U. S. Invokes Crimean Pact

Communist-Ridden Romanian Regime Would Be Headed Off Under Action

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 15—The United States invoked the Crimean charter today in an effort to prevent Romania from falling completely into the hands of a Communist minority.

Under apparent Russian pressure the Romanian government of Premier Nicolai Radescu was overthrown on the last day of February and succeeded March 6 by the administration of Premier Petru Groza of the Communist controlled National Democratic front.

The United States action was disclosed in an official but incomplete announcement from a State department spokesman:

Requires Consultation

"The American representatives in Romania have of course kept the department informed of recent developments in that country. We think that some aspects of the political situation require consultation among the three principal Allies and we are discussing this situation with the British and Soviet governments."

The statement was issued in response to inquiries. Elsewhere it was learned that the call for consultation is based on the agreements to protect the political integrity of liberated and former Axis satellite countries which President Roosevelt, Premier Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill made at the Crimean conference little more than a month ago. That agreement provides for joint action whenever the Allies find it necessary to inject themselves into a country's politics.

Joint Commission Seen

It was considered entirely possible that as a result of the discussions, the Big Three might decide to create a joint commission to deal with Romanian affairs.

The first application of the Crimean principles was made to Poland, under comparable circumstances, when the Big Three leaders agreed that they would jointly seek to broaden the Soviet-sponsored Warsaw provisional government.

The United States has two principal officials in Romania. Burton Y. Berry, with the rank of minister, is the top American diplomatic representative although not formally accredited to King Mihai. The American member of the Allied Control commission, which is responsible for the enforcement of armistice terms on the former Axis satellite country, is Brig. Gen. Courtland Van Rensselaer Schuyler.

At the moment American diplomatic officials are by no means

Reds Slicing Up Prussian Pocket

By ROMNEY WHEELER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Friday, March 16—Russian shock troops, in a seven-mile breakthrough to the coast of the Frisches haff (lagoon) southwest of Koenigsberg, sliced the German East Prussian pocket into two vulnerable segments yesterday in a bitter mop-up prelude to the central offensive toward Berlin.

Isolating the besieged and shell-torn provincial capital of Koenigsberg from the main force of trapped enemy troops, the Third White Russian Army reached the coast on a four-mile front and were hurling the battered remnants of 200,000 Nazi troops back to the sea along a blazing 89-mile line, Moscow's communique disclosed.

In Gdynia Outskirts

Simultaneously, Berlin said that Soviet forces had fought into the outskirts of Gdynia on the Baltic coast and were battling across the canal-webbed Vistula delta south of Danzig.

The enemy said violent Russian blows against the suburbs of Stettin had been thrown back while Russian heavy guns raked the island of Wollin at the northeastern extremity of the Stettiner haff.

The Third White Russian Army reached the coast of the Frisches haff, Moscow said, after a seven-mile sweep across the coastal railroad and highway linking Koenigsberg with the East Prussian fortresses of Heiligenbeil and Braunsberg.

Coastal Village Taken

Elements of what Berlin said were seven Russian armies captured the coastal village of Heide-Walburg, five miles southwest of Koenigsberg, after it had changed hands repeatedly in the bitter, prolonged fighting since late January, when the Soviets first took it.

Spreading out along the coast, the Russian wedge enveloped Wangitt, seven miles southwest of Koenigsberg, and swept up Albehnen and Einsam, the latter two miles northeast of the stronghold of Brandenburg.

The wedge cut off Koenigsberg from the southwest and left the Junker capital only with a narrow coastal strip running west to the escape port of Pillau.

Fighting Is Bitter

In bitter fighting along the east bank of the Behwer river, the Russian front moved toward Braunsberg, gaining a mile on the southeast by the capture of Vogelsang village, five miles from that objective.

Enemy broadcasts said German planes had destroyed with eight direct hits a Russian-held bridge spanning the Oder river near Lebus, 32 miles east of Berlin, and said the impression was growing that Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov, First White Russian Army commander, "does not feel sufficiently strong to unleash his grand-scale offensive."

Previous Nazi reports said Zhukov had pushed at least 100,000 men across the Oder on the road to Berlin, whose outskirts were lashed anew today by 2,100 American planes slamming some 3,500 tons of explosives into enemy military targets.

Preludes To Offensive

The Soviet clean-up of East Prussia and the combined smashes at the ports of Gdynia and Danzig to the west were regarded as the prelude to the coming great offensive toward Berlin and Dresden, Saxon capital, but the Germans and Russians alike reported

Senator Gets Travel Weary Yule Greeting

AUSTIN, March 15 (AP)—Major Allen Shivers of Beaumont who only recently returned to his seat in the Senate from the European theater of operations, today received a Christmas greeting communication from the presiding officer of the Senate, Lieut. Gov. John Lee Smith.

After noting the date of the postmark was some three months old, Shivers was convinced the Lieut. Governor was not attempting to rush the 1945 Yuletide season. The letter had crossed the Atlantic twice and traveled over a good part of Europe to come back to Austin.

Iwo Toll May Reach 4,000; Jap Losses Set At 20,000

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Guam, Friday, March 16. (AP)—Further reduction of the last-stand area of the Japanese on the northernmost end of Iwo Thursday, the 25th day of an invasion which probably already has cost the Marines 4,000 dead, was reported by the Navy today.

(Robert McCormick, NBC war correspondent in a broadcast from Guam, said it is believed there that the Marine casualties on Iwo—killed, wounded and missing—total at least 12,000).

Fifth Pushes Ahead

The gains toward Kitano Point were registered by Maj. Gen. Keller E. Rockey's Fifth Marine division against intense small arms and mortar fire.

Maj. Gen. Graves B. Erskine's Third Marine division in the center and Maj. Gen. Clifton B. Cates' Fourth on the right mopped up straggling enemy elements.

The communique reported new air attacks on the Bonin and Marshall islands and on Wake.

The heavy toll in American life on Iwo, costliest invasion of the Pacific, was hinted Thursday by Vice Adm. Richmond Kelly Turner aboard his flagship off that strategic island only 750 miles from Tokyo.

One-Fifth Of Jap Dead

Admiral Turner placed the Marine dead at less than one-fifth that of the enemy. An earlier communique from Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz conservatively estimated that 20,000 Japanese had been killed on the tiny volcanic island as of March 14.

Admiral Turner and Lt. Gen. Holland M. Smith, Marine commander in the Pacific, reviewed the Iwo campaign aboard the admiral's flagship. Their observations were reported by Morrie Landsberg, Associated Press war correspondent.

Turner said it was "unbelievable" that the Leathernecks could have taken an island with no greater cost, considering the intricate defenses and difficult terrain that forced a frontal assault. He added:

"Such an achievement can reach no higher perfection."

General Smith likewise stressed the many difficulties in seizing this forward island, soon to be an advanced base for aerial punches at Japan.

"Frontal assault against prepared defenses was our only choice of attack," said the Marine commander. "That operation was carefully planned and executed by experienced commanders."

As to Marine losses, a point on which is considered sensitive, the two-fisted general said:

"The cost of winning this objective no doubt was weighed carefully against the importance of having this island as an operating base and speeding the ultimate defeat of Japan. When capture of an enemy positions is necessary to winning a war, it is

Operators Make Offer To Lewis

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP) Bituminous operators unanimously agreed tonight upon a minimum offer to John L. Lewis, rejecting ten of his 18 point demands for a new contract, it was learned authoritatively.

Counter proposals to be subitted at resumption of negotiations toorrow will include compromise suggestions for portal-to-portal pay, termination of contract, shift differentials, and vacations, leaving the four other demands upon which further discussion might ensue for additional explanation by the miners' committee.

Called Good Start

Representatives of coal producers with an output of 575,000,000 of the nation's 620,000,000 tons of coal annually, agreed unanimously this was the bottom on which to start negotiaitons tomorrow.

"It is the first time on record that within a period of two weeks such speed has been made," one operator said. "In 1943 it was June before as much progress had been made, and in 1941 it was late April."

A more pessimistic note was adopted by the United Mine Workers Journal which asserted that negotiations between the miners and the operators are heading for the rocks.

British Inch Along In Mandalay Battle

MANDALAY, Burma, March 15 (AP)—The battle inside Mandalay continued slowly today as British troops inched forward from both the east and west against Japanese besieged in Fort Dufferin.

The enemy in the fort showed no sign of slackening his resistance. Some supplies have been entering the fort through its south gate despite Allied shelling, but Indian troops silenced and captured 275 field guns nearby.

A news blackout on the location of troops fanning out in the area of the Myinmu bridgehead over the Irrawaddy river indicated important developments may be expected in that sector west of Mandalay.

The last report on these troops said they were meeting "disorganized" Japanese resistance and that they were astride the Myotha-Mandalay highway in position for a crippling drive against the enemy.

U. S. Trains, Ships Move Into Manila

MANILA, Friday, March 16. (AP) Extensive enemy use of electrically-controlled land mines and increased artillery and automatic weapon fire slowed the 41st division doughboys driving northward from captured Zamboanga Wednesday but they widened their Mindanao island beachhead to 28 miles, headquarters said today.

The Japanese resorted to electric mines for the first time in the southwest Pacific. A headquarters spokesman reported the Yank advance was definitely impeded.

Advance On Flanks

Along the coast, however, Maj. Gen. Jens A. Doe's infantrymen captured Manicahan on the east flank and San Ramon on the west to take in 28 miles of coastline. Heavy bombers hit eastern Mindanao, meanwhile, with 20 tons of bombs.

A Japanese destroyer and five other ships were sunk in the China sea by four Mitchell medium bombers.

American rail and ship transportation was operating in Manila again. Gen. Douglas MacArthur rode the locomotive of the first train into Manila on the Lingayen-Manila line, reconstructed by Army engineers in record time. Twenty-four hours earlier an LST (tank landing ship) unloaded on the Manila bay shore.

Enemy Barges Dispersed

On Luzon the 158th regimental combat team destroyed a concentration of enemy barges and dispersed a Japanese landing attempt at Bolo, on the south coast.

East of Manila in the bitterly-held Shimbu line, the Sixth and 43rd divisions pressed against the strongly entrenched enemy on the approaches to Teresa.

Patrol bombers sank a destroyer, a 5,000-ton tanker and four small freighters in the China sea.

Eastern Mindanao Pounded

Eastern Mindanao took a 200-ton bombing, while Formosa was hit with 174 tons concentrated in a hydroelectric plant.

The 16-car freight train carrying MacArthur arrived in Manila a day after the first ship, a Navy LST, dropped its landing ramp on the harbor beach.

Cheering Filipinos lined the railroad tracks as the first train, drawn by a new American diesel locomotive, pulled into Manila.

MacArthur, who rode in the cab with Col. John P. Johnson of Topeka, Kans., acting as engineer, said: "The rapid reconstruction of this railroad represents a great engineering feat. It is construction, thank God, not destruction."

General Patrick Dies Of Wounds

EL PASO, March 15 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Edwin D. Patrick, whose Sixth Infantry division was one of the original invaders of Luzon, has died of wounds received on Luzon, the War department notified his wife here today.

The Sixth division was last reported in the Marikina watershed east of Manila, tackling the Japanese Shimbu line between Wawa and Antipolo, scene of some of the severest fighting in the Luzon campaign.

Wife Lives At Ruidoso

Mrs. Patrick, who lives at Ruidoso, N. M., had arrived today here to visit her mother, Mrs. J. E. Bowen, only a few hours before receiving word of her husband's death. Earlier today she had received a telegram from Maj. Gen. James A. Ulio, adjutant general, that her husband had been seriously wounded in action on Luzon. An hour later the second message arrived, notifying her Patrick had died of gunshot wounds in the abdomen.

Patrick, former chief of staff of the Sixth Army, went ashore at Lingayen gulf with his unit Jan. 9. The unit went in on the left flank, a mountainous sector where stiff going was experienced.

Earlier the unit had been engaged in the Carballo mountains northeast of Manila.

Two Sons In Service

The Patricks have two sons in the service, Lt. Urlic B. Patrick, now serving overseas, and Seaman E. D. Patrick, jr., stationed at Stillwater, Okla. A third son, Cadet Thomas Patrick, is attending New Mexico Military institute.

Patrick was the second divisional leader on Luzon to be reported recently as a casualty. Maj. Gen. Verne D. Mudge, leader of the First Cavalry division was wounded by a grenade thrown by a Japanese Feb. 28. He is recovering.

Veteran of World War I

General Patrick, a native of Indiana, was commissioned in the regular Army from civilian life in 1917. He saw service with the 14th Machinegun battalion of the Fifth division in France and Germany from April, 1918, to July, 1919. He was in three major engagements during World war I—St. Mihiel, the Meuse, and Argonne.

Other foreign service included three years in China from 1926 to 1929.

General Patrick was a graduate of the Infantry school, Command and General Staff school, Army War college, and Naval War college. He had served on the staff of Admiral Halsey and as chief of staff of the Sixth Army before assuming command of the Sixth division.

Prison Farm Sales Favorably Reported

AUSTIN, March 15 (AP) — Sale of the Eastham and Ferguson state prison farms at a minimum price of $25 per acre is authorized in a bill favorably reported today by the House penitentiaries committee.

The Eastham farm, in Houston county, totals 4,400 acres and the Ferguson farm, in Madison county, includes 13,000 acres.

Proceeds of the sale would be used for permanent improvements, including construction of individual cell blocks at remaining state prison farms which total 56,000 acres in areas.

Stalemate Settles Over Movie Strike

HOLLYWOOD, March 15. (AP)—The film industry strike settled down to a stalemate today, with intervention by some government agency apparently the only solution.

Opposing union groups refused to budge an inch in their positions, and film producers repeated that they were hopelessly entangled in the middle.

Studios remained in operation, with one or more pictures in production in each plant, but work admittedly was carried on by skeleton crews and the huge lots resembled the ghost towns often shown on the screen.

Nazis Say New 15th In Action, And Seventh Opens Great Drive On Saar

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Friday, March 16—The U. S. First Army deepened its Rhine bridgehead to six miles yesterday, seizing command of more than a mile of the great six-lane military highway to the Ruhr, and the Germans said five American armies were striking along 235 miles of the blazing Western front.

The drive beyond the Rhine gained more than a mile during the day, swept up four more German towns and stabbed into five others. The Germans said the new U. S. 15th Army had sprung into action on the bridgehead, where 100,000 American soldiers now were massed.

Seventh Opens Assault

The U. S. Seventn Army broke a long lull with a general assault on a 50-mile front from the Saar to the Rhine in a synchronized attack with the U. S. Third Army, and gained three miles or more, driving the Germans into retreat to the Siegfried line.

The U. S. Third Army smashed six miles south from its newly-won Moselle river bridgehead near Coblenz in an offensive that was cutting in 80 miles or so behind the Siegfried line facing the Seventh Army front.

Already the push had sealed off the Rhine transit city of Coblenz, was nearing the Rhine south of the city, was pinching off the enemy's "Little Ruhr"—the Saar basin—and was challenging the Nazis' last 150-mile grip on the Rhine's west bank.

Patrols Sent Across

It was disclosed officially that the Ninth Army had been sending patrols across the Rhine in the area north of Duisberg and that they had clashed with the enemy on the east bank from time to time before withdrawing.

The Germans, who also have sent patrols across the river to the Allied side, obviously seizing an opportunity afforded by these patrol clashes to bolster homefront morale, claimed a Ninth Army attempt to cross the Rhine had been smashed.

The Rhine crossing by the First Army at Remagen, where the Americans now hold 11 miles or more of the east bank, was so solid that it was announced officially the danger of its being disloged now was past.

Nazis Thow In Tanks

The Germans were throwing in tank-led counteratiacks, trying to hold back the tide from the superhighway, which the enemy himself said the Americans had completely severed at the northeast corner the bridgehead.

One force driving for the highway—over which the Germans are shuttling forces and massing troops east and northwest of the bridgehead—captured a junction of six highways about four miles east of the Germans' fallen northern anchor of Honnef.

One force then battled a half mile or so east into Rottbitze, while another fought on more than a mile north into Aegidienberg, eight miles northeast of the Remagen bridge and 1,000 yards from the super military highway.

It was in this area that a German war reporter at the front said the Americans had fought out onto the highway.

If the road has been cut, then the German high command has

Sixteen Die When Transport Crashes

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP)—Sixteen persons, including seven USO entertainers, perished in the crash of an army transport plane in Europe on March 3, the War department announced today.

The plane was flying from England to Paris at the time of the accident. None of the dead were from Texas.

Slash In 'Good Time' Fund Is Defeated

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP)—The State department's entertainment and representation fund, which legislators called a whiskey and champaign fund, was saved from sharp reduction by a two-vote margin today in the House.

Rep. Rees (R-Kas) sought to cut the fund from $585,000 to $300,000, saying "nearly all of it goes to buy champaigne and all kinds of fine liquors" to "show our good fellowship" to foreign diplomats. He lost on a standing vote of 43 to 41.

Headquarters Of Nazis Battered

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Friday, March 16—The German Army's general staff headquarters near Berlin was smashed yesterday in one phase of a 2,100-plane American raid which was followed last night by the twenty-fourth consecutive RAF night bombing of the enemy capital. The attacks concluded one of the biggest and most successful days of the war for the Allied air force.

The American bombers sowed 3,500 tons of high explosives and incendiaries in the vicinity of Berlin, including the German Army's nerve center at Zossen, 20 miles south, where some 650 especially-briefed bombardiers of the Eighth Air force had little trouble picking out the target in clear weather.

To Rank Among Best

The visual bombing of Zossen, where the highest ranking officers of the wehrmacht were believed engrossed in attempting to run the war on both the Eastern and Western fronts, probably will rank among the best accomplished by the Eighth Air force, its officers said. Returning crewmen were jubilant over the success of the mission.

Anti-aircraft fire, though heavy at other points near Berlin, was meager at Zossen. Sixteen bombers and three fighters were reported missing from the Eighth's operations yesterday.

"While part of the German Army general staff headquarters at Zossen is deep underground," a staff officer of the Eighth said, "today's attack by about 650 Flying Fortresses and Liberators was aimed at paralyzing the Army nerve center through destruction of administration buildings, vital records, barracks, utilities and communications and transport systems. It was the first time the high command headquarters in Germany had been attacked by Eighth Air force bombers."

More "Town-Busters"

Meanwhile, the RAF was hurling 11-ton "town-busters" at western Germany, and the British planes came back after dark for blows at Berlin; Hagen, an industrial town on the edge of the Ruhr, and Misbourg, three miles east of Hannover, where an oil refinery was hit.

Some 6,000 to 7,000 planes were hurled against the Germans from the west, south and east, as a long-waited break in the weather released Allied air power in near-record strength.

Tonight the sustained air assault apparently was being carried into its 32nd consecutive day.

Peace Feelers Find Deaf Ears

STOCKHOLM, March 15. — A German peace feeler recently was conveyed to the British legation here through a third party and was rejected, an unofficial British statement said today, and the Swedish newspaper Aftontidningen asserted tonight there were rumors that similar German proposals had been made to Russia.

Aftontidningen said that in "certain Stockholm quarters" there were peace rumors "in connection with Russian Ambassador Madame (Alexandra) Kollontay's projected trip to Moscow." "She is supposed to deliver German proposals to Premier Stalin," Aftontidningen said.

Best Stockholm informants said that as far as they knew there was no basis for this report beyond the fact that Madame Kollantay probably was going to Moscow soon.

"An approach was attempted a few days ago through a third party to a junior member of the legation staff," the unofficial announcement said. "The third party was at once told that the British legation was not in the least interested in any such approach."

British Deny Knowledge

(Official British quarters in London said they knew nothing of the reported incident.)

Responsible Allied officials in Stockholm generally regarded the development as a carefully-planned Nazi propaganda maneuver—one of several that long-time observers here have noted—in an attempt to split the Allies by causing misunderstandings and suspicions of double-dealing, especially in relation to the Russians.

Swedish sources expressed the opinion that similar "peace" moves or propaganda rumors could be expected "by the bushel" from now on in neutral countries as Nazi Propaganda Minister Goebbels begins a final campaign to expound Nazi views and cause confusion abroad.

Double Approach

The Stockholm newspaper Svenska Dagbladet earlier today reported the Nazis had attempted to approach both British and American officials here, but the United States legation said no contact had been made there.

The newspaper reported that a German representative had "threatened" that, unless an armistice offer was accepted, the German Army would cease resistance in the east and permit the Russians to overrun Germany.

Larger Nations To Wield Veto

LONDON, March 15 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill frankly told the House of Commons today that a line between the strong and the weak was drawn at Yalta, with the big powers alone wielding the right in the world security league to veto measures directed against them as aggressors.

His defense of the veto powers—denied to small nations bent on aggression — came as the Polish government in London issued a violent protest against its exclusion from the United Nations conference at San Francisco.

Small-Nation Treatment

Churchill was asked in Commons by Laborite Davies if, under the Yalta agreement, there was a differentation in the treatment of the great powers and small nations bent on aggression.

The question was put with the observation that the Crimean conference envisaged action by a new international organization to prevent aggression by smaller powers.

"Are we not entitled to ask that our delegates at San Francisco will bear this important point in mind when discussing the problem?" Davies asked.

Churchill's answer was direct: "No, sir. As far as we are concerned, we made a perfectly voluntary agreement with other great powers that were gathered at Yalta and that does prescribe for a differentiation between the treatment of the greatest powers in these matters and of the smallest powers."

Japs, Badly Hurt By B-29s, Order Big Cities Evacuated

SAN FRANCISCO, March 15 (AP)—Japanese admission of heavy loss of life and damage from recent heavy American Superfortress incendiary raids came from Tokyo radio today, with reports of formation of a civilian Army to counter a possible invasion and orders for civilian evacuation of the nations five biggest cities.

The Tokyo newspaper Asahi was quoted as saying the number of deaths in the Tokyo, Nagoya and Osaka raids of the past week "could never be called small."

Domei, Japanese news agency, said in another FCC-recorded broadcast that damage caused by the raids "has been considerable."

The organization of "civilian special attack corps" for fighting on home shores has been completed in some districts in the wake of warnings by government officials that an invasion was expected.

While the enemy radio said that U. S. announcements of 300-Superfort blasts at Tokyo, Nagoya and Osaka within the last week were just "propaganda," and that the number never exceeded 130, it was nevertheless reported these cities and also Yokohama and Kobe would be cleared of all citizens except war workers.

The evacuation decision was reached Thursday by Premier Kuniaki Koiso's cabinet, said a Berlin Interocean dispatch broadcast heard in London. The move of populations will be on a voluntary basis at first, but "special measures will be taken" if the people failed to respond, Interocean reported.

The government also issued further orders for prominent Japanese newspapers to combine publication operations outside Tokyo in single plants. Previously it had ordered six Tokyo papers to use one plant jointly because of air raids and the war situation.

Farm Demand For Prisoners Of War Work Exceed Supply

DALLAS, March 15. (AP)—The Eighth Service command said today that the top demand for German prisoners of war to work on farms and ranches in the Southwest during 1945 will be triple the supply.

The number of prisoners used on priority work on military reservations and on priority industrial jobs will far exceed the number used on such work last year, the service command added.

How to allocate available prisoners to best meet the demand, already pressing with spring preparation and planting barely begun, has been mapped out tentatively in a headquarters conference of agriculture extension service directors from all five states of the service command, representatives of the War Manpower commission, and officers of the prisoner of war branch.

Allocation of prisoners for work in agriculture in each of the five states is made only through the agriculture extension service of each state.

The plan to bring 100,000 additional prisoners of war from the European theater of operations to the United States, announced recently by the War department, has already been taken into consideration in computing the allocations.

The 63,000 German prisoners available for work this year in Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and New Mexico are allocated under three priority ratings.

First priority goes to the Army, which is utilizing pisoners of war

Policy Group Wants Drastic Hike In Key Transportation Deferments

By KARL R. BAUMAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 15. — The government's policy committee on ocupational deferments recommended today a drastic increase in exemptions for key transportation workers under 30.

This would be the first break in the month-old limit on deferments for younger men. The rule has been deferments for no more than 30 per cent of an industry's men in the under-30 group.

Plea Made By ODT

The committee's action resulted from a plea by the Office of Defense Transportation that the transportation industry, already facing a critical manpower shortage, might break down this year without liberalization of deferment policies.

The 30 per cent limit applied to a "hard core" of key workers which Selective Service, in approving the policy, acknowledged would be required for war production and essential war-supporting activities.

Under the committee's recommendation, the limit in the transportation field would go up as high as 90 per cent for some operations.

Number Of Deferments

The number of deferments recommended in the various transportation fields and the percentage of their total in 2-A or 2-B draft classifications:

Railroads, 40,800, 85 per cent; airlines, 4,860, 90 per cent; inland waterways, 90 per cent for Great Lakes and 80 per cent for other operations.

No action was taken today toward increasing deferments for key personnel in the motor transportation field. It was learned, however, that the 30 per cent limit might be increased later after additional data has been obtained.

Headed By McNutt

The committee is headed by Chairman Paul V. McNutt of the War Manpower commission and has representatives from the War and Navy departments, War Production board, and other government agencies. Officially it is known as the committee on occupational deferments for 18 through 29.

As always, local draft boards will have the final say on all deferments. The committee's action, however, will pave the way for the ODT to certify as essential a vastly larger number of men holding key jobs.

Apparently fearful that its action might increase pressure for more deferments in other industries, the committee temporarily withheld any formal announcement.

The Indian chief who welcomed the Pilgrims later was hunted down and killed in Rhode Island by whites under Captain Benjamin Church.

Lobbying Probe Hits Dead End

AUSTIN, March 15 (AP)—The author of a resolution calling for an investigation of alleged lobbying practices in connection with anti-closed shop legislation told the investigating committee today that he had no concrete evidence to back allegations made in his resolution.

Rep. Ennis Favors of Pampa, who offered the resolution in the House which declared that it had been charged that "a rich and powerful lobby" was operating for promotion of anti-labor legislation testified that these and other charges were "not facts within my knowledge; if I knew them to be facts I would submit them to a grand jury, not an investigating committee."

Evidence Offered

He offered in evidence a number of letters, newspapers and other documents which he described as "instruments of propaganda" and said there was so much material of this sort came to him and others "it ought to be investigated."

"Do you know of any money being offered for or against this bill?" Favors was asked by Assistant Attorney General J. C. Davis, jr.

"No, I do not," Favors replied.

Favors also testified:

That he had no concrete information in regard to alleged expenditure of "thousands of dollars" by the American Manufacturers' association or the National Manufacturers' association in behalf of anti-labor legislation, as charged in the resolution;

Denies Knowledge

That he had no first-hand knowledge that Buck Taylor was connected with the Christian American organization or that he had violated House floor privileges he held under terms of a press pass;

That he had received various communications purporting to be from the Christian American organization and fight for free enterprise, but that he had never been offered anything "other than veiwpoints" on the pending legislation.

Taylor, publisher of a pamphlet called the Middlebuster, appeared voluntarily before the committee with a request that he be permitted to answer "scurrilous statements made about me regarding my activities in the Housee."

In his statement and other questioning, Taylor declared:

That he "did not give a hoot about" either House bill 12, the anti-closed shop bill, nor HJR 1, the constitutional amendment along the same line.

Not Christian American

That he was not a member of the Christian American organization and that he notified Vance Muse of Houston, an official of the passage of the resolution because of their personal friendship;

That he had not violated any of the conditions of his press pass; that he did not sit at the table with the working press on the floor of the House nor was he on the floor during discussions of the bill; that he did not obtain his press pass by fraud.

Taylor asked the committee to summon witnesses, including Speaker of the House Claud Gilmer and Lieut. Gov. John Lee Smith, who, he said, would substantiate his testimony in regard to his press credentials.

The committee recessed until Monday with an appeal for information.

"If anyone has any information of value, to substantiate or disprove charges made in the resolution, we would like to hear from them," said Chairman W. A. Williamson.

Idalou Marine Vet Named Aide At Base

MARINE BARRACKS, Klamath Falls, Ore.—Marine Warrant Officer Robert Narville Stapp of Idalou, Tex., a veteran of two years in the Pacific, has been appointed assistant post adjutant at this rehabilitation and training center.

The 26-year-old Marine was an artilleryman with the Second Marine division and saw action on Guadalcanal, Tarawa, Saipan, and Tinian. His most exciting experience of the island warfare was a suicide Jap attack against gun positions on Tinian.

"The Japs attacked an artillery battery just on our left, and of all the screaming and blood-curdling yells I ever heard, theirs were the worst," the young Texas officer relates.

"Bullets were flying everywhere, and the fight lasted for two and a half hours, until daylight, and all the Japs were killed. There were nearly a hundred of them lying practically in one heap around the gun position."

Never wounded, a tropical ailment caused Stapp's return to his country last October.

He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Ramsey, Box 934, Idalou, and has two brothers in the U. S. Army.

Stapp enlisted in the Marines in October, 1940, and spent eight months in Iceland before going to the Pacific. He was graduated from Alanreed, Tex., public school in 1937.

The warrant officer, possibly cognizant of the current clock shortage in this country, brought back two Japanese wall clocks for souvenirs of his Pacific stay.

Bailey, Named Amvet Chief, Says CIO-PAC Fight To Be Intensified

DALLAS, March 15. (U.P.)—Settled today as national commander of the American Veterans of World War II, LaMarr Bailey renewed his attack upon the CIO and its Political Action committee and promised to purge the Amvets of members found to be representing "any un-American element."

Change in management of the newly-formed veterans' group came Tuesday night when the executive committee, meeting at its national headquarters here, ratified Bailey's elevation to commander from first vice-commander.

To Continue Fight

A statement issued following the meeting said that Elmo W. Keel of New Orleans had resigned as head of the organization "when Mr. Bailey stated that the Amvets were going to fight the CIO and PAC as being an un-American political party threatening the overthrow of the constitution of the United States."

According to the statement, the committee plans to continue its attack on the "CIO, PAC and all other un-American elements," and to dismiss, after investigation, "all members found to be representing any un-American element."

Bailey's sweeping indictment to organized labor also included John L. Lewis and members of his United Mine Workers.

To Focus On Lewis

"He (Bailey) said the Amvet spotlight would first be focused on John L. Lewis and his 400,000 miners, who are contemplating a strike to enfore their demands for blood money," the statement continued.

"The national headquarters of Amvets is compiling a list of the names of all war workers who have deserted their post on the production front in time of war," said the statement.

"When this list of strikers is complete it will be open to the returning service men with the recommendation that this list be submitted along with the names of other war criminals to the court set up to try these cases.

Pledges Continuing Fight

"Mr. Bailey's first official act as national commander was to renew his pledge to carry the attack forward against all strikers who would stop war production and possibly cost the lives of many fighting men overseas."

Bailey said that the organization's membership has doubled in the last 30 days, and that the national headquarters office receives letters every day from fighting men overseas commending the stand against strikers.

BAILEY CHALLENGED BY HOUSTON CHAPTER

HOUSTON, March 15. (U.P.) — Fentress Bracewell, commander of the Houston chapter of Amvets, today challenged LaMarr Bailey's "assumption" of the post of national commander of the organization and the operation of national Amvets headquarters in Dallas.

Bracewell said Bailey, former national vice-president of the Amvets, no longer is a member of the organization.

He said Bailey had been removed from the membership of the Amarillo, Tex., chapter because he

Final Red Cross Drive Plea Made

In a final plea last night, George P. Kuykendall, general chairman of the Lubbock county Red Cross War Fund drive, asked that workers, especially those in the employee's division, who haven't made their reports, bring them to financial headquarters as soon as possible.

Kuykendall, in announcing that the fund now amounts to $82,813.30 for the county, said that the campaign has gone faster this year than in any of the three past war years, and that although $90,000 is now in view for a final figure, last year's $95,000 is not likely to be topped.

Complete reports are not yet in from Frenship, New Deal, Lubbock Army Air field and a number of large concerns in the employee's division.

Already within sight of its $6,000 quota, Slaton's fund campaign had brought in $4,059 in the first three days.

W. R. Sewell, chairman of the Slaton drive, asked that anyone in the residential or trade district there, make their contributions at the Slaton Chamber of Commerce or at the bank. He also asked that all workers report to their chairmen as soon as they have completed their solicitation lists.

C. W. Byers, Former Lubbock Man, Dies In Pyote Hospital

C. W. Byers, 53, of Monahans, formerly associated with a Lubbock contracting firm, died Thursday of a heart ailment at the Army air field at Pyote, Tex., where he was maintenance superintendent for the post engineers office.

His wife died Feb. 9.

Funeral services had not been arranged late last night. A Rix coach had gone to Monahans to return the body to Lubbock. Services probably will be held Sunday afternoon.

Before moving to Monahans two and a half years ago, Byers was employed by J. B. Maxey, Lubbock contractor, an association which had lasted 26 years.

Became Ill About Noon

According to reports, Byers reported for work as usual yesterday morning but became ill about noon. He decided to go home but was observed in a state of collapse before he reached the field's gate. Two military policemen rushed him to the regional hospital on the post, where he died five minutes after admission.

He is survived by a son, Lt. John Byers, a Marine pilot stationed in the south Pacific; four brothers, Herman, Tulsa, Jimmy, Kilgore, Tex., Wheeler, Tulsa, J. C., McAlester, Okla., now in the U. S. Navy; a sister, Mrs. Leon Tidwell, Wildorado, Tex.

World War I Veteran

He was a member of the First Baptist church, a member of Masonic lodge chapter No. 709 of Plainview and belonged to the Lubbock local of the carpenters union. He served in the first World war.

Byers had been employed at the field for the last four or five months. Before that he was connected with a construction company in Monahans.

Byers owned a home at 2108 Sixteenth.

Doubts About "Permanent Peace" Are Many

U. S., British Publics See Another War In 25 Years

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J.—When the statesmen of the United Nations meet in San Francisco next month to lay the groundwork for a permanent peace, one of the hidden psychological obstacles they will face is a fatalistic belief among many human beings that wars are inevitable.

GALLUP

One of the prerequisites of a lasting peace, in the opinion of some observers, is that enough people in the world think the time has come, or will soon come, when war is successfully outlawed as a means of settling disputes among nations. The fact is, however, that a substantial number of people in both the United States and Britain think that there is a distinct possibility of another war within the next 25 years. These people do not want more war, but are apparently skeptical of the ability of human leaders to manage the affairs of nations without recourse to war.

In Britain there is even more skepticism about a lasting peace than here in the United States. Will the San Francisco meeting help remove some of this skepticism?

Surveys Show Difference

The frame of mind of the people in the two nations is shown in surveys conducted by the American Institute here, and by the British Institute of Public Opinion throughout England.

In the United States it was found that nearly two-fifths of the voters in the civilian population think America will be involved in another war in 25 years. In England nearly one-half of the population thinks another war likely in the same period of time.

The American poll, conducted among the civilian population only, was as follows:

"Do you thinks the United States will find itself in another war within say the next 25 years?"

Yes	38%
No	45
No Opinion	17

In Britain, 48 per cent of British voters said they thought another war is likely during the next 25 years, while 28 per cent believe this will be the last war, and 24 per cent expressed no opinion.

Youth Most Pessimistic

The most interesting sidelight of the American poll is that youthful voters—often considered as idealists — are more pessimistic about the possibilities of a lasting peace than the elderly voters are.

Among civilians aged 21-29, for example, 44 per cent think America will be involved in another war within 25 years, whereas among persons 50 years old or more only 34 per cent take as dark a view as that.

The figures by age groups follow:

	Think War Likely in 25 yrs.	Think Not	No Op.
Aged 21-29	44%	40%	16%
30-49	39	45	16
50 and over	34	48	18

When Americans were polled on the question whether there might be another war within the next 50 years, the proportion saying yes amounted to 60 per cent.

Some indication of what lies behind the Anglo-Saxon fear that peace may be short-lived comes from a public opinion survey just completed in Canada. This shows that the thing people fear most, and believe may be the main cause of another war, is territorial disputes — how to partition Europe, set up boundary lines, and dispose of colonies.

Cpl. Groce Proves Equal To Occasion

WITH THE FORTIETH INFANTRY DIVISION, On Luzon—You can't carry both a gun and a typewriter off a landing barge, so Corporal Wayne D. Groce, 1210 Avenue R, Lubbock, chose the rifle and since then he hasn't been able to perform his company clerk duties.

Desperate after ten days of the campaign and still no reports made, Groce appealed to S/Sgt. Gregg C. Pitts, of Seattle, Washington, his very capable supply sergeant.

Pitts, accustomed to all kinds of requests from shoe polish to ice cream, went into action and came up with a very old L. C. Smith Corona which originally belonged to a Filipino in the town of Aguilar.

How Pitts managed to seperate the good citizen from his machine is his secret, but Groce thinks the Filipino must have gotten the best of the bargain. A model 1906 at the latest, the machine is unable to run without an elaborate system of pulleys, wires, and ropes which the ambidextrous Groce is vainly trying to manipulate.

But rain or shine, war or peace, morning reports, patrol actions, and other company paper work are now rolling off the platen in front of the well-worn fingers of Cpl. Groce.

In Holland, radishes served with toast, cheese, and tea, are considered a breakfast tidbit.

TO the woman who signed her letter, "Worried Wife": We'd like to write something that would console or help solve your problem but our advice doesn't include how to get along wth your mother-in-law. It seems to the married women in the office, to whom we went for help, that your husband should absolve you from the responsibility.

Since this likely is the last time you will get to see your husband before he goes overseas, couldn't you find courage to suggest to your mother-in-law that she allow you and the children go alone?

WOMAN'S POSTWAR PLEDGE

EVERY woman who has bitten back a retort when a snippy clerk has snapped at her when she humbly asked about: (1) Cigarettes; (2) two-way stretch girdles; (3) steaks. And every woman who has dragged around on her knees and scrubbed the bathroom floor, the kitchen floor and the refrigerator. And every woman who has got leathery skin and sun squints from planting and hoeing and watering her Victory garden and burned her arms and cut her fingers and spent hours and hours canning.

And every woman who has tried to explain to her family that they aren't going to patronize the black market and go on a trip until the war is over. And every woman who has complied with ration dules and laws laid down by the OPA and OWI and PBX and PDQ will want to read this column written by Dorothy Roe of the Associated Press. Furthermore she may want to clip it to read and re-read in order to bolster her morale on days it seems to sag more than usual.

• • •

MISS ROE writes:

I have been so good so long, Oh Lord, and life has been so grim.

I have saved fat, flattened cans, cooked tripe and pampered my maid.

I have bought cigars for my butcher, flowers for his wife, candy for his children.

I have counted the ration stamps one by one, the red and the blue, the sugar and the shoe. I have bundled my paper, patched my tires, given up my girdle and shared my car.

I have hoed the straight row in my victory garden, fought the good fight with the weeds and the bugs, canned the green beans and the red tomatoes until I was black in the face.

• • •

ALL these things have I done, and willingly, Oh Lord, to hasten the day of victory, for then—

I solemnly pledge to cut my butcher cold when I meet him on the street . . .

To visit an employment agency and refuse to hire a cook . . .

To have steak three times a day . . .

To use a whole pound of butter in making a cake . . .

To eat my fill of whipped cream desserts . . .

To high-hat all the clerks who have insulted me for the last few years . . .

• • •

To get in my car and go for a Sunday drive . . .

To demand service at the service station . . .

To wear nylon stockings, even to bed . . .

To spend a few blissful moments each day snapping the real elastic garters on my two-way stretch postwar girdle . . .

To stop asking the ladies of the ration board to tea . . .

To order six cartons of cigarettes from the tobacconist who refused to sell me any for the duration . . .

Leather For Civilian Shoes Due Deep Cut

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP)—A deep slash in the supply of leather for civilian shoes in April, May and June was disclosed by the War Production board today.

From meagre figures made public, it appeared that only 10 to 15 per cent as much cattle hide would be available for civilian shoe uppers as at present, most of the rest going to meet enormously increased army demands for footgear.

An Office of Price administration spokesman, however, said no change in shoe rations was contemplated, beyond the tightening announced in December when OPA said the next ration stamp "probably will not be validated until some time next summer" instead of May. 1.

Duke Of Windsor Gives Up Post As Governor Of Bahama Islands

LONDON, March 15. (AP)—The Duke of Windsor resigned as governor and commander in chief in the Bahamas, the colonial office announced tonight.

DUKE SAYS ACT SHOULD OCCASION NO SURPRISE

NASSAU, Bahamas, March 15. (AP)—The Duke of Windsor pointed out tonight that he has served for nearly five years as governor of the Bahamas, and declared that the announcement of his resignation should occasion no surprise.

In a news conference at Nassau, the Duke declared that when he leaves office at the end of April, he will have served within three and one-half months of completing "the five-year period of normal, maximum tenure of a colonial governorship."

No Cause For Surprise

The news that his royal highness has now decided to tender his resignation of the post of governor is therefore not unexpected nor gives any cause for surprise," a government statement said.

The Duke telephoned these quotations to D. J. B. Robey, British vice counsul at Miami, Fla.

A government House spokesman had told an Associated Press correspondent that the Duke's first word of the announcement came when the correspondent asked for comment.

The Duke "didn't know anything about it," the spokesman said, when told of the London announcement.

Later it was explained that the Duke had kept his intention of resigning a secret even from his household staff, and therefore the government house spokesman had assumed that the governor knew nothing of the announcement.

Expected Announcement Later

The Duke himself had not expected an announcement to be made until April.

At the news conference, the Duke said he had no immediate plans but that he probably would remain in Nassau for another month.

There had been no public indication here that the former king of England would leave the post he had since August 17, 1940.

Edward and his American born wife, for whose love he abdicated, have been hard at work—except during their occasional visits to the United States—ever since they landed at this outpost of empire.

The Duchess, as president of the Bahamas Red Cross, has been active in war and welfare projects. Her untiring efforts have won her the admiration of Bahamians, who were impressed by the fact that she did not leave the hard work to others.

Trained to rule a mighty empire, the Duke put all of his energies into the task of governing this tiny colony of some 70,000 inhabitants who live on the islands scattered off the southern coast of the United States.

He has worked and planned, particularly, in an effort to solve the islands' economic plight which resulted from the war-time cessation of tourist trade.

The Duke arranged for about 5,000 Bahamians to go to the United States to help relieve the shortage of farm labor. He took a lead in efforts to revive peasant industries.

Braniff Asks Denver To Memphis Service

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP)—Authorization for Braniff airlines to operate a one-plane service from Memphis, Tenn., to Denver, Colo., was urged before a Civil Aeronautics board examiner today.

Charles E. Beard, Braniff vice president, told Examiner Frank Laws that there is sufficient potential traffic between the points to warrant the service which cannot be provided under present restrictions.

Continental airlines opposed removal of the restrictions, contending such action would divert traffic from its routes between Denver and Tulsa, Okla.

Present CAB restrictions require that Braniff flights serving Colorado cities originate or terminate at Fort Worth or Dallas, Tex.

Braniff now operates a plane from Dallas through Fort Worth and Wichita Falls to Denver and another between Dallas, Oklahoma City, Amarillo and Denver.

Beard said Braniff expects to begin operation May 1 of airline service between Memphis and Oklahoma City. Under the Colorado restrictions, he said, Braniff cannot operate one plane from Memphis, Tulsa, Oklahoma City, Amarillo and to Denver but would be required to transfer passengers going to Colorado at Oklahoma City to a plane which started its flight in Dallas.

If the restrictions are removed, he told the examiner, two flights daily instead of one will be flown from Dallas through Fort Worth, Wichita Falls and Amarillo to Denver and the Dallas, Oklahoma City, Amarillo, Denver flights, started last January, will be abandoned.

W. M. Peyton, Texas Oil Man, Is Killed

MEXIA, March 15. (AP)—W. M. Peyton, 61-year-old millionaire oilman, was killed here last night when the car in which he was riding to Fort Worth from Dallas crashed into an intercity bus and swerved into a roadside building.

The accident occurred during a hard rainstorm and high wind, Miss Willie Mae Pike, Corsicana, who was riding with Peyton, said. She was treated at a Fort Worth hospital for slight injuries.

Peyton was a member of the Mexia firm of Peyton brothers, independent oil operators with extensive holdings in East Texas. He was the brother of the late George Peyton, Southern Methodist university trustee.

Texas Businessmen Form Organization

DALLAS, March 15. (AP)—A new businessmen's organization was in the formative stage in Texas today.

Representative of some 5,000 Texas employers, a group of the state's business leaders yesterday organized employers of Texas, Inc., and set as their immediate objective the securing of reasonable cost compensation insurance and the study of public expenditures.

W. C. Trout of Lufkin was elected president of the organization. Other officers include Vice President A. H. Bailey of Dallas, W. L. Steele of Waco, and A. P. Brashear of Temple; Secretary-Treasurer A. E. Cudlipp of Lufkin, and General Counsel Carl B. Callaway of Dallas.

Two Texans Die In Windstorms

(By The Associated Press)

The toll of heavy wind storms, which struck unexpectedly in scattered sections of the state, mounted yesterday with the deaths of two persons and growing damage reports from Texas cities.

Mrs. W. R. Lee, 61, and her daughter, Nellie Lee, 24, were killed early yesterday when their home in the Dolen community in East Texas was destroyed during a wind storm. W. R. Lee, 73, her husband, was injured.

And while other towns in east, north and West Texas nursed wounds left by battering winds and heavy rains, a warm, friendly sun brought spring temperatures to most of the state.

Temperatures soared as high as 90 degrees at Mission in the Rio Grande valley. Dallas, with 80, had its warmest day since last November. South and Central Texas also basked in the 80's, and Dalhart, up in the Panhandle, had a moderate 66.

But ravages of flood waters from swollen Elm creek still were in evidence in the Gainesville area, and high water from Clear creek had washed out two bridges at Rosston and Leo in southwest Cooke county.

Rail Line Under Water

Flooding waters inundated sections of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas track between Nacona and Bonita and near Muenster, delaying service of a Katy passenger train on its run between Denison and Wichita Falls. A Katy spokesman said service was expected to be resumed by 6 p. m., last night.

Thirty-One Gainesville residents were forced from their homes as Elm creek water swept over its banks. Gainesville's heavy rain was accompanied by an 80-mile wind which brought additional damage. Several aircraft at the city's airport were wrecked, power lines were crippled, trees uprooted and several structures damaged.

East Texas Buffeted

In the East Texas sector, strong winds buffeted Mount Union, near Kirbyville, Temple Springs, Beulah Springs and Magnolia Springs. Two persons received minor injuries.

At Abilene, Haskell and Stamford buildings were damaged, communications disrupted and one person was injured as an 85-mile wind beat through the West Texas area.

Several boats were sunk or damaged on Eagle Mountain lake when a tornadic wind struck a boat works near Fort Worth.

Tex Kirk Back Home After Close Scraps

MIAMI, Fla., March 15—Bridge-busting "Tex" Kirk is home. He came riding into Air Transport command's Miami air field on an ATC plane fresh from nearly a year overseas.

Glad to be brought here fast-like on an ATC plane, but itching to get back to Texas was 1st Lt. Theodore Kirk, 22-year-old B-25 pilot, from Plainview. He fought 10 months in the Mediterranean theater of operations, distinguishing himself particularly by bombing bridges and ammunition dumps.

He's a veteran of 63 such missions.

"My most exciting mission was when we blew up Gialliate railroad bridge in Italy," he declared. "The bridge was a vital enemy supply and troop route connecting Milan and Turin. We ran into the roughest flak barrage I ever saw. Before we hit the target, a burst came through the pilot's compartment, shattering the glass and smashing out the top. It was close.

"Over the run we were less fortunate. Half of our tail rudder was shot away, wounding the tail gunner. Another burst wounded our radio man. We got back to our base O. K. The target was a 100 percent success despite 70 large holes in our ship."

Lt. Kirk's parents live at 303 Ash St., Plainview.

Governor Gets Two Bills Designed To Hike State School Aid To $31

AUSTIN, March 15. (AP)—The 49th Legislature today completed action and sent to the governor for signature two measures whose sponsors estimated would have the effect of raising per capita payments to the schools to $31.

The House also set for special order of business Monday a bill allocating $14,000,000 annually for the next two years to rural schools.

The House measure of importance to the educational system completed its course in the Senate and moved along to the House. It was Sen. Pat Bullock's bill to separate the distribution of free textbooks from the office of the state school superintendent and place it under the board of education.

Lifted From School Head

The effect of the bill, which passed by a 19 to 5 vote, would be to completely remove from the state school superintendent's office the matters of buying and distributing free textbooks.

House Bill 12, the measure which would make closed shop contracts illegal, had another run in the House. It emerged from a series of parliamentary maneuvers in a continued favorable position on the calendar as unfinished business which may be reached again next week.

The House by close votes refused to set it for special order April 5. There was considerable speculation that it would remain hanging without final disposition pending the outcome of an investigation of lobbying in connection with it. The investigators held their first meetings today. This committee is under instructions to report back to the House not later than March 31.

Effects Of School Bill

The two per capita bills finally enacted today have the effect of requiring the state automatic tax board to set the state property tax for school purposes at 35 cents on the $100 valuation—the constitutional maximum—and permitting full distribution every year of all money which is paid into the available school fund. This is the fund from which per capita payments are drawn.

Currently the property tax for schools is 17 cents per $100 valuation, and the per capita apportionment is $25.

Overwhelming defeat met a motion by Rep. Obel McAllister of Fort Worth, that the House not accept a minor amendment placed on one of the bills by the Senate. McAllister argued that it was not sound policy for the legislature to tell the state tax board what the school rate should be.

Legislative Expense

The Senate gave its approval to a House bill making another appropriation of $350,000 for legislative expenses and sent the measure to the governor. Thus far in the session, which is about half completed, such appropriations have totaled $700,000.

The House passed and sent to the Senate a bill creating within the state commission for the blind a vocational rehabilitation division. It would make Texas eligible to receive federal assistance for such rehabilitation.

A Senate bill granting to firemen who have completed 20 years service before reaching retirement age a certificate which will entitle them to pensions when they reach that age was passed by the House.

The House postponed for two weeks consideration of a Senate bill creating a state board of public school safety.

savage fighting in Hungary and Slovakia and the Nazis told of fierce Russian assaults near Stettin, at the mouth of the Oder river, and at Kolberg, surrounded Baltic port in overrun Pomerania.

The Nazi garrison at Kolberg has rejected two Russian surrender demands, Berlin said.

The Russians were laying down a terrific barrage on German positions on the west bank of the Dievenow river near the Baltic, and the Germans said Red Army shock troops were trying to cross to Wollin island, one of the stepping stones to the heavily fortified port of Swinemuende, 33 miles northwest of Stettin.

Fleet Units In Action

Late German broadcasts said German fleet units had swung into action, laying down broadsides against Russian tank forces both near Stettin and in the Gdynia-Danzig area. It was declared that "scores" of Soviet tanks were destroyed.

Marshal Ivan S. Konev's First Ukraine Army shock units were reported to have smashed deep into the southern and northern sections of Breaslau, lower Silesian capital and largest Nazi city yet tackled by the Red Army. Using flamethrowers, mortars and heavy weapons they had reached one of the city's biggest squares.

In southern Hungary the Germans said their troops had crossed the Sarviz canal southeast of Lake Balaton and were fighting on both sides of that natural defense line. The canal lies 16 miles from Lake Balaton's northeastern tip in the area south of Budapest. It is 20 miles west of the Danube.

Theft of a 1941 Mercury with 1945 Texas license DK 7837 was reported Thursday afternoon to Lubbock police by the sheriff's department at Seminole. Frank Griggs, of 2627 Twenty-fifth, previously reported theft of a 1942 Roadmaster Buick, license K78-884, from in front of his residence.

The sheriff's office and the police department received reports of theft Thursday of a tire and wheel valued at $75 from 2001 Ave. J and a 12-ton hydraulic jack from Singley Farm machinery, 1320 Texas Ave. The tire and wheel, owned by C. C. Clements of 2019 Tenth, was taken from under a bed, reports said. The theft was reported by Thomas J. Rasco of the Avenue J address.

not within our province to evaluate the cost in money, time, equipment or most of all human life."

Japanese survivors on Iwo fought on hopelessly today although the authority of the United States had been proclaimed over the island.

Nips Resist Bitterly

Hundreds of the Nipponese resisted bitterly from strong defenses, many of them underground, along a sandstone ridge or butte in the northern tip of the island.

Marines of the Third, Fourth and Fifth divisions fought the terrain as much as the enemy as they sought to wind up the bloody campaign, now in its 26th day. The soft sandstone ridge, last large core of resistance, enabled the Japanese to repair blasted positions overnight. They kept so close to the Leatherneck lines that it was difficult for American artillery to hit them.

At the quiet southern end of Iwo, work progressed on what will soon be a powerful advanced air base. The captured enemy airdrome is being improved, roads built and even a few tents have popped up. Seabees enjoyed baths in hot sulphur water pumped from the ground near Mt. Suribachi.

Aerial Assaults

The German radio flashed warnings throughout the evening that bomber formations were heading over western and northwestern Germany and that "spearheads" of the aerial formations were facing toward Brandenberg, the German capital's own province.

From Bases In Italy

From Italy, American heavy bombers struck to within 65 miles southeast of Berlin in their deepest penetration of Germany while on the Western front hundreds of medium and light bombers battled in support of ground forces. On the Eastern front, too, Russian planes were in the air.

The RAF's great new 22,000-pound bombs, which made their debut Wednesday, were dropped on the vital Arnsburg rail viaduct, 27 miles southeast of bomb-ravaged Dortmund. Wednesday, the strategic viaduct was plastered with the RAF's six-ton "blockbusters," while warfare's greatest package of explosive was loosed on the great double-track Bielefeld viaduct, north of the Ruhr.

Six to eight of the viaduct's spans were buckled, an air ministry announcement said, describing both the Bielefeld and Arnsburg spans, carrying lines to the Ruhr, as the "most vulnerable points on what now are the most important railroad routes, both military and economically, in the whole of Germany."

More and more prisoners will be put to work during 1945 in quartermaster, engineer, ordnance and signal corps shops, in post laundries, bakeries, mess halls and on many other tasks.

Agriculture comes second on the ratings of priority, and third are other projects, including public contracts, which are desirable but do not fall within the first two priorities.

Burglaries Cleared By Boy's Confession

Three more burglaries were announced cleared Thursday following a confession by a Lubbock youth.

As the result, the parole of a 14-year-old youth was revoked and another youth, 13, was held for further investigation. Both are white youngsters.

The breakins were disclosed when one of the youths volunteered information as the sheriff's department, city detectives and city-county juveniles officials questioned him in connection with forgery of several checks, made out in amounts as high as $18. He implicated the other boy.

The admissions, coupled with those of two negro boys, closed investigations into 96 burglaries and attempted burglaries.

City detectives said 12 breakins of the last six months remain unsolved. Professionals are believed to have made them.

Tax Staff Kept Busy Here Until Midnight

A night staff was kept busy until a late hour Thursday night assisting taxpayers at the Lubbock Office of Internal Revenue as the midnight deadline for filing returns on 1944 income approached.

Burl Bedford, deputy collector, said "there was no rush but just enough people to keep us busy."

The same deadline applied for filing of estimated returns on 1945 income.

Most persons had taken care of these obligations long before the deadline.

Long lines were common on the last day of the payment period last year, L. B. Barkley, field division chief, recalled. He attributed the change to a simplification of forms.

The newspaper said the Nazis had offered to evacuate all occupied territories still in their possession providing they were permitted to stay in power in Germany after an armistice.

The newspaper did not say where it got its information, and there was no evidence to support the article other than the unofficial British confirmation that an approach had been attempted through a third party.

Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges seemed to be mounting that push now, for American troops fought a mile north of fallen Honnef, seized Rhoendorf and were within five miles of clearing the last low hills before the plain, leading 19 miles north to the southern Ruhr basin.

The deepest penetration was into Steinshardt, six miles east of Remagen bridge, where stiff fighting broke out after Americans had overrun the nearby towns of Hesseln, Lorscheid and Hahnen.

Lorscheid, a mile northwest of Steinshardt, fell only after the Germans struck back with six King Tiger tanks. The Germans then fell back into Strodt, a mile east, and the Americans fought halfway to that town.

February Casualties In Europe Lighter

WASHINGTON, March 15. (AP) — Army ground forces on the Western front in February lost fewer men, 34,468, than in any month since October.

Secretary of War Stimson, disclosing this today, expressed satisfaction that the toll had dropped "substantially" from the totals of the preceding two months—61,962 in January and 74,788 in December. In October, there were 25,569 casualties.

The month of February, Stimson observed, was a period of "less intensive" activity in Western Europe.

The month's losses—4,145 killed, 26,436 wounded and 3,887 missing—boosted to 425,007 the number of casualties in France, the Lowlands and Germany from the time the Allies hit the Normandy coast last June until March 1. Of these, 70,414 were killed; 297,547 wounded and 57,046 missing.

Simultaneously, Stimson reported that casualties for the Army in all theaters had mounted to 748,457 on the basis of individual names received here through March 7. Coupled with the Navy's latest reported casualties of 91,132, this put the aggregate since Pearl Harbor at 839,589.

No. 20,000 was described as "a towering, tow-headed Nazi SS officer," a Lieutenant Helmut Knute. He was captured near the Rhine by the 143rd Infantry regiment, which leads regiments in the "Texas" division in prisoners taken.

But when No. 20,001 came along, he said, "no, no, we will not win," said the T-Patch.

New Stabilizer To Stand Against Easing Of Price, Wage Controls

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP)—Economic Stabilizer William H. Davis, who faces soon a decision on "fringe wage" demands, took a stand today against easing price or wage controls.

Davis, harkening to his Maine coast background, declared that no one trying to pilot an anti-inflation economy would "let go of the wheel heading into a squall."

Must Watch Inflation

He stated his philosophy in general metaphor, mentioning "the swirling currents of a $200,000,000,000 war economy," and the need of being "doubly alert in this eleventh hour to guard against the tragic evils of inflation."

But Davis said nothing specific about his position on pressing demands by labor groups for granting fringe wage demands—such non-basic pay matters as shift differentials, job classifications, employer payment for working equipment, etc.

The stabilizer stated his position in a letter to George W. Taylor, his successor as chairman of the War Labor board, Marvin Jones, war food administrator, and Chester Bowles, head of the Office of Price administration.

Views Overruled

As WLB chairman, Davis voted for some fringe demands which were ruled out by Fred M. Vinson, his predecessor in the stabilization post.

Vinson in a final order laid down a pattern for some permissible fringe increases, but stipulated that others should not be granted if they involve an increase in product prices.

In his new post, Davis can modify Vinson's order. Or he can change from his WLB stand which favored by-passing the OPA on fringe pay boosts.

Warning Is Issued On "Hot Checks" Ration Point Bank Accounts

DALLAS, March 15 (U.P.)—Violation of OPA currency regulations by wriitng "hot checks" on ration point accounts was described here today as "another version of the black market," and brought the threat of severe punishment from a national OPA official.

Meeting with district currency control officers of the southwestern six-state region, Joseph A. Kershaw said that cancellation of ration accounts will be the punishment.

"The OPA will move to check the black market by first warning the violator," Kershaw said, "but if the hot checks continue, the accounts will be closed and OPA allotments will be made only after the excess of ration points has been deducted from the next allotment."

Kershaw described the operation as another version of the black market, "since it means the use of points which the concerns do not have for food which requires points."

He said more than 200 "hot ration checks" a month are passed in the Dallas district alone.

RFC Subsidies Fund Approved

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP)—Legislation authorizing the Reconstruction Finance corporation to spend up to $1,468,000,000 on subsidies for another year passed the Senate today and went to the House.

Passage was on a voice vote.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) told the Senate the measure brought prospective subsidy payments by all government agencies to between $2,100,000,000 and $2,328,000,000 for the year beginning July 1.

"I don't approve of a subsidy program but on the other hand I don't believe we should interfere with this program today," Taft added.

Reduce Gradually

Plans out to be made now, he said, to reduce the subsidies gradually.

Biggest item in the legislation is authorization for RFC to spend $560,000,000 to continue the meat price "roll back." The other subsidy authorizations are:

For foreign commodities other than rubber, $80,000,000; rubber, $80,000,000; butter, $100,000,000; flour, $190,000,000; petroleum products, $290,000,000; copper and other mineral, $88,000,000; and other commodities, $100,000,000.

In reporting the measure, the banking committee estimated the subsidies would reduce prices of commodities to be purchased by the government by $500,000,000 so that the net cost of the subsidies would be about $900,000,000.

More than 600,000,000 tons of coal are mined in the United States every year.

Curb Placed Upon Spring Ball Games

WASHINGTON, March 15. (AP)—Big league officials today completed baseball's 1945 travel-reduction plans by proposing cancellation of all pre-season exhibitions involving "side-trip" transportation.

Ford Frick and Will Harridge, National and American league heads, said that a recommendation to this effect will be made to their clubs to relieve the burden on wartime transportation.

Their announcement of baseball's second voluntary travel curtailment came out of a conference with Col. J. Monroe Johnson, director of the Office of Defense Transportation. Clark Griffith, Washington Senators' owner, also attended the meeting.

No estimate was made of the number of games that will be cancelled. Frick said that "we'll probably play almost as many exhibitions . . . the principal thing will be rejuggling of schedules" in reducing mileage.

The particular type of game ruled out is that which calls for a trip from one camp to another camp in a different town. Thus the Washington Senators, training here, won't go to Frederick, Md., about 45 miles, to meet the Philadelphia Athletics.

Rejuggling of schedules will be effected under this rearrangement of games which may be played:

Intra-camp games where two teams are training in the same vicinity such as the New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox at Atlantic City. They may play as many games as they like.

Games on the way home from camp if such contests are played at points on a direct route home. (This is one of the principal changes and will enable, as an illustration, the Boston Braves, training in Washington, to stop off at such places as Wilmington, Philadelphia, Scranton and New Haven on the way home).

Intra-city games once the teams reach home such as the Yankees vs. Giants in New York, White Sox vs. Cubs in Chicago, Browns vs. Cardinals in St. Louis.

(Frick and Harridge said this may work a slight hardship on one-team cities like Washington, Detroit, Cincinnati and Cleveland but these teams probably will stay in camp longer or play more games en route home).

There is no change in the status of games at Army or Navy camps. They still may be played if the military provides transportation.

Schedules hot off the press show a total of 142 spring games, 23 of which either involve service teams or will be played at service sites.

It was pointed out that major-minor games are all right if both teams are training in the same vicinity such as Brooklyn-Montreal contests at Bear Mountain, N. Y., and New York Giants-Jersey City at Lakewood, N. J.

Buff Cagers Beaten By Pepperdine Five

KANSAS CITY, March 15 (AP)—Pepperdine college of Los Angeles made a fast finish to overcome West Texas State Teachers of Canyon 52-45 in the second quarter final game of the National Intercollegiate basketball tourney tonight in the Municipal auditorium before 3,000 spectators.

A 13-point barrage by Forward Bob O'Brien sparked the Pepperdines in the second half after they had trailed at intermission 20-23.

The Texans' fast break, led by a chubby firebrand — J. W. Malone—had the Waves back on their heels in the first half. Malone and Rufus Graves led the scoring spree for the Texas five in the first half.

O'Brien and Nick Buzolich, tall Pepperdine center, tied for high scoring honors with 19 points each.

Southern Illinois Normal of Carbondale already had won its way into the semi-finals by winning the first game of tonight's triple header from Doane college, Crete, Nebr., 61-44.

AGGIES NOSE STEERS

AUSTIN, March 15 (AP)—Texas A. and M. swimmers defeated the University of Texas 48-45 in a dual meet today. Texas led until the last event, when A. and M. forged ahead with eight points to Texas' four.

Six Lettered On Tech Cage Squad

Letter awards for six members of the Texas Tech Red Raiders basketball squad were announced Thursday afternoon by Morley Jennings, athletic director at Texas Tech.

Of the six men given letters for the past season, four of them were from outside the state, with three from New Mexico and one from Kansas. The lettermen were Don Grove, Monument, N. M.; Jay Kerr, Odessa; Costin Bufkin, Hobbs, N. M.; Ernest Hawkins, Lamesa; Gene Hardey, Hugoton, Kans., and Chester (Jiggs) Jackson, Monument, N. M.

Seven other members of the basketball squad were awarded Freshman numerals. They were: J. A. Barnett, Roswell, N. M.; Truitt Barnard, Ropesville; Delbert Cooper, Lubbock; Billy Eddins, Sudan; Billy Kelley, Idalou; Malcolm Mitchell, San Angelo, and Seth Murphy, Levelland.

The Red Raiders started the season slowly, but finished strong. At the start of the season, Coach Polk Robison was fighting a losing battle with bad breaks, and many men were lost just as they developed into regular starters.

But near the end of the season, Robison found a combination that was clicking, and the team finished the year by winning six of the last seven games on the schedule: The only loss in the closing finish was to West Texas State Teachers of Canyon, a game played without the services of two key men, Grove and Hardey, who were taking pre-induction physicials.

The season's record was ten wins and 14 losses.

Fort Worth Schools Hold Busy Session

FORT WORTH, March .. (U.P.) The board of education at Fort Worth today had appointed Paul Snow, a former Texas Christian university football star, as head coach at North Side High school, reinstated baseball in the schools and voted to give the state basketball champs of Paschal High, gold engraved watches.

The 14 members of the Paschal basketball squad and its coach, Charles Turner were praised for bringing home from Austin the state Class AA championship. If the Texas Interscholastic League approve the squadsmen and Turner will receive the watches to be purchased from the city's athletic fund. In addition, Coach Turner also will get a $500 war bond.

Snow, who starred for TCU in 1929-30-31, succeeds Cooper Robbins at North Side. Robbins resigned for the coaching job at Breckenridge High. Snow has been coaching at Kerrville.

Petersburg Kids To Fight Friona

PETERSBURG, March 15 (Special)—The heavy Petersburg High school boxing brigade will seek its third win in as many weeks when the fighting Friona Chiefs invade the local corral on Friday night for a fifteen fight dual match.

On successive weeks the Petersburg pugulists have humbled the high school boxing charges of Shamrock and Memphis and have only once been defeated during the year; that by the Amarillo Sandies by an eight to seven count in the initial battle of the year.

The Friona aggregation has been cutting a victory swath throughout the entire Panhandle in high school boxing circles and they will invade the local stockade with the intention of measuring the local charges and it would seem that their chances of so doing are better than any previous invading foe.

Fully aware of the manful task before them on Friday night, the Petersburg fistic aggregation is undergoing its most rigid training of the year, averaging seven two-minute rounds each evening of the week. Such great high school battlers as Frankie Stanton, Ralph White, Hollis Black, Gordon Depriest and Johnny Phillips are looking better than they have at any time during the year and it would not be a major upset for the local battlers to slam out a win over favored Friona.

It is expected that the greatest crowd of the year will jam the local gymnasium for the Friona fight. The supply of more than four hundred ringside seats in almost exhausted and crowds that have overflowed in previous fights are likely to find standing room at a premium.

Nine Lubbock Westerners Head For Stock Show Meet

* * *

Old Records Due To Fall At Track Show

FORT WORTH, March 15. (AP)—Track and field records piled up in more than 20 years will be under bombardment this week-end as athletes from Army camps, flying fields, colleges and universities, defense plants, Naval installations and high schools compete in the Southwestern Exposition meet.

It looms as one of the top record-smashing affairs of the 22 years of this cinder path carnival.

The track and field extravaganza opens tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock with preliminaries in the high school division and with more than 50 teams entered. Dallas and Fort Worth each will furnish better than 100 contestants.

Two of the record-cracking performances appear destined for the victory division which has been drawn a dozen teams and several unattached entries.

Returning will be Sgt. Hugh Marshall, former University of Georgia star who three years ago, while at Sheppard Field, pitched the javelin 217 feet 3 inches. Marshall, back from overseas duty, will compete with the Carlsbad, N. M., Army Air field.

All defending champion teams will return — the University of Texas in the university-college division. Consolidated Vultee of Fort Worth in the Victory class and Thomas Jefferson in the High School division.

Among the entries is Jack Hughes, the former University of Texas great, who holds the discus record at 158 feet 7½ inches. Hughes is competing for Consolidated Vupltee. He won the Victory division discus throw last year.

Entries in the college-university division are Texas, Texas A. and M., Oklahoma A. and M., Oklahoma university, Southern Methodist university, Texas Christian university, Sam Houston State, Stephen F. Austin and Rice.

Preliminaries will be held Saturday morning in the 100 and 220-yard dashes of the Victory division and the low hurdles, 100-yard dash and 220-yard dash in the college-university class.

Finals in all events start Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Nine Lubbock Westerners headed eastward Thursday afternoon, setting their sights on the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show track and field carnival with hopes high of winning some points in the big annual meet.

The squad was taken to Fort Worth under E. J. "Pinkey" Lowrey, athletic director of Lubbock schools, and Coach Dell Morgan of Texas Tech.

The men making the trip to Fort Worth were G. W. Hensley, George Brewer, Milton Butler, Jim Lowrey, N. W. Elston, Cliff Dean, R. W. Moyers, Jack McClelland and Rhea Bradley.

High school preliminaries will be staged this afternoon at Fort Worth, with the finals scheduled for Saturday afternoon.

Hensley will enter the high and low hurdles and broad jump. Brewer will enter the 100 yard dash. Butler and Lowrey will enter the 880 yard run. Dean will enter the pole vault. Moyers will enter the shot and discuss.

Lubbock will have an entry in both relay events, with Brewer, Butler, Lowrey and Elston in the dash relay. Butler, Lowrey, McClelland and Bradley will make up the mile relay team.

Wilson, Dupre Clubs Divide Double Bill

The Wilson Wranglers and Dupree Dogies split honors in the Lubbock grade school volleyball conference yesterday afternoon, the Dupree boys winning one game, 38-23, and Wilson girls nosing out a 45-41 win in a free scoring thriller.

FISH BILL PASSED

AUSTIN, March 15 (AP)—Finally passed in the House today was a bill by Sen. Kyle Vick of Waco permitting trolling from a boat in Lake Waco. The bill now goes to the governor.

Baseball Camps Keep Growing

LAFAYETTE, Ind., March 15. (AP) — An outfielder whom the Cleveland Indians considered unavailable for the duration was in camp today ready to play ball until Uncle Sam beckons.

He's Felix Mackiewicz, a 6-foot 2-inch 195-pounder purchased from Baltimore at the close of last season. Several weeks ago Mackiewicz was transferred from 4-F to 1-A and passed his pre-induction examination.

"I passed the examination all right but I wasn't called and I don't know when I will be called," he said.

VINCE CASTINO JOINS CHISOX AFTER EXAM

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., March 15. (AP)—Catcher Vince Castino reported to the White Sox today following a draft board examination in Chicago. Castino told Manager Jimmy Dykes the board "permitted" him to join the club.

Dykes announced that Pitcher Ed Lopat has signed his 1945 contract and is ready for action. The Sox will play intra-squad practice games this year for the first time since Dykes took over as manager in 1934.

MACK'S CHARM SIGNS OUTFIELDER ESTALELLA

FREDERICK, Md., March 15 (AP) Centerfielder Roberta Estalella signed a Philadelphia Athletics' contract today after one of the shortest holdouts on record.

Estalella arrived in camp and admitted he had not reached any agreement with Connie Mack. Five minutes later, Mr. Mack had the stubby outfielder's name on a contract.

NOT ALL BOSOX BATTERYMEN REPORT

PLEASANTVILLE, N. J., March 15. (AP) — Only three of the seven batterymen expected were on hand today when Manager Joe Cronin opened the Boston Red Sox training camp. They were Pitcher Red Barrett and Rex Cecil and Catcher Fred Walters.

Absentees were chuckers Mike Ryba, Jim Wilson, Otis Clark and Vic Johnson.

GIANTS GET DAMP BUT HOLD WORKOUT

LAKEWOOD, N. J., March 15. (AP)—In a humid atmosphere of light rain, the New York Giants today had their most exhaustive workout this season.

Mel Ott received word that Jack Brewer, rookie right-handed pitcher from Los Angeles, would be unable to report before March 23. The club now has 15 pitchers and 11 other players in tow.

CUBS SET OPENING INTRA-SQUAD GAME

FRENCH LICK, Ind., March 15. (AP) — Arrival of Infielder Roy Hughes and Outfielder Andy Pafko swelled the ranks of the Chicago Cubs to 15 players today. Showers forced an indoor workout, but Manager Charlie Grimm plans to play the first intra-club game tomorrow with Pitcher Eddie Hanyzewski starting for the regulars. No word has been received from Capt. Phil Cavarretta, first baseman, a reported holdout.

BROWNS SHARPEN EYE ON ROBOT PITCHING

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo., March 15. (AP)—Don Gutteridge, veteran second baseman and team captain, arrived in the St. Louis Browns' spring training camp today and joined other players in batting practice against their robot pitching device. Rain forced the squad indoors for today's drill.

CUBANS REPORT TO WASHINGTON SENATORS

WASHINGTON, March 15. (AP)—The Cubans have arrived . . . and Washington's Senators today looked more like a ball club, in numbers, at least, with 23 players on the field, including Jake Powell, veteran outfielder.

Nine Cubans took their first workout.

DALLAS KID JOINS PHILADELPHIA SQUAD

WILMINGTON, Del., March 15. (AP)—Arrival of 16-year-old Bill Sanders, outfielder from Dallas, Tex., boosted the Philadelphia Phils squad today to 15.

Three Men From Snyder Area Become Friends In Navy; Knew Each Other Casually

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, (Delayed)—While the rebuilding of this broken world will be neither easy nor short after the war, there is one thing certain and that is our fighting men will go back to their homes better acquainted with themselves and each other.

Proof of this is evident in this story on three lads from Texas, who were only casually acquainted prior to the war, but since coming to the Southwest Pacific, have become the best of friends.

Sam D. Hays, yeoman third class, USNR, of Snyder; Theston T. Withers, coxswain, USNR, of Hermleigh; and Robert C. Bigham, seaman second class, USNR, of Rotan, found when they met aboard the Flagship of Vice Admiral Daniel E. Barbey, USN, Commander Amphibious Force Seventh fleet, they have quite a lot in common to talk about as they all hail from the same section of the state.

Have Become Acquainted

While they had seen each other quite often at dances, rodeos and various places of amusement prior to the war, since their respective hometowns were not more than 20 miles apart, they never really found the opportunity to get together and become acquainted.

The trio formerly got together each evening to "shoot the breeze" for a spell, but recently Hays was transferred to another ship and now the meetings are not held quite so frequently. However, Hays still manages to get back to the Flagship at least once a week and talk things over with Withers and Bigham.

Attended Tahoka High

Withers, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Withers, Box 476 Hermleigh, Texas, was helping his father on the farm when he enlisted in the Navy Oct. 20, 1942. Following his basic training at San Diego, Calif., he was sent to the destroyer base there and assigned to the amphibious force. In February 1943 he was transferred to Oceanside, Calif., to help train U. S. Marines in amphibious warfare. He left there in March and went back to San Diego. After ten days leave he moved up the coast to San Francisco and shipped out for Australia. For the next two months he helped train soldiers at an amphibious training base, and then was transferred to another amphibious base. He saw duty there from July 1943 until Feb. 29, 1944, and then went to an advance base in New Guinea. A month later he moved farther north and was assigned duty aboard the Flagship.

He attended Tahoka High school and while a student there participated in football, basketball and tennis.

He has a brother, O. W. Withers, with the U. S. Army somewhere in Belgium.

Hays Attended Tech

Hays, husband of Mrs. Judy Hays, of Snyder, Texas, enlisted in the Navy Sept. 26, 1942, but was not called to active duty until Dec. 28, 1942. He had hardly completed his basic training at San Diego, Calif., when he was sent to Australia, to serve as yeoman in the personnel office at an Amphibious Training Center there until April 1944, when he was transferred to an advance Naval Base in New Guinea. Three months later he was again transferred, this time joining the Staff of the Seventh Amphibious Force. He saw duty aboard the Flagship for a time, but a short time ago was transferred to another ship.

It was while he was stationed at the Amphibious Training center in Australia that he met up with Withers.

After receiving a diploma from Snyder High school, young Hays attended Texas Technological college for two years, majoring in business administration, but he gave that up to take a business course at Draughons Business college, Dallas, Texas. He had been helping his father operate a stock farm in Texas for some time prior to entering the Navy, and he expects to go back to that after the war. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Hays, reside at Snyder, Texas.

Bigham, husband of Mrs. Margaret Bigham, Box 276, Rotan, Texas, began his Navy career Nov. 15, 1943 with basic training at San Diego, Calif. From there he went to Texas A. & M. college to the Navy Radio school for five months. On July 8, 1944 he left the States for the Southwest Pacific and his first stop was an advance base in New Guinea, where he stayed about two months.

He was outstanding in football while a student at Rotan High school, and upon receiving his diploma from that school, went to work in a Rotan grocery store where he was employed when he entered the Navy.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Barney Bigham, reside at Rotan.

Withers and Bigham had their first taste of combat duty since they came to the Southwest Pacific in the invasion of the Philippines.

Proper Food, Plenty Of Sleep Said Way To Alleviate Sinus

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, March 8 (AP)—A person's manner of life, eating and sleeping is found to be a cause of sinus trouble in a report by Dr. Sam E. Roberts of Kansas City.

He calls this trouble a new sinus syndrome (group of concurrent symptoms). These symptoms are sinus headaches and snuffiness, fatigue, and pains in various parts of the body. The report appears in transactions of the American Academy of Ophthalmology and Otolaryngology.

"Fatigue," he wirtes, "has been present to some degree in 87 per cent of our adult patients who consulted us for chronic trouble, and complete exhaustion in 50 per cent. They are not the so-called underprivileged.

"They have not been denied medical attention because of economic status, but medical treatment has been ineffective because of lack of organic findings. They arrive in our consulting rooms because of the sinus syndrome."

Dr. Roberts' conclusions are based on 4,000 persons observed over a long time.

Many Short Sleepers

"You would be surprised," he declared, "as I was, to learn that most of our patients get less than seven hours sleep—many only four or five. You could not expect them to have a healthy mucous membrane or an alert brain and be free from aches and pain with so little rest.

"I was surprised, and I believe you would be, when you found that 31 per cent of your patients took some form of cathartic at more or less regular intervals, either self-prescribed or advised by a druggist.

"Again, you could not expect your patient to have a healthy musoca when all cathartics interfere with absorption and assimilation of foods. When the lubricating type is used, such as the mineral oil preparations, it prevents the absorption of vitamin A, essential to the health and physiology of mucous membranes."

Dr. Roberts thinks the sinus trouble is due to a disturbed balance of colloidal chemistry of the body. He says/ physiology and metabolism are fundamental factors to be considered in treating this type of sinus trouble.

RAILS, SPECIALTIES GAIN

NEW YORK, March 15 — Wide gains were achieved by rail and industrial specialties in today's stock market although dealings were among the slowest for the past several months and most leaders did little or nothing.

Dividends, earnings, split-up possibilities and inflation psychology served to inspire bids for favorites, some of which jumped as much as 7 points. Wall street still was inclined to step carefully, however, as there remained some apprehension over what Washington might do to stem speculation.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was up .5 of a point at 61.7. Of 864 issues registering, 430 were up against 434 down or unchanged.

Atlantic Coast Line held to its stellar role, climbing 7¼ to a new 1944 peak in further reflection of the split-up program of its subsidiary, Louisville and Nashville. L. and N. advanced 6⅞, also to a new year's top.

Well ahead were Santa Fe, Southern Railway, Westinghouse, Eastman Kodak, Johns-Manville, Du Pont and Dow Chemical. Modest improvement was shown for U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Sears Roebuck, and American Telephone. Losers include Chrysler, United Aircraft, U. S. Rubber, Goodrich, Western Union "A" and International Harvester.

The break affected other grains but their losses were not nearly as severe as those in wheat.

At the finish wheat was 2 to 4 ¼ lower than yesterday's close, May $1.69 ⅜-½. Corn was off ⅜ to ½, May $1.14 ⅜. Oats were down ¾ to 1 ¼, May 66 ⅜. Rye was off 1 ⅜ to 2 ⅛, May $1.12 ⅜-½. Barley was down 1 to 1 ⅛, May $1.11 ⅜.

Churchill Says Victory Is Near

By ALEX H. SINGLETON
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, March 14.—The war in Europe might well end "before summer ends or even sooner," Prime Minister Churchill told a conference of the conservative party today.

"Victory lies before us—certain and perhaps near," he declared.

In making his prediction on the defeat of Germany, Churchill pointed out that with it "war conditions will no longer prevent, as they have hitherto prevented, the holding of a general election," Britain's first since 1935.

He said the liberal and labor parties had indicated that they they would resume their liberty of action in that election and end the coalition government of which he is head.

Must Consider Issue

Therefore, Churchill declared, the Conservative party must consider the issue of the election to come and he drew it clearly as a show-down fight between forces of the right and left.

The Prime Minister demanded a future of "free enterprise" for Britain and exhorted the conservatives to stand firm against economic programs of nationalization "borrowed from foreign lands and alien minds" and against the ideas of the "stay-at-home, left-wing intelligentsia."

Saying "it is no cheap-jack utopia of airy phrases that lies before us," Churchill asserted the Conservative party would be better off going down to defeat telling the truth than gaining "a span of shabbily bought office by easy and fickle froth and chatter."

Fighting Party Pep Talk

In this fighting pep-talk to the party which he heads, Churchill dropped the impartiality of his role as a coalition premier and slugged orally at those who have criticized him and his party, calling those critics "that happily limited class of left-wing politicians to whom party strife is the breath of their nostrils."

But, even while serving notice that he had no intention of relinquishing the reins of leadership, either of his party or his country, the 70-year-old Prime Minister made it clear that he would not exclude members of other parties from any government he might head.

"If the verdict of the nation should leave us responsible," he said, "the government after the election will be further reformed with the sole desire of rallying the strongest forces to carry our cause to final victory and peace."

Talk Of Intelligentsia

Amid laughter he told his followers, "You hear all this talk by the stay-at-home, left-wing intelligentsia that soldiers will hold us guilty if we do not have a brave new world waiting for them on their return.

"They are not looking forward to a new world constructed behind their backs by politicians who seek their votes," he scoffed. "Most of them have lived long enough in uncomfortable proximity to another world to be thinking of that."

Churchill also reminded the conference that a great task awaited Britain in the war against Japan.

"We shall have to finish the war against Japan," he said, "not only as loyal allies of the United States and other nations in that conflict, but also to regain, as we are regarding, territories which the Japanese have wrested from us."

Restrictions Removed

Then, turning to the problems Britain will face in the post-war period, he called for a removal of all possible restrictions on British liberties after victory and should "control for control's sake" is senseless."

"At the head of our mainmast we fly the flag of free enterprise," he declared.

The Prime Minister received a tremendous ovation as he concluded his 45-minute address.

Churchill War Barometer At New High In His Forecast Of Victory

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

The Churchill war barometer recorded a new high in the Prime Minister's assertion to Conservative party colleagues in London that victory over Germany might come "before summer ends, or even sooner."

The available Churchill text does not elaborate on that. Coming from a man who has all necessary information at his finger tips on which to found a reasonable estimate as to how long organized resistance in Germany can continue, it carries weight.

SIMPSON

Churchill has not only the background of his intimate knowledge of what was planned by Russian-Allied military staffs at Yalta upon which to base his conclusion. He has since been at the front in Germany for consultations with American and British high commanders and they in turn have been in direct personal contact with Russian staffers from the East front.

Other Sources Silent

No similar estimate has yet come from any American or Russian source of like authority and information. The White House has more or less set the fashion against expressed official optimism in President Roosevelt's refusal to be drawn into a guessing contest. It is not too much to say, however, that so far as informed military opinion can be reduced in Washington, it agrees with the Churchill conclusion.

War Secretary Stimson's weekly reviews of developments have always been noted for their restraint and caution. But there are several points made in his current remarks which however, are worth considering. He said the Remagen bridgehead over the Rhine had laid the foundations "for the attcks on inner Germany," that the war on the Western front had "reached a very critical stage," obviously meaning critical for Germany, and that the "desperate situation" of the enemy was revealed by captured Nazi Army orders directing that all stragglers be shot.

Implies Allied Hopes

That does not set a time limit on continuation of organized resistance in Germany; but it does in the public mind have much the same implication as Churchill's bolder and briefer prediction that the end might come within weeks or months at most.

The Stimson classification of the Remagen bridgehead as paving the way for an assault from the west on "inner Germany" is interesting for another reason. That east bank lodgement on the Rhine certainly does not lend itself to a direct Allied march eastward. A glance at current press photos of the bridge and of the hills east of the Rhine that rise for miles beyond it must convince any observer that the main Rhine crossings to facilitate either an advance on Berlin in the north to an eventual junction with the Russians or in the south to open a way into the great central plain from the west must yet be won at other points.

The Germans so conclude apparently. They are reported thinning out their defensive ranks in the hills east of the Remagen bridgehead to concentrate forces against its expansion north or south along the right bank. Its primary value by even indication will be the all-important aid it can give in outflanking Germ defenses guarding better Rhine crossing sites above and below Remagen as at Coblenz and Cologne.

That probability makes the developing Third and Seventh Army squeeze on the Saar basin highly significant. That is the only west bank salient still in German hands.

Medics' Badge And Extra GI Pay Bring Up Stiff Argument

By LEWIS HAWKINS
Associated Press Staff Writer

WESTERN FRONT—The War department hasn't silenced a long standing Army complaint by its decision to grant a valor badge to front line medics while withholding the $10 monthly pay bonus which goes to enlisted men who wear the combat infantryman's badge.

Doughboys and medics of the 36th division seem agreed that the badge is a step in the right direction but were unimpressed by Secretary of War Stimson's reasoning—as reported in Stars and Stripes—that granting extra pay for duty under fire would compromise the medic's status as noncombatants under the Geneva convention.

No Room For Argument

Pfc. Albert Dallegro, a rifleman, from Newark, N. J., and his buddy Pvt. Adam Aldi, Fonda, N. Y., couldn't even see any room for argument. Dallegro declared: "They do as much as me and they haven't even got a rifle." Aldi asserted: "Of course the medics should get it. They certainly do as much as we do."

The nearest thing to enthusiasm encountered among medics themselves was Pfc. James Parker, of Paris, Texas, a litter bearer since the African campaign and holder of a Bronze Star for bravery. He said, "I don't care to much about not getting the extra pay, although I think we should get it. At least the badge will make clear the difference between who carries a litter and who carries a bed pan."

Medical officers—who wouldn't share in the pay bonus even on frontline duty—reacted much as did the men. Division Surgeon Lt. Col. Clarence Brewster of Fort Worth, Texas, said "the valor badge is a step forward, but it doesn't go far enough. They should get extra compensation."

Sounds Like Appeasement

Lt. Col. Joe Pate of Paducah, Texas, a regimental surgeon, said, "it would seem that at the time the infantrymen got their badge, the War department didn't even know there were medics up there. Now they have given them the badge minus the extra pay. It sounds like appeasement to me."

Reflecting a widely held opinion that the War department is boggling unnecessarily at the term "combat pay and that an increase could be called something else," Lt. Alfred Perez, assistant battalion surgeon, from San Antonio said. "Infantrymen are being paid for the danger and hardships they go through, not because they carry guns. The medics go through the same dangers. The War department's reason for not granting extra pay doesn't make sense."

Tarrant Salary Bill Passed By Senate

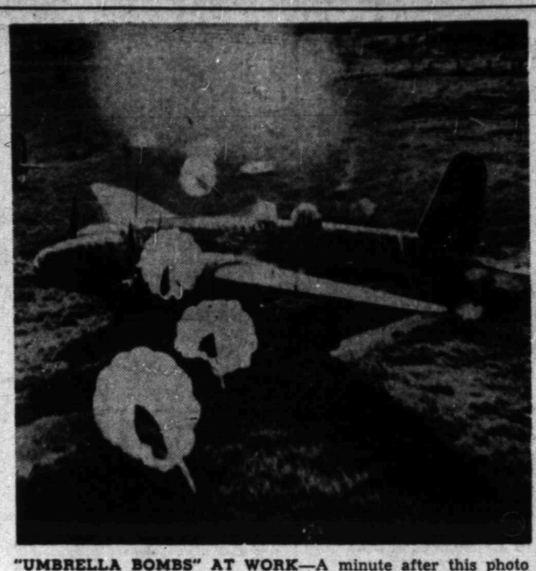

AUSTIN, March 15 (U.P.)—Tarrant county salary and budget bills passed the Texas Senate today with a minor change in the salary-raising bill to make it effective Jan. 1, 1946.

That change sent the bill back to the House of Representatives. The House bill to make the county auditor a budget officer was passed by the Senate without change.

Sen. Jesse Martin, Fort Worth, said the raises range from $500 to $900 a year and in all would amount to about $9,000 a year. Affected are the offices of district attorney, sheriff, district clerk, tax collector, county auditor, justice of the peace and other fee offices.

SURPRISE

BONHAM, Tex., March 15 (U.P.) —Gas meter reader Bill Milam thinks he's set a new record for the mile run. He opened a meter box yesterday and a three foot chicken snake slithered off the meter. That's when he started running. But he went back—to kill the snake so he could prove his story.

"UMBRELLA BOMBS" AT WORK—A minute after this photo was snapped there was one less plane in the Nip air force. Parachute bombs, dropped by 5th Air Force B-25's, are falling all around a nice new Jap fighter reconnaissance plane on Aparri airdrome. Aparri, on north coast of Luzon, is where Japs made invasion landing, December 10, 1941.

Special Congressional Hearing On Lack Of Beefsteak Ends With No Information Gained

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 15. — We're hungry. Congress and me. We want meat in which a feller can sink his teeth. We also want fresh butter on our bread. OPA, you better have a care. Or as Sen. Albert W. Kawks of New Jersey put it:

"We are getting plenty of rancid butter at the Senate restaurant right now. If you don't believe it, come on over and eat there."

He's a Senator. He gets rancid butter. I'm no Senator. I get marmalade in paper cups. So much for class distinction in the Senatorial beanery; now we'll get on with the story of why there ain't no meat.

Special Hearing Called

Rep. Frank L. Sundstrom of East Orange, N. J., who used to be a meat eater before OPA, called a special hearing on the lack of beef steak, to which he invited Congressmen, Senators, butchers, and the hungry, like me. He said this country had more cows than ever and fewer steaks. "There must be something wrong," he said. He called as his first witness Morris Cohn, dapper, brown-suited counsel for most of the New Jersey meat packers.

Cohn said the OPA said that civilians were eating more meat than they ever did. He said he was prepared to prove that was a lie. He said housewives ought to be allowed to use their red ration stamps for meat alone. He said they should have a special stamp for butter.

Butter Surplus In Gotham

"Incidentally," he continued, "I understand there is a large surplus of butter in New York now, but the housewife can't buy it. Soon it will be rancid."

It was here that Sen. Hawks revealed the sorry situation in the Senate lunchroom.

Next witness: A. G. Williams, a New Jersey slaughterer in a black and yellow nectie with yellow socks to match.

"Our industry is being regimented into the red," he testified. How, he asked, can a meat packer pack meat when he has to sell it for less than he paid for it?

Black Market Gets Hogs

"You slaughterers are being thrown out of business," observed Rep. Gordon Canfield of Paterson, N. J.

"And the black market is getting the hogs in Pennsylvania," added Rep. Chester H. Cross of the Keystone state.

Came then Charles S. Winters, who indentified himself as a justice of peace representing the rural slaughterers near Lancaster, Po. They're all lawbreakers, he said, in spite of themselves. "When they go into Philadelphia to buy steers, they are pushed aside by the black marketers with $10,000 cash in their pockets," he added.

Wife Looks In Vain

Arthur Dennis, vice president of the National Meat council, said good American citizens were going to jail when faced by the choice of bankruptcy or of breaking the law. "You're damned if you do and you're damned if you don't," he said.

Rep. Emmanuel Celler of New York said his wife went from store to store, looking for meat. She always looked in vain in Brooklyn. "It's hopeless," he said.

The chairman said he'd give the government a chance to answer. M. O. Cooper of the War Food administration passed the buck to the OPA. A. L. Erickson of the OPA looked unhappy. He said the meat problem was difficult. He said he wanted to study the evidence.

End hearing. Luncheon special at the House of Representatives restaurant: scrambled eggs with tomatoes. At the Senate restaurant: omelette.

More Money Goes Into Political Pots Last Year Than Ever Before

By HELEN MONBERG
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 15 — The American people contributed more money to political war chests in the 1944 national elections than in any other campaign in history.

The Senate campaign expenditures committee reported today that 1944 contributions to various political organizations totaled at least $25,298,384, of which at least $23,021,878 was actually spent. It emphasized that additional millions were spent by county and local organizations which did not file reports.

Previous High In 1940

The previous high in contributions was in 1940 when they reached $24,174,224. The 1936 campaign, however, remains the record year for actual expenditures with a total of $23,973,329.

The committee reported that neither the Democratic nor the Republican National committees exceeded the $3,000,000 limit placed by the Hatch act on expenditures.

The Republicans reported receipts of $2,999,999 and expenditures of $2,828,651; the Democrats, receipts of $2,562,784, expenditures of $2,056,121.

Contributions Listed

The report gave a comprehensive listing of contributions by prominent families. The largest was the $109,832 given by 31 members of the du Pont family to Republican committees. Nine members of the family of Joseph Pew, Pennsylvania oil magnate, gave $96,995 to the Republican cause. Other Republican donors in the family group were the Rockefellers, Mellons, Guggenheims, and Vanderbilts.

In the opposing camp, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Field of Chicago contributed $22,000 to Democratic and independent committees. Five members of the family of Andrew J. Higgins, New Orleans shipbuilder, gave $20,680 to the Democratic and independent causes.

Highlights Of Report

Here are some of the highlights of the report:

1. The committee found no evidence of fraud in the election of any Senator but it detected irregularities in the Arkansas primary and Indiana general elections.

2. There was no evidence of "clear-cut" violation of the corrupt practices act by the controversial political action committee of the congress of industrial organizations and its affiliate, the National Citizens Political Action committee.

3. Only five organizations, including the two-party national committees, reported receipts and expenditures over $1,000,000. Others were the PAC, receipts $1,405,120, expenditures $1,327,775; United Republican Finance Committee for Metropolitan New York, receipts $1,629,451, expenditures $1,260,593; and the Republican Finance committee of Pennsylvania, receipts of $1,252,700 and expenditures of $939,934.

Hatch Ceiling Maintained

4. No winning U. S. Senatorial candidate exceeded the Hatch act ceiling of $10,000—the yearly salary of a Senator—on personal contributions in his own behalf in a general election. Sen. John H. Overton, D., La., personally spent $38,613 on his primary campaign and Sen. H. Alexander Smith, R., N. J., spent $44,901 in the general election. These, however, were expenditures and not contributions.

The committee made these recommendations:

1. A "political committee' should be re-defined to cover all organizations designed to influence the election of presidential, senatorial and congressional candidates, including so-called "educational and independent committees."

Should Extend Act

2. Immediate publicity should be given to campaign expenditures and contributions, and such information should be made available at some central depository in Washington.

3. The Federal corrupt practices act should be extended to the primary elections to prohibit any candidate from expending substantially more than the annual salary of the office to which he aspires.

4. The present spending limitations on candidates for federal offices, political committees, and individual contributions should be eliminated because they are "unrealistic." The committee believes the limitations have failed, but continuous publicity "may regulate where prohibition without publicity has failed."

5. The Senate campaign committee should be made a permanent subcommittee of the Senate committee on privileges and elections in order to keep investigations up to date.

Cotton Consumption Lower During February

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP)—The Census bureau reported today that cotton consumed during February totaled 781,559 bales of lint and 119,308 of linters, compared with 849,945 and 128,781 in January this year, and 811,062 and 107,262 in February last year.

Consumption for the 7 months ending Feb. 28 totaled 5,658,740 bales of lint and 863,106 of linters, compared with 5,902,178 and 759,433 in the corresponding period a year ago.

Cotton on hand Feb. 28 was reported held as follows:

In consuming establishments, 2,278,052 bales of lint and 317,976 of linters, compared with 2,350,819 and 460,806 a year ago.

In public storage and at compresses, 12,400,392 bales of lint and 33,014 of linters, compared with 11,521,058 and 87,147 a year ago.

Cotton spindles active during February numbered 22,223,848, compared with 22,260,628 in January this year, and 22,513,390 in February last year.

Raising National Debt Limit Approved Again

WASHINGTON, March 15. (AP)—The Senate finance committee today approved legislation raising the national debt limit to $300,000,000,000. Treasury Undersecretary Daniel W. Bell said it would have to be boosted again within a year.

The present statutory limit is $260,000,000,000. The House already has approved the higher figure.

Carbon Black Output Is To Be Increased

DALLAS, March 15 (U.P.)—The Southwest, home of 50 of the nation's 57 carbon black plants, prepared to step up production of the essential commodity with a $3,194,478 expansion program that will include two new plants.

Carbon black is used in manufacture of tires.

Regional War Production Board Director George L. Noble, jr., said that output in this region—Texas, Louisiana and Oklahoma—had been pared from 25,000,000 feet of gas daily behind schedule to 5,000,000 feet daily and that capacity schedules were in prospect by April 1.

He said that new carbon black plants were to be erected at Odessa, Tex., and McCoy, La., at costs of $1,135,200 and $1,040,000, respectively, and that a Guymon, Okla., plant would be enlarged by expenditure of $1,019,278.

He pointed out that with the exception of Washington, there have been no concentrations of OPA workers in any one section. Of the 60,000 paid employes, some 43,000 are women, many of whom expect to return to their homes when the war is over, he said.

Seek Variety For Lunches

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second in a series of articles on the school lunch prepared by Wynell Eskridge, a foods and nutrition major in the home economics division at Texas technological college.)

One way to add variety to the school lunch is in salads. Grated carrots and shredded cabbage may be wrapped in waxed paper or cellophane without dressing and will keep fresh and crisp. Other salads such as apple and celery, potato salad, cole slaw and carrot sticks may be wrapped in the same manner.

Any fresh fruit in season may be included in the lunch box. The most common fruits for this vicinity are apples, bananas, oranges, peaches and pears.

Providing for the youngster's sweet tooth is not so difficult when such tempting things as custards, rice puddings, bread puddings, cookies, cup cakes and home-made candies are supplied.

Here are some menus adapted for the school child's lunch box using examples of the food combinations from the aforementioned groups:

Cream of Pea and Carrot Soup (in vacuum bottle)
Crackers.
Cream Cheese on Date-Nut Bread
Grated cabbage salad
Apple Oatmeal Cookies
Bottle of milk

Peanut Butter and Raisin on Whole Wheat Bread
Sliced ham with Lettuce section
Potato salad Baker custard
Milk (in vacuum bottle)

Deviled eggs
Sliced meat loaf on white bread,
Lettuce section
Buttered nut bread
Raw carrot strips
Cup cakes
Cocoa (in vacuum bottle)

Here are some recipes usable for lunch making:

Peanut and Raisin Mixture

Materials: ½ cup finely chopped raisins, ½ cup peanut butter, Warm water

Mix peanut butter with raisins and enough water to make a thick paste.

Date Nut Bread

Materials: 1 cup chopped dates, 1 teaspoon soda, ½ cup boiling water, 1 tablespoon butter, ¾ cup sugar, 1 egg yolk, 1 teaspoon vanilla, Pinch of salt, 1¾ cups flour, ½ cup nut meats, 1 egg white

Mix dates, soda and boiling water, and let stand at least twenty minutes. Mix butter, sugar, egg yolk, vanilla and salt. Add date mixture alternately with flour to the butter, sugar and egg mixture. Add nut meats. Beat egg white until stiff, and fold into other mixture. Bake in a loaf cake pan about forty-five minutes in a slow oven (300° F.)

Foundation Think White Sauce For Cream Soups

1 tablespoon butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 cup milk, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper

Method:

Melt butter and stir in flour; gradually stir in milk and stir until mixture boils and thickens, then cook about three minutes longer stirring occasionally; add seasonings. This sauce may be used as a base for any cream soup.

Remember always when planning or preparing a lunch that simplicity is the keynote. Simplicity with variety. These are the primary requirements: something good to look at, something good tasting and good for you. Something that will pack easily and not lose flavor and attractiveness on standing is another requirement. Always pack the heaviest things first and for a little something extra, add a surprise. An unexpected piece of gum or a popcorn ball will bring much pleasure to the carrier.

Spring flowers, Irish linen, coffee and chocolate sponge roll for St. Patrick's Day buffet dessert party.

Shure And It's For St. Pat's Day!

Join The Irish Celebration At A Buffet Dessert Party

GUESTS for dinner may be difficult these days. But inviting friends in for dessert and coffee, served immediately upon their arrival as the last course of the dinner they have eaten at home, is a happy solution.

A simple dessert-and-coffee buffet can be as gracious a form of entertaining as a full-course dinner if the setting is planned with equal care. Here's a suggestion for St. Patrick's Day: Instead of a cloth, you might use two table-length runners of Irish linen embroidered in a cutwork design that stands out dramatically against the dark gleam of polished wood. Make a colorful arrangement of fresh-cut flowers with lots of fresh green. Place a few cardboard shamrocks along the Irish linen runners.

Chocolate Sponge Roll

One-half cup sifted cake flour, ½ teaspoon combination baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, 4 eggs, ¾ cup sifted sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 squares unsweetened chocolate, 2 tablespoons sugar, ¼ teaspoon soda, 3 tablespoons cold water.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together three times. Place eggs in deep bowl, add ¾ cup sugar and beat with rotary egg beater until very thick and light. Add flour, all at once, stirring well. Add vanilla. Melt chocolate over boiling water. Remove from heat and add immediately 2 tablespoons sugar, soda, and cold water. Stir until thick and light, then fold quickly into batter until mixture is completely blended. Turn into 15 x 10-inch pan which has been greased, lined with paper to within ½ inch of edge, and again greased. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 15 minutes, or until done. Cut off crisp edges of cake and turn out on cloth; remove paper and cool just 5 minutes. Quickly spread with prepared vanilla pudding filling and roll as for jelly roll. Wrap in cloth and cool on rack. Sprinkle with powdered sugar.

Have You Heard Of 'Humdrum Hunger'?

There are different kinds of hunger, according to today's specialists. The latest one to be given a name is "humdrum hunger"—that feeling one has when one eats without any real enjoyment in the eating.

A wise homemaker knows that, if her family struggles unhappily through a meal, they will not get the full benefit from the food values she gives them. She wants them to eat lustily, and sign off with a cheery, "Gee, Mom, that was good!"

The job of keeping meals interesting is not easy at the time of year when everyone begins to get weary of the limited variety of winter foods, and early spring foods are still scarce. Folks are inclined to be just a bit restless and hard to please, and shortages and rationing don't make it any easier. Now is the time when the homemaker needs to use all the imagination she possesses, and every bit of culinary and artistic skill she can muster.

"Tricks Of The Trade"

Here are a few "tricks of the trade" which may help:

(1) Make use of appetite arousers. Start dinner with a fruit or vegetable juice cocktail, or a cup of spicy soup. Add the appealing flavor of meat or meat gravy to dishes made of macaroni, rice, or vegetables.

(2) Be a little more daring in the use of seasonings; try different herbs and spices to give variety to meat dishes.

(3) Serve familiar dishes in new ways. Use individual casseroles for serving stew, or make it into a meat pie, varying the topping each time. When feasible, arrange the whole meal attractively on a big platter or chop plate, choosing the foods to provide variety and harmony of color and form.

(4) Vary salads by serving them in a large bowl, in individual bowls or on individual plates. Make the most of fresh foods, preparing them carefully to preserve their freshness.

(5) Serve special accompaniments with the meat course, such as stuffed celery or spiced fruit. Have hot muffins, biscuits or corn bread more often.

(6) "Dress up" simple desserts. For example, a creamy-smooth custard sauce, well chilled, adds glamour to canned fruit or fruit gelatine desserts.

Southern Spoon Bread with Gravy

2 cups white cornmeal, 4 cups milk, 6 eggs, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon butter or substitute

Add the milk gradually to the cornmeal in a saucepan and cook over a low flame, stirring constantly, until a thick mush forms. Add salt and butter. Cool. Add egg yolks, one at a time, stirring each wel into the mixture. When all are in give a last thorough beating. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold in. Turn into a large, deep, well greased dish and bake at 275° for one hour and 15 minutes. Serve with leftover gravy or with gravy made by the following recipe:

Johnnycake

¾ cup yellow corn meal, Salt to taste, Boiling water, 3 tablespoons fat

Add boiling water to corn meal until you have a batter which can be made into firm cakes. Season with salt. Form into cakes about three inches in diameter, and fry in fat to a golden brown.

BAKED APPLES

(These apples save your sugar)

Wash and core apples. Peel ½ inch strip around stem of apple. Place in a baking dish and pour ½ teaspoon lemon juice (optional) over top and in center of each apple. Fill center with old fashioned molasses. Mix ½ cup hot water with 2 tablespoons molasses and pour around apples (enough for six apples). Bake in moderate oven 350 degrees Faherenheit 40 minutes or until tender, basting several times.

O'Daniel News Is To Face Inquiry

WASHINGTON, March 15. (U.P.)—The Senate campaign expenditures committee held today that the W. Lee O'Daniel News inc., a private corporation sparked by Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel, D., Tex., is a "palpably political" organization.

The committee has previously voted to refer all data it has on the committee to the Department of Justice to determine whether the coporation has violated the federal corrupt practices act. The act prohibits contributions by corporations to federal elections.

Paid For Broadcasts

The corporation published a political newspaper called the W. Lee O'Daniel News and paid for O'Daniel's anti-fourth-term broadcasts over 100 radio stations in 44 of the 48 states. The activities of the corporation generally ended on election day.

In a report today, the Senate committee found that incorporators, directors, and stockholders of the corporation are Mrs. O'Daniel, and her sons, Pat and Mike. The trial balance of the W. Lee O'Daniel News on Oct. 31, 1944, showed debits of $313,338 and credits of the same amount. Credited to the common citizens radio committee, a subsidiary of the corporation, was $79,950, and subscription contributions totalled $111,096.

Contributors to the radio fund included Sen. E. H. Moore, R., Okla., and R. H. Cullen of Houston, Texas, who each gave $25,000.

The paper was published by the Southwestern Magazine Publishing Co., of Fort Worth, with 70,000 copies the usual run of each issue. The slogan on the paper was: "Washington Needs Thorough Housecleaning," its contents were mainly reprints of speeches and editorials by O'Daniel. The radio broadcasts were also political (anti-New Deal), and eight radio stations were paid political rates for the 15-minute transcriptions.

PASTORS RECEIVE PENSIONS

DALLAS, March 15. (U.P.)—In the six years since its inauguration, 1,600 Texas Baptist pastors received yearly pensions amounting to half their former yearly incomes, the relief and annuity board of the Southern Baptist convention said today. Executive Secretary Dr. Thomas Watts explained that 1,777 Texas churches held memberships on the board.

Jerries Wouldn't Come Out So Iron Door Welded Shut

WITH THE THIRD ARMY In Germany, March 15 (U.P.)—A Dallas, Tex., captain and engineer officer, revealed today the fate of "a bunch of Jerries" who were holed up in a Siegfried line pillbox and refused to come out.

"It was up near Aachen," said Capt. Harris P. Wells of 4600 Lakeside Drive, Dallas.

"A bunch of Jerries were holed up in a pillbox and refused to come out. So we got men up to the iron door, welded it shut and left them there."

Wells said the once "impregnable" Siegfried line has practically ceased to exist. American troops are followed by engineers who destroy the pillboxes, emplacements and even most of the "dragons' teeth."

He listed three reasons for destroying the line: first, in case the Germans try another breakthrough they won't have any fortifications; second, to leave the enemy nothing to start with if he tries to arm for another war; and third, "terrific psychological effect it has on the Germans to see their famous defenses blown to hell."

Legion's Oratorical Contest Set Tonight

Today is 25th anniversary of the American Legion.

Only observance of the day by members of the local organization, Allen Bros. Post No. 148, will be a district oratorical contest to be held at 8 o'clock tonight at the American Legion hall.

Legionnaires, who said they felt special celebrations would be out of order because of war time conditions, have confined their activities to work plans of civic nature since 1943. This year's goal is set on obtaining a Veterans' hospital for Lubbock.

Four Sailors, Two Marines Ply Jap Fire From Hospital Ship Off Iwo

By Master T/Sgt. John W. Black

IWO JIMA (Delayed)—Out in the night four sailors and a couple of Marines are showing the stuff of which heroes are made.

In a tiny, blunt-nosed landing craft, they're running the gantlet between a hospital ship and the beach still under intense enemy fire, evacuating the wounded. For the return trips they load up with urgently needed ammunition and supplies.

Their barge is sieved by shrapnel and its compass is awry. Only courage now guides them and their cargoes through the enemy's anti-boat barrage and the myrid of our shipping in the blacked-out sea off the island fortress.

28 Casualties Picked Up

By the light of mortar and artillery shells bursting along the beachhead, they've picked up 28 casualties and brought them to safety in four trips.

Their stop at this ship with the fourth boatload was unschedule. An underwater obstruction had fouled their propoller. They were not making much headway and some of their wounded charges needed help.

Now their patients are under care and the boat's screw is repaired. In a moment they'll be off beachward for more casualties.

Skipper of the craft is Navy Coxswain Gale A. Trulson, 33, of San Jose, Calif. Other members of the crew are Navy Seaman First Class Arque D. Oxner, 25, of Hughes, Ark.; Navy Seaman First Class Paul Martinez, 30, of Wichita Falls, Tex.; Navy Fireman First Class Odell Shipman, 19, of Cullman, Ala.; Marine Cpl. Irving V. Petry, 24, of Hanover, N. J., and Marine Pvt. Devrule N. Teeter, 24, of South Bend. Ind.

With Assault Troops

"Our first trip in was with assault troops," said Trulson, who has ferried troops aschore on Guadalcanal, the Russell islands, Bougainville, Treasury island, and Rendova since enlisting in January, 1942.

"We caught a shell burst low down on the ramp as we beached. A couple of the chunks came clear through but no one was hurt. Now the water pours through the holes. On another trip shells missed us twice by about 50 feet. Another time as we backed away from the beach, a Jap machine gun peppered our bow. It's rough in there and a lot of boys are getting hurt."

Fireman Shipman isn't supposed to be with Trulson's crew.

"I was on another landing craft," said Shipman, who is a veteran of the Lingayen gulf invasion on Luzon. "But the boat got hung up as we hit the beach. I dug in with the Marines.

Wanted To Help More

"I was helping with the wounded when Trulson came in. He said he needed more help. I went along. It's a cinch I can do more good here."

Oxner is the boat engineer and Martinez is acting as bowman, hanging over the top of the ramp and "feeling out" the course for the coxswain. Both are married and in action for the first time. Martinez's wife, Mary, lives at the Wichita Falls address.

The two Marines were assigned to Trulson to aid with the wounded. The Iwo operation is their first combat experience.

Jap Atrocities In Manila Cited

SAN FRANCISCO, March 15. (AP) — Bitterly describing "coldly premeditated atrocities" in Manila, Brig. Gen. Carlos P. Romulo was back in the United States today with a sheaf of documents and films to "indict the Japanese people on the floor of Congress."

The resident commissioner of Philippines, who arrived here from Manila yesterday after a dramatic reunion there with his wife and their sons, said the prime purpose of his trip was to appear before Congress "and describe in detail, with sworn affidavits, the atrocities the Japanese committed on helpless civilians."

Nanking A Picnic

He arranged to leave for Washington this morning.

Romula told newsmen that "the rape of Nanking was a picnic compared with what the Japs did to Manila."

He said he carried documentary evidence that the Japanese imperial marines in Manila had direct orders from Tokyo to kill as many Filipinos as they could.

Regulations Hold Down GI Loans

DALLAS, March 16 (U.P.)—Banking and insurance laws and lack of financial backing were pictured today as stumbling blocks preventing veterans from buying and outfitting farms under the GI Bill of Rights.

Ted Watson, assistant regional director of the Farm Security administration, said about 40 Texas veterans had gotten their farmsites approved by the FSA, but none has been able to get the money for the purchases.

One Loan Completed

One exception was Roy Rufus Hays, the first and only returned veteran to make a government-backed loan. His was for $2,000 for a Cass county farm, Watson said.

The bill provides that the government will back loans for farms and equipment to 50 per cent of the total, but not to exceed $2,000. Interest is four per cent for 20 years.

Watson said, however, that most of the veterans must get loans for "100 per cent" of the purchase value.

Limited To 60 Per Cent

Meanwhile, a Dallas banker explained why banking and insurance laws would have to be changed before help could be given the returning fighting men who chose farming as their postwar avocation.

Ben H. Wooten said that national banks cannot make real estate loans for more than ten years nor more than 60 per cent of the value of the property.

State banks, he said, are limited to 60 per cent of the property value on such loans and 40 per cent of the amount must be paid in five years.

Legislation Pending

He said, however, that legislation is pending in the state legislature to permit loans to veterans on 66 2/3 per cent of the property value and to allow monthly payments for 20 years. Also, a veterans' committee of the Texas Bankers association is to consider the problem in the near future.

Similar state laws make it impossible for insurance companies to back the returning veterans, according to T. L. Bradford. Money loaned in excess of 66 per cent of property value cannot be counted as a reserve deposit, he said.

The laws are in the process of being changed to permit the acceptance of loans as reserve deposits, Bradford said.

Work Hours Are Cut In Texas Shipyards

NEW ORLEANS, March 16 (AP) Lieut. Commander George H. Shields, labor relations officer for the Eighth Naval district, said here tonight that principal shipyards in Texas had been ordered on two nine-hour shifts with two eight-hour shifts on Saturdays.

The officer said that the yards previously were on two 10-hour shifts, but that the new shifts were in line with the Gulf zone standard of the maritime commission, and that it was hoped to get the same production despite the slightly reduced working time.

Diary Of Offficer Recounts Forlorn Hope On Corregidor

By JAMES HUTCHESON
Associated Press Staff Writer

CORREGIDOR—An American officer's 1942 diary, found on Corregidor by American troops, reflects how the little garrison's spirits were buoyed through those bleak weeks of siege by the forlorn hope that aid might come in time.

The diary was kept by Lt. Col. William C. Braly, an officer in charge of "The Rock's" defensive guns. Its last entry was March 27. Less than two weeks later Bataan fell. Corregidor followed on May 6, a month later.

Calmly, matter-of-factly, he chronicled the start of the air raids against "The Rock" and cited proudly the enemy fliers' apparent fear of the American anti-aircraft fire. He traced day-by-day the increasing tempo of Japanese aerial pounding and the blows against neighboring Forts Drum, Frank and Hughes. He related proudly the exploits of the Americans' four patched-up fighter planes, while they remained able to fly, and conjectured on what the defenders could do with a real air force.

When General MacArthur left Corregidor to take up his new command in Australia, Braly noted the event with mixed emotions of regret and hope.

"I am afraid his departure will be a blow to Filipino morale," he wrote, "but he had no choice."

There was no tone of whining about the food shortage. It was not critical, he said, and by cutting meager rations he thought the supplies could be made to last to mid-June. But there was no variety. Sugar and coffee were missed especially.

Keeping abreast of news by radio, he noted the events which were making history and cited significantly General MacArthur's appeal from "Down Under":

"Courage alone is not enough. We need men and materials."

Would they come? Would they come in time? The garrison kept hoping.

Congress Is On Guard

Reconversion Will Be Guarded

WHEN the collapse of Germany puts an end to organized Nazi resistance to the forces of the United Nations, there will be noted in the American Congress quickening interest in matters purely domestic. Among those matters in which the Congress legitimately will take interest are those which have to do with partial reconversion of industry from war to peace production.

Whether correctly, or not, numbers of the saner representatives and senators on both sides of party aisles suspect that the administration will attempt to hold many factories to war production which, in the best interests of the nation, should be reconverted to peacetime production. At any rate, forces in Congress intend to watch carefully the "we planned it that way" boys to make sure that American business is not withheld from world markets one minute longer than absolutely necessary.

Not a single American factory needed for war production should be reconverted to peace products, for there will be a bloody, and perhaps long, war left to fight in the Orient after the European theater closes down. On the other hand, neither must screwball ideologies be permitted to hamper for an unnecessary hour the return of American products to world markets, for with the prosperity of American business the best economic interests of us all are necessarily entwined.

Congress, by playing watchdog after Germany falls, will be doing its duty by the rank-and-file of the citizenship.

Fight On Colds Continues

DESPITE repeated disappointment, laymen still have faith that the medical profession some day will solve the baffling mystery of the common cold. Otherwise each new addition to the growing pile of literature on that subject would not be scanned with hopeful interest. It would be left to gather dust like the others.

The latest contribution to the discussion comes from Capt. Edward E. Brown, Army Medical corps port surgeon at Portland, Oregon. Writing in "Northwest Medicine," he reports that 13 years spent studying colds have convinced him that most of them are not caused by a virus but by streptoccoi. Approximately 90 per cent of all colds, according to his experience, are streptococcus colds.

This is an encouraging conclusion, because sulfa drugs are effective against these bacteria. Moreover, Dr. Brown suggests that cold vaccines prepared from streptococci might be effective in treatment, whereas it is known definitely that virus vaccines are not effective against colds.

Most heartening is the fact that Dr. Brown's conclusions seem to dovetail with the testimony of Army and Navy doctors' reports showing that daily doses of sulfadiazine prevent 70 to 90 per cent of upper respiratory infections in more than half a million men. Maybe the medical profession is at last on the right trail.

The problem has not been solved. The chances are that it will be a long time before science arrives at a complete solution. But most persons would be satisfied to be rid of 90 per cent of their share of colds.

The Problem Of Lend-Lease

IN voting approval of extension of the Lend-Lease act, the national House of Representatives OK'd an amendment banning the use of Lend-Lease funds in postwar relief or reconstruction programs in liberated areas of Europe.

That was a wise thing to do, and came only after conservatives had successfully applied pressure to bring it about.

Congressional Republicans and Old Line Democrats who insist that Lend-Lease was a war-born necessity and therefore it should not be continued in operation after the war, undoubtedly express the opinion of the majority of American citizens. They didn't get all they wanted in the way of fencing Lend-Lease in, but they at least got something in the House ban of Lend-Lease funds for international boondoggling so dear to the heart of the Wallace-ites in the national administration.

Had the latter group not been curbed, the gate would have been left wide open for the frittering away of billions of dollars of American money in addition to the billions already spent.

We hope the Senate will approve the bill with the amendment included, if, indeed, it doesn't go the full distance and insist upon Lend-Lease's termination with the fighting in Europe.

Peace can be achieved and maintained by the simple expedient of promptly shooting any person who mounts a platform, stump or soap-box and begins ranting.

It's an impossibility, of course, but the most severe punishment that could be meted out to Hitler would be to provide him with a conscience and let him live.

The One Minute Sermon

Hear my prayer, O Lord, and give ear unto my cry; hold not thy peace at my tears: for I am a stranger with thee, and a sojourner, as all my fathers were.—Psalm 39:12.

A Song To Remember

By Willard Wiener

(Copyright, 1944, NEA Service, Inc.)

THE STORY: At the age of 10, Frederic Chopin's dexterity at the pianoforte has already made him a person of note in the little Polish village of Zelazowa Wola. Count Skarbek, owner of the village, has requested that he play in a public concert at Warsaw. Professor Elsner, Frederic's teacher, and the whole Chopin family are looking forward to the event.

* * *

II

THE LETTER

Prof. Jozef Elsner, his baggy clothes dripping wet, stepped over the threshold. If Mamma Chopin had not held him off he would have embraced her in his rain-soaked arms.

"Good day!" His face was one big smile. "Madame Chopin, good day!" Then he nodded to Monsieur Chopin, who had only this moment come to the door. "Nicolas! Izabela, good day! Your sisters, little one, are they in health?"

"They are in Warsaw," Izabela said.

Jozef Elsner closed his lips, nodded, then with a quick gesture, as Nicolas Chopin bolted the door against the driving rain, he said: "What a pupil!" His head nodded in the direction of Fritzchen's music room. "Superb! Yes?"

Nicolas Chopin didn't say anything but his expression said plainly enough: "Who thinks of music on a day like this?"

The Professor smacked his lips. His cheeks were wet, the rain water dripping even from his eyebrows. He was groping in his coat pocket for something.

"And how are you this fine day, my little one?" he said to Izabela, still groping in his pocket.

Izabela answered stiffly: "Very well, thank you. But it isn't a fine day."

"—Tch, tch."

"Jozef, you are an idiot!" Mamma Chopin said.

* * *

Monsieur Chopin had been rolling his tongue in his cheek. He said: "A fine day for a straw hat and slippers."

What is that, a straw hat? Please, please, Jozef Elsner is not such a fool. He looked at his hat. Why it was, of all things, his fine straw one, but hardly fine any longer. He looked at his feet. Elsner, what is the matter? Have you gone out of your head completely? For his feet, of course, were in slippers. Tch, tch. So many things a man must thing of in these days. How can you do everything? In a day there are only so many hours and so many minutes in an hour, and everywhere there are problems, great and small, and you are only one person. Anyone can see how difficult it is.

Mamma Chopin took his wet hat, his wet music roll, and Izabela, in response to her mother's quick words, brought out Papa Chopin's thick warm slippers which Jozef Elsner thankfully exchanged for his own.

The Professor now had in his hand a crumpled paper, the thing he had been groping for in his pocket.

"Madame."

"Yes, Jozef."

"Nicolas."

"Yes, Jozef."

"I only say to you my friends, my dear warm friends—read!"

It was too dark where they were to read anything. They moved into the kitchen where the light was better. Mamma Chopin took the paper. She opened it, read, while Elsner looked on, his own face beaming. Mamma Chopin read from the top of the paper to the very bottom.

"I don't understand it," she said, when she had finished.

"—Tch, tch."

She handed the paper to her husband. "Maybe you can understand it."

Nicolas Chopin held the paper away from his eyes.

"Don't you see it?" said Jozef Elsner.

"Give me a minute, Jozef, and I will see what there is to be seen."

"Now do you see?"

"No, Jozef, I do not see."

* * *

Elsner wagged his head from side to side, by way of showing his disgust. "From Paris," he said. "Isn't that true?"

"True."

"Who sent it?"

Nicolas Chopin looked at the letter again. "I make out the name to be Pleyel."

"Pleyel," Elsner said. "Louis Pleyel!"

"Who is Louis Pleyel?"

"Madame. Nicolas. Please, please, my dear warm friends — Louis Pleyel — let me ask—who owns the finest concert hall, the greatest publishing house in Paris?"

"Is it Louis Pleyel?" asked Nicolas Chopin calmly.

"—Who else? It is something, let me tell you, to get a letter from Louis Pleyel. Is it a cold letter? Look! How is it signed? It is signed, as you see, 'Respectfully, Henry Dupont, Secretary to Louis Pleyel.' Ah, don't laugh, don't smile. Who is Elsner in far-off Warsaw that Louis Pleyel should have his own personal secretary write 'respectfully' to him from Paris? The letter is still warm. It came in the early post. It reaches over the years, proof, my friends —absolute proof — that a sincere man is always a sincere man. It brings back to my head an occasion in Germany, 15 years ago. I was playing then in a trio, and who is in the audience but Louis Pleyel. There he was, afterwards, waiting. He took my hand, a powerful man, Louis Pleyel. 'My dear friend,' he said, 'you were magnificent!' So I am naturally pleased, as who wouldn't be. But did it stop there? Oh, no! That was only the beginning. He said also, on that same occasion, 'Elsner,' he said, 'I shall never forget you.' How do you like that?"

Mamma Chopin said coldly: "You wrote to him about Fritzchen?"

Elsner's eyes lighted. "Did you think I would be afraid to do that? Not Jozef Elsner. Yes, indeed, I sat myself down and wrote a warm letter to my good friend Louis Pleyel. Well, you see what he says. 'It is all there.'"

He now had the letter and was holding it to his eyes. He read it aloud, although undoubtedly he could have repeated every word without the slightest reference to it.

Blows Going Beyond Strategic Bombing

21ST BOMBER COMMAND HEADQUARTERS, Guam, Thursday, March 16 (AP)—The mounting fierceness and relentlessness of American Superfortress incendiary raids on Japan's industrial centers—three smashes by about 1,000 of the sky giants in less than 100 hours—strongly indicates that the B-29 command has embarked on an all-out campaign of area rather than strategic bombing.

Between early last Saturday morning and early Wednesday morning three missions of more than 300 planes each took off from bases in the Marianas to destroy almost 24 square miles in the industrial centers of Tokyo, Nagoya and Osaka with more than 6,000 tons of fire bombs.

An aviator who flies on the "iron beam" to his destination follows a railroad.

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

NINE hours to London on super-duper clippers with wing-spans as wide as a 21-story building is high!

Two hundred and four passengers a trip, unheard of luxuries, low fares, 30,000 feet high in the air—442,764 travelers a year on these post-war giants.

BRANDEIS

A dream? No! The order has been placed, all arrangements have been made. Ready. Go — as soon as the war is over.

For what?

To take a quick run over to Paris and sit at a little side-walk table in the Cafe de la Paix? To enjoy a raucous evening at the Folies Bergeres and the Place Pigalle?

Another hop over to the Riveria with its one-strap bathing suits and gambling, to Monje Carlo and St. Moritz, to Baden-Baden and, may be to Moscow for a dish of caviar and a glass of Vodka at the Metropole?

* * *

What do you mean, don't be silly?

Isn't that the way it was after the last war? Only on ships instead of planes.

I know, because I was there. I saw the thousands of American tourists who took a quick, "personally conducted" tour through the battlefields with their thousands of white crosses and then, as fast as they could, raced for the next night-spot.

I saw them — and heard them—making whoopee, being very chic and very daring and very cosmopolitan. Full dress, full stomachs, full heads every night on the luxury liners—and what did they learn about the peoples whose night spots they visited?

What did they bring home with them except empty pocket-books and heads, trunks full of souvenirs and a lot of whispered stories? And left behind contempt and ridicule and envy.

* * *

IS IT GOING to be that way again?

If so, you may be sure that there will be another war within the life-time of many of us.

Or have we finally learned our lesson?

Will those luxury clippers take us to see the sights and the ruins or will they take us into the hearts of the people?

Will we have quiet tlaks with the villagers and the peasants and let them tell us of their sufferings and miseries?

Or will we sit in the Ritz and Fouquet's and Zelli's and be a lot of suckers like so many of us have been, are and will be at home?

Peace means understanding.

Let us try to understand each other after the war. Let us discover that Europe is not simply "quaint" and colorful and an unbridled haven for tourists but a continent of human beings to whom Americans are not just a bunch of rich carousers but a nation of brothers and sisters to share their sorrows and their joys because they, too, are human beings.

* * *

When I moved to this New England village, a lot of people told me that I would never get along with the cold, silent, conservative Yankees.

I was a little bit afraid of their warnings.

But now I know that those people simply didn't understand the New Englanders. I get along fine with them.

I hope you will have a chance to go to Europe on one of those clippers.

But if you do, please don't spend all your time with waiters, hat-check girls and guides.

Meet the people—and you'll become a partner in peace.

U. S. Seeks Postwar Air Power

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE United States is quietly swinging its vast economic and industrial power in an attempt to promote an international aviation setup in the post-war era that will extend American interests to every corner of the globe.

Here, as in other fields, Washington has collided with British groups seeking a place in the air. The two nations' old maritime rivalry has been shifted to another sphere of transportation.

Uncle Sam is selling modern transport ships to various strategically situated countries in return for concessions of fields, landing rights and other commercial benefits. The agreement negotiated at the recent international conference in Chicago permits rival nations to make such unilateral arrangements, but it is up to each country to bargain with those whose cooperation is essential.

So far Washington has sold commercial planes to Brazil, Spain, Turkey and even to Lebanon in the Middle East. It is obvious that landing and supply bases in those areas are necessary for establishment of trade and passenger routes to South America and the Levant. In return for the chance to buy these air liners, we naturally expect the purchasers to confer favors on us.

TUCKER

England has not yet bought a single one, although she needs them because her factories have had to concentrate on production of fighters and bombers.

Her aloof atttitude was first shown at the Chicago conference. There London tried to restrict proposed arrangements so that rivals could not fly over foreign lands by an international pooling of air rights, but 10 Downing Street was unsuccessful. Even Canada sided with the Americans, and the conferees made the sky as free as the sea to countries having the wherewithal.

Meanwhile, the Civil Aeronautics board's examiners have recommended allocation of routes in South America, and will soon submit recommendations for the North Atlantic run. Together with the State department and the Foreign Economic administration, which handle the diplomatic and economic phases, our aviation strategists are acting on the assumption that the U. S. will not relinquish its aerial supremacy.

TRIPPE: Despite Pan American's attempt to obtain a monopoly in the foreign field the administration apparently favors the system of competition. Several bills framing a one-corporation setup have been introduced on Capitol Hill, but the White House has prevented action on them.

If enactment of monopolistic measures can be delayed long enough, State and FEA will have concluded world agreements which may necessitate the establishment of three or four firms instead of a single company. In short, the pattern will have been fixed so definitely in advance that it would be difficult to change it by legislation.

Pan Am has maintained the most powerful aviation lobby the capital has ever seen. It has done an excellent job in the war, and holds that it should be rewarded in the postbellum era. But for once it looks as if the suave and able Juan Trippe, Pan American head, will lose out.

VANDENBERG: Although Sen. Arthur Vandenberg has become the Republican party's foremost spokesman on foreign affairs and has been mentioned as a possible 1948 presidential nominee, the man from Michigan may buck a tough opponent when he seeks re-election next year. The prospect explains why his friends are worried lest his role as a delegate at the San Francisco United Nations assemblage prove politically embarrassing.

The man who may oppose Senator Vandenberg is Rep. Albert Engel of Muskegon. The short, tubby congressman refuses to discuss the matter publicly, but he is giving serious thought to it. As the most influential GOP-er on the House Appropriations subcommittee handling War department finances and his party's spokesman on military affairs, he has made a name for himself.

As often happens to veteran statesmen on Capitol Hill who make national or international questions their domain, Senator Vandenberg sometimes neglects bread-and-butter problems affecting his constituents. He has grown up and away from the folks back home. He won by only 53,000 in 1934, although he came through with a 114,000 majority six years ago.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

CLEFTS in our relations with Britain and France have been rent by the high-handedness of their officials in disregarding American sensibilities.

A flagrant instance is that of the Boston paratrooper hanged in the United Kingdom for the murder of a taxicab driver. The temptress Eve in the sordid affair was reprieved by London authorities 48 hours before her scheduled execution.

Both were found guilty of the crime, yet only the American was sent to the scaffold. Such a travesty of justice is hard to take here—especially in the soldier's home state of Massachusetts, where the law upholds equally culpable all persons involved in a felony which results in homicide.

A few years ago a Boston gang robbed and slew a car barn watchman. The driver of the mob's auto was electrocuted with the other bandits although he was not present at the fatal shooting. The Bay State Supreme court upheld the verdict.

LEMAN

The one-sided decision against the American and the clemency to the English girl handed down by Home Secretary Morrison was sharply criticized by some English newspapers. It does not set well here among those who believe international cooperation is a two-way street.

A rift even more serious has come about from the monkey wrench thrown into the San Francisco conference by General de Gaulle.

Such stalwart Republicans as Vandenberg and Stassen are willing to go along with Roosevelt in a joint effort to lay the foundations of lasting peace. But de Gaulle won't compromise an inch to hasten international teamwork.

He has acted as if his treaty with Moscow could be used to play Russia against Great Britain and the United States. But Stalin abruptly dispelled that fantasy by informing him that the Kremlin considers dual pacts subordinate to the Dumbarton Oaks world framework.

America, whose sons have fought twice to keep a weak France from the clutches of a stronger Germany, wants to bank on something more powerful than French delusions of a grandeur that fails in the test of battle.

* * *

CLIQUE: De Gaulle's friends in the United States is saddened by his cavalier behavior; there is so much to admire in the man.

For instance, arrivals at the New York airport from Europe say that Parisians nearly succumbed to the bitter winter. When canals and railroads were sufficiently repaired to permit shipments of coal to the shivering capital, de Gaulle generously sent the first cargoes to American and British headquarters and to hospitals.

He and his staff wore overcoats in their offices and their breaths turned to vapor in the chilled rooms. When a flunky brought in a hod, the general exclaimed, "Not a shovelful for us until all the rest of Paris has fuel, too!"

He can make noble personal sacrifices but remain unwilling to shelve his pride in the interests of world cooperation.

This dictator complex has alarmed some of his most loyal supporters in the Resistance movement. Representatives of the old underground now in New York accuse him of pushing into the army members of the former "Croix de Feu" officer class who opposed parliamentary democracy and favored an authoritarian regime—and still do.

The military hierarchy of France has always been an autocratic clique, they say. De Gaulle was graduated from St. Cyr and grew up among brass hats who brooked no interference.

THE Year 1945 is going to see the American table shy of normal quantities of various staple foods but even so, we'll have nothing to cry over compared to the situation facing the Japs.

Here last week appearing in a program sponsored by the local branch of the American Association of University Women, James R. Young, veteran American newspaper correspondent in Japan, told The Plainsman that the Nipponese are really behind the 8-ball in the matter of eating grub—something that made us feel quite happy, indeed.

In fact, after chatting with Mr. Young we came to the conclusion that shortage of food for the millions in the island empire is going to play quite a role in delivering victory to our forces already engaged in smacking the Japs over vast areas of the Pacific.

* * *

According to Mr. Young, the average Jap farmer tills four acres of land—most of which is put to rice.

Recently, the western part of the mikado's empire has been subjected to severe drouth, which really plays hob with rice which grows in soil topped with water during the early stages of germination. While we over here are more or less lackadaisical about our Victory Gardens, in Japan grim necessity has forced the use of every inch of tillable land. Even the lawns around the imperial palace are planted in Irish and sweet potatoes. The same is true over the 17-acre plot surrounding the great marble parliament building, and along the 12,000 miles of railroad right-of-way.

* * *

MR. YOUNG, chief of International News Service coverage in Tokyo for 14 years previous to Pearl Harbor, says Japanese soil is poor due to generations of intensive planting and lack of crop rotation. Even government-offered prizes and bounties for increased production haven't brought desired results because fertilizer is short—much of it having been sunk by American submarines en route from Chile and other points to the home islands.

Incapacitated soldiers and sailors, school children and old people have all been regimented to work on farms and garden plots, Mr. Young reports, and even grandma may be found between the crude plow handles behind oxen in the rice paddies.

Never strong in the field of dairying, the Japs have been badly hurt in this department by the woes of war. As far as the general public is concerned, dairy products are non-existent.

Every farmer is forced to allot a portion of all his produce to the government.

"Take eggs, for instance," says Mr. Young. "Most Jap farmers have only one hen, but regardless of the size of his flock, each man must contribute 10 eggs per month to the government. These confiscated eggs then are sent to members of submarine and aircraft crews, favored above all other service men."

* * *

In an effort to squeeze every ounce of nourishment out of every bit of edible matter, the Japs have gone in for community kitchens, where everything is under strictest supervision. They also have concocted "ersatz" foods, such as mixtures of bean curd, chestnuts, noodles and old breads.

Nipponese chemists have developed a method of mixing nitrogen with germs to produce albumen for baking bread. They also have worked out a system of planting rotting mould with sawdust, adding starch, permitting the whole mess to ferment then drying it out in the sun. Small parts of flour are added, then the mass is used for the making of noodles.

The Japs, says Mr. Young, are great noodle eaters. They'd have to be to eat that sort of noodles!

* * *

MR. YOUNG, who was jailed for 61 days by the Japs on false spy charges a year or more before Pearl Harbor, believes he knows the Nipponese psychology fairly well after a decade and a half of living among them. He says we are making a big mistake in protecting the emperor and his palace against bombings; thinks blowing Hirohito and his house to smithereens would be a great thing for our side.

"I will guarantee," he says, "a veritable epidemic of hari-kari in high places in Japan if the emperor's palace is hit and even more if the emperor, himself, and members of his family are victims. We'd get rid of a whole slew of Japan's leadership that way—and we'd do it in a hurry."

Mr. Young does not believe bombing the emperor and his shanty would make one whit of difference in the treatment Japs would give American prisoners. He says the Japs are not reasonable people; their word is no good; and they're just as likely to treat American prisoners barbariously if the emperor and the palace are protected as if they are blown to bits.

* * *

Mr. Young, who personally knows 10 members of the Jap cabinet, says Americans who count on victory in the Pacific in less than two years after the defeat of Germany are too optimistic.

"I see no short cut to victory over Japan," he told us. "The Japs will draw out the fighting in the mountains of Formosa, Korea and parts of China, Manchuria and Hokkaida and in Japan. The going is just beginning to get tough. It will get tougher, and I should not be surprised if the Japs resort to mustard gas before they're finally beaten."

The newspaperman, whose weekly column, "The Road to Tokyo," now appears in 54 U. S. newspapers, expects the final victory to be won after ground fighting in Manchuria.

* * *

MR. YOUNG hates the Japs with a vengeance—hates them like the devil hates holy water. He says the emperor heads a "religion which tolerates savagery and barbarism," advises postwar placing of a granite marker, "where the imperial palace used to be," reading "here lived the mikado who stabbed us in the back, used poison gas against helpless Chinese, approved the execution of the Doolittle fliers, allowed the torture of Christian missionaries, the bayoneting of wounded soldiers and the bombing of the houses of God."

He urges:

"For civilization to make progress, eliminate the cancerous palace, the shinto temples and, above all, the emperor of Rat-land. Jap leaders today are seeking to 'put the emperor's mind to rest' over the danger of bombing his palace.

"I say, let's put his mind to rest —and permanently!"

His idea of postwar supervision of the Japs is to put the job in the hands of U. S. Marines who fought the Nipponese!

That Man on Avenue Q says he has never received any dividends from investments in envelopes which arrived marked "postage due."

Another of the world's great mysteries is how a small boy can imitate a machine gun 10 hours a day without ripping out his tonsils!

THE day's most quotable quote: "It is my long-held conviction that no matter how adequate a woman may be as a politician, or a dentist, or a teacher or a secretary, unless she can look with an unintimidated eye at the kitchen stove and after-dinner dishes, her education is incomplete." — Miss Margaret Hickey, of St. Louis, chairman of the Women's Advisory committee of the War Manpower commission.

State Movie Censorship Plan Now Called Dead Subject With Solons

AUSTIN, March 15 (AP)—State censorship of motion pictures was a dead subject for the legislature today.

A bill proposing creation of 31 boards of censors in Texas last night received a unanimous unfavorable report from the House committee on state affairs at a public hearing which sometimes switched from censorship to political discussion.

Author of the bill, Rep. Rae Files, Waxahachie school teacher, said it was offered as an "educational measure."

Texas U. Board Again

One member, Rep. John L. Grosthwait of Dallas, asked her: "If Judge Strickland resigned from the board of regents of the University of Texas would you withdraw this bill?"

"No. I wouldn't have him resign at all unless he wants to," was the answer.

D. F. Strickland, general counsel for Interstate Theaters, Inc., is a member of the board of regents of the University of Texas which voted to discharge Dr. Homer P. Rainey as president.

Speaking against the bill Rep. Sam Hanna of Dallas said he had heard more discussion about the University of Texas than the bill itself.

One point of difference between Dr. Rainey and the regents was over the method by which the board banned from a reading list a John Dos Passos novel which the board declared contained obscenity.

Then he added:

"Some people would like to have that issue hashed out and there is nothing I would rather do but I am not running anybody for governor."

Rep. Howard Hartzog earlier had asked Miss Files if she didn't realize what a handicap appointment by Governor Coke R. Stevenson of censor boards in 31 districts of the state would be to Dr. Rainey who has been mentioned informally as a possible candidate for governor.

Chance For Women

Quipped the author in reply: "I rather thought this would give Governor Stevenson an opportunity to appoint some women to the boards (at least three members of each of the 31 boards would be women) and they could serve in this capacity to qualify for appointment to more important boards later. The governor has complained that he has found it hard to locate women qualified to serve on existing state boards."

Preparations Made For Device Show At Tech On Saturday

Last minute details are being worked out for the staging of the Lubbock County Labor Saving Device show Saturday on the Texas Tech campus, according to Jason O. Gordon, county agricultural agent and secretary of the county farm labor committee, sponsoring organization.

It is estimated that more than 100 devices will be exhibited as many have signified their intention to enter various items since last Sunday's announcement that approximately 60 devices had been entered.

The show, which will be held in and near the livestock pavilion on the campus, will be open at 10 a. m. and close at 4 p. m.

One of the lat entries is a new type cotton stripper being assembled this week by C. A. Baucom, whose machine shop is located at 2334 Ave. H. He states that he has a machine that will not leave any cotton in the field, even picking it off the ground.

The stripper is made entirely of junk material that he "gathered here and there." It will be equipped with an extractor to throw off stalks and other forign matter, and will also have a blower to blow the cotton into a trailer on the rear of the stripper.

This and many other devices that might relieve the labor shortage will be on display at the show.

The hour, 2 to 3 p. m., has been set aside for demonstrations, at which time those desiring to demonstrate their equipment may do so.

News Briefs

Possibilities of the cotton burr in the production of ink, alcohol, plastic fillers, wall board, substitute cork, fertilizers and many other materials were discussed by C. G. Rook, research engineer at Texas Tech, at the Kiwanis club luncheon Thursday, Lubbock hotel. The speaker was introduced by M. I. Hall. Jason O. Gordon was co-chairman of the program.

According to the War department, those wounded in action in the European theater recently, include Pfc. Thomas W. Davis, son of Mrs. Vera E. Davis of Brownfield, Sgt. William O. Grant, son of Emmett H. Grant of Shallowater, Pvt. George T. Walker, son of Mrs. Mansy E. Walker of Crosbyton, Cpl. David L. Kirk, son of O. W. Kirk of Floydada, Capt. Clarence Symes, jr., husband of Mrs. Gertrude Symes, 908 Ave. M, Lubbock, Pvt. Deluvino M. Chaves, son of I. G. Chaves of Tokio, Pfc. Horace W. Fite, jr., husband of Mrs. Mary A. Fite of Crosbyton, T/Sgt. Charles R. Moore, brother of Mrs. Rachel E. Peacock of Petersburg, Pvt. Clarence T. Simpson, son of Mrs. Leona Simpson of route 1, O'Donnell.

First Application For Crop Insurance Signed

"I believe cotton insurance is a good thing and appreciate the opportunity to be able to know that I will have cotton to sell next fall regardless of the weather or any other cause for crop loss," said Raymond Lofland of route 2, Lubbock, as he signed the first application in this county for crop insurance under the 1945 insurance program.

Lofland is a strong believer in federal crop insurance since his crop was insured in 1943 when it was completely hailed out.

Anyone interested in being assured of having cotton to sell next fall, regardless of the weather, can get this protection by signing an application before the crop is planted or before April 25. At the present time the applications are available at the county Agricultural Conservation association office, 1320 Ave. Q.

Morticians Oppose Burial Group Act

AUSTIN, March 15. (AP)—Buried deep in a subcommittee today was a bill by Sen. Charles R. Jones of Bonham, requiring burial associations to pay policy holders in cash or merchandise.

But strangely lacking for once, was the customary plea of authors of all measures sent to the legislative graveyard, "please do not give me a committee wearing white gloves."

When Jones failed to voice the usual plea at the conclusion of a lengthy public hearing, committee members were bewildered until they recognized that among a large group of spectators and witnesses were a number of morticians, there to oppose passage of the measure.

It requires more fuel than 11 "A" card holders receive in a year to propel the Nazis' V-2 rockets for a period of five minutes.

Woman Wants 'Guest' Removed From Home

FORT WORTH, March 15. (U.P.)—Mrs. Esther Ford, a war worker, has called on the Tarrant county sheriff's office to help her get rid of a house guest she doesn't know, didn't invite and whom she wants to leave her home.

The "guest," Mrs. Ford complained, has been entering her home while she's at work. He leaves empty wine bottles burnt matches and cigaret butts lying around, she said.

And he also messes up her bed, taking naps in it.
