to Catalina Island. They filmed the scenes of the picture, blew up a large section of the island, and returned none the worse for their adventure. The story as written by Maxwell Miller, gave the director plenty of opportunity for suspense, and naturally, the famous master of the "punch" made the most of his chance.

The Majestic Dorothy Gish and the cleverest dumb animal actor in the pictures, make a queerly assorted pair of stars in "Atta Boy's Last Race." The picture is a Triangle feature, telling the story of the race track and of young love, and Miss Gish as the object of the affection of Atta Boy's owner she is distractingly lovely.

The Empress

Sessue Hayakawa and Myrtle Steadman in "The Soul of Kura San" are on today's program at the Empress. A synopsis of the picture follows: Toyo, a poor Japanese artist, is in love with Kura-San, daughter of a tea house proprietor. He asks for her hand, but Naguchi has promised her to a wealthy Japanese. The disappointed and unhappy lovers decide the only way out is "shinju"—double suicide—and just as they are about to carry out their plan, Toyo is summoned to the bedside of a dying uncle in America. Letters between the two are intercepted by Naguchi, and a forged letter from Toyo tells of his marriage. Kura-San is misled and reverent, Herbert Graham, an American artist is pleased with Kura-San's grace and beauty and engages her to pose for him, promising a ticket to America as her reward. Herbert Gray—as the American who discovered her. Toyo swears revenge. Oki impresses Toyo with the belief that women have no souls. The painting, "The Geisha Girl" for which Kura-San posed, is admired by Anne Willoughby, an heiress. She meets Graham and they become engaged. Toyo discovers that the man who painted this picture is the one who wronged Kura-San, and he immediately pur- Toyo goes to Japan to claim Kura-San as his bride. She can hardly believe her eyes when first she sees Toyo, but a great happiness fills her—she starts toward him, then remembers—Graham. Later she feels her only way out is to commit suicide, and with her dying breath murmurs the name Herbert Graham. Anne sees the painting, and her determination for revenge increases. He seeks in Anne a chance to "get back" at Graham and sets about to interest her. He promises Anne that she may see the painting as often as she likes, and leases a home adjoining the Grahams. He induces Anne to his home, tells her the story of the painting, then struggles with her, declaring her beauty shall pay for that of Kura-San. Graham comes upon the scene and is knocked down by Toyo. Anne swears to kill herself if Toyo approaches her—a great light dawns upon Toyo as he realizes a woman can possess a great soul. Kneeling before the painting, Toyo sends his spirit to meet that of the unfortunate little Kura-San.

HOUSTON PAPER COMMENTS ON RECENT CATTLE DEAL The recent sale of 100 Herefords at $100 each by M. J. Gardner to C. H. Clark and R. J. Abernathy is the subject of editorial comment in the Houston Post, which says:

In the Texas Panhandle the other day 100 head of high-grade two, three and four-year-old Hereford stocker cows were sold for $100 per head. That is almost a record price for this class of cattle, and it shows the money that the intelligent breeder can get for the best grades of stock.
