Texans Frown On Huey Long's No-Cotton Plan In Telegrams To Gov. Sterling

LAWS TO CURB ACREAGE ARE WIDELY URGED

Louisiana Executive's Proposal Meets Disfavor In Lone Star State

CUT OF HALF ASKED

Henrietta Farmers Vote To Petition Sterling For Special Session

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 24. (AP)—Gov. Huey P. Long tonight issued a call for a special session of the Louisiana legislature for tomorrow night at 10 o'clock to consider passage of a statute prohibiting the planting of cotton in 1932. The session, the call specified, will be devoted exclusively to the cotton legislation.

The governor tonight immediately began telegraphing the members of both houses his request to meet tomorrow night. His call was issued after Gov. Ross Sterling of Texas today challenged Governor Long to act first in Louisiana on his cotton prohibition plan. Long accepted the challenge and acted immediately.

AUSTIN, Aug. 24. (AP)—The plan of Gov. Huey P. Long of Louisiana to take the cotton industry by its bootstraps and lift it from the depths of depression and six-cent cotton apparently found little favor with Texas cotton farmers and business men.

Governor Long's plan called for enactment of laws by cotton growing states to prohibit the planting of cotton in 1932. The plan was endorsed heartily at the recent New Orleans cotton conference.

Many Expressions

Telegrams and letters expressing views on the plan of Governor Long and other plans poured into the office of Gov. R. S. Sterling today. Governor Sterling has asked cotton farmers and members of the legislature to express their views on a special session of the legislature to enact cotton acreage control legislation. He indicated he would call the special session if it was demanded and if he was assured the legislature would unite on a constructive plan.

A preponderant majority of the replies favored legislation of some kind but in the main were opposed to the "cotton holiday," proposed by the Louisiana governor.

Favor One-Half Cut

A majority of those answering the governor's questionnaire recommended legislation that would limit the acreage of next year's cotton crop to one half. Several favored limiting the 1932 crop to one-third of the 1931 crop and others advocated restricting production in 1932 and 1933 to one half the current acreage. One recommended limitation to one-fourth this year's acreage; another a protective tariff and another abolition of cotton futures markets.

A majority of those opposed to the Long plan feared it would, if adopted, throw the world markets open to Russian production and cotton from other countries and react to the permanent detriment of the American producer.

All who advocated government control of acreage urged that action be taken immediately by Governor Sterling so that any law passed would react to the benefit of the holders of this year's crop.

Solons Report

Representative Lawrence Westbrook of Waco, former Texas representative of the American Cotton Cooperative association, concurred in the special session plan, stating he believed the trouble to be "more fundamental than overproduction." Westbrook said the real trouble could not be corrected by the legislature, but "some good might be done by limiting production."

"In such an extremity, no remedy should be ruled out because it is drastic," Westbrook said.

Representative Fritz Engelhard advocated acreage reduction, declaring that if the cotton situation was not improved, one-half of the state taxes would be delinquent.

Representative W. W. Boyd of Decatur supported the Long plan of no planting.

GIN SHUTDOWN PROPOSED IN TEXAS

TEXARKANA, Texas, Aug. 24. (AP)—Southern states were asked today to join Bowie county farmers in an effort to obtain a forced shutdown of cotton gins to effect cotton production curtailment.

Messages were dispatched to 11 governors of cotton growing states asking them to call special sessions of their legislatures to consider Bowie county's plan of "holding cotton from the gins." William P. Hodges, former justice of the Texarkana sixth civil court of appeals, who volunteered his services to the organization, dispatched the messages.

The Bowie county plan grew out of a mass meeting of farmers at New Boston Saturday. More than 1,000 farmers attended and banded themselves together under an or-

After New York's Bandit War Ended With Six Dead

Here is the bullet-ridden auto from which two bandits spread a hail of bullets in a 90-minute running gun battle with police, firemen and pedestrians along a 12-mile front through upper Manhattan, killing six and wounding 12. The battle started when the gunmen deliberately shot down a payroll guard and ended when the bandits and their driver were killed. Detectives, who for hours after the daylight fight were unable to piece together the story of what happened, are shown beside the auto trying to identify the body of one of the gunmen. One of the victims was a 4-year-old child.

New York Musters Forces to Launch Drive on Gangs, With Secret Plans

Acting Mayor Announces Campaign After Lengthy Meeting of City Heads Agrees on Battle Plans

NEW YORK, Aug. 24. (US)—All the authority and force of the city government went into action today against gangsters and racketeers. Aroused by the recent slaughter of police and civilians on the streets and by the civic movement to wipe out criminal violence, Acting Mayor McKee called a conference of police, prosecuting and judicial officials to carry on an offensive warfare.

The conference was carried through an hour in secret session after which Acting Mayor McKee announced definite plans calling for drastic action had been adopted and would go into effect at once.

McKee stated the details and nature of the offensive campaign would be kept secret that the public enemies may be taken by surprise.

U. S. TAKES HAND IN CITY CRIME DRIVE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24. (US)—Arrest of big-time racketeers in New York and other large cities for violation of federal laws was expected here today to follow President Hoover's orders that the federal government cooperate to the fullest extent possible to smash gangdom.

Federal agents already are busy in New York building up income tax evasion cases against notorious bootleggers and gangsters.

The recent gangster outbreaks in New York in which innocent bystanders, including children, were mowed down, have deeply disturbed the president, it was indicated.

The president was represented as having instituted a survey of what the federal government can do under existing law to cooperate with the states and cities more effectively.

While believing that the primary responsibility for stamping out gangland rests upon the state and cities, President Hoover was said to be especially desirous that the federal agencies—departments of justice, labor and treasury—energetically enforce the laws under which they operate.

Federal agencies have been broadening their field of operations since they landed Al Capone in their net for failing to pay income taxes on his profits in the underworld.

COUNTY VOTES RELIEF FUND

$1,000 Provided for Food In Three Towns

Members of the commissioners court Monday in regular session voted an appropriation of $1,000 for the purpose of establishing a county comissary with branches in Burkburnett, Electra and Iowa Park for relief of distress among residents of those communities.

At the request of a group of citizens who appeared before the court to aid in formulating county relief measures, J. B. Marlow, Jimmy Sorell of Iowa Park, G. J. Price of Electra, and H. D. Smith of Burkburnett were chosen as a purchasing committee for the proposed commissary. Mr. Marlow was made chairman.

Reports of various commissioners and representative citizens indicated that more than 300 families are desperately in need of aid within this county. It was predicted that the number would be 500 by early September. The order appropriating $1,000 specified that $400 shall be applied to relief in precinct No. 1, and $200 each to the other three precincts. The order charged Mr. Marlow and his committee to "make the money go as far as possible," and to draw upon the fund for actual needs "until such time as other arrangements can be made."

BURK SOLVES WATER PUZZLE

Town Celebrates Success Of 'Wonder' Plant

By H. I. KIEFER
The Record News Staff

BURKBURNETT, Texas, Aug. 24.—Several hundred citizens gathered at the municipal pumping plant here tonight to hear and see evidence supporting statements that an investment of $7,500 has knocked the city's water problem into the proverbial cocked hat. The plant is three miles southeast of the city limits.

The event was arranged by the chamber of commerce in cooperation with city officials to provide citizens an opportunity to inspect the pumping plant, which was completed about four months ago and has since been in operation.

The gathering ate watermelon, listened to the chamber of commerce juvenile band and then was told by J. M. Alexander, president of the chamber, that in return for $7,500, Burkburnett now has a supply of soft water so free of bacteria as to make treating unnecessary, and in sufficient abundance to supply a city four times the size of Burk. Most of the cost already has been paid and the remainder will come out of the municipally owned water system, he added.

What Burk Bought

In greater detail the $7,500 was declared to have paid for the following items, among others: A three-acre tract of ground upon which a modern five-room home is situated; the sinking of eight wells each capable of producing 50 gallons a minute; for machinery and necessary housing; and for the construction of a six-inch main three miles in length from the plant to the city distributing system.

R. P. Reagan, the city manager, declared that four months of operation has established that the cost of delivering water to the city mains has been reduced to a little more than half of pumping an infinitely less satisfactory supply from the old plant. He added fur-

Wealthy Couple Held As Opium Smugglers

BLAINE, Wash., Aug. 24. (US)—Traveling in a luxurious 16-cylinder limousine, a reputedly wealthy couple from Indiana were held for investigation by customs inspectors today when a cursory search of their car brought to light a quantity of opium, according to inspectors.

The car was impounded for thorough search while the couple, of middle age, were led protesting to the customs office for detention.

It was reported the first search of the car yielded opium valued at $5,000, but customs officers refused to confirm the report.

The luxurious car, the only one of this type ever seen here, was detained as soon as it had crossed the border from British Columbia.

Free Mail Delivery Service for Country Club Estates Starts Oct. 1

Residents of Country Club Estates will be entitled to free mail delivery on or about Oct. 1, it was announced Monday by O. P. Maricle, postmaster here.

After making a survey of the area Monday afternoon, Postmaster Maricle said that the service would be available to 56 homes, which heretofore have had to receive mail through boxes located at the post-office or through other arrangements.

Two deliveries will be made daily, one in the morning and a second in the afternoon, which will give the same mail service afforded other sections of the city. Deliveries will be made by a "mounted carrier," who will covar the route by vehicle.

A rearrangement of routes will be made to accommodate Country Club Estates with mail delivery without further addition to the staff of postmen now maintained here, it was said.

Residents of the section are requested by postal authorities to provide a suitable receptacle for mail on the premises. A mail box erected in a convenient place for the postman and a door slot are the approved types, and it was suggested that one or the other of these forms be used.

Country Club Estates is the third addition made for city delivery by the postoffice here within the past two months. About three weeks ago two blocks on Adams street and two blocks on the east end of Seventh street were added to the delivery system. Two months ago four blocks on the north end of Ohio street and the 2100 block on Monroe were added.

Non-Farming Rural Population Increases

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24. (AP)—The number of farm folk fell during the past decade, but the rapid rise of the ruralite was subject of a special announcement today by the census bureau.

"Rural non farm" population was the title given to these new country dwellers who do not till the soil. They are those in the beyond-the-city-limits estates, the inhabitants of the "unincorporated places."

They number 23,662,710. Of them the census bureau said: "While the total population of the United States increased 16.1 per cent between 1920 and 1930, and the total farm population decreased 3.8 per cent, the rural non-farm population showed an increase of 18 per cent."

Leaders of Britain's Major Parties Seek To Form New Cabinet

By VICTOR EUBANK
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Aug. 24.—Ramsay MacDonald's Socialist Labor government passed into history today with the resignation of the prime minister and his cabinet.

Almost immediately after the cabinet resigned King George V entrusted MacDonald with the formation of a new national government composed of the leaders of all of the three major parties, whose business for the moment would be burying politics and extracting Great Britain from her economic and financial difficulties.

Tonight MacDonald, Stanley Baldwin and Sir Herbert Samuel, representing the Labor party, the Conservatives and the Liberals, were in close conference going over the possibilities of the personnel of the new government.

Suicide for Labor

It was thought that at least by tomorrow or the next day a full cabinet roster can be presented to the king and sworn in.

There were those here tonight who believed that the result of today's dramatic events might be political suicide for MacDonald and the Labor ministers whose lot was cast with his. It was generally agreed the Labor party was split and it might be unable to function as an entity for some time to come. The belief also existed that today's events may mean the expulsion of MacDonald and his supporters from the Labor party.

Both praise and censure were heaped upon the gray head of the wiry Scotchman tonight. In some Labor quarters he was denounced as a traitor to the party, while in others he was termed the hero of the hour, who by putting his personal ambitions aside is risking his political life for the good of the nation.

Twelve Ministers

The new national government is expected to contain about 12 ministers, as compared to the 20 in an ordinary British administration. Among those who, it was believed, possibly would fill posts in the new government besides MacDonald are Stanley Baldwin, former premier and leader of the Conservatives; Lord Irwin, former viceroy of India who has been mentioned as a possible new foreign secretary; Sir Samuel Hoare, Sir Austin Chamberlain, Neville Chamberlain, former Premier Lloyd George (if his health permits), Lord Reading, Sir Herbert Samuel, Sir Donald MacLean, Philip Snowden and J. H. Thomas.

When the second Labor government passed out of existence today, it had been in office two years, two months and 15 days. The recent publication of the economic report, foreshadowing a deficit of approximately $600,000,000 in next year's budget, and the subsequent efforts of the prime minister and the cabinet to surmount this difficulty, directly led to the administration's fall.

Double Danger

The prime minister was caught between upper and nether millstones—the objections of the trades union congress to a readjustment of the "dole" on the one hand, and the insistence of the Conservatives that savings, and not new taxes, must be the essence of the government's proposals.

Tonight many Labor officials were taking the view that since MacDonald is becoming the head of a national government he ceases automatically to be a leader of the Labor party.

What will happen when the present financial and economic crisis is past seemed most problematic. Some observers believed it would mean the permanent retirement of MacDonald, while others saw him emerging from the situation as one of the greatest figures in English history.

Unemployed Seek Jobs In East Texas 'Army'

AUSTIN, Aug. 24. (AP)—Martial law in the East Texas oil fields has raised hope in the hearts of members of the army of unemployed.

Gov. R. S. Sterling said several letters had been received at his office inquiring how a man could become a member of the Texas national guard, the writers evidencing a desire to become members of the East Texas army of occupation for a duration of the war.

"I told my secretary to tell them the best way to get into the national guard was to enlist," Governor Sterling said.

McDonald and Owsley Flay Sterling's Martial Law

Special to The Record News.

AUSTIN, Aug. 24.—A meeting to protest martial law in the East Texas oil field turned practically into a Ferguson political rally here Monday night, when C. C. McDonald, former campaign leader for the Fergusons, urged his hearers to pay poll taxes and get ready for next year.

Former Govs. James E. and Miriam A. Ferguson were near the front row of the audience of 800, mostly of women and children and practically no oil men. Representative T. H. McGregor, consistent Ferguson supporter, presided; and Alvin M. Owsley, Ferguson supporter last year, was the the other speaker. Governor Sterling and martial law were lambasted freely.

Representative Bob Long, Wichita Falls, was among the auditors.

McDonald said "the people still have confidence in Jimmie Allred."

WASTE TO BE ONLY FACTOR GUIDING RULES

New Production Order To Be Issued Under New Conservation Law

PHILLIPS OFFERS $1

Two Other Major Buyers Wire Murray Promise To Post Price

AUSTIN, Aug. 24. (AP)—Civil measures to control the rush of oil from the tremendous new East Texas field, now held in check by martial law, will be undertaken by the Texas Railroad commission at a hearing here tomorrow.

Production reached a peak of approximately 750,000 barrels daily before Gov. Ross S. Sterling shut the field down a week ago today by martial law.

Although the East Texas field was blamed with having caused demoralization in the nation's oil market, the commission in its new proration order can consider only physical waste, without regard to price considerations. C. V. Terrell, chairman of the commission, said the new order probably would be made effective Sept. 1.

Emergency Law Passed

The order will be issued under an emergency law passed at a recent special session of the legislature, strengthening conservation powers of the commission and accelerating court procedure.

Already, the martial law shutdown of the East Texas field and a similar shutdown of Oklahoma fields has stimulated midcontinent oil prices. Today, the Sun company met a posted price in East Texas by the Magnolia Petroleum company of 65 cents per barrel, a flat rate. Other companies continued to buy without fixed prices. At one time during peak production, East Texas oil was selling at from five to 10 cents per barrel.

Louisiana-Arkansas Raise

Influece of the martial law shutdown also was seen in the Magnolia's posting price increases today for crude from Arkansas and Louisiana fields. The increases ranged from 15 to 22 cents.

Governor Sterling said today oil price increases would not influence him in lifting martial law in East Texas, but that the shutdown of the field would continue until the railroad commission could place its new order into operation. Martial law was declared to prevent waste of oil and gas, he said, not to increase prices.

Unofficial estimates of the allowable the commission would order for the field ranged from 200,000 barrels daily to 350,000 barrels. Under the last proration order, nearly two months ago, the production allowable was set at approximately 270,000 barrels daily, but producers left the order unheeded. Numerous injunctions were filed suspending its operation and the commission found itself powerless to check the orgy of production.

THREE COMPANIES OFFER $1 PRICE

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 24. (AP)—Hobnobbing again with actual dollar oil, the midcontinent fretted among its sleeping derricks tonight, facing a delay in orders to reopen its gushers.

Although the $1 per barrel top price was made effective in Oklahoma and Kansas by the Phillips Petroleum company, and reported promised by two unnamed concerns, governors of three states were not ready to order valves twisted on in oil fields. Instead, the shutdown of wells, enforced by martial law in Oklahoma and East Texas, spread to a major Kansas area.

The dollar level was the primary goal of the shutdown movement by both Governor Murray of Oklahoma and Governor Woodring of Kansas indicated curb orders would remain in force until the price is general. Governor Sterling of Texas said martial law in that state's new fields would not be affected by the present higher prices.

Kansas producers in the Ritz-Canton pool, producing an estimated fifth of the state's 100,000 barrels daily output, were closed under an order of the Kansas Public Service commission.

Two major oil companies, it was announced at Murray's office here, telegraphed an offer at the $1 top

City Council Strengthens Fire And Safety Laws; Gas Rates Adopted

Passage of two emergency ordinances designed to promote public safety, initial passage of a fire-prevention ordinance governing installation of hot water heaters, and the final passage of two ordinances introduced two weeks ago constituted an evening of heavy duty for the city council in its weekly session Monday night.

The two ordinances adopted as emergency measures Monday night, govern the privilege of right turns on red traffic signals and the construction of awnings which project over sidewalks used by the public. Permission to drivers of automobiles to make right turns on a red light, granted about three weeks ago, was made part of the city's traffic regulations when adopted in the form of an amendment ordinance. Members of the council pointed out that it also provides city traffic officers with authority to enforce the restrictions imposed upon drivers who exercise the recently given privilege. It is provided that the car must be brought to a full stop before entering the intersection; that the turn to the right must be made near the curb; that pedestrians have the right of way; that drivers purposed to go straight through the intersection, when the green light appears, should keep near the middle of the street, leaving the channel near the curb open to right-turn traffic; and that such turns must be made at a speed not exceeding seven miles per hour.

The amendment to regulations governing awnings was adopted because of existing hazards to public safety, it was said. The new measure requires that awnings of wood or metal must be subtsantially at-

FIREBUGS DEFY TEXAS MILITIA

By WILLIAM S. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

KILGORE, Texas, Aug. 24.—The combined forces of military and civil authorities today failed to halt incendiary activities in this rampant East Texas oil town.

Twelve hours after the last instance of arson in last night's series of seven attempts, another fire of incendiary origin broke out in a vacant wooden house about one mile from general headquarters of the national guard units enforcing martial law in the vast oil field.

The fire, which had been ignited with a mass of gasoline-soaked rags, was extinguished without great loss. Authorities regarded the fire as an expression of disobedience to the shutdown order.

Six Suspects Held

Civil police continued to hold six men suspected of being involved in the fires last night, when Kilgore's two churches were burned. The other five buildings ignited were but slightly damaged.

Meanwhile, Brig. Gen. Jacob F. Wolters ordered sentries at headquarters to turn in their rifles and draw sawed-off shotguns to prevent a recurrence of last night's shooting. A man drove through camp in an automobile, firing wildly at the tents and narrowly missed Col. Lawrence McGee of Dallas.

A volley of shots was fired at the man, who abandoned his car and fled through the underbrush. He was not apprehended. General Wolters said it "would be just too bad for the next man who tried to shoot up the camp."

One Worry Lifted

At least one worry appeared to have been lifted from the general's mind. He announced that he was certain there would be no attempt to hold a mass meeting in Tyler to protest the martial law shutdown. General Wolters had issued a general order against mass meetings.

He said today that he was "more determined than ever to enforce his ban because sabotage here made it imperative to prevent any inflamatory speeches."

He blamed the fires on red agitators and said they had been encouraged by public criticism of the martial law district.

Oil men in the East Texas district of the American Petroleum institute decided to hold three meetings this week in the area to plan the assembling and dissemination of information about fire fighting. The plan had no connection, as far as could be learned, with the incendiary outbreak here.

greatest membership in its history and was in excellent financial condition. He cited the following accomplishments of the past year:

Increase of membership to 37,651, or 153 per cent of its assigned 1931 quota.

Increased attention to child welfare work, including purchase of 6.5 acres of land from the veterans bureau at Legion and construction of a building for a children's health, kindergarten and recreational center, with playground, at a cost of approximately $10,000.

Expansion of the legion's service department, with special attention to needs of disabled veterans and their dependents, in line with service officer schools were conducted over the state for dissemination of information on benefits under the veterans acts.

Stimulation of interest in child welfare especially in the sponsoring of Boy Scout troops, awarding of school awards, supporting and advocating kindergartens in public schools and junior baseball activities.

Gathering of data which showed 13,000 exservice men out of employment on Jan. 1, 1931, and 20,000 in need of assistance in drouth stricken areas of the state, which data was used in obtaining relief.

Cultivation of a spirit of true "Americanism" through the schools and other means.

Wichitan Cites Plight of Oil Industry in Opposing Freight Hike

DALLAS, Aug. 24. (AP)—The plight of the demoralized mid-continent oil industry was cited here today as an argument against a 15 per cent horizontal increase in railroad freight rates.

The three-day hearing before Joseph B. Eastman, interstate commerce commissioner, closed today.

J. H. Davenport of Wichita Falls and other witnesses spoke of the depressed condition of the oil industry. The railroads countered by citing recent increases of crude prices.

Davenport, who said he spoke for the independent refiners in the Southwest, stated "we do not anticipate that the oil business will ever again be as profitable as it has been heretofore."

The morning session was devoted to a consideration of the plight facing the Texas wheat and cotton farmer. Witnesses said an increase would not be justifiable at this time.

J. K. Moore of New Orleans, general traffic manager for the American Cotton Cooperative association, objected to the increase on behalf of the great numbers of cotton producers affiliated with his organization.

S. J. Cole, the traffic manager of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, said the wheat farmer was facing a serious situation and was not "in any condition" to stand higher freight rates.

Reunited

Victor Dawson, walking down a street in Pittsburg, Kan., saw a girl he thought looked like his mother. He asked to be introduced, found she was his sister Mary whom he had not seen for 12 years. Victor and Mary, who are shown above, were separated as charges of an Atchison, Kan., orphanage.

After 55 years, two sisters—Mrs. Josephine Odle, 78, left, of Friendship, Ohio, and Mrs. Walter Warner, 74, right, of Beloit, Wis., met recently. Marriage and the change in names caused them to lose track of each other. Mrs. Warner's daughter located her aunt by writing the U. S. pension bureau at Washington.

ganization known as the Farmers' Relief Society of America.

Joe White, temporary president of the Relief society, a cotton ginner for 40 years, said the purpose of the movement was to withhold cotton from the market until it could be sold for 10 cents per pound. Half would then be sold and the other held until it brought 25 cents per pound.

"We are warning cotton speculators that cotton farmers are going to fix the price of cotton in the future," White said.

HENRIETTA GROUPS ASKS LEGISLATION

Special to The Record News.

HENRIETTA, Texas, Aug. 24.—A resolution calling upon Gov. R. S. Sterling to call a special session of the legislature to enact a bill providing curtailment of cotton production in Texas in 1932 was voted at a meeting of Clay county farmers here today.

The motion was passed after lengthy discussion of the cotton situation. The concensus of opinion seemed to have been that the legislature must do something to relieve present conditions. The resolution leaves it up to the legislature as to what steps shall be taken.

After the meeting adjourned the petition containing the resolution was signed by all those present and will be circulated in the county for additional signatures. Later it will be forwarded to the governor.

Electra Makes Plans To Finance School Work

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Aug. 24.—Many people have been asking questions relative to the electra independent school district funds in the First State Bank of Electra, therefore, Supt. B. M. Dismore has issued a statement so that the general public may have first hand information and knowledge of the status of the school money.

It follows:

General fund	$ 7,781.12
Sinking fund	13,218.22
State text book fund	559.90
Total	$21,559.24

The $13,218.22 which is in the sinking fund cannot be used for any purpose other than retirement of outstanding monds. The remainder of the fund can be used for operating the schools. Officials say that the available amount for school purposes was not high to begin with, but with the rural high school tuition and the amount due from the state, together with what taxes may be collected by Oct. 15 would finance the schools for two months. The board hopes to borrow sufficient money to carry on until the special school tax can be collected for the current year. Plans are being made for a full nine months term of school.

Charlie Youth, Injured by Blow From Baseball Bat, Improving Here

The condition of Troy Rouse, 19, who received a fractured skull when struck over the head with a baseball bat at Charlie Sunday, was somewhat improved but still serious at the Wichita General hospital here Monday.

Homer Tomlin, 15, of Charlie, charged with assault with intent to murder in connection with the case, was again free on bond late Monday afternoon, after having spent the night and part of Monday in jail at Petrolia.

Young Tomlin made $500 bond shortly after the alleged assault and was released. When he learned that Rouse had received a fractured skull, J. B. McGee, Petrolia constable who arrested the Tomlin boy, revoked the bond, rearrested the youth and lodged him in jail. Bond of $1,000 was made Monday afternoon when it was learned that Rouse probably would recover.

Rouse allegedly was struck with the bat as he engaged in a fistic encounter with young Tomlin's father during a ball game at Charlie. Blows were said to have followed an exchange of words between Rouse and the elder Tomlin as the result of the son "razzing" Rouse, who was the umpire of the game.

group in conference with the commissioners Monday were C. Birk, Mrs. Mamie Dale, Dr. Gordon Clark, John C. Murphree and Curtis Sewell of Iowa Park; A. Fisher and R. E. Scheurer, Electra; W. H. Brown and R. P. Reagan of Burkburnett; and J. A. McDonald, county juvenile officer and relief director.

The court adopted a resolution addressed to Gov. Ross Sterling, and endorsing the senate concurrent resolution No. 6 by Senator Ben Oneal. The senatorial resolution, which awaits the governor's signature after having received the support of both houses, provides for the appointment and financing of a committee for the study of the tax situation. The appropriation provided amounts to $7,500. It provides that the committee "shall make careful study of the subject of revenue and taxes, with special reference to the problems present in Texas and with special reference to comparative burdens of taxes as borne by various industries, and taxable values. "The committee would consist of seven members, three from the senate and four from the house, and would be charged to submit its report to the next session of the legislature."

County Surveyor Joe Overby was instructed by the court to make a survey in order to establish the Wichita-Archer county line through the J. L. Jackson land which lies partly in Wichita and partly in Archer county. The tract is one largely given to oil production, it was said.

County Treasurer Tom McHam was authorized to remit $1,142.85 to the Illinois Merchants Trust company for 76 interest coupons at $15 on jail improvement funds, which will be due Sept. 1.

Commissioner W. R. Knauth was absent from Monday's session.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

June is long gone by but reading a sentence "like a bumble bee in a stone jug," made me remember June and June bugs and bumble bees in Tennessee. In the warm afternoons small girls and boys held long strings for June bugs to buzz on the end.

Personally I would not touch a bug and someone always tied the gay colored little prisoner for me. The horror of an insect was deep in my consciousness, but I was untouched by the tragedy of those June bugs that lost their legs. Now it hurts for anything to suffer. Life does not always harden people.

I wonder if there are June bugs in Texas. I have never seen one. Have I outgrown their fascination when there is still never a summer night when fireflies glitter that they do not fascinate me? I almost keep a calendar on nature's days. And this morning I heard a mocking bird sing—the first for many a week.

I find it a pretty thing that people in Wichita Falls are so ready to divide all the beauty they find at hand with one another. A love of nature or of beauty in any form is a tie that binds.

There are at that, so few really unselfish people in the world; people who are absolutely selfish all through. I have known old people sick unto death who felt no stir of pity or compassion over other's sorrows; but they are so close to an infinite border, earthly things grow small to them.

I am reading a new book, John Fort's "God in the Straw Pen," that is a stirring and succint picture of country Tennessee life in 1830. There are characters that have no feeling of compassion.

Dickens gave such people to posterity. He could depict the tender and the sentimental, and he could also picture savage cruelty and ruthlessness.

And always when I read such books, I ask myself "Ars there really people who look upon agony and feel no twinge of pity?" There have been in the pages of history and I am glad it has never fallen to my part to know them.

I have had people start to argue with me on the truth of my religious beliefs. I do not want to debate them. I am content to believe in all things beautiful and need no diagram for my faith. And so also, I am glad that I have not known people who could not be touched by the misery with which every person must at some time come in contact.

Favorite Recipes Of Wichita Women

There have been several requests for quick recipes and we have been given three. We use today a recipe with which Mrs. Grover C. Johnson won the Gold Chain flour $25 prize and also Mrs. Johnson's for bread and butter pickles, particularly appropriate for the present season.

Gold Chain Economy Rolls

Mix one quart sweet milk, one-fourth cup shortening, one scant cup sugar and let come to boiling point. Cool to blood heat; dissolve cake of yeast in the liquid and add enough gold chain (any good flour will do) flour to make the dough the consistency of cake batter, adding a tablespoon of salt. Let rise two hours in warm place. Work down and add flour into which has been sifted one level teaspoon soda and one heaping teaspoon of baking powder, until of bread dough consistency. Make out enough rolls for meal and let rise two hours before baking. Put the remaining dough in a cool place until ready to make more rolls. Always make out rolls two hours before rising.

Bread and Butter Pickles

Twenty-five large cucumbers, 12 medium white onions, one-half cup salt, one pint vinegar, two cups sugar, two tablespoons mustard seed (white), two tablespoons ginger, two tablespoons tumeric powder. Let unpeeled cucumbers stand in water over night then slice cucumbers, onions and place in pan with salt—no water. Let stand one hour then rinse off salt, add vinegar, sugar, mustard seed, ginger and tumeric powder. Boil all ingredients until peel turns yellow, about 40 minutes. Pack solid in sterilized jars and allow to stand 10 days before using.

CITIES HOLD BUILDING PACE

Some Even Have Gains Over 1930 Figures

NEW YORK, Aug. 24. (AP)—Despite general declines, those cities which set the construction pace for the country in 1930 are showing in some instances even keels in stormy depression seas.

Some few are actually beyond 1930 records, L. Seth Schnitman, chief statistician of F. W. Dodge corporation finds.

"Of the 35 cities that have shown construction contracts in excess of $5,000,000 during the first seven months of 1931, eight reported gohead over the same seven-month period of 1930. These were Boston, Yonkers, Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse, Washington, Houston and San Francisco," Mr. Schnitman states in a survey prepared for the Associated Press.

Boston nearly doubled its 1930 record this year with $44,272,200, he points out. Washington's total for this year was $40,354,700. Houston's was $11,888,800 against $10,955,900 in 1930.

Cities in the five million and over class for the first seven months of 1931 include Dallas, El Paso and Fort Worth.

FOREIGN GRAIN ESTIMATE MADE

Wheat Supply Lower Than Same Time Last Year

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24. (INS)—Wheat production in the 34 countries for which estimates are now available totals 3,022,930,000 bushels, compared with 3,142,526,000 bushels reported last year for the same countries, the department of commerce announced today.

The wheat acreage in the 34 countries stands at 198,405,000 acres compared with 202,905,000 acres a year ago. The largest per cent increase appears in Germany with 5,324,000 acres against 4,402,000 acres the previous year. The total for Europe, outside of Russia, is estimated to be about the same as a year ago.

North Africa shows a decrease of about eight per cent. The official estimate for Argentina has not been announced.

Wheat prospects in continental Europe, outside of Russia, are fundamentally the same as a month ago, cabled reports to the department indicated. Western Europe and Italy will have a considerably larger production than last year. In Central Europe, though yields per acre will be below those of 1930, a somewhat larger production is expected mainly as a result of acreage expansion in Germany.

Texas Facts

By BILL EDWARDS

Texas public school system comprises 1,000 independent districts and approximately 7,000 "common school" districts, owning school property valued at $179,200,598 or approximately three times the state's annual expenditure for public school maintenance.

HELPING BUILD TEXAS

Citrus fruit growers in the Texas Rio Grande valley expect to set a new high record of shipments the coming season. With 1,582,305 trees of five years or older (the age at which real production begins), average production per tree would yield 5,290 carloads for shipment this year, according to estimate of the Missouri Pacific department of agriculture. With thousands of new trees coming into bearing within the next five years, the same authority estimates that by the season of 1935-36—four years hence—the Texas citrus crop will total 20,000 carloads annually. . . . How tremendous has been the development of this industry in Texas in a decade is shown by the figures of shipments. In 1921, just 10 years ago, total shipments were only 19 cars. If the expected totals are realized this year, it will mean an increase of approximately 2,780 per cent in the 10 years . . . Experiment are soon to start in the valley region on the growing of papayas, avocados, mangos and other tropical fruits, and results from those experiments may be as startling within the next decade as the past has wrought in citrus fruits.

Reward Offered in Bombing of Papers

MANSFIELD, Ohio, Aug. 24. (AP)—Rewards of $10,000 for the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who bombed the Mansfield Journal last week and attempted to bomb the Mansfield News last night were offered today by the Brush-Moore, Inc., publishers of the News.

The company offered $5,000 for the arrest and conviction of the vandals who tossed a gunpowder bomb into the News building and another $5,000 in the case of the Journal. The Journal building was damaged by a bomb thrown into a basement from a passing automobile.

The Journal editorially expressed the belief that the bomb was the answer of the underworld to its policy of upholding the law and advocating war on crime.

Officials of the News said today they were entirely in the dark as to what prompted the bombings and were ready and willing to pay $10,000 to get the answer to the problem.

Delivery Boy Robbed After Being Kidnaped

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 24. (UP)—Robert Johnson, 17-year-old delivery boy for a drug store, was kidnaped and robbed today by a bandit who threatened him with a knife.

The youth was on his way to a bank to make a $47 deposit. His bicycle was crowded onto a railroad track by a man driving a car. He was forced to accompany the man three miles before being robbed and released.

The youth was not injured.

Courting the Muses

TEN years ago two Englishmen wrote a book, "Under the Brutchstone." For a whole decade they tried without success to find a market for it, nine publishers rejecting it. Now it has been published, more than 30,000 copies have been sold in England, and an American edition is being published this fall.

But for Jonathan Denwood, one of the two authors, the good news has come too late. He is dying, and he told a friend recently:

"I am so ill now that I cannot enjoy the luck or success that has come so suddenly. While my book kicked from publisher to publisher I desperately needed money for the skilled medical attention which is now too late. If 300,000 copies were sold it would make no difference."

In the long history of the arts this tale has been repeated many times. Poe saw his girl-wife die and lacked even the means to keep her warm in her last hours; since then his books have sold all over the civilized world. Cezanne could hardly give his paintings away while he lived; now each canvas is worth thousands. Whitman's friends had to help support him in his old age; "Leaves of Grass" today sells infinitely better than it did in his lifetime.

Clearly, then, the man who tries to earn his bread following one of the arts is courting many risks. The one consolation is that the artist's chief reward is never a thing that can be measured in dollars.

To be sure, the artist suffers from poverty quite as much as any one else. But the difference is that he can comfort himself with the consciousness of success even though he has not a dime. The lawyer (let us say) who cannot support himself is pretty clearly a poor lawyer; the novelist or painter who is always broke may be one of the supreme artists of the age.

For the artist, after all, is a man apart. He follows a gleam that most of us never see, except as he shows it to us. Life is a richer and more noble experience for him than for the rest of us. Fate very often treats him with ironic cruelty; but he finds the game worth the candle, nevertheless.

The Moral Bond

THE papers carried a little story from Long Island the other day that contained encouragement for a cynical world. It told, as you probably remember, how a Long Island man had succeeded in paying the last cent of a $400,000 "debt of honor" bequeathed to him by his father, who had been head of a chain of banks that failed and who, on his death bed, begged his son to see to it that the depositors were paid in full.

It took the son just 24 years to do the job; but he did it, and the last depositor has been paid, and the debt has been wiped out. And it occurs to us that the sense of moral responsibility which inspired this man and his father before him is less rare in the business world than we ordinarily suppose. Stories of this kind are not unusual. There are plenty of "hard-boiled" business men who realize that an obligation not binding in law can be morally binding. Business is not always the cut-throat game that some of its critics pretend it is.

Franco-German Accord

DR. WILLIAM A. RAPPARD, director for the School for Higher International Studies at Geneva, made a sane comment when he told the Williamstown Institute of Politics the other day that a reconciliation between France and Germany would save Germany from "a dangerous flirtation with Bolshevism."

Unbiased students of international affairs have been saying that for years. The difficulty, so far, has been in getting the people of France and Germany—especially the French—to realize that it is true.

As long as hatred and suspicion mark Franco-German relations, German recovery from its present situation will be difficult. If the German nation eventually swings over to Bolshevism, French statesment will have a great deal to answer for.

That Cuban Disturbance

THERE can be little question that the government at Washington is looking on the troubles of Cuba with anxious eyes.

For more reasons than one, the United States government is interested in seeing peace and prosperity in the island republic. No Caribbean disturbance looks good to Washington. There is always the possibility that such an affair may end in American intervention, which is expensive and invariably creates new enemies for Uncle Sam.

On top of that, the United States has a special interest in Cuba. It gave Cubans their independence and helped them set up their government; and it has a special and direct responsibility for things that happen in Cuba. The present disturbance, beyond doubt, is causing a number of furrowed brows in the American state department.

Panic

I miss your love—without it I am lost,
A listless lad—careened by any wind;
For all the nights we spent were worth their cost,
And now I rue that they are left behind;
I miss your smile—the pressure of your hand,
That buoyed me up to face a shabby world,
And now that I have made my final stand—
My shield is down—my banners are unfurled.

No night goes by—but what I think of you,
The sultry breezes stir your charming ghost;
I miss the careless things we used to do,
When I was all that mattered at the most;

And, worst of all, you artful bag of tricks—
I miss the cocktails that you used to mix!

—KID KAZANOVA.

Gag

Two drunks were chinning about getting home stewed and hitting "the hay" without disturbing the "Little Woman."

"Well," said the first drunk, "my system is a pip. Instead of taking any chances and bumping into furniture, I stop at the foot of the stairs and undress there. Then, with my clothes on my arm, I sneak up, see? I lay 'em on the first chair I come to and slip into bed. S'nothing to it!"

The following night the other stew encountered his pal. "I tried your system last night," he chirped, "and not so good!"

"Why—what happened?" he was asked.

"Well, I go home pretty plastered, and when I got to the foot of the stairs I took everything off, folded the clothes over my arm and started up and when I got to the head of the stairs—I was in Gray's drug store!"

In Fewer Words

The difference between good girls and bad girls, observes Shannon Cormack, is that good girls get taken in and bad girls get taken out.

It Really Happened

John Considine Jr., of Hollywood, is in town seeing things. One of his influential friends has been serving as guide. The other afternoon Mr. Considine was taken through the psychopathic ward at Bellevue.

"Hello, Mr. Considine," cried an inmate.

"Hello," replied the startled Considine. "I, er, er, don't quite place you."

"Don't you remember me?" asked the lunatic. "I used to work for Sam Goldwyn in Hollywood—in his publicity department!"

Types I'm Glad I'm Not

St. John Ervine, of London, who was a guest critic here for a while, crashes the rags with a speech in which he denounced Youth. He is reported as asserting that "youth is mean and cruel and narrow-minded," etc.

St. Yawn Ervine, as he is affectionately known in this corner, is 47. He is the critic who gave a sour notice to a show sponsored by Mr. Philip Goodman, and summed up his verdict by arguing that Mr. Goodman could not possibly be a good showman because he had a plump stomach and ate too much food. Ervine gave more space to Mr. Goodman's yen for food and his appearance than he gave to the production.

Youth, he now finds, is mean and cruel and narrow-minded and that "in this age there is a heresy that the old know nothing."

Apparently, Mr. Ervine.

Harpo Is Young, Too

It was Harpo Marx who suggested that Mr. Ervine be tendered a farewell dinner—the day after he sailed!

The Morning Mail

"Dear Mr. W. W." affectionately writes Leo Schein. "you might include in your things you never knew till now that the navy names battleships after states, cruisers after large cities, destrovers after famous men, mine sweepers after birds, sub-chasers after types, airplane carriers after battles, tugs after Indian chiefs—and rowboats after columnists!"

And they execute plans!

As if We Didn't Know

In the moving picture business, observes Ted Cook, daring originality is what you show by stealing the idea first.

Only in the m. p. business?

O. Mr. Wilstach!

Suggested for the Simile Dictionary: Salvatore Dine: As impossible as a 13 collar on a 14 shirt . . . L. P. Cavalla: Crater has made himself as scarce as a "Boy Wanted" sign . . . T. Cook: Tossed aside like yesterday's idea of an outrageous bathing suit . . . Pare Lorentz: Savage as a round robin released by a ladies' culture club . . . Helen Rowland: Women's love and kisses are going cheaper than the bargains in the August furniture sales. It's harder to give them away . . . Dann Malloy: As unlikely as a radio broadcast of "Diamond Lil." and Nelson Lewis: As many handclasps as a doorknob.

Oop!

Two of the Marx boys were talking about Mr. Broun's revue, and Harpo ventured the opinion that the new shows, as they come into town, would not hurt "Shoot the Works" very much.

"It's relying on a different sort of trade," he said.

"That's true," said Groucho. "Broun is getting a class of people that'll never go to the theater again."

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE HUMAN TARGET—Elliott Wisbrod of Chicago, the man who has been shot at more than any other man in the world, is a manufacturer of bullet-proof vests, and has demonstrated his product to police departments throughout the country during the past 10 years. He finds that the best proof that he can offer for his vests is to let the police try them out. He is shot at about three times a week regularly. My drawing was made from an original photo, showing Lieut. Charles Egan of the Chicago police department firing a .45 caliber army automatic at Mr. Wisbrod, during the 1926 convention of the International Association of Police Chiefs.

"MARY FAITH" by Beatrice Burton

COPYRIGHT, 1931, BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

Mary Faith, comely, young orphan, is secretary to Mark Nesbit, wealthy business man. She gives up her position to marry Kimberly Farrell, shiftless, young lawyer. Mary Faith believes that loving a man hard enough will make everything come out all right in the end. It was this confidence that enabled her to marry Kim after he had once broken their engagement. She realizes he has an eye for every girl, but hopes that married life will sober him and make him successful in his profession. Instead, Kim is annoyed at Mary Faith's "Puritanism," and his jazzy friends, Clair and Jack Maidon, find her a dull companion. Learning that she is to become a mother, Mary Faith, for the first time, visits Kim's office. Kim is furious when Mary Faith finds him flirting with his blond secretary. That night, he informs his mother and Mary Faith that he is leaving. Mary Faith, heartbroken at this turn of affairs, decides not to tell Kim of her coming motherhood. She and Mrs. Farrell decide to struggle to keep the home for the coming baby. Mary Faith obtains a position as typist. She refuses to accede to Kim's request for a divorce and asks him to wait six months before carrying out his desire.

Mary Faith sees Kim walking with a girl from the neighborhood library. She accuses him of being a fast worker.

Clair Maidon tells Mary Faith that she should step out and be gay if she wants to hold Kim's affections. Kim again begins his visits to the Maidon flat.

Kim returns late one night, wet and ill. Mary Faith realizes he has been on a wild party.

CHAPTER XXXII

On Sunday afternoon Mrs. Farrell came home from Hampden Ledges in Dr. Thatcher's car. She looked better than Mary Faith had ever seen her.

"I had a beautiful time," she said at supper. "Lucy waited on me, hand, foot, and finger all the time I was there. She just couldn't do enough for me, it seemed. Every morning she brought me my breakfast in bed and once or twice a week she'd have friends in to lunch, just for my entertainment."

This was her way of making Mary Faith feel that she was neglected at home, and Mary Faith knew it. She knew, too, that she did not neglect her, but she felt a bit guilty anyhow.

"Perhaps we ought not leave your mother," she said to Kim that night when he suggested a drive through the park. "If we go out, she'll have to sit here alone with the baby, and she won't like that after the gay life she's had at Lucy's all summer."

Kim's only answer was, "Well, suit yourself about going." He started for the front door, and she suddenly decided to go, too. After all, he was more important than Mother Farrell, and they wouldn't be gone long.

On the way back to the flat Mary Faith suggested that they stop at the drug store on the corner for a soda. Afterward she remembered that Kim had not looked exactly pleased at the suggestion.

They were sitting at the marble counter when she saw him turn his head and look at some one on the other side of the store. Mary Faith turned her own head after a minute to find out whom he was looking at so steadily.

Behind the perfume and cosmetics counter stood a tall girl in a green linen dress. Her eyes, from that distance, looked as if they were green too and her ash-blond hair was braided around her head. She was extremely pretty. And she was smiling at Kim.

As soon as Mary Faith turned, she stopped smiling and Kim looked away.

"Kim, why should you turn your head and grin at her, even if she is pretty?" asked Mary Faith.

Kim laughed and shrugged his broad shoulders. "You know what they say, Mary Faith. A woman is as old as she looks, but a man is old when he stops looking."

Mary Faith could not see any humor in that. "I never think of noticing any man but you, Kim. I never really see anybody but you anywhere."

He patted her hand.

Two or three times the next day or two Mary Faith found herself thinking of the girl in the drug store and of the man whom she had seen coming out of the store on the night of the Shore Club clam bake.

Was it possible . . . ?

But beyond this point Mary Faith's mind refused to go. She was so honest and straightforward herself that it was easy for her to believe that everybody else was straightforward and honest too. Her instinct was to trust people in general, and Kim in particular.

However, she was neither stupid nor blind. And as the bright chilly weeks of the autumn went by, she knew that Kim no longer belonged to her as he had during the summer. She knew it by a dozen signs. He began to have late afternoon appointments that kept him from home until 8 or 9 o'clock. Now and then he had to see somebody on Sunday about some legal business, or so he said.

"I'm driving down to Steubenville on Sunday to see a client of ours," he would say to Mary Faith in a frank, offhand way, exactly as if he had nothing to hide. "McIntrae asked me to go, and I couldn't very well refuse him."

On his return, he would tell her how lovely the country looked, how his client had asked him to stay to dinner, and how he had refused.

"I wish he wouldn't tell me all those stories," Mary Faith sometimes thought as she listened to them. They did not deceive her for an instant, and it filled her with shame to know that Kim could tell her such palpable lies. That feeling of shame was harder to bear somehow than the knowledge that Kim had spent those hours away from home with another woman.

That there was another woman in his life, she knew—the blond girl who worked in the drug store at the corner. Sometimes, on the nights when Kim came home for dinner, he would decide suddenly to run down to the drug store for a book from the rack of popular fiction on display there.

"I'll be back in a little while," he would tell her, as he picked up his hat and made for the door. "I'm just going to get something to read."

He might come back in a few minutes with a book in his hand. But the chances were that he would be gone for an hour or two. Mary Faith never asked him where he had been. Sometimes she pretended to be asleep when he returned, so that he would have no opportunity to tell her any more of his elaborate and unconvincing stories.

She often asked herself what another wife would do in her place. Would she make a scene? Burst into tears and tell Kim that he would have to choose between her and the girl? Threaten him with a divorce?

She knew that she never could do any of those things. Thinking about them would be as far as she would go. Thinking and worrying and watching the slow hands of the clock on the nights when Kim stayed out until 11 or 12.

"And I suppose that's what most women do," she thought, "when their husbands find some interest outside their own homes. They shut their eyes to the whole thing, just as I do, and wait for it to come to an end."

And then, without warning, she found herself at the place where she could no longer shut her eyes to Kim's extraordinary behavior.

One Saturday evening, early in November, she had come into the flat at six after a trip to the market for the food for Sunday dinner.

As she fitted her key into the lock, the door was pulled open and Mrs. Farrell's frightened face appeared.

"The baby!" she gasped. "He's in a convulsion—The phone's out of order, and nobody's home in the building. I rang all the bells—You call the doctor. I'll get the hot water."

The nearest telephone was in the drug store just around the corner on River street. Mary Faith rushed to the evil-smelling little booth and gave Dr. Thatcher's number.

While she was waiting for him to answer she heard Kim's voice, his slow deep voice that was like no other voice in the world. He was talking to some one in the prescription room just behind the telephone booth. And before she had finished talking to Dr. Thatcher, Kim walked past her to the front of the store.

"Good-bye," she heard him call to some one behind the partition, and a girl's voice answered:

"Good-bye. See you later."

Mary Faith watched him go out. Then she heard the familiar sputter of his roadster. She opened the door of the booth and stepped out. Behind her, in the prescription room, she could hear a girl humming. She hurried into the lamp-starred darkness of River street and turned toward home. Her thoughts were where her heart was at that moment—in the flat with the baby. At the moment jealousy and heartbreak and suspicion were trivial things in the face of his illness. The very word "convulsion" was so terrifying.

She reached the door of the apartment building just as Kim came around the corner from the garage.

"Where have you been?" he asked, waiting for her to unlock the door.

"Same place you were—at the drug store," she told him, with a flash of bitterness.

She ran up the stairs ahead of him and through the flat to the bathroom, where Mrs. Farrell had the baby in a tub of hot water. She did not think of Kim again until 8 o'clock, when the doctor had gone and she was sitting beside the baby's crib, watching his regular breathing.

Then Kim came to the door of the bedroom and beckoned to her. She did not move, merely looked up at him thoughtfully.

"Kim," she said at last, getting up from her chair, "I saw you in the store tonight, and I heard you in the back room, talking to that girl. Kim, how can you be so cheap? Carrying on an affair in the back room of a store—"

"Oh, for goodness' sake!" Kim interrupted, with a groan. They were in the dining room now, and he sat down beside the table, shaking his head. "What are you trying to do, Mary Faith? Make me confess that I'm in love with a clerk in a store, just because I happen to drop in for a pack of cigarets every now and then?"

He got up and stood in front of her.

"What's the matter with you?" he asked.

Mary Faith shook her head. "Kim, you were in the back room of that store."

"Well, what if I was? I was sitting back there talking to Jim and that girl clerk. That may be a crime in your eyes, but that's what I was doing."

What do you need to know? Is there some point about your business or personal life that puzzles you? Is there something you want to know without delay? Submit your question to Frederic J. Q.—Is Mount Vernon built of wood or stone?—G. B.

A.—It is of frame construction. An elaborate fire fighting system protects the building from damage.

Q.—Please give a brief history of the Hoboken ferry—E. M.

A.—The Hoboken ferry, established by Cornelius Haring in 1775, carried the soldiers of both sides in the revolutionary war and ferried United States soldiers on their way to enlist with Commodore Perry in the war of 1812. It was established to connect the corporation dock at Bear Market, Vessey street, in New York City, with what is now Hoboken, but which was then a small town with one hotel. This was the Kings Arms inn, which was owned by Haring, who also operated a stage from Hoboken to Paterson by way of the plank road.

Q.—Did Mussolini serve in the world war?—L. D. E.

A.—He fought until discharged on account of many and serious wounds. He had the rank of corporal.

Q.—To whom do the following sobriquets apply—Father of History; Water Poet; Sage of Chelsea, and Old Pretender?—C. K.

A.—Father of History (Herodotus); Water Poet (John Taylor); Sage of Chelsea (Carlyle), and Old Pretender (James, son of James II).

Q.—What is the maximum salary paid in Russia?—J. A. H.

A.—The maximum salary of workers in Russia has been 400 rubles a month. This is a little over $200 in our money. This maximum, however, has not applied to American or other foreign engineers or scientists employed by the Russian government. On July 4 of this year an announcement was made by Stalin, which virtually sanctions unequal wages and piece work.

Q.—What is the greatest distance a pigeon has flown?—P. H.

A.—The longest pigeon flight on record is 2,016½ miles. This bird was bred and flown by E. S. Peterson, formerly an ensign in the United States navy pigeon service and in charge of pigeons overseas during the world war.

Q.—How long have they been exploring the Maya ruins in Yucatan?—F. D.

A.—Excavations on a large scale at Chichen Itza were begun by the Carnegie institution in 1924, but other explorations were started many years before that date.

Q.—In what place in England is there a monument to the Mayflower?—S. W.

A.—There is a Mayflower commemoration stone at Plymouth, which records the fact that Plymouth was the last point touched by the Pilgrim Fathers on their way to America.

Q.—What is or was the Salic law?—T. G. G.

A.—A code of laws relating to crimes, civil injuries, and inheritance of estates among the Salian or Merovingian Franks, compiled about the end of the fifth century. The law provided that no portion of Salic land could be inherited by a woman. By the arbitrary application of this law to the succession to the crown, women were excluded from the throne of France in the 14th century, and it is in this sense that the term "Salic Law" is commonly used.

Q.—Were there six or seven tribes of Indians who made their laws in the "Long house"?—R. D. S.

A.—The Five Nations made laws in the Long house; later the Six Nations. The Five Nations were composed of the Cayuga, Mohawk, Oneida, Onondaga and Senecs. Their name for themselves as a political body was Ongwanonsionni, "We are of the extended lodge." The English knew them as the Confederation of the Five Nations, and after the admission of the Tuscarora in 1772, as the Six Nations.

Q.—How long have we had transcontinental air mail service?—N. B.

A.—The first regular transcontinental air mail trip was made Sept. 8-11, 1920, from New York to San Francisco.

SCHAREIN'S ERRORS ROB HILLIN OF VICTORY OVER DEAN

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

As if Rufus King didn't have enough to worry about, he is hampered by a fractured foot as he goes about defending his Grand American title at Vandalia, Ohio.

The plucky little Wichitan carries much more than the required handicap at the traps. The mental side of it must be enormous, a 15-year-old boy, still amazed at his own success in winning last year, facing hundreds of grown men hungry to snatch the laurels from him.

And on top of it all, he fractured a bone in his foot a little more than a week before the Vandalia shoot opened.

It happened two weeks ago today. Rufus turned his ankle as he was running over a curb in front of the house. An examination revealed the fracture, and his foot was placed in a plaster cast. The cast will be removed in good time for the big handicap next Friday, and it is to be hoped the ailing member by that time gives him no pain. If he can stand comfortably, he should be able to shatter as many targets as ever. But if it pains him to stand, we may expect some irregularities.

While we're on the subject, that boy's name is Alfred Rufus King! It is not R. A. King Jr., nor is it Fred King Jr. Each news service, it seems, has a new name for the boy, and his father's name is also juggled. The father's name is Rufus Alfred King, but he usually is called Fred. The "Alfred" and the "Rufus" have been interchanged in the family for generations.

The boy is seldom called Alfred. It is always "Rufus." He is named after his grandfather, Alfred Rufus King, who was a pioneer of Western Colorado, the first county judge of Delta county, and later judge of the Colorado court of appeals.

Rufus is descended from an early Rufus King who signed the constitution of the United States. The early Rufus was a New Englander, and another early King, Robert, was governor of Maine during the revolutionary period.

As was the case last year, the entire King family is at Vandalia for this year's Grand American.

Trapshooting is the ruling hobby of the family. When Mr. and Mrs. King were married, in 1915, they went to the Grand American, held that year in Chicago, on their honeymoon. Their home is cluttered with trophies won by Mr. King. He came into prominence in the trapshoot world in 1906, when he won the high average at Los Angeles with a score of 206 out of 223. In 1908 he won the high average in doubles for that year. In 1921 he carried off trophies in three major events—the all-around championship at the Grand American, the doubles championship of North America, and the Hazard trophy, emblematic of the world's championship, for shooting 195 out of 200 doubles. He successfully defended this title twice the same year and in 1922 successfully defended his North American doubles title. For five years, ending in 1919, he was champion of Colorado and New Mexico. In addition, he has won many minor trophies.

Last year, with E. F. and H. E. Woodward of Houston, Texas, King was on the picked western team which defeated the eastern team at the Vandalia tournament. King shot the high score for the western team—197 out of 200, the same score he posted in the Texas tournament that year.

At the state shoot at Galveston this year he shot the same score to qualify again for the team to represent Texas at Vandalia. Others on the team include the Woodwards of Houston—E. F., who won the champion of champions shoot at Vandalia last year, and who also is state singles, doubles and all-around champion; and his son, H. E., who tied King in the state shoot with 197—A. C. Finn Jr., of Houston, Shirley Fosgood of Galveston, and Tob Parks of Houston, the latter two of whom tied in the state meet with scores of 195 out of 200.

But though Mr. King's record stamps him as an outstanding trapshooter, it remained for his son Rufus to add to the family collection of trophies the most valued of all—that of the Grand American handicap.

Attention Electra Caddies

And I'll bet caddies are not the only ones who'll appreciate this.

Somewhere on the fairways of the Electra Country club there is, or was, a pocketbook with quite some dough in it.

You know, that Peck-Barnett match last week was so exciting we had to park every now and then and rest our nerves. While parked, the family wallet slipped out of my jeans.

I guess it's customary to say that of course I didn't mind losing the dough at all—it was the pocketbook I mourn, because of associated memories. Well, it was a gift, and I regretted losing it. But I also have some dear memories of the amount of cash that was in said pocketbook. And I'll split the money with the guy who returns the pocketbook, if it is ever found.

Emergency Loan Group Disbanded by Hyde

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24. (INS)—An emergency organization set up last spring by Secretary of Agriculture Hyde to supervise the loaning of government funds to members of agricultural credit corporations and livestock loan companies, and known as the national advisory loan committee, was disbanded today.

The committee announced it had loaned $1,327,440 to members of 48 farm credit companies in 21 states. These funds, Hyde explained, will enable the credit corporations and livestock loan companies to borrow from $10,000,000 to $12,000,000 for the use of farmers and stockmen in various localities.

BUFFS WIN IN SIXTH, 1 TO 0

Ash Holds Foe to Four Hits In Great Battle

Special to The Record News.

HOUSTON, Aug. 24.—There is just no justice for Ash Hillin, big Spudder right-hander. Hillin here Monday night held Houston to four hits, and pitched on even terms with the great Dizzy Dean, but a couple of errors in the sixth by Scoop Scharein gave the Buffs a run, and Houston won 1 to 0.

Hal Funk, Houston catcher, largely was responsible for Houston's victory, as he twice blocked Spudder runners at home and tagged them out.

Dean had blinding speed at the start, fanning Gerken and Allday in the first round. Stanton met the ball solidly, but lined to center.

Hock got a life on Scharein's boot. Smith fanned, Selph bounded to short. Peel rolled out to third, Buck Stanton making a neat pick-up of Euller's low throw.

In the second, Dean fanned Badgro, Bradbury and Fuss in quick order. Medwick rolled out to second. Sturdy lined to short. Funk rolled to the pitcher.

Scharein hoisted to right in the third. Euller popped to first. Hillin fanned.

Allday made a great try on Tom Carey's hard grounder. He threw wild to first. Carey was credited with a single, but was out trying to go to second, catcher to short. Dean bounded out, catcher to first. Heck flied to left.

Gerken Singles

In the fourth, Gerkin lined a single to center, and Allday bunted him to second. Stanton popped to short. Badgro fanned.

Smith rolled to second. Selph lined to left. Peel walked. Hillin deflected Medwick's hard drive to Allday, who tossed to Scharein to force Peel at second.

Bradbury fanned in the fifth. Fuss popped to third. Scharein rolled out to the pitcher.

With two out in the sixth, Peel was safe when Scharein threw wild to first on his grounder. Stanton made a great stop of the wild throw. Peel tried to steal. Bradbury's throw was perfect, but Scharein dropped the ball after tagging out the runner, and Peel was safe. It was another error for Scharein. Medwick scored Peel with a bullet-like drive through short. Medwick was picked off first by Bradbury's fine throw.

Allday Doubles

In the seventh, Allday doubled down the first base line. Stanton popped to left. No advance. Badgro's vicious liner got through Carey for a single, Allday going to third. The shortstop got his hands on the ball, but it was too hot. Bradbury fanned, cutting at a ball over his head. On an attempted double steal, Allday was out on a perfect relay, Funk to Tom Carey to Funk, "Bear" Allday, the former Centenary college football star, was blocked off the plate by the rough, tough Funk.

In the eighth, Fuss popped to short. Scharein flied to right. Euller got a life on Tom Carey's boot. Hillin lined a single to left, Euller stopping at second. Gerkin singled to right and Smith uncorked a great throw to Funk to retire Euller at the plate. The play was very close and Manager Carl Williams and his men protested vigorously, but Umpire George Barr figured Funk had blocked Euller off the plate.

Dean fanned. Hock doubled to left center. Smith walked. Selph was robbed by Euller who grabbed his hot grounder and stopped on third to force Hock. Peel popped to short.

In the ninth, Allday scratched a single through Selph. Stanton hit into a double play, second to short to first. Badgro walked. Hungling, batting for Bradbury, fanned.

Dean Turns on Full Steam About Kid Brother

PAUL DEAN

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Aug. 24. (AP)—"Dizzy" Dean, the Texas tornado, after telling of his own greatness as a pitcher, once remarked:

"But just you wait until you see my kid brother. He'll be even better than I am."

In the Western association, where Paul Dean is star pitcher for the Springfield club, there are many who agree. Nearly a dozen scouts who have seen both Dizzy and Paul in action this season predict that the "kid brother" eventually will become the greater pitcher.

Paul, just past 18—his birthday was Aug. 11—stands 6 feet one inch and weighs 175. This is his first year in professional baseball.

The "kid brother" started out last spring with Houston of the Texas league, but soon was transferred to Columbus of the American association. While at Columbus he held the New York Giants to four hits in an exhibition game, but the "front office" of the St. Louis Cardinals decided to send him to Springfield.

Manager Eddie Dyer, a former Cardinal pitcher, took one look at Paul's "stuff" and found it consisted almost entirely of a fast ball. Dyer immediately set out teaching the rookie a "jug handle" curve ball and a change of pace. The slow one still can stand improvement, but the curve ball has Western association batters swinging wildly.

Since coming to the Western association, Paul has averaged better than a strikeout an inning. He won eight of the first nine games he pitched, the lone defeat due largely to errors.

Paul would like to pitch every day or so, but Dyer isn't taking any chances with a young arm that promises to become so valuable.

Unlike his older brother—Dizzy will be old enough to vote next winter—Paul is decidedly quiet.

Nuthall and Whittingstall Win Doubles Crown at Forest Hills

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, Aug. 24. (AP)—Great Britain's crack combination of Betty Nuthall and Mrs. Eileen Bennett Whittingstall today salvaged doubles honors in the 44th annual women's tennis tournament at Forest Hills.

The British pair, relying on a concerted net attack, defeated Helen Jacobs of Berkeley, Calif., and Dorothy Round of England, 6-2, 6-4, in the final match postponed from yesterday at the request of Round. Concentrating on their countrywoman, the winners broke through Miss Round's service four times in the two sets and forced her into repeated errors.

The new championship team succeeds that of Miss Nuthall and Sarah Palfrey of Sharon, Mass., which won the title a year ago. Mrs. Whittingstall was defeated in the singles final yesterday by Mrs. Helen Wills Moody of San Francisco, who won her seventh national crown without the loss of a set.

Mahaffey Turns in 14th Victory of Season

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 24. (AP)—Holding the St. Louis Browns to five hits, Leroy Mahaffey hurled the Philadelphia Athletics to a 5 to 1 victory here today and chalked up his 14th victory of the season.

Only Goose Goslin, who slammed out his 20th home run of the year in the first inning, was able to fathom the offerings of the Philadelphian. In addition to his circuit drive, he garnered a double. Score:

Bucs Beat Sports In Rough Battle

GALVESTON, Aug. 24. (AP)—The Galveston Buccaneers defeated the Shreveport Sports, 2 to 1 tonight, winning the series in an 11-inning battle during which two players were injured.

Winegarner of the Sports collided with Catcher Ben April of the Buccaneers in the ninth inning, after Winegarner had tripled. Both suffered scalp wounds that took them from the game. April was knocked unconscious. He held the ball to retire Winegarner, however, and prevented the tying run from scoring. Score:

SAN ANGELO, Aug. 24.—Ernest Koy of Sealy, six-foot, 210-pound fullback of the University of Texas, who won all-state and all-southern ratings last season, is hardening his muscles to tackle Missouri, Harvard, Oklahoma and other Longhorn gridiron foes by riding horseback and doing other work on the Schleicher county ranch of his uncle, Jess Koy. He is accompanied by his mother. Without attempting to rank them, Texas, T. C. U. and S. M. U. will be the strongest elevens in the Southwest conference this fall, in Koy's opinion.

By PAUL MICKELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO, Aug. 24. (AP)—Mrs. Leona Pressler of San Gabriel, Calif., returned to the women's western golf tournament today and won the medal by scoring a par 79 over the rolling fairways of the Exmoor Country club.

The California star was out in 39 and back in 40 for her 79, beating Virginia Van Wie of Chicago and Bernice Wall of Oshkosh, Wis., by one shot.

Mrs. George W. Tyson, the defending champion from Kansas City, scored an 81 with a hole-in-one on the 13o-yard ninth hole—the first ace in the tournament's history—and tied Mrs. O. S. Hill, another farmer champion from Kansas City, for fifth place among the qualifiers.

Despite a brisk cross wind, the general brand of golf today was the best in the tournament's 29 years of play. Twenty-eight shot 87's or lower while seven, who varried 88's, were forced to playoff for the extra four places in the field of 32, which opens fire over the match play route for the title tomorrow.

CITY ADOPTS GAS ORDINANCE

Cut in Rates Approved By Final Vote

tached to and supported by the building; there may be no supporting posts for such structures; such awnings must have a minimum clearance of nine feet above the sidewalk, and must extend no nearer to the street than four feet from the curb. Canvas awning may be as low as seven feet above the sidewalk, and must be so designed as to permit their collapse against the face of the building. The ordinance empowers the city engineer's department to require of the owner any repairs or alterations necessary to assure a maximum of public safety. Violation of the measure is punishable as a misdemeanor with a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $200.

The ordinance passed on its first reading as an amendment to the city's present building code is designed to eliminate undue fire hazards. It will, if passed, stipulate the number and size of vents with which hot water heaters must be equipped, and will require that combustible walls be protected from heat from the fire box of such heaters. Where the heater is as near as six inches to an inflammable wall, it will be required that a layer of asbestos or its equivalent be placed upon the wall to a point three inches below and 12 inches above the fire box. Members of the council deferred final action on this proposed measure in order that further investigation of its application may be made, according to their statements.

The ordinance introduced two weeks ago establishing a rate of 50 cents per thousand cubic feet for domestic gas supplied to local users by the Municipal Gas company, effective Oct. 1, was passed on its third and final reading. Under its provisions, the existing ready-to-serve charge of 50 cents per month on each meter will be discontinued, and there will be a 10 per cent discount for payment of gas bills within 10 days from date of billing. The ordinance was adopted at the recommendation of a citizens' advisory committee after a lengthy investigation of physical assets, receipts and expenses of the Municipal Gas company, and sources of supply now available.

The tax payment ordinance, providing for payment of 1931 city taxes semi-annually, was also passed on its third and final reading.

The application of J. N. Hobbs for a permit to erect a grocery store building at the rear of 1322 North Eighth street was approved subject to confirmation by City Manager V. R. Smitham after an investigation of the case. Mr. Smitham was authorized by the council to approve the permit in the absence of conditions constituting a violation of the governing ordinance.

J. B. Bentley, 1518 Eleventh, applied for a permit to erect a drive-in, fireproof filling station at that address. The application will be advertised for one week, and will be given a public hearing next Monday night.

M. H. Thomason was granted a permit to install gasoline and oil pumps and underground tanks on the southeast corner of Ninth and Brook.

All members of the council were present for the meeting.

Burk Solves Water Problem

ther that the net profits of the water system each year will approximate if not exceed the total investment.

Burkburnett, it was related, had faced for years a serious water problem. The supply was obtained from wells and springs near the banks of the Red river north of the city. That water, in the words of Mr. Alexander, "wasn't fit for making coffee."

City Installed Plant

Then the city council was advised that an additional expenditure of from $2,000 to $3,000 would be necessary at the old pumping plant. Thereupon, J. C. Adams, the mayor, and W. S. Duvall, E. L. Blum, A. R. Hill and W. D. Barrow, the aldermen, decided the time had come for a change. A citizens' committee was named to assist in seeking the solution. Its members were D. R. Peevey, R. C. Tevis, Dr. Martin, A. Lohoefener, P. A. Wiggins, George Kimble, I. E. Harwell and Mr. Alexander. An exhaustive investigation led to the recommendation of the plan which was adopted.

Developments were rapid. The property was bought last March 17, Mr. Alexander said. The system was installed in 27 working days under city supervision with city labor. On May 8, the new supply was turned into the city mains.

Practically every contingency that could be reasonably foreseen has been cared for, Mr. Alexander continued. The plant has operated at only 20 to 25 per cent capacity on days of peak demand. Sufficient water for half a day of peak demand is kept in storage should the pumping plant break down or a break in the mains from the plant to the city occur. Within an hour after any such emergency should arise, pumps which are kept in readiness at the old plant would be put in operation. Likewise, should a bad fire break out, the old plant would be pressed into service, and the result would be to supply more water than could be used by the fire fighting equipment. A chemical analysis is made of the water at regular intervals, and should harmful bacteria ever appear, the chlorinating plant is ready for instant use.

D. C. McNeil is superintendent of the water system, and J. M. Dunn is in charge of the pumping plant. Mr. Dunn and his family occupy the residence at the plant and the spacious yard surrounding the house has been turned into a flower garden.

F. H. Hood sunk the eight wells. His materials for doing that work consisted of a "jim pole" and a Fordson tractor. Each well is 50 feet deep. The water sand was tapped at a depth of 12 feet and the sand is eight feet thick. Air compressed into the 30 feet of hole below the sand forces the water up into the reservoir from which it is pumped into the city mains.

H. L. Nichols is director of the band which played during the evening's festivities.

Services Held for Clyde Crawford, Victim of Accidental Gun Shot

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Aug. 24.—Funeral services for Clyde Crawford, 44, Harrold filling station operator who was fatally wounded by an accidental charge from a gun while hunting Saturday, were held Monday afternoon from the Harrold Baptist church. The Rev. Guy Bellamy officiated.

Crawford died in an Electra hospital Sunday night. Hunting Saturday morning in a pasture near Harrold, Crawford was shot in the abdomen. He lay exposed until late that evening when his body was discovered by a youth tending stock.

Crawford had been a resident of Harrold three years. Formerly he had been connected with the Lehrack creamery in Wichita Falls. He spent his boyhood at Bridgeport, Texas. He served as page in the house of representatives two years when his father was representative from Wise county. He was a graduate of the Decatur Baptist college.

He is survived by his widow, a son, Reginald; a daughter, Vivian Mae; and a brother, John Crawford of Wichita Falls.

TRUCK-RAIL PARITY POSTED

Railroad Commission Issues Order Under New Law

AUSTIN, Aug. 24. (AP)—The Texas Railroad commission issued an order today requiring operators transporting cotton by trucks to charge the same rates that are charged by railroads. The order was made effective as of Saturday, Aug. 20.

The commission set Aug. 31 as the date for a hearing to determine if the rates shall be continued in effect or promulgated on a different basis.

The order applied to cotton and cotton linters transported in bales.

Under the law passed by the legislature at the regular session, all trucks operated for hire were placed under jurisdiction of the railroad commission. The law provided that common and contract carrier truck operators must charge the common carrier rail rates on commodities.

The rates affect shipment of cotton from interior points to gulf coast terminals.

The new law made former class A trucks common carriers and trucks formerly operated as class B carriers, contract carriers. It requires common carrier trucks to charge not less than rail rates and contract carriers to charge the same rates as common carrier trucks when operating between termini governed by a tariff schedule.

Attacks Made On Martial Law

good judgment to revoke his martial law order and bring home those soldiers of tyranny, leaving oil men to follow their pursuits in peace."

The speaker also criticized Brig. Gen. Jacob F. Wolters, commandant in the martial law area, for refusing to permit oil men to hold a protest meeting in Tyler. This he termed an abridgment of the right of free speech guaranteed by the constitution.

"The major companies not only are in control of the industry in the state but they have undertaken to influence the legislature and through loans or advance royalties have seated themselves on capitol hill," he shouted.

Owsley criticized Governor Sterling and his associates for having accepted advance royalties from the Humble Oil & Refining company on properties in the Moss Dome field which W. S. Farish, president of the Humble company, testified before the legislative oil investigating committee amounted to approximately $400,000.

"The major companies have 600 million barrels of oil in storage and can afford to see a shut-down of the East Texas field, because they can rely on their storage," he asserted.

"The issue in the oil business is whether the major companies shall be allowed to confiscate the property of independents, completely dominate and control the oil industry in Texas through their greed and varice."

CIVIC THEATER GROUP FORMED

Three-Act Comedy Selected As First Play

"A Lady's Veil," a three-act mystery comedy written by Stuart Oliver and George M. Middleton, will be presented at the Memorial auditorium late in September, inaugurating the 1931-32 season of the Civic Theater Players, according to action taken Monday night when about 40 amateur dramatic enthusiasts met at the Kemp hotel to launch the new organization.

The intriguing comedy chosen for the group's first performance of the fall season will utilize a cast of seven men and two women, although the setting of the play is in a modern bachelors' apartment.

Application for a charter, providing for the Civic Theater Plays' operation as an incorporated group, will be made at once, it was stated Monday night. Tentative selection of directors was made at the meeting in preparation for the early incorporation of the organization.

Planning to utilize the extensive seating capacity of the Memorial auditorium as a means of bringing local theatricals to a large part of the population of this community, the organization Monday night adopted the following schedule of prices: First six rows, downstairs, 50 cents, to be reserved; balance of first floor, general admission of 35 cents; balcony, 25 cents. It was also voted to establish a fee of $1 for annual membership. All those holding active memberships will be placed on the list of persons available to the casting committee for selection of players for the various productions to be given.

Plans already adopted call for the production of seven plays during the ensuing eight months. Rehearsals are to be conducted under the direction of J. C. Straus Jr. in the main dining room of the Kemp hotel, through the courtesy of J. S. Cate, manager.

Persons not present at Monday night's meeting, and who desire to enroll as active members of the organization, were asked to communicate with Mrs. E. A. Watkins, telephone 9710.

Rehearsals on "A Lady's Veil" are to begin early next week, Mr. Straus said.

Classes convene each evening at 7:30 o'clock. All intermediates are expected to attend, it was said.

State Rests Case In Bus Walker Trial

WHEELER, Texas, Aug. 24. (AP)—After putting only one witness on the stand, the state rested its case against Melvin "Bus" Walker, here this afternoon.

Walker, 22, is charged with the fatal shooting of John Bellflower, alleged slayer of Walker's father. The shooting occurred Aug. 1. Bellflower was at liberty under a $10,000 bond, charged with murder on the night he met his death.

S. E. Cole, Wheeler farmer, was the only state witness. He testified that he saw Walker turn Bellflower's prostate body over and fire four more shots into his heart.

The defense, taken aback by the sudden end of the state's case, conferred lengthily before putting on two witnesses before court adjourned for the day.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Aug. 24. (AP)—Cotton was higher today on active covering.

Buying was particularly heavy at the opening, sending the price of December contracts up to 7.35 and while the price later reacted to 7.19 under realizing or reselling, the market steadied again on renewed covering with that position closing at 7.28. The general market closed steady at net advances of 18 to 23 points.

The market opened firm 18 to 29 points higher in response to the strength of Liverpool and sold 25 to 29 points net higher during the early trading on active covering with October advancing to 7.13 and March to 7.64. Prices lost about half the early gain during the middle of the day. October sold off to 6.98 and March to 7.49, but covering continued and the market firmed up again in the late trading. Closing quotations were within 5 to 7 points of the best for the day on most positions.

Private cables attributed the advance in Liverpool to continental buying and covering on the British political situation and reported a fair inquiry for cotton cloth in Manchester.

The report of the census bureau showing only 90,414 bales of cotton ginned prior to Aug. 16, against 572,810 last year was considered another evidence of the late crop which might be subject to damage by boll weevil or an early killing frost, but was without apparent influence on the market. Exports today 5,038, making 125,512 so far this season.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 24. (AP)—The cotton market experienced an active and considerable higher start today owing to a sharp advance in Liverpool cables said to be due to the resignation of the labor ministry in England. There was also considerable short covering in anticipation of very bullish ginning statistics. Prices advanced 24 to 25 points during the first hour. The census bureau of the beginning of the second hour reported ginnings to Aug. 16 of only 90,414 bales which was even smaller than expected, comparing with 572,810 last year. As small ginnings had been already discounted, the market gradually quieted down and prices eased off 12 to 14 points.

After mid-session there was a renewal of short covering which was absorbed by trade buying and prices rallied almost to the early highs. The final trading showed a slight reaction on realizing and the market closed steady showing net gains for the day of 20 to 22 points.

Liverpool cables came in 8 to 9 penny points better than due and private cables stated that the market was firm on short covering and a lack of contracts due to news that government had resigned and hopes that the political situation will now improve. Manchester cabled that there was a fair cloth inquiry. A cable from Cairo, Egypt, said that the Egyptian government contemplated preventing planting in 1932 if the American government took similar action. October closed at 7.06 and December at 7.28, up 20 points net for the day.

Liverpool is due unchanged to 1 penny point up on New Orleans tomorrow.

Port receipts 13,058; for week 20,723; for season 107,281; last year 431,688. Exports 5,038; for week 5,088; for season 119,440; last season 193,064. Port receipts 2,735,401; last year 1,770,138. Stocks Hold Remarkably Well In Face of British Situation

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Aug. 24. (US)—The fall of the British Labor government was the outstanding influence in today's securities market, yet stock prices held surprisingly well. British government bonds in the American market sold down to new lows and commodity prices, especially the grains, were weak, cotton being an exception with a rise of almost $1 a bale.

The element of surprise was missing from the London political developments. Financial events for weeks, if not months, have emphasized the growing probability of a change in political power in England unless the drift of economic affairs could be altered.

Depletion of the quarter-billion credit which had been extended to the Bank of England would be a serious development, as emphasizing the lack of confidence in the fundamental soundness of British finance. Yet, how could the dissolution of a Labor-Socialistic government be construed by a capitalistic world as unfavorable? At least, there is the possibility that a new political thought dominating the finances of the nation will endeavor mainly to place in order its financial house without regard for the sentimental side.

Balancing of its budget is the prime requisite demanded of England by the financial world and drastic measures very obviously are required of any government in power to achieve this desired end.

Today's market was a repetiton of last week's sessons, with the railroads in greatest supply and again slipping to the lowest average prices since early June. The railroad group is within a point of the year's lows, which if penetrated would carry the rail stocks back to the lowest prices of the 20th century.

Aside from the rails, a feature of weakness was the new low reached by McKeesport Tin Plate. The selling which was disclosed some time ago in this stock apparently was in anticipation of the sharp decline which has occurred in operations of the Tin Plate mills, and as a result of curtailed operations estimates of McKeesport's earnings have been sharply lowered. All the tobacco stocks were in supply.

General Motors also continued in supply. Most bullish aggressive activities currently are evidenced in the oil and merchandising groups, the former by reason of the sudden dramatic turn of events which today brought $1 a barrel quotations for some mid-continent crudes. The merchandising shares have been favored of late because of the usual seasonal pickup experienced at this stage of the year, although many of these issues are responding mainly to active pool work.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24. (AP)—Cotton goods were in moderate demand at the opening of the week, with prices somewhat firmer on a few gray cloth constructions. Burlaps were slightly easier on early cables. Silk merchandise continued to sell moderately. Worsted dress goods and coatings were in fair call. More activity was reported in heavy knit underwear.

Quotations on coarse grains ranged as follows, basis carloads f. o. b. Texas shipping points:

Corn—No. 2 mixed 31@32c; No. 2 white 35@35c; No. 2 yellow 33@35c.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 24. (AP)—Concern over foreign political and financial developments today caused a wave of liquidation to sweep over the grain markets, forcing prices on all deliveries of all grains, except March wheat, to the lowest levels of the season. Trading started with wheat showing moderate strength in sympathy with firmness at Liverpool, where the resignation of the Labor ministry was regarded as bullish, but abrupt downings in oats and corn quickly weakened wheat.

Wheat closed weak, ⅝@1¼c lower, corn ⅝@1⅛c off, oats ⅛@⅜c down, and provisions registering 8@20c decline.

Liverpool strength was a surprise to the wheat trade, as prices were expected to show moderate declines, but the ⅛@⅜c advance in prices there was explained as due to buying by interests that feared the new government would place an import duty on wheat.

Corn started to decline early with a dive to new lows, the September delivery breaking through the 40c market quickly. Weakness in the cash markets was a contributing factor. Commission houses picked up deferred deliveries on the setbacks.

Oats and rye sagged with corn and wheat, both grains diving to new lows for the crop.

Provisions eased off with hogs, grains and stocks.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 24. (AP) (U.S.D.A.)—Aggregate receipts of cattle for the initial sessions of the week around the 11-market circuit totaled around 113,000 as compared with 91,123 last Monday. Choice fed steers and yearlings held steady at most points while others were weak to 25c lower. Demand for stockers and feeders was draggy and value were quoted steady to 25c lower. This slow outlet for replacement cattle in turn had a depressing effect on killing steers in the fact that more of the westerns were forced into killer channels. Bulk of stockers and feeders moved at $5.00@6.75; fleshy heavy feeders at $7.25@7.75.

Arrivals of hogs were estimated at 98,400 against 91,858 a week ago. Values worked unevenly lower for light and medium weight butchers and prices ranged from 15@40c lower while heavy weights were quoted as steady to 25c lower figures. Increased arrivals of plain light lights has increased supplies suitable for stocker and feeder purposes and consequently replacement kinds were noted at considerably lower levels, some points recording reductions of 50@75c.

Lambs and mature sheep sold at steady to 25c lower figures. Aggregate supplies numbered 100,200 as compared with 128,501 last Monday.

FORT WORTH, Aug. 24. (AP)—U. S. D. A.—Hogs—Receipts 900, uneven; rail hogs closing 15c lower; truck hogs to small killers, 10@25c lower; few sales to packers, 55c lower; load good 191-lb. rail lights, $6.45; truck top, $6.75; packing sows, $4.50, 25c to 50c lower.

Cattle—Receipts 5,500, 2,300 calves; slaughter steers weak to lower; butcher cows weak to 25c lower; other cattle about steady; slaughter calves fully steady. Slaughter steers, $4.00@5.25; good fat cows, $4; well finished, 798-lb. yearlings, $8; bulk slaughter calves, $5@5.50; few good heavies up to $5.85@6.00; cull sorts around, $2.50@3.00.

Sheep—Receipts 2,700; receipts mostly mixed grades lambs; few sales and most bids 25c lower; aged wethers wek; good fat lambs, $5.25; two decks aged fat wethers, $2.25.

LADIES' BAND TO PLAY HERE

Iowa Park Organization On Vaudeville Bill

Members of the Wichita County Ladies band in solo and ensemble numbers will feature the weekly vaudeville program to be given Thursday night on the lawn of the Memorial auditorium under the direction of the city park department, according to C. C. Bunnenberg, superintendent.

Directed by K. T. Goetze of Iowa Park, the organization is said to be the only ladies' band now extant in Northwest Texas. The following program has been announced for Thursday night:

"Invercargill," march (F. Lithgow)—Ladies' band.

"Excella," overture, (G. E. Robinson), the band.

"Concert Addar Polka," H. Losey, cornet solo.

"Lassus Trombone," (Fillmore), Miss Nina Cone, trombone solo.

"Sweet Remembrance," (P. Goetze), Albert Lakey, Wiley Burns, Rollins Woodall, Miss Allie Goetze Miss Ruby Goetze, and Miss Florence Sammons.

"Stranger at the Door," Helen J. Scott, reader.

A. B. C. duet, "Cornie," Miss Allie Goetze and K. T. Goetze.

Selected songs by Miss Fritzie McDonald.

Other numbers by Wichita Falls performers also will be included in the vaudeville program, it was said.

Borer Pest Threatens Damage to Trees

Wichita Falls property owners who prize their trees were urged by City Park Superintendent C. C. Bunnenberg Monday to begin at once a campaign against the flathead bore which has appeared here in great numbers.

Trees of almost every kind within the city have been attacked already, Mr. Bunnenberg said, the mild winter of 1930-1931 having permitted the eggs of these insects to survive. The flathead bore, he explained penetrates the bark and feeding upon the soft, juicy tissue of the underlying cambium layer, encircles the entire trunk again and again with the small tunnel which his depredations leave behind him. The cells through which the tree is fed are thus destroyed, it was explained, and the bores will in a short time kill a good sized tree.

As many as 500 of the pests have been removed from a single tree by workmen for the city park department recently, Mr. Bunnenberg said. He urged that home owners examine their trees, and if any evidence of infection is found, that they procure at once the services of some one familiar with the extermination of such insects. There will be a severe epidemic of the flathead bore here during the next month, he said.

City Taxes Reduced $158,306 Here In Two-year Period, Survey Shows

15 Per Cent Reduction on Land and 10 Per Cent Cut on All Municipal Property Results in Big Saving

Recedence of city taxes in Wichita Falls during the past two years, with a computed saving of $158,306.15 to taxpayers within the city, is revealed by figures obtained by The Record News from the city board of equalization.

With alterations in other tax rates, here and elsewhere, having been announced recently by many governing bodies, the material lowering of city taxes in Wichita Falls since the early part of 1930 stands out in contrast to a general upward revision of tax rates.

This city has operated over a considerable period on a tax of $1.40, and it is expected that the city council will retain the same rate during the ensuing year. Reductions effected for the benefit of taxpayers, however, are represented in two heavy cuts in valuations applied in 1930 and 1931.

Land Values Cut

The first sharp reduction was made in 1930, when the valuation of land within the city was cut 15 per cent. The equity of a uniform reduction on all lots, it was explained, was supported by the fact that all land values in each of the many sections of the city had been set by careful appraisal and had been carried forward as a unit. Valuations of individual pieces of real estate had not been altered singly or arbitrarily, it was shown.

Applying a straight cut of 15 per cent to land valuations which had been effective for 1929, the city's reduced tax roll totals represented a decrease of $35,703.08 in the city taxes, and $26,777.31 in the school taxes. The two figures combined make a total rebate of $62,480.39 accorded Wichita Falls taxpayers through the reduction of land valuations.

In fixing valuations on property here for 1931 tax rolls, a second reduction was applied. This cut was 10 per cent of both land and improvements valuations. In gross figures, the total taxable property valuations for 1930 were $51,171,690, while for 1931 taxes that total is reduced to $46,743,400. The economy effected by such a reduction for the taxpayers of the city is found in a decrease of $95,825.76 in the computed tax roll total for 1931. Of that amount, $53,201.27 has been cut from city taxes and $42,624.49 from the 1931 school taxes.

Decreased Taxes

Decreased tax bills for both years, occasioned by the two uniform cuts in valuation, total $158,306.15.

Reduced budgets by the various city departments on April 1, and another material reduction in those budgets ordered last week by City Manager V. R. Smitham, have been constructed to meet the reduced income of the city which results largely from the reduced tax valuations on property here.

Members of the equalization board pointed out that few cities the size of Wichita Falls have a tax rate as low as $1.40 for the operation of the city government and service departments. The board is composed of Roscoe Stayton, Homer Karrenbrock and John T. Young.

NEW SIN

Civil Marriage Termed 'Public Sin' in Catholic Council

VATICAN CITY, Aug. 24. (UP)—A civil marriage of Catholic couples, either before or after a religious ceremony, is henceforth a "public sin," the church ruled today.

The congregation of the council, modifying the catechism of Pope Pius X regarding the marriage ceremony, made the ruling.

Under the Lateran pacts regulating the position of the church in Italy, both civil and church marriages are recognized by the states, while the church recognizes only the religious, although until now the civil marriages were not included in the list of sins.

Tuberculosis Clinic At Hospital Today

Examinations for tuberculosis symptoms will be made without charges to those unable to pay. The clinic is held monthly for both adults and children who are without the means to consult a physician. Appointments to obtain service of the clinic are made with Miss Quinn at 207 City National Bank building.

Various tests for tuberculosis are made at the clinics and advice given where the disease is found to exist. Beginning at 12:30 p. m. Tuesday examinations of subjects will require about two hours, it was said.

KIWANIS CLUB HEARS FILLERS

School Head Tells of Work By Board of Trustees

Organization and work of a school board in shaping educational and financial policies of a school system, and in operating such a system smoothly, was discussed Monday noon by City School Superintendent H. D. Fillers before members of the Kiwanis club.

Stating that members of the school board work invariably without any remuneration whatever, Mr. Fillers outlined the heavy burden of administrative and detail work which devolves upon such a body.

With reference to the Wichita Falls Junior college, he declared that the only logical course now to be pursued is to "continue the institution as formerly, and keep up the spirit until times permit its organization as it should be organized."

Popular songs by Miss Kate Early Parker, accompanied by Miss Lorene Tucker, were included in Monday's program. Guests introduced included Mrs. O. W. Wilson, Mrs. Patricia Swarwood, J. C. Penrod and J. T. Harrell.

Negro's Car Plunges Into Barber Shop

An automobile driven by a negro plunged through the front of Flatt's Barber shop, 717 Seventh street, at 5 o'clock Monday morning when the negro lost control of the machine as it turned the corner at Seventh street and Scott avenue.

The impact of the automobile broke a cast iron pillar in the building. Large cracks appeared in the brick front above the doors with the sagging of a ceiling beam caused by the broken support. The glass doors and wood front of the place also were heavily damaged.

Reporting to police, the negro driver said that he lost control of the automobile when he reached to right a bottle of coffee that had overturned in the car. Reaching toward the floor to grasp the bottle the negro unknowingly floored the accelerator of the automobile, which headed toward the sidewalk, leaped the curb and crashed into the building.

The driver is a porter at a hotel here. A guest of the hotel owned the automobile.

Work of repairing the barber shop was in progress Monday afternoon.

The porter was booked to appear in city court Tuesday morning.

Economy of Operation Urged by School Board

Economy of operation was urged by members of the Wichita county school board in a meeting held Monday morning in the office of J. A. Hood, county superintendent.

The board voted a recommendation that the Weeth school abandon the tenth grade this year, sending pupils of tenth and eleventh grade classification to Clara or Iowa Park.

An apportionment of 15 cents per capita for the county administration fund was voted by the board. Mr. Hood announced that a cut of $700 had been made in the budget for his office for this year.

The meeting adopted a resolution urging Gov. Ross Sterling to sign the tax commission bill being sponsored by Senator Ben G. Oneal.

Rural schools in Wichita county will open on Sept. 7, it was decided.

NEGRO'S HOME BURNS

Fire destroyed the home occupied by Henry Johnson, negro, at 107 Mill street, shortly after 3 o'clock Monday morning, according to fire officials. Damage was estimated at $1,000 by J. L. McClure, fire chief. Origin of the blaze was undetermined. The house was owned by John C. Man, 2707 Speedway.

Fire resulting at noon Monday from gasoline being used for cleaning at the William garage, 903 Lamar, caused no damage.

GROCERY BURGLARIZED

A small quantity of tobacco and cigarets were obtained by burglars who broke into the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea company's store at 604 Jefferson street Sunday night. Entrance was gained through a back window after window bars had been pryed away.

Five Sentenced Here Under New Law Permitting Trials Without Jury

Application of a recently enacted law permitting defendants in felony cases to waive jury trial and plead guilty for sentence by the court became active in the 89th district court here Monday when five men entered pleas of guilty before Judge P. A. Martin, each receiving a sentence of two years, one defendant's sentence being suspended.

Those complying with the provisions of the new law Monday were Roy Byrom, burglary, two years; Mason Hackney, burglary, two years, suspended; William Warren, forgery, two years; Bruce Fowler, burglary, two years; and Albert Jackson, negro, theft over $50, two years.

Recommendations received by the court from persons in Electra whose homes had been robbed accounted for the suspension of Hackney's sentence, the judge explained. Requests of Byrom and Jackson for suspended sentences were denied by the court.

Waiver of jury trial in a felony case and permission to enter a plea of guilty for immediate sentence, as provided by the new law, requires that written permission of the district attorney be given, and that the defendant be represented by counsel.

North Wilbarger Well Is Gasser

What may mean the uncovering of another pool north of the Pease river in Wilbarger county is looked for in a showing of oil and gas in the Bowman Drilling company's No. 1 Harve Johnson deep test. The test, which is an absolute wildcat in the south half of section 11, block 10, H. & T. C. R. R. survey, is about 16 miles northwest of Vernon, and just west of the town of Odell.

The pay was topped at 2158 feet and was barely touched when a considerable gas flow was encountered, estimated between 2,500,000 and 3,000,000 feet. This flow was accompanied by a show of oil. While pulling 8-inch pipe about 200 feet was left in the hole which is in good shape. A string of 6⅝-inch pipe will be run inside the 8-inch to the top of ine pay, when the sand will be drilled into.

Two More Bombs Shake Downtown Havana

HAVANA, Aug. 24. (INS)—Two more bombs shook Havana's downtown district today, causing serious damage but no casualties.

Government officials said the bombs were placed by Communists rather than rebels and ordered an intensive search for infernal machines. At Santiago de Cuba, they unearthed a bomb factory and confiscated 25 12-pound bombs and 80 pounds of dynamite after killing two men and placing 16 under arrest.

The government announced that a reward of $5,000 would be paid to any one giving information leading to the arrest of the bombers.

ARCHER JURY FILES REPORT

Economy Urged in Conduct Of County Affairs

Special to The Record News.

ARCHER CITY, Texas, Aug. 24.—Returning its final report before Judge Allan Montgomery in the 30th district court for Archer county, the August grand jury Monday included a recommendation to the commissioners court of Archer county urging the application of strictest economy in the conduct of county business during the ensuing year.

The recommendation urged that salaries of all county officials be reduced wherever and as much as possible, in keeping with the distressed state of Archer county's finances.

Three indictments were returned by the inquisitors in their one-day session. Theodore Hoff was charged in that bill with burglary in connection with the robbery of the Winezapfel store at Windthorst early this month. Two other indictments were returned against defendants not yet arrested.

Hilton Hunter, a negro, entered a plea of guilty to a charge of burglary, waived a jury trial under the new law permitting such procedure, and was given a five-year suspended sentence.

The first day will be taken up in organizing the convention and the delivery of the key-note address by Harvey, who has erected a tent over the base of his "pyramid to the present civilization" to house the delegates.
