Sniper opens fire at Fort Bragg; one dead, 18 injured

FORT BRAGG, N.C. (AP) — A sniper opened fire today on hundreds of soldiers exercising in the pre-dawn fog at Fort Bragg, killing one and wounding 18 others. A soldier stationed at the fort was arrested.

The shooting happened near the entrance to Towle Stadium, where members of the elite 82nd Airborne Division routinely do their calisthenics before starting work.

"I heard some shots. It was unusual because we're not near a range," said Pfc. Michael Miller. The suspect was being questioned this morning by the Army's Criminal Investigation Division, said Spc. Kerry Deatherage. His name was not being released.

By late morning, the Army said 19 soldiers were hit — one was killed and 18 were wounded, some critically.

Of the wounded, one was treated and released. The others had various injuries, primarily to the abdomen, chest or lower extremities, said Margaret Tippy, a spokeswoman at Womack Army Hospital. She said some were critical.

One of the wounded was taken by ambulance to Duke University Medical Center, where a spokesman said he had a neck wound but was stable, alert and talking.

All the soldiers who were shot were from a task force attached to the 2nd Brigade of the 82nd Airborne, said Maj. Rivers Johnson, a spokesman for the 82nd.

Some 1,300 brigade members, clad in gray shorts and sweats, were getting ready for a four-mile run in foggy conditions about 6:30 a.m., Johnson said.

By 10 a.m., the area was empty except for a few guards and a group of 82nd Airborne troops in maroon berets forming across the street.

About a half-dozen investigators combed a pine-wooded area behind the stadium. One investigator picked up a weapon that looked like an M-16 with a shortened stock and placed it in an evidence bag.

Others picked up what appeared to be a waist belt that carries a canteen and other military supplies. The investigators placed yellow markers on the ground to indicate where they found things.

Fort Bragg, which has 43,000 assigned troops, is an open post.

Senate ready to join House in passing GOP budget

Plan calls for tightening social spending, tax cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate edged toward passage today of watershed Republican plans for constricting social spending, cutting taxes and balancing the budget, a day after a jubilant GOP muscled a similar package through the House.

With assurances of victory by Majority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., the Senate slogged through a pile of amendments to the measure, which promises to erase federal deficits by 2002 while reversing decades of ever-expanding reach by the government.

In one early vote, the Senate refused to delete requirements that under the new Medicaid system Republicans would craft, states continue to guarantee coverage to pregnant women, children under 12 and the disabled. The amendment by presidential candidate Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas, was rebuffed by 77-22.

The overall GOP package would revamp Medicare, Medicaid and a mountain of other programs, trim projected federal spending by about $1 trillion over seven years and lop $245 billion off the tax bills of many families and businesses.

The legislation embodies the chief pledges the GOP made in its dramatic election victory last year, when it lambasted Democrats for letting government grow too large and intrusive.

"For 60 years, the ship of state has sailed consistently in the wrong direction, to the left," said House Majority Leader Richard Armey, R-Texas, just before his chamber approved the package Thursday by 227-203. "With this vote today, we'll crank this ship around. We'll turn this ship around to the right."

Voting yes were 223 Republicans and four Democrats; 192 Democrats and 10 Republicans were opposed.

President Clinton, who says the legislation's cuts are too harsh, will veto it when House-Senate bargainers send him a finished version, perhaps next month. That will set the table for bargaining between the two sides that will decide whether the year ends with a compromise deficit-reduction measure or partisan finger-pointing.

For now, partisan finger-pointing is in vogue.

Senate Democrats launched a

'Pride of the West' set for area contest

Snyder High School's "Pride of the West" band is one of a dozen Class 4A bands entered in Area marching competition in Lubbock Saturday, with the top two earning a ticket to state.

Local supporters who can't make the band's 5:45 p.m. show at Jones Stadium this weekend can catch the performance at halftime of tonight's varsity ballgame here at Tiger Stadium. The game, as Snyder hosts Lamesa, has a 7:30 kickoff.

Snyder earned a berth to Area competition by claiming a first division in Regionals earlier this month.

El Paso Parkland High School will open Saturday's Class 4A competition at 5:30 p.m. Snyder will follow. Other bands to compete are Lamesa, Frenship, Levelland, Canyon, Borger, Hereford, Fort Stockton, Monahans, Pecos and Dumas. The final performance is set for 8:15 p.m.

The 4A contest is the last of three classes competing Saturday. Class 1A begins at 11:30 a.m. Among those bands will be Jayton, which marches at noon. Class 2A bands get underway at 2 o'clock. Nearby Post takes the field at 2:45 p.m.

Two bands from each class will advance to state competition on Nov. 6.

Ninety-two students make up the "Pride of the West" marching band, said Walter Reneau, SHS band director. He is assisted by Kay Kennedy.

WTC hoopster exes set for annual Alumni Day

More than 50 former Western Texas College hoopsters are planning to attend the second annual Alumni Day for former women basketball players and cheerleaders Saturday.

The event will begin at 2 p.m. Refreshments are planned, to include hot dogs and hamburgers.

Alumni Day was instituted last year with invitations sent to former WTC basketball players. All former cheerleading squads for the college have been invited. Cheerleader sponsor Mickey Baird said she expects members of her original 1971 cheerleading group to return to campus.

Other activities planned include a scrimmage between current and former WTC basketball players.

All of the events will center around the WTC gymnasium area. The classroom there will be decorated with photos and memorabilia from past teams and yell squads.

Fall Festival promises plenty of fun

Kids of all ages are invited to the annual elementary schools' Fall Festival, slated Saturday evening in the county coliseum.

The doors will open at 6 p.m., giving festival-goers time to register for the 7:30 costume parade. Registration will take place from 6:30 until 7. The festival will end at 9 o'clock, allowing plenty of time for children to visit the spook house, 30 games booths and snack at three food booths.

All activities will take place in the coliseum and on-the-floor seating will be provided. There will be two concession stands, one mini concession stand and four ticket booths. Tickets will sell for 25 cents each.

Heart Walk set Saturday

Local citizens are reminded that the American Heart Association's annual Heart Walk is set for Saturday morning and volunteers and sponsors are still needed.

Volunteers may register by contacting Matt Cross at the hospital. Volunteers seek sponsors who are willing to donate a specific amount per mile. Businesses, clubs and individuals willing to sponsor walkers are also encouraged to contact Cross.

Starting point for the six-mile walk will be Cogdell Memorial Hospital. The walk will begin at 8:30 a.m.

Walkers who generate enough donations are eligible for prizes, including T-shirts, jackets, a turkey and more.

Westerners co-sponsoring Halloween Hayride for all

County residents are extended an invitation to a Haunted Hayride, co-sponsored by the Lady Westerners basketball team at Western Texas College.

The hayride will be held at the Wagon Wheel Ranch north of Snyder and its planned over three nights: Saturday, Monday and Tuesday. The event is being co-sponsored by Bill Ray Browning, owner of the Wagon Wheel Ranch. He will be donating part of the proceeds to WTC.

Each hayride will last about 30 minutes and will consist of a wagon pulled by a tractor through a pasture. A graveyard, an Indian burial ground and a gunfight are a few of the spooky activities which will be set up in the pasture.

Admission to the Haunted Hayride will be $7 for adults and $3.50 for children under 12. Tickets may be obtained through the WTC basketball girls or at the Wagon Wheel Ranch nightly.

The event will begin at 7 o'clock nightly and will continue as long as there are individuals at the site waiting to ride.

Former Snyder resident dies in motorcycle wreck

A former Snyder man was killed Thursday when his motorcycle ran under the side of a truck hauling caliche near Hamby.

Paul Timothy Williams, 23, was pronounced dead around 2 p.m. by Jones County death investigator Dennis Brown. Williams probably died instantly from the impact, said Abilene police officer Tim Burns, who investigated the accident.

Williams, an employee with the TDCJ's French Robertson near Hamby, was a 1993 Snyder High School graduate. He was most recently a resident of Abilene. His parents are James Williams, a former Snyder pastor, now of Odessa, and Gail Sizemore of Robert Lee.

According to Burns, the motorcycle was southbound on Farm-to- Market 1082 when it impacted with a truck which was turning east on to Jones County Road 306. Williams may have been trying

Tough decisions on hormone therapy

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: After going through menopause feeling my life [illegible] without any hormone therapy because the risk was thought to be too great, I changed doctors and at age 70 was given Premarin and Provera. Within a short period of time my weight shot up from a constant 122 pounds to 135. Even though my eating habits have not changed, and try as I may using the same previous methods, I cannot shed a pound. Rather, I seem to be gaining a pound every few days.

Am I fooling myself by believing that nothing's changed or could the hormones be responsible?

DEAR READER: Premarin and Provera often cause the body to retain excess fluid, leading to unwanted weight gain.

You're not fooling yourself; your weight gain may merely be "water-weight" that is the result of the hormones.

I think that you should seriously consider discontinuing this therapy. Recent medical studies have indicated an unacceptable risk of breast cancer in women taking hormones. This risk increases with age.

On the other hand, post-menopausal hormone therapy does seem to retard osteoporosis and protect against heart disease.

Therefore, you and your gynecologist must carefully weigh the risks and benefits of these medicines. If, for example, you have osteoporosis or heart disease (or if close relatives suffered these afflictions at young ages), you may well wish to continue therapy. The benefits would outweigh the risks.

In contrast, if you and your family are healthy and have lived long lives, you may not choose to risk developing breast cancer. Discuss this difficult decision with your doctor. Either way, you should have periodic examinations and mammograms to detect breast cancer.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Menopause." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10150. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Is surgical repair the best solution for hiatal hernia? What other options are there?

DEAR READER: Hiatal hernia, a weakness where the esophagus joins the stomach, can lead to gas, maldigestion and heartburn.

Ordinarily, surgery to repair this weakness is a last resort that is considered only when non-surgical therapy — such as antacids or drugs (Zantac, Prilosec and others) — has been ineffective.

In my practice, surgery is rarely necessary. Using appropriate medicine, avoiding foods that aggravate symptoms, eating smaller (and more frequent) meals, and elevating the head of the bed on 4-inch blocks are techniques that almost always relieve symptoms.

Check with your doctor about this, but I'd discourage surgery unless you fail to respond to the customary medical therapy that I mentioned.

Tobacco ban prompts black market operation in prison

FORT WORTH (AP) — A package of smuggled cigarettes sells for as much as $100 in Texas prisons where a seven-month ban on smoking has created a lucrative black market, officials say.

The Fort Worth Star-Telegram reported today that since March 1, allegations of smuggling, possessing or using tobacco have led to 17 criminal cases and 55 administrative investigations in the state's 100 prison units.

It's not tough to find a place to smoke in prison, officials say, because of good ventilation systems, blind spots in surveillance and an abundance of inmate lookouts.

The attempts to get tobacco smuggled into prison get more creative as time passes, officials say. It's been found in underwear, waistbands, shoe soles, workplaces and cells.

Neill Hodges, assistant warden at the Huntsville unit, said friends or relatives of inmates have tried to get tobacco delivered to inmates through the U.S. Postal Service and United Parcel Service.

"One of the most ingenious ways is through the newspapers," said Hodges.

His guards have found loose tobacco neatly pressed and glued between sheets of newspaper delivered to inmates at the Walls Unit near downtown Huntsville.

In one instance, tobacco was concealed in a hollowed-out portion of a rolled-up newspaper, he said.

The problem is not confined to the men's prisons, officials say.

"We have the same problem, but we take care of it with disciplinary action," said Janie Cockrell, the prison system regional director who oversees women's units. "They do try to carry it in in different ways."

In January the Texas Board of Criminal Justice ruled that because of health-care costs and the constitutional rights of nonsmokers, that employees and inmates cannot have tobacco on prison property. And it is not allowed on off-premises work details.

A few guards have even smuggled tobacco to inmates, an official says.

"Tobacco has replaced marijuana as the substance that causes officers to take bribes," said Patrick O'Shaughnessy, deputy assistant director of the Texas Department of Criminal Justice's internal affairs division.

Inmates sell single cigarettes for about $2, officials said.

Inmates who are caught with a small amount of tobacco are charged with a minor disciplinary offense and are punished by loss of privileges such as access to the day room, television and commissary.

Possession of larger amounts can result in solitary confinement and the loss of good-conduct time credits, authorities say.

Life in prison: Selena fans happy with jury's decision

HOUSTON (AP) — Selena devotees say the woman convicted in her murder got the punishment she deserved — life in prison.

"She'll suffer within those years," said Melissa Santos, a fan among the celebrants outside the courthouse Thursday as Yolanda Saldivar was sentenced.

"It won't bring Selena back, but it's some satisfaction," she said.

After nine hours of deliberation over two days, the panel gave Ms. Saldivar, 35, the maximum punishment. Jurors did not impose the $10,000 fine sought by prosecutors.

Ms. Saldivar won't be eligible for parole until 2025.

On Monday, the same 12 jurors found the former fan club president guilty in the March 31 shooting death of the 23-year-old Grammy-winning singer at a Corpus Christi motel.

One juror said he held out for a more lenient sentence during nine hours of deliberations but ultimately was swayed.

"I just wanted her to have a chance after 20 years to come out on parole and have a chance in life," said Charles Arnold, "because I don't think she's a menace to society."

Family, friends and co-workers of Ms. Saldivar, a registered nurse, testified during the trial's punishment phase that she would be an asset to the community if given probation.

Ms. Saldivar, wearing a white suit, sobbed upon hearing the jury's sentence. Her family, seated directly behind her, also wept.

On the ballot

The following information is condensed from a special House Research Organization publication provided to better inform voters about the 14 amendments on the Nov. 5 ballot. It is the tenth in a series.

Proposition 10

READS: "The constitutional amendment abolishing the office of state treasurer."

INFORMATION: The treasurer is charged with receiving, protecting, managing and investing all money deposited in state funds and accounts. The treasurer administers the Treasury Department, which reviews and pays all state warrants, administers the state's unclaimed property laws, manages the securities deposited in trust and purchased for the state's investment funds and invests local government monies in TexPool, a local government investment pool. For fiscal 1996, the treasury has the equivalent of 220.5 full-time employees and an operating budget of $10.5 million. In 1994, the treasury earned $346 million in interest for the state on investments. Proposition 10 would abolish the office of state treasurer and transfer specific constitutional powers and duties of the office to the state comptroller on Sept. 1, 1996.

SUPPORTERS SAY: Proposition 10 simply recognizes that the office of the state treasurer has become superfluous and its fuctions should be merged with the Comptroller's Office as a cost-saving measure. When orignially created, the treasury operated as the state's bank, but since many state banking functions are now automated, the agency's reason for being has been greatly diminished. Residual functions of the office could be transferred to the Office of the Comptroller of Public Accounts, which is 10 times the size of the Treasury and well-equipped for additional financial duties. The state would enjoy substantial savings, at no loss of safety or efficiency.

OPPONENTS SAY: Electing the state treasurer as a separate, independent official provides the system of checks and balances for state finances envisioned by the drafters of the Texas Constitution. The state should have an independent agency to manage and invest state funds. Financial institutions and corporations have long understood that it is important to keep the person who collects and certifies money (the comptroller) separate from the person who manages the investments (the treasurer). By keeping a careful, independent eye on state expenditures, the treasurer can help prevent excessive or unconstitutional state spending that, if left unchecked, could eventually lead to imposition of a state income tax.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Florida health officials say a 91-year-old man contracted the AIDS virus from the bite of a prostitute with bleeding gums, but they believe it was transmitted by blood — not saliva.

The federal Centers for Disease Control and Prevention in Atlanta stopped short of confirming it as the first known transmission of the deadly virus transmitted through a human bite.

"We found that the DNA sequence showed a similar strand," CDC spokeswoman Michelle Bonds said. "We have not confirmed that the route of transmission was a bite."

The CDC has never confirmed a case of HIV infection through saliva alone.

State health officials expressed little doubt about the case.

"It was the first transmission by a bite," said Michelle Lagos, a spokeswoman for the Florida Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services. "(But) it was blood-to-blood, which is not ground breaking."

Palm Beach County health officials issued an alert to employees at 3,000 day care centers, schools, fire and police departments, doctors' offices and hospitals to be aware of the potential danger of bites.

Florida health officials also reported the case on the CDC's home page on the Internet, read by public health officials around the country.

Investigators working for the CDC matched the strain of HIV infecting prostitute Naomi Morrison with that of Elmer Hutto, whom she bit on a hand, arm and leg while trying to rob him last year in West Palm Beach.

State officials, who said they were alerted to the case by the CDC, cautioned against panic Thursday, emphasizing the rarity of factors in the case and that blood, not saliva, was responsible.

The laboratory report to the CDC came from Roche Molecular Systems in Alameda, Calif.

Non-Working Smoke Detectors Keep the Home Fires Burning

DEAR ABBY: I have been a member of the fire service for the past 20 years. To this day, I am awestruck by the high number of needless home fire deaths and injuries that occur throughout America. Nationwide, 3,000 people die and 50,000 to 100,000 are injured each year in fire-related tragedies.

The most troubling — and most common — evidence found in the rubble of home fires is smoke detectors with an old battery or no battery at all. By sounding an early warning and providing critical extra seconds to escape, a working smoke detector doubles the chance of surviving a home fire.

An alarming fact is that a disproportionate number of minorities die in home fires. African Americans, for example, are three time as likely to die in a home fire as any other minority group.

As the 1995-96 president of the International Association of Fire Chiefs, and as an African American who is deeply concerned about the above statistics, I urge everyone to adopt a simple but potentially life-saving habit: Change the batteries in your smoke detectors when you change your clock back to standard time in October.

The "Change Your Clock, Change Your Battery" program each year is the most effective way I know to remind Americans to make their homes a little bit safer.

Abby, please help us by reminding your readers to change their smoke detector batteries during the fall time-change weekend, Oct. 28-29. Thank you for helping us save lives.

CHIEF P. LAMONT EWELL, OAKLAND FIRE DEPARTMENT

DEAR CHIEF EWELL: I'm glad to help. The importance of fire safety cannot be overstated. Changing the batteries in home smoke detectors provides an excellent opportunity for families to create — and practice — an escape route they can use in case of a fire emergency. Thank you for a timely letter.

DEAR ABBY: My sister and I disagree about a point of etiquette and need you to settle it. She says that a person should never pick his or her teeth while at the table.

I say that if one uses a napkin to cover the mouth and quickly picks at the tooth with the "baby finger," it is acceptable.

My sister strongly disagrees. She says it is vulgar and very bad manners. What do the etiquette experts say?

J.C. COSTA, WESTWOOD, MASS.

DEAR J.C.: Etiquette expert Letitia Baldrige says, "Never use a toothpick at the table, even if you feel you have a gravel pit in your mouth.

"Try drinking some water to help the situation, and if you feel your teeth are really decorated with food, excuse yourself and go the restroom or to the bathroom in your host's home. There you can vigorously rinse your mouth — or even your toothpick."

World travelers see Asians and Europeans pick their teeth at the table behind a napkin — that maneuver, believe it or not, is considered acceptable. Some jewelry stores sell sterling silver as well as gold toothpicks that come with handsome leather cases, making them sanitary to tote in one's pocket or purse.

Of course, most people who know they will need a toothpick or dental floss following a meal always carry them.

Anti-rap group takes on trashy talk TV

WASHINGTON (AP) — They're all talking on daytime TV: oversexed teens, philandering husbands, prostitutes and porn stars. Politicians who want to shush this chatter call it "cultural rot."

Talk show hosts call it real-life entertainment. And, they say, viewers love it.

"People watch to have a good time," said host Jerry Springer. "Human beings love to talk about their personal lives, other people's lives, relationships."

Former Education Secretary William Bennett hopes to persuade people to quit watching, and to persuade corporations to quit producing trashy television. He's adopted the issue alongside his crusade against violent and sexually degrading rap music lyrics.

There was a time, Bennett said Thursday, "when personal failure or marital failure, subliminal desires, perverse tastes were accompanied by a sense of guilt or embarrassment.

"Today, these are a ticket to appear on the Sally Jessy Raphael show to be broadcast for children to watch," Bennett said. This "cultural rot" is polluting America, he said.

Raphael responded by citing her own ratings. "It's a real elitist view for a guy like this to stand up and say, 'I don't think 4.5 million people should watch this,'" she said in an interview.

Bennett, one of the Republican Party's most prominent voices on issues of morality and values, credited Democratic Sen. Joseph Lieberman of Connecticut with leading the charge against TV talk shows.

Lieberman worked with Bennett and civil rights activist C. Delores Tucker on the "gangsta rap" campaign. The group claimed a partial victory last month when entertainment giant Time Warner agreed to sell its stake in Interscope Records, a leading label for gangsta rap.

Bennett said he, Lieberman, Tucker and other volunteers, including Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., would use similar tactics against the corporations that produce daytime talk shows, including Time Warner, Paramount, Fox and CBS.

They plan a letter-writing campaign and possibly radio advertisements to shame the shows' producers, advertisers and viewers. They aren't pushing any legislation.

"We are calling for better citizenship, not censorship," Lieberman said at a news conference with Bennett.

As the offenders, they pointed to some of the hottest names in daytime TV: Springer, Raphael, Geraldo Rivera, Maury Povich, Ricki Lake, Jenny Jones and Montel Williams.

They cited episodes titled "Get Bigger Breasts or Else," "Women Who Married Their Rapist" and "Is There Life After a Career in Porn?"

Rivera said the industry is already aware of the need to curb its excesses, and doesn't need Bennett or other outsiders to tell it how.

Talk show insiders plan a summit this weekend in New York to discuss ways to regulate themselves, Rivera said. He said that in recent years, he has "cut the fringes out of topic selection" for his show and often looks at serious subjects.

When you want to ruff

By Phillip Alder

It is well-known that taking a ruff in the short trump hand generates an extra trick. However, sometimes declarer must find the right moment to take the ruff — as in today's deal.

How should South plan the play in four hearts against a trump lead?

North might have responded one spade, but he preferred to limit his hand immediately. However, when South continued with three clubs, North was happy to show his suit. South, with no slam interest, signed off in the heart game.

West might have led the club king. But with length and strength over length, it is often better to lead a trump.

Declarer won the first trick with dummy's king and ducked a club to West's nine. Back came the heart jack. Feeling confident, South won with his ace, cashed the club ace, ruffed a club in the dummy, played a spade to his ace and led the spade three toward the dummy. It was a blow when West ruffed, cashed the club king and switched to a diamond. Suddenly South had four losers: one heart, one diamond and two clubs.

True, South was unlucky that the spades broke 5-1. But suppose, instead of taking his club ruff, South immediately plays the ace and another spade. If West ruffs now, South makes his contract with an overtrick because there is still a dummy entry remaining: the club ruff. But when West discards, South plays dummy's last top spade, discarding his diamond loser. The club ruff, declarer's 10th trick, comes a moment later.

Tigers ready for annual battle with Golden Tors

By Brent Taylor
Sports Editor

Halloween is still a few days away, but Coach David Baugh is already getting scared...not of halloween, but of the Lamesa Golden Tornadoes. "It's kinda scary just because of the way they always play us," said Baugh.

The annual battle between Snyder and Lamesa has gone on for years. It's a rivalry much like Dallas-Washington, Texas-Oklahoma and the list goes on. There was a time when the winner of the game thought they had a good season, even if it was the only game they won all year.

"I talked to their coach (Gary Yoder) last year on the phone. He said for some reason, his kids always feel like they can beat Snyder where some of the other district people they feel they can't beat them and don't play as hard," said Baugh. "Against us, they always play and play hard. I expect a fanatical effort out of them."

Coach Yoder and his coaching staff have made drastic changes in their offensive scheme from a year ago. "Where as last year they ran from the wish-bone, this year they run the wish-bone, split-back veer, offset-I and one-back set. Who knows, they may throw the wing-T at us Friday night," said Baugh Thursday.

The multiple sets will force the Tiger defense to recognize and make changes in a hurry. Baugh added, "We will change sets on defense to match what they are in."

The Tors do not like to punt much. They are a team that looks at the whole field as four-down territory. According to Baugh, they will set up in punt formation, and then run an option play by snapping the ball to the short man. They like to run fake punts.

The Tigers should be a little bit larger in size. Lamesa does have a couple of big players, but overall, the Tigers should not have a problem matching up.

Lamesa is led on offense by quarterback Tony Barrera. He completed 10 of 20 passes for 60 yards in the Tors' loss last week to Estacado, 42-20. Gabriel Moncallo also complete a pass for 23 yards in last week's loss.

At running back, watch for Max Kelly. He was the leading ground gainer for the Tors with 70 yards on 11 carries. Kelly also received two passes for 63 yards.

Barrera will also look for Johnny Jones who caught three passes for 53 yards, including a touchdown last week. Kevin Larry caught three for 43 yards.

Lamesa fooled Estacado last week on the hook and lateral play. Barrera hit Moncallo who pitched the football to Kelly for a 36-yard touchdown.

Snyder is still trying to put last week's 24-14 win over Frenship behind them. Coach Baugh praised his defense for shutting down Frenship. David Wagner, 175-pound, junior noseguard, is one tackle away from setting the school record for tackles made behind the line of scrimmage. Wagner has 10 going into tonight's game, the record is 11.

Jay Don Griffin will probably get the start at defensive end, in place of L.S. McClain. McClain appears to be the number one running back after two good outings. The change will allow McClain more time to rest instead of going both ways.

The Tigers will be without the services of two players due to non-football related injuries. Jeremiah Johnson is still out nursing a hernia and Daniel Pulattie had a severe asthma attack during the week and will not play tonight.

Kickoff is set for 7:30 Tiger Stadium.

Volleyball playoff 3 p.m. in Big Spring

The District 5-4A volleyball championship will be on the line Saturday afternoon when the Snyder Lady Tigers and Lamesa Lady Tors tangle at 3 p.m. in the Big Spring High School gym.

The winner of the match will advance as the number one seed from the district while the loser will advance as the number two seed.

Snyder and Lamesa will meet teams from District 6-4A in bi-district action. Cleburne and Brownwood are scheduled to play tonight in Granbury to decide seeding in their district. The winners from each district will play the runner-ups.

A definite time will be decided Saturday for the bi-district matches. Tentatively, the matches will be played Tuesday, possible in Abilene.

"We would like to see a packed gym with Snyder supporters," said Coach Patty Grimmett. "Our girls want to enter the playoffs as the number one seed."

In a practice match last night, Snyder defeated Bronte, 15-11, 15-9.

Sterling Cave and Kelly Clay were high point with six, Lindsey Griffin added four, Amanda Huff, Tiffany Garza and Edwina Brooks had three, Darla Blackwell and Raechele Wemken two, and Shawn Purcell one.

Brooks had three aces, Huff two, Cave, Griffin and Clay one each. Garza, Brooks and Clay had three kills, Wemken two, Cave Griffin and Bailey one kill each.

Levelland upsets Estacado, 21-7

After falling behind 7-0, the Levelland Lobos ran off 21 unanswered points en route to a 21-7 District 5-4A football win over Lubbock Estacado Thursday at Lowrey Field.

The Matadors scored first on a 7-yard touchdown run by sophomore running back Warren Boyd. After that, the Lobos took over.

Levelland tied the game in the second quarter on a 48-yard pass from Pat Smith to Mark Childers. The Lobos took the lead with 7:33 remaining in the third quarter when Sesar Cardiel came on a delayed blitz, picked up a Courtney Phillips' fumble and raced 40 yards for the six points. Russ Alexander's PAT made it 14-7.

Following a two-yard punt, the Lobos marched 33 yards in seven plays. Michael Franklin finished off the drive with a four-yard run TD run. The extra point was good and Levelland had a 21-7 lead with 1:43 to play in the third quarter.

"The defense probably played as well as it has played all year," said Levelland head coach Tom Ramsey, who earned his first victory against the Matadors since joining the Lobos four years ago. "Any time you hold Estacado to seven points, you're doing well."

The Matadors, who had more total yards of offense than Levelland, drops to 1-2 in district play, 5-3 for the season. Levelland keeps its playoff hopes alive. The Lobos have the same record as Estacado.

Ira returns to action with Cards

After a three week absence from the gridiron, the Ira Bulldogs will return to the field to host the Hermleigh Cardinals. Kickoff is set for 7:30 in Ira.

The Bulldogs had to forfeit their last three games due to a lack of players. Ira gained three players back from failing grades to bring its total up to eight players.

Hermleigh is coming off a 46-22 win over Borden County last week. The Cardinals got some help in the player department last week after having several players out due to grade.

Borden County will host Westbrook in Gail and Highland will be at Loraine in the other District 6, six-man action.

Cardinals beat Bulldogs in JHS action

It was the Andy Luna show Thursday as the Hermleigh Cardinals defeated Ira, 28-13 in junior high action.

Luna scored four times on runs of 34, 51, 10 and 60 yards. Luna kicked one extra point and threw for two more extra points. Caleb Calloway caught one of the extra point passes and David Digby received the second.

Outstanding players in the game were Jarrod Higgins and Calloway.

The Cardinals will travel to Westbrook next week for a 6 p.m. game.

8th grade takes two from Lamesa

It was a clean sweep for the Snyder Junior High eighth grade teams Thurday in Lamesa. The Black team won, 20-8, and the Gold team won, 32-14.

Mark Rangel carried the football six times for 102 yards, including a 50-yard touchdown run. Bebos Martinez rushed for 47 yards on seven carries. Mike Martinez had 34 yards on six carries.

David Wilson ran three times for 26 yards and caught a touchdown pass. Quarterback Trevor Kerr was three of five passing for 33 yards and one touchdown. Kerr also intercepted a pass and returned it 30 yards for a touchdown.

Seth Rosson caught two passes for 28 yards. Marciano Madrid had a pass interception. As a team, the eighth grade Black team had 242 yards of total offense.

Sonny Cumbie threw three touchdown passes to lead the eighth grade Gold team to a 32-14 victory over Lamesa.

Cumbie connected with Derrick Crayton on a 25-yard pass play, Duane Allred for five-yard touchdown, and Justin Phillips from 12 yards out. Phillips also intercepted a pass and returned it 97 yards for a touchdown.

Ray Carreon carried the ball 14 times and gained 165 yards. Paul Camp added 92 yards on 16 carries. As a team, the Gold team accumulated 328 yards of offense.

According to the coaching staff, the whole team played great defense. Joseph Vargas and Joe Dan Davenport were singled out for their defensive efforts.

Once again this week, the offensive line was praised. The line is made up of Kade Kubena, Corey Knipe, Isidro Villasana, Randy Green, Joe Esparza, Zack Bilano and Chris Shoemake.

Next week, both teams will travel to Big Spring. The Black team will play at 5 p.m. while the Gold team will play at 6:30 p.m. Both games are scheduled to be played at Memorial Stadium.

7th grade B defeats Golden Tors, 40-6

The seventh grade football teams from Snyder Junior High split its two games Thursday. The B team won 40-6 over Lamesas and the A team was defeated by Lamesas, 16-0.

In the B team game, Eric Perez scored twice. The first time on a 50-yard run and the second time on a 10-yard run. Heath Pinkerton also got into the scoring act twice. His touchdowns came on runs of 60 and 20 yards. Tovarres Brandon scored on a 25-yard run.

The coaching staff praised both the offense and defense for outstanding play.

The A team was shut out, 16-0 by the Tornadoes.

Outstanding players were Ralph Ramon, R.J. Hernandez, Josh Arizmendi and Jason Dennis. The big hit of the game went to Labow Rivers.

Next action for the seventh grade teams will be Thursday against Big Spring at Travis Field. The B team will play at 5 p.m. while the A team will play at 6:30 p.m.

Gramm's campaign strategy is to spend big

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — If Phil Gramm were a corporate CEO, he'd probably be preaching to his shareholders about the wisdom of investing for the long haul.

The Texas senator has spent $15 million on his presidential campaign — far more than any other candidate — without receiving much in the way of early dividends.

Gramm is stuck in the single digits in most opinion polls despite plentiful spending on everything from slick campaign videos and a massive direct-mail effort to the charter airplanes and buses he used to ferry voters to Iowa for a straw poll in August.

Not to worry, Gramm says. Polls don't mean much at this point, and his investment will pay off when the primary season voting begins early next year.

His heavy spending in Florida, where the Republican candidates are angling to make a strong showing in a Nov. 18 straw poll, is all part of a strategy to emerge as the better alternative to GOP front-runner Bob Dole.

Gramm general chairman Charlie Black recently sent top volunteers a notice saying the campaign "must raise $794,000 by October 20 to execute our plan of action in Florida and strongly challenge Bob Dole in this crucial straw poll."

Campaign spending reports show Gramm spent more than $67,000 in Florida in the three-month period from July through September, shelling out nearly $14,000 to a single telemarketing firm, $10,000 in consulting fees to a key fund-raiser, and $26,000 in payments to state campaign coordinator Herb Harmon.

And that doesn't include the money and effort he's poured into Florida from Gramm's Washington campaign headquarters and elsewhere.

At a weekend gathering of the Florida Federation of Republican Women in Orlando, Gramm didn't match the gourmet chocolates or luxury soap samples being distributed by the campaign of Senate Majority Leader Bob Dole.

But his wife, Wendy, hosted a cocktail reception while campaign aides staffed a table offering videos, glossy campaign brochures and all sorts of Gramm paraphernalia.

"It's very important, and we're working very hard on it," Gramm said as he worked the Orlando crowd. "I believe that I am going to carry Florida."

So far, the payoff is far from certain.

On Sunday, Gramm finished a distant third in a low-key straw poll of the GOP women in Orlando, behind Dole and former Tennessee Gov. Lamar Alexander.

"Phil Gramm's going to understand that money can't buy you love," warned another GOP contender, commentator Pat Buchanan.

Gramm insists his investment will prove its worth over the long run.

"The only thing that is going to move polls is massive media coverage or spending money to buy media," he said in Orlando. "What we have done to this point is we have worked hard at building a grass-roots organization in 24 states."

Some observers question whether Gramm will last that long.

"If Phil Gramm loses next month's straw poll here, it's going to make things difficult for him," said Lou Frey, a former congressman who heads Dole's Florida campaign. "When it starts to fall apart around you, people can leave in a hurry."

Still, Frey does not count Gramm out.

"He's been down in the state a lot, and he has been working hard at a grass-roots level," Frey said. "That could pay off for him."

While his spending continues apace, Gramm has seen his contributions slow in recent months.

He raised slightly more than $2 million between July and September, his lowest quarterly total of the three periods during which candidates have filed reports with the Federal Election Commission.

New party seeks to improve future for young Americans

MENTOR, Ohio (AP) — Ross Perot said his Reform Party will work to improve the future for young Americans by cutting the national debt and stopping the flow of drugs in the United States.

"These are problems we can fix; don't ever forget that," Perot told about 400 people Thursday evening at Mentor High School in this Cleveland suburb.

Ohio is the second state Perot is targeting for a petition drive to legitimize the new party. Supporters have until Nov. 20 to collect 33,500 signatures from registered voters.

Officials in California said Thursday that the party likely had qualified for the 1996 presidential ballot there.

Perot said Democrats and Republicans are determined to oppose the creation of a third party led by him.

"The two political parties don't want a new political party," the Texas billionaire said. "If half their members want out, maybe it's time that they come back home and listen to the people."

Earlier Thursday, Perot told teen-agers in New Richmond, 20 miles east of Cincinnati, that registered Republicans and Democrats were up for grabs.

By siphoning off disenchanted voters, "that would make us the majority party," Perot told 500 students in the New Richmond High School Auditorium. About 300 more students watched on closed-circuit from the gymnasium.

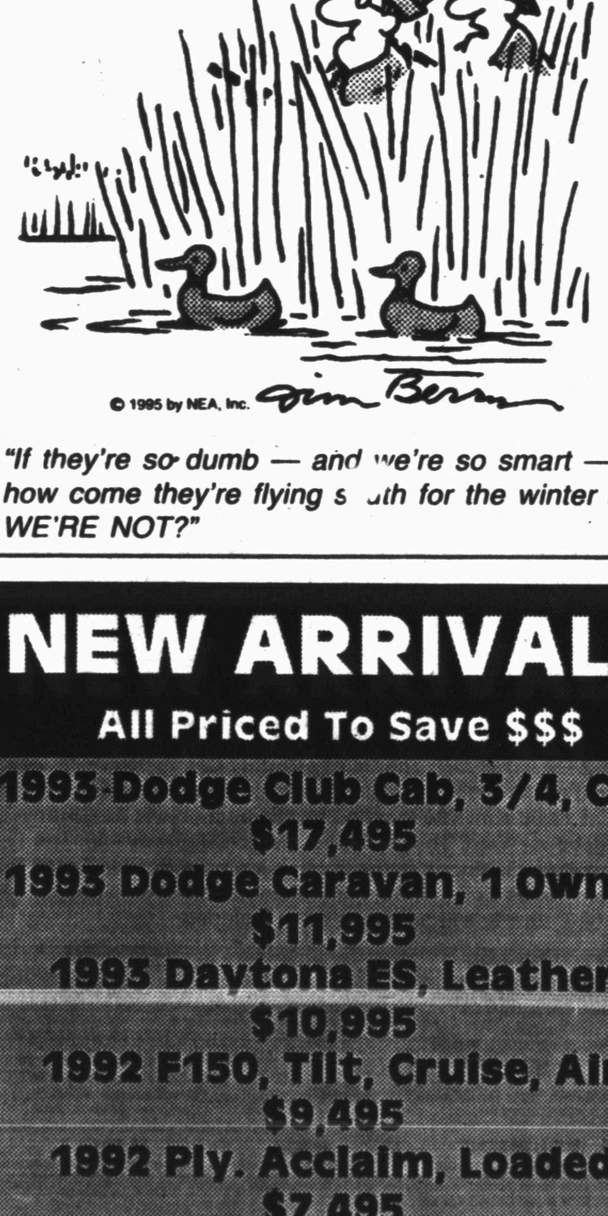

Perot urged the students to help him decide who is elected president in 1996 by working to get the Reform Party — known in some states as the Independence Party — on the Ohio ballot.

Because candidates in Ohio can identify themselves on ballots as "independent," the secretary of state's office was concerned that use of the name Independence Party could cause confusion, spokeswoman Maureen Brown said.

"To make a long story short, we supply the swing vote," Perot said.

The 1992 independent presidential candidate said his party would evaluate every candidate for national office in 1996 and provide the necessary votes to elect the ones it recommends.

Facts About The BIBLE

BIBLICAL SLAVERY

SLAVERY WAS A FACT OF LIFE IN BIBLICAL TIMES. THE MAJORITY OF SLAVES CAME THROUGH THE CONQUEST OF WAR. EVEN IN THOSE ANCIENT TIMES, THE HANDLING OF SLAVES BY THEIR CONQUERORS WAS NOT A HIT-OR-MISS OPERATION. LISTS EXIST, GOING AS FAR BACK AS 1740 B.C., IN WHICH THE ANCIENT EGYPTIANS TABULATED THEIR CAPTIVES' NAMES. IN THE BROOKLYN, N.Y. MUSEUM SUCH A LIST HAS BEEN PRESERVED IN WHICH AT LEAST TEN NAMES OF SEMITIC ORIGIN HAVE BEEN DECIPHERED. FOR THE PEOPLE OF THE BIBLE THERE WAS ALWAYS THE THREAT HANGING OVER THEIR HEADS OF POSSIBLE CAPTURE AND THE RESULTANT ENSLAVEMENT.

WHEN WAR BROKE OUT BETWEEN KINGS, NO FAMILY COULD BE CERTAIN THAT THEY WOULD REMAIN TOGETHER IF THEIR KING AND HIS ARMY LOST THE WAR. A PRIME EXAMPLE IS THE TAKING OF LOT AND HIS FAMILY AND ALL HIS BELONGINGS BY THE CONQUERORS OF SODOM AND GOMORRAH (GEN.14:12) -- ALTHOUGH LOT WAS NOT A NATIVE OF THE LAND! ONLY THE FACT THAT ABRAHAM CAME TO HIS RESCUE SAVED LOT FROM A LIFE OF SLAVERY!

Kidnapping suspect charged with rape

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A drifter accused of kidnapping two young brothers and taking them on a 10-day journey in a stolen car has been charged with raping one of them.

Boyd D. Weekley, 24, was charged Thursday with aggravated rape after being arraigned on federal kidnapping charges.

Weekley, who had previously been charged with fondling a 9-year-old girl, is being held without bond and has agreed not to fight extradition to Michigan, where the boys were abducted Oct. 14. No hearing on the rape charge was scheduled.

After a nationwide search, the FBI caught Weekley on Tuesday in New Orleans with the brothers, ages 11 and 3.

Interviews with the children indicated the older boy was raped the same day at a motel in the French Quarter, Lt. Marlon Defillo said. The other child apparently was not sexually abused but was beaten in the face, suffering minor bruises and scrapes, Defillo said.

When asked by a reporter after their ordeal if Weekley had been "bad" to them, the older child said, "a little."

The brothers disappeared after buying potato chips at a convenience store while their mother, Maria, washed clothes next door at a laundry near Benton Harbor, Mich.

The boys are the children of migrant farm workers from Mission, Texas, who have traveled to Michigan each of the past four years to pick fruits and vegetables.

Authorities believe Weekley arrived in New Orleans on Monday evening and checked into the motel with the children the next morning.

The boys' father has insisted that they were not physically abused while with the kidnapper.

North Korean agent fatally shot as he attempts to escape

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — After eluding a massive manhunt for three days, a North Korean spy was fatally shot this morning when he tried to break through a tightening cordon of commandos on a thickly wooded mountain.

North Korea called the report a fabrication.

Park Kwang Nam had been on the run since Tuesday, when he escaped a shootout that killed a South Korean police officer, wounded two others and left his compatriot, Kim Do Shik, in custody.

South Korean officials promised even tighter security in the wake of the incursion — and another last week in which a North Korean infiltrator was shot and killed near the border.

After exchanging fire with his pursuers twice Tuesday night, Park, 31, managed to elude 20,000 soldiers and police, sniffer dogs and nearly two dozen helicopters.

Today, trapped on remote Soksong Mountain and wounded in the leg, he made a run for it.

"The spy was lying down, hidden in the forest, looking down at the searchers," said Lance Cpl. Chung In-yong, 22, who was the first to spot Park. "I didn't have time to be scared. I just thought I had to capture him."

Within seconds of being spotted, Park opened fire on Chung and two other soldiers. The soldiers shot back and hit Park at least three times in the legs and head.

Park ran 30 yards up the mountain before he collapsed, four bullets still in his gun.

Commandos carried him down the mountain face down on a stretcher, his bloodied hands tied behind his back. Yonhap TV reported that his leg was bandaged, indicating he was injured in Tuesday's gun battle.

series of amendments at what they considered the bill's soft spots, seeking to shrink GOP cuts in Medicare, Medicaid, education and the earned income tax credit for low-wage workers. They were turned back in every instance, but not before Democrats sought political points.

"Republicans have overreached," declared Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass. "They've been caught red-handed. Their cuts in Medicare are too harsh and extreme."

Some GOP amendments were successful. One by Sen. Nancy Kassebaum, R-Kan., approved 99-0, restored $5.9 billion in reductions in student loans. That was part of a deal Dole reached with Republican moderates that also eased cuts in Medicaid and Medicare. The leader also agreed to restore most nursing home standards for Medicaid patients, which the original version would have killed.

Another amendment by Sen. John Chafee, R-R.I., would require states to provide Medicaid coverage for disabled people as defined by the federal government. The provision, approved 60-39, was opposed by Dole and GOP governors, who wanted to let states decide who qualifies as disabled.

The Senate voted on 20 amendments Thursday in a session that stretched past midnight, and planned votes on dozens of others today.
