2 American Youths Sentenced By Reds

LENINGRAD, U.S.S.R. (AP) — A Soviet court today sentenced Buel Ray Wortham Jr. to three years in a restricted labor camp and fined Craddock M. Gilmour Jr. 1,000 rubles — $1,111.11.

The two American youths were found guilty of violating Soviet currency regulations. Wortham also was convicted of stealing a statue of a bear.

Wortham was sentenced to two years on the theft charge and three years on the currency charge, the two terms to run concurrently.

Wortham first learned of his sentence after it had been read in Russian in the courtroom, when a spectator held up three fingers.

The North Little Rock, Ark., resident shook his head sadly and knowingly but otherwise showed no emotion.

The sentence was later read in English.

Gilmour showed no emotion during the reading.

As the court session ended, Wortham, 25, turned to Gilmour and shook hands with him. Wortham looked as if he might be close to tears. He was marched out by four armed guards.

Harlan G. Moen, consular officer from the U.S. Embassy in Moscow who attended the trial, said that Wortham's lawyer would appeal within the seven-day period allowed by Soviet law.

The three-year sentence on Wortham begins Oct. 1, the day the two youths were arrested as they tried to drive out of the Soviet Union to Finland after a one-week tourist visit.

The 18-inch cast-iron statue of the bear was found in their car, starting criminal proceedings which led to the three-day trial that ended today.

Wortham's sentence included confiscation of his car. He was also charged 163 rubles — $181.11 — as his share of court costs.

The sentence of Gilmour also included confiscation of souvenirs that Gilmour had bought with illegally obtained rubles. Gilmour was assessed 83.63 rubles — $92.92 — as his share of costs.

The type of labor camp to which Wortham was ordered is one of a restricted regime. Such camps are used for first offenders who have committed dangerous crimes. They work about eight hours a day on crafts and trade work such as woodworking or machine operating.

During nonworking hours the prisoners are allowed to move about freely within the camp, including using whatever library and recreational facilities are available.

The three Soviet judges returned their verdict after deliberating and writing it out for four hours, 45 minutes.

Their findings, which took 14 minutes to read in Russian, said that the charges against the two youths "have been fully confirmed."

Both defendants admitted their guilt at the opening of the trial Monday.

GIs Praised By US Commander

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of American forces in Vietnam, said today, "Peace on earth, good will to men, can become a reality in this war-torn land."

In a Christmas message to the men of his command, the general said he is proud and deeply grateful for the "magnificent performance of duty" by American forces during the past year.

The text of the message:

"Christmas, 1966, as it has in the past, finds American servicemen in Vietnam. We are separated from our families, but we are comforted and inspired by the knowledge that we are aiding a struggling nation to attain freedom and peace.

"Two thousand years ago, Christ's birth heralded a blessing upon the earth. The problems of violence and inhumanity which faced the world then, regretably still live with us today. We see those problems every day, as Vietnamese citizens continue to suffer indignities and terrors at the hands of the enemy.

"Those of us who are engaged in this vital struggle believe that Christ's message of peace on earth, good will to men, can become a reality in this war-torn land. We know that the world He sought to build will move closer to reality if we continue to assist the Vietnamese people in their search for peace and tranquility. This goal for which we strive is worthy of the sacrifice we share in sorrow and loneliness.

"At this time of solemnity and reverence, let us join together to ask God's blessing and to pray that we may return to our loved ones victorious in this most Christian of causes.

"I want you to know I am proud of you and deeply grateful for your magnificent performance of duty during the past year. To each of you, and to your families, I send my warmest personal wishes for a joyous Christmas and a successful and satisfying New Year."

Kennedy Book Settlement Seen

By GEORGE ESPER

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. John F. Kennedy and Look magazine appeared to be approaching an agreement in their dispute over "The Death of a President," as lawyers for both sides said they would meet today for settlement talks.

Former Federal Judge Simon H. Rifkind, attorney for the widow of the president, said he would confer with Look counsel David Peck to see "if a sensible package" could be worked out.

Rifkind, who discussed the William Manchester manuscript with Mrs. Kennedy and Peck Saturday, said "many other things are involved" besides the text.

A Look spokesman commented that talks between representatives of the Kennedys and the magazine were continuing in "complete communication".

"We think things are progressing nicely," the spokesman said. He added, however, that "it would be presumptuous for us to make a unilateral statement."

One high source said it is possible there may be an announcement today.

The same source said the efforts were being made to edit word- by-word author William Manchester's book, "The Death of a President," which is about the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

"Look is making every effort to safeguard the personal feelings of Mrs. Kennedy," other sources said.

Secret negotiations were held Tuesday in the offices of Cowles Communications, Inc., the publishers of Look, by top editors and Richard Goodwin, a former aide to President Kennedy who is acting as one of Mrs. Kennedy's advisers during the meetings aimed at settling the case out of court.

Another round of negotiations was set for today in hopes of effecting a settlement before Cowles and Harper & Row, publishers of the book, go into court Thursday to answer charges made by Mrs. Kennedy last Friday in her suit to block publication.

3 DAYS TILL CHRISTMAS

Threat To US Cruiser

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Two U.S. F4B Phantom jets fired air to air missiles Tuesday at two enemy planes that were flying toward the U.S. cruiser Long Beach and the enemy craft vanished from radar scopes, an American spokesman announced tonight.

Were the enemy planes shot down? The spokesman said he could not confirm or deny it. The encounter took place in early morning darkness.

The enemy planes were tracked from over the city of Thanh Hoa, 80 miles south of Hanoi, the spokesman said. The Long Beach, a guided-missile cruiser, was operating in the Gulf of Tonkin 25 miles northeast of Thanh Hoa.

"When first sighted, the aircraft were headed toward the Long Beach," the spokesman said.

The U.S. aircraft carrier Kitty Hawk launched the two Phantom jets.

These locked onto the other planes with radar and fired air-to-air missiles. The number of missiles fired was not reported in Saigon.

The spokesman said the only result known here was that the enemy aircraft disappeared from the radar scopes of the Phantom fighters.

They were not identified by type.

The only description was that they were "slow moving," indicating they may have been propeller-driven rather than MIG jets.

The spokesman said it was not known whether the planes intended to attack, but they were "headed toward the Long Beach."

The North Vietnamese Communist air force is not known ever to have attacked American ships sailing in the Gulf of Tonkin. Patrol boats, however, have fired on and damaged U.S. Navy ships.

The United States now has three aircraft carriers in the Gulf of Tonkin which launch bombing raids against the Communist mainland. The Long Beach is one of the surface ships protecting the aircraft carriers off the Communist coast.

Local CAP Is Put Into Operation

A community action program is officially in operation here today, following a committee meeting Tuesday evening.

Buford Browning, chairman of the Scurry County Community Action Committee, presided at the session and gave a report on a conference in Austin with Office of Economic Opportunity on Monday. Browning said the OEO men at Austin were enthusiastic about the CAP here. This one is the only CAP that is locally financed and it more nearly fulfills the objective of the OEO mission than others, it was noted. The objective is to stimulate local initiative to attack poverty areas in the community.

Previously the city and county had agreed to provide $4,250 each to finance the program here for a year when it was learned that federal funds were not available. The school is furnishing office space.

The committee Tuesday reaffirmed appointment of William J. Schiebel as the local CAP director. The appointment had tentatively been made early, contingent upon arrangements for local financing.

Duties of the Community Action Program are to determine needs for federal programs and to arrange for sponsors for those which are needed.

WITH MACHINE-GUN WIT

Hope Entertains GIs In Vietnam

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN

CAM RANH BAY, South Vietnam (AP) — Strafing military protocol, President Johnson's operation and student Vietniks with his machine-gun wit, comedian Bob Hope planted his big show today in the same spot where Johnson visited Vietnam.

"I just came to pick up LBJ's laundry," he quipped, and the 15,000 troops at this huge port and supply complex exploded in a thunderous roar of laughter.

After that the comedian, marking his 25th year of entertaining troops, was off and running with a fusillade of wit directed at a variety of subjects:

On the rising cost of the war:

"Unless they can control military spending, they'll have to send some of you guys home. Pretty soon you're going to need credit cards for ammunition and be firing coin-operated machine guns. It would be cheaper for Lyndon to rent a war from Hertz."

On the election:

"Johnson just got back from Mexico. He's looking for a state to replace Michigan."

On Army chow:

"LBJ ate at the enlisted men's mess here and he got operated on two days after he got home. When they opened up the sutures, out popped two C-rations."

Included in the company were singers Vic Damone and Anita Bryant, comedienne Phyllis Diller, dancer Joey Heatherton in a whistle-provoking miniskirt, a swinging singing group called the Korean Kittens, baton twirler Diane Shelton, the Les Brown orchestra and statuesque Reita Faria, the current Miss World, from Bombay, India.

The troops watched the show in a huge amphitheater bulldozed out of a mountain of sand overlooking the vast port where half a dozen freighters were unloading at long floating piers. The sandy hillside was a great swatch of khaki uniforms, save for one wide blue belt of wounded GIs in blue pajamas from the 6th Convalescent Center.

Hope, dressed in a fatigue hat, Hawaiian shirt and lemon-colored slacks, was never in better form.

"On the flight over here," he quipped, "they showed a movie: How to repair your mess kit under fire.

"We had a happy-go-lucky pilot. He was happy to get the thing up in the air and lucky to make the runway coming down."

Twice the comedian's quips were drowned out by the roar of Phantom jets streaking off for an air strike somewhere in the central highlands.

The company will put on a dozen more shows in Vietnam before winding up its annual Christmas tour in Guam and at Clark Field in the Philippines.

Cong Ups Drive To Finance War

By KENNETH L. WHITING

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — The Viet Cong have stepped up their war bond drives and their taxes on South Vietnam's peasants and merchants to meet the rising cost of the Communist war effort, U.S. officials say.

In a study titled "Prospects for the Viet Cong," the U.S. AID mission in Saigon reports that Communist war bonds were virtually unknown 18 months ago.

But now, the report said, the National Liberation Front — the political arm of the Viet Cong — is estimated to raise 40 per cent of its budget by bond sales.

Another 40 per cent comes from taxes and duties collected at road blocks. The remaining 20 per cent comes from outside South Vietnam, presumably from Hanoi.

"The so-called Viet Cong war bond drive is now appearing in all parts of the country," the report said. "When a 'war bond sales team' visits a village every person or family is expected to buy a certain number."

In a Communist - controlled village the family rate is 7,000 to 10,000 piasters — about $49 to $70.

The Viet Cong civilian budget for such items as salaries, administration and medicine is estimated by U.S. officials at 1 billion piasters — about $7 million — per year. The military budget is placed at three times that amount.

The report said:

"Upward to three-fifths of the total population (14 million people, half of whom are adults) provide some financial support for the Communists."

Viet Cong taxes are estimated to take as much as 50 per cent of a farmer's crop.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My wife's best friend gave her a tip. She should aggravate me real good so I would sock her. Then she would have a case against me and wouldn't have any trouble getting a divorce and a nice settlement.

Our marriage is far from perfect, but if I can stand HER, she can stand ME until we get our kids raised. We have five who are still in school. I can't raise them alone, and I don't intend to let her take them away from me. After 12 years of marriage she decided we don't have anything "in common."

How do you like that? Five kids, two cars, a $65,000 home, and I'm insured for $125,000, and we have "nothing" in common. What is your advice?

NO DIVORCE

DEAR NO: I recommend a marriage counselor. . . .and right now! And tell your wife to tell her friend to quit practicing law without a license.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am a 22-year-old college male who has been dating a sophomore girl exclusively for nearly 3 months. I thought things were fine until we had a talk last night. She said she liked me and that she had never been treated so nicely by anyone, but that my kindness, respect, and sincerity "scared" her so we shouldn't date each other "for a while."

I always thought girls liked to be treated with kindness, respect, and sincerity. What does a guy have to do to please a girl these days - punch her in the mouth?

"BRISTLING" AT MSC

DEAR "BRISTLING:" Take her advice, and date someone else "for a while." (P. S. Quit bristling, Buddy, I think you're getting the brush.)

* * *

DEAR ABBY: We are considerably upset by a letter recently published in your column signed SEATTLE, who suggested that everyone who drives a motorcycle is a bum.

We are college students who find motorcycles to be a convenient and inexpensive means of transportation. They present a minimum of parking problems, and are relatively "safe" as they are not driven by people who are busy listening to the radio and paying attention to things other than driving.

Please print this in defense of all the sane, responsible people who drive motorcycles. Thank you.

Delegates Cite UN Achievement

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Most U.N. delegates agreed today that the 21st session of the General Assembly had been a productive one with some notable achievements.

The United States and the Soviet Union, which joined forces to pave the way for unanimous assembly approval of a treaty banning the use of outer space for war, both endorsed the accomplishments of the session that ended Tuesday.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg described the assembly as a constructive one. He expressed regret that it had witnessed no forward movement on Vietnam but said he believed progress had been made on disarmament, outer space and human rights.

Goldberg said the reappointment of U Thant as secretary-general "will stand first on the list of outstanding accomplishments of the session."

Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko said the assembly had "considered important questions in a serious and urgent manner."

Many delegates felt that the space agreement was the outstanding step taken during the three-month session and might pave the way for eventual East-West agreement on arms control on earth.

The only sour note was sounded by Communist Albania, regarded as Red China's mouthpiece in the United Nations.

"The United Nations is going down, down, down," said Albanian Ambassador Halim Budo. 'Things are getting worse every year."

Assembly President Abdul Rahman Pazhwak reflected general anxiety over Vietnam by closing the session with a personal appeal to both sides to declare willingness "to seek only a peaceful solution" and readiness to enter into negotiations.

"It is obvious that the United Nations cannot intervene in any way in the war in Vietnam," Pazhwak said, 'but it is equally clear, as has been demonstrated in the general debate and throughout the diplomatic contacts made by this assembly, that a majority of nations cannot remain aloof when questions of war and peace are at stake."

Delegates were encouraged by reports of new efforts by Thant to set up peace talks. A spokesman said the secretary-general would use quiet diplomacy to try to get negotiations started. Since the United States sent Thant a request Monday to take whatever steps he deemed necessary toward that end, the secretary-general has conferred with the Soviet Union's Fedorenko and Algerian Ambassador Tewfik Bouattoura.

Premier Of Greece Resigns

By CHRIS ELIOU

ATHENS (AP) — Premier Stephanos Stephanopoulos resigned today, raising the possibility that politically troubled Greece may get elections a year early.

The 67-year-old premier's coalition government collapsed Tuesday night when Greece's conservative party, the National Radical Union (ERE), withdrew its support. The government took office in September 1965 after the nation's worst political crisis since the Communist civil war of 1947-49.

King Constantine accepted the premier's resignation and began consulting political leaders.

"The RE does not want any other party to govern but the ERE," said Panayiotis Canellopoulos, the party's leader, in withdrawing support from the government.

ERE's 99 members in Parliament were the coalition's largest supporting bloc. The government held a slim 153 seats in the 300-chair, single-house Parliament.

Under the constitution, once a premier hands in his resignation, the king must either call for elections within 45 days or designate someone to try to form a new government.

The next regularly scheduled elections are due in 1968. Political sources said King Constantine may name a transitional government headed by a non-parliamentary personality to prepare for national elections next summer.

Christmas Weather To Be Mild

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mild weather promises to continue through the Christmas weekend in Texas even though Thursday is the first official day of winter.

Skies were clear across the north half of the state and partly cloudy down south today, with gradually waning fog still hovering in places.

The fog was locally heavy in Southeast Texas. Visibility down to one-eighth mile at Houston and one-quarter mile at Beaumont restricted commercial flying in early morning. It also was foggy over the plains opposite the middle Texas coast.

Temperatures before daylight dipped to 28 degrees at Dalhart, 30 at Lubbock and 31 at Amarillo in the Panhandle-Plains sector, and to 34 at El Paso in far West Texas. Readings were mostly in the 40s to upper 50s in other areas.

New long range forecasts, covering the period through next Monday, promised readings up to eight or nine degrees above normal in northern parts of the state and around normal elsewhere. They called for a few showers scattered over East Texas and along the coast but no rains of consequence.

Says Fiery Image Wrong For Truman

NEW YORK (AP) — The popular image of former President Harry S. Truman as a man with "a fiery temper and a peppery tongue" is wrong, says his daughter.

"I rarely remember his giving way to anger," said Mrs. Clifton Daniel in a McCall's magazine article released Tuesday.

She described her father as "a shy man" with "a genuine appreciation for women and regard for their capabilities."

6,000 Stand In Line For Football Tickets

DALLAS (AP) — Police estimated more than 6,000 fans were standing in line as tickets for the National Football League's championship game between Dallas and Green Bay went on sale at 7 a.m. today.

Officers trying to unsnarl a mammoth traffic jam reported 2,500 waited through a chilly night in Dallas temperatures down to 44 degrees. Wives bringing breakfasts to football mad husbands swelled the crowd.

In neighboring Fort Worth, the early line of ticket buyers stretched two and one - half blocks long. At the head were individuals who took stations at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday.

UCLAN Charged With Forgery

LOS ANGELES (AP) — UCLA basketball star Mike Lynn and his roommate, Larry McCollister, have been ordered to appear Jan. 6 in Superior Court for trial on charges of forgery of credit cards.

Lynn, 21, Covina, Calif., and McCollister, also 21, Lemon Grove, Calif., pleaded innocent Tuesday in Superior Court.

The men were arrested Nov. 30 after allegedly trying to buy phonograph records with a credit card reported lost.

Lynn has been suspended from playing in games but still practices with the Bruins.

Bridges Optimistic!

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — John Bridgers of Baylor, the head coach for the Southern squad in this year's Blue-Gray game, still is sounding optimistic about Saturday. But he'd probably be more so if he knew who was going to play fullback.

Both Billy Tucker of Tennessee A&I and Tom Bryan of Auburn still are more or less slowed by leg injuries.

Coach Glenn Dobbs of Tulsa has no injuries among his Blue players to worry him.

The game will be televised nationally by CBS.

Nebraska Drills In Brownsville

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP)— The Nebraska Cornhuskers began drills today for their meeting Jan. 2 with unbeaten Alabama in the Sugar Bowl.

The Cornhuskers, taking advantage of the warm climate of the Lower Rio Grande Valley, flew into Brownsville Tuesday night aboard a chartered airliner for a six-day stay.

Coach Bob Devaney, preparing the Cornhuskers for their fifth consecutive bowl game, wasted no time in getting his once-beaten team on the field. The first session was set for 9:30 a.m. and the second at 2:30 p.m. The mercury hovered near 80.

Devaney indicated most of the time would be spent on the practice field as the team prepares for a return match with the Crimson Tide. Alabama beat Nebraska 39-28 in last year's Orange Bowl at Miami.

Lynda Says College Was 'All Books'

NEW YORK AP(— Lynda Bird Johnson confesses her college life was almost "all books and no social life."

The President's daughter says she "wasn't at all" the typical coed.

Frank Vegetable Bake With Bran Flake Topping

Serving a hot casserole occasionally can be a boon to you homemakers on an economy spree after the holidays. Usually such dishes incorporate less expensive meats with other surprisingly savory foods. Good example is this Frankfurter Vegetable Bake. Frozen mixed vegetables, frankfurters, and canned cheese soup are the hearty portion of the dish. Lending much needed texture and flavor contrast is a crispy border of bran flakes tossed in melted butter or margarine. Cereals are nutritional bargains, too. A green salad, fruit dessert and beverage are all that you need to complete a wholesome, well-flavored dinner.

Frank Vegetable Bake

1 can (11 ounce) Cheddar cheese soup
1 package (10 ounce) frozen mixed vegetables, cooked and drained
1 pound frankfurters, sliced
½ cup shredded Cheddar cheese
1-3 cup milk
¼ cup finely chopped onion
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
1 cup bran flakes
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted

Combine first 7 ingredients; mix. Pour into shallow 1½ - quart casserole. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 15 minutes. Combine bran flakes and butter or margarine; toss lightly. Sprinkle over top of hot mixture, or around edge of casserole as desired. Return to oven until hot and hubbly around edges, about 5 minutes.

Plan To Fool Reds

TREE FROG. By Martin Woodhouse.

Tree Frog was the name given to a stunt dreamed up by British Intelligence as a "deceptive operation" to fool the Reds.

To be successful at all, the stunt required a remarkable combination of talents, which happened to be possessed by Giles Yeoman, a former Royal Air Force pilot who as a civilian had become a research scientist. Yeoman was placed on temporary duty with the spy boys, and this is his first-person story.

He soon learned that Tree Frog was a long - range drone aircraft, made of fiber glass and magnesium, so difficult to spot with conventional radar that it seemed like a ghost ship.

Yeoman's first assignment was to leak word of this invention, deliberately, to the Reds. To his dismay, this maneuver turned into a very rough episode in which he and his secretary, Binnie, were kidnapped.

His final assignment, he thought, was to serve as an observer for a test flight of Tree Frog. But it wasn't that easy. Not to give away too much of the plot, he was literally kidnapped by his own people and forced to fly the plane.

Woodhouse's novel is a variant of the espionage type, with a hero who is a reluctant amateur among the professionals — in this case, it is his scientific background that counts. But of course he gets into the rough and tumble of the cloak and gat set.

Yeoman is an amusing hero, with a droll sense of humor, and his exploits are properly exciting. Woodhouse has gotten off to an auspicious start in the thriller department.

Johnson's Recent Silence Presents Strange Picture

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — More and more the attention of the country is being focused on the strange new world of President Johnson, a world of silence and withdrawal, to see what emerges from it in 1967.

He can't go on like this if he hopes to run for the presidency again in 1968 although up to this time he hasn't said he will.

Today a group of governors confer with him at his Texas ranch. But anyone who knows him can be sure the criticism he got from Democratic governors last week has stung him bitterly.

Some of them blamed his domestic policies and political operations for the gains the Republicans made in the November elections.

That they should have made such an attack on him, probably unprecedented, shows the depth of dissatisfaction within the Democratic party with his leadership, or rather lack of it.

They were thinking, of course, of the meager campaigning he did for his party in the last election, an extraordinary neglect for a man who is so totally political as Johnson.

One shrewd political observer tried to explain that performance to this writer: Johnson is unfamiliar with Northern politics and politicians, was therefore unsure of himself, and thought it better to stay out.

This doesn't add up. His job in the campaigns wasn't the nuts and bolts task of putting political machines together. His job simply was to help candidates by appearing in their areas and speaking for them.

But this he backed away from and his reason has never been explained by him.

But his whole performance in recent months has almost had an air of mystery about it. He has wrapped himself in silence while criticism of him increases and his popularity goes down.

Just try to remember when you heard him make one full speech explaining to the American people this country's position in Vietnam: the problems, the progress, the reasons for being there. Why the reluctance to do even this?

Yet, his critics in this past year have talked so much, and at such length, now at year's end they seem worn out. Yet the war in Vietnam is one of the main sources of complaint against Johnson.

He may feel that he is misunderstood, that his ideas are being rejected or not listened to, but any failures of this kind may be more of his own doing than of any one else.

He has a habit of jumbling, of throwing a whole raft of subjects into one speech so that the net effect is a blur, instead of devoting one whole speech to one subject so that the point and effect he wishes to make are inescapable.

But when all these things are added up, what do they come to? Johnson is extremely on the defensive, extremely bothered by criticism. He was riding high in his early days when he was getting his programs through Congress and had the usual public goodwill that goes to a new president.

But when this goodwill subsided and the going got rougher, particularly in fields he was not familiar with, as in foreign affairs, he seems to have become less and less vigorous, more and more withdrawn, increasingly sensitive, more reluctant to talk or fight back. This is strange, indeed.

Memory Is The River Of Life

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Memory is the river of life.

It keeps open the channel between the past and the present and links them together. The more memories one has, the mightier is that river that finally winds us all to the sea.

Your own memory stream is pretty broad if you can look back and remember when—

Monday was laundry day in the basement, but no one had heard of a detergent. The magic ingredient was old-fashioned yellow soap.

The nearest thing to perpetual motion was a mother with a houseful of kids.

The favorite candy of children was a penny "jawbreaker."

A juvenile delinquent was a small boy who tried to fudge his knuckles across the circle while playing marbles for keeps.

Every little girl who could sing or dance hoped to grow up to be another Deanna Durbin or Shirley Temple.

One of the hottest sports arguments was whether Jack Dempsey could have whipped John L. Sullivan in his prime.

Men would have hooted at the idea that husbands and wives would ever have their names printed on the same checkbook.

A modern hotel was one that could brag it had a bath for every other room.

A man wasn't really a tycoon until he had a private railway car of his own.

If you still ate peas with a knife, everyone else at the table knew instantly you were a country boy and hadn't yet learned city ways.

Women never planned much else on the day they washed their hair, since it took all afternoon to dry, even with the help of a hot sun.

Parents hated the thought of their daughters working in offices, because it was well-known that such jobs placed them in great moral peril.

Airplane pilots wouldn't think of going up without their helmet and goggles.

Everybody looked forward all week to the fun he'd have on Saturday night. You couldn't have much fun on Friday night, because you didn't get paid until the following day.

Many folks were so afraid of banks they hid their money at home — and the first places a sneak thief looked for it were under the mattresses and under the rugs.

It was taken as a fact of life by every young bride that sooner or later during her marriage she'd have to fight bedbugs. But she hoped that when it happened she could at least keep it a secret from her neighbors.

A teen-age girl looked forward hopefully for getting parental permission to attend her first dance when she was 16. Now a girl thinks she's an old maid if she hasn't been to a dance by the time she's 12.

A henpecked husband was one who appeared in public helping his wife carry home the weekend groceries.

The filling station attendant had to pump the gas for the family auto by hand.

The federal government spent less in a year than it now does in a month.

Junior Editors Quiz on HISTORY

QUESTION: About what year was history started?

• • •

ANSWER: Everything that has happened is really history. However, we often use the word to mean human events which have been put down in some kind of writing. One can not give an exact date for the beginning of writing, but written records are in existence which are about 5,000 years old, so this would put the beginning of history at about 3000 B.C. The earliest word writing (upper left) was developed by the Sumerians in Mesopotamia about 3000 B.C. or before; and from this came cuneiform writing, made by pressing the end of a tool into wet clay. Meanwhile the Egyptians were developing their own form of picture writing, which later was called hieroglyphic. The period of ancient history goes on to include the Greek and Roman civilizations, ending about 500 A.D. From this to about 1500 is the Medieval period, the days of knights and castles. Modern history then begins, running from about 1500, the days of the great explorers, through the beginnings of science and industry, into our own times (4).

WAYOUT

Loyola Upsets Michigan, 74-70

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

There's a new college basketball power in the making down New Orleans way.

That's Loyola University of the South better known as New Orleans Loyola.

The Wolfpack served notice they are on the way up from last year's 9-17 record by upsetting the fifth-ranked Michigan State Spartans 74-70 Tuesday night.

Jim Jackoniski, 6-foot-6 junior from Dubuque, Iowa, came off the bench and scored the winning four points in the last nine seconds. He got into the game when Barry Geraghty fouled out with 90 seconds and the score tied at 70.

It was the sixth straight victory against no defeats for the new Wolfpack.

"It was a complete team effort," said 27-year-old Ron Greene in his first year as Loyola head coach. Before the game in New Orleans he said, "We're capable of beating Michigan State," but no one took him seriously.

Unbeaten North Carolina and once-beaten Houston, the only other teams in The Associated Press Top Ten to see action, each won handily.

North Carolina, No. 3, made it seven in a row with an 81-54 romp over Florida State in the final of the Tampa, Fla., Invitational. Houston, No. 8, also chalked up its seventh straight by defeating Washington 87-65. The home court victory upped the Cougars' season record to 9-1.

Western Kentucky won the Ohio Valley conference tourney title for the sixth time by defeating East Tennessee 72-59 in the final at Louisville. The Hilltoppers had to go overtime to beat Morehead 80-77 in the afternoon semifinals.

Boston College knocked Syracuse out of the unbeaten ranks 87-75 in the first round of the Boston Garden Invitational tourney after Massachusetts had whipped Manhattan 86-76.

'Horns In Sun Finals

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Texas won its third intersectional basketball victory in four tries Tuesday night and reached the finals of the Sun Devil Tournament as a result. Texas bounced Arizona State, the defending champion, 93-81.

The Longhorns will clash with Iowa State, 98-68 victor over Southern California, in the finals tonight.

Other Southwest Conference members failed to help Texas in trying to make the intersectional record respectable.

Texas Christian almost won an important victory as it battled Ohio State into the final minutes before losing 84-78. The Frogs tied the score at 70-70 with 4:58 left but Bruce Schnabel flipped in a field goal to put the Buckeyes ahead for keeps.

Texas Tech also took a drubbing, this time at the hands of Denver, 76-62. The Red Raiders, crippled by injuries and illness, offered little resistance.

Baylor beat Austin College 96-69 and tonight will try for an intersectional victory at Oklahoma City University. The Baylor Bears probably will make it, but Arkansas meets the Phillips Oilers at Little Rock with little chance of aiding the intersectional record.

Dapper Don Is Back At Work

DALLAS (AP) — Quarterback Don Meredith of the Dallas Cowboys was ready to join the team for a workout this afternoon after giving the fans a big scare because of a stomach ache.

Meredith went to the hospital Tuesday morning suffering a "tremendous cramp."

He was found to be all right and was out doing some Christmas shopping, however, before fans learned he had left the hospital.

Meredith said he'll be ready to play Jan. 1 when Dallas meets Green Bay for the National Football League championship in the Cotton Bowl.

The Cowboys' star told the team physician, Dr. Ronald Garvey, that the cramp might have resulted from a sleeping pill and a pain pill he took Monday night for his headache.

Boys Club Bout Card Was Exciting

The Boys Club-sponsored boxing card held here Saturday night was one of the best amateur fight cards ever held in Snyder, according to many observers of the bouts.

Earl Large and Brooks Byrd, the highly regarded amateurs from Clovis, were matched with two "moxie" soldiers from Fort Hood. Both soldiers gave good accounts of themselves before losing on decisions.

Byrd decisioned Thomas, and Large defeated Eichorn.

There were only two bouts that failed to go the three-round limit. Garay of Ft. Hood stopped Clovis' Barnes on a KO in the second round, and Doyle Raines of Lamesa took a second round TKO over Freddy Benitez of Snyder.

Results of the other bouts:

Wesson, Clovis, dec. Leal, Lamesa.

Romero, Clovis, dec. Robey, Ft. Hood.

Anaya, Las Cruces, dec. Smith, Ft. Hood.

Briones, Lamesa, dec. West, Ft. Hood.

Ortiz, Las Cruces, dec. Anderson, Ft. Hood.

Anaya, Las Cruces, dec. Garcia, Ft. Hood.

Rouse, Ft. Hood, dec. Esquibel, Las Cruces.

Rouse is the brother of Roger Rouse, number 1 contender for the light-heavyweight title.

Will Akers Hear Call From Hogs?

KILGORE, Tex. (AP) — Arkansas coach Frank Broyles, here to recruit a couple of Kilgore Junior College football stars, said Tuesday that he was making Johnny Majors his offensive backfield coach to replace Bill Pace.

Pace became head coach at Vanderbilt.

Broyles needs another staff member and may go for two if Majors becomes coach of Mississippi State.

He said he would like to have Fred Akers and George McKinney, former Arkansas quarterbacks now on the Texas and Tennessee staffs respectively.

"I cant call them but I can't keep them from calling me," he said.

The junior college players he came here to recruit are John Gregory, 256-pound tackle, and Joe Sliker, 200-pound end.

Cowboy Fans Have Super Bowl Hopes

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Dallas fans are thinking of an intriguing possibility in professional football.

How about the Dallas Cowboys and the Kansas City Chiefs in the super bowl, the game that will decide the world's championship?

Of course there are two games in the way of such a meeting but if it did come about, it would mean something Dallas fans have talked about for seven years.

The Kansas City Chiefs, you see, were first the Dallas Texans of the American Football League. They were competition for the Cowboys in 1960 when Dallas got into the National Football League.

Lamar Hunt organized the Texans when he organized the American Football League. He did it because he couldn't get into the NL.

For three seasons the Texans vied with the Cowboys for the pro football dollar in Dallas. Finally, Hunt moved his franchise to Kansas City and named the team the Chiefs.

He said he had become convinced that two pro clubs could not operate successfully here, especially with the territory saturated by television.

All the time the two clubs operated here there was clamor —on the Texans' side — for a game between the two. The Cowboys wouldn't give it a tumble. For that matter, none of the NFL clubs were playing the AFL boys.

But came 1966 and the two leagues merged. The winners are scheduled to clash Jan. 15 at Los Angeles.

So, the Kansas City Chiefs were Western Division winners in the AFL and will play Buffalo at Buffalo Jan. 1 for the league championship.

Dallas won the Eastern Conference title of the NFL and will clash with Green Bay at Dallas Jan. 1 for the league championship.

Now suppose Kansas City and Dallas win. That would set up the longawaited game between the Dallas Texans (Chiefs) and the Cowboys.

Clint Murchison Jr, owner of the Cowboys may have been thinking about that when the Cowboys returned from New York Sunday night, after clinching the Eastern Conference title over the weekend. Five thousand people turned out to greet the Cowboys.

Over the loud speaker came the words of Murchison: "Welcome to Dallas, former home of the Kansas City Chiefs."

Bengal Rally Nips Odessa Ector, 69-65

After a slow start, the fighting Snyder Tigers rallied to score a come-from-behind 69-65 basketball triumph over favored Odessa Ector here Tuesday.

The win gave Coach Ned Underwood's varsity an 8-6 record in non-district play and sets the stage for the district opener Friday week in Lamesa.

Trailing 11-20 in the first quarter and by as many as 15 points at one point in the first half, the Bengals caught fire in the last half to claim the verdict. The score was tied six times and the lead changed seven times in a thrilling fourth quarter.

Little Tommy Bullard sank six free throws in the final stanza, including four of them in the last minute of play when the final outcome was still in doubt. His last toss dropped safely into the net with six seconds remaining to put the Tigers ahead, 67-65, and Bobby Clardy stole the ball and tallied a quick layup shot at the final buzzer to ice it down.

Mickey Almond, Gus Tovar and Eldon Woodward also dunked in crucial shots in the last quarter when the Bengals had to score to keep alive their hopes for winning.

Mickey and Bullard led Tiger scorers with 17 points apiece, and Eldon Woodward, who sank nine points in the third quarter, finished the night with 15 points.

It was the best performance of the year for the Snyder team as everyone who saw action really hustled. The Tigers began catching Ector late in the second quarter with a rally that cut the Odessa 15-point lead to only seven points at halftime.

The score was knotted at 47-47 after three periods when the exciting fourth quarter got underway. The Black and Gold hit on only 25 per cent of its shots in the first quarter, then compiled impressive 50 per cent, 64 per cent and 43 per cent percentages in the last three quarters respectively.

Ector hit a fantastic 73 per cent in the first quarter, then dropped to 37 per cent in the second frame. They hit only 29 per cent in the third quarter, then finished with a torrid 64 per cent.

Favored to win their district, the Ector team won the battle of the boards using their height to good advantage. They outrebounded Snyder, 24-13 in the first half, then saw the scrappy Tigers outgrab them 16-13 in the final two periods.

High scorer for Ector was Leek with 26 points, and Tacker posted 16. Lujan, a scrappy Ector guard, tallied only four points, but all of them came in the last minute of play as he sank long shots to keep his team in contention.

Mitch Rambin paced the attack with 18 points. Also scoring in double figures were Herman Malone (16), Jodi Williamson (14), and Jerry January (13). Collins netted 26 for Ector. He was ejected from the game following a technical foul in the fourth quarter.

Rotan Takes Two Of Three

HOBBS — Rotan won two of three basketball tilts with Hobbs here Tuesday. The varsity won 61-50; the "B" team came out on top by a 37-27 count; and the girls lost, 44-23.

Jim Kelly led Rotan scorers in the varsity contest with 16 points. Wendell Cave duplicated the feat with 16 points for Hobbs. Other Hobbs scorers: George Martinez 13, Gary Nettleton 12, Turo Martinez 4, Kenny Martinez 2, Lorin Pearce 2, and Brad Maule 1.

Ronnie Kincaid tallied 14 points for the Rotan "B" team, but Hobbs' David Albers captured scoring honors with 15 points.

Hobbs won the girls game handily as Doris Medrano pitched in 12 points. Jodi Helms sparked Rotan with 7 points.

Coach Boxie Weems' Hobbs Panthers open their district slate at home Jan. 6 with Westbrook providing the opposition.

Ira Wins Two Tilts

IRA — Ira's Junior High School swept two basketball games with Hermleigh here Monday. The boys won 20-15, and the girls emerged triumphant, 27-18.

Neva Payne sparked the girls attack with 12 points, and Annette Erwin collected 11. Also scoring was Janie Roddy with 4 points.

Obie Crawford paced the Ira boys with six points. Others who scored: Billy Payne 5, Tommy Cox 5, William Rasco 2, and Donald Sellers 2.

For Hermleigh, Alaniz tallied 8, Ward netted 4, and Roemisch posted 3.

SANTA AND THE GIANT FIGHTER

By Lucrece Beale

Synopsis: Billy gets into the castle by hiding in Goko's boot. When the giant, pleased with his polished boots, relents and orders supper for the giants Billy sneaks after him into the kitchen.

CHAPTER FIFTEEN
GREEN PEA SOUP

It was supper time and the giants guarding the castle were faint from lack of food.

"To bash in our heads is all right," they muttered. "But to starve us is quite another thing."

Then word came that Goko had relented and they were to have food after all. The giants were to remain at their posts and Goko would send them each a bowl of green pea soup. A bowl of soup - even green pea nut is to a gaint what a peanut is to an elephant. Still it was better than nothing and the giants dared not complain.

While the soup cooked, Goko sat in the kitchen and ate his usual meal. He had a barrel of oysters, a bushel of potatoes and half a roast hippopotamus. He topped it off with a small plum pudding - about the size of a railroad caboose.

All the time Goko was eating Billy was hiding behind the kitchen stove. It had been easy enough to slip into his hiding place. Goko's face was hidden behind the roast hippopotamus and the giant who was cooking the soup was so envious of Goko's succulent dinner he kept his eyes screwed shut so he couldn't see it.

Billy waited his chance. When the soup was nearly done he took out the bottle of Ha-Ha the Ghost's tears and dumped it in with the bubbling peas.

The pot of soup hissed and sizzled and sputtered and fizzed like a truckload of fireworks gone off at one time. The cook opened his eyes and staggered back in alarm. Goko leaped up from the plum pudding he had just finished and roared.

"Dunce! Can't you see? It's done!"

"Y-yes, yes," stammered the giant. He ducked his head to avoid a green pea that shot out from the pot.

"Then serve it to the clods!" barked Goko and he stalked away to his den.

The trembling cook hastily dished the gurgling, frothing soup into bowls - including one for himself - and dashed away to feed the giants. Every giant downed his bowl in one big gulp. They declared it the best soup ever served at the castle.

Five minutes later they had turned into pigs.

Billy came out from behind the stove and led the grunting animals into the kitchen. He dragged all the food out of the refrigerator and set it on the floor. Then he left them happy as well-fed pigs always are.

Billy tiptoed through the castle until he came to the den where Goko sat before the fire. Billy peeped through the half-closed door.

Every few minutes the giant heaved himself out of his chair and went to look out the window. He was watching for the moon to rise.

"No one could hurt me," he muttered to himself. "What does it matter if the moon does shine? It's all nonsense."

All the same he couldn't sit still. He had to keep checking on the moon. When he got up for the 18th time to look out the window Billy ran in and laid the Harp Witch's necklace on the giant's chair. Then Billy ducked behind the chair.

Goko came back from the window. He saw the Rosanna Ruby gleaming in his chair. He picked it up and held it to the light.

He could not imagine where it had come from but he grunted "Finders, keepers! It is mine!"

He started to fasten the necklace around his neck. Billy waited, holding his breath.

"It will tighten around his throat as the Harp Witch said," he thought. "Goko will die and Santa and all of Fairlyland will be saved!"

Christmas Is Made Merry In Tijuana

By DICK BOWMAN
San Diego Union Writer

TIJUANA, Mexico (AP) — Race track operator John S. Alessio bet $75,000 that he could make Christmas a little brighter for 17,000 of Tijuana's poorest citizens.

He won.

This was the 20th year Alessio has sponsored the event at Caliente race track and it was one of the biggest.

Guests with dirty faces, many in ill-fitting and ragged clothing, started lining the dusty track parking lot at dawn Tuesday, six hours before the party started.

Inside the track were 17,000 stuffed dolls, plastic balls, toy jeeps and bulldozers, stockings filled with hard candy and bags of groceries for 5,000 families.

Alessio looked with obvious satisfaction at the line of hopeful faces that passed through the party area below the track's grandstand.

He remembers his childhood as the son of a poor immigrant miner in West Virginia, where Christmas fare was sometimes dandelion soup.

"We didn't know what a toy was in those days, Alessio said. "Later, when we moved to San Diego, we'd get a toy, one toy, for myself and my six brothers. Maybe it was a baseball glove. We'd all use it.

"I'd rather see a little girl smile over her first doll than anything else in the world," he said.

"This was a tough year for a lot of these people. Some were burned out of their homes by an awful fire. Many more were flood victims.

"That's why there probably are more people here than ever before."

Tickets were distributed last week to 5,000 of Tijuana's poorest families. Thousands of others packed the track parking lot, hoping there would be a doll left over, or a stocking full of candy. Or perhaps a bag of food.

Says US Youth Much Like Russian

NEW YORK (AP) — Soviet poet Yevgeny Yevtushenko, concluding an American tour, says he has found the youth of the United States and the U.S.S.R., very alike — "united in contempt for everything artificial" and antagonistic to "pretty, empty words."

"The peace of the world depends on our two peoples," he said in a farewell plea for friendship and understanding between Americans and Russians.

Yevtushenko, who spoke through an interpreter at a news conference Tuesday at Queens College, said that when he gets home, "I will tell the Russians exactly what I am telling you." He is leaving Dec. 29.

Aleutian Isle Eyed As Testing Site

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)— The possibility of Amchitka Island in the Aleutians being used as an underground nuclear test site is under study by an Atomic Energy Commission survey team now on the island.

The team "will soon be followed by crews drilling exploratory holes if the surface geology makes underground exploration appear desirable," an AEC spokesman said Tuesday.

Communism Is Real Enemy In Vietnam, Says AF Hero

"Communism is the enemy in Vietnam."

That was the message that Air Force Capt. Glenn E. Jones of Unionville, Mo., brought to the luncheon meeting of the Snyder Lions Club Tuesday. He spoke in the dining hall of the First Methodist Church.

Capt. Jones is a hero of the Vietnam war. He won the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Oak Leaf Cluster while stationed near An Hoa, Vietnam as a forward air controller this year.

An advisor to a Province Chief, Capt. Jones recently completed a year's service in Vietnam after having been stationed there for a previous tour of duty in 1960.

The combat pilot told Snyder Lions that the Communists have had designs on Vietnam for over 40 years.

The campaign to take over all of Southeast Asia began before 1940 when the Communists began organizing for the take over, he said. The second phase of their plans began with a terrorist campaign in 1945, and the third phase--active military fighting--began in 1960.

The war hero declared that, unless we prevent the Communists from conquering Vietnam, they will move into British Malaysia, Indonesia and ultimately the Philippines.

Ho Chi Minh, the dictator chief of Hanoi, has been instrumental in Communist plans to seize Vietnam, according to the aviator. Ho organized the Viet Minh and became popular with many Vietnamese when the French lost their war in former French Indo-China in 1954.

The French opposed the Viet Minh from 1945 through 1953 but were unable to win because they were fighting alone, according to the young officer.

Minh enjoys a certain popularity because "he identified himself" with the people, and because he was instrumental in causing the French to abandon the country, the officer stated. By contrast, some other leaders in Vietnam have never been overly popular with their people because, for the most part, they remain aloof.

Premier Ky, the present ruler of south Vietnam, is a strong leader, according to Capt. Jones.

The country of Vietnam has been divided at the 17th parallel since the Geneva Armistice which ended hostilities in 1954. There have never been elections to unify the country because the north is controlled by a police state.

Most Vietnamese want only to be left alone so that they can raise rice, declared Capt. Jones, and they have little or vague conception of the theories of Communism or Democracy.

If their dedication to the war effort is not as intense as the Americans, perhaps it is because the Vietnamese Army does not have as much support as the American units, the Air Force officer pointed out.

Captain Jones stated that most of the families of the 400,000 people who lived in the Province where he was assigned have been touched by the war.

"In this day and time it is getting to be almost unpopular to be patriotic," Capt. Jones declared. He said he respects the opinion of people who sincerely disagree with government policy in Vietnam.

"However," he pointed out, "most critics of our policy in Vietnam simply do not understand the situation."

Considering the hardships faced by most Vietnamese, it sometimes is surprising that their soldiers do as well as they do.

Capt. Jones emphasized that he was speaking as a private individual and that none of his remarks should be interpreted as being official Air Force policy.

He declared that it would "take a long time" to win unconditional victory. An early victory probably would leave the country undivided.

Capt. Jones currently is a pilot-instructor with the 3561st Pilot Training Squadron at Webb AFB. Married and the father of one daughter, he flew 332 missions while in Vietnam.

The citation awarded him for his actions against hostile forces stated:

"He conducted numerous air support sorties at great personal risk under poor weather conditions and in close proximity to enemy troops while under extremely heavy gun fire. After receiving a round through the cockpit, Capt. Jones continued to fly over the operation area fixing friendly and hostile positions and calling air power on the hostile forces postions. His action saved many American lives and contributed to an extremely large number of hostile forces killed in action"

The enemy has dedicated soldiers who have learned how to survive in the bush with little to eat, declared Capt. Jones. One trick they've learned is how to use cocoanut juice for blood plasma, he said.

Included among the Lions Club guests was Sgt. Doyle Hayes of the Snyder National Guard unit.

TAX ANSWERS

This column of questions and answers of federal tax matters is provided by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

* * *

Question — My income has been off the past few months which will put me below what I thought it would be when I filed my estimated tax return. Do I still have to make quarterly payments based on my original estimate?

Answer — No. You may file an amended estimated tax return when the next quarterly payment is due on January 16, 1967.

Note that you do not have to make the quarterly payment due January 16 if you file your tax return for 1966 by January 31, 1967, and pay the balance due then.

Question — I paid the highway use tax on my truck before I sold it. Can I get a refund?

Answer — No. This tax is levied on the vehicle.

Many taxpayers who sell trucks on which the tax has been paid include that amount when determining the sales price. The purchaser would not owe tax for that tax period already paid.

Question — I'm single and trying to work my way through college. If my income goes over $600 will my parents lose the deduction they claim for me?

Answer — No, they will not as long as you otherwise qualify as a dependent. One of the other requirements is that they furnish over half your support for the year.

Question — I just retired and will be moving out of the state before the end of the year. Can I file my return now?

Answer — No. Returns cannot be filed until the close of the taxable year. When you do file, use the address you have at that time and file with the district where you live then.

Question — I just took a part-time job to give me some extra spending money this Christmas. Is there any way I can get my part-time employer to stop withholding for Social Security? My regular employer already withholds the full amount for Social Security.

Answer — No. Each employer is required to withhold Social Security taxes on the first $6,600 of income paid each employee during 1966.

If, as you say, more than $277.20 is withheld from yur wages for Social Security in 1966, because you worked for two or more employers, then the excess should be taken as a credit on your 1966 income tax return.

Question — I'm selling some farm property that I own. Is there any way I can avoid being taxed on my total profit in 1966?

Answer — Yes, you may be able to report your profits on the installment basis. Then you would only be taxed on that part of the profit you received in 1966.

This installment method can only be used when you receive payments of not more than 30 percent of the selling price in the year of sale If you receive more than 30 percent, the entire profit must be declared for the year of sale.

Question — We lost a tree to a windstorm. Can we deduct what we had to pay to have the tree carted off?

Answer — As a general rule, clean up costs are not deductible. You may be able to claim a deduction for the loss of the tree if there was a decrease in the over-all value of your property as a result. The first $100 of such a loss will not be deductible and the amount you claim as a loss should be reduced by any insurance reimbursement received.

Face Behind Beard Is Mama Santa

BRICK TOWNSHIP, N.J. (AP)—The beard is the same, the red outfit looks the same, and even the eyes twinkle the same. But there is definitely something different about one store's Santa Claus this year.

Could it be the voice is a little softer, a little higher even? And maybe the movements are a bit gentler too?

Yes, for this year, Mama Santa has taken over.

The face behind the beard belongs to Sophie Deptula, 53, who filled in at the Steinbach Co. when the regular Santa caught cold the day before Thanksgiving.

The switch has been a hit with older and younger shoppers. The youngest don't even know the difference. But some of the older ones challenged her.

"She's a mama Santa Claus," said one little girl.

Mrs. Deptula answers: "I'm Santa's helper. Santa is so busy this time of the year he needs lots of new helpers. There's only one real Santa Claus, he comes Christmas Eve."

Mama Santa, who has two sons, 22 and 24, has dropped the traditional "Ho, ho ho" and speaks in a very soft voice so as not to frighten the younger children.

"I let a child warm up to me if he's frightened, I pat his head and tell him not to be afraid. If I have a baby in my arms and he starts to cry, I rock him a little."

Rotarians Play Santa For Wounded Soldier

HONOLULU (AP)—Pfc. Donald C. Williams, recovering from shrapnel wounds he suffered in Vietnam, was invited to a luncheon Tuesday by the Honolulu Rotary Club.

He was given a line and told to fish for his Christmas present.

Reeling in, he pulled his wife, Jeanne, from behind a curtain. She had been flown from Mason, Ohio, by Rotarians.

Comedian Art Carney To Take A Bride

NEW YORK (AP) — Comedian Art Carney, 48, plans to marry Barbara Isaac, 41, of Manhattan, Thursday.

They took out a license Tuesday. It will be the second marriage for both.

To Negotiate Without Union Boss

WASHINGTON (AP)—Trucking employers say they will not attempt to influence the make-up of the Teamsters Union negotiating committee — meaning they won't try to keep union President James R. Hoffa out of prison during negotiations early next year on a nationwide contract.

Hoffa and some union officials claim that Hoffa is indispensable to the negotiations. But the Trucking Employers, Inc., in effect said Tuesday they won't try to delay Hoffa's going to prison for a conviction and eight-year sentence on a charge of jury tampering, which the Supreme Court upheld last week.

Hoffa's attorney Joseph A. Fanelli, tried Tuesday to at least delay his client's trip behind bars. He sought a 30-day extension until Feb. 4 of the time limit for asking the Supreme Court to reconsider its decision.

The court presumably would take some time beyond that to rule on the request for reconsideration—time during which Hoffa could remain free on bail.

Negotiations on the national master contract are expected to begin Jan. 17 in Washington. The present contract expires March 31.

The trucking employers group, said to represent about 1,100 employers with nearly 450,000 over-the-road drivers, thrust aside the reported stand of some employers that Hoffa's presence would be needed at negotiations.

Teamsters in parts of three states walked out briefly in sympathy with Hoffa Tuesday, but he ordered them back to work "as soon as he found out about it," said a Teamsters spokesman in Washington.

The brief strike was at scattered locations in western Pennsylvania, northern West Virginia and western Maryland.

Two Brothers In Vietnam Reunion

A Snyder soldier and his Marine brother held a reunion following a battle in Viet Nam last Thanksgiving Day, according to word received here.

Lance Cpl. Joe Evans, a former employe of McCormick's 66 Service Station, met his brother James A., in James' tent following a battle in the Central Highlands near Bong Son on the east coast of Viet Nam.

The Marines flew Joe 500 miles for the surprise visit with his brother. Joe is with the 2nd Battalion, 11th Marines. James is a sergeant and squad leader with Company A of the 1st Air Cavalry Division's 5th Battalion, 7th Cavalry.

In a letter to their parents in Abilene, James wrote that, "We fought from 7:30 that morning until 7 that night.

". . .Seven of our men were killed and nine were wounded . . . . and our Thanksgiving dinner was flown in that night."

Parents of the brothers are Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Evans, Sr. of 818 Davis Drive in Abilene.

Another brother, Hub Evans, lives at 3403 Fortieth Street in Snyder. Joe joined the Army in Snyder a couple of years ago. He is a bachelor. James enlisted in 1962 and is the father of a baby girl he has never seen. His wife is residing with relatives in San Juan, Tex.

Hub said that he received a letter from James recently in which he described how his water canteen was riddled by enemy slugs.

James' battalion has been credited with killing or capturing 300 Viet Cong since Oct. 24. Eight-hundred more were held for questioning, and large caches of weapons and food also were captured.

Family Is United After 22 Years

SEATTLE, (AP)—"My son, my son!" sobbed Mrs. Heinrich Gedicks as she clasped her oldest boy in her arms, ending a 22-year separation that began when he was taken prisoner by the Russian army in World War II.

In 1944, the Gedicks lived in East Germany. Horst, then 15, was living on a farm in East Prussia, apprenticing as an agriculture specialist.

When the Russians invaded Horst was interned and sent to Siberia. The rest of the family fled.

For years the family sought news of Horst's fate. They continued their search from Bremerton, Wash., where they were brought under sponsorship of that city's Our Saviour's Lutheran Church.

Six years ago they learned Horst was alive, married and the father of a son.

The family tried to find a way to bring him home. His sister, Christel, wrote former Premier Nikita Khrushchev, but without success.

Three times Horst and his family were refused exit visas.

Three months ago the visas were granted. The family attributes the change to improved American-Soviet relations.

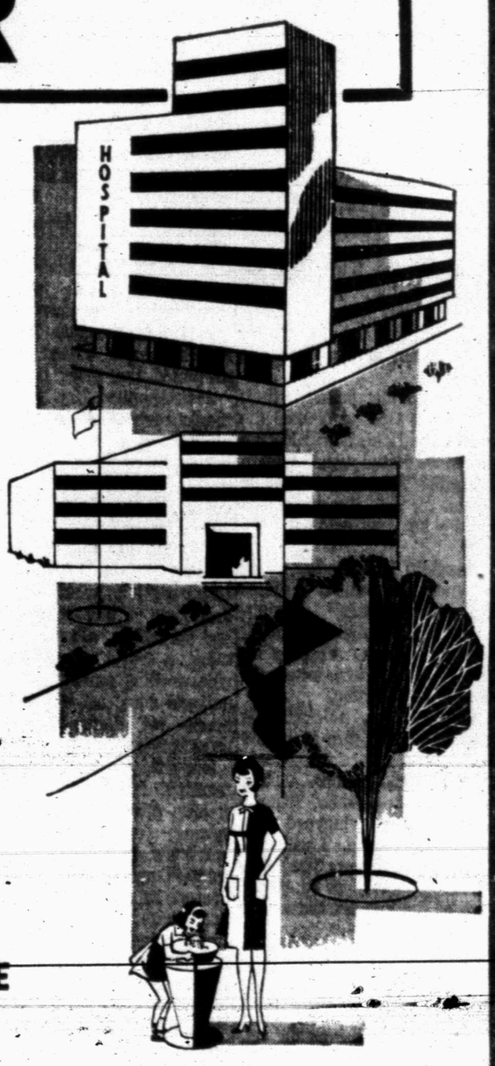

Horst, his wife Angelica and their son Wolfgang, 7, arrived here Monday and were met by his parents and two brothers.

Christ Delighted To —Tell Pointed Anecdotes

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

HE COULD TURN a tale. And it left its mark. It was an old rabbinical technique, the "mashal" - the concrete, simple story about human activity that climactically lit up an idea. Jesus was a master of it.

"No man ever spoke like this man," his critics conceded.

In homes, on mountainsides, at night beside campfires, on a bench in the Temple court, on lakesides, in synagogues, in streetside encounters, the Galilean spun yarns with spark, verve and permanent point.

And He did it buoyantly.

"Be of good cheer," he kept telling the crestfallen. "Take heart, my son." Despite the travail he eventually endured, and the consequent melancholy portraits of him, he actually was an optimistic man. "Let not your hearts be troubled."

He didn't fret. "And which of you by being anxious can add one cubit to his span of life?"

Pointing toward the brilliant, delicate anemones decorating the valley of Esdraelon, He exulted:

"Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow, they neither toil nor spin; yet I tell you, even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these."

He drew a thought from that, too. "But if God so clothes the grass of the field. . .will He not much more clothe you, O men of little faith? Therefore do not be anxious. . . .Let the day's own trouble be sufficient for the day."

To explain His mission, He used such plain, earthy realities - the commonplace circumstances and situations which, if given the close observation which He gave them, take on a sunburst of meaning.

"What do you think?" He would begin, and then He would tell a story.

"A man had two sons . . . The man told each of them, 'Son, go and work in the vineyard today.' The first said, 'I will not,' but he went anyhow. The other said, 'I go, sir,' but he didn't. Which of the two did the will of the father. . . ?"

It was absolutely clear. No matter how noble a person's professions or fine his religious claims, it was his performance that mattered, and even the outwardly defiant and doubtful might actually serve more constructively than the avowedly dutiful.

"Not every one who says to Me, Lord, Lord, shall enter the kingdom, but he who does the will of My Father. . .."

He told a related story of a king whose invitations to a banquet were rejected by presumably proper friends who begged off with flimsy excuses. So the king struck them off his list and brought in masses of unkempt strangers.

His vocabulary had a picturesque zip and vividness to it. "Sift you like wheat. . . ." or "blind guides, straining out a gnat while swallowing a camel." The images glowed. "Brood of vipers. . . " he once snapped when given a warning from the puppet ruler, Herod Antipas.

Although a man of His time and culture, using parabolic metaphors, alliterations, parallels and antithesis which found a natural response in Jewish intuition, He had a style and inventiveness of His own.

And it intrigued His contemporaries, including the intellectuals. "Who is this Son of Man?" "He is a good man." "No, he is leading people astray." "This is really the prophet." This is the Christ." He puzzled them. "How is it this man has such learning?"

He didn't couch his message in the abstract generalities or deductive syllogisms of Greek logic, but rather in real-life narratives, involving people, their surroundings and problems, so as to illuminate basic principles.

Seated on a shady hillside, watching travelers passing on the Jericho Road, He would, there or elsewhere, soon be unwinding a story. "A man going on a journey called his servants and entrusted to them his property. . . ."

It went on, lean, brisk, packed with action, about how two of the servants put their portions to productive use, while the third hid his endowment and let it lie dormant. The returned master ousted him and promoted the other two.

Jesus applied the lesson to men's responsibility for using abilities given them in furthering God's creation - so as to be part of its fulfillment. "Well done. . . .enter into the joy of your master."

To illustrate the development of that ultimate destiny, He compared it to yeast working in dough, to a tiny seed growing and spreading, always a hidden thing, a secret germ of the divine working among men, gradual and sure, not dependent on them, yet demanding their cooperation.

His subjects ranged widely - farming, family life, lawsuits, wealth, poverty, lending, borrowing, management, labor, criminals, weddings, kings, soldiers and slaves - drawn in dramas of fear, love, betrayal, duty, hate, courage and sometimes comedy.

Humor shows in the story of the unprincipled judge, from whom a widow kept demanding settlement of her case. He repeatedly refused, but her persistence defeated him. Sighed the judge: "Though I neither fear God nor regard man, yet because this widow bothers me, I will vindicate her, or she will will wear me out. . . ."

The point here, urging patient confidence in prayer, lay in a striking contrast. Even if a lax judge will finally respond to perseverance, how much more will "God vindicate His elect who cry to Him day and night?"

Asked once why He used parables, Jesus said it was so people would sense the truth even though not fully comprehending it.

He had an abundant store of material, from imagination and experience. About 40 different stories are recorded, but there must have been many more since the gospels were set down from notes and memory about 30 years afterward.

The rabbinical "mashal," besides using the parable to offer specific life incidents to express a moral point, also included opening and closing questions to get hearers' thought processes involved in the issue.

Jesus regularly used the ploy. "Now tell me. . . ." "What man of you. . .?" "Do you see those great buildings. . .?" It was a play of questions that introduced one of His most famous parables.

A lawyer asked, "Teacher what shall I do to inherit eternal life?"

Jesus asked back, "What is written in the law?"

The lawyer replied: "You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart. . .soul and. . strength, and your neighbor as yourself."

"You have answered right," Jesus said, "do this."

The lawyer: "And who is my neighbor?"

So Jesus, as usual, told a story - about a traveler, stripped and beaten and left on the roadside half dead. Great citizens of his own nation passed him by, but a depised Samaritan treated his wounds, took him to an inn, paid for his care.

Who, asked Jesus, "proved neighbor to the man. . . ?"

The answer, as always, was inescapable. "The one who showed mercy. . . ."

"Go thou and do likewise." Feed the hungry, give drink to the thirsty, welcome the stranger, clothe the naked, attend the sick, visit the sick, visit the prisoner. "Truly, I say to you, as you have done it unto the least of these My brethen, you did it to Me."

His deep note of joy showed in other memorable parables of the shepherd's happiness at finding a lost sheep, a woman's delight at finding a lost coin, a father's celebration over return of a prodigal son.

Jesus, who saw His own work as restoring the lost and the prodigal, said, "It was fitting to make merry and be glad. . ."

Salvage Firm Sinks Burned Oil Tanker

PORT ARTHUR (AP) — A salvage firm has sunk the burned tanker Gulfstag, presumably with the bodies of six men aboard, in the Gulf of Mexico, Gulf Oil Co. said Tuesday.

The tanker, which burned 60 miles southeast of Morgan City, La., Oct. 24, sank in 100 fathoms Monday after explosives were detonated in the bow of the ship.

Gulf Oil said it decided salvaging the tanker and its cargo of 153,000 gallons gasoline would be too dangerous and costly.

A seventh Gulfstag crew member died of burns two weeks after the fire.

Winners Are Announced In Midwest Electric Contest

ROBY — Helen Lovett of Roby High School and Randy Williams of Hobbs High School were named winners of an all-expense paid trip to Washington D. C. during the finals elimination oratorical contest in the Midwest Electric Cooperative Willie Wiredhand room at Roby.

Runners-up were Sandra Kay Stansell of Fluvanna High School and Michael Scott Richburg of Hermleigh High School.

Sponsoring the contest was Midwest Electric Cooperative, a nine county organization. Students spoke on the subject, "Rural Electrification - Helping Texas Grow."

Don Waddell, Midwest Electric Cooperative Members Service Director, said the two were chosen from a field of 12 finalists. Twenty-six contestants entered the contest and area schools held oratorical contests to select students to represent their schools.

The two selected following individual interviews with judges will travel by chartered buses to the nation's capital city with 100 other youths as part of the Texas Electric Cooperatives Youth Tour in June.

During their 13-day trip to Washington, they will visit sites of historical interest, governmental agencies, National Rural Electric Association, White House, and many other points of interest.

Helen Lovett is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Lovett of Roby and is a sophomore in Roby High School. Randy Williams is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Williams of the Hobbs Community and is a junior at Hobbs High School.

Judges making the final selections were Homer Taylor, speech teacher Sweetwater High School; Jack Meares, speech and dramatics teacher at Roscoe High School; and Roy Meador, KSNY Radio Station in Snyder.

Would Review Institution Exemptions

WASHINGTON (AP) —Rep. Wright Patman has charged "profit and comfort, not charity" have been the main business of many private foundations. He called on the new Congress to tighten the requirements for such institutions to be tax-exempt.

Patman, a Texas Democrat, made the comments in the report filed Tuesday with a House Small Business subcommittee he heads. The subcommittee staff studied the books of 575 foundations for the years 1961-1964.

During this period, the report said, the foundations received $4.6 billion, including "capital gains, mostly from stock market transactions, of $1.3 billion."

But Patman contended that much of the receipts increased the capital of the founditions, since less than half — $2.2 billion — was disbursed to the various causes served, while nearly $500 million went for expenses.

President Johnson asked Congress last January to legislate against abuses of the tax exemption privilege. The Treasury submitted such legislation, but Congress adjourned without completing action.

The report cited, among others, the American Box Board Co. Foundation of Grand Rapids, Mich., saying it had gross income of $31,635 during 1964 — but also had expenses of $31,268, including "miscellaneous expenses" of $24,452.

It said the Julian S. Eaton Educational Foundation, set out in its own literature that its primary purpose is to recruit football players for the University of Miami (Fla.)

The Joseph B. Whitehead Foundation of Atlanta, Ga., pays $18,000 a year to the wife of the late Joseph B. Whitehead and paid $6,000 to a former wife until her remarriage, the report said.

Patman said present law does not require that capital gains by foundations be distributed to charity and that even the requirement that dividends and interest be distributed is not strictly enforced.

Forecasts Reduced

WASHINGTON (AP) — The final Texas crop forecast of the year reduced estimates on several crops, the Agriculture department announced Tuesday.

Oranges at 2,400,000 boxes, grapefruit at 5,400,000 boxes, were the only crops not changed from the predictions of a month ago.

Oat production was estimated at 17,640,000 bushels, down from the 22,148,000 bushels predicted earlier.

The corn crop for Texas was set at 19,008,000 bushels, down from the 19,872,000 of a month ago.

The wheat harvest was estimated at 72,652,000 bushels, which was much better than the 66,852,000 bushels shown in earlier figures.

Sorgum grain, this season's major crash crop, fell to 311,696,000 bushels from the 320,450,000 predicted in November.

Rice dropped to 21,210,000 hundredweight from 21,672,000 predicted a month earlier.

Peanuts showed a strong upturn, the forecast predicting 405,280,000 pounds from 399,000,000 at the last estimate.

Sugar beet production also climbed, going to 592,000 tons from a prediction last month of 560,000 tons.

Water Board Studies Lake Texoma Project

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Water Rights Commission has taken under advisement applications by the Red River Authority and the Texas Water Development Board to co-sponsor the proposed lake Texoma project.

The commission considered the applications Tuesday.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has not yet specified what the Lake Texoma project will consist of, and this is one of the reasons the commission took the matter under advisement, a commission spokesman said.

Once the high salt content of the lake is reduced some of the water may be converted to municipal use, the spokesman said.

Grizzly bears take pains to make their dens cozy for winter. They dig them into slopes, minimizing accumulation of water during winter thaws, and line the burrows with evergreen boughs for warmth. The dens face north to assure a deep insulation of snow.
