Ellen Weds

SOCIAL SECURITY PLANS FAVORED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15, (AP)—President Roosevelt and his chiefs of labor and commerce tonight recorded themselves in favor of a broad program of social security embodying unemployment insurance.

The president outlined to a group of experts for incorporation into a definite plan the broad principles of such a program. Little later, Secretaries Perkins and Roper expanded upon his ideas in speeches to the same gathering.

Immediate Goals

For the immediate future, the plan outlined by the president called for:

Unemployment insurance of a cooperative federal-state form; the funds to be held and invested by the federal government; the benefits to be administered by the states.

Enactment of state laws to carry out such a program.

An effort to bring the persons now on relief rolls back into productive employment and thereby put them under the insurance system.

From a long-range standpoint, he proposed:

A uniform system to provide security for the aged.

A method, perhaps through insurance, for providing against the economic loss due to sickness.

France Asks Flandin to Help Government Crisis

By MORRIS GILBERT
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS.—The "Marseillaise"—or the "Internationale"?

Barricades in the streets of Paris—or order, authority, unity?

An insecure government—or a potent Ministry capable of overriding the smug Chamber of Deputies? . . .

These are worrisome, critical problems that confront the French Third Republic—now over 60 years old—as one of her less famous statesmen lumbers to the helm of the revolution-menaced government.

Whether or not Pierre-Etienne Flandin will prove to be France's greatest premier only time can tell, but there isn't the least question that he is the biggest man of the hour in French politics. His six-feet-six height entitles him to that distinction, literally; and his ability to quickly organize a government in the crisis caused by the resignation of Premier Doumergue speaks loudly of his political stature.

COMPROMISES WITH RADICALS

In forming his new government M. Flandin was reported to have yielded to the Radicals' desire not to press for immediate changes in the French Constitution. This probably will mean at least temporary shelving of Doumergue's plan to eliminate—by constitutional revision—the charming irresponsibility of the Chamber of Deputies, which today can kick over cabinet after cabinet without losing its own velvety-cushioned seats.

Doumergue had demanded: (1) More power for the Premier Minister—who isn't even mentioned in the constitution to date. (2) Power to dissolve the Chamber of Deputies in case the Chamber votes down a ministerial proposal. (3) Reservation to the Ministry of the right to propose budgets.

Doumergue had pointed out that if the Premier could dissolve the Chamber and make the deputies go right out into the cold and the snow of a national campaign each time they voted down the government, they wouldn't do it so often. The insecurity of the French government thus would be abolished.

GOVERNMENT EMPLOYES PROTEST

But the "Common Front," combined Socialists, Communists, and followers of Gaston Bergery, were solidified in opposition to Doumergue's program. A certain number of France's "fonctionnaires" or public servants, teachers, postmen, petty officials of all kinds, had been antagonized by the former premier's announced wish to "discipline" or regiment them. Radical-Socialists, too, had moved Leftward.

Events in the near future may well decide whether alterations in the French form of government, which seem likely to happen anyway, will come about in the orderly way outlined by the deposed chief of government—or otherwise. The lines are forming—and M. Flandin stands between two fires.

A lawyer by profession, Flandin has grown up with the French government since his election in 1914, when he was only 24, to the House of Deputies as representative from the Department of Yonne. Although most French leaders have come from the provinces, Flandin is Paris-born (April 12, 1889)—one of the few native Parisians to rise to power.

AVIATOR AND FINANCE EXPERT

In spite of his life-long affiliation with governmental activities, M. Flandin has found opportunity to achieve fame in other lines as well. He is noted as an aviator, holding pilot's license 861, and during the World War distinguished himself organizing aviation groups. By 1917 he had established himself as director of the Inter-Allied Aeronautical service.

But it was not as an aviator that he rose to power in the cabinet. Finance, a subject on which he is an authority and considered a modern conservative, furnished him wings for his soaring. In 1924, when he was, as politicians go, a fuzzy-faced youngster of 35, he was drafted to be Minister of Commerce in the Marsal Cabinet, a portfolio he resumed for Tardieu in 1929-30.

Pierre Laval gave him his first appointment as Minister of Finance in 1931 and a year later took an important part in the Hoover moratorium conversations. When Tardieu returned to power in 1932, Flandin again was Minister of Finance in the short-lived cabinet.

OTHER IMPORTANT TASKS

His accession to the premiership rounds out a career that has included such important posts as being delegate to the Versailles peace conference in 1919; delegate to the League of Nations assembly in 1930 and 1931; and president of the Republican Democratic party, around which the centrist force in the House of Deputies rallies.

While vigorously pursuing his governmental career, he has lived a fully rounded private life. He was married in 1912 and is the father of four children. He collects prehistoric clay relics, and is considered the best grouse shot in Europe.

FACTIONS ARE ARMED

To all his other distinctions, he now adds that of being his coun-

RAIN SOAKS BIG PART WEST TEXAS

FORT WORTH, Nov. 15, (AP)—Rain which Tuesday night saturated many West Texas points moved into Fort Worth and its vicinity Wednesday.

The hard West Texas rains, which continued to fall in some sections Wednesday morning, were the first of any consequence in many months.

Tuesday night's rainfall centered chiefly in Central West Texas and in the hill country. San Angelo, which received probably the heaviest precipitation of all, had 2.4 of an inch. Aspermont had two inches.

The rain apparently extended eastward to Cisco and westward to Big Spring.

The rain pulled the town of Hamlin out of a bad situation. The water supply was so low that negotiations were being made to drill water wells in the town. The precipitation, however, filled the Hamlin lake sufficiently to tide the town over the crisis.

Aspermont had a similar situation, although not so acute. The lake at Aspermont caught enough water to supply the town.

The rainfall was general throughout Taylor county. Abilene had 1.58 inches. Good showers fell at Trent and Merkel. Stamford and Winters had hard rains. The precipitation was considerably lighter at Ballinger.

An inch or mose of rain fell between Swenson and Peacock.

The rain at Abilene was the first of any consequence since March 25. On that day 1.07 inches fell.

Need Oil Stove For Relief Work

Plans were being perfected today for feeding a warm noonday meal to Mexican school children of relief families.

R. O. Taggart, local relief administrator, said a two or three burner oil stove was needed for the purpose. No funds are provided for the purchase of such a stove but he asked any citizen who would lend one to call telephone number 515. The best of care was promised and the administrator said the loan of the stove would make possible the aid to a large number of Mexican school children.

Temperance Rule For Pilots Asked

Shortly before noon eight men had been chosen for the jury, including Earl Payne, V. O. Baldridge, H. E. Eaves, Clinton Myrick, Ira F. Lord, C. Flowers, J. G. Arnett and L. C. Link.

It was expected that the case would be in the hands of the jury late this afternoon.

Two Thirds Inch Rainfall Gauged

Rainfall of .68 of an inch, recorded at the government weather station at the ice plant Tuesday night, was a part of beneficial showers extending over a great portion of West Texas, reports today showed.

Cloudy weather and fog prevailed aiding the moisture in penetrating the dried surface of the ground and pointing to a better season for winter pastures.

At Big Spring the rain was heavier, also in the Sweetwater and San Angelo areas. Lubbock and points to the north reported only light showers. Showers were reported as far east as Cisco.

Reader Admits Copy of Paper Had Some Value

This woman admits she got her money's worth when she sent for a copy of The Reporter-Telegram.

Mrs. W. Sansom Shultz of Paint Rock, Texas, wanted to run a classified ad in this newspaper. She sent for a copy, obtained the rate, inserted the ad and then wrote the paper as follows:

"Thanks for the paper. Think ad carried what I wanted known. Clipped report of the burning of the Rhea Cottage and sent to M. Sanson Jr. of Ft. Worth for he and his wife used to "hang out" there back in 1905. Clipped item about Mrs. Roy Parks' party to send Vera Connell in Washington, for the Parkses sent her a wedding present lately. The NEA Service staff writer's article on cranberries went to the county home demonstrator. Saved the poem "God's Masterpiece" for myself. But the best was The Town Quack. So, even if the ad brings me no buyer, I will have gotten something out of the deal."

DIRECTORS VOTE NOT TO ENDORSE OFFICE SEEKER

No applicant for appointment to the office of state highway commissioner will be endorsed by the Midland chamber of commerce, it was voted in the monthly directors meeting last night.

Discussion of applicants led to the belief that an endorsement could not be the unanimous expression of the membership and that such would involve the organization in politics, hence any endorsement by members would be as individuals rather than through the organization.

Plans for a Christmas celebration to be held in December were referred to the retailers committee, with approval of the directors of holding such an event.

Progress toward securing the agricultural census in 1935, with a Midland man being employed to take the census of farmers and stockmen for several counties, was reported.

Invitation to the geological department of the Oklahoma A. & M. college to make Midland the headquarters for a student body field trip was endorsed, the letters having been sent previously by individual members.

New members reported by the secretary were the Midland Mercantile, the Midland Auto Supply and T. D. Kimbrough, attorney. Report was made to show that 40 new families had been aided in finding homes since October 1. A list of the new citizens was passed to the directors.

A decision to hold the annual banquet of the chamber of commerce in January was voted, at which time officers and directors for the next year will be elected and the report of Dr. W. E. Ryan, president, will be given.

The retailers committee will meet Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, at the chamber of commerce office, to launch plans for the Christmas celebration, it was decided this morning. All interested in the community wide affair were urged to attend and offer suggestions.

SECRETARY ROPER INFORMED NATION ON BIG INCLINE

Industrialists Say "New Money" Will Be Circulated

COPYRIGHT UNITED PRESS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15, (U.P.)—Business indicators pointed today to substantial Christmas cheer in increased sales for depression weary American business.

A half billion dollars in "new money" jingled in the pockets of Christmas buyers. It came from increased federal funds pouring into the country to the farmer and the city dweller, high payrolls and more "Christmas club" money.

Leading industrialists informed Secretary of Commerce Roper that they are expecting a substantial increase in Christmas sales, based on orders received.

In seasonal lines, including gifts, industrialists told Secretary Roper that the upward trend might amount to as high as forty per cent.

Work Relief Only If Liquor Bought

Relief extended by the Texas Relief commission to families with members spending money for alcoholic liquors or gambling must be in kind only, or in work relief, a notice to R. O. Taggart, local administrator, said today.

Complete instructions as to extending relief in such cases were given as follows:

Several counties have asked for instructions concerning the manner in which to handle the relief family which allows a part of its relief grant to be expended for alcoholic liquors. The following policies, therefore, are announced as being the desire of the Texas Relief Commission on this point.

Each case must be handled on its own individual merits and then only upon personal investigation by the Case Supervisor or the Relief Administrator.

In instances where either the County Administrator or the Case Work Supervisor has first-hand personal knowledge that the head of the relief family is expending his funds for alcoholic liquors, that family thereafter should receive relief in kind only. Regardless of the fact that relief is being extended in kind only, it shall and must be work relief.

The same rules apply in respect to gambling and similar derelictions on the part of relief clients. Conviction in police court or frequent arraignment before any local court immediately brings the client within the scope of these instructions.

If the head of the family steadfastly refuses to perform work when he is not paid in cash, you are instructed to confer with local public officials and prefer charges of vagrancy against the client. If public officials refuse to act, please notify this office.

The subject matter of this letter should be made immediately available to your local press.

Very truly yours,
Adam R. Johnson,
Director.

HAGGARD FROM LONG TRIP, KENTUCKY THOROUGHBREDS REACH LOCAL OWNERS

Drawn, lank, bruised and in some instances temporarily injured, a car load, or 26 head, of Kentucky thoroughbreds arrived at the local stock yards yesterday, representing the purchase of Tom Nance at the annual Lexington thoroughbred auction sale last week.

Nance, and Mrs. Nance, had not arrived but were remaining there to complete the sale of five cars of yearlings and calves shipped from this section.

The shipment of thoroughbred horses included ten brood mares, in foal to outstanding Kentucky stallins, two three year old fillies, two two-year old fillies and a dozen yearling fillies. They will be divided, on return of Nance, among A. C. Francis, Nance, Fred Turner and John Dublin. One each was bought by Mrs. Nance and T. Paul Barron who were with the Midland buyer at the sale.

The animals were en route to Midland for five days and nights, having been unloaded three times for feeding and rest period. "Fat and pampered" upon leaving Lexington, they showed considerable strain from the hard trip but were expected to reflect rapid recovery. They were quartered at the fair grounds stables yesterday, pending sunshine and warmer weather, at which time they will be taken to the Fred Turner farm eight miles west of Midland.

Careful selection of the leading blood lines was made by Nance in buying a car load from the 500 head sold through the acution. E. J. Tranter of New York City, world famous auctioneer of blooded horses, personally conducted the sale which is second only to the annual Saratoga sale.

Many of the thoroughbred families trace to the Ben Brush and Domino strains, with much Broomstick, North Star 3rd, Fair Play and other popular blood lines prominent on either the sire or dam side.

The brood mares range in age from three to ten years, but most of them are sound and have proven themselves to be producers of winners.

The fillies are choice individuals, every one sound and a potential winner on the race track, polo, hunting or jumping field.

Each of the local buyers declared that the thoroughbreds were not bought for speculation but for establishment of a better breed of horses in West Texas. Chance for immediate profits was passed up in favor of securing the best blood lines. They indicated that the profits from the purchase might be slow in beginning but that the car load of thoroughbreds just bought would mark a new era in the history of fine horses for Texas.

ELECTION SHOWS NEED OF PARTY ALIGNMENT

The New Year will have come, probably, before people get through talking about what the election signified. Just now we have the rather amazing spectacle of an administration winning the support both of those who feel that it is heading in the direction of change and of those who believe it to be the one secure bulwark against change.

That is to say that Mr. Roosevelt, in some manner, has contrived to draw strength from liberals and conservatives alike. The liberals believe that he is going to amplify and continue those changes inherent in the New Deal; the conservatives believe that he will make as few changes as possible, and that anyone who might be put in his place would almost certainly go farther to the left.

These exceedingly contradictory developments make it very hard to figure just what the election may have meant.

The administration continues to enjoy public support, in a quite unprecedented way; and yet this solidarity is more apparent than real, since it includes the support of two diametrically opposite schools of thought. Mr. Roosevelt cannot forever continue to be the darling of the liberals and the white hope of the conservatives.

All of which is just another way of saying that the much talked-of realignment of parties cannot be postponed much longer.

Liberalism and conservatism are not words of very exact meaning. Nevertheless, they will have to do for want of better ones; and sooner or later they will have to be the unofficial labels of our two chief political parties, with one party standing for the one attitude and the other for its opposite.

For what the New Deal needs more than anything else is a critical and intelligent reappraisal that goes to the fundamentals beneath it. It did not get that in this recent campaign. It cannot get it until the two parties stand for something more than just two groups of assorted officeholders and officeseekers.

The election advanced us very little toward that goal. It succeeded only in emphasizing the necessity for reaching it.

FOREIGN TRADE PICKS UP

Business in this country, as in others, is still a long way from complete health. Nevertheless, international trade is reviving, and to those who feel that we cannot have a sound domestic prosperity until our overseas trade picks up, the sign is an encouraging one.

Recent figures show that American exports for the first nine months of 1934 amounted to $1,561,365,597—approximately $400,000,000 above the figures for the first nine months of 1933. In the same period our imports also rose, standing at $1,241,732,242 for 1934 as compared with $1,036,632,489 for 1933.

Furthermore, our trade with Latin-America is picking up. Exports to Cuba, with which country a new tariff treaty was recently negotiated, were three times as great in September of this year as in the same month in 1933. Apparently a genuine revival is under way.

THE AIRSHIP PERSISTS

It is interesting to notice that while many Americans have taken it for granted that the large dirigible will never have any practical use, the Germans are going calmly ahead with plans to put these big ships to use.

Next March the Zeppelin workers at Friedrichshafen will complete a new dirigible even larger than the U. S. navy's Macon—a giant that will contain 25 staterooms for passengers, and elaborate equipment to insure everyone's comfort.

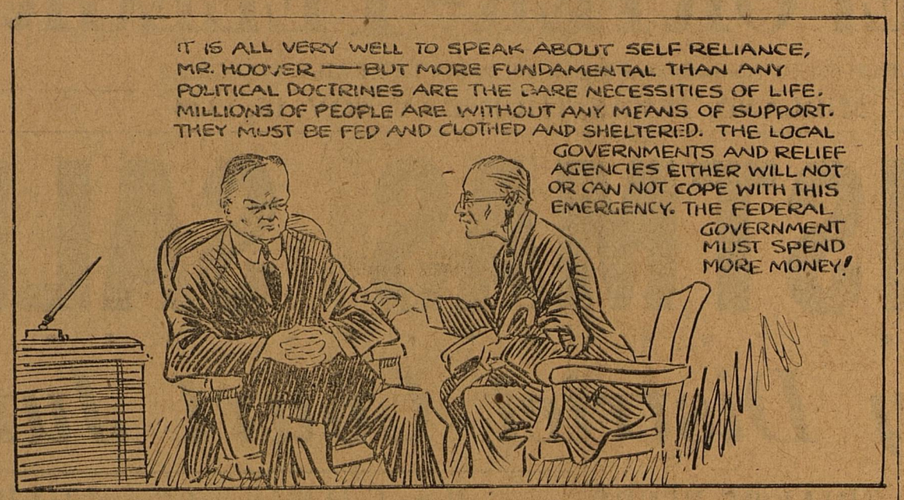

The Germans have by no means given up their confidence in the dirigible. On the contrary, they are planning for a day when airship lines will be as common as airplane lines are today.

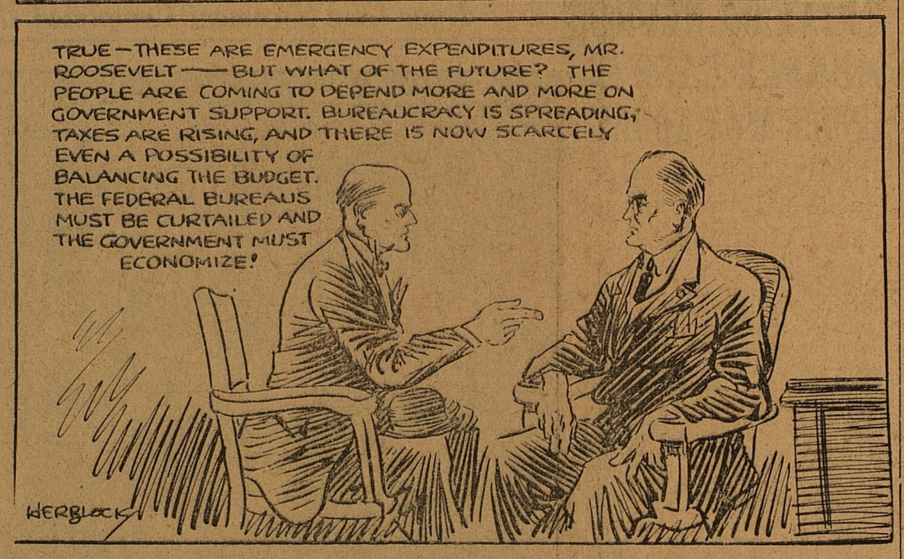

Is there not, perhaps, in that fact, an indication that we are a trifle hasty in assuming that the dirigible is and always must be impractical?

Answer to Previous Puzzle

MORE COYOTES

POST, (AP).—Coyotes in larger numbers than in past years are roving through Garza and bordering counties according to G. W. Bradley, well known rancher living about 25 miles northeast of Post on the Garza county line.

"I have seen more coyotes this summer and early fall than I have ever seen before in the years I have lived here," said the veteran rancher. "There have been more on my ranch and more in my community than I have heard of."

Mr. Bradley came here to confer with W. C. Taylor, county agent, on a poisoning campaign for the pests.

Poland Gets Canadian Bison

HALIFAX, N. S. (U.P.)—Four live bisons will sail from this port shortly on a long voyage to Poland. They are the gift of Canada to the Polish government. Poland is the only country in Europe where bisons thrive under natural conditions. Like Canada, Poland is a country where bisons once existed in a wild state. There are a few left in the national park of the Forest of Biaolowieza, and there the Canadian bison will be mingled with the Polish animals. They will live under the same conditions as they did in Canada.

Canada to Reclaim Arid Land

WINNIPEG, Man. (U.P.)—An ambitious plan to rehabilitate the drought-stricken areas of the Canadian Prairie Provinces has been approved by the governments of three western provinces—Manitoba, Saskatchewan and British Columbia. The plan calls for establishment of a central co-ordinating body by the Dominion Government to direct reclamation of dried-out areas, reclamation of farms, moisture conservation and land development.

HILL ROADS

By Helen Welshimer

WHY should I search for Heaven,
When two who walked as one,
Along high roads, gay blue sky roads
That journeyed to the sun

ARE pilgrims in a valley,
Their golden dollar spent,
Their gipsy shoes in tatters
From the too-high ways they went?

STILL—spring will work its magic,
And scatter daffodils,
And drifting seas of buttercups
Across the yellow hills;

AND tall roads will come calling
When winds are from the south,
And I shall spend my coppers
To rent a gipsy's mouth

AS wistful as an April;
Perhaps I'll buy a moon
That's on a bargain counter;
A fiddler's breaking tune.

FOR never shall I handle
Fresh coins to spend for things,
Nor ever reach the hill-tops—
One can't . . . with mended wings!

Elephant's Trunk of Tricks Stops Gridders

Jimmy Phelan's University of Washington linemen have a new bucking machine to work out on. It's "Wide Awake," five-ton elephant of the Seattle Zoo. Here is the pachyderm, apparently bored to tears, successfully resisting the rushes of seven burly linemen who are trying to push a young log held very securely in "Wide Awake's" elongated nose.

Earth's Cracks Worry Engineers

CLAUDE. (AP).—The earth is giving trouble again and highway engineers are shaking troubled heads at the antics.

At the point where State Highway 5 drops off the cap rock shelf of the plains midway between Claude and Goodnight, mysterious cracks and cavings big enough to cause highway hazards have occurred. The biggest chasm, which was caused by the apparent sinking of the earth, is from two to four feet wide, about 10 feet deep and 30 yards long.

The big crack opened up overnight. It angled toward the highway but played out at the edge of the roadbed.

Numerous other cracks, cavings and holes have developed in the area and highway engineers expressed fear that a big break might open up overnight across Highway 5. For this reason, the site is being patrolled.

Similar cracks appeared in the same area 10 years ago. At that time a chasm four feet wide suddenly opened up across the highway and continued through farms and pastures for more than a mile. The big crack into which fence posts could be dropped without making sound when they hit bottom gradually closed after heavy rains but its "tracks" still are visible.

Engineers explained that the broken earth did not appear to be "drought cracks" but more like a cave-in. It was pointed out that the earth frequently cracked during extreme drought but the freak disturbances here do not appear to have developed from that cause.

Geologists have been called upon to find the probable cause so that action can be taken to remove highway dangers. Engineers said that if the trouble continues, it may be necessary to change the location of the highway.

Highway 5 is the main road between Texarkana and Amarillo.

MISS KNOWS HER MEN

OGDEN, Utah (U.P.)—Weber College co-eds here recently wrote essays under the title: "What Every Woman Knows About Men." The winning essay, written by Miss Margaret Robinson, says that every woman should know that men like to be flattered, like to talk, always want to be master of the home, and all males of the species lack an understanding of the feminine mind.

Using ultraviolet light, Dr. Wirth, of Charlottenburg, Germany, photographs gases that cannot be seen.

Now Really a German Landsman

Herr Max Schmeling, former heavyweight champion, has gone native on his German estate, even donning the traditional Bavarian costume to complete his role of country gentleman. As this picture was taken, he seemed to be enjoying the role. His blonde actress wife, Anny Ondra, is perched on the fence beside him.

Girl Takes Engineering Course

DURHAM, N. C. (U.P.)—For the second time in Duke history, a girl has enrolled in the Duke university school of engineering. She is the only co-ed among the 145 students in the school. Her name is Miss Verna Birdsall, of Farmingdale, N. J. Her father is a civil engineer. Several years ago, a girl enrolled in engineering at Duke, but climaxed her education by marrying one of her fellow students.

MELODY BRINGS FAME

ANDERSON, S. C. (U.P.)—Virginia Todd, 16-year-old high school senior, has officially crashed into the ranks of song writers. Attracted by an advertisement, Virginia said, she dashed off a song, "You Broke My Heart," in 40 minutes—20 for the words and 20 for the melody. A New York publishing house accepted it. Virginia will receive $125 besides ten per cent royalties.

WATCH KIDNEYS SAME AS BOWELS

Wash Out Your 79,200 Feet of Kidney Tubes

Your bowels contain only 27 feet of intestines, yet the kidneys contain nearly 10 million tiny tubes or filters which would measure 79,200 feet if laid end to end. Therefore, it is just as important to watch the kidneys as the bowels. Kidneys are working all the time and are Nature's chief way of taking the acids and poisonous waste out of the blood.

Healthy persons pass 3 pints a day thru the bladder which contains nearly 4 pounds of waste matter. If you pass less than this amount, your 79,200 feet of kidney tubes may be clogged with poisonous waste. This is the danger signal and may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and vitality, getting up nights, lumbago, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

Kidneys should be watched closely and need cleaning out the same as bowels. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS, an old prescription, which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give quick relief and will help to wash out your 79,200 feet of kidney tubes.

But don't take chances with strong drugs and so-called "kidney cures" which claim to fix you up in 15 minutes. Your common sense will tell you that this is impossible. Treatments of this nature may seriously injure and irritate delicate tissues. Insist on DOAN'S PILLS, the old reliable relief that contains no "dope" or habit-forming drugs. Be sure you get DOAN'S PILLS at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

Flandin--

try's youngest premier—and the one faced by the most complex internal and international situation since the month preceding the World War.

For Flandin comes to the premiership at a time when, as never before, ugly rumors of "zero hours" are bandied about. To believe Left-wing spokesmen, the die months ago was cast for a resolute, goose-stepping army of young fascists to converge on the Elysees Palace, or the Quai d'Orsai, or the Chamber of Deputies. The "Francists," for instance (it is charged) have even announced their drills, with weapons, and their plan of campaign. To believe Right-wing spokesmen, the same is true of the Socialist-Communist-Common Front organization.

It is an old story now that each side accuses the other of being thoroughly armed and drilled. Meanwhile, it is not hearsay but fact that the Paris military garrison has been increased in recent months. This, according to the conservative press, was "to repress trouble and re-establish order in the capital, in case of need."

Premier Flandin may be confronted by that need.

Rural Acquaintance By Townmen Urged

Advocating better acquaintance between rural and town residents, the rural-urban commitee of the Rotary club had charge of the program today. Opening of the program went through a "grave vine" route, being passed from President Wemple to Percy J. Mims, thence to R. L. Miller, W. R. Mann and E. H. Barron.

New members elected to the club were L. G. Mackey, automobile distributor, and Jerry Phillips, accountant. The names of prospective members to be voted on next week were read.

The luncheon was served by the rural women's clubs. Mrs. S. H. Gwyn announced that the organization desired to serve a "courtesy" meal to the Lions and Rotary clubs and to other business men on the Wednesday before Thanksgiving day.

Several members of the local Rotary club, with their wives, attended an inter-city meeting at Big Spring Tuesday night.

The Big Spring club and several from Midland and Sweetwater, sat at a banquet where Dr. Thos. H. Taylor, Rotary district governor, was the principal speaker.

ICKES HINTS AT PWA EXPANSION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15. (AP).—A many-billioned expansion of the public works program, designed eventually to absorb all direct relief roles, was strongly hinted Wednesday by Secretary Ickes.

Conceding that this expanded program had not yet been finally worked out, Ickes nevertheless put into words what many have considered a major trend in the Administration's efforts. He left a strong implication that new billions would be asked for the PWA.

Writing in the current issue of the Magazine Today, he said:

"Careful studies of the practical nature are now being made of the possibility of still further enlarging the public works program in a renewed drive against the depression, in a continued effort to take men from relief and put them into industry."

Ickes outlined three major fields into which funds running "into billions of dollars" could be poured. First he mentioned a program of rural electrification and the elimination of grade crossings.

Three Other "Great Dreams"

As a longer term possibility, he mentioned a substantial volume of non-federal projects approved by PWA and awaiting only additional funds.

Beyond these he pictured three other "great dream" of public improvements: A transcontinental super highway, better housing for the Nation, and the conservation of soil and water resources by means of a program to prevent flood, drouth and erosion.

"A public works program on some such basis," he asserted, "could absorb the energies of all our people on a self-respecting basis in widespread economic activity."

Ickes conceded that relief must be provided until national economy can be so guided as to end unemployment.

"But the pressing problem of today," he declared, "is to provide employment which will remove the necessity for relief. . . . Confessedly relief is a palliative. In itself it can not induce recovery.

Statement Arouses Interest

"And no one can reasonably contend that the standard of living in this country is so high that we can afford to require the employed portion of our people permanently to support the unemployed in idleness, or require the employed portion permanently to divide their work with the unemployed."

The PWA chieftain's statements were regarded in the capital as of unusual interest because of the uncertainty as to whether President Roosevelt would recommend new funds for that emergency agency, and if so, the scale on which the operations would be continued.

Reports that as high as $12,000,000,000 might be asked have drawn smiles from the President and repeated statements that no definite figures had been determined.

Basin Oil Developments

By PAUL OSBORNE

Gulf No. 103 McElroy, Texas deepest test, which is seeking Ordovician production in section 197, block F, C. C. S. D. & R. G. N. G. Railway survey, western Upton county, paused in drilling today at a depth of 10,978 feet to test. Some oil has been showing through the water in the hole ever since a first show was noted at 10,793-98, and after the water is swabbed from the well a test will be made to determine the actual amount of oil showing at the present time. At present there is 3,000 feet of 2½ inch tubing in the hole.

Honolulu-Llano No. 1 J. E. Parker progressed to 4,738 feet yesterday and during the day swabbed 140 barrels of oil into the tanks, swab being run to within some 580 feet of bottom hole. No new increases were noted since the last one between 4,722 feet and 4,731 feet. Location is 1320 feet from the south line and 1,470 feet from the west line of section 7, block A-44, public school land, Andrews county.

Humble Oil & Refining company No. 2 R. M. Means, second well of the new field, was put on pumps yesterday and after pumping off most of the water, registered 66 barrels of fluid, 13 per cent of which was basal sediment and water, between 9 p. m. yesterday and 7 a. m. today. 19 barrels of this 66 barrel total came as a head at 4 a. m. this morning. The well is under a 24 hour test today, and is located 1,980 feet from the south line and 1,487 feet from the west line of section 6, block A-19, public school land, about a mile and a half northeast of the discovery No. 1 R. M. Means. The south offset to the discovery, Humble Oil & Refining company No 1 J. S. Means, had drilled yesterday to 4,217 feet in lime, with gas still showing in the cores. The same company's No. 2 J. S. Means, new location about a mile and a half south of the No. 1 J. S. in section 11, block A-35, public school land, had the rigged up and was mixing mud yesterday and the No. 3 R. M. Means, center of the northwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section 4, block CO45, public school land, was digging cellar.

South of the Means area and east of the Honolulu test, the wildcat Bond et al No. 1 McCarley, 1,320 feet from the north and west lines of section 29, block 3, public school land, drilled to 4,646 yesterday where the formation was reported as anhydrite and red rock.

Though plugged back to 4,195 day before yesterday, Landreth-Humble No. 1 Scharbauer still showed about a gallon of water an hour under test yesterday. Today the well is being still further plugged back, probably to about 4,190 feet. This northwestern Ector county producer, located in the southeast corner of section 20 block 44, township 1 north, T. & P. Railway survey, makes about 40 barrels of oil per day.

New Book Marks Gift of Health Bd.

The Midland county library has new book marks. Instead of the familiar brown slip of paper with the picture of a bucking broncho, patrons will now use a special marker reminding them that Christmas is coming.

These new book marks have a black-and-white reproduction of the new 1934 Christmas seal with the message, "Knowledge is your protection against disease", printed in Old English lettering.

The new markers are being supplied by the Midland county health board.

Paraguay has potential hydro-electric power resources estimated at 2,000,000 horsepower. Only 200,000 horsepower is as yet being developed in that country.

Texas-T.C.U. Tilt Continues Rivalry

FORT WORTH, Nov. 15.—It's more or less against the rules—or certainly against tradition—for the losing team to score on the winning elevn in the T. C. U.-Texas football game. The records show that in 15 of the 19 contests that have been played to date the losing team has failed to score.

Last year the Horned Frogs routed the Longhorns by a 30-to-0 count. In 1932 T. C. U. was on top of 14 to 0. The year before that Texas won 10 to 0 and in 1930 the Steers were on the long end of a 7-to-0 score. The 1929 championship Frogs won a 15-to-12 contest. In 1928 Texas won a 6-to-0 victor. In 1927 the teams tied and, true to tradition, it was a scoreless tie!

Back in the old days the Frog-Longhorn tilt was a mere practice game for Texas. Although there were a few close scores, the Frogs never managed to emerge with a victory.

Since their entrance into the Southwest Conference and the placing of their teams on a level with Longhorn entries, the Christians have improved their record. In conference competition they show three victories and one tie, and a maximum margin in defeat of 15 points.

Rivalry between the two institutions dates back to 1897, when T. C. U. was located in Waco and known as Add-Ran college. The 1897 aggregation was the first football team that T. C. U. ever placed on the field, and they held Texas to an 18-to-10 victory.

There followed six games in which the Frogs failed to score a point, with Texas rolling up counters almost at will. Only two times between 1897 and 1929 did the Christians manage to score on the state eleven—in 1908 and 1912.

In the 19 games that constitute the all-time record between the two schools, Texas has been the victor 15 times. The all-time score is: Texas 340; T. C. U., 85.

In recent years the Frog-Longhorn has almost always had a direct bearing on the Southwest Conference championship. This year the Frogs have a chance at least to tie the Rice Owls if they can win from the Steers.

Fight Olympic Participation

MIAMI (U.P.)—The battle over whether American athletes should participate in the 1936 Olympics in Berlin, although supposedly ended, will be good for at least another round of verbal punch-throwing on Dec. 7-9 at the national convention of the Amateur Athletic Union of the U. S. The gathering, scheduled for the Miami Biltmore here, will be attended by a group under the leadership of Charles L. Ornstein, a New York delegate, who will continue violently to protest the recent ruling that American athletes will visit Nazi-land on friendly terms in '36.
