VIOLENT DEATH STALKS IN TEXAS

Dover 'No Man's Land' Gives Up 17 Victims

CASUALTIES ARE RECORDED WHILE FLAMES RAGE ON

DEATH LIST MOUNTS AND REFUGES HELPLESS TO GIVE AID

(By The Associated Press)
DOVER, N. J., July 12.—A revised list of the casualties in the Lake Denmark explosion this afternoon showed that seventeen persons were known to be dead. Only three of these had been identified.

Another Magazine Explodes

NEW YORK, July 12.—Another naval magazine exploded this afternoon at the Lake Denmark ammunition depot when a sudden shift of wind sent fire caused by previous explosions roaring down upon it, according to word received from Rear Admiral Plunkett. Fourteen more magazines were said to be in the neighborhood and in danger of being ignited.

Bombardment Ceases

DOVER, N. J., July 12.—The bombardment of shells which has rained on the countryside intermittently since the destruction of the navy ammunition depot, at Lake Denmark Saturday, ceased this forenoon and detachments of marines, soldiers and sailors prepared to enter "no-man's land" to make an immediate search for the dead.

The bodies will be taken to the hospital at the Brooklyn navy yard. Rear Admiral Plunkett, commandant of the their naval district, at Brooklyn, and Secretary of the Navy Wilbur are expected here during the day.

DOVER, N. J., July 12.—Fire and barrages of exploding shells today were preventing toll of the war-like death and havoc wrought in peace time when lightning caused the navy's largest ammunition depot, at Lake Denmark, 35 miles west of Jersey City, to blow up Saturday afternoon.

Ten persons were known today to have been killed. Three bodies had been recovered and identified. Seven other bodies had been seen in debris. Thirty three persons, mostly marines, had listed as missing. Losses estimated at $100,000,000 by army and navy officials. For a radius of thirty miles, houses were shaken and automobiles overturned on the highways. Shells, smoke and fire checked the entrance of investigators and hampered relief work for hundreds of civilians in a peacetime no man's land.

Was Largest Station

The depot was the navy's largest ammunition storage establishment, covering more than 500 acres. During the war, it was extended by the erection of 183 buildings. The depot was a storage place where ammunition and supplies were received and forwarded to other points upon demand. Flames started when lightning struck a TNT magazine. Some 200 buildings were demolished within the reservation limits. Many other reservation buildings were damaged. The identified dead were Lieutenant George W. Botta, Richmond, Va.; Harry C. Brown, pharmacist, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and

John W. Weeks Dies In Lancaster Home

U. of T. Regents Are Charged Lawbreakers

AUSTIN, July 12.—(AP)—The regents and President W. M. W. Sawyer of Texas University violated the "due process of law" amendment in the Federal constitution in ordering the abandonment of "B" Hall as a dormitory, attorneys for the plaintiffs charged in second amended petition filed in 53rd District Court today. Start of trial on the injunction suit brought by former student residents of the dormitory to restrain University officials from converting the campus dormitory into a class room and office building, was postponed until 2 o'clock to give defendants time to study the second petition amendment.

Plan Widening Of Tahoka-Plainview Road, Field Says

State Highway No. 9, due north and south across Lubbock county, ending from Tahoka to Plainview, will be widened to 50 feet instead of 60, as it now stands, and work on the construction is now under way. It was said at the office of Geo. A. Field, Division Engineer of the State Highway Department Monday morning.

All additional right-of-way necessary for widening of the highway has been secured, all fences moved back, and graders were set to work Saturday, the report said. It is the hope of Mr. Field to eventually widen the highway full length of the division of Mr. Field, but present plans call for completion of the road to the south edge of Lubbock county.

The widening and grading program on the north end of the highway toward Amarillo has been completed, except for about two miles and a half and this will be finished shortly, making it No. 9 one of the best roads in this section of the state. Caliche has been used on certain portions of the roadway, especially in the fills, and much favorable comment has been heard regarding the nature of surface on the entire route. Gradual efforts of the department of Mr. Field are being confined largely to the highways that are not under contemplation in the near future for hard surface, and although these are being kept in reasonably good condition, highway officials do not feel that a great amount of money should be spent on these with a construction contract just in the offing.

Power Plant Planned For Panhandle Field

KANSAS CITY, July 12.—(AP)—An electric power plant of 10,000 kilowatt capacity will be erected at once in the Texas Panhandle oil field by the Kansas City Power and Light company. Contracts for construction have been let, and the plant is expected to be in operation by the middle of November or first of December.

The construction company is a holding company for the Kansas City Power and Light company, a subsidiary of the United Power and Light company. Chester C. Smith, vice president of the Kansas City Power and Light company, returned yesterday from Amarillo with announcements of the plans and the statement that contracts had been made to supply power to the Phillips Petroleum company, with negotiations under way with other power users.

Chicago Hijackers Launch Another Reign Of Terror; Two Murdered And Third Is Fatally Shot In Two Raids

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, July 12.—Cicero, scene of the recent spectacular McSwigan party slaying, counted three more killings today, apparently prompted by a desire of holdup men to obtain automobiles for marauding expeditions.

A taxicab chauffeur, who protested against surrendering his car to a pair of robbers, was mortally wounded. Stripped of his uniform and thrown from his machine, while less than a block away, a young man and young woman, sitting in a car in front of the latter's home, were slain when they demonstrated against giving up their automobile.

Police Hold One Man

The police are holding Thomas McWain, 24, from whom they obtained a statement implicating a man known to them only as "Curley."

McWain said he and Curley had hired the cab to go to Cicero and that they shot the chauffeur, Ludwig Rose, to obtain his car. Shortly afterwards they spied an automobile occupied by Fred Hein, 26, and Miss Marie Blang, 23, and demanded surrender of the machine. Then Hein protested and both he and Miss Blang were shot to death. Both had been hot in the head.

McWain Is Floater

McWain, described as a "floater" from the Madison Street district, was captured after an exciting police chase when the bloodstained cab he was driving crashed through railroad gates. The expedition, which resulted in what the police described as one of the most shocking crimes in their experience, apparently was plotted in a Madison Street "drop house."

McWain said his companion, whom he met only four days ago, when McWain came here from Muskegon, Mich., was known to him only as "Curley," or "Blondy."

Hijackers Injure Abernathy Man As They Steal $207

J. C. Cooper, who gave his address as Abernathy, was slightly injured by a gunshot said by Cooper to have been inflicted by hi-jackers, and relieved of $207 in money in an encounter with two highwaymen between Abernathy and Monroe late Sunday afternoon, according to a report given by the injured man to the Lubbock police department.

Cooper, according to his story, was walking on the highway when accosted by a man who had appeared busily engaged with a mail box near the roadside, and after being relieved of his roll, was shot by the man through the left arm. His attackers, he said then jumped in a car, and drove off to the north.

Was Brought Here

The injured man was brought to the Lubbock Sanitarium, where examination revealed that he was uninjured except for the gunshot that will not be serious. The shot took effect in the flesh of the left arm just below the elbow, and no bones were broken. The bullet, apparently from a gun of about .32 caliber, went on through the arm. Cooper was able to return to his home at Abernathy last Sunday evening.

No trace had been found early this afternoon of his attackers, but it is presumed by those investigating the case that the pair, who are thought to have followed Cooper, turned back towards the Panhandle oil fields. Investigation is still under way.

'Wild Woman' Eludes Lone Star Officers

SWENEY, Texas, July 12. (P)—The alleged "wild woman of Lindville" was still a large Saturday night, with scores of new recruits on the trail. More than 1,000 men and officers, together with bloodhounds, have been scouring the woods for three days without success. A Mexican reports that she was last seen near the Brownsville railroad.

The nude lady appeared out of some dense undergrowth and motioned to the Mexican to come nearer, at the same time attempting to talk. She appeared to have an impediment in speech, for none of the words were distinguishable, the report said. The woman was described as tall, with a body sunburned to a light brown.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:

Many a girl marries a man on her mother's cooking.

The Woman's Daily Editorial

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

A PATRIOTIC EDITORIAL TO STIR BOTH MEN AND WOMEN

You ascend the exquisite staircase of the Congressional Library in Washington and wander slowly through the beautiful galleries, lost in admiration of the mosaics and mural paintings that are the pride of America.

Suddenly you confront a quiet old man in an immaculate blue uniform standing guard beside a marble pedestal gilded at a little distance with heavy gilded chains. On top of the pedestal is spread a large document under glass—richly framed.

Documents are no novelty in the public buildings of the capital, particularly in the Library of Congress. You pause an instant irresolutely, deciding whether or not to have a closer view, when the old man asks respectfully "if you care to step inside." That settles it. He reverently unhooks a section of chain, thereby allowing you to come quite close to the object of your half-aroused curiosity.

"Why, it's—" But to make sure your startled eyes have not deceived you, you ask, "What is it, please?" "It is the Declaration of Independence," says the old man softly.

It is indeed! Not the familiar facsimile of the history books, or the fly-blown embellishment of the schoolroom or railroad station, but the actual piece of parchment that gave birth to our nation.

You view it silently with conflicting emotions. Inense pride mostly, but not a little pity that the signatures of those great men are getting so dim. The murals and mosaics and the old man fade away. You are back in a bare room in the Old State House in Philadelphia where tense purposeful men are bending silently over a table and affixing their signatures one by one to this protest against an unwise king. John Hancock, the President of Congress, signs first, then Samuel Adams, fiery, impatient, eager to be the next. It is like him to sign himself "Sam." And there are the names of all the others, including the committee of five, Jefferson, Livingston, Sherman, John Adams and Franklin, who worked so hard through the hot days of June to draft it. It is in Jefferson's writing.

"Life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness!" says the document. America has a birthday to guard!

Bishop Hughes the other day ridiculed the styles of the '80's, and defended the youth of today. He evidently thinks today's bustle is better than yesterday's bustle.—Wilmington Every Evening.

COTTON MEN AT SLATON MEETING

Thorobred Cotton Breeders in County Have General Convention

(Special To The Journal)

SLATON, July 12.—A meeting of the Slaton Thorobred Cotton Breeders' Association was held here Saturday. W. S. Galloway owner of the Thorobred Cotton Breeding Industries of San Angelo and Slaton was present; he congratulated the farmers on the splendid condition of their crops and suggested that through the pooling of their pure strain, long staple cotton, they would be able to secure a substantial premium for it.

Five thousand acres of cotton land, owned by seventy-five farmers, was planted in pure strain Mebane cotton, purchased from Mr. Galloway. The cotton seed furnished for planting was direct from the breeding block of the Thorobred Industries; each farmer who took seed was made a stockholder of the Slaton association and entered into a contract to raise the cotton under certain conditions and to have it ginned at Tudor Bros. gin which has been chartered to handle only this strain cotton. The seed, after passing inspection of the State Department of Agriculture, will be sold on the commercial market as certified Mebane seed. The sale of the seed is to be handled by the Galloway interests, and the profits accruing will be divided between the grower and the sales agency.

The Slaton breeding plant is the only one on the Plains, and farmers from the entire section have already begun making reservation for seed. Since Slaton grows seed, will be the only acclimated cotton seed available to cotton growers on the Plains, Slaton seems destined to become the Lockhart of West Texas.

McPherson Case Is Still Deep Mystery

DOUGLAS, Ariz., July 12. (P)—Out of two weeks of hectic investigation by both American and Mexican officials has come nothing that definitely disproves or supports the story of abduction and escape told by Almee Temple McPherson, Los Angeles evangelist, when she re-appeared here on June 23, after an absence of 25 days.

The strongest hint of doubt of the story told by the pastor of Angelus Temple came from Mayor Ernesto Boulton who declared his investigation that he believed that Mrs. McPherson was taken by automobile to a point near Agua Prieta on the night of June 22 and there left to find her way into the city early the following morning.

Generals Listen To Orders Of Woman

MISS ANITA PHIPPS

WASHINGTON, July 12.—As "big sister to the United States army," Miss Anita Phipps is breaking all sorts of precedents in the War department here.

Officially she's "director of women's relations, personnel division." Actually she tackles any and every problem in which women figure. "They bring their troubles to me," she explains, "as one woman to another, and they're not awed or embarrassed as they might be with the secretary of war or some regular army officer."

In addition to supervising women actually employed by the army camp hostesses, scrubladies and all, Miss Phipps lends a sympathetic ear to wives, mothers and sweethearts of "the boys"—whether they be runaways who "joined the regulars" for adventure or civilians spending a vacation in summer training.

And in their behalf she's not afraid to face anyone, from hard-boiled generals to the secretary himself. One reason she "gets away with it" is because she's a daughter of the army. Her father is Brigadier General Frank H. Phipps, and she was born at an arsenal in Augusta, Me. During the war she distinguished herself in the Red Cross, and became director of the Pennsylvania-Delaware motor corps.

RACE PICKS UP IN NATIONAL AS NEW YORK WINS

BROWNS PULL THREE-WAY STEAL BUT SENS WIN BEHIND JOHNSON

(By The Associated Press) A race which only a few days ago appeared to be over—that in the National league—today has regained the enthusiasm manifested earlier in the season...

The Giants, a rejuvenated club, are responsible. Starting on a Western tour well designed to provide a new lease on life, they have taken four straight contests from the circuit leading Reds and have brought them within easy reach of Pittsburgh...

Braves Cards Split The Braves and Cardinals divided, the Cardinals winning the first, 7 to 2, and the Braves the second, 19 to 5. That second contest was the first Braves victory over the Cardinals this season and was derived from a shingling attack in which the hitting of the two Taylors, Eddie and Zack, and of Burros, Brown and Mann featured...

Miller Huggins gambled with pitchers and the Athletics, idle for the day, gained half a game on the American League leaders. Emil Leaven pitched an excellent game for Cleveland and won, 5 to 2, the youthful Myles Thomas being clouded from the Yankee mound in the eighth. Babe Ruth gathered two and the other Yanks eight more hits off Leaven but they were unable to put them together...

The Senators, especially Stan Harris and Muddy Ruel gave Walter Johnson considerable hitting and the veteran overcame the Browns, 8 to 2. St. Louis worked a triple steal in which Maguire, Blaser scored.

POST WINS SUNDAY CONTEST WITH HUBBERS

Post has accomplished her cherished aim, as many other balls clubs over the South Plains have tried and will try to do—that of beating the Lubbock Hubbers. Such a feat was accomplished Sunday afternoon at the Merrill park after the Hubbers had administered a 2 to 1 defeat to Post Saturday.

Sunday's count was 4 to 0, the Hubbers being unable to connect with the meandering curves of "Slim" Bell, of the visiting crew. They were forced to be content with only six hits, well scattered throughout the nine innings, while Ratliff saw eight go glimmering toward the outfield, and these were costly.

Lady Luck was undoubtedly with the visitors, and this luck was mixed with a brand of hustle that is among the best seen here this season. The well known breaks of the game went 100 per cent to the visiting team, and the Hubbers were virtually helpless.

The Hubbers go to Lamesa tomorrow, where they play Tuesday and Wednesday, returning here to meet Amarillo Metropolitan Friday, Saturday and Sunday—unless the Metro decide to back out of their scheduled engagements, and this is believed to have been averted.

DIAMOND DISPUTES DECIDED

BASERUNNER steals second, but after being declared safe by the umpire, overrules the base and is touched out. Does he receive credit for a stolen base? The baserunner when he is over-ruled and is retired, is not credited with a stolen base, even though he did beat the throw of the catcher.

Billy Evans Says

TWO OLD BATTLERS; INJURY OF MEUSEL BLOW TO YANKEES

Few youngsters breaking into the majors have the unusual experience that has fallen to Melvin Ott, of the New York Giants.

Ott, a school boy star, was sent to Manager McGraw by an old-time friend, as a youngster with possibilities. He was a catcher.

McGraw, quick to form impressions, most of the musing correct, by the way, pronounced Ott a natural ball player the moment he saw him. When I looked the club over at Sarasota, Fla., he remarked to me: "You know, 'A' youngster by the name of Ott is the best looking recruit in the camp. I am afraid he is too light for a catcher. The outfield may be his right place. But of one thing I am positive, he can hit."

Shortly after the season opened I noticed he was sent in as pinch-hitter but failed. He has delivered many a time since, however.

In his first 13 trips to the plate, young Ott has come through with a base hit on seven different occasions, a most remarkable performance. Batting better than .500, merely in the role of pinch-hitter, is going some.

Another peculiar thing about Ott's first year in the majors is that during the time he made seven hits in 13 trips to the plate, he has not once played any position in the field.

McGraw is continuing on the theory that he isn't built for a catcher and is having him work on the outfield, where he is showing constant improvement. I have it on good authority that McGraw expects to start him as a regular in 1927.

Had a very interesting chat the other day at Boston with Jim Jefferies and Tom Sharkey.

The former heavyweight champion and the near titleholder are doing a stunt in vaudeville and getting away big. Like all old-timers, both Jefferies and Sharkey regret they were not born about 20 years later. Both feel they could have "taken" any of the present day heavyweights without much trouble.

At that, both consider Dempsey the best of the crop and feel he will be able to defend his title against any of the challengers, despite his long absence from the ring.

Sharkey has fallen right into the gestures of the actor. When the two entered the American League park at Boston, they received an ovation that must have warmed their hearts.

Jefferies slipped quietly into his seat. He appeared embarrassed, but not "Sailor Tom." He took at least 50 bows and as the crowd yelled for Jefferies, Tom pulled him from his seat to share the plaudits.

Of the two, Jefferies looks the more fit, but Sharkey, who always appeared a trifle fat because of his peculiar physique, is perhaps the more rugged.

Bobby Jones, Atlanta Golf Flash, Wins Amateur Championship; Hangs Up Score Of 293 For His Victory

(By The Associated Press) COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 12.—Bobby Jones of Atlanta today is possessor of every supreme golf title in the world, an honor never before held by any golfer, by winning the amateur championship with a score of 293, at Scioto Club.

Good as Jones score was for the gruelling Scioto links, he was only one stroke ahead of Joe Turnesa, of New York, who had finished ahead of Jones with 294. To overcome this score, Jones shot under one par on the last nine, finishing amid a din of applause with a birdie four on the 45th hole.

Among those who tried to beat Bobby on the last round today was an amateur, Chick Evans, who in 1916 captured the national open and amateur titles in the same year, and set a record score of 286 for the open. But Chick failed by several strokes. He took a 79 for the last round and totaled 305.

Another who was a possible winner during this race was Bill Mehlhorn of Chicago, who led the field the first day with a record 65 to Jones' 70 and again led the second day with 143 while Bobby had 159 by virtue of a 79 on the second round. But Mehlhorn fell off today, taking 76 in the morning and 79 in the afternoon, which tied him for third place.

he other trophies he has garnered since his first sprang into the limelight of golfing by qualifying in the National amateur at Philadelphia in 1916 when 14 years old.

He felt strangely relieved that he should thus clear Marian of any responsibility in the affair. He felt that he had done a charitable thing; it lifted him, and he was sadly in need of being raised from his slough.

Graham, always doing unaccountable things, chose the following week to go on a vacation, and John could hardly argue the point with him, inasmuch as it was the first real rest he had had since the business had been organized. Still, it was a rotten time to be leaving. There were so many things coming up just now, and their affairs were not in the best of shape.

It was not easy to understand why Nat should choose such a critical time to go. Surely, John thought he ought to have some inkling of his own troubled frame of mind, and, therefore, ought to be considerate enough to wait until things had taken a little brighter turn.

He plunged into the work, shouldering Graham's duties as well as his own, seeing that Briggs and the other artist were both kept busy, leaving on Miss Knisely, the general factotum, when it came to straightening out correspondence and caring for office routine. His visitors were many, and for the first time since his association with Graham he began to realize the "normality" of the other's capacity for work.

True to his promise to Menefee, he called on Dick at his office every day, and the physician, after giving him a thorough examination, seemed better satisfied, but cautioned John about working too hard.

"Don't overdo it, old man, I prescribed work, I know but I don't want you to go to pieces."

Meusel recently suffered a broken bone in the left foot. Like most accidents of the sort, it was caused by failure to slide after having decided to do so.

Incidentally, it came at a time when the theft of the base meant little or nothing to the Yanks, other than adding a stolen base to the record of Meusel, who is leading the league.

At the time the Yankees were leading, 9-1, in the seventh inning. Two were out, with Meusel on first and a runner on third. I was umpiring on the bases at the time and was right over the play as Meusel was injured.

Making a start to fall away in an effort to beat the throw to second, Meusel, seeing he was caught, tried to stay up. His spikes held fast, and a broken bone in the foot resulted.

The Yanks will miss Meusel, who was playing the greatest game of his career.

"Neighbors' Wives"

"Just listen to who's talking," John reminded Forbes, and the dark little fellow reddened.

"I know—you think I'm pretty bad myself. But this woman—she's just impossible, John."

"She must be pretty bad, if you can't see her," John said cruelly, and was immediately sorry when he saw the look of pain on Forbes' face.

"Why, what's the matter with you?" Pat demanded. "Why so crusty all of a sudden? If I thought you'd believe it, I'd tell you I'd reformed. What do you think of that?"

"You think it was pretty splendid," John said impulsively, reaching for the other's hand. "I'm sorry, Pat, but my tongue has grown pretty sharp of late. I think you can understand why."

"Marian," said Forbes, "feels pretty badly over this thing of yours. She holds herself responsible for Fay's leaving, and is pretty concerned for fear that you might be holding a lot against her."

"Tell her I'm not—and I'm being really honest about it. This would have happened anyway. Marian merely hastened it along a little bit. If she hadn't done what she did, there's no telling how much worse the thing would have been."

He felt strangely relieved that he should thus clear Marian of any responsibility in the affair. He felt that he had done a charitable thing; it lifted him, and he was sadly in need of being raised from his slough.

Kansas Convicts End Their Mutiny

The convicts who had remained in the mine since yesterday, defying prison officials on the surface, gave in without having gained their demands.

Hunger and fatigue of further resistance in the face of attitude adopted by Warden W. H. McKey supported by Governor Ben S. Paulen, brought the collapse of the rebellion.

BOWEN PRESIDENT OF BAPTIST CAMP

Rev. W. A. Bowen, pastor of the First Baptist church, was elected president of the Post Encampment association of the Baptist church for another year at the second annual session held at Post during the week closing yesterday.

Between 75 and 100 Baptists from Lubbock attended the Sunday services at Post, and there was an average attendance of 20 each day of the encampment. The opening sessions were held on July 5, continuing for one week.

There was an average daily attendance of about 1,000 at the encampment, Mr. Bowen said, and the attendance was equal to the expectations of those in charge. It is thought that there will be a larger attendance at the summer camp next July.

Dr. M. C. Andrews, pastor of the First Baptist church at Texarkana, was the principal speaker for the sessions.

Stewart's WASHINGTON LETTER

DOPESTERS GIVE DEMOCRATS A SENATE CHANCE IN PENNSYLVANIA AND ILLINOIS

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Pennsylvania and Illinois are normally so strongly republican that a democratic nomination to the United States senate is a mere gesture.

Due, however, to the activities of Senator Jim Reed's slush fund investigating committee, the sentiment among democrats in Congress is that George Brumby stands a reasonably good chance of election in Illinois this year and that William B. Wilson is at least a possibility in Pennsylvania.

Of course, so far as Illinois is concerned, this is conditioned on the testimony the Reed committee succeeds in digging up. That there was widespread corruption in connection with the republican senatorial primary in Pennsylvania has been shown already.

Assuming that the committee does establish the substantial truth of the Illinois charges made by Senator Caraway, there are various reasons why politicians think more of a lift will be given to Brennan, in that state, than they believe has been given to Wilson in Pennsylvania.

This is on the theory that both states are wet. Election may prove one or both of them to be otherwise. Nevertheless, such is the "dope" here in Washington.

The Illinois "hinterland" may be drier than it is wet, but Chicago, which is a very big city and counts tremendously in an Illinois election, unquestionably is overwhelmingly wetter than it is dry—more than enough so to overcome the rural districts' dry preference, if any. Thus the "dopesters" opine.

Brennan's platform is a wet platform and nothing else. If a serious crimp is put into his opposition candidacy, by proof of Senator Caraway's charge that Senator McKinley spent a million trying to get a republican renomination and that Frank L. Smith spent twice that much and "debauched" positions of public trust, besides in being McKinley, then another prodigious boost is given to the Brennan cause. Such, as it is, is the Washington forecasters' argument.

The dry organization — officially, whatever it may really think about it — disputes Pennsylvania's wetness, pointing out that Senator Pepper and Gov. Pinchot, both dry, polled more votes between them than Representative Vane, who won the republican senatorial nomination against them.

The "dope artists" put little faith in this. Vane, they say, got nothing but wet votes, and by no means all of those. Many wets undoubtedly voted for Pepper because they balked at Vane, personally, wet as he is, and Pepper is not very dry, anyway. Pinchot, for labor reasons, got almost the solid miners' vote, which indisputably is wet.

Helpful Health Hints By DR. HUGH S. CUMMING

RAVAGES OF DIPHTHERIA

Diphtheria is another disease, the ravages of which have been greatly reduced during the last quarter of a century, as a glance at the accompanying chart will show.

These results are undoubtedly due, in very great measure, to more careful and more accurate diagnostic methods; to early treatment with antitoxin; better isolation of cases, and, lately, to immunization by the use of a mixture of toxin-antitoxin.

Among the most important facts to be remembered about diphtheria are the following: 1.—It is highly contagious.

2.—Early diagnosis and early treatment with anti-toxin are of the utmost importance in saving life once the disease is contracted.

3.—The Schick test performed by your doctor or by your health department will show whether your child is susceptible to the disease.

4.—The administration of toxin-antitoxin to the susceptible child will render him immune, usually for the rest of his life.

It takes from six weeks to three months after the administration of the best known species is the famous 17-year locust, which is known to take that length of time to pass through its normal life-cycle.

The 17-year locust occurs over most of the United States from the great plains eastward in immense numbers during certain years.

These hordes lay their eggs and the eggs are laid in tiny punctures in the twigs of trees, and when these hatch, the tiny insects burrow into the ground.

After 17 years of this subterranean existence, living on the roots of trees and other plants, and having attained a length of about an inch and a half, they are ready to transform to the adult stage.

Coming out of the ground at dusk, they ascend the nearest tree or bush, and during the night burst the scaly skin which covers them, and emerge as perfect flying insects.

Their life in this state lasts only a few weeks at the most, and if some enemy has not devoured them, they die a natural death, leaving the eggs which are to produce the next generation.

Since 1663, some of the broods of the periodical cicada have been under observation since 1663, and the ranges of all the broods, some thirty in number, have been mapped in such detail that the periodical appearance of the insects in a given locality can be accurately predicted.

FLOYDADA'S PRACTICAL GROWTH With the assurance last week that Floydada would have natural gas facilities by January 1, 1927, another indication is given of the rapid strides of expansion being made over the Plains in general.

There is no basis for a statement that this city is on a "boom" but it is making practical and rapid growth. New homes, attractively planned, are being added from time to time to the residence district.

The present is the time to make ready for the future and Floydada is preparing for tomorrow by taking slow, business-like steps of development.—Floydada Hesperian.

THE POOR CONVICTS After "carefully investigating" the worthiness of the claims for pardon of two penitentiary inmates a few months ago, the governor extended clemency. The worthiness of the pardons was shown yesterday when the governor revoked the pardons because both parties had committed felonies after being pardoned.

JOHN and FAY MILBURN buy a home when their baby girl is born and the advertising agency in which John is partner and copy writer lands a new contract. Among their acquaintances are:

NOEL and VERA BOYD, whose marriage is strictly "modern."
PAT and MARIAN FORBES, who have three children and whose domestic life is unhappy because of Pat's roving tendencies. Previous chapters told how John was fascinated on meeting NELL ORME, of whom Forbes hints that she is having trouble with her husband.

Fay took JUDITH, the baby, to visit her parents in Houston, and during her absence John "ran around" a good deal. When Fay returned, gossip had related some of his actions and sharp quarrels followed, one of which drove John "out on a tear." Fay, learning he had been out with other women, threatened to leave him if it was repeated.

John finds that people are talking about him. NAT GRAHAM, his partner, charges his actions are damaging the firm's reputation. John later, by accident, meets Nell Orme at Vera Boyd's. He resolves not to see her again, realizing that she is carrying him off his feet, but he does, and the day comes when he takes her madly in his arms.

Fay learning of it, goes through with her threat to leave him, and takes the baby with her. John grief-stricken, closes up the house and takes an apartment. Later he tries to negotiate a personal loan at his bank, gets in an argument with HENRY BLODGETT, and when the other makes a reference to his wife leaving him, John smacks him.

Blodgett has him arrested for assault and battery, and PAUL DAVIDSON, a lawyer and friend of John defends him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XLIX

DAVIDSON paused to catch his breath. He looked coldly at Blodgett and pointing an accusing finger at him went on: "This man is a banker, and as such he is the caretaker of a good many persons' money. But he is not the whistler of their morals. He is a throw-back to the age of stern, rock-bound Puritanism and blue laws. He would like nothing better than to go snooping around in other people's homes, telling them what they should and should not do."

"Oh, I object," said the prosecutor wearily. "Sustained," said the judge. Paul looked one more at Blodgett, withering him with his steady stare. Then he folded his arms. "That is all," he announced calmly.

Davidson had not put John on the stand at all. He was shrewd enough to know that if he did the prosecutor would be sure to get an admission from Milburn that Fay really had left him. John would not lie. As it was, the thing was left to conjecture, and Davidson had been adroit enough to leave it in such a way as to raise a doubt in the mind of the casual bystander as to whether Fay really had left him.

The judge had a few things to say. "I am looking at this thing in a sane, broad-minded way. It seems to me that the plaintiff took too much for granted in accusing the defendant of lack of character under such circumstances. As for the remark about his domestic affairs—here John winced—that strikes me as particularly unfortunate and uncalled for. I am quite in agreement with the attorney for the defendant that the plaintiff exceeded his rights, that he made statements without substantial proof to back them up and that, besides, he overstepped the boundaries of another man's affairs. Although I can hardly recommend physical retaliation as retaliation, still I can see that the defendant was sufficiently provoked to lose his temper and strike his accuser. The case is dismissed."

Blodgett, looking darkly ahead of him, left the court room and just outside was surrounded by a group of reporters. But he shoved his way through them with indignant imperativeness, and Davidson succeeded in piloting John out of the building without encountering any of the hungry gentlemen of the press.

"It'll be in the papers, of course," Davidson said. "What a nuisance!" exclaimed John. "Isn't there any way of stopping it?"

"Stop one of those news hounds on a snappy little feature like that? Not on your life. That's page one this afternoon." John said, "Thanks for keeping me off the stand. You saved me some embarrassment." He stared at the other a moment, thinking, and then said, "Fay did leave me, you know."

"I gathered as much," Paul remarked drily. "It's been written all over your face. What was the trouble? Anything I shouldn't know?"

John told him, as they were walking down the street together, and when he had finished, Paul stopped, blew reflectively at the ashes on his cigaret and delivered himself of a rather bitter complaint.

"It isn't fair, John. Here I am a rake and nobody ever bothers about me, whereas you're a regular lamb, and painted a wolf." He added softly, "I wonder what a wife of mine would do to me if she found out some of my quaint little doings."

"I'm not crying, you understand," John told him. "I'm taking it right on the jaw and trying not to complain too much. But it's goin' darn hard, Paul."

Paul assured him that was one of the reasons why he was staying single. "No such complications for me, my lad," and John said fervently that he wished he had never married himself.

"Freedom—that's what you've got Paul, and it isn't possible in marriage. Still—" he shook his head—"oh well, forget it."

Several weeks passed, and autumn was full upon them. College football teams were playing "big" games every Saturday now, and John and Dick Menefee found considerable pleasure in following the scores, speculating on the year's probable All-America eleven, and in taking short trips now and then to sit in at a game.

An occasional letter came from Fay—matter-of-fact little letters that informed him that Judith was doing quite well and that she, having installed a nurse at her mother's to look after the baby, had found a secretarial job with her old employer and was having immense fun with it.

All this was rather gloomy sending for John, although he did secretly commend Fay for making no illusions to their trouble. Very decent of her, he thought, and began to miss her more and more. There occurred moments when he wondered if, after all, it wouldn't be best to hop a train and go to Fay and ask for forgiveness and the opportunity of starting all over again, but he fought them down, thinking, and rightly, that Fay would not like to witness the spectacle of him stumbling himself before her. He had not been back to their house since the day he had packed his belongings and left. He had no wish to encounter either the Blodgetts, which would be bound to happen if he made the trip. Paul Davidson's prediction had been correct; the papers had "splashed" the amusing story, and everywhere he turned he heard sniffling comment and friendly little greetings such as "Well, I see you gave that hard-boiled banker a good licking, didn't you?"

Only a slight allusion had been made to the reference about Fay's leaving him, but it was sufficient for his friends to begin to bother him with questions. He told Pat Forbes, of course, knowing that Marian would be sure to pick it up, anyway, and know the reason for it. But he said nothing to Nat Graham, although his partner seemed to jinx an explanation.

And then one day he heard something that caused him to sit up and rasp a astonishment, and at the same time to feel immense pity. The astounding news came of Paul Davidson's marriage to a rather doubtful woman—just who she was very few people seemed to know—and it was breathed about that Paul had done the "chivalrous thing."

"I know her," Pat Forbes told John one day. "She's cheap—terribly so. I can't imagine Paul throwing himself away like that. I suppose he thought he had to."

"You mean?" John asked. "Exactly. He's making the lady a present of his name to save her some embarrassment. Poor! Why did he ever get mixed up with her?"

ORDINANCE NO. 342

An Ordinance granting a franchise and certain privileges to A. J. McLaughlin and George R. Broadwell, of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, and R. A. Tipton, of Amarillo, Texas, and establishing rules and regulations for the use of natural gas for light, heat and power, and establishing a maximum limit for use to be charged for such gas.

WHEREAS, A. J. McLaughlin, George R. Broadwell and R. A. Tipton have applied to the Mayor and City Commissioners of the City of Lubbock, Texas, to grant them and their associates the right to lay and maintain and operate a gas plant for the distribution of natural gas for light, heat and power within the City of Lubbock, Texas, upon the following terms and conditions, and reservations, such rights and franchises to be as follows:

Section 1. That the right to furnish, distribute and sell natural gas for light, heat and power, for all such other purposes for which gas may be used within the City of Lubbock, Texas, and for a period of twenty years from the date of the passage and approval of this ordinance is hereby granted to A. J. McLaughlin, George R. Broadwell and R. A. Tipton, hereinafter called the grantees, subject, however, to the provisions hereinafter incorporated in this ordinance and for such additional period of extensions of time as may be agreed upon by the said parties, and upon conditions then found to be satisfactory to the officials of the City of Lubbock and to these grantees, and provided that this ordinance and franchise is to be in effect and run from and after the day and date of its passage and approval.

Section 2. That the said grantees are to have the right to lay pipes and equipment, and to construct such buildings and install such machinery or equipment and to sell or lease such equipment to the citizens of Lubbock, Texas, as may be necessary or advisable in their judgment for the proper performance of the services to be rendered to the City of Lubbock, and to its citizens and inhabitants to the best interests of the gas consumers and to have, at all times access to the streets and alleys of said City for the purpose of laying such main pipes and equipment as may be needed from time to time during the term of this franchise, or any extension thereof, provided, that at no time shall the grantees obstruct such streets or alleys so as to interfere with the public use thereof for a period longer than twenty-four hours, and that immediately such main pipes or equipment is laid and tested same shall be covered and such streets or alleys shall be replaced in the same or as good conditions before such work was done.

All excavations to be properly guarded by barriers by day and by red lights at night, and the said grantees shall hold the said City of Lubbock harmless from any and all damages to persons or property resulting from plant or system and guarding the same while under construction, by a good and sufficient bond executed by the grantees and some reputable surety company permitted to do business in the State of Texas, in the penal sum of Twenty Five Thousand Dollars ($25,000.00).

The work done in connection with the construction, maintenance and operation of said plant and transmission, transportation and distributing system, and the location of regulating stations, main pipes, valves, gate valves, gauges, stock boxes, man holes, low, intermediate and high pressure mains, pipes, feeders, service pipes and conductors and service pipe connections and all appurtenances in the streets, highways, alleys and other public places in the City shall be subject to and governed by the rules, regulations and ordinances now in force or that may be hereafter lawfully adopted.

Section 3. That all mains shall be laid at least two (2) feet below the surface of the ground, and so laid as not to interfere in any manner with water mains or pipes or sewer lines of said City, or pipes or conduits of other utilities already installed; and that the connections with the gas mains and pipes shall be placed and laid to the property line of the consumer at the expense of the grantees. The grantees shall not be required to extend main lines more than one hundred and fifty (150) feet to any consumer.

Section 4. That said grantees shall at all times after said gas distribution system has been established and placed in operation, be prepared to furnish said City and its inhabitants with a good quality of gas for light, heat and power and other purposes, and said grantees shall furnish such gas for all purposes for which same may be used in sufficient quantities to supply the needs of said City and its citizens.

The said gas shall be furnished to said City and its inhabitants for domestic use at a net price not to exceed sixty cents per thousand cubic feet for all gas used, provided however that gas used for heating public buildings, churches, hotels and apartments shall be sold at the following rates: For the first 50,000 cubic feet used per month 67 1/2 cents per M. For the first 100,000 cubic feet used per month 65 cents per M. For all use in excess of 100,000 cubic feet per month 60 cents per M.

That all the above rates are to be charged for gas used through one meter only.

time, the grantees shall have the right to discontinue services to said consumer, and to make an additional charge for the gas used for any purpose equal to one-ninth (1/9) of the bill rendered. And in case said consumer shall make application to have services re-established and gas re-connected with his premises, he shall be required to pay all delinquent bills, together with the penalty thereon, and to pay a cut on charge not to exceed $1.50 for domestic use, and $2.50 for industrial use.

It is further provided that the grantees shall be allowed to make a minimum charge of $1.50 per month for gas for domestic and heating service, and $25.00 per month for industrial gas service.

All gas furnished or supplied by grantees shall be metered, and for this purpose the grantees, shall at their own cost and expense, provide and install for each consumer a good and accurate meter of standard make, to be approved by the City Commission, and when grantees reads their meters to determine the amount of gas furnished shall be left with or at the residence or place of business of the consumer. Grantees shall also provide and maintain at their proper cost and expense facilities for testing gas meters, to be to the satisfaction of and approved by the City Commission; and said grantees shall also provide and maintain, at their proper cost and expense a standard meter prover of not less than five cubic feet capacity, to be selected by the City Commission, equipped with suitable thermometers and other necessary accessories which shall be maintained to the accepted standard of accuracy, all to be to the satisfaction and approved by the City Commission.

Such meters shall be and remain the property of the said grantees, and the grantees shall have the right to require the customer or consumer to deposit with them the sum equal to the maximum monthly bill of the consumer, provided, however, that no deposit shall be in less sum than $18.00 for domestic meter, and $15.00 for industrial meter.

The natural gas to be furnished here under shall be at all times kept to a standard of eight hundred British thermal heat units or higher per cubic foot at the point of consumption at a temperature of thirty two degrees Fahrenheit, or zero Centigrade; to determine whether the gas supplied is of the heating value above specified, the City of Lubbock may have tests made by a competent analyst under recognized and scientific processes, according to the approved method of making such tests, and said tests shall be from samples of gas collected from the grantees mains at any point or points within the City. If the result of such tests show that during a month the daily average of the gas supplied was below eight hundred British thermal heat units, then there shall be deducted from the customer's bill for gas during such month a proportionate amount, based upon the deficiency below said eight hundred British thermal heat units. In any month when such tests are being made, the city shall advise the grantees of the result of each test within a reasonable time after it is made, and the official report of such analyst, of which said grantees are so advised, shall be taken and accepted as the agreed prima facie correct test of the heating value of the gas furnished during such month and thereafter, until a different result is determined or ascertained in a similar manner; said grantees shall furnish gas to consumers at a pressure of not less than four ounces, measured at the consumer's meter outlet.

Said grantees shall supply and install not less than four, and as many as may be needed approved self-registering pressure and gas gauges capable of recording the pressure of the gas, in the mains at points in the city designated by the City Commission, and said self-registering pressure gauges shall be placed at stations which, in the opinion of the City Commission, fairly represent the pressure on adjacent territory; and said station shall be securely inclosed under locks, and duplicate keys to said stations shall be retained by the City Manager, or some officer authorized by the City Commission; and such self-registering pressure gauges shall be equipped with removable recording dials to record the pressure, and the said City Manager, or some representative authorized by the City Commission, shall remove or cause to be removed from said pressure gauges the pressure records of the preceding period, and provide the gauges with recording blanks for the next period during which such record is desired by the City; and each record taken from such pressure gauges shall be filed in the office of the City Secretary of the City of Lubbock, and a record therefor be entered upon the books of the City by the said City Secretary; and the said City Manager, or some representative authorized by said City Commission, shall keep self-registering dials in said gauges continuously for a month or as often as is required by the City Commission; and the said gauge record and the said book record shall be competent and prima facie proof of the pressure at the point at which such record was made at the time as shown by said gauge record.

Each consumer of gas shall install and maintain suitable piping, within his property lines and suitable appliances and fixtures, except meters, subject to the approval of the City Commission, or such supervisor, inspector or other representative as may be authorized by said City Commission to pass upon the same.

Section 5. The City reserves the right to lay and permit to be laid electric conduits, water and other pipe lines or cables, and to do and permit to be done any underground work that may be deemed necessary or proper by the City Commission in, across, along or under any street, alley, highway, or other public place occupied by the grantees; and whenever, by reason of changes in the grade of any street, or in the location or manner of constructing any water pipes, electric conduits, sewers or other underground structure, it shall be deemed necessary by the City Commission to alter, change, adapt or conform gas mains and service pipes of grantees such alterations or changes shall be made by the grantees when ordered in writing by the City Commission or any supervisor or other representative of the City Commission so authorized to act, without any claim or reimbursement for damages against the City; said grantees shall indemnify and save harmless the City of Lubbock from any and all claims for injury or damages to persons or property occasioned by or arising out of the construction, maintenance, operation or repair of said grantees' transmission, transportation and distributing systems, and by the conduct of its business in the City.

Section 7. The right to use the streets, alleys, highways or other public ways or places of the City of Lubbock by the grantees, as provided in Section 2 above, shall be and is subject to the following restrictions, limitations and conditions, viz: that in building additional mains or lines of pipe, said grantees shall build and construct the same along and under the alleyways, where alleys exist, rather than along and under streets, and shall only use the streets for same in so far as may be necessary in connecting from one alley to another; and said mains and pipe line shall be so laid that the top of said main or pipe line shall be placed below the surface of the street or alley and so as to protect all paving, wire cables, water pipes, underground wires or sewer laterals, and shall be so constructed and located with reference to water lines and sewer mains as not to interfere therewith, and under the direction and to the satisfaction of the City Commission or the City Engineer.

Section 8. That the City Commission hereby reserves the right to install at the point where said grantees receive their gas for distribution in the city a meter, through which all gas distributed to the city and its inhabitants shall be passed, and adequate self-registering pressure gauges adequate to record the amount of gas distributed to the City and its inhabitants and the pressure at which the same was received by the grantees.

Said Grantees shall also supply and install one distant pressure gauge under the direction of the City Commission and at the place designated by the City Commission, which will indicate the pressure at such designated point, said gauge to be placed in the City Hall in the office of the City Engineer.

Section 9. That said Grantees shall make, not oftener than each six months, reports to the City Secretary of the City of Lubbock, under oath of the President, treasurer or superintendent of such company, showing the gross amount received from the business done within the city in payment of charges of gas for the six months next preceding.

Section 10. That after the said gas distribution system shall have been fully constructed, equipped and in operation as hereinafter provided in the City of Lubbock, if the said grantees shall then fail to substantially comply with the conditions of this franchise, the City of Lubbock shall have sixty (60) days to demand duly passed thereof to forfeit all the rights and franchises herein granted to the said grantees, provided, that the City of Lubbock shall give the said grantees, their successors and assigns sixty (60) days' notice in writing, specifying the conditions claimed to have been violated, and giving full and fair opportunity to be heard thereon before declaring such forfeiture, which notice shall fairly and fully set out all of the conditions claimed and complained of and shall be given by the said City and shall be signed by the City Secretary under seal of said City, after having been properly authorized by the Mayor and City Commissioners of the said City; provided, however, that the said Grantees shall have sixty (60) days to rectify and correct such violations and to substantially comply with the terms and conditions of the ordinance; should the violations of this ordinance so complained of not have been rectified and corrected and the terms and conditions of this ordinance fully complied with at the end of said sixty (60) days, then and in that event the City shall have the power to forfeit this franchise on account of the violations specified in said notice. That in case of forfeiture as herein provided, the City of Lubbock reserves the right to purchase the distributing plant of the grantees at its fair appraised value or to allow the grantees to remove same within one year from the date of such forfeiture, provided, that before any of said property may be removed, the grantees shall be required to give to the City a good and sufficient bond that the streets and alleys will be placed and left in as good condition as found.

Section 11. For each and every breach or violation of any of the provisions of this ordinance by the grantees they shall be liable to a penalty of Twenty-Five Dollars, to be recovered in any court of competent jurisdiction by suit, of any person, firm or corporation injured or damaged by such breach or violation; and if the breach or violation shall be a continuous one, each day during which such breach or violation continues shall be deemed a separate breach or violation and a separate ground of recovery against the grantees.

Section 12. That this franchise is granted to the grantees herein on the representations and distinct understanding that similar franchises have been, will be or may be granted to them by the Cities of Canyon, Tulla, Plainview and Slaton, and that each franchise will provide for the sale of gas at the same price and that payment therefor will be made on the same terms as provided herein, and it is hereby provided that if at any time anyone or more of the above cities make the requirements that gas shall be sold at a lesser price, or on more favorable terms, and the same are acquiesced in by the grantees, or if the grantees at any time sell gas to any of the above cities, and the inhabitants thereof at a lesser price, or on more favorable terms of payment, then and in the event the City shall have, and hereby reserves the right to amend this franchise to provide for the sale of gas at the same price or prices for like use, and on the same terms of payment granted to any one or more of the above cities, and the inhabitants thereof, the purpose of this provision being to provide that the rates for the sale of gas for like use and the terms of payment therefor, shall be uniform in this and all of the above named cities, provided however, that in the event gas is found at or near any of the above named cities of sufficient quality and in sufficient quantities to be used therein, that the above provisions as to the equalization of rates shall not apply.

Section 13. It is provided that the grantees shall in good faith begin the construction of their main lines and distributing systems by September fifteenth, 1926, and shall complete such main line by December first, 1926, and shall be prepared to serve gas to consumers on or before January 1st, 1927, provided, however, that grantees shall not be liable for interest commenced out of each period by strikes, acts of providence, acts of constituted legal authorities, or acts beyond the control of grantees.

Section 14. That the grantees herein shall have the right and privilege of assigning this franchise and all the rights and privileges granted therein, subject to all the conditions and restrictions contained herein, and wherever the word "grantees" appears herein it shall be construed as applying to their successors and assigns.

Section 15. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and approval and publication as provided by law.

Passed First Reading, June 16, 1926. Passed Second Reading, June 17, 1926.

New Again! —these oxfords stay snug at the ankle

Remember, there is more to preserving an oxford's good looks than keeping the leather rich and lustrous. Because Nunn-Bush Oxfords are ankle-fashioned, their first-day neatness endures as long as they are worn. Ankle-fashioning banishes unsightly gaping at the ankle and slipping at heel. The final stroke of the polishing cloth settles the fact that they are new again!

Casualties Are Recorded As Dover Blast Rescue Workers Enter Flame Swept Regions Of Munitions Plant

Missing Are Listed

Among those known to be missing were: Lieutenant Commander Edward Alan Brown, appointed from Massachusetts; Captain Burrell Hayden Clark, appointed from Little Rock Ark.; Lieutenant Herman Conrad Schrader, appointed from New York; Chief Gunner Joseph Gateley, and the following enlisted men: Oliver C. Bliss Waterville, Ohio; Ernest Cowell, Hamilton, Ohio; Ralph V. Graham, Fort Worth, Texas; Maurice H. Hardacker, Galloway, Fla.; John A. Little, Leon, N. Y.; Mason D. Blason, Evansville, Ind.; Henry D. Masecht, Richmond, N. Y.; John W. Monroe, Richmond, Va.; Paul W. Moreaux, New Britain, Conn.; Fred J. Rachford, Xenia, Ohio.

Roads leading to the devastated area were under close military guard today. Some 400 or 500 refugees from the villages of Mount Hope, Hibernia, Rockaway and Denmark, who stumbled from their homes as they began to fall Saturday, were content to remain out of the danger zone.

Flames May Rage 4 Days Army and navy officers in charge of the rescue work said it might be three or four days before the flames would die down sufficiently to permit a careful inspection of the area. The injured, numbered about 200, of whom fifty were severely but not dangerously hurt.

So sudden came the initial blast that precautions for safety could not be taken. A marine who escaped crawling along the ground after being hurled forty feet into the air, said that after the flash of lightning he saw flames 400 feet high and the concussion crushed brick and stone ammunition houses like eggshells.

Shells Explode Next

There followed showers of 14 and 16 inch shells. They were stacked officials said, on the base, thus causing them to shoot straight into the air. Had it not been thus, the surrounding towns would have been cut to pieces by direct shell fire.

"It's like a scene from the Western front," Brigadier General Hugh A. Drum explained after an inspection of the reversion from Picatinny peak, nearby. All evidence of the green grass and shrubbery which had made the place a beauty spot had disappeared, he said, and instead were brown, ghastly shell holes, some a foot or two feet across and thirty feet deep.

Towns Are War Torn

ROCKAWAY, N. J., July 12. (AP)—Refugees from the shell rocked area surrounding the burning navy ammunition depot at Lake Denmark returned today to find their homes a war torn no man's land. The explosion which destroyed the arsenal and rained death on nearby towns, in two of fiery bombardment has wiped out an entire town, and made of a peaceful mining valley a devastated area as desolate as those of the Argonne.

Ten square miles about the arsenal is an evacuated area, its roads guarded by sentries, their bayonets fixed and rifles loaded. Refugees creeping to their ruined homes to search for their treasures, to find pet animals, to reclaim whatever of their possessions, have been saved, are allowed to pass. Ambulances of the Red Cross and moving kitchens of the army are other traffic allowed in the grim area.

Larger Towns Damaged

Rockaway and Dover, larger towns at the foot of the valley at whose head the arsenal burns, have suffered their damages. Shattered windows along the streets, some now boarded up by the inhabitants wrecked walls and crowded hospitals and relief stations make of these towns the outposts of the war section.

As one advances up the valley, the destruction grows steadily worse. Mount Hope about two miles south, over the brow of the hill from the burning arsenal is a dramatic Verdun. None of the homes of its meagre mining population has escaped. Floors caved in and dropped to the cellar, windows after windows shattered, walls wrecked and little dwellings destroyed, marked the path of exploding shells.

Town Is Evacuated

Brigadier General Drum after an inspection last night ordered the town evacuated. All through the night and this morning 12 and 14 inch shells continued to burst in the ruined streets. This morning the inhabitants began to creep back to look over the ruins. An old woman came back on a pathetic search for her cow. Many sought dogs, cats or chickens.

Wartime heroism of the animal kingdom recorded itself in such little incidents as the finding of a shepherd dog, within the shell studded reservation, standing watch over his dead mate.

Rescue Workers Are Busy

While Red Cross workers labor in Hinton and Dover, labored the work of sorting the children from the erupting arsenal, well as shock presented a picture of spectacles in the stations. Persons were dazed and wander about stock them in the Red Cross. The Red Cross cared for 1000.

Mourners Attend Funeral Services For Plane Victim

Funeral services for Priestly Suttle, 21 year-old son of Rev. T. L. Suttle, of Levelland, who was instantly killed Sunday when the airplane in which he and a friend were riding crashed about 100 feet to the ground on the flying field at Levelland, were held this afternoon at Levelland with the Baker Undertaking Company of this city in charge.

Young Suttle sustained a broken neck when he was caught between the rear end of the cockpit and the motor in the plane after the pilot lost control and the machine crashed to the ground in a nose dive on an attempted landing.

Lieut. Clinton Breedlove, also of Levelland, close friend of young Suttle, and a graduate of the Kelly Field flying school, who was piloting the machine at the request of Suttle, was slightly injured, but was able to make his way from the wreckage unassisted. He will recover, according to reports from Levelland.

The plane, "Maiden Lubbock," built by J. B. Cole of this city and associated as the first step toward commercializing air transportation, was completely demolished, according to Mr. Cole. The accident was witnessed by several score of people on the field, and the plane, in its sudden descent, barely missed a group of spectators.

The deceased is the second son lost by Rev. Suttle within a year, another son having accidentally shot himself to death while on a hunting trip last fall.

Tom Cannon Accepts Job With Santa Fe

Tom Cannon, who for nearly four years, has been connected with law enforcement in Lubbock with the city police department, has accepted a position with the Santa Fe Railroad company at Waurika, Okla., and left here Saturday to assume his new duties.

Mr. Cannon is a fearless officer, and would usually be counted upon to "get his man" regardless of the nature of the case. His place on the force here is being filled temporarily by Desk Sergeant Wiley L. Metcalf, who has just returned from his vacation. Another officer probably will be commissioned in the near future, Chief of Police T. E. May said Monday.

Hail Storm Destroys 20,000 Acres Cotton

A destructive hail storm that practically destroyed approximately 20,000 acres of cotton and other growing crops, and damaged to a certain extent the large wheat crop, swept over portions of Dickens and Crosby counties in the vicinity of McAdoo Sunday, according to R. J. Murray, of this city, who with Clyde L. Backenstoss, was in the section affected by the hail soon after the storm.

The storm swept over an area about twelve miles long and four miles wide, Mr. Murray said Monday, leaving in its wake fields stripped of all vestige of cotton plants except the main stem of the stalk, and in some instances even this was beaten down. All other crops standing were damaged to a similar extent, but due to the fact that the bulk of the wheat crop has been either harvested or is now in shocks in the field, wheat is believed not to have been damaged a great deal.

H. C. GLENN HERE ON SHORT VISIT

H. C. Glenn, president of the Temple Trust Company of Texas, was a business visitor in Lubbock during the latter part of the week, acquainting himself with conditions in Lubbock and the surrounding country. He was very well pleased with prospects and present conditions.

Since the Temple Trust Company was organized in Lubbock in 1916, $9,000,000 has been loaned in Lubbock and adjoining counties, according to T. B. T. Egan, Vice-President and general manager of the company. The company was the first to loan money in the South Plains counties, Mr. Glenn said; and it has had a large part in the development of this section of the country. Many of the South Plains towns were enabled to build brick business houses and a very large number of residences only through this company.

Mr. Glenn's estimate of the Plains was that it is the safest territory in Texas for the loan business.

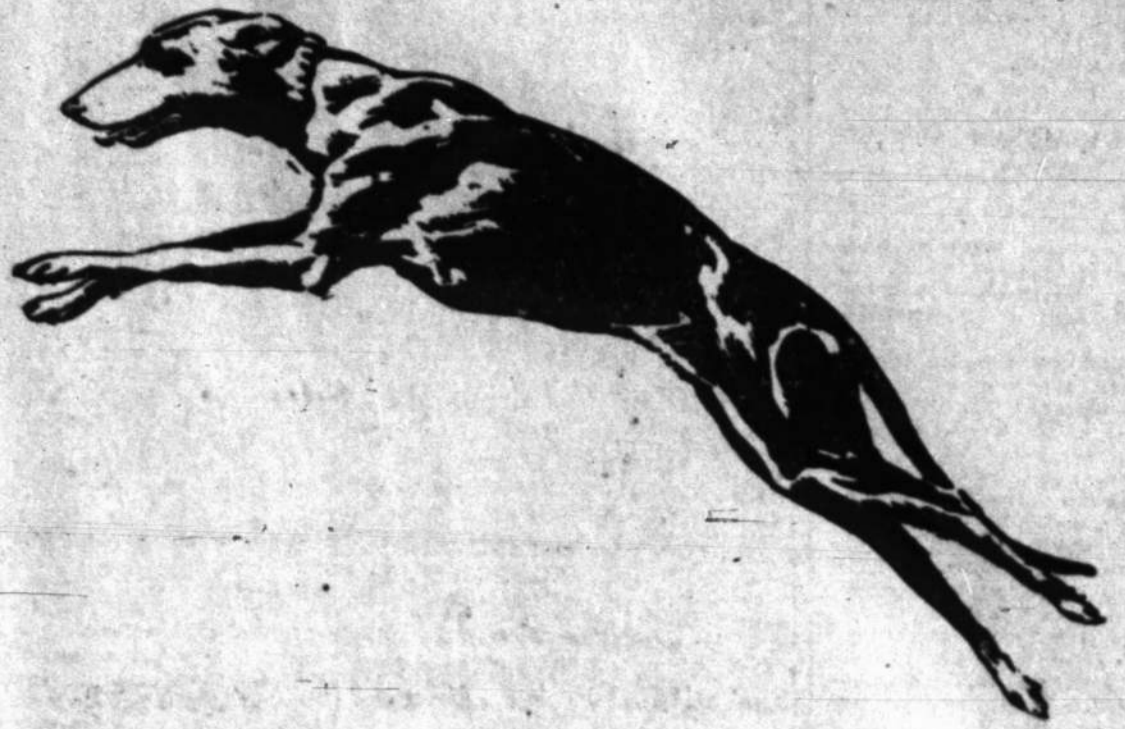

ROBERT BROWNING OF TAHOKA DIED SUNDAY
