VOL. VI, NO. 54. WICHITA FALLS, TEXAS, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1924. FIVE CENTS EVERYWHERE.

TEXAS BANKER "SLAPS" WALL ST.

DALLAM WINS COUNTY PRIZE BY FOUR POINTS

Hale County Second in Agriculture Exhibits at T.-O. Fair

FLOYD IS THIRD

Wilbarger and Childress Come Fourth and Fifth In Order Named

Sliding in under the wire by a four point margin over Hale county, Dallam county, Texas, won first place yesterday in the county agricultural exhibits of the Texas-Oklahoma fair. The two Panhandle counties had run neck and neck all day in the battle for points. Hale county took second and Floyd county third.

The judges alloted fourth place to Wilbarger county and fifth to Childress. Tillman and Jackson counties, Oklahoma, which in the two previous fairs have ranked either at the top or close to it, took sixth and seventh respectively. Other counties finished with Throckmorton, Montague and Lynn in the order named.

Some Large Exhibits.

One of the largest exhibits of this division, that of Roosevelt and Curry counties, New Mexico, displayed together and hence did not compete in the judging.

Judging of the county agricultural exhibits was one of the big features of another full day's program at the Texas - Oklahoma fair yesterday. "Wichita Falls Day" brought out another crowd that jammed the grounds.

All Judging Active.

Official judges were busy in most of the competitive branches all day. All the special features of the fair were again in evidence and all drew their quota of crowds.

"Oklahoma Day," Wednesday, promises to bring another capacity crowd, with prospects that neighbors from across the river will be much in evidence.

Red Heads Will Compete To Head Jockey's Ball

Are you a red headed girl?

If you are, and a real one, you stand a splendid chance of winning a blue ribbon, a handsome jewelled comb and opening the grand march at the Jockey's Ball Thursday evening on the plaza at the fair grounds with the leading jockey in the races up to that time.

A contest to find the queen of the red headed girls in the city will be staged in the following manner. From the titian haired maidens who assemble on the plaza, there will be chosen three whose tresses, be they bobbed or long, most nearly match the shade of the feathers of the prize winning Rhode Island Red rooster of the poultry exhibit. The judges will then decide which of the group is the closest to a perfect match.

The "Red Headed Gal" will then receive the award of the blue ribbon for the most perfect shade of red hair. She will also be presented with a beautiful jewelled comb which she will don before being presented to the Prince Charming of the jockeys with whom she will lead the grand march that opens the Jockey's ball.

Rivalry is keen among the jockeys who are eager for the honor which awaits the man who has won the greatest number of races at the close of Thursday's combat.

Meanwhile it is expected that more than one sunset haired beauty will pay a visit to the family chicken yard in anticipation of the unique contest staged for Thursday evening.

What's Legal Brains Worth; One Man Gets $65 An Hour

By HUGH NUGENT FITZGERALD
Record News Staff.

Figures, it is said, never lie. There are fewer paupers in almshouses of the United States than there have been in the last 20 years. There are political orators abroad in the land who are fond of saying that there are more broken men and women than ever before. Is this true? There were more than twice as many male paupers than female last year, while in 1880 the males only slightly exceeded the females. Are women more thrifty than men or are they more fortunate than men?

Railroads Coming Back

Railroad and other equipment manufacturers enjoyed one of the most successful years in their history in 1923. Total production was valued at $900,595,541, an increase of 77.2 per cent compared with the previous year. By far the largest part of the engines and electric trains produced were for use in the United States.

America has the money. The Canadian government invaded Wall street as a borrower and the offering was $100,000,000 in short term notes. Two rival Wall street banks contested the offering and the bonds were sold on the day that they were placed on the market.

An Echo of Loeb.

Willie Dalton the Chicago bank messenger who fled with $772,000 Liberty bonds in 1921 was acquitted by a jury on his third trial. His attorneys said that he was intoxicated by the sight of so much money and because of an emotional impulse fled with the bonds. Willie was under age when he made his get away and his attorneys made the most of it. They had the Leopold-Loeb verdict as a selling point.

This may be politics but a treasury agent says complete retirement of the gigantic public debt of the United States in the next twenty-five years is now contemplated by the treasury. As it is, the government has to pay one billion dollars a year interest money. Uncle Sam loaned eleven billion dollars to the allies. This with accrued interest has climbed to fourteen billion dollars. Jones must bow his luck for many years to come.

Your Attorney's Fee.

Reorganization managers and their attorneys in connection with the reorganization of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad are asking $2,364,249, including $750,000 for counsel fees. Many New York lawyers were called in and to a man they testified that a fee of $500 a day is fair and cited the fee paid to Former Senator James O. Gorman as referee in the Goul case. O. Gorman received $25 per hour for his services through an agreement of all parties to the suit or at the rate of $520 a day. They pay for brains in New York or brains refuses to work.

His royal highness the Prince of Wales is an excellent trader. He brought seven polo ponies to America, placed the ponies on the auction block after the game was over and then pocketed $18,100 for his table.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—The Southern Pacific company today won its fight for a complete double track line to the Pacific coast. Its complete plan to acquire control of the El Paso and Southwestern system, and through the Arizona Eastern railroad, one of its subsidiaries, to construct new extension in Maricopa, Yuma and Pinal counties, Arizona, together with its proposed financing arrangement, today were given the approval of the interstate commerce commission.

Death Claims One In Auto Wreck; Another Injured

Pinned beneath his wrecked machine after it had overturned following a collision with another car on the Iowa Park road, M. W. Lewis, 39, was almost instantly killed at 10:30 Tuesday morning and Mrs. J. J. Manley, riding in the second machine, seriously injured. Lewis lived at 1418 Thirteenth street and Mrs. Manley at 701 San Antonio. She is known in the General hospital where her injuries were pronounced grave.

Mr. Lewis in an Essex touring car and Mrs. Manley in a Ford touring were both going out of Wichita Falls when the accident occurred six miles beyond the city. Miss Dessie Manley, in the car with her mother, states that without warning, the Lewis car struck the Ford as the former started to pass. The former turned over into the ditch, pinning Mr. Lewis beneath it. The Ford also turned over, pinning its occupants in the wreckage.

The dead man has been employed by the R. O. Harvey and company for nine years. He leaves his wife and four children, the eldest 17 years and the youngest two months.

"Well, George, We Lived To See It," Washington Comment

CITY UNCOMPOSED

Political Center, Unusually Calm, Still Feels The Shock of It

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—The nation's capital continued tonight to get a kick out of baseball. After the first shock of excitement yesterday, the capital city attempted to gain composure, but without success. The attitude of the city over its first pennant might be summed up in the words of a grizzled old fan:

"Well, George, we lived to see it."

For years the capital's populace has been called upon thousands of times to furnish the proverbial "banks of humanity" needed for a parade. But tomorrow, for about the first time in history Washington will turn out for a celebration all its own—after more than 29 years of trying, it has what it wanted—a pennant. It is also going to get a chance to see Walter Johnson in a world series game.

GOLDFIELD BURNS UP.

Only Two Buildings Remain After A $250,000 Blaze.

By The Associated Press.

GOLDFIELD, Nev., Sept. 30.—Goldfield, once the premier mining camp of the west, today has left standing only two of the score or more big buildings occupied when it was a prosperous and busy city of 30,000 people.

The Goldfield hotel, which cost half a million dollars, and the building of the Deep Mines company, which the 700 inhabitants of the town center their hopes of a revival of its former prosperity, are the only business structures which survived yesterday's $250,000 blaze, the second big fire the old camp has experienced in fifteen months.

La Follette Issues Statement Condemning Opponents' Tactics

ON TWO STATES

Declares People Should Be Permitted to Express Will Freely

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Senator Robert M. La Follette, independent presidential candidate, in a statement tonight declared that "the refusal of the attorney general of Louisiana to place the names of the La Follette-Wheeler electors on the ballot in that state, and the definite report that comes from Michigan that legal technicalities are to be used there by the two political machines to accomplish the same purpose, show how desperate the reactionaries in both the old parties consider their cause."

"The legal arm of the government which should be the most potent factor in helping the people to express their will freely at the polls," continued the senators statement, "is instinctively being appealed to by the reactionary forces which dominate the two old parties, to help defeat their free expression.

"But all these efforts will eventually fail of their purposes. These attempts to deprive the people at the ballot box of the utmost freedom of choice as to who shall exercise their delegated authority, will react most disastrously against those guilty of trying to prevent the fullest expression of the people's will."

NO END IS IN SIGHT.

Fourth Day of Continuous Fighting in China Is Reported.

By The Associated Press.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 30—The fourth day of continuous fighting between rival Chinese armies near Shanghai was completed tonight with no evidence that early termination of the battle could be expected.

The battle started Saturday with opening of an offensive by the Chekiang-Shanghai forces against the besieging Kiangsu province armies.

At 9:30 o'clock tonight the muffled roar from the war front some score of miles distant told Shanghai that the entrenched fighters still found strength to continue the conflict.

The fighting tonight reached a hand-to-hand bayonet encounter when a further fierce Kiangsu counter-attack was launched near Kiangtu, on the line of the Shanghai-Nanking railway. Machine gun fire, however, finally forced retreat with losses to the Kiangsu forces.

SUCCESSES ARE REPORTED.

By The Associated Press.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 30.—Firing along the entire battle line just west of the city had become desultory at midnight, a communique issued at headquarters of the Chekiang-Shanghai armies at Lungwha early this morning stated.

ARLITT, AUSTIN FINANCIER, IS N. Y. CURIOSITY

Obtains Concession From Obregon to Float Huge Loan

GOTHAM MYSTIFIED

There Is a Report, Too, That Henry Ford Is Interested

By The Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 30.—Wall street bankers are reported all in a flurry because an Austin man practically unknown to them but well known in Texas as J. L. Arlitt, investment broker, "put one over one" in obtaining from President Obregon of Mexico a concession for floating a $50,000,000 gold bond issue secured by receipts from the Mexican oil production taxes, according to press reports from New York.

Quite unflurried, Arlitt returned to his Austin office today from New York City.

The bonds, Arlitt said, are secured by the entire income of the Mexican government from its oil production taxes, which exceed by several times the annual payments required on the bonds. In addition the bonds are declared a direct obligation of the republic of Mexico.

Reports from New York received by the Austin American that Henry Ford, automobile manufacturer, is one of the underwritens of the issue, brought no statement from Arlitt other than the announcement that he had nothing to say.

"Ford is reported to have declared your offer of the bonds to be a slap at Wall street," the American informed Arlitt.

"I have nothing to say either way on that," was his answer.

As a result of his coup, Arlitt was Tuesday being besieged for information by a number of newspaper men. Telegrams from eastern papers for interviews with Arlitt poured in over the wires also, but the Austin broker declared that he had nothing to say on the "Wall street slap" angle.

LOAN ONCE TURNED DOWN.

Mexican Securities on the Exchange Are at Very Low Prices.

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Public offering of $50,000,000 Mexican government bonds, without the knowledge and participation of international bankers, today provoked widespread comment and discussion in investment circles. No information as to the success of the offering was available here as J. L. Arlitt, a banker little known in Wall street, who is attempting to float the issue, was said to be directing operations from his headquarters in Austin, Texas.

Prices of the six per cent bonds offered by the Texas banker ranged from 80 to 97 in 1 to 10 year maturities. Mexico's six per cent bonds on which interest has been defaulted, sold on the New York stock exchange today at 23½, while the government's 4 per cent bonds sold as low as 20.

Recent attempts by Mexico to negotiate a loan through international bankers with the oil production tax as security were unsuccessful. Mr. Arlitt, however, asserts in his advertisements that revenue from this source will more than cover the annual service on the $50,000,000 loan.

Ulster Excluded From Board To Fix Irish Lines

Premier McDonald Moves Bill to Second Reading Before Body

FAR FROM SETTLED

Serious Trouble Between Ulster and the Free State May be Anticipated

The Associated Press

LONDON, Sept. 30.—Prime Minister MacDonald moved second reading in the house of commons today of the bill providing for the creation of an Irish boundary commission without the participation of Ulster.

In making the motion at a special session of parliament the premier declared it was the essential duty of every government to fulfill its obligation. He said he resented the charge that the government's move was an attempt to coerce Ulster.

LONDON, Sept. 30.—The Irish boundry line controversy is as far from settlement as ever, and the prospects of serious trouble between Ulster and the Free State is increasing daily.

Sir James Craig, the premier of Ulster, continues to refuse to name a representative to the boundry line commission provided for in the Anglo-Irish treaty engineered by Mr. Lloyd George when premier. He insists that Ulster was no party to the treaty, that the boundries of Northern Ireland were fixed by the government of Ireland Act, in 1920, and could not be subsequently tampered with by the British parliament whether in a treaty or otherwise without Ulster's consent.

He refuses to have anything to do with the commission, but he is willing, he says, to settle the matter by private agreement between President Cosgrave and himself. Cosgrave refuses to do this and insists that the British government go ahead with the boundry commission.

A Fantastic Frontier.

The present British government which is not in any way responsible for the treaty does not know what to do, and is doing virtually nothing. Everything is up to the government of northern Ireland.

The present Free States-Ulster border is more than a thousand miles long. In one place a railway crosses it twelve times in 10 miles.

Nowhere it seems, are the economic and geographical conditions compatible with the wishes of the inhabitants.

In the village of Belcek the boundry runs throug the center of the main street. The Free Staters buy their postage stamps on one side of the street for two-pence each and the Northerners buy their across the road for three halfpence. Cigarettes are a shilling a pack on the Ulster side and fifteen pence on the Free State side.

Coming of Republic Seen

It is generally agreed that the border needs some of the curliques taken out of it. But that isn't all there is to the problem, merely straightening out the boundry line. The Free Staters claim they should get the entire counties of Tyrone and Fermanagh, Derry City and large portions of Armagh and County Down.

In London it is supposed that the Irish republic is going to present itself one of these days, and the boundry controversy enchances the prospects.

All the experts are agreed that the Free States days are numbered and that it will be succeeded by the constitutional Republican party, which is not De Valera's party. De Valera claims that the republic has always existed.

The Constitution Republicans are headed by "General" McGrath, formerly private secretary to James Larkin and more recently minister of labor. He admits that the republic is not yet in existence but claims that the time has come to set it up, not by coup d'etat but by constitutional action of the Free State parliament.

When this happens it is calculated that Ulster will be delighted, for, there can be no serious question of British politicians trying to force northern Ireland out of the empire and into the republic. And the Republicans are not troubled with such considerations. They believe they can "blust Ulster out of their path," as De Valera put it.

2 BABIES—45 MINUTES

Rapid Time Is Made By Physicians Examining Little Folks

Three babies were examined every fifteen minutes Tuesday at the Better Baby clinic at the Texas Oklahoma fair, according to Miss Mary Quinn, Red Cross nurse, who is helping to make the examinations. Many babies are still being brought to the clinic for registration, it was stated, but the time was all taken Tuesday.

No more cards for the babies examined will be given out until Friday, Miss Quinn announced. The scores following the examination will have to be looked over and checked, and the mothers will not be able to find out the results of the examination until Friday.

Many children were left in the nursery Tuesday while their parents visited the midway and other attractions at the fair.

BAYLOR PIONEER IS DEAD.

R. F. Smith, Confederate Veteran, Passes Away at Age of 79 Years.

Special to The Record News.

SEYMOUR, Sept. 30.—Baylor county lost one of her pioneer citizens and one of the few remaining Confederate soldiers when Benjamin Franklin Smith passed away at his home here. He was 79 years old and had been in feeble health for a year or more. Death was due to prolonged paralysis.

B. F. Smith was born in Stewart, Va., June 28, 1845 and lived there during his youth. At the age of 18 he was called to the colors.

In 1880 he moved to Texas and in 1884 was married to Miss Emma Austin at Mineral Wells, Texas. Three children were given them, B. F. Smith Jr., a grain man living in Plainview, Mrs. Margaret McCracken of Mineral Wells and W. B. Smith, who resides here. All of his children were here at his bedside and for the funeral.

He and his family moved to Seymour in 1890 and he was a hardware and furniture man in the early days.

Funeral services were held Saturday morning at the Christian church, conducted by Rev. W. C. Hinds and Rev. J. R. Balch.

Book Reading Is An Occupation at T-O

"More people are looking at the books in the library reading booth this year than ever before," Miss Lucia Powell, librarian of the Kemp public library said Tuesday in regard to the exhibit.

The booth of the library is fitted as a reading room with chairs and tables, with the latest volumes of fiction and new magazines ready for reading. Many taking advantage of the booth to read and become acquainted with the books offered by the library.

Attention is called to the extension department of the University of Texas by a poster. Other posters mention the work of extension department. The booth is made quite attractive with other posters.

One is the "Map of Good Stories," a map of the United States bounded on the south by the "Aztec" treasure house; on the west by the sea claimed by Robert Louis Stevenson, Jack London and Joseph Conrad.

Bre'er Rabbit's Briar Patch can be located on the map; also the "enchanted Canyon;" the route of the "Covered Wagon;" David Harum's bank; the "Valley of the Moon;" "Simon Legree's Plantation Along Red River," and other familiar landmarks of literature.

Stereoscopes with views of elephants and birds, of Yellowstone Park and Niagara Falls are coming in for their share of attention in the library exhibit.

GUARD CODIFIED LAWS.

Commission Issues Warning On Circulation of New Volume.

By The Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 30.—The state codifying commission issued a statement after a conference with a book dealer and the printer of the codified Texas statutes to be laid before the legislature next January, on reports that advance copies of the "new laws" would be on sale, announcing that neither the printer is authorized to deliver copy of the codified report; nor a dealer to sell copies of it.

Members of the codifying board declared that reported letters offering "advance copies" of the report to attorneys were sent out without their knowledge or consent; and that no person is authorized to print or sell "advance" copies of the revised codes.

"The work of the commission will not be the law of Texas until after it has been adopted by the legislature," the commission declared. "It is subject to change at any time until so adopted and is mere scraps of paper until it has become the law by enactment."

Five hundred printed copies of the proposed codes have been authorized, and these are to be delivered to the secretary of state, with two copies of bills, containing the revised statutes shall be delivered to the governor for transmittal to the legislature, it was pointed out.

TESTIMONY IN FRAUD CASE

Trial of Bob Chew and Louis Grim Is on at Texarkana

By The Associated Press.

TEXARKANA, Ark., Sept. 30.—Testimony in the case of Bob Chew and Louis S. Grim, youthful oil promoters of the South Arkansas fields, facing mail fraud indictments, was underway in federal court here today with the examination of C. S. Moore, advertising man of Fort Worth, Texas, by the government counsel. It was Moore's agency that handled the promotion advertising of many of the Arkansas oil concerns and he has been one of the main government witnesses in several of the oil fraud cases preceding the Chew case.

On the stand today Moore was asked to identify advertising contained in various newspapers and perodicals which the government introduced as exhibits. Advertisements read to the jury by Judge James D. Sharver, special prosecuting attorney, were characterized by promises of big returns to investors.

HOLY CITY IS IN DANGER

British Government Receives Appeal From King Hussien at Mecca

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, Sept. 30.—The British government has received an appeal from King Hussien at Mecca in which the king stresses the imminent danger to the holy city because of the nearness of the opposing forces of Wahabis.

In view of the relationship with Great Britain and the fact that the Hedjaz and the Hashimite family voluntarily helped the allies against the Turks during the war, the king expresses the hope that England will be able to prevent the Wahabis from taking the holy city.

King Hussien points out that the presence of six airplanes at Jeddah, to which city many of the inhabitants of Mecca have gone, would have a deterrent effect on the advancing tribesmen. He says that he has three planes there himself, but has no bombs because the ammunition dump at Medina was recently blown up.

PENNSYLVANIA FLOODED.

By The Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 30.—Heavy rain during the last 48 hours has caused rivers and other streams to rise rapidly in eastern Pennsylvania. Flood conditions were reported from a number of places with six deaths.

CHARING CROSS VANISHING

Where Once Duke of Wellington Set His Watch Torn Down

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, Sept. 30.—The changes of time and the steady blows of the pickaxe has sent another London landmark to destruction in a cloud of dust. This was the building at 34 Cockspur street which for generations housed the establishment of a famous London clockmaker.

Affixed to the front of this building was a great white-faced clock surmounted by a time-ball, and very old Londoners recall that riding to the war office of a morning from his home in Piccadilly, the duke of Wellington would draw rein to correct his timepiece by the one which hung at high over the street. And now the old clock with its time-ball, which became a landmark to Londoners of a succeeding generation who, on foot or on buses, could view it from the far side of Trafalgar square, has disappeared with the demolition of the building of which it was so long a part.

BILLBOARDS IN CHINA

U. S. Way of Advertising Has Invaded Chinese Interior Now

By The Associated Press.

TECHOW, Shantung, Sept. 30.—The bill-board has invaded China, along with other western innovations, and is gradually making its appearance far in the interior and off the beaten tracks. Not only is it devoted to the recognized purpose of crying the merits of some article of merchandise, but occasionally it is employed in furthering moral uplift. For instance, in certain districts in the province of Shansi herculean policemen are portrayed on bill-boards in the act of seizing opium traffickers, apparently in the hope of bringing the lesson within the scope of the dullest intellect, while others show guardians of the law with enormous knives lopping off the heads of offenders.

DRINK WATER IF BACK OR KIDNEYS HURT

When the Back Hurts Flush Your Kidneys, as You Clean Your Bowels

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, sometimes get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region begin drinking lots of water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is intended to flush clogged kidneys and help stimulate them to activity. It also helps neutralize the acids in the urine so they no longer irritate, thus helping to relieve bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in trying to correct kidney trouble while it is only trouble. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Adv.

Tut Wheat A Bumper For Yields

By The Associated Press.

TACOMA, Wash., Sept. 30.—F. S. Johnson, a farmer, near Morton, Wash., has just harvested a bumper crop of wheat that he says came from seed taken from an Egyptian tomb. Mr. Johnson says he got the seed four years ago and this year the increase was enough to plant 15 acres.

He has just finished harvesting the crop which netted 729 bushels or an average of 48.6 bushels to the acre.

The grain is white and very hard, the straw short and the heads prolific and Mr. Johnson says it is one of the best varieties of spring wheat that he has ever grown. It was not learned from what tomb the wheat was obtained.

MOSUL ROW IS QUIETING.

"Notable Progress" Is Reported By Turks to League of Nations.

By The Associated Press.

GENEVA, Sept. 30.—Notable progress toward settlement of the Mosul controversy was made in the council of the league of nations today when representatives of Turkey and Great Britain agreed to accept appointment of a committee of three who will collect all the available information on the Mosul question and submit to the council their suggestions as to the best means of solving the problem.

Conciliatory speeches were made by Lord Parmoor of Great Britain and Ali Fethi Bey of Turkey, both of whom agreed to accept the decision concerning the frontier between Irak and Turkey which the council might pronounce.

Today's developments before the council were regarded as increasing the possibility that Turkey would soon apply for membership in the league.

Concerning the recent reported skirmishes on the Irak frontier between Turkish and Irakian troops the council urged that both the Turkish and British governments restore and maintain peace on both sides of the status quo frontier pending a definite settlement.

The exact date for the internationl conference to which the United States will be invited for the adoption of a convention to control the international traffic in arms will not be fixed until the December session of the council which will probably be held in Rome.

POPPIES ARE OPPOSED

Compulsory Raising is Attacked By Missionaries in China

By The Associated Press.

KULING, Kiangsi, China, Sept. 30—Successful efforts by American missionaries in Fukien province to save Chinese farmers exempted from compulsory planting of poppy, have resulted in the missions being besieged by farmers desirous of becoming Christians. The local government has been forcing the farmers to buy and plant poppy seeds. Some of the Christian farmers objected and applied to the missions for advice. It was suggested that they buy the seeds, which were being sold at very low prices, and in the meantime the missionaries would appeal to the authorities for exemption from raising the crop.

THE GIRL WILL "STICK."

14-Year-Old Who Eloped With Minister Is Loyal to Him.

By The Associated Press.

BALLINGER, Texas, Sept. 30.—The Rev. Joseph E. Yates, held in jail here on abduction charges filed in Oklahoma, said today he would return to that state with the sheriff of Nowata county, waiving extradition proceedings. The youthful girl whom the 40-year-old minister is charged with abducting, declares she will stay with Yeats "to the last ditch."

It is charged the girl is only 14 years of age. Yeats in declaring he married in Missouri, explained that under the Oklahoma law he could not marry her for the reason he was divorced from his first wife only a month ago. He asserted the belief that the girl is about 17 years old.

The preacher explained that he came to the home of his father near Winters, this county, for the purpose of getting his three children, 11, 6 and 2 years old.

"It's just a little trouble like a man gets into when he runs away to marry," the pastor said last night. "I came direct from Joplin, Mo., where we were married, to my father's home and the report that detectives had been trailing me through other states are false. I don't want any publicity, for it might hurt me in my work."

Rev. Mr. Yeats explained that he has been serving as pastor at Alluwee, but the conference last week transferred him to a Missouri charge.

He was reared in Runnels county, coming here when he was only a year old. He has been in the ministry 14 years. His father is one of the leading citizens of Runnels county. Rev. Mr. Yeats' first wife was Miss Eva Parker, also of this county. They married here about 12 years ago.

LICENSE IS DISCOVERED.

JOPLIN, Mo., Sept. 30.—A marriage license was issued at Carthage September 15 to Joseph E. Yates and Mildred Fields, believed to be the minister held in jail at Ballinger, Texas and the girl he is accused of abducting. The county recorder said today that affidavit was made that the girl was of legal age.

The recorder did not recall whether Yates was accompanied to his office with the girl the time he obtained the license. Application for the license has not been returned and it could not be learned where and by whom the couple were married.

BOYS TO TELL OF ROADS.

Taxpayers of Tomorrow, She Urges, Would Be Propagandists.

By The Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Sept. 29.—Enlistment of a boy in each community to tell how their road taxes are being spent is the new idea of Mrs. Martin of Dallas, vice-chairman of the Texas state parks board. The only condition, she says, is that the boy shall be bright interested and energetic. The reason for this selection, in the view of Mrs. Martin, is that he is disinterested and that the taxpayers would listen to him with more confidence than they would to a politician. Moreover, Mrs. Martin asserts, the boy of today is the taxpayer of tomorrow, will soon buy road bonds himself and should be informed on the subject. Further than that, she says, what this boy learns other boys will absorb, and thus an educational circle is created.

10 to 12 Per Cent Of all Workers Constantly Idle

Russell Sage Foundation Issues Report Upon Unemployment

IS FAR REACHING

Report Not Indicative Of Present Conditions But An Average

The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Averaging good and bad years, 10 to 12 per cent of the workers in the United States—several millions of men and women—are out of work all of the time, and widespread unemployment is now a constant phenomenon with far-reaching economic, social, psychological and moral bearings. These are some of the facts brought out in the introduction of the report of a five year study of employment methods, needs, and agencies made public here today by the Russell Sage Foundation.

Men Are Explorted

In seeking work through certain types of commercial or fee-charging employment bureaus, particularly those dealing with unskilled and casual labor, thousands of men and women are being exploited, and public employment bureaus or exchanges can make a material contribution toward the solution of this and other phases of the ever-recurring problem of unemployment, the report continues.

It is made clear in the report that the figures on unemployment, while representing the average of the country's experience during the last two decades, are not necessarily indicative of present conditions or of the last year.

Probe 70 Cities

The investigation, which extended into more than 70 cities in 31 states and Canada, has just been completed. The full report, covering more than 600 printed pages, will be issues shortly. The survey was conducted by a staff of trained field investigators, all of whom had previously been engaged in employment work, under the direction of Shelby M. Harrison, director of the foundation's department of surveys and exhibits.

Practically every known means for bringing work and the worker together was studied. The "want ad" pages of newspapers, the fee-charging labor agencies, the free public employment office, the labor union's method of securing work for its members, the fraternal order's activities in this field, the practice of applying for work at the factory gate or the office door, all were investigated.

A VIENNA BANK FAILURE

Sensational Developments, promised in Failure of Deposit Firm

By The Associated Press.

VIENNA, Sept. 30.—Sensational developments are reported here in connection with the recent failure of the deposit bank and, according to a semi-official statement, a warrant will be issued for a former president of the bank if a judicial inquiry warrants this step.

Warrants already have been issued for a director of another prominent firm and efforts are being made to trace another former president of the deposit bank. All three have disappeared.

The police yesterday searched the houses of three persons concerned and seized a quantity of money, jewels and other valuables. A mysterious feature of the case is the disappearance of certain important documents from a room in the bank.

LOOK FOR RICHEST MAN

Vienna Is Stirred With 'Financial Caesar's" Recent Manipulations

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, Sept. 30.—All of Vienna is stirred, according to a Vienna dispatch to the London Chronicle, by police proceedings against Camillo Castiglioni, known as the "financial Caesar" and generally declared to be Austria's richest man, in connection with alleged frauds involving huge sums of money. Herr Meumann and Herr Goldstein, co-directors of his enterprises, also are accused.

Castiglioni left Vienna recently and a summons has been issued, according to the newspaper, calling upon him to return. It was during the war that he became known as the nation's wealthiest man and it was then that he was made controller of the deposit bank which failed last May.

OVER 60 YEARS OF AGE

Elderly Women Show Handwork In Exhibit at the T-O.

Work done by women over 60 years of age is attracting attention at the Texas-Oklahoma fair. The booth of this work is displayed in the Woman's building. It includes knitting, crochet and embroidery of the plainer styles for the most part. There are several pieces, however, of elaborate work.

One woman of 82 years has a knitted piece in the display.

Knitted wash rugs, pillow cases with crochet trimmings, knitted house shoes, knitted mufflers, crocheted rugs, knitted bends and beaded bags are among the articles shown in the "Old Ladies" booth.

The ribbons have been awarded, but the names of the winners were not available Tuesday.

EDUCATION IN THE HOME.

International Rotary and P. T. A. In Meeting at Denver.

By The Associated Press.

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 30.—Plans for co-operation with International Rotary clubs in putting over educational programs in the home were authorized by the board of managers of the National Parent Teachers' association meeting here today.

The plan was adopted as the result of a request from the Rotary body suggesting that a committee from the parent teacher association be appointed to work in conjunction with a similar committee to be named by the Rotarians.

The report of Miss Sarah Askew, state librarian of New Jersey, and chairman of the national children's reading committee, was adopted. It calls for definite work to be done in 47 states toward the establishment of traveling libraries.

The only American group that hates either side in China is composed of proof readers.

60 Plus Weds 21

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Pauley.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa, Sept. 30.—"We're so happy," declared Lloyd Pauley, 21, and Mrs. J. L. Gilkerson, who is more than 60 years old, after their marriage here.

Mrs. Pauley celebrated her marriage by bobbing her hair, having it dyed a brilliant red, and announcing that she was going to learn to dance all of the latest jazz steps.

The bride, widow of a civil war veteran, has eight sons, ranging in age from 33 to 48, and eight grandchildren. She soon will be a great-grandmother. This will make Pauley a step-great-grandfather before he is 22.

Mrs. Pauley's first husband is said to have been given more citations for bravery than any other private who served in the war between the states.

She admits she is "at least 60 years old." How much more she refuses to tell.

SPECIAL DAYS AT FAIR

Dallas Exposition Has Received Many Requests for Program

By The Associated Press.

DALLAS, Sept. 30—Special days galore have been arranged for the annual presentation of the State Fair of Texas which will be held in Dallas from Oct. 11 to 26, inclusive.

So many applications for special days have been received that the state fair officials have been forced to combine several days in one. The days expected to be the greatest in the calendar are: Dallas day, when the home city of the fair turns out, west Texas chamber of commerce day, when west Texas will take charge; children's day and high school day, which will be combined so that the school children of the state can have their fling at the galeties of the occasion, and "all college day" when schools from all over the United States will join for reminiscences.

TELL COOLIDGE OF SUIT.

WASHINGTON Sept. 30. Progress in the government's suit for the annulment of leases to naval oil reserve lands was outlined to President Coolidge today by Atlee Pomerene and Owen J. Roberts, government counsel. The prosecutors will leave this week for Toronto, Canada, to take depositions there and expect to take up the case in California next month. Criminal cases will be gotten under way here within a short time, they said.

FAIRYLAND FOR CHILDREN.

House That Jack Built and Cock Robin's Grave Exhibited.

Should your little boy or little girl like to see the House that Jack Built, Cock Robin's grave, Humpty Dumpty or the Palace of Old King Cole, take them to the booth of the Kemp public library in the woman's building at the T-O fair, and there they will see a map with those things shown, just in the right location.

This poster is the map of Fairyland, and the characters of the fairy stories that are familiar to children are shown. The little folk are having much fun finding their favorite friends of fairyland on the poster.

Trouble Over Border Controversy With Jugo-Slavia Looms.

By The Associated Press.

ROME, Sept. 30.—Fears are expressed in political quarters here of complications between Albania and Jugo-Slavia because of the latter's alleged occupation of territory in the Vermocel region assigned by the conference of ambassadors to Albania. The latter nation has protested strongly, asking the league of nations and the conference of ambassadors to intervene and insist that the decision of the conference be respected.

Two Fighting For Russ Crown But It Don't Exist

Unusual Contest of Royalty Is Developing With No Plum

SEEK U. S. MONEY

Grand Duke Nicholaiovitch And Grand Duke Cyril Contest

Central Press.

LONDON, Sept. 30.—There is no Russian throne; at the present there is little prospect of there being one, buttwo men are fighting for the crown.

The contestants are Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholaiovitch uncle of the late Czar Nicholas of Russia, and commander in chief of the Russian armies in the World War, and Grand Duke Cyril Vladimorovitch, eldest son of Grand Duke Vladimir, and cousin of the last ruler.

Nicholas has been a leader of a monarchist movement for some time but Cyril only recently proclaimed himself "emperor of all the Aussians."

Seeks Money in U. S.

The proclamation issued at Belgrade declared that Grand Duke Cyril is to devote himself to liberating Russia from the Communist yoke and that while sworn to observe the Orthodox faith he will allow complete religious liberty. Grand Duke Cyril's son, Vladimir, who is seven years of age, is proclaimed heir to the throne.

An importan part of Cyril's plan to reestablish the Romanoffs in Russian is the floating of a loan in the United States.

Cyril is the nearest of surviving kin of the late Czar. But in the opinion of Grand Duke Nicholas and his closest associates (as well as the present government in Moscow, let us not forget) the Romanoffs no longer have a juridical claim to th ethrone of Russia. A new reigning dynasty might be established as a result of a Zemsky Sobor election, as was the case in 1613, when the Romanoffs were called to occupy the throne of the Ruriks. If the Romanoffs are to regain the rulership, it is to be solely through re-election. Nicholas sees himself as winner of such an election.

Cyril Once in Disgrace.

This stand of Nicholas, coupled with the fact that he is believed to be the sole leader among the monarchists who is still popular with the masses, has drawn to him the majority of monarchists who recently taxed themselves one franc a month each to support his cause.

Grand Duke Nicholas is 64 years old. His father was field marshal of the Russian armies in the Russo-Turkish wa, in 1877. The young Nicholas gained his military knowledge in the military academy and from his father. He became Russia's most famous cavalryman and general.

Grand Duke Cyril was considered in disgrace by the late Emperor Nicholas because he married in disobedience to the ruler's commands of House. At the death of Victoria Melita, divorced Grand Duchess, 1908, the emperor pardoned uncle, Grand Duke Alexis, in Nohim.

EDGE AND THE PREACHERS.

Senator Walter E. Edge is the republican leader of New Jersey. He has a mind of his own and he never hesitates to express his honest convictions. He pronounced the Volstead act a failure and declared for the modification of the act in order that there might be light wine and beer moisture. Edge announced for renomination.

Hamilton F. Kean, a multi-millionaire business man, ambitious to shine in the senate halls, entered the lists against Edge as a dry. There followed the most acrimonious contest that New Jersey republicans have known for many years. First the Anti-Saloon League of New Jersey denounced Edge, declared for Kean and appealed to all law abiding and moral republicans to cast their primary ballots for Kean.

Forty leading pastors of the Methodist, Baptist, Reformed and Presbyterian churches the week before the primaries, issued a call to the church people who are republicans to dethrone Edge and send Kean to the senae. On the Sunday before the primary election a thousand pulpits thundered against Edge.

Senator Edge was renominated by fifty thousand majority in the largest vote ever cast. Major Charles Donnelly is the democratic nominee for senator. Major Donnelly was denounced from one end of the state to the other as a moist candidate. Now Edge is the senatorial nominee of the republicans and Donnelly is the senatorial nominee of the democrats. It is said the fight will not end where it was finished on primary election night, for the superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league has announced his honorable intentions. He is going to resign his temperence job and make the race as an independent candidate for United States senator.

Hamilton Kean received an awful drubbing. A candidate for the United States senate under the laws of New Jersey is permitted to spend fifty thousand dollars for campaign purposes. Kean spent his fifty thousand and was buried. Edge spent his fifty thousand and says the fun was worth the price. Now the democrats say that John W. Davis will sweep the state in November, that Major Donnelly will be sent to the senate and that a majority of the congressional districts will elect democrats.

HOW JOSH CLIMBED.

In the good old days when he was a truck driver in the Oklahoma oil fields J. C. Cosden was known as "Josh." He jumped from the truck to a palace in London and on his return to America the splendor of the Cosdens in town house and country home astounded the four hundred. Mrs. Cosden entertained the Prince of Wales on his recent visit to New York. Mrs. Cosden is the lady who lost $150,000 worth of jewels on the occasion of the visit of the prince and Lady Mountbatten, close to the throne of England and one of the bluest blood lost a number of precious jewels. A daring Raffles invaded the Cosden palace and when royalty and near royalty were reposing Raffles gathered in the plunder and made his daring getaway. There were Scotland Yard detectives in and about the Cosden palace. There were a number of the finest from the detective force of Mayor Hylan's town but Raffles hasn't been caught. Raffles did not leave finger prints behind him. He did not leave foot prints behind him. He baffled the Sherlock Holmses of the two continents but think of the publicity that Josh, the former truck driver in the Oklahoma oil fields, received on account of the coming of the prince and the going of the jewels. Isn't this a land of opportunity!

MISSING LINKS FOR W. J. B.

William Jennings Bryan is making speeches for the democratic nominee in the mountain states of the west. A living tribe of missing links is reported to be inhabiting small islands in the vicinity of Sumatra and the Dutch government has ordered a scientific expedition to examine the missing links.

Newspapers in the Dutch East Indies say that mysterious creatures, half man and half ape, are frequently seen by natives of Poulou Rimau Island and the natives call them orang padks.

As evolution appears to be a dead issue in Texas and Florida with William Jennings Bryan fighting the republicans in the mountains and Rev. J. Frank Norris fighting the devil in Montreal, this discovery of a living tribe of missing links is certain to start more talk after the elections are over.

But why continue the slanderous campaign against the ape family?

UNCOMMON SENSE

By JOHN BLAKE

Night Watches

Said Henry W. Longfellow:
"The heights by great men reached and kept
Were not attained by sudden flight;
But they, while their companions slept
Were toiling upward in the night."

The poet himself was one of those who "toiled upward in the night" always.

Not only was he a poet of eminence, but he was a profound scholar, and earned his living for the most part as a professor in a university where a high standard of erudition was required by every member of the faculty.

Longfellow began life with all a small college in Maine could give him in the way of an education, but he did not consider that he was at all educated when he graduated.

Constantly he toiled over books from his youth to his old age, mastering new languages, reading everything worth reading that he could get his hands on, and keeping in constant touch with the ablest men of his time.

He may not rank with the greatest poets of his day, but he left behind him work that will live forever, and that could not have been accomplished had he not steadily worked at his craft, burning midnight oil over his books while the lads about him were burning it over far different occupations.

To the man who is determined to accomplish something important in life the daylight hours are never sufficient.

The scholars of the Sorbonne who took their books to a church belfry and read them by the bright Paris moonlight did things afterward that made them widely known.

That kind of effort is not necessary today. Everyone who wants to study can afford a better light than moon light or even the tallow dip which those French students could not afford.

What they do not think they can afford is the time.

But the men who will be known 20 years from now are standing day and night watches over their work, and the night watches, when the world is quiet and the student is free from interruption, are the most productive.

Plenty of sleep is necessary. But eight hours of it out of 24 is sufficient. Play is necessary too, but the time for that can be cut down very low until one has earned time to play as much as he likes. And that day does not come to the ordinary man, save at vacation periods and holidays, till he is well past 50.

SUB ROSA

Flirting With Your Friend's Husband

Harmless as it may seem to some girls, tragedies have grown out of small beginnings and mild flirtations have often turned into impassioned love affairs.

I read the other day in a newspaper, that a jealous woman had actually tarred and feathered a girl because she suspected her of making love to her husband.

There was also many murder cases on record for no greater offense than a woman flirting with her friend's husband.

It is dangerous business, and the girls ought to stop doing it.

Their first step in this dastardly undertaking, seems to be to impress the husband of the indifference that exists between themselves and his wife. It is easy for a woman to discern the weak points of another woman, so the girl who wants to impress the husband benefits by the deficiencies of his wife, and plans her own campaign on very opposite lines.

If the wife is delicate and sick, the girl acts robust and strong.

If the wife is narrow and jealous, the girl is a "good sport" and "open minded."

If the wife saves her husband's money and does not dress very well, the girl gets herself up in the latest fashion.

And so it goes, when one woman wants the husband that another woman has, she will use all her brains and intuition and feminine instincts to attract him to herself.

But fortunately, two can play at this game, and if the wife will go to as much trouble to keep her husband as the other woman will to get him, she will not have to stoop to drastic means to get rid of her rival.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

THE OLD STYLE POEM

When Byron and Shelley and Pope had views on the state of the times, they gave 'em unlimited scope in pages and pages of rhymes. They may have been heavy and solemn, but after the poets had once got a start they they kept at it, column on column.

The folks of that earlier day had to read for an hour or two, if they honestly wanted to say that the thought of a poet they knew, and to give them their due, all the literate throng, in castles or houses or hovels, read poems that often were spun out as long as our modern day popular novels.

Today if a poet should try to rhyme for the half of a page, the reader would probably fly into terrible transports of rage, 'Great Scott!" he would shout, "does the fellow suppose that his stuff is so dreadfully clever he can make it as long as good common-sense prose? I can't read these jingles forever!"

If poetry's really an art, as it may be, perhaps—of a sort—it ought to appeal to the heart, which it will, if it always is short. But these poems that Browning and Tennyson penned when they felt the afflatus excite 'em, put the reader to sleep 'ere they come to an end, so we're never attempted to write 'em.

The Heart of the House.

I love the Spanish idea of building a house.

They do not put the garden out in front, as Americans do, nor behind, as do the English, but in the center of the house.

It looks as if they built the garden first and the house around it.

This seems to me to be the proper appreciation of the value of outdoors. Only when one has enclosed a little bit of it does it seem his own. It means a bit of earth more private than in any other way.

Perhaps this form of building may be applicable only to warm climates. But every climate is warm at some time of the year and, if one is going to be outdoors at all, how much better to be able to sit in the seclusion of one's own walls, in one's own garden.

This gives the house an aloofness that is exceptional. It is self contained.

One gets the impression that a court full of flowers and trees is the heart, or gracious soul, where it might be possible to live beautifully as one could never live in an English suburban villa with its terrible uniformity and complete lack of imagination.

The garden in the center of the house gives an opportunity to sit outdoors and, at the same time, an opportunity for privacy. There is a delightfulness about sitting or dining under the open sky that one cannot find under any roof and the garden in the house supplies us not only with a bit of ground that is our own but a bit of sky that is ours.

It is characteristic of America, and all of our western civilization, to confine most of the attention to the house one lives in.

It would be better if the garden space were considered an integral part of the residence and if the garden were enclosed in the house.

Perhaps such things are the result of instincts that lie deeper in us than we imagine, but very probably it is the result of custom and the present custom of having the garden added as an adjunct to the house is one more honored in the breach than in the observance.

We do not live enough out of doors. Probably this is because of our unfavorable climate, but there is many a day and many a night which would better be spent out of doors than in the house.

GLEANINGS FROM THE BOOK OF LIFE

BY CLARK KINNAIRD

MERE REPUTATION

The world places too high a value upon mere reputation. Reputations are not made, they are given.

Shakespeare, through the mouth of Iago in Othello, remarks that reputation is an idle and most false imposition; oft got without merit.

In one of the ironic sketches that make up Theodore, The Sage, a truly unique book, Luigi Locatelli, Italian, subtly satirizes the manufacture of a reputation.

The story concerns Signor Talesforo Cocchi. Signor Cocchi was an idiot. But not an ordinary idiot.

He was consistent, self-conscious and proud of his quality.

When a boy in school he had kept himself curled up in a corner, dumb and sulky.

Everyone got the idea that he had an obstinate will. When he went up for his examinations and failed utterly, everyone said: "Poor devil, he's an idiot, but what a will!"

In fact, he had no will at all.

By good luck he died comfortably well off. When he became a man his fellow townsmen saw him nearly always alone. He spoke little.

This solitude and his savage method of conversation created about him a certain aureole of superiority.

One day at the cafe someone said to him:

"You ought to run for deputy!"

"No!" he shouted, almost yelled, and pounded his glass on the table with such force that the glass broke in his hand.

That broken glass made his fortune.

As the country was beginning to feel the agitation of subversive factions, the dream of all good citizens was to hire a band of cutthroats to reestablish the rule of law and order.

In those days when decent people saw Talesforo Cocchi pass they would say, "Ah, if only that man would take up the task!" The prefect of the city, who was a deep fellow, managed to persuade him to run for deputy, and wrote a splendid speech for him.

In the chamber he never spoke. He kept silent in a corner, as he had the school, sulky and suspicious of all people who talked about things he knew nothing of. Once he voted against the ministry, merely because the minister had said: "Our victory will mean the victory of democracy." The minister had lied, and everyone said that Talesforo was a man of character. He was much sought after in the salons of aristocracy, and the ladies smiled with tender pride, as he used his tea-cup with his little finger.

One day when the minister was protesting that he must yield to the pressure of the labor groups, a deputy seated near Talesforo, blond, rich and blase, murmured in the direction of the minister: "Oh, but resist 'em, old fellow, resist 'em." And Talesforo repeated with a ferocious bellow:

"Resist! Resist! Resist!"

That is how it came about that Talesforo was chosen minister.

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

By MARY BLAKE.

LIBRA.

Today's planetary aspects are excellent until late in the afternoon; thereafter, they become distinctly adverse. During the early part of the day, it is perfectly safe to launch any new enterprise, or affect any material change, as the signs indicate success, especially in efforts involving finance or manufacturing. In the evening, it is essential to seek poise, as the trend is towards irritation and annoyance. Do not allow trifles to worry you or upset your equilibrium.

A child born today will have an uneventful infancy, and will, under normal conditions, develop mentally and physically—just the same as other children. Its character will be stubborn; its disposition gruff rather than amiable; its mentality more profound than superficial. This child will, owing to an absence of tractability, present many difficulties, and, if persuasion should fail, resort must be had to more forceful discipline, in order that its stubbornness may be converted into resolution, and its gruffness into courtesy and consideration for others. It is more likely to succeed in a profession than in a commercial career.

If today is your birthday, your many good points are fully appreciated by your friends and acquaintances, but behind your back, they all make fun of your very apparent vanity.

You have, by your alertness and quick mental processes, accomplished some few successes, both social and commercial; these are recognised by those around you; but you, by your continued boasting of these achievements, detract from the credit due you.

Good, successful work, social successes and smart conversation, possess merits that are patent to one and all; but they lose much of their glory if attention is being drawn, in season and out of season, by the chief actor to the brilliancy of the performance.

Self-praise is no recommendation, and there is very little glory in always seeking the spotlight. If you fairly deserve it, others will see that you are placed within its rays.

Nature may have been in a prodigal mood when you were elected to become a resident of this little Earth of ours; you should for this be grateful, but not boastful. It is not your fault that you are physically superior to your fellows. You, by your own efforts, cannot add an inch to your stature. Why, then, not be grateful for, and not vain, of, something for which you are in no way responsible.

Successful people born on this date are: James Lawrence, naval officer; Rufus Choate, lawyer; Kate Field, actress; James Lewis, comedian; Annie Besant, theosophist; J. C. S. Blackburn, former U. S. senator.

The fit with stickers all over it might look worse. It might have small game hung all over it.

Irrigation

By A. M. McPHERSON

WATER.

Water Wells on the Irrigation Project Not Numerous.

On many parts of the irrigation project it is not possible to obtain drinking water from wells at the present time. In the Denny neighborhood and that portion of the project north of the river good well water is now obtained at reasonable depths, but as a general thing water supply is dependent upon tanks and cisterns.

At different times we have been asked if irrigation would not remedy this situation.

It is very likely that in a comparatively few years the soil all over the project will begin to fill up with water. After irrigation has been practiced for a time there will undoubtedly be lots of springs appear along the creeks and the river.

Many of the creeks will flow the year around. Even in the hottest days of the summer the river will flow instead of drying up as it does now.

There is every reason to believe that as irrigation is continued most parts of the irrigation project will accumulate sufficient water underground so that wells can be found at reasonable depths.

If the people here follow the usual practice on irrigation projects it will be some time before they take the trouble to dig wells. They will depend upon the canals to furnish them with water for both domestic purposes and for the use of their stock. At the beginning their water will probably be fairly pure, but later on it will have to be sterilized if it is to be used with safety for human consumption.

COAX HENS TO LAY

Electricity May Abandon Biddy's Six Months Layoff in Alaska

By The Associated Press.

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Sept. 30.—The domestic hen in the interior of Alaska, accustomed to take a lay-off during the six months of night in winter, will have to do her steady shift at producing eggs, from all indications. Electricity has come to the aid of the Alaska poultry farmer. By the aid of light and heated quarters hens are being made to lay at a time when in the past the egg supply hardly has paid for feed.

Dairymen are constructing a type of chicken house with a basement in which a large air-tight heater is located. The coop is wired with electricity, so that it may be lighted during the "daylight" hours.

With a market of 58,000 cases of eggs and prices ranging from 75 cents to $1 a dozen in winter, the poultry industry promises to become one of the most remunerative in the government railroad belt.

Dorothy Dix

There Are Plenty of Good Reasons Why Men Are Afraid or Loath to Enter the Holy Bonds of Matrimony.

A young woman writes me that, so far as she can figure it out from the census report, there have been as many boy babies born in the last quarter century as there have been girl babies, and inasmuch as she can learn of no especial mortality among male infants, it seem to her that there should be a husband for every girl.

She finds, however, that this is not the case. The husband supply is far from being equal to the demand, and she wants to know why this is thus, and if there is any special region where there are large numbers of eligible men anxious to take unto themselves wives.

Alas, no. I know of no such feminine paradise. Every place is fast becoming an Adamless Eden, so far as matrimony is concerned, and to try to find some particular spot where there is a large available supply of domestic timber is as fruitless a quest as to hunt for the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow.

The trouble is not that there are fewer men than there used to be. There are plenty of husbands to go around if they were properly rationed out, but the difficulty is in doing this, for, after all, you cannot conscript a man into matrimony.

There are many reasons why men are loathe to marry in these parlous times. The principal one is, of course, the high cost of living. It takes so much to support a family that the average young man can no more afford to set up a wife than he can a yacht, so he has to forego the luxury, no matter how much he would like to indulge himself in it.

Only men who have inherited money, or the poor man who is foolhardy, dare risk marriage when they are young and romantic, and by the time a man gets to making enough money to feel that he can prudently undertake the great adventure he has lost all heart for it. His wells of sentiment have dried up. His illusions have been torn to tatters. He has learned to listen to the voice of caution instead of that of impulse, and it whispers to him that it is better to endure the ills you have than to fly to those you know not of.

Another reason why men do not marry is because of the freedom of social intercourse between the sexes. Men who work side by side with women every day, and who play about with them outside of working hours, get all of the feminine company they need without the necessity of assuming a wife's bills or having to stand for her temper and temperament. The boom days of matrimony were those in which a man had to buy a woman's companionship with a wedding ring.

Another reason men do not marry is because we have all, men and women alike, grown more selfish. We call it by high-sounding phrases—developing our own individuality—the right to live our own lives untrammeled—but what it really means is that we love ourselves much better than we are capable of loving anybody else that we are not willing to make the sacrifice demanded by marriage.

A man knows that the income that enables him to live luxuriously when it is all spent on himself would be genteel pauperism if split up with a family. He knows that the doors of rich hostesses that are open to a good-looking, agreeable bachelor are shut in the face of the man who drags a shabby wife around with him. He knows that the single man can take many chances in pursuit of fortune that the man who has a wife and children is afraid to take. He knows it is mighty comfortable to be able to come home with no curtain lecture waiting for him, and so he pauses up a wife for a hatchkey and luxuries.

Another reason men do not marry is because so few girls know how to cook and are willing to do it. The best bait that any woman ever uses on a hook when she goes fishing for a husband is the kind of pie that mother used to make. The wariest old tom trout will rise to that if he can be caught at all. More men marry to get a home and home comforts, and because they are sick unto death of going out to dinner and gobbling restaurant food in a mob than for anything else.

There is nothing in a girl who is a good office woman, or a cracker-jack saleswoman, or a jazzy little fashion plate that makes a man yearn for matrimony. He likes to pal with the one and dance with the other, but he doesn't want to eat out of paper bags with her or spend his evenings with her in cabarets for the balance of his life.

Girls threw away their trump card in the matrimonial game when they cast domesticity into the discard; and if fewer men marry now than formerly did, it is largely because there are fewer women who are willing to go into the kitchen.

A final reason why men don't marry is because women are not so keen about marrying, either. In our grandmother's time a man hadn't the ghost of a chance of staying single because every woman was on the husband-hunting job, and she pursued her prey until she got it. Her means of support, her position in society, her interest in life, depended on her having a husband, and so grandma was some little go-getter.

But granddaughter can support herself quite as well as the average husband is likely to support her. She is envied oftener for being single than for being married, and she has a million interests outside of matrimony. Wherefore a man has to look pretty good to her for her to want him.

Therefore the unhunted dear escapes.

DOROTHY DIX.

HOW IT STARTED

"JOVIAL"

When we use this word we are not thinking, usually, in terms of a god or a planet. But that is how it started: "Jovial" is a relic of the ancient belief in planetary influence. Its ultimate ancestor is Jupiter or Jove, which is the name not only of the supreme deity of the Romans, but the largest of the planets and the brightest of all except Venus.

It was the belief of the ancients that the influence of the planet Saturn was grave and gloomy; the planet Jupiter or Jove made those born under it joyous and full of cheer. We find in Shakespeare:

"Our jovial star reigned at his birth."

The word was then applied to the fortunate beings themselves, and before long was regarded as synonymous with "joyous" regardless of the details of one's birth.

Tomorrow: "The Neck Ruff."

A Runner-Up for Providence

BY MICHAEL J. PHILLIPS

Mr. Brown was pacing the corridor outside their rooms,—waiting. A good deal of time is taken up in California resort hotels by the men in waiting, especially the men if they have womenfolk in tow. Brown was oldfashioned but he was willing to be otherwise. He was hoping that Simons, the New York clothing man with whom he had become acquainted, would be encountered and would bring up the subject of golf again. The steelmaker had been too busy to learn golf before. He realized now it was time he played.

They went to the ballroom. It had been transformed from Americanese to Chinese by paper dragons on the pillars, Chinese characters on the parchments — paper electric shades, and mandarin costumes on the orchestra and waiters. When they had been seated, Mrs. Brown leaned forward and said low: "You see?"

"See what?" asked her husband, shortly. He had looked in vain for Simons.

"They've brought books," she turned her eyes to indicate her daughters.

"Well, what of it?"

"You know," returned Mrs. Brown, in the same cautious voice. "It means it's no use. Berenice says she doesn't want the hostess to drag up boys to dance with her."

Translated, this meant that the pilgrimage dent in search of a husband was a failure. Brown looked thick-skinned and massive, but in some particulars he was sensitive. And he had more delicacy of feeling than his wife. It seemed almost indecent, this matter-of-fact assumption that they were partners in a cold-blooded matrimonial chase involving their own flesh and blood. It was humiliating that such an adventure was necessary. It was degrading that it had failed.

"I've had a letter from Mary Grasparry," went on Mrs. Brown, having impressed on her husband's mind that which she wished to impress.

"What's her trouble?" queried her husband.

"She says Clifford wants to marry Berenice."

"Well, why doesn't he?" grunted her husband, as he watched the dancers turning his head.

"He hasn't any money."

"And never will have," commented Brown, tersely.

"Unless we helped,"-suggested his wife, dropping her voice still more.

"What's their proposition?"

"Clifford thought if you would settle say two hundred thousand on him in tax exempt securities they could live on the income quite comfortably. That would give them twelve thousand a year."

Mr. Brown's gray eyes smoldered. "We're to pay Clifford Gaspary two hundred thousand dollars to marry Berenice. Is that the idea? I'll see him in—"

"But Berenice likes him," urged Mrs. Brown, guardedly but anxiously.

"He's a worthless hound," said her husband. "One of those Russian wolfhounds, all ornament and no use. Even the poorest American hound dog is good for something, sometimes. But he—well, I won't do it, that's all."

Doctor Marjorie Richmond, San Dimario's only woman physician, watched the unfoldment of the little tragedy of the Browns with discernment and sympathy. She was enjoying what she called her "Sabbatical Sunday." When the demands of her profession made too great inroads upon her, it was her custom to abandon the office at noon Saturday, or soon thereafter; pack her most attractive gowns and sport clothes in a suitcase; and register at the Bel-Air.

She would spend Saturday night and Sunday at the big hotel. With a little girl enjoyment of pretending she would play that she was a wealthy resorter in California for the winter. She relaxed and luxuriated and renewed herself in doing as the real tourists did. She loved to bask in the sunshine of the glass-enclosed lobby, watching the drama of life as it unfolded, and speculating on the actors who strutted across the stage.

She thoroughly enjoyed the Saturday night dance, though at times there was a fleeting shadow of half-guilt because there were so many others who were not enjoying themselves at all. Her thoughts kept reverting to the Brown family group on the right side of the ballroom in the center alcove. Especially to that beeneyed girl with the terrible nose and teeth.

"It's nice to have a lot of money, Rod," she said to Doctor Roderick Nulty, who claimed most of her dances, shared professional offices with her, possessed her heart and was soon to become her husband. "But either one of those Brown girls over there would gladly change places with our little office-girl, provided her good looks went into the bargain. The younger girl—her name's Berenice,—is really very nice. She has beautiful eyes and a good figure. And she's bright. But that nose and those teeth! They make her nothing but a caricature. It's really too bad."

"Now, Marjorie, you're not on duty, you know," Doctor Nulty reminded her. "You came here to get away from the sorrows and ills of other people."

She patted his arm in acknowledgment of the reproof-trance. "Her complexion's bad," she went on, thoughtfully. "She could help that. Rod, that girl's so dreadfully handicapped I'd like to see her happily married off just for—oh, just as a compensation for so many things you're sure are going right, but don't."

The Browns were plucky. They were defeated but they would not retreat. They stayed until the last waltz ended at midnight. On the way out, Doctor Richmond slipped her arm impulsively through Berenice Brown's. That young woman, head held high, had the air of an empress returning in triumph from her throne-room.

"What a pretty dress, Miss Brown," said the doctor, cordially.

The girl flushed with pleasure. "You like it, Doctor?"

"Very much indeed." And then she went on: "I'm going to be unprofessional and meddlesome, so you tell me to mind my own business if you wish. But really, you should take more exercise. Your complexion would be better if you did."

The doctor was trading on her personality. As usual, when she projected her personality with the medium of a smile there was not rebuff, but instant response. "Dr. Doctor Richmond possessed charm and attractiveness in large measure.

The girl inclined to her, physically as well as mentally as they passed into the lobby. "Oh, but, Doctor," she said eagerly, "I ride every day."

Doctor Richmond smiled with pleasant scornfulness. "Ride! Horseback riding is a lazy man's prescription. There's more real exercise in an hour walking or swimming than in a week on horseback. Why don't you take a plunge in the ocean each morning?"

"But it's winter. It's still February."

"Winter in the east, yes. But lots of Californians never miss their plunge the year round. The air may be a little sharp these mornings. But that makes the water seem almost warm by contrast. You are healthy and strong. You would react splendidly. It's just the sort of tonic you need."

"I'll start tomorrow morning!" declared the girl, with sudden resolve.

The determination seemed rather a foolish one when the red eye of the sun peered from the ocean next morning. But Berenice arose, arrayed herself in her bathing-suit, drew on Yorkskin shoes for the hundred-yard walk to the beach, and caught up a bathrobe. Maude, on being invited to go along, half-opened one eye and said with feeble scorn: "A plunge—in the middle of winter — at this hour?" and was instantly asleep again.

There was a tingle in the atmosphere as the girl slipped out onto the deserted verandah and padded down the steps. She ran swiftly across the clipped green lawn which rolled in carpetlike perfection to Ocean Boulevard. At the low seawall she paused and hesitated. Early as it was, there were a dozen before her, boys and girls, shouting and splashing in joyous camaraderie.

The idea of joining them was distasteful. She did not want boisterous comment on her preliminary shivers before mustering courage to dive into an advancing wave.

Up the beach twenty seconds' sprint away was Castle Point. Just beyond it, she knew, was the pleasure pier, in a snug little cover. The pier was abandoned at this season of the year, since boats did not begin running to the Channel Islands until May. She hurried up the sands. When the Point had been turned she halted with a little sigh of satisfaction. She was alone with the tender blue sky, the lazy sea and the waking sun.

She dropped the bathrobe, waded in until the water curled about her knees, and then dived determinedly. Almost immediately she splashed upright with a gasp that was a strangled scream, and ran shivering to shore. She had not dreamed that water could be so outrageously, so barbarically cold.

As she stamped on the sand the reaction came and she was considering another plunge when the head of a swimmer appeared from around the pleasure pier and followed a course which brought him to the shallow nearby. The swimmer, a young man, greeted her matter-of-factly.

"Hello," he said. "A little chilly, isn't it?"

"I—yes," she chattered.

"Better get in again," he advised. "It's colder up there than it is in the water."

Obediently she thrust herself into the surf. The youth turned about and with strong, overhand strokes headed away from the beach. "Let's swim out to the float," he suggested. Two metal cylinders banded together side by side and surmounted by a red platform which was just above the water level bobbed on the swell. She followed his lead.

"Your stroke's wrong," observed the youth, abruptly, when they had crawled onto the slats of the float. "It isn't timed right with your kick. I'll show you," and he slipped into the water.

Berenice watched closely the demonstration, even while she was tasting the novelty of the situation. Men in the past had but one of two manners which they exhibited toward her. Either she was Baldwin Brown's daughter, to be treated with effusive consideration which was distasteful because of its insincerity. Or she was a homely girl who had to be danced with.

This tanned and muscular youth placed her in neither category. She was a casual acquaintance of the beach.

"You're up to the hotel, aren't you?" he questioned, when she had improved her stroke markedly under his tutelage and they were resting on the sands, now gratefully warm.

"Yes," she replied, without further commitment.

"Who you with?" he asked, with the same pleasant casualness, drawing circles meanwhile with a forefinger on which, she observed, the nail was thick and broken.

"Why, with pa—" she began, and stopped. For, with a mounting flush of humiliation and resentment, she realized that he had mistaken her for a maid in one of the families of wealthy customers who thronged the hotel.

Her ruffled feelings quieted. After all, her sense of innate justice told her, he was not to blame for the mistake. It was natural. The daughter of a millionaire did not usually bathe at noon, unattended, in a public bathing-beach.

"I'm with the Baldwin Brown family," she said.

"Uh huh," he said, recognition in the name. "He's that Chicago steel millionaire, isn't he, the big fellow with the gray hair and the prize-fighter hands?"

"Yes," admitted Berenice, secretly amused by the apt description of her father.

"Do they take you around a good deal?" he asked.

"This is our first trip to California. They take me everywhere, though. We've been abroad."

"I wanted to go to France," said the youth, wistfully. "My outfit went. But they kept me at Kearny all through the war. I'm an electrician, you know. I guess I was too useful to them."

"Do you come up here every morning?" asked Berenice.

"Yeah." He rose. "You be down here tomorrow morning and I'll teach you the Australian crawl. So long," and with a nod he was gone, running lightly down the beach and around Castle Point."

"He's a nice boy," said Berenice to herself some minutes later on. Rising, softly, she rubbed her skin to a glow with a thick towel in the bathroom. "He's simple, like dad. He's the sort you can depend on, too. I'll bet no one ever doubts his word."

She was defending herself from herself for the informality of the meeting and for the determination, already reached, to go to the beach next morning.

Courteous Boy Scouts Demonstrate Training At T-O Fair Exhibits

Their Flags are on Display At Their Booth Arranged By Scout Executive F. B. Creighton.

An attractive display of patrol and troop flags, pictures and handcraft exhibits arranged by Scout Executive F. B. Creighton makes the Boy Scout booth at the Texas-Oklahoma fair interesting as well as instructive to those who pass and are attracted to enter and explore. Courteous Boy Scouts are on duty at all hours to explain the display and answer questions.

Comprehensive charts in colors made and lettered by the boys set forth in detail the ideals of the organization, the twelve laws, the method of handling problems of boy life, and the skeleton of organization of the scout system.

Their Flags Shown.

Flags of the troops, a council flag, and the flags of the various patrols of the city with their animal insignia are arranged around the walls of the booth between groups of kodak pictures portraying the phases of camp life and training of the Wichita Falls scouts.

Several knot boards, work of the boys, show special skill in tying knots and in mounting the work. The standard of work attained by Wichita Falls boys in winning merit badges is clearly shown by groups of snap shots showing the boys in action.

A series of pictures from national headquarters which are used in instructing the boys in knot tying, fire building, swimming, life saving and many of the crafts, are also on display and show the modern and successful methods used by scout executives all over the country in reaching this work to the scout troops.

A full display of the scout insignia is mounted with explanatory placards, as are the various merit badges awarded to the scouts for the successful fulfilling of requirements for the various ranks.

Sea Scouts to Float Vessel.

In the center of the booth is a display of the work of Wichita Falls thirty Sea Scouts, showing types of boys rope work and knots used in seacraft, a chart of the compass correctly boxed, all made and arranged by the boys. On one side of the display hangs a carefully painted life buoy bearing the name of the Wichita Falls schooner "Geronimo" and on the other side hangs a "lead line" made by the scouts, the splices carefully worked and the line painted white.

The sea scouts, though at present working under the direction of Scout master Creighton, will have a regular boatmaster to take charge of activities December first. At present all thirty of the scouts are working in "India," the fireworks display at the fair, no one of the several plans to raise money with which they will buy a boat of their own to be placed on Lake Wichita.

STREAMS ON THE RAMPAGE

Rapidly Rising Waters Menace Security of Many Cities

By The Associated Press.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 30.—Following days of rain in many southern states the return of sunshine today found rapidly rising streams menacing the security and comfort of many cities.

Elizabeth City, N. J., was viewing with alarm one of the highest tides in years with water standing in low places in a number of streets. The Pasquotank river was reported three feet above normal and still rising.

With rain still falling in Virginia many streams were reported out of their banks and the riverside manufacturing area of Richmond was believed in danger of inundation.

Water on the tracks of the Atlantic Coast line railway caused derailment of an engine of a train between Savannah and Montgomery without loss of life or injury.

Water reported running over a trestle in said to have caused isolation of a Danville & Western train between Spencer and Stella, N. C.

Jacksonville felt the effects of a strong wind, but no danger resulted.

An unidentified schooner is believed to have sunk near Beaufort, N. C., where the tide came over the seawall and went well into the streets of the city.

Portions of Rock Mount, N. C., were flooded today by waters of Tar river with residents abandoning their homes.

The James river at Richmond will reach a stage of 16 or more within the next 24 to 36 hours, the weather bureau there warned this afternoon. The flood stage is 10 feet. The bureau predicted the inundation of lower Main street there by tomorrow afternoon.

"CIDER" HOST PLEADS

Says He Is Not Guilty of Federal Charge Regarding 2.75

By The Associated Press.

BALTIMORE, Md. Sept. 30.—Representative John Philip Hill today pleaded not guilty to an indictment returned by the federal grand jury last week charging him with manufacturing and possessing wine and cider in violation of the law. He was released on $1000 bail pending trial which will be held sometime after November 10.

Mr. Hill pointed out to the court the effect the case would have on the coming elections and requested an earlier trial. Denying this request Judge Sopher said:

"The very reason you give for asking an early trial is the very reason I refuse it. This court can not be used for campaign purposes."

Mr. Hill's indictment followed closely upon a "cider party" given at his home. The cider, he said, had no alcoholic content of 2.75 per cent. His purpose, the congressman says, is to obtain an interpretation of the phrase "non-intoxicating liquor" in Section 29 of the Volstead act. He has declared that he will carry the case to the United States supreme court.

Wall Street Bets Run Even up On Contending Clubs

Washington Given Wee Edge in Few Wagers Placed

GIANT STAFF BETTER?

Youngster Being Groomed To Take Heinie Groh's Position

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Washington's sensational victory in the American league has stirred baseball fandom to unprecedented enthusiasm in the fight which the Senators will start for the world's championship with the New York Giants next Saturday in the national capital.

Only the fact that Washington's American league park is unable to match the capacity of the Yankee stadium will prevent the shattering of the records for attendance and receipts established in the million dollar series of 1923, officials declared.

"All of Washington, most of Maryland, Virginia and other parts of the south want to see the Senators battle the Giants," declared Mr. Rynon, "and our club faces a formidable task in trying to squeeze the multitude of ticket-seekers into space which propably will be limited to 37,000 even with additions we will provide."

Landis Enthusiastic.

Commissioner Landis displayed characteristic enthusiasm over the prospect for the series, which, for the first time since he became diamond director, will involve a club outside of New York.

Wall street's interest in the forthcoming baseball classic was shown today in reports of wagering on the outcome, with even money generally prevailing. Several wagers were reported, however, with the Senators a slight favorite, in one instance $1,500 to $1,500 being offered and quickly covered on the basis they would win. With Walter Johnson slated to twirl the first game for Washington, several bets were made at 3 to 2 that he would lead the American leaguers to victory.

Giants' Corps Formidable.

Meanwhile, the boards of strategy of both teams are mapping out their campaigns. While the senators are generally credited with possessing the more formidable hurling corps, built around the veteran Johnson, Giant supporters believe that McGraw will have unexpected strength in the box. They point out that the Senators' mound staff showed unmistakable signs of strain in the closing weeks of the American league race, when the club's batting strength pulled it through, whereas the Giants' hurlers —chiefly Nehf, Bentley, McQuillan and Barnes—finished with impressive exhibitions when everything was at stake.

Jawn to Reverse Line-Up.

Part of McGraw's plans, it was indicated, involved the use of a reversable line-up against the Senators, depending on the pitching he faces. He has not announced his final decision, but it is believed the Giant chieftain plans to use Terry on first base and George Kelley, regular first sacker, in center field, against right handed twirlers, with the sensational youngster, Hack Wilson, in left field. When the Senators send their southpaw aces, Mogridge and Zachary, to the mound, McGraw probably will use Wilson in center, Irish Meusel in left and Kelly on first.

With the probability that Heinie Groh's twisted knee will not be in shape, McGraw is grooming Lindstrom, Chicago schoolboy, to start the series at third. McGraw was particularly pleased with the way in which the youngster came through under fire in the Pittsburgh series last week. Lindstrom will be one of the youngest players ever to participate in the baseball championship.

STEWART WELL PLEASED.

Longhorns' Showing With Southwestern Fast Week Not So Bad.

AUSTIN, Sept. 30.—Coach E. J. Stewart was apparently pretty well pleased with the showing the Longhorns made against the Pirates last Saturday.

His chief criticism of the play was a lack of teamwork and co-operation among the players. This fault was scarcely apparent at the opening of the game; but as substitutes filtered into play, the defect became more perceptible.

Due has no cause for alarm in this, as he ought to be able to iron out this trouble, with little effort. It is but a part of early season form.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept 30.—Rain today caused postponement until tomorrow night of the welterweight title bout between Mickey Walker, champion, and Bobby Barrett of Clifton Heights, Pa., at the Philadelphia National league ball park.

McGraw Will Not Give Out Line-up Until Last Minute

Heinie Groh and Frankie Frisch Will Be Ready

JAWN'S PSYCHOLOGY

Arthur Nehf Existing Choice To Climb Mound In Opener

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—From a source no further away from our Mr. McGraw than his most immediate heel prints came the information today that Heinie Groh and Frank Frisch would be in the line-up of the New York Giants for the opening game of the world series on Saturday.

At the moment, Groh is disporting a demountable knee and Frisch is wearing a balloon tire in lieu of the middle finger on his throwing hand, the result of injuries during the late stages of the National league race.

Alleged interviews have McGraw quoted to the effect that he is certain both infielders will be on the field when the bell rings for the first number of the annual fall nuisance. McGraw has made no such prediction and will make none until such time as it pleases him to do so.

Save It For the Last.

Newspaper men are given to understand that McGraw hopes to disconcert the Senators by keeping his line-up an official secret until the last moment. That also sounds like a bedtime story, but it is offered for what it may be worth, if anything.

Around headquarters it is the general belief that the Giants will take the field as follows: Groh, third base; Frisch, second base; Young right field; Kelly, center field, Terry, first base; Wilson, left field and Jackson, shortstop, batting in that order. Either Gowdy or Snyder will be behind the plate, with the former favored.

Nehf Is Hurling Choice.

Arthur Nehf is the existing choice to pitch the opener, if any choice can be made at this premature hour. He is being rested with this end in view, but even a bat boy knows that pitching selections are an eleventh hour business.

With five days remaining, Groh still was getting around with the aid of a cane today. But the general idea is that Groh has less chance of playing that Frisch. He is a fragile specimen and his age may militate against a speedy recovery. In that case, Lindstrom will prove an adequate substitute. That young man is a fine fielder and fair hitter, lacking only Groh's big series experience. Just how much value the latter is in some cases has been proved by Joe Sewell, Babe Adams and other world series stars of former years, almost unknown before the games began.

A Good Man at That.

Frisch's injury probably will interfere with the business of gripping a bat and taking throws at second base; yet, in all, will hardly reduce the star's efficiency by so much as 10 per cent. Except at plays coming from the right side of the infield, Frisch can take throws on his gloved hand, and in any case the Giants need him too much to have him out of the lineup.

NAVY ELEVEN HOME BUILT

Army Boasts of Stars Who Won Spurs Before West Point Days

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—When the army and navy elevens clash late this fall in their annual game a "home built" team will be pitted against as "assembled" one.

Close followers of the two teams point out that the Annapolis stars expected to shine this season are mostly men who were developed under coaches at the academy. The army team is composed mainly of men who had achieved some measure of success on the gridiron before entering Uncle Sam's institution.

Three of the men counted on as towers of strength in the army backfield this year are "Tiny" Hewitt, Harry Wilson and Bill Wood. Hewitt won fame as a line plunger with Pittsburgh two years ago. Wood was a star of the John Hopkins university eleven before joining the soldier boys four years ago. Wilson was on the Penn varsity for three seasons and an important member of the team each of those years.

Of the men, mostly newcomers, on whom the navy coaches are counting for backfield material this yeng, Flippen is the only one who won any fame on the college grid before donning the sailor togs. He was a member of one of the much heralded Centre college elevens.

The navy must develop a complete new backfield. Cullen, Borchet, Devens and McKee were graduated last June.

West Wins Shade In National; East Best in American

The western brigade carried off the honors in the National league by a margin of 23 games, while the fine work of Washington during the last six weeks enabled the eastern contingent to come out on top in the junior circuit. The New York Yankees also during the latter part played above their previous intersectional strength, so that the eastern quartet as a unit finished with an advantage of 20 games.

The Brooklyn club, which has been making a game fight for the National league pennant, was the best intersectional performer in either league with a mark of .591. Washington and the Yankees were tied for second place with .590, and two National league clubs—Chicago and Pittsburgh—were even for third with .575.

The Boston Nationals proved the weakest intersectional performer with a mark of .350, four points below the Phillies.

The records for the intersectional games in both leagues follow:

CHAMPS DROP FINAL.

Washington and Nick Altrock Clown Way to Defeat at Boston.

BOSTON, Sept. 30.—Boston finished in seventh place, by beating the pennant winning Washington today 15 to 1 in a game which showed that the latter harbored no grudge against the Red Sox for having delayed the finish by taking the first of the final series here.

Nick Altrock, Washington's clown coach, delighted the fans by holding the home team to one run while he had possession of the mound for the final two innings, and then he capped the day by scoring the lone Washington run after hitting a "remarkable three bagger.

Opening Events T-O Fair Races Prove Thrilling

Wichita Falls sport followers were given their first treat of 1924 running races Tuesday at fair track, and the dose was well taken. The opening day card called for six contests, but seven more or less thrilling events were run off.

In the initial race of the afternoon, a six-furlong event, W. C. Merrick's Judson Wise with Mulkey up trailed Miss Leighton, owned by Mrs. Gladys Morgan and ridden by Gray, until the last turn. There the Merrick horse pulled up to nearly even terms, and then broke down the home stretch victor by half a length in the time of 1:17. Our leader, owned and ridden by Noble Tiller, drove in third.

Indian's Race

Frozen North Stables' Full of Fun captured the second event, one-mile run, in 1:44 with Jockey Cowan up. T. O. Atwell's Nohow, ridden by Hamilton, was second, and Whippet of the C. M. Stilwell stables, ridden by Law, was second.

W. F. Metzger's Shady Lane, ridden by Law, won the third race, five-furlong event, in one minute flat. Tiller rode his Smoke Berkins to second place. O. F. Morrison's Orrisine, ridden by Short, came third. The event consisted of four-year-olds and upwards.

The fourth event of the afternoon came as an extra and harkened back to the old frontier days when a band of Comanche Indians put on a race. Jim rode Soda to first honors with Pearl ridden by Spencer coming second, and Blue ridden by Roscoe taking third.

The fifth race, another five-furlong event furnished more thrills when J. Hays' Colonel Put, ridden by Johnson, beat Moon Winks of the F. C. Briggs stable by a nose. Time was again one minute flat. This race was for all ages. Decoration Lass, owned by A. L. Petty and ridden by Law, ran third.

Three-Year-Olds Bunch

The six furlong event for three-year-olds and upward brought the stands to their feet as the three winners, bunched all along the way, battled around the course for an advantage. The trio was neck and neck on the stretch. C. F. Jenkin's Balleynew, ridden by Gray, overhauled J. Hays' winner by a hair. Time: 1:16. Big Indian, owned by E. E. Bucanham and ridden by Smith, was third.

Noble Tiller rode W. C. Marrick's Billy D. to victory in the final event of the afternoon, a half mile dash. Tiller jerked up from behind R. E. Fullington's Whiskey Pete on the home stretch and again won by a nose. Time: 49 3-5. Mangold rode the second place winner. R. Woodman's Chubley, ridden by Armstrong, ran third.

A formidable card of races is scheduled for this afternoon.

MACKS MAKE FAST FINISH.

Connie Bolsters Team into Winning Combination Toward Season End.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 30.—In the excitement attending the closing days of the American League race and the victory of the Washington club many close followers of baseball may have lost track of the Athletics.

While the Yankees were struggling in vain to cut down the onplunging Nats, Connie Mack climbed from the cellar to fifth place in the league standing. And while his newly constructed team was doing this it maintained a winning gait equal to that of the Yanks and Nats.

Part of the success of the Mackmen in the closing days was due to the new pitching staff Mack has built. The men he counted on were newcomers, men who were not with the club before the closing days of the 1923 season.

These four were Baumgartner, Gray, Meeker and Burns.

Eddie Rommell, star of 1923 and a disappointment in 1923, fizzled again the past season, due partly perhaps, to Mack's inability to construct a good team to work behind him. However, Burns, Gray and Baumgartner did good work under similar conditions.

As for the rest of the team, Max Bishop, a flash in the spring, finally landed on the bench, and Jimmy Dykes finished the season at second and played a bang-up game.

Bill Lamar, outfielder obtained late from Toledo, made a good running mate for Al Simmons, one of the few "hopes" of spring to last all summer long. Lamar's batting played a big part in the late spurt of the team.

Intersectional Play Features Football Season

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept 30.—Intersectional football will play a big part on the intercollegiate gridiron this season. Several important games between strong teams from different sections of the country are scheduled, these games being the only available basis of comparison between the grade of football as played in the east, in the west and south of the Mason-Dixon line.

The army leads the list with four intersectional contests on its schedule. Notre Dame meets three teams out of its territory, while Yale, Brown, Penn State and Boston College each play two intersectional games.

Notre Dame's invasion of the east, where the Army and Princeton will be met on successive Saturdays, followed by a game at South Bend against Georgia Tech's Golden Tornado, looms as the most formidable of all intersectional assignments.

The more important intersectional contests scheduled follow:

Saturday, Oct. 4.

At West Point—
Army vs. St. Louis University.
At Hanover, N. H.—
Dartmouth vs. McGill
At Cambridge—
Havard vs. University of Virginia
At New Haven—
Yale vs. North Carlina.
At State College, Pa.—
Penn State vs. North Carolina State.

Saturday, Oct. 11.

COYOTES DRILL IN SECRET

No Game Yet For Saturday, But Squad Practices Hard

Secret practice the remainder of the week is on the card for Coach Bud McCallum's Coyote gridsters. Spectators will be barred from the workouts. Also, today the coach intends to cut his squad by some appreciable figure.

No game as yet has been scheduled for Saturday, but the high school youngsters are drilling hard every day, and are fast rounding to good form. Halwback Lawson injured an ankle during Tuesday's practice and may be held up for several days. Quarterback Deems has been out since last Saturday's contest with Decatur college when he damaged a knee.

NOCONA DEFEATS BOWIE.

Game Between Nocona and Decatur Chalked Up for Saturday.

NCCONA, Sept. 30.—Nocona high defeated Bowie at Bowie Saturday, 6 to 0. The only score of the game came when Crites made 40-yard gain and Lindelof carried ball through line for a touchdown. Lindelof failed to kick goal.

Nocona will play Decatur Saturday.

RAIN HALTS SPORT CARD.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Rain today dealt a knockout blow to sporting activities. Baseball, boxing, cricket, polo and horse racing programs all were shelved because of a heavy downpour.

Full Credit Is Given 'Bucky' In Rise of Griffs

Nats Expect to Give Their Best in Series With Giants

HARRIS A KETCHEL

Youthful Leader's Fighting Spirit Accounts For Victory

BOSTON, Sept. 30.—Bucky Harris and his gang of fighting Griffs expect to step into the world's series at the same headlong pace which has carried them from nowhere to the top of the American league in the hottest struggle in that league since 1908. It is the only kind of baseball they know—the Bucky Harris brand—produced by the 27-year-old leader of Washington's first pennant winner.

Sixth In May

In May the Griff men were sixth. Five weeks later, at the expense of the Tigers and Yankees, they were first.

A cruel series of double headers shoved them back to third, but Bucky Harris never stops fighting. He is baseball's Stanley Ketchel. His team is a horde of Ketchels.

The Griffs would not be stopped. Late in August they climbed once more into first place, over the Yankees.

Facing the stiffest opposition in the final three weeks, they have delivered blow by blow, asked no quarter and held their grip on first place. They will enter the world series prepared for anything and everything.

See Victory Ahead

They see victory ahead.

Four cardinal points may be seen in the work of the Washington club.

1.—Bucky Harris as manager and second baseman par excellence is a human dynamo. He has put fight into the same players who had a hard time to take fourth place last year.

2.—The battery work has been uniformly smooth. Muddy Ruel has shown skill in handling a capable, hard wecking pitching staff.

3.—The infield is practically air tight.

4.—The outfield has speed and punch.

It is difficult to single out individuals among the Griff men.

Fighting Machine

The players have been so welded into a fighting machine that the real praise goes to the organization rather than to this player or that.

Bucky Harris rightly gets the credit for that.

"BIG TEN" DEBUT NEAR.

West Conference Grid Season Opens Officially Saturday.

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—The "Big Ten" conference will open officially Saturday, with Purdue playing Ohio State at Columbus, and the other members of the association meeting nonconference teams.

Two Missouri Valley teams figure in two of these contests. Nebraska playing its usual lead-off with Illinois, while Missouri meets Chicago.

Purdue already has one victory, over Wabash, but this is Ohio State's first game. They have most of their good men back from last year and are expected to cause trouble to other conference teams.

Minnesota will meet North Dakota, a team defeated last Saturday by Wisconsin, 25 to 0, and the result is expected to show whether the Gophers have developed a backfield and wing men to match their veteran line. Wisconsin meets Iowa State and has still another minor opponent before meeting conference elevens.

Michigan, switching to a new team for its opening game, Miami, instead of Case, also has one more easy opponent, and then six conference games on successive Saturdays, the toughest of the Big Ten schedule.

Indiana, with a 65 to 0 victory last Saturday, meets Depauw for a further seasoning before facing conference teams.

Northwestern, with its line question still unsolved, goes against South Dakota, and Iowa will make its Big Ten debut against Southwestern Teachers of Oklahoma.

Notre Dame starts its widespread campaign with Lombar and after peeping another minor team next week, will take on the Army and Princeton on successive Saturdays in the east, followed by Georgia Tech, Wisconsin and Nebraska.

RAIN WASHES SEASON AWAY IN PHILADELPHIA

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 30.—Continued heavy rain today washed away the baseball season in Philadelphia, the final games of a double header between the New York Yankees dethroned champions of the American league, and Philadelphia Athletics being cancelled.

SERIES UMPIRES CHOSEN

Klem and Quigley Represent Nat'l; Dineen and Connolly from American

The umpiring staff for the series was completed today when President Heydler named William J. Klem and Earnest Quigley to represent the National league. President Johnson of the American league, previously had selected Tommy Connolly and William Dineen.

Panthers Lock With Chicks In Wigwam Today

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 30.—The Memphis Chicksaws returned to their own wigwam today, sorely wounded but still in the fight and made ready for the renewal of their battle with the Fort Worth Panthers for the south's premier baseball title—the Dixie championship.

The Chicks returned to friendly territory a game behind the Panthers whose clawing and clubbing gave them three straight victories in the Texas city. Only a game separates the teams, and the Panthers need only one game to start them back to Fort Worth with the Dixie flag. Notwithstanding the setback they suffered in Fort Worth, the Southern association champions came home with high spirits and confidence that they can, yet snatch the title from the fire. To do so they must duplicate their performances of last Thursday and Friday, when they let the Cats down twice with scores of 2 to 1, and then started on their disasterous journey to Texas two full games ahead.

On the other hand, the Texans came back full of hope but realizing that they still have a fight on their hands.

The battle tomorrow likely will be between Jimmy Walkup the Cats' southpaw, and Otto Merz, the Chick righthander.

Veteran Walter Johnson Gives Nats First Flag

Rest of Staff Do Their Bit, But Walt Does Lion's Share

MOUND RECORDS CUT

Washington Fans Look To Great Hurler In Series

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Walter Johnson, for years the "pitching staff" of the Washington team, is the keystone of the hurling arch which has carried Washington from the baseball rut to the top of the hill and the world's series.

Russell Did Noble Work

Jezebel Zachery and George Mogridge dished up the southpaw shoots that were vital to a pennant winning team. Martina, Marberry Zahniser and Ogden contributed their wins to the record, day by day. Allan Russell did noble work as a relief hucker. But it was the wonderful day in and day out pitching of the veteran of eighteen years of service that carried the team along.

To Johnson must go the lion's share of the glory of winning the flag. To him Washington fans look in the coming series.

Johnson's Record

Modern records for pitching consecutive wames. Pitched three on Sept. 4, 5 and 6, 1916.

Major League record for shut-out games. Had 103 before present season began.

American league record for most games won in career. Total nears that of 372, set in National league by Mathewson.

Major league record for strikeouts in career. Had 3,058 before 1924 season began. National league record 2,297, held by Mathewson.

Major league record for pitching consecutive scoreless innings. Pitched 56 shutout innings in 1913.

Major league record for continious service as pitcher with one club. Has served 18 years with Washington. Cy Young divided his services between American and National league.

Tied with Joe Wood for American league record for consecutive victories. Won 16 in row in 1912.

American league record for number of wild pitches in a season. Twenty-one in 1910. This record is so startling that it is an interesting paragraph in the king's history.

NATS CAST MEMORABLE PHRASE INTO DISCARD.

The winning of the American League pennant by Washington casts into the discard a memorable phrase originated years ago. It went about like this:

Washington: First in war, first in peace and last in the American League.

PACIFIC COAST LEAGUE.

Sacramento 4; Vernon 9.
Salt Lake 5; Oakland 2.

STAINED WOOD SHINGLES FINE FOR BUILDINGS

By the Architects' Small House Service Bureau of the United States, Inc.

Of the various materials available for covering the roof and exteriors of wooden buildings, it is doubtful if any have a greater degree of attractiveness, combined with effective economy, than do high grade stained wooden shingles.

Good Architectural Effects

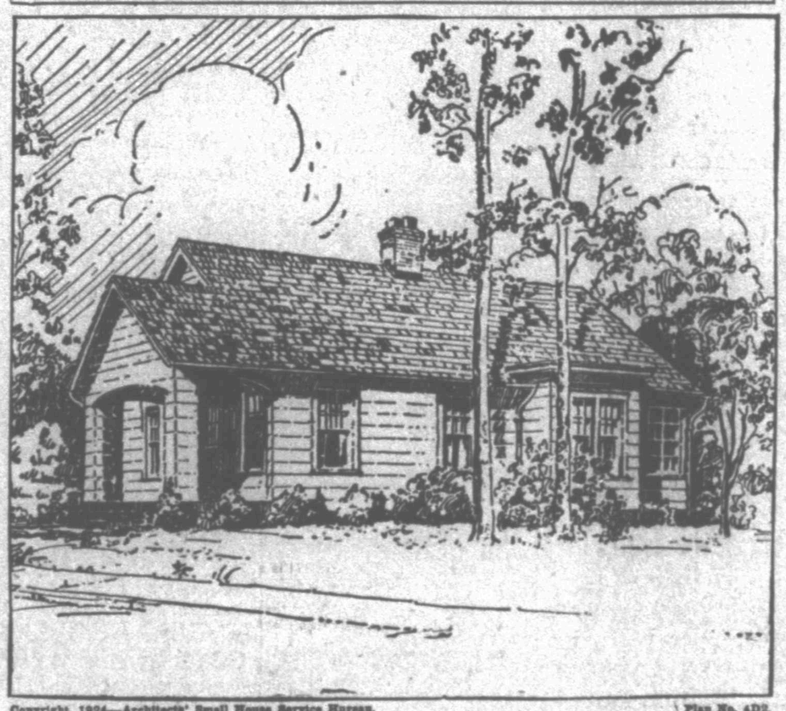
Stained shingles are particularly adaptable to the side walls of the small house. For this purpose they may be secured in any color or shade that may be desired. They can also be laid in various patterns to accentuate certain architectural lines and areas in the wall. Perhaps one of the most popular ways of using shingles for this purpose is to employ the large size unit which is 24 inches in length. When this shingle is used a wide exposure may be obtained which may be as much as 16 or 11 inches. The effect is that of wide bands running about the building. A similar result is obtained through the use of wide siding sometimes known as Colonial siding. This particular effect is very much desired on certain types of small homes.

Compared with the cost of siding for the covering of side walls, stained wooden shingles often show a considerable saving. The actual amount that can be saved varies with the local market and with the qualities of the materials that are used. For example, it will be found that there are various costs for siding depending upon what kind of wood is used, its quality, and the width and thickness of the pieces. These different costs apply also to shingles. The variation comes from the kind of wood that is used and its quality and from the size and thickness of the shingle units.

Good Nails Essential

It is not to be inferred that any kind of wood shingle will do for your walls or for your roof. There is as much difference between grades of shingles as there is in clothing. High grade wooden shingles are made from wood that is clear from knots. It is sawed like the best grade of soft wood flooring, that is to say, it is edge grain or quarter sawed. The annual rings make parallel lines down the long dimensions of such shingles. This makes them much more durable. These edge grain shingles present a surface which readily absorbs and holds the protective stain. The regular quality of the wood is such that the shingles do not warp, curl, or split as will flat grained, knotty shingles. When it is understood that when a shingle starts to curl that is the beginning of the end, it will be seen how desirable it is to use only the quality that will lie flat at first and that will stay flat. Properly stained, high grade shingles applied as they should be, whether to the wall or to the roof, should last a long period of years.

A FOUR ROOM CELLARLESS BUNGALOW



Copyright, 1924—Architects' Small House Service Bureau. Plan No. 4D2.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The plans for small homes are furnished by the Regional Bureau of the Architect's Small House Service Bureau of the United States, Inc., an organization made up of the representative practising architects from leading architectural offices throughout the United States. This bureau is controlled by the American Institute of Architects, and has the endorsement of the Department of Commerce, United States government. It is practically a non-profit making public service, and has as its purpose the furnishing of a very complete and dependable small house plan service at modest cost. For information regarding the blue prints and specifications, address the Home Building Editor of this paper. The United States bureau maintains an information department to answer home builders' questions at no charge. Enclose stamped addressed envelope.

THE cellarless house is not an absolutely new idea. It is becoming more and more popular however, because by means of a ground floor heater the basement can be eliminated and it is said that perhaps as much as 15 per cent can be saved.

Features of This Home

While this home is officially a four-room bungalow, the dining alcove off the kitchen gives it all the convenience of a five-room house. Many housewives prefer the dining alcove to the formal dining room. The dining room in a small home occupies space that is used only a part of each day, and the dining alcove is an effective and practical substitute.

Coal storage, refrigerator and laundry trays are taken care of on the inclosed rear porch. Closet space will be found in abundance in this house. The same chimney which serves the kitchen range takes care of the ground floor heater. This home is of frame construction on masonry foundation or it may be put on a pier foundation. The exterior is wide wood siding and the roof shingle. Stucco can be used as exterior treatment if preferred. A brick base course surrounds the house.

Cost to Build This Home

The home is planned for a narrow lot—35 to 40 feet in width. The cubic contents are practically 14,200 feet. The cubage to be heated is 4,980 feet. The house is planned to face west or south, but can be reversed for other facings.

The cost to build this house will depend upon what it is made of and what you put into it. The cost will also be affected by the location in which the house is built. In certain cities costs are much higher than in others. Simple equipment will decrease the cost, whereas expensive equipment and material will increase the cost.

WHAT YOU MAY WANT TO KNOW ABOUT BUILDING

Questions addressed to the paper will be answered by the Architect's Small House Service Bureau of the United States, Inc., controlled by the American Institute of Architects and indorsed by the department of commerce, United States government. Inclose selfaddressed, stamped envelop for reply.

Q—Will you please state the kinds of roof that are used in small house construction and tell me which is least expensive to construct?

A—Small houses are roofed with practically all kinds of roofs. In the order of their relative expense to construct, we should list these roof types as follows: gable, hip, gambrel, hip and valley, gambrel with valley. Adding a deck or cutting in dormers in any of these increases the expense. You should not allow this matter to weigh too heavily in selecting your home design. The most expensive roof to construct in the long run is the one which is not designed scientifically.

Q—Is the method of obtaining the cost of a house by the cubic content method accurate? What part of the building is considered in obtaining the cubic content?

A—This is not an accurate method in small house cost estimating. It is fairly accurate for large buildings, like office buildings, schools and warehouses, where equipment and construction are very uniform. The cost of a small house varies somewhat with the size, but more so with what is put into it in the way of finish and fittings. Increasing slightly the size of a house does not increase costs directly in proportion to the added cubage. The cubic content as used for estimating includes the real cubic content of the basement and living portion of the house and half of the attic space. Open porches are counted in at 50 per cent of their cubic content.

Q—Are metal weather strips really effective in preventing cold air from entering the house?

A—A great deal of heat lost takes place around the edge of the window. In general, there is much more loss in an old house than there is in a new one. Metal weather strips of good design and in working order prevent a considerable amount of this heat loss. One of the most scientific formula now employed to determine the amount of heat radiation necessary to warm a room takes into consideration, among other things, the combined length of window sash margins. When weather strips are used, the formula is changed; less radiation is necessary.

A NEW WOMAN PROBLEM

Berlin Seeks Way to Teach Fair Sex How to Get off Cars

By The Associated Press.

BERLIN, Sept. 30.—There have been so many accidents in Berlin within the last few months caused by women stepping off street cars backward, that officials of the car lines have offered a prize for the best solution of the problem.

They are considering many suggestions, including one from a conductor that a mirror be installed near the car step, so placed that alighting passengers, to see their reflection, would be compelled to face forward. Vanity would do the rest.

THE BRUTE!

CONTROL RADIO STATIONS.

Sweden Take Steps to Supervise Broadcasting in the Kingdom.

By The Associated Press.

STOCKHOLM.—All radio broadcasting in Sweden is to be placed under government control, the government department of telegraphs and telephones operating jointly with the Swedish press in this connection.

The plan calls for the erection by the government of five broadcasting stations, situated at Stockholm, Gothenburg, Malmo, Sundsvall and Boden. These facilities will at all times be available for use by the government.

Programs given in Stockholm will be transmitted by wire to each of the other four stations, at which there will also be local programs, and it is planned to provide 1,500 hours of entertainment a year. Storm warnings, messages of distress from the sea, etc., will in all cases take priority over entertainment.

DINERS WRECK DISHES.

Heavy Handers at Wembley Exposition Are Costly Patrons.

By The Associated Press.

LONDON.—The average daily crowd of 70,000 people eating in the numerous restaurants at the Wembley exhibition are responsible for the smashing of 30,000 pieces of crockery every six days. In an average week be breakages are 761 dozen cups, 345 dozen saucers, 472 dozen plates and 774 dozen miscellaneous pieces, according to the firm which has the contract for feeding the visitors.

These figures do not include glasses broken in the drinking saloons, and it is stated that it is no uncommon thing in a busy week for one bar to smash 1,500 glasses. As there are some 54 bars in the exhibition it is apparent that the number of glasses smashed since the exhibition opened in April must be about 700,000.

AFTER INHERITANCE TAXES

State Should Realize $3,000.00 A Year in Collections

By The Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Sept. 30.—Millions of dollars in inheritance taxes are being withheld from the state, according to Lon A. Smith, state comptroller, who started a drive today to bring in the delinquent payments. Rich men's estates are escaping the tax on all hands, some through alleged violations of the law and others because the state hasn't enough collectors to do the work, it is said. Heirs of wealthy Texans living in other parts of the country and some in foreign countries, it is charged, are enjoying the benefits of money which belongs to the state of Texas from the riches of whose soil, mines and oil wells the wealth originally was taken.

The first step in the attempt to round up some of this money was the appointment today of R. C. Lomax of the comptroller's office as a traveling auditor to visit each county to check up on the estates of persons who have recently died. Mr. Lomax has been chief accountant of the department for several years.

While the legislature, in amending the inheritance tax law at the last session, expected it would bring in about $3,000,000 a year, the records show that only $358,000 was collected from this source for the fiscal year ending August 31.

Circling Globe Is Good for Bald Headed People

Aviators Assert that Something About Experience Fertilizes the Pate

SOME GRAY HAIRS

Just a Few Faintly Streaking Dark Head of Lieutenant Smith

By The Associated Press.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 30.—Abandoning the planes in which they completed the first circumnavigation of the globe, six United States army lieutenants were prepared to leave Seattle today by train for Dayton, Ohio, to witness the international air races. The airmen plan to return here later to claim their planes at Sand Point aviation field.

"I didn't say goodbye to my machine; just said au revoir," said Lieutenant Lowell H. Smith, commander of the expedition and pilot of the flag plane Chicago.

Lieutenant Eric Nelson, engineer of the flight and pilot of the air cruiser New Orleans, and Lieutenant Leigh Wade, who piloted the Boston, II, also said they hoped to be back after their machines.

A sidelight of the world flight was revealed by Lieutenant Wade, who stated that the trip influenced the growth of hair.

"Most of us who had fine heads of hair when we left Seattle last April have lost some," he said. "My hair has been coming out rather fast. Lieutenant Nelson, who was considered bald headed at the start of the flight, completed the journey with a thick and general growth of fine hair. Lieutenant Smith came home with gray hairs faintly streaking his dark head. A few gray hairs have crept into the heads of several of us."

TO SAVE SEA TREASURE.

New Apparatus Would Raise Ship Laden With Gold Bars.

TERSCHELLING, Holland.—A new process for salving sand-buried British frigate Lutine, which has baffled a century's efforts, has just been put into operation here with every promise of success.

The Lutine was wrecked on a sand bank near this island during a violent gale in the night of Oct. 9, 1799. Her crew of 400 perished. Her cargo consisted of several million dollars worth of gold bars and specie.

Now a new apparatus, invented by a Dutch engineering firm is being tried. It does away with the suction process and substitutes hydraulic pressure.

TOWN TRUSTEES AT WORK

Sour Lake Board Is Deluged With Applications for Work

By The Associated Press.

BEAUMONT, Texas, Sept. 30.—Trustees named Monday by Federal Judge W. Lee Estes to conduct the city government of Sour Lake, Hardin county, collect taxes and pay off indebtedness of the municipality met Tuesday morning and organized to carry out the court order.

United States Marshall Phil E. Baer was named chairman of the board of trustees, Hal G. Land of Beaumont was named "city tax collector and assessor" and attorney Steve M. King of Beaumont was designated as secretary.

They announced that within the next few days offices would be established at Sour Lake and the work of collecting taxes for 1921, 1922, 1923 and 1924 would be started.

The action is a result of a federal court decision in April ordering the town to reincorporate and pay outstanding debts. Suit was brought by Vernon H. Branch of Wichita, Kans., who has purchased $20,000 worth of warrants of the defunct city government. Failure of officials of the former city government to carry out the court order was followed by the naming of the trustees.

Since accounts of the courts action have been published the trustees have been besieged with job hunters, but have announced that they will employ no help for the city until the tax rolls have been checked and brought up to date when work can get under way. It is estimated that work of tax collection will begin within two weeks.

SPAN OF LIFE INCREASES.

Accidental Death Curve Is Declining; Futility Expert Says.

By The Associated Press.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 29.—Despite a higher accidental death list caused by automobiles the span of life is increasing, Lewis A. De Blois, Wilmington, Del., president of the national safety council, told that organization today.

Safety measures from 1907 to 1922 saved 300,000 lives, he said. At a modest valuation of $3,000 a life, the value for lives saved, non-fatal injuries prevented and property not destroyed, amounts to $2,176,000,000, he declared.

"A study of the curve of the accidental death rate in the United States showed a generally declining rate from 85.4 per 100,000 of population in 1901 to 78 in 1908, which was a year of low activity following a financial depression," he continued. "The curve then rises somewhat to a new maximum of 83.3 in 1913. From 1913 on there are indications of profound changes."

PRISONERS FUND LOW.

DUBLIN, Sept. 30.—In a recent address Eamonn de Valera stated that the fund for the assistance of the dependents of prisoners put in jail by the free state had received $275,000 from America and $125,000 from other sources.

At present, he said, the fund has only $100.

"I had been suffering with this trouble for quite a while and the many things I tried seemed to give me no relief.

"Then I began taking Black-Draught—a dose after every meal—and it gave me wonderful relief.

"For three years we have not been without it in the home. It is the finest medicine for constipation and sour stomach.

"When my husband gets to feeling bad as a result of costiveness and impurities in the system, he takes a dose of Thedford's Black-Draught."

If ailing, try taking a pinch of Black-Draught, try taking up herb of Black-Draught, dry on the tongue, washed down with a swallow of water. The experience of others should encourage you to expect relief by taking Black-Draught in this easy, convenient way.

Many men and women have written that they take a package of Black-Draught about with them when traveling, to have it handy for use at the first sign of indigestion.

Womanly Health, Beauty and Joyful Spirits Follow the Use of Lyko, the Great General Tonic

There is no beauty, no power to please and fascinate, without health. People turn away from the weak and sickly woman to admire the one with the rosy cheeks and cheerful spirits which only good health can give.

Restore your health and you won't have to worry about your looks. Give Lyko, the Great General Tonic, a chance to build up your vitality, supply you with rich, red blood, and banish your nervousness.

The way this wonderful tonic puts new vim and vigor into ailing people and gives women the flush of beauty seems almost like a miracle. The cheeks become rosy, hollows fill out, the eyes sparkle, any feeling of depression vanishes—you are a new woman—a woman who wins admiration by being what Nature intended every woman to be—healthy.

Lyko helps every part of the system that needs renewed strength and vitality. One ingredient acts on the digestive system, another is a relief for constipation, another calms the nerves and is an aid to quiet, restful sleep. Whatever part of the body is ailing is marvelously benefited by Lyko.

Stop worrying about the way you feel or the way you look. There's no need to feel or appear otherwise than as a normal, healthy, happy, beautiful woman. It's simply a matter of getting yourself in natural condition—something which Lyko will quickly help you to do.

Lyko is also a great rebuilder for nervous, sickly, run-down men. In fact it is for everybody who feels weak and ailing or whose bodily functions are not working in a normal way. It has brought amazing results to thousands who had despaired of ever being well and strong again.

Lyko is sold by all reliable druggists. Ask for it today.

BILLY WHISKERS

BY FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

We left all the motion picture men trooping out into the yard to see if Billy could butt. What they saw was the president running for dear life toward his auto. If the goat overtook him, it meant that the president would be butted or hooked up to the sky like a rubber ball, and this he well knew. But just at the critical moment he reached the auto, jumped in, slammed the front door and started the machine. But he did not start quite quickly enough. It was a touring car, and on reaching it Billy made a flying leap and landed on the back seat just as the car started. Then with another jump he cleared the back of the front seat and sat up straight like a person beside the president. In this they went flying round and round the training ring, which was built for training horses. The president's face was white with fright at first and in his excitement he forgot all of his car and did not know where he was going. When he came to the gateway he shot through it, passing all his men who stood rooted to the spot. Out of the gateway they went at full speed, and down the street, over car tracks past big buildings that were being erected, until they ran into a sand heap before a building. This stopped the car so suddenly that it sent the president over the wheel and into a bed of soft mortar some men were mixing while Billy made a jump and landed on his feet. He stopped to give one look at the president floundering in the mortar with the men trying to get him out, then turned and quickly trotted back to Toodles, saying to himself, "I guess I have punished him enough for using a sharp stick on me."

As the president passed Snub and Nick at the gateway on his way back to the studio, Nick said, "Mr. Strobel, shall I git the cayenne peppah to sprinkle on dat goat's nose now to make him butt?"

"No, you idiot! And get out of my sight!" shouted the president.

"Peears to me Mr. Strobel acts rather peevish this here morning," chuckled Nick, and he and Snub winked at each other as they disappeared around a corner of the stable.

Mr. Strobel was taken upstairs to one of the dressing-rooms where he had a bath while a man was sent in an auto to his home to bring him another suit of clothes as those he wore were ruined.

"I expect you want to sell that goat or turn him loose now, don't you," asked Mr. Dates, the director, when Mr. Strobel walked into the office after he was dressed.

"Not on your life!" declared Mr. Strobel, "I like him ten times better than I did before!" and being a good-natured man he began to chuckle at his own mishap and soon all in the office were talking about Billy's encounter with Mr. Strobel and having a good laugh over it.

"I tell you what, boys, that goat proved himself to be a good jumper and to have lots of pep. The way he jumped into that car over the door and then sat up on the front seat as if he were human shows we can make a good actor of him," said Mr. Strobel, which it really did and sometime later they really staged that very scene for the movies.

(After all this excitement Billy went back to Bok for the shetland pony and to tell him all about it.)

You are missing a beautiful sunset."

COTTON IS UNCHANGED

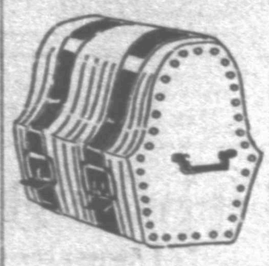
Progress Report For Week Ending Sept. 27, Is Issued

By The Associated Press.

HOUSTON, Sept. 30.—Progress of early cotton was unchanged for the week ending Sept. 27, according to the report of L. H. Daingerfield, meteorologist, who adds that it was generally fair to very good in the extreme west and northwest portions of Texas and poor to only fair elsewhere except in spots where it was good. Progress of late cotton, the report recites, in central and northwest Texas where plants are still making new growth and are blooming, is good. Shedding somewhat delayed picking and ginning and insect damage increased locally, although this generally was very slight.

Light to moderate rainfall early in the week was common, the report says, improving pastures and late crops and conditioning the soil for fall plowing and seeding except in the Rio Grande valley where wet soil delayed truck planting.

Color Cut-Out



"Hey, Billy," cried Freddy, as he saw Billy Cut-out, "I'm playing Robinson Crusoe. I'm going down to Schiller's pond and build a raft. Want to come along?"

"Can't," answered Billy sadly. "I have to go up town with my mother. She's buying me a new pair of shoes. Maybe I can join you when I get back. I can be the captain that rescues you, maybe!"

"That'll be all right. Say, Billy, could I borrow that funny little old trunk you have up in your attic that you keep some of your shells in that you got at the seashore?"

"Sure" answered Billy. "That'll make a fine sea chest. And you can take along our cat, so you'll have one like Crusoe did."

Color the chest yellow. The cat should be left black and white.

Wichita Oil Concern Buys Church Gasser

Petroleum Producers, Bridwell, and Heydrick Purchase Wilbarger Lease

PAY $45,000

Lease Includes 40 Acres East Of Heydrick Well and Gas Well from Sand at 1,250

The Petroleum Producers Oil company and Bridwell and Heydrick have purchased from G. M. Church his 40-acre Dill lease, section 84, east 40 acres of the southwest 80 acres of section 84 H&TCRR block 14, Wilbarger county, just south of Vernon, with its twelve million cubic-foot gasser for a reported consideration of $45,000.

It is planned to use the gasser to supply drilling wells in the area with fuel; in addition the 40-acre lease may comprise one of the most valuable tracts in the new South Vernon oil field with Bridwell and Heydrick's well only 600 feet away and the Wells-Gulbenson producer only 300 feet beyond that.

According to the purchasers no drilling is contemplated immediately on the lease.

SOUTH VERNON PIPELINE.

New Wilbarger Carrier Will Be a Water Carrier to Field Also.

The new Wilbarger county pipeline to be laid by the Waggoner Refining company of Electra to the South Vernon oil fields will also serve to supply that district and the refinery with water, according to plans formulated yesterday.

About ten miles of six-inch pipe are already laid from the refinery to a large water pumping station on Beaver creek to the south of the field and refinery. The four-inch line to the field will be built to connect with this six-inch line. A tank will be constructed on top of the hill just north of the wells on the Wharton land, just across from the school house. As soon as the line is completed and before oil is run through it this tank will be filled with water from Beaver creek to supply drilling wells in the vicinity, the lack of water having thus far delayed all drilling in the area.

The tank filled and a supply tanked at the refinery oil can be turned into the line, a short gravity line running about two miles south from the field to a pump station that will be erected, thence over the main line to Electra. At any time water is needed the line can be cleared of oil and the tank and storage at the refinery filled, then the oil started through again.

SOUTH TEXAS STILL CLIMBS

By The Associated Press.

HOUSTON, Texas, Sept. 29.—Gulf coast and south Texas pools ran up what was regarded as the high average of 131,615 barrels daily oil production during the week ending Sept. 27, according to the estimate of a major pipe line company. The increase was 3,705 barrels over the week before, divided between south Texas with 3,300 barrels and gulf coast with 405.

Luling furnished the bulk of the increase and ran a total of 38,100 barrels daily during the week.

In the heavy oil pools, Hull led with 18,500 barrels, a loss of 900 from the week before. West Columbia gained 1,700 and Orange lost 400 barrels.

The new Lockport field in northern Louisiana held up to 3,210 barrels during the week; a consistent producer now in its month old stage. This well flowed as high as 6,000 barrels open to capacity in its early stages. Daily average production follows by pools:

Texas coast: Hull district 18,500 barrels, week before 19,400; West Columbia 10,900, week before 10,200; Orange 10,500, week before 10,900; Goose Creek 10,400, week before 10,350; Humble 5,180, week before 5,200; Sour Lake 4,320, week before 4,320; Saratoga, 1,580, week before 1,570; Damon Mound 1,380, week before 1,400; Batson 1,470, week before 1,490; Blue Ridge 640, week before 675; Spindletop 580, week before 575; Pierce Junction 260, week before 275; Barber's Hill 100, week before 100; Markham 70, week before 70; Dayton 50, week before 50; miscellaneous 250, week before 400; totals—last week 77,585 barrels, week before 77,155; increase 410 barrels.

Louisiana coast: Vinton district 5,700 barrels, week before 5,730; Jennings 400, week before 470; Edgerly 500, week before 550; Anse la Butte-Welch 50 week before 50; Lockport 3,210; week before 1,500; totals—last week 10,040 barrels, week before 10,043; increase 9 barrels.

Gulf coast heavy: Texas coast district 72,040, week before 72,165; Louisiana coast 10,040, week before 10,045; totals—last week 82,080 barrels, week before 82,200; increase 405 barrels.

South Texas: Luling district 38,100, week before 35,000; Laredo 6,190, week before 6,100; Somerset 3,200, week before 3,200; Three Rivers 670, week before 800; Milnot 550, week before 550; totals—last week 48,010 barrels, week before 45,710; totals—131,615 barrels last week, week before 127,910; increase 3,705.

LOWEST POINT ON EARTH

Deepest Ocean Depth Thought Found Off Japanese Coast

By The Associated Press.

TOKIO, Japan, Sept. 30.—The lowest known point on the earth's crust, the deepest known trench in the ocean, lies about 145 miles southeast of Tokio. This discovery, made recently by the Japanese naval survey ship Manshu, has been announced by the navy authorities.

The new "deep" measures 32,636 feet, or more than six miles. It exceeds by 554 feet the hitherto greatest known ocean depth, the famous Marianne trench in which the United States naval ship Nero in 1899 found 32,088 feet off the east coast of the island of Mindanao in the Philippines.

The Manshu's "deep" apparently lies at the bottom of a precipitous declivity descending sharply about 100 miles from the southeastern coast of the main island of Japan. To the Japanese the first interest in the discovery lies in the seismic possibilities of this trench so near their coasts. The sharpness with which the ocean bed plunge a few miles from Japan is held by scientists to be a contributing factor in the severe earthquakes which visit this part of the country.

PAPER PRICE REDUCED

By The Associated Press.

MONTREAL, Sept. 30.—The Belgo-Paper company, one of the largest news print mills in the province of Quebec, has reduced the price of paper $3 a ton for 1925. The new price is $60.

News of the Fields

Ragle, C-1

The Panhandle-Consolidated have cleaned out their No. 1, C. Ragle, and drilled fourteen feet further into the sand to a total depth of 1,080 feet and have increased production from the well 84 barrels a day to about 144 barrels.

Before drilling deeper the production from the two "C" lease wells was 120 barrels a day. After drilling deeper it rose to 204 barrels.

Kentucky, Parrish

The Kentucky Oil coporation has completed their No. C-2 Parrish, offsetting to the east the Magnolia No. 2, Parrish, and have been swabbing the well at a rate of about 300 barrels a day from sand at 1,502-96 feet since completion yesterday.

No. C-3, north of the Muse well is drilling about 1,300 feet down; Simms No. 1, offsetting Muse to the west at about 1,000 feet, Muse No. 2 at about 1,600 feet, and Magnolia has a derrick up for a northwest diagonal offset to Muse.

Shamrock, Throckmorton

The Shamrock Oil company is coming down to lower casing in their No. 1 Mrs. Allie McKnight. Day Land and Cattle company survey, Throckmorton county, north of Woodson, depth given as below 1,200 feet. To the east Hogland and Hines are drilling at about 700 feet and nearing the gas sand encountered in the Shamrock well.

Waite Phillips

Waite Phillips is drilling past 1,140 feet on his No. 2 Wilson, William Horrits survey, abstract 646, just to the south of the producer. The No. 3 north and east, has spudded and is drilling.

Beardon Heirs No. 1

Panhandle Refining company and Knight and Hines encountered the sand yesterday in their No. 1 Beardon heirs, south of the Ragle production at a depth of 1,072 feet and are setting casing to test. No. 2 is drilling at about 800 feet.

Shaw-Rathke, Hausler

Shaw and Rathke have encountered the sand in their No. 1 Hausler (formerly Jeffers-Newby No. 2) abstract 167, west of the Ragle producers and are setting casing to test. Sand in this test was found 17 feet higher than in the well 300 feet to the east (Shaw-Rathke-Panhandle No. 1 Hausler).

Shaw-Rathke et al

Shaw-Rathke et al No. 1 Kunkel S. Hardaway survey, abstract 164, between the Ragle wells and the Carey producer is reported drilling last night at about 900 feet.

Ragle Wells

Panhandle-Consolidated are fishing at about 600 feet on her No. 3 Ragle C, between the Ragle wells and the Jeffers-Newby west extension to the pool.

Ragle B4 is drilling just south of the Swastika Oil Syndicate's No. 1 Davis. C. L. Davis 2 was placed on the pump yesterday and is being pumped.

White-Sessums

White Brothers and Sessums have set casing and expect to drill in today on their No. 1 W. L. Andrews, block 138, abstract 101, Robert Carson survey, central Archer county, depth given as 1,458 fet.

TEXAS OIL MAP

Department of Interior Issues Up-to-date Map of Texas Oil Fields

The department of interior has lately issued an up-to-date large scale map of the state of Texas showing its oil and gas fields and the pipelines and carriers from each. The map is exceptionally clearcut and carries a mass of detail not usually found on such maps, and can be obtained from the Geological survey, department of interior for the price of fifteen cents. It is prepared under the supervision of G. B. Richardson, and is entitled "Oil and Gas Fields of the State of Texas."

OIL OFFICES CLOSED

Texas-Oklahoma Fair Makes Holiday For Oil Industry Employes Here

Oil offices in Wichita Falls were for the most part closed from two o'clock yesterday afternoon to give officers and employees a chance to get out and see the Texas-Oklahoma fair. Hardly a concern opened after the deadline appointed by Mayor Collie.

QUEEN PLEASES CHILD

Queen of Italy Retains a Mother's Heart Despite Her Royalty.

ROME.—Queen Elena of Italy has a mother's heart, and an exceedingly sharp eye for anyone, especially any child, who seems to be needy or in trouble. Recently when the queen was motoring near San Rossore, the hunting lodge in Tuscan where the royal family spends the summer months she saw a little girl of eight or ten years of age, barefoot and clothed only in a few rags.

Calling the child Queen Elena spoke kindly to her, asking her name and where she lived. The next day a grand footman brought little Beppina a parcel containing a pair of stockings, one of which was filled with sweets and cakes, while the other contained a purse with money to buy her a frock. A few days later the queen received a letter, badly written and worse spelled, which said:

"Your Majesty:—

"Your munificent present has caused me the greatest joy. My father has taken the money; my brother the cakes; and my mother the stockings.

"Your devoted friend,

"BEPPINA."

WE LIKE BETTER MUSIC.

Frieda Hempel Sees Europe Straight On U. S. on Visiting Continent.

VIENNA, Sept. 30.—European musicians who have gained the impression that the United States is a land of gold where art is not fully appreciated and that much money can be obtained with little effort, recently were given some sound, but perhaps shocking, advice by Frieda Hempel who is spending the summer on the continent.

The American singer warned the European musicians that the only artists who succeed in the United States are those who are of high ability and quality and give their best to the American public. Americans, she added, are willing to pay well for their music, but insist upon having the best.

Another way to practice thrift is to tell the wife that last winter's coat made her look too young.

COOLIDGE TO STAY HOME.

Only One Trip Late in October Will Be Made by President.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—With President Coolidge's speaking program taking shape for the final weeks of the campaign it appears unlikely that he will make any visit away from Washington with the possible exception of one to New York City late in October.

The president has engagements to speak here on next Saturday at the dedication of the first division monument and he will deliver two or more addresses here early in October while a tentative date to address the chamber of commerce of the United States October 22 is under consideration.

DAVIS ON NEW TOUR

Democratic Nominee Left at Midnight For Western Extension

By The Associated Press.

LOCUST VALLEY, N. Y., Sept. 30.— After three days of rest here John W. Davis, democratic presidential candidate, will set forth tonight on the first lap of a campaign tour which will take as far west as Missouri, as far east as Massachusetts and as far south as Maryland.

Beginning his final drive for the presidency in the east tomorrow he will end it in that territory during the last week in October. Between times he will make his second westward swing, visiting enroute the "border" states of Kentucky and Missouri.

Leaving New York city at midnight tonight, Mr. Davis will speak tomorrow at Frederick, Md., and tomorrow night will deliver an address at Baltimore in the fifth regiment armory, where Woodrow Wilson was nominated in 1912.

After carrying his campaign into New Jersey and Rhode Island, he will start westward through upper New York state where four or five addresses will be delivered, before he goes into Ohio to launch there a final fight in the middle west.

LA FOLLETTE UNDECIDED

Pink Candidate Will Probably Take The Stump Next Week.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Senator LaFollette, independent presidential candidate, expects to start off an extended stumping tour early next week, having modified plans which called for his departure from Washington late this week. He still is undecided as to his exact itinerary, although he intends to swing westward to the Pacific coast and to deliver a number of addresses in the middle and northwest.

The senator again today gave his attention to arranging of his itinerary which is expected to keep him on the move through October.

DAWES THE G. O. P. "ACE"

He is Doing Practically all the Speaking For The Republicans.

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—Charles G. Dawes, republican candidate for vice president, will carry his party's campaign this week into Missouri and Indiana.

The speaking "ace" of the party under an itinerary being worked out today at national headquarters here will make an address Thursday night at Kansas City and Friday night at Fort Wayne, Ind., where John W. Davis democratic presidential nominee, closed his first middle western trip 10 days ago.

WHEELER AT IT AGAIN

By The Associated Press.

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 30.—His two-day stay in Denver concluded, Senator Wheeler, independent vice presidential candidate returned today to his special car and resumed his stump tour. He left early for Cheyenne, Wyo., which is the next scheduled stop on his itinerary.

ARGENTINE'S BOOTLEGGERS

Spurious Wine Makes Arizona Ire of That Country

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 30.—In a campaign against manufacturers of impure liquors, the Buenos Aires board of health has closed down five large plants producing alleged wines and other beverages. They are said to have used methylated spirits, or other combined with water and coloring matter. One of the concerns was a heavy advertiser of a brand of wine that never was produced from grapes, but was widely consumed, much to the detriment of the drinkers, according to the authorities. The names of the concerns, published in some newspapers, caused a shock of surprise to many people who had been consuming their products.

Stocks Steady

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—The stock market closed steady today. Net gains, as a rule were small. Chief speculative interest centered in the Southwestern rails, several of which attained new peak prices for the year, buying influenced by high current earnings and merger developments.

Higher call money rates brought about some selling by professional traders in the early dealings, but it failed to bring out much long stock and was eventually abandoned except in cases in which unfavorable developments are reported to be pending. Extensive gasoline price cuts along the Atlantic Seaboard had a temporarily depressing influence on the oil shares. Coden sank to a new low at 23¾, but later rallied to 23¼, for a small fractional gain on the day. Atlantic Refining closed a point lower, and other active issues in the oil group showing only fractional changes.

Those were several points of strength in the railroad groups, new highs for the year being established by the Missouri-Pacific and St. Louis, San Francisco and Southwestern, and well as the less active stocks of some of the other carriers operating in the southwestern territory. Heavy accumulation of Lehigh Valley, which was credited to New York Central interests, carried that issue more than two points to 62¾, the highest price since the segregation of the coal properties.

Call money renewed at 3½ per cent and held at that figure all day. Time money and commercial paper rates held firm with business quiet.

Foreign exchanges responded favorably to reports of progress in connection with the flotation of the German loan. Demand sterling ruled about quarter cent higher around 24.45 and French francs moderately active above 5¼ cents.

Stock Sluggish

By The Associated Press.

FORT WORTH, Sept. 30.—Sluggishness characterized the livestock market today, but the cattle trade was more listless than the hog market and the sheep trade was not tested, practically nothing good being on offer. Receipts were estimated at 4,000 cattle, 2,000 calves, 700 hogs and 600 sheep.

Cattle rates were steady to 10 cents lower, hogs 10 to 15 cents higher, and sheep were nominally steady. The steer market was hardly put to a test. Desirable fat cows brought 3.50 to 4.00. Some heifers made 6.50 and a few bulls brought 3.50. Good heavy calves sold at 4.75 to 6.50. The hog top was 10.10 and the bulk 9.75 to 9.85.

PINK NAMES ACCEPTED.

Washington State Secretary Lets Them In as "Gilmore Party."

By The Associated Press.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Sept. 30.—The secretary of state today accepted for filing the names of candidates for an entire state ticket nominated by the LaFollette state party at a convention held in Seattle September 9. The party, commonly known as the "Gilmore party," named William A. Gilmore, a Seattle attorney, as its gubernatorial candidate.

WOMAN HELD FOR CRIME.

Mrs. Susie G. Cook and Her Nephew-In-Law Indicted at Houston.

By The Associated Press.

HOUSTON, Texas, Sept. 30.—Mrs. Susie G. Cook and Ben F. Cason were arrested on a charge of murder today following the returning of an indictment by the Harris county grand jury.

Mrs. Cook is the widow and Cason a nephew of George D. Cook, contractor who was found dead in bed at his home July 20.

Both defendants were taken to the county jail where they will await habeas corpus proceedings in an effort to make bond.

Mrs. Cook, shortly after the killing of her husband, was charged with murder in a complaint filed in Justice Campbell Overstreet's court and was granted temporary bail of $4,000.

Following a brief investigation by the former grand jury a "no bill" was returned. The case was reopened and another "no bill" returned. In its final report the body requested the next grand jury to go into the investigation of the case.

About one month ago the case was reopened for the third time and continued at intervals until today when the reindictment was returned.

After Cook's body was found there were reports about "a man in gray" seen near the Cook place about the time of the killing. A neighbor reported having heard dogs barking shortly before the shot was fired and the two daughters of Cook said they saw a fleeing figure passing through the house toward the back door immediately upon being awakened by the report of a pistol.

QUAKES FOLLOW TIDES

Experts Think Disturbances Follow Extreme Water Movements

By The Associated Press.

TOKIO, Japan, Sept. 30.—Japanese seismologists are engaged in a discussion as to whether there is connection between earthquakes and high tides along the coast.

Naokichi Maeda, chief of the Choshi meteorological observatory, has brought forth observations covering several years to prove that earthquakes can be foretold by excessive rises or falls of the tide. Early on the morning of Aug. 14 Tokio and the districts to the north were shaken by a fairly severe tremor. For several days previous tides along the Choshi coast, northeast of Tokio, where Mr. Maeda makes his observations, had been abnormally high and he had predicted a shock. That a shock came so claims is proof of his theory, that abnormal tides mean the approach of an earthquake.

Mr. Maeda quotes figures fo. t e tides just before the disastrous e rth quake of Sept. 1, 1924. At that time he says, the tides were so high that the fisherman along the coast, who eke out a living by gathering seaweed in the shallows, complained that the water was so deep in their accustomed hunting grounds that their industry was sadly crippled. Then the big quake came. Mr. Maeda also recalls that excessively low tides preceded an earthquake which did considerable damage in Tokio and the surrounding country in April, 1922.

Dr. Meiko Imamura, head of the seismological department of the Imperial University of Tokio, admits that there may be some relation between tides and earthquakes, but declares that Mr. Maeda's theory is borne out in only about one case in five and is not yet acceptable.

NOTHING NEW TO US

Two Doctors Trying to Tell us a New Disease With Influenza

MOSCOW, Sept. 30.—Professors Ieroff and Kousnin of the Institute of Experimental Medicine, announced the discovery of a new disease which they say prevails during epidemics of influenza, manifesting itself by severe chills, violent headaches, vomiting, nasal hemorrhage, accompanied by high temperature.

The malady, which is still unnamed, lasts from two to six days and is of a communicable character, but not necessarily fatal.

The professors are endeavoring to isolate the microbe which causes the disease.

MONEY AT WORK

Brief but important lessons in finance, markets, stocks, bonds and investments.

A regular audit is essential to good business.

A regular audit has several things to recommend it:—

1. The executives are given an accurate statement of the enterprise.

2. Irregularities and mistakes are caught instead of running and requiring cumbersome bookkeeping adjustments.

3. The moral effect upon employees is that records are kept up-to-date and in good condition.

4. Departmental weaknesses are often pointed out.

5. Continued theft by employees in the confidence of the executives is prevented.

Market Letters

E. F. FLOWERREE AND COMPANY
New York Cotton

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—On booming Liverpool cut market very heavy selling, from which it was unable to recover during the day. White had weather continued in the Carolinas prospects for clearing weather off set the danger to buying cotton on resetions. Locally the feeling is that with a spell of good weather receipts will increase and 23¼ cents for December is being freely mentioned as the next buying point.

FENNER AN BREANE (By Julius.)

New Orleans Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 30.—Larger crop estimates than expected combined with some realizing, considerable hedging and selling checked the upward movement today and gave the market a moderate setback. A prediction of fair and warmer weather in the west and clearing in the east stimulated much of the selling.

Unfavorable reports from the eastern belt where observers say the crop has lost possibly 1a outlook owing to rains and probability of a bullish weekly report tomorrow were the bullish features. The weather bureau reported light frost in northern part of the belt and many wet spots in the east.

There was good buying on the early dips but the offerings came out in too steady a stream for buyers to overcome the selling as easily as in the past week. Two estimates of above 12,000,000 were issued and just under this figure.

The spot basis was higher but the demand from Europe has dropped tonegligible proportions this week according to exporters.

Indications point to a few days of favorable weather and to a further temporary reaction.

Spot News

DALLAS, Texas, Sept. 30.—Basis today unchanged to 15 points higher. Averaged about 85 off in west Texas and 65 to 100 off in other sections. Strict middling in good demand, bidding 50 off for October delivery and hard to buy. Short cover ing continues, demand better, and offerings light.

ARLITT'S BONDS ARE SOLD.

Looks Like Austin Broken Got Quick Action on Mexican Issue.

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—A $50,000,000 issue of Mexican bonds is offered here by J. L. Arlitt, banker of Austin, Texas. He announces the proceeds will be used for payment of interest on Mexico's external debt in accordance with the agreement reached in 1921 between Mexican officials and the international committee of bankers in Mexico.

The bond issue was a surprise to Wall street, where Mr. Arlitt is practically unknown.

Miss A. M. Hillenmayer, in charge of Mr. Arlitt's Wall street office, said she understood the issue had been underwritten already.

The photograph of the slain husband always makes one wonder how the wife could have been jealous.

Grain Up

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—Smashing of season top record prices made fresh progress and took in all deliveries of wheat and rye. Much of the new buying is evidently supposed as a result of United States department of agriculture estimate that the world's exportable surplus of wheat this season would be around 685,000,000 bushels against trade figures indicating that world import needs would total 750,000,000 to 800,000,000 bushels. The wheat market closed unsettled, half to two half and one cent higher. December 141¾ and May 147¾ to 147¾.

Corn finished at half cent lower to three-quarter cent gain, oats ¼ to 1¼ cents up, and provisions varying from 10 cents decline to 10 cents advance.

Higher quotations of hogs steadied the provision market.

SHERIFF'S SALE

Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of a certain order of sale issued by the Clerk of the county court of Wichita county at law, on the 9th day of August, 1924, in a certain cause wherein R. H. Henry & Company, is plaintiff, and C. J. Jones, defendant, in which cause a judgment was rendered on the 17th day of October, 1923 in favor of the said plaintiff, R. H. Henry & Company against said defendant C. J. Jones for the sum of One Hundred Fifty-Nine Dollars, with interest thereon at the rate of ten per centum per annum from date of judgment, together with all costs of suit, I have levied upon, and will, on the first Tuesday in October, 1924, it being the 7th day of said month, at the Ed Friebur, farm in Wichita county, Texas, within legal hours, proceed to sell for cash to the highest bidder, all the right, title and interest of C. J. Jones in and to the following described personal property, levied upon as the property of C. J. Jones, to-wit: One Case coal burner engine No. 17406.

The above sale to be made by me to satisfy the above described judgment for One Hundred Fifty-Nine Dollars, together with the costs of said suit, and the proceeds applied to the satisfaction thereof.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 30.—The cotton market today developed a reactionary trend due to the belief of many traders that it was about due after such an advance as has taken place, and to the failure of the predicted frost to materialize, coupled with a forecast for fair and warm or weather in the west. December, the most active trading month, at one time was down to 24.40 but rallied moderately from the low and closed only 24 points down for the day. The other months closed 20 to 23 points down.

At the start Liverpool was much hgiter than due and although the northern market opened higher in sympathy, the market here opened down slightly but rallied moderately in the early trading. October going up to 24.87 and January at 24.94 or 8 to 13 points above the previous close. The failure of the weather map to show the predicted frost and the forecast for generally fair and warmer weather in the eastern belt caused considerable liquidation and short selling which together with hedge selling carried October and January 45 to 49 points down from the early highs. A moderate rally on expectation of a bullish weekly weather and crop report tomorrow led to the recovery of part of the loss the close being about 15 to 17 points above the lows.

Wichitans Take Chicken Prizes At T-O Exhibit

Judging Completed Of Poultry Department Tuesday Evening

SHOW IS BIG ONE

White Leghorn Division Is Best Ever Held in U. S., Officials Say

Wichita Falls chicken fanciers took a full share of the prizes in the poultry show now being held in connection with the Texas-Oklahoma fair. The judging was completed yesterday afternoon.

Officials declared that the show this year was one of the largest and most elaborate they had ever seen anywhere, and it was stated that the single comb white leghorn entries were the largest in number ever shown before in any poultry exhibit in the United States. A total of 152 fowls were entered in this division alone.

The results were as follows:

STUDY SEWER RAMIFICATIONS

City May By Claiming Exemption Escape Spending Huge Sum.

The anti-stream pollution law, passed by the state legislature in 1914 and compelling municipalities of over 20,000 population to treat raw sewage chemically before emptying it into rivers or lakes may not include Wichita Falls and Beaumont. If this be the case, the sewage disposal plant problem here may be altered somewhat.

Word that a new sewage disposal plant would probably have to be built here has started an investigation into the ramifications of the law, with the possibility that the city can, if it is so minded, claim exemption from the statute under which it could be forced to spend $150,000 or $200,000 for a plant.

City Attorney W. E. George has been instructed by the council to look up the legislative acts of the year and submit a report on it as soon as possible.

The disposal plant agitation has been started by a complaint made against the city by Byers and other communities between here and the Red river. State Sanitary Engineer Ehlers and an assistant were in the city Saturday and Sunday investigating conditions and it was their findings which brought out the fact that a disposal plant was needed.

HOW FAT ACTRESS BECAME SLENDER

Many stage people now depend entirely upon Marmola Prescription Tablets for reducing and controlling fat. One clever actress tells that she reduced steadily and easily by using this new form of the famous Marmola Prescription. Now, by taking Marmola Prescription Tablets several times a day, she keeps her weight just right. All druggists sell Marmola Prescription Tablets at one dollar for a box or if you prefer you can secure them direct from the Marmola Co., Geneva Motors Bldg., Detroit, Mich. If you have not tried them, do so. They are pleasant to take and effective.—Adv.

The Old Home Town

Deacons of the First Baptist church discussed plans concerning the revival which will begin here October 19. Other matters in regard to the church were taken up, it was stated.

The Workers' Conference of the First Baptist church will be held at the church Friday evening at 6:30 o'clock. All the workers are invited to be present.

Working out plans for the new year was the chief business done at the meeting of the junior, intermediate and senior B. Y. P. U's of the First Baptist church at their meeting held Tuesday evening at the church. Members of the "Peppy More" B. Y. P. U. served refreshments to the assembly.

Funeral services for the infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Underwood were held from the residence Tuesday morning, the Rev. Leslie Miller, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiating.

C. C. Knight is in the General hospital following an accident which broke his leg Monday. He was standing on a ladder picking peaches from a tree when the ladder slipped and threw him to the ground. He is reported resting well.

All offices at the county court house, with the exception of the sheriff's was closed at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in order that clerks and others employed there might attend the fair. Decision to close was reached by the various office heads Monday.

The city hall, with the exception of the police force and fire departments, called it a day at noon Tuesday, shut up shop and went to the fair. Wichita Falls day, it was decided, should be observed by an official delegation, and they all went out accordingly.

Mayor Frank Collier has been placed on the committee of finance and bonds of the Texas Municipalities league, according to word received here from the Austin offices of the association. This is regarded as one of the most important committees of the 10 named each year for service. Other members of the committee include W. P. Dumas of Dallas and W. D. Holcombe of San Angelo.

Wichita Falls Will soon have a new park. That point was practically assured Tuesday in meeting of chamber of commerce board of directors when the recently made Fred Weeks part proposition was made. But the land given the city by Weeks is to revert to its former owner if the road to this site is not paved inside of two years by the city. The park commission is to begin immediately on the land and the county has agreed to dirt grade the roads to the location until paving begins.

General manager of the chamber of commerce was authorized Tuesday in session of board of directors to attend meeting of chamber of commerce managers association in Washington late in October.

Invitation will be extended the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association to hold its 1925 annual meeting in Wichita Falls, chamber of commerce officials decided in meeting of board of directors Tuesday.

Judging in the Educational and Woman's Building at the fair was still going on Tuesday. The local judges including Mrs. Roy J. Daniels, Mrs. P. A. Welty, Miss Gladys Madigan, Miss Sadie Fraser and Miss Mary Bingham, were assisted by Miss Parker of Fort Worth, Miss Grimes of A. and M. college, and Miss Sadie Oliver of C. I. A.

GUN FIGHT WITH BANDITS.

Two Men are Shot in Desperate Attack on Illinois Bank.

By The Associated Press.

MURPHYSBORO, Ills., Sept. 30.—Marshal Charles McWhirter and two others were shot in a gun fight with three bandits who entered the Bank of Dowell, 16 miles north of here, today. The robbery was frustrated. A posse set out in pursuit of the bandits, who escaped in a motor car.

Debate Features University Club Meet Yesterday

Capital Punishment Question Discussed by City's Lawyers

ARGUMENT HOT

Debaters Decide Texas Is Better Off With Potential Death Penalty

Capital punishment will not be abolished in Texas any time in the near future if a majority of the citizenry hold similar viewpoint on the question to that held by members of the University club present Tuesday at the club's weekly luncheon. F. G. Swanson on the affirmative and Wayne Sommerville on the negative side of the question, "Resolved: Capital punishment should be abolished in Texas," battled hard, furiously and just about on equal terms for the greater portion of a 45-minute session. Oratory of a deadly character filled the mezzanine dining room of the Kemp hotel. Choice words of wisdom were cast with unerring accuracy at the ear lobes of excited listeners by the two debaters, but facts against such an amendment to Texas laws were a bit too weighty for the affirmative debater to counteract, according to a vote put to the club. The figures following cessation of verbal hostilities stood 14 to 3 in favor of keeping capital punishment in the Lone Star state.

Wm. N. Bonner as the other feature of the program pointed out and discussed in condensed form the leading current events of the past week, internationally, nationally, state, city and county.

C. A. Rogers suggested that the next luncheon program should call for a discussion of the Texas gubernatorial candidates, but this question was tabled for the reason given by several members, "We know enough about these candidates already."

Those present at the luncheon were:

C. J. Coffey, J. C. Coffee, Julian Bobo, E. R. Surles, B. D. Sartin, R. G. Ripley, Pete Rogers, Otto Stehlik, Joseph Ainsworth, F. G. Swanson, Wayne Sommerville, Rev. F. M. Richardson, J. P. Marrs, Dr. N. F. Grafton, C. A. Rogers, Wm. N. Bonner, Dr. C. M. Simpson, Dr. J. T. Cantwell.

WHO USES THE LIBRARY.

Junior College Student Has Instructive Poster on Display at T-O.

J. C. Straus, Jr., junior college student, has an exhibit at the Texas-Oklahoma fair in the library exhibit which is creating quite a little interest. The poster is a large one, and has the question, "Who uses the library?" Beneath the question is a drawing of the Kemp public library done by a student. The question is answered by having on each side of the picture the words; Child student, parent, housekeeper, farmer, mechanic, club women, scientist, business man.

You Poor Kid, Why Are You So Skinny?

Don't your mother know that Cod Liver Oil will put pounds of good healthy flesh on your bones in just a few weeks?

Tell her every druggist has it in sugar-coated tablet form now so that you won't have to take the nasty, fishy-tasting oil that is apt to upset the stomach.

Tell her that McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets are chock-full of vitamines and are the greatest flesh producers and health builders she can find.

One sickly, thin kid, aged 9, gained 12 pounds in 7 months.

She must ask Smith Drug Co., or Tipton's Drug Co., or any good druggist for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets—60 tablets, 60 cents—as pleasant to take as candy.

"Get McCoy's, the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Tablet."—Adv.

Baltimore Moves To Save Historic Mark

By The Associated Press.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 30.—The Shot Tower, which has stood as a landmark at Fayette and Front streets in Baltimore for almost 100 years, will be purchased by the city of Baltimore and preserved, if efforts of a number of citizens and organizations are successful.

When the owners of the tower announced last June that unless the city took over the structure it would be demolished, Mayor Howard Jackson said that if the public showed genuine sentiment for preservation of the shaft the city would buy it.

Following the lead of the Daughters of the American Revolution, numerous patriotic and other societies and many individuals appealed for the preservation of the old landmark. Representatives of these societies held a conference with the mayor and it was decided to acquire the tower by public subscription.

Late in August, when the owners of the tower and the mayor failed to agree on a purchase price, an ordinance was passed by the city council providing for condemnation of the tower in case the committees seeking funds had not raised the necessary amount within a certain time.

With this time limit approaching expiration, and the committee still in need of several thousand dollars, the tower seems likely to come down.

The tower is the highest of its kind in the world and is regarded as the oldest munition factory in the United States. From a base 40 feet in diameter the shaft rises to a height of 246 feet. The column tapers as it ascends, so that the diameter at the top is only 20 feet. It was built in 1828, Charles Carroll, signer of the Declaration of Independence, laying the cornerstone.

The interior of the structure was destroyed by fire in 1878, but was rebuilt and shot dropping continued until 1892. Then the tower was abandoned for shot making because of the advent of improved methods of manufacture.

Embargoes Are Feature of Hoof And Mouth Fight

Local Railroads Have Plentiful Supply Restricting Movement

COTTON UNAFFECTED

New Mexico Unheard From, Louisiana and Arkansas Act

Efforts to prevent the spread of the hoof and mouth disease over other parts of Texas-Oklahoma and other states are taking the form here mainly in new and more stringent embargoes on cattle from the infected south Texas areas, and increased watchfulness on the part of railroad officials in the proper disinfection and cleaning of cattle cars according to M. T. Junker, local agent for the Missouri, Kansas and Texas lines and B. P. Hathorn, Fort Worth and Denver. The forecasted inspector of the Oklahoma state agricultural board who Associated Press reports state is to be sent here with power and instructions to examine all bills of lading of cars directed to Oklahoma had no arrived yesterday afternoon, and according to Mr. Junker and Mr. Hathorn no instructions regarding his operations regarding his operations here had been received.

No Ft. Worth Shipments.

Embargoes chiefly designate territory as south of the Texas and Pacific lines through Fort Worth Dallas, and Sweetwater, and east of the Orient system as infected territory, and refuse all shipments of cattle from that area, although several of the embargoes placed by the various roads over the state declare portions of Marris, Galveston, Brazoria, and Fort Bend counties as infected and refuse shipments from other parts of the designated area merely for safety's sake.

No other shipments are being accepted here from Fort Worth or Dallas.

Kansas Newest

At present instructions received here place Oklahoma's embargo only on cattle from the area mentioned above, not including the rest of the state. New Mexico has not been heard from they say, but Arkansas and Louisiana have very stringent regulations, not only in regard to cattle and live stock shipments but as to feed and other farm products, not including cotton. Kansas was added to the list of states with embargoes on the contraband yesterday, most of which, however date back to September 23, although just now being received here.
