Goodfellows Fund Is Within Less Than $300 Of Its Goal; Bus Firm To Donate Pennies

All the pennies taken in on city buses Friday will go into the Goodfellows' fund.

This was announced this morning by Manager Ray Farmer as a contribution of Lubbock City Bus company to the fund. It continues a custom inaugurated by Farmer last year.

Even on an average day, he explained, the fares which are paid in pennies amount to several dollars. On this special day he expects the sum will run well above average. Last year the total was swelled because many of the bus riders dumped whatever pennies they chanced to possess into the Goodfellows kitty.

"The sky's the limit," was Farmer's comment. "The Goodfellows' fund gets all the pennies Friday, day and night."

The Goodfellows' fund moved forward more rapidly Tuesday and today, contributions since those ac-

States Plan To Enact Laws

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (AP) — A widespread effort will be made in state legislatures this winter to put a floor under wages and a ceiling over hours of millions of workers excluded from the federal wage-hour act.

Information available to labor department officials indicated today that state wage-hour bills will be proposed to at least 25 legislatures.

Determined Fight Seen

In some states it is expected that little more will be done than the gesture of introducing a bill, but in others, notably New York and North Carolina, there is expected to be a determined fight for passage. The federal law covers only workers in industries in interstate commerce.

A suggested state wage-hour bill was drafted by state labor executives meeting here last month. In general provisions it follows closely the federal statute but leaves blanks for maximum hours and wage minima. Each state thus could set its own standards.

Officials say that pressure for enactment of state laws is coming chiefly from two sources — labor unions and interstate industries subject to the federal law. The latter have to compete with intrastate industries that are not subject to it.

Most officials who have been fol-

TO SEEK LABOR BOARD

AUSTIN, Dec. 21 (U.P.)—Establishment of a state labor relations board will be one of the legislative aims of organized labor, Joe T. Stedham of Fort Worth, member of the state labor legislative board announced today.

A wage-hour act, patterned on the federal law, nine-jury verdicts in civil suits, and a law limiting length of trains will be other objectives. The labor group will oppose a sales tax and change in the present 7,000-pound load limit for trucks.

Father And Son Are Held In Homicide Case

Father Urged To Admit He Killed Wife

Son Is In Turn Accused By Father Of Slaying; Bones Are Found Near Home

BY ALAN McELWAIN
United Press Staff Correspondent

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 21 —Police put a father and his son in the same room early today and for more than an hour the son urged the father to confess that he had killed his wife, the youth's mother.

The father would not. He insisted he knew nothing about the disappearance of his wife who had been missing for two weeks. He accused the son of having killed her himself. He was a dwarf, less than five feet tall, and readily admitted having had intimate relations with two of his daughters. He was held on a charge of incest.

Collection Of Bones Found

Near the incinerator in the home of William Spinelli, 50, the police had found a collection of bones one of which was said, on medical authority, to belong to a human skull. The others were tentatively identified as turkey bones.

In a bed room, they found a blood-soaked mattress, a blood-stained floor, and a hand axe spattered with dark stains.

Police said they were convinced that either Spinelli or his son, William jr., had hacked Mrs. Rose Spinelli to death, dismembered her body and reduced the pieces to ashes in the incinerator.

Father and son were booked on

Santa Is Giving Bonuses Here

Lubbock employes are receiving bonus checks to vouch for Santa Claus.

Reports of clerks, managers and the general public it has been determined that:

A custom started three years ago will benefit employes of Furr Food stores in bonuses based on earnings.

To Get Percentage Checks

Davis & Humphries, wholesale grocers and operators of Piggly-Wiggly stores in Lubbock, will compensate 22 employes with year-end percentage checks.

Levine's will pay "a substantial percentage of money based on store earnings, to approximately 50 persons." It is a custom of the group of seven units.

J. C. Penney company has provided for 30 employes. Each will get a bonus equivalent to two weeks pay.

"Forty or more" will benefit from Austin Food stores' Christmas bonus plan, which has been observed three years. There are two Lubbock stores, one in New Mexico.

Avalanche - Journal publications gave bonuses to all regular employes, approximately 80.

Quicksall-Pryor company will continue payment of a bonus to employes, approximately 10 of whom will benefit. "Some sort of Christmas present has been made to our employes every since we entered business here," said James L. Quicksall. "This year it will be better, just as it has been the past four or five years. We will pay bonuses in proportion to net earnings of the company."

WIDELY KNOWN RANCHER DIES

JUNCTION, Dec. 21 (AP) — Captain H. W. Rieck, 49, widely known Kimble county ranchman, died at 10:30 o'clock last night in a hospital at San Antonio. He was stricken in that city recently while attending the convention of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers association, of which he was a director. Death was attributed to pneumonia meningitis.

Madman Is Sought After Five Killed

SAVANNAH, Ga., Dec. 21. (U.P.)— County and city police today launched an intensive search for a blood-spattered madman who slugged four members of a family to death with an iron pipe, then killed a garage watchman with a shotgun.

Police listed the dead as: J. S. Tillman, 35, a WPA worker; his wife, Elizabeth, 28; their two children, Clara Pearl, 9, and Viola, 7; Tom Chester, 35, a night watchman.

The Tillman family was found battered to death in a dilapidated cottage 100 yards in the rear of an auto repair garage one mile west of Savannah.

Chester, nearly decapitated from what police believed was a shotgun blast, was found near an abandoned barbecue stand adjoining the garage.

In a nearby field, police found a five-foot length of rusty iron pipe covered with blood.

Tillman and his wife were asleep in one bed, the two children in the other. When police entered the one-room dwelling, they found walls, beds and floor soaked with blood.

Kingsville Officer Sought To Halt Headlight Hunters Near Ben Bolt Last Night

(By The United Press)

AUSTIN, Dec. 21—State offices of the game fish and oyster commission were notified today that E. R. Murchison, 55, of Kingsville, veteran game warden was shot to death last night by headlight hunters near Ben Bolt, Jim Wells county.

State rangers and other officers immediately were sent to the area and a man hunt with bloodhounds was started over the sparsely set-

First To Be Killed

Murchison is the first Texas game warden who has been killed in line of duty. Several have been targets for angry hunters but were not hit.

Murchison with Game Warden J. L. Robinson of Alice was patrolling the area which is a famous deer hunting section. They noticed headlights being flashed. Headlight-hunting, which blinds deer and makes them stand to be slaughtered, is forbidden by the Texas game laws.

Murchison threw a flashlight beam toward the headlight hunt-

Bicycle License Tags Are Ordered By City

Orders have been placed with a Los Angeles concern for 1,000 bicycle license tags preparatory to the beginning of bicycle registrations here next month, according to information given at the city hall this morning.

Bicycle registration fee will be 35 cents. Place of registration likely will be the tax assessor-collector's office in the city hall, officials said.

Registration of bicycles will be required under an ordinance passed by the city commission several weeks ago. It will involve the keeping of detailed records of bicycles and was adopted in an endeavor to curb a growing bicycle theft problem, members of the commission said.

The license plates will measure 2 by 2 3-4 inches in size and will consist of aluminum letters and figures on a black background. They will bear the date, 1939, the name of Lubbock and the number of the plate, starting with No. 1, officials were advised.

Scalpers Are Already Busy On Tickets

DALLAS, Dec. 21. (U.P.)—Officials moved today to prevent scalpers from obtaining any more tickets to the Corpus Christi-Lubbock football game scheduled here for Dec. 26, to determine the champion of the Texas Interscholastic league.

General admission tickets officially priced at $1 already were offered by scalpers at $1.25, and P. C. Cobb, director of ticket sales, said he would appeal to police to aid in restricting activities of scalpers.

Sales Tuesday, first day the tickets were offered, amount to approximately 15,000. Officials predict that 30,000 or more persons would see the game.

All-Time Mark Set In Permits

Building permit record for any year in the history of Lubbock was broken this morning.

Permits for completed new construction which has cost $173,651 were issued, increasing the total for 1938 to date to $3,376,236.74, according to records in the office of City Building Inspector Jim Reid.

Relegated to second place among the years was 1929, when permits totaled $3,337,306

City Expansion Is Included

Shooting the construction to the new record figure was a permit for $168,965 for city electrical plant system expansion.

Another permit for $4,686 was for rural electrification administration equipment erected at the city limits where South Plains Rural Electric cooperative receives power generated in the city power plant.

A still further climb in the total is certain, Reid said, before the record for 1938 are closed.

New Mark Leads 1929

The new total leads that of 1929 by $38,929.26. It is $1,329,969 ahead of the $2,046,268 in permits authorized in 1937. Third place among the years is held by 1929, with $3,136,975.

Law Requiring Minimum Pay For Texas Police, Firemen Upheld

AUSTIN, Dec. 21 (AP) — The law requiring cities of more than 75,000 population to pay their policemen and firemen at least $150 a month was upheld finally today by the supreme court. The tribunal refused to reconsider its earlier decision.

Attorneys for several affected cities had contended the 20-month-old law violated the constitutional provision permitting cities to govern themselves.

The Galveston court of civil appeals held, however, that the statute was a general rather than a local law and pointed out that charters of home rule cities are "subject to such limitations as may be prescribed by the legislature through general laws."

EVEN JURORS DISMISSED

DALLAS, Dec. 21 (U.P.)—Activities in Dallas county's central jury room at the courthouse were suspended today because the Texas Tech Red Raiders came to town.

Judge Payne L. Bush dismissed all talesmen and told them to go to the railroad station to welcome the athletes.

"We'll have a crowd there if I have to summons them," he said.

DALLAS, Dec. 31—Texas Technological college's renowned Red Raiders arrived here today and were greeted with a rousing welcome that compared with those given President Roosevelt and Charles A. Lindbergh.

Coach Pete Cawthon and his red-jacketed aerial squad were cheered by an estimated 50,000 persons as they made their way to Southern Methodist university to resume practice for their Cotton bowl tilt with the Gaels of St. Mary's university of Moraga, Calif., on Jan. 2.

HOUSTON EXES COMING

HOUSTON, Dec. 21 — There may be larger Texas Tech alumni clubs but there hardly can be any more enthusiastic than in Houston.

At the club's regular meeting here Tuesday night, 62 members attended and mapped plans to take in the Cotton bowl game January 2 between Tech and St. Mary's of California.

After the meet, Garland Smith, chairman of the organization announced that 62 Texas Tech exes from Houston would make up a motor caravan leaving here at noon January 2 for Dallas. There are 73 members here, and all present at last night's meet announced they had reservations for the game.

Band To Be Aboard Newspaper's Special

Announcement that the Senior High school band and cheer leaders will go to Dallas on the Avalanche-Journal Championship special leaving Sunday night was made this morning by Supt. W. B. Ireland.

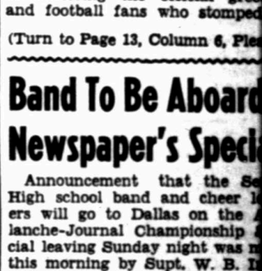

The special train is to take fans to the Lubbock-Corpus Christi junior high school championship football game.

The school's athletic council will finance the train trip of the band sters and cheer leaders.

H. A. Anderson, band director, said a 74-piece band would make the trip, about 68 or 69 going on the chartered train.

Cheer leaders are Betty Jo Jones, Ben Alexander, Charles Hvass, Marvin McLarty, Sybil Wheelock, and Helen Jarrott.

Tickets for the trip are on sale at the Santa Fe passenger station, Hub Clothiers, and Mark Hopkins Drug store No. 2 at Broadway and College avenue. Round trip fare is $7.15.

Although He's Dead In Texas, 1,000 Miles Away, Toast Of Broadway Still Sings "My Heart Belongs To Daddy"

BY HARRY FERGUSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—Mary Martin did a gay dance across the stage, winked her left eye and sang out in a strong voice —"My Heart Belongs to Daddy."

It was a saucy, funny song and those of us on the other side of the Imperial theater's footlights applauded her. But we didn't applaud as long or as loud as we would have liked to, for we knew something she didn't know.

We knew daddy was dead.

He was dead in Weatherford, Tex., a thousand miles or so away—the father of this girl who is the toast of the year along the belt of bright lights called Broadway. And as soon as the news came ticking over the wires from Texas that Preston Martin was dead we in the audience and all members of the cast of the musical comedy "Leave It To Me" entered into a conspiracy of silence against Mary Martin.

We conspired to keep the news from her until she could sing once more "My Heart Belongs to Daddy." And she sang it in her usual light-hearted way, never suspecting that the last editions of the afternoon papers, carrying the news of her father's death, had been barred from the theater; never knowing that every time Victor Moore or Sophie Tucker or William Gaxton sent a joke crackling at her across the stage that their hearts were as heavy as her's would be three minutes after the curtain fell.

So, tossing her red hair and laughing, she gave the song all she had and the words went:

"While tearing off a game of golf

I may make a play for the caddy.

But when I do, I don't follow through

'Cause my heart belongs to daddy."

Once every year or so an unknown star blazes over Broadway. Once it was Ethel Merman, once it was Joan Bennett, and once, long ago, it was Ethel Barrymore. This year it was Mary Martin. They knew so little about her when she entered the cast of "Leave It To Me" that the program gives her only five lines in "Who's Who in The Cast." But on opening night she sent them out to the sidewalks cheering with "My Heart Belongs to Daddy." The world, which had been a harsh, cold place the day before, became rosy and warm for Mary Martin. Wealth and fame were on her doorstep and there was no bad news anywhere. Not bad news until yesterday when Preston Martin died in Weatherford.

There was a brief meeting of the cast after the curtain fell on "Leave It To Me" last night. It was a serious meeting, called to decide who should go tell Mary. And the choice fell on Victor Moore, the roly-poly comedian whose job is to spread laughter, not sorrow.

So he went down a gray corridor and turned to the left at a little brown door and close behind him were Sophie Tucker in a faded blue wrapper and Tamara, the singer, with her makeup still on her face.

They were silent for a moment while Mary, sitting in front of a mirror blazing with lights, looked up at them. Then

Djibouti Declared To Be Real Aim Of Italians In French Disput

Port Outlet To Colony Sought

BY PRESTON GROVER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21. — At times the ways of diplomacy are as clear as crystal if the right light is turned on them, and that is the case with the outbursts of Italian demands for certain parts of French territory.

No Italian in his right mind expects to get Tunisia, which is a very rich piece of French Africa bordering on the Mediterranean. Nor does the right-minded Italian expect to get the Mediterranean island of Corsica or Savoy on the Italian border. But competent opinion here is that the shrewd Italians who staged all this monkey business do expect to get Djibouti.

Needs Port Outlet

Your memory has to be two years long if you remember Djibouti. It is the little mud-flat city by the Red Sea. It is the entry port for Ethiopia. Italy wants it because it needs a port of outlet and inlet for Ethiopia.

Most of the shouting, it is true, has been for Tunisia, Corsia and Savoy. But the ruse of shouting for one thing while wanting another is as old as the hills and works as well as more complicated maneuvers. Djibouti is an extremely important strategic point for Italy in developing Ethiopia.

England May Be Generous

However, its location is also important in England's empire considerations. But England always has evidenced a disposition to give away territory belonging to other nations. She might let France give up Djibouti even though it gives the Italians a dangerous outpost on the British-empire life line through the Mediterranean and Red Sea.

There is historical background for Italy's demands. France got Savoy from an Italian principality before Italy had become a unified nation. She got Corsica in much the same way, and she seized Tunisia, although Italy long had coveted it. So long have they been parts of France that they now are almost as French as Paris.

England would not be too pleased if Djibouti were to be surrendered to Italy to keep the peace. It is right opposite the British outpost of Aden, on the Arabian coast. With a friendly France in possession of Djibouti, the two outposts facing each other across a narrow neck of Red Sea complemented each other. With Italy in possession of Djibouti, Aden will be a nonentity. Of course its importance has been much lessened these days by long range airplanes. Operating from an Ethiopian base, Italy can close the Red Sea passage at will.

Used German Strategy

Incidentally, it is noticeable that Italy copied Germany in selecting the time for the big move. Germany has made all her grabs in moments when France was having a new domestic crisis. Italy suddenly made its demonstration when France was in the midst of a threatened general strike.

Doubtless France would not surrender Djibouti without getting something in return. The something might be an Italian promise to respect present French-Italian frontiers and perhaps concede something of her expected control in Spain. A promise to respect French frontiers was made by Germany in return for Czechoslovakia.

November Banner Month In Safety

AUSTIN, Dec. 21 (AP) — Texas chalked up its banner safety month in November when 137 persons were killed on streets and highways — a saving of 83 lives compared with November, 1937.

The death toll for 11 months of the year stood at 1,414 or 399 less than were killed in a corresponding period last year.

The November carnage made "wrong guessers" of state police who had predicted the loss of 165 lives due to overcrowded highways and inclement weather which failed to materialize.

Homer Garrison, jr., public safety department director, said the decrease was the "greatest encouragement state officers have had in many months."

Patrolmen will tighten their vigilance in December in an effort to keep mishaps at a minimum.

In November 36 pedestrians were killed, 19 less than in the month last year. Garrison expressed an opinion there was need for more caution on the part of foot travelers.

"Contrary to many opinions, motorists are not always at fault when a pedestrian is struck down by a vehicle," he said.

Task Of Putting America Into Position To Fight Faces Congress

Defence Will Be For Peace

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a series outlining some of the problems of the incoming congress. It gives some of the background of the national defense situation. Three succeeding articles will deal with labor, relief, and other economic and social problems.)

By W. B. RAGSDALE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—The new congress has the curious job of putting America into a position to fight, if need be, for the peace it ardently wants.

President Roosevelt, time and again, has talked of peace and good will among nations. It is one of his favorite themes. No high army or navy official speaks wishfully of war. No war junta has emerged.

No One Speaks Of War

Congress is in about the same shape. It has extreme peace advocates. It has rugged exponents of national defense. But no one speaks of war of conquest, or of engaging in other people's wars.

In fact, quite a few senators and representatives who went about their districts asking for votes this fall said in pretty strong terms that they were opposed to the idea of any war save to defend American soil.

Referendum Is Worry

Indeed, one proposal that will cause much worry in administration quarters during the session is a measure which would require congress to submit any plan for war to the voters for their approval. If the voters approved, the nation might go to war. If not, there would be no war.

The measure came very near to house passage last year. Only fast foot work on the part of the administration defeated it. Opponents argued that, what with the red tape that surrounds the election laws in some states, the job of taking a national poll of war views might be a great handicap in time of emergency.

Whether the bill will pass or not, the strong sentiment for it is clear evidence of the desire of congress to move slowly and carefully along any line that lies between peace and war. That is the atmosphere into which President Roosevelt will introduce his armament plans.

Another Factor Complicates

It is complicated, too, by still another factor. Quite a few advocates of a strong national defense policy say that they do not want to see it used as a tent to cover pump-priming operations.

They will encounter the argument that national defense and the business of putting people to work should go arm in arm as far as they can.

Most of the administration's bigger projects for national defense already have been approved by congress. Now it is up to congress to appropriate the money to carry them out.

Authorizations Are Needed

Certain authorizations still are needed to broaden the scope and tighten the meshes of the defense plan, to take care of possibilities that have been envisioned since Europe started playing with gunpowder, since Japan began closing the Open Door to Chinese trade, since the United States began its endeavor to build up a tight alliance of American countries.

One of these is an expansion of the airplane buying program. Another is for a line of naval and air bases along the Atlantic coast, in Puerto Rico and Alaska. Another is an increase in the enlisted forces. A fourth is a widening of the scope of educational orders to train industry in the art of making war materials.

When all these things are tacked on to the defense plans already approved for the army and navy, the total appropriations for the two service branches will total up to about $1,300,000,000 that they want for the next fiscal year. That is about $250,000,000 more than they had this year, which was a peace time record for armament spending.

It's Pretty--But Is It Safe?

Joanne thinks the Christmas tree is beautiful, but householders should remember that Christmas trees and many of the usual decorations are very inflammable. And while candles have been eliminated to a large extent as a source of Christmas tree danger, frayed electrical connections can be dangerous, too.

PARTS OF JUNKED BOMBER

HONOLULU, Dec. 21 (AP) — Army intelligence officers announced today that plane wreckage found Sunday near Kaena point consisted of parts of a junked army bomber cast into the ocean.

Earlier army officers identified a plane wheel as from the pursuit plane in which Lieut. Watson M. Frutchey crashed to his death last Wednesday.

NET INCOME REPORTED

AKRON, O., Dec. 21 (AP) — Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., with factories from Port Elizabeth, South Africa, to the United States, today reported net income of $5,258,041 for its fiscal year ended Oct. 31, compared with $9,269,176 the preceding 12 months.

The uniforms of American letter carriers and substitutes are procured at their own expense.

Raymond Massey To Act Lincoln Role In Christmas Day Broadcast Saluting AP

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—Raymond Massey, who is Abraham Lincoln on the stage, will play the same role in a Christmas broadcast.

It is the NBC salute to the Associated Press in connection with the dedication of the new AP building in Rockefeller center and the 90th anniversary of the founding of the world-wide news gathering organization.

Massey will take part in that section of the program dealing with the assassination of Lincoln. He is currently appearing in the broadway production of "Abe Lincoln in Illinois."

The broadcast, drama except for a talk by Byron Price, AP executive news editor, will be devoted largely to a re-enactment of the outstanding news stories covered by the AP in its long existence. Besides the Lincoln assassination, among the famous events in history to be re-told are the sinking of the Maine, the San Francisco earthquake and the World war. Included also is to be the founding of the Associated Press.

The program is on WJZ-NBC from 12 noon to 2 p. m. (CST).

JONES TO AMARILLO

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21. (AP)—Representative Jones (D-Tex) left last night for his home in Amarillo, Texas, to spend the Christmas holidays.

Fechner Recommends That CCC Be Made Permanent Agency

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (AP) — Director Robert Fechner recommended to President Roosevelt today in his annual report that the Civilian Conservation corps be made a permanent government agency so that its work would be planned on a long-range basis.

The government reports the average annual cash income per person on a farm in the ten cotton states is $150 compared with $346 in other 38 states.

TRY EVERY BRAND OF GASOLINE THERE IS

I'm safe saying that. My own customers won't do it. That's what they're through doing. Maybe they thought it was just another one of their guesses the first time they drove in here for my Special Winter Blend Conoco Bronz-z-z. Now they know they've got the right one, and every cold morning tells them so, and they're getting swell mileage along with starting that never misses. I've even got one man that always had heat in the garage, but keeps it off now, and saves the expense, and tells me the car never used to start up near as fast as it does on Conoco Bronz-z-z. He's one of the ones that keep sending me in other people, which is a heap sight better than my trying to out-yell all the different brands of gasoline.

Richard Flowers is to visit his parents in Corpus Christi.

Ernest Wallace plans to visit in Hughes Springs and to attend the game.

Officers of the R. O. T. C. unit who probably will attend the bowl game are Capt. Frank A. Pettit, Sgt. William B. Richards, and Sgt. Leonard R. Day.

Many To Attend Game

Many who will remain here until after Christmas will go to the bowl game, and a large percentage of those visiting elsewhere for the holidays have arranged schedules so they may return by way of Dallas to attend the game.

Calvin Hazlewood has gone to Dallas on business in connection with duties as administrative secretary of the Alumni and Ex-Students association. Mr. and Mrs. Hazlewood plan to spend Christmas day in Mineral Wells.

Mrs. Howard Smith, secretary to Dean James M. Gordon, will visit in Roswell, N. M., and Miss Lalli D'Spain, assistant secretary, in McLean.

J. A. Barton, of 1304 Avenue L, who has been in West Texas hospital for several days, is reported improving this morning.

Supreme Court Decision Broadens Field Of Federal Regulation

Labor Board's Case Is Cited

BY PRESTON GROVER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 — It is getting so a man can hardly blow away the smoke from a cigarette without finding himself engaged in (or affecting) interstate commerce.

So broad is the scope of the Supreme court decision in the case of Consolidated Edison company of New York against the national labor relations board that a whole new scanning of the horizon of federal regulation seems likely.

Consolidated Edison is a tremendous power company in point of the number of kilowatts of energy it shoots along its network of wires and cables. Nevertheless, it operates in New York State almost (but not quite) to the exclusion of all other territory.

It sells power to city docks, to railroads and to enterprises which operate the tunnels operating under the Hudson, connecting New Jersey with New York. At no point does it transmit power under its own control outside of New York State. It sells a very small portion to companies which in turn use it in interstate commerce.

Emphasis On 'Affecting'

Now the national labor relations act provides, roughly, that federal regulations of labor bargaining shall apply to companies engaged in interstate commerce, or whose business "affects" interstate commerce. Under this act, the labor board claimed authority over the relationship between Consolidated Edison and its 40,000 employes. It is agreed that none of the Edison employes engages in interstate commerce. But the labor board contended that sale by the firm of a small portion of its power to companies which use it in interstate commerce brought Edison under federal jurisdiction. The board held that in event of labor trouble a power shutdown would "affect" interstate commerce.

The supreme court agreed.

In the nearest recent approach to this decision the court upheld the labor board in its contention that a California fruit company which shipped 35 per cent of its fruit in interstate commerce was directly subject to the labor act. Now it reaches out to extend the act to a company which of itself does not engage in interstate commerce, but simply sells its product to those who do.

In explaining its case, the court pointed out that a labor strike would leave the docks without lights, thus "affecting" not only interstate commerce, but foreign commerce as well.

Moreover, it pointed out that a radio station uses the power, and in event of a shutdown the radio broadcast across states lines also would be affected.

Could Apply To Coal

Two years ago the court upset the Guffey coal production control act by asserting that the industry was local, not national, in character. What now is to offset an argument that coal mining is in interstate commerce because coal is sold to companies which engage in interstate commerce? That is one of the possibilities.

The court has veered about within two years to a course that vastly broadened federal control over such matters as labor and industrial conditions. In the Consolidated Edison decision a member of the court for the first time gave some recognition of the change. In his dissent, Justice Butler rather forlornly referred to "the period" when the court was deciding another way, and he was one of the majority instead of the present slim minority constituted by himself and Justice McReynolds.

HAS NOTHING TO SAY

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 21 (AP) — Jayne Shadduck, who divorced Henry J. Topping, tinplate heir, last week, flew here last night and remarked "I've nothing to say—nothing" about Topping's marriage in Palm Beach, Fla., to glamorous Gloria Baker.

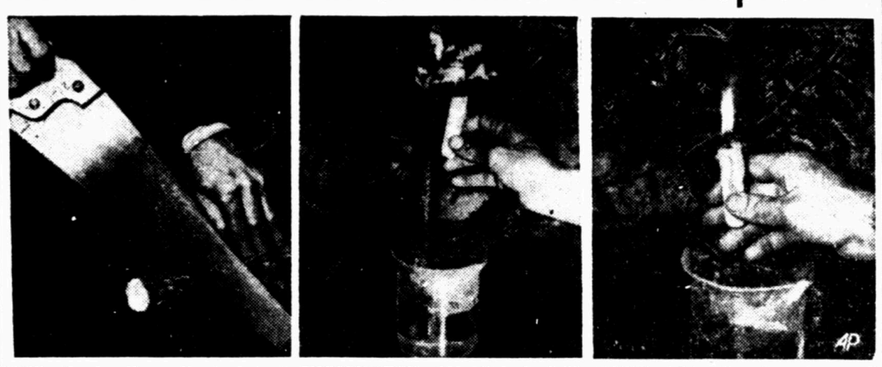

"I have no romance whatever in my life now," she said.

How To Make Your Christmas Tree Fireproof

SAW trunk diagonally to expose greatest absorbing surface. INCOMPLETE absorption is indicated if the branches take fire. DONE right, the branches won't flame, although they will char.

★ ★ ★

(By Associated Press Feature Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21. — Fireproof your Christmas tree, Martin Leatherman, of the department of agriculture, tells you how:

Weigh the tree, divide the result by four, then buy that many pounds of ammonium sulphate at a seed or hardware store. (For an eight-pound tree, for instance, get two pounds). Dissolve the chemical in a glass, tin or earthenware container, using one and a half pints of water to the pound.

Then saw a chunk off the trunk of the tree, diagonally or vee-shaped, and stick the tree into the solution. Leave it until all the solution has been absorbed. If the job is done right the tree will char but won't burst into flame.

Note: A tree that has been cut too long and is very dry cannot be treated this way.

Wallace Says Results Of Crop Quotas Votes Show Majority Of Farmers For Regulation

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (AP) — Secretary Wallace said today the results of the five referenda held this month to determine whether growers of cotton, tobacco and rice wanted federal regulation of marketing next year proved the 1938 farm act had the support of a "preponderant" majority of farmers.

Although only the cotton producers gave the required two-thirds majority necessary to invoke the restrictions, Wallace said the total vote in the referenda—three for various types of tobacco and one each for cotton and rice—showed a majority for quotas.

He said 1,587,353 farmers voted in the five referenda and that 1,216,417 of them voted for quotas.

Santa Clauses Seek To Raise Standards

NEW YORK, Dec. 21 (U.P.) — The National Association of Professional Santa Clauses, concerned about the unfair competition of Mickey Mouse, Ferdinand the Bull and the Seven Dwarfs, began a campaign today to raise the "standards of the profession."

Closing its second annual convention, the association passed a resolution urging the nation to "save Santa Claus from oblivion" and voted a code of ethics for amateur Santa Clauses.

The convention turned down affiliation with a labor organization because that might involve picketing and, according to retiring President William Lein, if children "saw us as every day human beings, indulging in everyday labor disputes, they would be immediately disillusioned.

Prison Probe To Be Asked

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Dec. 21 — Governor James V. Allred will tell the legislature the state prison management welcomes a "fair and unprejudiced" investigation of penitentiary conditions.

He revealed today he had included this statement in his final message to the legislature, explaining that Joseph Wearden, chairman of the prison board, had authorized it.

Defense Is Included

The governor coupled his statement with a defense of the prison system, and suggested membership of an investigating committee should exclude sponsors of the resolution authorizing an inquiry.

"It seems to me that it would be much fairer for the sponsors . . . to appear as prosecutors, just as the district attorney represents the state, and to have on the committee men whose minds are open," Governor Allred said.

Sights Accomplishments

He expressed an opinion the prison board had accomplished much in recent years, outlining as principal accomplishments:

Special efforts to prevent housing young prisoners or others capable of rehabilitation with older and hardened convicts.

Better sanitation and hospitalizations through new buildings constructed at an average cost of $40,000 with convict labor.

He agreed with Weardon that deficits in prison operation were "not an unusual thing," that the excepiton was in times of low prison populations and lower prices for farm products.

The governor said the average operating cost of the penitentiary last year was $252 39 per man, compared with a preceding 10-year average of $285 05 and an average of $438 13 in 1926 just prior to creation of the prison board.

Although the prison's principal work is farming many convicts are not physically capable of farm wurk, he added.

The governor said 45 per cent of all convicts received last year were suffering from venereal discases and the cost of treating these patients was increasing yearly although the money was "wisely spent." Yet typical of the many ways in which operating costs of the state prison system have been increased."

Two Federated Groups Have Program Hours

There were meetings of two federated study clubs Tuesday afternoon.

Twenty-five members of the 1933 Study club met in the home of Mrs. Alex McDonald, 222' Eighteenth street, for a Christmas program and tea hour.

Mrs. R. I. Tubbs was leader for the program which included reading of original Christmas poems by Mrs. E. L. Robertson; telling of a Christmas story by Mrs. M. L. Shepherd, a guest; Christmas piano selections played by Mrs. T. E. Hendrick, and singing of carols. Mrs. G. H. Ater presided for business.

In Whitacre Home

The Shakespeare club met in the home of Mrs. Charles Whitacre, 1905 Twenty-ninth street, with 15 members and a guest, Mrs. J. D. Sanders present.

Mrs. J. D. Jones was chairman for a program on the fifth act of Hamlet. Roll call was answered with lines from the act, and the program included a discussion of Ophelia by Mrs. R. T. Campbell; a discussion of Horatio by the leader, and a round-table discussion of the entire act.

Mrs. Sanders, who recently attended a meeting of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs in Austin, discussed the meeting. The hostess served refreshments.

Wester-Custer Wedding Is Read In Socorro

The marriage of Fred C. Wester, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Wester of Lubbock, and Miss Marguerite Custer daughter of Mr and Mrs. Carl B. Custer, pioneer citizens of Mountainair, N. M., is being announced in Mountainair. The marriage was performed in Socorro, N. M., November 19, by Rev. Paul M. Joy, Presbyterian minister of Socorro.

After a honeymoon trip to the Thunderbird ranch in the Manzano mountains, New Mexico home of the bridegroom's parents, the couple will be at home January 1 in Mountainair where Mr. Wester is business manager of the Mountainair Independent, newspaper of which his father is owner and editor.

Mr. Wester is a graduate of Lubbock High school.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Wester, who live at 412 Avenue R, have just returned from Mountainair.

So And Such Club Party Given In Padgett Home

So and Such cluo members attended a Christmas gift party at the home of Mrs. H. A. Padgett, 2102 Twenty-eighth street, Tuesday afternoon. High scores in games were made by Mesdames C. H. Hamilton and R. V. Mullenix.

Special guests were Mesdames W. P. Andrews, Louis Pinkston and Eddie Lynch. Members were Mesdames Alton Abbott, W. G. Alderson, John L. Brown, Otis Felty, Herman Fink, Bob Gee, S. A. Hamilton, Thomas E. Pirtle, George M. Garrett and R. V. Mullenix.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Fink January 4.

Edward Williams Plans To Enter University

Edward Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Williams, 1905 Sixteenth street, is to leave Friday for Memphis, Tenn., where in January he will enroll in the medical school of the University of Tennessee. He did his pre-medical work at Texas Technological college.

Show Must Go On

Moore put an arm on the girl's shoulder and began to speak.

"Mary," he said, "I got an old story to tell you. I guess it's a lot older than show business. I guess it's a lot older than almost anything else."

Mary looked him in the eye and asked:

"My dad?"

"Yes," Moore said.

Then big-hearted Sophie Tucker opened her arms and Mary was crying, and the mascara and the make-up were making a wet, dark stain on the left shoulder of Sophie's old blue wrapper. Mary said something about not planning to go to Texas for the funeral because she had been there only a week or so ago when it looked as though her father couldn't live much longer.

We all left then and walked down the gray corridor to Moore's dressing room. Nobody said anything for a while. Moore looked at the wall and said:

"I guess the show's gotta go on."

Funeral Services Conducted Today For Star's Father

WEATHERFORD, Dec. 21 (U.P.)—Friends from several Texas towns gathered here today for the funeral of Preston Martin, 66, prominent attorney and father of Mary Martin, Broadway's newest star.

Martin died at his home here yesterday after a three-weeks' illness. Funeral services were to be held at 2 p. m. this afternoon at the First Methodist church, under direction of three Weatherford ministers.

The attorney also had been president o the school board for many years. Survivors include Mrs. Martin, two daughters, Mary and Mrs. Robert Andrews of Dallas; a sister, Mrs. Will Massie of Floydada, Tex.; and four brothers, Claude, of Floydada; Bernard, of Wichita Falls; Luther and E. H. Martin, both of Weatherford.

A nephew, Albert Martin of Lubbock, came here late Tuesday to attend the services. He is a brick salesman there.

Every Luncheon Club Over Territory Will Be Visited By C. Of C. Good Will Group

Plans to visit every luncheon club on the South Plains to tell members of plans for the Cotton bowl celebration in Dallas were completed this morning by the good neighbor committee of the chamber of commerce, according to Chas. Whitacre, chairman.

No time was lost in putting the plans into operation, and six of the clubs were visited today.

Six Clubs To Be Visited

Clubs visited today and chairmen of various of the Lubbock delegations were: Floydada Rotary club, Neil Wright; Brownfield Lions, H. J. Bingham; Crosbyton, Burton S. Burks; Lamesa Lions, J. Doyle Settle; Plainview Lions, J. F. Leach; and Clovis Kiwanians, Whitacre.

The remaining schedule, chairmen of which are to be named, is: Thursday—Littlefield, Slaton, Tahoka and Spur Rotary clubs; Friday—Brownfield, Lamesa, Ralls and Sudan Rotary; Plainview Kiwanis; Tuesday — Levelland, Plainview, Post and Seagraves Rotary; Floydada Lions.

Delegation To Accompany

Each chairman will be accompanied by a delegation.

Members of the good neighbor committee making the arrangements are Ed Allen, Charles A. Still, W. O. Daniels, A. C. Jackson and the chairman.

As will be explained by various speakers, the trips are not intended as part of a "high pressure" ticket sales campaign. Cooperation will be assured personally with those planning to attend the Cotton bowl game, in which the Tech Red Raiders will meet St. Mary's university Gaels of San Francisco, Whitacre said.

The chamber here has been informed, he added, that fans in some of the neighboring towns are planning to attend in sufficient numbers they may desire a car of their own to be attached to the one or more special trains which will be operated from Lubbock to the festival.

Others who went on today's trips were: Floydada, John B. Crisler; Brownfield, C. J. Bell; Crosbyton, Pat Bullock and Ralph Brock; Lamesa, Ward Gregg; Plainview, R. C. Reynolds; and Clovis, J. H. Brock and Allen.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Palmore, jr., are leaving Thursday for a holiday visit with relatives at Bonham. They will be accompanied as far as Gainesville by Miss Elizabeth Brooks who will spend the holidays with her parents.

Disappointed Lover Constructs Own Makeshift Electric Chair And Then Turns On Switch

CHICAGO, Dec. 21. (U.P.)—John Hersh, 39, a radio technician, was disappointed in love after an eight-year courtship. He constructed a makeshift electric chair, turned on the current and killed himself.

His former sweetheart, Mrs. Nell Lane, 35, a widow, accompanied by a friend, R. E. Smith, found Hersh's body in his workshop.

Streets Of Tulia Are To Be Graveled Under WPA Project

Tulia streets are to be graveled under a WPA-city sponsored program to cost $9,101, according to announcement from state WPA at San Antonio.

Federal funds amount to $6,459 and city funds $2,701. Total of 36 workers will be employed.

TO INVITE BANDS

AUSTIN, Dec. 21 (U.P.) — Between 30 and 50 college and high school bands will be invited to perform at the inauguration of W. Lee O'Daniel, governor-elect, members of the inaugural committee said today. The invitation list will be completed this week.

charges of suspicion of murder. The boy told detectives that his father had forced him to write to his sister saying their mother had gone to South America with another man. He wrote another note, he said, to which was forged his mother's signature.

Sister Had Them Arrested

The sister to whom the notes were addressed, Mrs. Helen Anguilli, 25, didn't believe what they said and had her father and brother arrested.

The elder Spinelli was arrested Monday night at the home of a neighbor. He said he was afraid to sleep in his own house. Police said he confessed having been intimate with his daughters, Emma, 16, and Theresa, 22, who is married and lives in San Francisco.

William jr., who is 19, said his father who can neither read nor write, had forced him to write the letter to his sister. Knowing that his sister was familiar with his handwriting, he had the filling station attendant copy the lettter, he said.

Spinelli sr., said that before his wife left she pushed him down a flight of stairs. He cut his head and it was his blood the police found, he said.

Carbon Said To Be Source Of Sun's Heat In New Discovery

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

ITHICA, N. Y., Dec. 21.—Discovery that carbon, the stuff that makes coal, is the source of the heat of the sun has been announced at Cornell university.

On earth man burns only the outside of the carbon atom. In the sun, this atom's nucleus "burns." The nucleus gives many million times more heat than the "outside."

One Of Great Puzzles

How the sun can give so much heat without burning up has been one of the great puzzles of science. Scientists find that its size and heat are not even diminishing over millions of years.

The new solution was given by Professor H. A. Bethe, of the Cornell physics department. He described it while discussing the report which last week brought him the Morrison prize of $500 for the best paper on solar and stellar energy.

"To supply the heat radiated by the sun in a single second," he said, "ten million billion tons of coal would have to be burned.

Recent Discoveries Described

Dr. Bethe described the recent discoveries in disintegration of atomic nuclei by the impacts of other nuclei. The popular name for this is atom smashing. The disintegrated atoms recombine, and in doing so release enormous amounts of heat or other forms of energy.

Dr. Bethe said it has been generally assumed that such disintegrations supply the heat of the sun. But nobody knew which kind of nuclei was the fuel.

Much Heat Developed

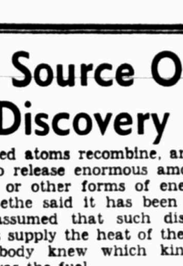

"When a carbon nucleus," Dr. Bethe explained, "is disintegrated by the impact of a fact hydrogen nucleus, almost ten million times as much heat is developed as in ordinary combustion of a carbon atom in a stove. Only, it takes much higher temperatures to set nuclei 'afire' than ordinary atoms."

Professor Bethe said he has shown that the nuclear reactions between carbon, hydrogen and nitrogen give exactly the right amount of heat to the sun every second, while any other nuclear action would give either thousands of times too much or too little radiation.

He said it is the hydrogen that actually burns. What happens is that the carbon serves to bring together hydrogben and nitrogen in a series of nuclear transformations. These ultimately proceed to the point where the carbon is regenerated. In this way much heat is given off with little apparent loss of matter.

Method For Measuring Varying Diameters Of Textile Yarns Being Studied At Tech

As indication of the versatility of study in the textile engineering field at Texas Technological college, there is in process of invention a method for measuring varying diameters of textile yarns by use of the photo-electric cell, or electric eye as it is commonly called.

Dr. C. C. Schmidt, of the department of physics, has been studying the subject several years. He is working on a complicated device which he describes as not yet completed but making progress in the right direction.

Device "Showing Promise"

M. E. Heard, head professor of textile engineering, described the device as "showing promise." It particularly would be of value at present, when the development of synthetic fibers is offering a challenge for improvement in uses of cotton in the textile industry, he said.

The invention would make possible greater smoothness and uniformity in yarns. The yarns could be examined for imperfections at various stages before reaching the loom.

Makes Visual Record

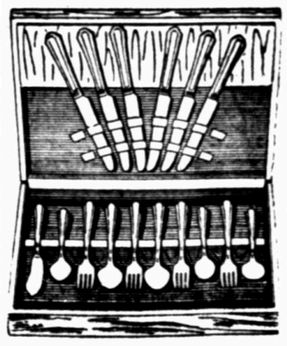

The apparatus in process of development operates on the same principle as that of talking motion pictures. Instead of an audible record, Dr. Schmidt's machine records a visual record on sensitized photographic paper. Testing of the yarn originates when a narrow beam of light passes across the thread and the shadow falls on a photo-electric cell. Variations on a strand of yarn being minuately discernable, it is necessary to amplify the deviations in the thread. The width of the shadow as recorded by the electric eye is amplified by means of a galvanometer, a measuring device for electric current. The ray of light is transmitted from the galvanometer by reflection on a morror to a piece of sensitized paper mounted on a cylinder. The variations in the yarn thus are recorded to a degree making study possible.

Santa Fe Directors Approve New Budget

Directors of the Santa Fe system Tuesday approved a budget of $18,000,000 for capital outlay improvements for 1939, President Samuel T. Bledsoe announced. This includes a carry-over of approximately $12,500,000 from the 1938 budget for items on which no work has been done or where begun and which will not be completed by the end of this year.

"The carryover from the 1938 to the 1939 budget is substantially less than the carryover from the 1937 to the 1938 budget," he said. "Approximately $3,500,000 is for improvement of cars and locomotives on Santa Fe shops and is a class of work regularly carried on each year. Approximately 50 per cent of the budget expenditures are for capital purchases; 45 per cent chargeable to operation and five per cent represents salvage.

"The Santa Fe directors also authorized the purchase of 30 new Diesel electric switching locomotives some of 600 h. p. and some of 900 h. p. It is estimated that these will probably cost upwards of $2,500,000. The purchase of additional equipment will be considered later."

'Last Frontier' Is In Texas

(By The United Press)

AUSTIN, Dec. 21 — Texas is part of the sportsman's "last frontier," the state game, fish and oyster department says, in its annual report off the press today.

For every game conservation step taken today, it announces, two will be needed tomorrow if its wild life is to keep pace with the increasing number of hunters and fishermen.

Hunting Conditions "Excellent"

Hunting conditions this year were "excellent," the department reported with a plentiful supply of doves, quail, deer and wild turkey. Hunters' difficulty in flushing quail is due more to the dry weather than lack of birds, department officials explain.

Reports on the year's takes are not yet available. They will not be accurate when completed. The only reliable information is in a schedule of shooting preserve operations. About half of the preserves make reports of the number of hunters and their total takes of game.

The demand at this time for Texas oysters exceeds the supply, W. W. Boyd, director of the coastal division reported.

Stream pollution is the department's most pressing problem. Additional men to patrol streams are asked.

Col. Andrew Jackson Houston Is Promoted By Gov. Allred

AUSTIN, Dec. 21. (AP)—Governor James V. Allred has announced promotion of Col. Andrew Jackson Houston, retired, son of Gen. Sam Houston, to the honorary rank of brigadier general in the Texas National guard.

The honor was in recognition of his long record of service in the national guard. Houston is a resident of the city named after his father.

Orphan Children To Be Treated To Dinner Christmas Day By Lubbock Cafe Operator

Children of Milam Orphans' home of Lubbock are beneficiaries of a 43-year-old custom.

Spero Coteones, proprietor of the Busy Bee cafe, will serve Christmas dinner to the orphans and other needy children in keeping with a tradition started by his father in 1893.

The amiable cafe man of 1808 Avenue H asked Mrs. W. T. Milam, sponsor of the Milam Orphans home, to bring members of her institution and other children of her selection to his restaurant for the occasion.

Plans Big Dinner

The dinner will be served in the ballroom. Turkey soup, salad, white meat of turkey, hot rolls, a variety of vegetables, and dessert will be served.

James Coteones, father of Spero, started the custom. The elder Coteones came to America from Greece in 1892, at the age of 14. The first Christmas he spent in this country, an American family invited him to dinner.

The hospitality of the American family impressed him in such a way that he felt indebted to them for making his first Christmas in America pleasant, his son said.

Son Follows Custom

The next Christmas, he invited orphans to take dinner at his cafe, which he established that year. He continued it every year until he went back to Greece in 1931. Before going back, he told his son to keep the custom.

Spero Coteones was formerly general manager of a chain of 31 cafes in Chicago owned by his father and an uncle. Every Christmas they served Christmas dinner to 100 to 150 children.

Coteones has been in Lubbock about a year. When he came here, he began looking for children to invite to Christmas dinner. Through friends he learned of the Milam Orphans' home, and invited the children there and other needy children that could be found.

At least 14 children are expected to dinner this year, Coteones said.

They Can If They Will!

By Collier Parris

THE WESTERNERS may be biting off more than they can masticate in taking on this Corpus Christi outfit for a post season game.

The more we read and hear of the big Buccaneers, the more inclined we are to rate the Westerners as underdogs.

In fact, we hereby go on record as rating the Westerners non-favorites in the schoolboy finale next Monday at Dallas.

● ● ●

There is nothing original in the above rating. More than a few writers and observers, and countless hundreds of fans, see the Buccaneers as the toughest, best balanced and all-round favored team. Harold Ratliff, who does high school pieces for the Associated Press and who saw the Westerners defeat the Masons last Friday, figures Corpus Christi is the favorite. And so does William King, Fort Worth Star Telegram scrivener. The idea is repeated by several East and South Texas writers.

● ● ●

So the Westerners are the underdogs. So what?

Unless something extremely unusual is going on in Deep South Texas this year, it will be a queer deal if the Corpus Christi team beats the Lubbock team.

They tell us that Corpus has an extremely unusual team—a large, fast, although youngish team that has decisively smashed all its opposition this season without trying very hard. The Bucs played Temple to a scoreless tie early in the season, and they beat Corsicana by a lone touchdown, although scoring 26 points. Otherwise, they have tallied a total of 420 points to lead Class A team scoring.

● ● ●

Corpus Christi, defensively, has allowed the opposition but one touchdown since starting the state play-off. The Westerners have given up 19 points since winning their district title.

The Buccaneers have always been a power in Class A football. A member of the Interscholastic league since its beginning in 1920, Corpus has won a dozen district pennants, appeared in 10 quarter-final, five semi-final and one final game.

● ● ●

It is generally conceded that Corpus Christi carries the football torch for its section of the state. But it is a weak section. Only six times has a team east and south of Waco gained the final bracket, and only three of these have won the state title—Bryan in 1921, Tyler in 1930 and Longview last year. Corpus Christi went to the finals in 1934 lost to Amarillo 0-48, in the most lop-sided game in the history of the league.

● ● ●

The Westerners have more than Lubbock High to represent next Monday; it's their job to uphold the prestige of West Texas, which has sent eleven teams to the finals.

● ● ●

The Westerners can, and will, defeat Corpus Christi next Monday if they will give their attitudes a slight face lifting, forget all that has gone on before, think of nothing but the ball game in question, realize they're up against their toughest competition of the season, and play a one-for-all, all-for-one ball game. Every player is just as important as the man next to, in front or behind him, and unless they all bear down they won't be bringing any blue ribbons back to Lubbock.

● ● ●

William King of the Star Telegram writes as follows:

"Lubbock's powerful Westerners will have their wild Walter Webster to pit against Corpus Christi's Emory Nix . . .

"But since Coach Weldon Chapman does not have a great end like the Buccaneers' Pat Hall, the writer thinks Coach Harry Stiteler's deceptive gang will take the title back to the Gulf Coast with them after a close battle, which will see both teams scoring at least one touchdown.

"This Hall, who plays end and does all the punting for Corpus Christi, is amazingly agile when you take into consideration that he's only 16, weighs right at 200, towers well over six feet and is playing his first year of high school football. The Lubbock backs are going to see and feel plenty of him when they start running or passing . . . And if he gets a good breeze to his back, he may embarrass the Westerner safety man with a high, spiralling kick that'll travel more than half the distance of the field.

"The Bucs resemble Masonic Home's mighty little men in one way—they never get rattled or confused."

● ● ●

So the Bucs are still favored, huh!

We'd like to have this parting shot: If the Westerners play 60 minutes of the kind of football they're capable of playing, no team in the state can hold them under three touchdowns—and that ought to be enough to win the final game.

● ● ●

SHORT, SHORT STORIES: Bowlers and bowling fans are in for a treat next Thursday night, Dec. 29, when Gene Gagliardi, world's famous champion for two years hand runnings, performs on the maple boards at Jake Hancock's Lubbock Bowling club . . . Baseball lost an important figure in the death of Art Griggs; he developed many a young ball player and sent 'em up . . . Texas Tech gridders go on a national hookup Friday evening, but as musicians . . . Hi-Pockets Overton and his string swingsters, consisting of Lloyd Taliaferro, Phil Harmon, Elmer Tarbox and Charley Calhoun, will cut loose over Station WFAA . . .

Typical of Wallace Wade and Duke football, both extremely colorless, is the request that Lubbock go to no pains to celebrate the arrival of nor plan entertainment for the Blue Devils and their special train party when they come here tomorrow afternoon . . . Lubbock likes to meet and greet its visitors, shove out the old West Texas hospitality, and do everything possible for the comfort and entertainment of passers through, especially if they're a famous football party . . . But those in charge of the Duke trip wish none of that . . . The Blue Devils, Rose Bowl bound to play Southern Cal, are to spend about three hours here, at least two of them on the Tech practice field, but their coach has made it plain he wishes no hullaballoo . . . Wonder if he'd mind a few of us catching a glimpse of the great undefeated, untied, unscored on team from high up in the stadium?

We're grateful to Tommy Templeton, the Amarillo marksman-sportsman, and to Weston Alfred Parris for a couple of fine messes of West Texas partridge . . . Coach Slip Madigan, who got the name because that's what he did when he tried to learn ice skating, says he's "happy" because Mike Pecarovich of Ganzaga picks Tech to whip the Gaels in the Cotton Bowl . . . Pecarovich was quoted in the public prints: "Those Texas Tech boys are just as big, just as good, and they've more at stake, and are playing in their home climate." . . . Madigan said "swell" again when informed that a national poll of sports writers also favored Tech. "St. Mary's was a 2 to 1 shortender against Santa Clara, Fordham and California," said Slip. "All we did was play our three best games of the year . . ."

Sewalt Could Even Things Up If He Starts

(By The Associated Press)

If Corpus Christi and Lubbock start the teams that opened last week's games the Buccaneers will show a margin of over six pounds to the man in the state schoolboy football final battle here Monday.

Official weights received today give the Corpus Christi average as a little more than 168 pounds to the man. Lubbock comes in with 162.

BUCS LEAVE TODAY

CORPUS CHRISTI, Dec. 21 (AP) — The Buccaneers, Corpus Christi high school's entry in the state high school football championship game against Lubbock scheduled for Dec. 26, leave today for the Cotton bowl at Dallas.

The Corpus Christi team was scheduled to stop in Austin for a workout this afternoon, Coach Harry Stiteler said. The team travels by bus.

Stiteler said his team would work out in Dallas daily beginning Thursday. They will not even rest on Christmas day, according to the training schedule.

Sewalt Would Balance It

However, Lubbock, by using the giant Avon Sewalt at tackle—and he's seeing plenty of service for the Westerners—can come within ounces of equalling the Buccaneers in avoirdupois, probably the closest match in weight between two teams ever to clash in the finals.

Corpus Christi's probable starting line averages 171 pounds. Lubbock's line, without Sewalt, shows 162 1-2. The backfields are almost identical in weight—Corpus Christi's averaging 163 1-4 pounds and Lubbock's 163 1-2.

Line Averages Higher

Two 190-pounders and one 184-pound youngster bring the Corpus Christi line average up. But then, of course, there's Sewalt, the 230-pound tackle who can make himself felt in Lubbock's line—or anybody's line.

The probable Corpus Christi starting line-up with the weights follows: ends—Pat Hall, 192, and J. B. Hendricks, 152; tackles—John Vrazel, 190, and Zuehl Conoly, 184; guards—Jack Salyers, 161, and Charles Fowler, 160; center—Jack Hinnant, 159; backs—Bill Dolan, 168; Emory Nix, 175; Jesus Graza, 154, and Ken Matthews, 156.

Porkers As Tough As Usual This Season In Cage Contests

NORMAN, Okla., Dec. 21. (AP)—Any doubts that Arkansas wouldn't be as tough as usual in the Southwest conference basketball race have been dispelled by the Razorbacks who now have six straight victories in the bag.

Despite the loss of valuable key men from last season's team the Razorbacks are bowling them all over in their non-conference play, taking out Oklahoma 39-31 here last night with Sophomore John Adams counting 18 points.

The teams meet again tonight.

BEARS WIN TWO

WACO, Dec. 21. (AP)—The Southwest Teachers of Weatherford, Okla., had returned home today wincing from a couple of one-sided beatings administered by the Baylor cagers.

Monday night the Bears beat the Oklahomans 60-39 and last night swept the series with a 53-26 decision in which Grady Vaughn flipped in 15 points.

FROGS LOSE TO TEACHERS

FORT WORTH, Dec. 21 (AP) — A last-half rally fell short as the Texas Christian Horned Frogs lost to East Texas Teachers 39-30 here last night.

JAYHAWKERS SWEEP SERIES

DALLAS, Dec. 21 (AP)—The University of Kansas swept a two-game intersectional series with the Southern Methodist university basketeers last night, taking the finale 52-45. Kansas won Monday night 46-40.

APOSTOLI STOPS COCOZZA

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 21 (U.P.)—Freddie Apostoli of San Francisco, recognized as middleweight champion by the New York and California Boxing commissions, today held a victory over Al Cocozza, of New York. Apostoli, 161 1-2, stopped the New Yorker, who weighed 165, after 35 seconds of fighting in the fourth round of a scheduled 10-rounder last night.

Hunt Unable To Understand A Report On His Coaching Post

ATLANTA, Dec. 21 (AP) — Joel Hunt said today in Baton Rouge, where he is spending the holidays, that he was unable to understand a report published in the Atlanta Journal saying he would be replaced as head football coach at the University of Georgia.

"I simply cannot understand it," Hunt said. "My three-year contract still has two years to run. I haven't resigned and I don't intend to resign."

Dr. W. O. Payne, Georgia athletic director, said at Athens, Ga., that he and President Harmon W. Caldwell of the institution were in agreement that there would be no announcement regarding the tenure of Hunt "or any other coach" until the athletic board meets January 10.

Whizzer White Best Pro Ground Gainer

BY HENRY SUPER
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Dec. 21. — Byron White, former All-American quarterback from Colorado, was the best ground gainer in the national professional football league this season, final statistics revealed today.

White, who played for the Pittsburgh Pirates, last in the eastern division, was the only first-year man to lead in individual department. And he possibly will never top the department again because he says he is through with professional football and is going to take advantage of his Rhodes scholarship at Oxford.

Gained 567 Yards

White gained a total of 567 yards in 152 attempts to beat out "Tuffy" Leemans of the champion New York Giants. Leemans made 463 yards in 121 tries.

Ed Danowski of the Giants emerged as the forward-passing champion. He established a new league record for passing efficiently by completing 70 tosses out of 129 for a percentage of 54.2. His gain through the air was 848 yards.

Recaptures Old Title

Danowski, who recaptured the title he held in '35, also set a new league record for efficiency over a five-year span when he raised his life-time mark from 48.3 to 49.8 with a record of 255 completions in 512 attempts. Sammy Baugh of the Washington Redskins, leader in 1937, dropped to second with 63 completions, the same number made by Ace Parker of the Brooklyn Dodgers. Baugh's efficiency was 49.2 per cent, while Parker's was 42.5. Parker made the most yards on passes—865.

A third passing record was set when Dougal Russell of the Chicago Cardinals passed to his mate, Gaynell Tinsley, for a 98-yard gain and a touchdown. The old mark was made last year on a Pat Coffee to Tinsley pass for a 95-yard gain.

Quick Kick And Fleet Safety Men Of Trojans May Match Punts Of Duke's Tipton

BY ROBERT MYERS

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 21—The brilliant punting of Eric (The Red) Tipton of Duke will be met—and the Trojans hope offset—by the quick-kicking strategy of Southern California when the two elevens clash in Pasadena's Rose bowl.

Tipton's kicking fame is well known to the Men of Troy, but maybe the staunch Dukes of North Carolina will find it matched by those bounding boots sent downfield by the Trojan quarterbacks when the downs and formations apparently call for an orthodox running play off tackle.

Notre Dame learned of one of Coach Howard Jones' favorite maneuvers last December 3. Time and again Mickey Anderson or Oliver Day set the Irish deep in their own backyard by these lightning-like thrusts, which ranged from 38 to nearly 60 yards.

Ohio State and some other Trojan foes found out about these quick kicks, but in the battle with Notre Dame they were the most outstanding.

Duke, with Tipton doing almost all the kicking, has an enviable season's average of 40.3 yards, but it doesn't begin to tell of the 60, 70 and more yards on individual punts by the Duke star, nor of how the powerful Tipton foot helped topple mighty Pitt.

In another answer to the Duke punting, however, Southern California has several better than ordinary safety men. Grenville Lansdell, first string quarterback, who isn't a great punter compared to his understudies, Anderson and Day, rates as one of the most spectacular broken field runners in the Pacific coast conference. He took an Ohio State punt and ran it back 83 yards for a touchdown, and traveled 71 over a mushy, treacherous turf at Seattle to score Troy's lone touchdown against Washington.

Southern California's season's punting average is 36.3 yards. But Lansdell and company have run back punts 650 yards while Duke's total is 390 yards.

The quick kick and fleet safety men may match the punts of Eric The Red.

Add victory lists: the Hull-Daisetta Bobcats of Angleton, Texas, who have won 35 straight football games since the 1935 season, averaged 20 points a game and held the opposition to three points. . . .

Very, very strange that "case of the silk panties" at Duke . . . The Blue Devils are being whipped to a frenzy by needling from the coast which places them in the same class as Wellesley, the girl's school, as far as Rose Bowl opposition for Southern California goes . . . Just when the boys were beginning to take things a little calmly, in come two pair of gals' pants for Co-Captains Eric Tipton and Dan Hill . . . The Dukes report the post mark couldn't be read . . . MEXICAN FIGHTER WINS

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 21. (AP)—Bobby Pacho, 150 1-2 pounds, Los Angeles Mexican, stopped Charley Baxter, 141 1-2, Columbus, O., in the second round of a scheduled 10-round fight here last night.

Westerners To Leave Here Tomorrow

From the extreme ends of the state representative schoolboy elevens begin the trek to Dallas early tomorrow morning for the battle of their lives—a fight for the state championship of Texas.

Lubbock's mighty Westerners, acclaimed as one of the greatest teams in Interscholastic league history, will leave early tomorrow for Cisco. Coach Weldon Chapman plans a stiff workout for his charges there. Last home workout will be conducted this afternoon with a scrimmage scheduled.

Coach Harry Stiteler led his Buccaneers into Austin today and will continue the trip to Dallas tomorrow.

Webster Main Threat

Chief worry of the coast champions is Capt. Walter "Jumbo" Webster and finding a way to stop his dangerous running. The Bucs stopped Temple's Tom Pickett last week but there is not much comparison between the Wildcat flash and the "Wild Westerner". Too, Corpus had met Temple in an early season game and knew the type of player they had to stop.

Not only is Webster heavier but he is much faster and is better on the defense. And not only Webster but Leete Jackson, "Rusty" Johnson and Harold Parsons are coming in for a lot attention by the swashbuckling Buccaneers.

In weight comparisons of the forward wall positions Coach Stiteler's lads do not have much to worry about. Unless Coach Chapman uses Avon Sewalt, his massive tackle, the Westerners will be outweighed. Backfield weights are about even.

Dolan Paces Attack

Captain and leader of the Buc attack is William Dolan, fullback. He is ably assisted by Kenneth Matheus, great running right half, and Emory Nix, quarterback who covered himself with glory last week against Temple. Tearing holes in any opposition to this threesome is one Jesus Garza, blocking back, and no mean ball toter himself.

Standout of the Buc line is big Pat Hall, 202 pound right end. The giant terminal is playing his first year with the southern half champions and bids fair to run somebody a close race for all-state honors.

So the record throng that is expected for the title tilt Monday will probably see two of the most evenly matched elevens that ever went into the finals. In experience, in weight, in season's records, in method of attack and in team work these two squads are similar. Only the presence of Capt. "Jumbo" Webster causes the slightest edge to be given the Westerners. He may have an opportunity to climax one of the most amazing individual records of any high school star by being the deciding factor in Monday's game.

Again, he may be smothered by the savage Buccaneer defense. But should that happen it would be for the first time this season, and records show that stronger elevens than the Bucs have failed to stop the Westerners' blasting powerhouse.

Indian Coach Studies His Problem; He's Out Of A Job But Has Plenty Of Players

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21. (AP)—Gus Welch—the old Carlisle Indian who stepped out as coach at American university today—found himself with a flock of football players but no school at which to play them.

"Ever since the country found out that I had only 13 players at American university," said Welch, "I've been getting applications from sympathetic American boys who want to help me."

Gus whipped some letters from his pocket.

"Here's one," he said, "from three football players in a southern high school. They're the whole side of a line. They offer to play for me next year."

He dug deeper and brought out another letter.

"This is from a 260-pound Texas guard," he said. "He says to give him a scholarship and my line troubles are over. No team gained a foot through him all fall."

Gus then produced his ace offer.

"This one," he said, "is from a whole team. Eleven players and two subs. They all want to come and play for me."

With his pockets stuffed with the letters Gus said goodbye, and instead of doing what lots of coaches are doing right now—looking for players—went out to look for a job.

As One Of California's Famous 'Mists' Pelts Down Outside, McLemore Discovers Bing Crosby Doing Right Well In Racing

BY HENRY McLEMORE
United Press Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Dec. 21—One of California's celebrated "mists" pelted down in torrents on the clubhouse roof.

Outside, the fairways and greens ran rivers, and the caddies huddled beneath their shelter like wet birds.

Inside the members of our foursome pulled up chairs and began to lie about the scores we would have had if it hadn't started "misting."

The locker room boy turned on the electric phonograph and Bing Crosby's sweet and throaty voice filled the room.

"Shut off that crooner!," the man next to me said. "I'm so tired of hearing that guy sing I could yell."

"Okay, Mister Crosby," the locker room boy said. "I'll shut it off if you say so. But I thinks you sing mighty pretty."

The music stopped, and Bing settled back with a sigh.

"Now we can talk in peace," he said.

Got Three Stables Now

With the opening of Santa Anita little more than a week off the talk drifted from golf to horse racing, and Crosby, as a man whose silks will show there, was asked about his stable.

"Which stable?," he asked. "I've three now."

Bing said this more in a spirit of resignation than of boasting.

"One stable is the Binglin," he said. "That's the one I own with Charley Howard's son, Lin, and which sounds like the name of a Chinese laundry.

Only One In Stable

"Then there's the Boblee stable, which my wife owns with another Howard boy, Bob. They haven't even got a horse apiece. There is only one horse in the stable.

"Then there is the Crosby stable. That's the one with the blue and gold silks. I got thoes colors from the theme song I used to sing."

Here Bing settled back and sang a few bars of "When the Blue of the Night Meets the Gold of the Day——".

Weismueller Interrupts

Johnny Weismueller, who was to have been my partner at golf, interrupted with:

"Shut off that crooner! I'm so tired of hearing that guy sing I could yell."

"Nuts to you, Tarzan," Bing said. "Go climb a tree."

As a matter of fact, Crosby has no reason to speak with a resigned voice when he talks of his stables. His horses have shown a profit for each of the four years he has been in the game, and if Seabiscuit decides to do his winter running in Florida, the Binglin's stable's South American horse, Ligaroti, will be the favorite in the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap in March. Ligarotf is the horse that won $30,000 last year and was nosed out by the Biscuit in the sensational match race at Bing's Del Mar track.

Top South American

Crosby owes his racing luck to South America. With Lin Howard, who learned the country in his search for polo ponies, he was the first to tap the great horse breeding sector. Tremendously wealthy, the Argentine sportsmen buy the best of the English dams and stallions. Two things make their farms a sweet source for American buyers. In the first place, the rate of exchange is 1 to 4, which means that an American quarter is worth four times its weight in the Argentine. In the second place, there are but two days of racing a week around Buenos Aires, and the Argentine owners soon become surfeited with good horses. The first South American horse to come to this country was brought by Bing and Howard. His name was Sabueso, and he won five of his first seven races, and still holds the mile record at Tanforan. Crosby just received a

New Insurance Plan Offered

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Dec. 21 — A workmen's compensation insurance rating plan, which Casualty Insurance Commissioner R. G. Waters said offered an employer greater inducement for accident prevention, has been announced by the state board of insurance commissioners.

"The essential feature of the plan," Waters said "is a form of reduction in premium cost which becomes available immediately rather than after several years. A $5,000 premium risk can save $1,250, or 25 per cent of its premium, depending upon its losses, while a $75,000 risk can save $37,500 or half its premium, which is the maximum possible saving.

"Likewise, the $5,000 risk with an adverse loss record is subject to a maximum cost of $8,750, or a 75 per cent additional premium, which is graduated downward until the maximum cost for a risk of $150,000 premium is $187,500 or 25 per cent additional premium."

Waters said the plan was optional with employers and was available in 28 states where it has been in use several years.

Women To Wrestle Again This Evening At Auditorium

Ringsiders at tonight's wrestling show may find women, men and perhaps the referee sailing over their heads before the final bell sounds on the main event.

First, Clara Mortensen, women's wrestling champion of the world, is scheduled to pull hair with Margie Steele. And when it comes to tossing the opponents out of the ring the women torso twisters are about as efficient as are the men.

Anyway the two are scheduled to provide a sequel to last week's feminine tussle in a special event to last for two falls or two hours time limit.

In the main event which follows Leo Mortensen of New York and Joe Banaski of the "alligator clutch" Banaski wil attempt to pin each other or win by some method. And if Banaski continues his recently adapted style of fighting there is going to be some rough goings on before Referee Clements raises an arm in victory.

Even the curtain raiser is expected to provide its share of the thrills, Frankie Hill of Kansas City invades the circuit for the first time to do battle with Bill Cazzell.

Golden Glovers Are Issued Challenge By Abilene Fighters

A challenge to Lubbock Golden Glove boxers to meet a team in Abilene the night of January 23 as a preview to the Abilene Reporter-New District Golden Gloves tournament has been received by local G-G officials.

Plans to take a squad to the matches are underway and Babe Ritchie, former Golden Gloves heavyweight champion of Lubbock, now a professional fighter, who is training local Golden Glovers in preparation for the City and District tournaments here, said he had hopes of getting a team ready in time to accept the invitation.

Boys making the Abilene trip will have traveling expenses paid, it was announced.

Several Working Now

Between ten and fifteen boys are working out each afternoon at the Westerner clubhouse gymnasium under the direction of Ritchie. He extended an invitation to all Golden Glove aspirants to take advantage of the free training offered between now and Feb. 6 and 7, dates of the District tournament at the auditorium.

All local and Lubbock county boxers are eligible to compete in the City tournament which is scheduled for Jan. 9 and 16. It is for this meet that Golden Glove hopefuls are urged to prepare so that they may have a better chance in the district.

Those planning to enter the District or City tournaments are urged to fill out the entry blank on this page and mail or bring it immediately to the Golden Gloves editor, Avalanche-Journal. Several entries already have been received.

new shipment of South American runners, and Charley Howard just got Sorteado, the champion 3-year-old of the Argentine. Sorteado won all the Argentine stakes, yet cost only $35,000.

The rain stopped, the locker room emptied in a rush for the first and tenth tees.

Our foursome was the last to leave, and as we quitted the doorway we heard Crosby's voice floating out from the Victrola.

Grantland Rice spoke up.

Joe Hext Of Eldorado Named Captain Of Howard Payne

BROWNWOOD, Dec. 21. (UP) — Teammates last night elected Joe Hext, junior backfield star from Eldorado, as captain of the 1939 Howard Payne college football team.

Bob Dendy, tackle from Wink, and Syd Russell, guard from Stamford, were named as co-captains. The three men were chosen by lettermen from this year's Texas conference championship team.

Lithograph Sketchings Of Old Broadway Hotel Are Made By Texas Tech Student

Gerald Lake of Temple has retained by lithograph sketchings the antique appearance of the old Broadway hotel, an old landmark which has figured prominently in the history of Lubbock.

Lake, a junior in Texas Technological college, enrolled three years ago to study architecture. He had been interested in drawing long before coming to Texas Tech, but did not have the opportunity to study it.

Had Talent For Work

In Tech he began the study of the fundamentals of architecture. His associates say that he showed talent from the start. In connection with architectural drawings he tried sketching.

Lake made three sketches of the hotel known as the Nicolet in early Lubbock before making the lithograph plate. He printed 40 copies of the sketching, and has sold most of them to old-timers of Lubbock.

Lithograph is a process well known but not used much in this section. Classes in Texas Tech have been experimenting with it the last two months.

Encouraged By Lockard

Lake contributes much of his progress in sketching to R. I. Lockard, professor of architecture and allied arts, who has encouraged him in his work.

Lake began his career as a carpenter after leaving high school when he was employed as a carpenter's helper in Albuquerque, N. M. He became a full-fledged carpenter after one year as an apprentice. He became interested in architecture while studying blueprints of various structures on which he worked.

Quit Trade To Study

After two years as a carpenter, studying blueprints all the while, he quit his trade to study the profession that fascinated him most.

He was probably unconsciously interested in art during his boyhood. A Mexican boy once showed him a picture from the back of a tablet of a country lane winding through a valley past a farm house. The scene stimulated a desire for possession which was promptly satisfied by the exchange of a good pocket knife for the picture.

Lake is interested in all athletics, especially swimming and tennis, but has cast them aside in favor of art.

He is employed by the college at the men's dormitory.

Stronger Driver's License Law Seen

AUSTIN, Dec. 21 (AP)—The public safety department today received information that Senator-Elect Rogers Kelley of Edinburg would introduce a bill in the legislature convening in January intended to strengthen the drivers' license law.

"A strong drivers' license law is one of our staunchest bulwarks against the scourge of drunken and reckless drivers," Kelley informed the state police.

Kelley said the bill was modeled after laws in effect in 25 states.

SUSPENSIONS POSTED

NEW YORK, Dec. 21 (AP) — The New York tate Athletic commission has suspended Matt Raymond, Philadelphia boxer, Tommy Loughran, his manager and former light heavyweight champion, and Joe Smith, a second, for 60 days for attempting to falsify Raymond's weight in a preliminary bout at Madison Square garden last Friday night.

* * *

One would instinctively know that the Japanese invented the kimono. It's sleeves are styled so conveniently for laughing up!

* * *

THIS being the "streamlined age" of "intellectual enlightenment," and all that sort of thing, thousands of American homes this season have deserted the oldfashioned Christmas and shunted aside the spirit which so long has gone with it.

Therefore, to those moderns—and especially those of the self-appointed intelligentsia—we offer this salute in the vein they hold most dear (and of course with full apologies to Clement Clarke Moore, originator of the famous poem, "A Visit From St. Nicholas.):

'Twas the night before Christmas
And all through the house,
Not a creature was stirring—
Not even a louse.
The stockings weren't hung
Because Ma'd been too busy;
The round of Yule parties
Had made her quite dizzy.

And Pop wasn't home—he'd
Gone to a stag dinner
And hoped in the "after game"
To be the winner.
And as for the kids—
They don't fall for that bunk!
They've never been taught
About Santa—such junk!

The psychiatrists say
That such tales are bad for 'em
So they've been brought up
To despise and abhor 'em.
S. Claus isn't needed in
This modern day
So he's got him a job
With the WPA!

And now, just to show you that The Plainsman's heart is in the right place, for those other thousands who still believe in Merry Christmas and who have not found it either necessary or "smart" to turn their backs on the old ways of celebrating it, we promise, on tomorrow, to reproduce here the old standby, "A Visit From St. Nicholas," in its entirety.

Thus South Plains mothers who wish to read it to their children—as many do each Yuletide—will have the verse handy for such noble and practical use.

Merry Christmas—and a good, old-fashioned one!

* * *

THERE is a report going the rounds in Austin that a member of the legislature will offer, in the forthcoming session, a bill making it unlawful for the holder of a principal state office to run for a higher office while holding the less important one.

The bill will set forth that two years must elapse before a major office-holder may legally seek promotion at the hands of the voters.

* * *

Of course, there's no use getting worked up over the possibilities of such a bill becoming a law.

But there's no reason why it should not here and now be branded as impracticable and silly.

The voters of Texas do not need such a law to guide them in the selection of their chief officials and they will not be backward about saying so, should such a law be considered.

* * *

BACKERS of the idea are, of course, shooting at the frequent procedure of the attorney-general completing two terms—or sometimes just one—and then offering himself for governor.

They think that's all wrong; that an attorney-general has too much advantage over most other aspirants; and that he shirks his work in the state's legal office in order to further his personal political ambitions.

* * *

Perhaps the charges are frequently true.

Yet, on the other hand, the people of Texas—and not any legislature—have the right to elect and choose their governors and must and should keep that right.

They don't always elevate the attorney-general to the governorship, as last summer's election results plainly show. But undoubtedly they wish to have the right to do so, if they so desire.

* * *

ALTHOUGH it is mighty early to be talking about another campaign for governor, already there is some jockeying going on in that regard.

Unless all signs fail, two youngsters named "Jerry" have their eyes on the impressive suite of offices on the southeast corner of the capitol's second floor and are beginning to bend their attentions that way.

They are G. A. "Jerry" Sadler, dynamic young Longview lawyer who becomes a railroad commissioner next month; and Gerald C. "Jerry" Mann, of Dallas, who moves in behind Attorney-General Bill McCraw come January.

Both have been conspicuous in the press and in their attendance at various gatherings over the state and it certainly isn't libelous to say that each has ambitions to go higher in public life.

* * *

Even though he has not yet taken office, Governor-elect Wilbert Lee O'Daniel is considered in most quarters as a one-term governor.

In the first place, many close to the flour salesman are of the opinion that Mr. O'Daniel doesn't want more than one term; and by the time he fills that one term will step down with alacrity, glad to get back to private life.

Others, not so charitable, characterize the Fort Worthian as a "political accident" whose admitted unfamiliarity with the job he is to fill will cause Texans to tire of him in a hurry.

At any rate, the predominant opinion among those who watch, study and play politics is that January 1941 will see somebody else moving into the mansion at Austin.

* * *

WHILE it is apparent that Sadler and Mann, both young, wiry and better than ordinary campaigners, are full of ambition, the feeling is general that Col. Ernest O. Thompson cannot be counted out of any discussion which has to do with future gubernatorial politics.

The Amarillo redhead came out of last summer's campaign stronger than when he went in and he has a reputation of being "the smartest man in public life in Texas."

Should the O'Daniel administration crash on the rocks of public opinion, it is quite likely that the electorate should turn to a conservative and proven man as his successor.

And, like the two Jerrys, Colonel Thompson is giving no one a chance to forget him.

He gets around a lot, too.

LONG whiskered Edwin (Man-With-The-Hoe) Markham, now 86, appeals for an anti-war poem to expose the mockery of conflict.

It's a swell idea, but it won't work.

If such a poem were really good enough to attract universal attention, its probable effect would be the following:

To stir up a national controversy in the U. S. between isolationists and super-preparedness advocates;

In Germany, it automatically would put its author on the black list of the greatly to be feared Gestapo;

In Russia, it would get its inspired writer on the death list of the OGPU.

In Italy, it would be scored mercilessly for its ignoble content by all newspaper editorials which Mussolini dictates:

And in Stockholm, it would not begin to impress the Noble Peace committee nearly as much as has Pearl Buck!

Thus we'd hate to see our poets work themselves into a lather for nothing!

Murder To Music

CAST OF CHARACTERS

MYRNA DOMBEY — heroine. Wife of the sensational swing band leader.

ROBERT TAIT — hero. Newspaper photographer—detective.

ANNE LESTER — Myrna's closest friend.

DANNIE FEELEY—officer assigned to investigate Ludden Dombey's murder.

* * *

Yesterday: The newspaper ad Tait runs is answered. A messenger brings the answer to Tait's rooms. Feverishly, he wonders if it contains Myrna's freedom, solves the murder.

CHAPTER XXV

Dannie Feeley, his long, old-fashioned nightgown trailing beneath a battered bathrobe, opened his front door and blinked at Bob Tait.

"For the love of Mike," he growled, "have you got a conspiracy on to keep me from sleeping, Tait? In the devil's black of this mornin' you ring me out of bed by telephone—and tonight you pound on my own peaceful door at 11."

"You'll be glad I did," Tait said stepping inside. "Dannie—I've found the musician we're looking for!"

"George Weeks? You're crazy!"

Tait grinned excitedly. "Maybe. I was crazy enough to play my hunch and put that ad in the Personals column. And I got this." He handed Feeley the letter he had received from the messenger half an hour before.

Bewildered, Feeley read the letter. Then read it again, this time aloud. "'Dear Sir—I can write a song similar to the one you mention in your classified item in the paper. In fact, I can tell you some things about that song which may surprise you, if you want to talk to me I will be in the lobby of the Pacific-Plaza Hotel at 3 o'clock tomorrow. I will be standing by the Number 4 elevator. Yours very truly, G. K. Weeks.'"

* * *

"At least slightly. That's what I banked on when I put the ad in the paper. He couldn't stand to have it rubbed in—and no doubt the $10,000 had something to do with it."

"What ten thousand?" said Feeley wrily. He shoved the letter into his bathrobe pocket. "All right. You started this. What do we do now?"

"You become a song publisher and interview Mr. Weeks."

Feeley rumpled his thinning hair. "Why don't you be the song publisher?"

"There's the chance that Mr. Weeks may know me, and know that I'm the manager of The Swingateers. Remembering a certain night in the Millbay district, I think it's a good chance, too. So I'll go along with you and pretend I'm interested because my band will introduce and plug the song that you select to publish."

"Okay, Bob. I've been everything else, I might as well try acting a song publisher. Got any idea how they act?"

"Sure. They act dumb—like a detective," Tait laughed. "You won't have any trouble."

"Get out of here," Feeley roared. "And I'll meet you in front of the main entrance of the Pacific-Plaza at a quarter until 3 tomorrow."

"Good!" Tait said. "By the way, did you have Nelda Starr watched?"

Feeley nodded. "Mike Dunphy's been watching her. She stayed in her apartment after you left her, apparently, and then about 10 o'clock tonight she went down to the Golden Bowl. Mike 'phoned me from there. I told him to stick with her."

"Was Rogers with her?"

"No. He may have gone after you left—or he may still be in the apartment. Mike had one of his men stick around to see if Rogers came out and where he went if he did come out. I haven't heard from him, so I guess there's nothing on that."

Tait pulled a magazine from his pocket. "I don't know whether it's anything or not, Dannie—but look at this."

* * *

It was the reprint comics magazine which Tait had picked up in Nelda Starr's apartment. "Thanks," Dannie said. "I like comics."

"Listen, Mr. Feeley, look at that advertisement on the back."

Dannie looked. It was the advertisement of a novelty company in Minneapolis. It offered and illustrated at least two dozen odds and ends appealing to boys. Plans for auto racers, X-ray boxes, chameleons, turtles, a book on ventriloquism, invisible ink. Dannie grinned. "Yeah. I used to send for a lot of stuff like this when I was a kid. Once I got a chameleon. I put it on the linoleum in our kitchen. It was checkered linoleum and the darned thing died trying to make good."

"That's an old joke, Dannie. Look down there in the lower left-hand corner."

Feeley looked. Then he raised his eyes to Tait's. "Well, what do you know about that?"

"I don't know anything about it yet. But I do know it advertises a gadget to make a noise like a cat's cry. You put it in your pocket, squeeze it, and have fun with your friends and your dog. But I wonder if maybe it might be used for something else."

"You're dreaming, Bob. This nutty musician, with his obsession about a song called 'The Cat's Meow,' might get one of these things if he figured to do some murder. But Rogers or this Starr girl aren't crazy. It's just a coincidence."

"I suppose so. But the thing interests me enough so that I'm going to wire that outfit and ask them to tell me the names of the people who've ordered that gadget from this town in the last two months."

Feeley yawned. "Well, go ahead and have your fun. But let me get some sleep." The detective politely opened his door again. "How's Myrna these days?"

Tait caught his breath wondering if Feeley knew that Myrna had disappeared. He took a long chance. "Fine, Dannie." He felt like a heel, saying that—but he consoled himself with the thought that if Dannie knew that Myrna wasn't sleeping peacefully at the Claremont then Dannie Feeley himself wouldn't sleep the rest of the night.

* * *

At 2:45 next day Tait stood in front of the Pacific-Plaza. He was on edge and worried. A telephone call to Anne Lester had revealed that no word had been received from Myrna since last he had telephoned. And Tait wondered if Weeks, the musician, would really appear. If he didn't—

"Well, Mr. Tait!"

The newspaper photographer turned to see Dannie Feeley, a flower in his lapel. "Perhaps you don't remember me, Mr. Tait. My name is Farnsworth. Elliott Farnsworth, the song publisher."

"Of course I remember you," Tait said, grinning in spite of himself. "Let's go inside and see if our genius is standing by the Number 4 elevator."

Side by side the pair went into the luxurious lobby of the Pacific-Plaza, steered themselves directly toward the bank of elevators. Surely enough, there stood by the fourth elevator a tall, cadaverous-looking fellow whose clothes were out of keeping with the well-groomed lobby and its prosperous-looking occupants.

"There's our man," Feeley whispered.

"Take it easy," Bob Tait said out of the side of his mouth. "Remember, you are a song publisher, not a dick. Don't whip out your handcuffs yet."

DON'T BE A "YULETIDE SUCKER"!

Don't be a sucker.

The peace and good will engendered by the spirit of the holidays make a rather large cross-section of the public a virtual "setup" for rackets hatched by the scheming few, warn peace authorities of Lubbock.

For instance:

A fellow who exhibited more cupidity than sympathy was around taking up a collection the other day "for the poor man and his family in the wreck on the Plainview road."

There was no wreck on the Plainview road.

Realization of the misery that falls to the lot of those unfortunates who figure in road crashes makes the ordinary individual turn his thoughts to the safety of his own family circle.

The natural appreciation and thankfulness evoked by comparison makes him dig with heavy hand into his pockets.

And the person who takes up the collection suavely goes to the next victim, smirking up his sleeve.

Wanting to give to those less unfortunate is an impulse that should be further stimulated. There is all too little of it beneath the surface of a business-concerned society. But—

Check with reputable agencies before depriving your own family members.

Don't be a sucker!

THINGS I Never Knew 'Til Now About the Mounties: There's an average of twenty applicants trying to join the Royal Canadian Mounted Police every day . . . The applicant must be a British subject and a resident of Canada and must have at least one year of college training or previous police experience . . . He must be between the ages of 20 and 35, under 185 pounds, have a minimum chest measurement of 35 inches and must be at least five feet ten inches tall. (When there is a scarcity of men, as during the World War, they lower it to five feet eight) . . . He must be single, have three character references, be familiar with autos and engines, know how to ride and care for a horse and must be able to use a typewriter . . . In the early days of the force, the rookie was initiated into the Mounties in this manner: He had to stand with a candle on his head while his seniors tried to shoot out the flame with their pistols.

* * *

Mounties have option time just like movie stars. Every five years they must apply all over again, and the government has the right to reject or accept them . . . A Mountie can't get married until he has been on the force at least five years — and even then he can't marry unless he gets the commissioner's consent . . . The big ambition of the Indian squaws in Canada is to marry a Mountie . . . He must never have his hands in his pockets . . . He must always wear gloves off duty. (Usually, they wear the left glove and hold the right glove in their hand.) . . . Off duty, he must always carry a cane . . . The Mounties are permitted to drink, but they must never get intoxicated. (No liquor at all is permitted at the posts.) . . . They are permitted to smoke at all times, but they are required not to smoke pipes or cigars while on duty as they look nattier smoking cigarettes. . . . They must be in bed by 10 o'clock every night.

WINCHELL

* * *

A MOUNTIE may never be shown in a flicker as a villain. Warners had to rewrite the entire story of "Heart of the North" because originally, the villain was a Mountie, and Canadian authorities warned that unless the character was changed, the picture would be banned in the entire British Empire . . . It is at all times impressed on them that they are servants of the public, because they receive their salaries from the public. If one loses his temper with a citizen, he is severely reprimanded and even recalled from his post . . . They are forbidden to third degree suspects. (In Canada, a prosecutor isn't judged by the convictions he obtains, but by how many times he has served the cause of justice.)

* * *

The Mounties aren't just policemen. They must act as postmen, a duty which was added after the Boer war . . . They must take care of indigent people. It's their job to see to it that everyone in Canada is fed. . . . They must know how to diagnose horse ailments and how to treat a sick horse . . . They must frequently perform operations on dogs which have been bitten by another member of a pack . . . Every Mountie is a justice of the peace, except that he can't perform marriages. (The only Mountie who can marry people is the officer commanding the Yukon district.) . . . They must doctor sick persons or get the sick person to a real doctor if he needs one.

* * *

MOUNTIES must frequently act as coroners, magistrates and customs officers . . . Many a Mountie has turned doctor to assist an Indian mother in bringing a baby into the world, and they have also read the Lord's prayer at burials . . . Eskimo marriages aren't arranged in Heaven. When two males have their eyes on the same Eskimo gal, there is likely to be a real fight which would put shame to the groan and grunt men of the wrestling game. Often the Mounties are the referees who put an end to the scrap before one of the fighters gets murdered. The Mountie makes the decision as to which Eskimo has put up the better fight and thereby is most deserving of the lady.

* * *

The pay of a Mountie is $1.50 a day to start. The highest he can go is to $4.50 a day . . . There are no bonuses or rewards. All rewards offered for the capture of a criminal are applied to the pension fund . . . He may retire on a pension after serving 20 years on the force. . . . His salary is clear profit, though, as he is given everything he needs. He gets a new uniform every year, as well as ties, collars and at least two new shirts. He gets a new pea jacket every three years and a raincoat whenever his old one wears out. He is loaned a fur coat in the fall, which he must return in the spring.

* * *

MOUNTIES and their prisoners are always given first-class accommodations while traveling . . . They seldom carry guns, except when they are sent after a man they know to be armed. (Every Mountie owns a rifle, but it is used only for hunting game when they are sent to a spot where it may be necessary to get their own provisions.) . . . It is drilled into every Mountie that the force is a preventative organization — their aim is not to get their man, but to keep their man from having to be got . . . Before making an arrest, he has to recite a speech verbatim informing the prisoner that he has nothing to fear from any threat and nothing to expect from any promise and that any statement he does make will be taken down in writing and used against him. If he fails to deliver this speech, the case is thrown out of court.

Competition In The Santa Claus Field

Incentive Taxation, Being Discussed Now By Senate Committee, Is Old In New York

BY JOHN T. FLYNN
NEA Staff Correspondent

The principle of incentive taxation now being discussed by a Senate committee is almost as old as the government. Tariff legislation is, of course, incentive taxation. It is taxation imposed in such a way as to encourage production.

FLYNN

But a more direct type of incentive taxation is in effect in New York State and New York City now. As far back as 1921 the City of New York, under a state statute, passed a tax exemption law to encourage new building. At that time residence building had come to a standstill. The city was faced with an acute housing shortage. But labor rates and labor rackets, material prices and material rackets and contractor agreements had tied the building business in such a knot that building ceased.

* * *

Results Came Hurrying

To encourage building the city exempted from taxation for a period of 10 years the improvements in the case of any dwelling structure to the extent of $5000 per dwelling unit. The effect on home building was immediate. The day following the passage of that tax exempt law the builders lined up in droves with their plans before all the building offices of the city to file their blueprints. The city went off on such a flight of house and apartment building as it had never seen before.

The law was far from a perfect law. It was not passed to stimulate business but to get the city out of the most serious housing jam it it had ever known.

Later that law was amended and improved several times so as to limit the tax benefits to low-cost tenments and then only for limited dividend corporations. But the law is still in existence.

The idea, of course, is to extend this plan to other lines of industry. The New York City tax exemption law amounted to a 2 1-2 per cent subsidy for 10 years and made a considerable difference, of course, in the cost of the house.

One may well doubt if the tax exempt law would have done so much if at the same time Samuel Untermyer had not broken up the labor and contractor rings that strangled the building business.

* * *

Three Kinds Of Tax

One idea proposed now for all industry is to divide the federal taxes into three grades—normal, surtax and super-surtax. The normal and surtax taxes would apply to all. But the super-surtaxes would be subject to numerous deductions for the purpose of encouraging manufacturers and builders to engage in new enterprises.

Like the building business in New York, it may well be questioned whether tax relief would do the trick unless many other adjustments were made. And then there is always the question whether a tax exemption on one group of enterprises would not be a tax penalty on all others who have to compete.

Anthony Eden Reports U. S. Is Greatly Interested In Affairs

PLYMOUTH, England, Dec. 21. (U.P.) — Anthony Eden returned to England from the United States today and said he had learned much of the American viewpoint during his brief visit.

Eden told interviewers that contrary to popular British belief, the American people were greatly interested in world affairs, European events in particular.

"The principal American newspapers give much space to events in Europe," he said, "and the editorials in their best newspapers are both shrewd and realistic in their judgment."

He praised the "remarkable service" rendered readers of American newspapers, particularly about European and Far Eastern affairs.

Delegates said, however, that the United States' purpose was attained in reaching an agreement to which all American nations could subscribe.

Concurrently a call for South American nations to abolish the Monroe Doctrine was sounded in Germany by the weekly paper Der Reichswart, edited by one of Adolf Hitler's closest disciples, Count Ernst von Reventlow.

Act Of Will Only

"Nothing more than an act of will is necessary to do this," said the paper asserting Germans were interested in a "strong and independent" South America.

Great Britain, meanwhile, brought four Scandinavian nations into the list of adherents to the 1936 naval limitation treaty by separate agreements with Sweden, Norway, Denmark and Finland.

Most of Britain's attention was centered, however, on a Scottish by-election where the Duchess of Atholl — known as "the Red Duchess" or her sympathy with government Spain — was standing for reelection to parliament as a bitter opponent of Prime Minister Chamberlain's foreign policy of appeasing the dictators.

In the Far East, foreign sources reported the Japanese were rushing troops from North China into Manchoukuo to put down outbreaks caused by the units of China's eighth army which had crossed into the Japanese-dominated state.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 21 (AP)—A tail spin in aviation shares gave the stock market uneasy moments today and prices mostly headed a little lower.

Some aircraft shares at one time were off more than 2 points but they recovered a bit with the list generally in late dealings.

Transactions in stocks approximated 1,100,000 shares. The approach of the Christmas holidays appeared to divert attention from the market place.

Sinister Turn Taken In Probe Of Mystery

NEW YORK, Dec. 21. (AP)—The F. Donald Coster-Philip Musica mystery, already involving millions and international duplicity, took a new and more sinister turn today as Brooklyn detectives began investigating the swindler's possible connection with the unsolved murders of Joseph Cohen, wealthy poultry inspector and fish dealer, and his brother, Barnett.

Police Inspector Michael S. McDermott ordered detectives to question George Vernard - Musica, George E. Dietrich-Musica, and Robert Dietrich-Musica — who are being held in $100,000 bail each on charges of violating the securities act of 1934.

STRENGTH IN OUTLOOK

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21. (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Roper said today there are "several elements of strength" in the business outlook for 1939.

The 1939 United States Irish potato crop is expected to total approximately 310,000,000 bushels, or 60,000,000 bushels less than 1938.

Duke Train To Halt In City

An 11-coach special train carrying the Duke university football squad from Durham, N. C., to the California Rose Bowl is due in Lubbock at 3:40 o'clock Thursday afternoon to remain three hours, according to telegrams received this morning by Lubbock officials of the Santa Fe railroad.

No replies had been received from Wallace Wade, coach of the Blue Devils, to telegrams of inquiry concerning plans and wishes of the group while here.

To Work Out At Tech

Presumption is, however, that they plan the use of Texas Technological college stadium for a workout soon after arrival. Wade's request for use of the stadium was granted several days ago.

A telegram from the chamber of commerce to Wade Monday night volunteered transportation for the 120 persons aboard the train to and from the stadium as well as for a sight-seeing tour in Lubbock. The telegram had not been answered this morning.

To Supply Transportation

However, officials said that automobiles will be at the train to supply transportation if it is desired. No formal greeting or reception is contemplated, however, by specific request of Wade.

An Associated Press dispatch to The Evening Journal said that the Blue Devils' special left Durham Monday with Pine Bluff, Ark., their first stop for a workout. The only other workout scheduled is in Lubbock, although members of the party will make a side trip in Arizona to the Grand Canyon. Arrival in Los Angeles is scheduled at 9 o'clock Saturday morning.

The Blue Devils are to meet the University of Southern California Trojans in the Rose Bowl Jan. 2.

Raiders Greeted

the railroad yards to keep their feet warm while waiting for the Raiders.

The general holiday rush and extra handling needed for Christmas mails made the train almost two hours late, but the crowd waited.

Mayor George A. Sprague himself father of four famous football players, greeted the Tech delegation. Highland Park High school's band blared its peppy welcome.

Hustled Aboard Fire Truck

The players were hustled aboard the fire department's longest hook-and-ladder truck, bearing a brilliant red sign: "The Red Raiders Have Come To Town."

Coach Pete Cawthon, Mrs. Cawthon, and Assistant Coach Russell Smith rode in the open, shiny red touring automobile of Fire Chief Syd Hansen as guests of Sprague and Cotton Bowl Director J. Curtis Sanford.

Cotton festival committee officials occupied other automobiles of the parade.

Other Officials Present

A special committee of past presidents of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce was among the welcoming group at the railroad station.

Other officials included Sanford, Chairman George Pierce of the welcoming committee; William H. Jones, general chairman of the cotton festival; J. B. Adoue, jr., president, and J. Ben Critz, vice president of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce.

The crowd was chilled by its long wait on the cold station platform but pepped up when the train bearing the Red Raiders came in sight.

Dan Rogers, president of the Cotton Bowl Athletic association and chairman of the board of trustees of Texas Christian university of Fort Worth, led the Highland Park High school band in rousing tunes in honor of the visitors.

Even the red caps who handled the athletes' baggage joined in the official welcome. Each one wore an arm band of red and black, Texas Tech colors.

The crowd at the station had expected the Lubbock team at 8:40 this morning, but when word came that the train was late, and that the team had stopped in Fort Worth for breakfast, the fans waited anyhow.

Permanent Organization Made To Join Presbyterian Groups

ATLANTA, Dec. 21 (AP)—The committee on co-operation and union of the Presbyterian church in the United States has perfected a permanent organization as a step toward union of Southern Presbyterians with other branches of the church.

Dr. Thomas Currie of Austin, Texas, was named chairman at a meeting yesterday at which 14 of the 17 Southern synods were represented.

Jayne Shadduck, former film actress, was divorced from wealthy Henry J. Topping in Bridgeport, Conn. She reportedly won $250,000 in an out-of-court settlement.

Funds Needed For Baskets

New strategy was infused th morning into Salvation Army's ne for more baskets to be distribut among the poor Christmas.

A prompt counter-jab met wi announcement more than 60 ba kets are needed to "meet a situ tion among the poor enhanced the town's growth in population."

"Leave your $2.50, which repr sents the price of a basket, or su in multiples of that figure-depen ing on how many baskets you wa the Salvation Army to distribu for you, at the main floor wrappi stand in Levine's store," said announcement.

Will Be Issued Receipt

"You will be issued a receipt the cashier. The baskets, contai ing 19 items of food, will be pr pared and Envoy V. M. Vansyck of the army will deliver them."

The army distribution will rea persons not assisted by any oth Lubbock organization, said Levi member of the army's advisory co mittee.

Envoy Vansyckle listed food ite to be distributed as:

Potatoes, onions, apples, turni celery, canned goods, tomatoes, co milk, peas, oatmeal, cornmeal, flo sugar, coffee, butter, shortenin bread and meat.

To Avoid Duplication

"We have a 'clearing house' t year, all agencies of the city che ing with us to avoid duplicatio said Envoy Vansyckle. "That avoid some persons' receiving m than one basket while others rec none. A close check is being m to take care of that possibilit have checked 48 duplications alre and correction has been made.

"At the same time, a family eight persons naturally will rec a larger basket than a family two. That factor also has been r ognized."

Appeal For Help Is Picked Up Half Way Around The World

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, Dec. 21.—Acting on an appeal for help picked up by an Amerincan amateur radio operator half way around the world, the French government last night ordered aid sent to 48 men, women and children off one of the loneliest islands on earth.

The little French trawler Ile-Bourbon, taking a group of colonists to tiny St. Paul island, in a remote corner of the Indian ocean, ran out of fuel just short of her goal. The radio operator tapped out this message:

"S O S St. Paul Island, Indian ocean. Bad weather. Exhausted coal. Will Madagascar please call us. We hope for help. Confirm. We forty-eight aboard Ile-Bourn."

Twelve thousand miles away, in Bremerton, Wash., an American amateur intercepted the call. He relayed it to the U. S. navy department in Washington, which passed it on to the French government via the cruiser U. S. S. Omaha, stationed in the Mediterranean.

The ministry of colonies acted immediately, cabling the administration of the French island of Madagascar, off Africa's East coast, to communicate with St. Paul, send aid and report back to Paris.
