The fall issue of the Borden Citizen marks the beginning of the seventh year for the publication by the Borden County Historical Society.

Its success has been amazing, evidenced by its annual first place ranking each year in competition with publications from other historical committees. Borden County, of course, is one of the most sparsely populated counties in the state, but it is not lacking in history.

Another project of the Borden County Historical Society is the museum at Gail, and the latest issue of the Borden Citizen reports that one of the newest contributions to the museum is a large stone which came from above the fireplace in the dugout occupied by Borden County's first sheriff, Tom Love. The stone was brought to the museum by Dewey Everett and Bob Beal.

Speaking of museums, it appears now that Scurry County's prolonged efforts to acquire one will bear fruit.

If the plans work out as now envisioned, the museum here will not only become a refuge and exhibition facility for objects of historical value, but also an important educational facility.

The plans were to eventually construct the museum on the campus of Western Texas College, where it certainly belongs. Now that the college district is planning to propose a bond issue to complete its building project, trustees have agreed to include funds for the museum building. This will make it college property and will enable the college to make the fullest use of it and at the same time provide the facilities so urgently sought by the museum association.

Brud Boren, chairman of the Scurry County Historical Survey Committee writes that "the most astonishing, startling, unusual, graceful, complimentary, flattering, good mannered act has just happened as I walked down the sidewalk with a lady. The gentleman who committed the act was not a young man; but one in his 70s.

"It was a natural, graceful, in fact a beautiful movement—one I haven't seen in 30 years, particularly with such grace and charm," Boren declared. "The act comes under what is termed 'social graces' (something that so many parents are failing to teach their children.) This man tipped his hat with a little bow and said 'good morning, lady.' Is society forgetting the social graces?"

And then there was a post script? "How about this postcard promoted by the Scurry County Historical Survey Committee and Raun's Studio?" On the other side of the card was a color photograph of the white buffalo. That white buffalo still gets around. — WACIL McNAIR

Controversy On Court Nominees Is Growing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The controversy over filling two Supreme Court vacancies is growing in intensity, with two Democratic senators accusing President Nixon of insulting and cheapening the court.

Sens. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and Birch Bayh, D-Ind., sharply criticized the caliber of nominees being considered even before any final selections have been made.

Although Nixon has said he would announce his choices next week to succeed Hugo L. Black and John M. Harlan, signs developed that the list of potential candidates may be expanded and thus, delayed.

So far the Justice Department has requested the American Bar Association's committee on the federal judiciary to investigate the qualifications of only six potential nominees.

But administration spokesmen say they are not the only ones under consideration, and in the next few days the ABA panel may receive additional names to check out.

Kennedy, a member of the Senate Judiciary Committee, said in a statement Friday that "no American who respects the Supreme Court and its role in our system of government can be silent in the face of the list of six potential justices" submitted to the ABA.

"Surely, the compilation and submission of this list will rank as one of the great insults to the Supreme Court in its history," he said.

Bayh, also a Judiciary Committee member, criticized the six for "lack of excellence" and said the court was being degraded by what he termed a "political balancing act" in the selection process.

He also accused Nixon of "playing an undignified little game with the Senate, the Supreme Court, and the people."

LVN Program For WTC Is Given Okay

A program in Licensed Vocational Nursing at Western Texas College has been approved by the Texas Education Agency and is due review from the State Board of Vocational Nurse Examiners, according to Gene Robertson, WTC director of occupational and technical education.

Robertson advised those who are interested in the program that one of the steps necessary for admittance is the completion of the aptitude test. The aptitude test has been scheduled at WTC on two dates in order to meet the needs of more proples.

The first test is scheduled for 1 p.m., Oct. 19. The second is scheduled for 6 p.m., Oct. 28. Both tests will be administered on the WTC campus in Building 7-A, Room 105. The charge for the test, $3 is payable at the time of the examination.

Classes for those admitted to the LVN program are scheduled to begin Jan. 17. Registration for the program will be held Jan. 13-14. Further information can be obtained from Robertson at WTC.

Redistricting Of Senate Approved

AUSTIN (AP)—A sharply divided Legislative Redistricting Board has voted into law a reapportionment plan that gives Texas' four biggest cities dominance over 13 of the 31 seats in the state Senate.

House redistricting now will occupy the board's attention.

The board voted 3-2 for Senate districts that reflect the population shifts from rural to urban areas shown by the 1970 census.

Unless legislators or courts decide to change the new districts, they will govern Senate elections for the next 10 years.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin, board chairman; Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert signed the plan. Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong and House speaker Gus Mutscher refused to put their signatures on it.

The board now has eight days left to draw new district boundaries for state representatives.

Armstrong declared that if there is enough time he would prefer that the board draw single-member House districts in place of the present multi-member at-large districts in urban counties.

But he did not make a motion that would have forced the board members into public stances on the hot single-member district issue.

Robert E. Johnson, legislative council director and the board's staff chief, said it "would be very difficult" to write a single-member districts plan for the House by the Oct. 23 deadline.

The Senate plan gives Harris (Houston) county four senators to itself, plus dominance of a fifth senatorial district; Dallas County three senators and dominance of a fourth district; Tarrant (Fort Worth) County two senators entirely within the county; and Bexar (San Antonio) County two senators. Another senator would have a large part of the county, but rural voters would dominate his district.

Under the present senate apportionment, reflecting 1960 population, Dallas elects three senators, Houston four, San Antonio two and Fort Worth one, plus possible dominance of a largely rural area.

U.S. Mounts Heavy Raids

SAIGON (AP) — American B52 bombers mounted the heaviest raids yet along the Cambodian-South Vietnamese border today in a renewed effort to smother the three-week-old North Vietnamese frontier offensive.

The U.S. Command reported that five waves of the stratofortresses struck on the South Vietnamese side of the border and an undisclosed number pounded the eastern edge of Cambodia.

Along with these raids, smaller U.S. and South Vietnamese tactical bombers flew 111 strikes against North Vietnamese positions in the frontier regions ranging 60 to 90 miles northwest of Saigon.

The air blows were delivered as ground fighting along the border all but died down and action elsewhere across South Vietnam amounted to a series of small and scattered patrol skirmishes.

However, the North Vietnamese kept up harassing shelling attacks against allied bases in the Cambodian border region.

The U.S. Command said Fire Base Pace, the only American artillery outpost on the Cambodian frontier, received 11 rounds of enemy mortar fire but that there were no casualties. It was the 22nd straight day the base was shelled although almost all of the barrages were small and apparently intended as harassment.

The only ground action of any size was a sharp encounter 130 miles northeast of Saigon reported by the South Vietnamese command.

It said units of the South Vietnamese 23rd Infantry Division killed 23 enemy soldiers with help from air and artillery strikes and sustained no casualties themselves.

Agnew Arrives In Athens

ATHENS (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew arrived here today from Persepolis, Iran, for a week-long visit to the land of his forefathers and official talks with the military-supported Greek government.

The visit has resulted in adverse criticism by members of the U.S. Senate and Greek exiles abroad who claim that Agnew's call here is being interpreted as U.S. support for the policies of the authoritarian Athens government.

Agnew was given a welcome worthy of a king, with the entire Greek government, led by Premier George Papadopoulos, on hand at the airport.

Earlier today, groups opposed to the Greek government expressed their displeasure at Agnew's visit with bomb attacks on two U.S. Air Force-owned vehicles. No one was injured.

Heavy security measures were in effect. Thousands of police and plainclothesmen were on guard at the airport and along the crowded route which Agnew's motorcade took into the city.

The airport welcome accorded to Agnew for his visit to "the country of my ancestors" was especially significant because of Papadopoulos' presence. It was the first time that the premier had ever been present at the arrival of a foreign dignitary since the military seized power in April 1967.

Kissinger Off To Red China

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Henry A. Kissinger leaves for Peking today to work out final plans for President Nixon's forthcoming trip to mainland China.

Kissinger, Nixon's special assistant for national security affairs, will spend about four days in the Communist Chinese capital.

Will Wilson Is Pressured Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's top criminal lawyer, Asst. Atty. Gen. Will R. Wilson, has quit under fire for his ties to financial wheeler-dealer Frank W. Sharp who is the central figure in a Texas stock scandal.

Wilson said he has been the target of politically based character assassinations and was resigning to save the Nixon administration further embarrassment.

Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, D-Tex., carried on a one-man campaign to force Wilson's dismissal since mid-June. In recent weeks a number of national publications also suggested Wislon should quit.

Wilson was general counsel for Sharp's bank, realty firm and an insurance company in a period from 1967 to early 1969 during which the Securities and Exchange Commission said their assets were "systematically looted."

Wilson has not been accused of any crime in the Sharp scandal.

Federal grand juries in Dallas and Houston are still considering material in the case, which broke nine months ago and implicated top state Democratic officeholders.

In a four-page letter to President Nixon dated Friday night, Wilson spoke of his fight against organized crime and then, on the final page, said:

"Political enemies of the past, misplaced confidences and forces whose faces I do not recognize have assailed my character. They have attempted to pull attention away from my goal.

"Events involving former clients which have unfolded in Texas in the past few months have, through no fault of mine, created difficulties and embarrassment which your administration should not be taxed with."

Wilson said he is the victim of "character assassination which is currently being used as a political tactic" and he told Nixon that "I must fight my own fight freed from the restraints of this office."

The White House had no immediate comment.

Atty. Gen. John Mitchell praised Wilson's "experience, skill and dedication" and said he had "contributed significantly to the substantial progress that has been achieved in the war on organized crime" in his 30 months at Justice.

Chevrolets Should Be Inspected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Transportation Department says the owners of up to 6 million Chevrolet-built vehicles should bring them in for inspection because failure of engine mounts could cause loss of control.

The department's National Highway Traffic Safety Administration issued the warning late Friday on the basis, it said, of reports that engine mountings on about 500 vehicles failed.

Spokesmen said it was believed many more than the reported 500 failures had occurred.

Spokesmen said owners of Chevrolets, Novas, Chevelles and Camaros of the model years 1965 through 1969 should bring them in for front engine mount inspections and possible repair work.

General Motors, manufacturers of Chevrolet vehicles, said in a statement released in Detroit that it shared the agency's "interest" in the problem and pledged continued cooperation in the investigation.

GM said the vehicle owner would have to pay the cost of any repairs.

"Any safety risk that NHTSA has associated with this problem can be present only if an engine mount has failed and the engine is accelerated rapidly from very low speeds or from a standing start," GM said. "It is highly unlikely that this condition can occur at speeds above 25 miles per hour."

Husband's hairnet cools her off

By Abigail Van Buren

(c) 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: In all the years I've been married, I've tried to go to bed looking sexy. No curlers or face cream.

Now that men have gone in for long hair my husband has moved [illegible] Dear Abby, going to bed with a man who is wearing a hairnet turns me off. My husband isn't ashamed of it either. He tells our friends how he "puts on his hairnet" and wears a hairnet to bed. My husband is very masculine, and I do love him, but until he gets rid of his hairnet our love life is at a standstill.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y.

DEAR SPRINGS: A man who continues a practice which he knows turns his wife off is asking for what he is getting. Nothing! But there are no winners in that game, so you two had better come to terms. And fast.

DEAR ABBY: When a guy takes his date to a club with go-go dancers, is his date supposed to applaud, too?

I enjoy the club, but I feel so stupid applauding some other girl for arousing my date. It seems almost like thanking her for something I couldn't do myself. My date says those girls work hard and they deserve to be applauded by the entire audience. What's your opinion? NO CLAPPER

DEAR NO: Applause is an expression of appreciation. If you appreciate the performance [for whatever reason], applaud.

DEAR ABBY: My husband [I'll call him Tim] is a religoholic. Religion is to Tim what alcohol is to an alcoholic, with one difference. An alcoholic's symptoms are obvious, and he gets sympathy and understanding from friends, neighbors, etc. The religoholic's symptoms are obvious only to those very close to him, and to outsiders he appears to be upright, moral and good. Everyone tells me how lucky I am to have such a fine husband. The truth is I may as well be a widow. I raised four lovely children with little help from Tim, managing the home and a part-time job.

Tim spent very little time with our sons because he was always doing something for the church, attending church-related meetings, etc. Sometimes I think church was a convenient hiding place to stay away from work and responsibilities. It was easier for Tim to kneel and pray for the other person than to do something himself.

If this overdose of religion had made Tim a better person, it would have been worth it, but it hasn't. He's been an unkind, critical and even abusive father. He's had several cheap affairs with young girls right in our neighborhood, which he doesn't know I am aware of.

When I went to the priest to ask for a separation I was told it was an "honor and privilege to be a good Catholic wife, ESPECIALLY when one's husband hasn't done his duty as a husband and father."

According to him I am a "saint on earth who is building up huge treasures in heaven."

I don't feel like a saint. I feel like a fool. I also feel relieved to be able to get this huge lump of resentment off my chest. "AMEN"

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to you for help because I am too ashamed to seek help elsewhere. I am not married, Abby, and I am pregnant. I do not wish to marry the fellow because I have no feelings left for him. I cannot tell my parents because I would rather die than let them know that I have failed them. I can arrange to leave home for several months and want to know if you could recommend a home for unwed mothers, OUT of Ireland. Thank you in advance.

Parents Protest Movement

DALLAS (AP) — Parents, protesting that the Jesus movement has taken their kids, picketed the federal courthouse in downtown Dallas Friday, demanding action to put things right.

Carrying placards reading "Save our children from the Children of God", they urged U.S. Atty. Gen. John Mitchell to investigate the sect, which they charge is "subversive."

William Rambur, who said he was a retired lieutenant commander in the Navy from San Diego, Calif., headed the group which bears the unwieldy name of Parents Committee to Free Our Sons and Daughters from the Children of God Organization.

Rambur said his group had already contacted the California attorney general in Sacramento and intended contacting the Texas attorney general, too.

Louis Ingersoll, known by his biblical name of Abel, spoke up for the Children of God. He called the allegations of the parents slanderous and said their children would be flown to Dallas to give their own view and refute the charges.

Children of God, sometimes called "Jesus freaks", live cooperatively in colonies, spending much of their time praying and singing hymns to the music of guitars.

"Some parents have given us a lot of trouble," Ingersoll said. "They just don't understand what their child is doing. Young people want to live by the Bible and parents can't understand that."

Ingersoll claimed to have photographs showing parents "dragging their daughter to their car." He also accused one parent of "kidnapping and drugging" a daughter to get her away from the children of God.

Rambur said he "lost" his daughter, Kay, 22, to the Children of God last July.

When he found where she was, he went to the sect's ranch at Mingus, Tex., midway between Abilene and Fort Worth and talked with her.

She agreed to return home, he said, but, when he drove his car to the gate, sect members locked it in his face and the girl started screaming: "If I go out that gate, I'll die."

Snyderite To Go On Tour Of Prisons

ABILENE—Randy Davis, senior of Snyder is one of approximately 40 members of a criminology class at Hardin-Simmons University who will take a three-day field trip to several prison units in the state, Nov. 4-6.

Greenfield said the class will travel by private autos and will leave the campus Thursday, Nov. 4. Their first stop will be the Fort Worth Police Dept., where they will be given a guided tour. Another stop will be the federal correction unit at Seagoville.

The H-SU delegation will spend two nights in Huntsville, where they will be given an orientation tour of the Texas prison. They will see the Ferguson unit, where young first-time offenders are held, the diagnostic areas where all inmates are processed in, the Waller unit, the maximum security unit.

Stops will also be made at the Goree unit for women and the Ellis unit for men.

On Saturday enroute back to Abilene, the students will visit the Gatesville Boys School, where they will have lunch with the youths.

Mrs. Cleaver In US For Speaking Tour

BOSTON (AP) — Mrs. Eldridge Cleaver, wife of the self-exiled Black Panther leader, has arrived in the United States to begin a national speaking tour in support of urban guerrilla struggle.

Cleaver said in an interview in Algiers Friday that he, too, will return to the United States and will devote himself to such a struggle for "oppressed peoples."

Mrs. Cleaver said on arriving at Logan Airport Friday night that her husband would follow "very soon."

Her journey from Algiers was interrupted when FBI agents detained a traveling companion.

Attorney William Homans Jr. of the American Civil Liberties Union said, however, the companion was Jessica Scott Weinrich and that the detainment was caused by mistaken identity.

Ford Ups Price Of Pintos

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. has raised the retail sticker price on Pinto models sold outside the Midwest by $24—to a total of $1,943. The new price reflects the increased surcharge on engines and transmissions imported from Ford's European operations.

Detroit and other Midwestern sales points which are supplied by Ford's St. Thomas, Ont., assembly plant escape the higher price because Ford of Europe components are shipped directly into Ontario, where the surcharge increase does not apply.

But for the 80 per cent of the Pinto market which is supplied by assembly plants in San Jose, Calif., and Metuchen, N.J., the boost applies beginning with cars built Friday.

Ford, with the approval of the Office of Emergency Preparedness which administers the wage-price freeze, also announced on Friday price increases on the Thunderbird and six top-of-the-line Mercury models.

Thunderbirds were boosted by $91 to $5,366, and each of the Marquis Brougham models went up $65. Prices on these models now range from of $4,539 to $5,098.

The new Mercury and Thunderbird prices, Ford said, are the result of making former optional equipment items standard on 1972 models.

Connally Addresses Business Council

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Writer

HOT SPRINGS, VA. (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally foresees progress but no quick solutions when the so-called "Group of Ten" major industrial nations meets Monday in Paris seeking agreement on realigning the world's currencies.

Here to address the fall meeting of the Business Council today, Connally told newsmen he doubts it will be possible, as American officials hoped earlier, to agree by mid-November on a solution to the world currency crisis.

Other countries do not appear to be ready yet for hard and final bargaining, Connally observed. "Politically they are not ready. I don't think the will is there," he said.

The secretary said he hopes for action by the end of the year on an upward revaluation of other currencies which would make American products more competitive in world markets and lead to the lifting of the 10 per cent import surcharge imposed by President Nixon on Aug. 15.

Connally said, so far as Germany is concerned, "I am ready to consider a selective lifting of the import surcharge, because Germany has permitted the Mark to float upward toward a realistic new parity with the dollar, without governmental restrictions or interference."

Connally said he felt the agreement Friday between the United States and Japan to remove the surcharge from imports of Japanese textiles, in exchange for a Japanese agreement to limit the sales of man-made and woolen textiles in the United States contributed toward a general easing of trade tensions.

Meanwhile, Ralph Lazarus, board chairman of the Federated Department Stores, Inc., Cincinnati, told the top industrialists and government officials at the Business Council session that peacetime pay and price controls lose their effectiveness in time. He appealed to the Nixon administration for quick establishment of a firm and effective Phase 2 system of controls to restore "reasonable consumer confidence."

Wells Logged

AUSTIN (AP) — Two wildcat oil wells and a single wildcat gas well were drilled in Texas during the past week, the Railroad Commission reported Saturday.

The wildcat oil wells—in the Abilene and San Antonio No. 2 Districts—raised the total for the year to 204, or 69 fewer than at this time a year ago.

The wildcat gas well was in the Kilgore No. 6 District and hiked the yearly total to 317, or 119 fewer than a year ago.

The commission said 52 oil wells were completed during the week for a yearly total of 3,888 or 174 fewer than a year ago. Twenty-eight gas wells were completed for a yearly total of 1,454, or 52 fewer than a year ago.

Dr. Jones' Father Dies In Oklahoma

Word was received here Saturday morning of the death of Will C. Jones, father of Dr. Wilton N. Jones of Snyder.

Mr. Jones died at Mangum, Okla., where funeral service will be held at 2 p.m. Monday at the First Christian Church.

In addition to Dr. Jones, survivors include another son, Ray Bob Jones of Oklahoma City, and five grandchildren.

Alerts Halted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission says operational problems have led it to temporarily halt random tests of the system to alert the nation to emergencies.

The FCC said Friday the random tests would be suspended until the recommendations of a subcommittee of the National Industry Advisory Board on improving the system are implemented.

But, an FCC spokesman added, the twice-weekly test of the Emergency Broadcast System (EBS) will be continued.

The spokesman was asked, if operation difficulties come with random tests, what happens in a real emergency? "If something should blow sky high, I'm sure they could handle it," he said.

One such "operational difficulty" in February occurred when a civilian Army employe accidently transmitted notification of a national emergency instead of the normal test notification over EBS.

Scores of radio and television stations followed instructions and went off the air after advising listeners to tune into other stations for further information of the emergency.

Cadette Troop 42 (Mrs. Bill Campbell and Mrs. Weldon Biddle): The girls in this troop have been quite busy lately and much progress has been made. A few weeks ago we made a trip to Green Springs where we had a "Scout's Own". We formed a Beauty Circle with the theme of Nature. Green Springs is a lovely place for a hike and we must have walked more than a mile. The rocks are soft sandstone; there are markings in the rocks that are supposed to have been made by Indians and we wished we could read their symbols. Most people think that things that happened so long ago are gone forever but with arrowheads and Indian markings they seem to live again. This experience got our minds on the right track for a very special trip that came about ten days later.

Area troops were invited to a Girl Scout Jamboree at Lake Pauline, near Quanah, Texas. This was sponsored by the Nor-Cen-Tex Council. Each troop also made its own troop-flag. Troop No. 42 was one of two troops from Snyder to [illegible] and joined over one thousand Scouts for the week-end camping trip.

Each troop set up its own camp, including tents, and ours was prepared very quickly without help from the leaders. We all had our flag ceremonies together. Then came the showing of some Indian films.

After lunch on Saturday, October 2nd, the troops all met together and each girl chose an Indian craft to learn. There were instructors for each craft but sometimes Scout's fingers aren't as nimble as the Indian's fingers must have been!

As supper was completed and darkness descended, we all gathered around a campfire and had Indian dances. At 11 p.m. the lonely sound of "Taps" was heard. The sound rolled and echoed across the giant camp area. The day was done.

The same bugle roused us at 6 a.m. Sunday morning but this time with a bright wake-up kind of sound. After breakfast was over we had church services and then prepared lunch. Early afternoon found all the girls ready for awards and presentation of a patch for us to wear. Imagine our surprise and pleasure when the Indian display we had prepared was awarded second place! This is a great reward for the efforts we made.

Then everyone broke camp, loaded up their cars, and headed home.

Debbie Biddle, Scribe.

QUOTABLE WOMEN

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Some quotable quotes from women during the week:

"There are so few Americans that are worth talking about. He was a fine, great American. He represented this country well everywhere he went. I want the quality of the man known, the human side of him. His talent is known."—Maria Cole, who co-authored a biography of her late husband, singer Nat King Cole.

"Soon young people will realize they're giving up half their options voting as independents and not voting in the party to make their voices heard."—Anne Armstrong, co-chairman of the Republican National Committee.

Plan Milk In Family Meals

COLLEGE STATION — Are you buying enough milk and dairy products for your family?

To decide what is enough for your family, check the daily food guide, suggests Frances Reasonover, Extension foods and nutrition specialist at Texas A&M University.

The daily food guide is a list of foods that give the nutrients needed each day for good health, Miss Reasonover explains. Milk is an important group of the food guide, necessary to the daily diet because of its calcium content.

According to the Texas Nutrition Survey, calcium is one nutrient low in the diets of Texans surveyed, the specialist reports. Calcium is needed for well formed teeth. If one provides proper care for his teeth, he has a better chance of keeping them throughout life, she adds.

The Texas Survey also showed very poor teeth condition in a high percentage of those examined. Although care and other conditions played a role in this poor condition, lack of calcium in the diet was one factor, Miss Reasonover emphasizes.

The specialist reminds that as a homemaker, it is vitally important you serve milk group foods and that you encourage your family to eat these nutritional foods.

Provide 2 to 3 cups of milk a day for children under 9; 3 or more cups for children 9 to 12; 4 or more cups for teens; and 2 or more cups for adults, Miss Reasonover suggests. The pregnant woman needs 3 or more cups and nursing mothers, 4 or more cups.

Try to see that your family gets the amount of milk needed for their age group, she reminds, or that they get other milk group foods that will also provide calcium.

CUB FUMBLE — Brownfield quarterback Mark Nall (10) falls on his own fumble during the thrilling district football clash with Snyder Friday night. Getting in on the action for the Tigers are Gary Patterson (39) and Jackson Brewster (86). The Cubs' Eddie Ryburn (44), Ronald Jackson (81) and Duane Baccus (72) can't help their teammate. Snyder scored a 21-7 come-from-behind victory.

Lions Visit Houston; Cowboys Host Saints

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

How long will the Baltimore wall stand?

How long will the Washington record go untarnished?

Those questions could be answered Sunday as the National Football League enters its fifth weekend with the Baltimore Colts—New York Giants and St. Louis Cardinals-Washington Redskins games as the prime attractions.

The Colts haven't been scored upon in six quarers and haven't allowed a touchdown in eight. In fact, they've permitted a measly 17 points through four games—two of them shutouts.

At the same time, they've rolled up 101 points, tied with Oakland for the top output in the American Conference. Now they visit the erratic Giants, who have allowed more points—110—than nearly anyone else in the NFC and have lost vital cogs in their attack due to injuries to running backs Ron Johnson and Tucker Frederickson.

The Skins, meanwhile, are riding high in the NFC East, having won their first four games to equal the start they made in the 1943 season. Now they've set their sights on the seven in a row they captured at the outset of the 1940 season, when they made it to the NFL championship game.

But they'll be facing a tenacious pack of Cards, aiming to avenge their 24-17 opening-game loss to Washington. With the exception of a slight thigh injury to St. Louis running back MacArthur Lane, wiich willl not keep him out of the game, both teams are virtually injury-free.

The remainder of the slate has Buffalo at the New York Jets, Dallas at New Orleans, New England at Miami, Los Angeles at Atlanta; San Diego at Denver, Chicago at San Francisco, Philadelphia at Oakland, Cleveland at Cincinnati, Minnesota at Green Bay, Detroit at Houston and, in Monday night's nationally televised (ABC, 9 p.m. EDT) game, Pittsburgh at Kansas City.

The Bills and Jets are at the bottom of the AFC in both offense and defense. New York will be starting third-string quarterback Bob Davis in place of Al Woodall in an attempt to wake up its passing game. Buffalo will be trying to score for the first time in three games.

The Cowboys, with Calvin Hill out due to a knee injury, will start Walt Garrison and Duane Thomas at the running back spots against the Saints, who will probably go with Archie Manning at quarterback despite elbow and ankle problems. Edd Hargett is their backup passer.

The Patriots and Dolphins are battling for second place in the AFC East behind the Colts. It figures to be a passing duel between New England's Jim Plunkett and Miami's Bob Griese.

Roman Gabriel, who suffered a concussion last Sunday, is due to return to the Rams starting lineup but defensive end Deacon Jones is questionable. The Falcons have been hit by a flock of injuries, most notably linebacking star Tommy Nobis.

Expected back for the Broncos are quarterback Don Horn, who suffered a leg injury and missed the last half of last Sunday's game, and wide receiver Dwight Harrison, who missed the entire game. They may also start Dickie Post at running back in place of Floyd Little.

The 49ers will be out to rebound from their upset loss to Los Angeles when they take on the Bears, who report that running back Gale Sayers has returned to top form.

The Eagles run into their fifth straight 1970 divisional winner in Oakland as they resume their search for victory No. 1. The Raiders may have to go with Ken Stabler in place of quarterback Daryle Lamonica, who has a pulled leg muscle.

The Browns will be trying to hold onto their slim lead in the AFC Central Division. The Bengals are still without quarterback Virgil Carter.

The Vikings take back-to-back shutouts and the NFC's top defense against the Packers, who will be trying to climb back into the scramble for supremacy in the Central Division.

The Lions say Steve Owens, the NFC's top grounder gainer, is a likely starter despite a shoulder injury. The Oilers will go with rookie quarterback Dan Pastorini.

Pittsburgh and Kansas City have no injuries to report. The Chiefs are trying to retain their share of the AFC West lead with Oakland while the Steelers will be out to stay in contention in the Central battle.

Sterling City Ties Gail 12-12

GAIL—The host Borden County Coyotes had their toughest game of the season here Friday night and had to settle for a 12-12 tie with Sterling City's Eagles. Both teams are competing in District 3-B Eight-Man.

Gail took the lead in the first period on a one-yard plunge by Randy Crittenden. The Eagles tied it up in the same period when they recovered a fumble in the end zone.

Gail went ahead late in the first quarter when Randy Hensley plunged for two years. The TD was set up by a 50 yard run by Crittenden.

The visitors tied it up in the third quarter when Ray Escobar intercepted a pass and returned it 30 yards for a touchdown.

Neither team could add any extra points.

Panthers Pound Fluvanna, 50-0

HOBBS — The host Panthers pounded Fluvanna's Buffaloes 50-0 in a District 3-B Six-Man football game Friday night.

The Panthers scored 30 points in the first quarter and also scored in each of the three remaining periods.

Ramiro Aguilar scored on touchdown runs of 11 and six yards in the first period. Mike Hull threw a 22 yard touchdown pass to Randy Gordon, and S. T. Dooley scored on a 45 yard run.

In the second period, Joe Bob Martinez, David Martinez and Kent Tibbles tackled a Buff in the end zone for a two-point safety.

Gordon threw a 15 yard touchdown pass to Hull in the third quarter.

Ronnie Medrano kicked a 17 yard field goal, and Hal Guinn scored on a six yard run in the fourth quarter.

Aguilar kicked successfully from placement four times.

Texas Wins Golf Match

GRAND PRAIRIE, Tex. (AP) — Texas is the winner and Southern Methodist the runner-up in the first multiple ball golf tournament ever staged by the Southwest Conference.

Four-man teams representing each school played the 54 holes of the three-and-one tourney here at the Great Southwest Golf Club.

The Texas team—Ben Crenshaw, Brent Buckman, Lad Larson and George Tucker-accumulated 33 points in round robin match play against all teams taking part.

Southern Methodist surprised Texas by winning that match 3½ points to 2½ points. This gave SMU the runnerup spot with 30 points.

Texas Christian placed third with 26½ points.

Texas captured the team low-ball championship with a score of 193 for 54 holes. SMU was runnerup with 195 and TCU third with 197.

Crenshaw and Buckman gave Texas a clean sweep by winning the two-man team low-ball championship with a score of 200. Triggs and Huebinger of SMU were next with 207, and Jerry Gatti and Eddie Vossler of TCU had 208.

Crenshaw was medalist with a 54-hole total 207.

Braves Owner Names New Cage Coach

...By The Associated Press

"I'm losing a million dollars, and I want to make a change," snapped owner Paul Snyder of the Buffalo Braves in announcing that scout Johnny McCarthy had been named to replace Dolph Schayes as coach.

Snyder's change, made one day after Buffalo had been swamped by Seattle 123-90 in opening game of the National Basketball Association season, proved beneficial.

McCarthy, in his first game as coach, guided the Braves to a dramatic 111-109 overtime victory over the Cleveland Cavaliers Friday night.

In other NBA games, Los Angeles walloped Detroit 132-103, the Golden State Warriors routed Boston 97-75, Chicago crushed Baltimore 106-82, and Seattle overpowered Portland 119-88.

Buffalo looked almost as bad in the opening quarter against Cleveland as it did in its one game under Schayes, falling behind the Cavaliers by 18 points. But the Braves battled back tenaciously and finally tied the score 92-97 late in the fourth quarter. At the end of regulation time, the teams were deadlocked 101-101.

Buffalo again fell back in overtime 107-105, but Walt Hazzard's jump shot tied the score and Bill Hosket's rebound basket gave the Braves the lead for good.

Hazzard led all scorers with 35 points, 27 after intermission. John Johnson had 22 points for Cleveland.

Los Angeles, making its debut under Coach Bill Sharman who piloted the Utah Stars to the American Basketball Association title last season, overwhelmed Detroit with a balanced offense, paced by Wilt Chamberlain's 26 points and Jim McMillian's 25.

Bob Lanier topped Detroit with 25 points, but scored only one point in the second half.

The Pistons played without all-pro guard Dave Bing, who underwent surgery earlier Friday for a detached retina in his right eye.

The Warriors built a 43-37 halftime advantage against Boston, then pulled away by scoring the first 13 points in the second half. Boston missed its first 13 shots from the floor after intermission and went scoreless for the first 4:35 of the second half.

Jeff Mullins led the Warriors with 28 points, while Jo Jo White was high for the Celtics with 22. Boston's John Havlicek, the league's second highest scorer last season, managed only six points against Golden State.

Bob Love, game high scorer with 31 points, triggered an early Chicago outburst, collecting nine straight points in the first quarter, in the Bulls' romp over Baltimore. Chicago's defense held Baltimore's Earl Monroe to 10 points. Jack Marin led the Bullets with 20 points.

Cage Pro Is Suspended

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Don Adams, a second year forward for the Houston Rockets of the National Basketball Association, was indefinitely suspended Friday when he failed to make the team's flight to Phoenix for a game.

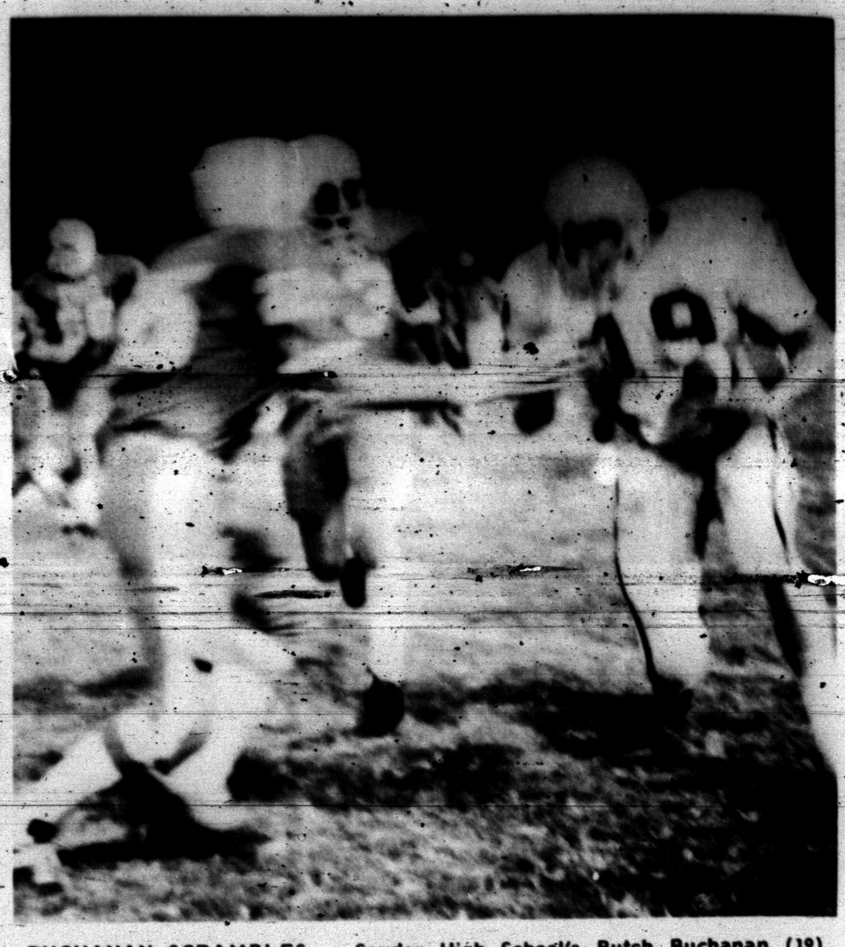

Mickey Herskowitz, the Rocket's executive vice president, said, "Don Adams is apparently refusing to make the trip with the team because of his desire to renegotiate his contract with the Rockets."

Adams was the Rockets' eighth round draft choice in the 1970 college draft.

A team spokesman said Houston will remain one man under the 12-man limit for the present time.

Adams could not be reached for comment.

New Big Ten football coaches this season are Bob Blackman at Illinois and Frank Lauterbur at Iowa.

BUCHANAN SCRAMBLES — Snyder High School's Butch Buchanan (19) scrambles for yardage during the Tiger-Cub district football tussle in Brownfield Friday night. The senior quarterback gained 74 yards on seven carries. Defending for the Cubs are Bruce Rodgers (25) and Norman Jackson (33). Buchanan also completed a 29-yard touchdown pass to Gary Patterson.

Scot Leads Squires

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If the Virginia Squires of the American Basketball Association refer to Charlie Scott as "The Great Scott," who could blame them? Scott, the second-year pro from the University of North Carolina, scored a game-high total of 36 points—11 in the final period—as the Squires rallied for a 118-114 victory over the Carolina Cougars Friday night in the season opener for both teams.

In other ABA games, Indiana defeated Denver 115-104, Utah upended Dallas 116-106, and New York beat Pittsburgh 117-105.

Scott, who averaged 27.1 points a game last season in his rookie year and was named the ABA's co-rookie of the year with Kentucky's Dan Issel, pulled Virginia into a 108 tie with a jump shot late in the fourth quarter. The Squires had trailed by as many as 16 points before the final period.

Then, after tying the score, Scott, Neil Johnson and Jim Eakins led the Squires to victory.

Rookie Julius Erving of Virginia had a game-high 19 rebounds, while seven-foot rookie Jim McDaniels of Carolina collected 32 points and 14 rebounds. Another rookie, Randy Denton, had 23 points for the Cougars.

Indiana, the defending Western Division champion, got off to a quick start against Denver, hitting 12 of its first 19 field goal attempts and never was headed.

Fred Lewis paced the well-balanced Pacer attack with 23 points. Mel Daniels added 21 and Rick Mount had 20.

Art Becker topped Denver with 20 points.

Utah, defending league champion, outscored Dallas 21-4 in the closing minutes to erase a 102-95 deficit and beat the Chaps.

Zelmo Beaty led the Stars with 31 points, followed by Willie Wise with 24 and Glen Combs with 21. Donnie Freeman was high for Dallas with 33. Steve Jones contributed 24 and Rich Jones had 23.

Tigers Smash Cubs,21-7

DYESS SCORES — Snyder High School's Jimmy Dyess (27) scores on a 14 yard run in the second quarter of the District 3-AAA gridiron clash at Brownfield Friday night. The TD and subsequent extra point tied up the game 7-7, and the Tigers went on to win 21-7. Gary Jones (72) and Randy Wright (67) are on the ground after blocking for Dyess. Brownfield's Eddie Ryburn (44) gives chase.

BROWNFIELD — Using a powerful offense and a tenacious defense, Snyder's Tigers thrashed Brownfield's Cubs 21-7 in a come-from-behind victory here Friday night. It was the Tigers' second straight triumph in District 3-AAA competition and brings their season mark to 2-2-1. The Cubs now are 1-1 in league action and 3-2 for the year.

The Tigers spotted the Cubs a touchdown in the first quarter, then scored two TD's in the second period to take command of the game, and added a clincher touchdown in the fourth period.

Unlike last week when fullback Mike Glasscock carried the brunt of the offense, the Tigers spread the ball carrying chores around more. These tactics paid off handsomely and overcame the Brownfield "Stop Glasscock" strategy.

It's true, the Cubs were laying for the 202-pound senior fullback, but he still gained 75 yards on 17 thrusts. However, little Sammie Lee Harrison, Tiger tailback, was the leading ball carrier for the night, gaining 89 yards on 13 carries. Quarterback Butch Buchanan hurt the Cubs by gaining 74 yards on seven runs. Halfback Jimmy Don Dyess gained 37 yards on five efforts, and halfback Travis Bunch netted 30 yards on two runs. Four separate Tigers figured in the scoring.

The game started out with the Cubs in command. They took the opening kickoff and drove from their 27 to the Snyder 16 before the Tiger defense stiffened. Big plays in the march were a 13-yard pass from quarterback Mark Nall to right end Ronald Jackson, and a 22-yard scamper by fullback Eddie Ryburn. Brownfield's substitute quarterback Billy Blankenship attempted a field goal from the 24, but the ball fell short in the end zone.

Safety Jackson Brewster ran it out to the 23, and the Tigers reached the 35 before a fumble stopped them. Duane Baccus' recovery put the Cubs in business at the 34 and they spanned the distance in four plays. Nall hit Jackson with a 15-yard gainer to the 19 on first down, Then Ryburn and right halfback Chuck Price each added two to the 15. On third and five from the 15, Nall kept over left guard and ran all the way to the goal line behind good blocking. Blankenship's kick made it 7-0 in favor of the Cubs and it looked like Brownfield definitely had the upperhand.

But, the Tigers took the kickoff and Melvin Cobb returned it 16 yards to the Tiger 21. Snyder marched 79 yards for the tying touchdown in eight plays.

Glasscock gained three to the 24, but a 5-yard penalty pushed the ball back to the 19. Harrison gained seven to the 26, then three more to the 29. Facing fourth and two, the Tigers called on Glasscock. He responded with a 13 yard burst to the 43. The big fullback then added four more to the 47. At this point Buchanan dialed his own number and slipped through right tackle for a 23 yard gain to the Cub 30. Harrison took a pitchout and added six to the 24. Then Buchanan fooled the Cubs by faking to Glasscock and handing off to Dyess. He shot over left tackle and raced to the goal. Tackle Sandy Land's kick made it 7-7 with 11:17 remaining in the half.

On their next possession the Tigers drove 67 yards to paydirt in six plays. The drive began when the defense fought and stopped the Cubs at the Tiger 33. On first down, Glasscock gained four to the 37. Harrison contributed 10 to the 47. Dyess was stopped for no gain and an incomplete pass left the Tigers facing third and 10. Harrison took care of that with a 24 yard run around right end to the 29. On the next play Buchanan fired a pass to Gary Patterson, who had gotten behind the safety man. The pass was on target and Gary made a leaping, falling catch in the end zone. Land's kick put the Tigers in command 14-7.

Snyder also drove from its 20 to the Cub 15 before halftime, but the Cub defense managed to stop the drive. Big plays in the march were a 45 yard run by Buchanan and a 13-yard burst by Dyess. On Buchanan's run, he bolted through the line and discovered only one man standing between him and the goal at the 50. The Cub made a diving tackle at his 35.

Neither team could score in the third quarter, and Snyder's defense came through again, stopping Ryburn for no gain on a crucial fourth and one situation at the Snyder 44 on the first play of the fourth quarter. The Tigers drove the remaining 56 yards in 10 plays for the clincher.

Glasscock started it with an 11-yard plunge to the 31. Then two more carries, he reached the Cub 37. Harrison gained seven to the 30, then Dyess and Glasscock gained two each to the 26. Buchanan was thrown behind the line looking for an open receiver and Snyder faced fourth and 13 at the 33.

Coach Maurice Hodges sent in Travis Bunch and he responded with a 16-yard run to the 17 to set up first and 10. Harrison gained three to the 14. Then Bunch shot over right tackle and went all the way with 6:28 remaining in the game. Land's kick accounted for the final 21-7 margin.

Brownfield had time to mount a drive but they were stopped when Patterson intercepted a long pass at the Snyder 30.

The Cubs tried hard throughout the game, but they were simply outclassed.

The Tiger offensive line fired out well, and the defense stopped every Cub threat after the first touchdown. It was another great team effort.

Elsewhere in District 3-AAA, Lamesa beat Sweetwater 12-7, and Colorado City tied Lake View 7-7.

Next Friday, the Tigers host Lubbock Dunbar. The Tigers and Lubbock Estacado now lead the race with perfect 2-0 marks in league play.

Little Is Changed Year After Birth Of Amtrak

By JOHN S. LANG
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — One year after the birth of Amtrak and five months after the government-supported corporation took responsibility for operating the nation's passenger trains little is changed.

Trains that were good under direct railroad management remain so. Those that were bad are still bad.

Amtrak has spent $125,000 on an emblem, hired 100 office workers, bought 1,200 used railroad cars, let the railroads continue running the trains, and gone deeply into the red.

It is, perhaps, too early to expect much more from an organization that inherited a dying rail-passenger system, and stands to lose somewhere between $110 million and $120 million this year.

But an Associated Press study of Amtrak's structure and on-board inspection of the trains found much evidence to support the views of Amtrak critics:

—The railroads retain ownership of the tracks and give priority to their own freight trains.

On a recent trip the Sunset Limited from Los Angeles to New Orleans sat on sidings a total of four hours to allow freights to pass and spent another hour and 10 minutes pushing a freight which had broken down.

—Tickets are still sold by the individual railroads under a formula devised in 1909. Fares vary and making reservations is a lengthy and difficult process.

—Train crews work for and are paid by the railroads, and Amtrak has no authority for direct supervision of the crews.

—Of the 1,200 passenger cars purchased by Amtrak from the railroads for $16.8 million none is newer than a 1965 model and most of them are 20 to 30 years old.

—While administering the trains under contract to Amtrak, the railroads are not responsible for repairing equipment unless Amtrak specifically orders it and pays the bill.

Railroad executives have made no secret of their low regard for Amtrak's possibilities.

"I think Amtrak will preside over the passenger business as it sort of gracefully goes out of business," said B. F. Biaggini, president of Southern Pacific.

His views are reflected in statements made by the three railroad representatives on Amtrak's Board of Directors: Burlington Northern Chairman Louis W. Menk, Milwaukee Road Chairman William J. Quinn and Penn Central President William H. Moore.

"In my view we ought to let the intercity passenger train and the long-distance passenger train, die an honorable death like we did the steamship, or the riverboats and the stagecoach and Pony Express," Menk has said.

Despite its sharp criticisms of Amtrak, the NARP, which through lobbying and public agitation is partly responsible for the government's efforts to save passenger trains, disagrees with the rail executives.

"Even with Amtrak's shortcomings," said Vranich, "there is still hope things will get better. "They can't turn around overnight 30 years of mismanagement and neglect."

In rebutting criticisms, and asking for more time, Amtrak Vice President Edel spoke of improvements planned and in some instances beginning to be put into effect:

—Complete refurbishment and redistribution throughout the Amtrak system of the newly purchased cars within 12 months.

—Direct responsibility for ticket sales through a computer operation to be started in Chicago this month and plugged into a nationwide hookup within a year.

—A faster timetable to take effect Oct. 31.

—Valet parking at train stations.

—A credit-card system for ticket sales and commissions to travel agents.

—Operational judgments made directly by Amtrak officials. For example, said Edel, "Railroads now must ask us whether to hold trains for late passengers."

—A national advertising campaign to point out such things that the Metroliner fare between Washington and New York is $9 cheaper than the air shuttle.

Just two months ago a steward, B. Rhodes, write Amtrak and the United Transportation Union complaining that faulty refrigeration on the Spirit of St. Louis diner had forced him to condemn vast quantities of food.

In late August the diner was replaced by one which Rhodes said is excellent. Amtrak began replacing pullmans and coaches on the line in September.

"That was Penn Central equipment, just about the worst you can get," said an Amtrak spokesman. "Now we've gotten the best available."

But many trainmen expected immediate improvements and have become embittered by what they regard as slow redistribution of the newer equipment. Discontent appears highest on the Southern Pacific's Sunset Limited run between Los Angeles and New Orleans, which Amtrak officials concede is one of the most dismal.

"Fix them up?" said the Sunset Limited's brakeman. "All they'll do is put a little paint on them and here they'll be, creakin' and groanin'."

"Amtrak!" said the conductor. "That was the slickest way in the world to kill off 250 trains and take ICC authority over passenger trains."

Price Of Discovery Up

NEW YORK (AP) — A direct descendant of explorer Christopher Columbus says discovering America today would cost about $523,000 using the same materials as in 1492.

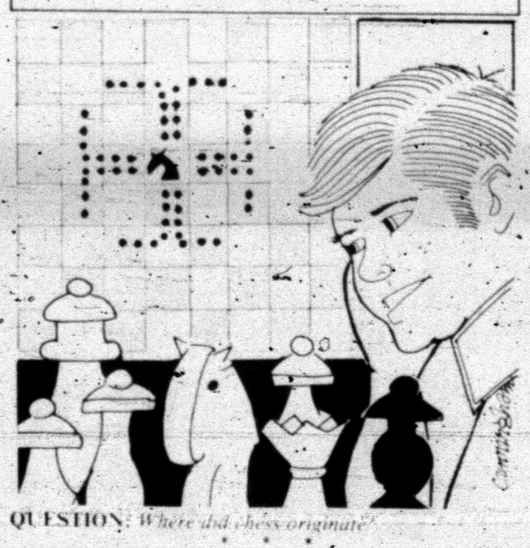

Lt. Cmdr. Christopher Columbus of the Spanish navy says the original voyage might have cost less "considering that shipyards worked on wood and my estimate is based on today's technique. And the cost would consider that the crew worked just for the adventure of it."

Columbus—Cristobal Colon in Spanish—is in New York to attend Spanish Week. He is a scholar on the life and times of his 17th great-grandfather and guardian of the family archives.

More Plastic Bottles Appear

NEW YORK (AP) — Carbonated soft drinks, beer and whiskey will begin to appear on retail shelves in plastic bottles, according to the Plastic Bottle Division of The Society of the Plastics Industry.

Junior Editors Quiz on CHESS

QUESTION: Where did chess originate?

ANSWER: Chess is probably the oldest game. Some people claim that it originated about 5,000 years ago. The origin of chess has been identified with the Greeks, Romans, Babylonians, Egyptians, Jews, Persians, Hindus and many others. One theory is that it was first played by the Buddhists in India. It is thought that the Buddhists used the game as a substitute for war. This fits into the Buddhist philosophy which considers the killing of one's fellowmen as criminal. Most historians believe that chess probably did originate in India, spread to Persia and then to western Europe.

Chess has been called "the royal game." The name "chess" is derived from the Persian word shah, meaning king. "Checkmate" is from the Persian shahmat, meaning the "king is dead." The individual pieces consist of King, Queen, rooks and knights. The rook gets the name from the Indian word rukh and the Persian word rokh meaning a "soldier."

Chess is played throughout the world and there are international tournaments held frequently. The strategy of chess seems to appeal to men more than women.

Cumsumer Jobs Diversified

Career Corner

by Joyce Lain Kennedy

what job would you like to see explored in this column?

Dear Joyce: I'm interested in a career in consumer affairs -- consumer protection . . . training, types of positions - and where, salary ranges, etc. -- A.S., New Orleans

Energized by the consumer movement, opportunities in consumer affairs are indeed multiplying but to what degree is guesswork. Career info now available is limited.

CONSUMER AFFAIRS is a developing, mixed bag. Its terminology is not universally standardized. But, in general, consumer affairs consists of such overlapping speciality areas as: consumer economics, consumer law, consumer protection, public policy (regulatory provisions, tax policy), and consumer education - which includes family finance.

Within its framework are people with vastly differing educational levels and experience. Many are college grads (up to Ph.D.'s). Others, such as some consumer education aides in poverty areas, didn't finish high school. Some are beginners, fresh from school, while others -- such as government inspectors of retailers - may be former merchants. A number of jobs require the ability to work with people of all socio-economic spheres - from ghetto residents to business execs.

EXAMPLES OF WORKERS: administrators, lawyers, clerical workers, writers and public relations workers, personnel and financial specialists, economists, sociologists, teachers, home economics, computer operators (consumer data banks), and various scientists, engineers and technical aides (working in government, independent or manufacturer's testing labs).

EMPLOYERS of consumer affairs personnel include local, state and Federal government agencies, private industry - including manufacturers (often of appliances, textiles and automobiles), utilities, and large retail firms, trade associations, magazines, schools and colleges, and consumer action organizations.

At state levels, jobs are often in the attorney general's office, or in a consumer affairs agency (Changing Times magazine, March, 1970, listed state agencies).

Federal jobs may be found in the office of the President's Special Assistant for Consumer Affairs; Federal Trade Commission (FTC); U.S. Postal Service; HEW's Food and Drug Administration, and Office of Education; and in Departments of Commerce, HUD, Transportation and Agriculture. Consumer protection specialists (non-legal) who hold a bachelor's degree start at $8,500 in FTC regional offices; journeyman level pay is $12,600-16,400.

STARTING PAY for most employees of New York City's Dept. of Consumer Affairs ranges between $7-10,000, except for upper level admininstrators and legal personnel. Some jobs are civil service, others politically appointed. Investigators on special assignment to check out a store, industry or manufacturer - which may take 6 months - must know accounting, trade practices, economics and product quality.

COLLEGE TRAINING in this diversified field depends on your aim. Excluding consumer law for future attorneys, the most likely college program areas to look into are home economics-family finance, and business administration.

NO COMPREHENSIVE LIST of 2- and 4-year institutions has been compiled, unfortunately, so the following is far from complete. Three schools with strong consumer emphasis (degree) programs are: Cornell U. in Ithaca, N.Y., U. of Missouri, and Kansas State U. Others mentioned as offering courses or majors that would be appropriate: Michigan State, Iowa State, U. of Nebraska, U. of Tennessee, U. of North Carolina, Pennsylvania State, Indiana State and U. of Georgia.

For lack of a complete list, readers are urged to determine by individual inquiry the availability of consumer emphasis programs in other colleges and universities of their choosing.

Single-District Approval Seen

HOUSTON (AP) — Lt. Gov. Gov. Ben Barnes said Friday night he believes the Legislative Redistrict Board will approve single-member districts for Houston, even if they don't for the rest of the state, the Houston Post said.

The Post's Austin Bureau interviewed Barnes by telephone at his Brownwood home, the paper said.

"There's no reason why we can't begin by dividing Harris County into single member districts," Barnes said. "We can do that just as intelligently as we can split it into two or three or four or five different districts."

With the present make-up of the Supreme Court, Barnes said, it is doubtfull that Texas would be forced to draw a state-wide plan of single-member districts.

Barnes said nevertheless he favors such a plan, but thinks the legislature, rather than the board, should create it.

The lieutenant governor said that "almost all the people we're hearing from want single-member districts.

At present, Harris County's 19-member delegation ran at large in three House districts while other urban counties have county-wide districts. Harris County gets 23 House members under the new redistricting plan.

Barnes said he thinks that the 18-member Dallas County delegation should be broken into somewhat smaller districts.

"Eighteen just seems like an awful lot to elect at-large to me, he said.

He said he is sure Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong would back a single member plan for Harris County "and I really think (Texas Atty. Gen.) Crawford (Martin) would vote for that kind of plan too."

State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert might also be persuaded to support the idea, Barnes said, but he doubts whether House Speaker Gus Mutscher, the board's fifth member, would agree.

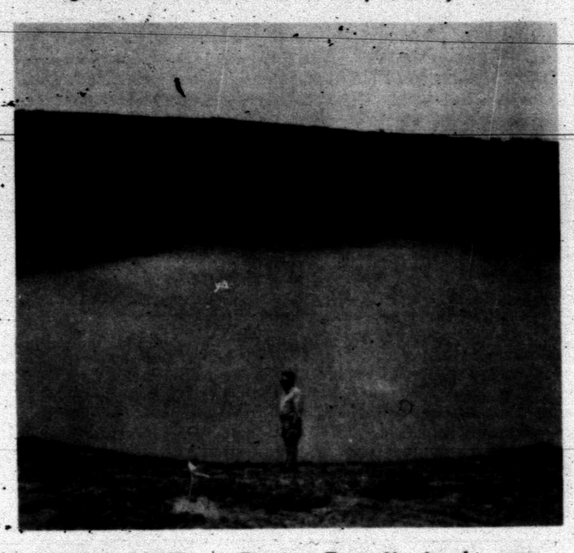

Mutscher ignored the wishes of 16 of Harris County's 19 House members when he approved multi-member districts for the county as part of the controversial House redistricting law passed by the legislature but later ruled unconstitutional.

Barnes said he hopes the board can finish the House plan by Wednesday or Thursday before its constitutional authority to act expires Oct. 31.

DRY RANCH POND — Phil Richey, SCS Range Conservationist, stands in a pond that went dry on the Sterling Williams ranch southwest of Gail, during the drouth. Pond was only 6 feet deep. It is being cleaned out and will be deepened by 19 feet.

RANCH POND — Dewey Everett stands near water surface following completion of the above pond. Pond caught 10 feet of water the day after completion. It will now have a total depth of 25 feet at spillway elevation and one acre surface. This depth along with the small surface area will help to reduce evaporation.

SCD Directors Plan State Meet

The role of conservation districts in environmental improvement is the theme of the 31st annual statewide meeting of conservation district directors to be held in McAllen on Oct. 19-21.

Walter Stirl, chairman of the board of the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District, said plans are being made to send a delegation from the local district. The annual meeting is sponsored by the Texas State Soil and Water Conservation Board.

"Our district is involved in a wide range of activities which benefit the environment," Stirl said. "Conservation measures reduce sediment, the state's biggest pollutant. Sediment fills lakes, streams, bays, and estuaries; it kills fish and ruins their spawning grounds. Treatment of land subject to wind erosion cuts blowing dust, the state's worst air pollutant. We also try to tailor out work to enhance wildlife habitat, outdoor beauty and recreation."

Stirl also pointed out that upstream watershed protection projects sponsored by conservation districts, counties and cities have vast environmental benefits. "Floods not only damage homes and other property but they also kill people, wildlife and livestock.

Conservation districts are trying to step up all environmental activities. Stirl said he hopes the discussion at the annual meeting will point upways this can be done.

Speakers during the conference in McAllen will include David Brune, general manager of the Trinity River Authority; State Representative Bill Clayton of Springlake; State Senator Murray Watson of Mart; Clyde W. Graham, state conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service; and Albert Roach of Paris, chairman of the State Soil and Water Conservation Board.

Conservation districts are local sub-divisions of state government. They utilize and coordinate assistance from the U.S. Soil Conservation Service and other local, state and federal sources. Their goal is to conserve and develop land, water, forests, wildlife and related recources for maximum benefit of all citizens.

Stirl who lives south of Hermleigh, and W.L. Wilson Jr., who lives south of Gail, plan to attend the meeting at McAllen.

Approves Statement

TORONTO (AP) — The Rt. Rev. Michael Ramsey, archbishop of Canterbury, says he approves of a statement on the doctrine of the Eucharist which is regarded as a major ecumenical breakthrough in relations between Anglicans and Roman Catholics.

The statement awaits approval by Pope Paul VI for the Catholic side, said Archbishop Ramsey, spiritual leader of the Church of England.

The statement—the substance of which was not disclosed—was submitted to the two church leaders last month by a joint commission which called it "of vital importance to Anglican-Roman Catholic relations."

Abortionee Put On Probation

DELAND, Fla. (AP) — Shirley Ann Wheeler, who faced a 20-year prison term for having an abortion, has been put on probation for two years and told to go home to North Carolina.

Felony Court Judge Uriel Blount told the 23-year-old housewife Friday that she must return to Morganton, N.C., in two weeks to live with relatives.

Mrs. Wheeler said the court order, which she described as "harsh and restrictive," will force her to leave 25-year-old Robert Wheeler, the man with whom she has been living, and under whose name she was charged.

"He can't go with me," said the longhaired strawberry blonde. "I was told I could stay in Florida if I got married, but I don't believe in marriage."

Mrs. Wheeler moved to Daytona Beach 3½ years ago after leaving her young son with relatives in Morganton.

"I will have to go back to Morganton and stay with my brother," she said. "I have to get a job and pay the state of Florida about $525 for my defense, and I'm not allowed to go out at night."

The 103-year-old Florida law under which Mrs. Wheeler was convicted in July makes it a felony to perform or have an abortion unless it is "necessary to protect the life and health of the mother," and is recommended by two doctors. The maximum sentence is the same as for manslaughter.

Public Defender James S. Rogers said Mrs. Wheeler had 30 days to decide whether to appeal the sentence.

At her trial, Mrs. Wheeler admitted she paid $150 to have an illegal abortion in Jacksonville. She said she had the abortion because a doctor in Morganton had told her a pregnancy could be dangerous because she once had rheumatic fever. She did not name the doctor and the defense said he could not be found.

As she left the courthouse after sentencing Mrs. Wheeler said she would accept an invitation by the Women's National Abortion Action Coalition and join a demonstration against abortion laws in Washington on Nov. 20.

Asked if she planned to have any more children Mrs. Wheeler said: "I will never have another child.

Rotan Sgt. Serving In Honored Unit

U. S. AIR FORCES, Thailand — Technical Sergeant Elbert K. Foster, son of Mrs. T. B. Foster of 108 S. Lakeview, Rotan, Tex., is a member of the 432nd Tactical Reconnaissance Wing at Udorn Royal Thai AFB, Thailand, that has earned the Presidential Unit Citation for a second time.

The wing was cited for its distinguished aerial action against hostile forces in Southeast Asia from Nov. 2, 1968, to Oct. 31, 1969. The award is the highest U.S. honor accorded a military organization.

The 432nd, equipped with F-4 Phantoms and C-130 Hercules aircraft, is the only wing in the USAF to have a reconnaissance, fighter and command and control mission. The unit's unarmed Phantom reconnaissance crews fly against enemy targets to obtain vital photo intelligence information. Phantom fighter-bombers pilots use the data to find and destroy the targets and Hercules Airborne Command Posts direct the reconnaissance and strike operations.

Sergeant Foster, a communications supervisor, will wear a distinctive service ribbon to mark his affiliation with the wing.

The sergeant's wife is the former Vanetta J. Baillio.

Sgt. Blake Killed In Traffic Mishap

Word was received here early Saturday that Sgt. Michael Blake of Hixon, Tenn., had been killed in a traffic accident.

Sgt. Blake, a decorated Marine who had served in Vietnam, visited here last spring and had told friends that he hoped to return to Snyder and enroll in Western Texas College, when his "hitch" in the Marines was up. LaWayne Fagan, a close personal friend of Sgt. Blake, said that he had been advised that Sgt. Blake was driving to the Chattanooga, Tenn., airport to board a plane to come here for another visit when the car crashed into a bridge abutment in a dense fog. Fagan went to Tennessee to attend the funeral service, which is due to be held Monday.

Sgt. Blake had been under treatment at LeJuene, N. C., for wounds he sustained in Vietnam.

Britain now has more than 1,000 Chinese food shops. There were only 400 in 1968.

MAN-SIZED SQUASH — Ralph J. Hiller balances a 60-pound hubbard squash on the back of his car. He purchased two of the huge squashes in Cooperstown, N. Y., while he and his wife were on a recent vacation trip. This variety of squash finds the climate too warm this far south, Hiller said, but flourishes in the northern regions.

Probation Is Revoked

Probation of Neal Rinehart was revoked Friday morning in 132nd District Court after a hearing on a charge of illegal possession of marijuana.

Rinehart originally was convicted of statuatory rape last November and received a 7-year probated term. Friday morning, however, the judge reduced the prison term to five years after ordering the revocation.

Rinehart has been released on appeal bond.

Enrollment Up

PORTALES, N.M. (AP) — The fall enrollment of 4,298 students at Eastern New Mexico University's Portales campus is the largest in the school's 27-year history, says Registrar Dr. Alfred Woodard.

Cars Derail Near Del Rio

DEL RIO, Tex. (AP) — The Department of Public Safety said that 30 cars of a 68-car Southern Pacific freight train derailed eight miles west of Del Rio late Friday.

It is the second Southern Pacific derailment in five days near here.

Tribute Paid To Graham

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — "It's too much for a country boy," said evangelist Billy Graham as he watched the "Spirit of '76" bear President and Mrs. Richard M. Nixon off from Douglas Municipal Airport, marking the close of "Billy Graham Day."

Nixon, Gov. Bob Scott and dozens of other governmental leaders had come to Charlotte Friday afternoon to honor the 52-year-old preacher who has led crusades throughout the world.

The President delayed his departure by several minutes to shake hands with newsmen and Air National Guardsmen before leaving Graham with the observation that he was not "without honor in his own country."

Nixon referred to Matthew 13:57: "A prophet is not without honor, save in his own country, and in his own house."

Graham said the occasion was the high point of his life. "It just hasn't sunk in yet," he said. "When it does, I'll give it all to the Lord. He's the one who made it possible."

The President earlier told the audience that packed the 12,000-seat Charlotte Coliseum that Graham is "the top preacher in the world" and "one of the greatest leaders of our time."

Graham, who was born on a dairy farm, just outside Charlotte on Nov. 7, 1918, began preaching to mass audiences in 1947 and has long been a friend of Nixon.

Police said 150,000 persons lined streets leading from the airport to the coliseum. Spectators were kept away from the Air National Guard hanger where the president's plane was met by Scott, Graham and his wife, Charlotte Mayor John Belk and other state and local officials.

Protesters held signs aloft and shouted at the presidential car at half a dozen points along the twisting motorcade route through downtown Charlotte.

Several hundred parents protesting busing to achieve racial integration in schools were stationed just outside the Air National Guard terminal and small groups of antiwar demonstrators waved flags and placards in the downtown area.

A larger group of antiwar demonstrators waited at the coliseum and greeted the President with an obscene chant.

Nixon frequently broke away from his Secret Service screen after his speech and at the airport to shake hands with spectators.

Texas College Enrollment Up

AUSTIN (AP) — College enrollment in Texas continues to increase in the 1970s, notwithstanding predictions four years ago, says Bevington Reed, commissioner of higher education.

Total enrollment in all colleges and universities this fall is 479,807, up from 423,366 in the fall of 1970, Reed told the College Coordinating Board Friday.

The increase in public senior colleges and universities was from 238,059 to 245,623, which was tiny compared with the jump in public community junior colleges from 123,127 to 151,366.

Private senior colleges and universities registered a gain from 66,588 to 68,509.

The only decrease was recorded by private junior colleges, down from 6,936 to 6,514.

"It's a little early to say for sure, but it may well be that the state's new tuition equalization program, which helps needy students to attend private colleges, may be exerting a salutary effect on the decline in enrollment in private colleges," Reed said.

Big IF Haunts US Shakespeare Festival

By WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Drama Writer

STRATFORD, Conn. (AP) — A big IF haunts the American Shakespeare Festival.

"If you give me a company that can stay together for three or four years," says artistic director Michael Kahn, "we can attain the quality of those heavily subsidized European theaters we're always hearing about."

Having just clicked off the best season in the organization's 17 years—$1,048,000 gross and 238,000 spectators—Kahn finds "we're still looking for an identity."

Just what that image should be is less clear to the director than what it must not be. "We're certainly not interested in becoming imitation Gielgud or Canadian Shakespeare.

"There is a distinctive vitality in American theatrical endeavor, a search for resonances that relate to the time we're living in.

"You cannot develop an ensemble, though, when you can hire actors for only six months."

The sleeper sensation of ASF's schedule was Eugene O'Neill's "Mourning Becomes Electra," which outpulled both "The Merry Wives of Windsor" and "The Tempest." It was the first play by an American author done here.

The success didn't surprise Kahn but simply fueled up his restlessness over a haunting paradox "that is true for all American repertory groups," caught between artistic ambition and financial reality.

"I believe there's a real general interest developing in the classics," he notes on the basis of three years as artistic director for ASF.

"There's a swing, audiences have an enormous desire to find plays of substance and quality. We are getting many young spectators now—a trend apparent in the past five years. I think the young have rediscovered the classics, no longer feel they are boring.

"But the theater will only grow to what people expect and want, the more chances it takes. 'Electra' was a gamble; some of the people around here thought I was crazy. But I smelt that new audience eagerness."

Kahn registers "shock and disappointment" because lack of funds precluded a post-season tour for "Electra."

Kahn, who is 33, lanky and addicted to explosive conversational handwaving, stabs the air with an extra swoop to repudiate "the belief a lot of people have that Stratford is terribly rich.

"Actually we have a built-in deficit of $350,000, and we still have $150,000 of that to raise."

The 12-week student performance schedule—"our big public service thing"—that regularly precedes the three-month open season, grossed $65,000 less than anticipated because of sudden widespread school budget cutbacks.

General audiences exceeded expectations by $75,000, but to stay within the planned deficit a winter workshop has been cancelled.

The company, however, did bring off one unpublicized and gratifying experiment during the summer.

"We didn't want to announce it until it was done," Kahn says of a new play series that was put on for 100 subscribers in a small arena tucked away behind the main theater. Coupled with it was an intense program for two student directors.

Results of the mini-festival—which ranged in content from a rock musical to a drama that is now being done in Sweden—were sufficiently good to gain sponsorship for the program next season by the Office of Advanced Drama Research.

Jefferson Was Also Accountant

AUSTIN (AP)—Thomas Jefferson—statesman, diplomat, author, scientist, architect, accountant.

Accountant? Yes, accountant, says a University of Texas accounting professor who has returned from a year at the University of Virginia where he examined Jefferson's financial records.

The results of Dr. Glenn Welsch's investigations are included in a new paper, "Thomas Jefferson: Accountant," which he co-authored with University of Virginia Associate Professor William Shenkir, and with James Bear Jr., curator at Monticello, Jefferson's home.

The article details how Jefferson kept his account books, a ledger book, the manufacturing records of his nail factory, and his fee book and miscellaneous accounts.

Welsch points out that Jefferson kept "meticulous financial records," and that possibly Jefferson's last written words were in the final entry in his account books on June 28, 1826, only six days prior to his death at age 83. The entry simply stated: "Isaacs for cheese 4.84."

Pointing particularly to Jefferson's nailrey manufacturing account which used a debit-credit model, Welsch says the account "reflects a very carefully designed job-cost system that included (1) a daily production report for each employe ... (2) a quarterly statement of profit for each employe, (3) work standards, (4) spoilage reports and (5) profit summaries."

"The financial records of Thomas Jefferson reflect several aspects of the present-day accounting model," Welsch writes, "but more perceptively they reveal a recognition of the essentiality of reliable and understandable financial data in the efficient conduct of personal, commercial and governmental endeavors. They have been a rich resource for the historian; similarly, they are of interest to accountants, not only in historical perspective, but also because they suggest again the continuing social and economic relevance of accounting."

Wodehouse Hailed On Birthday

RIVERHEAD, N.Y. (AP)

P. G. Wodehouse, hailed on his 90th birthday as the greatest humorist since Mark Twain, says, "I don't think very highly of my work."

Neighbors, friends and his cleaning woman gathered Friday night at the Henry Perkins Hotel to honor Wodehouse, who lives in the neighboring Long Island village of Remsenburg.

The latest installment in his saga of Jeeves, the imcomparable gentleman's gentleman, was published Friday under the title "Jeeves and the Tie that Binds."

Canton Fair Opens

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China's 1971 autumn trade fair opened in Canton under excellent political and economic conditions, a Peking broadcast reported today.

Several thousand trade representatives from dozens of countries and overseas Chinese from Hong Kong and Macao attended the opening ceremony Friday, Peking's official New China News Agency said.

It said the exhibits at the fair reflect "the victories" the Chinese people have won in socialist construction and that China's diplomatic relations with foreign countries are developing with each passing day.

Slogans of Communist party chief Mao Tse-tung and a song praising him featured the opening of the trade fair, Hong Kong Communist newspapers reported.

Colored ballons carrying the slogans, "Unite, Achieve Greater Victory" and "Peoples of the World Unite, Defeat the American Aggressors and all their Running Dogs" were hung outside the fair's grounds, they said.

The song "The East Is Red" was played as a welcome to thousands of Chinese and foreign visitors from 43 countries who attended the opening of the fair.

Unpolluted Rivers Pay Dividends

WELLINGTON (AP) — New Zealand's unpolluted rivers pay dividends in exports, say government officials.

They believe that the clean, fresh flavor of New Zealand eels increases overseas demand. The value of eel exports rose from $90,000 in 1967 to $500,000 last year.

Destinations included West Germany, Netherlands, Japan, United States, South Africa, Italy, Sweden and Australia.

BY INSTRUMENTS LEFT BY ASTRONAUTS

Water Found On Moon

By PAUL RECER
AP Aerospace Writer

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A Rice University scientist says water vapor has been detected in the moon's atmosphere by instruments left by Apollo astronauts.

Dr. John W. Freeman told a news conference Friday that the vapor may come from pools of water deep beneath the lunar surface and erupt in geysers which could supply water and energy for colonies on the moon.

A space agency official said the announcement was a "possibly important new discovery about the moon."

"I look at it as a very interesting observation about the moon which nobody had anticipated," said Dr. Paul Gast, chief of planetary and earth sciences at the Manned Spacecraft Center.

Freeman said the water vapor was detected by instruments left by the Apollo 12 and Apollo 14 astronauts. He said the instruments, called suprathermal ion detection experiments (SIDE), are able to sense and identify ionized gases in the near-vacuum of the moon.

On March 7, 1971, Freeman said, the instrument reported three groups of readings which indicated the presence of water vapor clouds which quickly dissipated into space. The scientist said each reading came about two hours after a seisnograph had detected a series of small quakes, which he said may have triggered a geyser.

A long analysis of the data, Freeman said, has eliminated all but natural sources for the cloud of water vapor.

Freeman's data goes against most current theories. Many geochemists have said that lunar rocks examined so far indicate the moon has been dry. They note that the presence of water change is not indicated in chemistry of rocks cooling from lava.

However, Gast said the findings are not mutually exclusive.

Gast said rocks which have been examined came from no deeper than 100 to 200 kilometers beneath the lunar surface.

"If you go deeper and deeper down," he said, "You may have more volitile material," such as water or water-bearing rock.

Moon quakes detected on the seismographs, he said, are thought to be coming from about 800 kilometers beneath the lunar surface. The water vapor, he said, could come from the same depth.

Freeman said his findings indicated "there's a good possibility of liquid water somewhere on the moon."

The Rice University scientist said this raises the possibility that one day colonies could find and use water on the moon.

Since the water escapes in the form of geysers of hot gas, he said, this could be a source of energy for men living on the moon.

Textiles Cost Hike Possible

By SPENCER DAVIS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Will Americans be paying more for their clothes as the result of the new agreements reached with Japan and other major Asian producers to hold down exports of non-cotton textiles to this country?

The White House calls that a "good question" but doesn't say "no" to possible price increases.

Members of retailers organizations and representatives of foreign textile producers are predicting a 10 to 15 per cent rise.

But a spokesman for the domestic textile industry says this prediction is "totally without foundation" and there should be no increases in price.

Peter Peterson, presidential adviser on foreign economic policy, was asked if the restraint agreements would mean that textile apparel and made-up goods as well as fibers would cost more.

He replied that it was "a good question," but added that in considering these matters there had to be a tradeoff.

He said that the restraints would result in saving the jobs of perhaps 150,000 American workers in the textile business. These jobs are concentrated in areas least able to handle the unemployment, Peterson said.

The importers, who have fought textile restraints, together with foreign producers expect a rather quick increase in the prices of apparel. They cite figures given by the retailers association earlier this year that quotas would bring a hike of 10 cents to 15 cents on the dollar.

Also it was pointed out that the popular double knits are in short supply and that buyers have been replenishing their stocks even though they had to pay the 10 per cent surcharge imposed since last Aug. 15.

Under the new agreenents the surcharge was removed from shipments as of Oct. 1.

Robert Jackson, executive vice president of the American Textile Manufacturers Institute, says textiles is a highly competitive industry and he does not expect any increases.

He said that the Wholesale Price Index, with 1967 serving a base of 100, shows all industrial commodities now stand at 113 per cent average. But the average for the manmade fibers is 101 and for the entire textile industry the average is about 103. Recent boosts in the cost of cotton have sent the price of cotton textiles up.

"We are not contributing to inflation and they have not placed price controls on our commodities because of increases," he said.

Advertises For Wife

MANILA (AP) — A. G. Gray knows the kind of woman he wants for a bride down there in New South Wales, Australia. All Manila knows too.

A two-column, three-color advertisement in the Manila Chronicle asked for a wife for Gray, who was identified as a widower and a businessman, and a mother for his 14-year-old daughter.

Applicants must be loyal, home-loving, 26 to 30 years old, fairly attractive, willing to travel, like gardening and children, said the ad.

Apollo 16 Crew 'Fly' Moonship

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Apollo 16 astronauts "flew" their moonship Friday in a test to prepare for their moon mission next spring.

Wearing their space suits, commander John Young and lunar module pilot Charles Duke climbed into the lunar module to check it out in the altitude chamber.

During the eight-hour test, the altitude chamber simulated space flight at 200,000 feet.

Friday's test was the first of a series of altitude tests for the lunar module and the Apollo space craft. Apollo 16 is scheduled for launch in March.

Given Jobs

DALLAS (AP) — Some 2,000 poor children were placed in jobs last summer despite a tight labor market in Dallas.

Ed Gonzales, director of the Summer Job Fair in Dallas, announced the figure.

Gonzales said conservative estimates of total wages paid to participating youngsters were about $800,000.

To qualify for a job, the youths had to be from families where no member earned more than $1,900 per year and other family income did not exceed $600.
