

Delinquent taxpayers facing final notice

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer

Unless business owners who owe delinquent taxes on business personal property respond to an appeal, they will find their property seized.

Bancroft and Mouton law firm, which collects delinquent taxes, is initiating a campaign to warn of possible tax warrants against about 150 Howard County delinquent taxpayers, said Legal Assistant Brad Estill.

The firm collected $126,978.40 in delinquent taxes in August, the largest total in the 18 months the firm has been collecting the taxes, he said.

A tax warrant is the harshest measure of collection, he said, and is used as a final alternative. It begins with sending the tax owner a letter stating application for a warrant has been filed with District Judge Jim Gregg.

At this point most people pay, Estill said.

He intends to have letters sent during the next month or two to the 150 taxpayers who owe a combined total of $30,000 to $40,000.

He noted that "although we're trying to handle 150 right now, no personal property taxpayer who is delinquent is immune to this process."

"It's just a matter of time before we get to them," Estill said.

He said that 20 days will be allowed for the tax owner to cover his debt from the time the letter is received.

An affidavit signed by Tax Assessor/collector Dorothy Moore stating the taxes are owed is submitted with the application for a warrant, he said.

After the judge signs a warrant, the sheriff is ordered to seize enough property, described in the application, to pay the tax plus penalties and interest, court costs, attorneys' and other fees, Estill said.

The seized property is then offered for sale to the public, with proceeds going to pay the tax and fees.

"We don't like to use" this procedure, except as a last resort, Estill said, but he added that delinquent taxpayers typically respond to it quickly.

In order to retrieve seized property before the sale, the delinquent taxpayer must post a cash or surety bond for an amount decreed by Moore, he said. The bond must be for at least the amount of the tax, and can include the extra penalties and fees, he said.

In addition, if a business owner also owes taxes on his home or other non-business property, enough business personal property is seized to cover that amount as well as the business tax, Estill said.

That was the case for one of five delinquent taxpayers threatened with the procedure recently, he said.

Four of the taxpayers paid the amount in full, and the other is attempting to pay it under contract, he said, adding that the firm collected about $3,000 in taxes owed.

Suicide

Awareness of children's feelings urged

Editor's note: This article is the second in a series on youth suicide — a national problem — and concern about the problem in Howard County. The series was prompted by the scheduling of a youth suicide seminar this Saturday from 9 a.m. to noon in Howard College Auditorium.

In this article the names have been changed to provide anonymity.

Parents need to be more aware of their children's feelings and pay closer attention to their problems, say two local women whose lives have been touched by suicide.

A Big Spring counselor concurs, explaining that parents often avoid therapy for fear of social stigma. Sandy, the daughter of Rhonda's close friend, was only 16 when she ended her life.

The girl apparently believed there was no other way to deal with the sexual abuse her father had forced upon her for several years.

Sandy's mother refused to believe her daughter when she tried to tell of the abuse. The girl even became involved with a church youth group in an unsuccessful attempt to get help, said Rhonda, a Big Spring resident. Nothing seemed to work, so Sandy did what some teen-agers attempt to do — commit suicide.

Two months after she and her family left their home in California to live in Colorado, Sandy killed herself.

She got into the new car her grandparents had bought for her, turned on the ignition and breathed the toxic and fatal fumes, Rhonda said.

"It made me sick to my stomach to think Sandy's death was partly her mother's fault because she didn't believe her daughter," Rhonda said.

"Kids have problems and need someone or somewhere to turn," she added.

Petitioners supporting prison pact

By STEVE REAGAN
Staff Writer

Officials say they are pleased with response to a petition drive supporting construction of a medium-to-maximum security state prison in Big Spring.

Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce Executive Vice-President LeRoy Tillery said the petitions — available throughout the community — must be in the mail to the Texas Department of Corrections by Thursday. He is confident the drive will gather 5,000 signatures.

Corky Harris, chairman for the drive being organized by the Chamber, couldn't be reached for comment.

Upon construction the facility would be the third prison in Big Spring. A privately-owned federal medium prison also is scheduled to be built in the area. The most likely location would be near the existing Federal Prison Camp at the Industrial Park, according to discussion among city officials.

The proposed state prison will have the capacity to house 2,250 inmates and would employ 760 with a monthly payroll of $1.3 million, according to city councilman Johnny Rutherford.

The petition supporting construction of the state prison reads: I support construction and operation of a 2,250-inmate state correctional facility in Big Spring and encourage officials of the City to provide improvements necessary to accommodate such a correctional facility.

Our community's positive experience with the local Federal Prison Camp and the obvious economic benefits prompt me to support such a facility.

Tillery said the petitions have been circulated to several businesses in town. Although he is uncertain how many signatures have been gathered to date, he said this morning that he believes at least 5,000 signatures will be on the petitions by Thursday.

Anyone can sign the petition, Tillery said. All that is required on it is the person's name, address and phone number.

Tillery said he knows of no efforts in opposition to the petition drive or the proposed state prison.

Downtown efforts will be honored

Herald staff report

The next steps in the downtown redevelopment project will be taken Thursday as the office incubator has its grand opening and ground is broken at the pocket park site.

The ceremony will be at 11 a.m. Thursday at Main Street Inc., the small business incubator at 309 Main St., said Downtown Coordinator Teri Quinones.

The groundbreaking at Tubb Pocket Park next door will be at 11:15 a.m., she said.

The incubator, owned by Pat Porter, who also owns Gail Office Supply and Yes Business Service next door, is in the historic Sparenberg building.

The building, constructed in 1928, has been historically renovated outside, Quinones said. Inside it is a contemporary office setting separated into 10 spaces, in which the tenants share services such as telephones, computers, copier and secretarial/receptionist staff, she said.

The pocket park will be constructed at 311 Main St. It will be transformed into a landscaped, open area for lunches, outdoor entertainment, farmer's markets and art shows, Quinones said.

The park should be complete by December, she said.

Without debate, $6.9 million county budget OK'd

By KERRY HAGLUND
Staff Writer

Without debate, or comment from the public, Howard County commissioners took all of 30 seconds Monday to unanimously approve a $6.9 million budget.

The budget for 1987-88 features a 31-cent tax rate — a five-cent increase from the current 26-cent rate.

Commissioners also approved a resolution supporting a state prison in Big Spring, agreed to accept bids for property insurance, and heard paying $130 in taxes on a home with an assessed value of $50,000 will pay $155 next year as a result of the change.

Despite the increased tax rate — a result of declining valuations — the adopted budget is nearly $1.3 million less than the current $8.1 million budget.

Olson attributed the smaller budget to a completed Courthouse Annex.

Commissioners had budgeted $1.5 million during the 1986-87 fiscal year for Annex renovations. No more renovations was budgeted this year, however.

Commissioners met at 9 a.m. Monday, adjourned for lunch, and convened for additional business, including the tax rate and budget votes, at 1 p.m.

They opted to set a tax rate slightly above the calculated effective tax rate of 30.42 cents per $100 of property valuation. A 31-cent rate was required to finance the budget, Howard County Auditor Jackie Olson said.

The effective rate is the rate that must be assessed to raise the same amount of revenue raised during the past year.

Had the rate been set at more than 31.33 cents per $100 of valuation, state law would have required notification of the change through letters to taxpayers or a notice in the Big Spring Herald.

Olson said the county expects to collect about 59 percent of its revenues through taxes. Other revenue will be raised from local, state and federal sources such as fees for certain services.

Overall, the budget is similar to the past year, Olson said.

One difference, however, is a $65 per month salary increase for all full-time employees. The pay raise includes commissioners, who will earn a base salary of $26,538 with the pay increase, Olson said.

The last county pay raise was during the 1985-86 fiscal year, she said.

In addition, the subsidy for the city/county ambulance service will increase $23,500 — from $36,000 to $59,500, Olson said.

The county retained the same level of funding for most programs including $20,000 for the Downtown Steering Committee, $6,000 for the rape crisis center, $16,100 for three local senior citizen groups and $6,000 for the Dora Roberts

$1 billion SSC package to be on ballot

AUSTIN (AP) — If Texans approve, a $1 billion inducement package to lure the superconducting supercollider to the state will likely be the largest in the nation, officials said Monday.

Voters will be asked Nov. 3 to allow the state to borrow $500 million to help lure the project to Texas.

"I don't know of anybody who is participating in the funding at this level or magnitude," said Glen Parkey, Amarillo mayor and vice chairman of a group appointed by Gov. Bill Clements to push the proposed general obligation bond sale on the November election ballot.

The Legislature already has authorized the sale of $500 million in general revenue bonds for the supercollider, which is expected to cost $4.4 billion to build and have a $275 million annual operating budget.

"I've heard a number of reports in the press that there are other states with billion-dollar inducement packages, but I have not seen any legislation indicating a package anywhere near the Texas package," said Executive Director Edward Bingler of the Texas National Research Laboratory Commission, which heard a report from Parkey Monday.

The commission has recommended to the U.S. Department of Energy that the supercollider be placed either in Dallas-Fort Worth or Amarillo. Five other Texas site proposals — one near El Paso, one near Midland and three in the Houston-Beaumont area — have been submitted independently to the department.

Twenty other states have submitted site proposals for the supercollider, a 52-mile, near-circular tunnel in which subatomic particles will be smashed together at high speeds to allow researchers to study the makeup of matter.

The list of contenders for the atom smasher is expected to be narrowed in December, and a site is expected to be chosen in July 1988.

"Passage of Proposition 19 is very critical to our success," Parkey said of the proposed bond sale. "Texas is perceived as a front-runner in the competition, if not the front-runner. I think we need to do all we can to maintain that."

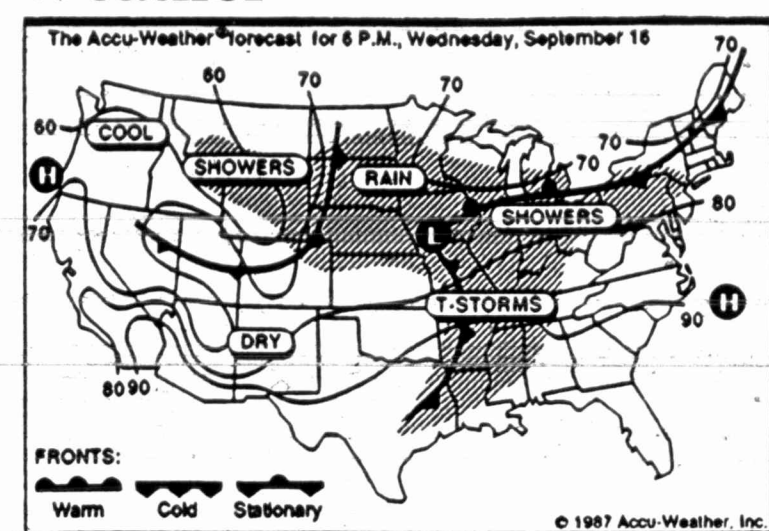

The group pushing Proposition 19 has hired Karl Rove & Co. of Austin for the effort, Parkey said. Rove was an adviser to Clements in the 1986 gubernatorial campaign.

A total of $850,000, which is to be collected in fundraising efforts throughout the state, has been budgeted to push the bond sale.

Peter Flawn, chairman of the research laboratory commission, said the presence of the unofficial Texas sites in the supercollider competition should help in promoting the bond sale throughout the state.

The commission received a letter from legal counsel Ed Toles, a Dallas bond attorney, saying the bond money could be used for the supercollider even if the federal government selects one of the unofficial Texas sites.

Suicide

they're afraid to seek counseling because of what the neighbors might think," said Jake Glickman, a Big Spring family therapist.

A stigma is associated with therapy, the therapist said. Children and parents are afraid people will make fun of them at work or at school, he added.

Many people think friends might avoid them whenever they're in counseling or have mental problems, Glickman said. And employers are hesitant to hire applicants who have been counseled because employers wonder about their stability, he added.

Those being counseled are a source of gossip. Neighbors often won't let their children play with children who are seeing a counselor, Glickman said.

Some parents are afraid their jobs will be affected if their child needs counseling, he added.

"There's no doubt in my mind that this occurs in Big Spring," Glickman said.

Arthur, a Big Spring youth, was 14 when he decided to attempt suicide. Although he discussed his intentions with counselors, he never revealed them to his mother, Lisa.

Arthur's parents had divorced; his father had remarried and a new baby was expected.

"He felt rejected," Lisa said. Arthur's suicide was avoided when a school counselor found him suffering from the effects of a toxic substance Arthur had sniffed. The counselor had Arthur rushed to the hospital.

That was Arthur's cry for help, Lisa said.

"There was no question whether to seek counseling for him. If he hadn't had counseling, problems would continue to exist," she added.

"We haven't told anyone because it would be too stressful for him," Lisa said.

"He wanted to know if his family thought he was crazy because he needed counseling. We told him he was not crazy, but he had to have some help," Lisa said.

It was four months before he said a single word to the doctor about his problems. "But we never thought of giving up on him," she added.

Lisa's experiences have convin-ed her of the need for the entire family to be included in the counseling process.

"It has even brought our family closer together," she said.

Although Arthur's mother sees the need for continued counseling for her son, progress has been obvious, she said.

Glickman said nearly everyone has thought of committing suicide at one time in their life — teenagers more than any other collective group.

Poor self-esteem or self-image is a major reason, Glickman said.

Parents often bombard their children with negative comments, such as calling the child stupid, an idiot, dumb, or telling them they're ugly.

Another cause is laying blame for a divorce on the child, he noted.

Parents need to be more aware of their children's feelings. "A lot of parents have no more idea of the signs of depression than they would taking apart a car and putting it back together again," Glickman said.

At the same time, he recognizes the challenges of parenthood.

"Raising a child is the hardest thing they will ever do," he added.

County budget

Rehabilitation Center. Funding of the city/county health unit was increased from $50,300 to $55,000. Olson said the figure is an estimate of what will be needed during the next year.

The city also provides monies for the health unit.

Olson said the county hopes to end the fiscal year with a $2 million balance. The county will use the reserve funds for operations during the first few months of the year when tax collections are low, she said.

Commissioners also passed a resolution supporting construction of a state-owned prison in Big Spring.

The county agreed to provide the necessary resources to bring a Big Spring site in compliance with Texas Department of Corrections' specifications — agreeing to spend as much as $600,000 to do so.

City Councilman Johnny Rutherford said the city is proposing construction of the prison at the Big Spring McMahon-Wrinkle Airpark, but other sites will be considered.

If Big Spring is chosen, the county probably would be asked to level the land, he said. TDC requires that elevation within the approximately 80-acre compound not vary more than six feet.

The TDC, which is seeking proposals statewide, must receive them by 3 p.m. Monday, Rutherford said.

Other area cities including Sweetwater, Andrews and Colorado City also are vying for the prison, he said, but he expressed optimism of Big Spring's chances.

In another matter, Auditor Olson said the county's property insurance with Parks Agency Inc. expires in January. Commissioners agreed to accept bids for insurance.

They also heard a report on an employee benefits plan from Don Reynolds of Employee Benefits Corp. in Lubbock.

The program enables the county to redirect taxable income to a non-taxable status.

Commissioners reacted favorably to the plan, but took no action at Monday's meeting.

Olson also presented the monthly financial report and said the county has $2.2 million in all funds.

Teacher appraisals planned

FORSAN — The School Board set dates for teacher appraisal periods for the 1987-88 school year at its regular meeting Monday night, reported Superintendent J.F. Poyner.

The first appraisal period will begin Monday and end Jan. 8, 1988. The second semester period will be from Jan. 25 to May 20, Poyner said.

The board also named a list of appraisers, he said.

In other business, the Board: • Named Board Member Lee George as its nominee for a position on the Howard County Tax Appraisal District.

• Agreed to continue discussing the possibility of amending the district's communicable disease policy. Poyner said that he and four board members will attend a board members meeting in San Antonio this weekend, and will attend seminars on the subject.

In addition, Poyner said he is participating in a seminar in October that will address the issue. He said the Board will discuss amending the policy in its October meeting.

Group plans 4-H programs

Herald staff report

The 4-H and Youth Committee discussed establishing several 4-H leadership programs including a youth leadership lab, an AIDS educational program and a county ambassador program.

The committee met Tuesday at the Howard County Extension office.

County Extension Agent Don Richardson said the leadership lab will involve older youth training younger ones.

"We're excited about it; it will offer leadership opportunities to a lot of kids," Richardson said.

"We plan to capitalize our talents on senior 4-H members who have had leadership training."

Committee member Sharon Richardson, a Big Spring High School teacher, will serve as resource person for the project and Joan Rock will assist, Richardson said.

No date has been set for the lab, but Richardson said it may be conducted in January.

The committee also discussed having 4-H members present educational programs at the Health Fair Nov. 14 to gain leadership experience.

An awareness program about acquired immune deficiency syndrome is another project the committee will consider.

The committee also discussed expansion of 4-H projects in the areas of horse/horsemanship, wildlife, dog care/training, consumer education and computers.

More than 200 Howard County youth are members of seven county clubs, Richardson said, adding that committee members hope to increase involvement.

Texans say papal visit success for everyone

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The papal trip to Texas proved to be a personal success for the people who saw him and a publicity success for the city that hosted him.

"Even if he just waves at me a little bit, he is blessing me," said Andrew Gonzalez, a retiree who had to walk only two blocks from his home Monday to watch the pope's motorcade depart to Kelly Air Force Base.

In just one full day here, Pope John Paul II celebrated an outdoor Mass that drew 300,000 people, spoke to Texans in English, Spanish and Polish, drove by the Alamo and became perhaps the first visiting dignitary to leave the state without donning a cowboy hat.

Bishop John Fitzpatrick of Brownsville was among the clergymen who pronounced the visit an inspirational success for Catholics.

"It kind of touches our conscience," he said.

Mayor Henry Cisneros, whose ailing infant son was blessed by the pope, said the visit also provided the blessing of publicity for the city known by many as little more than the home of the Alamo. He pointed out that San Antonio hosted a downtown Grand Prix auto race a week before the papal visit.

"San Antonio has proven itself, in a short span of time, able to turn around and handle what can only be called a world-class event and do so with grace and competence, and I am very proud of our city," Cisneros said Sunday night.

The mayor said John Paul II's brief stay included a look at a cross-section of the community, including the Alamo and a poor section of town.

Fitzpatrick said the pope's message transcended economic classes.

"The message is everybody, individually, is an important person. He was not here just to say hello to politicians and move on. No matter how poorly you're dressed, you're important," the bishop said.

Archbishop Patrick Flores said the visit also had particular meaning for Texas' large Hispanic population.

"I think the pope wanted Hispanics to know they were not being taken for granted," Flores said.

Sunday night, at Our Lady of Guadalupe Plaza, the pope said in Spanish, "I am happy to know that the number of Hispanic priests and religious men and women is growing. But many more are needed."

He also met with Polish Catholics from the Texas city of Panna Maria, addressed a Catholic Charities meeting and visited San Fernando Cathedral, the nation's oldest cathedral sanctuary.

MHMR suit finds accord

DALLAS — Both sides in a dispute over conditions in Texas mental hospitals are pleased with a settlement to a 13-year-old lawsuit.

"I think it's an agreement that will benefit the mentally ill citizens in Texas," said Dr. Gary Miller, state commissioner of mental health and mental retardation.

Legal Services attorney Margo Michels, representing the plaintiffs, said the agreement appears to be a sincere effort by the state to improve conditions for patients in state hospitals.

As part of the agreement, filed here Monday with U.S. District Court Judge Barefoot Sanders, state officials agreed to increase staff at some mental hospitals.

The agreement also stipulated transfers for mentally retarded clients who no longer need hospitalization.

Doctor with AIDS evaded

MESQUITE — A pediatrician said he will be forced to close his practice in this east Dallas suburb because of the hysteria created by reports he is infected with the AIDS virus.

Since Friday, when it was revealed in media reports that he tested positive for the acquired immune deficiency syndrome virus, patients have been calling to cancel appointments, Dr. Robert J. Huse said.

Jennifer Skinner, the mother of two of Huse's patients, was unsympathetic Monday to the doctor's plight.

"I want him crucified," Mrs. Skinner told the Dallas Times Herald. "I really don't care if it ruins his practice. I don't want him to go somewhere else to treat other little babies."

Huse said he was diagnosed as having HIV, a designation given the AIDS virus in July 1985, but never told his patients because he felt he wasn't a threat to their health.

FSLIC puts out sale sign

DALLAS — Need a skyscraper? Or perhaps a gracious Southern home?

The Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp. said Monday that such properties — part of the portfolio of failed institutions — will be offered for sale soon at markdowns of about 50 percent.

Prices range from $150,000 to $55 million, and sales will be on an all-cash basis.

In a new marketing step, the FSLIC opened a center to sell more than $400 million in real estate and mortgage loan portfolios acquired from failed institutions.

The properties will be listed at the FSLIC Southern Regional Office in Dallas. Interested buyers can browse through a slide show at the center advertising the properties.

Officials say cost of visit was worth it

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The final bill is still out on the cost of Pope John Paul II's visit, but the bottom line already has pleased some officials.

The city's cost will be at least $390,000 for 800 police officers to be on duty for crowd and traffic control at the Mass site and parade routes.

Jodie Kniejski, who coordinated Bexar County's effort for the papal visit, said her agency's bill could run up to $100,000 to pay for sheriff's deputies, support personnel and traffic control officers for Sunday's papal visit.

"After what I saw yesterday, I am convinced it was worth it," County Judge Tom Vickers said Monday.

He said the county would have no problem finding $100,000 in its $150 million total budget.

"What you justify it on is the public's safety," Vickers said. "You're going to have him in town and you're going to have hundreds of thousands of people and you're going to have to take care of them."

Karen Kliewer, the city's intergovernmental relations director, said, "I think all of our people were very well prepared. My people at the command post were bored and that's what I wanted."

Ms. Kliewer said the archdiocese would reimburse the city for some expenditures, including medical costs at the Mass site where 500 people were treated for heat-related ailments. She said the city's image from the event was worth the expense.

"I've heard nothing but positive comments for the city and that it went so smoothly. There were just no surprises," she said.

Bork hearings begin; Ford backs nomination

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hearings on Robert H. Bork's nomination to the Supreme Court began today as former President Gerald R. Ford, seated at Bork's side before the Senate Judiciary Committee, endorsed him as "uniquely qualified" for the job.

Ford, in an unusual appearance for a former president, said in remarks prepared for the hearing that Bork has distinguished himself as a private attorney, law professor, the nation's solicitor general and a judge on the U.S. Court of Appeals.

Members of the divided committee said prior to the confirmation hearings they hoped the sessions would cut through the contentious rhetoric of recent weeks and demonstrate whether the judge is fit to join the high court.

"I hope we're finally getting through the smoke and the hype and the hoopla and the hyperbole and find out who Judge Bork is, instead of the babbling that is coming up on both sides," Sen. Alan Simpson, R-Wyo., said.

Sen. Patrick Leahy, D-Vt., said Bork was "definitely not the man I would have chosen to go on the Supreme Court," but added that he's anxious to hear Bork's testimony. Both Leahy and Simpson were interviewed on NBC-TV's "Today" show.

Ford said in remarks introducing Bork that he had known him since the mid-1960s when Bork taught at Yale Law School, which the ex-president had attended.

Referring to Bork's role in firing Watergate special prosecutor Archibald Cox, Ford said Bork "acted with integrity to preserve the continuity of both the Justice Department and special prosecutor's investigation. I think in retrospect that history has shown that his performance was in the nation's interest."

Ford said "Judge Bork's record on the bench has been exemplary," and he added that Bork is "uniquely qualified to sit on the U.S. Supreme Court."

Auto talks progress

DEARBORN, Mich. — Ford Motor Co. and union leaders drew back from the brink of a walkout and resumed talks today on a contract for 104,000 workers after "substantial progress" was made just before the strike deadline.

But 10,000 workers at Chrysler Corp.'s four Canadian plants went on strike at their Monday midnight deadline, forcing the shutdown of Chrysler's Belvidere, Ill., assembly plant, which employs 4,500 people.

United Auto Workers President Owen Bieber announced late Monday that the Ford contract, which was to expire at 11:59 p.m., had been extended until midnight tonight and a decision on further extensions would be made each day.

Porn stings catch 100

WASHINGTON — The government says more indictments are expected as it pursues child pornography collectors in sting operations that so far have netted more than 100 people.

Attorney General Edwin Meese III disclosed at a news conference Monday that dozens of U.S. Postal Inspection Service investigators and Customs Service agents have been operating undercover as suppliers of kiddie porn.

They have been targeting people who answered advertisements offering material containing graphic depictions of child sex.

Robertson plans to run

CHESAPEAKE, Va. — Television evangelist Pat Robertson, fresh from an "overwhelming victory" over his Republican rivals, said today he has exceeded his goal of 3 million signatures in support of his presidential campaign and will formally enter the race on Oct. 1.

Robertson also said he has collected more than $10 million in contributions.

At a news conference in this southern Virginia community where he has his campaign headquarters, Robertson recalled that a year ago he began an effort to determine "if there truly exists a grassroots groundswell of support for a candidacy by me for the Republican nomination for the presidency of the United States."

Prosecutor asks prison for Haddow

WASHINGTON (AP) — The prosecution is asking a federal judge to imprison C. McClain Haddow for violating conflict-of-interest laws while he was chief of staff to former Health and Human Services Secretary Margaret M. Heckler.

Haddow, who admitted improperly receiving $55,330 from the government and a private foundation, "debased his positions for his own and his wife's financial gain," the Justice Department said in its sentencing memo filed in the case.

Haddow, 37, who pleaded guilty to two conflict of interest charges, was scheduled to appear for sentencing today before U.S. District Judge Gerhard Gesell.

Haddow, who was Mrs. Heckler's executive assistant and later chief of staff, could receive a maximum sentence of four years in prison and a $500,000 fine.

In the sentencing memo, Justice Department prosecutor G. Allen Carver did not ask for a specific term of imprisonment. But Carver said that "in order adequately to recognize and address the seriousness of Mr. Haddow's offense, the sentence imposed in this case should include a term of actual imprisonment."

Haddow admitted that while at HHS he had a financial interest in the T. Bear Foundation, which was set up under government auspices to promote handwashing among doctors and nurses to reduce hospital-based infections.

Haddow admitted he and his wife, Alice, received $33,540 of the $37,400 that the foundation paid to Michelle Magoon for fund raising.

Magoon paid the Haddows 90 percent of the money she received from the foundation as part of a special arrangement made with Haddow, according to the indictment.

NASA reports tapped

FRANKFURT, West Germany — West German hackers tapped an international computer network used by the U.S. space agency and gained information on space shuttle projects and rocket boosters, a West German news report said today.

The unidentified hackers gained regular access to the network, including at least 20 NASA computers, between May and this month through a flaw in the computer's security system, according to the ARD television network.

U.N. Iran visit ends

BAGHDAD, Iraq — U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar left for New York today, concluding a peace mission during which Baghdad called for international sanctions against Iran and Tehran insisted that Iraq be condemned as the aggressor.

He told reporters at the airport he discussed in detail in Tehran and Baghdad "an outline of a plan for the implementation of the (U.N. Security Council) resolution" calling for a truce in the 7-year-old Persian Gulf war.

"I did not arrive empty-handed," the U.N. chief said. He refused to elaborate.

A U.N. source, who briefed reporters earlier on condition of anonymity, said Perez de Cuellar found that Iran has moderated its stance regarding a cease-fire.

Hijacking trial begins

ADIYALA, Pakistan — Five handcuffed Arab defendants pleaded innocent today to charges of hijacking and murder in the 1986 airport seizure of a Pan Am jumbo jet in which 21 people were killed and nearly 200 wounded.

It was the first time the five — three Lebanese, a Syrian and a Libyan — appeared together before a special one-man tribunal set up inside Adiyala district prison near Islamabad.

All could hang if convicted. The defendants ended a 30-day hunger strike after winning demands for radios, fresh air and removal of leg chains.

Singleton moves into top ten publishers

DALLAS — In the business sport of newspaper publishing, Dallas Times Herald owner William Dean Singleton is now a seeded player.

Singleton has passed Australian media mogul Rupert Murdoch in a meteoric rise toward being counted among the top ten publishers in the country. Total daily circulation of Singleton's MediaNews Group — which now includes major daily and Sunday newspapers in Dallas, Houston and Denver — rounds out to 1.31 million, just ahead of Murdoch's News America Publishing at 1.27 million. Both contenders are edging in on the No. 10 spot held by the Hearst Corp. with 1.45 million circulation.

A.H. Belo Corp., publisher of the Dallas Morning News and several Dallas area suburban newspapers, had at March 31 a total daily circulation of 442,295, about a third the size of MediaNews Group, according to industry analyst John Morton with the Washington, D.C., media-watching firm of Lynch, Jones & Ryan.

With the addition of The Houston Post and The Denver Post to his newspaper holdings, Singleton has — within a four-day period — riveted the attention of the publishing industry to his wheeling and dealing.

"Singleton has put together large properties in three competitive markets that were, in the past, economically dynamic," said R. Joseph Fuchs, a newspaper analyst with Kidder, Peabody & Co. in New York. "That makes him a factor."

Publishing contenders in a secondary position in a two-newspaper market, however, face similar and formidable challenges, he said.

"It is a difficult job for the (number two) property to ultimately make money and survive," he said. "It is a very large mountain to climb."

He continued, "Murdoch doesn't earn money on an earnings basis. He survives on cash flow."

Fuchs termed Singleton's purchases "very aggressive" moves. "They need to be managed aggressively and he needs a little bit of economic luck," he said. "Everybody's interested in seeing him do it."

Morton of Lynch, Jones & Ryan, said, "Singleton has a reputation for being a very aggressive and savvy operator, but the jury is still out. A lot will hinge on what happens to the economy (in Denver)."

Morton's office provided the current circulation rankings of other top publishers: Gannett Co., 6.03 million; Knight-Ridder Newspapers, 3.85 million; Newhouse Newspapers, 3.56 million; Tribune Co., 2.74 million; Dow Jones & Co., 2.58 million; Times Mirror Corp., 2.55 million; The New York Times Co., 1.90 million; Scripps Howard, 1.67 million; and Thomson Newspapers, 1.49 million.

350 mourn at services for Lorne Greene

CULVER CITY, Calif. (AP) — Actor Lorne Greene's real and television families were among 350 mourners who attended memorial services at which his daughter remembered him as a man "loved by all who knew him."

"He was a man who took care of his family. He was a man who always had a story or a joke to tell to ease the pain," Rabbi Steve Jacobs told those who gathered Monday at Hillside Memorial Park here.

Greene, 72, died Friday at St. John's Hospital in Santa Monica.

"THAT'S CUTE. WHAT KIND OF CAR WILL IT BE WHEN IT GROWS UP?"

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE

From the Carroll Righter Institute
FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 16, 1987

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Be sure you understand exactly what others say today, or you'll let yourself in for an unfortunate misunderstanding. You'll be able to show your talents well this evening, but don't be boastful.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Get to work fixing up your home today, but don't invite anyone in to visit. Avoid becoming involved in an argument between a family member and an outsider.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Take time out from your routines to work on your appearance. Plan some amusements which will lighten your spirits. Work on finding needed information.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Work on establishing more harmony at home. Don't take any risks if you go out with your mate this evening. Put pleasures aside for now and be practical.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Leave home early today and get started on shopping and visiting, but only for constructive purposes. Be well prepared with data for some important writing.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Drive carefully, and be sure to count your change when shopping. Do something to improve your property, and set up a new budget. Postpone a visit for now.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Don't let yourself become confused over monetary affairs. Use your good sense of humor to please some good friends later today. Carefully consider your situation.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) It would be wise to listen to suggestions from a superior since your ideas are not so good now. Be sure your mate agrees with your plans for a splurge tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Don't permit anyone to involve you in a crooked scheme, or you could get into a good deal of trouble. Get out socially with a good friend and have fun tonight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) A pal could unwittingly give you the wrong advice, so don't rush blindly into anything. Plan carefully before introducing your mate around.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Don't try to wrench a favor from a superior, but join an associate at some new kind of activity. You may be forgetful today, so jot down notes on important matters.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Avoid a new contact who has an eye on your assets, and keep busy with those who are helpful to you. Do something nice for your mate, but be practical about it.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Forget those dull routines, and find some new activity which can bring you advancement. A little risk may work out fine today, but be sure not to push your luck.

If Your Child Is Born Today
He or she will have a very analytical mind and the ability to always rely on his or her own judgment. Outside influences could easily distract your progeny, so teach him or her to focus the attention on the project at hand. Your child could excel at nearly any profession, so don't push any certain ideas.

Crossroads Chalk Talk

The second week of football action was another good one for Crossroads Country teams. Five teams came away with wins, while four teams suffered losses.

Forsan, Stanton and Colorado City all remained undefeated. Sands and Garden City got their first wins of the season.

Coahoma, Borden County and Klondike lost their first games, leaving Grady as the lone area winless team.

Here is what area coaches had to say about last Friday's action and this Friday's opponent.

Mike Mathis, Grady, on his team's 37-13 loss to Blackwell and this week's game against Highland — "I wasn't satisfied with the way we played. We played better the week before. The defense played fairly well but I thought we could score more points. But the kids are gaining confidence because we're playing each team closer. Last year we were getting beat by 40 points.

"Highland is not as good as they have been in the past. They are still big, but we feel like we've got a good chance to win. It all depends on how the kids play."

Tom Ham, Klondike, on his team's 28-0 loss to Jayton and this week's game versus Ira — "If Jayton gets into the state playoff again, they'll have a tough road to hoe. They had one of their key players injured against us.

"At times we looked real good and other times we had mental let-downs. We've got to learn to go through the bad times in games and not let it worry us. We didn't block very well and our quarterback took a beating. He really earned his supper.

"We're afraid of Ira. They are a lot like we are. They line up in multiple sets and they like to throw and run the ball. I think there will be some offensive fireworks in this game."

MIKE MATHIS

TOM HAM

Steve Park, Coahoma, on his team's 10-0 loss to Stanton and this Friday's Howard County Bowl II against Forsan — "We have a young, inexperienced offensive line and it came out against Stanton. Nobody on our line had any previous varsity experience. Stanton brought a lot of people — sometimes they would bring eight people. We just didn't pick up the stunts.

"Forsan will be a big ball game. We won't have any problem getting pumped up for them. They might use a few new wrinkles but Jan (Forsan coach Jan East) has a good, quality ballclub. I don't see them changing very much for us. They've been successful with what they've been doing."

Sam Scott, Garden City, on his team getting its first win and starting District 6-A play Friday against Irion County — "It was a big mental boost to get that first win. These kids haven't won very much in the last two or three years, so it meant a lot to them.

"The kids started gaining confidence in the first game against Paducah. We lost 40-14, but we took it to them pretty good physically. We dominated against Grandfalls. The defense played well and our offense moved the ball all game, and we put some points on the board in the second half.

"Irion County has lost a lot of the talent they've had in the last four years. They've got two kids that are real good players, but after that they're just like anybody else. It's the district opener, and we need this one bad."

Dale Ruth, Stanton, on his team's whitewashing of Coahoma and this week's test against Greenwood — "We played 100 percent better offensively, and better on defense. Against Seagraves the first week we looked real sloppy.

"I'm really surprised we stopped Coahoma's running game as well as we did. Matt Rowell (Coahoma running back) is dangerous. The key was shutting him down.

"Greenwood is big and has some speed in the backfield. They run the Wishbone like we do and that will help us because our defense sees the Wishbone every day."

Joe Bond, Borden County, on his team's first loss of the season, to Sands — "I hope our kids learn from the experience. One good thing about it is that it wasn't a district game. The kids are learning from their mistakes though."

JAN EAST

TOM RAMSEY

Tom Ramsey, Colorado City, on his Wolves being undefeated and taking on tough Post this week — "Offensively, we looked better. We rolled up 385 yards total offense, and 307 of it was on the ground. With those kind of stats, you usually win. Our line is blocking better and our backs are running better.

"Old Post looks good again. With Denver City losing they might break into the top 20. This is a typical Post team — they play good defense, have good speed on a good tailback. It pays to play good people like this because it will help you further on down the line."

Sid McCowan, Sands, on his team's 34-18 win over Borden County — "We only suited up 11 players but the kids held on. Four of the 11 were freshmen. We should get back two players that have been injured this week.

"We ran our option well. We would have run it more but the field was wet."

Jan East, Forsan, on his team's 28-14 win over Plains, and this week's game versus Coahoma in Howard County Bowl II — "Offensively we played a lot better but we didn't play quite as well on defense. We ran the football well. We gained 263 yards rushing where we only gained 60 against Roscoe the week before.

Plains' passing game hurt us and that's my fault. I was scared of their passing game and we spent all day working on pass defense. I over-stressed passing and forgot about stopping the run.

"We won't have any problem getting pumped up for this one (Coahoma). It's going to be more of a challenge this year because we have to stop the Rowell kid. He's an added dimension to their offense."

Lendl wins U.S. Open

NEW YORK (AP) — No one was surprised Ivan Lendl won his third straight U.S. Open championship — except Ivan Lendl.

"I just can't believe I won this one," a flu-ridden Lendl said after his 6-7, 6-0, 7-6, 6-4 victory over Mats Wilander Monday. "I was out of juice for the last 3½ sets. It was strength of mind and a little bit of luck."

And the most relentless game tennis has seen since Bjorn Borg was in his prime.

"He's just steadier than anyone else," Wilander said. "If I don't play well the whole match, he plays the same and he wins."

Lendl joined John McEnroe as the only men to win three successive titles in the Open era.

"It's something I never dreamt of, it's unbelievable," said Lendl, the top seed who dropped only the one set to Wilander in the entire tournament and won his sixth Grand Slam crown — he has three French Open titles. "If somebody told me three years ago that I would win three in a row after losing three straight finals here, I wouldn't have believed it. I would have said that person was crazy."

Anyone who suggested that Wilander, a classic baseliner from Sweden and the third-ranked player in the world, would attempt to serve-and-volley in the Open final might have been accused of the same thing. But Wilander felt "it was the only way I could win."

Lendl, 27, of Czechoslovakia, has been accused of lacking emotion on the court.

"I tried to keep my emotions up because my strength was going up and down," he said. "I felt like I was falling over on two or three points ... then I felt stronger."

"When I lost my strength, I felt quicker and able to move better."

"I'm not as flashy as they are," he said of some of his tour opponents. "I don't have as much talent as others but I work very hard on my game and I'm steadier."

He proved that when he beat Wilander in the French Open final in June. He displayed it once again here.

"In this kind of match," he said after collecting the $250,000 first prize, "there is such little difference between the players."

Actually, there is a wide gap between Lendl and the rest of the men's tennis world. He certified that by winning a major title despite being ill.

Wilander got the first break of the match, in the fifth game. Lendl broke back in the eighth and they went into the tiebreaker.

Wilander, who clearly was the crowd favorite, held a set point at 6-5, but Lendl hit a service winner. After Wilander saved a set point with a spectacular forehand passing shot from the baseline, he won it when Lendl hit a forehand wide.

Lendl breezed through the second set as Wilander won only five points.

"Those things happen sometimes," Wilander said. "He got up on me early and released the tension from the first set."

There were six service breaks in the third set. Lendl broke in the first game and Wilander immediately broke back. The same thing happened in the next two games and the seventh and eighth games.

In the tiebreaker, Lendl jumped to a 4-0 lead.

Bears cut down Giants

CHICAGO (AP) — Mike Tomczak, Dennis McKinnon and the Chicago Bears defense had something to prove. They did it with such vicious determination that they left the Super Bowl champion New York Giants dumbled.

Tomczak threw touchdown passes of 42 and 56 yards, McKinnon came off of a one-year layoff with a team-record 94-yard punt return for a touchdown and the defense registered eight sacks for losses of 53 yards in a 34-19 rout of the Giants Monday night.

The much-heralded battle of the two previous Super Bowl champions turned into an unexpected rout.

"Take away the blocked punt and the interception and what did they have?" said McKinnon, who sat out 1986 because of a knee surgery.

In explaining his punt return, which eclipsed the previous team record of 89 yards by Ray "Scooter" McLean back in 1942, McKinnon said "I crawled for 20 yards, made a move and hit the end zone. That play sealed the coffin."

It came shortly after Terry Kinard intercepted a Tomczak pass and returned it 70 yards for a touchdown that cut the Bears' lead to 24-13 and gave the Giants a brief ray of hope.

The vaunted Giant defense did little to harass Tomczak, while the Bears were all over Giants' quarterback Phil Simms, who had his bell rung several times and twice had to leave the game to clear the cobwebs.

"They said hello to me a couple of times and I took some shots," said Tomczak, who nevertheless was not sacked once and threw touchdown passes of 42 yards to Ron Morris and 56 yards to Willie Gault in the third quarter.

Tomczak also sneaked a yard for a touchdown just before halftime and finished with 20 completions in 34 attempts for 292 yards.

The Giants took the opening kickoff and Simms quickly put the offense into gear as the Giants marched to the Chicago 10-yard line. Then came a sack by Todd Bell and Simms fumbled with Wilber Marshall recovering.

The Bears were forced to punt, but it was blocked by Erik Howard and Tom Flynn recovered in the end zone for a 7-0 New York lead.

Kevin Butler kicked a 24-yard field goal for the Bears before the quarter ended and then the Bears took charge after that with the defense repeatedly sacking Simms.

An 80-yard drive which ended with Tomczak's 1-yard sneak with :08 left in the half gave the Bears a 10-7 lead.

On Chicago's second possession in the second half, Tomczak hit Morris with a 42-yard touchdown pass. The next time the Bears got the ball, he threw a 56-yard touchdown pass to Gault on the first play.

Simms could have blamed his protection for breaking down, but said, "a couple of times I should have gotten rid of the ball earlier. I would have liked to gone deep down the field."

But in the end it was the Bears' defense that prevailed. The Giants managed only 75 yards rushing and 128 net yards passing.

Much had been made of which team had the better linebackers.

And for this game, the Bears' linebacking corps of Mike Singletary, Otis Wilson and Marshall all had a hand in the sacks.

Rangers nip A's in extra innings

ARLINGTON (AP) — Darrell Porter says there wasn't much question about the ball that Oakland reliever Steve Ontiveros threw him with the bases loaded and two outs in the bottom of the 11th inning.

"The last pitch wasn't that close," said Porter after the Texas Rangers edged the Athletics 2-1 on Monday night.

Ontiveros walked three consecutive batters to force home the winning run in the 11-inning victory.

With a runner on third and two outs, Oakland manager Tony LaRussa opted for an intentional walk to left-handed Pete O'Brien for Ontiveros, a righty, to pitch to Larry Parrish, also right-handed. The strategy failed when Ontiveros went to a full count and then walked Parrish, who had struck out in his three previous at-bats.

That brought up Porter, who had also fanned three times earlier. Ontiveros again went to a full count, then was off target and Porter forced home the winning run.

"The pitch was close," claimed Ontiveros, 8-8, "but it's ball four in the books. I just didn't get them tonight."

Rangers manager Bobby Valentine praised Parrish and Porter for their patience.

Astros 8, Dodgers 2

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An ankle injury to Billy Hatcher in July turned out to be a blessing in disguise for the Houston Astros. It brought them Gerald Young.

Young did enough Monday night against the Los Angeles Dodgers to help lead the fading Astros to an 8-2 victory that snapped Houston's eight-game road losing streak.

The rookie leadoff hitter had his second four-hit game of the season, reached base five times to extend his streak of reaching base to 23 consecutive games, set a club record with four stolen bases and scored two runs.

Young set up one of those runs by stealing second and third base in the sixth inning. It made him the third player in the majors this season with four steals in a game. Vince Coleman did it twice for the St. Louis Cardinals and Rickey Henderson did it once for the New York Yankees.

Sept. 17, 1787 Signing the Constitution

Our Constitution's birthday is Sept. 17. It was on this day 200 years ago that 41 delegates met at the State House in Philadelphia. After four long months, they had written a plan of government for our country. The delegates were ready to sign it and return to their homes. The final copy had been engrossed, or written in big and writing, on fine parchment. The delegates listened while it was read to the group.

Franklin's speech

Ben Franklin was 81 years old. He did not have the strength to stand and make a speech. He asked another delegate to read one he had written. Franklin said that he did not agree with everything in the constitution. However, he doubted that another convention would write a better one. He urged all the delegates to sign and support it.

This is the 21st in a monthly series about the Constitution.

Washington speaks

On his last day, George Washington, president of the convention, spoke out for the first time. He often consulted with members in private, but did not speak out. He urged the delegates to make a change in Article I. The number of representatives a state could send to Congress was changed from one for every 40,000 people to one for every 30,000.

Not everyone signed

Several delegates rose to say why they would not or could not support the Constitution. Three of the delegates at that final meeting refused to sign it. George Mason of Virginia did not sign the Constitution because it did not have a bill of rights. Edmund Randolph, also of Virginia, felt that it gave the president too much power. Elbridge Gerry of Massachusetts felt that it gave the central government too much power.

A Short Outline of the Constitution

The Constitution is a plan for governing our country. It has a preamble (introduction) and seven articles, or sections. The original Constitution covered these subjects:

- Article I: The Congress.
- Article II: The president.
- Article III: The judges and national courts.
- Article IV: How states relate to each other and to the national government.
- Article V: How the Constitution can be amended or changed.
- Article VI: The Constitution is the supreme law of the land.
- Article VII: Ratification or approval.

The Preamble

We the People of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.

Amendments to the Constitution

The first 10 amendments are called the Bill of Rights. Many people, including Thomas Jefferson, had agreed to support the Constitution only if these basic rights were added. This was done in 1791.

1st: Freedom of religion.	2nd: Limits searches and seizures.	3rd: Limits the quartering of soldiers.	4th: Excessive bail or punishment is forbidden.	5th: Citizens entitled to rights listed in the Constitution.	6th: Citizens entitled to trial by jury.	7th: Jury trial in civil cases.	8th: New way of electing president (1804).	9th: Election of senators by the people (1913).	10th: Limits the president to two terms (1951).
11th: Right to a speedy trial.	12th: Citizens entitled to bail or punishment is forbidden.	13th: Slavery abolished (1865).	14th: Banned the sale of alcohol (1919).	15th: Guarantees equal process and equal protection under the law (1868).	16th: Citizens entitled to rights listed in the Constitution.	17th: Women given the vote (1920).	18th: Banned the sale of alcohol (1919).	19th: Gives people in the District of Columbia the right to vote for president (1961).	20th: Limits the president to two terms (1951).
11th: Rules for lawsuits against states (1798).	14th: Guarantees equal process and equal protection under the law (1868).	15th: Slavery abolished (1865).	16th: Banned the sale of alcohol (1919).	17th: Election of senators by the people (1913).	18th: Citizens entitled to rights listed in the Constitution.	19th: Women given the vote (1920).	20th: Sets date when president's Congress begins (1933).	21st: Repeals 18th amendment (1933).	22nd: Limits the president to two terms (1951).
16th: Right of federal government to collect income taxes (1913).	19th: Women given the vote (1920).	20th: Sets date when president's Congress begins (1933).	21st: Repeals 18th amendment (1933).	22nd: Limits the president to two terms (1951).	23rd: Gives people in the District of Columbia the right to vote for president (1961).	24th: Forbids paying tax to vote (1964).	25th: If something happens to the president, who is next in line (1957).	26th: Sets 18 as the voting age (1971).

Rookie Cookie's Recipe

Crunchy Pork Chops

You'll need:

- 4 pork chops
- ½ cup Italian salad dressing
- ½ cup cornflakes, crushed

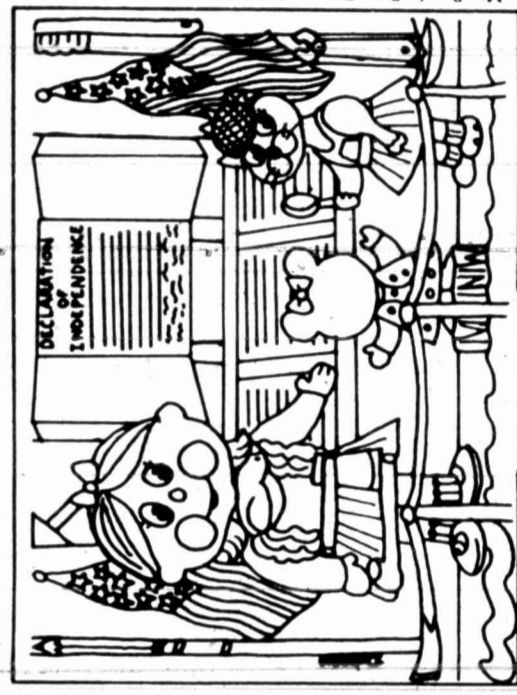

What to do:

1. Dip each pork chop in salad dressing, then roll in crushed cornflakes.
2. Place on baking pan and bake at 375 degrees for 45 minutes. Serves 4.

WHAT A GREAT DINNER!

The Signers of the Constitution Poster is an attractive, educational reference. This 22-by-28-inch illustration depicts the portraits and signatures and brief descriptions of the men behind the making of our Constitution. To order, send check or money order only for $2.50 plus 75 cents postage and handling to: The Signers Poster, c/o This Newspaper, P.O. Box 419150, Kansas City, Mo. 64141. Make checks payable to Andrews, McMeel & Parker.

Go dot to dot and color the Pennsylvania State House, where the Constitution was signed.

Constitution Quiz-a-Roo

Q: How were the delegates selected to go to the convention?
A: They were appointed by their state legislatures. There was no limit on how many the legislatures could appoint.

Q: How many delegates attended the Convention?
A: Fifty-five attended at some time or other. Usually no more than 40 delegates attended any one meeting.

Q: How many signed the Constitution?
A: Thirty-nine signed. One of the signatures is that of John Dickinson of Delaware, who had another delegate sign for him. The 40th signature is that of William Jackson, the secretary.

Q: Who is called the "Father of the Constitution"?
A: James Madison of Virginia, because he spoke out often and worked very hard for a strong national government. The notes he took during the convention are our best record of what went on.

Q: What state did not send any delegates?
A: Rhode Island.

Q: How long did it take the delegates to write the Constitution?
A: About 87 working days.

Q: Did Thomas Jefferson sign the Constitution?
A: No. He was out of the country, serving as our minister to France. This is the 38th in a mini series about the Constitution.

Gus Goodsport's Report

Supersport: Louis Lipps

Height: 5-10 Birthdate: 8-9-62
Weight: 187 College: Southern Mississippi

Pittsburgh Steelers wide receiver Louis Lipps holds seven team records. These include most touchdowns in a season (15) and most punt returns in a season (53). He is beginning his fourth year with the team. In 1984 and 1985, he was the only player in the league to score touchdowns three different ways: rushing, receiving and returning punts. He has played in two Pro Bowls. Louis was born in New Orleans and now lives in Pittsburgh.

Let's Celebrate the Constitution's Birthday

You will be seeing many of these We the People stickers. Tomorrow
Sept. 16

Celebration of Citizenship

To get ready for our Constitution's birthday, schools around the country are planning a special day on Sept. 16. It is called a Celebration of Citizenship. On that day, there will be a "teach-in" about the Constitution and the rights and responsibilities of citizenship. Kids are encouraged to wear special "We the People" stickers they can pick up at many food stores across the country. Everyone is encouraged to wear red, white and blue that day.

All Americans will be asked to join in saying the Pledge of Allegiance. Warren Burger, the former chief justice of the United States, will lead a reading of the Preamble. This celebration will call attention to learning more about our Constitution so we will become better citizens. Students are encouraged to study the history of the Constitution for the rest of the year.

The celebration is to last for years to come. You probably will study these themes in future school years:

- 1987-88 The Legislative Branch
- 1988-89 The Executive Branch
- 1989-90 The Judicial Branch
- 1990-91 The Bill of Rights and Amendments

The We the People Parade

Philadelphia is planning a big parade. Some say it will be the largest parade in our country's history.

Sept. 17

Bells Across America

At 4 p.m., bells will ring out across America. This bell ringing will celebrate the time that the Constitution was signed. The bells will ring for 200 seconds to celebrate the 200th birthday. Many cities are planning their own celebration. (All times are Eastern Daylight Times.)

The lost can be located with Salvation Army's aid

DEAR ABBY: Thank you so very much for your article on the Salvation Army finding lost relatives.

Because of your article my mother, Earlene Fay Haynes Click of Santa Fe, Texas, and my grandfather, Earl Haynes of Owensboro, Ky., were reunited after 42 years!

Our whole family would like to thank everyone who helped make this possible. You've really made my mother happy.

EARLENE'S DAUGHTER
DEAR DAUGHTER: Glad I was able to help.

Readers, the Salvation Army operates a Missing Persons Locator Service in 86 countries of the world. This is available to the public. Those interested in this service should be aware of the following basic guidelines:

1. The inquirer should be searching for a near relative.

2. The inquirer must be able to provide essential information about the missing person.

3. The Salvation Army reserves the right to accept or reject any request for services based upon considerations of reasonableness, feasibility or motive.

4. The inquirer is asked to pay a $5 non-refundable fee.

5. The inquirer may secure information and/or a missing persons inquiry form by contacting the nearest Salvation Army office in his area or by contacting the nearest Territorial Headquarters.

Addresses: 860 N. Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill. 60610-3392; 120 W. 14th St., New York, N.Y. 10011; 1424 Northeast Expressway, Atlanta, Ga. 30329-2088; 30840 Hawthorne Blvd., Rancho Palos Verdes, Calif. 90274.

DEAR ABBY: I must comment on the letter from "Hurt and Insulted" whose father-in-law said, "Please do me a small favor and change your brand of perfume; I had to go outside to keep from choking."

How I wish I had the courage of that father-in-law. There are several expensive fragrances on the market today that smell exactly like insecticide, and they affect me in the same way. My eyes water, I start to sneeze and my throat closes up. I have had to change my seat at the movie theater, and leave plays and concerts because of certain fragrances worn by both men and women.

Abby, is there a polite way to tell friends you see frequently that you can't tolerate their perfume?

NO NERVE IN JERSEY

Dear Abby

DEAR NO NERVE: Yes, Say, "I have an allergy to the fragrance you are wearing," and if that person is considerate and well-mannered, she (or he) will remember not to wear the offending fragrance in your presence again.

DEAR ABBY: I have never written to you before. However, when I read the letter from "Crying in Monroe, Mich.," it brought back some terrible memories, as I had also lost a beautiful Siamese cat in a clothes dryer. I since have learned that many others also lost a cat that way, as cats go where it is warm. Everyone with a washer-dryer should always look inside before turning it on. All you hear is one thump. Thank you.

ALSO CRYING
(IN MARYLAND)

DEAR ABBY: "Missing Calls" complained because people would hang up instead of leaving a message on the answering machine provided for that purpose.

You said, "Don't sweat it — they'll call back."

You're so right. And when they do call back, it's with scoldings: "I've been calling you for days — you're the hardest person to get hold of!" They also ask questions such as: "Where have you been?" And, "How long does it take you to get home from work, anyhow?" Some tell outright lies: "I let the phone ring 20 times!"

Please tell "Missing Calls" she ain't missing much.

CONFIDENTIAL TO J.J.R. IN FALL RIVER, MISS.: Help yourself. Imitation is the sincerest form of plagiarism. (Oscar Levant)

DEAR ABBY: "Falling Short in Cleveland" might enjoy the comment of Carlos Romulo. He was a newspaper editor, aide to Gen. MacArthur during World War II, Pulitzer Prize winner, Philippine ambassador to the United States, president of the General Assembly of the United Nations — and short.

Once, before speaking to a large audience in Dallas, everyone stood to sing the national anthem. The insensitive chairman who introduced Gen. Romulo looked down on him and asked, "How does a little fellow like you feel in this bunch of tall Texans?"

The general smiled graciously and replied, "I feel like a dime surrounded by pennies."

J.E.B., LA JOLLA
DEAR J.E.B.: Beautiful. Thanks for an item that will be appreciated (and probably quoted) by people of all sizes. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: A letter recently appeared in your column from a Christian who found solace in visiting a church in times of stress. He wanted to know why the churches lock their doors, except at specified hours. You replied, correctly, that due to the increase of vandalism, churches could ill afford security guards on a 24-hour basis.

I am a member of the board of trustees of St. John's in the Valley — a United Methodist Church — and this is how we solved that problem: Our church is locked except for scheduled functions, but every member is given a key to the chapel adjoining the church. Security is maintained, but access is not denied.

Even if this practice is not feasible to cover all members (perhaps due to the cost of keys), it would seem to be appropriate for those who have special needs to commune with God in a chapel or sanctuary at odd hours.

While this solution may not have occurred to all churches, some might benefit from this suggestion.

ROBERT IRVING,

DEAR MR. IRVING: Thank you for sharing.

Pee-wee signs with Paramount

PEE-WEE HERMAN

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Pee-wee Herman has signed with Paramount Pictures to develop, write, produce and star in movies.

The first picture will be an as-yet untitled movie about the circus, scheduled for production this fall. Randall Kleiser will direct from a screenplay by George McGrath and Paul Reubens, which is Herman's real name.

Reuben's first movie, "Pee-wee's Big Adventure," was an international hit and broke box office records in Paris and London. His Saturday morning show on CBS, "Pee-wee's Playhouse," has received 12 Emmy nominations.

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — The son of the late actor Clark Gable has signed a one-year television commercial and motion picture contract, but denies using his father's fame to boost his own show business career.

"I'm my own man," John Clark Gable said at a news conference Wednesday. "They don't even make movies like that anymore, and they don't have actors like that anymore."

Gable, 26, who lives on the beach in Malibu and is an avid off road racer, said he has turned down a variety of film roles that called for him to "jump into bed" or "just run up and down the beach."
His contract calls for him to star in a movie about off-road racing, but first he said he will complete acting lessons.

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Writer Eudora Welty is to be named a chevalier, or knight, of the Order of Arts and Letters, one of France's highest civilian honors.

The honor, to be presented Oct. 18 in Jackson, was announced by the French government Friday.

"It's not like anything I could have ever imagined — to be a knight, or a knightess," said Welty, 78. "Isn't it wonderful? It all sounds so alluring."

Welty won a Pulitzer Prize for fiction for her 1972 novel, "The Optimist's Daughter," which has been published in France. Her 1942 novel, "The Robber Bridegroom," is being re-issued there.

France has awarded Chevalier de L'ordre d'Arts et Lettres medals annually since 1958. Previous recipients include Tennessee Williams and Truman Capote.

CHICAGO (AP) — Tenor Luciano Pavarotti is suffering from bronchitis, and has withdrawn from the Chicago Lyric Opera's performance of Verdi's "Il Trovatore," the opera company's general director announced.

The Italian singer was to have performed the role of Manrico at the season premiere Sept. 18, and on four other performances, general director Ardis Kraunik said Friday.

Pavarotti has canceled several other scheduled performances Chicago in recent years, mostly because of exhaustion and overbooking. He will be replaced in "Il Trovatore" by tenor Giuliano Cianella, Miss Kraunik said.

CHICAGO (AP) — Former church secretary Jessica Hahn, whose sexual encounter with Jim Bakker led to his ouster from his PTL ministry, bares her breasts in Playboy magazine's November issue, a newspaper says.

The magazine piece is titled "Jessica Hahn. Born Again. In words and pictures," the Sun-Times said Thursday.

"These pictures are a celebration of a new life for me. A new beginning," Miss Hahn, 28, reportedly says in the magazine. "To do this is probably the most ironic, the most far-fetched idea for a church secretary."

The West Babylon, N.Y., woman will appear in a 10-page photo layout, Playboy spokeswoman Elizabeth Norris said Friday, refusing to say whether Miss Hahn will be unclothed.

It was announced in July that Miss Hahn had agreed to be interviewed for the November issue for an undisclosed sum.
