Cleveland Is Hit By Transit Strike

MURDER VICTIM—Marilyn Forston, a sophomore at Texas Wesleyan college, Fort Worth, was killed at Covington, Tex., by a 21-year-old Fort Worth man, George Clements. Clements met Miss Forston in a hardware store, pumped three shots into her body and then turned the gun on himself. Clements died from his self-inflicted wound.

CLEVELAND, Dec. 22—Strikers stalled Cleveland's city-owned buses and streetcars today, forcing thousands of commuters and last minute Christmas shoppers to resort to hitch hiking, taxis or footwork.

Less than one-fifth of the AFL transit union's 4,200 members in local 268 voted a strike just before last midnight. They want the Cleveland transit system to continue its policy of 96-hour—12 day—paid vacations.

The vote was 496 to 287 against deferring the walkout until Jan. 16. This meant complying with a midnight strike deadline.

Plea Is Ignored

In making this decision, the unionists ignored: (1) A plea by their local president, Thomas P. Meaney, to hold off until the Jan. 16 date; and (2) the Ferguson act, an Ohio law that provides heavy penalties for public employes who strike.

"Apparently," said Meany, "these men are not disturbed about that bit of legislation."

The strike of the main means of public transportation in the nation's sixth largest city—with more than 1,000,000 residents—came as such a surprise that Mayor Thomas A. Burke had to be roused from bed

Obviously angry, Burke hustled down to city hall and opened a meeting with Meaney and Harry C. Lang, local secretary. He called the strike a 'complete violation" of a promise by Meaney, Lang and the union's international representative, Robert Stack of Detroit.

Union Is Scored

This pledge, he contended, was that there would be no strike until they conferred with him again. Burke also claimed that the union should have received sanction from its parent group, the Cleveland Federation of Labor.

The CTS says its 1,600 vehicles provide more than 1,000,000 rides daily. The last time Cleveland had a public transportation strike was April 29, 1943. That one lasted 18 hours.

Libel Hearing Is Set Jan. 3

A physician's certificate that Mrs. Beulah Anne Woods was physically incapable of remaining in court caused County Judge Walter Davies to honor a defense motion for a several days continuance, in a libel action brought by the state against her.

Mrs. Woods, 42, of Albuquerque, N. M., was arrested Dec. 12 and required to post $400 bond for trial appearance on a charge that she had libeled her divorced husband, Guy N. Woods, of Memphis, Tenn., a Church of Christ traveling evangelist.

Says Reputation Affected

The complaint, filed Aug. 23 upon oath of Woods, charged that Mrs. Woods, with intent to injure him, had circulated a malicious statement affecting his reputation, to effect that a divorce she had obtained from Woods Dec. 1, 1948, was obtained on grounds of adultery.

The state, through County Attorney Waggoner Carr and L. A. Howard, special prosecutor, rested its case Wednesday afternoon, after presenting several witnesses, as well as district court records of the divorce action.

Those who testified were Clay Turner, an elder; O. C. Horne,

Easier Money, Lower Prices Are Predicted

Record Supply Of Pork, Drop In Egg Cost In The Wind

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22. — There were some signs today of a happy new year ahead for consumers — with money more plentiful, a drop expected in pork and egg prices, and the easiest installment terms since the war.

The good news for those who like ham and eggs came yesterday from the Department of Agriculture. It reported prospects of a record-breaking peacetime pork supply in 1950, along with a possible eight to ten-cent-a-dozen drop in the cost of eggs.

Borrowing Easier

The Federal Reserve board followed that up today with a report that:

1. "The tendency seems to be toward progressively easier terms for all borrowers" who are buying goods on the installment plan.

2. It expects an expanding money supply next year. This includes bank deposits (both checking and saving) and currency in circulation. It will be swelled by large public outlays by federal, state and local governments — made with the use of bank loans since tax income doesn't cover the cost.

It is probable that consumers will continue to pay the same rate of income taxes and also the cost of steel products and coal is expected to rise. However, these increases may be offset in part by the mounting congressional drive for acut in the taxes levied on so-called "luxury items."

Money Supply Off

That would bring somewhat lower telephone bills, cheaper transportation, and a saving on such other things as electric light bulbs, cosmetics, leather goods and jewelry.

The reserve board said in its monthly bulletin that installment terms already have eased considerably since government credit controls ended last June 30—most notably in the cases of new automobiles and refrigerators.

The one thing which would keep the supply of money from expanding, the board study commented, would be a "marked decline in over-all credit demands of businesses, farmers, real estate owners and consumers."

The money supply, it noted, fell off in 1949 for the third year in a row. "The total amount of currency outside banks at the end of

Young Soldier Slain By Rival

JAMESTOWN, Tenn., Dec. 22 (AP)—A 19-year-old soldier home on furlough was shot and bludgeoned to death by a rival for a young girl's love.

Chief Deputy Sheriff W. B. Richards reported that Hollis Beatty, who works on his father's nearby farm, said in a statement he shot the soldier eight times with a pistol yesterday, then struck him with an axe.

At Farm Home

Richards identified the soldier as Lillard Stephens. The slaying occurred in front of the farm home of 15-year-old Betty Choate in the Cumberland mountain foothills.

Beaty is 18. Richards said he was arrested here an hour after the slaying and was charged with murder.

The chief deputy sheriff said Stephens was visiting Betty when Beatty called him out in the yard, shot him four times in the back and four times in front with a .32 caliber automatic pistol, then struck him in the head with an axe, and fled.

Strong Earthquake Recorded In U. S.

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 22. (U.P.)—A "strong" earthquake believed to have occurred off the Mexican coast, was registered today on the John Carroll university seismograph.

Fr. Henry Birkenhauer, chief seismologist, said the recordings was made at 3:36 a. m. (CST) and was computed at about 1800 miles south of here.

This would place it either off the Mexican coast, Fr. Birkenhauer said, or in the Yucatan peninsula.

The fate of the fighter pilot was not immediately known.

First reports said the transport crew members were not injured.

Fate Of Thousands Of Japs In Doubt; Soviets Denounced

(By The Associated Press)

TOKYO, Dec. 22—General MacArthur today denounced "callous" Soviet "hypocrisy" and started a move for independent investigation of the fate of 376,000 missing Japanese war prisoners captured by the Russians.

He said he had requested Washington to begin negotiations for an investigation either by a neutral nation or the International Red Cross.

The American occupation commander issued one of his strongest attacks against the Soviets after a Russian walkout of the Allied Council for Japan yesterday. This was followed by renewed Russian charges the United States was assisting the revival of Japanese fascism.

Smokescreen Charged

The Soviet mission was under determined siege by 200 Japanese representatives of anxious relatives of missing war prisoners. They were told the Soviet answer to requests for information on further repatriation "appeared in this morning's papers." Presumably this referred to a letter charging "oppression" by the Japanese government which Lt. Gen. Kuzma Derevyanko, head of the Soviet mission, addressed to General MacArthur.

MacArthur said the letter showed "a callousness of hypocrisy I can not fail to denounce." He termed it a smokescreen to distract attention from the repatriation issue.

W. J. Sebald, head of the occupation diplomatic section, earlier had termed the letter "unadulterated twaddle."

Japanese Clamorous

The Japanese crowd around the Soviet mission became clamorous at times. Once Russian guards pushed them back when they attempted to enter the compound.

The delegation went to the embassy to keep what its leaders said was an appointment made last week with Soviet officials who promised answers to questions on repatriation. The Japanese said they represented the "Tokio chapter of the council for acceleration of the repatriation of Japanese abroad."

When the Japanese men began to shout and the women to weep, guards refused them entrance and said the Russian officials they

Former WTSC Dean Claimed At Canyon

CANYON, Dec. 22 (AP)—Dr. D. A. Shirley, 67, former dean of West Texas State college here, died this afternoon at his home here.

Dr. Shirley retired as dean of the college more than a year ago because of poor health.

He had been associated with West Texas state for 35 years — since two years after the school was founded in 1911.

Dr. Shirley was head of the physics department until the early 1920's when he was made associate dean and registrar. He was named dean in 1946 upon the death of Dr. R. P. Jarrett.

An early-day coach of the West Texas state Buffalo football team, Dr. Shirley was chairman of the faculty athletic committee from 1915 until Sept. 1, 1948.

Robot Saboteurs In An Enemy Area Considered By Scientists

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22—Military scientists are considering the possibility of planting robot electronic "saboteurs" in an enemy city to steer a guided missile to a target.

A hint of this was contained in a pamphlet issued today by the Defense department's research and development board. It is a new edition of the "Glossary of Guided Missile Terms."

The reference was tucked away in a technically-phrased discussion of "semiactive homing guidance" in which a missile seeks out a target which has been "illuminated from a source other than the missile."

Various Tactics Possible

As untangled from such complex phrasing in explanation by one expert, this means that a missile follows a radar beam from a transmitter either located in, or pointed at, a city or factory. In the case of pointing, the radar beam is aimed at the target and reflected off at an angle. The missile would "ride" the beam of this reflected radar impulse and then blast the target with an atomic or conventional warhead.

The "suitcase" transmitter to illuminate the target for the electronic eyes of the approaching missiles could be deposited by agents.

However, variations of this plan also are possible, among them the use of a "pathfinder" plane to fly high above and beyond an enemy city. A whole fleet of missiles could be headed for the target, following a radar beam sent back across the target by the pathfinder plane.

Rockets Read Stars

Scientists are making progress toward development of missiles which will reach across oceans or continents, but there has been less progress toward attaining a missile which could pin-point even a large city at those ranges. In the final phase of flight, a device to "home" the missile in to the exact target will be required.

An indication of one line of research toward means of keeping a missile on course over distances of several thousand miles was mentioned in the pamphlet's discussion of "celestial navigation" methods for guiding missiles.

Using this method, the rocket is equipped with instruments which automatically read the stars, much as a sailor navigates a ship. The electronic brain uses the position of a star to control the course of

Boy Will Take Over Animal Act Despite Mother's Death

(By The Associated Press)

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif., Dec. 22—True to circus tradition, an 18-year-old boy who endangered his own life in a futile attempt to save his mother from death in the jaws of a lion will take over her animal act.

"Mother was training the act for me and I know she would want me to go through with it now that she's gone," explained grief-stricken Michael Kovar.

Mrs. May Kovar Schafer, 42, widely known animal trainer, was "breaking" a powerful and newly-acquired lion named Sultan, when the beast sprang at her and bit her in the neck, severing the spine.

Michael and his sister, May, 14, rushed into the cage and tried to beat the enraged animal off with clubs. But the lion ignored them.

OPERATION CLOAKED IN SECRECY

Frankford Arsenal Fire Extinguished

(By The Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 22—Fifty firemen were sickened today as they struggled through smoke and acrid fumes to extinguish a fire in a compartmented experimental building at the Frankford arsenal.

A cloak of secrecy was thrown around the windowless, three-story structure by arsenal guards and Federal Bureau of Investigation agents.

City firemen were summoned shortly before midnight to aid the arsenal's own firefighters. Four hours later, authorities said the blaze was extinguished and the building cleared of fumes.

No details of the cause or damage were given, however.

Firemen were hampered in their efforts by the fact the building interior consists of a number of vault-like compartments, at least some of which are lined with heavy armor plating.

Workers using air hammers drilled several holes in the concrete roof of the building to release smoke and fumes.

The firemen, despite the use of gas masks, were able to remain in the structure for only a matter of minutes at a time. Many became ill as they emerged for air.

Fire officials blamed this partly on a dense fog that covered the area at the time, retaining much of the potency of the fumes escaping from the building.

Treated At Infirmary

All the victims were treated at the scene or at the arsenal infirmary.

Arsenal officials said there was some ammunition stored in the building, but declined to state the amount or type. Nor would any spokesman say what sort of experiments are carried on there.

The Frankford arsenal is a sprawling government establishment in the northeastern section of Philadelphia and consists of a number of buildings used in the manufacture and testing of ammunition.

Gasoline-Fed Fire Results In Tragedy

Mother, Four Children Burn To Death As Home Destroyed

(By The United Press)

HOUSTON, Dec. 22—A negro mother and four children burned to death early today when a gasoline-fed fire destroyed their flimsy tenant home in the Fairbanks community near here.

Dead are Claudie Holcomb, 44, Lillie May, 10, Flordine, 9, Louise, 5 and Willie Lee, 2.

They were trapped in the kitchen when a can of kerosene exploded, firemen said. Their bodies were burned almost beyond recognition. Three other children suffered severe burns and were rushed to a hospital here.

L. L. Holcomb, 18, eldest son in the family of nine children, was outside the frame house when the blast occurred. He burned his hands and cut his face when he tried to enter the kitchen to rescue the victims, according to E. P. O'Rourke of the Spring Branch fire department.

Hospitalized were Dollie Lee, 13, Ivy, 17 and Lucille, 6. A 15-year-old boy, Dan, ran

Miss Emma Gunter Injured In Crash

Miss Emma Gunter, 52, of 2107 Twenty-sixth, a clerk of the Veterans administration, was injured in a two-car collision about 7:43 a. m. today at Twenty-sixth and Ave. Q.

At West Texas hospital, where she was treated for deep scalp cuts and a dislocated left shoulder, her condition late this morning was considered satisfactory.

R. O. Christesson, radio patrolman, said Ben F. Kelly, 31, of 603 East University was driver of the other car. He said Miss Gunter drove her light coupe eastward off Twenty-sixth and in front of a light sedan driven southward on Ave. Q by Kelly.

No charges had been filed, police said.

No one was injured and the snow blanket prevented fire. Pipeline workers were rushed to the scene to cut valves and repair crews are enroute from Kansas City.

Heavy Fall Of Freezing Rain Hits Midwest

Power Lines Cut; Highways Glazed; Five Dead Counted

(By The United Press)

CHICAGO, Dec. 22.—A severe ice storm left scores of midwestern towns isolated from the outside world today as the nation counted at least five deaths within 24 hours due to the siege of bad weather.

A heavy fall of freezing rain spread a 1½ inch layer of glaze ice over wide portions of the Mississippi valley.

Some villages were left completely without communications as the ice broke telephone and telegraph lines. Highways in the central Missouri area were dangerous. Even railroads were slowed as the ice disrupted their signal and telegraph systems.

Mild In East

A vast network of amateur radio operators swung into action, working voluntarily through the night to transmit official communications for police, railroads and news services.

The glaze storm struck heaviest in the area extending from Sedalia, Mo., to Quincy, Ill., but extended northeastward across Illinois and Indiana into southern Wisconsin and parts of lower Michigan.

The eastern portion of the country was still enjoying springlike weather which sent the mercury into the 50's at New York and set a new high of 69 for Dec. 21 at Louisville, Ky. But forecasters said the good weather would pass quickly as the midwestern storm moved eastward.

Blizzards that were predicted for Kansas and Nebraska failed to develop, however, although some sections of Kansas were blanketed under six inches of snow.

Power Lines Snaps

Residents of Sedalia and Quincy and the area between those two cities resorted to candles, flashlights and lanterns as power lines snapped under the weight of thousands of tons of ice.

Sedalia police said the "icing conditions are the worst in the history of this city." The report was given over the state highway patrol's radio. The power was so weak that Kansas City listeners could barely hear it.

Numerous trees crashed to the ground at Hannibal but utility workers were winning a fight to restore electricity to most sec-

17-Degree Low Recorded Here

Lubbock awoke to 17-degree cold this morning, and today's clear, cold weather presaged a gradual warm-up for the South Plains area.

Another low minimum—probably 20 degrees—is forecast for tonight by Jack Pales, observer at the Weather bureau station at Municipal airport following an afternoon maximum expected to be no higher than the middle 40's.

Starts Slow Climb

The Lubbock weather hit 17 degrees at 7:30 a. m. before starting a slow climb.

At 1:30 p. m. the mercury stood steady at 35 as scatered clouds moved in on the area. It appeared early this afternoon that the day's maximum would be 42 degrees.

Meanwhile, the weather map showed little prospect of further northers for the area. A cold front far to the north of Lubbock lowered temperatures in Montana and the Dakotas, but was expected to proceed eastward without effect on north Texas.

Reports Are Given

Reports from the weather station showed that Billings, Mont., out of the path of the bitter front, "basked" in a relatively warm 16 degrees while Havre, Mont., just north of Billings, had a reading of minus 5 early today. Similarly, Rapid City, S. D., had an 11-degree minimum just out of the path of the front while Bismarck, N. D., in

MEN GAIN ENDS BY SEX STRIKES

Fantastic Tales Of Life On Mars Told By Fiction Writer

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK — Want to know what life is like on the planet Mars?

Well, it's a place where:

The women rule, but husbands sometimes win their way by going on a sex strike.

The inhabitants live 3,000 to 5,000 years, and one wife just got her 129th divorce.

The population is limited to two billion scientifically bred Martians, and the ladies must await their turn to have children. A famous Martian actress recently gave birth to her first child at the age of 2,500 years.

All In Fun

There has been no crime for 950 million years. Water is the most precious commodity, and the last criminal was a man who violated the planet rules against taking more than one bath in a month. His punishment: He was disintegrated.

This picture of life on Mars is given in a tabloid Christmas magazine issued every year—all in fun—by Dr. Hugo Gernsback, publisher of Science Fiction.

The 1949 edition, called "Quip", chronicles the advantures of a mythical explorer named Grego Banshuck, who landed on Mars last October in a space trip.

You don't have to believe in explorer Banshuck anymore than you believe in Santa Claus, but it's some world he says he found on Mars.

The people there are 10 feet tall. Because of the low gravity and thin air of the red planet, they have big flat webbed feet, thin and fragile arms and legs, a barrel chest and a huge head.

Sometimes the Martian male rebels against being lady-bossed.

"The males go on strike en masse—millions of them refuse to make love to their wives," reported Banshuck.

"The last 'sex strike' 14 years ago, involving over 2,500,000 males, lasted five-and-one-half years. The males won!"

"Prince" Arrested For Full Probe By Mexican Officials

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 22. (U.P.)—Immigration officials jailed "Prince' Otto Wilhelm Hohenzollern today and ordered the 26-year-old "pretender" to the German throne held for full investigation.

Officials indicated the handsome self-styled blueblood, who claims he is the youngest son of the late Kaiser Wilhelm II, might be deported. He was charged with entering Mexico from the United States "without legal documentation."

"Prince" Picked Up

The "Prince" was picked up yesterday afternoon at his room in the swank Hotel Geneve where he and his American bride, Virginia Kirk, 36, wealthy New Orleans socialite, have stayed. The couple moved in on Mexican high society last month after American newspapers published "exposes" identifying the "aristocrat" as an ex-actor named Rico David Tancous, under federal indictment in Washington for the theft of $4,000 worth of paintings from the home of former Undersecetary of State Sumner Welles.

The "prince" haughtily denied any connection with the Washington robbery but indicated he would steer clear of the United States after the U. S. Justice department said it would arrest him if he returned.

Rumors Are Denied

His buxom blonde wife, denying divorce rumors, said she would stick by her young husband and made plans to move into a swanky suburban Mexico City home.

Accompanied by her mother, she made immediate appeals to free Otto after his arrest, but interior ministry officials refused to release him pending the immigration investigation.

Otto reportedly was arrested because he entered Mexico on a U. S. tourist card, thus violating Mexican imigration laws because he is not an American citizen. He had claimed his regal status was authenticated by "royal and diplomatic passports."

Services For Slaton Man Scheduled Today

SLATON, Dec. 22 (Special) — Funeral services for Morris W. Ward, 31, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest H. Ward, pioneer Slaton residents, were to be conducted at 2 p. m. today in Slaton's First Baptist church.

Ward died at 10:40 a.m. Tuesday at the home of his parents. He had been ill a long time.

He formerly had lived in Lubbock and worked for Morrison Supply company and Western Windmill company.

Survivors, other than the parents, include his wife and three children, Mickye Lou, 11, Gary Franklin, 7, and Nita Sue, 5; two brothers, Ernest, jr., of Lubbock and Joe Loyd, Las Vegas, N. M.; two sisters, Mrs. Lowell Merrell, Oklahoma City, and Mrs. Lindol Beard, Slaton.

Rev. J. T. Bolding of Slaton was to officiate at funeral services. Williams Funeral home was to direct burial in Englewood cemetery.

Services Planned At RAFB Christmas Eve

The citizens of Lubbock were extended an invitation to attend Christmas Eve services at the base chapel at Reese Air Force base Saturday night, base officials said Wednesday night.

Protestant Christmas Eve services will be held at 11 p. m. and will be conducted by Chaplain James M. Becker and Chaplain Jared A. Walker.

1,500 Children Turn Out For School's Christmas Party

More than 1,500 children gathered in the gymnasium of Dunbar school Wednesday afternoon for a tumultuous and cheer-filled Christmas party.

The party was arranged and sponsored by Melvin Steen, owner of four grocery stores in the flats, who each year contributes his time and money to brighten the Christmas for youngsters of that section.

This year he was aided by numerous white persons and businesses who filled the gymnasium with crates of oranges, nuts, candies and other foodstuffs, toys and useful items.

School Children Turn Tables On Their Teacher

The tables were turned on both teacher and mothers at a party given by first graders taught by Mrs. J. T. Shaver, at Central Ward school Wednesday afternoon.

The first graders presented their teacher with gifts of trucks, blocks, a train, tea set, two dolls, dish pan, stove, box of candy and a broom.

To Keep At School

Mrs. Shaver explained that she will keep the "dream toys" at school so that she and the children may enjoy them for the rest of the school year.

The first graders turned the tables on their mothers by preparing and serving refreshments. Their mothers were guests.

The children had prepared the fruit cake, which was an ice box cake and which received numerous compliments.

They had learned their number work as they made the fruit cake by cutting the ingredients into specified numbers of parts.

Recipe Given

Two boxes graham crackers.
Two bottles of cherries
Two lbs. of marshmallows
One cup of nuts.
Two lbs. of dates

Roll the crackers. Cut cherries into three parts. Cut marshmallows and nut halves into four parts. Stir all ingredients together and mold in pan, storing in refrigerator.

Slice to serve.

Pupil Presides

They also served fruit punch at the party. Each child had taken one orange and one lemon to school for the punch.

Lois Marie Garren presided at the punch bowl as children and mothers received refreshments.

Funds for the fruit cake were made at a room rummage sale and Hallowe'en party during the fall. Early in December, a committee started asking Mrs. Shaver what she wanted Santa Claus to bring her for Christmas.

As she named the toys she would like, the children made purchases with help of their mothers.

At the party, Mrs. Harvey Dunn played the part of Santa Claus.

Room parties were held in all elementary schools in Lubbock Wednesday afternoon during the final one and one-half hours of the last school day before Christmas holidays.

All schools of the city closed Wednesday except Carroll Thompson Junior High school, where holidays will open at close of classes today.

Lubbock Girl Is Member Of Choir

Miss Francis Dalmasso, who has arrived in Lubbock to spend Christmas with her parents, has appeared in numerous concert and opera engagements at North Texas State college and on tour with groups from that college.

Miss Dalmasso is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Dalmasso of 2410 Twentieth.

From Nov. 28 through Dec. 12, she was a soloist with the A Cappella choir of the college during a tour in South Texas. Highlighting the concert series was an appearance at Houston before the Southwestern Association of Colleges and Universities.

The choir recently has given three performances of "The Messiah," one of which was at Sherman, one over WFAA radio station and one in Denton. Miss Dalmasso was soloist.

This is her first year with the A Cappella choir. She formerly studied with Mrs. Myrtle Dunn Short in Lubbock, then with Sarah Talty in Dallas and now is being taught by Mary McCormick, former opera star who now is an instructor at North Texas State college.

In addition to appearances with the choir, Miss Dalmasso has been a member of the opera class which presented "Carmen" and "The Abduction from the Serillo" at the college and on tour. She is to sing one of the leads in "Calaviera Rusticana" soon and in March will go on tour with an NTSC group presenting "Romeo and Juliet," in which she will sing the part of Gertrude.

In Lubbock, she has been a soloist for the Christian Science church and has sung with St. Paul's Episcopal church choir, with which she will appear at a midnight service Christmas Eve, and with the First Baptist church choir.

ST. NICK'S LADDER CAKE . . . Old-fashioned Yule treat.

From Cooks To Books

BY CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Right around this time of year a lot of people remember the wonderful fragrance of yeast-baked products that came, during the holidays, from the kitchens of their childhood. If you want to duplicate one of those old-time Christmas coffee cakes try this:

ST. NICK'S LADDER CAKE

Ingredients: 1 package yeast (compressed or dry), ¼ cup lukewarm water, ½ cup milk, ¾ cup sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons shortening, 1 egg, ½ teaspoon grated lemon rind, 2½ cups enriched flour (about), melted butter (for brushing), ½ teaspoon cinnamon. Topping: Confectioners sugar icing, chopped citron. Method: Soften yeast in lukewarm water. Scald milk. Add ¼ cup of the sugar and the salt and shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Add flour to make a thick batter. Mix well. Add softened yeast and egg; beat well. Add enough more flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead until smooth and satiny. Place in greased bowl. Cover and let rise in warm place until doubled (about 1½ hours). When light punch down and let rest 10 minutes. Roll out to sheet 8 by 12 to 14 inches. Brush with melted butter. Sprinkle with remaining ½ cup sugar and the cinnamon over two-thirds of dough at one end. Fold the unfilled portion over half the filled portion. Fold the remaining third over the other dough. Fasten securely at edges. Slash almost to bottom at one-inch intervals across top of dough and lay each piece slightly on its side. Let rise until doubled. Bake in a moderate (375 F.) oven for 25 to 40 minutes. When cool brush with confectioners' icing and garnish with chopped citron.

Right now, too, a lot of people have asked me to recommend cookbooks that can be used for Christmas gifts. For a new bride who needs an all-around cooking guide I can suggest nothing better than the new "Good Housekeeping Cook Book" (Rinehart, New York). It has everything — including many delightful step-by-step recipes for basic dishes.

Then there's the new and superb "Brown Derby Cookbook" (Doubleday, New York). This book was prepared in a way I like to see — the recipes came from the famous Brown Derby restaurant chefs, and a noted home economics expert, Mrs. Marporie Child Husted, saw to their checking and testing for home use. As Mrs. Husted says, "This is a 'de luxe' cookbook . . . there is no compromise with quality, nor with cost, effort, amount of ingredients . . . . . or calories."

"A Jug of Wine" (Farrar Straus, New York), is by Morrison Wood—gourmet, author, and radio expert—and he certainly has an original touch with food. His running commentary on food, cooking and life in general is a lot of fun.

Candle Lore Is Discussed

The Christmas program given for Nancy Anderson chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. J. B. Logan, 2803 Twenty-first, was on candle lore. Mrs. Winston Brummett spoke on the use of Christmas candles and read a poem, "Candles at Christmas." Recorded musical selections were presented by Mrs. F. A. McLain.

Hostesses with Mrs. Logan were Mrs. Robert W. Wright and Mrs. M. B. Hilburn. Mrs. Robert J. Allen, regent, introduced two new members, Mrs. George Wilson and Mrs. J. H. Hankins.

Betty Jane Fortenberry Is Bride Of Edward S. Smith

The wedding ceremony of Miss Betty Jane Fortenberry and Edward Simmons Smith, jr., was performed at First Christian church Tuesday at 7:30 o'clock in the evening. Rev. John S. Rankin read a double ring service before large floorstands of white mums, gladiola and calla lilies against a candlelighted background of woodwardia fern and an archway of greenery and white satin bows.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Wayne Kelly, organist, played traditional wedding music and accompanied Mrs. B. M. Hays of Post as she sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because." "Clair de Lune" was played during the wedding and "The Lord's Prayer" was offered as a musical benediction.

Bridal Aisle Lighted

The wedding party marched down an aisle lighted with white tapers and marked with white satin ribbon bows. Mr. Fortenberry gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a gown of ivory slipper satin, fashioned with a yoke of bridal illusion adorned with seed pearls and outlined with a satin bertha. The long fitted sleeves extended into points over the hands, and the fitted basque came to a point in the back where it was joined to a full skirt which swept into a long train. Her fingertip veil of bridal illusion fell from a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with a bridal bouquet of white roses, carnations and a white orchid.

Miss Imogene Fortenberry, who attended her sister as maid of honor, wore a gown of blue satin and net fashioned after the bride's. Her headdress was a halo of blue net and her bouquet was of pink carnations, tied with pink and white ribbon. The bridesmaids, Miss Mary Jo Smith of Lorenzo sister of the bridegroom, Misses Bobbie Young, Johnnie Sue Corcorran and Betty Jo Corcorran of Lubbock, and Miss Charlotte McDaniels of Dumas, wore gowns made similarly to the maid of honor's. Miss Smith wore pink and carried blue carnations; Miss Young wore green with pink carnations; Miss Johnnie Sue Corcorran was dressed in orchid and carried pink flowers; Miss Betty Jo Corcorran was gowned in pink and had a blue carnation bouquet and Miss McDaniels wore yellow with orchid carnations. They wore matching net headdresses.

Attendants In Satin

Tony Pearson of Lorenzo was bearer and Bryan Teal of New Deal was trainbearer. The two children wore ivory satin suits.

Ronald Smith of Lorenzo served as best man, and Bill Miller, James Bowen, Ted Powell, Bob Bowers and Joe Fortenberry, brother of the bride, were ushers.

A reception honoring the couple was held following the ceremony in Yaqui room of Hilton hotel. The bride's table, laid with a white linen cloth, was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake decorated with swans, lilies of the valley, and pink and yellow mallow roses. Chrystal appointments, bouquets of the bridesmaids, and tapers completed the decor. Parents of the bride and bridegroom and members of the wedding party assisted with hospitalities.

Mrs. Smith is a junior student at Texas Technological college and Mr. Smith is a graduate of Tech where he was a member of Los Camaradas social club and Delta Sigma Pi. He is associated with Continental Oil company in Lorenzo where the couple will live after Jan. 1.

Wedding guests were from Lubbock, New Deal, Lorenzo, Post, Dimmitt, Estelline, Vernon, Ralls, Pampa, Brownfield, Plainview, Littlefield, Levelland and Roswell, N. M.

FOREIGN POLICY DEBATE SIGNALED

Decisions On China, Israel Under Attack By Republicans

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22. (AP)—Senator Ives (R-NY) said today the best sign the bipartisan foreign policy is effective lies "in the mess the administration has made in handling affairs where it doesn't apply."

In an interview, Ives criticized the administration's decisions on Nationalist China and some of its actions with regard to Israel.

Both, he said, are outside the scope of the bipartisan foreign policy which Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) defined yesterday as "a mutual effort under our indispensable two-party system to unite our official voice at the water's edge."

Vandenberg said he expects to continue support of the policy in the next session of Congress. He added that every impending decision must be "totally debated" in Congress before it becomes final.

Chinese Reds Cited

Ives said he has no doubt that party colleagues will take advantage of this opening to make some vigorous attacks on this government's failure to keep the Nationalists in power in China.

He said the continuing dissension involving Israel also merited attention.

Vandenberg apparently foresaw something of the sort in laying down the conditions under which he might support recognition of the Chinese Communist government.

The Michigan senator said that government would have to demonstrate that it controls all of China and would have to show—in some way he didn't specify—that it will observe international law. He said that applied to treatment of diplomats.

Spanish Policy Attacked

Vandenberg's assertion that the Chinese Communists don't now meet those requirements left Senator Knowland (R-Calif) and other critics of the administration's China policies free to tee off.

Similarly, Vandenberg's observation that he always has favored full diplomatic recognition of Spain may spur many of his GOP colleagues to renew demands in this direction.

The administration has been under heavy fire from some Democratic lawmakers, particularly from the cotton-growing south, to take steps which will make it easier for Americans to sell their wares in Spain. But thus far the Export-Import bank has rejected Franco's overtures for a loan.

GOP Aims Generalities

While Vandenberg was fairly specific on foreign issues, he lapsed into generalities when he stated an objective for the Republican party:

"To restore the American system to safe foundations before it is too late and to gear dependable progress with national solvency and individual freedom."

This smacked of recent Republican attacks on the "hand-out" state which Senator Taft (R-Ohio) says the administration wants to bring to America. It fitted the groove of Republican demands that the government stay within its income.

Vandenberg himself remarked that current Republican efforts aimed at producing a statement of party policy for the 1950 campaign are likely to wind up with a platform in general terms.

AT HOME HERE—Mrs. Calvin C. Fortenberry, above, and Mr. Fortenberry returned Wednesday night from a wedding trip to various points in Texas and New Mexico to make their home here. The bride was Miss Vivian O. Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Smith of 2614 Edna, before her marriage Thursday, Dec. 15, at the home of the officiating minister, Rev. Scott F Mitchell, 109 North Madison. Mr. Fortenberry is a son of Mrs. T. B. Fortenberry of Rt. 6. Mrs. Fortenberry, a graduate of Lubbock High school and a former student at Draughons Business college, is employed in the office at Levines, and Mr. Fortenberry is a carpenter.

Air Base To Be Host To Group Of Orphans

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 22 (AP).—Plans for "operation orphan" have been worked out and Christmas day 289 orphan boys and girls from various San Antonio charitable organizations will visit and be guests of Lackland air force base here Christmas day.

Major Gen. C. W. Lawrence, commander, said each unit at the base will entertain groups of children. He said that in addition to the traditional turkey dinner with all the trimmings the youngsters will be taken on a tour of the base, service clubs and theaters.

Cure Sought For Pessimism Of Wife Who Is Depressed; It's Their Second Marriage

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My wife Edna is 26 and I am 34. We have been married four years, have a child two years old, and as this is second marriage for both of us, we have three other children also.

Edna has a daughter aged 10 by her former marriage and I have two daughters, ages 14 and 6, by my first marriage. When Edna and I first met, each of us was still living with our former mates. As I say, we've been married four years now.

My first wife died in an accident two years ago and since then my older girls have been living with us. They inherited from their mother a house with a small debt against it, and as we were living in an apartment, where there wasn't enough room for the enlarged family, I had to borrow money to pay off the debt so we could move into the house.

MAN'S WORKED ONLY HALFTIME THIS YEAR

DURING the past year I have worked only about six months and it has been rather hard going to meet our debts. However, the real problem is that my wife has become depressed and has made two attempts to leave me. She is a very attractive woman and has a fear of getting old before her time.

She thinks the cause of her fear is the fact that there is too much work involved in taking care of four children, and she takes it exceptionally hard as two of them are not her own. She seems to think my two daughters resent her as a stepmother. The girls were problems when they first came to live with us, and we are having a hard time adjusting them to their new way of home life.

There are times when Edna treats me indifferently and at such times she will admit she isn't happy. I would much appreciate any advice on how to correct our situation.

(Signed) E. P.

BEWILDERED PAIR NEEDS DEEP HELP

DEAR E. P.: The chief remedy for a bad situation in human relations is for each party concerned to start with himself, to improve his mental attitudes and the quality of his behavior.

Already you have made such a start here, in asking for guidance, which indicates an open mind and a willingness to correct mistakes; and it seems to me that both you and Edna are much in need of education for living, thus I hope her mind is open to help also.

Since Edna's older child is 10 years of age, and Edna herself only 26, presumably she married at the age of 15 years ar less, when hardly any older than your elder daughter is now,—thus you can see that she didn't allow herself much time for girlhood; that she undertook the burdens of marriage and motherhood when hardly more than a child herself. And I think this has a lot to do with her depression nowadays, and her moody struggles to leave you at times.

FACE "WHAT IS"; RUINOUS TO RUN

ALSO I think she broke away from her first marriage (in an attempt to escape approximately the same fears that weigh on her now—although of course her former husband may have been a no-account, say a loafer, a spendthrift, unfaithful, etc. In any case, whatever his faults or virtues, she felt that in quitting him to team up with you, she was putting all her worries behind her,—but here they are, all back again, and multiplied a thousandfold.

That's what usually happens when people try to run away from unhappinesss—it runs along with them, inside and outside, seeming to gather proportions like a snowball rolling downhill. There is a direct productive relationship between one's innermost feelings and the nature of one's unfolding experiences. Holy Scripture explains it by saying, "As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he."

For advice: 1. Edna must recognize that deserting you isn't the solution of her misery. 2. However, you must understand that she is emotionally ill, and physically taxed beyond her strength just now, by endless household drudgery in an atmosphere of money-worries and hostile dealings with your daughters. 3. The only way out of your troubles is "up," by means of cooperative growth, and I urge you to go together, in mutual sympathy ,to the Family Service Society in your city for psychological help in getting your bearings.

HOUSTON, Dec. 22 (AP)—Goldilocks, whose storied antics with the three bears always delight children, had nothing on Mrs. Alma Beach.

Mrs. Beach walked into her home and found somebody had cooked a meal and then taken a nap in her bed. The dirty dishes were left in the sink, and the bed was unmade.

"Little Girl," 25, Only Wants Good Husband For Christmas

BRISTOW, Okla., Dec. 22, (U.P.)—"Dear Santa: I am a big girl 25 years old. I am 5 feet, six inches tall, weigh 128 pounds and have reddish blond hair and grey eyes. For Christmas please bring me a husband."

If Betty Tyler, who lives near here, were to write a Santa Claus letter, that's about how it would read.

Betty has a two-year-old son, Eddie Allen, and she doesn't quibble.

Cupid Threw Curve

Cupid threw her a curve on their first encounter. Just before her baby was born, she discovered her husband had been married before and had neglected to get a divorce from his first wife. She left him.

"Maybe I should be embarassed coming right out and saying I'm looking for a husband," she said. "But I'm not. I'm hoping that I can get a lot of applications because then I can be a little chooosier."

She said she isn't looking for just any man. "I'm just as particular as the next woman and the man I want must measure up to a high standard," she said.

Will Go Anywhere

"I want a home of my own where I can be at least a partner. In return I'm willing to work hard to make a husband happy and to keep a good house for him.

"I'm willing to go anywhere to live. All I'm interested in is finding a man who's sober and industrious and who doesn't gamble. And he must be a good father to Eddie Allen."

She said she wouldn't consider anyone under 25 or over 45. She'd also prefer a man who hasn't been married, but widowers aren't out of the running.

Eddie Allen also has a request for Christmas. No, it isn't a daddy.

President Not Planning Holiday Amnesty For Conscientious Objectors In Country

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22. (U.P.)—President Truman apparently has no plans to pass out special Christmas pardons this year to wartime conscientious objectors or any other federal prisoners.

Mr. Truman has been under heavy pressure to release the objectors but Justice department officials said no yuletide amnesty for anyone is likely. The President normally confers with department officials before handing out such pardons.

Against Public Interest

The central committee for conscientious objectors is carrying on a campaign for wholesale amnesty for objectors who were jailed as violators of the Selective Service law.

But administration spokesmen said it would be against the public interest to issue pardons while other men still are subject to the draft.

Some 6,500 persons, many of them objectors, were convicted as violators of the present draft law. Of these, 1,230 went to prison and the remainder to work camps.

All but 10 have been released and nine of those still jailed will complete their terms in the next few weeks. The other must serve longer for an unsuccessful escape attempt.

Two years ago Mr. Truman granted individual pardons to 1,523 violators, most of whom were Quaker ministers. But last year the President let Christmas go by without granting any.

A big majority of World War I draft law violators had to wait until 1933 before receiving amnesty. Mass pardons were granted then by the late Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Tot Carried Away By Yuletide Spirit

HARLINGEN, Dec. 22 (U.P.)—The spirit of Christmas carried away 3-year-old Tommy Russell.

The tot, impressed by the bright packages under the yule tree at his home, began playing Santa Claus. To each of several neighborhood small fry in for a visit, Tommy handed out one or more packages.

His mother, Mrs. George Russell, came out of a back room just in time to see the last presents—a shirt she had wrapped for her husband—disappear through the front door in the clutch of a little guy who lived up the street.

Mrs. Russell spent the rest of the day retrieving the family's gifts.

HST Says U. S. Must Be Alert

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22. (AP)—President Truman says this country must stand ready in self-defense so long as some in the world respond to our hand of friendship with a mailed fist.

Speaking at an Arlington cemetery yesterday afternoon, Mr. Truman pictured the world as deeply divided between free and captive peoples.

"There is no appeal to the brotherhood of men who live in daily fear of the concentration camp. Until the captive peoples of the world emerge from darkness, they cannot see the hand we hold out in friendship.

Russians, Poles Absent

"While they are made to respond to our handclasp with a mailed fist, we have no choice but to stand ready in self-defense."

Mr. Truman accepted for the government an electric carillon given by the American Veterans of World War II as a memorial to the dead of that conflict.

Many foreign diplomats, members of the cabinet, the Supreme Court and high Army, Navy and Air Force officials attended the solemn ceremony.

But the ambassadors of Russia and Poland failed to show up. Amvets said the Russian embassy declined an invitation without explanation. The Polish embassy said Ambassador Jozef Winiewicz was "detained at the last minute." The Czechoslovakian embassy said it didn't know whether Ambassador Vladimir Outrata went, and that it could not check for an answer.

But the Yugoslavian ambassador, Sava N. Kosanovic was present. Yugoslavia no longer looks to the Russian embassy for guidance as to what events should or should not be attended.

Mr. Truman, departing from his prepared speech, referred to the carillon as "a most sensible memorial, in my opinion."

He called American democracy "an expression of faith in the spirit of man," and said "it is a declaration of faith in man as created by God."

"If man could achieve self government and kinship with his God throughout the world, peace would not tremble in the constant dread of war," Mr. Truman said.

"All men are sick of blood-letting and hunger, and weary of the troubles suffered for so many years. If we could mobilize world opinion among all men who walk the earth, there would never be another war."

Abilene Eagles Shade Westerners, 43-41

Walter Norton Paces Lubbock

Lubbock's Westerners had victory in their grasp Wednesday night at Chapman fieldhouse, but Abilene's Eagles came roaring from behind in the last quarter to take the Class AA non-district battle 43-41, and send 300 partisan fans home unhappy.

The two teams battled the first half to an 18-18 deadlock, and Lubbock found the range in the third quarter to go ahead, 32-27, at the end of the period. But the tide turned in the first half of a wid fourth quarter, and fresh Abilene substitutes finished the Lubbock downfall by quickly assuming the lead and then holding it.

The loss was the second for Lubbock, Borger turning the trick the previous Wednesday in Borger, against nine victories in games thus far. Abilene made good for its fifth win.

Close All The Way

The game was close all the way, with the lead changing hands six times in the first half and three times in the final half. The count was knotted eight times during the game.

The non-district tilt was marked by frequent and inaccurate shooting on the part of the Lubbock team, which had trouble penetrating the stout Abilene defense for close shots, shooting from far out in the main.

Lubbock's defense proved vulnerable in the early stages of the game, and Eagle players were able to break under the net for lay-up shots.

Ingraham Leads Eagles

Center Walter Norton paced the Westerner five in scoring, bagging 13 points with nice backboard work and a fine jump and whirl shot. Forward Jimmy Sexton was runnerup with eight points, and hustling Tom Cheatham had seven

For Abilene, long-shooting Hub Ingraham made 10 points, and Jack Stuard made nine—all in the last quarter. Stuard's shooting spelled the difference in the final stanza when he sank three field goals and three free throws. He sparked the Abilene defense also, using his height to advantage.

Abilene fielded a tall, well-built team which started out strong, jumping into a lead which was not equaled until midway of the second quarter when Lubbock went ahead, 14-13, on a Norton field goal.

Lead Changes Hands

Both teams held the lead in the final two minutes of the half, and another Norton jump shot evened the score at 18-18 shortly before halftime.

Lubbock went ahead briefly in the third period, but a lay-up shot by Glenn Darling brought the Eagles abreast of the Westerners, 20-20.

Then the Westerners got hot with Norton, Sexton and Cheatham hitting to send the count to 32-27 at the end of the third period.

The fourth quarter was a different story.

Big Ingraham sank a free throw and Vol Montgomery put a lay-up shot through the hoop to bring the Eagles within two points of Lubbock.

Stuard Waxes Warm

Then Stuard took over, evening the count at 32-32, and putting Abilene ahead, 34-33, following a free throw by Lubbock's Jim Wilson.

Stuard stretched the Abilene margin to 35-33, but Cheatham hit a long shot to deadlock the score again, the last time that Lubbock was to share the lead although the Westerners came close after trailing, 41-35.

Wilson hit two more free throws and Cheatham and Bill Williams sank baskets, Williams' coming on a 20-foot set shot from side court, making the score, 40-41, with 45 seconds left.

Cheatham was fouled but failed to make the shot good as it bounced off the inside of the basket, and when Lubbock took the ball out of bounds it was lost on a bad pass.

Stuard Connects

Stuard successfully made two free throws to put the visitors out in front, 43-40, before Norton hit a charity toss with less than 20 seconds to go.

In the dying seconds Lubbock's over-eagerness gave the Eagles another chance to score from the free throw line, but both shots were missed.

As the game ended Lubbock snared the ball, and Carl Ince aimed a long shot at the basket from his own end of the court which hit the rim and bounced out at the whistle.

The Westerners used but seven players, and all the boys played hard through the game. But missed shots and a few bad passes were the difference.

Lubbock's Cowhands dropped a curtain raiser to Abilene's "B" team by a 22-30 count.

Bobby Sexton was high man for the Cowhands with 10 points, and Tommy Yelvington was next with five points. Couch paced Abilene, making 11 markers.

CONNIE MACK'S HOPES BOOSTED

Athletics Will Be Stronger In 1950

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 22. (AP)—Cornelius J. McGillicuddy celebrates his 87th birthday today but whether baseball's Connie Mack was born Dec. 22 or 23, 1862, is still an open question.

"I have been told I arrived in the middle of the night," said the manager of the Philadelphia Athletics. "Some say it was the 22nd, others the 23rd."

No big celebration is planned. The grand old man of baseball planned only to hold his annual birthday news conference and be the honored guest at a luncheon attended only by relatives and close friends.

Hopes Are High

Although Connie has been a part of the baseball picture for 66 years—49 as manager of the Athletics—he prefers to think of the future rather than the past.

And most of all Connie likes to think of things to come in 1950—the year he hopes will bring another World Series championship in celebration of his golden anniversary as head of the A's.

Not since 1931 has the American league pennant or championship flag flown above Shibe Park. But Connie has high hopes for next season.

Here's how Connie figures his team since laying out $100,000 recently for new talent:

Dillinger To Help

Bob Dillinger—purchased with Outfielder Paul Lehner from the St. Louis Browns for $100,000 plus four players—will strengthen the A's infield.

Lehner can bolster the outfield and Joe Astroth together with Joe Tipton figure to hold down the catching end of the game.

Connie likes his pitching staff and will be even more kindly disposed toward the mound contingent if: Joe Coleman reports at playing weight, Phil Marchildon overcomes his physical troubles of last season, and Alex Kellner can repeat his 1949 performance.

His new coaches — Mickey Cochrane and Bing Miller—should more than carry their end of the load. These two with Coach Jimmy Dykes were members of the A's last pennant-winning team.

"Of course," reflects Connie, "we could stand some hitting. But then who couldn't?"

That's a good question.

Brief Workout Held By Tech

Texas Tech footballers went through a short workout Wednesday as cold weather closed in on Jones stadium, and the 36-man squad shivered as it went through its drills.

Practice will continue today, with a morning skull session on tap and a drill on the field at 3 p.m. Following a brief drill Friday morning the team will be free until Monday for Christmas holidays.

Yesterday offensive plays were run through, and a little defense against San Jose plays came in for attention.

Coach Morgan said that Tech and the Spartans used about the same formations, and that he had noticed several plays used by both teams were almost the same.

Both squads use the T-formation, man-in-motion and other variations of the standard T.

Coach Morgan said the difference in the two teams might be in passing, with San Jose rated better than the Raiders in this department.

No injuries have cropped up in the Raider camp. All players are looking forward to the Dec. 31 Raisin Bowl date and are working hard to insure a Texas Tech victory.

FORT WORTH, Dec. 22. (AP)—Directors of the Texas High School Coaches association open their annual meeting here today. A major item on the agenda is naming a place for the 1950 Texas coaching school.

The directors expected bids for the school from Fort Forth, Austin, Beaumont, Dallas, and possibly Odessa and Houston.

During the three-day meeting the directors will also canvass the vote by the membership on coaches wanted for school instructors. Each year the directors' meeting is held on the occasion of the Texas Class AA schoolboy football championship game. Wichita Falls plays Austin here Friday afternoon for the 1949 title.

Wichita Falls Picked To Win

(By The Associated Press)

Next to last shots in the Texas schoolboy football campaign will be fired tomorrow.

Wichita Falls, unbeaten and untied and rated as the greatest team that city ever produced, takes on once-defeated Austin at Fort Worth for the Class AA championship.

After that, one more title will need be determined to end high school football for the year. That will come Monday at Abilene when Littlefield battles Mexia for the class A crown.

Wichita Falls enters its test with Austin a 7½-point favorite with the folks who put cash on the line.

Littlefield is a two-touchdown choice over Mexia.

Sports writers of the state yesterday gave Wichita Falls and Littlefield heavy margins in predicting on the games. The vote was better than two-to-one in each instance.

Halftime score: Texas Tech 34, Austin college 25.
Free throws missed: Buckley, Evans, Wilson 2, Warren, Cash 2, Watkins, Eddins, Gibson.
Officials: Barrett and Hamilton.

Through the first half, Austin's zone defense was something of a puzzle to the Techsans, who had not encountered a zone in earlier games this year. But once they solved it and began to pass the ball more speedily, they were never seriously threatened. In fact, their margin mounted to 21 points before a desperate Austin rally in the closing two minutes trimmed it back to 12.

Jackson Top Scorer

Jackson, showing his "old-time" eye for the basket, netted 23 points to walk off with individual scoring honors. Alderson bagged 16, while Center Gene (Rocco) Gibson came up with 12.

Big Jim Wilson, Austin's all-Texas conference center, meshed 17 points to lead the gold-clad visitors. Clarence Warren hit 14 and Bill Evans collected 12 for the Kangaroos.

Remarkable accuracy from the free-throw line helped the Raider cause. Tech cashed in on 15 of 17 charity tosses, while Austin college made only seven of 15 free pitches.

Alderson Connects

Alderson pumped in a one-handed shot after one minute of play, and Gibson made it 4-0 a minute later with a tip-in.

Austin college didn't dent the scoring column until five minutes had elapsed, with Warren making a free throw.

Gibson and Alderson sparked a spree which increased Tech's lead to 11-3, but Austin rallied to pull within three points at 13-10 and against at 15-12. Field goals by Eddin and Jackson pushed Tech safely out front again, and the two quints finished the first half on even terms thereafter.

Austin's Sixth Loss

Coach Polk Robison's Techsans started fast in the second stanza, pouring in seven points in the first two minutes while holding Austin scoreless. After that, the Kangaroos were never really in the ball game, although Evans fired in seven points and Warren hit two in the final two minutes to trim Tech's lead considerably.

It was the sixth setback in eight games for Austin college, coached by Byron Gilbreath, former Red Raider cage star. The Kangaroos had dropped a 56-57 verdict to Wayland college at Plainview Tuesday night.

Bear Winner In Mat Bout

Perhaps the best animal-and-man wrestling performance ever seen in the local ring was fought last night at Sled Allen's arena, with George Overhull losing a 10-minute exhibition to Gorgeous Gus, the wrestling bear.

Two fast bouts gave the large turnout of fans a good show from start to finish, and the exhibition added something extra to the program.

Gus was the stronger of the two and therefore the winner, pinning Overhull after 10 minutes of mayhem with a body smother. The bear showed his training by getting several human-like holds on Overhull's arms, legs and head.

LaBell Triumphs

Pierre LaBell, Frenchman from Portland, Ore., defeated Rod Fenton of Edmonton, Canada, in the main event, the bout lasting 38 minutes.

LaBell was caught in an arm lock and stomp after three minutes of the first fall by Fenton, but in the next set-to the fighters went 25 minutes before Fenton was stopped with a punishing knee lift and smother.

Appearing faster and more able to take punishment, LaBell took but 10 minutes of the third fall before stopping Fenton with a drop kick and smother.

Cummings Wins

Billy Fox and Bob Cummings went all three falls of their first event, with Cummings taking the final fall and the match.

Fox opened strong, throwing Cummings with a flying tackle and smother after 10 minutes of the bout, but Cummings took the next two.

An inside cat toehold was the weapon used to defeat Fox, and Cummings won the second fall in 17 minutes and the final in three minutes with the hold.

The match was clean throughout, and Fox proved to be a speedy, but outmanned opponent for the Oregonian.

Arrival Of Irish Boosts North Team

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 22 (AP)—Inspired by the arrival of six Notre Dame players, Yale's Herman Hickman today sent his North squad through its roughest workout yet in preparation for the Shrine charity football game Monday night.

The North squad will tangle with a southern squad of all-stars in the annual Shrine game before an expected 50,000 crowd in the Orange Bowl.

The South squad elected Baylor's Adrian Burk and Alabama's fullback Lionel (Red) Noonan as co-captains for the game.

Miami's Coach Andy Gustafson and Baylor's Bob Woodruff, handling the Rebel squad, called the selections "excellent."

Plans Comeback In Tournament Circuit

Ben Hogan Is Confident He Will Return To Competition

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

FORT WORTH, Dec. 22—Wee Ben Hogan is pretty confident he will return someday to the professional golf tournament circuit.

But the great linksman, whose glittering career was halted almost a year ago in a bus-automobile crash, said today he didn't think he ever would be able to play in a tournament that had 36 holes in a single day.

"I don't think I'll ever be able to go two rounds in one day in tournament competition," said Ben as he relaxed at Colonial Country club here. "But there aren't many tournaments that have 36 holes in one day anyway."

Hogan Is Pleased

Hogan was pleased that he now is able to play nine to eighteen holes a day. He did his first 18-hole rounds Dec. 10 and 11 but travelled the course in a scooter. He registered 71 and 72 over the tough par 70 Colonial course.

Tuesday he walked around 18 holes and again shot under 80.

"I get awfully tired and some times my legs swell on me," he said. 'But, you know"—and he grinned at this—"I have to get my weight down."

Hogan always was known as the little man of sport—the little giant of the fairways they called him. If he had weighed 140 pounds he would have figured he was busting at the seams.

Golfer Looks Healthy

Today he weighs over 155 pounds and admitted he looked something like a baby blimp. "Me trying to take off weight is something to joke about," he said.

Hogan looks tanned and healthy but his legs still are bound up and he's far from recovered from the sickening crash of early morning last Feb. 2 when he almost lost his life as his automobile and a bus met headon near Van Horn, Tex.

This month Hogan plans a trip to the coast to watch the Los Angeles Open, Bing Crosby tournament and other golf meets.

"I'm mainly trying to stay out of bad weather," he said.

Hogan was National Open, National PGA and money-winning king at the time of the crash. Such things look far off, if ever, to the little man of the fairways. "But I'm a mighty lucky guy," he said.

Between the Lines by Joe Kelly

A poll taken by the Associated Press indicates that Wichita Falls and Littlefield are favored by Texas sports writers to win their respective state championship games.

A total of 25 writers answered the request for predictions, and the margin of victory in the games ranged from a "shade" to a touchdown to 25 points.

Wichita Falls was favored by 17 writers, and Austin got the nod from eight. Of those favoring Austin, one gave the Maroons a 20-point margin of victory, while Wichita's widest was 25 markers.

Mexia was picked by seven scribes, and Littlefield drew the favor of 15. Mexia's largest margin was set at 19 points and Littlefield at 20.

Only one writer picked both Austin and Mexia to win.

Whichever way you look at it, it seems that Wichita and Littlefield are the next state champions in Class AA and A respectively, but it is understood that their opponents will show up for the games.

The game between the Coyotes and Maroons Friday in Fort Worth will be sent to every part of the state over 42 radio stations in Texas, the largest statewide radio network to be formed in Texas each year.

The publicity given to the finals should indicate the tremendous amount of interest in the contest, a tribute to the Texas Interscholastic league setup in Texas.

But even as this football year ends it seems that more changes are likely in the TIL structure in football and other sports next year.

League officials are advocating an AAA alignment of schools so that competition will be more equal. Schools in the new bracket would have to have at least 1,000 enrollment.

One of the objections to this is the distance between schools which have such a high enrollment, and this factor may do more toward holding back the league than any other.

What might happen is the elimination of the City conference and the enlarging of existing districts. With 16 districts and approximately 110 schools falling under Class AA and City conference it appears feasible to reconstruct the present program. Divided equally this would give 16 districts of approximately eight schools.

Or if the cry goes up that eight district games a year are too many, then up the enrollment figure for AA competition to 600 or 700 and not allow any school with less than that number in Double A.

With schools of more equal enrollment, football shuold then be come evenly balanced and the perpetual district winners eliminated. That in itself would bring joy to this writer who grew up in an almost one-team district, the old District 10-AA, which saw Waco win nearly every year.

Sceptics who figured Martin Mill's all-state center, O'Neal Weaver, could not make the grade in college basketball are probably hiding under a raised eyebrow at this stage of the 1949-50 season.

With Tyle Junior college's Apaches, Weaver has scored 106 points in six games and seems to be just getting started.

Last year after the state tourney Weaver was one of the most sought-after boys in the state, deciding to go to the East Texas junior college because it was nearer his home. But he will be welcome anytime he decides to go to a four-year school!

Chisox Slash Farm System

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 22—The Chicago White Sox, who probably have fewer farm clubs than any other major league outfit, figure they can get more material out of eight clubs than, say 22 . . . "If you get two players a year out of your farms—two that have a chance to stick—that's all you can expect," says General Manager Frank Lane . . . "Maybe it's all right to operate 22 clubs to get those prospects if your minor league teams make money, but most of them don't . . . So we concentrate on quality instead of quantity . . . You start with say 15 good prospects on a Class D club; the next year in Class C they're reduced to seven. A really good player, one who is going to be a star, stands out even in those classes and I've seen plenty who were good enough to jump from Class B right into the majors . . . It isn't necessary to have a lot of farms to develop that kind of boys." . . . P. S.: "Only an unkind observer would add that it isn't a very big jump to where the Sox were in the majors last season.

Speech Is Different

Veterans on the U. of New Hampshire football squad this year started under the coaching of Biff Glassford, a Pitt product, and finished under Chief Boston, a Harvard product . . . when someone recently asked the principal difference between the two "systems," an athlete thoughtfully replied: "Well, Chief always said 'whom were you supposed to block on that play?'"

Coach Is Honored

Joe Lapchick, the Knickerbockers' coach, has been named "Yonkers' outstanding sports personality for 1949" . . . He'll retain possession of the title for the last two minutes of the year . . . After watching Notre Dame's Leon Tart against S. M. U., Dutch Meyer of Texas Christian concluded that Leon is vulnerable to outside plays because his size slows him in changing direction . . . Sam Barry, whose Southern California basketballers had a miserable night in the Garden, warns: "Watch out for my sophomores; we won't be back for two years, but they'll be ready then." . . . To which Honey Russell counters that Seton Hall's freshmen are so hot they can beat his varsity by 30 points every day . . . The roller derby skaters drew 798,178 paid admissions in the metropolitan New York area in 1949—which is quite an ad for television.

Colorado Tops Rice Quintet

(By The Associated Press)

Three Southwest conference basketball teams see action tonight.

Rice will attempt to avenge last night's 83-52 licking by Colorado as it ends a two-game stand at Boulder. Southern Methodist university opens a two-game series with Missouri at Dallas, and Arkansas takes on Oklahoma A. and M. at Little Rock.

Rice Is Loser

The only Southwest conference team playing last night was Rice. Colorado caged 35 per cent of its shots as it crushed the Texans. After making the first half a battle, Rice faded before sharp shooting from Colorado Guards Wayne Tucker and Gene Rogers. Tucker scored 19 and Rogers 18 points to gather honors.

Center Joe McDermott made 13 points and Captain Warren Switzer scored 12 for Rice.

Search For Missing Plane Is Underway

DALLAS, Dec. 22. (AP)—About 15 Civil Air patrol planes launched a search today for a plane missing since Monday on a flight from Tulsa to Dallas.

The search was concentrated in the Sherman-Denison area of North Texas.

Aboard the Cessna 170 were H. J. Happel, president of the Happel construction Co.; C. W. Healey, an engineer, and W. J. Crawley, the pilot, all of Tulsa.

The search planes took off from Denison, Sherman, Dallas and Fort Worth. The CAP said a plane of the type sought was seen flying low over Sherman Monday evening, first headed for Dallas and then toward Fort Worth.

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 22 (AP) — Ever wonder who plays Santa Claus for Santa Claus?

Bob Hope, of course.

Some 57 St. Nick's, of the department store variety, were the comedian's guests last night for dinner and cocktails.

"Nobody ever does anything for these boys," Hope explained. All 57 showed up in costume after their long day's work.

Quipped Hope as he looked over the mass of beards:

Writer Recalls Top '49 Sports Events

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Christmas is galloping down to the wire today, a hollowed holiday dedicated to peace and happiness, and it creates an opportunity to saunter back in memory through another vanished year and savor once more the memories of 1949 on the sports beat.

It wasn't a standout, this year which is joining the legends of the past. Yet it had its moments, good ones with new friends and new thrills, and sad ones, squeezing out an unashamed tear for old friends who took the long count.

Jacobs Steps Down

Flip back the calendar with one who tries to look beyond the scores to January and a cold, rainy day when a broken old man, rich in money but poor in health, finally stepped down. Uncle Mike Jacobs finally reached the end of the road and it wasn't pretty to see. Maybe you hadn't like him, but somehow you could feel for him on a day which comes to everybody.

You watched Joe DiMaggio ink a $90,000 contract and grinned with him as he recalled making $2.48 a week hawking newspapers. And you laughed out loud when Gorgeous George preened himself in a slipper satin gown for his garden wrestling debut, a fashion show which called for its own type of courage.

Then on a cold April day you watched Charley Keller take his licks in a batting cage and grimace with pain as he pulled a muscle which was to mark the end for him. Tony Zale, the middleweight, finally retired and you were glad, remembering the glazed look in his eyes the night he went down before the flailing fists of Marcel Cerdan.

Fight Is Recalled

Now it was lush, green April in the West Virginia hills and at swanky Greenbrier, Jimmy Demaret complained he and his golfing pals were "putt happy."

July in the heat of the Jersey hills, with Gus Lesnevich laboring for his shot at Ezzard Charles and the heavyweight title. Then he month-filled night at Yankee stadium as they tossed in the towel to save him.

Hot, humid August and the Walker Cup matches. The English were charming. The Americans were winners. The Davis Cup at Forest Hills, amazed at Pancho Gonzales' comeback in the nationals to whip Ted Schroeder and the futile hope that Doris Hart, a kid who beat polio, might win the women's crown.

The rain-swept, wind-battered hills of Rochester, N. Y., in September as skinny Charley Coe copped the national amateur golf championship. Flying home through the calm moonlight night and into the frenzy of the pennant races. Wondering, in the tunnel under Yankee stadium, whether Yankee Cliff Mapes and Umpire Bill Grieve were going to tangle. The Yankee-red Sox finale which you could hardly believe and the Series.

Tommy Hendrich Blushes

Tommy Henrich, a cocky pro, blushes as his mates thanked him for the home run which won the opener. And, at the end, a wan and haggard Joe DiMaggio finally hitting his homer and telling little Joe not to worry about a ball he had lost "because I just lost one myself."

The expected news of Matt Winn's death, a memories of chats at his Louisville office, with the bright brass spitoon in the corner. The unexpected death of Marcel Cerdan in a plane crash, with thoughts of his grim statement that he'd "be back" to recapture the middleweight crown.

Football, watching and wondering how powerful Army was and being convinced as it flayed Navy. Cornell's thrilling comeback against Penn and North Carolina's gallant band from Dixie fighting mighty Notre Dame even through the first half.

Maybe sportswriters don't have a satisfactory feeling of accomplishing anything really worthwhile. And it's often cold and lonesome in the press box after the cheers and the crowds have faded homeward. Yet, in looking back, you know you've had your moments, too.

Roughness In Play Banned

NEW YORK, Dec. 22 (AP)—Life will be safer for infielders in 1950 if the new baseball rules are enforced.

The rules committee officially adopted the new code last night after nine months of strenuous effort. The rough stuff around second base came in for plenty of attention.

"Interference" by a base runner was interpreted in simple, direct terms that place a heavy burden on the umpire. The ump always had to call interference, but now his attention is directed to the rule in specific wordage.

"A batter is out when a preceding runner shall, in the pudgment of the umpire, interfere with an infielder," the rule will read.

"The objective of this rule is to penalize the offensive team for deliberate, unwarranted and unsportsmanlike action by a runner in leaving the baseline for the obvious purpose of crashing the pivot man on a double play rather than trying to reach his base."

Rice Grid Squad Is Given Yule Holiday

HOUSTON, Dec. 22 (AP)—Rice's Cotton Bowl Owls started their Christmas holidays today but only after their fourth straight scrimmage session.

Coach Jess Neely let his players start for home after a long morning workout. The squad is to return next Tuesday to complete preparations for the game against North Carolina.

Linemen May Steal Show In Bowl Tilt

DALLAS, Dec. 22 (AP)—Could be that, despite the presence of glamor boy Charlie Justice, a couple of linemen will steal the show in the Rice-North Carolina Cotton Bowl game here Jan. 2.

All-America Justice is the fellow getting all the notices as he threatens to make North Carolina far from the soft touch that had been anticipated. Hobbled by injuries most of the season he's sound again.

But did you ever hear of Art Weiner and Joe Watson?

Weiner is the manmountain of a wingman who has caught more than half as many passes for North Carolina as Rice has completed. The 6-foot 3½-inch Tar Heel veteran has gathered in 52 throws for 762 yards and seven touchdowns this year. Tobin Rote and Vernon Glass, the Rice passers, have completed 93 betwen them.

Tied National Record

Weiner took winning touchdown passes in four games and on defense saved several afternoons for North Carolina with pass-interceptions, blocked kicks and goal line stands. His 52 pass catches tied the collegiate record set in 1947 by Barney Poole of Mississippi.

This man Watson doesn't distinguish himself with pass receptions but he's pretty good at extinguishing opposition drives. He is termed "half a line" in Rice's defense.

Watson is a 231-pounder called by Coach Jess Neely of Rice "the best center I ever had anything to do with—he's the backbone of our team. I don't see how we could have come as far as we have this season without him."

Neely Is Unhappy

Neely still is somewhat put out because big Joe didn't make the All-America team. "If ever there was an All-Amercan, Watson is one," says Neely.

All the teams Watson played against remember the big guy but Southern Methodist probably has the strongest recollection. The Methodists were leading 14-13 when Watson pulled an onside kick. The ball slithered off an SMU player and jarring Joe covered on the Methodist 46-yard line. Rice marched to the touchdown that put it ahead to stay.

Neely says it wasn't that Watson won so many games — he saved them. Texas Christian will recall the injured Watson rushing back into the game to halt a drive on the two-yard line with only seconds to go.

Attempted Burglary Of Store Is Foiled By Night Watchman

KINGSVILLE, Dec. 22 (AP) — A 71-year-old night watchman shot it out with thieves here early today to foil the attempted burglary of a downtown jewelry store.

Here is the story as outlined by Farquahar:

Making his rounds, about 1 a. m. he drove up an alley near Weisman's jewelry store and saw two men hiding in some bushes.

He gave no indication of seeing them but drove on away. He waited five minutes, then slipped up to the back door of the jewelry store and there was a man trying to gain entrance to the place.

Had Opened Door

He had a canvas sack of tools. He had already opened a door of steel bars and was working intently on an inner door.

"What are you doing?" Farquahar asked the man.

"Just resting," said the stranger.

"What do you have in the sack?" Farquahar inquired.

The stranger started walking off down the alley adjoining the store. Farquahar called to him, three times, to stop and then the night watchman drew his gun.

At that moment, a second man, an accomplice hidden in some nearby bushes, fired at Farquahar.

"I was in a mess then," said the elderly watchman. "I didn't see any gun flash and didn't know where the shot had come from."

The night watchman sought cover behind a small frame structure, an abandoned outhouse.

Escaped In Auto

But he felt he was still in an exposed position, so he made a break for a couple of telephone poles a few yards away.

As he started running, however, the man with the gun fired again.

"The bullet whistled right by my head," said Farquhar. "I thought I was a goner. And I didn't see any gun flash then either. I didn't know where it came from."

Farquhar dived to the ground and flattened out. There was a third shot. He saw the flash. He fired his own pistol three times in the direction of the flash, leaving himself two bullets to spare.

Right after this, the man with the gun sprang out of the bushes and started running down the alley with the second man. Farquhar heard one of the men ask the other: "Are you hit."

"The other man either told him 'no' or ' I don't know'," Farquhar said.

The two escaped in an automobile which had been parked a block away.

Farquhar then ran to a bowling alley where Dale Wasson, proprietor, was counting the day's take. Wasson phoned police and a search was begun immediately. No suspects had been arrested shortly before noon.

Libel Hearing

Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Haynes, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Arant, and Herschel Dyer, a minister, all members of Lubbock Church of Christ congregations; Minister Drake of the Idalou Church of Christ congregation; and Royal Furgeson, district clerk.

The state, in efforts to prove malice in the alleged acts of the defendant, elicited from witnesses statements that they had received in the mails a printed statement similar to that charged in the complaint.

Further, Mrs. Arant said that Mrs. Woods, before the divorce decree, said in substance to Mrs. Arant in Mrs. Arant's residence that, she was out to ruin her minister husband.

Asked To Testify

Furgeson was asked to testify concerning an amended petition on which the divorce decree was based. He testified that an original petition filed by Mrs. Woods charged her husband with adultry, but the amended petition, subsequently filed, charged only abandonment. It was the abandonment petition, Furgeson testified, that 99th District Judge G. V. Pardue took cognizance of in granting the divorce.

Testimony showed that letters containing the alleged libelous matter had been received by President Lon Morris of Abilene Christian college, as well as in Lubbock and Idalou.

Judge Davies set the case over to Jan. 3, when the same jury of A. K. O'Kelly, Jeff Peach, W. V. Brown, C. C. Chambers, A. H. Douglas, and Marshall W. Howard will return to hear evidence of the defense. Mrs. Woods is represented by the law firm of Boling, Smith and Allen.

the cold area, had a reading of minus 7.

Five At Dalhart

Temperatures in the Texas Panhandle early today ranged from five above zero at Dalhart to 12 at Amarillo but skies were clearing and the forecast for tomorrow called for slightly warmer weather.

The cold wave apparently had run its course without causing too much discomfort in the Panhandle. Snow in sections of the state's "icebox" yesterday ranged from two to four inches, but it had stopped by noon and skies began clearing late in the day.

Skies were mostly clear over the entire state today and more of the same was predicted for tomorrow.

Temperatures tonight will range from 12 to 20 in the Panhandle and South Plains and 20 to 32 elsewhere in West Texas. For East Texas, lows of 22 to 27 were forecast for the extreme north portion and 28 to 32 in the interior of the south portion.

Daily MARKETS

Stock Market

STOCKS BOOSTED

NEW YORK, Dec. 22 (UP)—Stocks rose sharply on the New York stock exchange today with gains ranging to more than a point. Trading was active.

All sections of the list took part in the sharp advance, but automotive and aircraft issues featured the rise.

The brisk upward movement more than wiped out the accrued losses in the past two sessions which halted the traditional year-end rally. The upswing added more than $500,000,000 in market valuations to the list.

After relatively mild sell-offs in the past two sessions, the market opened on a firm note and continued this trend until the final bell. Just before the close prices ranged around new three-year highs.

Forecasts of high production and heavy demand for autos in the first quarter of 1950 stimulated demand for those issues.

Chrysler paced the rise in the automotive group in active turnover. It ran up more than a point. Aircraft manufacturing shares also were strong with gains ranging to more than a point. Nickel Plate, with a gain of around 2 points, was the bright spot in a strong railroad group. Utilities were generally higher.

Cotton futures moved into new high ground for the day on late mill buying and short covering.

MacArthur's latest and strongest blast against the Soviets highlighted an intensified American campaign on the repatriation question. It began last week when Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida again appealed to MacArthur for aid in winning world opinion for the prompt return of prisoners still in custody.

Sebald told the council yesterday, after the Russian walkout, that probably 374,041 of the missing Japanese prisoners had died in Soviet prison camps. He read a lengthy account of the Russians treating prisoners brutally in "disregard for humanity."

Of this MacArthur said today:

"I can well understand the reluctance of the Soviet member yesterday to listen to so gruesome and savage a story in all its harrowing barbarity. It could well chill and sicken even a hardened old soldier."

After the Russian walkout yesterday, W. R. Hodgson, British commonwealth member of the council, suggested Switzerland or the Red Cross as possible neutral parties to investigate the fate of the missing Japanese.

Convict Surrenders To Dallas Sheriff

DALLAS, Dec. 22. (U.P.)—An escaped Georgia convict surrendered today to Dallas county Sheriff Bill Decker because "things were too tough outside."

Decker said the man walked into his office and gave himself up, identifying himself as Roscoe D. Sutton and explaining he fled from a Georgia work camp on Dec. 6.

Burglary Suspect Is Caught Napping

FORT WORTH, Dec. 22. (U.P.)—A 33-year-old burglary suspect was in jail today after being caught napping—literally.

Detectives W. C. Schertz and W. B. Johnson surprised the man as he slept in the rear of a panel truck. Burglary tools also were found in the truck.

The officers had sought the man the past week as a suspect in a drive-in burglary here Dec. 11.

Chasing Cat Up Tree Unhealthy For Dog

COSTA MESA, Calif., Dec. 22 (AP)—Pal, a cocker spaniel owned by Neal F. Harrington, was obviously out of his element. Balanced on a slippery branch six feet above the ground, the dog seemed to be weighing the sagacity of pressing his pursuit of the surefooted cat only a few tempting feet out on the limb. Pal lunged, missed, and thudded to earth.

At a pet hospital, where Pal is nursing a broken leg, Harrington explained that his pooch, an inveterate cat chaser, spied the kitty in a friend's back yard. When the cat scampered up a tree the dog shot up the sloping trunk, following the enemy out on a limb.

"He's a game dog," said Harrington.

Water Supply To Be Boosted By Projects

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP) — The U. S. Bureau of Reclamation is now building 23 dams, 10 power plants, more than 200 miles of canals and 2,315 miles of transmission lines. When present work is completed the bureau will have 119 dams with a storage capacity of 82,780,000 acre feet. An acre foot is enough water to cover an acre (slightly over 200 by 200 feet) one foot deep.

This would be enough water, the bureau says, to cover New England plus New York, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland more than a foot deep.

Holiday Food Prices Lower

(By The Associated Press)

Turkey prices declined two to six cents a pound in most places this last week before Christmas—and were about 20 cents cheaper than the all-time highs of last yuletide.

Family-sized birds averaged around 57 to 59 cents a pound in many highly competitive chain stores.

Cranberries were mostly unchanged from Thanksgiving time. And holiday menu planners looking for something besides turkey for the main course found hams, pork loin roasts and rib beef roasts costing about the same as a week ago. Prices of many fresh vegetables for the menu side dishes were a little lower.

Pastries Plentiful

Nuts for turkey stuffing, fruit cake, mince pies and the nut bowl were so abundant that the Agriculture department included them among the most-plentiful foods for the pre-Christmas week.

Oranges were being widely featured for holiday fare—with some California varieties as much as 15 cents a dozen cheaper than a year ago.

Retail coffee prices edged slightly higher in some stores.

The Dun & Bradstreet wholesale food price index this week declined one cent from a week ago to $5.73 and compared with $6.23 a year ago. The figure represents the total wholesale cost of a pound each of 31 general use foods.

Quincy was completely blacked out. Radio stations WTAD and WGEM resorted to emergency generators to say on the air as did station WCAZ at Carthage, Ill.

The Quincy Herald-Whig was unable to publish.

Almost all long distance circuits were knocked out as far north into Peoria and Macomb, Ill.

Among the towns listed as isolated in Missouri were Monroe City, Paris, Otterville, Smithton, Green Ridge, Walker, Harwood, Shell City, Rockville, Windsor, Hughsville, Palmyra, Stoutsville, Vandalia, Perryville, Centralia and Santa Fe.

Southwestern Bell Telephone company said 61 circuits were out at Sedalia alone. Officials estimated that 1,500 wires were broken throughout central Missouri and that 300 poles had splintered under the sheer weight of the ice. The Illinois Bell Telephone company reported 450 lines breaks from Quincy to Carthage and 240 from Quincy to Beardstown, Ill.

West of the belt of freezing rain, the Great Plains were covered by moderately heavy snowfalls. Great Bend, Kans., had 16 inches; Concordia, Kans., 5 inches; St. Joseph, Mo., Dodge City and Wichita, Kans., 4 inches; and Beatrice and Fairbury, Neb., 3 inches.

Ice Extension Seen

The area to the east was soaked by extraordinarily heavy winter rains. Springfield, Ill., had 2 inches of rain in a six hour period and underpasses at Chicago were flooded, slowing transportation, by a downpour of 2.35 inches in 24 hours.

The rain was expected to change to snow over much of the Great Lakes area by nightfall.

Weather forecasters warned that the ice might extend farther eastward as a cold front began moving in that direction after lingering over the Great Lakes for several days.

Temperatures were dropping rapidly in the Mississippi valley and the experts said no warmth was in sigh to melt the vast sheet of ice.

Although the rain, snow and ice caused temporary inconvenience, farmers generally welcomed the moisture. They said it came at a time when the ground still was not frozen too deeply to absorb it.

The bad weather was blamed for the deaths of three persons poisoned by carbon monoxide gas when their car skidded off a road and the tailpipe rammed into a snowbank nead Klamath Falls, Ore.

Two soldiers were injured fatally and three others were hurt in an auto-truck crash near Randlett, Okla. The truck skidded on a slick road.

The inclement conditions slowed the search for Pilot W. J. Crawley and his passenger, C. W. Healey of Tulsa, Okla., missing on a flight from Tulsa to Dallas, Tex.

He set forth a formula stating that vacation pay for hourly paid operating employes should be 1-25th of the number of hours actually worked in the 50 weeks preceding vacations.

However, unionists claimed that in many cases that would be less than the 86-hour paid vacations they have been receiving.

Financial Wizard Claimed By Death

BREENWICH, Conn., Dec. 22. (AP)—Howard C. Hopson, 66, the financial wizard who created a billion-dollar utilities empire that crumbled as he went to prison for mail fraud, died yesterday.

He had been living in broken health for the past five years at a sanitarium here.

Something For Women With Hair? Gold Bobby Pins, $14 Each

New York's Toniest Joints Have Plenty Of Thingamajigs For Old Wrinkled $1,000 Bills

By RICHARD KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK Dec. 22—Looking for stocking stuffers? So are a lot of gold-plated citizens, who are clutching their wrinkled thousand dollar bills in their well-manicured little paws and heading for the exclusive shoppes. Among the baubles ,doodads and thingamajigs they can select are these rare items on display in New York's toniest emporiums:

For ladies with hair, there are bobby-pins. Not just ordinary bobby-pins but 14-karat gold ones at $14 the pin. If your gal is something special, you can get white gold bobby-pins decorated with diamond motifs at $935 the pin.

Pop has always wanted cuff links with a 17-jewel watch in one of them, hasn't he? All righty, you can get him a set, in gold, natch, for $98.

Even rich babies like rattles. There are special ones, 3¾ inches long, in the shape of dumbells, fashioned from sterling silver, for $7.80. For the older child, there is an imported bird covered with real feathers sitting on a perch in a golden cage. It's only a bird in a gilded cage, but it'll set you back $175.

Tax Included

There's nothing like a couple of decks of playing cards to salt away in the Christmas stocking. These are silk-backed and come in a pigskin case and the man wants $79.50 for the works.

If you're off your budget for the season, nothing like a neat little bracelet spattered with 276 diamonds. Six are emerald cut and six are baguettes but the other 264 are just the routine round kind. The price may seem a bit over your reach—it's $13,200—but you must realize the tax is included.

If father is a bit on the gamey side, give him a traveling game case of pigskin. Inside he'll find 200 chips, four decks of cards, a pencil, some scorepads and a bill for $47.50.

Another wee giftie for junior is a working, although toy-sized, wire recorder and reproducer. The tag says $39.95. Next year the kid'll be able to dictate his letters to Santa.

Present For Pooch

Lest the Park Avenue pooch thinks he's neglected, one New York store has a large stock of dog collars in yellow leather dotted with green stones. They run $18.95 per, and presumably will hold a dog as well as rope.

For the gal with legs, there's never been invented a gift as satisfying as nylons. This year they add a few polka dots to the hose, which lifts milady's spirits and, incidentally, also boosts the price to $28.

Another decent present for the old man is a cigarette case. There's a handsome, engine-turned job that sells for $625. Cigarettes not included. And there's a gold key for him, too. It's a blank that he can have made to fit the door of his choice. It's a mere $57.50.

Kerchief Only $35

The fashionable stores are teeming with other suggestions, just as practical and just as high. There's a lady's umbrella with a perfume compartment in the handle (for stinking weather, no doubt) at $45. Then a veddy delicate little handkerchief of French hand-spun linen with all kinds of lace and appliqued junk on it that costs $35.

And a woven gold belt for $790. A pair of petite, chic diamond earrings rate $2675. Hat pins, made of gold and diamonds, are $60. And a cotton twill burberry shooting suit for women, imported from England just for the babe who hasn't laid that pistol down, is $125. And a jewelled table cigarette lighter that sends $5000 up in smoke when the bill comes in.

You can kill a couple of birds with one checkbook by getting matching set stuff. There's a matching woman's belt and dog's collar which takes care of the missus and the mongrel at one fell swoop for $15.45. And there are three-way combinations — matching dresses for mother, daughter and doll at $67.50 for the works.

Have fun.

Jeweled cigarette lighter has 34 diamonds, 14 rubies, a wick, flint—and a $5000 price tag.

Water Plight To Be Debated

NEW YORK, Dec. 22 (AP)—Millions of words of argument over why the world's biggest city is short of water reached the "put up or shut up" stage today.

The question of who's to blame —and what's to be done about it —will be debated at a conference between Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and city officials.

The governor charges present and past city administrations—both Democratic and Fusion—with neglect of the water problem for many years."

Engineers Called

Today's conference on the city's acute shortage was called by the governor yesterday.

"I am gravely concerned," Dewey said, "with the effect of the water shortage on the health and welfare of the people."

After receiving the governor's invitation to a conference, Acting Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri called the city's engineers to the conference.

Capacity — 253,136,000,000 gallons.

Yesterday—87,487,000,000.

The day before—87,789,000,000.

At the normal consumption of well over a billion gallons a day, there was approximately 52 days' supply before pressure fails.

Godwin's Employes Will Attend Party

An annual Christmas party will be given by Mr. and Mrs. Luther Godwin at 7:30 o'clock tonight at Lubbock Country club for approximately 60 employes of Godwin's Booterie and Godwin's Youth shop.

Dinner will be served buffet style from a table centered with an arrangement of carnations and roses.

Laurence Ivey will play the piano during the dinner.

Bonus checks will be given to employes and other gifts also will be distributed from a Christmas tree.

Hungary Release Of U. S. Citizen Denied

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Dec. 22. (AP)—A U. S. legation spokesman today denied rumors circulating in Vienna that Hungarian police had released Robert A. Vogeler, American businessman arrested Nov. 18 on espionage charges.

The spokesman described the reports as "unfounded and irresponsible rumors." The U. S. State department Tuesday demanded the release of Vogeler, assistant vice president of the International Telephone and Telegraph company, and banned travel by Americans to Hungary.

Origin Of Jewish Festival Explained

A. B. Watkins, assistant manager of Dunlap's and president of the Toastmaster club, today told the Lubbock Kiwanis club the origin of a Jewish festival corresponding to the observance of Christmas by Christians at a luncheon meeting in Hotel Lubbock.

He quoted from the Book of Esther in revealing the Jewish celebration commenced in observance of Queen Esther's bravery in saving them from wholesale slaughter at the hands of the Persians.

Rev. Hubert Bratcher gave the invocation and Fred Sparks presided.

Detailed instructions will be announced Friday to those available to help.

Scientists see a distinct tactical advantage in a rocket independent of conventional radar beams. An enemy—as was proved during World War II—can "jam" or upset a radar transmission and, conceivably, might seize control of a rocket and turn it back on its launchers. But when the steering control is within the rocket itself, as in the instance of the "celestial navigation" idea, counter-measures would be much more difficult, they pointed out.

50 Issues Answered By Civil Jury Here

A 99th District court jury hearing evidence in the civil action of Sam Hallmark against R. E. Graves and wife, returned answers to 50 special issues to Judge G. V. Pardue at 9 p.m. Wednesday after nearly four hours of deliberation.

It was indicated the plaintiff would move for judgment as a result of the verdict.

The action, for foreclosure of a mechanic's lien, sought recovery of approximately $11,000, court officials said. It grew out of Hallmark's construction of a dwelling for the defendants here.

Crenshaw, Dupre and Milam and Davison and Irvin represented Hallmark. Berry and Ball were counsel for Mr. and Mrs. Graves. Pleadings in the case opened last Thursday.

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 22 (AP) — Dorothy Lamour, John Ireland and Bud Abbott and Lou Costello are not drawing their movie studio paychecks this week before Christmas.

All four are under salary suspensions.

Claiming the birth of a son last Oct. 20 brought a halt to her $1400-a-week salary checks, Miss Lamour filed suit in federal court yesterday against RKO studio. The actress, in private life the wife of William R. Howard, III, advertising executive, charges a contract violation.

Columbia studio said it suspended Ireland for his "calculated and willful refusal to perform" an assigned role after reporting for work on the set. The actor recently filed suit to break his contract, claiming he had been submitted to inferior roles.

Universal - International studio disclosed Abbott and Costello were suspended from the payroll two weeks ago because of Costello's illness. The comedian has been ailing for some time. The last picture he made was early this year.

A studio spokesman explained "It's really a technicality so the studio won't have to continue paying their big salary." The team reportedly gets $6500 a week.

Her Figure Changed

Miss Lamour, who is seeking her salary plus seven per cent, maintains that her appearance did not change during the first four months of her pregnancy, as per agreement in the contract.

One of her attorneys, Charles A. Loring, said the studio contends her shapely figure did change and that the studio therefore had the right to suspend payments.

Loring said he believes that any contract provision restraining married women from having a child is against public policy and therefore is void and not enforceable.

That was on Tuesday. Yesterday her husband, Fred Schafer, 44, also an animal trainer, reached here by plane from Fort Worth, Tex.

"If I had been here this never would have happened," he mourned. "I never would have let her go into the cage without a weapon. She was absolutely without fear."

He said he would either sell or give the lion away.

The surviving children told firemen their mother had tried to hurry breakfast preparations by pouring kerosene on smouldering wood in the kitchen stove.

New Air Force Fight Looming

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP) — A new skirmish between the Senate and House over the 70-group air force appears certain at the new session of Congress opening January 3.

It is a legislative hangover from the first session of the 81st Congress. It might touch off again the explosive fued between the air force and navy over air power.

Plans No Surrender

Rep. Vinson (D-Ga), veteran chairman of the House armed services committee, already has posted his "no surrender" flags. He objects to Senate action in striking from a House-passed bill this language:

"The air force of the United States shall have an authorized strength of 70 United States air force groups, 22 separate United States air force squadrons, and 61 air force reserve groups, together with necessary supporting and auxiliary United States air force and reserve units."

Senators, with the backing of Secretary of Defense Johnson as well as the budget bureau, insist that this reference should be omitted.

They contend that the same air power is authorized by "24,000 serviceable aircraft or 225,000 airframe tons aggregate of serviceable aircraft, whichever amount the secretary of the air force may determine is more appropriate to fulfill the requirements of the air force . . ."

(Airframe tonnage is the weight of the planes before they are equipped with engines, propellers, armament and usually the landing gear.)

Group Can Vary

They point out than an air force group can vary from as few as 18 of the large heavy bombers to 75 small fighters. If Vinson and the House have their way, senators say Congress may be forced to continually amend the basic act to meet changing conditions for defense.

The House and Senate have passed differing versions of the legislation. The dispute now is in the hands of a Senate-House conference headed by Senator Tydings (D-Md), chairman of the Senate armes service committee.

In the first session a similar Senate-House battle over funds for the air force, army and navy was decided in favor of the House.

The House provided money for 58 combat groups compared with 48 asked by President Truman and the Senate. But the House won that legislative deadlock after weeks of conference.

Negro Escapes From Jail At Texarkana

TEXARKANA, Dec. 22. (AP)—A 24-year-old negro held here after escaping from the Kern county, Calif., jail sawed his way out of the Texarkana city jail sometime during the night.

He was James Prince White, one of seven men who made a mass escape Nov. 12 from the California jail, three days after he was arrested in Bakersfield, Calif., on charges of burglary, narcotics possession and probation violation.

Bowie county officers here arrested White Tuesday and said he admitted burglarizing a drive-in theater here and attempting two other burglaries.

White sawed through a seven-inch bar in a cell window seven feet high after piling on his cot old traffic stands kept in his cell. He then slipped out a side door.

Consumers

November," the board said, "was $800,000,000 less than a year earlier and $1,500,000,000 below November, 1946."

Pig Crop Higher

Like money, pigs were expected to be plentiful in 1950. The Agriculture department said the fall crop this year is 10 per cent higher than last year's, while next spring's crop is due to be six per cent bigger than in the spring of 1949.

Those two crops will make up the bulk of the 1950 pork supply, and the increase probably will be reflected in lower prices paid by the consumer.

In a second announcement, the department said it will support egg prices at a level intended to assure farmers across the nation of an average income of 37 cents a dozen—compared with 45 cents this year.

That policy, officials predicted, will mean a drop of eight to ten cents a dozen in the average cost to consumers. While a sharp cut in production could prevent that price drop, officials said, 1950 egg output is expected to exceed the 1949 figure by two or three per cent.

Steel Prices Boosted

In the steel picture, the $4-per-ton boost recently announced by U. S. Steel Corp., was spreading quickly throughout the industry, which was expected to pass it to steel users and thence to the consumer.

The National Steel Corp. said yesterday it was following U. S. Steel's lead. Great Lakes Steel Corp. had made a similar announcement earlier.

Steel men said one reason for the boost was the strike-ending pension and insurance plan negotiated by Philip Murray's CIO steelworkers.

Labor also was involved in the possibility of a boost in coal prices. John L. Lewis' United Mine workers have been without a contract in major coal fields since June 30. A lengthy strike was followed by a truce under which the miners are working an abbreviated work week.

Mine owners have said that any worker benefits which raise the cost of digging coal will mean a rise in the retail price.

Security-First Policy Urged

Defense Costs Being Trimmed

NEW YORK, Dec. 22. (AP)—The nation's military security should get priority over economic considerations, Defense Secretary Louis Johnson said last night.

But he said that spending either too much or too little for military purposes could be disastrous for the United States.

Economy Pushed

Johnson declared that to "build up our military power to the point where it overburdens our peacetime economy and hurt that prop of our national security would be disastrous."

"But," he added, "while it would be disastrous to wreck our economy by inordinate military expenses, it would be equally disastrous to be penny-pinching. The watch-word must be military security first, economy second."

Johnson declined to comment on the picket demonstration.

Grant Reynolds, a leader, said the pickets were trying to "spotlight the shameful Army program of segregation which Secretary Johnson seeks to pawn off on negroes as a forward step."

Johnson, who has been pushing a unification economy campaign to trim $1,000,000,000 from the current $15,000,000,00 defense budget, reported that the drive already has passed its first goal.

Personnel Reduced

As part of the program, he said that as of Dec. 1, the Army, Navy and Air Force have cut 138,000 workers off their payrolls—3,000 more than originally scheduled.

In Washington, the Defense department released a breakdown showing that as of Dec. 1 the Army had dropped 55,000 workers—14,000 more than the 41,000 originally planned.

The Air Force has lead off 17,350 of the 18,000 cutback assigned to it, the figures showed, while the Navy and Marine corps layoffs totalled 65,600 against a goal of 76,000.

The department said the navy has until next June 30 to make the additional 10,400 reductions, but is expected to complete the job by the end of this month.

Johnson, in announcing the reduction program last summer, estimated the savings in payrolls would be about $334,000,000.

In his address last night, the defense chief said that unification "has about weathered the stormy seas of service controversy. It is now emerging into the com-

THE QUESTION

THE ANSWERS

PATTYE HELEN NEILL, 2432 Twenty - third, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Neill: "I believe that I like 'The Littlest Angel' best. It is a most unusual story, because the little boy in it is not like little boys today; he was always thinking of others."

SUE ANN MOORE, 2010 Twenty - fourth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Moore: "My favorite is 'Why the Chimes Rang.' I like it best because it is so interesting and so good. It told about a lot of selfish people and then one person who was unselfish and gave a small gift and got the chimes to ring again."

MARTHA ANN KEY, 1910 Twenty - first, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Key: "The Visit of Three Kings," is my favorite. It is an interesting story and is different because it tells about the Christmas of Spanish children. It had a very happy ending."

LOWELL CROSS, 2430 Twentieth, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Cross: "The Christmas Carol," by Charles Dickens, is my favorite. I like it because it was the story of a mean man who became good on Christmas because of a ghost. It was kind of scarry bu it had a good ending."

MARTIN BENSON, 1625 Ave. Y, son of Dr. and Mrs. M. H. Benson: "My favorite is 'Rudolph the Red Nosed Reindeer.' It is rather sad, but it has a happy ending, because it was real foggy, and Santa asked Rudolph to lead his sleigh."

HUD RHEA, 2120 Twenty-eighth, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Rhea: "I liked the poem about 'Santa Claus and the Mouse' best. It's a funny poem and it's also interesting. It's a poem that children of all ages will enoy."

"Lost Family" Holds Reunion

The 79-year-old Wellington, Kan., man, lost contact with his relatives here when he moved away after his wife died in 1919. He was reunited with them yesterday, climaxing a 30-year search.

Visiting Daughter

Today he was visiting his daughter, Mrs. Theresa Adcock, and four grandchildren who said they had never known a grandparent.

Riggs was met at the Portland union depot yesterday by the him by a large bright red ribbon in his coat lapel. They rushed up to him, hugged him, and then grouped about for a family photograph.

The grandchildren are Mrs. Herman Kern of Portland and Mrs. Earl Emme, Mrs. Esa Lewis and Don Adcock, all of Oregon City.

Riggs often tried to contact relatives by mail after he moved to Kansas, but letters always returned stamped "unknown."

Finally he wrote a letter to the editor of the Oregon City Banner-Courier. He mentioned the names of some members of his family who had once lived there.

Meeting Arranged

The letter was published and read by Mrs. Emme, who called it to the attention of her mother.

After a quick exchange of letters and telegrams the meeting in Portland was arranged. Mrs. Emme said the Oregon relatives last touch with Riggs because of deaths in the Kansas branch of the family.

"We know he has to go back to Kansas to settle his affair," Mrs. Emme said, "but we want him to come and stay with us."

They all agreed it was going to be a wonderful Christmas.

I don't ask for ashtrays, or slippers, or ties,

(Chas. D. Rice, in "Grit.")

SINCE everybody else is talking about Christmas, we might just as well fall in line and contribute to the general yakety-yak.

Herewith some not generally known items:

While Christmas essentially is a Christian holiday, persons of other religious persuasions — and some with no religious persuasions at all—join in the celebration in many parts of the earth . . . Christmas got its name from "Christes Masse," by which it was originally known . . . Nobody knows for sure the exact date of Christ's birthday. In fact, there are several dates on the present calendar which might hit closer to the exact date than December 25. They are May 20, April 19, or 20; and January 6, which, for some years and in some lands, continued to be Christmas Day for some time after December 25 was adopted in the year 354, by the bishop of Rome.

The custom of exchanging gifts on Christmas Day stems, of course, from the Three Wise Men and their laying the gold, frankincense and myrrh before the Christchild in the manger at Bethlehem. But another Christmas custom is more difficult to track down, that of using an evergreen tree as a symbol, and, for that matter, the use of any greenery, such as holly, sprays of cedar, etc.

Best guess regarding the use of greenery comes from early Rome, whose citizens picked up the idea from the Old Teutons.

Green boughs of various kinds then were used to scare off imps and devils—especially in the Winter and inside dwellings. Students of antiquity believe the use of greenery became part of Christmas — then the use of the tree naturally followed.

WHILE we Christians look upon December 25 as a holiday linked with our belief in the diety of Jesus Christ, many pagan customs and rites have been superimposed upon our methods of observance . . . Our Santa Claus springs from the old Dutch patron saint of Christmas, St. Nicholas, our pronunciation being a corruption of the original. However, the theoretical gentleman we call Santa Claus is known by many other names in many other places. In China, he is both "Dun Che Lao Ren," meaning "Christmas Old Man," and "Lan Khoong-Khoong," meaning "Nice Old Father."

The words "Yule" and "Noel" have found their way into our Christmas scene—the first from the Norwegian, the latter from the French. "Yule" comes from the Norwegian midwinter sun festival, Jul; "Noel," from the word that means to the French what Christmas means to us.

The Christmas tree as we know it—decorated, lighted, etc.—isn't such an old tradition. It got its start in England during the reign of Victoria. Previously, the Germans had used it to some extent, as had the early Saxons. But its use was not general until 100 years ago.

As some American children leave out cookies, fruit cake or other refreshments for Santa Claus on Christmas Eve, Dutch kids leave grain for his reindeer. The little Hollanders put the grain in their wooden shoes and leave the shoes on the doorstep before they go to bed on Christmas Eve.

The English contributed the idea of caroling to Christmas and not over a couple of hundred years ago. They also took up the Yule log, as a part of Christmas, getting their idea from the Scandinavians. The latter always burned Yule logs in connections with their early-day celebrations of midwinter—celebrations which marked the turning of the coldest weather toward warmer days.

Next to Americans and Britishers, the Chinese are the most energetic carolers at Christmas time. Over there, Christian Chinese sing all the old favorites, like "Hark, The Herald Angels Sing!" with Chinese words.

PECULIARLY, observance of Christmas came to England before Christianity. The residents of heathen England celebrated December 25 as New Year's day and the night preceding it was called "Mother's Night." During that night, people went around extolling the virtues of motherhood and mothers.

Christmas wasn't always popular in Merrie Old England. In 1644, an Act of parliament made it illegal for a Britisher to observe the day. King Charles II later revived the holiday, and made its observance inside the law. But the dour Scotch clung to non-observance for a long time, regardless of the King's ideas.

The exchanging, or mere giving, of Christmas presents were unknown for many ages outside the Teutonic countries. Even to this day, gifts are not the major attraction of the day in many countries.

Americans have commercialized Christmas to a greater extent than any other people, albeit the British and Scandanavians — and, in normal times, the Germans — aren't far behind us, in ratio to their ability to afford presents.

But, commercialized, or not, Christmas is a Great Day; the Christmas Season is a grand time to live!

BY DREW PEARSON: CABINET OFFICIALS DIFFER OVER RETURNING FORMOSA TO JAPAN

Admiral Denfeld Is Not Interested In Politics

WASHINGTON — Most important backstage debate over U. S. foreign policy now involves Formosa, the strategic island north of the Philippines which Japan captured from China in the war of 1895. One pledge the allies made to China in the recent war was that Formosa would go back to China.

PEARSON

But last month General MacArthur sent a triple-urgent cable urging that Formosa be claimed by us and occupied by U. S. troops for Japan. He warned that Formosa was a three-hour flight from Okinawa, two hours from Japan, and that the U. S. A. might as well kiss off all its southeast Asia program if it abandoned Formosa to Chinese Communism.

Behind this cable was the fact that Chinese Communists are readying a giant flotilla on the mainland to take this island, last remaining stronghold of the Chinese Nationalists. Also behind MacArthur's cable is the fact that Chiang Kai-shek, immediately after V-J day, made the tragic mistake of putting Formosa under one of his most unscrupulous warlords. Result: looting, terrorism and 60,000 Formosans killed. Most residents of the island would now welcome the Communists. Their taste of Chinese Nationalists has been sour indeed.

Prior to MacArthur's cable the joint chiefs of staff had decided to abandon Formosa. But his cable bucked them up. As a result, they have now agreed unanimously, have recommended that Formosa be claimed as Japanese territory and that a detachment of U. S. marines, now on Guam, be landed.

The joint chiefs of staff are supported by potent Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson. And this is where the clash occurs. They are not supported by svelte but equally potent Secretary of State Dean Acheson. He points out that to occupy Formosa with American troops on behalf of Japan, after Japan's long record of imperial conquest against China, would make us the laughing stock of the Orient. Furthermore, it would alienate Oriental races all the way from Batavia to Harbin.

Cutting Red Tape

Red-tape cutter Steve Early, the undersecretary of defense, raised cain last week with molasses-moving press executives in the Pentagon.

"Too many memos, too much red tape, too much dillydallying," Early blasted, looking at Bill Frye, chief of press relations for the entire national Defense department.

Early, once a newsman, and once press secretary to FDR, promptly relieved Frye as kingpin press arbiter over the Army, Navy and Air Forces. From now on, the Navy can issue its own statements to the press as well as the Army and Air Force.

TWO men who were in the headlines over unification two months ago had a final showdown last week. They were sincere, hard-working Secretary of the Navy Francis Matthews and the man he kicked out as chief of naval operations, popular Admiral Louis Denfeld.

Matthews called Denfeld to his office, and demanded to know definitely whether he was quitting the Navy. He pointed out that Denfeld had promised to give his answer by December 1, that it was well beyond that date, and that Navy reorganization couldn't be held up any longer.

Denfeld explained that he was having trouble making up his mind. At first, he said, 70 per cent of his friends advised him to stick, but this ratio has now dropped to about 50-50. He had also been offered many civilian jobs—both in industry and politics. He had been invited, he said, to run for governor of Massachusetts and for the late Congressman Bates' seat in Congress. But, he insisted, he wasn't interested in politics.

A few days later Denfeld wrote Matthews a letter rejecting the command of U. S. naval forces in European waters though he is still remaining temporarily in the navy.

U. S. Diplomats Hounded

Counselor George Kennan has told Secretary of State Acheson that the United States may have to close down all its embassies and legations in eastern Europe. Kennan, the ace diplomat on Russia, says the restrictions placed on the American legation in Bulgaria are just the beginning of a Russian campaign to drive every American diplomat out of eastern Europe.

American diplomats in Sofia are followed day and night by secret police, aren't even allowed licenses plates for their automobiles. Rather than submit to this highhanded treatment, Kennan says it would be just as well to break relations with all Russian satellites.

Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky visited Grotewohl in the Russian hospital outside Berlin this week and then ordered the Russians to put out the story that Grotewohl is suffering from the flu.

Goldwyn Advises Ex-Tennis Star To Practice On Acting

EX-TENNISTAR Frank Shields' was signed to a Sam Goldwyn Movie contract. He idled in Movietown many weeks—doing nothing but collecting his pay. He never even met Sam.

To pass away the time Frank played tennis every day. Five months later, he was summoned to Goldyn's sanctum. He raced there, expecting his first role.

Sam looked up from his newspaper and dryly said: "Shields, practice acting, not tennis."

BILL DOLL, former press agent for "As the Girls Go," told the Theatre Arts editor of the time Mike Todd wanted some concessions from Actors' Equity. His staff got up all sorts of charts and graphs to prove that the show was wallowing in red ink and couldn't continue unless the salaries were reduced.

At the same time press agent Doll was bombarding drama editors with releases that the show was the biggest hit in town. The Times drama man, Sam Zolotow, called Todd's attention to the discrepancy.

"Your auditors," said Sam, "are trying to prove you're losing a fortune. And your press agent claims you're making a fortune. How about that?"

'Twas The Night Before Christmas

BY ROBERT C. RUARK

Amazed Writer Decides That Airplane Is "Here To Stay"

HONOLULU, Hawaii, Dec. 22—The big double-decker Boeing took off smooth and nice from the field at San Francisco, and the stewardess smiled and the steward said come on down to the bar in a few minutes and he would throw a light libation at me and my berth was made and ready whenever I wanted it.

RUARK

The drunken sailor said he sure could use a slug of anything short of sheep-dip, because man, he had the worst shakes he ever had in all his born days and in his time he had acquired some pretty fine shakes.

The drunken sailor was red-headed, and he was wearing a leather jacket and a pair of dungarees rolled halfway up his legs. I asked him where he was headed and he said Eniwetok, in the Marshalls.

"I am a carpenter," he said. "Before I was a carpenter I was in the merchant marine. Now I am going to Eniwetok to work for Atomic Energy commission. How do you like that? I am a drunk deck-hand and now I am working with the atomic bomb."

I hit the sack pretty early and died for a few hours, but I woke up still thinking about the drunken sailor and the Atomic Energy commission. If you are shopping around for a short commentary on the state of the world, I guess this is as good as any you'll find.

It is a long haul from Jack London. Here you have a young man with too much to drink aboard going forth into the adventurous South Pacific. He is not stowed away in a tea clipper, but is riding a Pan American Stratocruiser which has two decks in it and carries a cocktail lounge in its belly.

This young adventurer, smoothed down by a night's sleep in a berth bigger than a Pullman accommodation, will take his hangover to a cocktail bar in Honolulu for further nourishment; will climb on another huge Boeing, and will arrive at the mangy little atoll of Eniwetok sozzled and in the approved beach-combing fashion. There, while the waves pound on the reefs and the gulls yelp in the damp salt air, he will contribute his carpenter's knack to a project which very well may decide whether humans are to continue to dwell on this globe.

THE drunken sailor was not impressed by the fact that he was hurtling through the air at 300 miles an hour in a multi million dollar marvel of the machine age, or that some several billions worth of skill had conspired to speed him to Eniwetok to labor on the most colossal scientific achievement of the age.

"I wish to hell they'd open that bar," he said. "I got a thirst like a camel. I wonder if they got pretty good movies on Eniwetok?"

Occasionally I come down with the hard marvels at the tininess of the world, and its oversimplification as a result of the airplane, and it seemed to me miraculous that a man of limited education and small skill would be winging thousands of miles on de luxe transportation to work with a miraculous scientific project on a far Pacific island whose name was unknown to all but a few before the Japs decided to knock Pearl Harbor loose from its insularity.

This feeling of numbness was not dispelled when the big plane swooped down on the airfield in Honolulu. I was expecting no welcoming committee, but standing on the strip was a group composed of Don Beach-Comber, Eddie Reich, and Mel Taff.

• • •

Men Are Described

Beach-Comber is a former lieutenant colonel in the air forces. He is a restaurant man who changed his Louisiana name of Beaumont-Gant to Beach-Comber for professional purposes. I knew him from Italy and the war, and later from New York and Hollywood.

Eddie Reich is a former sportswriter and publicist I knew in Washington before the war. Mel Taff is one of my oldest buddies from the University of North Carolina, more years back than I care to recall. He is working for the public health people here.

When I got to the hotel the first man I ran into was an Australian flier who was my best horse-racing buddy back in Melbourne, at the end of the war. The first phone call was from a doctor I knew in Viareggio, Italy, when I was lowering a boom on Gen. John Courthouse Lee.

Maybe I'm naive, but to me —a country kid from the south—it's all pretty fabulous. What I mean, I do believe the airplane is here to stay.

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

There is plenty a wife can do in that situation, and the sooner she starts in on her campaign the better.

MILLETT

Perhaps she has lost her enthusiasm and zest for living and becoming a pretty dull sort of woman for a man to come home to.

Or it may be that her husband is so worried about his job or about finances that he doesn't realize that he seems to be disinterested or neglectful at home.

COULD BE ALMOST ANYTHING

Once she has done that, she can start figuring out how to give back to the marriage what has gone from it.

Many a wife has to face this problem some time in her marriage. If she blames her husband, inwardly she grows bitter toward him. If she nags him about his disinterest, she drives him away from her. But if she calmly and privately figures out WHY her husband is acting as he is, she stands a good chance of being able to get the marriage back on a happy relationship.

If she starts to work soon enough she can often solve the problem before her husband even realizes that one exists.

"Try And Stop Me"

HERSCHEL BRICKELL has assembled a volume about writing by prominent exponents of the craft. Here are a few noteworthy samples. Voltaire declared, "If I had a son who wanted to write, I should wring his neck out of sheer affection." Wilbur Daniel Steele observed, "There is a time when a tale is a firm and beautiful creature, a masterpiece without a flaw — and that is just before you sit down to write it."

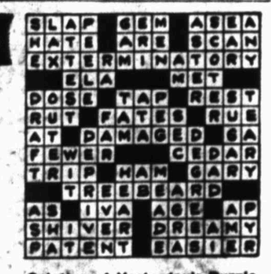

Ring Lardner warned, "Many young writers make the mistake of enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope big enough for the manuscript to come back in. This is far too great a temptation to the editor."

SQUEEZING THE TURNIP

The Bureau of Internal Revenue has announced with apparent pride that it again has prepared a booklet containing information for those who soon must be paying 1949 income taxes. The price is 25 cents a copy.

Information of this nature certainly should be made available from an authoritative and official source. The Bureau of Internal Revenue is the obviously proper source, since it collects the tax and makes practically all the decisions affecting taxable incomes and the deductions which may be claimed by the individual taxpayers.

But it seems a little "chinchy" that the taxpayer should be required to pay anything—even 25 cents—for information which should be available without cost. It is one of the functions of the bureau, as specifically provided in the income tax laws, that it is to assist the taxpayer in properly preparing his return.

True, the amount is small. Probably the booklet will be worth the cost many times over to most of those who buy and study it. But its sale gives the impression that our extravagant government isn't overlooking even the small change it might squeeze out of American taxpayers

ONLY DISASTER CAN SPOIL YEAR

Safety Record In Coal Mines May Be The Best In History

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 22 (AP)—This year looks like the safest in history for the men who dig the nation's coal.

Only a major disaster in the final week of 1949 can spoil what promises to be record year for safety in the coal pits.

Coal men declared today all the credit does not belong to the three strikes of 1949 which kept the country's 480,000 coal diggers idle for varying periods of time.

Strikes Impair Safety

Strikes often contribute to poor safety records—through nobody's fault at all. Resumption of mining after past strikes has been marked by big and little disasters.

When mines are closed, great care must be taken to prevent accumulation of deadly gas, to check up on roof supports which might sag or crack unnoticed and to go over electrical equipment which could go bad during the miners' absence.

"If our industry can keep alert in all of the mines of this country, we can achieve a record never before attained that is, of going through a complete calendar year without a major disaster. The men responsible for the operation of the mines have done a remarkable piece of work in carrying us to this point."

Disaster Defined

The United States Bureau of Mines defines a major disaster as one in which five or more men lose their lives.

The last such accident—a fire—occurred on November 4, 1948. The last major mine explosion took place in July of 1948.

The fatality rate for the first 10 months of 1949 was 1.14 deaths for each million tons of soft coal mined. That rate, while low in comparison with past years, represents the loss of 397 lives.

Most of the victims died singly or by twos and threes in accidents involving falling roofs or mine cars which went out of control.

Production this year is estimated at around 430,000,000 tons of soft coal, compared to the pre-war production rate of around 400,000,000 tons a year when the accident rate was higher.

Clark Gable And New Bride Preparing To Depart For Honolulu

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 22. (AP)—Sometime today, Clark Gable and his British-born bride are to leave his nearby Encino ranch and drive to San Francisco to board a liner for a Hawaiian honeymoon.

So say studio friends. As for Gable and the widow of Douglas Fairbanks, sr., they have remained in complete seclusion since their surprise wedding at a luxurious guest ranch north of Santa Barbara on Tuesday.

Newsmen and photographers—plus many curious—camped outside the Encino ranch grounds have not seen the newlyweds. Although the gates were closed and the telephone doesn't answer, they were convinced they were there.

Plenty Of Packing

If so, the Gables probably had plenty of packing to do.

One studio spokesman said he believed the couple was going to Honolulu "because they figure they can get some privacy on the boat." They are expected to be gone two to four weeks.

Former wives of 48-year-old Gable were Josephine Dillon, Ria Langham and Actress Carole Lombard, in that order.

Mrs. Gable, who gave her age as 39 when she and Gable obtained their marriage license at San Luis Obispo, Calif., a few hours before the wedding, formerly was married to Lord Ashley of England, to Fairbanks and to Lord Stanley of Alderley.

Both Divorced Twice

Two of Gable's previous marriages ended in divorce and one in tragic death. The same is true of his bride. Fairbanks, athletic actor of the silent films, died of heart disease in 1939. And Miss Lombard, described in Hollywood as an ideal mate for Gable, was killed in a Nevada plane crash in 1942.

Gable's bride is believed to have followed a feminine whim in giving her age as 39. Files show that she claimed 32 years when she married Fairbanks 13 years ago.

Sunday School Group Gives Yule Program

While a young person's choir sang, the Beginners' department re-enacted "Away In A Manger," in pantomime, with the Primary department following with "Silent Night," and the Junior department next in "O Little Town of Bethlehem."

Several of the group recited Christmas poems, including three-year-old Kenny Gideon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jean Gideon, 2426 North Third, who recited "The Night Before Christmas."

Youth Receives Life Sentence

JACKSON, Miss., Dec. 22 (AP)—A handsome 18-year-old boy is under a life prison sentence for a murder that culminated the high school romance he says was highlighted with sex orgies and nude photography.

The dark-haired central high school junior, Ronnie Pitts, was sentenced late yesterday for the murder of Perry Henderson, vacuum cleaner firm executive.

A jury convicted Pitts Monday night but disregarded a state demand for the death penalty. Instead it recommended life imprisonment, making that sentence mandatory.

Judge Thomas told Pitts:

"I think you have been given a fair trial. There has been some criticism of this court for allowing young people to attend the trial. This was done, however, to make sure that all of your rights would be protected."

During the trial the courtroom was packed with bobby soxers, many of them schoolmates of Anna and Ronnie. At one time they packed the balcony so tightly an engineer was called to ascertain if it would stand the strain.

Anna was not present when he was sentenced. She and her mother have returned to Atlanta where they have made their home since Henderson's death.

Rites Slated Today For Crosbyton Man

CROSBYTON, Dec. 22 (Special)—Funeral services for Paul D. K. Halder, 53, a brother-in-law of Dr. M. R. Snodgrass of Crosbyton, who died at 5:30 a. m. Wednesday in the Crosbyton hospital after a six-month illness, were held at 11 a. m. today in the new King Funeral home chapel. Rev. Ramsey of Lubbock officiated. Burial was in Crosbyton cemetery where graveside rites were under the direction of the local American Legion post.

Halder came to Crosbyton from Xinia, Ohio, six months ago. He had been in the postal service in Xinia for 20 years. He was a member of the Canton Bulldogs professional football team for ten years.

He is survived by his wife; two daughters, Mrs. Robert Jensen of San Francisco Calif., and Mrs. Jack Klover of Xinia; a son, Russell of Crosbyton; and four grandchildren.

Jobless Workers Are Praying For Reopening Of Cloth Mill

DOUGLAS, Ga., Dec. 22. (AP)—Textile workers in this small northwest Georgia mill town have turned to prayer to get back their jobs.

Now the jobless mill hands pray that the mill will be reopened.

We think He will hear us," Sweetwater says. "We think the mill will be reopened."

Man Is Hopeful

M. T. McDearmid, the mill superintendent, is hopeful the mill will be humming again soon.

"I think the Lord has heard us," he says. "Groups from textile interests in other parts of the country have been here to see us They want to buy the mill and reopen it."

McDearmid says a grocer, J. A. Robbins, lets the jobless charge groceries when their credit becomes exhausted elsewhere, and the mill, which owns 55 houses in the mill village, hasn't collected any rent since the shutdown.

Parents Of Blaze Victims Are Aided

A fund totaling $64.35 and groceries valued at $25 were given Wednesday to Mr. and Mrs. William M. Carmen, parents of the two children who burned to death in a north Lubbock fire on Tuesday.

Management Group At Texas Tech To Meet

Annual banquet of the Texas Tech management association will be held Jan. 9 in the Hilton hotel ballroom, it has been announced.

John Walker, vice president of Braniff International airways and director of the recent "Braniff States of America" industrial survey, will be the principal speaker. "A Nation Within a Nation," a discussion of that survey, will be his topic.

Besides student and faculty members of the association, many industrial leaders of West Texas have been invited to attend the banquet.

More and more "video" is becoming the accepted short term for television just like radio developed from wireless.

Long distance telephone operators will be rushed, too. Every operator who can help will be on the job Christmas Eve and Christmas Day. But circuits will be jammed. Delays will be unavoidable. If your call is delayed, please be patient.

Predictions Of New Inflation In U. S. During 1950 Disputed

NEW YORK, Dec. 22 (AP) — A hard core of dissenters stubbornly refuses to go along with the growing view that 1950 will see a new tide of inflation — meaning rising prices, with your dollar worth less at the store than it is today.

Some of these seers feel that inflation, if any, will be mild. Others say 1950 is apt to be a carbon copy of 1949. The general price level will decline a little in spite of rises in some commodities. Business will be in a healthy state, but not spectacularly so.

Arguments Are Challenged

The dissenters even challenge two of the strongest arguments of those who see inflation just around the corner: The treasury's deficit financing, and rising wage scales. They admit that both are inflationary because they put more money in circulation, but they see offsetting tendencies.

As for the cost of living, they argue that bumper crops and surpluses, despite government supports, will hold food prices in line or a little lower, offsetting rises in rents and in prices of other consumer goods.

The President thinks the federal daydeficit this year will be $5 billion. But an economic consultant to industry, Dr. Julius Hirsch, says "a federal deficit of two per cent of our gross national production would hardly be strong enough alone to bring about inflation — especially not if our average national productivity should rise, as it seems bound to do."

Lower Cost Seen

Rising productivity means producing more goods in each manhour and machine-hour—labor doing a little more and having better machines with which to work. It means lowered production costs and a break on rising prices, and becomes a strong weapon against inflation.

As for the pull of wages toward inflation, the Research Institute of America predicts that labor's overall earnings in 1950 will be about the same as 1949. The rise in hourly wages will be offset by increased productivity and more economical use of time and machines by management.

Paris Bank Employes Indicted For Frauds

They were accused of conspiracy to violate U. S. banking laws, misapplication of funds, and making false entries over a period from Dec. 21, 1942 until Aug. 6, 1949.

Indicted were Morris Fleming, vice president and trust officer of the bank; Alfred Kidd, assistant trust officer; William H. Snow, assistant trust officer, and Ann Marshall, bank employe.

Federal District Attorney Warren G. Moore said the government alleges approximately $70,000 was misapplied.

Fleming said he was innocent of any wrong doing. He made his statement to the Associated Press after the Federal Bureau of Investigation filed charges Sept. 26 before the U. S. commissioner in Paris.

The indictment charged the setting up of fictitious accounts to be used to conceal and carry out conspiracy, and transfer of trust funds to these accounts.

Fleming was indicted on 21 counts; Kidd on 15; Snow on 20, and Ann Marshall on 19.

Reds Pull Fast Ones On Slavs

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Dec. 22 (AP)—Yugoslavia's army day celebration today was marked by charges that once-friendly Russia used to sell Premier Marshal Tito second-hand arms and useless gunpowder at exorbitant prices.

The charge was made by Lt. Gen. Otmar Kreacic, political chief of the Yugoslav army, in a speech at a select celebration party attended by Tito and his top-ranking colleagues.

Equipment Painted

Despite this double-dealing by the Russians even before the Cominform split in 1948, Kreacic said, Yugoslavia built a modern army patterned after the Red army. He said Russian leaders advised the Yugoslavs there was no need to expand their army because Communist allies would help.

He said Russia sold Yugoslavia artillery, engineering and signal corps material as new when actually it was old material freshly painted.

"In exchange for dollars and gold," said Kreacic, "they (the Russians) sent us gunpowder which was unusable and which the Soviet Union had already discarded as such."

Feed Superiority Is Indicated By Tests

An average gain of 3.09 pounds per animal during the first period of the experiment was recorded for a sorghum diet as compared to 1.94 pounds for a cottonseed hull ration.

Prior Tests Made

This is not the first experiment conducted at Tech into the merits of the two rations, Dean Stangel said, but rather an attempt to detemine what mixture of the two, or straight diet of one, will produce the best results for the least money and time. Cost tabulations will be compared later.

Six lots of 10 yearling Herefords each are being used in the research. Animals in two lots are fed straight rations, respectively, of silage or hulls; one is given a half and half mixture; one 75 percent silage and 25 percent hulls mixture, one 75 percent hulls and 25 per cent silage and one is fed cottonseed huls alone without any grain.

Supplement Also Used

In all lots except the last, the animals are fed a dry-lot supplement of milo chop, cottonseed meal, and alfalfa hay. The milo is taken out for the last lot.

The experiment will last a total of 140 days. Dean Stangel said. It was instigated because cottonseed hulls are fed by most farmers and dairymen in this area and the results are aimed at helping them establish a well-rounded diet.

Full results during the first period were (including supplementary feeding): full ration silage, 3.09 pounds per animal; full ration hulls 1.95 pounds per animal; 75 percent silage, 25 per cent hulls 3.00 pounds; 75 percent hulls, 25 percent silage, 2.24 pounds; 50 percent each, 2.51 pounds; and hulls without milo chop, 1.66 pounds.

PLIGHT OF COMMUNITIES REVEALED

Poverty-Stricken Maryland Town Cheered By Yule Gifts

SHALLMAR, Md., Dec. 22 (AP)—The spirit of Christmas burned brightly in this little mountain town today.

There had been no work in the community since its only mine closed down in March for lack of orders.

Thin, scantily clad children became faint in school for lack of food. Some families had subsisted for weeks on a diet made up mainly of potatoes and apples.

Soon trucks loaded with food and clothing started bumping their way over the narrow mountain road to Shallmar. The packages were sent from all sections of the country.

Hundreds of toys arrived and the mails brought letters from each of the 48 states. Many contained a coin or a check. More than $3,000 is on hand now.

Presents Shared

In all six and one-half tons of clothing and foodstuffs have been sent to Shallmar.

That would have been enough to carry the community for a long time.

But Christmas is coming and many families of nearby Maryland and West Virginia communities also have been facing a cheerless yule.

Seventy neighboring families have received Shallmar food baskets in the last day or two. The children of 30 families have been clothed from Shallmar stocks.

Many toys are being repaired by the men of the town. They will be sent to mountain homes where Christmas stockings would have been empty.

Shallmar has given so much that there is just enough food left for the weekend.

But this is a big weekend. The folks here are glad they have had a chance to spread the spirit of Christmas.

He said that future decisions in the unification program would be "jointly arrived at" and would command "obedience freely and cheerfully given."

A Christmas recital Wednesday night by piano students of Mrs. Ruth Graydon Dean in the auditorium of the B. E. Adair Music company attracted approximately 125 parents and friends. A total of 38 students took part in the recital.

Mr. and Mrs. Cap Moore of Abilene drove through Lubbock Tuesday en route to Plainview to spend Christmas holidays with their sons DeWitt and Esom Moore. After Christmas they plan to visit with friends here, they said. Moore, former deputy sheriff of Lubbock county, recently underwent surgery in Abilene.

Santa Claus went to jail last night—but no complaints were filed against him. When he arrived at the Lubbock police station at 9 p. m., a dozen children of city policemen were waiting for him. Santa chatted with each child and handed out candy, fruit and Christmas favors.

Roger Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hall of 1912 Twenty-seventh, is spending the Christmas holidays in Lubbock after an absence of two years. He is a student at Sarah Lawrence college in Bronxville, N. Y., and will return east on Jan. 2. He is to visit his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cady of Geneseo, Ill., en route back to school. Hall is a 1944 graduate of Lubbock High school.

Lockers in the gymnasium of Senior High school were prowled through in a burglary reported to police early this morning by Principal Floyd Honey. Entrance was at a window. "The [illegible] room was ransacked, police said.

Two men were released from jail here on bonds of $1,000 each Wednesday, the sheriff's department announced. They were John Santibanez, 34, of Hart, Tex., charged with liquor law violation; and James T. Bray, 29-year-old Bryan negro, charged with theft of over $50.

Mrs. Mark Long, of 1805 Ave. S, left Lubbock by train Wednesday for Boston, Mass., where she will spend a month with a daughter and son-in-law. Mr. Long is a dispatcher for the city fire department.

A Red Cross worker, Miss Leah Jackson, told police Wednesday that clothing valued at about $328 had been taken from her car while it was parked in the 1000-block Texas Ave. Tuesday night and Wednesday. Investigation revealed that a right vent window had been broken to gain entry, police said. Miss Jackson lives at a downtown hotel.

Holiday Death Toll Of 435 Is Forecast

CHICAGO, Dec. 22 (AP)—The nation's death toll in traffic accidents over the three-day Christmas holiday may reach 435, the National Safety council says.

The pre-holiday estimate is the largest ever made by the council. It said the estimate covers only immediate traffic deaths—persons killed between 6 p. m. Friday and midnight Monday.

Ned H. Dearborn, council president, said: "We are forced to make this estimate by mathematics. It certainly is a terrible thought for the Christmas season. But our hearts tell us the toll will be lower—that the American people will not permit such a tragedy. I hope our mathematics is wrong, and our hearts are right."

Officers Named By Lubbock 20-30 Club

Election of officers to serve a six-month term highlighted a weekly meeting of the Lubbock 20-30 club Wednesday at Hotel Lubbock.

Gene Blackburn, one of three remaining active charter members of the local club, was named president. Ira Parks was elected vice president and Chuck Hawkins was named parliamentarian.

Members of the board of directors of the club are Swain Rodgers, Jack Blankenship, Charles Nelson, Jimmy Williams, and Wayne Bain.

Club members elected Garland Hoover delegate to the 20-30 midwinter convention to be held Dec. 30-31 and Jan. 1 in San Angelo. Ira Parks was selected as alternate.

Final plans also were made for a club social and dance to be held at 8 p.m. today at the Hideaway.

A guest attending last night's meeting was A. B. Huntsman. Twenty-three members were present.

Orders To Reduce Training Of Army Reservists Are Reported

NEW YORK, Dec. 22 (AP)—Drills and other training for army reservists will be reduced sharply beginning Jan. 1, the New York Times said today in a dispatch from Washington.

The retrenchment, which will affect both enlisted men and officers, was approved Monday by the Department of the Army, the newspaper said.

It added that cutback orders are being sent to reserve commanders throughout the country and will reach units at a time when many of them are conducting recruiting drives.

Funds Are Lacking

Reason for the action was said to be that appropriations for the current fiscal year are insufficient to cover training pay of the large number of men already in the reserve program.

Present appropriations provide $22,400,000 for drill pay for the fiscal year ending June 30. If training continued at the present rate, the Times said, the army would exceed this amount by 54 per cent.

The number of active reservists was reported to have jumped from 47,500 at the end of 1948 to 230,000 last October, while total drill-days increased from 161,000 last July to 317,000 in October.

Under existing law ,a reservist gets one-thirtieth of his monthly base pay for each drill period of four hours.

Money Is Needed

Under present prospects, the Times said, all the army's available funds for drill pay will be needed for the remainder of the fiscal year to train units made up according to authorized tables of organization and equipment.

These units, which are required by law to receive 48 drill periods a year, are supposed to be maintained in a state of readiness that would permit their immediate mobilization.

Other units probably will have to go without drill pay at least until June 30, the Times said.

Army Silencing Guns On German's Protest

FRANKFURT, Germany, Dec. 22 (AP)—A German housewife has won her war with the U. S. Army. She's silenced its guns.

Two weeks ago Mrs. Werner Schnelle wrote the commander of U. S. troops here, asking him to point the signal guns in front of Army headquarters in another direction. Twice-daily salutes from the guns rattled the windows of her home and of houses for blocks around, she said.

Yesterday the Army wrote Mrs. Schnelle that the guns would fire their last salute—except for occasional special military events — on Christmas eve. The Army said its action was an "unofficial Christmas present" and added:

"May the new-found tranquility and quiet of your home life presage luck and happiness for you in the new year."

TAFT-HARTLEY REPEAL STILL ISSUE

Demos Expect Labor Law To Stay On Books Through 1950

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP)—Repeal of the Taft-Hartley act still is President Truman's No. 1 objective in the labor field. But Democratic leaders in Congress say they look for the law to stay on the books through 1950.

Mr. Truman's lieutenants at the capitol have indicated clearly they plan to advise the President it probably would be futile to try again for repeal—or even drastic revision of the law—at the new session opening Jan. 3.

"So far as I can see, we just don't have the votes," one of the party chiefs told a reporter.

Demos Not Unhappy

The Truman Democrats aren't unhappy about that. On the contrary, many of them feel the party's chances for success at the polls will be enhanced if the Taft-Hartley argument can be put to the voters again.

Repeal advocates have contended all along that Mr. Truman's election and the overturn last year of Republican control of Congress constituted a mandate from the people for the scuttling of the Taft-Hartley measure. They are working for a big enough margin in the Senate and House in 1951 to achieve it.

The administration lost its fight for repeal at the last session because a big block of southern Democrats lined up with the Republican opposition, while only a few Republicans voted with the Truman Democrats.

The GOP foes of repeal, led by Senator Taft of Ohio, have argued that the majority of the voters want the essentials of the Taft-Hartley law kept.

Renewed Demand Expected

Taft himself, whose campaign for re-election next year already is in high gear, says he has found that many rank-and-file Ohio workers are against easing the present labor law. He says many of those who do want it repealed "have a prejudice against it, growing out of labor newspaper propaganda."

The dim prospects for repeal this year don't mean Mr. Truman will not ask for it in the State of the Union message he is preparing for Congress. Both sides expect a renewed demand, and there may be a stir toward carrying it out—one to which the Democrats can point in the congressional campaigns.

But at this time no serious effort is shaping up in the House, which would have to make the next move.

The move is there because the Senate at the last session passed a labor bill and sent it to the House. The measure is a long way from being what Mr. Truman wants. It retains all the basic features of the Taft-Hartley law, including the labor-hated injunction against national emergency strikes.

Bill In Committee

The Senate bill, drafted mainly by Taft, went to the House after that branch had rejected the administration's Taft-Hartley repealer and came within a few votes would change the Taft-Hartley law only slightly.

House Democratic leaders finally succeeded in getting that latter bill sent back to the labor committee. There it has been ever since. All efforts to get an agreement on a compromise have deadlocked so far.

"I hope there won't be any compromise," said Senator Murray (D-Mont), a leader of the repeal forces.

"We promised to get rid of the law. If we can't do it with the present line-up in Congress, then the thing to do is put it up to the people at next year's elections."

Murray and some of those on his side believe their position has been strengthened by the fact Mr. Truman did not use the Taft-Hartley injunction provision in the recent steel and coal strikes. They feel they can point to at least the steel settlement as evidence that the injuncion is not needed in critical strikes.

Change Need Admitted

On the other hand, some Taft-Hartley backers argue that the President should have sought a court order in both the coal and steel disputes.

Taft has acknowledged that some parts of the present law need changing, and most of his ideas for revision are incorporated in the bill the Senate passed. His argument has been that the administration doesn't want the law improved, but would rather keep it for a campaign issue.

There undoubtedly will be other labor matters getting some attention at the next session. But with the calendar crowded as it is with other legislation, and the leaders hoping for a comparatively brief session, there does not appear to be much chance for action.

Margaret O'Brien Not To Blame For Mother's Divorce

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 22.—Little Margaret O'Brien finds herself cast by some people in the unwanted role as the villian in her mother's marital troubles.

"It's not true," says the child star. "All I wanted was to see my mother happy."

Girl Is Censured

"That's right," agrees her mother, Mrs. Gladys O'Brien. "Margaret had nothing to do with the divorce."

Margaret has been censured from all sides for supposedly breaking up her mother's marriage to bandleader Don Sylvio. The criticism has even been delivered in person.

"In the first place," Mrs. O'Brien explained to me, "Margaret is my daughter; she does not advise me what to do. It is the other way around."

Film Is Praised

Capsule review: "Cinderella" (RKO) is Walt Disney at his best. That means delight for the kids of the world and their worried parents, too. The cartoon wizard has left his newfangled tricks to return to a good old fairy tale, told as only he and his artists can. It ranks with "Snow White." Best performers: A group of wonderfully wacky mice.

Infant Boy Sharing Mother's Jail Cell

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 22. (AP)—A seven-month-old boy was sent to jail yesterday under an old Pennsylvania law which prohibits separating mothers and nursing children.

Mrs. Lillian Gilyard, 38, appeared before Judge Oliver G. Parry carrying the youngest of her nine children wrapped in a pink blanket.

The commonwealth charged that Mrs. Gilyard failed to report earnings of $587.50 over a two-and-a-half-year period during which she received $3,000 in state public assistance.

Mrs. Gilyard, who testified she earned the extra money as a waitress to help support her family, was sentenced by Judge Parry to four months in county prison.

"What shall I do with the baby?" asked Deputy James J. O'Shea.

Alice Man Killed In Two-Truck Collision

ALICE, Dec. 22 (AP)—E. B. Goldthorn, 33, of Alice was killed in an accident involving two trucks last night five miles west of San Diego. James Thompson, about 26, of Alice, was injured critically.

The two, employes of Lane-Wells Co., oil well servicing firm, were returning from Crystal City in a heavy truck when the accident occurred. The driver of the other truck was not hurt. The dead man was a brother of Mayor B. O. Goldthorn of Alice.

Mayor O'Dwyer, Wife Fish Near Key Largo

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., Dec. 22. (AP)—New York's Mayor William O'Dwyer and his pretty bride cruised off Key Largo today on a deep sea fishing honeymoon.

The luxury yacht Almar II, with the 59-year-old mayor and his 33-year-old bride aboard, left here yesterday for Key Largo, just off the southeastern tip of the Florida mainland.

"We'll do some deep seat fishing off the angler's club at Key Largo for four or five days and then probably come back here," the mayor said.

The Almar II arrived here after a leisurely cruise down the inland waterway from Stuart, where they were married Tuesday morning.

Previously it had been expected they would go to Cat Cay in the Bahamas but veteran skippers pointed out the trip south assured them smoother sailing through blue-green waters off the southeast Florida coast.

TWO ARE INJURED

McKINNEY, Dec. 22 (AP)—Two persons were injured seriously in the collision of their auto and a Continental Trailways bus north of McKinney. They were Bill Harvill of Dallas and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Susie A. Chapman of Princeton, Tex. One rider on the bus suffered minor bruises.

HEADLINES CAUSE UNEASINESS

Cheerful Christmas Darkened By Backdrop Of World Events

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 — If shoppers, hurrying home in the past 24 hours to get ready for the peace of Christmas, looked at the newspaper headlines they must have felt a chill of uneasiness.

For, side by side with tales of a jolly yuletide, were stories that told of a reality which is here now and will be here for a long time after this Christmas and its merry bells are forgotten.

These stories, gathered from the corners of the earth, explain each in its own way, and coldly, simply by being factual reports of events, how the world this Christmas is divided into two armed camps.

Washington—The United States has reached "substantially complete agreement" with its western European allies on the exact weapons each of them will receive under the $1,000,000,000 American arms aid program. . . .

Paris—French Communists were busy yesterday with a campaign to sabotage American arms aid to France and the North Atlantic pact. Thousands of leaflets urged French troops to refuse the guns, planes and tanks and other arms which begin arriving soon at French ports. Said the leaflets: "Wall street war mongers are planning another war which they will fight with American tanks and French bodies." . . .

Chinese Conflict

China — Red China's armies, nearing the end of a year in which they have all but blown the Nationalists off the mainland, yesterday stalked their enemy for knockout blows in the west and south. . . .

Moscow—At the celebration of Joseph Stalin's 70th birthday, Mao Tze-Tung, leader of the Chinese Communists, hailed Stalin as "teacher and friend of the people of the entire world." And V. M. Molotov, former foreign minister and a powerful member of the politburo, lashed out at Premier Marshal Tito and his aides in Yugoslavia as a "gang of hired murderers and spies in the service of foreign imperialists." He said Tito's days are numbered, and he said "ruling circles of the United States and Great Britain are feverishly preparing for a new war." . . .

Yugoslavia—Yugoslavia a year ago displayed pictures of Stalin as big as any, but yesterday that country, an outcast from the Cominform, accused Russian leaders of "counter-revolutionary" propaganda. . . .

U. S. Warned

Germany—In eastern Berlin, held by the Russians, anti-soviet leaflets calling Stalin the "greatest slaveowner of mankind" were broadcast. They were stamped with the letter "F," symbol of the east German "freedom movement."

New York—Secretary of Defense Johnson warned against "penny-pinching" on defense outlays. He said the nation's watchword must be "military security first, economy second." He said the U. S. must have an up-to-date fighting force in being, rapidly enlargeable in wartime, capable, in concert with our natural allies, of defeating a potential enemy." He didn't mention Russia. . . .

Washington—Also without mentioning Russia, President Truman said "in an age where peace must be protected, we must resort to our own strength to hold aggression at bay." He said "until the captive peoples of the world emerge from darkness, they cannot see the hand we hold out in friendship. While they are made to respond to our handclasp with a mailed fist, we have no choice but to stand ready in self-defense."

Woman Tosses Baby Into Fire

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 22 (AP) — Mrs. Louise Beauchamp, mother of six children, threw her newborn baby into a burning apartment house incinerator, police said last night.

Police Lt. William Wangner of the homicide squad quoted the 37-year-old woman as saying things were tough enough in her household at Christmas time without another mouth to feed. Wangner said the baby was born alive.

Wangner said there was no way of telling before an autopsy whether the child was alive when it was put into the incinerator. It was born about 1 p. m. yesterday and found dead about 2:30 p. m., he said.

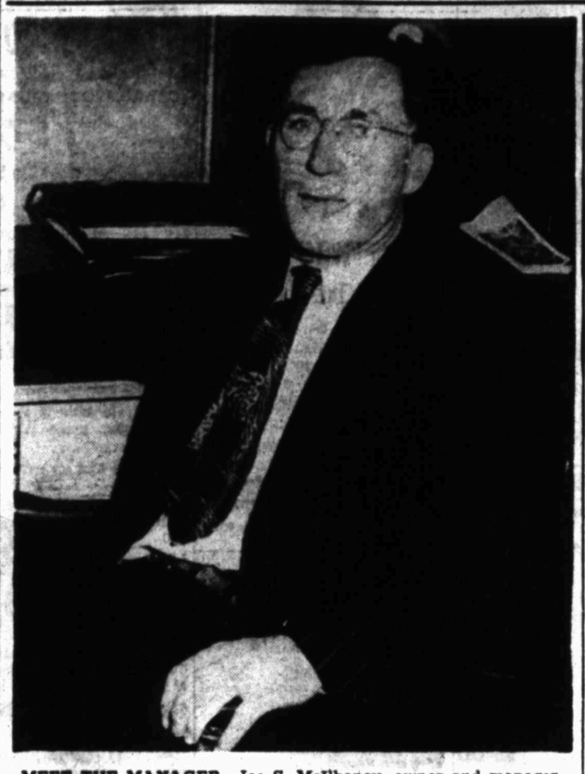

Janitor Finds Body

The mother was placed under protective custody in city hospital last night. No charges were placed against her immediately, pending an outcome of an autopsy on the dead child.

Parts of the baby's charred body were found in the incinerator of the apartment house by a janitor.

Mrs. Beauchamp has six living children, ranging in age from five to 17. Police said she has been on relief since her husband left her six months ago.

Detectives said she told them she had delivered the baby unattended in the bathroom of her apartment.

His family moved to Lubbock in November, 1912, and his father, the late John R. McIlhaney, engaged in business as a dairyman until 1916, when he moved away. Joe McIlhaney got experience in the creamery business in Colorado, where he worked for the Trinidad creamery. He came back to Lubbock and with his brother, George and Bill, entered the creamery business as partners here in 1924. In 1927 he entered the creamery and butter manufacturing businss at 1803 Ave. H. In 1938 he entered the bottled milk business with one route. Now he operates 12 retail and 10 wholesale routes. Dwight Hoskins Gets 35-Year Prison Term

AMARILLO, Dec. 22 (AP)—Dwight Hoskins, former Amarillo high school football star, was convicted last night of murdering a crippled filling station operator in a $31.11 holdup.

A jury which deliberated the case more than 24 hours gave Hoskins 35 years in prison. The state had demanded he be executed. Defense attorneys said they would give notice of appeal immediately.

Doctors Ask Control Of Cold Drugs Sales

METUCHEN, N. J., Dec. 22 (AP) The Middlesex County Medical society last night unanimously adopted a resolution calling for sale of anti-histamine drugs by prescription only.

The resolution urged the federal pure food and drug administration to "publicise the inherent dangers of the indiscriminate use of these drugs." The anti-histamine drugs are being marketed under various trade names as cold-stoppers.

Dr. Joseph H. Kler of New Brunswick, who presented the resolution, said one death from the use of anti-histmaine already has been reported.

He added, "The indiscriminate use is just as dangerous as would be the indiscriminate use of insulin in the treatment of diabetes."

Man Given Death In Sex Slaying Of Baby

FRESNO, Calif., Dec. 22 (AP) — Paul Montes Gutierrez, 25-year-old cotton picker, was convicted yesterday of first degree murder in the rape slaying of 17-months-old Josephine Yanez.

The verdict of Superior Judge Arthur C. Shepard, who heard the case without a jury, was without recommendation, making death penalty automatic.

Judge Shepard also ruled that Gutierrez was sane.

Gutierrez admitted taking the child from her parents' car, but said he remembered nothing after falling with her.

Here's a choice little Ozark Farm Tract just a few miles north of the Arkansas State Line. Located 5 miles from Gainesville, Missouri, the County Seat. Less than 2 miles of one arm of the vast lake to be formed back of the Bull Shoals Dam. High elevation. A dandy place for a fruit and chicken farm or a small dairy farm. In an area that will most certainly be highly developed as a result of the forming of the vast Blue-Water Lake back of Bull Shoals Dam. Total price of the 40 acres is only $740 and may be purchased on terms of $80 down and $25 per month. Address owner, P.O. Box 18 Gregory, Texas.

AUSTIN GIRL GETS TRAIN TRIP

March Of Dimes Poster Girl Will Enjoy Christmas Twice

By MAC ROY RASOR
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Dec. 22.—Two Christmases are coming for March of Dimes poster girl Wanda Wiley.

The little crutch-aided polio victim, like most other children, will enjoy Santa's regular visit Dec. 25.

Then after that, on Jan. 10, she'll leave on a long train trip to New York and Washington to meet the President and to help boost the nationwide March of Dimes campaign.

"Gee, won't that be a wonderful Christmas?" she said.

Her pensive smile hinted at her eight years. There's a new gap where a front tooth used to be.

To Get Wardrobe

Wanda was selected by the Na-Paralysis after foundation President Basil O'Connor met her in Warm Springs, Ga., where she was under treatment for the lingering effects of her polio last spring. She is one of six children of Mr. and Mrs. Earl M. Wiley of Austin —and the second of the family to suffer the dread disease which has staggered Texas with new record highs for two consecutive years.

In braces and on crutches, Wanda has been measured for a complete new wardrobe for her trip. The clothes are being made in New York and are expected by Jan. 1 to allow time for alterations if needed.

Meeting the President doesn't seem to impress quiet, good-mannered Wanda very much. But just mention that train ride and New York and the two dolls she got while having pictures made—then Wanda's dark brown eyes light up like Christmas candles.

Mother and dad won't make the trip. They'll have to stay home and take care of the brothers and sisters. Dad, a house painter, also has some jobs that have to be taken care of. Her dog, two kittens, and a tame squirrel have to stay home, too.

Woman To Help

But Wanda doesn't mind too much. She has been away from home before without her family since polio crippled her legs a year ago. She's glad, though, that Mrs. Lewis Hatch, executive secretary of the Travis county polio chapter, will be along. She has helped look after Wanda all during her illness and treatment.

Wanda expects to be in New York until Feb. 1. That means she'll miss nearly a whole month from Govalle school where she's in the second grade.

But that's been fixed up, too. Her teacher, Mrs. Carol Thornton, believes that little girls can learn by traveling as well as in schoolrooms. Besides, she says, Wanda is so well up in her school work she won't have any to make up when she gets back.

Wanda Wiley was a victim of the 1948 polio epidemic in Texas. Stricken a week after her 16-year-old sister Joyce, both went to Brackenridge hospital as respirator cases. Following this they were sent to Warm Springs.

Needs More Treatment

Now abue to get about on crutches and in a wheelchair, Wanda needs continuous treatment and care, possibly corrective surgery when she is more fully grown, to restore her limbs to greater functional use. Her sister, too, is making steady progress in overcoming the crippling after-effects of polio, although she still is confined to a wheelchair.

The Travis chapter has expended over $8,000 in March of Dimes funds to date for the care and treatment of the two girls.

Annual Party Held By West Texas Gas

West Texas Gas company South Plains Safety Service club held its 19th annual Christmas party in the ballroom of the Hilton hotel last night. Approximately 225 members and guests attended the banquet.

Highlight of the party was the awarding of employe service emblems and presentation of the president's safety trophy.

Employes receiving 20-year service emblems were T. J. Foster and Walter Ford, Lubbock; Ruth Collins and R. H. Leslie, Floydada; and R. C. McGilvary, Hereford. The awarding of these 20-year pins brings the total to 32 persons who have received this award.

A 10-year pin was presented to J. M. Housouer, Lubbock; and 5-year emblems were given to M. M. Calloway, Fritch; and W. H. Hammond and J. P. Hays, jr., Plainview. Awards were presented by C. I. Wall, West Texas Gas company vice president.

Bill Deardorf, Plainview district manager, was presented the president's safety trophy for the Plainview district by R. F. Hinchey, president of the company. This was the first year for this award to be given. The award, which will be presented each year hereafter, is made on the basis of the district having the best car and truck safety record. Any company district winning the award in two consecutive years will retain the trophy and a new award will be given the next year.

Two Dead, Six Hurt After Road Mishap

RANDLETT, Okla., Dec. 22. (AP)—Another air force soldier died late last night, bringing the toll of yesterday's auto-truck collision near here to two dead and six injured.

Pfc. Norman F. Doris, 21, Milwaukee, died at the Sheppard air force base hospital in Wichita Falls, Tex.

Earlier Pfc. George E. Brown, 17, Brooklyn, N. Y., had died in the same hospital.

Doris, Brown, and six other Sheppard air force base soldiers were on their way home on Christmas furlough when the accident occurred. The Oklahoma highway patrol said a car in which the soldiers were riding was in collision with a trailer truck driven by Clyde M. Wakefield of Dallas. None of the injured was a Texan.

Weddings in Afghanistan often are held at five o'clock in the morning.

Area Theater Owners To See Film Preview

Convinced that public opinion as secured from a wide cross section of America is the best guide as to what kind of motion pictures should be produced, Lubbock will be the site of another Friendship meeting of theater owners of the South Plains Friday, when Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer will be host at a luncheon and a special showing of what critics acclaim as the greatest picture of 1949, "Battleground."

Leroy Bickel, branch manager of M-G-M, of Dallas, will bring the print of "Battleground" to Lubbock and to the special showing have been invited not only local and nearby theater owners but press, radio and civic leaders to see Hollywood's latest contribution to the entertainment world. A similar gathering was held here April 21, at which time "The Stratton Story" and "Secret Garden" were shown.

"Battleground" has been acclaimed as "The Big Parade" of World war II, and is the story, not of a large panorama of war, but rather the intimate activities and reactions of the individual G. I. It is the story of the Battle of the Bulge—the story of the 101 Airborne troops when surrounded by the Germans.

The picture will be shown at a special preview at the Clifton theater, starting at 10 a. m., to be followed by a luncheon at the Hilton hotel at noon. Between 50 and 60 theater owners, newspaper and radio employes are expected to attend.

Business In Europe Planned By Duchess

CHERBOURG, France, Dec. 22. (U.P.)—The duchess of Windsor may go into business but it will be in Europe, not the United States, according to her husband.

The duke denied a report that his American wife would head a fashion business in New York. The couple boarded the liner Queen Elizabeth yesterday for New York.

The duke said that he is working on his memoirs and that they would be published in the United States. He did not set a date.

Six Persons Dead In Brazil Bomb's Blast

SAO PAULO, Brazil, Dec. 21. (U.P.)—Electrician Edmundo Rossi killed six of his neighbors and injured eight others with a homemade bomb because he blamed them for the loss of his sweetheart, police said today.

Authorities said that Rossi surrounded a can of gasoline with dynamite and then touched off the charge with a battery.

Las Vegas Suspends Savoy Club License

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Dec. 22 (AP) The city commission has suspended the gambling license of the Savoy club after investigating reports it failed to pay the manager of another casino $47,000 of $67,000 won at the crap table.

Reports to the commission said that Jack Durant, casino manager at the Flamingo hotel, won $67,000 in a 45-minute hot winning streak last Sunday but was able to collect only $20,000 in cash.

The matter now goes before the state tax commission, which issues gambling licenses subject to approval by local authorities.

Cottonseed Purchase Deadline Extended

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22. (AP)—The period in which the government will purchase 1949 crop cottonseed under its price support program has been extended to Feb. 15.

The extension of the period from the original deadline of Dec. 31 was announced yesterday.

Of Afghanistan's 10,000,000 people, about half are nomads.

SOVIETS DEEMPHASIZE CHRISTMAS

"Voice Of America" Features Santa In Broadcasts To Reds

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 — Now even Santa Claus is in on the conflict with Russia.

The jolly old gent will play a leading role on the "Voice of America" broadcasts to the Russian people this Christmas season. The idea is to show the Russians what a fine season Christmas is in the land they are taught by their government to hate and fear.

Heavy emphasis also will be placed on the religious significance of Christmas.

Mouthpiece For Reds

In Russia itself, officials here expect that this year, as in the past, the Soviet Santa Claus will serve not as a dispenser of good cheer but rather as a mouthpiece of Communist propaganda.

Around the State department, where every aspect of Russian life is put under the microscope, some odd facts have been turned up about the official Russian attitude toward Christmas.

The theme, authorities here said, is to be found in the 'large Soviet encyclopedia" which in the 1941 edition declared:

"In the Soviet Union the celebration of Christmas by believers is a most harmful reactionary survivor of the old capitalist past. Like every religious holiday, Christmas is kept alive and supported among backward groups of workers by reactionary religious prejudices."

Tried Christmas Ban

In the early years of the Soviet regime, an attempt was made to end the Christmas celebration completely. The sale of Christmas trees was forbidden and the familiar ornaments and decorations of the season were not offered in Russian stores. This attempt failed.

The next move of the Communists was to divert the pageantry and symbols of Christmas to new uses. Instead of holding the celebration on the traditional Russian Christmas day of January 7 all the ceremonies are now focused on New Year's day.

Grandfather Frost—the Russian name for the Santa Claus figure—has become identified also with New Year's. In Soviet usage he is presented as a good spirit who inspires hard work in Soviet children.

At children's gatherings in the holiday season, according to these accounts, Grandfather Frost lectures on good Communist behavior. He customarily ends his talk with the question "To whom do we owe all the good things in our socialist society?" To which, it is said, the children chorus the reply: "Stalin!"

In Moscow there is a great square beside the Kremlin which is turned into a winter wonderland for the New Year's celebration. The center of the show is an enormous New Year's tree topped by the red star of the Soviets. Among the silver ornaments may be found the Communist hammer and sickle symbol.

The New Year's celebration is the occasion for a two day vacation and the whole thing is planned so that before the traditional Christmas day of January 7, the tree, the booths and all the decorations have been cleared away and the people are back at work.

Marriage To Boost Grades Is Revealed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (U.P.)—Wanda June Kearney claims her husband, Michael, only married her in 1938 to "jack up the marks onn his law school report card."

She said in a divorce suit that he proposed because he was getting bad grades at Georgetown university law school.

"He told me," she said, "that an instructor at the school advised him that he had better marry the girl he was going out with."

Ex-German Prisoner To Talk Here Friday

A survivor of Gestapo persecution, Miss Rose Warmer, will speak on her experiences at 7:30 o'clock Friday night at Grace chapel, Sixteenth and Ave. N.

Miss Warmer, a Jewess, will describe her experiences during World war II and also more recent experiences behind the "Iron Curtain."

"The public is heartily welcome and all missionary-minded Christians are urged to take the opportunity of hearing of the power of God in preserving His followers amidst the awful suffering of the prison camps of Hitler", the pastor of Grace chapel announced.

She is to fill a second engagement in Lubbock at 7:30 o'clock Sunday night at Lubbock Bible church, Van Buren and Thirty-fourth.

Man Has Evidence To Support Charge

HARLINGEN, Dec. 22 (U.P.) Farmer Ralph Hall figured he has evidence to back up his charge that neighbor F. W. Wunderlick took pot shots at him.
