New Supervisor

Recent appointment of Geo. A. Lider, above, to the place of supervisor of the division of operations for the Amarillo District of Works Progress Administration, has been learned here. His appointment was made the latter part of last week following a conference at A. & M. College with State Supervisor Baugh.

G. A. Lider Named WPA Division Head Amarillo District

Succeeds to Operations Supervisor's Work Following Shake-Up There

Geo. A. Lider, Floydada engineer, who has been one of the area's most widely operating engineers on WPA construction projects, has engineering supervision of WPA projects in the Amarillo District, and this week is continuing work he began several days ago in a temporary capacity.

Several changes in the Amarillo Division recently created a vacancy in the district supervisory work and Lider was asked to handle the work in a recent conference at A. & M. College, where he conferred with state officials of the Works Progress Administration. His official title is head of the divisions of operations.

Mr. Lider said he did not plan to make a change of residence, although he will be required to spend much of his time in the Amarillo area while on the work he has assumed. He will continue to maintain his Floydada office, it was indicated, through which he is carrying forward engineering supervision of WPA jobs in three or four counties in this area, and also his work as surveyor of Floyd County.

Pioneer Of Ft. Worth Aunt Of Four Floyd County Men, Is Dead

Mrs. L. E. Higginbotham, a pioneer resident of Ft. Worth, and an aunt of four Floyd county men, died at her home Thursday morning at 10:30 o'clock. "Aunt Duck" as she was affectionately called by those who knew her visited in this county many times.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Oscar Morris, of Fort Worth; and Mrs. Don Brown, of Oklahoma City and a number of other relatives, including her nephews, Bob, Ham, Grover and Chas. Smith of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Fuller, of Plainview, were in Floydada Thursday evening enroute to Fort Worth to attend the funeral which was held Friday. Mrs. Fuller is a niece.

McLain Petitioned on School Ballots In Precinct No. 1

Electors Are Offered Candidacy of Sand Hill Man For County Board

Vote Saturday

Lockney, Dougherty Districts To Have Special Ballots For School Trustees

Voters in the school districts of Blanco, Sand Hill, Allmon, Starkey, Harmony McCoy, and Floydada who are to choose a successor to G. L. Snodgrass as a member of the Floyd County School Board from Commissioners' Precinct No. One, will find the name of J. T. McLain printed on the ballots which they will cast in the election Saturday.

McLain's name is on the ballot in response to a petition filed with County Judge Tom W. Deen last week. Residents of Floydada Independent School District will have a voice in the selection of the county trustee, according to a ruling by the attorney general's department this week. The ruling was wired county attorney Winfred F. Newsome Tuesday. This ruling also applies to voters in Lockney Independent School District who will be given a vote for a county board member from Precinct 2.

Blank space will be left on the ballot for voters who wish to cast their ballots for some other resident of the precinct.

Blank ballots will be distributed in Commissioners' Precinct No. Two school districts, where a successor to J. F. Dollar as a member of the board is to be named. County Trustee E. C. Durham in Precinct Three, and County Trustee R. C. Smith in Precinct Four, and J. W. Howard, trustee-at-large, are hold-overs on the board.

In Dougherty Consolidated School District the ticket will bear the names of six candidates, petitioned on the ballot. They are J. R. Hinton, Jim Morrison, Cecil Payne, Tate Jones, O. L. Britton, and F. M. Covington. R. W. Lotspeich, J. M. Morrison and W. W. Emert are the trustees whose terms expire in that district.

In all districts in the county one or more local trustees are to be

City Ballot To Carry No New Names

City's Marshal Race Only One In Which Competition Indicated

Few Absentees

Election Next Tuesday To Fill Full Complement Of City Offices

Unless there is a heavy 'write in' campaign, and nothing of the kind has developed todate, it looks like a cinch for all old elective officials of the City of Floydada to ride into office again on Tuesday, with only one exception.

When the last hour for applications and petitions had come and gone last Friday, City Secretary S. E. Duncan had no new names for places on the ballot, and accordingly there'll be no others, but for every office a blank space is left for the elector to fill in a name for any he wants to check off the list. Even in the marshal's race, where there are the only two candidates competing for a place, another space is left for the voter should he prefer not to vote for either of the aspirants—R. D. Smith and Morgan Wright.

That there is not a great deal of warmth about the forthcoming city election is indicated by the fact that few absentees had cast a ballot up to yesterday, with only desultory interest. A few applicants for absentee ballots, it developed, had failed to qualify themselves by paying the city poll tax. A. B. Clark, county clerk, has charge of the absentee voting, and tommorrow night is the dead line for absentee ballots.

Names on the Ticket

Following is the list of candidates whose names appear on the ballot in the order in which they will appear, a blank or blanks being left under each office for a voter to write another name or other names should he prefer not to vote for one or more of these:

For Mayor: Glad Snodgrass;

For City Marshall: R. D. (Bob) Smith; Morgan Wright.

For City Secretary, Assessor and Collector: S. E. Duncan;

For City Aldermen (vote for five): F. C. Harmon, W. U. White, R. E. Fry, J. B. Bishop, and B. K. Barker.

Lions Stunt Night Planned Thursday, F.H.S. Auditorium

Stunt night of Floydada Lions Club has been set for Thursday night of next week, when an all-Lion program will be given consisting of efforts at vaudeville by various members of the club. Some funny situations are due to develop in the program, according to report.

W. H. Henderson, Marvin English and T. F. Huggins are the committee in charge of plans for the event. A small admission charge will be made, the program to be given at the high school auditorium.

Today's program of the club will be in charge of W. M. Windsor and Odell Winters. Last Thursday O. M. Watson presented the program, which was featured by a talk by Judge Kenneth Bain on astronomy, a study of which has been one of his hobbies for a number of years. His talk was "interrupted" by the appearance of a "derelict" who, however, had good credentials, and a collection for him was made then and there. Removal of a disguise revealed the countenance of Arthur P. Barker, of Lockney, who had been present shortly before as a guest.

Clean-Up Week To Be Observed April 4-11

Spring clean-up week, designated by proclamation by Governor James V. Allred and Mayor Glad Snodgrass, will be observed in Floydada beginning Sunday, April 4 and continuing until the following Sunday, April 11.

Mayor Snodgrass has urged a general clean-up of premises, lots, alleys, and the elimination of fire hazards in an effort to make Floydada more beautiful, sanitary, and safe.

Test on Lovell Jones Farm Southeast of Floydada Will Try For Irrigation Water

Score or More Subscribe To Fund to Protect Owner Against Loss

The well drilling rig of C. Y. Gorman was moved on to the Lovell Jones farm five and a half miles southeast of Floydada last night and this week-end will begin a test for water for irrigation there.

The test there is the result of a plan sponsored by Mr. Jones and A. M. Battey, a neighbor, and subscribed to, by more than a score of business men and neighbors who raised a fund last week-end to help guarantee against the loss that will be entailed should the test prove unsuccessful. Apparently water in ample quantities will be found, but whether it will be at a depth for practical irrigation use is the question. Both Jones and Battey are subscribing liberally to the fund for the test and Mr. Jones will take over the well and the expense incident to its development should it prove successful. More than a thousand dollars was raised in a 24-hour canvas made through the Chamber of Commerce office.

Success of the Dr. R. W. Moore well in the east part of Starkey School District, approximately seven miles south of Floydada seemed assured yesterday afternoon as development of the well was begun by the Peerless Pump Company, who contracted for its installation. The test was begun about 3 o'clock yesterday and at 5:30 the well was cleaning out in an apparently satisfactory manner with a flow of about 800 gallons per minute at the time. A crew of men were moving sand from the pit as the pump belched forth sand and water in a big stream. The well should be completed for around a thousand gallons, L. A. Moore, who was superintending the work, thought at the time.

Mr. Moore said the plan to test from the 160-foot level had been changed and the pump set at 200 feet, in view of the fact that it was an experimental well and the "draw down" of the water level was an unknown quantity. The pump may or may not be left at 200 feet.

Yesterday afternoon the contracter completed the Geo. B. McAllister well three and a half miles west and slightly north of Floydada, stopping the drill at 325 feet after penetrating the "river sand" for fifty-four feet. Development of the well will be undertaken at once, Mr. McAllister said.

Log of the Moore well, south of Floydada six and a half miles across Blanco Canyon, was given as follows:

First seven feet, surface soil; 7-38

Funeral For Mrs. Carr Held At Carr's Chapel Wednesday Afternoon

Funeral services for Mrs. Mather Jane Carr, 93, a beloved resident of Floyd County for thirty-five years, were held Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, at Carrs Chapel. This little church near her home was named in honor of her husband, Rev. W. H. Carr, a pioneer Methodist minister to whom she was married June 19, 1863 . Rev. Ollie Apple, pastor at Carr's Chapel conducted the service, assisted by Rev. Montgomery, a former pastor.

She died Tuesday morning, March 30, at 1:10 a. m. after a week's illness and was 93 years, 4 months and 19 days old at the time of her death. Mrs. Carr came to Floyd County from Coryell County, having lived in Fannin and Hunt Counties prior to that time. She had been a member of the Methodist church for 85 years and was a very devout christian.

The church altar was filled to overflowing with beautiful flowers.

She is survived by two daughters, Miss Anna, who lived with her, and Mrs. M. W. Heard; two sons, Mather and John Carr, all of whom live near Petersburg; and 14 grandchildren and 22 great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers Were Floyd Trowbridge, Everett Miller, Roy Hale, Hal Scott, Carrick Snodgrass, Wm. Finkner, Zant Scott and B. E. Harris.

Flower bearers were Reda Mae Gary, Iva Elmore Smith, LaRue Williams, Edith Hendrick, Estelle Gary, Margaret Hale, Yvonne Hale, Mona Blackman, Jewell Hennessee, Lila Hennessee, Mary Hendricks, Christine Bagwell and Cathrine Gary.

Interment was made in Carr's Chapel cemetery under the direction of Harmon Funeral Home.

"Miss Business"

Business certainly is improving. Meet Miss Lucy Bess Wester, Texas Christian University senior from Plainview, who was honored with the title of "Miss Business" at the annual banquet of the students in the Department of Business Administration. 'Miss Wester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Wester of Plainview, is also a cousin of J. C. Wester of this city.

Tonight Midnight Deadline To Buy Automobile Tags

Only 1,382 Passenger Car Licenses Issued in County Up to Wednesday

With tonight, midnight, the deadline for purchasing car licenses, only 1,382 passenger car tags had been issued in Floyd County up to Wednesday afternoon, F. L. Moore, county tax collector and assessor, said.

Wednesday afternoon's total was quite a bit short of the total registrations at that time last year, Mr. Moore said. One of the reasons that registration is moving slowly this year is that many farmers are awaiting the arrival of agricultural checks, expected here in the next few days.

Commercial trucks registered up to Wednesday afternoon totaled 55 and farm trucks numbered 95.

Cars cannot be driven with the 1936 license plates still on them after midnight, with the exception that they may driven to town with the purpose of the owner purchasing tags for them, Mr. Moore pointed out.

Fred Hale is in charge of registering cars for 1937 at Lockney. The local office will stay open until a late hour tonight in order to give last-minute customers a chance to purchase their tags before the deadline.

T. A. Norman Leaves For Dallas To Take Examiner's Position

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Norman left Saturday for Dallas where Mr. Norman has accepted a position as assistant bank examiner for the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

After receiving the telegram notifying him of his appointment, Mr. Norman resigned his position as assistant cashier at the First National Bank here. His position as assistant cashier at the local bank was taken by his brother, Lewis Norman, whose position was taken by Earl Crow.

J. D. Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Moore, is employed by the bank as bookkeeper, having begun his work last Friday. Kenneth Bain, Jr., has been working at the bank for the past several weeks.

It is not known just where Mr. Norman will have his headquarters, after he has received about two months instruction at Dallas.

ELDER J. J. DAY ILL

The condition of Elder J. J. Day, ill at his south Floydada home for several days, was considered unsatisfactory last night, according to reports from his bedside.

Singing And Declamation First Events

Inclement Weather Interferes With Playground Ball And Tennis Play-Off

Hundreds Expected

Floydada Expected To Be Thronged With Participants and Spectators

Officials and participants in the annual Floyd County Interscholastic League meet to be held here over the week-end are hoping earnestly for fair weather, so that everything may run off smoothly during the two-days of serious competition.

All plans have been carefully worked out and everything is in readiness for the meet, provided the weather stays clear, A. D. Cummings, director general of the meet, said Tuesday afternoon.

Some preliminaries in both playground ball and tennis were run off last week-end, but inclement weather prevented the completion of these two events, which are to be finished next week, following the general county meet. However, if weather permits, tennis may be played off in the next few days, Mr. Cummings said. Preliminary results may be found on the Hesperette page .

The meet proper will get under way tonight with declamation and choral singing events which are to be held in the high school auditorium. Harley Hay will represent F. H. S. as the senior boy declaimer, Frances Copeland as the senior girl declaimer, Mary Frances McRoberts as the junior girl declaimer, and W. A. Colston as the junior boy declaimer.

Friday night debates will be held, with Trueman Kirk and Alton Morse representing F. H. S. as the boys team, and Jessie Lee Hodges and Evelyn Hicks as the girls teams.

Judges for the Thursday night, Friday, and Friday night events will be from West Texas State College, Mr. Cummings announced.

In the track and field events to be held Saturday Coach Odell Winter, director, will be assisted by Floyd Murry and Coach Cooper of Lockney.

Several hundred contestants and interested spectators are expected to throng Floydada for the scholastic competition during the meet.

Last year Lockney High school, exhibiting exceptional strength in the literary events, walked away with the county title, inasmuch as literary events were allowed more points than track and field events, which were easily copped by Floydada participants. Intense practice has been put forth by F. H. S. literary contestants this year in effort to regain the cup from Lockney.

Choose Nominees Rotary Club; To Ballot Next Meet

Nominations for officers to guide the destiny of the Floydada Rotary Club for a year were made by ballot at the Wednesday noon meeting of the club.

Those who will be voted on by members of the club next week are: C. L. Minor and Glad Snodgrass, for president; Dr. A. E. Guthrie and Walton Hale, for vice president; S. W. Ross and Walton Hale, for secretary and treasurer; J. C. Wester, A. J. Folley, Rev. John Eldridge, Robert Medlen, Virgil Williams and N. W. Williams, for directors.

J. B. Claiborne was in charge of the program given Wednesday, on which Mary Lee Thacker and Dr. A. E. Guthrie appeared. Mary Lee rendered two piano solos and Dr. Guthrie talked on the benefits of Rotary conventions.

Harley Hay, Floydada High School student, was introduced by President A. D. Cummings. Harley representing the local high school in declamation in the Interscholastic League meet, gave his declamation before members of the club.

WHEAT A GOOD PRICE?

With a fair to good wheat crop in the offing, although still in the hands of the fates, the next most important thing to the wheat grower is whether the price is going to be right.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has a lot of men who do not do anything but figure, and these experts with the pencil say the price will be good, in fact that wheat prices should continue at a high level throughout 1937 and 1938.

Whether there will be an export surplus is still to be seen. The spring wheat crop lacks a lot of being made. If it turns out good there will be a surplus for across the waters, otherwise not, the statisticians say. And the European crop condition will also determine whether or not there is to be a big demand. At this time the supply in sight indicates that by July the supply of wheat will be below normal in all exporting countries, so the department quotes the statisticians as saying.

Let us hope the Department knows—and that a good season vouchsafes this area a chance to share in the good of it.

OFF TO UTAH?

Years ago New York finance, New York brains, New York enterprise took a chance on the commercial possibilities of developing a tremendous sulphur deposit down on the coast of Texas, and, being fortunate, have pulled down a tremendous profit from it the past thirty years or forty.

Recently, there has been a hue and cry against this taking of a natural resource from the people of the Lone Star State, who inherited it, they say, paid for in blood at Goliad, Gonzales, the Alamo and at San Jacinto. Who said liberty purchased at San Jacinto is more precious than liberty purchased at Bunker Hill is not mentioned. Anyhow, there must be a tax, a big tax, to "recapture" some of the golden flowing to New York.

But New York thinks the man who dares one place can dare another, when the rules of the game change. And engineers are now surveying and platting and planning for the development of a similar deposit in Utah. They may let the Texas and Louisiana deposits rest while the tide of public sentiment runs against them.

Capital seeks favors, moves to more happy climes. So in this instance, perhaps, to Utah. The legislature, goaded on by an unthinking public, gets the credit. [illegible]

The principal business of some people is the effort to make others think they are important.

CURSES ON THE RICH MAN

Once upon a time it was that the rich man made the price of bread so high curses were heaped upon him by the poor, down-trodden working man. But the world does move. And now, when the price of wheat goes low it is the rich man still who did it. He continues to be the butt-end of the conversation, the talkers-about being another set of people, though.

For times have changed. No longer does the price of bread to the working man change a great deal with fluctuating prices. Modern milling, distribution, storage, knowledge of world needs, all have combined to discount that. It is the farmer who is the butt of the maladjustments now, when they come. The farming world, with modern implements, has learned to produce more than the world can possibly need in any given ten years. The workingman is secure in the knowledge there will be plenty of bread to go around. The farmer is insecure in the knowledge that there may be a lot too much,—and that the speculator will know all about it before the producer does.

JUNK BUSINESS HITS A SNAG

Junk business in Texas hit a snag a few days ago when wharf companies issued an embargo against further shipments by railroads until such time as shipping tonnage would permit moving iron that had already accumulated.

All the junk dealers are now getting allocations of shipments. Where they formerly shipped freely they ship now as room is made for their consignments.

HONESTY IS THE BEST POLICY

An interesting sidelight on the junk business is the fact that it has gotten a few fellows with itching fingers into trouble. One man caught some fellows loading a plow to take to the junk dealer that had never been assembled, another missed a good separator, and old disc plows, cultivators, or cutters, or cotters, have come up missing by the score.

The fellows who took them forgot to ask the owners. It is an old, old lesson that has to be re-learned by every man, namely, that honesty is the best policy. Some violated the adage with impunity, while others are studying it in more or less solitude with plenty of time on their hands.

LET'S ADVERTISE TEXAS

Texas as a state for the tourist to see and marvel at, and as a state in which there are many natural resources awaiting the hand of man, should be advertised to the world. California, Florida, New Mexico have capitalized on the tourist trade to their own great advantage. They have reaped a rich harvest from advertising.

The legislature, it appears, will submit the matter of an expenditure for advertising to the people for a vote. Lieutenant-Governor Walter Woodul thinks the amount should be around a million dollars a year for five years. It seems a sound investment. Should the legislature submit the proposition, let's vote for it.

The great end of education is to discipline rather than to furnish the mind, to train it to the use of its own powers, rather than fill it with the accumulation of others.—Tryon Edwards.

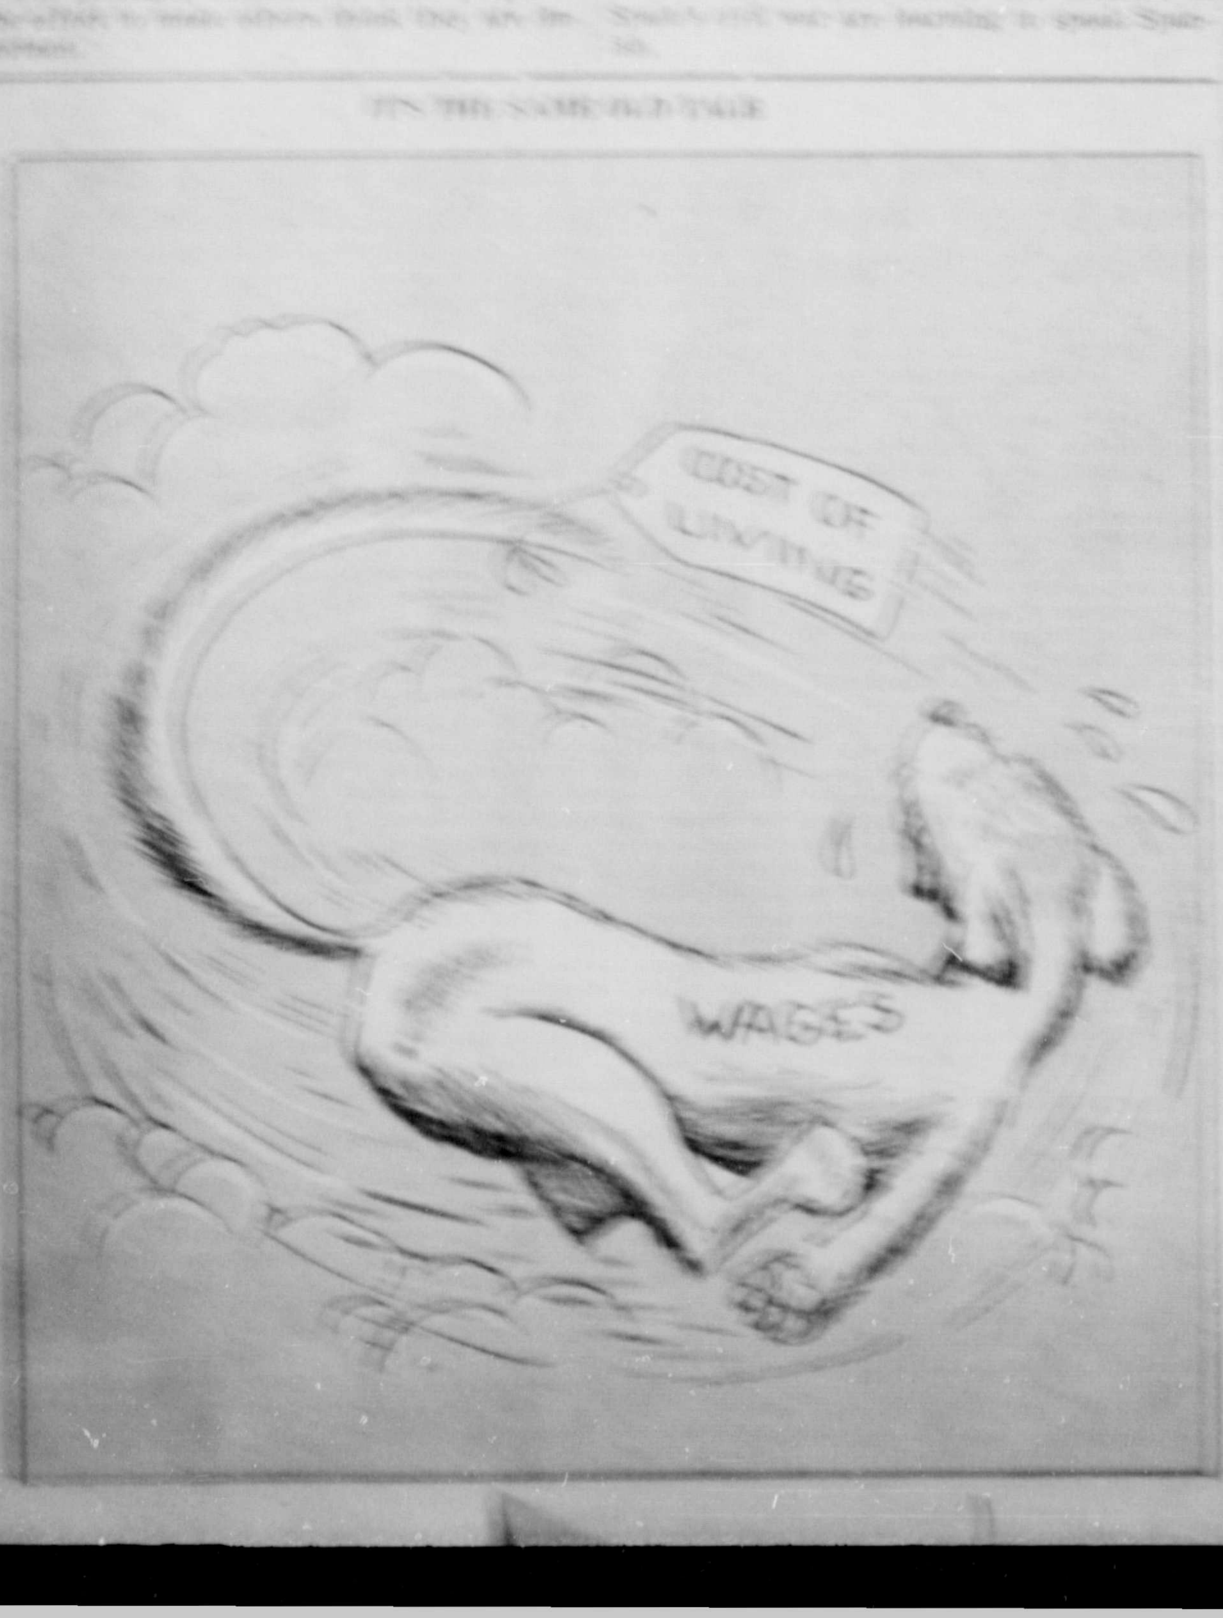
IT'S THE SAME OLD TALE



Newton's Discoveries

By Charles Newton

Floundering about in a maze of disrupting theories and practices, the person who maintains his equilibrium of happiness is one to be praised. To stand to one side and say, "These things are not good. I will have none of them," and to carry out such words into actions denotes a person of strong will-power, an absolute prototype of which we rarely encounter in the hugger-mugger existence of today which we still call life.

* * * * *

Coming upon us slowly, like a cat stalking a bird, the age of speed has given us little warning of its coronation as the king of modern life. Everything has speeded up—men, things, and customs. He who clings tenaciously and surely to his own mode of existence is dubbed "Mr. Victorian" and relegated to the limbo of those who haven't kept in step with the times. Keeping in step is fine, but everyone should be wise enough to look ahead of his nose and see where the millions of steps are leading.

In the future there is bound to be a reversion to the horse and buggy type of days, minus the horse and buggy of course. That is, the pendulum will swing back to the more logical way of living and conducting business, if persons retain a small portion of their once native horse-sense. There are those who argue that we, in our march to a more glorious civilization and more abundant life, will not go back, that we cannot go back to old-fashioned, obsolete ways of doing things, that we have done with such things, once and for all. But sometimes I wonder if we shouldn't, personally, try to synchronize our life so that it will be more satisfying to us. I wonder if we shouldn't take some of the modern ways, temper them with the old-fashioned ways, and make a brave attempt to mould the combination into a workable theory of happiness.

FLOYD COUNTY 14 YEARS AGO

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

WASHINGTON. —If the Wagner-Steagall housing bill is passed, the low income groups, which means those families whose income is not more than $800 a year, will benefit greatly.

Those who are pushing this piece of legislation hope optimistically that, in the next four years, it would be possible to build 375,000 subsidized houses for people who cannot afford such dwellings if they must depend on costly private enterprise.

The Wagner-Ellenbogen bill passed by the Senate last year recognized housing as a government responsibility. The difference between this draft and Senator Wagner's earlier housing bill is that the federal subsidy will be put on rents instead of into the original cost of construction. This change will enable the government to retain some control over the housing projects it subsidizes, and will make the necessary appropriation for grants less at the outset.

Early hearings and passage by the Senate are likely in the case of the new bill. The measure defines governmental responsibility by making it a federal policy to employ funds and credit to help alleviate unemployment and "to remedy the unsafe and insanitary housing conditions and the acute shortage of decent, safe, and sanitary dwellings for families of low income that are injurious to the health, safety, and morals of the citizens of the nation."

A United States Housing Authority with three members would administer the act. The Authority would issue bonds to the amount of $1,000,000,000 in the next four years. This money would be loaned to local or state public housing agencies for periods up to 60 years at the going rate of interest, which is now 2½% on government investments.

The annual federal grant to local housing agencies could not exceed the existing annual rate of interest plus 1 per cent on the cost of developing or acquiring the project. So contributions out of federal money on the basis of the going rate of interest at this time could go as high as 3½ per cent.

Secretary of Treasury Morgenthau is reported to question the proposal because of its expense in the long run. Altogether the bill would take from the Treasury in the years 1939, 1940, and 1941, $50,000,000. It is estimated that operation of the plan would require some $500,000,000 for non-federal loans, plus the federal billion and $50,000,000 for grants in the first four years.

Average annual subsidies would run between $100 and $125 per unit. But an individual grant could run as high as $175 a year on a $5000 house, and it is estimated rent costs would be cut 40 or 45 per cent. Rents, of course, would depend on local taxes on housing projects. If there were tax exemption in practice as well as in theory, there would be a possibility of reaching the $800 a year families who could, for example, get a maximum subsidy on a four-room $4000 house at rent of about $2.50 per month per room.

The proposed Housing Authority also could lend up to $25,000,000 a year to limited-profit housing agencies on demonstration of low cost housing or slum clearance projects.

Smith will begin dismantling his plant and crating his equipment for shipment to Snyder on Saturday. D. L. Smith, formerly employed with The Beacon, will have charge of the work of remodeling the plant and will be employed in the new office. Mr. Smith will open in Snyder, which is Mr. Smith's as well as Mr. Smith's former home.

Just In Fun

New books offers "rules for every occasion," but we'll bet it doesn't mention sitdown strikes.

Scientist says cows developed cuds from the eat-and-run habit, which gives us something to think about, anyhow.

Dispatch says Mussolini named in love diary, so probably we'll next hear from Il Duce in Hollywood.

Britons complain coronation parade seats are only 18 inches wide which will be nothing compared to those in the Supreme Court if the bench is increased to 15 members.

Amelia's newest flight has been postponed, which means that Mr. Putnam probably will come home some night and find his wife.

JOTS IN JEST

Stupid Stella thinks that cotton gin is the kind that makes her mouth taste so furry the next morning.

"Men's clothes will reflect the new philosophy of leisure," says a prominent clothier. There probably will be padded seats for sitdowners.

The Bat Flight

e bat flight at dusk during the mer months affords a most unusual spectacle. Millions of the queer flying creatures require as much time as three hours to pass from the cave into the twilight. The flight of the bats attracted the attention of a lone cowboy while riding herd one evening in the year of 1901. Jim White was the cowboy and it was he who first explored the cavern.

School groups have already started their visits to the cavern and will continue to do so until school is out. Forty students from Alva, Oklahoma, were here Saturday. School groups due in the cavern within the next few days include a large delegation from South High School, of Denver, and another class from the Vocational School at El Paso, who will be here Monday. In addition to these, Superintendent Boles has received notice from student groups from fifteen schools in Oklahoma, eighteen schools in Texas, three schools in Kansas, and one in Arizona, that they will visit the cavern within the next few weeks.

If anyone wishes further information and will enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, I will be glad to answer their questions. In conclusion I will say, as the late Will Rogers said when he visited the Cavern a few years ago, "It sure is some hole in the ground."

Sunday School Lesson

International Sunday School lesson for April 4. God the Creator.

Golden Text.—In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth. Genesis 1:1.

Printed Text.—Genesis 1:1-5, 26-31.

Genesis 1:1-5—

In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth.

2 And the earth was without form, and void; and darkness was upon the face of the deep. And the Spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters.

3 And God said, Let there be light: and there was light.

4 And God saw the light, that it was good: and God divided the light from the darkness.

5 And God called the light Day, and the darkness he called Night. And the evening and the morning were the first day.

Verses 26-31—

26 ¶And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth.

27 So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them.

28 And God blessed them, and God said unto them, Be fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the earth, and subdue it: and have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over every living thing that moveth upon the earth.

29 ¶And God said, Behold, I have given you every herb bearing seed, which is upon the face of all the earth, and every tree, in the which is the fruit of a tree yielding seed; to you it shall be for meat.

30 And to every beast of the earth, and to every fowl of the air, and to every thing that creepeth upon the earth, wherein there is life, I have given every green herb for meat: and it was so.

31 And God saw every thing that he had made, and, behold, it was very good. And the evening and the morning were the sixth day.

Time and Place.—Moses says, "In the beginning." The Garden of Eden was probably in western Asia.

Lesson Comment

We turn in the second quarter of the year from the New Testament back to the Book of Genesis with its story of beginnings.

Has Genesis something to teach us in this modern world, where science has discovered a great deal concerning the process of creation that ancient writers never knew?

We cannot hope that Genesis will offer us a textbook of science, but it may be that it will have a great deal to teach us concerning the spiritual nature of man and his world, the sanctity of life, the responsibility of brotherhood, the nature of sin and its wages, and the vision and need of mercy.

We shall discover in the course of these studies that Genesis is by no means a played-out book, but that it still has a great deal to teach the thoughtful reader.

If there were any question of this, we might cite one striking illustration. In the world of the 20th century, where modern, so-called Christian nations are bristling with arms and armament, and we know not on what day the world may be plunged in war is it not instructive to remember a man named Abraham? When his herdsmen fought with those of his nephew, Lot, over water for their cattle, Abraham took the amazing attitude of refusing to fight, and of saying that he was willing to sacrifice his own interests for the sake of peace.

Do we forget that he said to Lot, "You take the right hand, and I'll go to the left, or you take the left hand, and I'll go to the right, but let there be no strife."

That episode, in the book of Genesis, with its implication of teaching and vision, seems still to offer an ideal for modern men and nations. May we not find that this is so with a great deal in the book?

Let us turn to this lesson, with its story of creation. The story of creation is one of bringing order out of chaos, of bringing light out of darkness, of bringing man, greater than his universe and greater than the animals, into being, made in the image and likeness of that Being whose Word brought order out of chaos, light out of darkness, and life into the world.

Nothing in modern science has gone beyond this or has set it aside. We may have discovered something more about the process, and we know now that creation has been a matter of millions of years and not of a few days; but we know, nevertheless, that life is the supreme reality in the universe.

We are conscious today of living in a world of great mystery. We feel its complexity, as the ancients could not have felt it. But the crude materialism of the science yesterday has passed under the influence of scientific investigation itself and has lifted us into the newer and loftier realm of great energies and forces that contradict the idea of what we once called dead, or lifeless, matter.

The teaching of science today would seem to be rather that matter itself is a form of motion. We are in a living universe. Perhaps the mystery of life in the world seems more impenetrable than ever before, yet the simple verities of creation's story that emphasize order and light and life are the factors to which men come in faith and vision.

Delegates Get District Meet For Floydada

The Fourteenth District Parent-Teachers' Council will be held at Floydada in the spring of 1938, according to information given this week by Mrs. Walton Hale, president of the Andrews Ward Parent-Teachers' Association. Mrs. Hale, accompanied by Mrs. A. D. Cummings and Mayor Glad Snodgrass attended the ninth session of the Conference held at Hamlin Friday and Saturday and Mayor Snodgrass, in behalf of the Andrews Ward P. T. A. and the City of Floydada, extended an invitation for the 1938 meeting, which was graciously accepted.

"It was a very successful meeting," said Mrs. Hale, "and we were certainly royally entertained." "We hope that we may have the cooperation of everyone when we are hosts in 1938."

"The Relation of Home to Character Formation" was the theme of the program at Hamlin and three men who are prominent in school affairs spoke on the following subjects: Dr. A. W. Evans, of Tech College, Lubbock, spoke on the subject, "Some Remedies for Financing Texas Schools;" R. E. Obenholzer, superintendent of Schools of Lubbock, used for his subject, "Should Texas Adopt a Twelve Grade System?" and O. C. Thomas, superintendent of Spur Schools spoke on, "Revisions in Marking and Grading."

Mrs. M. A. Taylor, state president, of Austin; and Mrs. C. E. Roe, National Field Secretary, of Washington, D. C., also appeared on the program.

Tea And Gift Shower For Recent Bride

Mrs. C. A. Cass entertained Wednesday of last week from 3 to 5 o'clock with a tea and gift shower honoring Mrs. Mary Smith Wright, who is a recent bride. Mrs. J. M. Harrison, Mrs. Wayne Bailey, and Miss Lorene Bailey were assistant hostesses.

Mrs. J. M. Harrison presided at the tea table. Miss Lois Newsome played Moonlight and Shadows as a piano solo, after which Mrs. Cass read a society item about a shower and an Easter basket filled with lovely gifts was brought and placed at the bride's feet. Those present were:

Mrs. D. E. Smith, mother of the bride, Miss Dorothy Smith, sister of the bride, Mrs. Virgil Spence of Plainview, Mrs. Noble Smith, Miss Yvonne Spence of Plainview, Mmes. Carl A. Broyles Married Saturday At Plainview

Carl A. Broyles and Mrs. Mae Maxey, of Fresno, California, were married in Plainview Saturday afternoon, and will make their home there according to information received by friends and relatives here this week.

Mr. Broyles is a son of Mrs. W. Broyles, of Muncy, and bride a sister of Mrs. J. V. Jones of this city.

Mr. Broyles is employed with the People's Produce Company.

Miss Ena Lea Fyffe, Bride-Elect, Honoree At Shower Friday

Honoring Miss Ena Lea Fyffe, who became the bride of Aubrey V. Stewart, Sunday morning at 8:30 o'clock, Mrs. Wm. M. Cauley, Miss Merle Scoggin and Miss Eulalia Burrus, were joint hostesses at a miscellaneous shower Friday evening, March 26, at Miss Burrus' home.

Mrs. J. A. Burrus assisted in receiving the guests and her daughter, Miss Eulalia, escorted them to the bride's book which was presided over by the bride's sister, Miss Inis Dea Fyffe. The guests were then shown into the dining room which was very attractive with numerous pots of Easter lilies. The center piece of the table was a crystal bowl of yellow jonquils with crystal holders on either side which held tall silver tapers. Miss Ruth Jenkins poured tea and Mrs. Marvin Shurbet served sandwiches and cookies.

Woodie Guthrie and Miss Merle Scoggin gave two duet selections, "In a Chapel in the Moonlight" and "Shipmates Forever," with guitar accompaniment played by C. W. Denison. Miss Wilmina Salisbury gave a toast to the bride, "Wishing her sails of matrimony would be just right." Following this Woodie Guthrie, accompanied by C. W. Denison, sang "When my Dream Boat Comes Home." And the boat with tall sails, decorated with two large hearts was drawn in by Sherwyn Lynn Fyffe, dressed in a sailor suit.

Miss Marguerite Leonard played several accordion selections as the guests arrived.

The guests were Miss Rheba Christian, Miss Amy McRoberts, Mrs. E. L. Angus, Miss Glenna Mae Shurbet, Miss Juanita Shurbet, Mrs. Marvin Shurbet, Miss Inis Dea Fyffe, Mrs. J. R. Grundy, Mrs. John N. Fyffe - Stewart Wedding Morn Of Easter

Miss Ena Lea Fyffe and Aubrey V. Stewart were united in marriage in an impressive ceremony solemnized Easter morning at 8:30 o'clock at the bride's home, 529 West California street. The vows were spoken in front of the fireplace before an improvised altar of Easter lilies, spring flowers and palms. Flavil R. Yeakley, minister of the City Park Church of Christ officiated.

Preceding the ceremony, Misses Helene and Maurine Hay sang, "O Promise Me," accompanied at the piano by Miss Merle Scoggin, who also played the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin as the bridal pair entered the reception room.

The bride was very attractive wearing a navy blue sheer crepe with a white tucked chiffon front and navy and white accessories. Her corsage was sweet peas in pastel shades and baby breath.

An informal reception followed the ceremony. The lace-covered table was centered with a three-tiered white angel food cake, decorated with a miniature bride and groom at either end of the table were tall white candles. Mrs. D. W. Fyffe and Miss Alice Fyffe poured coffee. The bride cut the first slice of cake, following which her sister, Miss Bonnie, served the guests.

Those present for the wedding were Mrs. Russell Hale and daughters, Misses Geraldine and Joe Ann, Mrs. Marvin Shurbet, Misses Helene and Maurine Hay, Miss Eulalia Burrus, Miss Merle Scoggin, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Fyffe and daughters, Alice, Bonnie, Inis Dea, Arlene and Sherwyn Lynn, and sons, Clinton and DeWinn, and Miss Alma Stewart, of Muleshoe.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart are at home at 320 South Second street.

Mrs. Stewart is the daughter of D. W. Fyffe and was reared in this city. She is a graduate of the Floydada High School and Plainview Business College. Mr. Stewart has been a resident of this city for several years, and is engaged in the tailor business on South Main Street.

Taffeta For Day Dress Swishy Petticoats Ar New Ideas This Spri

DENTON, March 29.—Flimsy c fons and crisp taffetas, two pop extremes in materials this spr have both brushed aside their t ditional roles as fragile eve fashions and are blazing forth daytime wear.

Chiffon appears in hat-trimm blouses, frocks and scarfs, w brights, tones leading in favor. navy blue dress, tucked from ne line to hem and edged with wh pique, makes a suitable number street wear and demonstrates practicality of the sheer weave.

Patent leather trimming is e ployed with a smart effect on c fon, either in the belt or in brig colored flowers for the dress hat. Chiffon itself also makes g trimming for hats and dresses other materials, and it comes solid colors and prints.

The clever idea of using taff for day dresses was discovered l spring by girls at Texas State C lege for Women (CIA), and th find that it is still a good trick. T crisp cloth is being shown in g checks, stripes and plaids and i more [illegible] navy blue so it can ple anyone, whether her tastes run t ward the more giddy or sober.

Noisy silk petticoats are b worn with sheer wools, dull cre suit skirts, and ensembles, so t swish can be obtained without purchase of a complete dress. So of these underskirts have fl ruffle edges, and others lean tow flounces, but all of them rustle.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Lister had their guests for the Easter holid Mrs. Myrtle Hale and daugh Miss Willie, of Lubbock, Mrs. D Crain, of Borger, and her daug ters, Mrs. Chas. Reynolds, of Bo ger, and Ruth Crain, a student the University of Oklahoma, Norman, and Mrs. Reynolds' daughter, Mary Charles. Mrs. Ha and Mrs. Crain are Mrs. Lister's s ters.

J. E. (Kight) Decker, who w called to Floydada, on the accou of the death of his mother, Mrs. C. Decker, returned to his home Phoenix, Arizona, Saturday. Decker and his sister, Mrs. A. Berry, accompanied him home spend several weeks.

King, accused of viciousness after nipping an 8-year-old boy, stood trial while his two young pals, Johnny, left, and Andy Burke, stand by him.

Antelope News

Antelope School News

Bradley Boyd, a second grader, was the only pupil in school that won a prize in the reading contest for the last month. This is the last month of school and the contests in the various grades are being resumed with much enthusiasm. We hope more prizes will be won this month.

The children presented two playlets "the White Easter Rabbit" and "The Easter Basket" last Friday afternoon. Following the program they enjoyed an Easter egg hunt. The finder of the goose egg was awarded a prize. F. J. Reznicek was the winner of this prize.

Several parents attended the program.

P. T. A. Meeting

The Parent-Teachers met in a regular meeting Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. T. J. Boyd acting as chairman in the absence of Mrs. J. T. Poole, president. Mrs. W. S. Poole, Mrs. J. P. Bradford, Mrs. Frank Reznicek and Mrs. B. C. Brown contributed to the program with interesting parts.

During the business meeting a health program was planned. Several pupils recited during the Social Hour.

Mrs. J. P. Bradford as hostess, assisted by Mrs. W. S. Poole served delicious refreshments to Mrs. W. O. Stewart, pupils and members.

Locals

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Poole had as Sunday guests Mr. and Mrs. Norrell, and family of the Sand Hill community.

Mrs. Virginia Scott spent the week end at Matador as a guest of her sister, Mrs. John Roberson.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom J. Jackson and family were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Anderson of Crosbyton.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Boyd and sons were among the guests who enjoyed a turkey dinner in the John Boyd home Sunday, honoring John Boyd on his fiftieth birthday.

Mrs. Carrol Davis and son, Charles Donald, of Lubbock, who have been visiting in the T. J. Boyd home, have returned to their home in Lubback. Mrs. Davis is a sister of Mr. Boyd.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Bradford and sons were Sunday guests in the Charlie Bradford home of the Baker community.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Stewart attended an all day Easter service at Fairview Sunday. They were accompanied home by Mrs. Jim Stewart and little son Jim Don, of Boonsville, Texas, and Miss Ella B. Crabtree, of Fairview, who spent the first of the week as guests.

Among the recent business visitors to Fort Worth and the Stock Show were Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Poole and Mr. and Mrs. Tom J. Boyd.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Moore and son Suddeth were Easter Sunday guests of her mother, Mrs. Suddeth of Crosbyton.

We regret very much to lose Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Phillips and their son Bo from our community. We will miss them and their music, since they comprise most of the members of the Phillips orchestra. They write they are well pleased with their new home at Norton and that much enthusiasm is shown over new oil interests.

We are glad to welcome Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Brown and son to our community, who came to us from Tahoka.

How To 'Fix Up' Bread Told In Good Recipes

DENTON, March 28—"The Staff of Life" is a good name for such a solid, important item in the diet as bread. However, its solidity furnishes no reason why it should not be dressed up occasionally.

The risk of failure has been taken out of the preparation of fancy rolls and breads of all kinds by the use of compressed yeast. With this ingredient the straight dough methed can be used, and the process is shortened considerably.

True hard wheat flour gets the best results in these bread recipes. It is absorbent and holds more of the liquid it takes up, thus making the breads fine and close-textured and keeping them fresh longer.

FILLED RAISED DOUGHNUTS: 1 c. scalded milk, ½ c. sugar, ½ t. salt, 4¾ c. flour, 2/3 c. butter or substitute, ¾ c. whole eggs, ½ t. lemon extract, and 1 cake compressed yeast. When milk is luke warm edd sugar, fat, salt, and yeast cake, well beaten eggs, and enough flour to make a dough that can be kneaded. Knead well and set in warm place to rise. When double in bulk, roll about ¼ inch in thickness and cut with round cookie cutter. Place 1 t. filling in center of each circle and moisten edge of dough with water. Place another circle on top and let rise fifteen minutes. Fry in deep fat at 360-370 F. to a golden brown, drain and roll in granulated sugar.

FILLING: 1c. chopped raisins, ¼ c. sugar, 2 T. candied lemon peel, 1 c. chopped nuts, and 2 T. candied orange peel.

PARKER HOUSE ROLLS: Use doughnut recipe, omitting lemon extract. Add one cup of luke warm water and enough more flour to make a dough that can be kneaded. Let rise. When double in bulk mix down and let rise again. When double in bulk mix down and let rise again. When double in bulk roll ¼ inch in thickness, cut and shape into Parker House Rolls. Cover and let rise. Bake in hot oven 450 F.

YEAST MUFFINS: 1 cake compressed yeast, ½ c. lukewarm milk, ¼ c. lukewarm water, 1 T. sugar, 2 c. sifted flour, whites of three eggs, ½ c. butter or shortening, ¼ t. salt. Sift flour and salt into bowl, add yeast dissolved in lukewarm water; then add the flour to make a soft batter; set aside to rise. When light, and the whites of eggs beaten stiff and the sugar and butter thoroughly creamed. Beat well and pour into well greased muffin pans. Let rise until double in bulk, and bake in hot oven.

COFFEE CAKE: Use doughnut recipe. Add one cup lukewarm water and ½ cup raisins, currants, or citron. Let rise as for muffins. Beat well and pour into well greased cake pans. Sprinkle the top with cinnamon and sugar, chopped nuts, and dots of preserve or jelly. When double in bulk, bake in hot oven. This may be placed in the refrigerator to rise over night and be baked in the morning for breakfast.

TO THE VOTERS OF THE CITY OF FLOYDADA:

Next Tuesday the 6th will be election day to elect your City Marshal for the next two years. In offering my candidacy for this responsible position, I have endeavored to see all of the voters of this city, and if there is any whom I have not solicited, it has been an oversight on my part and I earnestly solicit your vote and influence next Tuesday. I feel in offering for your City Marshal that I am well qualified to serve you as such. I presume most all of you know me, and know my qualifications as an officer. I want to take this means of thanking my many friends for the courtesies shown me.

Very sincerely yours,
Morgan Wright.

APRIL FOOL'S DAY

Today is the first of April or "All Fools Day." This is the day that practical jokers are supposed to get away with anything they want to do. The students, if they go to school, are allowed to run the school as they see fit, provided the teachers agree with them.

This day is very important in the nation to school children. It is not a holiday and was created for school children. The exact origin of this day is not known, although as early as 1760 it is mentioned in an English almanac. The best origin of it is found in one the short poems in "Poor Richard's Almanac" In this almanac the peom is:

The first of April, some do say,
Is set apart for All Fool's day;
But why people call it so
Not I, nor they themselves, do know.

This poem shows that the people living in this time celebrated the day but none of them knew why they did or who started the day.

Many things happen on this day that the students are sorry for the following days after school. While this day is set aside for practical jokers, it can be carried too far. Because it was carried to the extreme in the past is why most schools put a penalty for doing certain things on this day. Playing hooky was a great practice in the past in most schools. This practice is being eliminated to a great extent by the present rules of the schools today.

If the students of F. H. S. will not try to carry their jokes too far this day probably some of the rules will be lifted. If we all work together we can have many good times this day and still not violate any of the rules.

1937 Yearbooks Will Be Assembled Soon; Many Features Added

Senior Class and Hesper Staff To Assemble Books Afer League Meet

The yearbooks are in, and as soon as the Interscholastic League meet is completed, the Senior class working with the Hesper Staff will put the books together.

The majority of the classes and the clubs have turned in their work and Mr. Potter has most of the stencils cut and they are ready to be run off on the pages. All of the advertising has been turned in and Joyce King, the art editor, has been working hard in fixing the pages as the advertisers wanted them.

The books are some larger than the books of last year. More pages have been allowed to the various activities of the school. This year the basketball team will have its picture in the yearbook along with the football team. The new clubs having a picture or a page are: Hi-Y, Band, Spanish ,Home Economics, Saxaphone Quartette and some of the Interscholastic league events.

There are still a few books yet unsold which will be put together and sold to the first persons turning in the money for the book. So if you still want a book turn in your money before they are put together as it may be too late then to get one.

JUDSON ABERNATHY VOTED INTO HI-Y CLUB MONDAY

The Hi-Y club met on Monday afternoon after school and discussed the meeting for the next time at which time a state representative is to be present. A Plainview representative also is to be present at the next meeting.

We voted on one new member also at that time there is to be another person voted on for admission whose name was not given at that time. Judson Abernathy was voted into the club. The club decided that refreshments should be served at the visitor's meeting.

George McWhirter will be present and make a talk to the boys. The boys will be given a chance to talk on any subject they see fit.

Charles N.: "Miss Burrus, tell me about an English tragedy."

Miss Burrus: "Which one would you like to hear?"

Charles: "My English Grade."

Jack Rank Entertains Students In Chapel

Last Friday afternoon at 1:45 o'clock we had a splendid chapel program. Jack Rank, a famous player, put on an excellent program or a play all by himself. This was a three-act play entitled "April Showers."

This play was divided into three acts and contained seven characters. Each of these characters was played by the one man. He changed his entire costume in the short time of seven seconds. This was his complete change from a woman's attire to a man's attire. Some of the changes were made in three seconds. The seven characters he represented were; the butler, the old doctor, the great actress on the stage, her mother, the actress' lover the Catholic nun; and his own place.

Kampus Kaypers

Adeline, you are rather stepping out this week, aren't you?

Ethel, why don't you pick on some body your size?

Ralph Taylor, how is your latest affair progressing?

An Easter package arrived here from Kansas City last week end. Not bad, hey?

Why do holidays brighten the lives of so many little senior girls?

Edith, who do you like so well in Lockney?

Who likes coffee for breakfast so well for Easter sunrise breakfast.

Blonds, brunetes, or even red heads will do, said Louis.

The boys around the school have been working and worrying about the doorman and the chauffeur. Maybe this needs some explaination.

Leemand Norman and Watson Jones are the doorman and the chauffer. They can be seen every morning on South Main Street waiting for the most beautiful girl in high school.

The true fact are just now coming to the front. George Fry Lider ran a very close second to Billy George Probasco for the uglist boy in high school.

Is it a fact during the seventh period commercial law class a young woman's fancy turned from snow to love true.

Doris Collins, who is the boy friend at Lockney? We would like to meet him.

It seems as if Mary Francis McRoberts had a very good time when the band went to Allmond to play.

Senior Notes

The senior class of 1937 is looking forward to its senior day and the banquet. Each senior is thinking that in only seven more weeks and one more day until we be free from school with our diplomas under our arm to seek for fortune. Many of the seniors are thinking (impossible) about their future. Say, seniors how about going to Carlsbad Cavern on our senior day and a half vacation.

JUNIOR NEWS

The Juniors are really stepping these days. The sponsors called a class meeting and told us to "get to work" for some more money for the Junior-Senior Banquet.

On Friday Mr. Rand gave a play seven characters portrayed by one man. The Junior class sponsored this and received one-third of the proceeds.

Saturday morning, bright and early, the Juniors came up to the school house and prepared to make and sell sandwitches. They did and made some profit which was greatly needed and very much appreciated.

Rural School Tennis Matches Played Off On F. H. S. Courts

High School Junior Girls Beat Lockney in Playground Ball Saturday

All of the rural school tennis was played off on the courts at high school last Saturday. The winner of each of the four divisions will play the winner of the class A divisions. The winners for the class A divisions will be decided some date in this week. Floydada drew four byes and in all of the events will have to play the winner of the Lockney and South Plains match. The winner of this match will then play the winner of the rural school tennis for the county championship and the right to represent Floyd County in the district meet at Lubbock.

All of the matches started about ten o'clock Saturday morning. In the first matches of boys doubles Irick played Aiken. Aiken won in straight sets; 7-5; 6-3. Lakeview played Cedar Hill and Cedar Hill won, 6-0; 6-0, and Sand Hill drew a bye in the first elemination. In the second round, Cedar Hill played Sand Hill and Cedar Hill won, 6-0, 6-1. This put Cedar Hill in the finals with Aiken. Cedar Hill won this game by the score of 6-0; 6-1. They will represent the rural schools some time this week in boys' doubles.

In boys singles Lakeview lost to Cedar Hill in a very close match in the first round. The score was 4-6, 6-4,6-1. Aiken lost to Irick by the score of 6-0;6-0, and Sand Hill drew a bye again. In the second round Irick defeated Sand Hill in three sets, 6-3, 2-6 and 6-4. This put Cedar Hill and Irick in the finals. Irick won this match, 6-0; 6-3.

In the girls' doubles Lakeview won over Aiken in three sets, 6-1, 4-6; 6-3. Irick played Sand Hill and won by a score of 6-2; 6-4. This put both Lakeview and Irick in the finals as Cedar Hill did not enter a girls' doubles team. In the finals Lakeview lost to Irick by a score of 7-5 and 6-0.

In the last event—girls singles—Irck played Lakeview in the first round and Lakeview won by a score of 6-4; 6-1. Aiken played Sand Hill and lost by a score of 6-1, 6-0. This put Lakeview and Sand Hill in the finals. Lakeview won this match in two sets, 6-4 and 6-3.

Playground Ball

The Floydada High School junior girls baseball team won over the Lockney team by a great margin last Saturday at high school. From the first inning the girls from Floydada showed that they were superior players to the girls from Lockney. The final score of the game was 29 to 2.

The girls will now play the winner of the ward schools, and if they win this game will play the winner of the rural schools for the county championship.

The line-up for the Floydada team was as follows: Catcher, Frances Joe Terrell; Pitcher, Ophelia Gilliland; First Base, Dovie Donothan; Second Base, Louise Billington, Third base, Frankie Sanders; First Short Stop, Jane Graham; Second Short Stop, Dulon Sargant; Left Field, Evelyn Anderson, Center Field, Edna Mae Griffin; and Right Field, Lola Mae Billington. Alma Lybrand and Wyonna Smith also played in the game.

Miss Miller has worked hard with her team and deserves the credit she received when the girls defeated Lockney. We want to wish her good luck and may she win the county for Floydada High School.

INTERSCHOLASTIC POINTS

Many people do not know how to figure the points gained by the different schools. These points are the same the state over and are put out by the University of Texas in the Interscholastic League rules and constitution. To assist interested people in figuring their standing in the league race the following points are for the corresponding events:

	Winning Team	Runner-Up
Arithmetic	15	10
Choral Singing	20	15
Debate	20	15
Declamation	7	5
Extempo. Speech	15	10
H. S. Track, Field	20	10
Jr. Boys' Track, Field	15	10
Jr. Baseball	15	10
Music Memory	15	10
Picture Memory	15	10
Ready Writers	15	10
Three-R	10	5
Spelling	15	10
Story Telling	15	10
Tennis Sr. Singles	5	3
Tennis Sr. Doubles	10	5
Volley Ball	15	10

This shows that more stress is put on the literary events, according to points gained. As the literary events are tomorrow and Saturday, the ones entered should try hard to win their events.

SOCIETY

Lon Davis Jr. Entertained

Mrs. Lon Davis entertained her son Lon, Jr., who is attending T. C. U. with a dinner Sunday evening March twenty - eighth at six-fifteen. The guests were Misses Maxine Fry, Worth Shipley, Messrs. Malcolm Bridges, Lon Davis, Jr. and the host and hostess Mr. and Mrs. Davis.

Foods Two Girls Give Reception Thursday

A reception in the form of An Easter parade was given by the Clothing two girls Thursday Afternoon in the department at 2:30 o'clock. The girls modeled the dresses which they made in class. Each girl chose the Accessories, of the latest styles for her costume.

Guests for the afternoon were mother, sisters, and friends of the class.

Miss Mary Wilbanks presiding at the punch bowl was assisted by her Foods two girls in serving.

An interesting program was given. Miss Rees was master of ceremonies. Ruth Kreis played the piano softly as each girl entered the room. A duet by La Nell Shirey and Beth Newton, accompanied by Maurine Hart, was given next, followed with a reading by Margaret Hale. Marguerite played several numbers on the Accordian. Popular music played several numbers on the Aciordian. Popular music played by Maurine Hart finished the evening's program.

Third Order Of Eight Senior Rings Arrive

The third and final order for senior rings of 1937 are in and will be given to the students as soon as they are checked. This shipment consisted of eight rings just like the ones in the other two orders. As the rings were paid for before they were ordered they only have to be checked and then turned over to the students.

A few seniors have not yet ordered rings and want one. If it is possible to get as many as five more seniors who want a ring they wil be ordered at once.

Who?

Who has a middle name of Gertrude, but just loves to be called "Gertie?"

Who likes to leave Public Speaking the fifth period and go to the study hall? Emogene might know.

Who was Louis Boothe with last Saturday night?

Who likes to cut up in economics class the third period?

Who knows a girl with a middle name of LaDeane?

Who spells dirigible "Dieigible?" Maybe it was the typewriter, Joyce.

Who was Betty with last Sunday afternoon? Maybe Mr. Smith would know.

Who is on a sit-down strike?

Who moved the second period in typing and why?

Who made who write "Who?"

Who knows where Trueman goes when he is supposed to type for the Hesperette?

Who thinks it is a grand habit to go riding every Friday night?

Who dreams of white horses and other people riding them?

Who loves to spend week-ends in Crosbyton?

Who, a senior boy, thinks who, author of Soph census, is about three times as big a flirt as who?

Who gave a grand luncheon in honor of two little out-of-town boys Sunday?

Who went riding Sunday with Harper and Paul from out-of-town?

Who had a visitor from Paducah and Wichita Falls?

Who likes to take pictures on the train on Easter Sunday?

Who carries boxes in the back of his car?

Who freezes to death from snow, but their love for who warms them?

The Stepped On And The Steppers

The debaters seemed to have gone in for entertainment in a big way while in Wichita Falls.

Who won the beauty contest and why? (We often wonder.)

Josephine has really been stepping out lately.

How does it feel to be in close confinement? Kay would be able to tell you.

James Fry seems to be the Casanova of the Sophomore class.

Why all the interest in Audie's car at lunch?

Incidentally, some of the unknown Sophs are well worth the time you would spend in getting acquainted. Take Myra Louise Harris for instance.

My greatest desire is to get up enough nerve to study as much as Jack McIntosh does.

May we extend our heartiest congratulations to Mary Frances Copeland. A representative of the Sophomore class will come in handy in a week or two.

One of the most mysterious mysteries of the Soph class is how Miss Burrus and Paul Barnard get along so beautifully together. How ever, Kenneth isn't quite that lucky.

We have always heard the expression, "Until tomorrow then, goodbye," but here's a new one on you. "Until yesterday when, hello."

I guess we'll have to sign off now, and until the Junior edition of the Hesperette in '38—Tally Ho.

Mothers Honored With Dinner Wednesday By Home Economics Girls

Boys in Homemaking Class Serve As Waiters for the Occasion

Wednesday evening, the Foods three girls entertained their mothers with an informal dinner in the homemaking department. Estelle Gary, toastmistress for the evening, introduced each girl and her mother. A toast was then proposed and drank to the mothers.

The Easter colors of green and yellow were carried out in the menu as well as in the table decorations, place cards, etc. Yellow candles lighted the green and white covered tables and yellow flowers were used as the centerpiece.

The boys of the homemaking class served at the dinner with P. A. Lyles acting as head waiter.

After the dinner the following program was given:

Tap dance by Miss Robertyne McIntyre; Miss Margaret Hale gave a reading, "Diatetic Harmonies", a violin solo, "Bring Me a Rose" was given by Miss Muriel Fagan with Mrs. Fagan assisting her at the piano; Miss Rees talked on "Parent-Child - Teacher Relationship" and told the mothers some of the work the girls were doing.

Grass Fires Once Greatest Menance to Plains Welfare, As First Settlers Came In

[illegible] Early-Day Blaze Swept From [illegible] Floyd County To Vicinity of Hale Center, McLain Says

HOW TO HUNT ANTELOPE

Strip Off, Tie Red Rag on Your Head and Stalk Them, But Watch The Cactus

(Ed. Note—Another reminiscent history of Floyd County from R. E. L. McLain, 3643 Ave. L, Fort Worth, appears below, together with a note about the Pioneers' Re-Union on May 28. The speech he would read to the old settlers has been turned over to the committee.)

(By R. E. L. McLain)

I notice that your people are to [illegible] an "Old Settlers Reunion" on [illegible] 28th. I don't expect to be [illegible] as I am not able to make the trip. But I just could not re- [illegible] writing a speech that I would [illegible] to make, if I were there. I [illegible] be glad to be with you and [illegible] in spirit any way. The early [illegible] of Floyd were the sturdy [illegible]nry that made it possible for the establishment of that plains [illegible]y.

It took fortitude and stamina to break away from the quietude of established settlement and move to an uninhabited part of the far west, endure the known hardships that one must endure; to take his wife and family away from comforts and set them down without water, wood or the many conveniences of the old home. But the women were as sturdy as the men and they shared in the many hardships; did without food at times; slept in the open without shelter from the inclement weather; took care of their children, cooked and washed under adverse circumstances. Those mothers and daughters came and helped to wrest the land from its wild state with that fortitude and forbearance of any man and taught their sons and daughters the faith in God and their true worth toward a fellowman. Such are the people who first settled in Floyd county. I loved them all and wish their posterity prosperity and long life. With paved roads and automobiles the terrain of your county no doubt has changed so that I would not recognize the prairies that were my inspiration in the 1880's. I thank you for the papers sent me and I read them with avidity of a letter from loved ones.

Some More Floyd History

In the early settlement of Floyd county we enjoyed many diversions from the strenuous tasks of erecting homes and laying the foundation for the new empire. New people were coming in and some of them, like a little boy with his first pair of red top boots, were so anxious to kill an antelope that they would fall for any fool plot. Bud and Young Raney, two brothers from Brady, Texas, came out there and were "crazy" to kill an antelope, and as I was supposed to be authority on antelope hunting, they came to me for the "dope"; Well, here is my story: "Ride out until you see a bunch of "goats," get off your horse out of sight of the antelope and strip, tie a red handkerchief around your head; hold your head down and walk toward the antelope until in clear view, then stand perfectly still. The antelope will spy you soon; he wonders what you are and will begin inching up toward you until he is able to find out what you are. He will have come close enough for you to shoot. Don't make any unnecessary movements but get busy and make your shots count." Well, the boys went out to a rise about a mile from town and saw a flock of "goats" fully a half mile further over the rise and then proceeded to strip; throwing their clothes down on a bunch of cactus, and proceded in the manner directed, only they went side by side instead of Indian fashion and as soon as the antelope spied them, the antelope knew their "onions," and hit the high places for taller timber. The boys had overdid the thing and their play was off. They retraced their steps and dressed, not knowing that their clothing was full of the stickers and fuzz off the catus. It took pretty near a week to get all the stickers out of their flesh. Bud and his brother always believed that I just framed them. They failed to follow instructions to the letter and did not take precaution with their clothes.

Soon after wife and I moved to Dellaplain the Matadors sent a bunch of hands out to fix the line fence which ran north and south just east of Dellaplain. John Smith and about twelve cowboys were detailed to do the repairing. Sammy Chadwick, Walter Brady, Lon McWhorter and John K. Fullingim were in the detail. I cannot recall the others. One day at noon they let a fire get out. The grass was about six inches high and a bit dry. Well, you may talk about a fire but we fought that fire all day and all night and it was eventually checked near Hale Center about daylight. John Smith killed several head of Matador cattle, split them open, turned the flesh side down, put ropes to the front legs and a rider took a rope on each side and stradled the fire and rode full tilt, dragging the carcass over the blaze men on foot followed up with wet sacks and slickers fighting that fire. At times the wind would brisk up and it would outrun the men on horse. I believe that was the hardest and hottest day's work I ever experienced. There were no fences or farms to interfere in the race from the Matador line fence to the Pecos at that time, or a great deal of damage would have accrued. Men for fifty miles came to help check the fire. And were they exhausted? I'll say.

We hauled all our wood from the breaks of North Pease river, 16 miles east of Dellaplain, and I always made the trip "kill two birds with one stone." I would take my guns along and hunt turkey and deer while getting the wood. The breaks were full of turkey and deer and in the fall of the year I would take my wife and baby along and we would gather grapes and wild currants for preserving. The creek banks were lined with these fruits and with the deer and turkey that I would kill made the trips very profitable in more ways than one. I got the wood, the fruit and a supply of meat for the larder. This saved many dollars in the run of a year. All that we had to buy was flour, sugar, coffee and salt. The balance we gathered. So you see that money was really a secondary item to the hardy frontiersman who first settled Floyd and adjoining counties during the 1880's.

B. E. Russell Demise Follows That Of His Wife By Thirteen Days

Pneumonia Takes Former Alabaman, 67, Who SuccumbsAt Home North of Floydada

Death Saturday night for B. E. Russell, 67, of three miles north of Floydada of pneumonia, followed that of his wife by thirteen days previous who succumbed to the same disease.

Resident for several years in Delta County, although a native of Alabama, the body of the deceased was returned to Delta for interment in a Harmon Funeral Home hearse, Edwin Brazier and M. E. Brown having charge. The party left Floydada at 10 o'clock Sunday morning and the funeral service was held at Lake Creek Monday afternoon, with interment in Pierce Cemetery by the side of his wife.

The deceased was a member of the Masonic Order and of the Odd Fellows Lodge.

Five sons and one daughter survive. The sons are D. W., of Cooper, J. U. of Lake Creek, J. T. and C. L., of Floydada, and F. A. of Van Horn. The daughter is Mrs. Buck Brownlow of Dougherty.

Instant Cube Release Feature Of New Refrigerator

Gone are the days when tugging, chopping, twisting gymnastics are necessary to obtain ice cubes from an automatic refrigerator. Shown above is the sensationally new and efficient instant cube release featured exclusively in the 1937 Frigidaire. Developed in the research laboratories of the Frigidaire division of General Motors, the new type ice tray makes available instantly and with no effort on the part of the user from two to a dozen or more cubes, doing away with the necessity for holding trays under the water faucet and losing up to twenty percent of the ice content in meltage. One grasps the tray firmly with one hand, lifts the lever with a finger of the other and there are the cubes ready for use without fuss or muss.

Calton Moore Scores As Penney Manager, Report From Hereford

Calton Moore has scored a decided success in increasing sales at the Hereford store of J. C. Penney Company, according to a report recently appearing in The Hereford Brand, in which Moore is given credit for a January and February increase over the same months in 1936 greater than any other of the 1,500 stores in the Penney organization.

The figures were made public by Ray Jenkins, district manager of Oklahoma City.

Moore's January business increase was 102 per cent and for February he showed 97 per cent increase over the corresponding period last year.

Mr. Moore was made manager of the Hereford store late last summer, after serving as salesman at Lubbock, and later as assistant manager at the Sweetwater store.

He is a brother of County Tax Assessor and Collector of Floyd County and was reared here.

Dee Hunch and Wilbur Nelson, of Waxahachie, spent Monday and Tuesday here on business, and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Nelson while here.

Less Monthly Discomfort

Many women, who formerly suffered from a weak, run-down condition as a result of poor assimilation of food, say they benefited by taking CARDUI, a special medicine for women. They found it helped to increase the appetite and improve digestion, thereby bringing them more strength from their food.

Naturally there is less discomfort at monthly periods when the system has been strengthened and the various functions restored and regulated.

Cardui, praised by thousands of women, is well worth trying. Of course, if not benefited, consult a physician.

Cobb Fears Overproduction of Cotton; Crisis Reached In Stabilization Out-Put

Warns Against Evils of 5-Cent Cotton and $8 Cottonseed; Carry-Over Big

The following letter has been received by County Agent D. F. Bredthauer, calling attention to the pitfalls of over-planting, particularly in the over-planting and subsequent over-production of cotton. The communication was written by C. A. Cobb, director of the Southern Division.

"Reports reaching this office from States in the Southern Region indicate a crisis has been reached in our effort to maintain a balanced production in our major cash crops. Farmers are evidencing a marked tendency to increase the acreage planted to cotton. Fertilizer sales have shown a sharp increase.

"I am afraid advancing prices for some of our commodities, particularly cotton, have caused Southern farmers to forget the situation which brought about 5-cent cotton, $8.00 a ton cotton-seed, and prices for other commodities on the same low starvation scale. Because of the seriousness of the situation, I am convinced we must make a further special effort to let every farmer in the belt understand that a material increase in cotton acreage this season could easily place cotton producers in a position similar to that in which they found themselves in 1933. Despite the fact that the burdensome surplus of American cotton has been reduced, our carry-over of approximately 7 million bales is still 2 million bales above normal.

"The estimated world supply of all cotton for the present season was over 42 million bales. In only one other year, 1933, has the supply equaled or exceeded this. The world supply and world demand for cotton largely determine the price that American growers receive. The world consumption of all cotton during 1935-1936 was 27.4 million bales, and of this amount mill consumption accounted for 26.8 million bales. This total world consumption exceeded that of any other single year, but was about 2¾ million bales less than the world production of cotton in 1936. It is evident at this time that world consumption of all cotton during 1936-1937 will not equal the production of 1936, which means a larger world carry-over of all cotton into the 1937-1938 season. This carry-over and the 1937 crop will determine supply and price.

"The only way we can avoid another season of excessive supplies and low prices is through the wholehearted cooperation of all cotton producers in the Agricultural Conservation Program. Unless farmers help themselves by diverting cotton acreage to soil-conserving crops, there is nothing the Government can do to maintain the balanced production necessary to obtain reasonable prices.

"For four years farmers have effectively used Governmental measures in a cooperative effort which has resulted in a steady upward march of farm income. Now that we have partly obtained our objective of balanced production and fair prices it is even more important that farmers do not desert the program that has meant so much to their welfare.

"Farmers should also realize that in the past when it has become necessary for the Government to give assistance beyond that offered in the agricultural programs themselves, that assistance has been extended only to those who have cooperated. For example, cotton loans have not been extended to non-cooperators.

"It would seem desirable to make available to county workers for distribution to farmers in your State a brief statement giving the facts about the cotton situation so that farmers may know just what to expect in the event they insist upon increasing acreage. Some of the things that should be called to their attention are: (1) That we again face low-priced cotton unless we continue to maintain a balanced production; (2) conservation payments at 5 cents a pound for the average yield on the diverted acres are sure and certain; (3) the cost of producing cotton on diverted acres is saved; (4) cotton that is produced will cost less per pound to grow; (5) the diverted acres produce conserving crops, some of which may be used for food and feedstuffs; (6) soil fertility is conserved; and (7) a better price for cotton is assured if production is kept within reasonable limits.

"It is our suggestion that a brief outline of these facts be made and copies distributed to every producer in your State before he actually plants his cotton."

James Colville, who is doing concrete work on the new school building at Flomot, spent the week end with his family.

Tom A. Armstrong, who has been quite ill with the flu for two weeks, is able to be up and about the house.

Relaxation From Nation's No. 1 Job

Just before he returned to Washington to resume his arduous duties as chief executive, President Roosevelt is shown about to start on a quiet country drive near Warm Springs, Ga. With him is his son and secretary, James. At Warm Springs the President revealed he planned a trip to the Phillippines to cement friendship with the Commonwealth before full independence is granted the islanders.

Gordon Voight Says CCC Boys Have Good Treatment, Good Care

Former Christian Church Pastor Returns to Floydada for Visit Over Easter Sunday

Boys in the Citizens Conservation Crops, concentrated in camps all over the country, are well-cared for by the government, Rev. G. G. Voight, former pastor of the First Christian Church here, told members of the Self Starter school class in a talk Sunday morning.

In fact, the government spares no expense when it becomes necessary to save a life of one of the men in the camps, Rev. Voight said.

The minister was here on an Easter visit with the church of which he was formerly a pastor. He left last November for Silver City New Mexico, after enlisting in the army service as a chaplain.

Rev. Voight preached at the eleven o'clock hour at the Christian Church Sunday, and left Monday morning to return to his work.

Mr. and Mrs. Olin Bryant, of Lorenzo, spent Sunday here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Assiter.

Cattle Shipments To Kansas, Iowa, Grass

Shipments of Floyd County cattle last week totalled approximately 600 head, the shipments going to Kansas and Iowa grass.

H. E. and W. I. Cannaday loaded out nearly 500 head of yearling and two-year-old steers to Jones & Price in Kansas, and Grover Smith sent two loads of yearling steers to Iowa.

FLOYD COUNTY GINS TURNED OUT 11,137 BALES IN 1936

Final report of cotton ginnings in Floyd County for 1936 shows the crop for that season to have been 11,137 bales, according to Fred Bell, special agent of the Bureau of the Census.

This figures compares with 11,727 bales ginned for the season of 1935.

MANY FARMERS INSTRUCTED

Approximately 925 farmers attended agricultural meetings held in the county last week in six different places, County Agent D. F. Bredthauer announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Snodgrass and son, Tom Roy, and Mrs. Francis Wester returned home Friday from Fort Worth where they visited Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Russell. Mr. Snodgrass made a business trip over to Dallas while they were there.

CROP LOAN OFFICE TO BE OPEN ONLY 3 DAYS OUT OF EACH WEEK AFTER APRIL 3

SHALLOW CONTOUR FURROW SAVES SOIL AND MOISTURE

Shallow furrows, cut by an ordinary plow following the contours of sloping and hilly pastures at right angles to the slope, rank among the least expensive and most effective of erosion-control and water-conserving measures, according to Charles R. Enlow, Chief Agronomist of the Soil Conservation Service.

Studies indicate that shallow furrows, close together, give better results than deep furrows farther apart. Shallow furrows and more of them do not turn infertile subsoil to the surface and do not prevent passage of farm machinery over the ground.

Calculations made by the Service give a good idea of the amount of water which contour furrows hold. For example, each linear foot of contour furrow 6 inches deep and 18 inches wide will hold about 5.61 gallons of water. Thus, the water-holding capacity of contour furrows on a 160-acre pasture, with furrows averaging 20 feet apart, is at least 2,250,000 gallons of water.

"Our observations show that contour furrows in pastures will hold a considerable share of the rain and melting snow where it falls and where it will do the most good," says Enlow. "Furrows have been plowed under widely varying climatic, soil, and slope conditions, and in almost all instances they have held water, prevented quick run-off, and encouraged absorption of moisture. These facts have been established by measuring and comparing penetration on contoured pastures with adjacent pastures not contour-furrowed."

Many Witness Dutch Operetta Given Here

A fair-sized audience witnessed the presentation of "In Holland" (When The Tulips Bloom), a two-act musical comedy, presented at The Palace Theatre last Thursday night.

Many favorable comments, extolling the work of Mrs. Ohmer W. Kirk, who directed the presentation, and the cast, which numbered approximately twenty-five persons, were heard from those who saw the operetta.

The presentation was sponsored by the local chapter of Musikinos of the Federated Music Club.

Independent District

In Lockney Independent School District the names of Robert W. Smith, Jr., Sam Miller and Arthur Roberson have been petitioned on the ballots to be voted there.

Reference to the poll tax lists of the county as prepared at the office of County Assessor and Collector Frank L. Moore, indicates that in this off-year for elections a remarkably small percentage of citizens qualified themselves for voting, and that a large number of otherwise well-qualified persons are disqualified for holding the office of trustee due to failure to make payment of their polltaxes within the time prescribed by the statutes.

With L. B. Maxey as election judge, three members of the Floydada Independent School Board will be chosen by ballot of qualified voters in the district Saturday, April 3.

Members whose terms expire this year are W. Edd Brown, J. C. Wester and Mal Jarboe. On the circular distributed this week were the names of Walter Collins, Lorin Leibfried and Robert Medlen as candidates for trustee of the district. The three members of the board whose terms expire are also considered candidates to succeed themselves on the board.

Mrs. Nora Cox and Mrs. P. W. Bell will be election clerks at the balloting site, which will be the county court room.

GOOD SPELLER—

Donald Clark Green, member of the primary room of the Center School, made an average of 99 plus, in a spelling contest conducted by Principal R. L. Glenn over a period of six weeks. Mrs. P. B. Murff is his teacher.

Helen Jones, also of the primary room, made an average of 96, as did Clyde Green, Betty Joe Sims made an average of 95. Principal Glenn explained to the students that they must make over 95 to be on the honor roll and must make over 98 to get a "special write-up" in the paper, Donald Clark being the one to whom the special recognition is due.

Mr. and Mrs. Bennet Stone, of Abernathy, were guests of Mrs. Maud A. Merrick and Misses Hattie Thorpe Sunday. Miss Thorpe returned home with them for a visit and plans to visit at Abilene before she returns.

Mrs. J. S. Solomon had as her guest on Sunday her son, H. M. Solomon, his wife and little son, Danny, of Matador, and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Bain, of Bula. Mr. Bain is Mrs. Solomon's nephew.

Mrs. John Cook and little daughter, Shasta Vee, who have been visiting her sister, Mrs. G. A. Lider, and other relatives here, left Sunday for Colorado, where they will visit Mrs. Delma Bass, a niece of Mrs. Cook.

Three CCC Enrollees Are Alloted Floyd Co.

Two More Calls for CCC Enlistment To Be Made In First Part Of April

Floyd County has been alloted three enrollees in CCC camps during the first phase of enrollment during the month of April, Dott Slough, in charge of relief work for Floyd County, has announced.

The three boys selected and alternates for the first phase are expected to report to the Lubbock camp April 9 before 9 o'clock.

Notice of the quota for the second phase of enrollment will be received sometime during the latter part of this week and notice of the quota for the third phase will be received either April 13 or April 14.

Boys accepted in the first phase will be sent to camps either in Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado or Wyoming, those accepted in the second phase will be sent to camps to California and Oregon and third phase boys will be sent to camps in Texas.
