One Victim In Early Morning Holdup Is Hit

Service Station Is Robbed; Faces Of Bandits Covered

Two men were sought today for questioning into a reported early morning robbery of M. Lee, a negro, and Walter Lee Rickey, a white man, at Lee's service station and garage on the Slaton cutoff.

Investigators from the sheriff's office and the police said they were informed by Lee and Rickey about 2:20 a. m. that the two had been working late at the garage and were taking a nap when the intruders walked in, their faces covered with white socks in which eyeholes had been cut.

Was Struck Down

They said the visitors took Lee's billfold, in which was $68, and wrapped a rag around Rickey's face and throat.

When Rickey struggled, the robbers struck him down, then left with Rickey's billfold containing $190, investigators were informed.

An automobile generator, blood on it, was found lying near where Rickey allegedly was struck, investigators said.

The robbers ran outside and fled in a car that was knocking badly, Lee and Rickey said.

$7 Left In Billfold

Both wore pea jackets, investigators were told.

Rickey was taken to West Texas hospital for treatment, then released.

Lee's billfold was found by its owner outside, he told investigators, explaining that $7 was left in it.

Two suspects arrested for questioning convinced officials they were innocent of robbery. They were charged with drunkenness.

Another was in custody, but it was believed likely he would not be identified by the victims, it was said. It was dark in the garage, a circumstance that caused the victims to be uncertain whether the alleged robbers were white or black men, they told investigators.

Forgery Is Charged

The sheriff's department and Texas rangers arrested J. A. Jones, 31, of Anton route 2 this morning in Anton on a warrant charging forgery of a check passed to Ed Moore, a business man living on the Idalou highway.

Mercury Drop Is Due Tonight

(By The United Press)

A periodic winter front, creeping across Texas from the eastern slopes of the Rocky mountains, dropped temperatures in the Dallas-Fort Worth area by mid-morning today and brought a threat of cooler weather along the gulf coast by tonight.

The "blue norther," one of a series that forecasters of the U. S. weather bureau said swept over the state regularly during the winter months, followed a low pressure area that moved across Texas yesterday and last night. Weathermen did not anticipate a severe temperature drop, however, but said that it would bring cooler weather to the Gulf coast area.

Few Light Showers

Skies throughout Northwest Texas were fair, but a few light showers—ranging from a trace to as much as .02 inches—were reported along the upper Gulf coast and in the extreme east-central portion today.

Temperatures early today

The Weather

WEST TEXAS: Fair, no important temperature changes this afternoon and tonight. Wednesday fair and warmer.

EAST TEXAS: Partly cloudy, colder interior, scattered showers near upper coast this afternoon. Fair tonight and Wednesday. Colder east and south tonight. Not so cold northwest portion Wednesday. Moderate to fresh mostly north winds on coast.

EXTENDED FORECAST: For the period 7:30 p. m. EST today to 7:30 p. m. EST Saturday, Dec. 11.

Texas Gulf Plains, Northeast Texas, western Louisiana: Temperatures will average 3-6 degrees below normal. Normal maximum 61-65 north and 68-70 south. Normal minimum 38-44 north and 46-47 south, except 53 on coast. Colder Wednesday. Warmer Thursday. Colder Friday. Warmer Saturday. Precipitation moderate. Showers Thursday night and Friday.

Texas west of Gulf Plains: Temperatures will average 3-6 degrees below normal. Normal maximum 55 north to 63 south. Normal minimum 29 north to 36 south. Slowing rising trend Wednesday and Thursday. Colder Thursday night and Friday. Slightly warmer Saturday. Precipitation little or none indicated.

Secretary Marshall Undergoes Surgery

Kidney Operation Successful, According To First Reports From Walter Reed Hospital

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—Secretary of State Marshall was operated on for a kidney ailment today at the Army's Walter Reed hospital. Hospital authorities reported the operation was successful.

The eventual results of the operation may determine whether the 67-year-old Marshall will remain very much longer as President Truman's Secretary of State.

The State department announced that the operation was performed and the hospital then reported:

"The operation was successful. The secretary is doing excellently. No complications are anticipated."

Both the State department and hospital called it a "kidney operation." Neither would say specifically what the trouble was or how serious the operation was considered.

The operation was performed at 8 a. m., Eastern Standard time, by Col. James C. Kimbrough. The hospital said it would issue periodic bulletins on the secretary's condition since Marshall had authorized those beforehand.

With typical thoroughness, the secretary had laid down exactly the arrangements for handling news of the operation. Under this, the State department could give no information except that it had been performed. All condition reports had to come from the hospital.

Marshall will be 68 years old Dec. 31. He has been Secretary of State since January 1947. Before that he ran the American Army as chief of staff and helped plan

Higher Rates On Low Return Items Planned

Money Orders Are Included On list, Official Declares

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—Postmaster General Donaldson said today he will ask the new Congress to boost rates on all mail except first class.

Donaldson told newsmen that higher rates "will have to come on all low revenue-producing mail."

He talked with reporters at the White House after conferring with President Truman, but said he had not discussed the matter with Mr. Truman.

To Tell President

He said the President is "not acquainted" with the situation, but he will be."

In reply to a question, Donaldson said he would ask Congress to increase rates after clearing the matter through the White House and the Budget Bureau.

He said increases will be asked for second class mail, newspapers and magazines; third class, circulars and advertising; fourth class, parcel post; and special services, such as money orders.

Face Record Deficit

Donaldson told reporters the Post Office department will have an all-time record deficit of $550,000,000 at the close of this fiscal year next June 30.

He said that compares with a deficit of $310,000,000 for the fiscal year which ended last June 30.

Donaldson estimated the second class mail deficit for this year at $207,000,000, third class $129,000,000, and fourth class at $85,000,000.

The postmaster general noted that increases to provide additional revenue of $110,000,000 have been approved by Congress and will become effective January 1 on third and fourth-class mail.

Will Offset Income

But he said that pay increases for postal workers and higher transportation costs will more than offset that additional income.

Donaldson was asked whether the contemplated higher rates for second class mail — newspapers and magazines—would put that clas sof mail on a paying basis.

He replied that the increases

FORMER OFFICIAL IS WITNESS

Hearings Reopened In Red Spy Probe

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 — The House un-American activities committee suddenly decided to reopen public hearings in its investigation of Communist spying. It named former Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles as a witness.

The new hearings were ordered at 1 p. m. (CST).

Rep. Mundt (R-SD) flew into town to take charge of the hearings. He went into an immediate huddle with Rep. Nixon (R-Calif), a committee member, and Robert E. Stripling, a committee investigator. Mundt said Stripling would be a witness as well as Welles.

Stripling, Mundt said, will put "on the public record the way the case has evolved and developed and where this information came from."

Reference Explained

The information he referred to is sworn testimony and documents provided by Whittaker Chambers, admitted former Communist courier, that Alger Hiss gave him secret State department papers back in 1937.

Hiss formerly was a high official in the department. He now is president of Carnegie Foundation for International Peace. He has denied "without qualification the accusations" Chambers made in testimony in Baltimore.

The testimony was in connection with a libel suit Hiss has brought against Chambers for making charges that Hiss was part of a pre-war Red underground in this country.

Chest Workers Renew Drive

Lubbock civic workers, 50-strong, left the Hilton hotel this morning shortly after 9 o'clock on a concerted drive to "clean-up" the 1948 financial campaign for the Lubbock Community Chest, which was approximately $20,000 short of its goal.

Previously in a meeting in the Yaqui room at the Hilton, they had heard Chest officials analyze failure of the recent solicitation and urged them to follow through in this week's contacts.

Charles E. Maedgen, jr., president of the Chest, presided at the meeting and outlined duties of the workers. Other talks were made by J. D. Hassell, jr., former Chest president; and Geo. P. Kuykendall, longtime civic worker.

Goals Are Set

Approximately 200 firms are to be contacted in the wind-up of the campaign, many of which were not contacted by workers several weeks ago.

The workers were divided into teams of two and three members and given from four to five firms to call on. They are expected to make complete reports by Friday.

The 1948 goal of the Chest is $97,500. Six agencies, the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Salvation Army, Milam Home, Lubbock Boys' club and the Junior Optimist club, participate in funds contributed to the Chest.

Gl's To Be Allowed On Courts Martial

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP)—Soldiers will be allowed to sit on Army courts martial boards soon under an executive order signed by President Truman today.

The Army said this move, among other "sweeping improvements" to take effect Feb. 1, is being made in an effort to build up confidence in military justice.

The Army said other changes in courts martial procedure include:

Emphasis on the presumption of innocence of an accused person during trials, and making it a criminal offense to use coercion or unlawful influence in obtaining a confession.

Paul Mantz Seeks To Break Speed Record

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7 (U.P) — Speed pilot Paul Mantz, three-time winner of the transcontinental Bendix race, took off for New York in his plane today in an effort to better the record he set Feb. 28, 1947.

Flying the gray and green F-51 Mustang in which he has set so many records, Mantz left Lockheed air terminal, Burbank, at 12:16:12 p. m. EDT.

He hoped to flash the 2,600 miles to New York in about five hours, bettering his record of 6 hours, 7 minutes, 5 seconds he set for a single reciprocating engine. His average then was 401 miles per hour.

Beauford's Ardor For Flying Not Cooled

Gov. Jester, Wife And Pilot Unhurt As Plane Crash Lands

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Dec. 7 — Gov. Beauford H. Jester's ardor for flying apparently was not cooled by the crash landing of the plane in which he and Mrs. Jester returned from Mission to Austin yesterday.

The governor said he will go by air Thursday to the Interstate Oil Compact Commission meeting at Wichita, Kans.

Neither Jester nor his wife was injured when Pilot Glenn Darnell of Houston brought a twin-engine plane in for a belly landing yesterday afternoon. Jester said Darnell did a "magnificent job."

The plane's landing gear would not lock in down position. The difficulty was discovered shortly after takeoff from Mission, where the Jesters spent the weekend with Lt. Gov. and Mrs. Allan Shivers.

The municipal airport at Austin was notified, and firetrucks and an ambulance were ordered to stand by.

"We circled the field about an hour to use up gas. Mrs. Jester was a little bit nervous. I told her the landing wouldn't even ruffle the violets on her hat," Jester told reporters at the capitol a short time after landing.

He said he watched the pilot's procedure through the Plan Refused For Boost Of 15 Per Cent

Increase Proposed As One Method To Battle Inflation

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 — The White House has rejected a proposal to raise all rent ceilings by 15 per cent, government sources reported today.

The general increase, these sources said, was suggested last week by Robinson Newcomb, chief housing economist on the staff of the President's council of economic advisers.

Steelman Opposed Plan

John R. Steelman, assistant to the President, turned thumbs down on the plan. It was reported, however, that the council has neither rejected or accepted it as part of its recommendations.

A recent administration survey was reported to have shown that landlords don't need a general increase. On an average they make more money than before the war, the survey indicated, largely because they aren't troubled with vacancies.

Newcomb, according to one source, suggested the general rent boost as an anti-inflation measure. The idea would be that pressure on prices generally would not be so great if people spent more on rent.

Turned Into Debate

A council meeting at which the question was raised was said to have turned into a debate between Newcomb and Steelman. Steelman was adamant.

Rent Director Tighe E. Woods, who also was at the meeting, did not get into the fight. Woods, it was learned, was put on the griddle about the plan at a meeting yesterday of consumer interests.

He replied that the proposal did not come from him, and that as far as he could see, no general rent boost was justified.

Woods told the consumer group his office recently completed a survey of landlords in 13 cities. It showed, he said, that they were making an average of 13 per cent more than last year.

A similar survey last year, he said, showed the average landlord 25 to 30 per cent better off than in 1941, before rents were controlled.

The proposal for a general rent increase recalled a similar move in January, 1947. That time a proposed 10 per cent rent boost was so close to approval that a press release to announce it already had been mimeographed.

The 1947 plan, killed at the White House at the last minute, originated with the federal works agency. FWA at that time administered rent ceilings through the Office of Temporary Controls.

33 Rescued At Sea

Survivors Tell Dramatic Story

(By The Associated Press)

HONOLULU, Dec. 7—A Navy aircraft carrier last night rescued 33 exhausted survivors of a mid-Pacific plane crash, ending a dramatic 40-hour air-sea search.

The Air Force men were picked up in shark-infested waters from two overcrowded life rafts.

Four others were given up as dead.

Today the Navy issued a list of the 33 men picked up by the escort carrier Rendova in rolling seas. It did not include the names of these four men, previously listed as among the 37 passengers on the ill-fated Air Force C-54 transport:

Sgt. James A. Mitchell, Orth Wright, Wash.

Staff Sgt. William A. Colvin, jr., Cross City, Fla.

Sgt. Robert C. Harrell, Milledgeville, Ga.

Sgt. Charles T. Millapaugh, Port Jervis, N. Y.

Two Unconscious

The survivors were all in an advanced state of exhaustion from 40 hours on or clinging to the life rafts. Two were unconscious and had to be hoisted aboard the carrier in a boat. Almost all the others had to be helped aboard the Rendova.

All 33 were crammed on or around two life boats, each built to accommodate only seven men.

Those two rafts were all they could find and inflate after the plane "ran out of oil and altitude" and crashed into the ocean 1200 miles southwest of Honolulu

NEW TERROR IN RUSSIAN ZONE

Germans Get Death In Sabotage Trial

(By The United Press)

BERLIN, Dec. 7 — A Russian-appointed German court imposed death sentences for economic sabotage today on five Germans charged with trading through the black market with the western sectors of Berlin and western Germany.

Three of the five were sentenced in absentia because they already had fled to the west before the charges were filed. The sentences were announced by the Soviet-German news agency ADN.

Others Are Sentenced

Three others were sentenced to 15 years each in prison, one to 10 years and one was acquitted.

Western officials said the trials, which the Russians publicized widely, were an attempt to frighten Soviet zone Germans so they would not deal in economic channels with the west.

By branding this as economic sabotage, the Soviet also were able to put forward an excuse for the failure of Russian zone economy, western officials said.

Workers Leave Jobs

Despite this intimidation, 450 workers of the big Bewag electrical combine in the Soviet sector of Berlin refused to return to their jobs today in protest against

Texas Boy Killed In School Bus Accident

CLEBURNE, Dec. 7. (U.P.) — Leaning from a school bus window to wave goodbye to a friend today was listed as the cause of death for Dwain Howeth, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Garland Howeth of the Glen Rose star route of Cleburne.

The boy was killed instantly when his head hit a telephone pole late yesterday afternoon.

Authorities said the mishap occurred as the bus was leaving the Glen Rose school, where the boy was a fifth grade pupil.

The Goodfellows apparently face the biggest job this year since they were organized 14 years ago to try to insure that no needy child in Lubbock would be forgotten on Christmas day.

More coupons bearing the names of children who should be on the Goodfellows' list have been sent in than at the same time in any previous campaign. They had not been counted this morning, but they number in the many hundreds. They will be checked carefully for duplications, correctness of names and addresses and other factors.

Fund Is Boosted

The heavy response was expected because economic conditions on the whole are not as favorable as last year. The returns emphasize, the Chief Goodfellow said, the need for immediate and generous contributions to the fund. It will insure a generous package containing new toys, candy, fruits and nuts for every needy child not over 14 years of age in the Lubbock city limits who is on the list.

However, the fund is coming along nicely, the total having been boosted to $391 by $224 in contributions since yesterday's report.

Contributions should be addressed to the Chief Goodfellow in care of The Avalanche-Journal, 1211-13 Texas avenue.

Also, use the coupon as directed to report the names of any children who should be on the Goodfellows' list.

Head Of Resources Board Resigns Job

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP) — One of the country's top-flight defense posts bore a man wanted sign today — a replacement for Chairman Arthur M. Hill of the National Security Resources board

President Truman accepted Hill's resignation yesterday, paying tribute to his "outstanding contribution to the public service at heavy personal sacrifice."

The White House announcement said Hill will step out December 15 to return to his post as chairman of the Greyhound corporation — among other varied private business interests.

District Judge Dies In Houston Hospital

HOUSTON, Dec. 6. (U.P.)—District Judge W. W. Moore died in a hospital here early today, where he had been treated for a heart ailment.

The 76-year-old jurist was admitted for treatment last Wednesday. He took the bench in eleventh district court by appointment in 1943.

Survivors include his wife and two sons, former State Senator Weaver Moore and W. W. Moore, jr. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Truman To See Mme. Chiang

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP) — President Truman will meet with Madame Chiang Kai-Shek on Friday, the White House announced today.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross said the wife of China's generalissimo will be the guest of the President and Mrs. Truman at tea at 4 p. m. (CST) Friday.

Madame Chiang will be accompanied to Blair house—the temporary residence of President and Mrs. Truman—by Mrs. George C. Marshall, wife of the Secretary of State.

Talk Plans Unknown

Ross was asked whether Mr. Truman would hold a separate conference with Madame Chiang as well as receiving her for tea. He replied that all he knew was what he was announcing.

Asked whether other guests would be present, Ross replied: "No."

Madame Chiang is in the United States on an unofficial mission of seeking aid for China's hard-pressed national government.

She arrived last week.

Mr. Truman told a news conference last Thursday that he already had arranged a meeting with Madame Chiang but he declined at that time to say when it would occur.

Bridge Of Years Leads Back To Pearl Harbor Today--The Day Japan Would Like To Forget

TOKYO, Dec. 8 (AP)—A bridge of years leads back to Pearl Harbor today—and the day the Japanese would like to forget.

Seven years ago crowds of Japanese stood in amazement on street corners while newspapers flashed news of the attack. (The attack on Pearl Harbor was Dec. 7 U. S. date, but Dec. 8 Tokyo time.)

Many Japanese were hysterically proud the "holy war" had come at last. Some were sad. Others resigned.

The rutted streets of Tokyo were crowded again today. The people had a new surprise to discuss amid their talk of high living costs—the supreme court of the United States had decided to consider whether to hear appeals of their warlords.

Last night hundreds of Americans attended a special charity show to raise funds to buy milk for Japanese children.

Businessmen in patched overcoats today eagerly discussed the decision of the Far Eastern commission in Washington to let them expand foreign trade—if they can produce the goods to sell.

Some Japanese are ashamed of that day and want to forget it. Others believe it was mistaken strategy and that an empire could have been won more cleverly.

All Japanese, looking at their ruined buildings and exaggerating their troubles, know it was a failure. In their code, failure is a cardinal sin. And they have done their best to forget this one.

High Court To Hear Arguments On Power Over Jap War Cases

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—If you're puzzled about what the Supreme Court did in the case of the convicted Japanese leaders, maybe this will clear it up.

The decision cuts across one of those very, very fine lines in legal doings.

After a long trial in Tokyo, 25 Japanese leaders were convicted of war crimes. Seven were sentenced to hang. And two of the seven appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court on these grounds:

That the court which tried them in Tokyo had no right to try them.

Deadlock Broken

Yesterday the Supreme Court acted. But—

It didn't agree to rule on whether the men were tried illegally. It merely voted to hear arguments by lawyers December 16 on whether the Supreme Court has any right at all to consider the appeals.

If a majority of the court feels it does have that right, then it will have to decide whether the court which tried the men had the right to try them.

All this came within a hair of not happening at all. This is why:

Four of the nine justices decided the U. S. Supreme Court had no right to interfere in the Japanese case at all. Four of the nine decided it did have a right.

And there the deadlock would have stood.

Such a deadlock would have meant no decision at all—it would have meant the seven Japanese would now be hanged. But then the ninth man on the court, Justice Jackson, stepped in.

He broke the deadlock and lined up with the four justices who thought the court ought to hear arguments and decide whether it had jurisdiction.

Not Ordinary World Court

Why would there be any doubt of the court's jurisdiction, since the 25 men were tried in Japan and Japan is occupied by the United States?

Because the men were tried by an international tribunal which was set up in an unusual way.

Ordinarily, in the case of some trial by an international tribunal the U. S. Supreme Court would not have jurisdiction. For example:

When Goering, Von Ribbentrop and other top Nazis were tried and convicted in 1946—and sentenced to hang—they were tried by an international tribunal.

But the court in Germany was agreed upon by the Americans, British, French and Russians—the four nations that were to occupy Germany when victory came. And they agreed among themselves to set up a special court with judges from all four countries taking part.

The court in Japan, on the other hand, was set up differently. There President Truman simply invited our Pacific allies to take part in the trial.

It may not seem like a great difference, but it is in the eyes of Supreme Court justices.

After Goering and his gang were convicted by that international tribunal in Germany, other Nazi war criminals were tried and convicted in courts that were U. S. military courts, not international courts.

In two cases Nazis convicted by those U. S. military courts appealed to the U. S. Supreme Court. But the high court split, by a 4-4 vote, on whether it had jurisdiction.

Since that tie vote was a deadlock it meant the Nazis were turned down. But why didn't Justice Jackson step into those two cases, one way or the other, and help decide whether the Supreme Court did, or didn't, have jurisdiction?

Because he had help set up the formula under which Nazis would be tried. He got a leave of absence from the Supreme Court from early 1945 until late 1946 and was in Germany all that time working on Nazi war trials.

So, because he had had a part in setting up Nazi war trials, he would take no part later, when he was back on the Supreme Court bench, in helping the court decide on Nazi appeals. He just stayed out of the decisions.

But he had nothing to do with the trials of the Japanese. So, although with reluctance, he stepped into the present case to give the court a chance at least of hearing arguments on whether it has a right to hear the appeals.

Honest Man Finds Himself $10 Richer

GREAT FALLS, Mont., Dec. 7 (INS)—Rodman W. Johnson, 44, left Great Falls, Mont., for Seattle today richer by $10 for an almost unprecedented act of honesty.

Johnson entered the Great Falls police station and asked for a night's lodging in jail, explained he was penniless and hungry and without friends in the Montana City.

At the same time, Johnson turned over to officers a purse containing $42 which he said he found on the street.

"I could sure use the money," he said, "but I know it belongs to someone else."

Through papers in the purse, police today located the owner, Mrs. Jesse Young, who gave Johnson a $10 reward.

High Court Will Not Rule In Liquor Issue

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP)—The U. S. Supreme court yesterday refused to rule on the validity of action by Texas state police in seizing an automobile load of liquor being transported from Shreveport, La., to Oklahoma City.

The liquor was purchased in Shreveport for Roy R. Rainey, Oklahoma City holder of a federal retail liquor dealer's stamp. Rainey won from a U. S. district court in Texas an order requiring Texas police to return the car and liquor to him. The district court order was set aside by the U. S. circuit court in New Orleans.

Rainey appealed to the Supreme court from the circuit court's decision. The New Orleans court had ruled the Texas liquor control act limited the transportation of liquor through the state to licensed common carriers—such as truck lines and railroads.

Pitchblende Found In Abandoned Mine

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (AP)—A rich vein of pitchblende—best source of uranium for atomic bombs or energy— has been discovered in an abandoned mine in Colorado, Look magazine says.

However, an official of the company exploring the mine expressed doubt as to the richness of uranium deposits. The Atomic Energy Commission said it had not completed its appraisal.

Report of the pitchblende vein is written up by Nat S. Finney in an issue of Look coming out tomorrow.

Finney said the vein was found deep in the old Caribou Hill mine near Boulder in explorations by the Canadian Radium and Uranium Corp., which was seeking silver and other metals.

Justice Cites Awkward Position Of Nation With Court Split Over Japanese War Cases

By DONALD SANDERS
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—A dramatically broken Supreme Court tie gave seven former Japanese warlords a new lease on life today—the seventh anniversary of the day of infamy they helped plot.

Splitting five to four, the tribunal agreed yesterday to consider whether it can pass on the findings of the international court in Tokyo which doomed the men to hang as war criminals.

Justice Robert H. Jackson, who took leave from the bench in 1945 to prosecute Nazi Germany's war criminals, cast the deciding vote because, he said, "the issues here are truly great ones."

"Their decision will establish or deny," he declared, "that this court has power to review exercise of military power abroad and the President's conduct of external affairs of our government."

Guilt Not Involved

In earlier appeals to the tribunal from war crimes sentences meted out by American military courts in Germany Jackson held aloof because of his role at Nuernberg as chief allied prosecutor. In those cases the Supreme court divided 4 to 4 and—because a tie vote denies an appeal—the sentences never were reviewed by the tribunal.

In no event will the court pass on the guilt or innocence of the Japanese. But it will hear arguments December 16 on (1) whether it has any power to intercede and, if so, (2) whether the 11-nation war crimes tribunal at Tokyo was legally set up.

In the case before it yesterday, the court actually dealt with only two of the seven men sentenced to hang and only five of the 18 who drew prison terms.

Dispatches from Tokyo, however, said it was believed the court's action automatically would stay all sentences. Gen. Douglas MacArthur previously had stayed the executions pending action by the court.

Two Japs Appeal

The doomed men who appealed from their November 12 convictions are Gen. Kenji Doihara, 64, an undercover agent for the Japanese army in China and Manchuria, and Koku Hirota, 70, former premier who sat in on pre-Pearl Harbor strategy talks.

Former Premier Hideki Tojo and four others sentenced to hang asked no intercession.

In a soul-searching, six-page memorandum explaining his action, Jackson said he decided to break the tie at a court conference last Saturday. His hope, he said, is that "fuller argument and hearing will convert one or more of the justices on one side or the other from the views that have equally divided them in the German cases."

He added that the hope that it will not be necessary for him to vote in the final decision, but he specifically reserved the right to do so.

President Handicapped

He said he found himself with these choices:

1. To remain on the sidelines, in which case:

"This public division of the court . . . puts the United States before the world, and particularly before Oriental peoples, in this awkward position: having major responsibility for the capture of these Japanese prisoners, it also has responsibility for their fate.

"If their plea ends in a stalemate in this court, the authorities have no course but to execute sentences which half of this court tells the world are on so doubtful a legal foundation that they favor some kind of provisional relief and fuller review."

2. To vote for a tentative review of jurisdiction, as he did, even though:

"For this court now to call up these cases for judicial review under exclusively American law can only be regarded as a warning to our associates in the trials that no commitment of the President or of the military authorities . . . has finality or validity under our form of government unless it has the approval of this court . . .

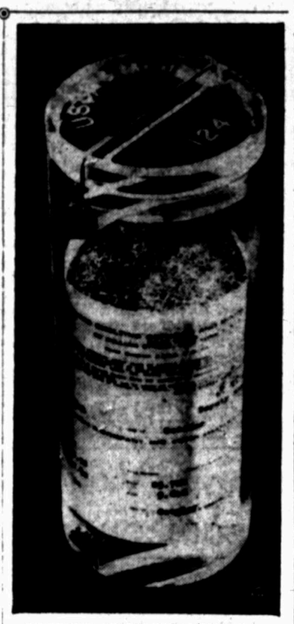

"It would substantially handicap our country in asking other nations to rely upon the word or act of the President in affairs which only he is competent to conduct."

3. To vote against a review, thus permitting the executions to take place. If he did that, Jackson said.

"The Japanese will be executed and their partisans will foreover point to the dissents of four members of the court to support their accusations that the United States gave them less than justice.

"This stain, whether deserved or not, would be impressed upon the record of the United States in Oriental memory for all time to come."

Jackson said he feels that if the court should tread on the toes of America's Pacific allies by overreaching its possible jurisdiction, they will be more likely to understand than our former enemies would be to "condone any excess of scruple."

WANTA BUY SOME?—Contents of this bottle are worth $3,500 at the official price of $35 a troy ounce for gold. Though it is against the law to buy or hold gold coins or refined gold in bars or other shapes, gold may be bought in its natural state as dust, flakes or nuggets. These 100-ounce lots, sealed by a responsible assayer, are being offered for sale by a New York Stock Exchange brokerage-house.

New York Musician Buys Famous Violin

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 7 (AP)—A New York violinist who is preparing to make his debut today was the owner of the world-famous "Lamoureux" Stradivarius.

David Sarser purchased the instrument, which has been estimated to be worth $85,000, from Efrem Zimbalist yesterday. The sale price was not disclosed. Sarser said the violin was one of the 12 finest instruments of its kind in the world.

Zimbalist, internationally famous violinist and director of Curtis Institute of Music here, had owned the violin since 1925. It once was the property of the French conductor, Charles Lamoureux.

AEC Fears New Gas Lines Will Reduce Los Alamos Supply

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP)—The Atomic Energy commission voiced concern today that the piping of an additional 400,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily out of New Mexico and Texas might jeopardize fuel supplies for it's Los Alamos weapons center.

Its position was outlined at a power commission hearing on the application of El Paso Natural Gas Co., San Juan Pipe Line Co. and the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. to build new pipelines into the San Francisco bay region.

Wants 25 Year Reserve

Attorney Lloyd Bayer of the AEC said its Los Alamos, N. M. plant and an atomic energy laboratory at San Dia, N. M., depend on gas from San Juan field in San Juan county, N. M. He said the commission has no opinion at this time on the adequacy of gas reserves in the field, but "wants to make sure" that the gas supply for the atomic energy installations is safeguarded for at least 25 years.

Paul Kayser, president of the El Paso and San Juan companies, said El Paso has contracted to deliver to P.G. & E. at Topoc, near Needles, Calif., 150,000,000 cubic feet of gas a day by Jan. 1, 1951, another 150,000,000 by Jan. 1, 1952, and another 100,000,000 by July 1, 1953.

Kayser said 300,000,000 cubic feet daily will come from the Permian basin of Texas and New Mexico, and the remainder from the San Juan field.

Supplies Said Adequate

R. W. Duval, attorney for P.G. & E., told power commissioner examiner George T. Liddell his company will show that California gas supplies are "entirely adequate to meet the ever increasing demands of domestic, industrial and commercial users of gas in northern California."

Senator Chavez (D-N.M.), said in a statement he fears the proposed pipelines would jeopardize the existing and future industrial and domestic needs of Santa Fe, Albuquerque, the Atomic Energy commission project at Los Alamos and other areas in New Mexico.

Chavez, now in Argentina on a vacation trip, instructed his office to notify the commission of his opposition.

DO WE HAVE TO DIE?

Thirty years ago, in Forbidden Tibet, behind the highest mountains in the world, a young Englishman named Edwin J. Dingle was desperately ill in mind and body. A great mystic opened his eyes. A great change came over him. He realized the strange Power that Knowledge gives.

That Power, he says, can transform the life of anyone. Questions, whatever they are, can be answered. The problems of health, death, poverty and wrong, can be solved.

In his own case, he was brought back to splendid health. He acquired wealth, too, as well as world-wide professional recognition. Thirty years ago, he was sick as a man could be and live. Once his coffin was bought. Years of almost continuous tropical fevers, broken bones, near blindness, privation and danger had made a human wreck of him, physically and mentally.

He was about to be sent back to England to die, when a strange message came—"They are waiting for you in Tibet." He wants to tell the whole world what he learned there, under the guidance of the greatest mystic he ever encountered during his twenty-one years in the Far East. He wants everyone to experience the greater health and the Power, which there came to him.

Within ten years, he was able to retire to this country with a fortune. He had been honored by fellowships in the World's leading geographical societies, for his work as a geographer. And today, 30 years later, he is still so athletic, capable of so much work, so young in appearance, it is hard to believe he has lived so long.

As a first step in their progress toward the Power that Knowledge gives Mr. Dingle wants to sent to readers of this paper a 9000-word treatise. He says the time has come for it to be reelased to the Western World, and offers to send it, free of cost or obligation, to sincere readers of this notice. For your free copy, address The Institute of Mentalphysics, 213 South Hobart Blvd., Dept. 391-H, Los Angeles 4, Calif. Readers are urged to write promptly, as only a limited number of the free books have been printed. Adv.

PROVE CAMEL MILDNESS for Yourself!

Prove for yourself what throat specialists reported when 30-day smoking test revealed

NO THROAT IRRITATION due to smoking CAMELS!

You'll be glad you made the 30-day Camel mildness test, too!

Hundreds of men and women, from coast to coast, recently made a similar 30-day test—smoking Camels exclusively for thirty days—an average of one to two packs a day. Their throats were examined each week by noted throat specialists. And after a total of 2470 examinations, these throat specialists reported not one single case of throat irritation due to smoking Camels!

So—smoke Camels and test them yourself in your own "T-Zone" (T for Taste and T. for Throat). Let YOUR OWN TASTE tell you about the rich, full flavor of Camel's choice tobaccos. Let YOUR OWN THROAT tell you the story of Camel's cool, cool mildness. You'll discover something entirely new in milder, more flavorful smoking enjoyment.

Money-Back Guarantee!

Try Camels and test them as you smoke them. If, at any time, you are not convinced that Camels are the mildest cigarette you ever smoked, return the package with the unused Camels and we will refund its full purchase price, plus postage. (Signed)

Guild Gives Banquet

Sixty-three persons attended the annual Organist-Minister banquet and program given at St. John's Methodist church Monday night under sponsorship of the Lubbock chapter, American Guild of Organists. Members from Lubbock, Lamesa, Floydada and Tahoka were present.

Mrs. Elois Elliott was toastmaster at the banquet. Rev. David V. Sieberg spoke on "The Minister-Organist Relationship" and Mrs. Mamie I. Neal, dean of the Lubbock chapter guild, spoke on "The Organist-Minister Relationship."

Mrs. Raymond Marshall, second vice president of the Texas Federation of Music clubs, brought greetings from that organization.

In a musical program given in the sanctuary, Mrs. C. M. Trout, organist, played "Meditation from Thais" (Massenet); Mrs. R. C. Douglas played "Prayer" (Schubert); Mrs. Marshall sang "Il Est Doux, Il Est Bon" (Massenet); Mrs. Robert Law played "Andante Cantabile" (Widor) and the group sang "Silent Night."

Miss Dudley Is Married

PLAINVIEW, Dec. 7. (Special)—Mrs. C. C. McCormick of the Halfway community, near Plainview, is announcing the marriage of her daughter, Miss Ruth Dudley, to Billy Ray Mackey, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Mackey of Lubbock, which took place Dec. 2 at Arnett-Benson Baptist church with Rev. Cecil Ray officiating at a double ring ceremony.

The altar was decorated with a basket of chryanthemums and streamers of white satin ribbons, lettered in gold with the names of the couple.

Winnie Faye Evans, maid of honor, wore a kelly green suit with black accessories.

Harold Wayne Stevenson was best man.

After a trip to New Mexico, the couple returned to Lubbock. The bride is employed by McKelvy and Son Real Estate and Mr. Mackey works for Wooten Wholesale company.

Mary Haworth's Mail . . .

Young Wife, Who Is Attractive To Men, Is Worried Because Of Jealous Hostility

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: You have helped me see many things more clearly, and I feel that your penetrating insight is backed by a true sense of justice; therefore I am emboldened to present my special problem, namely: other women's dislike or distrust of me.

To be truthful, my character was quite deplorable until a few years ago; but with the help of my husband's marvellous understanding I have managed to improve a great deal, I think. My best friends tell me they notice a change, but still I seem to attract hostility from women.

Gerald is very popular, we have good friends, and because of his position I have to go to social gatherings quite often. Also at times I must go alone to represent him and sometimes I have noticed that women seem to hate me.

WOMEN GLARE AS MEN ACT COURTLY

EVEN my sister-in-law seems to be jealous, although I give her no cause to be; and all this makes me feel rather badly, as I have no ill will towards anybody. I seem to attract men without trying to, and should I try to avoid them thereafter, or just let social interchange happen as it will?

Sometimes I don't dare prolong a conversation with a man, as anyone normally would at a cocktail party or concert intermission, for fear his wife or friend will be offended; and although I wonder at times if I should care what people think, I immediately feel that I hate to hurt anyone's feelings.

Won't you please tell me what attitude I should take towards people in general? Sometimes I am so confused that I can't sleep for hours after going to bed.

SIGNED—C. F.

TWO-PART PROBLEM: PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

DEAR C. F.: It appears that you have two problems here, one subjective and the other social; each playing upon the other in a vicious circle that aggravates both and progressively involves you in a tightening mesh of neurotic anxiety.

One problem has to do with your ingrained guilt-charged devaluation of self, an habitual refrain in your feeling and thinking; and the second has to do with other women's fear of your magnetic appeal to men, especially as combined with your earlier history of "deplorable" character—by which you mean reckless behavior, I assume.

Hate is a derivative of fear and usually refers to anticipated injury. Resentment, another derivative of fear, usually refers to damage done at some past time; and most people (unaware of their emotional components) have a lot of both forms of stymied anxiety dammed-up in their unconscious.

CRITICS ADVERTISE THEIR OWN NEUROSES

LOVE, in the good-will sense, is a derivative of psychological and social well being, which in turn derives from habitual conditioning in self respect and emotional security. And as Scripture says, perfect love casts out fear. Further, it overflows in "charity," in that compassionate regard for one's fellowmen that is akin to love.

All of which is preliminary to saying that women who register "hate" (i. e., fear) of you, presumably for what you are or have been, are thereby advertising (to those who have insight) their own private hell of chronic resentful misgivings about their emotional security, personal value or loveworthiness. And you, on the receiving end of their anxious venom, guiltily feel you've got it coming to you, when in truth it reflects their problem, their spiritual disorder.

Thus for advice: read the significance of their behavior aright, dismiss it from consciousness, compassionately, and never let it blight your normal affability. This will be progress, but even so, it still doesn't get at your primary problem, to-wit, a frightened guilt-complex, and for guidance in dissolving that, I recommend study of Rabbi Josua Loth Liebman's great book, "Peace of Mind" (Simon & Schuster, publishers). M. H.

Cranberry Cookery

by Carol Reed

Christmas dinner wouldn't be right without cranberry sauce.

Here are some new ways with cranberries . . . .

Cranberry Punch Bowl for Christmas Eve

1 pound can Ocean Spray Jellied Cranberry Sauce
2 cups water
½ cup lemon juice
1 cup orange juice
1 teaspoon almond extract
1 cup gingerale

Beat cranberry sauce with rotary beater. Add water and beat until well blended. Add lemon and orange juices, almond extract, and gingerale. Serve well-iced.

For Christmas dinner, snip cranberry stars from plump slices of Jellied Cranberry Sauce. One can makes 6 stars. Crush the left-over bits of sauce, mix with cream cheese, and serve on raisin bread.

Christmas night buffet will look really glamorous with this ruby cranberry salad molded in star shape . . .

Cranberry Apple Salad

Put through food chopper:
1 large (or 2 small) apples
⅛ of a lemon (rind and pulp)
Soak: 1 envelope unflavored gelatin in ¼ cup cold water.
Dissolve over a pan of hot water. Add to: 1 can Ocean Spray Whole Cranberry Sauce. When partially set, fold in apple-lemon mixture. Mold in star-shaped pan. (To make a larger star salad, double the recipe.)

A word to the wise . . . be sure of quality Cranberry Sauce for Christmas. Choose Ocean Spray, the brand that is recommended by Good Housekeeping and Parent's Magazine!

Newlyweds Are Honored

Mr. and Mrs. William W. Brown, newlyweds, were honored at a party given Monday night at the home of Mrs. Marie Coyle, 2702 26th for fellow employes of the bride at Texas Technological college. Mrs. Brown, the former Miss Flossie Burkholder, is cashier at Tech.

The honor guests received a twin waffle set with Seth T. Cummings making the presentation.

Miss Mary Jo Cole was assistant hostess.

Guests were Messrs. and Mesdames Brown, Cummings, Hubert Burgess, Bill Crutcher, W. C. Cole, Mesdames Robert Goolsby, Carl Story, Thomas Quigley, Jack Collins, Sterling Stivers, Robert Boston, Jim Dixon, Jack Cleveland, Wilma Hardin, J. B. Snelling, Miss Jane Wright, John E. Bowden and Robert Coyle.

Choirs Will Hear Concert

Several church and school choirs from over the South Plains have signified their intention of attending the Amarillo A Cappella choir, Lubbock Symphony orchestra concert Wednesday night at 8:15 o'clock at Lubbock High school auditorium.

Lamesa Presbyterian choir has reserved 35 seats; Muleshoe High school music students, 30 and Lockney High school chorus, 55.

Tickets for the program are on sale at South Plains and Adair's Music stores and the Varsity Book store.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Baker of Buena Vista, Colo., have returned to their home after a two-day visit in the residence of Dep. Sheriff and Mrs. Frank Mitchell of 2218 Sixteenth. Mrs. Baker and Mrs. Mitchell are sisters.

Stephenson-Albright Wedding Conducted

Miss Kathryn Jane Albright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. I. Albright of Rt. 6, and Bill Stephenson of 2507 Ave. K, son of Mrs. Alma Stephenson of Lubbock, were married recently at the Overton Methodist church with Rev. W. F. Gaede officiating. The double ring service was performed before an altar decorated with pink carnations, greenery and white tapers.

Miss Hallie Walls, pianist, accompanied Dovie Pharr as she sang "Because" and Vernon Higginbotham as he sang "Always."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a turquoise dress with British tan accessories and a bouquet of pink roses. Miss Elizabeth Albright, sister of the bride and maid of honor, wore a white dress with black accessories and a pink gladioli corsage. Bridesmaids, Billie Marie Bridwell and June Booher, were dressed in brown with pink corsages.

Billie Baldree served as best man and Joe Privitt and Bill Stephens were ushers. Candles were lighted by Zirthola St. Claire and Betty Lou Shipman.

Ohio has nearly 10,000 miles of railroad, conservatively worth $1,000,000,000. Most of the rail trade between east and west passes through the state.

SMART MOTHER FINDS WAY TO SAVE MONEY!

"I've found one way to help beat the high cost of living. I get PINEX and save about $2.00 a bottle. PINEX is a wonderful cough medicine." Economy-wise women everywhere prefer PINEX because it's concentrated and saves real money. You add the sugar and water instead of paying fancy prices for it in ready-mixed preparations. No fuss—no bother—and you make a whole pint of effective cough medicine at about ½ usual price. And PINEX brings quick, decisive relief from coughs due to colds. Tulsa Bus Men Go On Strike

TULSA, Dec. 7 (U.P.) — Bus drivers and mechanics of the Tulsa city lines went on strike for higher pay today, leaving some 75,000 men, women and school children without transportation.

The employes voted to walk out in their fight for a 25-cent hourly boost at a mass meeting this morning. The session lasted more than two hours.

The strike vote ended about two weeks of on-again off-again talk of a walkout and came after day and night bargaining sessions.

New Offer Denied

Reports of a new company offer, above the 7½-cent proposal turned down Saturday, were denied by Federal Conciliator C. T. Emory. "I can tell you this —no new offer was made to the union."

Voting against the company offer last week, the drivers and mechanics agreed to operate buses until midnight last night.

A strike was originally scheduled for a week ago but was postponed several times in the hope that the union and company could come to terms.

Remembrances And Strange Coincidences On Anniversary

Seven Years Have Dulled The Memory And The Scars Of Sneak Jap Attack On Pearl Harbor

PEARL HARBOR, Dec. 7 (AP)—Hawaii was more interested in the rescue of 38 Air Force men from the mid-Pacific than it was in today's seventh anniversary of Pearl Harbor.

But from elsewhere came remembrances, and strange coincidences.

(In Tokyo today Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida called on Parliament to support his government "for the rehabilitation and recovery of the Japanese empire." It threw members of Parliament into a turmoil. And a Socialist rebuked him for use of the once familiar word "empire." It was the empire Japan was trying to expand when it bombed Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941.)

In Washington Madame Chiang Kai-Shek, wife of China's president, issued a statement in remembrance of "this sacred day" and the dead who "gave their lives for human liberty." She said:

"May we, the living, do everything we can to forestall another World War and to prevent further enslavement of mankind."

In San Digo, Calif., the newly-formed "Veterans of Pearl Harbor" will meet. Adm. Frederick C. Sherman, retired, will be the main speaker.

(Formal anniversary services in San Diego were scheduled aboard the seaplane tender Curtis, a veteran of the 1941 attack.)

But in Pearl Harbor itself, seven years have dimmed the memory and the scars of the attack.

Woman Hazy On Early History Of U. S. But Becomes Citizen

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 7 (INS) —An elderly Italian woman, a little hazy about who discovered America, was granted American citizenship today because she supplied five sons to the U. S. armed services.

Mrs. Lizzie Magorno of Oakland, Cal., who was born in Naples September 14, 1894, petitioned Federal District Court Judge Michael J. Roche for citizenship and he granted her request over the objection of the immigration department.

Inspector Testifies

An immigration inspector appeared in court against Mrs. Magorno and testified:

"She told us George Washington discovered America. Besides that when we asked her about the Revolutionary war, she said she knew nothing except about World War II."

Judge Roche who pointed out that Mrs. Magorno had four sons in the Army and one in the Navy during the war, said:

"Well, maybe she doesn't know too much about our early history but she knew enough to supply needed manpower to the armed forces.

"I'll grant her petition for citizenship."

City Manager Will Quit Brownwood Job

BROWNWOOD, Dec. 7. (U.P.)— John W. Perryman, jr., 33, city manager here for 16 months, has resigned effective Dec. 18, to accept the Paris, Tex., city manager post at a higher salary, it was disclosed today.

The Brownwood city council accepted the resignation with regret and elected Jack Broad, municipal airport manager, as acting city manager.

Perryman, who holds a lieutenant commander's post in the naval reserve aviation (engineering), instituted many municipal improvements during his 16 months. He is a native of St. Jo.

Negro Found Guilty In Brooklyn Murder

NEW YORK, Dec. 7. (AP)—A first degree murder verdict was returned last night against Walter "Boots" Davis, 21-year-old negro, for the murder of Mary Grey, 80, Brooklyn spinster.

There were nine stab wounds in the aged woman's body. An autopsy report said she also had been raped.

A jury in Kings county court, Brooklyn, found a verdict of first degree murder, without a recommendation for mercy, which made the death penalty mandatory. No date for sentencing was set.

Miss Grey was slain Oct. 9 in a small apartment where she lived alone.

The ancient Colosseum at Rome is believed to have seated 45 to 50 thousand spectators and to have provided standing room for 20 to 25 thousand more.

Rites Pending For O'Donnell Resident

O'DONNELL, Dec. 7.(Special)— Mrs. J. L. Chiles, 51, resident here for 15 years, died at 6 o'clock this morning in Lubbock Memorial hospital where she had been under treatment for lukemia.

Funeral services had not been arranged early this afternoon, pending word from distant relatives, but Rix Funeral Home at Lubbock, where the body was taken, announced that burial would be in Lamesa under direction of Higginbotham Funeral Home. The body was taken to Lamesa today.

Survivors include her father, C. W. Lord of O'Donnell; two sons, Doyle and Carlos Chiles of O'Donnell; one sister, Mrs. M. E. Greenlee of O'Donnell; six brothers, Jerrell Lord of O'Donnell, W. W. Lord of El Paso, W. N. and Preston Lord of Los Angeles, L. C. Lord of Lynnwood, Calif., and Lt. L. L. Lord of the U. S. Army; and three grandchildren.

Building Plans To Be Speeded

Plans to speed up the $1,250,000 building program ratified at last Saturday's bond election will be considered at a special meeting of trustees of Lubbock Independent School district in the business office at 1007 Texas avenue at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night, A. C. Jackson, business manager, announced today.

Returns from the election will be canvassed at the meeting Jackson said. The unofficial tabulations showed 580 votes for the bond issue and 51 against.

The program calls for new elementary buildings in Northwest Lubbock, on East Broadway and in the Carver Heights negro district and for extensive alterations and repairs to several existing structures.

Spring Starting Goal

The legal formalities necessary to getting actual construction under way will require time, Jackson said. The bonds must be sold, construction plans drafted and contracts awarded.

But plans are to break ground for the new buildings not later than early spring in the hope that enough new space will be available to ease present overcrowding by next September.

Work on the new buildings probably will be started first. Much of the remodeling of present buildings would be impossible without dismissing classes. Most of the altering therefore will not be done until the summer vacation. This work, however, can be speeded and most of it should be finished before the 1948-49 session begins.

Christmas Postage Stamps Suggested

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Dec. 7. (U.P.)—Postmaster George Purcell proposed today that the post office department issue a three-cent stamp commemorating Santa Claus.

"The postoffice department prints stamps commemorating everything under the sun but Christmas," he said. "I see no reason why the spirit of Christmas, Santa Claus, shouldn't be put on a stamp. I'll bet we'd do a land office business."

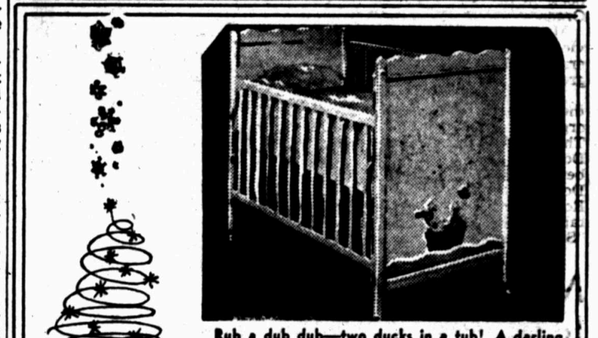

He said the stamp probably would defray the cost of handling Christmas mail.

Discussions Dominate Pest Control Session

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 7 (AP) — Technical discussions of pest control problems dominate the schedule for the Texas Pest Control association convention today.

ONE REASON WHY

Folger's is THE Preferred Coffee Flavor!

RECORD COFFEE PRICE

Folger's pays highest price of century

GUATEMALA CITY, Guatemala, Nov. 12— Coffee sold here today for what was said to be the highest price paid in the twentieth century. Sanchez-Latour, acting for Folger's Coffee Company, bought 12,000 bags of Antigua Coffee practically the entire production of this famous coffee region.

Coffeemen said the record-breaking prices were due to the United States consuming more coffee now than the entire world did fifteen years ago.

LIONEL SANCHEZ-LATOUR

Why Folger's Pays the Highest Price to get the World's Best Coffee for You

The Folger Flavor is not an accident. It is a carefully guarded combination of certain quality coffees to produce one very distinctive coffee flavor. This flavor cannot be produced from inferior coffees.

Since the difference in coffees is essentially a matter of flavor, that difference is a real measure of the worth of your purchase.

On a flavor and enjoyment basis Folger's Coffee at today's price continues to be the biggest bargain on your table.

Navy Veteran Of Pearl Harbor Attack Would Rather Fight Again Than Have Son Go To War

By WILLARD D. EBERHART
United Press Staff Writer

HONOLULU, Dec. 7—Harold R. Lindstrom, who helped carry ammunition in the battle of Pearl Harbor seven years ago today, would rather fight again than have his son go to war.

Lindstrom was a shore-based U. S. Navy storekeeper, just turned 21, when the Japanese attacked America's Pacific headquarters.

Today, he is back at Pearl Harbor as a chief storekeeper, 28 years old, with a wife and three children. Their son, Richard, is two years old. The two daughters, Diana Lee, 7, and Sandra Patsy, 6, were by his wife's previous marriage, but he has adopted them.

"I think there is little chance of a Pearl Harbor attack now," Lindstrom said. "But another war looks likely. I never did trust the Russians. It might as well come quick. I'd sooner fight than have my son fight."

Lindstrom had been up until 3:30 a. m. on the morning of Dec. 7, 1941 celebrating the completion of two years service in the Navy. He was annoyed when a buddy woke him and told him the Japanese were attacking Pearl Harbor.

Hurriedly dressing, Lindstrom saw the battleship Oklahoma listing before she capsized. He saw Japanese planes making torpedo runs against other battleships.

Jap Plane Flies Low

One Japanese plane flew so low, he said, "I coulda hit it with a rock." He got a glimpse of the pilot's face and even saw the pilot wave. An instant later, the plane disintegrated in a crossfire of anti-aircraft from two destroyers.

When he reached the drydock, Lindstrom said, the destroyers Cassin and Downes were hopelessly smashed and the battleship Pennsylvania was calling for volunteers to carry ammunition.

"I went below and passed ammo until the lights went out," he said. "The steam leaks made it hotter than hell down there.

Feels Ship Shudder

"I was just starting topside with a box of machine-gun shells when I felt the ship shudder hard. The next thing I knew, I was picking myself up at the bottom of the ladder.

"The Pennsy had been hit by a 500-pounder on the starboard deck, causing many casualties.

"When I got topside, I helped carry bodies ashore until noon. Some we had to scrape off the deck. I was too numb to be scared or sick.

"Only when I left the ship did I notice the rest of the yard. It looked like our Navy was on the bottom. There was heavy smoke from burning ships and smouldering debris was all over the yard.

Oil Patches Ablaze

"Big patches of oil-covered water were ablaze. Most of the survivors were oil-soaked.

"I spent the rest of Sunday and Monday at my regular job, issuing uniforms to the survivors. No forms were made out in triplicate then. All we asked were sizes.

"I finally got to sleep; but not to bed, Monday night. I dozed off on a desk and slept throughout the night.

"The hardest thing during those two days was a lack of water. We had been told that the drinking water had been poisoned and all I had was a bottle of soda pop."

There are at least two gears in the average automobile steering system.

Children Shouldn't Be Fooled About Santa, Expert Declares

DALLAS, Dec. 7. (AP)—Don't tell your children little white lies about Santa Claus, a psychiatrist advised parents, because you may be planting the seeds of juvenile delinquency.

Dr. Ludolf N. Bollmeier of Hot Springs, Ark., presented a paper at the annual meeting of the Southern Psychiatric association here yesterday.

Untruths about Christmas or the Easter bunny or the facts of life can cause junior to lose his trust in mom and dad—and that can have tragic consequences, said Dr. Bollmeier.

Tell Of Pretensions

He isn't for tossing Santa Claus out in the cold altogether.

"Let your child in on the true spirit of Christmas from the start. Let him help you trim the tree. Tell him that we pretend there's a Santa Claus—but let him know we're just pretending."

Dr. Bollmeier said the questions a youngster asks—and the answers he gets—are immeasurably important.

"One of my neurotic patients believed until she was 10 years old that her parents got her at the grocery store, as a premium with a pound of coffee," he said.

In the heavens, there are spendthrift stars that, in their youth, are very brilliant and enormously hot. But, these stars soon use up their atomic fuel and disappear from sight.

Rites Set Thursday For Wilson Veteran

WILSON, Dec. 7 (Special)—Reburial services for M/Sgt. Clyde E. Crowder, who was killed in September of 1943 in a plane crash in Colombia while serving with the Army, are to be held at 2 p.m., Thursday in the Baptist church here.

Rev. Emmett Brooks will officiate. A VFW-American Legion graveside service in Wilson cemetery will be held, with Slaton posts of these organizations in charge. Interment is to be directed by Rix Funeral home of Lubbock.

Pallbearers will be Derrell Ward, Harold Key, Presley White, George Williamson, Jiggs Swann and Carland Swann.

M/Sgt. Crowder was killed with eigth other crew members when a U. S. Army transport plane crashed in the Andes mountains. He was a graduate of Wilson High school before entering the service on Aug. 9, 1939.

Survivors include the parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Crowder of Wilson, and five sisters, Mrs. Howard Billings of Lubbock, Mrs. R. N. Raymond of Wilson, Mrs. Frank Benak of St. Joseph, Mich., and Misses Lila Laye and Jimmie Ann Crowder, both of Wilson.

Survivor Of Jap Pearl Harbor Attack Is "Fed Up" With War

BY IAN MUTSU
United Press Staff Writer

NAGOYA, Japan, Dec. 7 — Kazuo Sakamaki, only Japanese survivor of the midget submarine attack on Pearl Harbor seven years ago today, has had enough of war.

He says he is "not so happy" about the world situation, but adds:

"If another war comes along, I would want to stay out of it—remain strictly neutral."

Sakamaki, 30, works quietly as a clerg in the Toyoda Truck conipany here. He is a moderately happy man, married to a bride of his own choice and the father of a round-cheeked, almond-eyed son.

He no longer believes that he disgraced himself, his family, his ancestors, his country, the imperial Japanese navy and his emperor by being captured after his submarine grounded off Pearl Harbor.

Sub Well Equipped

He is glad he became the first Japanese war prisoner of World War II.

But seven years ago, Sakamaki was one of five officers who set forth in five medget submarines ready, indeed eager, to die for the glory of his country in the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor.

Each submarine carried two persons each was 74 feet long, weighed 30 tons, had a maximum speed of 24 knots and a cruising range of about 400 miles, and was equipped with radio transmitters and two bow torpedoes.

Sakamaki trained long and hard for what he sincerely believed was his date with destiny. He studied at the naval academy, learned to fly at Kasumigaura, practiced seamanship aboard the training ship Abukuma and underwent special training at Chujo bay, which closely resembles Pearl Harbor. He was commissioned a sub-lieutenant.

Attack Orders Given

He recalled vividly how his midget submarine was launched from its "hangar" on the afterdeck of a mother submarine 30 miles off Pearl Harbor on the moonlit night of Dec. 6. He was 23 years old then.

His orders read to coordinate an underwater attack with the aerial bombardment of Pearl Harbor. He was instructed to attack, in order, aircraft carriers, battleships and heavy cruisers.

The instructions said that he should rendezvous after the attack at point 7 off Lanai Island. But he knew that was only a formality. All were expected to die for the glory of their country.

"I said goodbye to the captain of the mother sub and 10 minutes later we surfaced so that we could he said.
enter our midget submarines."

"It was then I got a nasty shock. My gyrocompass was out of commission. Why, I don't know. There was no time for repairs. After consulting the captain, I decided to attempt to make the journey anyway."

Arrived Early

Without the gyrocompass, Sakamaki said he found his craft almost unnavigable and unmaneuverable.

"But I finally got to the entrance to Pearl Harbor just before 7 a. m.," he said. "We were to attack at 7:50."

For the next three hours, he said, he "hung around" Pearl Harbor trying to make repairs and trying to find a target.

Several times he surfaced and was depth-charged. He saw several small craft — minesweepers and destroyers — but he wanted to save his torpedoes for bigger game. Through his periscope he saw columns of smoke rising over the harbor.

The midget submarine grounded several times on reefs. Bilge water spread to the battery racks and deadly gases began to fill the submarine. Depth charges rocked it.

Traveled In Circles

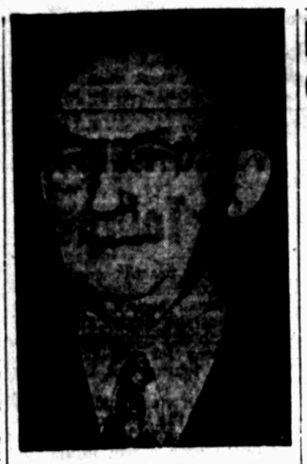

Their senses dulled, Sakamaki and his fellow crewman, Petty Officer Kiyoshi Inazaki, decided to try to make Lanai. Then the ship grounded for the 10th and last time.

Sakamaki swam for the shore of what he thought was Lanai. His companion was drowned.

Collapsing on the shore, Sakamaki remembered nothing more until he was shaken by an American soldier pointing a pistol at him. He found he had been traveling in circles and was back on Oahu.

"I was terribly ashamed," Sakamaki said. "I asked for an opportunity to die an honorable death, but they just laughed at me."

The commanders and crewmen of the other midget submarines were lost and were enshrined by the Japanese as "war gods" soon after Pearl Harbor day. The Japanese made no mention that Sakamaki had fallen into American hands.

HE'S A-1 M. D.—Dr. William L. ("Buck") Pressly, of Due West, S. Buried City Thought Discovered In Mexico

PANUCO, Mex., Dec. 7 (AP) — Another buried city seems to have been found in this small river village a few miles inland from the gulf port of Tampico.

A Mexican archeologist who made the discovery thinks a 1,000-year-old city is buried 27 feet below the surface of Panuco.

Other discoveries dating 2,000 years before the Spanish conquest have been found near here. The Spanish conquest was in 1519.

The Panuco find was made by Roberto Pavon, National Institute of Archeology and History Mexico City.

Former Hungarian Envoy Is Executed

LONDON, Dec. 7. (AP)—Victor Csornoky, son-in-law of former Hungarian President Zoltan Tildy, was executed by the Hungarians today for treason, the Yugoslav news agency Tanjug reported in a dispatch from Budapest.

Csornoky, 29, formerly was Hungary's envoy to Egypt. He once was stationed in Washington.

A people's court sentenced him Nov. 15 to be hanged, holding that he had engaged in "traitorous activities" with U. S. and British agents. He also was convicted on charges of crimes against the people and black market currency dealings.

The Hungarian supreme court affirmed the death sentence yesterday. One of the charges against Csornoky was that he tried, with American help, to spirit Tildy out of Hungary. Tildy resigned Aug. 2, soon after Csornoky's arrest.

Brothers Charged With Bigamy To Be Given Object Lesson If Prosecutor Has His Way

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Dec. 7 (AP)—If the prosecutor has his way, two brothers charged with bigamy will be given an object lesson in what it means to support two wives simultaneously.

Dist. Atty. Robert E. Jones proposed yesterday that each husband be given three months in jail, that while one serves the other must support the two legal wives and four children of both. Then the two men would reverse situations.

Brothers Lorin Waters, 27, and Alvin Waters, 25, of Yakima, Wash., were arrested in Richfield, Utah, accused by their wives, Bertha May and Mary Jane, respectively, of eloping with two Utah girls and marrying them here Nov. 27. Each husband has two children by his legal wife.

Prosecutor Jones says he will change the bigamy charges to charges of gross misdemeanors and making false statements in obtaining marriage licenses. Then Jones will ask the district court to approve his novel plan of lesson-teaching.

Jones said the Utah girls, Leonia Davis, 18, of Panguitch, and Le Ree Louder, of Hatch, would start annulment proceedings.

New District 3-AA Football Schedule For 1949 Approved

Lamesa Will Open In City

LAMESA, Dec. 7 — Organizational meeting of the new District 3-AA executive committee was conducted here Monday, under the redistricting plan of the Texas Interscholastic league, and the conference football schedule for 1949 was approved following admittance of Brownfield and Lamesa to the loop.

The "charter" schools in the revised 3-AA circuit Lubbock, Odessa and Midland, first voted Lamesa into the district after school officials pointed out that only a mistake made the procedure necessary. Lamesa has more than 500 students in high school required for Class AA competition, officials reported, but an error forced the "red tape" of voting the school into the loop. Brownfield does not have the necessary enrollment, but the school was voted in without delay.

Big Spring Refused

Big Spring, another former 3-AA member before the realignment petitioned for admission to the new circuit, but the request was refused in a vote by the member schools. Big Spring could not be admitted without unanimous approval of the group, and one unfavorable vote barred the entrance of the school.

The football schedule for 1949 was the chief item of business, however. After preliminaries were cleared from the program, it was apparent that one of the five schools in the district would have to do without a Thanksgiving day game. Numbers were drawn from a hat and Odessa, usually lucky in draws and flips of the coin, drew the "No. 1" that dropped the Broncos from the Thanksgiving slate.

Odessa and Lubbock quickly agreed to stage their important clash on Armistice day, however, and Odessa was named as the game site on the flip of a coin by Lubbock Supt. R. W. Matthews. Supt. Murray Fly of Odessa called "tails" when the coin was in the air—and tails it was. Lubbock and Odessa have met for the last eight years in non-conference tussles, but the 1949 tilt will be the first title meeting of the two schools.

Other holiday games will be a Brownfield-Lubbock clash at Lubbock on Thanksgiving day, and a Brownfield-Lamesa battle at Lamesa on Armistice day.

The Westerners will open the district race Oct. 28, when Lamesa invades Lubbock, then the Hub city schoolboys tangle with Odessa on Nov. 11 following an open date. Lubbock goes to Midland Nov. 18, then closes the regular season with the Brownfield Cubs at Lubbock.

Rules for the new district were drawn up at the meeting, and various procedures were adopted by the group. The executive committee voted a price scale on tickets of $1.50 for reserved seats, $1.20 for general admission, 75 cents for college students and 30 cents for public school students. All prices include tax.

Officials authorized local school authorities to set their own prices to radio stations in their home towns, but recommended that one visiting station be allowed to broadcast without charge.

A sliding scale was set to compensate home teams for game expenses, with the visiting elevens to receive 50 per cent of the complete game receipts after expenses and payment to game officials have been deducted.

Numerous other regulations included designation of seats for scouts from district schools, who will have to buy special tickets, and a rule which will ban all game passes except to members of the working press and radio.

Special Meeting Slated

Coaches of the new district will hold a special meeting at Lamesa Jan. 10, then a regular meeting of the executive committee is scheduled late in January. Annual fall meeting was tentatively set for the second week in October.

Frank Monroe, superintendent of the Midland schools, was elected as chairman of the executive committee, and Lubbock Principal Floyd Honey was named as secretary for the group. The chairmanship will rotate each year, officials said, with Brownfield, Lamesa, Lubbock and Odessa taking over the post in alphabetical order.

C. R. (Pat) Pattison, Lubbock Westerner athletic director and head football coach, revealed following the session that he was "fairly satisfied" with the results of the meeting. He pointed out that Lubbock will have to make two long trips on successive weekends in November, to Odessa and Midland, but reported that Lubbock would probably be able to schedule at least five home games. The non-conference slate has not been completed, but negotiations with several schools are now in progress.

Coach Pattison is making every effort to schedule Amarillo, and has offered the Sandie officials their choice of the first six weekends of the schedule. No definite agreement between the two schools has been reached at the present time, however.

The complete district schedule:

Oct. 28— Lamesa at Lubbock; Midland at Odessa.

Nov. 4— Midland at Brownfield; Odessa at Lamesa.

Nov. 11— Lubbock at Odessa; Brownfield at Lamesa.

Nov. 18— Lubbock at Midland; Odessa at Brownfield.

Nov. 24— Brownfield at Lubbock; Lamesa at Midland.

Phillips-Monahans Ducats Go On Sale; Big Crowd Forecast

LUBBOCK EVENING JOURNAL

With the Phillips-Monahans quarter-final game in the Class A championship race set for Saturday afternoon at 2 in Jones Stadium at Texas Tech, only the selling of tickets remains as a goal to be met.

And tickets were to go on sale today at 1 p. m. at two locations, at Wylie's Drug store and the high school athletic office. Tomorrow, tickets will go on sale at Texas Tech and Hop Halsey's Drug store on College avenue.

Prices For Ducats

Prices for reserved seats will be $1.50 per ticket for adults, with 50 cents charged to students, both Texas Tech and public school.

The Lubbock Jaycees assured officials of Monahans and Phillips Sunday that they would do everything they could to make the game a financial success and have taken over the ticket sales. Horace Gearhart, president, called the school officials to tell them of Jaycee plans and to pledge cooperation.

Lubbock Jaycee officials felt certain that they would be able to have a crowd in excess of 10,000 persons, providing they received a break in the weather. The Jaycee ticket committee, operating under the chairmanship of R. S. Wilkinson and Harold Chapman, will handle all details on a non-profit basis.

The winner of the Phillips-Monahans game will advance to the semi-final round of the state Class A championship and will play the winner of the Bowie-New London game.

This will be the first time in 10 years, exactly, that Lubbock has been host to a state championship high school football game. Ten years ago Lubbock High school played Masonic Home of Fort Worth here. Since then, there have been no Class AA games of quarter-final rank or more.

Phillips and Monahans will be meeting in one of the most closely watched Class A games in the state. Both are rated as outstanding powers and it already has been indicated that most observers think the winner of this game will be the State Class A champion.

Young Sparks Lobos

Waldo Young, a 145-pounder, is the spark of the Lobos and a dangerous runner. He gets able support from 190-pound Ray Cathey the line-smashing fullback. These two players are always a threat and personally took charge of the 33-28 victory Monahans scored over Ballinger in their regional meeting Friday.

But Phillips has a quartet of backs to equal the Lobos. The Blackhawks can shake loose at almost any given minute such shifty runners as Melvin Eldridge, a 128-pounder; 127-pounder John Ussery; 120-pound Billy Braden at quarterback, a ball-handling genius under the T; and Tommy Moore, the giant of the backfield at 140 pounds. These four players ripped Post to shreds Saturday at Amarillo and Braden was the only one held in check. His total gain was only 98 yards rushing in scoring two touchdowns.

PISTONS PURCHASE PUGH

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Dec. 7 (AP) —The Fort Wayne Zollner Pistons have purchased the contract of youthful Roy Pugh, skyscraping center, from the Philadelphia Warriors. Pugh, standing six inches over the six foot mark, was a star at Southern Methodist university last year before turning pro basketball player.

Baseball's Trade Winds Blow Hotter; Big Deals In Making

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 7 (AP)—Baseball's trade winds, just gentle zephyrs up to now, blew hotter today as the diamond's great and near-great prepared for the opening gavel of the annual minor league meeting.

Just what was in the works was a big, dark secret among the owners and managers, but a few words here and there indicated things were moving along.

For instance, the Chicago White Sox sold a first baseman yesterday. And Frank Lane, the new general manager, said he has offered $100,000 in cash and three players for third baseman Bob Dillinger of the St. Louis Browns.

Then, too, there was word the Browns were dickering with the New York Yankees over Dillinger and that the White Sox had some sort of negotiations on with the Yankees for third baseman Bill Johnson. Lane also is reported to be interested in some pitchers.

And so it went. Little remarks dropped here and there over the past three days could develop into a transaction, signed, sealed and ready for delivery. Late arrivals of the men who have the final say on such things gave impetus to the feeling that some pretty important deals were just about ready.

The sale of Tony Lupien by the White Sox to Sacramento of the Pacific coast league left the Sox with a rookie and a second baseman that can be converted, if need be. Manager Jack Onslow says he expects great things from Gordon Goldsberry, up from Memphis. The convertible second baseman is Don Kolloway.

A meeting of league presidents and the presidents' dinner were all that remained before the 47th annual convention of the National Association of Professional Leagues opens formally tomorrow morning. It will end Friday.

Farwell Basketball Tourney Is Slated

FARWELL, Dec. 7 (Special) — Everything is in readiness here for the Farwell Invitational Basketball tournament, which will be played in the high school gym Dec. 16, 17 and 18.

Eight boys teams and eight girls teams have entered the tourney, which will be conducted with both a championship and a consolation bracket. Teams in the upper half of the boys bracket include Bovina, Farwell, Littlefield and Lazbuddie, while the lower half teams are Vega, Dumas, Seagraves and Adrian.

Littlefield Girls Entered

The girls bracket also has an upper and lower half with both championship and consolation play. In the upper half are Littlefield, Lazbuddie, Dumas and Springlake, while P. Hill, Texico, Farwell and Bovina teams are in the lower half.

Play in the boys brackets will get underway at 8 p. m. Thursday, when Littlefield meets Lazbuddie, and this game will be followed at 9 p. m. by Bovina-Farwell. Vega will play Dumas at 11 a. m. Friday and Seagraves will meet Adrian at 2 p. m. Friday.

In the girls bracket, play will begin Thursday night at 7, when Littlefield meets Lazbuddie. Friday's girls games will be at 9 a. m., when Farwell meets Bovina, at 10 a. m., when P. Hill plays Texico, and at 1 p. m., when Dumas opposes Springlake.

Finals Set Saturday

There will be three consolation round and one championship round games on Friday, with semi-final and final round games being played on Saturday.

Everything is being done to make the teams welcome for the tournament. They will be fed in the school lunchroom and Coach Purvis will be available to supply information needed.

Officials for the tourney will be Vaughn McDowell and Charlie Fisher.

Brownfield Cagers Offer Strong Threat

BROWNFIELD, Dec 7 (Special) —Two strong independent teams probably will spark basketball play here this year.

Primm Drug five will compete again this year and the squad is managed by Darrell P. "Snuffy" Moorhead. Two years ago, Primm represented District 2 in the TAAF tournament.

The United Geophysical company quintet, a new team, has been organized here, with Clyde Bond, jr., as business manager and Lester Warlick as playing manager.

Brownfield, Lamesa Cagers Will Battle

BROWNFIELD, Dec. 7 (Special) —The Lamesa Golden Tornadoes invade the basketball court of the Cubs here tonight in the first home game of the season.

The Cubs opened the season with a strong 37-29 win over the Tahoka Bulldogs away from home and are counted on to make a good showing in their initial home tilt.

In his first year at Brownfield High school, Farris Nowell, basketball coach, has three lettermen, Glen Gorby, center, and Jim Billings and Jodie Line, guards, around which to build this year's team. Gorby, the Cubs' high scorer last season, was also selected on the all-district 1-AA second team, although the locals failed to win a single conference game.

Other candidates showing up well in practice include Dale Cary, John Franks, John Thompson, Jimmy Ritchie, Sam Ritchie, Calvin Farris and Tommy Crosslin. Three others, Doyle Drake, J. C. Shaddock and Clyde Chambliss, being counted on to bolster this season's team, will not be eligible until after mid-term.

Westerners To Enter Tourney

A lengthy practice session was held by Lubbock High's undefeated Westerner cagers Monday afternoon at the Senior High gym, as the Hub city schoolboys opened preparations for the Borger Invitational tournament this weekend.

The squad was handicapped in the drill by the absence of stellar Guard Charles Galey, who is out of action with a foot injury, but Coach Roy Morris and assistant Bill Floyd sent the cagers through a thorough workout on play patterns and passing. Big Jim Wilson, the tall Westerner center and one of two returning regulars of 1947-48, continued to show improvement, as did stocky Morris (Moe) Turner.

Squad Lacks Practice

Coach Morris reported last night that the Westerners "will really get down to work" today in an effort to smooth out the rough spots in the offense and defense before tangling with the quints at Borger. The Westerners are hampered by the fact that several of the top prospects have only had about a week of practice since they reported from the grid squad, and have not had enough time to get back their timing and marksmanship.

Some of the top cage teams in the Panhandle are slated to battle for first-place honors in the Borger tourney. Amarillo's Golden Sandies, defending champions in District 1-AA, will be on hand, as well as Borger's speedy five. Childress is slated to bid for the top spot, with accurate-shooting T. Jones sparking the attack, and Class A powers such as Spearman and Stratford are included on the tourney roster.

The Westerners are scheduled to play their first meet game at 7 o'clock Thursday night, when they battle the Spearman quint. The remainder of the bracket could not be determined Monday night, but it is probable that either Amarillo or Borger will compete in the same bracket with Lubbock.

The Westerner squad will leave for the tourney site Thursday, but the exact time has not been set, Coach Morris has announced.

Austin College Head Grid Coach Resigns

SHERMAN, Dec. 7. (AP)—Bill Pierce, head football coach and athletic director at Austin college, last night turned in his resignation to college President W. B. Guerrant.

Pierce's resignation is effective March 15, 1949, at the expiration of his two-year contract.

Austin college won only two games this past football season.

Woodcock Wins But Loses Title Chance

BEN HOGAN

LONDON, Dec. 7 (AP) — Bruce Woodcock won the fight but lost the big prize—any hope for a world title match with heavyweight Champion Joe Louis.

Lee Savold lost the bout but showed himself a better man and worthier foe for Louis than the winner.

That sums up the slant of expert ringsiders on the scheduled 10-round go here last night that had been plugged as an elimination for a world championship contest.

Hit Below The Belt

Woodcock, the British heavyweight champion, won the fight in the fourth round when Savold was disqualified for hitting below the belt. Savold, veteran ex-Minnesotan now billed from Paterson, N. J., was going strong at the time.

The crowd of 11,000 in Harringay arena booed the decision while Woodcock writhed and mugged on the canvas in a show of pain.

London fight writers took exception to the outcome in this morning's papers, and almost to a man they agreed Woodcock is not championship material.

To Fly To New York

The News Chronicle quoted Jack Solomons as saying he'd fly to New York tomorrow to try to talk the 20th Century Sporting club into a match between Louis and Woodcock in London next summer.

Solomons couldn't be reached for a check today.

Referee Sam Russell said he probably would have let Savold off with a warning—which would have been the second such—if Woodcock hadn't gone on "lying in agony on the canvas."

Savold weighed 188, Woodcock 191.

It now is reported that synthetic detergents are creeping up on soaps, with production of 1948 and 1949 estimated at one billion pounds.

Hogan Is Named Top Pro Golfer Of Year

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (AP)—Ben Hogan has been named professional golfer of the year.

Fred Corcoran, editor of the Official Golf Guide, announced the selection of Hogan as the best play-for-pay golfer yesterday.

Corcoran named Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, the men's amateur of the year; Grace Lenczyk of Newington, Conn., women's amateur, and Mrs. Babe Zaharias of Denver, women's professional of the year.

Slim Crowd Attends Final Grid Club Meet

Only a slim crowd turned out last night for the final Quarterback club meeting of the year held in the gym at Texas Tech, where pictures of the Hardin-Simmons-Texas Tech football game of Nov. 27 were shown as the main attraction.

A short talk by C. R. "Pat" Pattison, Lubbock High school football coach, opened the meeting. Coach Pattison reported on the initial District 3-AA meeting which he attended yesterday, announcing that Lubbock had failed in an effort to get a Thanksgiving Day game here with Odessa.

Coach Pattison said that the teams flipped for games and Lubbock lost. As a result, the Westerners will go to Odessa next fall for an Armistice Day game.

The meeting was in charge of Tom Duggan, jr., president of the club this past season.

Raiders, Rice Tangle Tonight

HOUSTON, Dec. 7 (Special)—The Red Raiders of Texas Tech and the Owls of Rice Institute will square off here tonight at 8 in an inter-conference basketball game.

Coach Polk Robison of Tech brought a 13-man squad to Houston for the game following an even split in two games against SMU Friday and Saturday. The Raiders won the second game 60-58, after dropping the initial contest 57-45.

The Owls will be a slight favorite to add the Raider scalp to the list, although the Rice team hasn't been too imposing in its games so far. Tech has a fast-breaking quintet that promises to give the Owls a good deal of trouble.

The Raiders will return to Lubbock tomorrow, where they will be idle until next Tuesday, when they open their Border Conference schedule against Arizona State at Flagstaff in Lubbock.

EXHIBITION CALLED OFF

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 7 (AP)—A scheduled exhibition bout between Marcel Cerdan, middleweight champion of the world, and Cosby Linson here last night was postponed until Friday, promoter Abe Katz said today. Katz said illness of Cerden caused the postponement. He said the champ from Casablanca had developed a bad cold.

Between . . . The Lines

— By JOE KELLY —

Hail to the Chamber of Commerce, Texas Tech and the Lubbock Jaycees, who managed to go out and secure the Phillips-Monahans state Class A quarter-final football game. We feel that the extensive efforts all made were well worthwhile, not only from a Lubbock standpoint, but also from a Tech standpoint. Now, with a break in the weather, it's up to us to get a good crowd out for the game. And that ought not to be hard to do, for the fans will be rewarded by seeing two of the best teams in the state in action.

We were particularly pleased to see the Jaycees step into the picture. We thought that it was up to the Chamber to make the initial step and we hoped that once that was done, the Jaycees would come through in their usual maganimous way. They did and it was largely through their assurance of aid that officials of both schools agreed to come here. Horace Gearhart said that they would do everything in their power to assure a financial success and when he said that, he meant it.

The Jaycees, with no thought of profit for themselves, are handling the sale of the tickets, the printing of programs, the concessions and ticket taking without making one slim dime out of the deal. They will bear the brunt of the work, take the bare expenses out of the profits, then split the profits evenly between Monahans and Phillips. We don't know of a more fair procedure and this work will add to the ease with which the two schools come here.

We talked with superintendents of Monahans and Phillips yesterday and both were pleased that they were bringing their squads to Lubbock. They expressed extreme disappointment over their treatment in the past and Phillips was mighty unhappy over the treatment at Amarillo. Instead of the 10,000 or more crowd, only 5,215 persons turned out — and most of them were from Post and Phillips. Here the two teams apparently will be getting a really square deal and if 9,000 fans will turn out for a Bi-District game, we ought to have at least 15,000 out for a state quarter-final game.

Post had a good team and we fully expected them to carry the fight to Coach Chesty Walker's crew. But we hadn't seen the likes of Phillips in a Class A team this year. They are small, yes, but mighty and they'll give any team a run for it's money. The line charges well, it blocks beautifully and the downfield blocking looks bigtime. The backs ran hard. They used their speed and elusiveness to shake loose at the line of scrimmage and then were hard to stop in the open, always driving forward. The Blackhawks also tackle hard and accurately. Several times they sent Post players off the field as a result of their clean, but hard, tackles.

We don't know much about Monahans, but from what fans who have seen them have said, the Lobos are tough. They have a big, aggressive line and they have two fine backs operating like Davis and Blanchard of Army. Ray Cathey is a big boy who pounds inside and Waldo Young is a small lad who trips outside. Pete Peters, photographer of high school and college games, has seen both teams and he says he'll take Monahans. But after watching Phillips Saturday, he said that it would be a whale of a game.

There may be more favoritism for Phillips locally than Monahans, simply because three former Blackhawks are on the Texas Tech squad. Fullback Earl Jackson is one of them and the other two are brothers, Bobby and Don Williams. And one of the leading linemen in Class A football is Jimmy Williams of Phillips, a center and brother of Don and Bobby. We watched Jimmy with a good deal of interest Saturday. He's a tall (6-3), husky (180) lad with a lot of fire. By count in one game this year he made 18 of the first 20 tackles. He didn't fall far from that last Saturday.

Coach Walker told us before the game Saturday that without Jimmy he wouldn't have a ball club. He also admitted that he was the best of the Williams brothers that he had coached. Riding back from Amarillo, Bobby was in the car. We asked him if Jimmy had said anything about college and where he would go. The Red Raider football co-captain said that he hadn't indicated. But Tech coaches last night declared that they were hot on his trail. We aren't really worried about whether Jimmy comes to Tech or not. We have a feeling that he will. It may have been coincidence that he wore the jersey number "50," but we doubt it. Brothers often have a lot of respect for older brothers and that's the number Bobby had this season.

Thomas Tinkers Down Littrell Basketeers

Lubbock's Thomas Tinkers, paced by Bob Galey's 25 points, chalked up a 49-40 victory over the Littrell service five in a City Basketball league tilt Monday night at Senior High gymnasium. Littrell was sparked by Virgil Johnson's 16 points.

In another City loop game Levelland, sparked by Morris McClendon's 15 points, drubbed Spade by a 62-26 count. Vance Osborne scored 15 points for Spade.

Two industrial league tilts were unreeled at the O. L. Slaton Junior High gym, with Sanders beating Furr Foods, 36-33, and Rigney Auto topping the Lubbock Cowhands, 47-34. Bob Clodfelter swished the net for 12 points for Sanders and Dan Harris chalked up 12 for Furr. Jimmy Smyth topped Rigney Auto with 16 points, but Walter Norton tied for high point honors with 16 for the Continued

Irish To Have Full Schedule

CHICAGO, Dec. 7 (U.P.)—Notre Dame has no problem with its football schedule for 1949, but Ed "Moose" Krause of the Irish athletic staff will be at the Big Nine's annual meeting this weekend seeking opponents for 1950 or any year after that.

There's been a lot of talk about Notre Dame's troubles in obtaining a full grid schedule, but while the shoe is growing tighter, there are no bunions likely next fall.

The Irish played a 10-game schedule this season and every team they faced except Northwestern and Nebraska will be back on the 1949 slate In addition Tulane, which began a four year contract with Notre Dame in 1947, will come back for its second game next fall.

Negotiating With SMU

That gives athletic director and football Coach Frank Leahy nine games for sure in 1949, and he has no great desire for more contests.

"We'll will be satisfied with nine games," he said. "If we have to, we can play 10 games."

Notre Dame is negotiating, too, with Southern Methodist for a three-year contract. However, the date on which they would play the first game is indefinite. According to reports from Texas, Southern Methodist expects to open the series in 1949, but that would give Notre Dame a 10-game schedule.

The Irish would like to open the series in 1950 when they may have trouble filling their schedule.

Michigan Is Eyed

Krause, who is head basketball coach now and may become athletic director at Notre Dame next month, would like to open more friendly relations with Big Nine teams With this objective, he attends major conference meetings, particularly those at which football schedules are prepared.

This weekend the conference must prepare its grid programs for 1950, 1951 and 1952, and Notre Dame would like to move in on Michigan, Minnesota, Illinois, Ohio State or some of the rest.

Three Big Nine teams, Purdue, Indiana and Iowa, already are on the Irish grid program. But Indiana and Iowa usually are second division ball clubs and Notre Dame would like to take on some of the powerhouses.

Notre Dame has played every team in the Big Nine in football at one time or another, and the conference teams have not fared too well. Some sources claim that the Big Nine doesn't like the beatings Notre Dame dishes out.

USC Disputed Play Remains Unsettled

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7 (INS) — Movies of the Notre Dame-USC football game failed today to settle the dispute over whether there actually was pass interference on the play that set up the ball for Notre Dame's tying touchdown.

The film was run twice on the much-discussed play at the weekly meeting of the Trojan club. All agreed that it proved nothing.

The camera position was such that it was impossible to tell whether Gene Beck, Trojan defender, interferred with Billy Gay, Notre Dame receiver, as Gay was attempting to take a pass in the USC end zone during the closing moments of the game.

The picture did show that there was no doubt about interference in field judge Orian Landreth's mind. The movie showed him throwing down his handkerchief to indicate a foul before the men hit the ground.

USC took a 12-yard penalty on the play. It put the ball on the USC one-yard line and from there the Irish pushed over the touchdown that gave them a tie.

Pacific Coast Conference Commissioner Victor O. Schmidt said he expected an official report from Landreth within a day or two. Schmidt said that after receiving the report he would issue a statement on the decision, before the week was out.

Little School Claims Edge Over Michigan

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Dec. 7 (AP) — Little Wesleyan today claims it holds an over-all edge over Michigan in football.

Both clubs have now won 23 in a row. They're both coached by former Michigan stars, Norm Daniels and Bennie Oosterbaan. But—and here it comes—in the only game between the two colleges, Wesleyan outscored the Wolverines, 14-6. That was Nov. 19, 1883, at Hartford.

Let's see now. Michigan was voted the nation's number one team in 1948 in the Associated Press Poll. Where does that put Wesleyan?

Golf Needs Amateur Threat, Editor Says

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 7 (AP)—What golf needs today, says Fred Corcoran, is a well developed amateur threat.

The sport can get some pretty good ideas, said the editor of the Official Golf Guide, by examining the sandlots and schools of organized baseball.

The last amteur to win the national open was Johnny Goodman in 1933, which points up the need of a good amateur threat, said Corcoran.

REGION 7B GAME SLATED

MEXIA, Dec. 7 (U.P.)—The region 7B football championship will be decided here Friday night in a game between Elkhart and Midway. Officials of the two schools met here yesterday and chose to play the game on a neutral field. Elkhart is the 25B-26B bi-district champion, Midway the winner of 27B-28B bi-district play.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

by Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (AP) — National Football League magnates, who claim they discount attendance figures and count only the cash that comes in at the gate, say their receipts are off only five to seven per cent this season. In contrast, amusement enterprises report drops of 25 per cent and up . . . While the Oklahoma Aggies football team is playing William and Mary in the Delta bowl New Year's day, the Aggie track team will compete in the Sugar bowl meet, an Oklahoma Indian team will appear in the Memphis carnival and the Aggie basketballers will return from an eastern tour for the Oklahoma City tournament. Doesn't anybody stay at home? . . . All five regulars on the Cornell basketball team, and a couple of subs, belong to one fraternity, Psi Upsilon.

Frank Howard, Clemson coach, was addressing a student pep rally when he came up with this gem: "We will try to win this game. The players will do their best. We had some bad games last year so 'T' had a bad season. This year we're winning so 'you' are winning. It looks like when the team wins, it's yours and when we lose it's mine."

One-Minute Sports Page

Harry Perkowski, young southpaw pitcher who'll be in the Cincinnati Reds camp next spring, not only had a 22-9 record for Tulsa last season, but set a Texas league record as a pinch-hitter. Harry made 15 hits in 30 pinch efforts for a .500 average . . . Ken Terry, candidate for center on the Mississippi basketball team, is Memphis Bill's son and his rival at the same position, Don Blanchard, is a cousin to Army's Doc . . . Speaking of kinfolks, Bill Bos plays center for Kalamazoo college and in the same league brother Bob is on the "B" squad at Hope college and brother Dale plays for Alma college . . . Hefty Harry Boykoff, former St. John's (Brooklyn) cager who has shed 55 pounds since joining Waterloo, Iowa, of the National Pro league, is taking judo lessons from owner Pinky George. That we'd like to see.

Stout Steve Owen maintains that the most successful scout who ever worked for him was Sec Taylor, Des Moines sports scribe . . . "Sec recommended just one player, Kink Richards," Steve explains. "You remember what a big, rough guy Kink was. Apparently Sec figures he's batting 1.000 and he intends to stay that way."

Cleaning The Cuff

The 26th annual Peoria Star brothers bowling tourney will get underway Dec. 26. Since 1923 the entry list has grown from 119 pairs to last year's 1,850 entries or 3,700 brothers . . . Army Coach Earl Blaik maintains he really thought Bobby Jack Stuart could play through the Navy game despite his injuries. "A big crowd does something to the boys," Earl explains, "and I though Stuart could play when he saw those 102,000 people in the stands."

COACH OF YEAR — NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (AP)—Bennie G. Oosterbaan, serving his first year as head coach at Michigan, was voted "coach of the year" today in the World Telegram's annual poll. Oosterbaan, who led the Wolverines through a perfect season to a second straight Western conference championship, succeeds Herbert O. (Fritz) Crisler, who received the honor last year.

Wayland To Defend Conference Crown

PLAINVIEW, Dec. 7 (Special)—Defense of the Texas Junior College Conference crown looms large on the horizon for Wayland college's Pioneers, as they prepare to protect that title with exhibition games.

Four lettermen dominate the 13-man squad that is working out daily in an effort to better the mark of 26 victories and seven defeats posted last year. Other squad members include five freshmen and four members of last year's squad.

So far this year in winning three games against one loss, Wayland has averaged 58 points a game. They beat Sayre twice, 67-43 and 48-43, and Hardin 59-41, while losing to McMurry 71-39.

Coach H. J. Redin this year has the following lettermen back: T. K. Criswell of Anton and Bill Knighton of Canyon, guards; D. W. Harkins, of Levelland, forward, and Runt Burch of Plainview, center. Squadmen include Gordon Gross of Gruver and Buddy Duncan of Portales, N. M., guards; L. T. White of Canyon, forward; and Paul Young of Farwell, center. Freshmen include Jones Goode of Plainview and Donnie Fletcher of Gruver, guards ;and Ed Billings of Anton, Jesse Woodward of Enid, Okla., and Calvin Garrett of Plainview, forwards.

Tom Hamilton Going To Pitt

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 7 (AP) — Navy Capt. Tom Hamilton has accepted Pitt's athletic directorship and the university hailed his decision as "an early visit from Santa Claus."

The 42-year-old Naval Academy athletic director will report here Feb. 1 as director of physical education and athletics, a new title at Pitt. That date concides with the date Navy Secretary John L. Sullivan agreed to allow Hamilton to retire.

Hamilton's salary here reportedly will be about $15,000 under a contract which a Pitt source doubted would be for longer than five years. Contract signing may occur within the next fortnight. Hamilton previously was scheduled to be a guest of the Monday Quarterbacks at their banquet here Dec. 15.

Retires From Navy

The Navy war and athletic hero telephoned his acceptance to Pitt Chancellor Rufus B. Fitzgerald. This action ended a week of speculation over whether the Navy would permit him to retire to a civilian job.

Hamilton announced in Washington he was retiring from the Navy after 25 years of service to devote all of his time "to the development of youth."

Presumably that youth development will embrace the rebuilding of Pitt football teams into something approaching the stature the Panthers' held until a decade ago.

Carver to Remain

Carver took over at Pitt after James (Whitey) Hagan resigned last summer under fire. Carver is slated to become graduate manager under the Hamilton regime.

"We are very happy that the university has secured the services of a man of the caliber of Thomas Hamilton," said Chancellor Fitzgerald.

Hamilton said:

"It is with regret that I leave the Navy after 25 years of service. I hold the deepest regard and respect for the fighting Navy and for the lads who have battled so valiantly in Navy football."

Ropesville Squads Win Over Levelland

ROPESVILLE, Dec. 7 (Special) —Ropesville's cagers swept three games from Levelland here last night, with the boys' A five beating the visitors, 31-24, in the top tussle. Glenn Hewlett tallied 10 points for Ropesville and Morris notched seven for Levelland.

The Ropesville "B" boys edged by Levelland, 28-26, as Arant swished the net for 15 points. Clarkson scored 14 for Levelland.

In the girls' game, Ropesville bested Levelland by a 21-19 margin. Bevers led Ropesville with 10 points and Tipton scored seven for Levelland.

GOLF MEET TO BE REVIVED

CHICAGO, Dec. 7 (INS) — The Women's Western Golf Association announced last night that its Junior Invitational open championship, an annual event from 1920 through 1941, will be resumed again Aug. 1 through 5 of next year at Onwentsia country club near Chicago.

Offense Record Of Spec Sanders Falls

NEW YORK, Dec. 7. (AP)—A superb all-around performance in his final game of the year brought Glenn Dobbs of the Los Angeles Dons a flock of records and the total offense championship of the All-American football conference.

A perusal of the statistics charts today showed the big Texan not only won that No. 1 title but the punting crown as well.

Dobbs, a fleet, 6-4 back who prepped at Tulsa U., accounted for 2,942 yards on 460 plays to better the mark of 2,874 established by Spec Sanders of the New York Yankees last year. Otto Graham, Cleveland's great quarterback, finished second with 2,859 and retained his forward passing crown.

Fast Frenship Whips Wellman In Two Tilts

Frenship's speedy cagers won two games from Wellman Monday night at the Frenship gym, although one tilt was deadlocked.

In the feature tussle the Frenship boys nosed out Wellman, 23-21, as Roy Gillit hit the loop for 12 points. Welch and Hamm each tallied eight for Wellman.

The Frenship boys B quint drubbed the Wellman five, 20-6. Jim Johnson led Frenship with seven points, while Smith, Lindsey and Roberts each collected two for Wellman.

The Frenship girls tied with Wellman, 27-27, and the teams did not play off the deadlock. Mary Catherine Hitt scored 19 points for Frenship.

North Texas State Defeats TCU, 71-44

(By The Associated Press)

North Texas State handed Texas Christian university its second straight licking in as many starts, fashioning a 71-44 victory last night.

Texas Christian lost three of its better players early in the second half when they fouled out. Fifty-six personal fouls were committed in the basketball game at Denton.

Two games are on tap tonight for Southwest conference teams.

Baylor meets St. Louis university at St. Louis, Mo., and Rice is host to Texas Tech at Houston.

Tomorrow, Texas A. and M. meets Sam Houston state at Huntsville and Texas plays Oklahoma university at Norman, Okla.

Texas Teams End Cage Tilt In Tie

KINGSVILLE, Dec. 7 (AP)—Ever hear of a tie in basketball; Texas A. and I. and Southwestern University had one. Here's how it happened:

At the close of the game the scoreboard read 36-35 in favor of Southwestern.

A check of the scorebooks (both A. and I. and Southwestern) by the officials showed the score to be 35-35.

But in the meantime Southwestern's team had left the gym and gone to its hotel. So the officials called it a tie.

A. and I. would like to play it off with Southwestern some time if the latter can work A. and I. into its schedule.

Golfers To Qualify For Miami Tourney

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 7. (AP)—About 145 golfers, mostly amateurs, will compete today for 75 berths remaining for the $10,000 Miami open golf tournament which begins Thursday.

The field has been limited to 150 players. Seventy-five are excluded from the qualifying rounds by Professional Golf association rules. Thus the 75 low scorers today will have a shot at the $10,000 which will be awarded in Miami's 25th annual 72-hole event.

Only three "big" name pros—Ben Hogan, Cary Middlecoff and Jim Ferrier—are absent from the final tournament of 1948.

Heavyweights Battle In Cleveland Tonight

CLEVELAND, Dec. 7 (AP)—Heavyweights Jimmy Bivins and Joe Maxim trade punches in a 10-rounder at the arena tonight with the winner becoming a strong candidate for a bout with champion Joe Louis next June.

It's almost a certainty that the victor will fight Jersey Joe Walcott here next month in one of a series of eliminations to find a suitable opponent for Louis.

Rules Of Contract System Are Altered

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 7(INS) — The National Baseball Congress, in session today in Minneapolis, approved a revised contract system which will affect an estimated 200,000 sandlot and semi-pro players.

The new stipulations provide that sponsors of N.B.C. teams will have complete protection of players who sign N.B.C. contracts for an entire season. "Jumping" players, unless released, will be suspended from the congress for life.

President Raymond Dumont pointed out that one reason nonprofessional baseball had fewer sponsors after the peak of the mid-20's was that sponsors had no control over their players.

Other developments at today's N.B.C. session, held in advance of the minor league meetings which open in Minneapolis Wednesday, included:

1. Affiliation with 500 radio stations for free distribution of 1,000,000 official 1949 baseball rule books to encourage organization of more teams;

2. Annual award of a plaque to the nation's number one "town" team—that city of under 2,500 population whose team finishes highest in the National N.B.C. Tournament at Wichita, Kans.;

3. Adoption of a plan which will assure a berth in state elimination tournaments to each team which leading its league on July 1.

U. S. Seeks UN Protection Of Korea From Communist Terror

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, Dec. 7.—The United States today asked United Nations protection for the republic of Korea against threats of violence and terror from Communist-controlled North Korea.

John Foster Dulles, acting chairman of the American delegation, told the political committee U. N. members should show "solidarity with the newly formed but already threatened government of the republic of Korea."

Red Nations Blasted

Dulles, first speaker in the long-delayed Korean debate, also blasted Russia, Poland and Czechoslovakia for giving recognition to the regime of North Korea.

Russian delegates already have served indirect notice they will do their utmost to bar assembly action on Korea in the five working days left here.

Dulles declared the Communist regime of North Korea asserts pretentions to govern the entire country and threatens to back those pretentions with force and violence.

Terrorism Described

"Already it has incited acts of terrorism and cruelty that shock all recent people," he said. "Yet that regime, born in obscurity, in defiance of the United Nations has been recognized by three members states: The Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia and Poland, and is, it seems, supported morally and materially by the forces in North Korea of the Soviet union."

The Korean case came up yesterday but the entire day was spent in an unsuccessful Soviet attempt to get the committee to invite representatives of North Korea to the debate. The committee did invite representatives of the republic of Korea to take part.

Dulles said the U. N. should approve the government of the republic, which was set up under auspices of the U. N. Korean commission. He urged the committee to approve the joint American-Australian-Chinese resolution backing the republic.

Withdrawal Is Favored

Dulles called on the U. N. to continue a Korean commission to help the new government end the wartime military occupation.

"There ought to be an observed withdrawal of occupation forces from all Korea as soon as practical," he said. "And that withdrawal should be a reality so complete and thorough that in fact the Koreon people are truly masters in their own home and not ruled or terrorized by elements that take their orders from without."

Dulles did not mention a date for withdrawal of troops. The Russians have announced they are taking their troops out of the northern zone by next Jan. 1.

Korea now is divided along the 38th parallel. The Soviet occupation zone is in the north and the American zone in the south.

Dulles said the United States believes the U. N. commission could help the Korean people reunite.

Greece Is Example

Using Greece as an example, he said Communist elements seek to impose their will. He added there is danger that these efforts will be supported by neighboring Communist regimes.

The presence of a U. N. commission will deter organized violence, Dulles said.

Dulles closed with a plea for the non-Communist governments in the U. N. to show through the world body a moral solidarity with those subjected to threats of violence.

Sea Rescue

in the early darkness last Sunday morning.

The two rafts were lashed together, Lt. Col. William R. Calhoun of Birmingham, Ala., the plane's pilot, reported in a radiophone interview from the Rendova.

While sharks circled them, the men took turns hanging on the outside of the rafts in the ocean, or resting on the crowded surface. At one time, the pilot said, 18 men were packed onto his raft.

All of the men got seasick. But they were always confident of rescue. Nevertheless Calhoun issued rations gingerly, ready to stretch their supplies over five days.

Each man was limited to only three sips of water until rescue planes sighted them in midafternoon yesterday and dropped additional supplies.

The rescue plane found them because its navigator—Ensign L. R. Johnson of Minneapolis—wanted to make "just one more try." Johnson asked for the extra run after Lt. Commander Steve G. Kona of Hammond, Ind., ordered his searching Privateer to turn back to its Johnston Island base. In six minutes on the extra search the life rafts' green dye marker was sighted directly beneath the Privateer.

Calhoun reported his men saw sharks circling them from the time they "ditched" the plane until they were picked up.

He said to the best of his knowledge everybody got out of the plane when it hit the ocean 1,200 miles southwest of Honolulu.

Man Jumps From Raft

But Capt. James M. Lane of the Rendova radioed that two men went down with the plane. He said another died Sunday night and a fourth jumped overboard Monday after more than thirty hours on a raft in the shark-infested waters.

All survivors were "well and happy" when rescued. And Calhoun sounded calm as he told the story over the radiophone from the Rendova.

"We didn't decide to ditch," Calhoun said. "We just ran out of altitude" after two of the planes' four engines failed on a flight from Okinawa. Everything possible had been jettisoned to keep the plane in the air as long as possible.

The plane sank in 12 minutes.

Hongkong is shipping more bristles to the United States since prices rose 25 per cent.

Daily Markets

Stock Market

MOST STOCKS LOSE

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (AP) A half-hearted rally made only slight headway after an early decline in the stock market today.

Final prices showed a majority of minus signs. Morning loses, though, were either shaded or converted into modest gains.

Changes either way were mostly around a point or less.

A fair amount of business was done, with a slight tendency toward greater activity on price increases. Volume was at the rate of around 1,300,000 shares for the full day.

On the losing side most of the way were U. S. Steel, Republic Steel, Chrysler, Studebaker, Goodrich, Montgomery Ward, J. I. Case, Douglas, Anaconda Copper, Westinghouse Electric, Philip Morris, N. Y. Central and Mission Corp.

Tending higher were Schenley, Zenith Radio, American Can, Allied Chemical, Radio Corp., American Tobacco, Atlantic Refining, Eastern Airlines, Consolidated Natural Gas and Texas Co.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (AP) — Cotton futures turned easy in late dealings today under pressure of profit taking which met an absence of trade support. Buying against export sales in recent sessions was also lacking.

During most of the session, the market fluctuated in a narrow range with rallying tendencies discouraged by hedging and pressure from local traders. Despite the advance in Monday's trading in which nearby deliveries temporarily reached levels almost two cents a pound above the loan price at Memphis, producers did not offer cotton more freely. This was attributed partly to tax reasons.

There were four December transferable notices issued.

Futures closed 60 cents to $1.00 a bale lower than the previous close.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Dec. 7 (AP) — Reports of increased offerings of cash wheat from the southwest developed some liquidation in grain futures today.

There was nothing in the commercial demand to check the decline. Traders said the price of wheat futures was enough above the loan level to bring out farm offerings.

There was some demand for December corn, and that delivery resisted the decline for a time.

At the close wheat was 1 cent to 1⅞ lower than the previous finish. Dec. $2.40½-⅝. Corn was ¼ to ¾ lower. Dec. $1.45⅛-⅜. Oats were unchanged to 2⅛ lower, Dec. 81½.

FORT WORTH REPORT

Italian Food Supply Imperiled By Strike

ROME, Dec. 7. (AP)—Fifty thousand millers, macaroni makers and rice workers struck for more pay today, imperiling supplies of Italy's basic foods.

Stocks of bread, rice and "pasta" will last for a few days but the average Italian faced short rations unless the nationwide strike is settled quickly.

Of Her Disappointment, Housewife Will "Sing It Again"

Woman Claims Telephone Operator Cut Her Off Program Call And $24,000 In Prizes

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Dec. 7 (UP) —Mrs. A. H. Moeller was just about to give the winning reply to a radio quiz show when a telephone operator disconnected her from the program and a $24,000 jackpot of prizes, she complained today.

Mrs. Moeller, wife of a real estate dealer, was called Saturday night from New York City by the "Sing It Again" program. She identified a preliminary jingle as "Cuckoo Clock" and then was asked to identify a "phantom voice" on the show.

"I knew who it was," she said, "and I was tense. Before I could say 'Red Grange' the telephone operator broke in and disconnected me."

Tried For Reconnection

She said she tried frantically to get back the connection but instead got an operator in Milwaukee.

"She told me she had to break the circuit for an important call to Ft. Warren, Wyoming," Mrs. Moeller said.

Mrs. Moeller said she didn't care about Fort Warren, she wanted her call put through again. She quoted the operator as saying:

"You'll have to wait until they call back."

She didn't get the call through again. Meanwhile Dan Seymour, the master of ceremonies on the show, broadcast by the Columbia Broadcasting system, kept trying to get a response.

Investigation Underway

He kept saying "hello," when he received no answer he called Mrs. Margaret Ash of Watertown, N. Y. She identified the preliminary jingle and Grange, the famed galloping ghost of football, and won the jackpot.

Cheyenne telephone officials said the call was not disconnected in the local office and that the matter was being investigated further.

Mrs. Moeller said the jackpot she lost included a trip to Bermuda, an automobile, a $2,000 diamond ring, a $1,000 wrist watch and seven rooms of furniture.

She declined comment on a report she was considering legal action against the telephone company, but said she was pretty upset about the matter.

"It would have bee nwonderful to win all those prizes," she sighed.

Meanest Trick Of Year Pulled In Parade

Old Santa Given Hotfoot And Forced To Evacuate Chimney

BURLINGTON, N. C., Dec. 7 (AP)—Jolly old Santa was anything but jolly at Burlington's Christmas parade. He got the hotfoot.

An unidentified youngster made his way beneath the Chamber of Commerce float bearing Santa as it progressed yesterday along Main street. Once under its covering, the kid set the jolly old saint's trouser leg afire with a match.

Santa merely extinguished the fire before injury or damage resulted.

No sooner had he extinguished the flame, though, than he observed the youth attempting to ignite the other trouser leg. That made Santa hot. This time the old bearded gent disappeared down the chimney on his float and attempted to force the prankster from beneath the vehicle. As he did so, the youth jerked out a pocket knife and cut a hole in Santa's shoe, barely nicking a toe. Santa went up the chimney and the kid fled.

Chinese Reds Near Peiping

PEIPING, China, Dec. 7 (AP) — Northern Communist armies drove down the railway from Jehol toward Peiping today. But Peiping itself was not particularly excited about it.

Government forces abandoned two towns within 40 miles of Peiping in the face of the Red march.

Most Peiping residents were of the opinion the Communist armies were not headed for the city itself. They thought the Red aim was to divert the main forces of Nationalist Commander Gen. Fu Tso-Yi, from other areas to garrison Peiping. At present Peiping is only lightly defended.

Nationalist Withdraw

Fu's headquarters admitted Nationalist troops withdrew from Miyun on the Peiping-Jehol railroad 40 miles northeast of Peiping. They got out after fighting the Communists for several days.

His headquarters also announced they quit Huaijou, only 30 miles northeast of Peiping, without a fight.

Government forces suffered another blow when explosions last night destroyed vitally needed aviation gasoline and ammunition at Peiping's south field. The field seven miles south of Peiping was the main North China air force base for the government.

Nationalist planes operating from this base supported northern war fronts. The explosion was blamed on careless handling of gasoline and ammunition.

Marshall III

this nation's global strategy against the Axis.

His most intense years of work began seven years ago today with the Japanese attack at Pearl Harbor. He retired from the Army at the end of 1946 and thought he was out of public life for good. But within a few days President Truman asked him to undertake a special mission to China where he spent 13 months. He took over the State department post on his return.

During much of the time he has been secretary there have been rumors about his health. Last summer he spent about two weeks undergoing examinations and tests at Walter Reed. Later he told a news conference he was in good health. He had had a minor operation—removal of a small growth from his back.

There was no hint at that time that his condition required an operation. In the fall he went to the United Nations meeting at Paris. On his return here two weeks ago, he again began taking "tests and examinations," as his aides put it.

Washington heard rumors he was confronted with the need for a serious operation but Marshall's closest associates in the State department staunchly denied it. Today's State department report disclosed, however, that the kidney condition had been discovered last summer and the doctors wanted to operate at that time.

Baptists Reelect Department Heads

DALLAS, Dec. 7. (AP)—The executive board of the Texas Baptist convention today reelected heads of all convention departments. It also added five persons to the board to fill vacancies.

The board voted to combi radio and publicity depart and to have them headed by Dr. R. Alton Reed, who formerly headed the radio division.

Also approved were departmental budgets totaling $361,064.

Elected to the board were Doc Jackson of Bowie, Dist. 12; Melvin Ratheal, Spur, Dist. 9; S. M. Swearingen, Marfa, Dist. 7; L. T. Daniel, Woodville, Dist. 3, and Joseph Stiles, Houston, Dist. 4.

Tech President To Speak At Banquet

Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of Texas Technological college, is to be principal speaker at the annual banquet of the Tulia chamber of commerce in the American Legion hall there at 7 o'clock tonight, Manager Ellis M. Mills, of the Tulia chamber, reported today.

The Lubbock chamber will be represented by Jim Crook, assistant manager, Horace Gearhart and E. H. McMurtry.

Lions Club Hears Talk On VA Service

A discussion of the advisement and guidance service of the Veterans administration, by Col. Ross Ayers, and a short program of music by members of the Mourer-Johnson party, now in a revival meeting at Foursquare church here, highlighted the luncheon of the Lions club today at the Hilton hotel.

Mrs. Mourer and Mrs. Johnson, known as the Pearson sisters, sang three sacred numbers, one a Christmas song, with Mrs. Mourer accompanying on the accordion. They were introduced by Rev. Floyd Dawson, Foursquare pastor.

Ayers, who is connected with the rehabilitation division of the Veterans administration, and also is commanding officer of the 132nd Field Artillery battalion of the Texas National Guard, traced one or two case records in an effort to show how a disabled veteran is readjusted to changed circumstances due to war injuries. He was introduced by B. C. McCasland.

Miss Martha Cudd and Miss Ruth O'Conner, of Slaton, announced a play "Ye Village School of Old," to be given under sponsorship of the Slaton Lions club Friday night.

Alton Brazell, Lubbock county FFA leader, announced that the FFA (Future Farmers of America) and 4-H clubs in the county, are sponsoring the appearance here on Friday, Dec. 17, of Dr. Gaffney and his noted magician show.

Club President Wayne Henly was in the chair, with invocation by Judge G. V. Pardue.

132 Traffic Mishaps Probed In November

November's 132 traffic accidents reported to police for investigation included 17 injuries and one fatality, Capt. Bill Lamb of the traffic department of police said this morning.

Capt. Lamb said the fatality raised the total to five for the year, two short of the alltime high of seven in 1946. There were only two traffic fatalities in 1947.

Through November, there had been 1,366 accidents reported and 167 persons injured, the report further showed.

Action In Anti-Trust Suit To Be Continued

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 7 (AP) —After next Friday's session, retrial of the government's anti-trust suit against Griffith Amusement Co. and three others will be continued until Jan. 24.

This agreement has been reached in conferences with attorneys and Federal District Judge Edgar S. Vaught.

Today's session begins at 3 p. m. and will end at 5 p. m.

Retrial of the 9-year-old litigation started last Tuesday.

Aid To Be Asked For Palestine Refugees

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP) — The White House announced today President Truman will ask Congress for up to $16,000,000 for aid to Palestine refugees.

It said that such an appropriation would be this country's share under an aid resolution adopted by the United Nations general assembly November 19.

Trumans Will Spend Holiday In Missouri

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP) — The President, Mrs. Truman and Margaret will eat their Christmas turkey in their home at Independence, Mo.

Mrs. James Helm, White House social secretary, said today that the first lady expects to go to Missouri about the middle of December.

Her mother, Mrs. D. W. Wallace, who has been visiting the family here, and Margaret will go with Mrs. Truman. Mr. Truman will go to Independence later.

Today is a very busy one for Mrs. Truman and Margaret.

They are lunching with the American newspaper women's club at the Statler hotel. Margaret is taking her house guest, Miss Jeanne Rogers of Kansas City, with her.

After the luncheon Mrs. Truman receives Senora De Roman, wife of the president of Nicaragua, at Blair house.

Mrs. Truman returns to the Statler at 5 p. m., for a testimonial tea honoring Mrs. India Edwards, director of the women's division of the Democratic national committee. Women important in political life were invited.

Robbery

before the next grand jury was set by D. W. Robertson, justice of peace.

A 28-year-old Olney man was charged with failure to leave information at the scene of an accident after, police said, his new heavy automobile had contributed to a collision in 300-block Ave. H with one driven by Oliver C. Aiken, jr., of 2213 Eighteenth.

Took License Number

Aiken said the car passed him and "cut in front" of him, then was driven away without lights. Aiken, however, managed to take down a license number.

A collegian arrested shortly after midnight with four other youths for investigation into indecent exposure found himself back in city jail almost immediately after he had pleaded guilty of the charge and paid a fine of $15. He allegedly used abusive language toward police officials.

Three of the five were fined $15, but when officials were booking them the other two climbed out a window and briefly made their escape. Rearrested, they were fined $25 each, corporation court officials said.

Negro Is Stabbed

The sheriff's department sought for questioning a suspect after Herbert Mitchell, a negro of 2403 East Ave. E, had been stabbed about 11 p. m. Monday in a Queen City addition dance hall. Mitchell suffered a six-inch cut of an arm and a stab wound of the chest, officials said. His condition was not believed serious.

Twenty-two Mexican nationals who had crossed into this country illegally were held here for return to their country under custody of border patrolmen. They had been arrested on the North Plains, officials said.

Chief Dep. Sheriff George Eubank late Monday returned Coy T. Armstrong, 27, of Lubbock, from Corpus Christi, where he had been arrested on a charge of desertion of three minor children. Justice Robertson set bond of $1,000.

Donaldson said there is no need for an increase for first-class mail rates because it "is paying its way."

Spy Hearings

of releasing or keeping secret some of the documents it has obtained from Chambers.

The committee's decision came as:

1. A grand jury in New York continued an inquiry into the whole question of Communist espionage. The Chambers-Hiss exchange figures in its inquiry.

2. The White House said President Truman had made no comment on the developments.

3. Nixon announced he plans to seek authority from the committee to put everything that it has learned before the grand jury. He also said he will suggest to the Justice department that it appoint a special attorney to handle the case before the grand jury.

Various Sets Included

Among the documents the committee has gathered together are various sets—some that were produced in the libel suit, some that were obtained by printing microfilms Chambers had hidden in a pumpkin on his Maryland farm, and some obtained from Chambers separately.

Mundt said he didn't know when Chambers might be available for public hearings. Chambers now is appearing before the New York grand jury.

In advance of the renewed public hearings, Mundt arranged to talk with a representative of the FBI and two people from the State department. He said one of the departmental representatives is a high official but wouldn't name him.

Ask Appointments

The FBI and State department callers, he said, asked for appointments with him.

Mundt said there was a "chance" the committee might make some documents public this afternoon and he said he thought there would be something new in Stripling's testimony.

Mundt said the House investigators will "get Chambers just the first minute the grand jury will let him come." He said he hoped that might be tomorrow.

Six Persons Hurt In San Angelo Collision

SAN ANGELO, Dec. 7 (AP)—Six persons were injured, one seriously, in an auto collision here today.

In a hospital after the accident at the intersection of West Ave. and Jackson St. were Mr. and Mrs. Joy Kincannon of Abilene and their 3-year-old son, David, and Mrs. G. S. Billingsley of Lawn and her daughter, Minnie Mae, 16. All were in the Koncannon car.

John Houston, driver of the other car, was uninjured but Jack Smith, a passenger, suffered a lacerated hand.

New Mexico ranks fourth in the production of copper among the western states.

Bonds Set Here For Trial Appearances

County court officials said most of the weekend charges filed in that jurisdiction brought pleas of innocent. In such cases, bonds are set for trial appearance.

Bonds for the following were set, it was announced today:

Placide Alanis, 39, Wayne G. Buzan, 34, both of Lubbock, and Norman M. Lewis, 24, of Littlefield, all on drunk driving charges; and Sonny Childers, Ruth Spender, 31, and Thomas Edward McGuffey, all of Lubbock, on charges of liquor law violation.

Search For Missing Airplane Abandoned

HOUSTON, Dec. 7 (AP)—The Air Force rescue service today abandoned search for three Allentown, Pa., persons missing in their private plane since November 18.

Capt. James Nelson, operations officer for the rescue unit from Briggs Field, El Paso, said the 11-day search was terminated on orders from Washington.

The small plane, enroute from Mineral Wells, to New Orleans, was carrying Mr. and Mrs. W. W. York and their pilot, Joel Ritter, all of Allentown.

Christmas Drive For Basket Funds Is One-Sixth Complete

Approximately one-sixth of the funds the Salvation Army estimates will be required for supplying Christmas baskets to Lubbock's needy families had been tossed into Christmas kettles as of Monday night, it was announced this morning.

Capt. W. T. Gregory, commanding officer of the Salvation Army here, said the kettles had raised $512. He said that estimates indicate approximately $3,000 will be needed for purchase of commodities and toys to be placed in approximately 300 baskets.

Duplication Watched

"At least that amount will be required, it is indicated," he said. Capt. Gregory explained that "direct applications" will be made to the Army for the baskets, commencing Monday morning.

"Public contributions may be made at or mailed to the Salvation Army citadel at 1112 Seventeenth," the officer said.

The Army is the central clearance agency for such distribution by all agencies and groups, he explained. That narrows distribution duplication.

The Salvation Army is a member agency of Lubock Community Chest, which provides a substantial percentage of funds for its operation the year around. The Christmas effort of the Army, however, is "for a special purpose, in which the Community Chest does not participate. The public finances it by its contributions."

Items Are Listed

Capt. Gregory said a "kettle house" will be in operation in 1000-block Broadway commencing Monday. There will be no Mile of Dimes board this year, inasmuch as it is often confused with the March of Dimes campaign staged after Christmas for benefit of infantile paralysis victims, Capt. Gregory said.

The Christmas baskets will contain the following, Capt. Gregory said, adding that more can be provided if contributions allow:

Meat (roast or chicken), potatoes, butter, coffee, shortening, milk, bottle and cans), corn meal, canned fruit, oranges, apples, nuts and candy, rice, canned corn, canned peas, flour, bread, celery, cranberry sauce, toys and other gifts.

Congratulations To

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Morris of Lubbock route 1 on birth of a daughter weighing 3½ pounds at 2:59 a. m. today at the residence; reported by Porter Clinic hospital. The father is employed by Lubbock Cotton Oil Mill.

News Briefs

T. J. (Tommy) Thompson, Dumas rancher and former Lubbock man, who was injured in an accident on his ranch near Dumas, was reported to be recovering satisfactorily in an Amarillo hospital today after undergoing emergency surgery soon after the accident. A horse stumbled and fell with him at the ranch. His sister, Miss Lola Thompson and mother, Mrs. Erle Thompson, 1911 Sixteenth, are at his bedside in Amarillo.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy L. Wheatley, of 2204 Twenty-second, left Monday night for Abilene, where Mrs. Wheatley's mother, Mrs. N. F. Roberts, is in a critical condition in Hendrick Memorial hospital. Mrs. Roberts suffered a broken hip in a fall Monday morning.

Three faculty members in the department of electrical engineering at Texas Tech plan to attend a conference of the Southwestern Institute of Radio Engineers in Dallas, Dec. 10-11. They are C. E. Houston, associate professor; E. O. Wukasch, assistant professor; and J. L. Stribling, instructor. In Dallas technical papers on television, radio, sound, and geophysical exploration are to be presented. A field trip to a television station, WBAP-TV in Ft. Worth, also is planned.

Capt. William C. Newbauer, instructor in military science and tactics at Texas Tech, spoke on the geographical, population and wild life aspects of Australia as the highlight of today's weekly Optimist club luncheon at Hotel Lubbock. Approximately 50 members and two guests, Jack Martin and Judd Morrow, attended. G. C. Stewart, club vice-president, presided at the luncheon. Invocation was by Rev. Cecil A. Ray.

Testimony in the trial of a damage suit brought by Mrs. Clydene Locke of Lamesa against the Parker Drilling company was continuing this afternoon in U. S. district court before Federal Judge Joe B. Dooley and a jury. Trial of the suit was begun Monday. The action is the outgrowth of an oil field accident, Feb. 6, 1947, in which Willard Locke, husband of the plaintiff, and Robert L. Petty, were killed. Mrs. Locke is suing for $75,000 for herself and her three children.

U. S. Court Reverses Damage Suit Verdict

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 7. (AP)—The U. S. fifth circuit court of appeals reversed and remanded today a lower court verdict awarding Governor Millard Caldwell of Florida $237,500 damages against the Crowell-Collier Publishing Co.

Caldwell filed suit in connection with an editorial in the Feb. 23, 1946, issue of Collier's magazine. The suit charged that the editorial falsely and maliciously quoted Caldwell as condoning the lynching of a negro. The judgment of $237,500 awarded by the U. S. district court of Tallahassee, Fla., March 10, 1948, was termed "probably one of the biggest" to an individual in U. S. court history.

Doomed Man Given Stay Of Execution

AUSTIN, Dec. 7 (UP) — Gov. Beauford Jester today granted a constitutional 30-day stay of execution for Thurman Williams, convicted of murder last Dec. 1 in Harris county and scheduled to die at Huntsville on Jan. 14, 1949.

As a result of the 30 day stay, the date of execution was changed to Feb. 13.

Texas Weather

ranged from 24 degrees at Amarillo to 67 degrees at Brownsville. At mid-morning, Del Rio had a 45-degree reading.

Temperatures were expected to drop to the low 20's in Northwest Texas tonight with correspondingly colder weather elsewhere, forecasters said.

Little moisture was reported accompanying the "norther."

Temperature dropped to a minimum of 23 degrees this morning at the U. S. Weather bureau station north of Lubbock, following passage of a cold front about midnight.

The temperature had risen to 33 degrees at 9:30 a. m.

Deep Wildcat Is Scheduled

HOBBS, New Mex., Dec. 7 — Drilling is to be started by January 15, 1949, on a 12,000-foot wildcat in extreme southeast Lea county to explore into the Ellenburger.

The prospector will be drilled by Stanolind Oil and Gas company and Leonard Oil company, of Roswell, N. M.

Stanolind has recently made a deal with Leonard in which that concern acquires a one-half interest in the oil and gas rights on a four-section spread, which includes sections 11, 12, 13 and 14, in township 26 south, range 37 east.

Location Not Exact

Exact location of the deep wildcat has not yet been selected, but it likely will be near the common corner of the four sections covered by the trade.

The contract calls for Stanolind to drill the first well free of charge to Leonard. That concern will have the operation of the deep rights on the property, and any subsequent deep development, after the first well, will be on a 50-50 basis.

The leases involved in this deal were formerly owned by Humble Oil & Refining company. That concern drilled an Ellenburger discovery at its No. 1 Federal-Leonard, several years ago. It finally went to all water and was abandoned, and Humble released the leases. Leonard has now made the new deal with Stanolind.

Crowd Of 500 Sees Little Theater Play

The season's second Lubbock Little Theater production, "Laura," based on Vera Caspary's novel of the same name, was presented to an audience of approximately 500 persons at Senior High school auditorium Monday night.

It was the consensus of those attending that it was an excellent production of a difficult play, since the play is known for its wordiness and slight lack of action.

Excellent characterizations were presented by Waldo Lydecker, the caustic detective story writer, played by Gene Looper, and Laura, the presumed murder victim, played by Mrs. Roberta Newell McGinnis.

Other well-acted roles were turned in by Guy Lively, who played Mark McPherson, the detective; George Young, as Danny Dorgan, a teen age boy; James Pinson, as Shelby Carpenter, Laura's erstwhile fiancee; Mrs. Walter Wilson as Bessie Clary, Laura's maid; Mrs. Gene Looper as Mrs. Dorgan, Danny's mother; and Winston Clark as Olson, of the police.

There were a number of curtain calls after the final curtain.

Miss Sammie Lanham, Texas Tech art student, was announced as winner of the Little Theater's contest among members of an oil painting class at the college for the best portrait of Laura. She was given a $15 prize. Her portrait of Laura was used in the stage setting. Other winners were Bill Thurman, second, whose prize was $10; and Marie Gikas, third, whose prize was $5.

Way To Beat Paper Shortage Is Shown

ATLANTA, Dec. 7. (AP)—Today's edition of the Atlanta Constitution demonstrated a method of beating the newsprint shortage—the paper carried a Delta airlines advertisement blazoned across its financial page.

The stock quotations were superimposed on the big block-lettered ad, which was printed in pale blue.

Delta said similar ads had been accepted for publication today in the Jacksonville Journal and the Miami Daily News. The Miami Beach News plans to use the "Benday" process to produce a gray block letter instead of color.

The idea was conceived by B. D. Adams of Burke Dowling Adams (Montclair, New Jersey), head of the advertising agency which places Delta's advertising. He said so far as he knew it had never been used before in the United States.

Adams said the "under-printing" method could be used on any page containing solid masses of reading matter. He added that after today's issues the idea was public property as far as he's concerned.

Roy Brown, national advertising manager of the Atlanta Constitution, said he considered the method "an interesting departure likely to produce considerable revenue for pages which have not carried their own weight."

If you want to keep your watch in good running condition, advises The American Magazine, wind it at the same time every day and don't let it sleep on a cold table at night because the special oil used to lubricate the timepiece thickens in extreme cold.

Inquest Scheduled In Death Of Officer

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7 (AP) — An inquest will be held Friday into the death of Police Officer Delmer E. Cook, 31, who died yesterday of bullet wounds received during a wild shooting spree with a berserk husband who police said tried to poison his wife.

When Cook and three fellow officers answered a call at the home of the husband, Barton Otis Bush, 46, medically discharged Army captain, on Sunday, they were greeted by shots. Cook was hit twice in the chest.

Bush also was shot in the chest. General hospital attendants said his condition was fair. He was charged yesterday with suspicion of murder.

After hospital treatment for poisoning, Mrs. Bush was returned home.

Bandleader, Former Model Are Married

BERKELEY, Cal., Dec. 7 (INS)—Bandleader Dick Jurgens and Marian Rae Davidson, former Pittsburgh, Pa., model, were married Monday at St. Clement's church in Berkeley.

Jurgens, currently appearing at a Berkeley hotel with his orchestra, met his bride eight years ago in Chicago where she was a student at the Art institute.

Newsboy Ends Pony Express Deliveries

DECATUR, Ind., Dec. 7 (U.P.) — Kenneth Boley discontinued his pony express service today.

Subscribers to the Decatur Daily Democrat complained that the newsboy's pony trampled their lawns.

Amazing New Drugs Perfected

Great Results Are Revealed

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (AP)—Two amazing new drugs — effective against such diseases as typhoid and rocky mountain spotted fever —have been added to medicine's growing arsenal of germ killers.

The drugs, chloromycetin and aureomycin, have been administered to several hundred patients suffering from various diseases, including virus pneumonia, undulant fever, and Q fever.

Results Are Described

The sometimes "astounding" results were described today by Dr. Perrin Long, professor of preventive medicine at the medical school of Johns Hopkins university at a meeting of the American Pharmaceutical Manufacturers association.

He disclosed that chloromycetin has brought "dramatic cures" to ten typhoid fever patients at the University of Maryland hospital, where Dr. E. T. Woodward has done major work with the new drug.

So effective is chloromycetin against typhoid fever that it may give medicine a chance to wipe out this century-old scourge altogether, Dr. Long declared. It cures scrub typhus, encountered in Burma, New Guinea, and the Philippines as well.

Aureomycin will probably be similarly potent against typhoid fever, Dr. Long told the association, but it is an "extraordinary" substance in its own right.

Patients Are Cured

It has cured 13 Rocky mountain spotted fever patients in Maryland hospitals, enabling patients to leave their beds in eight days.

The disease, carried by a tick, normally killed one of eight patients, but can now be cured by either chloromycetin or aureomycin if "you diagnose the fever before the patient dies," Dr. Long asserted.

Similarly, 16 of 17 Baltimore patients laid low with virus pneumonia responded almost immediately to aureomycin doses and were virtually well within 24 hours, according to Dr. Long.

Undulant fever, acquired through polluted milk or directly from cattle, is another apparent victim to aureomycin's magic. Five cases of acute undulant fever in Baltimore were cured within 72 hours.

Further, and potentially of great economic importance, Dr. Long told a reporter earlier that he saw no reason why the drug should not work on undulant fever-stricken cattle.

Derived From Molds

Building Permit For Broadway Church Of Christ Issued Here

Preliminary work got underway Monday at the building site of the new Broadway Church of Christ, which will finally cost approximately $800,000 upon completion.

City Building Inspector Lloyd Ross Monday issued a $650,000 permit to the church for the new structure, which is to be built in the 1900 block on Broadway on property which the church acquired some years ago. The church facilities will extend to Main street adjoining Avenue T.

General contractor for the building is B.M.F.P. Construction Co., with F. O. Bennett to be in charge of the work. The firm of Haynes and Kirby, architects, drew up the plans for the structure. Completion is expected in approximately two years, church officials said last night.

Formal ground-breaking ceremonies are to be held at the building site at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Details are to be announced later in the week.

An auditorium with a seating capacity of 2,100 persons has been incorporated into the structure. A chapel also is planned, which will have a seating capacity of approximately 300 persons.

Classrooms will be sufficient in number to accommodate approximately 1,200 persons, and a Fellowship hall will be built large enough for any church social function.

Church officials said last night that no major changes have been made in the plans as they were announced more than a year ago.

The structure will have a total of 55,000 square feet of floor space. Both auditorium and chapel are to be fully air condi-

New Andrews Well To Start

The Texas company staked a 7,300-foot, rotary tool wildcat in central-southwest Andrews county, 18 miles southwest of the town of Andrews.

It is to be that concern's No. 1-W State of Texas, located 665 feet from east and 662.8 feet from south lines of the north half of section 35, block 12, University survey.

Elevation is 3,333 feet. Operations are to start at once.

Magnolia No. 1 Hicks, deep wildcat in extreme southeast Gaines county, and 660 feet from north and west lines of tract 16, block 273, Loving county school lands, cut a core at 10,200-210 feet.

Oil, Gas Not Shown

Recovery was two and one-half feet of fossiliferous limestone with a trace of porosity, and one and one-half feet of gray shale. There were no signs of oil or gas. The project is now making hole below 10,215 feet in lime and shale. The formation is unidentified.

The Pennsylvanian lime formation in northeast Scurry county was drillstem tested twice by Placid Oil company. That concern ran a 30-minute examination on its No. 1 Cornelius Davis, deep wildcat six and a half miles northeast of the town of Snyder.

Total depth was 6,723 feet. Packer was at 6,691 feet. Recovery was 30 feet of mud with no shows of oil, gas or water.

Second Test Negative

The second test was at 6,691-6,750 feet, with the tool open an hour. It recovered 60 feet of mud with no shows.

More hole was being made below 6,816 feet in lime on last report. It is slated to venture to at least 8,000 feet in an attempt to test the Ellenburger, unless production is encountered on a lesser depth.

The drillsite is 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 440, block 97, H&TC survey.

Cottonseed On South Plains Is Quarantined

The State Department of Agriculture has declared a pink bollworm quarantine prohibiting movement of untreated cottonseed in 64 counties including the whole of the South Plains.

Declaring "it is essential that further spread of the infestation be stopped," the warning urged all possible efforts be made to suppress the pink bollworm. The danger areas at present are in western and northwestern Texas, according to the announcement.

The proclamation, signed by J. E. McDonald, commissioner of agriculture and W. T. McKay, chief of the division of plant quarantine, was made effective on Nov. 29, and prohibits the moving of cottonseed except under certain conditions.

Counties Are Listed

South Plains counties involved are listed as Bailey, Cochran, Crosby, Dawson, Dickens, Floyd, Gaines, Garza, Hale, Hockley, Lamb, Lubbock, Lynn, Motley, Terry and Yoakum.

Other counties in the state where it is asserted pink bollworms have appeared in threatening numbers, are in the western part of the state. These are Andrews, Baylor, Borden, Brown, Callahan, Childress, Coke, Coleman, Collingsworth, Concho, Cottle, Crane, Donley, Ector, Fisher, Foard, Glasscock, Gray, Hall, Hardeman, Haskell, Howard, Irion, Jones, Kent, King, Knox, Martin, Mason, McCulloch, Menard, Midland, Mitchell, Nolan, Reagan, Runnels, San Saba, Schleicher, Scurry, Shackelford, Sterling, Stonewall, Taylor, Throckmorton, Tom Green, Upton, Wheeler, Wichita, and Wilbarger.

The proclamation, called amendment No. 23 of proclamation No. 67 (revised), sets out that "additional requirements . . . may become necessary and if investigations now under way indicate advisability of such action, the necessary rules and regulations will be promulgated within the near future."

Control Said Imperative

Mentioning that cottonseed produced in the counties listed during the 1948 crop season were permitted to be returned to the farm without treatment, and that "immediate control of the pink boll worm infestation in all the counties is imperative to prevent further increase of infestation within the aforesaid counties," the proclamation requires:

That "all cottonseed sold, offered for sale, moved or allowed to be moved within the area as defined above, or from said area to non-infested areas, be treated by the heat method to a temperature of 150 degrees F. for a mini-

Errol Flynn Lands In Jail

NEW YORK, Dec. 7. (AP)—Errol Flynn, 38-year-old motion picture star, was arrested today at 2 a. m. (EST) after he allegedly kicked a patrolman on the shin in an argument in a police station.

Flynn was charged with third degree assault.

Police said the kicking occurred in front of the lieutenant's desk after Flynn and a companion had gotten into an argument with two radio patrolmen who had halted a taxicab in which they were passengers.

Companion Is Booked

Flynn's companion, who identified himself as Robert Graham Wahn, 36, a motion picture publicity writer, was booked on a disorderly conduct charge.

After a short time in cells at a police station, Flynn and Wahn were released in bail of $500 each for hearings later today in magistrate's court. Bail was posted by John Perona, operator of the El Morocco night club.

The charge against Flynn was made by Patrolman Joseph Bergeles. He and Patrolman Joseph Gardner said they stopped the cab to question the driver, Henry Brinkworth, 22, of the Bronx, because of his unusually youthful appearance.

Used Abusive Language

As the driver stepped from the cab and produced his credentials, police said, Wahn jumped out, pushed one of the policeman and used abusive language. Flynn did not participate in the discussion.

At the station house, police said, Flynn kicked Bergeles as the policeman walked behind him.

When Flynn and Wahn were taken from their cells to a police station desk, Flynn at first refused to sign an application for bail, asserting "this is a frameup."

Perona, however, persuaded the actor to sign.

As Flynn left the station house and entered a taxicab, he remarked "this is worse than gestapo methods."

Perona, who learned of the arrests through a phone call from Flynn's wife, told newsmen he had not taken the report seriously at first, because "the Flynns are always gagging."

When convinced, Perona took $1,000 from the night club and

Odds Against Life For Huge Cypress Tree On Church Site

Lubbock's largest Christmas tree, which must be moved by the end of the week, has a very slight chance of surviving the ordeal, Lubbock tree experts agreed this morning.

The nearly perfect specimen, planted by Mrs. Fern Cone in 1921, must be moved from its present location at 1900-block Broadway by the end of the week to make way for the new $650,000 Broadway Church of Christ, for which groundbreaking ceremonies will be conducted Sunday afternoon.

Moving Questionable Job

Thirty feet high, the tree's shape is nearly perfect. It's value has been estimated as high as $1,500 if moved successfully to another location.

And the church will give it away for the asking—and moving.

One Lubbock nurseryman, L. D. Whitely, said this morning he thought no amount of money could move the tree. "It's absolutely impossible," he said. "The Arizona cypress grows three to four feet a year. I've had offers of $300 to $400 to move it, but I wouldn't attempt it.

J. C. Davis, another nurseryman, agreed that it would be a difficult job, but thought the tree had a 20-80 chance of survival. He offered to try it for $100 and promised to give exceptional care to the task.

Big Tree Is Free

Dr. M. Norvel Young, minister of the church, offered the tree to anyone who could move it.

"The tree can be had for the asking," Dr. Young said. "Naturally, we would prefer to see it moved intact to another location. But the church plans call for excavation on the site of the tree, and it will have to be removed this week."

Last Christmas the tree was beautifully decorated as a

THE QUESTION

Do you think that children should be taught to believe in Santa Claus?

THE ANSWERS

MRS. BILL ADAMS, Plains, housewife: "I do think that children should be taught to believe in Santa Claus. It gives them something to look forward to from year to year. They know that they can get things from their parents, but they will work to get things from Santa Claus."

Rev. A. F. LAING, 1319 Ave. Q, pastor of First Nazarene church: "I think it's all right to a certain age, because it's a tradition. There is nothing particularly sinful or wrong about a tradition, if they don't allow it to become an established law. Children, at the proper age, should be given the proper information or truth about Christmas—actually what its origin is. There's a time when you have to change tradition for truth and fact."

LEWIS B. RIX, 2406 Twenty-first, vice president of Rix Funeral home: "Children face the realities of life soon enough. It is well to let them enjoy the grandeur and happiness that are associated with Santa Claus. It encourages the spirit of giving.

MRS. W. D. HAYNIE, Veterans Village, housewife and Texas Technological college student: "Sure. I think the fantasy is good for the imagination. I think that if my child does get an idea of imagination and fantasy, it will help her to work out things for herself without taking others' ideas. I want her to enjoy Santa Claus. I do feel that the make-up on Santa Claus sometimes scares children.

L. B. BAKER, Lubbock route 5, appliance manager at Montgomery Ward & Co.: "I don't know. That's a hard qestion to answer, but I believe maybe they should because there's a lot of anticipation of Santa Claus. Then, of course, when they get to the age when they know and understand, they find out differently but they are capable of overlooking deceit and they still get pleasure in the idea of Santa Claus."

MRS. R. B. LAVELL, 2003 Walnut, housewife: "No, I don't, because they don't know what Christmas is for. I think they should be taught that it was Jesus' birthday and therefore we give to one another. Most children, after they find there is no Santa Claus, don't look forward as much to Christmas as they would if they knew it was Jesus' birthday from the start. It is mostly through fun and perhaps it is all right for a few years."

Movie Actor Might Not Face Charges

TOPEKA, Kas., Dec. 7 (AP) — Charges against Movie Actor Robert Walker, described as "a sick man," may be dropped.

The charges of drunkenness and destruction of public property were filed after a melee Sunday in the police station involving the 29-year-old actor.

Officers reported Walker smashed three windows with his fist. A police sergeant was injured in the scuffle.

City Attorney Frank Eresch said Walker's case was set for today but the charges may be dropped or continued for a later hearing. He said the decision depended on the outcome of an investigation of the actor's condition.

Walker has been a patient at Menninger's clinic here for several weeks.

In Hollywood, a spokesman for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer said Walker has been quite ill and that the studio intends to have him continue under medical care until he is well. Walker has a $100,000 a year contract with M-G-M. He has not worked in pictures recently.

YOUNG MISS TO STUDY DESIGNING

Girl Uses Needle And Thread To Sew Up Scholarship Award

By RICHARD KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Dec. 7, (NEA)—Ellen McReynolds is a pert young miss who doesn't let a little thing like an obstacle stand in her way.

She wants to design clothes when she grows up. She's 17 now, a junior in high school. She lives on a farm in Cleveland, Tenn., and the farm has no electricity.

But Ellen is a determined girl, and, using a pedal sewing machine by the light of oil lamps and pressing with an old-fashioned gas iron, she made herself an outfit that won her a trip to Chicago as one of the 12 national winners of the 4-H dress revue.

Unimpressed By Feat

She's unimpressed by her feat. "I just wanted to do it, so I just did it," says she.

Her winning costume is a light green, two-piece tailored suit, which looks like something out of a Fifth Avenue show window.

Ellen first learned to sew from her mother. Now she's turned the tables and is teaching her mother some of needlework's fine points.

"Mother never knew how to put in sleeves or lining or such like," says Ellen, "but I learned at the 4-H and now I'm teaching her."

When she was 10 she was making simple things like blouses and doll dresses. Then she became interested in 4-H, and was taught to make dresses, suits, like the one she won with, and even coats.

She finds putting in the lining of a coat the hardest sewing job she's tackled so far.

Done From Patterns

Up to now, everything Ellen's made has been done from patterns. But next summer she plans to design, as well as make, something. She's not yet sure what it will be, but probably a suit. She likes suits best of all.

Ellen McReynolds: She learned from ma: now ma learns from her.

"I want to be a suit designer, eventually," says she, "if I can."

Her prize at the 4-H Congress here for her winning outfit was a $200 scholarship. She plans to attend Tennessee Wesleyan University and study designing.

The lack of electricity in her home she shrugs off as no handicap. The only difficulty is that she can't sew much at night, because the lamps don't give enough light. She does most of her work after school, week-ends and in the summer.

Could Sew Faster

"Of course I could sew faster with an electric machine," she says wistfully. "Our old pedal machine is kind of tired, I guess. I've been using it for seven years, and my mother used it for a long time before that."

Beside making all her own clothes now, Ellen makes dresses and suits for her older sister, who is working, and also helps with the wardrobes of a younger brother and sister. And she makes clothes for some of the McReynolds' neighbors, too.

In her seven years of 4-H work, Ellen estimates that she's made or remade well over $1000 worth of clothes.

She says there is a possibility of the farm being electrified soon. The professional designers better watch their step then. If Ellen McReynolds can do what she's done without electricity, watch her smoke when she has it.

UN Mediator Sees Peace In Palestine

TEL AVIV, Israel, Dec. 7 (AP)—Peace in Palestine is not far off, Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, acting United Nations mediator, said on his arrival from Paris yesterday.

"The biggest hurdles have been taken" said Bunche after conferring with Israel's Premier David Ben-Gurion and Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the state council.

"The question of a Jewish state in Palestine is settled" he said. He added that the next step will be a transition from truce to permanent peace.

'I do not minimize the difficulty of the problems ahead," continued the mediator in a talk with newsmen, 'but I do not look for any resumption of fighting in the sense of general warfare."

Open Conflict Said Unwanted By Russia

RIVERSIDE, Calif., Dec. 7 (AP)—Dr. Bohus Benes says Soviet leaders don't want open conflict but can't understand that invasion of Czechoslovakia is "a sure step toward a third world war."

The brother of the late Czech president, Eduard Benes, told the 25th institute of world affairs yesterday that "Russian leaders believe western Europe to be in a state of sharp decline and ready for progressive socialization and Marxism."

Actor Does Not Know How He Stays On List Of Top Stars

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 7.—This year marks the 20th that Gary Cooper has been a top film star and I found him in a rare reflective mood about his long success.

In 1928, the lanky Montana lad sauntered across the screen in "The Virginian." It was his first starring role, although he had already made a hit in "Wings" and "it." For two decades he has clung to the list of top stars. Naturally, I wanted to know how.

"Darned if I know," he answered. But as an explanation, he offered some history:

Works Very Hard

"After the 'Virginian,' Paramount worked me like a son of a gun. I was at the studio 16 hours a day, sometimes working on two pictures at a time.

"Finally, in 1931, my health broke down. I had jaundice and was down to 158 pounds. My doctor said unless I got some rest I'd be susceptible to TB and other things. So I told the studio I was slowing down, whether they liked it or not. I was put off salary and I went to Africa for a year.

He Tells Studio

"When I got back, I told Paramount I wouldn't work in anything I didn't think was going to be good. They took me at my word, and I began to get important pictures like 'A Farewell To Arms,' 'Devil And The Deep' and 'Lives Of A Bengal Lancer'."

A few years later, Cooper waded into the free-lance field. "You have to read through a lot of trash to find what you want," he said, "but the freedom is worth it."

One factor in his success, he added, is that he usually follows an occasional bad picture with a good one. "I'm a great comebacker," he smiled.

Pioneers Had Nothing On Rugged Iowa Men

DECORAH, Ia., Dec. 7 (U.P.) — The American pioneer had nothing on Carl Aschim and Walter Hovey.

The two Decorah men walked 9.2 miles through a driving snowstorm, carrying 60-pound sacks of grain, in record time yesterday.

Their stamina cost Mayor Geo. Baker $100. Baker, who had too much confidence in his ancestors, had offered $50 to anyone who could cover the route in less than one hour and 55 minutes, the record his grandfather made years ago.

Aschim finished the long, cold hike in one hour, 40 minutes, and Hovey stumbled in a minute later.

Baker also went along—in a handcar. He wanted to make sure that none of the contestants "traveled light."

The field originally included 10 men, but only six braved the cold weather. Jerome Einch, Calmar; Joseph Schneberger, Fort Atkinson, and Lyle Sacqutne, Decorah, finished in 1:57, A minute later, Carl Christopher trudged in.

The six men started hiking from Conover, Ia. They even carried more than the 60 pounds of grain that Baker's grandfather toted. Weighing ceremonies at the finish line revealed that moisture had added as much as three pounds to their loads.

"This convinces me that modern man is rugged," Baker said.

BUILDING DESTROYED

COPPER CLIFF, Ont., Dec. 7. (AP)—Fire last night destroyed the main Canadian Industries Limited chemical building at the International Nickel company smelter. Damage was estimated at $1,000,000. No one was injured.

The federal government and the states spent more than $17,000,000 to reduce forest fire losses during 1947. In that year, damage to the nation's timber exceeded $55,000,000.

SURVIVORS CAUTIOUS OF SHARKS IN PACIFIC

Pilot Tells Story Of Ditching Plane With Two Life Rafts For More Than Double Load

HONOLULU, Dec. 7 (AP) — "We didn't decide to ditch; we just ran out of altitude," said. Lt. Col. William R. Calhoun, C-54 pilot downed in the mid-Pacific.

The ordeal of 33 survivors waiting for rescue in shark infested water was told calmly today by the Birmingham, Ala., Air Force officer.

The plane, with 37 men aboard, was "ditched" in the Pacific 1,200 miles southwest of Honolulu Sunday morning. The thirty-three survivors were rescued by the escort carrier Rendova last night.

In a radiophone interview from the Rendova, Calhoun said his seven-man life raft carried from 16 to 18 men. They rotated in clinging outside in the sea. He said sharks were seen near the rafts up to the time of rescue.

Shark Repellant Used

"We had shark repellant aboard the raft and used it at times to keep them away," the pilot said.

He said only two rafts, each made to hold seven men, were gotten out of the plane and inflated. Each raft carried more than double its capacity.

This is the way Col. Calhoun told his story:

"The number four engine was out and was throwing oil at a rate of five gallons every three minutes. So we feathered the engine. About an hour later number three engine developed an oil leak and we ran out of oil and altitude.

"We notified all crewmen and passengers to prepare for ditching.

"All passengers and crewmen had on life vests and had their safety belts fastened. We had already jettisoned everything possible. Upon impact with the water our life rafts were torn loose and thrown through the aircraft along with water bottles and other gear.

Two Believed Lost

"To the best of my belief all passengers got out as well as all crew members. Due to all lights failing on the aircraft and to the life rafts being torn loose only two life rafts were saved and inflated.

"It is my belief two of the passengers became lost upon ditching and never boarded the raft."

He said the plane stayed afloat twelve minutes. During the night, he said, a plane believed to be a searching B-17 approached the raft. Calhoun advised the crew to fire flares until "the B-17 realized we were a life raft and had survivors aboard.'

He said he did not know that the B-17 dropped a rescue boat until he was taken aboard the Rendova.

Calhoun said on his raft the survivors "varied personnel inside and outside the raft.

But at one time all 18 were inside.

Food Rationed

"We had some food and some water," Calhoun said. "However, not knowing how long we would be in the raft it was rationed to last five days. We expected to be rescued within that time. We all believed we all would be saved.

"We had sent our position report and the intent of ditching."

For the first 24 hours Calhoun said he allowed no water at all. He passed a ration of only three swallows on Monday before a rescue plane sighted the survivors in mid-afternoon.

Asked if the sea was rough, Calhoun replied: "Not knowing too much about the sea, considering the number of seasick personnel and the amount of water we shipped in the raft, I would say the sea was rough."

He said most of the survivors were suffering from exposure and lack of food and water and from fatigue.

The two rafts were tied together until search planes began dropping additional rafts, food, water and radios. The rafts were then cut apart so they could gather the equipment.

Calhoun said he made the "ditch landing personally and there was nothing unusual about it except for the debris which flew though the aircraft at the impact."

He said he did not believe anyone was injured by the debris.

Mme. Chiang Offers Prayer For Peace

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP) — Madame Chiang Kai-Shek, issued a Pearl Harbor anniversary statement last night praying that the "lessons taught us by the past" may help "save the civilization of the future."

Madame Chiang, wife of the Chinese Generalissimo, flew to this country last week to plead for further U. S. aid for China.

On the eve of the 7th anniversary of Pearl Harbor, she said:

"History is hindsight in that it is a record of past experience of successes and failures, of achievements and errors in human affairs. Its value to us is that, through it, we may, if we are wise, chart our future more correctly. For had we all been gifted with the powers of prophesy, we might have avoided pitfalls and disasters.

"On this sacred day, in commemoration of your dead at Pearl Harbor, I cannot help thinking also of our dead. Both gave their lives for human liberty. May we, the living, do everything we can to forestall another world war and to prevent further enslavement of mankind."

25 DEAD IN CRASH

SHANGHAI, Dec. 7 (AP)—Death of 25 Chinese army dependents in a plane crash on the island of Formosa added today to a heavy toll of weekend evacuation tragedies as Chinese fled the Communist menace. The plane from Nanking struck a mountain near Keelung Friday night, but was found only today by villagers. Dispatchers from Formosa said the only survivor was a boy of 12, too badly injured to identify himself.

IT WAS SLIGHTLY COLD

EDMONTON, Alta., Dec. 7 (AP) — Snag, Yukon territory, set a record today as the coldest spot on the continent this year. The mercury dropped to 67 degrees below zero.

"It's Ours-- clear through to China"

I suppose most every inquisitive boy or girl has asked the same question I asked of my father—"How deep is our land—How far down do we own?" You probably got the same answer I did—"It's ours, clear through to China." To a kid just trying to absorb the astounding fact that the world is a sphere, that answer was impressive. It established in my mind a strong sense of proprietary security.

That's the way I now feel about a cemetery. Seems to me that actual ownership is too big a responsibility for any individual or corporation; that title for the ground should in fact remain with the people of the community . . . all of the people who have lived there for years and their parents and grandparents before them; administered through each generation by an association of citizens representative of families whose names may be historic of that region.

Of course, it is a matter of opinion, but it seems to me there is a better chance of having a community cemetery well kept and economically well managed under a perpetual care fund, if that responsibility is assumed as a sacred obligation by many responsible citizens working in association. In anticipating my long earthly rest, I think that's my best chance for tranquility through the ages—in ground which the people own clear through to China!

What your eyes may tell your doctor about events ahead . . .

"To any medical man your eyes are a remarkably sensitive barometer by which he can often predict conditions which may affect you months or even years from now. It isn't at all unusual for him to recognize disorders of the blood, the circulation, the kidneys, the glands, or the nerves just by examining your eyes.
Did you ever know, for example, that the very first signs of high blood pressure may appear in the eyes? Advance information given by the eyes can often avoid a serious or a prolonged illness. That's why a really thorough physical check-up should include examination of your eyes. It's almost uncanny what can turn up—even such facts as whether or not you are getting enough vitamins. When you think about your eyes in this new way—as a means of staying well —you'll have them looked at regularly instead of waiting until they bother you."

Best simile of the week:
"As democratic as a barber shop."

EVERY once-in-awhile, somebody sounds off about "the big army of generals we are paying to sit in the Pentagon."

They don't mean just generals in the Army. They mean top-ranking officers in the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines. And they don't mean that all of them are in the Pentagon building in Washington. What they are crying out against (and usually for prejudicial purposes) is the men who are charged with the principal responsibility of keeping the nation ready to defend itself.

The "brass" of the services always is vulnerable to attack, because the very nature of their work makes them unpopular, especially in peace time.

For our part, we hope we have plenty of "generals sitting in the Pentagon."

If we have plenty of them, and they are as able as they should be, (as the last two wars proved they were) we plain citizens have less to worry about if another aggressor nation goes on a binge.

Everybody knows we must have a strong national defense.

To get and to hold that defense we must have the men with the know-how.

THE heads of the armed services aren't just sitting around waiting for Joe Stalin, or some other lug, to blow the whistle.

They have to decide, for instance, whether our first line of defense shall be the Pyrenees, the Rhine, or the Eastern coast of the U. S. A.

After they decide where we shall stand and fight—and that sort of decision is always subject to lightning change—they have to know how and when to get troops and materiel there; where supply bases must be and a thousand and one other details.

They have to keep up with instruments of war and necessities of troops from foot powder to electrically heated flying coats. They have to study maps and reports; evaluate past experiences —in fact, they have to run a gigantic world-wide business which cannot fail.

Next time you hear some lug shouting about "generals sitting in the Pentagon," ask somebody to pass you the salt.

The odds are 100-to-1 he's trying to flim-flam you.

That Man on Avenue Q says it is hard to find a man who doesn't bear the thumbprints of one or more women.

IF The Plainsman were a member of the Texas Legislature, at the very start of the next session of the lawmaking body he would start working for legislation to implement a now totally useless law providing for the licensing of child nurseries.

The law, as it now stands, might just as well be taken from the statute books, because no money has been appropriated for its enforcement. What Texas needs—what every state needs—is a law (1) licensing, (2) controlling, and (3) calling for periodic inspection of child nurseries, a law that can work, not the aimless, senseless kind we now have.

Such a law might draw opposition from some few nursery operators who, for good reason, might not want a wary eye kept upon their operations.

But it would be supported by ethical nursery operators and the general public, none of whom like to think of a child's being left in the care of an irresponsible individual; or in surroundings which in anyway are unsuitable or subject to question.

All over the nation there are child nursery schools.

More than ever before, mothers of small children are working and, in order to work, must have their children cared for.

The private nursery is nearly always the answer, save in those relatively few centers where day nuseries are operated by the municipality, or by some civic-minded group.

THERE is no sound reason for suspecting that there is any greater ratio of irresponsible, careless, or downright unsavory people engaged in the child nursery business than in any other business in the U. S.

As is the case with butchers, bakers, and candlestick makers, most people in commercialized child care are both decent and intelligent. They would not mistreat their young charges simply because to do so would be foreign to their natures. They will not permit unsanitary conditions in their places of business, if for no other reason than to do so would be unsound.

But just as there are unsavory characters in all businesses and professions, then child care field must have its share. Occasional exposes prove it does.

Since people in the child care field are dealing with the nation's most precious possession — youngsters—few will argue that it is good to permit just anybody to operate child nurseries, or to permit nurseries to be operated just anywhere, and under any conditions, operators may choose.

Occasional exposes showing that children are given barbituates or other drugs, to put them to sleep while in a nursery; showing unsanitary conditions in nursery buildings, or mistreatment of children by adults supposed to be caring for them, dictate the soundness of licensing, control and inspection of such businesses.

The next session of the Texas Legislature, which will begin in little more than a month's time, should take care of all possible exigencies within the borders of this state.

IN Los Angeles the other day was opened, under direction of the Kabat-Kaiser Institute, a $1,000,000 center for the training and treatment of victims of cerebral palsy.

The magnificent center is the newest of several others, all under the Kabat-Kaiser Institute, located in Oakland and Vallejo, Calif., and in Washington, D. C., It is fine that the nation is being awakened to the needs of spastics, as victims of cerebral palsy are called.

Right here in Lubbock, the cerebral palsy center sponsored by the Rotary club already is doing a great work.

Of course, it isn't a $1,000,000 layout as yet and perhaps never will be.

But in a small beginning, it is doing a great, humanitarian job—a job just as essential as that being done in the new Los Angeles center. With the help of generous Lubbock and West Texas people, it will go on doing a fine job and someday may be as large and as wonderful as any center in the nation.

At a special clinic the other day, 49 West Texas and Eastern New Mexico youngsters were brought into the Lubbock Cerebral Palsy center, there to receive the ministrations of two medical specialists, who also advised parents concerning how much recovery they could expect in their children.

If everyone in Lubbock could have looked in on that clinic, the center here would by today have more money than it could immediately use.

It was almost that God, Himself, was there—and, perhaps, He really was.

BY DREW PEARSON: NEGRO CONGRESSMAN WILL HAVE HARD TIME HEADING COMMITTEE

Emperor Hirohito Wants Japan-American Alliance

WASHINGTON — Only a few years ago the imperial court doctor, feeling the pulse of the Emperor of Japan, placed silken gauze over his wrist. No mortal was allowed to touch the skin of his imperial majesty.

And the court tailor, measuring the emperor for a suit of clothes, stood halfway across the room and appraised him with his eye. He was not permitted to approach closer.

PEARSON

But a few days ago in Tokyo, a modern miracle took place when a Cleveland-Washington lawyer, Joseph B. Keenan, sent to Japan to prosecute Japan's highest war leaders, lunched with the Emperor of Japan.

Not only is the list of foreigners who have ever broken bread with the Emperor confined to two or three persons in all history, but it was significant that the Emperor should meet with the man who was much harsher in war crimes prosecution than the war courts of Nuremburg.

The Emperor made no mention of the war trials except to tell Keenan he hoped he would come to Japan again when he had "no disagreeable duties."

The main conversation — it lasted two-and-a-half hours — was about Japanese-American friendship and the Emperor's hope for an alliance between the two countries.

Empress And Margaret Truman

The Empress was interested in Margaret Truman and her singing. The Emperor wanted to know all about President Truman, his hobbies, his policies, and his miracle election. He was also eager to learn about the U. S. Senate, and wanted Japan's Diet to be like it.

He told how prior to the war, he was worried over the rise of military men to power. Four civilian premiers were murdered by the military, he reminded Keenan. From 1936 on, the army demanded that only an active army officer could serve as war minister, which, said the Emperor, was the beginning of Pearl Harbor.

The Emperor did not speak English, but understood it. He was well-dressed in European clothes, did not bow according to Japanese custom, but crossed the room and shook hands with Keenan. About 40 butlers served the luncheon guests of seven Japanese and one American. The luncheon was held in the imperial housekeeper's home, for the Emperor's palace, contrary to general belief, was badly bombed and has not been repaired.

Note—When Hirohito was about 20, an English-speaking Japanese Quaker, Renzo Sawada, was appointed as his companion. They traveled together through Europe, became good friends, and some of the Emperor's democratic ideas may result from this early association.

BY an odd twist of fate, the committee which the Republican Congress built up for the purpose of meat-axing the Truman administration, will now be chairmaned by a negro — Congressman William Dawson of Chicago, Democrat.

Not only is this the first time in history that a negro has sat as chairman of a congressional committee, but he will sit at the helm of the House expenditures committee, one of the most powerful in Congress.

The committee can investigate almost anything under the sun—from European expenditures under the Marshall plan to how the President spends his private allowance. There is almost no part of the executive branch of the government that this committee cannot probe.

On it, because of its power, the Republicans placed their most disagreeable and tenacious meat-axers—Michigan's Clare Hoffman, Pennsylvania's Robert Rich, Oklahoma's Ross Rizley, and Clarence Brown of Ohio, Taft's campaign manager.

After Jan. 3, these gentlemen not only are shorn of power, but will be called to order by a quiet-spoken, modest negro who is well-liked even by his southern colleagues.

However, perhaps because the role of a colored congressman is not easy on Capitol Hill, the self-effacing Dawson has attended only two meetings of the expenditures committee, and only a score or so of rollcalls on the House floor in the last two years. Most of the time he has spent in his own office or in Chicago.

Result is that Dawson may be tragically unprepared to handle this highly important committee. Second in command, however, is California's Chet Holifield, a shrewd, tough Democrat who knows committee operations from A to Z. Without race prejudice, Holifield will sit at Dawson's right next January as he pounds the gavel at the first historic meeting of the expenditures committee.

Dewey Was Right

Secretary of Agriculture Brannan was one of Truman's best assets in defeating Dewey. But regarding at least one campaign criticism it now develops that Brannan heartily agrees with Dewey.

This pertains to the Tennessee Valley authority and soil conservation. Dewey claimed that TVA did a miserable job on soil conservation. And at a discussion group at the Cosmos club the other evening, Secretary Brannan agreed.

Tennessee is one of only two states in the union (the other is Pennsylvania) which does not cooperate with the U. S. Soil Conservation service. TVA set up its own conservation arrangement with the University of Tennessee, and during the campaign Dewey sent a man to Tennessee to compare TVA's soil conservation with North Carolina'. He reported North Carolina's far ahead.

Secretary Brannan went even further than Dewey the other night. Refreshingly frank, in a more-or-less private discussion, he stated flatly that the Department of Agriculture would oppose the establishment of a Missouri Valley authority unless valley authorities, as typified by TVA, right-about-faced regarding soil conservation.

Finland foresees a critical electric power shortage this winter.

Chairman's Aplomb Recovered But Party Still At Dead End

WASHINGTON — Late on the night of Nov. 2 there appeared on the television screen a rather sad figure. It was as though an early frost had blighted a delicate plant.

The figure was Hugh Scott, jr., chairman of the Republican national committee. He was still at that point talking about victory but in such a frail and weak fashion that it obviously carried little conviction either with him or with anyone else.

CHILDS

The very fact that he was out there with the television lights beating mercilessly down on him was, I suppose, proof of a certain fortitude. In the Dewey victory headquarters all but him had fled or at any rate, had made themselves invisible.

Shortly before this, Scott had been talking with a group of press and radio men. It still appeared at that point that Gov. Dewey would be elected, although with a Democratic Senate and a greatly reduced majority in the House. Scott gave his listeners the impression that he thought this a very good thing — to temper the arrogance of some of the grand moguls in the GOP and to shear off the Chicago Tribune isolationists.

Recovers Aplomb

In the month that has intervened chairman Scott seems to have recovered his aplomb. To the 22,000 Republican party leaders throughout the country he has sent out a letter that bristles with talk about "the inflationary spendthrift program of the new deal" and the "alien philosophy" of the Democrats.

Altogether it is a remarkable political document. The careful reader comes away with a strong suspicion that many eager — and perhaps conflicting — minds phrased this clarion call.

"It should be obvious to all of us that we must spell out an affirmative, appealing program," the letter says, "and slug toe-to-toe, day in and day out, with the demagogues."

That is about as close, and it is not really very close, as the letter comes to talking about issues or a program. A little later on it asks the question, "What shall be our program for the people?" We are told only that "it must be both Republican and popular." This last is the formula that Dewey sought in vain in his campaign.

THE balance of the letter is devoted, with the exception of two or three "go forward" lines at the end, to the old hackneyed stuff about a "police state." There is not a new thought in it.

It may be argued that this is the only kind of statement that could be made in view of what happened. This is a painful interegnum. Scott can at best walk an uneasy path until the party resolves its own internal differences.

But other Republicans are talking in quite a different way. One of the most searching post-mortems on the Nov. 2 catastrophe has come from Sen. Wayne L. Morse of Oregon, who has frequently pushed and prodded his conservative colleagues.

"I would emphasize as strongly as I know how," Morse said, writing in the Progressive, published at Madison, Wis., "that Thomas E. Dewey, the candidate, did not lose the election but rather the Republican party and its strategy lost it for him."

Paying high tribute to Dewey for his progressive policies, Morse speaks hopefully of his future leadership as a "source of strength within the Republican party." He said that now is the time for the party to reorganize along the lines of what he calls "constitutional liberalism."

Probably Majority View

This, with some modifications, is the view of probably a majority of Senate Republicans. Many of them grumbled privately throughout the campaign but felt helpless to do anything.

They will certainly make themselves heard in January. Some have already spoken out. There is a possibility at least that they will overthrow the Taft-Wherry leadership as evidence of the desire to start afresh.

The question is whether any single group can assert itself with sufficient authority to set the future course for the Republican party. The struggle between opposing factions is likely to go on for some time.

As Scott was careful to point out, 22,000,000 Americans did vote for the Republican candidate. He is also at pains to point out that if 36,616 votes spread over Ohio, Illinois and California had shifted from the Democratic side to the Republican side, Dewey would have won.

Playing this game, you can say that if a half million votes were not cast for Wallace in New York, Truman would have carried that state. It is a futile game that will leave the GOP just where it is—in a dead end.

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

WORKING women reach the "danger line" of their careers at age 30 to 35, says a prominent career woman and, she cautions, it is then that they should take stock of themselves and their jobs.

The housewife's danger line comes perhaps a little later in life — say at about age 40 — but hers is just as definite. And it is just as important for her to take stock of herself and of what she is doing with her life.

MILLETT

By the time she has reached the age of 40—or perhaps even sooner—the stay-at-home woman has her main job in life pretty well accomplished. Her children are well on the way to becoming self-sufficient. She has mastered the art of homemaking.

UP TO HER NOW

AND NOW the question of what she is going to do with herself and her life, what kind of personal security she is going to build for the future is up to her.

If she doesn't take stock of herself, chances are she will drift along from year to year, growing less useful all the time and getting less and less enjoyment out of life.

If she does face the fact that she is at the "danger line" of her career she can figure out what she wants out of life, what she has to give to others, and can start in to build the foundations for her future happiness, usefulness, and her own security.

The trouble is it is even harder for the housewife than for the career woman to realize when she has reached the danger line.

BILLY ROSE, learning to drive a car at this late date—and only because his wife Eleanor shamed him into it—stalled at a busy intersection in Mt. Kisco. The traffic light turned amber, green, amber, red, amber, and back to green, and still Billy's car remained stationary. Motorists behind him tooted angrily. The village traffic officer strolled over and said, "What's the matter, Mr. Rose? Haven't we any colors you like?"

Shortly thereafter, Mr. Rose ran into a parked delivery truck. The officer surveyed the damage and suggested. "If you are going to drive much, I'd have that car painted blue on one side and red on the other, so the witnesses will contradict each other."

Today's Journal Editorial

A STITCH IN TIME, ETC.

This is peculiarly a time for meditation upon certain dangers of the season as members of families and organizations plan the erection of their holiday decorations.

No one should need reminder of the perils created by an open flame—such as candles—upon Christmas trees. Anyone should realize it is dangerous to set a tree too close to a heating stove. Everyone knows it is dangerous for an inexperienced and inexpert person to attempt makeshift repairs of electrical ornaments which have outlived their usefulness. Everyone has read of persons who have been injured—even killed—by falls while attempting to put decorations in place.

All these are dangers which can be easily guarded against. Something, therefore, may be gained by pondering such risks before taking them. Thinking usually will mean either that the risks won't be taken, or that such care will be exercised as to minimize the probability of painful, or tragic, consequences.

DONATIONS SO FAR INSURE PARTY FOR 76,000

Old Santa Has Special Christmas Treats For Many Thousands Of Needy Children In Europe

BY BRACK CURRY
Associated Press Staff Writer

FRANKFURT, Dec. 7 — Old Santa has some special Christmas treats in store for thousands of Europe's needy children.

War orphans and DP children will frolic at scores of Yuletide parties given by Americans in Germany. There'll be warm meals and goodies for all. Many will receive toys and clothing.

Throughout the U. S. zone in Germany, generals and GI's are pitching in with American civilians to collect food, toys and clothing for luckless kids.

And not even the Russian blockade of Berlin has stalled their plans. The U. S. Army's European Command has set up a plan to handle and transport Christmas gifts for Berlin from Army personnel.

It's called "Operation Noel."

Handling Is Planned

Boxed collections from military posts will be shipped by rail to Giessen and stored until the air lift is ready to deliver them to Berlin.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, the American Military commander, has allotted air lift space to handle the Christmas donations.

Clothing is coming in from the United States and other parts of Germany. From individuals in England and the Scandinavian countries pledges of more than $1,000 have arrived unsolicited. They heard over the American Forces Network the story of the Berlin Christmas party fund drive.

Dinner Party Assured

In Berlin itself, every American contributed for the Christmas parties. The $17,350 raised so far insures a Christmas dinner party for some 76,000 German children. Thirty tons of food are required for the Berlin dinners plus four tons of candy. Capt. Philip J. O'Neill, German Youth Activities officer there, says:

"The hope — which at first seemed fantastic — that our community would be able to provide 76,000 children with a Christmas party, including a dinner, candies and entertainment is now a reality.

All Will Have Dinner

"We are now assured that not a single needy child in the American sector of Berlin or those within its orphanages and hospitals will be without a Christmas dinner and we shall be able to give some institutional children in other sectors a share."

In addition to the drive for funds, various GYA units in Berlin have been collecting clothing and making toys. So some 22,000 toys will be ready for Christmas distribution.

In the Frankfurt area, Yule parties are planned for 150,000 German and DP children. Brig. Gen. Robinson Duff, commanding the Frankfurt Military Post, says the goal is to "enable every German and DP child in the post area to participate in some way in Christmas celebrations."

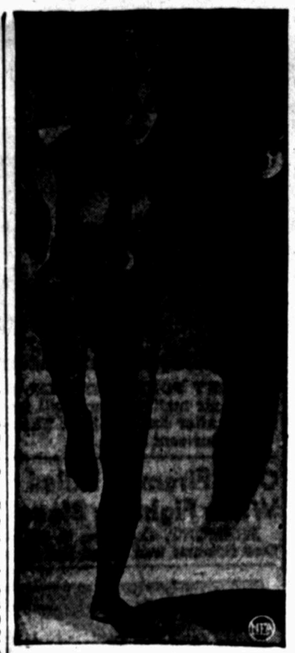

Camel Goes To Bat

Even Clarence the Camel is going to bat for the kids. The noted mascot of the U. S. Air Forces 86th Fighter Wing at Neubiberg Air Base is touring Army installations in Germany to collect funds. He's snared more than $800 to finance Christmas parties in Munich and Berlin.

At Heidelberg, the American Woman's Club has gathered 4,000 pounds of gifts — food, toys and clothes. They will be flown to Berlin.

Americans in nine states have sent gifts to Bremerhaven for Yule parties. And more are aboard ships en route.

In Stuttgart, U. S. military government officials have started a campaign to make Christmas a little merrier for more than 60,000 needy children in the state of Wuerttemberg-Baden. They hope to raise $4,600 for Christmas parties.

Schools Are Urged To Boost Teaching By Correspondence

LINCOLN, Neb., Dec. 7 (U.P.) — Correspondence education is "big business, but schools are missing the boat in developing this kind of H Gaumnitz.

Gaumnitz, of the U. S. office of education at Washington, addressed the second international conference on correspondence education, held on the University of Nebraska campus.

Almost 1,500,000 Americans spend more than $50,000,000 annually attending school by mail, he said, falling generally into five categories:

1. Children in small schools which cannot afford to offer vocational work or college preparation.
2. Adults who dropped out of high school and now want their diplomas.
3. Middle-aged men and women who want college education.
4. Adults who want to improve their general education by devoting their increasing leisure time to study.
5. Industries which provide additional technical training for young men with supervisory ability.

But, Guamnitz said, colleges are only skimming the surface in enrolling these potential students. He said instruction now offered should be improved, and some plan developed for assigning certain courses to each institution.

Gaumnitz also recommended gearing many adult courses to the grade school level, to reach the approximately 10,000,000 Americans he said are "functionally illiterate." That is, those who know how to read and write but never do.

Dewey Held 60,959 Lead In Home State

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 7 (INS) — Gov. Thomas E. Dewey won his home state of New York by 60,956 votes in the Nov. 2 presidential election.

The state board of canvassers announced that Dewey received 2,841,163 votes, while President Truman got 2,780,204. Of the latter, 222,562 were cast under the Liberal party emblem.

Henry A. Wallace's New York vote was 509,559, and Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate, received 40,879 votes.

Judge Upholds Estate Accounting In Which Carole Lombard Diary Is Claimed Missing

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7 (AP) — Did Carole Lombard give her diary to Russ Colombo? Superior Court Judge Kurtz Kaufman says "no."

It's a question raised by a sister-in-law of Colombo, radio crooner, who died in a gun accident in 1934. His name once was linked romantically with that of Miss Lombard, the film actress who was killed in a plane crash in 1942 after she married Actor Clark Gable.

Mrs. Hazel M. Colombo, widow of the singer's brother, Albert, contended in court yesterday that Miss Lombard gave Russ a diary, a cigaret case and a $750 diamond ring which should be among his estate assets, along with $50,000 in phonograph record royalties.

Diary Not Found

Another brother, John Colombo, 51, petitioning for approval of his final accounting as estate administrator, said the diary, cigaret case and ring never were found among the crooner's possessions. He also said he had accounted for all funds received, the estate now amounting to $13,133.

Judge Kaufman upheld John Colombo. The court approved the final account and ordered the estate distributed, according to Russ' will, in equal shares to the estates of his parents, Nicholas and Julia Colombo.

The father died in 1941 the mother in 1944. She was never told of Russ' death.

AMERICAN FAMILY CLOSE-UP
As they go, so goes the nation!

Like so many other newly-weds today this was the first problem Dana and Evelyn Mox of Dayton, Ohio, had to face . . .

From honeymoon to money matters, their new life is exciting, challenging, to Dana and Evelyn Mox! Married just last June, they started with no house, no furniture, and only "rainy-day money" in the bank.

Even on Dana's pay as a tool maker in a chemical plant, it wouldn't be easy, they saw, both to provide for the children they hope for and to plan for the kind of life they want. Not with rising prices and a world far from calm! How best to reach their goals . . . and have their share of fun besides? What if Evelyn kept on with her job? Would the advantages outweigh the drawbacks?

The Moxes knew it would take careful management to have a happy home life if she kept her job too. But they decided it was well worth a try . . .

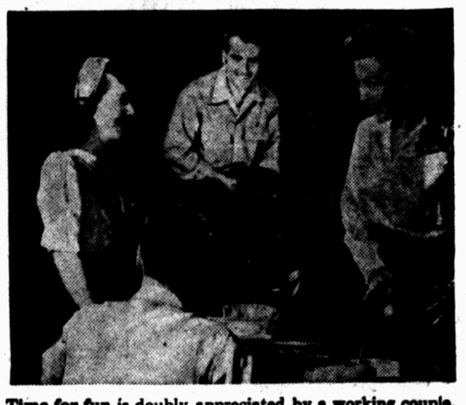

Dana and Evelyn know any family has more happiness, fewer worries by planning together, managing money together!

They work in the plant where they met, have same hours, drive to work together. As secretary to purchasing agent, she adds $165 a month to Dana's $279 "take-home" pay. But her job means higher taxes; extra clothes, lunches.

Shopping's harder for a working wife. Evelyn must market after work or Saturdays. But deciding menus together and finding what bargains they can is fun! Including lunches at the plant, food costs them $22.50 a week.

Time for fun is doubly appreciated by a working couple. "By planning fixed expenses in advance," they explain, "we know just what we can afford for bowling and other things. So we don't worry about spending too much!"

Dana shares the chores because of Evelyn's all-day job. Shampooing rug was his initiation into housekeeping! Even the washing machine holds no mysteries for Mr. Mox!

Now they have definite goals for the $90 a month they hope to save by both working! As to furniture, for example, the newly-weds are learning to know what they both like by visiting the stores together. By starting out in a $65-a-month furnished apartment, they gave themselves time to decide just what kind of house they want, too.

Even before they married, they worked out their life insurance plans! Already they have two retirement income life insurance policies that will total $13,725 at age 65. They're planning with their agent for more. As a fixed monthly item, they put $31.86 towards their present life insurance protection. "We know the kind of future we want," the Moxes will tell you, "and we're finding it fun to work as a team and stick to our budget to get a good start!"

A second honeymoon like their first in Florida is in the Moxes' "Someday Book." They're digging in now to make all their dreams come true sooner!

THE LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES AND THEIR AGENTS

BRING YOU THIS STORY BECAUSE... families like the Moxes show us one way that happiness is earned! You, yourself, probably know a family, right in your own town, that is getting ahead in the same typically American way. Such families prove to all of us that we can solve our own problems by our own efforts. . . . Their example shows too why it is so important for us to hold to our rights to think for ourselves, to work at what we like, to live as we choose. For what this country amounts to depends upon what happens to its homes!

Girl Who Fell In Love With Suitor's Brother Going Home

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 7 (AP) — A 19-year-old German girl who fell in love with the brother of the veteran she came here to marry is going back home to talk things over with her parents.

Pretty Elizabeth Sauer, of Kassel, Germany, came to Pittsburgh last September to wed Ralph Gaber, 33, whom she had met while he was serving with the U. S. Army.

Older Brother Agreeable

As a guest in the Gaber home, Elizabeth first met and came in daily contact with Ralph's younger brother, Karl, 25. Karl yesterday explained what happened this way:

"Elizabeth and I discovered that we had fallen in love. It was just one of those things and Ralph was a good sport about it. He agreed to give Elizabeth up and I have been planning to marry her."

Karl said he discovered, however, that Elizabeth, because of her age, required a new notarized form, giving her parents permission before she could change prospective bridegrooms.

Karl said he wrote the girl's parents but the permission was not forthcoming—"I guess I really can't blame them because I know how they feel about their daughter in a strange land and everything."

Air Travel Arranged

As a result, Karl said, he arranged air transportation for Elizabeth to return to Germany on Dec. 21 — in time for her to spend Christmas with her parents.

"Maybe I'll get a chance," he added, "to go to Germany in the next two years and meet her family. If not, I'll keep writing to them and maybe they'll understand and let her come back. I'm sure of one thing — and that is that I love Elizabeth and somehow I just know everytihing will work out satisfactorily."

Karl, a crane operator at a steel works, said he and Elizabeth talked the situation over and agreed it was best for her to return to Germany for awhile.

"After all," he said, "we'll be married a lifetime and we don't want to do anything that will offend her parents and possibly make our future miserable. We're both willing to wait for their consent."

Dumb Man Regains Speech In Mishap

BRAZIL, Ind., Dec. 7 (INS)— Dean Schroyer, of Dayton, may have been scared speechless when his car was sideswiped today near Brazil, but his deaf and dumb passenger was scared into talking.

Schroyer had picked up the hitchhiker at St. Louis. When the accident occurred, he jumped out of Schroyer's wrecked car and exclaimed:

"My god. I can talk."

He said he had been deaf and dumb for six months following a scarlet fever attack.

The police failed to get the hitchhiker's name.

Gunman Uses Bike To Flee

MUNCIE, Ind., Dec. 7 (AP) — A bicycle served as a handy getaway vehicle for a gunman fleeing with a bag containing $28,570 he had stolen in a daylight holdup yesterday from two officials of Muncie's largest department store.

The robber was chased by M. Ray Applegate, advertising agency owner, a passerby. But the gunman jumped on a bicycle left in an alley and sped away.

Meanwhile, one of the holdup victims, Fred Staver, credit manager of Ball stores, chased a second robber a block and a half before he was outdistanced.

Staver and William Jones, assistant credit manager, were taking the money to a bank when a man walking ahead of them turned around and drew a gun. He barked: "Drop that bag. I'll shoot you. I'll kill you."

Staver said he dropped the bag. They were ordered to turn and face the other way. Staver told police a younger man who stood behind them held his hand in a topcoat pocket as though he had a gun. Jones said the armed man picked up the bag and ran down an alley. His younger companion ran in the opposite direction.

Bailey County Votes On Legalized Liquor

MULESHOE, Dec. 7 (Special) —Whether Bailey county will allow the legal sale of liquor is the issue in a special election being conducted today, and a heavy vote is expected, observers said.

Strong opposition to a "wet" victory has been recorded by many citizens. Organization of the "United Drys of Bailey County" here last week was arranged to oppose legalized liquor.

Rev. A. W. Blaine, pastor of First Baptist church, was named county chairman of the organization in a meeting at the church. Other officers named were Rev. Milton L. Pattan, Nazarene church pastor, secretary-treasurer; W. M. Pool, jr., chairman for men; Mrs. Doc Wilhite, chairman for women; Elvin R. Ingram, chairman for youth; and Byron Griffiths, chairman for transportation.

There had been no indication today of any "wet" organization. The United Drys of Bailey county carried a full-page advertisement in the Muleshoe Journal urging defeat of legal liquor sales. The election was called by the county commissioners court after they had been advised that the county had never taken a legal stand on the issue.

Population Rising In Los Angeles County

Ambush Death Case Studied

SAVANNAH, Ga., Dec. 7 (AP)—A negro woman who yesterday charged a white man with murder in the ambush slaying of her husband planned to go to Atlanta today to place her information before the governor.

Aaron Kravitch, attorney for Amy Mallard, said his client hoped to appear before Gov. Herman Talmadge. The Savannah lawyer said the widow of Robert Mallard was advised to do this by negro friends in Atlanta.

The woman returned to Lyons, Ga., yesterday and charged William L. Howell, 32-year-old farmer, with murder in connection with the case. She named him as one of several men who stopped the Mallard car Nov. 20 and killed her husband.

Picked From Six Men

The widow, under police protection, picked Howell from among six men, including five who surrendered Saturday and were held under suspicion. She identified only Howell.

Two of the five who surrendered Saturday were released that night. The other two, Roderick Clifton, 36, and James Spivey, 24, were still in custody, but no charges have been filed against them.

Mallard was killed Nov. 20 on a lonely country road near his home about 18 miles from Lyons. The widow says he was shot by a band of robed white men "for no reason at all."

New Drugs

"clinical history" is about nine months.

"The preferred and best way is to administer them by mouth," Dr. Long told the association. "This means that they will be especially desirable for use by the general practitioner in treating infectious diseases at home.

He went on to point out that—"and this is most important, to date no serious toxic (poisonous) reactions have been noted in the course of administration of either chloromycetin or aureomycin to several hundred patients. If this record is maintained, it will be a great boon."

But "neither drug will be available in large quantities for months to come. It takes time to get them into production, plants must be built, huge fermentation tanks must be constructed, new methods must be developed for recovering them from the material in which the molds are grown."

Chloromycetin was discovered by Dr. P. R. Burkholder of Yale university and developed by the Parke Davis and company laboratories. Aureomycin's discoverer is Dr. H. M. Duggar of Lederle laboratories division, American Cyanamid company.

Polymixin, also a relatively new drug, has been found to have toxic qualities, affecting patients' kidneys, and can't be used except for seriously ill patients in whom sulfa drugs or streptomycin have failed, Dr. Long reported.

mum period of thirty (30) seconds, or fumigated with methyl bromide in approved treating machines or fumigation chambers, under the supervision of an inspector, and subsequently kept free of contamination."

It is set out, however, that untreated cottonseed may be retained on the farm of origin for planting on the farm during the spring of 1949, or for feeding to livestock up to June 1, 1949.

The amendment is made effective "until further notice."

Cypress Tree

community service project by the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce. It attracted widespread attention.

Mrs. Cone, original owner of the property on which the tree is located, recalled that its picture was reproduced about ten years ago in a United States Department of Agriculture bulletin which called it the most perfect specimen of Arizona Cypress in the country.

She said pruning of the tree required a man a full day. Later, after the church had acquired the property for a building site, Mr. and Mrs. B. Sherrod watered it to assure its health.

Original plans of the church to building the new edifice around the tree were found unfeasible.

It was reported that the church earlier this year received an offer of $500 for the tree.

Davis and Dr. A. W. Young, head of the agronomy department at Texas Technological college, each admitted that removal of the tree would be a difficult job.

The roots of the tree, Davis explained, are probably eight to ten feet deep. Great care would be required to remove the roots properly, and soil with them, to assure the continued health of the tree. It would have to be "root-pruned" before it was reset.

Dr. Young pointed out that evergreens are considerably harder to move than deciduous trees.

Hunt Continues For Hit-And-Run Driver

PLAINVIEW, Dec. 7 (Special)—Law enforcement officers today continued their search for the hit-and-run driver of an automobile which Sunday night struck and killed Benjamin F. Harris, 66, on the Plainview-Dimmitt highway.

The vehicle which struck Harris has been described as a black 1935 Ford, state highway patrolmen said. The accident occurred about a mile west of Plainview.

Harris, a farmer of nine miles northwest of Plainview and a resident of this area for more than 20 years, was driving toward Dimmitt about 7:50 p.m. with a companion, H. C. Barrow, when car trouble developed. He pulled the car off the highway onto the north shoulder, investigating patrolmen said.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Ellison, of Dimmitt, stopped on the south side of the road to see if they could assist the occupants of the stalled car, it was reported.

Harris was struck by the hit-and-run car as he crossed the highway toward the Ellison vehicle. Death was almost instantaneous, the highway patrolmen believed, the body having been found approximately 50 feet from the point of impact.

At the Roy Woods Funeral home here where the body was taken it was reported that Harris had suffered a fractured skull and both legs had been broken.

Funeral services for Harris late tonight were pending arrival of relatives, the funeral home said today.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Opal Coleman and Mrs. Marie Petty, both of Kennewick, Washington; three sons, Herschel Harris of Kennewick, and M. A. and Sam Harris, both of Plainview; two brothers, John Harris of Snyder and Will Harris of Nevada, Texas; a sister, Mrs. Oscar Spears of Snyder; and seven grandchildren.

Latest in auto gadgetry is a machine for straightening dented fenders without detaching them from the car. It is based on a strong I-beam that can be anchored securely to the frame of the car with a chain.

Building Permit

tioned and are to be equipped with automatic heating units.

Dr. M. Norvel Young, minister of the church who formerly resided at 1919 Main street on property which was owned by the church and which is to become part of the new church grounds, has moved to 3311 Thirty-first. The house on Main in which he formerly lived has been sold and will be moved.

Preliminary work to be done before actual construction can begin includes clearing, levelling, and grading of the building site.

The church's $650,000 building permit pushes building totals for 1948 beyond the $14,250,000 mark, adding to the possibility that the final total for the year may reach $15,000,000.

The previous record for any entire year was $11,130,866, in 1947.

Funeral To Be Held For Afton Farmer

MATADOR, Dec. 7. (Special)—Funeral services for Joe W. Cornett, 62, of Afton, were scheduled for 2 p. m. today in Afton Baptist church, with Reverend Stokes, pastor, offociating. Burial was to be in Matador cemetery, under direction of Bryan McDonald & Son Funeral home.

Cornett, a retired farmer who had lived in the Afton area about 47 years, died at 1:30 p. m. Monday in his home, after a long illness.

Survivors include the widow; four sons, C. J. of Wingate, and James, Joseph and John, all of Afton; a daughter, Mrs. Gaynell Wilcher of Afton; a brother, W. H. of Electra; a sister, Mrs. J. E. Russell of Afton, and one grandchild.

Barkley Heads For Kentucky Home After California Rally

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7 (AP) — Vice President-elect Alben W. Barkley, cheered by a day-long Democratic party victory celebration, sped happily back to his old Kentucky home today.

The jaunty, 71-year-old senator wound up a whirlwind visit by telling a gathering of 1,000 southern California party leaders last night that:

"We must carry out to the letter every promise and pledge made to the people."

Exuding vitality and good humor, Sen. Barkley moved easily through the tributes of the day, but saved his best verbal shots for the glittering, $25-to-$100 per plate crowd at the Cocoanut Grove in the Ambassador hotel.

James Roosevelt Apologizes

This is no time for the victor to point the finger of scorn at a vanquished foe," he said in urging party unity to accomplish platform promises.

A dramatic moment in the programe saw James Roosevelt, who led a short-lived attempt to overthrow President Truman at the Democratic convention, come to the platform and say: "I was wrong and I admit it. An apology is due and apology is given."

Roosevelt urged "fighting support of our great team of Truman and Barkley."

Barkley read a telegram from President Truman stressing the idea, "our victory was an expression of the people—our times demand action."

Hollywood was represented by Toastmaster George Jessel and Eddie Cantor, Edgar Bergen, Frank Sinatra, Dinah Shore and others who entertained or just sat in the audience.

Gets Filibuster Weapon

Presented with a two-foot thick gavel by Jessel, Barkley commented: "Just the thing for breaking up filibusters."

President Truman's running mate contended that the election did more "to confirm the Democratic party as a national and not a sectional party "than any election in history.

The Democrats have a particular right to reassert themselves as the majority party, he said, because of the "minority parties which to a degree divided the American people."

The victory day tribute started with a warm welcome at the airport from the defeated vice presidential candidate, Gov. Earl Warren.

Barkley was honor guest at a luncheon of the greater Los Angeles Press club. From club President William C. Payette he received a small eight-ball statuette, replica of the club's symbol.

Barkley said he plans to rest at his Paducah, Ky., home a few days before leaving for Washington. He left early today by plane for Memphis.

General chairman of the banquet was E. George Luckey, vice chairman of the state central committee, who told a reporter he had been approached about a possible cabinet post.

Patrons Give Mail Carrier Big Reward On 31st Anniversary

ST. PAUL, Minn., Dec. 7 (U.P.) — Everybody knew Herb Volkmeier and everybody liked him.

Saturday marked his 31st anniversary as a mail carrier on the same route, a residential neighborhood with some of St. Paul's nicest homes.

Some of the nicest people, too, Volkmeier said. When he showed up at his first stop, a crowd of about 100 people greeted him. They sang "Merry Christmas to you," to the tune of the happy birthday song.

$1,000 Bond Presented

William Oppenheimer, a lawyer, stepped forward and handed Volkmeier an envelope. It contained a $1,000 government bond and $20 in cash contributed by 130 families on Volkmeier's route.

Oppenheimer made a short speech. He said Volkmeier had "won the love and admiration of everybody in the neighborhood."

St. Paul postmaster A. A. Vandyke was there, too. He read a letter from Postmaster General Jesse M. Donaldson. The letter said:

"It is evident that you have been one of the best—if not the best—goodwill ambassadors of the postal service."

The letter said Volkmeier was "about as perfect as any city mail carrier can be."

Gets Day Off

The crowd broke into a cheer.

"I just don't know how to express myself," Volkmeier said. "This is too much."

Volkmeier's wife and daughter had been tipped off, and were in the crowd. The neighborhood gave Mrs. Volkmeier a new purse.

Then another mail carrier stepped forward and shouldered Volkmeier's mailbag. Volkmeier got the day off.

Vandyke said in all his 31 years, there was only one "near complaint" registered against Volkmeier.

That was when a woman wrote in to ask, "Why does he always have to be followed by six dogs?"

"I guess even the dogs like him," Vandyke said.

Senator Backs New Labor Act

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7 (AP) — Extract the best features from the Taft-Hartley act and the Wagner act, put them into a new bill and you'll have a good labor law.

So says Sen. Elbert D. Thomas (D-Utah), chairman designate of the Senate labor committee. Addressing University of Southern California undergraduate members of his fraternity, Phi Delta Theta, he said yesterday:

"The philosophy of the Taft-Hartley act is built upon and uses the same words as the Wagner act. It was written because men like Ball (Sen. Joseph Ball, R-Minn) felt the laboring man had a right to be freed from labor leaders.

"There are some changes I hope to see made. I would like to see the Senate throw out the use of district courts for injunctive purposes. I also would like to see the labor election machinery the bill provides completely revised."

The senator also envisioned modification of the fair labor standards act.

Hitchhiker On Train Makes Slight Detour

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Dec. 7 (INS) — Forty-nine-year-old Howard Upton is determined to get to Washington in time for President Truman's inauguration.

Today, he is on a slight detour, working out a $5 fine for attempting to make the trip to the capital riding high on top of the deisel locomotive of the New Haven railroad's Boston-to-Washington train "Hell Gate."

He was spotted, and hauled down.

Upton, discussing his "seat" atop the locomotive said that it was a "cinch" to get up there. He added that it was nice and warm, too—the engine exhaust provided the heat.

Test Shows Sulfa Lowers Egg Output

CHICAGO, Dec. 7 (U.P.) — The American Veterinary Medical Association has warned poultry growers that excessive use of sulfa drugs in treating diseased chickens may cause a serious loss of egg production.

The veterinarians' organization reported that an experiment in which sulfa drugs were used to treat fowl cholera in a 1,000-bird flock showed egg production fell off as much as 50 per cent in one week.

It was nearly a month before production was back to normal, the report said.

Purdue University livestock feeding tests show that ladino clover makes better pasture for hogs than alfalfa.

Airplane Seeding Project In Utah Reclaiming Desert Land

SKULL VALLEY, Utah, Dec. 7 (U.P.)—Here about 60 miles southwest of Salt Lake City, a former doctor and dentist turned inventor and soil conservationist has set out to bring more value to a land that grows little more than greasewood and cheatgrass.

The project being carried out on 15,000 acres of this isolated, semi-desert area was conceived about 30 years ago. Its originator is Dr. Lytle S. Adams, a 65-year-old native of Kentucky who was graduated from St. Louis University with degrees in medicine and dentistry.

But Adams' first love was soil and water conservation. He began to develop this aerial pellet reseeding project of grass after he discovered why a certain cactus plant grew so abundantly near San Diego, Cal., in land much like that in Skull Valley. He found that the plant's seed was spread and germinated in rabbit droppings.

With government sponsorship Adams first tried seeding from airplanes in New Mexico in 1944. He used a pellet made of dry, compressed loam, clay and fertilizer, which weights and protects the five to eight seeds each contains.

Resist Wind

The pellets, about the size of a small grape, are sown about nine to each square yard of ground covered. The capsules are heavy enough that they won't be scattered by the wind. They become adhesive when damp and soften, allowing the seeds to germinate in an average yearly rainfall of about nine inches.

They are scattered widely enough to eliminate the necessity of thinning and the bunched seeds tend to compete with one another so that the hardy ones survive, Adams says.

The Skull Valley project has been organized by the U. S. Bureau of Land Management one of whose duties it is to preserve and reclaim federal ranges such as this.

Adams estimates that about 1,000 acres are seeded a day with the present equipment. He has conservatively allotted 19 days for the actual reseeding at Skull Valley.

Hopes To Cut Cost

He hopes to cut the cost from about $2.31 per acre to $1.25 with large-scale operations. He said:

"Vast areas of land such as this in western and southwestern United States can be reclaimed by the aerial reseeding. Texas oil land holders have expressed their interest in the process, too. They want to bring some return from the thousands of acres that have been overrun with oil wells."

Since 1944, Adams has re-seeded more than 100,000 acres, representing all possible conditions, in New Mexico, Wyoming, Idaho, Nevada and Utah. Where livestock has been kept off until the young grass has taken root, Dr. Adams reports that results have been "good."

He earnestly hopes that results will be good enough to reduce substantially the annual $3,500,000 loss in soil loss and erosion.

Pirates Kill Four In Raid On Burma Ferry

RANGOON, Burma, Dec. 7 (AP)—River pirates killed four persons yesterday in a raid on a Rangoon-bound ferry, accoording to reports received here today.

The pirates captured 20 members of the Burmese armed forces and escaped with currency and jewelry valued at $56,000. They boarded the ferry disguised as passengers. Two persons were wounded in the gun battle.

Among the prisoners taken was Lt. Col. Tin Pe, acting special commissioner at Maubin, near Rangoon.

LOTS OF GRANDPARENTS

EVERETT, Mass. (U.P.)—Rita Ann Muise, a fifth generation baby, has six grandparents to spoil her. Her mother, Mrs. Bertha Muise, is 21; her grandmother, Mrs. Agnes Teves, is 38; her great-grandmother, Mrs. Mary Guitar, is 54; and her great-great-grandmother, Mrs. Agnes Cheverie, is 79. All her grandfathers are living.

Charter Presented Toastmasters Club

The Hub Toastmasters club of Lubbock, one of 660 chapters of Toastmasters International in the United States, Hawaii and Canada, held its charter night banquet last night at the Cactus Inn.

Dr. Louis Tompkins, district governor of the Wichita Falls area of the clubs, and Quentin Williams of Pampa, district governor of this area, were among the dozen out-of-town guests present. Five guests were present from Big Spring.

Williams made the presentation speech and presented the charter of the local club to Dr. H. M. Benson, newly elected president of the group. Benson, in turn, made the acceptance speech.

Other Officers Named

Other club officers elected to posts in the local organization are: Lonnie Langston, vice president; Lou E. Walker, secretary-treasurer; Kenneth Moore, sergeant-at-arms; and Dr. O. W. English, deputy governor.

James Edwards gave the invocation at the opening of the ceremonies, followed by Dr. Benson with the welcome address. Dr. English was toastmaster, Waggoner Carr acted as table topic master, and the position as critic master was held by Hugh Anderson.

Three of the clubs charter members gave five-minute talks to the group: Ed Merriman spoke on "The New Look," A. B. Watkins talked on "Praise 'Em First," and Warlick Carr, one of the two bachelors present, made an address on the subject of "Bachelorhood."

Wives of the married members of the club were present as additional guests at the charter night affair.

The full component of 30 members in the local club are part of the about 19,000 members in the parent organization. Composed mainly of business and professional men, Toastmasters International has as its chief aim the furthering of individual abilities toward accomplished public speaking. Courses in public speaking are made available to all members.

Engineer Survey Of Proposed Canal In Colombia Underway

BALBOA, Canal Zone, Dec. 7 (AP)—A small group of engineers will start off today to survey a proposed inter - ocean canal through northern Colombia to supplement the Panama canal.

The territory under study for a new sea-level waterway is known as the Atrato-Truando route. It is roughly 200 miles southeast of the Panama canal and would connect the Gulf of Uraba on the Atlantic with Humboldt bay on the Pacific.

To Get Information

Lt. Col. David McCoach, third planning engineer of the Panama canal engineering staff is directing the survey which will obtain fuller information on canal possibilities to bolster a 1947 report to Congress on Isthmian canal studies.

The Colombian route is one of four sea-level routes being studied. It would cost $4,594,000,000 according to a previous aerial and land survey. This is the lowest cost of three new canal routes under study. However engineers estimate the Panama canal could be converted to a sea-level waterway at a cost of only $2,483,000,000.

Less than 5 per cent of the weight of typical plants is mineral material drawn from the soil.

Hollywood Producer Signs Big Contract

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 7 (AP)—Producer Hal Wallis has signed a contract with Paramount pictures calling for spending $18,000,000 on 12 motion pictures in the next few years.

The announcement yesterday said a 12-picture pact signed in 1944 by Wallis and Paramount was completed last week. The Wallis company will function with complete autonomy on the Paramount lot.

"Buy Toys That Suit Age Of Youngster"

Family Education Specialist Gives Tips On Yule Shopping

(By The Associated Press)

COLLEGE STATION, Dec. 7 — So you're going to buy that expensive electric train for junior, aged six months, and see his eyes sparkle in glee Christmas morning.

Don't, advises Mrs. Eloise T. Johnson.

She is extension family education specialist of Texas A. & M. College. Here are some tips she gives Christmas shoppers with a wee tot in the family:

When you start looking for toys, don't forget how old the child is. Buy toys that suit the age of the youngster. For instance, a very small child will take to something that's bright colored and makes a noise. Be sure it doesn't have any sharp edges or poisonous paints, because he'll put it in his mouth if he can. Be sure it's too large for him to swallow. For the sake of the family, you might watch to see that the noise isn't too shrill.

Children a little older like the push and pull toys and ones that make noise too. Big blocks and big things they can lift and carry — wagons, carts and trucks — just like the real ones — are toys that will make the two year old happy and help him grow and learn.

And those a little older are even more active. They like tractors, dump trucks, a stake wagon with removable sides, or a fire truck big enough to ride on — play houses, dollbuggies, telephones and plastic dishes. Remember that toys are to be played with over and over so get things that will stand real wear.

"We can help do away with some of the Christmas tensions with toys that are joys for the whole family if we think through our shopping carefully," says Mrs. Johnson. "But don't wait too long, or there won't be anything left.

"Start now, while the counters are still full and the choices are many. If you do, you'll find what you're looking for."

Dance To End Birthday Festival Of City Groggy From Wolf Calls At Unique Show

WESLACO, Dec. 7 (U.P.) — A dance tonight will end the celebration of the 29th birthday of this lower Rio Grande valley city, which is still groggy from wolf calls at last night's unique style show.

The chief attraction was 28 pretty girls dressed in gowns of fruit, vegetables and flowers, who competed for $1,500 in prizes.

One man—not to be outdone by the more curvaceous cuties — entered the show and carried off $150 first prize in the costume division. He wore a charro suit made principally from egg plant.

But first place in the show was taken by broccoli-clad Mrs. Hank Hamel.

Egg Plant Dress Wins

Mrs. Joe Davison, sporting a dress made mostly from egg plant but with a sprinkle of brilliant red peppers, carried off first place in the street dress division.

One of the most unique costumes was a "new look" cocktail gown designed by 16-year-old Danny Reed of Weslaco high school, who has his sights set on being a fashion designer. The creation, worn by Pat Ross, was made from the skin of egg plant and pasted to foundation cloth of the dress, hat, hand bag and shoes.

Reed used 10 bushels of egg plant, water and flour. He spent 262 hours on his creation.

The idea for the style show originated in Weslaco in 1932. One has been held each birthday since, except for the war years.
