WOMAN WITNESS EXPLAINS RUM RING COLLAPSE

Holliday Creek Overflows For Third Time In Year; Rains Aid Winter Wheat

LAKE WICHITA WATERS FLOW OVER SPILLWAY

Golf Course and Portions Of Lake Road Flooded In Heavy Rains

TEMPERATURE DROPS

Colder Weather Reported Over Northwest Texas And in Oklahoma

Swollen by overflow from Lake Wichita after a two-inch rain Thursday, Holliday creek slipped out of its banks to inundate sections of roads and flood Weeks park for the third time within the year. In some places along the lake road, flood water stood more than a foot deep and automobiles had difficulty getting through. A four-inch rise at the lake sent the water running over the spillway an inch deep shortly before noon Thursday.

Water Rising

Acres of swamped land, with occasional pools, lay to the southwest of Wichita Falls Thursday night with the rain still falling, but conditions still were not comparable to the floods of May and October when the city was hemmed in by rising waters and scores were driven from their homes. Back water was rising along the Henrietta highway, encroaching in yards and on the grounds of the Old Mill tourist park, but the highway was still clear late Thursday. Water stood over the streets in sections of the Country Club Estates, and the grounds of both the Municipal and the Country club were partially flooded.

RISE CONTINUES

At midnight Thursday night, Holliday creek was slowly rising at the bridge on the Henrietta road. Residents of the area expressed the belief there will be no serious flooding of property unless further rains back up the waters at the Wichita river. The creek at midnight was about six feet below its former high level.

Hail at Crowell

Wednesday night and Thursday brought heavy rains throughout Northwest Texas and Oklahoma, bringing great benefit to winter wheat crops. A chill wind from the north late Thursday sent temperatures abruptly lower all over the section, with indications that sleet and snow might follow the warm rains.

The temperature in Wichita Falls at midnight was 41 degrees, a drop of only eight degrees since 5 p. m. indicating the area would escape a freeze.

The downpour, heavy in all sections, reached four inches at Petrolia and Byers. At Crowell, hail ac-

New Year's Program Outlined At Annual Burkburnett C.-C. Banquet

Achievements of Organization Listed and New Directors Announced in Enthusiastic Gathering Thursday Night

By FRED L. HASKETT

BURKBURNETT, Texas, Dec. 4.—The weather was no barrier to Burkburnett's annual chamber of commerce banquet Thursday night.

Attended by 150 men and women, with a large number of visitors from Texas and Oklahoma cities and towns, the annual feast and recitation of achievements made during the past year, was a fitting climax to the work done by the organization.

The banquet was called to order by the president, Ed J. Williams, who called upon the Rev. Miles B. Hays, pastor of the First Baptist church for the invocation. Before the dinner was served President Williams introduced all out-of-town visitors and guests.

When the dinner was finished, which was served by the Home Builders class of the First Methodist church in the basement of the church building, the program was started, and from the very beginning it was a most enjoyable one. The first number was a male quartet, members of the Lions club. The personnel was John Anderson, Ray Hill, W. D. Bent and Ross Brittain. They rendered two very delightful numbers. Miss Geneva Morrison played the accompaniment.

Readings Enjoyed

Two readings by Mrs. O. B. Grimmett of Altus, Okla., were pleasing. When Mrs. Grimmett was introduced her guest, Miss Margaret Bryan, Oklahoma's cotton queen from Frederick, was also introduced.

A piano solo by Miss Blanche Butler was enjoyed by all and the banjo playing by Miss Deri Walker with Miss Morrison as accompanist was indeed pleasing.

J. M. Alexander made a splendid talk, telling of what the organization had accomplished during the past year and the plans for the coming year's work. Mr. Alexander gave much of the report that is usually made by the president. President Williams in his talk was brief, devoting most of his address in extending thanks to the citizenship in making the organization a success, and heaping good words upon the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce, and the citizenship of Wichita Falls, for the interest they had manifested in their sister city.

Hoffman Speaks

The address of the evening was made by Luther Hoffman of Wichita Falls. He related how a successful chamber of commerce should be considered by the citizenship, pointing out the few criticisms that are made and giving praise to the men who do so much unselfish service in the interest of their community.

Mr. Hoffman paid a high trib-

JURY FINDS HALL GUILTY

20-Years Assessed in Hedley Slaying

WELLINGTON, Texas, Dec. 4. (AP)—Found guilty on a charge of murder growing out of the slaying of J. H. Richey, Hedley nightwatchman, Dec. 31, 1928, Bert "Cowboy" Hall was given 20 years in the penitentiary by a jury in district criminal court here late Thursday.

Hall was first tried in Memphis more than a year ago, when he received a sentence of 30 years for his participation in the attempted robbery and slaying. His case was one of several in Texas reversed by the court of criminal appeals because the indictments did not allege "malice aforethought."

Joe Dunwoody, indicted for the same offense, was tried first at Clarendon and received a sentence of 99 years. His case was among those reversed, but the sentence was repeated after he had been tried at Wellington several months ago.

Hall, Dunwoody, Jimmie Brown and a fourth man who was never arrested were surprised by Richey as they attempted to burglarize a Hedley grocery.

Santa Delighted at Discovery Of 'Little Queen' in Wichita Falls

ABOARD SANTA'S SLEIGH-Train.—To everybody in Wichita Falls:

Well, today The Spirit of Love arrived with the message we were so anxious to receive and once again our hearts are warmed by the good words of cheer which our loved ones send us.

Santa Gets Message

We are all excited and as nervous as can be expected when good news comes. Glory! Glory! Glory! Our lost playmate, "Little Queen," has been found. Yes, found! And right there in Wichita Falls. She has been with her parents right in her own home all the time and we were so careless in not looking right there for her. Imagine our being so careless! That is the way some children misplace their toys. Their mothers pick them up and put them in their place and then the children go hunting all around looking everywhere for them except in the right place.

Well, the news certainly relieves our hearts and minds and we are overjoyed to know that "Little Queen" will be with us in Wichita Falls and will ride in a beautiful automobile in the parade.

More News About Parade

The message also tells us that arrangements are almost complete for the parade and the Sunday

M. TARDIEU'S CABINET TURNS IN RESIGNATION

Premier's Second Ministry Meets Waterloo In Senate Vote

'GOES DOWN SMILING'

Doumergue Faces Task Of Appointing New Leader Of Government

PARIS, Dec. 4. (AP)—Premier Andre Tardieu's second ministry was placed in a minority of eight votes by the senate today. The premier with his colleagues visited President Doumergue at the Elysee palace tonight and presented the resignation of the entire cabinet.

M. Tardieu went down smiling and fighting to the end. But the grave "elder statesmen" of the third republic decided by a vote of 147 to 139 the country needed a change of government. The financial scandals which already had resulted in resignation of three members of the Tardieu ministry mainly were responsible for the overthrow. In a wider sense the cause was the senate's dissatisfaction with the cabinet's general policy at a moment of national uneasiness.

Fall Foreseen

The premier already had foreseen the senate would place a period to his labors. In a speech at the Thanksgiving night dinner of the American club he reminded his hosts the French senate, like the American senate, really existed and could exercise its power, however rarely it had done so in the past. This senate, he said, he must face.

Tomorrow President Doumergue will begin the task of bringing another government into life. Raymond Poincare, who has been so often called to power in moments of crisis, was a big favorite in lobby gossip in the chamber and senate tonight. Yesterday he told friends, however, he preferred not to return to the premiership.

Alsup Acquitted Of Death Charge

DALLAS, Dec. 4. (AP)—John Alsup, former Fort Worth policeman, tonight was found not guilty of murder in connection with the fatal shooting of George Terrell, a negro, during an attempted hold-up of a Polytechnic bank last April.

The case went to the jury at 6 p. m. after an afternoon of arguments by District Attorney Robert A. Stuart of Tarrant county, Assistant District Attorney Andrew J. Priest of Dallas county, for the state, and Otis Rogers of Fort Worth for the defense.

Testimony was closed after two Fort Worth newspaper men testified that after Tate and Terrell, both negroes, had been killed, Alsup insisted that newspaper stories show he had killed them both.

Alsup, testifying during the morning, denied that there was any intimation of a frame-up in the hold-up and subsequent shooting of the two negroes.

Courthouse Scrap Starts Move To Change Young County Seat

Special to The Record News.

OLNEY, Texas, Dec. 4.—Opposition to the Young county commissioners' plan to build a new courthouse at Graham by issuing script to the amount of approximately $300,000 resulted today in a concerted effort to move the county seat to Newcastle.

The commissioners' plan has created a heated controversy in Young county, particularly in communities outside of Graham. Opponents of the script method contend it is cheaper to build with money than with discounted paper and have asked that an election be called for the purpose of issuing bonds with which to build the courthouse.

Approximately 150 citizens, representing various communities in the county, met here today and decided to petition the commissioners court to call an election on the removal of the county seat. It was unanimously decided to circulate the petition throughout the county and a committee organization for this purpose was formed.

Leaders Named

Charles S. Richardson of Olney was elected general chairman of the organization, G. H. Terrell of Newcastle was elected secretary and W. C. Harrell of Olney, treasurer.

An executive committee to handle details of the movement was appointed. Its members are C. B. Daniel, B. B. Ward, Charles Tune, H. C. Williams, E. M. Remington, A. A. Cooper, O. T. Anderson, E. W. Hunt, W. C. Harrell, M. D. Wolverton, J. T. Lowe and Judge Stinson.

The petition will be placed in circulation immediately and presented to the commissioners' court at the earliest possible date.

The commissioners ordered the script issued for the courthouse on Nov. 10. The contract is scheduled to be awarded on Dec. 12. It had been planned to erect the new county building through a bond issue and Wichita Falls architects had drawn plans for the court from which the amount of the bond issue was to have been determined, it was said at the meeting here today. Then the court suddenly switched to the script method, employed Fort Worth architects, and ordered bids on the plans submitted.

Move Debated

Graham interests were instrumental in bringing the court to suddenly alter its plans, according to speakers here today. The purpose of the change, it was said, was to assure immediate construction of the building.

An election for removal of the county seat to Newcastle was held in 1913 and Graham won that contest by 160 votes. Since then agitation for the removal has recurred periodically.

Dallas Attorney Fails To Find Chicago Gangs

DALLAS, Dec. 4. (AP)—William McCraw, Dallas county district attorney, returned from a visit to Chicago today. He said he tried in vain to get a glimpse of "gangland," but came away convinced "the so-called tough boys in the Windy City could not make a racket on a tin roof."

"Folks up there poke a friendly mit at you, not a pistol," he said. "They greet you with 'howdy sir,' not 'stick 'em up.' I looked all over that place for gangsters, but I couldn't find 'em."

Sir Thomas Lipton Near Collapse In Accepting America's Cup of Honor

Gallant Old Sportsman Breaks Down on Promise to Keep Trying for Coveted Yacht Trophy

By LORENA HICKOK

NEW YORK, Dec. 4. (AP)—Sir Thomas Lipton today received America's cup—without any "the" ahead of it—and for a few seconds it looked as if the excitement might be too much for him.

As he was reading his speech of acceptance his voice faltered. With a quivering hand he adjusted his eye glasses and said huskily:

"Unfortunately I can't see so well as I used to."

Then, swaying a little and groping for support he whispered:

"I—I can't go on."

They got him a chair and a glass of water and Hector Fuller of the mayor's committee finished reading Lipton's speech.

Rises to Anthem

A soloist began to sing "The Star Spangled Banner," and the old baronet feebly started to rise. But Mayor James J. Walker motioned him back into his chair.

He sat there uneasily until the band struck up "God Save the King." Then, pushing the mayor away, he raised himself to his full height—head and shoulders above those about him—and stood through the anthem, proud symbol of the quality to which Americans paid tribute today.

The excitement and the heat in the crowded aldermanic chamber,

MRS. O'LOUGHLIN IN COLLAPSE

Woman Breaks Down On Witness Stand

DENVER, Dec. 4. (UP)—Mrs. Pearl O'Loughlin collapsed on the witness stand at her murder trial tonight.

She had been called to testify at a hearing before District Judge Henley A. Calvert on whether duress was used to obtain certain statements from her by which the state claims she assumed responsibility for the murder of her stepdaughter, Leona, 10.

She was ordered out of her sick bed by detectives who took her to police headquarters after the child's body was found in Berkeley park lake, she testified.

Under questioning by her chief counsel, John M. Keating, she said she could hardly walk at the time. She was in a fainting condition and had a nervous chill, but was questioned for two hours, she testified.

Then she was permitted to return to the home of her sister, Mrs. Marybelle Shannon, where her relatives were crying over Leona's death.

As she recalled the scene at her sister's home, Mrs. O'Loughlin became slightly hysterical. She

MARY ROBSION REVEALS CAUSE OF BREAKDOWN

Mounting 'Line Collections' Finally Broke Into 'Leggers' Profit

GOVERNMENT LOSES

Prosecution Suffers Two Setbacks on Legal Technicalities

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 4. (AP)—As the government approached the close of its case against seven Tillman county citizens charged with conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws, the "straw that broke the camel's back" and led to the investigation came to light today.

Mrs. Mary T. Robsion, a star witness for the government, revealed how government authorities received their first information that the ring was in operation.

Mrs. Robsion said her sons wrote to a United States senator in Washington, whom she said was their uncle, after raids by federal authorities on stills operated by her husband and three sons. The letters complained of the raids by federal men after protection money was paid to county officials, she said.

She intimated this action was taken when the purported "protection" of the Robsion stills by certain accused county officials grew into "line collections" which became larger each month.

Government Beaten

Mrs. Robsion's testimony climaxed that of 15 other government witnesses during a day in which the government counsel suffered two severe setbacks because of technicalities.

Herbert K. Hyde, assistant United States district attorney, dismissed several court clerks who had been called as witnesses after Judge Edgar S. Vaught ruled their testimony regarding certain "bootlegging cases" in southwestern Oklahoma would be considered as having no bearing on the present case.

Then, when a government exhibit of cancelled checks signed by Wylie Jones, who testified he had been engaged in whisky manufacture in Kiowa county, was produced, the court ruled the exhibit out due to the fact the checks, made out to men who had operated stills in Tillman county, were dated previous to the beginning of the alleged conspiracy.

Ruch Attacked

Much of the government's fire again was centered on P. V. Ruch, county attorney, the only county official in the case who has not pleaded guilty. Among 17 citizens of the county to plead guilty were Constable Robert Rogers and Sheriff C. A. Wages and Bud Walls, formerly deputy sheriff and deputy constable.

Next came Jack Bock, Dorsey Parnell, Gordon Hays and Lee Slade, charged with supplying whisky to the "line."

A break between Bud Walls and the three accused county officers, ending in Walls' being displaced as collector by Bill Benson, was pointed to by counsel throughout much of the testimony.

Mrs. Robsion said that from May, 1930 to July, Walls collected whisky instead of money from the Robsion stills, while the defense never lost an opportunity to stress Walls' alleged whisky selling activities. Walls, the first star witness for the defense Tuesday and Wednesday, testified that Ruch, Rogers and Wages had formed an alliance against him.

Tells of Raids

Mrs. Robsion, at all times composed and prompt with answers, told the jury Walls had informed the Robsions their stills were protected from "county to state" and that he could get protection "higher up the creek if necessary." She told of various raids made on the Robsion stills and said that Ruch came to her place on one of these raids.

Another time, when a raid was

Col. W. S. Langford Quits Automobile Business With Sale of Ford Agency

J. Anderson Kemp Heads Purchasing Group Composed of C. T. Boone, P. M. Backus and Others

Recent sale of the assets of the Langford Motor company, Sixth and Indiana avenue, one of the largest automobile concerns in this part of the country, to a group of prominent local automotive dealers was announced Thursday, with the further statement that Col. W. S. Langford, founder and president of the concern during the past 15 years, has retired from active participation in the automobile business.

Kemp Heads Company

Heading the organization which will continue to operate here the Ford and Lincoln automobile contracts so long held by Colonel Langford will be J. Anderson Kemp, who for several years has directed the Boone-Kemp company at Ninth and Travis streets. C. T. Boone, who has been associated with Mr. Kemp, will be vice president and general manager of the new firm; P. M. Backus, assistant manager for the Boone-Kemp company, will fill a similar position in the new organization; O. E. Brown, former Chevrolet dealer here, will be sales manager, and J. E. Maunders will have charge of activities in used cars.

Properties of the Langford Motor company are located at the corner of Sixth street and Indiana avenue, and occupy three of the corners formed by that intersection. On the southwest corner is located the garage and repair department, parts department and general offices. On the southeast corner are located the new car and used car departments. Each of these buildings occupies a space of 125x150 feet. North of Sixth street, on Indiana avenue, is a large drive-in filling station, behind which is a spacious used car lot.

Approximately 65 employes have been constantly in the service of the Langford Motor company, and with the exception of the higher executives, it was announced that little change in the personnel would be made.

Contracts at Burkburnett and Electra are included in the acquired assets of the concern, together with a franchise which comprises all of Wichita county, and parts of Wilbarger, Clay and Archer counties, it was said. The business at Burkburnett operates under the name of Caro Motor company, and that at Electra as the Lina Motor company. The two branch concerns were so named by Colonel Langford many years ago commemorating the state of South Carolina, from which he came to Wichita Falls.

In connection with his resignation from the office of president of the company, Colonel Langford said:

Langford Statement

"In withdrawing from the position I have held with the Langford Motor company during the past 15 years, I wish to express my appreciation to those who have favored the concern with their patronage since its first establishment. The faithfulness and loyalty of the company's employes also have gained my lasting gratitude to them. With reference to the new organization which will assume our previous contracts, I wish to commend these gentlemen heartily to the patrons and to the citizenship generally."

Despite his withdrawal from the automobile business, Colonel Langford stated that he and his family will continue to make their home here. For the purpose of attending to his other interests in this community, including oil and real estate holdings, he will maintain offices at 624 Staley building. Active in the affairs of the recently organized I. O. Boosters' club, made up of business men on Indiana and Ohio avenues north of Sixth street, Colonel Langford stated that he will continue as an active member in that organization.

"In assuming the responsibility of representing the Ford products in their territory," Mr. Boone said, "we realize the tremendous importance of good service. The large number of Ford owners in this territory is evidence of the public acceptance of the Ford product. We will in every respect maintain the type of organization that is capable of caring for the needs of between 40 and 50 per cent of the automobile buyers in Wichita county—since that percentage of our people are daily purchasing Ford cars.

"After a careful analysis of the industry as a whole, we are confident of the future and feel certain that business conditions have already taken a decided turn for the better, as both manufacturers' and dealers' stocks throughout the country are low, and the factories are adding men to their pay rolls in order to bring stocks back to normal."

combined with his feeble health, were thought to have been responsible for Sir Thomas' near-collapse. He rested nearly an hour in Mayor Walker's private office after the ceremony and when he left the city hall he apparently was feeling better and was able to respond with a friendly smile to greetings of more than a thousand persons who had waited in the square outside for a glimpse of him.

Will Try Again

Sir Thomas, when he broke down, just had finished saying he hoped to offer again in 1932 a challenge for that tarnished old trophy he has been trying for more than 30 years to win—the America's cup.

"I'm just as keen as ever to secure the America's cup," he said. "You may be quite sure I shall try and try again."

The 18-inch gold cup on a base of Utah silver which he received today probably was worth intrisically many times the price paid for the historic yachting trophy. Just how much the contributions totaled has not been announced by Mayor Walker, who took charge at the suggestion of Will Rogers, originator of the idea of a trophy for "the world's best loser."

Six-Hour Day Sought In Rail Union Conference

CLEVELAND, Dec. 4. (AP)—Representatives of all railway labor organizations in the country were called today to meet in Washington next Monday to consider plans for obtaining a six-hour day in the railroad industry.

The call was announced after a conference on chief executives of the five big brotherhoods of railroad employes, which met here to further the shorter day campaign put under way at a meeting of several hundred representatives of the "Big Five," at Chicago from Nov. 12 to 22.

MARY ROBSION STAR WITNESS

Woman Reveals Cause Of Ring's Breakdown

made, the still equipment had been removed a short distance from the house to an orchard, "in plain view of the officers ,with nothing but the blue sky overhead," she related.

Walls had "tipped" her of the impending raid both times she said and the raiding officers reported no liquor was found. Walls collected "line money" after each raid, the witness added.

Walls never collected as much as $2,500 altogether from the family stills, Mrs. Robsion said. His last collection was made just before Vernon Robsion's still "was knocked over" in July, 1930, she added. Shortly thereafter the indictments in the present case followed.

Neighbor Testifies

Bob Parham, a neighbor of Walls told the jury he had seen Ruch at the Walls home several times while the latter was collector for the "line." In answer to a question whether he knew what Ruch was doing there, Parham said he did not know but he "wondered what the county attorney was doing around a bootlegging joint."

Other witnesses called today were: G. E. Stevens, manager of a Chickasha motor company; H. L. Duncan, federal operative; a federal investigator by the name of Leverman; George Reed of Davidson; Frank Muse, one of those who pleaded guilty; Mrs. N. G. Whistler Walls' landlady; Martin Kincaid, Oklahoma City hotel man; R. L. Allen, a Chickasha hotel man; Bill Benson, who replaced Walls as collector; Mr. Hass, court clerk at Frederick, and H. W. Cabeen, United States commissioner at Chickasha.

Mrs. Whistler charged that Ruch had threatened to close her apartments if she allowed Bud Walls to move into the building. This threat came, she said, after the alleged break between Walls and Ruch.

The two hotel men produced records to show that Walls and Ruch had taken a room together at Oklahoma City and Chickasha while the alleged whisky ring was in operation.

Benson told of meeting "with Rogers, Wages and Ruch" and his subsequent work as "line collector." Walls was not present in this meeting, he said.

After Hass had produced records in county cases involving some of the accused men with the government's questioning designed to show that County Attorney Ruch had failed to bring certain cases to trial, the defense attempted to bring out that the cases were passed due to bad weather conditions preventing the attendance of witnesses.

Then it was that H. W. Cabeen, Chickasha commissioner, was asked to produce records in liquor cases involving Lee Slade and Gordon Hays. The evidence immediately was declared irrelevant and the witness was dismissed. At this juncture Hyde indicated that several other court witnesses would be dismissed. He said the prosecution would close after calling one or two witnesses tomorrow.

Truck Purchased

Stevens testified in regard to the purchase of a motor truck alleged to have been used in the "line distribution." The federal operatives gave their findings in the same deal.

Reed testified he turned down a proposition he said was made him by Frank Muse and Delmer Crouch to set up a still on his farm near Davidson.

Muse told the jury that Bock asked him to sign his bond and that of a negro helper after the Bock still was raided.

John Spivey, Waurika peace justice, told of going to Frederick for a visit with Walls, his son-in-law.

$50 Collection

"Bud and I started to take a ride in his auto," Spivey testified. "We drove out to a filling station near Frederick. Bud stopped. I asked him what he was going to do.

"'I'm going to make a collection', he told me.

"He went in and came out with $50 in currency in his hand. I asked him how he was getting so much money.

"He said, 'I'm getting it all right. I'm not afraid of prosecution'," Spivey testified.

"We drove to County Attorney Ruch's house. Ruch came to the car. I saw Bud give the money to Ruch. Ruch told me Bud certainly was a fine fellow.

"'We are going to make him the next sheriff of this county,' Ruch told me," Spivey said.

Meeting in Pen

Spivey testified he met Walls while the two were serving penitentiary terms and that Walls later married his daughter. Spivey said he was convicted on an embezzlement charge while serving as Jefferson county court clerk several years ago.

Holmes Tidwell, another defendant who has pleaded guilty, was called as a government witness to tell how a whisky still was set up on his farm 10 miles northwest of Frederick. He named Jake Bock, Dorsey Parnell and Gordon Hays, three of the men standing trial, as the principals in an agreement with him to put the still on the farm.

He said he was to receive $250 a month.

Tidwell testified that Jake (Cowboy) Streiber "actually operated the still."

"I saw Bud Walls at the still and knew him to be an officer," Tidwell said.

"I asked Bock one time if he was protected. He replied, 'you ought to have better sense than to think we would put up an outfit like this without protection.'

MINISTRY OF FRANCE QUITS

Tardieu Defeated by Vote Of Senators

Laval, minister of public works in the Tardieu cabinet who won popular favor by the manner in which he settled the recent textile strikes.

Mr. Tardieu met the waterloo which Senator Rene Hery said he must meet to complete his resemblance to Napoleon after a five-hour session of the senate. It was the fourth time in the history of the third republic a government had been forced to resign by the senate instead of the chamber.

Tardieu Attacked

The opposition charged the government with the unrest and the menacing situation which it said existed in France, and demanded its resignation on the ground Tardieu's program was too vague and that he was not in accord with Foreign Minister Briand on foreign policy.

Senator Hery led the attack with a leisurely presentation of what he considered the weak spots in the Tardieu armor, thrusting here and there with minor matters of internal policy and the larger bank and course affairs that have for weeks embarrassed the government.

The final blows were delivered by Senator Victor Boret, who was food dictator during the war under Clemenceau. Despite the crowded galleries the senate had a funeral atmosphere from the start and not even M. Tardieu succeeded in shaking off the gloom.

IOWA PARK, Texas, Dec. 4—Iowa Park Baptist W. M. S. began the observance of a Lottie Moon Week of Prayer program with and all-day meeting held at the church with circle No. 2 leading the program. The meeting was opened by singing "Jesus, I My Cross Have Taken," followed by a reading, "The Great Lover," by Mrs. A. A. Birdwell, chairman of the circle. Plans for the week and the purposes of the program were explained by the president, Mrs. Curtis Hill, after which the pastor, Rev. G. N. Neafus, led in prayer.

Mrs. L. N. Lockridge gave some interesting facts relating to the management of the foreign mission board, which was followed by a responsive Scripture reading by the audience. Mrs. G. N. Neafus gave a reading entitled, "The Love of God" after which Rev. and Mrs. Neafus sang a vocal duet, "Why Should He Love Me So." Mrs. W. E. Thompson followed with a reading "The Love of Our Fellow Men."

Selections of Scripture citing humanity's many reasons for being thankful were given by Mesdames L. O. Griffin, Curtis Hill, R. E. Brubaker, Hob Rutherford, Taylor George, and Earl Denny. Mrs. Curtis Hill led in prayer after which a story, "How the Williams Family Celebrated Uncle Ed's Birthday" was told by Mrs. A. W. Scarbrough. Lottie Moon offering for missions and dismissal by Mrs. R. E. Brubaker, closed the morning service.

Lunch and noonday intermission were followed by a royal service program conducted by circle No. 1. Features of this program were an explanation of the mission work by the circle chairman, Mrs. L. E. Brooks; devotional service by Miss Juanita Kidow; story, "The Star of the East," Mrs. L. E. Brooks; story, "Mission Work Among the Navajo Indians," by Mrs. G. N. Neafus; story, "Lives of Missionaries," by Mrs. U. G. Farmer; concluded by a story, "Work in the Orient" rendered by Mrs. N. E. McKinney. Dismissed by Mrs. L. E. Brooks.

Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 the program was continued with Mrs. M. B. Cain hostess to the meeting at her home at which time the study of missions and mission work was led by circle No. 4, with Mrs. Cain, Mrs. Hob Rutherford, Mrs. G. N. Neafus and others rendering interesting stories of lives of sacrifice and service.

Wednesday evening the young people of the church led the meeting at the church at the regular period allotted to the usual prayer service with the pastor, and L. E. Brooks, B. Y. P. U., director, assisting.

Thursday afternoon at 2:30 circle No. 1 continued the missionary program at the church with Mrs. L. E. Brooks, chairman, leading the service.

Friday afternoon circle No. 3 will render the last of the Lottie Moon programs for the year, entitled, "Love Expressed in Gifts," with Mrs. P. G. Kildow, circle leader, assisted by Mesdames W. W. Gammon, S. A. Baxter and W. H. Bagley.

First Baptist Alatheans Plan For Holiday Work

Members of the Alathean class of the First Baptist church met in separate groups Thursday to plan business affairs, arrange for holiday events and enjoy social meetings. The meeting of group one was postponed on account of the inclement weather. Group two members were entertained in the pretty home of Mrs. Hugh Baker, 2140 Avenue F.

Mrs. B. W. Lovelace opened the meeting with a devotional followed by prayer.

In a short business meeting, plans were made for a Christmas party for the class to be given Dec. 18. Mrs. Howard Weaver closed the meeting with prayer and delicious refreshments were served by the hostess to Mesdames H. C. Copeland, B. W. Lovelace, Borden Morris, Howard Weaver, Lora Stampfli, Ed Reeves, H. E. Nettles, Y. Ridings and W. C. Reeves.

Group Three

Mrs. C. W. Stovall was hostess to members of group three who served a delightful covered dish luncheon at her home on Garfield. The house was beautifully decorated with baskets of red and white chrysanthemums and vases of red roses.

Mrs. H. E. Nettles opened the meeting with the devotional which was followed by sentence prayers. Mrs. Frank Elam, group leader, appointed Mrs. C. F. Moore assistant group leader and various officers gave reports. Plans for the year's work were discussed.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

A tree that was all golden leaves on Wednesday shook off its gorgeous dress in the downpour of Wednesday night and Thursday. Those last gleams of life went floating off down the streets on waves of muddy water.

As we went down Harrison street, we regretted again that the city of Wichita Falls has no underground sewer to carry away the excess water on some streets. The heavy rain made the street seem like a river and the current downhill rushed against curbs and sent out waves that looked like real flood waters. Pearl and McGregor streets in spots were solid sheets of water.

Children have a deal of fun from it, but when people outgrow childhood and that tendency toward wading that only fits the "duckiness" of childhood, they choose rain at times but wish to be able to walk with dry feet.

It seems that Wichita Falls, the city that does all things with zest, even has rainfall with zest. When it rains, it pours. We heard the sound on our roof in the night and wondered what effect it would have on the many plans for Christmas and charity.

Women of the churches are beginning work to help the needy. On Friday, the women of the First Presbyterian church hold a bazaar in the morning at the church and at noon serve a turkey dinner. There's an air of Christmas about their preparations. Gifts are ready to be wrapped on their tables and Christmas colors and tender thoughts give the spirit of the season.

We ran upon the president of the High School and Junior College P.-T. A. Thursday morning looking out for a high school girl who needed help. Christmas this year seems not so much a time to get gifts ready for one's own family and loved ones, but for those unfortunates who are in real need. Mrs. Barnett wore rain coat and hat and her face shone with a kindly spirit.

Then at Grace Street Methodist church Friday, women of the Aid society are serving a chicken dinner, the proceeds of which are to go to take care of a member of the church who has no one of her own to take care of her. She has a home.

Which makes us thankful again for what seems to us a wise and beneficent law in the state of Texas—that homestead law. "A roof over one's head." Always a thing to be grateful for but one especially feels gratitude for it as the season approaches when thoughts seem to turn toward the one who had nowhere to lay His head.

The very birds were rained out Wednesday night. We saw several sparrows dead in our own yard. It has been weeks since we have heard a redbird or a mocking bird, which with the weather as warm as it has been, seems a strange thing to us.

We were thankful Thursday for words we heard read at the writers department at the Forum clubhouse. Poetry is only poetry to us when it stirs our hearts and we were stirred many times.

More each day we live, we find things in Wichita Falls for which we are grateful and of which we feel the city has a right to be proud.

How to Wash Baby's Diapers

Baby's health, happiness and contentment depend a great deal upon how you care for his diapers. When diapers are removed they should be put into a covered pail of cold water to which borax has been added. Later they should be washed clean with pure soap, rinsed thoroughly, but not blued, and hung in the sun to dry. (Strong soap and bluing are very irritating to a baby's skin.) Never, under any circumstances, use a diaper a second time without washing.

After "changing" baby, wash him between the legs and around the buttocks with a soft cloth or sponge and dry thoroughly by gentle patting with a soft towel. Then dust the parts with a good baby powder. This absorbs any excess moisture, prevents friction, chafing „urine-burn" and redness. Probably the best powder for the purpose is McKesson's Baby Powder. It contains a premium grade talc, consisting of very fine, soft flakes rather than pointed particles, with other ingredients, soothing and refreshing to baby's tender skin. In addition, it has a deodorizing effect that preserves that "fresh baby smell" which Mother loves so much and does not want to vulgarize with a palpable perfume. It is a real medicinal powder—entirely different from any other. Daily bathing of baby with daily use of McKesson's Baby Powder will keep baby's skin smooth, white and comfortable, which, probably will do more than anything else to keep him a happy and contented baby. All McKesson Service Druggists and other independent drug stores sell and guarantee McKesson's Baby Powder. Get a can today and see how baby will gurgle his thanks." Poets Furnish Program At Forum Writers' Luncheon

With a blazing log on the wide fireplace and jars of golden chrysanthemums glowing on the long table in the dining room, members and guests of the writer's department of the Woman's Forum met Thursday in a cheerful setting despite the downpour of rain. Mrs. W. M. Cason, chairman, presided and Mrs. B. C. Nicholson, secretary, read the minutes. Mrs. Ann Barker was appointed to receive reservations in the future from members of the telephone committee.

Guests and new members were introduced during the first course of the delightful luncheon. This Texas biscuit talks turkey!

TURKEY SHORTCAKE

THE BISCUITS—
5 tablespoons Crisco
2 cups flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 egg About ½ cup milk

Sift the flour with baking powder and salt. Work in Crisco with fork. Beat egg lightly in measuring cup, then add milk enough to make ½ of a cup. Add liquid to dry ingredients gradually, mixing to a stiff dough. It may not be necessary to add all the liquid. Toss on slightly floured board, pat to ½ inch thickness. Cut with biscuit cutter. Brush half the rounds with melted Crisco. Place other rounds on top. Bake 15 minutes in hot oven (450° F.).

THE SAUCE—
2 tablespoons Crisco
6 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
2 cups milk (or 1 cup milk and 1 cup turkey stock)
2 cups diced turkey (or chicken)
¼ cup slivered pimiento
2 tablespoons chopped parsley

Melt Crisco. Add flour, salt and pepper and mix well. Add liquid slowly and bring to boiling point, stirring constantly. Add turkey, pimiento and parsley. Separate double deck biscuits. Pour turkey sauce between and over rounds in shortcake style.

ALL MEASUREMENTS LEVEL — Recipes tested and approved by Good Housekeeping Institute. Crisco is the registered trade-mark of a shortening manufactured by the Procter & Gamble Co.

I used to feel sorry for those proud Thanksgiving and Christmas turkeys. When they become left-overs they are usually served in cold dejected slices—as if they were poor relations.

But since I've been talking to a wonderful Texas cook, I'm glad that a turkey has left-overs. It gives you and me a chance to make turkey shortcake!

The way my friend makes turkey shortcake is to make a short light biscuit that melts right in your mouth. "I use plenty of Crisco in my biscuits," she told me, "and they are even better-tasting than Ethelinda's." (Ethelinda, I learned, was her mother's cook in Louisiana.)

I've always noticed that good cooks don't take shortening lightly. There is just as much difference in the various fats on a grocer's shelf as there is in Grade "A", "B" and "C" eggs. That's why I'd never use a fat that looks or smells a shade "off."

With Crisco in its blue-and-white airtight can, you've got the Southwest's finest, purest shortening to depend upon. It's creamy from the top to the bottom of the can—no streaks or graininess or odd-looking layers.

Smell Crisco, too . . . and you'll find there's nothing to smell even in the hottest weather when so many inferior fats turn rancid. For Crisco is as fresh and sweet-tasting as new-churned, unsalted butter.

By the way, we home-cooks aren't the only ones who know that baking results can't be better than the shortening we use. The best bakers prefer to use sweet-tasting Crisco for their light-hearted cakes and crispy pies!

COLLEGE PLAY OFFERS LAUGHS

Blue Curtain Players Show Real Ability

By MARGARET FLEMING

Playing before an unusuall small audience because of the weather, the Junior college Blue Curtain Players presented "What Anne Brought Home," a rollicking three-act comedy, Thursday evening in the Junior college auditorium.

Gertrude Klass, Henry Will Barton and Durward Park displayed in their respective roles of the fond mother, the father and the bachelor uncle, acting equal to any since the origin of the organization. Katherine Ashford portrayed the typical "Anne" to the nth degree, playing opposite Aaron Kruger (what Anne brought hom), who enacted perfectly the simple dumb but honest boy who finally turns out to be the real hero in the end.

Other characters in the performance included Pearl Smyth, Homer Donahoo, Marion Proctor and Lewis Haynes.

Proceeds from the production will go to the Wai-Kun, the Junior college yearbook. Miss Jaunita Kinsey directed the play, and R. O. Jonas acted as business manager.

Merchants Discuss Credit Problems

Approximately 100 members of the Retail Merchants and Wichita Falls Retail Credit Grantors associations attended the called meeting of the Retail Merchants association at 6:45 o'clock Thursday night at the Kemp hotel.

Burton Stayton of the Freear Furniture company was the principal speaker of the evening. Mr. Stayton outlined the value of a credit executive to a business. He stated that the larger stores without a credit executive were taking a great business risk.

Mr. Stayton also stressed the importance of credit organizations to merchants. He was of the opinion the merchant doing a credit business could operate with greater security by keeping in touch with the city credit bureau. The bureau, he explained, relied upon the information it received from its members and that weekly reporting on slow accounts kept losses down.

John W. Thomas, manager of the Retail Merchants association, spoke briefly, concurring with the statements made by Mr. Stayton.

Financing individuals for payment of delinquent accounts was discussed by John C. Coffee, secretary-treasurer, Wichita Finance company, who stated that a large per cent of the loans made by the company was for payment of accounts, which the individuals making the loans were anxious to pay.

Other business of the meeting was given over to the reports of delinquent accounts, which according to estimates represented several thousands of dollars.

No More Piles

How to End Terrible Agony Without Salves or Cutting

External treatments cannot permanently end Piles. Nor does cutting remove the cause.

The cause is internal—bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel. The veins are flabby—the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles an internal medicine must be used to heal and strengthen the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, a specialist, after years of study discovered a real internal Pile remedy. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for 1,000 patients, with the marvelous record of success in 960 cases, and then decided every Pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROID from their own druggist.

Don't waste time on external remedies or think of the pain and expense of an operation until you have tried HEM-ROID. Allison's Drug Store will supply you and guarantee money-back if it does not end all Pile misery.—Adv.

Filipinos Hail Butte's Appointment As Vice Governor of Island Colony

Commissioner at Washington Expresses Pleasure at Selection of Former Texas Professor

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4. (AP)—The nomination of George C. Butte, of Austin, Texas, as vice governor of the Philippines by President Hoover today was favorably received in Filipino circles.

"We are pleased with the nomination," Pedro Guevara, resident commissioner, said, "and believe that he is well qualified for the place."

The Filipino official expressed the hope that when Butte, formerly attorney general of Porto Rico and now special assistant to the attorney general takes the new office "he will be instrumental in promoting friendly relations between the Philippines and the United States, following the policy of Governor Davis with the Filipino leaders."

Butte said he had been informed of his nomination but had no statement to make at this time.

BUTTE MADE RACE FOR GOVERNOR

AUSTIN, Dec. 4. (AP)—Dr. George C. Butte, 53, nominated to be vice-governor for the Philippines, gave up the position of dean of the law school at the University of Texas to run for governor of Texas on the Republican ticket.

It was his first political venture and he piled up more than 300,000 votes against Mrs. Miriam E. Ferguson, the largest vote ever given a Republican candidate for governor in Texas. He was nominated in the Repulican primary for governor this year but declined to run.

Dr. Butte practiced law in Muskogee, Okla., until 1911, when he retired to travel and study abroad. Returning to this country, he became a professor in the school of law in 1914, dean in 1923, and resigned in 1924 to run for governor.

He was appointed in 1925 to be attorney general of Porto Rico and in 1928 was made assistant solicitor on the staff of the attorney general.

While a professor at the university, Dr. Butte was given a year's leave of absence to form the oil and gas conservation department of the state railroad commission, which since has grown to be one of the most important arms of this commission.

Frederick Chamber of Commerce Maps Farm Program for Year

County Agricultural Projects Outlined in Annual Banquet for Membership Thursday Night

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., Dec. 4.—Achievements of the past year and plans for the upbuilding of Frederick and Tillman county during the 12 months to come were outlined at the annual chamber of commerce banquet held at the Hotel Frederick Thursday night. The banquet, attended by approximately 100 leaders in the city and county climaxed Frederick's Better Trade week, in progress since Sunday.

As outlined by Luther Wagnon, chamber of commerce secretary, activities during the coming year will again be centered in the agricultural program already under way, although other civic projects, including a fight for better roads north and south across the county, will be developed. The organization will continue its campaign to obtain a state agricultural experiment station for the county, will go on with its cotton testing program, its terracing work, and its educational plans for the reduction of cotton acreage, Mr. Wagnon explained.

Josh Lee Speaks

Josh Lee, widely known orator from the faculty of the Oklahoma university at Norman, and Cecil Chamberlain, state senator-elect were among the principal speakers of the evening. Thirty-two members were nominated as directors, sixteen to be elected. Ballots will be counted Friday.

Among the activities listed for the past year was the work with the Frederick city council in obtaining a landing field for the city. The new airport was dedicated Sunday. The chamber was also a leader in the movement to obtain aid for drouth stricken farmers and was active in the success of the second annual cotton festival held in October. During the past 12 months the organization has put into efefct a large part of an extensive five-year agricultural program, leading the state in efforts at cotton reduction. Terracing demonstrations, said to have increased land values by $8,000 were conducted in cooperation with the county farm agent, and many educational conferences held with the farmers in the rural schools of the county.

Council Organized

The Tillman County Farm council was organized as a part of the program and monthly meetings conducted for the study of farm problems and needs. The 15 varieties of cotton grown in Tillman county were planted under test conditions in an effort to discover those most adapted to the soil and climate. The experiment is not yet complete and will be carried on.

Heavy rains all over the section Thursday prevented the arrival of out of town guests and cut down attendance at the meeting Thursday night.

To End a Cough In a Hurry, Mix This at Home

To end a stubborn cough quickly, it is important to soothe and heal the inflamed membranes, get rid of the germs and also to aid the system inwardly to help throw off the trouble.

For these purposes, here is a home-made medicine, far better than anything you could buy at 3 times the cost. From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to fill up the pint. This takes but a moment, and makes a remedy so effective that you will never do without, once you have used it. Keeps perfectly, and children like it.

This simple remedy does three necessary things. First, it loosens the germ-laden phlegm. Second, it soothes away the inflammation. Third, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. This explains why it brings such quick relief, even in the obstinate bronchial coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

MRS. O'LOUGHLIN IN COLLAPSE

Woman Breaks Down On Witness Stand

twitched, gripped the arms of the witness chair and kept from breaking down by an effort.

Her brother, John Weiss, an attorney and associate counsel for the defense, stepped to the witness chair to comfort her.

"I'm not quiet, John, I can't go on," Mrs. O'Loughlin shrilled.

Keating then suggested to the court that the night session ought to be adjourned until morning to permit the defendant to compose herself.

Judge Calvert started to question her about her condition, but she interrupted him, and said between sobs:

"A girl tried to commit suicide up there in the jail this afternoon —and her name was Leona.

"I guess it unnerved me.

"I've been celled with her since I've been up there."

Thereupon Mrs. O'Loughlin gave way and it was impossible to continue the hearing.

Court was recessed until 9:30 a. m., Friday morning when, with the jury excluded, Mrs. O'Loughlin will attempt to convince Judge Calvert that intimidation was used in obtaining statements from her after her arrest.

ute to the members of the board of directors, the officers and the manager, E. H. Lilly. He said that it was always a pleasure for Wichitans to visit Burkburnett, and that it was an equal pleasure for the Wichita Falls chamber to assist Burkburnett in the development of its natural resouces and in any effort that might be undertaken that was for the uplift and betterment of the community.

Joined Road Work

"Wichita Falls joined with Burkburnett in getting action started on the pavement of the new highway from the Red river bridge through Oklahoma City, and northward into Canada," said the speaker. "We are ready now to keep on helping Burkburnett, and we hope the day will soon be here when we can travel with our cars through Burkburnett to the Canadian and Mexican lines, and to the Pacific and Atlantic coasts."

The results of the balloting for directors was announced by President Williams. The following were chosen to serve three years: R. C. Tevis, J. H. Brumley, Dr. Bain Leake, Oscar Kemp, H. D. Budget Goal Near

President Williams announced that the budget had about been subscribed. The amount was placed at $5,000 and the committees are just $500 under that amount and prospects are good that $1,000 more will be subscribed.

The Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce was represented by its manager, John Boswell, and some 15 members. Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Shepherd were present and Mr. Shepherd led in the songfest.

'Squatters' Front' Quiet As Court Test Is Waited

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 4. (UP)—All was quiet along Oklahoma City's "squatters' front" tonight as city officials prepared to contest in court the suits of almost 100 persons who staked claims on the abandoned Rock Island right of way.

The squatters, who staked their claims to the valuable strip cutting through the heart of the business district, under the congressional townsite act of 1890, were evicted by police.

The right of way was to be cleared of all obstructions by midnight tonight and turned over to the city with a clear title for use as a parkway. The railroad posted a $4,000,000 bond to guarantee the procedure.

The Labor of Thinking We Think We Think Russia's Liberty Has It Had Too Much?

By EMILE GAUVREAU

At his home in West Orange, N. J., Thomas Edison has hung up a motto which reads: "There is no expedient a man will not resort to to avoid the real labor of thinking." If this is original with Mr. Edison, it is the truest statement he ever made.

To a recent visitor he has pointed out this motto, remarking that the aviation industry might make use of it to advantage.

All industries might make use of that motto to advantage. Few of us really think. Most of us think we think. In reality, our thoughts are only the facsimiles of the thoughts of others who, in turn, have borrowed theirs from still others.

One man thinks and sets a million others thinking with him. Newton's ideas sufficed our world for 400 years. Einstein's theories will probably serve us another 400 years. Essayists, poets, philosophers, scientists are only a handful in the millions of people that crowd the earth. But these thinkers always have borne the burden of the masses. Probably they will continue to do so for millenniums to come.

To make people think for themselves is a more difficult task than all of the 12 labors of Hercules combined. Empedocles, the Greek philosopher, tried it and committed suicide. Socrates was made to drink the hemlock for his efforts.

An item that would make fine material for a short story by Fannie Hurst or Edna Ferber appears in the news. It concerns a city college alumnus, Wenzel A. Raboch, today an old man, who received his Phi Beta key after a wait of 57 years.

Back in 1873 Raboch was graduated with honors, standing second in his class. He was notified that he was eligible for the golden key of the fraternity. The notification, however, never reached him and he was too proud to make inquiries. We was also too poor to meet the circle of friends who might have imparted the news to him. He went west, became a professor of music in California, and settled there. On a trip East, a friend and classmate, who was sure the honor had been accorded Raboch, made diligent search. The records, musty with age, disclosed the fact that Raboch was indeed notified and made a member of the fraternity.

The miscarriage of that letter of notification probably changed Raboch's whole life. Pride, too, in not inquiring had something to do with it. Deplore the miscarriage, but not the pride. A man who asks for his own honors is perhaps undeserving of them.

In the snow-clad streets of Moscow half a million Russians parade, crying death to eight "traitors" to the Soviet republic. A Communist youth accuses his own father of disloyalty and demands his execution. Banners waved by the blood-thirsty throng bear various legends: "Down With the Jackals of Foreign Imperialists." "Death to Traitors," "Down With the Oil Kings."

In 1789 similar scenes were enacted in Paris at the beginning of the French revolution. But then the people had the excuse of liberty. What excuse have they now? Perhaps it has had an excess of it. License, it will learn, is not liberty. The despotism of communism is as bad as the despotism of monarchy.

House Committee May Study Oil Grab Charge

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4. (AP)—If no senate investigation is made, a house committee may study charges by Ralph S. Kelley that the interior department maladministered Colorado oil shale lands.

Chairman Colton, of the public lands committee, said today he would call for such action if that proposed for the senate were dropped.

Professor Einstein is to do some astronomy research in California, but the chances are slim he'll spend much time among the Hollywood stars.

The Maryland penitentiary has opened a school of journalism. There's a place where the reporters can say a lot in one sentence.

Not Uncle Sam's Job

PRESIDENT HOOVER hit the nail squarely where nails are supposed to be hit when he remarked that the suppression of racketeering, and the war on gangsterism generally, are jobs for states and cities to handle and not for the federal government.

His statement was made timely by the fact that in Chicago, during the last few months, the federal district attorney has proceeded with a good deal of success against gangsters who failed to pay the proper amount of income tax. Gentlemen whom Chicago had been utterly unable even to bother slightly are now awaiting transportation to prison; and because of this the idea spread that the federal government could handle the whole gang mess better than the local authorities could hope to.

Perhaps President Hoover's prompt and vigorous statement will restore a little sanity.

After all, what is the big problem in any gang-infested city? Isn't it the fact that an organization of high-binders is able to commit all the crimes on the calendar with utter impunity, unhampered by the police no matter how bold and insolent they become? Is that the sort of situation that can be corrected by having the government at Washington step in and ask the chief crooks if perchance they did not lie a little when they made out their income tax returns?

Take, for an example, the case of Jack Guzik, one of Capone's bright and shining lights. Guzik has been sentenced to the penitentiary because he did not pay the proper taxes on a three-year income of more than a million dollars. Now the startling and horrifying thing in this case is not that this Guzik cheated the government out of its taxes; it is the fact that he was able to get an income like that through illegal means. Prosecuting him for failing to pay his taxes does no good at all if the door is still left open for him, and men like him, to continue to earn such incomes by breaking the law.

"What we need," says the president, "is a more widespread public awakening to the failure of some local governments to protect their citizens from murder, racketeering, corruption and other crimes."

That is precisely it. Let us hope that the remark is taken to heart.

Football in All Weathers

THE nation's football season came to its close, throughout a good part of the country, in a swirl of snow. Howling blizzards, icy gridirons and temperatures in which only an Alpine guide would feel comfortable marked the final games of many college teams; and the whole thing brings to mind that one curious attribute which sets football apart from all other American games.

No one would dream of trying to play baseball in a winter storm. A track meet would be canceled if a snow storm swept down on the field. Horse races can survive rain storms, but snow and ice keep the tracks vacant. But football is played in spite of everything. Polar conditions may prevail; nevertheless, a scheduled game will be played, if all of the players and most of the spectators have to risk pneumonia.

This, of course, is a testimonial to the game's popularity and hardiness. But couldn't just a little common sense be injected into the situation? Is it after all, worth while to play games on days when automobiles and street cars are getting stalled in snowdrifts?

Clark a Dry Ambassador

DWIGHT W. MORROW, recent ambassador to Mexico and now a dripping wet senator from the state of New Jersey, has a successor who is a dry. Ambassador J. Reuben Clark Jr., presented his credentials to Pres. Ortiz Rubio of Mexico and later in the day announced that he would not serve liquor in the American embassy during his term.

There is a club house just around the corner where all brands of liquor known to the mind of a tank or an ex-tank may be obtained without an introduction to the bartender. Mexico City is not a dry Sahara. It is as wet as Senator Dwight W. Morrow of New Jersey who was elected on a platform demanding the repeal of the 18th amendment and the immediate strangulation of the Volstead act. Morrow is the friend of the president; Clark is the friend of the president. Cark is in the headlines. He is in the picture. He knew how to make a worldwide landing by a simple announcement.

A Comment on Politics

DISCUSSING the possible effects on business of a change in party control of the federal government, the current Magazine of Wall Street has this to say:

"As a matter of fact there is little ground for the idea so stubbornly held in some quarters that American prosperity depends on the political color of the government at Washington. The last bitter year should dispose of it once and for all.

"Either of the great parties is amply capable of giving us foolish legislation and weak administration, but neither has a monopoly of patriotism and political wisdom. If prosperity is incubating in economic processes, as we believe it is, neither inaction at Washington now nor ill-advised action in the future can stop it."

That is a highly sensible comment. It is worth remembering.

Where News Travels Slowly

RADIOS, newspapers and movies have made the dissemination of news in this country an extremely rapid and thorough affair. But evidently we still have our blind spots.

At any rate, a very aged Louisiana backwoodsman was taken into federal court at Baton Rouge the other day for distilling whisky, and he confessed that he had never heard of the prohibition law at all. Questioned further, he brought out the fact that he was not even sure the civil war had ended—although, to be sure, he had heard rumors.

One wonders just what sort of isolated hole-in-the-wall this chap could have inhabited. Some newspaper ought to be able to pick up a few subscribers there.

On Broadway

Portrait of a Man Talking to Himself

Well, I've lost another friend . . . Maybe ten of them—but so-called friends, at any rate . . . I promised a fortnight ago I would go to Camden and be one of the freaks that the people come to ogle! . . It was for a worthy cause, it appears . . . All causes are worthy, of course . . . But when I promised to go there I didn't know that I would be feeling this low . . . That my body would ache so . . . That my babies would be stricken, and that things would develop to remind me that sickness could happen to anyone! . . . So, I guess down at Camden I'm a big no-good . . . Perhaps the Camden audience didn't care at all. . . All I do when I want to dismiss what anyone thinks of me—is to look on my wall where I have pasted newspaper clippings of the late William Bolitho, Jimmy Hussey and Jack Donahue—particularly the clipping about Donahue—which is sub-titled, "He tried to do too much."

I thought all the phonies were on Broadway until last night . . . Some of them, it seems, come from Massachusetts. . . The "Mayor" of one town, frixample . . . Dolled up in his black and whites and hogging the center of the night club dancing floor, with a clacker in this paw, and a bottle of something in this one, he had himself a time . . . Whoopeeee! . . . Some fun! . . . Then when his bill of $12.60 came, he was insulted. . . His pockets revealed seven pennies . . . They handed him a terrific lacing, the dope . . . He probably wasn't a mayor of anything, although his companions said he was . . . Wonder what prompts people to make such saps of themselves? . . . And beg for the murderous wallops of bouncers? . . . Heavens, how they punched him! . . . Then they emptied the jeans of his companions until they collected $12.60 and tossed them all out of their ears . . . I'm glad I can't enjoy booze . . . It makes me sleepy, anyhow . . . Or brings on a crying jag, as they call it. . . Maybe the real reason I hate it is that I know of too many boys and girls who almost amounted to something, but the giggle milk craze interrupted their careers . . . I never did agree with Robert Louis Stevenson's "It is better to be a fool than be dead."

I wish some of the lads on the staffs of the rags that handle my stuff would help me a little—and eliminate any news items that might have appeared in earlier editions via the wire services . . . Before they syndicated my hooey and I had a "beat" it was scoopee for the rag I was on, at any rate . . . Nowadays, an exclusive line lasts 10 minutes. . . Wonder if it is true that people think the present depression is only a temporary thing. Those renowned bankers, who would'nt have talked that loud if they knew I was at the next table, were saying it would be at least another year or two before things straightened themselves out . . . And that after Jan. 1st countless houses would go into bankruptcy, bringing on the nearest thing to a panic since the one in 1907 . . . Gee.

So George White joins the Theater league, after all . . . After all the money he spent advertising its faults and why he was opposed to it . . . I think Cohan got a shady deal from the government, at that . . . As if George Cohan would tell a lie to the America he has served so faithfully . . . So they are going to clip him for $400,000—income tax "arrears" . . . That's what he gets for being a "Yankee Doodle" boy and making America famous . . . As if money means a thing to George . . . He has more down-and-outers on his list than the Salvation Army . . . A regular pay roll for actors and others who get a weekly check from him so that they might not have to stand in a breadline . . . That $400,000 they are taking from George burns me up . . . The coin he made from "Over There" saved more lives and kept more people from going hungry than any 10 philanthropists anyone might mention . . . Talk about republics being ungrateful. Didn't someone say that it might be truer to say they are forgetful; and that history never forgets and never forgives?

Maybe if I leave out the "Things I Never Knew Till Now" col'm this week, I'll find out whether anyone cares—or not . . . One more radio broadcast and then a chance to start catching my breath again for a change . . . It is all so tiresome—this incessant and monotonous routine every day of snapping out of a sound "sleep"—then into a cab—thence to the office, then another cab, the barber's, the restaurant, the theater, the cab again, the office for a play review or another column, the cab again—the night clubs, the speaks, the dives, the joints, the Abbeys, the Guinan's, et cetera, where they sit, sit, sit, sit, sit and drink, drink, drink, drink, drink and talk nothings and wait for consumption to catch up to them . . . In places where it is against the law to open a window for fear the fresh air will sober them up and make them realize that they are a little mad . . . Yet none of the suggestions offered as antidotes in the past 10 summers and winters ever interested me. . . Maybe it is because I have seen every state in the union and practically every leading city, and many of the smaller towns, and found them just as drab . . . Who was it that longed "to tear down this tiresome old sky?"

Paul writes a blind line: "Heard in a night club: What tab columnist will be knocked off in six months?" . . . Dozens of intimates inquire: "Is that meant for you?" . . . I like that . . . I like knowing whenever it is written that way—no names—just "tab columnist"—that the first tab columnist that comes to their minds is me . . . Well, I've worked hard for that form of reward, I deserve it . . . Of course Paul didn't say: "What Broadway columnist?"—just to give the numerous sports columnists a shudder, the sports columnists being the incorrigibles, at that . . . There are also radio columnists and editorial columnists on tabloids in New York, and I am afraid the whole lot of them do not exploit the night clubs as much as I do . . . I'm a press agent, that's what I am, by golly, and they're gonna shoot their best press agent? . . . Is Paul hearing things or seeing them . . . We of the Underworld Never Talk! Boo!

LITTLE MISS NOBODY

By VIDA HURST

"Some friends of mine are throwing a little party, want to come?"

Dolores Graham, 36 years old, and unusually attractive to men, and Dr. Fenton, are found shot to death in each other's arms in the latter's office. Celeste, 19, and equally beautiful, is the daughter of Dolores. Because of the scandal attached to her mother's death Celeste is forced to quit her job and break her engagement to Norman Jackson.

Celeste had never been kissed until her engagement and she had held the respect of all the young people in her "crowd." After the tragedy, Harry Martin, one of Celeste's former friends, takes her for a ride. He insults her with his advances and she jumps from the car, intent upon walking home.

Dale Hamilton offers to give her a lift home in his roadster. Dale is the son of a millionaire department store owner. Thinking that knowledge of her family scandal would make Dale never see her again, Celeste decides to tell him nothing of herself. Later they go to a fashionable beach and grow rather fond of each other. To Dale, Celeste is known as "Miss Nobody."

Celeste gets another job through her former teacher at the Elite Department store. There she meets Blondie McManus, a girl the same age as Celeste in years, but much her senior in experience and sophistication. They grow rather fond of each other.

CHAPTER IX

Celeste was confused and not a little embarrassed at the turn her luncheon with Blondie was taking.

"Have you ordered?" Wallace Scott asked.

Blondie told him they had Celeste watched silently as he duplicated their order of chow mein and tea. She had the feeling of having been "roped in" to something. There seemed to be an understanding of some sort between Mr. Scott and Blondie. Although they made little effort to include her in their conversation, Celeste felt sure the meeting had been prearranged.

Before she had eaten half her plate of chow mein Blondie rose, saying, "Take your time, baby! I gotta run. We're having a sale in our department."

"I'll go with you," Celeste insisted, but the persistent hand of Wallace Scott pressed her back into her place against the wall.

"Don't desert me, Miss Graham. I've been hoping for a chance to become better acquainted."

Blondie was already half way up the steps to the street, so Celeste sank back and resigned herself to the interview. Because an interview was what it proved to be with Celeste, like a frightened little girl attempting to answer the assistant credit manager's questions.

"How do you like your work in the store?"

"Very much, Mr. Scott."

"How much are they paying you?"

As if he didn't know! Nevertheless, she answered obediently.

"A girl like you should be able to make more than that."

"How," she countered, bluntly.

"Oh, there are ways. Do you live at home? Does your father help support you?"

Celeste smiled.

"At the moment I am helping to support him. He lost his job the day before I came to work."

His sympathy seemed genuine, but she recoiled from the hand laid familiarly upon her knee.

"What's the matter?" he asked, without removing it. "Don't you like me a little bit?"

"Of course."

"Why are you afraid of me, then?"

"I'm not," she denied. "Why should I be afraid?"

"Why, indeed?" he repeated, but the eyes which reminded her of Norman's became calculating and hard. "Of course, I can see that a girl has a chance to advance or loses her job, but I wouldn't want to do anything to hurt you."

Premonitions of disaster swooped at her, but she replied bravely, "I'm afraid I don't know what you mean."

"You don't suppose you'd be able to hold your position if I took a dislike to you, do you?"

Her blue eyes were like clouded pools in the whiteness of her face.

"Why should you dislike me, Mr. Scott?"

"Dear child, I don't. On the contrary, I admire you very much. I like your spirit and I am anxious to do all I can to help anyone who has suffered such a horrible experience as the murder of your mother."

Her head drooped.

"I'd rather not discuss that."

Suddenly his attitude became threatening rather than appealing.

"Did you think I didn't know about it?"

Ceasing all pretense of eating, she faced him in dismay.

"Oh, I suppose you do. But I don't see why it calls for any discussion. If you don't mind, I'll be going back to the store."

He made no effort to rise, and until he did so she was a prisoner against the wall.

"Let's get together on this," he said, frankly. "You're an exceptionally beautiful girl, as no doubt you've been told many times before. You are also ambitious and want to advance as rapidly as possible. Am I right or wrong?"

"I want to advance as rapidly as possible, of course."

"All right. I can do more to help you than anyone. But what I want to know is are we to be friends?

Celeste spoke sullenly.

"What do you mean, friends?"

"Now, what would I mean? That you should go to lunch or dinner with me occasionally, dance or take in a show."

POWER BOARD NAMES AIRED

Commission Members to Be Investigated

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4. (AP)—Close scrutiny of the members chosen by President Hoover for the new power commission was assured today with qualifications of one, Frank R. McNinch of North Carolina, already under investigation.

Senator Overman, Democrat, of North Carolina, was seeking to determine if McNinch is a Democrat. The senator said he understood the nominee supported Mr. Hoover in the 1928 campaign.

"I favor Mr. McNinch if he is a Democrat," said Overman.

"I also want to make certain Mr. McNinch and other appointees have no connection with the power trust." Chairman Couzens of the Interstate Commerce committee intends to call an early meeting for consideration of the five nominees.

TARIFF COMMISSION APPOINTEES ON PAN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4. (AP)—The senate finance committee decided today to examine all six members of the new tariff commission Saturday.

Possible contents have involved the names of Henry P. Fletcher of Pennsylvania, Republican, chairman; Edgar B. Brossard, Republican, Utah, and Alfred P. Dennis, Democrat, Maryland.

The other three members are Thomas W. Page, Democrat, Virginia; and John L. Coulter, Republican, North Dakota, and Lincoln Dixon, Democrat, Indiana. All six were given recess appointments. Their nominations were sent to the senate yesterday.

Senator Harrison of Mississippi, a Democratic member of the committee, announced yesterday a thorough investigation of the fitness of Fletcher and Brossard would be conducted. Some Republican members also want to question Dennis.

Arizona Desert to Be Searched for Ruins of Buried 'American Pompeii'

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 4. (AP)—The ruins of an "American Pompeii" will be sought in Arizona next year by an expedition of the University of Pennsylvania museum.

This was disclosed today by Dr. Harold S. Colton, professor of anthropology at the university and a member of the expedition the museum has had for several years in the field near Flagstaff.

The ruins, Dr. Colton said, are believed to lie beneath a layer of black basaltic sand 18 to 20 feet thick, which in turn is overlaid by centuries of drift sand deposits. Should the buried city be located it is expected that many relics revealing the habits and customs of the real American pioneers will be found.

Possibility of such a discovery was revealed when a number of ancient Pueblo ruins were discovered showing that volcanic action had been heavy in the vicinity after the dwellings of the Indians had been in ruins for several hundred years. Sunset crater, near the Coconino forests of Arizona, was held responsible for the eruptions, which are estimated by scientists to have occurred centuries ago.

Poultry Growers Count Profits In Hall County

Special to The Record News.

MEMPHIS, Texas, Dec. 4.—Despite the handicaps of a shortage of feed and the low market for poultry, three Hall county poultry demonstrators made a profit during 1930, according to Miss Ruby M. Adams, county home demonstration agent.

Mrs. B. Plaster of Buffalo Flat made the largest profit with her flock of 191 S. C. White Leghorn hens. The records kept were from November, 1929, to November, 1930 and during this time the flock produced 27,142 eggs, or an average of 143 eggs per hen for the year. The total receipts for the Plaster demonstration were $552.88 with an expense of $323.68, giving a profit of $229.20.

Mrs. Guy Smith of the Indian Creek club has the following record with her flock of 91 Orpington hens: 9,864 eggs or an average of 108 eggs per hen for the year. Total receipts were $311.96 from eggs and chickens with an expense of $196.88 making a profit of $103.88. Mrs. Smith sold $100.88 worth of turkeys.

Mrs. C. A. Williams of the Salsbury club has reported on 150 S. C. White Leghorn hens, showing the production of 15,670 eggs, giving the average of 104 per hen for the year. The receipts from this flock were $186 with the expense of $100, or a profit of $86.

Mrs. Plaster's flock gave her a prize of $10 for the best poultry demonstration for the year.

Little Miss Nobody

He was watching her with the intensity of a snake.

"But I don't want anyone's help," she cried, desperately. "All I ask is to be let alone."

He leaned so close that she was compelled to shrink against the wall.

"Sure of that, my dear?"

"Yes, I am."

"Would it be such a hardship to be with me occasionally?"

Repulsion was stronger than diplomacy.

"I don't want to have to hold my position that way."

"Better think twice before you decide."

In a panic she cried, "I wouldn't accept the friendship of any man living on such terms!"

He rose then, making no further effort to detain her.

"That's up to you, of course. There are plenty of girls in the bookkeeping department who would consider themselves flattered at the chance. You don't suppose I talk this way to all of them, do you?"

Freed at last, Celeste found caution returning to her.

"I'm sure you don't. And please don't be angry with me, Mr. Scott. There's nothing personal about it. I'm not in a mood to go out with men just at present, that's all."

"You mean at some future time you might be persuaded to see the matter in a different light?"

Hating herself for the compromise, Celeste answered. "I might. Please don't hold it against me. Give me a chance to make good with my work."

"It's not your work I'm interested in," he retorted.

Raging inwardly, Celeste forced herself to smile. She stood in the restroom of the store 15 minutes later trembling with relief. She prayed that, after thinking it over, he would discount her shrinking and aversion and believe it was as she had said, because she really wasn't ready to accept the attentions of any man so soon after her mother's death.

She was sure now that the meeting had been arranged through Blondie, who had only pretended to like her so that Wallace Scott could press his suit. Resentment and disappointment in the girl who, by reason of her superior sophistication, had seemed the kind of friend she needed made Celeste speak coldly the following morning when they met. Blondie flushed and looked uncomfortable. Later in the day she came to Celeste's desk, saying in a low voice, so that the other girls could not hear, "I'm sorry, baby!"

In spite of herself, Celeste was touched.

"It's all right. Only please don't do it again."

"Do you mean you'll go to lunch with me again?"

"If you'll promise not to drag in any more credit men, heads of departments or such."

Blondie seemed as gratified as she was surprised.

"I honestly want to get better acquainted with you on my own account. But the way things are I'm sort of under obligation to him."

"Don't tell him anything about it next time," advised Celeste. "And you'd better not come up here to talk to me."

Experience was making her wise in the ways of duplicity, but she saw Wallace Scott's eyes had wandered to her desk before Blondie could make her escape.

Perhaps she shouldn't have promised to see Blondie again, but her loneliness was by now almost more than she could bear. It was the end of her second week at the store. Her father had no work and no prospect of any. He sat around the apartment grumbling at the evil fate which had cost him not only his wife but also his job at the Golden Fruit Canning company. A large portion of Celeste's money had to go for food and the remainder must be saved to apply on the next month's rent, which would be due on the first of November and which she knew he would not be able to pay.

It was work—work—work. Nothing but work. All day long at the typewriter and at night in the dreary apartment, which she was compelled to clean on Sundays. She felt caught in a miserable treadmill of dullness and monotony Past evenings when she had hurried home from work with her mother; stopping to buy the groceries and preparing dinner together or dressing while her mother prepared it, seemed ecstatic in comparison.

How happy they had been. Telephone calls every evening from Annette and one or two boy friends. No one ever called her any more. Once she went to the telephone, driven by the wretched feeling that she should call Annette and attempt to explain, but she was certain Annette's mother had decided their friendship should cease even before the ride with Harry. Celeste had made many advances since her mother's death, all of which had been repulsed. It seemed useless to humiliate herself further.

An added source of disappointment was the fact that, although she was working in his father's store, not once in those two weeks had she caught any glimpse of Dale Hamilton. She longed yet dreaded to see him. She knew he would connect her with the girl for whom Mr. Tomie had interceded as soon as he knew her name. Then he would understand why she had called herself "Miss Nobody" that day at the beach. Yet she was cold with excitement when the Tuesday of her third week found them ascending in the same elevator. His eyes took in the chic black dress and her uncovered head with no hint of a smile as he said "Good afternoon."

Was he hurt? Angry at her deception? Or bowing to her own wishes to remain anonymous?

Celeste paced the restroom wishing she had never met him. Why should the sight of him upset her like this? The casual recognition in the crowded elevator had hurt almost as much as if he had refused to speak to her. Yet what else could he have done? Hadn't she herself refused to see him again?

All that afternoon she feared lest he should appear in the bookkeeping department. That evening she listened hopefully for the sound of the decrepit apartment house bell. If only he would come riding like the fairy tale prince. He seemed to tell her it didn't matter.

He did not do so. And Wednesday Celeste appeared at work with circles of fatigue beneath her tired eyes.

"Whassa matter, baby?" inquired Blondie, who was now admittedly her friend. "You look all in."

"I am," she admitted. "Let me go to lunch with you, will you? Mr. Scott's had his eye on me all week. I'm afraid he's going to ask me for another date."

She was right. Before she could leave the department Wallace Scott had called her to his desk on the pretext of looking up an account.

"Some friends of mine are putting on a little party tonight," he confided. "Nothing wild—just a nice congenial bunch. I'd like to have you go with me."

Celeste did not lift her downcast eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Scott. I thought I had explained to you—"

"That still goes, does it?" he inquired quietly.

"Yes, sir! I'm afraid it does."

Celeste looking up at last saw that Dale Hamilton was leaving his father's office and would pass directly past the assistant credit manager's desk.

"That will do, Miss Graham," Mr. Scott said, coldly.

SANTA FINDS LITTLE QUEEN

Lost Playmate Discovered In Wichita Falls

Times and Record News is going to print the route over which the parade will pass so you may be sure to find a good place to view the pageant. This will be one of the biggest days in the history of Wichita Falls and I know that all the children and their parents and friends will come from far and near to see my Eskimo "Carry Love" drive my six reindeer harnessed to my sleigh laden with toys.

"Mary" Christmas Lovable Soul

My good wife "Mary" Christmas wins the hearts of everybody. I know you will fall in love with her as soon as you see her, and you will understand why I love her so dearly. She is beautiful to look upon and I want you to be sure to clap your hands and throw her kisses as she rides past you in the parade. She will be carried in a sedan-chair by four stalwart chairmen. And remember that it is she who loves you the same as I do.

Reason for Christmas

Yesterday I promised to tell you about the origin of Christmas. Christmas is celebrated on the 25th day of December each year. This is the day of joyous memory of the birth anniversary of the Christ Child who was born nearly 2,000 years ago in a manger in Bethlehem in far away Palestine.

Ask your mothers, dear children, to tell you or read to you the story of the "Coming of the Wise Men" to the cradle of the new-born Christ Child.

Far over ocean and desert came three wise men bearing gifts to the baby in the manger. Many were the gifts that were packed on the backs of camels. Kings, shepherds, wise men, peasants, the country over, gathered to see the rich gifts.

It is because of this, because of the custom started by these wise men 2,000 years ago in far-away Palestine, that we give gifts today. Do you not think it a nice custom?

And do you know that while the custom of giving is observed in many countries that it is observed in different manner to fit the life of different people who live differently?

In the West Indies, for instance, they celebrate at a different time and in a different manner than do the people in Wichita Falls. Tomorrow I will tell you an interesting story about "Three Kings Day."

There Is a Santa Claus

In the message and letters I received today comes a letter from a little girl named "Veonne," who lives in "Sunglory," and she tells me that her big Uncle Walter was trying to make her believe there was no Santa Claus and that I do not exist and she said that she laughed at him and told him she would never believe him because her mother has been reading The Times and Record News every day and right there are printed the message I am sending, and that Santa Claus himself with his Eskimo helper and his wife, "Mary" Christmas, are going to be in the parade there on next Wednesday. And Veonne says that she finally made her Uncle Walter understand that he was mistaken and that he then went home and sent her the following verse;

There is a Santa Clause, there is a Santa Claus,
Oh, yes indeed there is, there really is, and always was.
And in the Land of Love, up in the skies above, angels praise all the deeds that he does.
In his heart there is kindness and it spreads everywhere,
On his lips there's a smile and his song fills the air,
He watches over you, all other children, too, so cheer up because—there is a Santa Claus.

BANKERS HEAR LEGGE'S VIEWS

Conservative Assistance for Farmer Urged

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 4. (AP)—A program of conservative assistance, coupled with a closed study of the farmer's needs would in most cases bring better results both to the farmer and to his bank creditors, said Alex Legge, chairman of the federal farm board, in an address before the agriculture committee of the American Bankers association here today.

He asked if the bankers operating in rural districts had not gotten away from the relationship existing between the farmer and the banker as compared with 50 years ago. In those days, he said, the local banker many times acted as managing director of the farmer's financial operations.

"A little more time spent in careful consideration of the borrower's program, plans and operations under the private banker who is making loans might have resulted in more liquidation of these farm borrowers to the benefit of both the borrower and the lender," Chairman Legge continued.

Bobbitt Takes Part in Fruit Patent Contest

AUSTIN, Dec. 4. (AP)—Atty. Gen. Robert Lee Bobbitt will represent Texas in the suit of the American Fruit Growers, Inc., against the Brogdex company, set for hearing in the United States supreme court Monday. The suit was filed to prevent patenting of a process for elimination of citrus canker and other infestations.

Attorneys general from Alabama, Arizona, California, Florida, Georgia and Louisiana have joined in the suit. It was reported here that patenting of the process would force citrus fruit growers to pay a heavy royalty for the privilege of using the process.

Bobbitt said he also planned to confer with Secretary of War Pat Hurley concerning toll bridges across the Red river between Texas and Oklahoma with the view of opening free bridges as early as possible.

Motor Car Industry Plans Great Sales 'Push' and Larger Output

Manufacturers Propose to Build 4,500,000 Cars and Trucks And Sell Them—During 1931

By DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

DETROIT, Dec. 4.—If the plans of the motor car industry do not go awry there will be produced—and more important, there will be sold—approximately 4,500,000 cars and trucks in 1931. This estimate, the first ventured as to the outlook for next year comes from an authoritative source and is based upon the expectation of at least a moderate upturn in business.

A sales drive such as the automotive industry has not witnessed for several years apparently is in preparation and will get under way shortly after the annual national shows next month.

Groundwork Laid

The groundwork for the "big push," has been started. Since early last month, several hundred distributors and key dealers from throughout the eastern part of the country have visited Detroit, Flint, Pontiac and Lansing to inspect new models and discuss at first hand national and local sales problems with executives of the home offices.

In addition many thousands of dealers are attending zone meetings held in the larger cities in connection with new model announcements.

One of the most active companies in preparing for the sales campaign is the Chevrolet division of General Motors. Chevrolet, which recently brought out a new model, is understood to be aiming at a sales volume of not less than 1,000,000 units in 1931. A series of 50 meetings in as many zone centers began on Nov. 7.

Ford's Activities

Referring to activities at the Ford plants in the Detroit district, the Michigan manufacturer and financial record in its current issue says:

"Things at Dearborn are, if anything more quiet than usual, but there is a feeling in the trade that Ford is setting the stage for a spectacular sales program to be announced, probably, in the first part of January. Mr. Ford has stated there will be no important changes in the many new lines introduced this year, but talk of a price cut persists in Detroit and it would not be surprising if this should be the basis of a 1931 sales drive."

The Ford company has been working on a three days a week schedule for some time. Reports were circulated in Detroit during the last week that a large number of those working on the three-day schedule had been laid off, but this lacked confirmation.

Plan Normal Output

If the industry's output in 1931 approximates 4,500,000 units, it will exceed the expected production of the present year by close to 1,000,000 cars and trucks, and will reach what the industry regards as a normal year's output.

More important than the fact of an approximately normal output, however, is the fairly reasonable assurance that whatever the aggregate production amounts to, it will be disposed of the consumer. Through a steady scaling down of production the motor car industry has disposed of an enormous surplus left over from last year and actually leveled off production to demand.

With the industry's executives agreed that their 1929-30 difficulties were due mainly to a production program "gone wild," it is a safe conjecture that "controlled production," as the adjustment of production to demand is called, is to become a permanent policy with the automobile industry.

Too exhausted to continue their overseas flight, a linnet and a chaffinch alighted on a liner on its way from New York to Liverpool and remained on the vessel until it reached port.

STARLIGHT

Christmas Decorations Illumine Mangum Territory

Special to The Record News.

MANGUM, Okla., Dec. 4.—The business district of Mangum has taken on a yuletide air this week. Four streamers of colored lights extending from the court house dome to the four corners of the square have been installed, and a huge star containing 67 bulbs caps the dome. There is also a large lighted Christmas tree in a glass case with fans constantly blowing artificial snow about the tree.

The 600 electric bulbs light up the horizon and can be seen within a radius of about 20 miles from all sides of Mangum.

COL. C. E. BLEYER ENDS OWN LIFE

Aged Advertising Man Is Found in Room

CHICAGO, Dec. 4. (AP)—Col. Charles E. Bleyer who returned from retirement to direct his son's advertising firm after the son was shot to death took his own life today. He was found dead of a bullet wound in his room at the Union League club.

Colonel Bleyer, 76, had been a member of the staff of two Illinois governors and formerly was active in national guard work.

Ten years ago he returned from a trip to Cuba to find his son, Capt. Clifford Bleyer, had been slain by a woman who then killed herself. Five years ago Colonel Bleyer again retired. No motive for suicide was known.

The bodies of Clifford Bleyer and Mrs. Ruth Randall, 27, daughter of H. E. Vale, Oklahoma City baker, were found in a south side apartment in March, 1920. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of murder and suicide by the woman.

Colonel Bleyer was secretary and treasurer of the Interstate National Guard association, a delegate to the 1913 peace congress in Sweden and a member of the Lotos club of New York.

Decrease in Terracing Expected in Hardeman

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, Dec. 4.—Terracing in Hardeman county this fall and winter will probably show a considerable decrease over last year in the opinion of County Agent L. T. Hunter. The reason assigned by Mr. Hunter is that many farmers are without funds to provide necessary feed for livestock with which to do the work, having to pasture and feed only enough to take the stock through the winter. More than 5,000 acres were terraced in Hardeman county last year.

FOOD PRICES TODAY AND A YEAR AGO

What consumers save over last year's costs

A&P is advertising prices of food today compared with prices a year ago. The differences in the lists generally show substantial reductions.

The idea is to bring home to the housewife how much less her food is costing her than it cost last year at this time. In these figures she sees actual facts, not theories. To her they have a high practical news value.

They are important in another way. They illustrate in dollars and cents A&P's policy—the policy of passing on to the consumer the savings that come from lower food prices.

By A&P's new low prices customers can measure the decline in the cost of the raw materials that enter into what they eat.

SCOUTS READY FOR JAMBOREE

300 Visitors Expected At Contests Tonight

About 300 out-of-town Boy Scouts are expected to arrive in Wichita Falls Friday evening for the fourth quarterly Wichita area jamboree to be held in the basement of the Memorial auditorium at 7 o'clock, according to Frank Creighton, local scout executive.

The evening will be spent in various contests the feature of which will be a bugle contest in which the winner will be awarded a silver plated bugle by the Rexcraft Bugle company.

Other contests will include relay races, pyramid building, tug o' war, compass contest, signaling, judging weights, measures, distances and heights and attendance. A placque which has been contested for since 1924 will be awarded to the troop winning the most events. The troop winning the placque three times out of four will be allowed to keep it, Mr. Creighton explained. Should troop 12 of Wichita Falls win it in this contest, it will be awarded to them to keep as they have succeeded in winning it in three other jamborees, Mr. Creighton said.

Approximately 1,000 scouts are expected to attend the meeting which embraces Archer, Clay, Jack, Throckmorton, Young and Wichita counties.

Postal Clerks Urge Shorter Work Week

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4. (AP)—The National Federation of Postoffice clerks requested President Hoover today to support the Kendall bill to reduce postal working schedules from 48 to 44 hours weekly.

Mr. Hoover was reminded by Leo E. George, chairman of the executive committee, that the present postal eight-hour law was passed 17 years ago. During this time, however, he said, the productivity of postoffice clerks had increased more than 100 per cent.

Americanized Factories In Europe Prosper

NEW YORK, Dec. 4. (AP)—Higher pay, better conditions and steadier work exist in European factories which have adopted American management methods than in those which have not, the American Society of Mechanical engineers was told today.

Conditions in European industries were contrasted with those in America by Wallace Clark, a consulting engineer who has reorganized many European plants.

American production technique usually causes a swifter flow of material and ideas and a better turnover in investment, Clark said.

TEXAN HELD IN MURDER CASE

Bastrop County Official Kills Rival

SMITHVILLE, Texas, Dec. 4. (AP)—Charges of murder were filed today against John Rosanky, 39, Bastrop county commissioner, in connection with the fatal shooting last night of George Kirkpatrick, 35, section foreman for the M-K-T railroad here.

Kirkpatrick, shot in the head with a shotgun, crawled into his kitchen from the rear of his house and died in his wife's arms.

Rosanky was a former husband of Mrs. Kirkpatrick. They were divorced several months ago and at about the same time Kirkpatrick was divorced from his wife, mother of four children. A short time later he married the former Mrs. Rosanky.

Mr. and Mrs. Kirkpatrick had returned from a picture show and Mrs. Kirkpatrick preceded her husband into the house while he put their car into the garage.

She heard a shot and rushed to the back door. The wounded man, shot down near his doorstep, dragged himself up to the entrance and into the kitchen. He died without making a statement.

Rosanky, who was arrested an hour later, lived in a small house directly back of the Kirkpatrick home. He formerly operated a general merchandise store and was postmaster at Upton, also serving as county commissioner.

In the election recently he was re-elected county commissioner.

Flood Control Advocates To Support Legislation

A permanent representative of the Red River Flood Control and Navigation association will be established in Washington to urge legislation for a congressional appropriation to aid in construction of a flood water conservation system for Red river, it was decided Wednesday at Sherman where chamber of commerce officials of the Oklahoma and Texas territories involved met to discuss the matter, according to Dudley B. Foy, assistant manager of the chamber of commerce here, who returned Thursday from representing Wichita Falls at the meet.

About 100 representatives of cities and counties in Oklahoma and Texas bordering the river attended the session and made plans to raise $15,000 in Texas counties to finance the activities of the association during the coming year.

Included in the proposal to conserve the flood waters of Red river is the construction of a dam near Denison involving the expenditure of approximately $35,000,000.

Dwight Morrow 'Saying Nothing Until He Learns His Way About

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4. (INS)—Senator Dwight W. Morrow, Republican of New Jersey, intends to "say nothing" until he learns his way around the senate, he told International News Service today in his first interview as a solon.

The interview was interesting, as it revealed Morrow as a rather shy legislator who dislikes the spotlight.

"What do you think of President Hoover's message to congress?" he was asked.

"I have nothing to say about it," replied Morrow.

"Can you give any light on your views toward the legislation recommended by the president?"

"I would rather not say," Morrow repeated.

"Won't you give your ideas on legislation off the record?"

"I have nothing to say publicly on, as you say, off the record," said Morrow. "I'm new here and I am merely trying to find my way around the senate."

"But that doesn't help newspapermen very much," he was told.

"No, but you're helping me," replied Morrow with a smile, "and that will make you conscious of doing good."

COSTLY BARGAIN

Electra Housewives Lose Money to Slick Agent

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Dec. 4.—Several weeks ago an agent came to Electra claiming he represented a coffee company and offering what he termed a "bargain." Those who would pay him $1.49 would receive a pound of coffee and their choice of a percolator or a silk bed spread. He collected the money from a number of people and left town. The people waited patiently for their bargains to arrive and finally when the case was investigated they learned that the man was not in the employ of the company.

They had NEVER tasted BEANS like these

In that Western camp where Uncle William first made Brown Beauty Beans famous, they had never known the different, delectable flavor held only by these plump brown mountain beans.

Uncle William's secret way of cooking them—in his own savory sauce—added to their rich goodness; made his eating place renowned; made him rich—and made Brown Beauty Beans famous.

Of course, people elsewhere wanted them, too—and now they come in cans. Meaty, tender, delicious and different in flavor, nourishing and satisfying, they offer a welcome change from the sameness of other foods.

Guard Your Kidneys

Would you rather take your departure from life at the age of 58, which is when the average man does, just when your work is hardly done, or would you rather last until 68 or 78, which gives you plenty of time to make your fortune, take care of your family and settle down to do the things you have always wanted to do. If you would last a little longer than the ordinary, then one of the best things to do is to keep your kidneys healthy.

Take care of your kidneys early and your kidneys will take care of you later in life. The fact that more than half of the people over 40 are said to suffer from some form of kidney or bladder trouble shows that most people do not know how to treat their kidneys correctly. Your kidneys are really life savers. They are constantly on the job guarding you against poisons which would otherwise accumulate in your blood stream. If they were to lose their functioning for only a very short time, you could not live.

Nature has tried to protect you by giving you two kidneys, either one of which would ordinarily be able to guard your health. However, even the extra kidney is usually worn out by the wrong living habits of the average person.

Many people think of their kidneys when they have a backache, but the truth of the matter is that the kidneys may be seriously diseased before there is any warning. Usually the first time one knows he has kidney trouble is when he takes an examination for life insurance and albumin is found in the urine. The only way for you to find out whether or not you have kidney trouble is to have the urine analyzed. If albumin in quantity is present along with the casts, you are one of those who has neglected to care for his kidneys.

When the delicate membranes lining the kidneys become inflamed the kidneys might be said to work backward, throwing out the albumin which is naturally kept in the body, and keeping in the water, salt and waste which are naturally excreted.

Many people think that drinking large quantities of water overworks the kidneys, but this is not true. These organs are especially adapted to handle very large quantities of water. The kidneys are not damaged by the water which passes through them but by the irritating substances which they excrete. Pure water assists in diluting these substances so that they are less irritating to the kidneys. If you do have a case of chronic Bright's disease, the best plan would be for you to send for my free articles on the subject. If this disease has developed you should not delay in beginning the treatment. If you have not developed any kidney trouble, one of the best ways to prevent it is to be sure that you drink plenty of water every day.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Nightmares

Question—Mrs. R. S. writes: "During the day I feel perfectly well, but at night, about 30 minutes after I have fallen asleep, I take some kind of spells, as I call them, when I wake up feeling as though I were dying—all out of breath, with my arms and legs "asleep." As soon as I raise into a sitting posture I am all right. The doctor says I am nervous, and tells me there is nothing wrong with my heart. Will you please advise me?"

Answer—If your heart is in good condition, and the doctor finds no other disturbances, the nightmares are probably caused by some digestive disturbance. The best policy would be to eat a very small evening meal and be sure that it is of the right combinations, as outlined in my weekly menus in this newspaper.

Hominy

Question—R. H. J. writes: "Kindly give me your opinion of hominy. May it be combined with any food, and how may it be served?"

Answer—Hominy is a very wholesome starchy food, but should not be combined with acids at a meal. The best method of preparing it is to soak it in water for several hours, then rinse it two or three times in hot water to remove any traces of lye or other irritating materials used in its preparation. It should then be slowly boiled for about a half hour and seasoned with butter or cream.

Hot Cakes and Sorghum

Question—O. J. M. asks: "What do you think of sorghum with hot cakes or waffles? Has it any particular food value? Is it fattening? I have been using honey, but I have become tired of it."

Answer—Sorghum molasses is as good as any other kind of sugar to use with hot cakes or waffles. Only a small amount of any kind of sugar should be used and the hot cakes or waffles should be baked thoroughly so as to dextrinize them as much as possible.

NOCONA GAME TO BE PLAYED TODAY DESPITE THURSDAY'S RAIN

Dalhart Wolves Clash With Slaton Today In Bi-District

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

If the Nocona-Olney game is played today—and it will be unless the rain is coming down in torrents along about noon-time—the two teams will be fortunate in that the Nocona gridiron is of a sturdy sandy loam, and is a field on which both contenders can exhibit their true strength.

Of course there will be mud, but not as much mud as is seen on the majority of gridirons in this section. There will be no slushy pools of water, such as form on the Wichita Falls field. The ball will be slippery, perhaps, and the players will have to guard against fumbles, but still, on the hard Nocona pasture there will be fewer chances for fumbles than on many other fields we know of.

What we are trying to say is that the game will be a test of each team's ability regardless of the rain of Thursday, and it won't be a duel in which the best mud dauber will win. The games that are won by the best mud daubers are acute pains. Neither team, generally, is satisfied with the result, and the fans are up in arms, the boosters of the winning team claiming that their outfit could have scored more on a dry field, and the boosters of the losing team claiming the latter never would have lost on a dry gridiron. The Pampa-Amarillo game is a splendid example.

Officials of Nocona and Olney were quite worried Thursday on account of the great downpour that covered this section Wednesday night and Thursday. W. J. Stone conferred with Olney officials over the phone. Stone was of the mind to postpone the game until next Tuesday, in order to assure the record crowd that is bound to turn out in good weather to see the game. Olney objected that it would inflict too much punishment of the winner, since the latter would have to plunge into the regional championship probably two or three days later, and would be in far from good condition to do so. Olney suggested the game be played Saturday.

But Mr. Stone reasoned that the excellent Nocona field would be in just as good shape today as Saturday, and wished to take advantage of the publicity to the fact that the game would be played today.

The game will be played today, then, as scheduled, unless heavy rains start falling along about noon with no apparent intention of stopping. If rain does fall, the game in all likelihood will be played Saturday.

No doubt it is best to get the scrap over as soon as possible Should the game be delayed until next week, it will, as Olney contends, work a great hardship on the winner. It will, in fact, put the winner in just the same shape Breckenridge finds itself in today, on the eve of its great bi-district game with the Amarillo Sandies. They were beaten by Ranger in a hard game, and then had to play Cisco again the first of this week. Only three days then remained until the Breckenridge game, and the whole team, with the glaring exception of Boyce Magness, was sore and worn.

If you'll pardon the digression, the Rambler might plunge in with his opinion of the Breckenridge-Amarillo game. We figure the Breckenridge crew has a better team than Amarillo has, and that if the Bucks are whipped, it will be on account of the tough breaks they got in having to play those two hard games immediately preceding the bi-district championship tussle. I don't think Amarillo can stop Boyce Magness. It may stop the rest of the team, which would be doing about the same thing as stopping Magness, but they won't stop that charger. They enter the game as favorites simply because Breckenridge is worn down with glorious conquests—and even if Amarillo is the favorite, my choice is Breckenridge—say about one touchdown. That's enough for a crippled team to score on a bunch of well-fed and rested Sandies. I think all this phonus bollonus about Amarillo being the better by three touchdowns is just what I called it in the first place—phonus bollonus.

If you'll stand another little digression, I'd swear on the copy hook that if Nocona were given a little more experience it could whip Amarillo, and with a little more experience the Olney Cubs could whip Breckenridge. However, keep this under your hat. It simply wouldn't do to let an opinion like that get out.

Getting back to serious confab, though, and buckling down to the problem at hand, the Rambler wishes to repeat his opinion expressed earlier in the week, that the Olney team is his favorite in the battle today between Nocona and the Cubs.

The opinion is backed by the conclusion, not that Olney is so much the better of Nocona in offensive or defensive tactics, but that Olney has a more experienced and headier team than Nocona can boast. They are veterans of many a stirring war. The older men on Acker's squad have long passed the stage of feeling elated over a championship. Many are the crowns that dangle at their belt. They will be fighting Nocona with a clean-cut victory in mind, not so they can boast of their victory over Nocona, but because by whipping the Indians they can advance to stiffer competition in the regional championship.

The very fact that Olney has in the past won many distinctions will be the chief reason they will have to fight so hard to whip Nocona. I am ignorant of the history of the Nocona team, and if it ever won a regional I am unaware of it. Certainly they haven't recently. But they are in sight of one now. The Tribe will try to catch Olney in an over-confident state and wallop the Cubs, because the Indians, never having reached the heights attained by Olney, may be expected to be hot and fiery to climb up to said heights.

But they will be charging against a bunch of old-timers. And eleven men who have been through two, three, or four bitter wars, may always be expected to know better what to do in another war.

Shed Tears Here

The Rambler anticipates not only a stern contest on the field today, but a war of emotions on the sidelines. In all probability it will be worse than the sideline strife in the Nocona-Weatherford game. In brief, there will be many tears shed by the girls' pep squad of the losing team.

The tears of the Weatherford girls beat in huge waves against the stone arch of the Rambler's heart. I looked in vain for a means to cheer the lassies. Being unmarried, I could have proffered my shoulder as a receptacle of the bitter brine, but alas, always timid, I was even more timid that day in Nocona.

But I will journey to the home of the Indians a much stronger man this time. I have learned the futility of being a mere timid soul when so much can be done for the comfort of humanity's most beautiful creatures. So today, I wish to announce, I am no longer a timid man, and my shoulder, nay both of them—stern, wide and strong—will be at the disposal of the weeping girls whose team has been defeated. The girls, dern 'em, how sorry I feel for them when their eyes are moist!

GOOD FIELD AWAITS TEAMS

Only Stiff Downpour Today Would Delay Tilt

Only a torrential downpour of rain towards midday today will call a halt to the scheduled bi-district championship game between Olney and Nocona in the latter city, it was announced Thursday by W. J. Stone, superintendent of Nocona schools.

Treated unkindly by the weather Wednesday night and Thursday, officials of the two schools agreed that the rain would not slow the Nocona gridiron, a sandy, sloping surface which withstands all weather, and that the game would be played as scheduled in the event a rainstorm does not hurdle from the skies today.

Roads in Good Shape

It was pointed out that roads to Nocona, with the exception of the Henrietta-Nocona road, were of stiff gravel texture, and would not interfere with the plans of fans to drive to the scene of the game.

Motorists were warned, however, not to attempt the drive from Henrietta, as the road, after rains, is virtually impassable. The highway from Bowie to Montague, and thence to Nocona was recommended as thoroughly safe in all kinds of weather.

Officials of neither school saw any advantage in postponing the game on account of Thursday's rain, because a postponement until next week would work a hardship on the winner, which must enter the regional championship next Saturday.

The inclement weather doubtless will reduce the crowd expected at the contest, nevertheless plans went ahead in Olney to transport a large cheer section, and fans from all over the area were steadfast in their determination to see the two teams battle it out for the right to enter the final class B round.

OLNEY C-C CHARTERS TRAIN TO NOCONA

Fearing mishaps on the muddy roads, the Olney Chamber of Commerce Thursday chartered a special train from Olney to Nocona for the bi-district championship game there this afternoon. The special, a Wichita Falls and Southern train, will leave Olney at 8:30 and will arrive here about 10:15, leaving for Nocona at 10:45 a. m. Arrangements have been made to accomodate local fans wishing to go to the game. More than 300 fans, including the girls' pep squad, and the team will make the trip on the special from Olney. The train will bear the team and rooters back to Olney after the game.

CUBS BEATEN ONCE IN LAST THREE YEARS

By JACK WILLIAMS

OLNEY, Texas, Dec. 4.—With a record of 19 victories, two ties and one defeat in three years competition, Olney's red jerseyed Cubs will shoot the works against the Indians at Nocona Friday in order to keep this record intact.

The Cubs have established themselves as one of the superior class B teams in Texas by their consistent winning. The 1930 record which shows 276 points scored in league games against 18 for opponents, leaves no doubt as to the Cubs' superiority in district 3. Records of the two previous years are almost as impressive. In 1929 the record was 208 points to 26 in 1928 the figures were 187 to 51. In three years Acker-coached teams have piled up the grand total of 671 points to 95 for the opposition. Any team that can average 35 points a game for 22 games will bear watching today or any other day.

A muddy field will cramp the style of the flashy running and passing attack of both teams, but there is plenty left for the heavyweights of both teams to do and fans are likely to see one of the hardest driving backfields in this section of Texas when Messrs Graves, G. Gilmore, Duckworth, Rue, and Goldsmith start their assault on the Indian forward wall. It is not unlikely that Elmore, a fast improving back will see service for the Cubs. This boy is a Cy Leland in speed and carries 15 pounds more weight. He is a gifted ball carrier and is counted on to do much for the Cubs in the future. With Goode calling signals, the Olney offense will get all that is coming to it.

With the Gilmore brothers taking care of the ends the turning point of the game is going to fall on the shoulders of the tackles, guards, and center of the Cub team. It is not calculated that the brilliant Nocona backs can get around the ends for very much yardage. They are expected to concentrate their attack inside the end positions, and, of course a dry ball will send them to the air. At any rate Acker's boys are rearing to scalp the Indians regardless of their plan of attack, and well do they know that there is class to Jenkins' crew.

The winner of today's classic will meet the winner of the Dalhart-Slaton game, to be played today at Lubbock. Both Dalhart and Slaton are district champions, and, are like Nocona and Olney, and seeking bi-district honors which will speed them into the finals of the regional race.

SCRAP TO BE AT LUBBOCK

North Staters Carry Good Record Into Game

Special to The Record News.

DALHART, Texas, Dec. 4.—Coach Blake Bolton and 17 members of the Dalhart Wolves left Dalhart Thursday morning for Lubbock where they will meet the Slaton Tigers for the bi-district championship district 1 and 2, class B.

The Wolves will be facing their worst handicap of the season, that of playing on a grass gridiron, as most of their games have been played at Dalhart where the field is sandy and rather heavy. However the champions of district 1 emerged from the battle with Memphis without any serious injuries and it is likely that the full force will start the game.

Boast Great Record

The record hung up by the Wolves is the most impressive ever made in district 1. In the 10 games they have played this season they have amassed a total of 311 points without allowing their goal line to be crossed. Oscar Howell will start the game at fullback and Levi Reynolds will be playing the quarterback position. Other backfield men are Yarberry and Thompson. Williams and Stout will be on the ends and Childers and Storey tackles. Webster and Ralph Reynolds will hold down the guard positions.

The Wolves will be playing their first major game of the season away from home. Through the efforts of the Dalhart business men who have backed the team to the extent of guaranteeing big gates, most of the Wolves' schedule has been played here.

Levi Reynolds, a popular candidate for president of the State Hi-Y organization, is also captain of the Dalhart Wolves and will lead his team against the Slaton Tigers.

In the district title contest here against Memphis, Coach Bolton only used 11 men, refusing to make a substitution during the contest. This same team will start against Slaton.

Seniors in Lineup

Several of the Wolves will be playing their last game for Dalhart High. Among them are Williams, speedy little end, Reynolds, half back and captain; Ribble, star quarter, and Childers.

Although the Wolves have established an enviable record, they realized they will be up against the strongest competition on the South Plains.

A caravan of automobiles will take a large crowd of Dalhart fans to the game but the distance between Dalhart and Lubbock will prevent an exceptionally large crowd from here attending the contest.

The record of the Wolves to date is as follows:

Dalhart 39, Amarillo Tanglans 0.
Dalhart 13, Texhoma 0.
Dalhart 46, Stratford 0.
Dalhart 35, Clayton 0.
Dalhart 28, Liberal 0.
Dalhart 47, Dumas 0.
Dalhart 39, Guymon 0.
Dalhart 32, Tucumcari 0.
Dalhart 14, Claude 0 (bi-sectional battle).
Dalhart 26, Memphis 0 (district championship).

EIGHT CHAMPS TO PLAY THIS WEEK

AUSTIN, Dec. 4. (AP)—Champions of eight districts in the Texas Interscholastic league will vie this week-end in the race for the state high school football championship. The winners of the four games will be matched the following week-end with the state championship game scheduled to be played between the survivors Dec. 20.

Amarillo, winner in district No. 1 will tangle with Breckenridge, holder of the district No. 2 title at Amarillo, Saturday, while Oakcliff, Dallas, district No. 3 champions and Corsicana, victors in district No. 4 will clash at Corsicana the same day.

Greenville, which led the chase in district No. 5 will engage Tyler on the latter's lot Friday afternoon.

The team from district No. 7 which will play Austin, district No. 8 champions, was decided yesterday when Port Arthur was defeated by John Reagan of Houston.

In conference B, region No. 1, Dalhart will play Slaton and Olney will meet Nocona; region No. 2 winner of district 5, as yet undecided, will play Albany and Stanton will meet Snyder; region No. 3 Royse City vs. Gilmer and Mart vs. I. O. G. F. home at Corsicana; region No. 4, Lampasas vs. Junction and Taylor vs. Caldwell; region No. 5, Jasper vs. Groveton and Humble vs. Kirbyville; region No. 6 Smithville vs Lockhart and Hallettsville vs. El Camp; region No. 7 Karnes City vs. Uvalde and Kingsville vs. Harlingen.

The winners of the bi-district games will meet Dec. 13 for the regional championship. No state championship game is held in conference B competition.

Byers Basketeers Defeat Henrietta

The Byers basket ball quintet defeated the Henrietta cagers Wednesday night on the Byers court by the score of 25 to 18. Packers Sign Former Texas Aggie Star

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 4. (AP)—"Mule" Wilson, former Texas Aggies halfback, has been signed by the Greenbay Packers to play in the game against the Chicago Bears at Wrigley field Sunday afternoon, it was announced here today.

Wilson was released by the Giants to make room for "Red" Cagle, the Army star, and as a free agent, played with the Stapleton team when it turned back the Giants last week. Free again, he signed with Green Bay.

Here's What Olney's Title-Seeking Cubs Will Be Up Against Today

The lower picture above shows, in toto, and the upper, in particular, just what the Olney Cubs are going up against today if the pesky weather will desist and allow the Cubs and the Nocona Indians to scrap it out for the right to enter the regional finals. In the upper picture is seen the mighty quartet of Nocona backs. Reading left to right they are Cunningham, right halfback; Zachary, fullback; Captain Evans, quarterback; and Fenoglio (you pronounce it!), left halfback. The picture below presents the entire Nocona squad. In the Weatherford game Nocona used not a single substitute, but among the group above there may be a few to see service today.

BRUISED BUCKS AWAIT SANDIES

Oil Belt Champs Are Far From Being Rested

Special to The Record News

BRECKENRIDGE, Texas, Dec. 4—Two days before the bi-district championship grid battle in Amarillo Saturday afternoon with the Amarillo Sandies, perinial winners of district one, Coach P. E. Shotwell's Oil Belt champion Buckaroos are in none too good shape for the encounter.

The Buckaroos, frankly speaking, are about played down. The champion Green Shirts have played two exceptionally hard tilts since last Friday. Ranger beat the Buckaroos on that afternoon in one of the hardest fought games of the season and then the Shotwell charges had to come back only Tuesday afternoon to play a return game with the strong Cisco Loboes to settle the district championship.

Coach Shotwell whipped his tired crew through a fast practice Wednesday afternoon and gave them another heavy load Thursday afternoon before leaving Thursday night for Amarilio. They were to stop over at Canyon Friday afternoon for a light workout before continuing the trip to the home of the Sandies that night.

Stapp May Not Play

The Buckaroos came out of the Cisco battle in very good shape despite the fierceness of the game. Only too much playing has "stove up" his crew with sore muscles and bruises. Stapp, fleet-footed Buckaroo half, received an arm injury in the Cisco game that may slow him down a bit.

Clark, regular tackle, did not get in the Cisco game because of a shoulder injury but may be in shape for the Amarillo round. Clark's understudy, the big 260-pound Spain, appears to be able to hold down the tackle position, however.

Boyce Magness, the ever Buckaroo backfield threat, emerged from the Lobo tilt as "fit as a fiddle" and is ready to run, pass and kick the Sandies into submission if he can possibly do it. Magness has proven to be one of the most dependable school grid stars who ever played in Texas. In the three years that the triple-threat star has played under Coach Shotwell, he has never been injured. He has completely mastered the art of self-protection, although he takes more punishment in a game than any other player.

Out Only Once

In three years, Magness has only had to call time-out one time. That was in last year's game with Abilene. He had his wind knocked out of him for about one minute.

While Coach Shotwell was preparing his charges for their game with Amarillo, local fans were making plans to board a special train to the scene of the battle. It is thought that 400 fans will attend the game from here.

Rudy Tesar, Creighton football captain, will enter the Nebraska state legislature next January. He was elected from an Omaha district.

The Hayfield, Minn., high school football team scored 141 points against Dodge Center, Minn., high school.

Baseball Magnates Vote to Hold Next Meeting at Indiana Health Resort

Draft Broil Prevents Election of New Heads and Renewal of 10-year Agreement; Boxing Ruled Out

By HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

MONTREAL, Dec. 4.—The national association of professional baseball leagues today selected West Baden, Ind., for the 1931 convention extended the association agreement for one year, deferred election of officers until the next annual meeting, and adopted several amendments to the major league rules.

It took a constitutional amendment to allow the selection of West Baden as the next convention city. Under the rules, the convention must be held in a city in which there is a member baseball club, but this clause was voted out of the constitution in order to permit the meeting to be held in the Indiana health resort.

Originally it had been expected the National association agreement, under which the association gains its authority, would be renewed for 10 years but at request of the so-called "big minors" the American association, International and Pacific Coast leagues, it was extended for one year only.

Draft Question Is Cause

These three class AA circuits pointed out they were involved in a hot fight with the majors over the draft question and they could better deal with the situation if they were not tied down for so long a time. The question of extending the agreement for 10 years will come up before the next annual meeting when the big minors hope to have settled their differences with the majors.

It was in line with the same idea that the election of officers was deferred. It was pointed out the election might better come before the next convention when it will be decided whether the national agreement is to be extended for 10 years. Under the action taken today, M. D. Sexton, Rock Island, Ill., remains as president and John H. Farrell, as secretary and treasurer.

Boxing, Wrestling Barred

One of the most interesting amendments to the major-minor league rules was one providing for insertion of a clause in a player's contract forbidding him to compete either in professional boxing or professional wrestling. The amendment recalled the exploits of Arthur (The Great) Shires in the ring last year and was passed amid a general laugh.

Another amendment which was passed ruled "no contract shall be made with a player before he is 16 years of age." But another suggesting it be made illegal for a club to place a player on option with another club of the league was rejected.

Another amendment provided "in case of a physical attack on an umpire by a player or an umpire on a player, the offending person or persons may be placed on the suspended list for not less than 90 days or more than one year."

The National association agreement was amended to allow a class C league to carry 15 players on their rosters 20 days after the start of the season. Previously they had been allowed only 14.

Sam McAllister, head coach at St. Viator college, Bourbonnias, Ill., has been named head baseball and basket ball coach at Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

PRESIDENT OF PHILLIES DIES

W. F. Baker Succumbs At Montreal Meeting

MONTREAL, Dec. 4. (AP)—The baseball world today lost one of its leading figures, William Fraser Baker, president of the Philadelphia National league club, who died of a heart attack in his suite at the Ritz Carlton hotel. He was 64 years old and was second among the National league club presidents in length of service.

Mr. Baker, Mrs. Baker, his secretary, Jerry Nugent, and Mrs. Nugent, arrived here Monday night to attend the minor league convention. He apparently was in good health although he had been under treatment for a heart ailment the past few months.

He suffered a slight attack early last evening but quickly recovered and had dinner with Mrs. Baker and Mr. and Mrs. Nugent. At 10 o'clock he was taken seriously ill and a physician was summoned. The patient failed to rally, however, and died at 5:30 o'clock this morning.

Baker was born in Pittsburgh in 1866.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Dec. 4. (AP)—A rally from yesterday's decline was followed by rather nervous and irregular fluctuations in cotton today, but after selling off from 10.79 to 10.68 for March, or within 3 points of Tuesday's low price, the market steadied up again on renewed covering. March closed at 10.72, with the general markets closing steady at net advances of 5 to 7 points.

The relatively steady showing of Liverpool was followed by some buying here through houses with Liverpool connections, and there may have been a feeling that technical position of the market had been strengthened to some extent by decline of Wednesday. A private crop report was issued estimating the yield at 14,194,000 bales and ginnings prior to Dec. 1 at 12,800,000 shares, but the figures appeared to be without effect on the immediate market. There was further switching from near to late months which may have been promoted by the issuance of a few additional December notices but without important change in differences between months.

Liverpool cables reported hedging had been taken by covering in that market but said buyers of cotton cloths and yarns were holding aloof. Exports today 37,015, making 3,365,436 so far this season. Port receipts 33,928. U. S. port stocks 4,109,611.

Futures closed steady, 5 to 7 points higher; spot steady; middling, 10.45.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 4. (AP)—Cotton ruled rather nervous and erratic today with moderate trading. Owing to good Liverpool cables the market opened 7 to 10 points up on the active months and after easing off 3 to 6 points rallied to levels 10 to 14 points above the previous close. The market lost 8 to 9 points of this advance in the afternoon owing to weakness in stocks and the failure to settle the British coal strike. Prices rallied 2 to 4 points at the end on covering and the close was steady, the general market showing net gains for the day of 1 to 7 points.

Liverpool was 2 to 3 penny points better than due at the time the market opened here and private cables reported shorts had covered. First trades showed gains of 2 to 10 points. The market advanced a little further in the early trading on the assumption better cables were due to favorable strike news which later proved not to be the case. January traded up to 10.49 and March to 10.75 while May touched 11.01, or 7 to 10 points above the previous close.

Prices later eased off slightly owing to an easier stock market and unfavorable British strike news losing 3 to 6 points from the highs but later rallied with stocks, January advancing to 10.52 and May to 11.05, up 6 to 10 points from the lows and 10 to 14 points above the previous close. A private estimate of the crop was issued making the total 14,194,000 bales or practically unchanged from a month ago. The same authority estimated the total ginnings to Dec. 1 at 12,800,000 bales.

The market eased off during the afternoon owing to some weakness in stocks due to liquidation but no new lows were made except for March which dropped to 10.70 or 10 points down from the high. The market rallied a few points at the end on shorts covering, January closing at 10.49 and March at 10.74 or 4 points up from the lows and 6 to 7 points net higher for the day.

Port receipts 33,952, for week 216,794, for season 6,188,405, last season 5,942,710. Exports 29,015, for week 243,503, for season 3,264,045, last season 3,346,163. Port stocks 4,180,299, last year 2,635,966. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 120,215, last year 156,934. Spot sales at southern markets 21,423, last year 44,658.

Futures closed steady at net advance of 1 to 7 points:

Railroad Stocks Lead Market In New Downward Trend Thursday

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Dec. 4. (US)—Stocks were in supply today virtually from the commencement of trading and at the close practically all leading issues showed net losses ranging from fractions to several points.

The railroad stocks, in particular, suffered, the most prominent members of the group declining, on the average, to within a small fraction of their lowest level of early November, when the lowest prices for several years were established. As it was, various railroad issues broke through the November lows, including such stalwart Rails as New York Central.

This weakness proved especially disappointing in view of the rather favorable developments from Washington, such as the recommendation to lower interest rates on railway debt to the government, and the Interstate Commerce commission suggestion that the recapture clause of the transportation act be eliminated. However, the weight of other developments of less favorable tone dominated sentiment and there was little disposition to aggressively support prices.

Announcement that Woolworth sales in November dropped almost 8 per cent below a year ago failed to help sentiment, since it had been hoped this enterprise would be able to maintain volume closer to a year ago. The foreign news likewise was without cheer.

It was quite apparent that a powerful bear clique was an active factor in the day's weakness. The selling converged on American Telephone & Telegraph and the reaction in this stock amounted almost to four points.

A special situation contributed to the weakness in A. T. & T., and helped the bears because of knowledge of large holdings of the stock affected by the "situation," but only speculative holdings were dislodged on the weakness. One important bear operator was reported to have sold 50,000 shares of stock.

The real cause for the general nervousness, however, was the continued decline in the rail shares. The Washington news failed to help sentiment because it is recognized that the railroad debt to the government now amounts only to $60,000,000, so that lessening of the interest rate would have only moderate influence on the total railway earnings. Also, the recapture clause has been bitterly contested by the roads and its success could be determined only after years of further dispute between the roads and the Interstate Commerce commission. The more important factor in considering the railways is the prospect for early revival of traffic.

With Telephone weak, it was illogical to expect other standard issues to stand up against the selling, so that the reaction was quite general; in fact, not one of the 15 most active stocks of the day finished with a net advance.

Radio was the day's leader, and was under steady pressure, with the principal selling attributed to a former aggressive bull on the stock, with other liquidation coming from disappointed holders impressed by the weakness in Radio "B" preferred, which broke nine points to a new low. At today's closing price the "B" preferred yielded over 14 per cent; obviously the price represents doubt over the $5 dividend. With the common stock little over twice as high in price, it is obvious that either the preferred is too low or the common too high.

Standard brands, whose activity and seeming strength the previous day was characterized here as evidence of speculative interest, closed off on substantially reduced volume. Woolworth closed down less than a point despite the unfavorable sales report, evidencing that demand for this stock, which has been persistent of late, is predicated on confidence in the management's ability to retain a larger proportion of gross for net earnings.

It has been past experience for this company to show an uptrend in its earnings following severe deflation in commodity prices.

Public remarks of Owen D. Young, a recognized leader in the discussions seeking international financial stability, were rather disappointing. Nevertheless, the gathering at the federal reserve bank, which included Gov. Eugene Meyer of the reserve board; J. P. Morgan, Mr. Young, and Governor Harrison, of the New York Reserve bank, attracted deep interest.

If, as rumored, these leaders have prepared a definite program for additional world-wide action with a view to large-scale financial readjustments, the possibilities are enormous. The mystery surrounding their activities, however, forces the public to await developments.

Declaration of a $5 extra dividend by the Burlington, adding $1.67 a share to earnings of Northern Pacific and Great Northern, had little influence on the two stocks. It is apparent that various roads are concerned now not only with continuing dividends on their stocks, but rather with maintaining earnings at a rate sufficient to keep their bonds within the "legal investment" class.

Grain

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Dec. 4. (AP)—Light offerings of grain sorghums continued to strengthen the demand today and corn was well taken on cash grain market, other varieties were slow. Dealers agreed that heavy receipts of wheat, oats or barley were not wanted. No. 1 hard wheat of any protein was probably worth 83@84 delivered Texas common points.

Estimated receipts: Wheat, 6 cars; corn, 3; oats, 2; sorghums, 2.

Bids and offers on coarse grains ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Corn, No. 2 mixed 86@87; No. 2 white 92@93; No. 2 yellow 91@92.

Oats, No. 2 red 48@49; No. 3 white delivered Texas group one 47@47½ to which add one cent for delivery group three.

Sorghums, No. 2 milo per 100 lbs. 1.36@1.38; No. 2 kaffir 1.30@1.32.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Dec. 4. (AP)—Stimulated by wheat purchase orders apparently from farm board allies, grain values took a late upward slant today. Shipping call for wheat was better than for some time, and there was an improvement in domestic milling demand. Future delivery purchases of rye also was a bracing influence, especially as December deliveries at Winnipeg sold approximately 18c under Chicago, putting Canadian rye on an import basis, the United States tariff on rye being but 15 cents a bushel.

Wheat closed irregular but mostly showing an advance, ranging from ⅛c off to 1c higher than yesterday. Corn closed at ½c decline to ¾c gain, oats ⅛@¼c higher, and provisions from 15c lower to a rise of 10c.

An exception to the rising trend in wheat was the July delivery, representing wheat not yet harvested. The weakness was ascribed to selling based on reports of rain Southwest and West, and forecasts of additional moisture favorable for the new domestic winter crop.

Corn and oats rallied with wheat toward the close. Earlier however, they were responsive to enlarged arrivals of corn, 196 cars, here.

Provisions developed firmness with grain and as a result of higher quotations on hogs.

Closing indemnities: Wheat, Dec. (offers), 77¼; March 78½, 79¼; May 80 @ ¾, 81¼ @ ½; July 73½, 75½. Corn, Dec. 75¾, 77½; March 79, 80⅝; May 80½ @ ⅝, 82½ @ ¾; July 82, 83½.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, Dec. 4. (US)—A prominent local grain house which has been bearish on wheat and farm board operations in the market, tonight in its letter recommended playing the bull side of the market. Their theory is that with practically no hedges in the market and stocks light, support of any kind creates firmness.

Although rye prices are at a point which theoretically permits imports from Canada, the uncertainty over obtaining delivery on Winnipeg contracts in time to deliver here eliminates bearish feeling which might accrue from the prevailing spread.

There was a good demand for cash wheat from millers. Local handlers sold 130,000 bushels of wheat to outside mills today. Kansas City reports told of a good demand from the millers and added that inquiry from those sources would undoubtedly be stimulated by a firm and advancing market.

Interpretation of the late buying demand in wheat was mixed. Some pit observers inclined to the view that it was for the farm board agencies while others spoke of active purchasing by eastern interests.

Huge Pipe Line Projects Will Add 7,500 Miles to Nation's Carriers

Eight Major Systems to Transport Crude, Gas and Refined Products From Mid-Continent

By BENNETT WOLFE
Associated Press Staff Writer

TULSA, Okla., Dec. 4.—Pipe line construction, furnishing perhaps the brightest feature of the industrial year, goes steadily ahead as winter comes.

Work is being speeded on eight major projects, including gasoline, natural gas and crude oil carriers, which, upon completion, will have added 7,500 miles to the underground transportation system.

Based upon estimates of the building companies, the 1930 construction program represents an investment of $200,000,000. Several of the lines will be in operation in January, the builders have announced.

From the offices of the Great Lakes Pipe Line company at Ponca City came word that gasoline would be shipped to Kansas City through its new line not later than Jan. 1. The company's complete system, reaching from the Oklahoma refineries of the Barnsdall corporation and the Continental Oil company and totaling 1,440 miles, is expected to be in service next June. Barnsdall and Continental jointly organized the pipe line concern to provide for transmission of their gasoline to retail marketing territories.

The Phillips Pipe Line company, a subsidiary of the Phillips Petroleum company, expects completion of its 740 mile gasoline line, extending from Borger, Texas, to St. Louis by way of Wichita, Kan., with a branch to Kansas City, Mo., before Jan. 1.

A long crude oil carrier, The Gulf Pipe Line company's 900-mile line from Glennpool, near Tulsa, to near Spencerville, Ohio, is nearing completion. Through this line and that of the Buckeye Pipe Line company, The Gulf Oil corporation will supply refineries at Cincinnati, Toledo and Pittsburgh.

Rapid progress has been made on the Ajax Pipe Line company's double crude oil line from Glennpool to Woodriver, Ill., which will contain 824 miles of pipe. Company officials say the system will be in operation by Jan. 1. The Ajax line is owned by the Standard Oil company of New Jersey and the Pure Oil company.

Gas Pipe Lines

Three long natural gas pipe lines will reach from the Texas Panhandle to points in Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, Iowa, Indiana, Kentucky and Minnesota.

The Continental Construction company, in which are associated the Cities Service company, The Insull interests, Standard Oil company of New Jersey, Skelly Oil company, Phillips Petroleum company, Producers and Refiners corporation, Texas company and Columbian Carbon company, is building a 1,000 mile line from the Panhandle gas fields to Chicago, passing through Kansas, Nebraska and Iowa. The cost is estimated at $100,000,000.

A 1,100 mile gas carrier, originating at Borger, Texas, and terminating at Indianapolis, with an extension into Kentucky, is a project of the Missouri, Kansas, Pipe Line company. The line has been completed from Borger into Kansas and construction work is well along in Kansas, Missouri and Indiana.

The Missouri Valley Pipe Line company expects to complete 950 miles of a gas line from the Texas Panhandle through Kansas into Nebraska and Iowa before the end of 1930. Most of the work so far has been in Texas, Oklahoma, Iowa and Nebraska. Plans call for an extension later from Fort Dodge, Iowa, to Minneapolis.

In the south the Southern Natural Gas corporation is adding 710 miles of extension to its trunk system running east from the Monroe, La., gas field to Birmingham and Atlanta.

OKLAHOMA OIL ORDER STAYS

Petitions to Vacate Proration Rule Denied

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 4. (UP)—The state corporation commission late today denied the petitions of the C. C. Julian Oil and Royalties company, The Oils, Inc., and Century Petroleum company, to vacate the state oil proration order.

Roy Randerson, president of the Century Petroleum, operator in the Oklahoma City field with refineries in Tulsa and Oklahoma City, told the commission several operators would be forced to quit business soon if the proration order is enforced.

Randerson testified he recently was forced to refuse a contract for 5,000,000 barrels of oil because of proration. He said his company recently offered to purchase a contract for 5,000,000 barrels for export to French ports but that he could not make the contract because he was not allowed to produce oil.

"Another reliable company recently offered to purchase 25,000,000 barrels of oil if we could produce it.

"My company has produced no oil since Nov. 8 and has had no income although expenses amount to $1,000 daily," Randerson said.

France will give $400,000 to the national tourist office, organized to induce outsiders to visit the country.

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 4. (AP)—An order staying the sale of the Wireless Communication company's $178,000 plan at Red Bank was obtained today in federal court by counsel for the bankruptcy receivers.

COLLEGE BODY BARS SCHOOLS

Four Mississippi Institutions Ousted

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 4. (INS)—The four leading colleges of Mississippi were dropped today from the association of colleges and secondary schools of the Southern states because of alleged political interference which was characterized as "the most iniquitious chapter in the history of American education."

The schools dropped were the University of Mississippi, Mississippi A. & M., Mississippi State Teachers college and the Mississippi State College for Women.

Action of the association, in convention here, was the result of delegation to Governor Bilbo of the right to discharge faculties of the institutions and his subsequent dismissal of a number of the teachers.

Withdrawal of scholastic recognition from the University of Mississippi and Mississippi A. & M. automatically removes them from the Southern football conference.

ROTARY - ANNS GIVE PROGRAM

Ladies of Club Preside At Luncheon

Direction of boys in their adaptation to modern living conditions was pictured as one of the chief objectives and greatest privileges of Rotary International by Mrs. Charles R. Hartsook, principal speaker on a program given by the Rotary-Anns of this city Thursday noon before members of the Rotary club at the Kemp hotel.

Vast changes in economic and social conditions in recent years as a result of the rapid advance of machinery has created a new world into which boys of today must fit themselves, Mrs. Hartsook said. One of the particular tasks to which Rotarians should assign themselves, she pointed out, is the teaching of youth to choose wisely the comforts for which he will spend 70 per cent of his earnings. Speaking from statistics on the application of wages in this and other countries to the purchase of goods, the speaker said that of each dollar the American workingman spends 70 per cent for comforts and 30 per cent for food; the European, 20 per cent for comforts against 20 cents for food; and the Asiatic, 10 cents for comforts and 90 per cent for food.

Work was described by Mrs. Hartsook as a requisite to physical, moral and mental cleanliness in a man, and commended the club for selecting its representative members because of their individuality as reflected in their chosen vocations.

Dr. J. W. Cantwell, superintendent of city schools, said that a net increase of 167 in the number of pupils here this year, exclusive of first grades and Junior college enrollment, indicates at least that the city's population is not decreasing.

Ensign A. Shultz of the Salvation Army announced that a rabbit hunt which is being sponsored by the I. O. Boosters' club to provide meat for ideal families will start from the Wichita Falls Oxygen company's plant, 110 Indiana avenue, next Monday morning at 8 o'clock. Transportation is to be furnished to the scene of the hunt, he said. Rotarians were invited to participate.

Musical entertainment was provided by Mrs. Victor B. Lowrey, soprano, accompanied by Mrs. J. W. Akin Jr. Mrs. W. P. Killingsworth presided, and guests were introduced by Mrs. Frank Van Wormer. A singsong was led by R. E. Shepherd.

School and College Notes

William Rosamond, supervisor of the school of vocational education in the Wichita Falls schools, was the principal speaker at the regular high school and Junior college assembly Thursday morning. Mr. Rosamond explained the purpose of such a school and its benefit to Wichita Falls.

Scenes from "What Anne Brought Home," the initial Blue Curtain play of the season, were presented before the group introducing three of the prinicapl characters, Katherine Ashford, Aaron Kruger, and Durward Park.

Euclidian Club

Members of the Junior college Euclidian club postponed their regular program Thursday evening on account of the Blue Curtain production scheduled for the same hour. Club members held a short business session at the college at 7 p. m. Thursday adjourning in time to see "What Anne Brought Home."

CHEST FINANCE BOARD

Members of the finance committee of the community chest will meet at 10 o'clock Friday morning in the directors room of the City National bank for their regular monthly business meeting, according to Mrs. Orr Bently, executive-secretary.

Because of the demand for "baby" cars in France, automobile manufacturers there are turning out a number of new five-horsepower models.

Program Completed for Junior C.-C. Annual Banquet at Woman's Forum

The program of the Junior Chamber of Commerce banquet to be held at the Woman's Forum Tuesday evening was announced Thursday by Maurice Cheek, program chairman.

Including business matters and features of entertainment, the program follows:

Invocation by the Rev. Patrick D. Moreland of Archer City; dinner music by Claude Stewart's orchestra of Wichita Falls; announcements; balloting for directors; introduction of guests; Ruthe Laird and her Texas Rockets; "Freeman's Folly," by F. R. McClung, director of the Wichita Falls Little Theater; Ruthe Laird and her Texas Rockets; introduction of speaker by James V. Allred; "Call of the Kine," by Dr. Max Strang of Dallas; "Chips From the Pasture," with Maurice Cheek at the wheelbarrow; announcement of new directors.

Following the election of five new directors on the night of the banquet, the entire board on the following night will elect officers for the ensuing year.

'Reds' Send Paper To C.-C. Manager

A copy of the Moscow News was received here Thursday by John Boswell, manager of the chamber of commerce, from Soviet Russia.

The "News," it was discovered, is an illustrated periodical written in English and describing itself as "the five day weekly" and "for English speaking people in the Soviet Union."

The feature story of the issue received by Mr. Boswell described the celebration of the 13th anniversary of the Russian revolution, with the first paragraph reading as follows: "A million workers flaunting crimson flags and banners, and carrying grotesque caricatures of skeptics and doubters of Soviet success marched through the Red Square on November 7th in celebration of the 13th anniversary of the October Revolution." An illustration showed the marchers passing the Lenin memorial.

Headlines pointed out that Russia prospered while the remainder of the world suffered from depression. Another headline read: "Churches Block Modern Progress in Rural Towns."

Mr. Boswell stated definitely that he was not a "Red," but said that he was keeping the paper for exhibition at the chamber of commerce offices if any one was curious to see the copy of the "Moscow News."

Deputy to Return Man Here for Forgery Trial

Deputy Sheriff Dick Morris left Thursday afternoon for Cleburne to return W. S. Kelly, alias W. S. Clark, to this county for trial on charges of forgery, according to Sheriff W. G. Bralley.

Kelly was indicted by a grand jury here early in the summer, it was said.

Mr. Morris and Assistant District Attorney Mike Anglin returned Wednesday night from New Mexico with Dan Norwood, under indictment here on two liquor counts, and under sentence of three years in Archer county on a similar charge, it was announced.

TOYS NEEDED

Donations to Community Christmas Tree Asked Here

Persons who have toys to donate for the community Christmas tree at the Memorial auditorium Christmas eve are asked to send them to Frank Creighton, local scout executive as soon as possible.

"The toys are not coming in this year as they have before and if more are not donated there will not be enough to distribute among the poor children who probably will not receive gifts other than what they get at the tree," Mr. Creighton said.

BURGLARS RAID SHOP

Burglars entered the Goodyear Shoe shop, 805 Scott avenue, Wednesday night, securing $7 in cash from the cash register, according to a report to police Thursday. Entrance was secured by prying open a rear window and unlocking an inside door with the key which was hanging nearby on a nail. After securing the cash, it was said, nothing further was molested and the intruders accommodatingly locked the door and lowered the window as they left the building.

For three days only beginning Saturday, Men's Half Soles and Rubber Heels for only $1.00. Ladies' and children included. We use the best of materials at the Courthouse Shoe Shop, next door to Saul's.

SPECIAL TRAIN TO GRID GAME

Fare to Amarillo $4.45 For Wichitans

A special train through Wichita Falls from Breckenridge to Amarillo will be used Saturday by the Fort Worth and Denver railway to carry fans of this section to Amarillo to witness the bi-district playoff between the Amarillo and Breckenridge high school football teams.

Chamber of commerce officials here urge that a large number of Wichitans take advantage of the exceptionally low round trip fare of $4.45 from Wichita Falls. "An exciting football game is assured," it was said, "and the trip will give Wichitans an opportunity of mixing with people from both Amarillo and Breckenridge. If a large group of Wichita Falls people go on the trip it will show friendliness to both cities." A member of the chamber of commerce staff here will make the trip on the special train.

It is requested by the chamber of commerce that those expecting to make the trip make reservations either with the chamber of commerce or the Fort Worth and Denver Friday in order that the railway may have equipment available on the track to eliminate delay of starting and the necessity of switching more cars on to the special train. Railroad officials stated that they would be glad to furnish Pullman accommodations providing that a sufficient demand was received by 4 o'clock Friday afternoon, in time to add a Pullman. Pullman fares, in addition to the special round trip fare, will be $3.75 for lower berths and $3 for upper accommodations each way.

The schedule of the special train is as follows: Leaves Breckenridge at 3:30 a. m. Saturday, arrives in Wichita Falls 6:30 a. m.; Amarillo 12:15 p. m. Return trip, leaves Amarillo at 7 p. m. Saturday and arrives at Wichita Falls at 12:45 a. m. Sunday.

Ruling on Freight Rates Expected After Jan. 1

Several weeks will be required for a decision on the application for lower freight rates to Kansas City, St. Louis and Chicago made by Oklahoma interests to the Southwestern Freight bureau, according to Dudley B. Foy, assistant manager of the chamber of commerce here, who returned Thursday from the meeting of the group in St. Louis where he represented interests here.

The proposal of reductions for Oklahoma will place a handicap on local refineries if granted, it was said, and the chamber of commerce here will resist the granting of the application unless proportionate reductions are effected for this section.

Besides Mr. Foy, Texas was represented at the hearing by D. G. Gray, president of the Dale Oil and Refining company here; R. G. Cocanower, manager of the Great Western Refining company at Olney; and Ed P. Byars, traffic manager of the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce, who also represented the North Texas Tariff association.

TAX STATEMENTS

The last group of city and school tax statements were mailed Friday from the office of W. Ralph Hyer, city tax collector, it was announced.

Those who fail to receive statements may get theirs by either calling or writing the tax office, Mr. Hyer said. Approximately $25,000 worth of city and school taxes have been collected within the last three days as a result of the Better Business campaign which is being conducted in the city.

Nominations for the 1931 additions to the chamber of commerce board of directors will be announced Friday noon at the Kemp hotel at the business council luncheon, according to L. H. Estes, in charge of the program.

Twenty nominations have been made of which five will be selected as directors by ballot during the day of the annual meeting to be held at the Memorial auditorium on the night of Jan. 9.

The council program Friday will be in charge of the manufacturers and jobbers division. Included among the speakers provided for the luncheon are J. W. Chatham of the Western Garment Manufacturing company, who will talk on why Wichita Falls should develop its trade territory and Wichita Falls as a manufacturing, jobbing and distributing center; Dudley B. Foy, traffic manager of the chamber of commerce, who will speak on what his department is doing to assist manufacturers and jobbers here; and Roy Mann, purchasing agent of the Panhandle Refining company, and J. How Good Doctors Treat Bad Colds

Medical writers agree that the important point in the treatment of a cold, or cough due to a cold, is to relieve the congestion in the nose and throat, thereby preventing serious complications which may follow a neglected cold. To stop this congestion calomel was the accepted and standard remedy until Calotabs, the improved calomel compound tablet was introduced.

Now that science has robbed calomel of its nausea and danger, making it pleasant to take and perfectly safe for general use, over forty million Calotabs are consumed in the U. S. yearly with only the most pleasant and satisfactory results. In millions of homes Calotabs have proven their superiority in the prompt relief of colds and coughs due to colds.

One or two Calotabs at bed-time with a glass of sweet milk or water. No salts necessary. No nausea nor the slightest interference with your eating, work or pleasure. Next morning the congestion has subsided, your cold or cough is relieved, your system is thoroughly purified and you are feeling fine with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you wish—no danger.

Get a family package of Calotabs, containing full directions, only thirty-five cents. Trial size, ten cents. At any drug store.—Adv.
