Politics is beginning to gain a little steam, although the 1976 conventions are more than a year away. And, quite often you hear someone lament the fact that this nation has political organizations. "Why can't we keep politics out of things?" They ask. The answer, of course, is that there wouldn't be any "things" as we know them in this country if we had no politics. Our system of government is based upon politics of the most positive and all-encompassing type, which means that everyone may get his feet wet in the political pool if he so chooses.

They used to cry politics when old Sam Rayburn rapped a heavy gavel as Speaker of the House in Washington and at the National Democratic Conventions. Some said "Mr. Sam" had difficulty hearing the "no" chorus during a voice vote when he was for the "ayes," and vice versa. But Sam Rayburn was placed in that position of responsibility via politics, and he carried on some traditions that had existed for years before he arrived on the scene on Capitol Hill.

Speaking to the graduating class at Drexel University the other day, Secretary of Commerce Rogers C.B. Morton recalled a vote of more than 100 years ago. It concerned President Abraham Lincoln, who knew a few things about politics and how the government of the United States functioned.

"Lincoln asked his cabinet to vote on a certain pending action," said Morton. "All seven members voted against it. Then President Lincoln voted. He voted 'aye.' The President said, 'The ayes have it.'" And have it they did, because Lincoln undoubtedly figured he knew better than his cabinet what the country needed.

This reminded us of a story once related by the late John Gould in a Wichita Falls newspaper. He told of an aunt who had gained a considerable reputation as a weather prophet in her small community. Farmers consulted her before making decisions on plowing, planting, etc. And nearly everyone else would seek her advice before taking action on any project that might be affected by the elements.

So, it was not considered unusual when a church group sought her opinion before selecting the date for a picnic. Assured that the date they had in mind would be ideal, they hardly had the picnic repast spread when a heavy downpour of rain set in.

Questioned about her forecast, the aunt chuckled and said she knew all along that the rain was coming.

"I didn't figure it would hurt those Methodists to get a soaking once in their lives," she explained.

A lot of our politicians seem to have a similar philosophy. They figure they know better than the voters what's good for them. Of course the voters have recourse. They can elect someone else, but then he suddenly turns into another politician. The country just can't get along without them.—WACIL McNAIR.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Tuesday June 10th, the 161st day of 1975. There are 204 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1610, the first Dutch settlers in America landed on Manhattan Island.

On this date—

In 1776, the Continental Congress in Philadelphia named a committee to draft the American Declaration of Independence.

In 1892, a Republican National convention in Minneapolis renominated Benjamin Harrison for president.

In 1898, The United States invaded Cuba in the Spanish-American War.

In 1940, Italy declared war on France and Britain.

In 1942, the Nazi Gestapo killed the 173 male residents of Lidiece, Czechoslovakia, to retaliate for the assassination of a German official.

In 1945, General Dwight Eisenhower received the Soviet Union's highest award, the Order of Victory.

Ten years ago: Chairman William McChesney Martin of the Federal Reserve Board said his warning about the national economy was not responsible for a drop in prices on Wall Street. Martin said, "I'm in the position of having advocated safe driving and now am accused of causing all the accidents."

Five years ago: At least 100 persons were killed in fighting between government forces and guerrillas in Japan.

One year ago: President Nixon notified the House Judiciary Committee that he must draw the line and refuse to provide additional Watergate evidence.

TRAVELLED FARTHEST??—Mr. and Mrs. Chester McDonald and son Wesley revisit the Fluvanna School where the McDonalds went to high school in the early forties. The family has returned from Sharjah, on the Persian Gulf, to renew old acquaintances during Homecoming, June 13-14. They are shown in front of the school building which was completed in May, 1930.

10,000-Mile Trip Made To Fluvanna Homecoming

BY MARGE MATHIS

FLUVANNA—Travelling nearly 10,000 miles, Mr. and Mrs. Chester McDonald have returned to the United States on vacation in order to attend the Fluvanna Homecoming this Friday and Saturday.

Probably already the early winners for the trophy of "Travelled Farthest," the ex-Fluvannians are accompanied by their son, Wesley. They reside in Sharjah, one of the states of the United Arab Emirates, located on the Arabian Gulf east of Saudi Arabia. McDonald is associated with Rowin International Oil Company, and the family has lived in Sharjah for two years.

Mrs. McDonald will be remembered as Joyce Hughes and is the daughter of long-time Fluvanna residents, Mrs. T.M. Hughes, now of Snyder, and the late Mr. Hughes. McDonald has two brothers, Panch and L.B., living in Fluvanna. He and Joyce attended elementary and high school at Fluvanna and had been lifelong residents until after their marriage in 1961.

Both exes stated that they never dreamed when they were youngsters in Scurry County that one day they would travel so far away. They have lived in many different parts of the United States and spent six months in Honduras. After vacation they will return to Emirates, but Wesley will be coming back to Texas next year where he will be a sophomore in high school.

The McDonalds have another son, Terry, who lives in New Orleans.

The couple expressed pleasure in being back "home" again and look forward to class parties and reunions over the weekend. When asked for a comparison between West Texas dust storms and those in the desert near where they live in Arabia, Mrs. McDonald laughed and said there is "no comparison."

President Ford To Make CIA Report Public Today

By DAVID C. MARTIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Creation of a joint congressional committee to oversee the Central Intelligence Agency is among the 30 recommendations made by the Rockefeller Commission to prevent future wrongdoing by the agency, according to authoritative sources.

In addition to a congressional panel modeled after the Joint Atomic Energy Committee, the commission headed by Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller calls for the establishment of a separate oversight organization within the executive branch, the informed sources said.

President Ford told a nationally broadcast news conference Monday night that the commission report on CIA domestic activities would be made public today but that evidence dealing with alleged assassination plots against foreign leaders would be kept secret.

Evidence on assassination will be turned over to the Justice Department for possible prosecution and to both the Senate and House intelligence committees, Ford said. "There's not going to be any possibility of a cover-up," the President added.

Allegations about assassination plots date back to the Eisenhower and Kennedy administrations, according to one White House official.

Ford said that "under no circumstances do I want to sit in 1975 passing judgments made by honorable people 15 or more years ago under unusual circumstances. I think it is better to let history tell the story" of the alleged plots.

The alleged plots have been said to include plans to kill Cuban Premier Fidel Castro and Rafael Trujillo of the Dominican Republic.

Sen. Frank Church, chairman of the Senate intelligence committee, said after the news conference that "it is obvious that the Senate committee will have to deal with the assassination issue."

Church said today the committee will make "full disclosure" of CIA involvement in assassination plots but that he can't say yet when or how.

"We do have hard evidence of CIA complicity in murder plots and murder attempts," Church said on NBC-TV's "Today Show." The Idaho Democrat added, "I'm confident that a full disclosure will be made in a way that relays the facts but avoids the injury we all want to avoid."

Robert A. Maheu, a former aide to billionaire Howard Hughes, appeared before the Senate panel Monday but he invoked the Fifth Amendment. A committee spokesman indicated the panel has tentatively decided to grant Maheu immunity in return for testimony on alleged links between the CIA and the Mafia in efforts to kill Castro.

Youth Is Suspect In Jail Fire

SANFORD, Fla. (AP) — A 16-year-old youth who had been in jail "too long" is suspected of starting a fire in the Seminole County Jail which claimed his life along with the lives of 10 others, officials said today.

Sanford County Jail administrator George Proudfoot identified the suspect as Ray McCall, one of 10 prisoners and one guard who died of smoke inhalation in the Monday blaze which filled the facility's cell area with dense, acrid smoke.

"We don't know for sure yet," said Proudfoot. "But it looks like he did it."

The blaze hospitalized 24 others, including inmates and guards. Five of the injured were in intensive care wards.

Proudfoot said McCall complained angrily five minutes before the blaze erupted at about noon that his case had been continued. "He was very mad over the continuance," Proudfoot said. "He had been in jail too long without going to court."

McCall was arrested April 3 on a robbery charge stemming from a purse-snatching, officials said. He was to be tried Monday but prosecutors requested a continuance, which was granted.

McCall was being kept in a hospital cell where the fire originated.

Fire officials said efforts to rescue inmates from the blaze were hampered by more than 100 bicycles which blocked the rear entrance of the jail.

House Fails To Override Veto On Strip Mining

By TOM RAUM
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House today failed to override President Ford's veto of a bill that would have imposed national environmental and reclamation controls on strip mining of coal.

The vote was 278 to 143, or four short of the two-thirds margin needed to override the veto. Voting largely followed party lines, with Republicans supporting the veto.

It was the third consecutive veto Congress has sustained this year and was viewed as a major defeat for the Democratic leadership.

President Ford vetoed the bill May 20 claiming it would cause higher utility bills for consumers, result in heavy unemployment in the coal fields and make the nation more reliant on oil imports.

Backers denied these claims, but were unable to muster enough votes to challenge the veto.

The vote was a setback for environmentalists, who have tried for more than four years to get Congress to impose environmental curbs on strip mining, which accounts for about half of all the coal mined in the United States.

Despite an increased majority in the House from the November 1974 elections, Democrats also failed to override two other recent Ford vetoes — the veto of the farm bill last month and of a $5.3 billion jobs bill last week.

Ford claimed the bill would reduce coal production by as much as 162 million tons and could result in up to 36,000 job losses.

Those figures have been the subject of congressional debate. Sponsors of the bill have claimed they are manufactured statistics, or at best, exaggerated predictions of the bill's impact.

But administration officials have stood by the figures, both in a hearing before a House panel last week and on Monday, when Zarb told reporters he would not back off the predictions.

Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., the bill's floor manager, claims these figures are misleading and have eroded congressional support, especially among what he terms "progressive Republicans."

When the bill passed the House and went to the White House last month, the vote was 293 to 115 — or 21 more than a two-thirds margin. Of those voting yes were 77 Republicans.

Many of those same Republicans, possibly more than half of the 77, have reportedly decided to switch their votes and support the veto.

Few Federal Contracts To Minorities

WASHINGTON (AP) — Businesses owned by racial minorities and women are almost totally shut off from the billions of dollars awarded annually in federal, state and local government contracts, the U.S. Civil Rights Commission reported today.

"Minorities receive less than seven-tenths of 1 per cent of the $120 billion spent annually by these governments for contracts," the commission said. "The identifiable share of contracts awarded to firms owned by women is imperceptible."

The commission outlined those conclusions in a 189-page report based on a two-year staff study. The report was sent to President Ford and House and Senate leaders.

The report said federal programs intended to steer more contracts to minority-owned firms have had little success, partially because some officials responsible for awarding contracts are biased against minority firms. But the report also said few women and minorities own the types of firms that market the products and services sought most often by government.

The commission urged that federal, state and local governments take steps to ensure that, within five years, firms owned by minorities and women share in contracts in proportion to their numbers in business.

The report further urged that the President declare women "to be socially and economically disadvantaged and, therefore, eligible for existing business development assistance programs."

Showers Return To Area Today

Showers returned to the Snyder area today after much of Scurry County was virtually bypassed by heavy rains of Monday night.

While most of the state was facing high water problems, Snyder's official gauge registered only .24 inch during the 24-hour period ending at 7 a.m. today. Only a sprinkle had been logged at the Lake J.B. Thomas dam, and light showers were reported over most of the remainder of the county.

Hardest hit by heavy rains were coastal areas. Sour Lake, near Beaumont had 17.5 inches of rain from Monday afternoon until this morning.

Weathermen said wind gusts up to 55 miles an hour screamed through downtown Galveston and nearby La-Marque. They said wind blasts reached 70 m.p.h. in some areas along beaches and in less populated parts of Galveston County.

Dark, boiling clouds raced in from the sea, dumping 1 to 2 inches of rain an hour in the Galveston area while peppering the ground with pea-sized hail.

A tornado warning went up briefly for an area just west of Houston after a tornado funnel was spotted.

Seafarers and small boaters were warned to seek harborage or safe anchorage during the height of the weather blitz.

Damaging winds battered Pirate's Beach on west Galveston Island while bayous spilled over with massive amounts of rain water throughout the Beaumont area.

Near record flooding is expected along Pine Island Bayou over the next few days, weathermen said, where flood stage is 25 feet. The bayou—at 28.5 feet today—was predicted to crest at nearer 30 feet.

Flooding also was predicted along Village Creek and the Sabine, Trinity, Brazos and San Jacinto rivers.

Sheriff's officers reported water lapped into half a dozen homes in a low part of Sour Lake but there was no loss of life. A stretch of roadway was blocked in that vicinity.

A junior high school in Beaumont was opened as a shelter. Sandbags were used in places to stem the spread of overflowing bayous.

Deluges descended in numerous sections from the Texas Panhandle and parts of West Texas across the state into Louisiana and from the Oklahoma line southward through the Central Texas Hill Country to the Middle and Upper Texas Coast.

While the downpours slacked off by this morning in the central part of the state, water still flowed 6 to 8 inches deep.

C-C Board Gets Reports On Activities

Snyder Chamber of Commerce directors Monday were given reports on some future activities and made plans for an informal groundbreaking ceremony at the site of the new Chamber office building.

Contract for the building was officially awarded last Thursday by the City of Snyder. The groundbreaking ceremony will be held at 9:30 a.m. on Tuesday, June 17, at the building site, Twenty-third Street and Avenue R.

Also it was announced that the Chamber's agriculture committee will supervise the livestock division at the Scurry County Fair this fall. The livestock division will be resumed for the first time in several years now that the new livestock-agriculture building has been completed on the coliseum grounds.

Plans for the July 4th celebration in Towle Memorial Park, an annual Chamber-sponsored event. The board viewed a slide presentation that has been assembled to promote the Independence Day event.

Governors Ask Share Of Proposed Gas Tax Hikes

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The nation's governors voted today to ask Congress for a share of any revenues if gas taxes are increased.

The governors voted 27-6 to support an amendment expected to be offered in the House later today. It would permit states to pre-empt one cent of a proposed three-cent gas tax rise and 20 per cent of any later increases.

The resolution, however, takes no position on either the proposal to increase gas taxes or President Ford's plan to cut energy consumption by increased import tariffs.

Outnumbered Republican governors, who succeeded in keeping the conference from taking up energy questions Monday, insisted today's resolution be limited to the question of giving states a share of any new revenues.

On Monday political questions — particularly George Wallace's presidential bid — kept stealing focus from the conference's other business.

Wallace said he believes the Democratic leadership when it says there is no organized party effort to stop him from capturing the party's presidential nomination. However, the list of Wallace debunkers kept growing.

Gov. Bill Waller of Mississippi told the conference the Alabama governor should not even be in the race.

In other business Monday, Gov. Robert D. Ray of Iowa was named by Republicans to be conference chairman for the coming year. He will succeed Democrat Calvin L. Rampton of Utah in elections Wednesday.

Waller, the second governor of a strong Wallace state in two days to cast doubts on the Alabaman's candidacy, said he could support Wallace if he winds up on the party's national ticket next year, but Waller said he doesn't think Wallace should be president.

"I think the demands of the office of president requires a man to be able to go around the clock on occasion and 18 hours on an average day.

Hostages Held In Vault Second Day

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (AP) — Three life-term inmates demanding free passage to a foreign country holed up with 15 hostages in a storage vault at the British Columbia Penitentiary for the second day today.

The prisoners told Jim Spears, a Vancouver reporter, they would kill the hostages if their demands were not met. "Fifteen of them are on death row right now," Spears quoted one of the inmates as saying.

AT NUCLEAR SYMPOSIUM—James Smylie, left, student at Snyder High School, and Randy Mosley, instructor of Electromechanical Technology at WTC, attended the 15th Texas Nuclear Science Symposium held at the University of Texas at Austin June 4-7. They were guests of Texas Electric Service Co. at the conference, co-sponsored by the university and the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation of which TESCO is a member.

Bishop Rites Set Wednesday

BROWNWOOD—Mrs. Marvin E. (Winnie Faye) Bishop, 70, former Scurry County resident, was pronounced dead on arrival at Brownwood Community Hospital at 9:30 a.m. Monday after an apparent heart attack.

Funeral will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday in Morelock Chapel in Brownwood. Burial will follow in Eastlawn Memorial Park.

Born Winnie Faye Woolever, Aug. 29, 1904, in Mitchell County, she married Marvin Bishop Dec. 3, 1921 in Snyder. They lived in Scurry County for a number of years, moving to Brownwood in 1962.

Mrs. Bishop was a member of the Apostolic Faith Church.

Surviving are the husband of the home in Brownwood; two daughters, Mrs. Bobbie Matt Mathis of Brookshire and Mrs. Olene Falls of Brownwood; two sons, Mardell Bishop of Ralls and Woolever Bishop of Conroe; one sister, Mrs. Audrey Miller of Rankin; one brother, Earl E. Woolever of Route 1, Snyder, and 10 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Two Pleas In District Court

Lorenzo Ovalle Martinez pleaded guilty in 132nd District Court to a charge of DWI second offense. He received six months in jail plus a fine of $250. He was arrested by Snyder Police Department Feb. 2.

Also in district court action, Patricio Martinez pleaded guilty to a charge of DWI second offense. He received a fine of $250 plus six months in jail. He was arrested on March 18, by the Snyder Police Department.

Snyderite's Brother Dies

Dale Burleson of Tye died Monday afternoon in Baylor Hospital in Dallas after undergoing open heart surgery. He was the brother of Mrs. Pauline Withers of Snyder.

Funeral arrangements were pending this morning at Elliott Funeral Home in Abilene.

SLA Pair Convicted

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The first Symbionese Liberation Army members to face a jury have been found guilty of first-degree murder in the cyanide-bullet death of Oakland School Supt. Marcus Foster.

An eight-woman, four-man jury issued the verdicts Monday in the nine-week trial of SLA "soldiers" Joseph Remiro and Russell Little.

Remiro, 28, and Little, 25, were also found guilty of attempted murder in the wounding of Foster's top aide, Robert Blackburn.

The two educators were shot as they left Oakland school headquarters the night of Nov. 6, 1973.

As jury foreman William Sprague read the verdicts, one woman juror sobbed quietly.

But Remiro smiled and leaned over to talk with his attorney, Edward Merrill, as Sprague read from a slip of paper. Both defendants smiled as they were led out of the heavily guarded courtroom by deputies.

The verdict ended 11 days of deliberations — one of the longest in California trial history.

Sprague's court statement said jurors had decided on Remiro's fate Sunday but reached a decision on Little shortly before 7 p.m. Monday night.

The two face a maximum penalty of life imprisonment because the Foster ambush took place before California reinstated the death penalty. The old capital punishment law had been struck down by the state Supreme Court.

County Court Pleas Heard

Hazel Adell Gordon of Ft. Worth pleaded no contest to a charge of DWI in County court. She was arrested by the Highway Patrol June 6. She received a fine of $100 plus court costs and three days in jail.

Also Billy Wayne Stokes of Rt. 1, Snyder pleaded guilty to a charge of DWI. He was arrested June 9 by the Snyder Police Department. He received a fine of $100 plus costs and three-day jail sentence probated for six months.

Two Vehicles Are In Mishap

The Snyder Police Department investigated a two-car mishap yesterday afternoon.

At 4:58 p.m. in the 300 block of Thirty-fourth Street, a 1970 Model Lincoln Continental, driven by Eliza Horace Grant of 220 Twenty-fourth Street, and a 1961 Model pickup driven by Larry John Wayne of 607 Ave. T were involved in a collision.

Barrel Racers Slate Event

The West Texas Barrel Racers Association will sponsor a jackpot event at 7:30 p.m. on June 16 in the Scurry County Rodeo Arena.

On the schedule are a $17 open barrel race, a $12 open barrel race, junior barrel racing and $50, $150 and $250 novice races. The public is invited to attend and there will be no admission charge. About 60 riders are expected to enter.

"THE FURTHER PERILS OF LAUREL AND HARDY"

Dear Abby

Drinker Seeks Meaningful Phrase

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Do you have a paragraph or a phrase that would make me think twice when I am tempted to take a drink?

I am not a heavy drinker. In fact, I hardly ever drink at all, but when I do, it hits me hard.

I made a fool of myself again last night, and I am sick of it. I've done that only five times in my life, and it only happens when I am out with friends. The next day when I wake up, I have to depend on other people to tell me what I did.

If I had just one meaningful phrase to keep me from weakening and having a drink with my friends, I would carry it with me. A Bible is too big to carry around. I am 20. Thank you.

FOOLISH GIRL

DEAR GIRL: When you are faced with temptation, tell your friends that hard liquor is "poison" to you and that you cannot drink it. Then silently pray: "Oh, Lord, give me the strength I need right now," and quickly pour yourself a non-alcoholic beverage. After one sip, pray again: "Thank you, Lord. I made it!"

Try it, and let me know the results. I care.

DEAR ABBY: A letter in your column has caused me to drop my campaign to get the letter "q" removed from the dictionary and truncated to "k," where it belongs. I luckily discovered that I might be dead before anyone would even be interested.

Now I would like to start a campaign to get all people to knock using the phrase "made love" when they mean "had sex."

I am irritated beyond words when I read that "a couple met at a party, went to a motel and made love." It's an insult to the art of lovemaking! What they did was have sex. Love had nothing to do with it.

Before I risk wasting my time on this campaign, please tell me if you think I have a point.

VAL (MASCULINE)

DEAR VAL: You have a point, but whether it's worthy of a campaign raises another question. I plead not guilty. When I mean "They had sex," I don't say, "They made love."

DEAR ABBY: The other night I babysat for a neighbor. She has three kids. The oldest is in the 6th grade (I am 16).

I walked into the kitchen and, my gosh, you've never seen a bigger mess in all your life! When the woman left, she said, "Oh, be sure to clean up the kitchen. I just hate coming home to a messy kitchen!"

At first I was stunned. Then I thought for sure she would pay me extra if I did the kitchen.

When she came home, she gave me a dollar LESS than she had agreed to, even with my cleaning up her kitchen. I really was angry, but I didn't say anything to her because I am very shy. Besides, she is a friend of my mother's.

I know she'll ask me to babysit again, and I don't want to, but I don't have the nerve to tell her how I feel and why. Can you help me?

ANGRY AND PUZZLED

DEAR A AND P: Not if you refuse to help yourself. Tell her in a respectful tone that you don't want to sit for her again because she shorted you a dollar last time. And also tell her that if she wants her kitchen cleaned, she should be prepared to pay a little extra.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

REUNION—Four members of a German family were re-united almost by chance at a wedding in Snyder on Saturday, June 7. From left are Lothar Bartels, Ann Huckabee, Erika Drinnen and Lee Huckabee, brothers and sisters who had not seen each other since they were adopted by two families 13 years ago.

Brothers, Sisters Meet At Wedding

Curiosity and a marriage brought four German brothers and sisters, Lee, Ann, Erika, and Lothar, together for the first time in 13 years.

The four brothers and sisters were separated 13 years ago when Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Bartels of Snyder adopted Erika and Lothar, and Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Huckabee of Houston adopted Lee and Ann.

The children were living in Germany when they were separated and brought to the United States through a church group. For 13 years, they lived in the same state without knowing it.

It was by chance that Ann's curiosity and a remark made by an ex-Snyder resident about the adopted Bartels children that the four children were able to get back together.

The children were totally responsible for getting back together, since it was a general rule of the adoption agency not to tell where the children were located.

The reunion was a double treat. Not only seeing each other for the first time in 13 years, but to all be together for Erika's wedding to Danny Drinnen, with Ann as maid of honor.

The Bartels have two other children, Roy Bartels and Cindy Brown. The Huckabees also have two other children, Tom Huckabee and Sue Penden.

Only One Governor On Cruise

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Only one governor was aboard a Sunday night cruise on the Mississippi River, paid for by oil interests during the National Governors Conference.

The Associated Press erroneously reported Monday that the nation's governors and their guests cruised on the paddle-wheeler Natchez, courtesy of an oil lobby.

There were 900 persons in all on the voyage, mostly members of governors' staffs, guests and reporters, but only one governor — Michael O'Callaghan of Nevada.

Conference officials said the tab was picked up by Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association, which represents small and large oil companies. However, a spokesman for Mid-Continent said the organization itself did not pay for the affair. He said the bill was picked up by individual companies, most of which probably were members of the association although some are not.

Nine private associations and companies paid a third of the conference's cost.

Raggedy Ann and Andy To Star In Bicentennial Movie

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the offerings of Americana planned for the Bicentennial is a movie, for release in the fall of 1976, starring Raggedy Ann and Andy.

The film, which will be animated, is already in the works, according to an announcement made here. It also is said, by its director, Richard Williams, to bear no relation to the animated cartoons seen on TV on Saturday mornings. Williams said it is meant to stack up well in comparison with the best of the Disney feature-length animated films.

Music will be by Joe Raposo, who composed "Sing" and "It's Not Easy Bein' Green" for TV's "Sesame Street." Bobbs-Merrill of Indianapolis, which publishes the Raggedy Ann books, is investing $1.7 million in the film.

The movie will include characters from the Raggedy Ann and Andy books, including the "camel with the wrinkled knees." Several of the characters are new creations of writers Max Wilk and Patricia Thackray.

The story takes place on the birthday of Marcella, who owns Raggedy Ann and Andy. She receives a new French doll as a gift, which a pirate abducts. Raggedy Ann and Andy leave the safety of the nursery to go and rescue the doll. In the deep woods they encounter the camel with the wrinkled knees, a discarded toy, who joins them in a series of adventures.

Production supervision of the movie is being done by Lester Osterman and Richard Horner, Broadway producers.

The Raggedy Ann and Andy stories were started by the late John Gruelle, a political cartoonist for the Indianapolis Star. He told them to his daughter, Marcella, until she died of tuberculosis in 1916, and he based them on a doll which had belonged to his own mother that Marcella found in the attic. He drew a face on the doll and named her from a combination of two poems written by an Indianapolis neighbor, James Whitcomb Riley — "Raggedy Man" and "Orphan Annie."

After Marcella died, Gruelle started writing down the stories he had told her, and adding others. One of the newspaper's employes borrowed them to read to his children and the first Raggedy Ann book was published by a Chicago printing house in 1918. Until his death 20 years later, Gruelle wrote and illustrated nearly 40 Raggedy Ann books.

After he began writing the books, Gruelle and his wife had two sons, who were never mentioned in the Raggedy Ann stories. Later they said that they didn't mind. Marcella had become part of their father's literary life.

Settlers Tea To Be Held At Rockledge Farm

FLUVANNA—Guests calling at Rockledge Farm for tea Friday afternoon will be welcomed by Fluvanna ladies who are hostessing the event in honor of early settlers and in conjunction with the Fluvanna Homecoming.

The old fashioned tea will be held from 3 until 5 p.m. June 13, and in keeping with tradition Pioneer Teacakes and lemonade will be served.

Hostesses for the tea not only will be serving the old timey confection but will also make the teacakes in their kitchens for the event. The recipe, believed to be well over fifty years old, is owned by Mrs. Fowler Mathis of Fluvanna. It was given to Mrs. Mathis forty-one years ago by Mrs. Joe York of Snyder. Mrs. York obtained the recipe from the late Mrs. Tollie Faver several years earlier.

At one time called Disappearing Teacakes, the old fashioned sugar cookies has been a favorite in all of the homes mentioned above. Mrs. York stated that she must have made thousands of these cookies when her children were all young and they were attending rodeos around the area. Mrs. Mathis' family can usually expect a full cookie jar of the teacakes when they go home.

Hostesses for Friday's tea who will be using the recipe below are:

Edith McKanna, Odene Jones, Colon Wills, Sued Jones, Mildred Mathis, Rosa McDonald, Opal Beaver, Cleone Fulford, Azale Reeder, Maybelle Ainsworth, and Virginia Belew.

Recipe for Pioneer Teacakes (Mrs. Mildred Mathis)

1 cup sugar and ½ cup lard, creamed together. Add three whole hen eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add a pinch of salt and vanilla to taste (preferably Watkins or Raleigh's Vanilla) Sift two rounded teaspoons baking powder with a small portion of flour and add to the egg mixture. Continue adding flour until the mixture is of the proper consistency to roll out and cut into cookies. (A small baking powder can with both ends cut out is the right size and no cost.)

On a greased pan, bake teacakes in a medium hot oven (350 Degrees). The small left-over pieces can be rolled again and again and baked. This recipe makes 88 cookies.

Stamps In The News

By SYD KRONISH
AP Newsfeatures

Three religious paintings will be featured on a new set of stamps to be issued by Israel this month. The paintings are devoted to the Hebrew holidays of Yom Kippur, Purim and Hanukkah.

The lowest value in the set is entitled "Hanukkah" from a painting by Moritz Daniel Oppenheim, who achieved fame during the 19th century for his series of pictures of Jewish family life. "The Purim Players" is an expressionist painting by Jankel Adler. The highest value is from a painting by Maurycy Gottlieb. It includes a self-portrait and pictures of his family. All three originals appear in Israeli museums.

Two other sets will be issued by Israel this month. One stamp promotes the study of gerontology and commemorates the 25th anniversary of the International Gerontological Assn. whose conference will be held in Jerusalem. The second stamp is in th Israeli landscape series and hails the new city of Upper Nazareth. Established in 1957, this practically all-Jewish community in Lower Galilee is located on the hills overlooking its sister town of Nazareth, home of ancient Christian heritage.

These three new sets of stamps will be available at your local dealer.

Pope Receives Queen Of Natives

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI has received Te Atairankikaahu, queen of the Maori natives of New Zealand, praising her people's traditions and ancient customs.

"In you, we honor respected traditions and age-old customs which have become the object of admiration beyond the limits of your native land and beyond the cultural circle of your people," the Pope told the queen and her husband Monday.

Couple Observe 60th Anniversary

Aubrey (Pete) and Ruby Baxter were united in marriage June 9, 1915 at Bismark, Oklahoma (now Wright City, Oklahoma). Mrs. Baxter is 79 years of age and Mr. Baxter is 83.

Mr. and Mrs. Baxter had one son the late Aubrey Louis Baxter. They are the grandparents of Dan Baxter and Cheryl DeBell of Reno, Nevada. They also have one great grandson, Robbie DeBell also of Reno.

The Baxters moved to Texas in 1930 and from Kermit to Snyder in 1949. Having lived in many places Mr. Baxter says Kennewich, Washington is the best place he has ever lived "no mesquitoes and snakes there" he said, "and a beautiful place to live."

Mr. Baxter was working as a construction worker at the time of his retirment in 1967. He was forced to retire when he lost his eye sight.

A host of friends was on hand at the Leusure Lodge, where they have made their home for the past year, for their anniversary celebration. Refreshments of cake and punch and coffee were served to guests.

Board Members Have Meeting

The board of directors for the Martha Ann Woman's Club met for their regular monthly meeting Monday. It was announced that dues paid by October 31 are $12 and beginning November 1 dues go up to $15 per year.

The annual style show has been planned as a dinner on Thursday, September 4.

The woman's club will be closed for the summer except by appointment. The caterer will be on vacation starting July 17 for two weeks. The club will be closed during that time.

Mrs. Rosalie McGlaun has donated one of her paintings to the woman's club. The painting was selected by the board of directors.

Says Liz Has Death On Mind

LONDON (AP) — The widow of British movie star Laurence Harvey says Elizabeth Taylor often has the subject of death on her mind.

"It seems to be her favorite subject after diamonds," Pauline Stone quoted her husband as saying of Miss Taylor "She knows more about suffering than Charles Dickens and St. Augustine put together."

The quote was contained in Miss Stone's book published today: "One Tear is Enough: My Life with Laurence Harvey."

Miss Taylor, a close friend, visited Harvey shortly before he died of cancer last November.

Collectors endure parting's sorrow

By Jean Barnes

Some people "marry" their collections. Others "build" them. We know both kinds and have yet to find a collector who is dissatisfied with his style.

Regardless of this, if you are a "death do us part" collector, you really should take a second look at the advantages of upgrading your collection.

"Don't wait until you have to choose between moving to a larger house or adding a room to your present one," advised an instructor who teaches a weekly class on collecting. "You can't build a really fine collection without upgrading."

Basically, he explained, upgrading consists of culling the less desirable pieces to make room for acquisitions of better quality. Of course, you might have to part with two or three "culls" to pay for one advanced and more expensive piece, but there will be space to show your new addition to advantage. You've also had the enjoyment of selecting and buying something new which appeals to you.

Upgrading is a thoughtful and continuing process. Take an objective look at your collection. Is each piece truly representative of what you want your collection to be? If you've been collecting a year or more the chances are good that your early pieces have lost their appeal. "And that's good — you've outgrown that early period when everything looks good"

Your taste changes as you study and learn. Perhaps your interest hs narrowed to a specific category since you started. No doubt you've made a few mistakes. Most collectors do. These are all to be considered as you select the culls.

Unless you've a highly reputable dealer friend, finding a market for the culls might present a challenge to you. Bear in mind that as far as antiques are concerned it's still a seller's market. You'll want to investigate the various outlets in your community – flea markets, consignment shops or auctions or your own garage sale.

There is another tack you can take...trading up. This requires a certain expertise in the market place but if you feel confident of your skill and bargaining power and have the time to scout the shops in your area it will be worth the trouble. The secret is always to trade up. Don't come away from your bargaining with another mediocre object. Make sure you really are upgrading your collection.

If you need one more incentive for culling your collection think about all the beginning collectors "out there." Your culls undoubtedly will look good to them – they did to you once.

If you've read this far and still can't bring yourself to part with a single item in your collection you are without doubt a "death do us part" collector. Enjoy it. And the next time you add a shelf to your already crowded wall consider again the advantages of upgrading.

What's new on the market?

THE PRODUCT — A kit for fixing toilet flush valve leakage.

Manufacturer's claim — That the combination flapper and stainless steel seat can be installed without tools and without removing the tank from the toilet bowl ... that the seat is mounted directly onto the existing flush valve seat with a patented sealant which uses water as a catalyst for curing ... that the sealant remains resilient under water, providing a permanent watertight seal ... that the flapper is always kept in proper alignment with the valve seat and eliminates lift wires in the tank water ... and that the chain is adjustable to a wide variety of lengths, fastening with a stainless steel clip to the tank trip lever.

THE PRODUCT — An all-weather multipurpose lubricant.

Manufacturer's claim — That the lubricant can be applied to almost any surface and produces a sliding action on zippers, bearings, tools, machines, windows, doors, musical instruments and hundreds of other items ... that, since the product can be used in temperatures ranging from 20 degrees below zero to 450 degrees Fahrenheit, it can be use on oven and freezer racks and trays ... that it is not affected by salt water, rain or snow and thus is useful for reducing friction and stickiness in fishing reels, rifle bolts, skis and cycle chains ... that the lubricant fills the pits of metal and other surfaces and stays in place.

THE PRODUCT — A "thermal break" extruded aluminum window.

Manufacturer's claim — That the four-track, combination prime and storm window has removable sash and reduces the heat losses associated with nonthermalized prime windows ... that it is designed to reduce frame condensation to practically zero ... that its thermal factor rating of 62 under new thermal standard adopted by the Federal Housing Administration qualifies it for use throughout cold and hot climates ... and that a unique feature in the window is a new insulating material that provides a thermal break in the unitizing aluminum frame.

THE PRODUCT — A complete kit for wainscotting a 12-foot wall.

Manufacturer's claim — That the kit comes in four woodgrain reproductions ... that it includes ten 16' by 32' tongue-and-groove planks, adhesive, clips and nails, two 6' 2" matching chair rail moldings and installation instructions ... that the precut paneling and molding permits even an inexperienced do-it-yourselfer to install the wainscot in about the same time it would take him to cut the paneling from standard 4' by 8' sheets ... and that the prefinished hardboard paneling can be used in heavy traffic areas because it can be damp-wiped clean quickly.

Robin Tells His Story

THE ENCHANTED PLACES. By Christopher Milne. Dutton. 169 Pages. $6.95.

Even those who haven't been lucky enough to have read the "Winnie the Pooh" books ought to enjoy this gentle, often touching memoir of his childhood by the man who, as a boy, was the model for "Christopher Robin."

Christopher Robin Milne was born in 1920, and it wasn't too long after his birth that his father, A. A. Milne, was incorporating some of the episodes dotting his son's life into the wonderful stories he wrote about a bear with very little brain named Pooh. While young Christopher at first enjoyed having his father write about him, he later was to resent — for a time — the use of his life in his father's stories.

It was not until later that he was to realize that his famed father not only was writing about the boy but about his own childhood as well, and his feelings about the fictional Christopher Robin have mellowed.

Which is good, since this is largely a happy book, full of the joy of living and growing up in a nice, small world carefully managed by a loving mother and a fond father who, although a famous author, was first a father. Milne's reminiscences about growing up in a household in which his life was largely dominated by a Nanny until he was about 9, when his parents began to become more central to him, are sometimes touching, sometimes wryly humorous but always interesting.

All-Stars Play At 9

The Snyder All-Stars will host Abilene High at 9 0'clock tonight in Northeast Park if the grounds are sufficiently dry. Thursday night, the All-Stars host Abilene Christian College.

Raymond Valdez has drawn the starting assignment for tonight's game, and Perry Turnbow will be on the hill Thursday night.

Last Thursday, the Abilene Bulls beat the All-Stars in Abilene, 4-2, and last Saturday night, the Abilene Americans beat the All-Stars in Abilene 10-1.

Oilers Rip Buffs, 6-2

The Oilers were leading the Buffs, 6-2, in Junior Teenage League action here last night when the game was halted in the top of the 6th due to rain. The two tallies the Oilers scored in the 6th do not count since it was not a full inning.

It was a tight pitcher's duel between Keith Bryant of the Oilers and Clay Peterson of the Buffs. The Oilers got only three hits—two singles by David Lee and one by Bryant. The Buffs got only four hits—two singles each by Peterson and Rollen Nunley.

Giants Best Cubs, 10-3

John Davis twirled a sparkling 3-hitter for the Giants as they downed the Cubs, 10-3, in Little League action here last night. The second game between the Yankees and Indians was postponed due to rain.

The Giants collected nine hits. Davis aided his own cause with three singles, Mike Roemisch socked a double and a single, and Brent Roemisch, John Bloom, Neal Evans, and Neil Paige each hit one single.

For the Cubs, John Overton and Jerry Greene each hit a double and Roger Overton singled.

Giants Nip Cubs, 10-9

The Giants nudged the Cubs, 10-9, in the first game in Farm League action here last night. The second game, between the Yanks and Indians, was halted in the first inning due to rain with the Tribe leading, 5-0.

The Giants collected seven hits, led by Jesse Guzman, who socked a double and two singles. Greg Gonzales contributed two singles, and Lee Minyard and Paul Schaufele each hit one single.

The Cubs got three hits—a double by James Wallace and one single each by Kip Elkins and Larry Turk.

Baptists Win, 12-7

In Men's Softball action Monday night, the First Baptist Church downed Yale E. Key, 12-7, in the early game. The late game was called due to rain.

Key jumped out in a hurry, scoring five runs on three hits in the top of the first inning. After that, they could manage only two runs on two hits. Key committed a total of four errors.

First Baptist's 12 runs came on 14 hits. Everyone in the lineup got at least one hit. J.B. Lee and Ricky Hopper each managed a triple. David Stinnett had two doubles. Lee and Poncho Warner also doubled. The rest singled. Butch Buchanan scored on an inside-the-park home run after the centerfielder misjudged a hard hit ball.

The winning pitcher was David Stinnett. Jeff Loach took the loss.

The annual Men's Invitational Softball Tournament has been scheduled for June 27, 28 and 29. There will be five Snyder teams and five from out of town.

Rain Puts Out Flames

The Flames were leading Sweetwater, 7-1, here last night when their softball game was called in the 3rd inning due to rain.

Last Saturday, the Flames beat Rotan there, 13-5.

Regina Lewis, Kathy Weber, Martha Braziel, Kathy English and Debra Collins each got two hits. Sue Jane Sullivan, Teresa Bigham and Vanessa White each got one hit. The winning pitcher was Kathy Weber.

SIGNS LETTER—Frank Hurt, all-district golfer from Seguin High School, has received a scholarship to Western Texas College. He was signed at WTC by Bob O'Day, golf coach, who said Frank has the potential of developing into a fine college golfer.

Seguin Golf Star Signs With WTC

Frank Hurt, All-District golfer from Seguin, has signed a letter of intent and has received a golf scholarship from Western Texas College in Snyder.

Hurt is the third freshman to sign with WTC in recent weeks. He will be enrolled in the Golf & Grounds operations program at the college.

Hurt served as co-captain of the Seguin High School golf team during his senior year. He lettered two years on the varsity team of the District 29-AAAA school. His team placed third in the district tournament this year and was fourth in the Olmos Basin Golf Tournament in San Antonio and third in the Seguin Matador Classic Tournament. Hurt was second medalist in the Matador Classic.

During the summer of 1974, Hurt was fourth qualifier at Woodlake Country Club in San Antonio and advanced to the State Junior PGA Tournament in Houston. He placed third in the Columbus Tournament and was winner of the Matador Father-Son Tournament in Seguin. Hurt placed second in the Junior PGA Tournament in the summer of 1973 and was third in the Columbus Tournament.

Hurt's parents are Mr. and Mrs. W.F. Hurt.

Coach Bob O'Day stated that he was pleased to have Hurt sign with WTC. He has the potential of developing into a fine college golfer. He has a great attitude on the course and doesn't mind practicing. He had an outstanding high school coach, Sam Moore, and I'm looking forward to working with him," O'Day said.

WTC's golf team placed second in Region V this year. Two players, Mark Hargrove and Kyle Howard, qualified for the NJCAA National Tournament and were selected All-American at the tournament in Hutchinson, Kans.

Tigers, Lions Tie, 18-18

The Tigers pushed across five runs in the bottom of the 5th inning here last night to gain an 18-18 tie with the Mini-Minor Lions in Miss Softball action. The second game was postponed due to rain and lightning.

The Tigers collected 13 hits. Jana Jackson stroked three singles, Terri Feaster, Paula Beurlein and Candy Shoemaker each hit two singles, and Michelle Killian, Theresa Ashworth, Lisa Evans and Rachel Romero each hit one single.

The Lions had 11 hits. Mary Warren hit three singles, Jackie Parham hit a double and a single, Terry Devers and Becky Hernandez each hit two singles, and Beatrice Pesina and Dana Hines each hit one single.

Rangers Outscore Boston, 12 To 4

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

The Minnesota Twins had their batting order mixed up while the Texas Rangers had their schedules mixed up Monday night. It didn't really matter, though. Both teams won anyway.

Danny Thompson and Dan Ford batted out of order for the first nine innings of Minnesota's 11-10 triumph over the Cleveland Indians because Twins Manager Frank Quilici gave the public address announcer a different lineup card than he gave home plate umpire Lou DiMuro.

Nobody on the playing field noticed the error until the ninth inning, when some exasperated Cleveland fans began yelling to DiMuro.

Meanwhile, the Rangers mistook their game with Boston for batting practice, crashing four home runs — giving them seven in two games — in a 12-4 rout of the Red Sox.

Elsewhere in the American League, Oakland trimmed Baltimore 4-3 in 15 innings, Kansas City topped Detroit 5-2, Milwaukee nipped Chicago 1-0 and California defeated New York 5-3.

"I just followed the little redheaded guy like I've been doing for the past week and never thought anything about it," said Thompson, who should have preceded Ford to the batter's box at Cleveland. He finally did, in the 11th inning, and drove in Eric Soderholm with the winning run.

In Boston, the battle-weary Texas bats were anything but tired despite a 17-inning game Sunday in the nightcap of a doubleheader and a 12-inning game Saturday.

Jim Sundberg blasted a grand slam homer in the second inning, red-hot Jeff Burroughs hit his 14th of the season and fifth of his last six games in the third, then Toby Harrah and Jim Spencer added two-run shots in the eighth to complete the rout.

The Red Sox were not to be denied their share of the power display. Their runs came on Bernie Carbo's second career grand slam.

A's 4, Orioles 3

Vida Blue, not one to waste effort, came out of the bullpen in the 15th inning, threw one pitch and preserved the Oakland triumph. Joe Rudi's single had caused home Bill North with the winning run minutes earlier.

Royals 5, Tigers 2

Amos Otis hit a two-run, inside-the-park home run in the eighth inning to highlight Kansas City's victory over Detroit. "That's the hardest I've run in a long time," offered Otis, who has tried for the circuit four times in the past and been thrown out at the plate each time.

Veteran Lindy McDaniel picked up the victory with five innings of four-hit relief.

Brewers 1, White Sox 0

Darrel Porter's home run in the ninth inning provided Milwaukee's run. In Sunday's game, Porter had driven in all four of the Brewers' runs.

Three Milwaukee pitchers held the White Sox to three hits.

Angels 5, Yankees 3

Pinch-hitter Bruce Bochte scored Dave Collins with a ninth-inning single to carry California past Catfish Hunter and the Yankees, ending New York's eight-game winning streak.

Track Meeting

Boys interested in participating in summer track are asked to meet at the high school track at 5 p.m. today. Anyone seven years of age through 16 with high school eligibility is eligible to compete.

Top Horses In Special Race?

NEW YORK (AP) — Belmont Park and Hollywood Park are bidding for the services of Avatar, Foolish Pleasure and Master Derby, the three colts who divided the 1975 Triple Crown.

And Belmont appeared today to have an edge over the California track.

Kenny Noe, racing secretary for the New York Racing Association, announced Monday that Smiley Adams, trainer of Preakness winner Master Derby, had accepted an invitation to oppose Foolish Pleasure and Avatar in a special $300,000 race at Belmont June 28 or 29.

Noe also announced he had a tentative acceptance from Leroy Jolley, trainer of Kentucky Derby winner Foolish Pleasure, and that Jolley would make a firm decision later in the week.

In Knoxville, Tenn., John L. Greer, owner of Foolish Pleasure, said he would welcome such a race.

"For that kind of money, all they have to tell us is what time is the race," Greer said.

But Noe said he had not been able to contact Arthur A. Seeligson Jr., who owns Avatar, or Tommy Doyle, who trains the Belmont Stakes winner.

Avatar left New York Sunday, the day after his Belmont victory, and flew back to Hollywood Park, which has offered to increase the purse of the its regularly scheduled. Swaps Stakes if two of the three colts would join the field. The Swaps is set for June 29.

The added-money for the Swaps was boosted from $100,000 to $150,000 last week before Avatar, who is based in California, won the Belmont and F.E. Kilroe, director of racing at Hollywood Park, said at the time:

"There is a strong possibility that the Swaps may become our first $200,000 presentation.

In announcing the proposed three-horse race at Belmont Park, Jack Dreyfus, charman of the board of the NYRA, indicated the purse might be more than $300,000 if suitable arrangements could be made for television coverage.

The special race would be at 1¼ miles, the same distance as the Swaps, and each colt would carry 126 pounds. The Kentucky Derby is at 1¼ miles, the Preakness at 13-16 and the Belmont at 1½.

Recommend Coach

DALLAS (AP) — William Sonny Allen, 39, of Old Dominion College at Norfolk, Va., who has compiled 266 victories in 16 years of coaching, has been recommended as the new head basketball coach at Southern Methodist University by Athletic Director Dick Davis.

Allen was to go before the SMU faculty committee for the rubber stamp to Davis' choice later today.

"Allen is the finest authority on the controlled fast break in the country," Davis said. "His name kept popping up as we went all over the nation looking for a new coach."

SMU veteran Coach Bob Prewitt recently retired to take another post on campus.

Allen's team won the Division II NCAA title last year.

Davis said Allen would be presented to the Dallas media for a news conference Wednesday morning.

In 10 years at Old Dominion, Allen's record was 181-94. Allen's team has won 20 or more games in the last five seasons.

"Allen also is an excellent defensive coach," Davis said. "His philosophy certainly impressed me. He says 'My offense starts as the opponent's ball goes to the bucket.'"

Allen's job wasn't mentioned in speculation for a new SMU coach.

Since higher fuel costs are pushing the price of electricity up, it's important to use it wisely.

These two simple tools can help.

Proper insulation and weatherstripping will help you use electricity more efficiently for air conditioning. You can check the insulation and weatherstripping in your home with just a ruler and a flashlight.

Inadequate insulation is a major cause of energy loss in most homes — in both summer and winter.

If the insulation in your attic measures less than six inches, we suggest you call a qualified insulation contractor who can evaluate the efficiency of your present insulation. He can also tell you how to bring your insulation up to recommended standards.

To check the weatherstripping around exterior doors, have someone shine a flashlight around the edges of each closed door. If you can see light, it means you may have to add or replace worn weatherstripping.

Saving electric energy takes very little energy on your part, but since electricity is costing more, it's worth the effort.

AID Trying To End Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Agency for International Development is devoting thousands of man-hours each week trying to dismantle its Indochina aid effort, a task expected to take six months to a year.

There are about 90 persons engaged in closing the books on the programs for South Vietnam and Cambodia, all but 10 of them recently returned from AID missions in these two countries. The AID program in Laos now faces extinction under an agreement with the Communist-dominated government of that nation.

AID is the State Department agency in charge of economic assistance for developing countries. For the three Indochina countries, the aid allocation for fiscal 1975 was $440 million. Food and petroleum-related products were the principal ingredients in the Indochina AID program.

Putting the brakes on an aid program of that size is no simple task, according to John E. Murphy, deputy administrator for the agency. He said that the programs for South Vietnam and Cambodia continued right up to the day of their surrender to the Communists.

Ships destined for these two countries were diverted to such places as Hong Kong and Manila where AID-financed cargo was transferred to warehouses. Murphy said. Other ships ready to embark from American ports for Southeast Asia never set sail. U.S. goods manufactured under AID contracts for Indochina never left their American factories.

Murphy said part of the job facing the AID agency is to figure out what to do with the surplus merchandize and to make sure shippers, exporters and others get paid. Thousands of transactions are involved and some are expected to result in legal disputes that could be tied up in the courts for years, one official said.

Sentencing Deferred On Saxe

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A federal judge has deferred sentencing of militant feminist Susan Edith Saxe until she is tried in Boston on bank robbery and murder charges.

Ms. Saxe, an antiwar radical who prefers the feminist designation, surprised a federal court Monday by pleading guilty to bank robbery and theft from a federal arsenal in 1970. But she said she did not regret the crimes.

"The armed struggle against the American state was a valid and necessary escalation of the politics of the '60s," the 26-year-old Brandeis University honors graduate said in an eight-page statement read to U.S. District Court Judge Alfred L. Luongo.

She pledged to continue her fight "as a lesbian, a feminist, an Amazon" and urged her supporters to also "keep on fighting, stay free, stay strong."

Because she refused to cooperate, the government recommended a prison sentence of not more than 10 years for the $6,240 holdup of the Bell Savings and Loan Association in Philadelphia and a two-year sentence to run concurrently for theft and related crimes at an arsenal in Newburyport, Mass.

Prostitutes Cleared Out Of Churches

PARIS (AP) — Police in Paris and other French cities began clearing prostitutes out of churches in which they were carrying on sit-in strikes demanding that the government recognize prostitution as "a job like any other."

Paris police herded about 200 women and male transvestites out of the Chapel of St. Bernard.

In Lyon, where the strike movement started a week ago, the gendarmes took a dozen police dogs to help them remove 100 women occupying the Church of St. Nizier.

About 15 prostitutes were evicted from the Church of St. Didier in Avignon. They had moved in after a late afternoon mass Monday. They moved out quietly after the police allowed them to outline their grievances to them.

The Interior Ministry ordered the churches cleared. It said public order was being disturbed by the occupation of cultural buildings.

The strikers are demanding an end to police repression and fines for soliciting; income tax status; social security including mothers' benefits and old-age pensions; the reopening of hotels used for prostitution, and suppression of a woman's vice-squad file when she retires.

The strikers have driven most prostitutes from such Paris haunts as the Champs Elysees, Pigalle and the Rue St. Denis by picketing in automobiles.

Prostitution is not illegal in France, but soliciting is. From time to time the police enforce the law, and streetwalkers are fined $40 to $80 each time they are caught. Hotels catering to prostitutes are also raided and sometimes closed.

REV. DAVID ROBERTSON

Rev. Robertson Is Moving Here

The Rev. David H. Robertson is moving here this week from Lubbock to begin his duties as pastor of First United Methodist Church.

Rev. Robertson, who has been associate pastor of St. John's United Methodist Church in Lubbock the past three years, was appointed to the pastorate here last week by Bishop Alsie Carleton at the annual meeting of the Northwest Conference.

He succeeds the Rev. Wallace Kirby, pastor here for the past five years, who is moving to Perryton where he was appointed to serve as pastor.

Rev. Robertson attended public schools in Weslaco and attended Pan American College at Edinberg. He holds degrees from Southwestern University and Perkins School of Theology at Southern Methodist University, and the master of religious education degree from St. Paul School of Theology at Kansas City, Mo., where he graduated with honors. He was ordained as an elder in the Southwest Texas Conference of The Methodist Church in 1959. He has held pastorates at First Methodist Church in Agua Dulce, First Methodist Church in Hebbronville, First Methodist Church in Lytle and Christ Methodist Church in Kingsville. He served as minister of education at Polk Street Methodist Church for three years and at North Cross Methodist Church in Kansas City for two years. He became the associate pastor at St. John's United Methodist Church in Lubbock in 1972, following graduation from St. Paul School of Theology.

He has served on several boards and has been active in camps, conferences and especially in educational work.

Rev. Robertson is married to the former Margie L. McCleskey of Stephenville, and they have three children, Perry 14, Mark 12, and Lynne 10. He will be in the pulpit Sunday morning at First United Methodist Church.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Move slowly and cautiously today concerning major family issues. A lapse in judgment could cause a problem of long duration.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Don't place yourself between dissenting factions today. If you take sides, you'll wind up catching it from both.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Treat possessions — yours and others — with the respect they deserve today. Otherwise, you might have to furnish a costly replacement.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) The outcome will be anything but what you hoped for if you try to impose your will on others today. Be extra-considerate.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) It's fine to be neighborly, but don't overdo it today. Several people are going to try to load their responsibilities on you.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) This is not a day for financial dealings with friends. Have second thoughts before borrowing from or lending to a pal.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Presuming to be something you're not will be disastrous for you today. You may fool yourself, but no one else.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Don't attempt tasks involving high costs at this time, unless you know exactly what you're doing.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You're on treacherous footing today in business dealings. A wrong decision will incur higher-than-usual losses.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Making major decisions will be difficult for you today. If you have doubts about your reasoning, stall for time so you can think more clearly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Don't make decisions beyond your rank today. Let those paid to give the orders call the shots.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You're careless with your resources today, so you're not in a position to advise others. They'll wind up in the middle of your muddle.

Snyderite's Brother Dies

Funeral services were held June 7 in Normangee for Herman Kratz, 54, of Houston. Mr. Kratz, brother of Mrs. Viola Bailey of Snyder died June 4.

He is also survived by his wife, Susan, of the home and a daughter, Melinda Kratz of Huntsville.

Drinan Paid $8.10 To See FBI-CIA Files On Himself

WASHINGTON (AP) — For $8.10, Rep. Robert F. Drinan got to see the files the FBI and the Central Intelligence Agency compiled on him.

They are a collection of newspaper clippings, official memoranda, and notices about speeches he has given before and after his election to Congress in 1970.

Drinan says the whole thing "is just ridiculous."

Drinan — the Massachusetts Democrat, Roman Catholic priest, attorney, former dean of the Boston College law school, and antiwar activist — obtained copies of the files under the Freedom of Information Act. It gives persons the right to see the files kept on them by Government Agencies. FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley said his agency received more than 1,000 requests for such files during April.

Drinan's 18-page CIA file included a document that he said in an interview Monday indicates the agency conducted illegal domestic spying. The CIA is prohibited by law from domestic spy work.

It is a review prepared by a CIA employe of a baccalaureate address Drinan gave May 21, 1973, at Sweet Briar College, in Sweet Briar, Va.

In addition to eight newspaper articles about Drinan's activities in Congress and comments made about him by a right-wing newsletter, the CIA files contain a Pathet Lao news agency dispatch about an antiwar speech the congressman delivered on the House floor last October.

The CIA files lack any reference to Drinan's three trips to Paris to meet North Vietnamese leaders or his interview with the current CIA director, William E. Colby, when Colby worked in Saigon.

"They're confused as to what they should do about people like us," Drinan said, trying to explain why his file lacked such references. "It's just a grab bag," he said. "If that's any indication of the way they operate, we're really in trouble."

The files also fail to mention a book he wrote about Vietnam.

"Maybe they don't read books," Drinan said.

The FBI files on Drinan are more extensive than the CIA material on him. The FBI materials date back to 1958, when Drinan was dean of the Boston College law school and active in the civil rights movement.

In 81 pages, they contain references to lawyers' groups he worked with to protect civil liberties of Southern blacks and reports on antiwar speeches he gave.

They also include a newspaper story about his introduction of a resolution to impeach former President Richard M. Nixon. But most annoying to the congressman is a long memorandum written Nov. 4, 1970, the day after he was elected.

It details what Drinan calls the "perfectly legitimate" civil rights activities which he performed within the legal profession.

Appropriated funds pay for the record-keeping, but citizens seeking their files must pay 10 cents a page to cover photocopying costs.

Drinan was not billed by the CIA for the work, but the FBI asked him to pay for 81 pages at 10 cents a page. "It cost me $8.10 and I was taken," he said.

Dr. Lamb

Desensitizing best for insect allergy,

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—In one of your columns you mentioned a treatment for persons allergic to bee stings. My daughter is highly allergic, and each sting she gets a worse reaction. We have been told the only treatment is bi-weekly shots for about seven years and even then it is no assurance that they will help. Do you recommend an easier, surer procedure?

DEAR READER—I wish I could. There are probably nearly a million people who have severe reactions to bee and wasp stings each year. As many as 40 deaths occur annually. I mention this to emphasize it is not a minor matter, and you must get proper treatment for your daughter.

The most commonly available method of treatment is to give repeated injections of an extract prepared from the crushed whole bodies of stinging insects, referred to as WBE. This is really a desensitizing procedure.

A review of the success of this procedure shows that 95 per cent of patients treated this way do not have any problem with subsequent stings. But, that may often be a happy coincidence, tending more to prove that many people who have a severe reaction once will not have such a reaction a second time. In a controlled study of untreated patients, 60 per cent didn't have any serious reaction to subsequent stings, either.

Even more disquieting is the observation that some patients treated with WBE are still likely to have severe shocklike reactions with a subsequent sting. Dr. William Busse of University of Wisconsin and his associates recently published of the American Medical Association (March 17, 1975). The young woman was not protected by the WBE treatment. She was then treated with a purified vegom from honey bees. This treatment gradually worked, and she became fully protected from the danger of honey bee stings. Similar results have been noted by scientists at one of their cases in the Journal of the State University of New York at Buffalo and in Baltimore's Good Samartain Hospital.

Purified venom seems to be far superior, and it can be specific for that patient's reaction. Some people are reactors to bee stings but not wasp stings and vice versa.

Unfortunately, purified venom is not available readily at present. It is expected to be produced in commercial amounts soon.

Meanwhile the best you and other people with similar problems can do is use the WBE treatment available. And, I would strongly support your doctor in recommending this treatment.

You should also take all the important precautions you can against exposing your daughter to bee stings. That means keeping flowers and shrubs down from around the house. Also, have her wear white or light colored clothing. She should avoid using scents, such as perfume and cosmetics that tend to attract bees.

You should talk to your doctor about the advisability of having a readily available sting kit. Reactions are sometimes swift and severe. Be prepared for a severe reaction ahead of time. If she gets stung, scrape the stinger out, don't pull it and squeeze more venom into her.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1561, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. For information on vitamin E ask for the Health Letter number 4-12, Vitamin E: Miracle or Myth. Send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope, and 50 cents for mailing and costs.

Snyder Student On Honor Roll

ABILENE—Lois Hamm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Hamm of Snyder, was named to the Honor Roll for outstanding academic work at Hardin-Simmons University during the spring semester.

The Honor Roll includes full-time students with at least a 3.7 grade point average on all courses.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third in a series of articles featuring the highlights of the United States Army's 200 years of service to the Nation.

The United States Army celebrates its 200th birthday this Saturday, June 14, 1975. Events leading to the birth of the Army date back to April 19, 1775. That was a day that changed the course of American history. It was the day that the colonist first stood up to fight for freedom.

The 700 British Regulars who had left Boston on the night of April 18, were approaching the village of Lexington on their way to Concord. Their orders were to seize and destroy a supply of gunpowder and muskets collected by the Patriots.

Movement of the British troops from Boston had been noticed by an observer in the belfry of the Old North Church. The information was passed on to Paul Revere and William Dawes who rode ahead, spreading the alarm throughout the countryside.

Captain John Parker and his Minutemen—a group of 60-70 armed farmers—assembled on the Lexington Green to engage the British troops, but seeing that his men were outnumbered, he ordered them to disperse.

Then "the shot heard 'round the world" rang out...The first of the American Revolution.

The lead British Regulars began firing and then charged with their bayonets. The battle was over in a matter of minutes, and eight Americans—including Parker—were dead and 10 wounded. One British soldier was wounded.

The Redcoats continued their march to Concord. The warning that they were on the way arrived at about 2 a.m. By 7 a.m., when the British arrived, approximately 400 Minutemen and Militia were deployed at strategic places. American and British troops clashed at the North Bridge in a battle that lasted about three minutes. Two Americans were killed and four wounded. Three British Regulars were killed and nine wounded.

By mid-morning the British started their retreat to Boston—a march that was much more deadly than the fights at Lexington and Concord. The fighting mobilized popular support for the Patriots and marked the transition from intellectual to armed rebellion.

A New England Army of Militia and volunteers began to build up around Boston. The situation prompted the Provincial Congress at Philadelphia to adopt the New England Army.

On June 14, 1775, the Congress adopted the Army Before Boston as the Continental Army when it appointed a committee to bring in "a draft of rules and regulations for the government of the Army." On the same day it authorized the enlistment of riflemen from the middle Atlantic States to serve as light infantry under the command of the chief officer of the Army Before Boston.

Missing Shrimp Boat Found

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Coast Guard says it found a missing shrimp boat safely moored off Mexico's coast after a massive, three-day search of the Gulf of Mexico, prompted by a mayday call.

The 75-foot "Valley King" was found in Campeche Bay, Mexico, where it headed after beginning to take on water Friday, the Coast Guard said.

Four persons on board were reported safe. The boat's agent reported its location to the Coast Guard.

Three planes had searched 13,000 square miles of the Gulf each day since a distress call was received Friday night.

Communication was bad when the call was received and the vessel's true identity was not known for several days.

On Sunday, one of the search planes spotted four men in two liferafts 120 miles off the Mexican Coast. The Spanish-speaking men were still unidentified Monday.

The Valley King is owned by Walter Beatty of Port Isabel, Tex. He, his wife and two other, unidentified men were aboard.

Highlights Of Ford's Broadcast

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are the highlights of President Ford's nationally broadcast news conference Monday night:

CIA: The President on Tuesday will make public the Rockefeller Commission report on domestic Central Intelligence Agency activities and send it and the panel's findings on alleged assassination plots to the Justice Department for possible prosecution. He believes the report will restore the credibility of the spy agency, but said, "I believe there can be some internal improvement in the CIA."

ECONOMY: He is hopeful the recession soon will "bottom out." He said the 9.2 per cent unemployment rate in May was bad news, but added he was encouraged that total employment increased for the second month in a row.

MIDDLE EAST: During two days of meetings with Israel Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin this week he will seek Israel's assessment of the Middle East situation and then reassess United States policy in that crucial area of the world.

POLITICS: The time is getting closer to a formal announcement of his candidacy for a full four-year term in 1976.

EUROPE: An East-West European Security Conference is "getting closer and closer" and could be held soon in Helsinki, Finland.

SALT: He is hopeful a second strategic arms limitation agreement can be reached soon and that it can be signed this fall in a Washington summit meeting with Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev.

VIETNAM: "There are a number of lessons that can be learned from Vietnam," Ford said, among them that the United States must work with other governments which believe in protecting their own freedom but "we cannot fight their battles for them."

KOREA: The policy of keeping 38,000 American troops in South Korea is "constantly under review," but the President added, "I think it's keeping the peace."

CONGRESS: If Congress ignores the desire on the part of the President "to be responsible fiscally then of course we will have more vetoes." But he said there would be no need for a series of veto confrontations if Congress "acts responsibly."

OILFIELD SERVICE—I & R Meter Service, 2507 Twenty-fifth Street, specializes in oilfield sales and service. In seven years time, the firm has grown from two employes to 24 full-time employes. I&R sells a wide variety of oilfield equipment, repairs instruments, and does construction work. Pictured here is a heater-treater constructed by I&R.

I&R Meter Service Specializes In Oilfield Sales And Service

I&R Meter Service, 2507 Twenty-fifth Street, specializes in oilfield sales and service.

The firm is factory authorized distributor and service center for Wisconsin engines, and also carries Sta-Rite submersible pumps and jet pumps.

Sta-Rite self-priming jet pumps are an economical answer to your household water needs. It's the ideal water pump for shallow wells up to 25 feet in depth. It is the perfect answer for your summer cottage or secondary water system. This new Sta-Rite with its self priming feature is convenient, dependable and priced to fit your budget.

I&R Meter Service is the only code fabrication business in the area. The firm builds vapour recovery units, LACT units, oil treaters and separators to ASME code specifications.

I&R Meter Service has a complete line of oilfield instrumentation equipment, including valves, pumps, controls, pressure gauges, fittings, gaskets, steel, and stainless steel rods.

The firm makes pickups and deliveries in this area once a week.

"We are a meter repair facility that repairs meters, clocks, gauges, chemical pumps and valves," said D. E. Osborn, vice-president of the company.

The firm has a machine shop and a qualified electrician for oilfield construction work. Welding is done, both steel and alloy.

"We also have a line of 12-volt grease guns and could save the customer from having to rig up an air compressor to run a grease gun," Osborn said.

Other executive officers of I&R Meter Service are Don Wolf, president, and Rod Waller, vice-president. All of the firm's employes live in Snyder.

Office hours are from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. Mondays through Fridays.

"We're always glad to show any of our pumps or other equipment during office hours," Osborn pointed out.

Bentsen Criticizes Jobs Veto

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — President Ford drew verbal fire Monday from Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., for his veto of the $5 billion jobs bill. Speaking at the convention of the New Jersey AFL-CIO, the Texas senator asserted that Ford should "stop sacrificing jobs at the altar of Republican economic policy."

"The most painful index of what months of Republican economic policy have done to our country is the evaporation of jobs," Bentsen said.

The administration has no job plan of its own, the senator went on, and is committed to fighting double-digit inflation, but not double-digit unemployment. The current rate is 9.2 per cent nationally, but 11.2 per cent in this state.

"They oppose public works bills. They cut back construction appropriations. They fight attempts to revive the housing industry. They squeeze the dollars out of the American economy by a tight-money, high interest rate policy," Bentsen declared.

"And they argue that this nation cannot afford to put people back to work because of the federal budget deficit. The fact is budget deficits are reduced when Americans get back to work. The fact is that economic stagnation caused by administration economic policies is what caused the deficit."

He said the country needs "the economic equivalent of war.

Thailand To Buy US Weapons

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Another U.S. ally in Asia, Thailand, is getting ready to establish diplomatic relations with China, but the Thai cabinet agreed today to buy more weapons from the United States to modernize its 200,000-man armed forces.

The decision to continue buying American weapons was recommended by the Defense Ministry, which said the armed forces must be strengthened before the last American forces leave the country next year. American weapons were the only feasible choice since Thailand's army, navy and air force have been equipped by the United States for more than two decades.

The announcement of the government's decision did not specify what weapons will be bought, but a spokesman said most of them would be used equipment from the four American bases in Thailand.

Meanwhile, a diplomatic source said Foreign Minister Chatachai Choonhavan will travel to Peking early next month to sign the documents opening formal relations with the Communist regime.

"I can't deny the old saying about us that we bend with the wind," said Chatachai last month. "You and I both know which wind is blowing stronger now."

Three of America's allies in East Asia — Japan, the Philippines and Thailand — have been working steadily toward relations with Peking since former President Richard M. Nixon reversed America's China policy with his visit to Peking in February 1972.

Seven months after the Nixon visit, Japan opened full diplomatic relations with the Communist regime and broke with the Nationalist Chinese regime on Taiwan.

The Philippines took the same action on Monday, during a visit by President Ferdinand E. Marcos to he Chinese capital. The Philippine government announced that it would cut ties with Taiwan in one month.

Betty Denies Pushing Ford

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford, who tumbled down an airplane ramp in Salzburg, Austria, last week, has jokingly accused his wife of pushing him.

"But she denies it," Ford told reporters Monday.

The President, chatting with reporters after his news conference in the White House Rose Garden, said he was holding his wife's hand and and an umbrella as they descended the ramp.

He said his wife "walked off with the umbrella and left me wallowing in the water."
