Legislators Seek Answer To Avoid Tax Veto

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — Legislative leaders searched today for a way to meet Gov. Preston Smith's objections to the $903.8 million tax bill to finance state spending the next two years.

Smith served notice Tuesday he would veto the bill unless it is chopped down to suit his taste.

House Speaker Gus Mutscher said he stayed up past midnight conferring separately with the governor at the executive mansion and with Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes.

Mutscher indicated he was leaning toward passage of a separate bill repealing some of the new taxes to which Smith objects and reducing the total size of the bill.

"I think we all agree that the last thing to do would be to attempt to recall the bill," Mutscher said. "The next worst thing would be to experience a veto."

At the morning session of the House, Rep. John Traeger, Seguin, a close associate of Mutscher, introduced a bill that would repeal the two-cents gasoline tax increase in the already approved tax bill. The measure was sent immediately to the House Revenue and Taxation Committee.

Should Traeger's bill be approved by the House and Senate, and signed into law, it would remove about $70 million in general revenue funds from the multi-million dollar tax package.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes said he planned to "let Gus take the lead" in deciding what to do about Smith's message.

Many legislators predicted Smith's dramatic, unexpected move would cause a special session. On April 29 he said he would sign any bill approved by both the House and Senate.

Others saw the move as a chance to revive a corporation income tax, which supposedly died during Senate debate.

"I find the suggestion of a $900 million tax bill absolutely intolerable," Smith told a news conference, just minutes after he broke the news to Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and Speaker Gus Mutscher. "I cannot in good conscience sign this bill or permit it to become law especially at a time when we are experiencing relatively high unemployment and ever-increasing costs of living and taxation ... under the Constitution the bill may remain on my desk for 10 days. This will enable the legislature to reconsider its action, reduce the size of this bill to realistic proportions. Such action will prevent a special session. So that my position be absoltely clear, I must respectfully say that unless the legislature does reduce the size of this tax bill, I must veto it."

"Certainly I will do my best to prevent the series of special sessions which probably will be necessary if Governor Smith vetoes this bill," Barnes said in reply. "I see no possibility of recalling the bill. I want to discuss it further with members of the Senate before commenting on any future course of action."

"If he vetoes the bill we probably will be forced into a special session," said Mutscher.

Western Texas College officials are shooting in the dark in their estimates on enrollment for the first year of the college's operation, but more so on second year, or sophomore enrollees, than the others.

Nevertheless, it has become apparent that some sophomore students will be enrolled this fall and a core program of academic work will be offered at that level. This will enable any second year college students who transfer to WTC to get required courses, such as English, history, government, mathematics, science, etc. Officials have indicated that there will be few, if any, sophomore courses outside the basic academic requirements the first year, however. By the second year, of course, they should have a better idea of how many to prepare for at all levels and in all departments.

Speaking of junior colleges, disagreements have surfaced at Odessa and Midland over the annexation of the Midland Independent School District to the Odessa Junior College District. The maneuvering which led to this union was associated with efforts to obtain the upper level college called the University of the Permian Basin. The university wound up at Odessa's door, and Midland has a branch of the junior college in operation, but no facilities of its own.

The dissenion is bound to hurt the Permian University at its outset. It would work to the advantage of some other schools, especially Angelo State University.

Proponents of Amendment No. 4 on the May 18 ballot are alarmed over confusion that has emerged over this proposal. Amendment 4 is usually referred to as the "Clean Water" amendment, and some have interpreted it to mean that the so-called Texas Water Plan has been revived under a new name. The Clean Water Committee, however, is emphasizing that Amendment No. 4 merely would provide some state loan funds for the use of local governments in improving their wastewater treatment facilities. In other words, its purpose is to upgrade the water already on hand, rather than to increase production or supplies.—WACIL McNAIR.

58 Killed In Turkey Earthquake

By NICK LUDINGTON
Associated Press Writer

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — At least 58 persons were killed and hundreds injured this morning in a powerful earthquake that struck the town of Burdur and surrounding villages in southern Turkey.

The governor of Burdur Province, Esref Ayhan, said 18 deaths had been confirmed in Burdur and 20 each in two nearby villages.

He said 70 per cent of the buildings in Burdur, a town of 30,000 people, had been destroyed. Ayhan also had reports of entire villages collapsing in outlying areas which had not been contacted yet.

Instanbul's Kandilli Observatory registered the quake at 8 on the Richter scale, signifying it was of great violence. The Los Angeles quake in February registered between 6 and 6.5.

Housing Minister Sellahattin Baburoglu dispatched relief supplies and a mobile hospital to the city 225 miles southwest of Ankara.

Ayhan said the local hospitals were cleared of noncritical patients and were rapidly filling with injured from the quake.

Troops were sent to dig for victims in stricken villages.

The housing minister said he and the ministers of interior and village affairs were flying to the earthquake area.

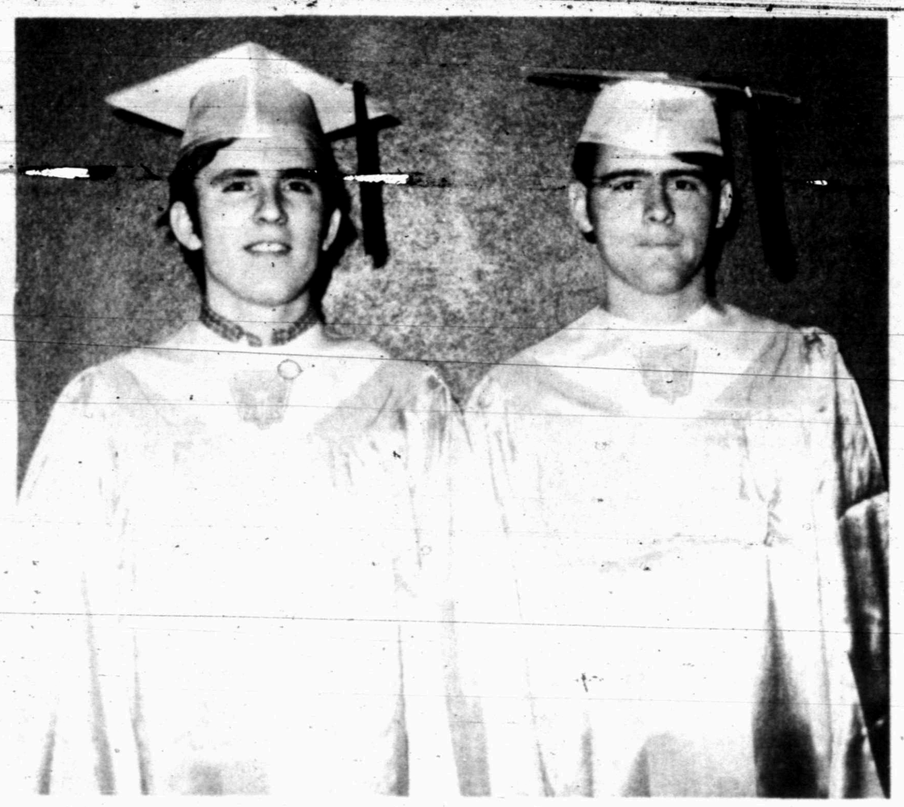

Turkey has been struck by killer earthquakes each year since 1966. In March 1970, a quake killed 1,089 persons and destroyed the town of Gediz in western Turkey.

The quakes take place along the Anatolian Fault, that starts around Burdur, ranges north along the Aegean coast and east along the Black Sea, then plunges south again in the eastern mountains.

X-Ray Unit Due Here Tomorrow

The West Texas Tuberculosis Association will have a mobile X-ray unit at Travis Junior High School tomorrow for chest X-rays.

The unit will be in operation between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and noon and from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. There is a charge of $1.50 each for the chest X-rays.

SNYDER HIGH'S TOP STUDENTS — Bid Cooper, left, son of Mrs. Joyce Cooper, 3717 Dalton Drive, is the valedictorian, and N. C. Smith, right, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jearld Smith, 4518 Fredonia, is the salutatorian, of the Snyder High School graduating class of 1971. Cooper, 17, has a grade average of 96.69, while Smith's average is 96.32. Snyder High School's commencement is set for Thursday, May 27.

Contracts For Services Are Renewed By Schools

Snyder School Trustees last night renewed the school district's contracts for the commodity program of the State Dept. of Public Welfare and the National School Lunch and Milk Program, and for participation in the Region XIV Education Service Center.

The commodity-lunch-milk program approval came on a split decision, with Max von Roeder, William J. Schiebel and Dillard Teal voting for the contract and Ted Crenwelge and Bill Eiland opposing it. Participation in the regional service center was approved unanimously.

Also approved was a summer recreation program for the mentally handicapped. This program will be financed by a state grant. School facilities will be used, however. The program will be directed by Mrs. Joye Loyd, a certified teacher of the handicapped.

Participation in the Scurry County Boys' Club summer program was approved. The school has contirbuted $600 per summer to this program for several years.

Addition of an electronic organ to the proposed 1971-72 budget was approved. It will replace the 18-year-old instrument in the high school auditorium.

Date for the hearing on the proposed budget was set for June 22. The hearing will be held at 7:30 p.m. on that date in the high school cafeteria.

A one-year contract with Edgar Taylor to collect some delinquent taxes was approved. This will involve clearing up ownership of some taxable property in the school district where owners are unknown at this time.

Jerry Worsham, director of speech and drama at Snyder High School, presented an oral report on his department. He described the classroom work and extra-curricular opportunities in speech and drama, and outlined objectives of the courses and activities. Speech and drama students have won eight state titles in the past five years in University Interscholastic League competition.

However, Worsham said the contests were mostly the "show window" of the department. A challenging program of study and actual work, both inside and outside the classroom, with emphasis on discipline and self motivation are involved.

Formally approved were the following resignations: Mrs. Patty Riley, communicative arts at Travis Junior High; Mrs. Betty Riggs, first grade at East Elementary; Miss Dorothy Coslett, third grade at Central Elementary; Mrs. Charlotte Wetzel, sixth grade at Northeast Elementary; Mrs. Virginia Trevey, communicative arts at Lamar Junior High; Mrs. Treva Weaver, first grade at West Elementary; Mrs. Martha Fagin, Head Start at Child Development Center.

New personnel approved include: Kenneth R. Scott, teacher-coach at senior high; Bob C. Moore, basketball coach-English at senior high; Mrs. Birdie Barron, secretary at West Elementary. Milton Ham was re-assigned from varsity football coach to head B team coach and golf coach at the high school.

Retirees include: Mrs. Nan Allen, cafeteria at West Elementary; Mrs. Pearl Walker, sixth grade at Central; Elmer Bryant, cafeteria at Stanfield Elementary; Mrs. Johnnye Bishop, first grade at East; Mrs. Virginia Short, communicative arts at Travis; Miss Vera Periman, homemaking at senior high; Mrs. Evelyn Crawford, cafeteria at Travis.

A proposal that the name North Elementary School be changed was tabled.

Gold Demand Jumps Price

LONDON (AP) — Increasing demand for gold amid general monetary uncertainty drove the price of the yellow metal to its highest level in 18 months today in European free bullion markets.

The price jump came as the Belgian National Bank announced it had cashed in $80 million for Ft. Knox gold. The bank said its internal policy barred taking in more dollars to add to its already swollen reserves of American money.

The Belgian move, coming on the heels of last week's dollar crisis, could embarass the U.S. government. Any concerted move by other European national banks to follow Belgium in cashing in dollars for gold could undermine the world monetary system.

The U.S. gold reserves stood at $10.9 billion at the end of March, $1 billion less than a year before. The United States has enough gold in stock at Ft. Knox to redeem less than one-third of the dollars held by foreign central banks.

The monetary system is based on President Franklin D. Roosevelt's 1934 declaration that the United States would buy or sell gold at the rate of $35 an ounce. That pegged the dollar to gold at the $35 rate and other currencies fixed value of their currencies in relation to the dollar.

Wage Increase Stretch Asked

By BROOKS JACKSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Labor James D. Hodgson proposed today a one-year delay in raising the minimum wage to $2.00 in order to ease inflationary pressure and the risk of higher unemployment.

Presenting the administration's long-delayed response to proposals in Congress for an increase in the current $1.60 minimum wage, Hodgson told a House labor subcommittee too rapid a step-up could have serious effects on both employment and inflation.

A bill now before the subcommittee would raise the minimum to $1.80 next January and to $2.00 on January 1, 1973. Hodgson endorsed the increase to $1.80; but said the jump to $2.00 should be delayed until Jan. 1, 1974.

In his testimony, Hodgson said the basic difference in the two programs is that the minimum wage covers all workers while the welfare reform plan deals only with families.

"Quite simply, we believe this is too large an increase over that period," he said in prepared testimony. "We propose instead that the second step of the increase be delayed one year to 1974.

"A 25 per cent increase seems too substantial a cost increase to impose in a 12-month period without having serious effects upon both employment and inflation."

Hodgson also:

—Opposed the Democratic proosal to extend minimum wage coverage to state and local employes, saying it would "impinge unduly upon the federal system of our nation."

—Recommended a cut-rate wage floor of $1.60 an hour for students under 20 and anyone under 18, to promote youthful employment.

-Asked moderated minimum-wage increases for farm workers and employes in Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

He said increasing the overall hourly wage floor to $2 in 1973 would have a bad effect on inflation and unemployment.

"In order to ameliorate the effects of this wage increase, many employers affected could well adopt ways of producing their product or service that would reduce the number of persons employed," he said.

"Some small businesses might give up altogether. Others might be deterred from starting up."

Merger To Cut Postal Workers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional postal affairs sources say 2,000 to 3,000 employes, mostly in management jobs, will be laid off by a new U.S. Postal Service consolidation.

Postmaster Gen. Winton M. Blount was quoted as giving those figures to several House and Senate Post Office Committee members in private briefings on the plan to consolidate 15 regional mail management offices into 5.

One postal committee source said he understood from U.S. Postal Service staff members that the layoff would be as high as 3,500 employes.

Blount was quoted as saying excess management people would be offered early retirement—age 50 was mentioned—in some cases with six months' severance pay.

He was quoted as saying no postal union members would be involved in the layoff.

The streamlined Postal Service management structure, to be formally announced later in the day, would consolidate the 15 present regional offices into four sectional offices plus one for New York City.

Headquarters for the four sectional offices would be in Philadelphia, Memphis, Chicago and San Francisco.

Teamsters Await Word From Hoffa

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — High-ranking Teamsters officials awaited word today from the giant union's imprisoned president, James R. Hoffa, on whether he will seek re-election from his penitentiary cell.

"He agreed to send word and we expect him to do so," said Einar Mohn, one of about a dozen top union leaders here for a crucial meeting of the Teamsters' Executive Board.

The meeting is expected to determine who will run for president and other top offices at the Teamsters' convention two months away. The winners will run the 2 million-member union for the next five years.

There have been reports of mounting pressure on Hoffa to step aside.

Mohn, Teamsters vice president from California and director of the union's Western Conference, said in an interview that Hoffa had promised to send word of his decision through his attorneys when he learned the outcome of his latest bid for parole reconsideration.

Hoffa lost that bid Monday when U.S. Dist. Court Judge Richard B. Austin in Chicago refused to change Hoffa's five-year mail fraud sentence to run concurrently, instead of consecutively, with his eight-year jury tampering sentence.

Hoffa had hoped for a favorable ruling, reportedly to use as new evidence in his bid for parole to win freedom and run for re-election at the Teamsters convention in Miami Beach in July.

The U.S. Parole Board rejected his request for parole in March, but gave him 90 days to present new evidence for reconsideration.

Hoffa dominated the union for a decade before going to prison four years ago.

Although there has been considerable speculation that Hoffa, after losing his latest move for freedom, might agree to step aside in favor of his hand-picked stand-in, acting President Frank E. Fitzsimmons, Mohn said Teamsters leaders had no inkling what Hoffa's message to the executive board would be.

"We dropped our crystal ball a long time ago," Mohn said.

However, another Teamsters vice president, Harold Gibbons of St. Louis, said several months ago that most members of the union's executive board would try to dissuade Hoffa from seeking re-election if he was still in the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa.

But Gibbons commented here on the possibility of Hoffa's running for re-election by saying, "Don't sell the guy short."

Grissom Suit Dismissed

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — A $5-million suit against spacecraft builders by the widow of Virgil L. "Gus" Grissom, one of three astronauts killed in a 1967 launch pad fire, was dismissed Tuesday.

Betty Grissom had charged that faulty wiring and negligence caused the blaze aboard Apollo 1 at Cape Kennedy which also claimed the lives of Roger Chaffee and Ed White.

U.S. Dist. Judge George C. Young ruled that such a claim must be filed within two years after a death. Mrs. Grissom filed Feb. 18 of this year in Brevard County Circuit Court.

The accident, the lone fatal mishap involving a U.S. space mission, occurred Jan 27, 1967, more than four years before legal action was taken.

Attorneys for defendants in the case, North American Rockwell Corp. and associated companies, claimed the two-year limit should apply despite pleas by the astronauts widow.

Mrs. Grissom's lawyers said the case should be subject to a Florida law which allows suits to be filed for 12 years after a death caused by alleged negligence by professional architects and engineers.

The fire during a test several weeks before the scheduled launch of Apollo 1 was blamed after a National Aeronautics and Space Administration on an electrical arc.

Grissom was one of America's original seven astronauts and White earlier had become the first man to walk in space.

PCA Sets Conference

Five representatives of Sweetwater Production Credit Association will participate Thursday and Friday in the Fieldmen Conference at San Angelo.

Texas' 34 PCA's sponsor the meeting which feature latest information on extending agricultural credit to Texas farmers and ranchers.

Area participants are John R. Henson, vice president, Sweetwater; and field office managers R. B. Baker, Colorado City, Forrest Lee Meeks, Lamesa, J. Dwalyn Parker, Roby, and Scott E. Rogers, Snyder.

F. C. Shillingburg, Sweetwater PCA president, says that need for the conference stems from agricultural operations becoming more complex, loans larger and money management more critical.

"This complexity and increase in loan dollars is evident when considering that the average size of a PCA loan in Texas was $52,000 in 1970," the PCA president points out. "We feel PCA must maintain a high level of professionalism among its credit specialists and keep abreast of the latest agricultural credit information available."

Sweetwater PCA makes agricultural loans in Borden, Dawson, Fisher, Mitchell, Nolan and Scurry counties. The association loaned more than $20 million to area farmers and ranchers in 1970.

Plea Is Heard

Robert Lee Saffell of Lubbock pleaded guilty in county court this morning to a charge of driving while intoxicated. He received a $100 fine plus court costs and a 30-day jail term. The jail term portion of the sentence was probated for six months. The offense occurred April 5, 1970.

Cool Air Hits Texas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cool air spread over much of Texas today and rain lingered along the state's east side in the wake of still another siege of stormy weather.

Turbulence subsided with departure of a frontal system which generated tornadoes and punishing thunderstorms from Brownsville through the coastal plains past Houston.

Rains measuring more than five inches were reported by the National Weather Service only Tuesday in Northeast Texas, and additional moisture fell around Marshall in that area this morning.

There were showers or light rain also around Conroe, Huntsville, Jacksonville and Lufkin and eastward into Louisiana.

Clouds hovered over most of East and North Texas and the Texas Panhandle while it was clear to only partly cloudy across the southwest third of the state.

Before the rough weather eased off, hail up to the size of grapefruit battered the Brownsville area and a tornado funnel tracked on a radar from Mexico disappeared without touching ground. Skies turned black as night there in the afternoon and electrical power was knocked out for a time.

A bit later word came from the Houston area of two funnel clouds spinning to earth harmlessly in rural areas—one at the mouth of the Brazos River and the other one mile east of Humble. Hail peppered parts of Houston also.

Afternoon temperatures Tuesday climbed no higher than 86 degrees at McAllen in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, and the top mark was 58 at Dalhart in the Panhandle.

Readings this morning slipped to 40 degrees at Dalhart and 45 at Amarillo while it was still 66 at Beaumont, Lufkin and Texarkana, and 67 at Galveston.

Clearing skies and somewhat cooler weather were promised all sections of the state.

Signalmen Continue Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 13,000-member signalmen's union will continue preliminary talks today in a government-mediated effort to head off a nationwide rail strike planned for next week.

At the start of the talks yesterday, president C.J. Chamberlain of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen and railroad industry negotiators met separately with National Mediation Board officials and Labor Department mediators behind closed doors at NMB headquarters. No progress was reported.

During negotiations that have lasted 20 months, the union has held out for a 54 per cent increase over 36 months retroactive to the expiration date the old contract, Jan. 1, 1970.

The railroads, however, have agreed to a recommendation from a presidential emergency board for a 42 per cent increase over 42 months.

Skilled signalmen currently earn $3.78 an hour.

Reagan Mum On Taxes

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan, refusing further comment about his income taxes, says public officials are entitled to all the privacy of ordinary citizens.

"And none of us are very happy about prying neighbors," the Republican governor declared at a news conference Tuesday.

Reagan also said he would not necessarily quit politics in 1974, when his term expires because of his wife's desire that he not run again for public office. But he didn't say he might run for office again.

Nancy Reagan complained in a broadcast interview about the political attacks on her 60-year-old husband after it was disclosed he owed no state income taxes this April. She said "I would hope that he would not" run again.

Reagan acknowledged last week that because of business reverses he did not have to pay state income taxes on the 1970 business year.

NAACP Asks Court To Block Legal Executions

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund has asked the Supreme Court to block legal executions in the United States by considering at least one new legal attack on capital punishment.

Speaking for 27 of the 648 condemned prisoners, the fund urged the court to schedule a hearing in any of the death cases or direct a lower court to take evidence on the contention that capital punishment itself is unconstitutional.

In a brief filed late Tuesday, the fund said the situation is "perilous" since the court has ruled out two procedural arguments that had caused a nationwide halt in executions since 1967.

Stays of execution in many of the 648 cases will now be dissolved, the fund said, and "executions are imminent." Additionally, the brief said, many of the prisoners do not have lawyers to help them try to avert execution.

The 26 men and one girl, teen-ager Marie Hill of Rocky Mount, N. C., are on death row in eight states, Alabama, California, Colorado, Georgia, Nevada, New Jersey, North Carolina and Virginia.

In all there are 641 male prisoners and 7 females under death sentence in 33 states. About 135 have appeals pending in the court.

Earlier Tuesday, William A. Ralph, a 37-year-old delivery man who won a reprieve last December, appealed to the court in a case that may bring about a ruling on use of the death penalty for convicted rapists.

Ralph, convicted in 1961 of an attack on a Kensington, Md., woman, said he was entitled to a new trial because a confession used as evidence against him was not voluntary. The state of Maryland is now expected to file a cross-appeal, challenging the finding by the U.S. Court of Appeals in Richmond, Va., that upset Ralph's death sentence.

The issue in this case is whether the Constitution prohibits the death penalty when a rape victim's life was neither "taken nor endangered."

There are 79 convicted rapists facing execution in 10 states.

The fund told the justices "it is surely imperative that no human life be extinguished until the fundamental questions that Ralph raises under the 8th Amendment are authoritatively resolved by this court."

The court last week decided state legislatures are not required to set standards to guide juries choosing between life and death. Also, the court held in the 6-3 ruling, capital trials need not be separated so that there is a distinct sentencing phase.

This removed the legal stay block of hundreds of executions. However, none has been carried out so far.

The fund suggested a variety of legal arguments the court could consider. The more appropriate course, the lawyers said, was for the justices to direct a lower court to develop an "illuminating" record on the ultimate legal approach to capital punishment.

US Blamed For Monetary Crisis

LONDON (AP) — Most European money men blamed the United States for the current monetary crisis in Europe today, charging that Europe is now having to pay the price for the "dollar sickness" and "mounting isolationism" in America.

There were warnings of worse to come unless Washington pulled its balance of payments out of the red.

One Austrian newspaper declared: "The Western currency systems in their current form can only recover if either the United States takes care of its balance of payments or a worldwide balancing of all currencies takes place."

West Germany, one of the loudest accusers of the United States for the current crisis, also came in for some criticism from its European partners for its monetary policies.

It was West Germany's decision Sunday to float the mark that triggered the wave of anxiety throughout Europe.

The French attitude, long critical of the United States, as expressed by Finance Minister Giscard d'Estaing, is that the problem lies with the continuing U.S. balance of payments deficit and not with Europe. The French believe the dollar is overvalued and that the price of gold should be hiked above the present $35 an ounce.

A leading Swiss banker, who declined to be identified put it another way: "Europe has to foot the bill for Vietnam and other American political disasters. The dollar has won again in the latest crisis."

The consensus in West Germany is that Washington is the bad boy in the crisis, It was primarily German concern of inflation that prompted Bonn to let the mark find its own level. This brought revaluation of the Swiss and Austrian currencies.

The influential newspaper Die Welt declared: "The United States feels it is the fixed center of the international monetary system, toward which other currencies ... have to orient themselves.

"The Americans interpret the statutes of the international monetary system as assigning a passive role to the dollar."

Early trading on foreign exchanges was moderate as the third day of currency transactions began after they shut down last Wednesday to halt the massive influx of dollars.

In light trading the dollar declined to 3.565 marks at Frankfurt after opening at 3.5675. It closed at 3.57 marks Tuesday.

Art Therapy Is New Career

Career Corner
by Joyce Lain Kennedy

Dear Joyce: Can you tell me anything about a career field called art therapy? -- E.L.M., San Bernardino, Calif.

Here's a miniature word picture, extracted mainly from new research published by the Occupational Analysis Field Center of the Wisconsin State Employment Service in Madison.

Although there have been notable American pioneers in art therapy since the 1920s, it wasn't until the 1960s that art therapy began to be established as a profession. Even today, there are only about 300 members of the national professional society, the American Art Therapy Association. Detailed salary surveys are not available, but the general earnings range for art therapists with graduate level training is estimated to be $8-10,000, although supervisors in some institutions are reported to be earning as much as $18-19,000. Because art therapy is . . .

AN EMERGING specialization, a single job definition isn't possible. Duties vary widely; this field is not yet firmly "professionalized"; and many people are performing the job duties under an assortment of job titles. The following job portrait is a composit:

The art therapist (man or woman) is a member of a team of medical specialists in hospitals or institutions responsible for the rehabilitation of mentally ill or retarded patients. He must plan, organize and participate in medically-oriented programs which utilize art therapy in a diagnostic and/or therapeutic manner.

After patient needs are determined through staff evaluation, the art therapist works with the patient(s) and encourages his participation in learning the basics of art work, such as ceramics, painting and wood carving.

EMPHASIS POINT: Art therapists are NOT seeking to develop accomplished artists, but use art as a nonverbal means of communication between therapist and patient(s). Art therapy is an auxiliary form of psychotherapy. The patient's art work is used in special ways, including (1) analytically, to gain some specific insight and information about a particular personality . . . (2) functionally, to help patients get acquainted with and to express their feelings, but not necessarily to analyze them. (Some people are fearful of expressing feelings openly and art activity provides useful neutral territory for this process.)

Simply stated, when words fail, the medium of art may succeed in "reaching" uncommunicative patients -- making help possible.

The therapist maintains a record of the patient's behavior, progress, regression, etc., and submits reports to senior staff members (psychiatrists and psychologists) for evaluation. The therapist may participate in staff meetings to help determine therapy programs.

JOBS ARE TYPICALLY found in mental, general and veterans' hospitals; correctional institutions (such as a school for juvenile offenders); institutions for the retarded; health centers; outpatient clinics; and residential centers and schools for emotionally disturbed children.

PREPARATION. Undergraduate degrees in art therapy are not yet offered by any U.S. college or university, but soon may be. However, you can qualify by majoring in one of these areas: special education, educational psychology, art education, psychology, or equivalent programs that combine art courses in the psychology and special education departments so that you can become an artist-therapist-teacher.

Only 2 schools offer a master's degree in art therapy: Hahnemann Medical College in Philadelphia, Pa., and the University of Louisville, Ky. The Menninger Foundation (in conjunction with Kansas State U.) in Topeka, Kan., offers a 1-year internship in the adjunctive therapies, which includes art. Coursework is also available at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee; the New School for Social Research in New York City, and Pratt Institute in Brooklyn, N.Y.

FOR MORE INFORMATION; No career booklets are yet available, but specific questions may be sent -- with a stamped, self-addressed envelope -- to Mrs. Myra Levick, president, American Art Therapy Association, Hahnemann Medical College, Philadelphia, Pa. 19102.

Send career topic suggestions to Joyce Lain Kennedy at this newspaper. Much as she'd like to help, Mrs. Kennedy regrets that the volume of mail makes personal answers impossible.

Monkey Mixup Corrected

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A monkey mixup was hastily unscrambled here Tuesday.

Sam, a 14-year-old rhesus monkey who rocketed into space more than a decade ago, was given to the San Antonio zoo and a sign was prepared identifying him as the "first primate astronaut."

It was soon discovered, however, that the sign was erroneous.

Sam was shot into space Dec. 4, 1959, but had two predecessors. They were monkeys Able and Baker, who went up more than six months earlier, on May 28, 1959.

Records show Sam was the third known monkey to be launched and successfully retrieved.

Officials at the Air Force School of Aerospace Medicine here, which gave Sam to the zoo, quickly admitted the error.

"The sign is already down," an Air Force spokesman said, and it will be replaced with "one that tells the correct story."

Sam, a 40-pounder, can claim at least one "space first" anyhow.

Records show he was the first animal to prove work could be done in space. Sam did this by pulling a lever every time a red light came on.

Last year's total wine grape crop was 724,727 tons in South Africa, a drop of about 110,000 tons from that of 1969.

Gus To Be Honored Tonight

WASHINGTON - ON - THE - BRAZOS, Tex. (AP) — Legislators and top state officials pay tribute tonight to House Speaker Gus Mutscher who probably has had more public criticism than praised this year.

"Speaker's Day," a tradition dating back at least to the early 1900s, was marred for Mutscher by protests from dissident representatives.

Mutscher chose to have the festivities at the little state park commemorating Texas' declaration of independence—a park that has thrived with big appropriations obtained by him.

Gov. Preston Smith and Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes were on the list of scheduled speakers.

Washington - On - The - Brazos is in Mutscher's district and not far from Brenham, his home town.

During the ceremonies Mutscher will receive a framed resolution with fancy red and gold lettering, praising his performance as presiding officer of the house.

Mutscher "has served in the capacity for a second term with dignity, impartiality, courage and outstanding integrity," the resolution says.

For the first time in the memory of longtime observers of the legislature, a significant number of House members refused to sign the resolution.

Rep. Charles Jungmichel of Lagrange, who supervised the collection of the signatures, said 21 did not sign. A few were absent when the scroll was signed, but most of the non-signers withheld their signatures deliberately.

They are members of the self-named "Dirty 30," a group of liberals and Republicans who have pestered Mutscher since January about his alleged involvement in a so-called stock scandal. They also have publicly accused him of dictatorial tactics and vindictiveness in running the House.

Several of the "Dirty 30" signed the resolution.

Rep. Frances Farenthold of Corpus Christi planned to give a party tonight for those boycotting the Speaker's Day festivities.

At a news conference Tuesday, Rep. Tom Bass of Houston said the "Dirty 30's" move was not "a personal vendetta" against Mutscher but a protest to the whole idea of Speaker's Day.

"This man is seriously seeking a third term as speaker. I am determined to do everything I can to keep this man from returning to this seat of power next session," said Rep. Dick Reed of Dallas.

"I would only contribute to a pair of alligator shoes if they left the alligators attached," said Rep. Curtis Graves, Houston.

Phillips Hikes Sour Crude Oil

BARTLESVILLE, Okla. (AP) —Phillips Petroleum Co. announced Tuesday a 6 cent per barrel increase in its posted price for West Texas sour crude oil.

The new price for 40 degree gravity and above sour crude is now $3.45 per barrel.

The price hike affects approximately 29,000 barrels of oil per day.

Chichester Ends Voyage

PLYMOUTH, England (AP) — Sir Francis Chichester's unsuccessful try at sailing alone 4,000 miles across the South Atlantic in 20 days has ended here.

The 69-year-old yachtsman sailed into Plymouth Tuesday night. He sailed from Plymouth on Dec. 18 for the South Atlantic bid, but failed to cover the distance in the time he had set for himself.

Sir Francis arrived in San Juan del Norte, Nicaragua, 22½ days after leaving Bissau, Portuguese Guinea, in West Africa. He had described his goal as the yachtsman's "four-minute mile."

BUT NO IMMEDIATE BAN

Scientists Find DDT Link Warrants Attention

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government scientists have concluded a suspected link between DDT and human infertility warrants attention but not an immediate ban of the pesticide.

Two Environmental Protection Agency scientists who reviewed DDT experiments with rats said the test failed to demonstrate an imminent hazard to human health.

The tests with rats were conducted by Dr. W. Leroy Heinrichs, a gynecologist, and Dr. Ronald L. Gellert, a physiologist, both of the University of Washington.

The doctors reported an experimental link between DDT and ovarian cysts in offspring of laboratory rats. They said a corresponding condition causing infertility was detected with increasing frequency in women.

As a result of Heinrichs-Gellert findings that DDT might have caused the infertility, EPA launched a study whose results were sent Tuesday to Administrator William D. Ruckelshaus.

An EPA source told The Associated Press the report suggests the findings be considered in the continuing review of Ruckelshaus' decision to seek cancellation of all uses of DDT.

Ruckelshaus began procedures last March 18 to ban all DDT uses because of suspicions it may cause cancer, mutations and birth defects, at least in experimental animals.

But he allowed DDT to remain on the market during the review, which could take a year or more, because, he said, there was no evidence of imminent hazard to human health—the legal requirenent for suspending sale of such chemicals.

Heinrichs and Gellert reported their experiments two weeks later.

Dr. O. Garth Fitzhugh, EPA's toxicology adviser, said in an interview Tuesday the experiments used a form of DDT to which humans ordinarily receive little exposure.

"I don't think from a practical standpoint it (infertility) would occur in humans," he added. "I see no imminent hazard."

Another EPA pesticides expert, Dr. Cipriano Cuerto, said: "They used a type of material to which we have the lest exposure, but even if it were the more common type it still would have been an exaggerated dosage."

Heinrichs said last month DDT in his experiments caused a defect in the part of a rat's nervous system which sets the pattern of hormone production, ultimately affecting the ovaries.

In human beings, he said, this "programming" for hormone production is believed to develop in the unborn fetus, and damage could show up when the offspring reaches child-bearing age.

US Phantoms Attack Antiaircraft Sites

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Striking in two waves, U.S. Air Force F4 Phantom jets destroyed 13 antiaircraft guns around the Mu Gia pass in North Vietnam, the U.S. Command announced today.

The command said the Phantoms attacked the antiaircraft sites after receiving fire from North Vietnamese guns while over Laos. None of the U.S. planes was damaged, the command said.

The command in a delayed report said the strikes took place Monday afternoon, a day after a North Vietnamese MIG21 jet attacked a small American observation plane over the Plain of Jars in northern Laos.

A command spokesman, Maj. Charles Johnson, said the strikes Monday were against antiaircraft positions 75 miles north of the demilitarized zone and two miles inside North Vietnam from the Laotian border.

The 13 guns knocked out were the most reported destroyed in one day by U.S. pilots since the halt in bombing of the North Nov. 1, 1968.

The U.S. Command said three 57mm guns were knocked out in the first strike—an attack by two Phantoms at about 6 p.m. Monday.

About 45 minutes later, three more Phantoms attacked the cluster of gun positions around the Mug Gia pass and destroyed five 57mm guns and five 37mm guns, the command said.

The U.S. Command described the Phantom attacks as "protective reaction" strikes, the 36th so far this year against North Vietnamese positions that either fire on U.S. planes or threaten to fire. The Phantom jets were flying interdiction missions over Laos when they received fire from 85mm guns, the command said.

"Upon attacking the gun positions," the command said, "they (Phantoms) were fired upon by a combination of 37mm and 57mm antiaircraft artillery fire."

There was no claim by the command of knocking out the larger 85mm guns or any mention of missiles fired.

With the attack against the U.S. observation plane, North Vietnamese MIG's extended their operation to the Plain of Jars to harass U.S. planes supporting Laotian government forces.

Pope To Issue Letter

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI will issue an apostolic letter Friday urging Roman Catholics to seek "a new type of Democratic society" while rejecting such ideologies as Marxism and unbridled liberalism, newspapers reported today.

The Vatican press office declined to comment on the report. It announced Tuesday that a papal message to the Church on Social problems would be issued Friday.

It would mark the 80th anniversary of Pope Leo XII's social encyclical, Rerum Novarum — of new things.

Newspapers said Pope Paul's apostolic letter was highly critical of ideologies in general, maintaining that neither the state nor political parties can impose them on men.

Equality and participation in society, the document reportedly says, are the new urgent aspirations of man. For this reason "a new type of democratic society is sought. Christians must be engaged in this search" the newspapers said.

The papal document is reported to warn that Christians cannot adhere to ideological systems radically opposed to the fundamentals of their faith.

The Pope reportedly said that "to solve the present world problems it is necessary to use not only the economic resources now being invested in armaments and technology, but also imagination."

CO Loses Bid For Discharge

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A one-year veteran of the Army has lost his bid for a discharge as a conscientious objector.

Pvt. John Edward Trombley, 19, of North Adams, Mass., entered the Army last may and applied for a discharge last October. He said he objected to participating in war in any form.

Court records show he grew up in a Roman Catholic home and based his claim on traditional religious beliefs.

U. S. Dist. Judge John Wood Jr. ruled Tuesday there was "ample evidence" indicating Trombley "was not substantially motivated by views derived from religious training and belief..."

The judge noted a review board found his views were "based on a personal moral and ethical code rather than on traditional religious beliefs." He upheld the Army's findings that Trombley "lacked the depth of conviction required."

Trombley, now assigned here at Ft. Sam Houston, was given 10 days to appeal the judge's ruling.

Traffic Deaths Down In Dallas

DALLAS (AP)—Police report traffic deaths in Dallas are one-third fewer this year than in the first four months of 1970.

Deputy Police Chief Don Steel said there have been 42 deaths during the first third of 1971, compared to 61 for the same period a year ago.

He predicted that if the current rate holds, traffic deaths in 1971 will total 120, compared to 150 in 1970.

"It's too early to say for certain what is causing the decrease in auto deaths," Steel said. "I'm certain, however, that our emphasis on the intoxicated driver is a definite factor.

"Fifty per cent of the deaths last year were due in some part to the drinking driver.

"Excessive speed and collisions due to slow-moving traffic in fast lanes are the object of our next effort."

Crown Center, Kansas City's "city within a city" for 8,000 residents, will take 15 years to complete, at a cost of $200 million.

LAUNCHES CANCER FIGHT — President Nixon announced Tuesday at the White House proposed legislation aimed at wiping out cancer. ON CANCER RESEARCH

Panel To Study Nixon's Plan

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate subcommittee on the verge of endorsing a cancer-research bill sponsored by its chairman has backed off to call hearings on a new plan offered by President Nixon.

Nixon unveiled his plan Tuesday, and Democrats said their first impression was that it contained neither enough money nor enough administrative revision to get the job done.

Nevertheless, the Senate health subcommittee deferred approval of a bill proposed by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., to allow time for studying the Nixon measure.

Kennedy said the subcommittee will act quickly on one of the proposals, both of which are aimed at finding a cure for cancer.

The Nixon plan would keep cancer research under the National Institutes of Health where the Cancer Institute has been at work for years.

But the agency would report directly to him and have an independent budget including an extra $100 million above what is now provided. The President promised these funds in his State of the Union message.

The Kennedy bill, introduced Jan. 25, would take cancer research out of NIH and the Health, Education and Welfare Department, and put it under an organization with the sole purpose of fighting cancer.

The senator said this step is essential if the battle is to get the necessary push.

Kennedy proposes an extra $200 million in funds for the work in the next year, and $400 million in the following year.

Health subcommittee aides said they understood only $30 million of the sum Nixon proposed would be spent in the fiscal year starting July 1, and $70 million would be authorizations for future years.

Congress voted $230.4 million for the Cancer Institute for the current year.

In his January budget, Nixon originally asked $232 million for fiscal 1972.

A Senate Appropriations subcommittee headed by Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., already has voted to add $100 million to the President's 1972 request.

Duke's Orchestra To Tour Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — Duke Ellington and his orchestra will start a five-week tour of the Soviet Union on Sept. 11, the U.S. Embassy says.

The Duke's 16-member band and two other soloists, as yet unnamed, will perform in five cities during the tour, the embassy said Friday. Moscow and Leningrad have been booked with three other cities to be selected later.

Conservatism Hurting HOAP

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Conservatism in the savings and loan industry is making it difficult for thousands of moderate-income Americans to obtain subsidized home loans under a new government program, the Federal Home Loan Bank Board says.

Since last week, when the board announced it had less than two months to spend more than $45 million set aside for the subsidy program, there has been a rush of persons seeking to buy homes with reduced monthly payments.

Many were turned down by lenders who said they didn't offer it or didn't have information on the program, the board said.

"The composition of our membership is very conservative, a fact of life that we can't change by fiat from Washington," said James A. Coles, director of bank operations for the board. This attitude is particularly prevalent in the Southwest, Midwest and Upper New England, he added.

The program is designed to help families earning between $7,000 and $12,000 annually to become eligible for conventional home loans. The subsidy would reduce their monthly payments $20 over five years.

The $45 million represents the balance of $85 million available this fiscal year. The board has expressed fear future appropriations may be cut if the full amount is not spent this year.

Technically called HOAP, for the Housing Opportunity Allowance Program, the project has a $25,000 loan ceiling.

Eligibility is determined by a sliding income scale based on the number of children in the family and the area of the country.

"It takes time to implement a major new federal program such as Project HOAP," said the U.S. Savings and Loan League, a trade association. The league said it had not yet supplied members with detailed information on the program, although the bank board has.

The league said of some 2,000 savings and loan associations eligible to participate, only 880 have decided to take part.

Political Loans Are Discontinued

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP) — Franklin National Bank has discontinued the practice of lending money to political organizations.

No more loans will be made until the Justice Dept. clarifies the Federal Corrupt Practices Act, said a bank official.

"We would not have made the (1970) loans (totaling $165,000) if we did not think that we would get the money back," said bank president Harold Gleason.

AIA Calls Forum On Modernity Of Buildings

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Early in 1970 the 50-story building called One New York Plaza was completed. It was among the finest; its builders used the latest design concepts, the most modern materials, the most advanced construction.

Sensitive buttons on the elevators responded to the heat of a fingertip. The air-conditioning system maintained perfect temperature and humidity in the sealed structure. It was "fire resistance," of course. It adhered to the building code.

On Aug. 5 a fire broke out on the 33rd floor. A guard pulled an alarm and then took an elevator to the ground floor to notify the building crew. Two other employes returned with him to warn occupants of the floors above.

They pushed the button for the 39th floor. Responding to heat, the elevator stopped at the 33rd and the doors opened onto an inferno. Two men died, the other was found barely alive. Thirty persons were injured. Damage was estimated at $10 million.

Fire Chief John O'Hagen blamed the air-conditioning system primarily. He said the fans continued to operate after start of the fire, quickly spreading smoke and heat.

In addition, he said, the plenum, or concealed space between ceiling and floor above, used as part of the air-conditioning system, served as an artery for heat and fire.

The central core of elevator shafts and electrical services, standard on skyscrapers, became a funnel for heat, poured there by return air fans. Wiring was quickly destroyed.

Moreover, it was found, there was a space of about 16 inches between the metal skin and the curtain wall. Not only was the heat confined within the building, but it was drafted upward through this aperture.

Incredibly, the very ... ity of the building was blamed by officials for making the fire more intense, faster spreading and harder to fight. Because of the heat, firemen had to be relieved every 10 minutes.

As they learned the facts, engineers, insurance men, building owners and tenants were shocked to realize that the same type of structure exists or is being built in almost every American Metropolis.

The ingredients were there for repetitions. In fact, a somewhat similar fire killed two in New York four months later.

The American Insurance Association called a forum on the situation. And many suggestions were made: horizontal fire barriers, elimination of elevator call buttons activated by heat, installation of sensing devices to shut down air-conditioner fans, use of thermal insulation on wiring, installation of automatic sprinklers.

A Junior Editors Quiz About WIGWAMS

QUESTION: What is the difference between an Indian wigwam and a teepe?

* * *

ANSWER: The American Indians built many kinds of small shelters to live in when not hunting or farming. These varied according to the kind of life they were living and the materials available. The area of the Great Plains, during the days when huge buffalo herds ranged across it, was an Indian paradise. Buffalo provided both meat and skins. Indians in this area moved from place to place, and they worked out the ingenious teepe, picture to left, for this purpose. Three tall, slender poles were lashed together toward the top and could be easily lifted up to stand as a tripod; then a number of other poles were placed in a circle, resting against the crossing of the original three. A beautifully sewn buffalo-hide tent would be stretched around the poles. Inside, a fire could be built, for there was an adjustable smoke vent at the top. But eastern forest Indians usually built more permanent structures. They would often make a dome-shaped skeleton of flexible poles (upper right) and cover this with leafy boughs and frequently slabs of bark. Massachusetts Indians called this a wikwam. The Pilgrim Fathers at Plymouth borrowed the wigwam idea but put in a window and door and installed a chimney with fireplace at one end.

Columnist Learns From Mail

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

The cigar industry claims that 100,000 U.S. women now smoke cigars. This mass feminine invasion will depress rather than [illegible] veteran, male stogie puffers who have held all along that cigars are much too good to be wasted on women.

How do you receive your impressions of the world around you? Some scientists estimate that one per cent come by taste, 1½ by touch, 3½ per cent by smell, seven by hearing and 87 by sight.

Fishy facts: A shark has no bones, jellyfish have no teeth, the sea lily is an animal, and a sailfish can go faster than any manmade sailboat—up to 68 miles an hour.

America's problem with alcohol isn't getting any smaller. Of the 85 million who drink some form of alcoholic beverage, four million are classified as addicts and five million more get into some form of trouble periodically because of their taste for the cup that is supposed to cheer.

Quotable notables: 'God is now thought to be on the side not of the strongest artillery, but of the most powerful loudspeaker."—Barbara Bode.

Prosperity note: The U.S. House Appropriations Committee has figured out that the interest alone on the national debt costs taxpayers $39,000 a minute.

Household hints: Does your wife get annoyed by the task of cleaning food graters and paring knives? Win her undying regard by telling her to use a toothbrush for these chores.

"Well, they asked for it: A questionnaire filled in by tourists at Meramec Caverns in Missouri revealed that the formation they wanted most to see was—the toilet.

One way to save: If, instead of buying a pack of cigarettes a day, a 15-year-old youth put the money into a bank and kept the habit up until he retired, his savings plus the accumulated interest would give him a tidy nest egg of nearly $20,000.

Worth remembering: "You can tell a child is growing up when he stops asking where he came from and starts refusing to tell you where he is going."

It was Josh Billings who observed, "The best condition in life is not to be so rich as to be envied nor so poor as to be damned."

Pair Spend Vacations At Leprosarium

DALLAS (AP) — Sheila Davis and Karen Freytag, hostesses for Braniff International, returned to K[illegible], Nepal, in A[illegible] to revisit and work for three weeks with the children in the leprosarium there.

The hostesses came to love and acquired a great compassion for these children during previous tours of duty to Nepal sponsored by the Thomas A. Dooley Foundation.

On their original assignments, each girl spent three months working with the children in the leprosarium. They volunteered for the job and received only their basic room and board in Kathmandu.

They used three weeks of personal vacation time this year.

These children, who do not have leprosy, are doomed to live out their days in the leprosarium with parents who are victims of the disease.

There is less hope now than before for the children since the Dooley Foundation phased out its services last year and is now working with the refugee children from Tibet in the Kathmandu orphanage.

Braniff airline associates, learning of the hostesses' return mission to Nepal, helped the girls purchase 200 pairs of shoes and the other supplies. Donations were sent by members of the airline's retired pilots club, ex-hostess organization and many others.

Hostess trainees who graduated from the Braniff Hostess College in Dallas April 7 pooled their funds and gave a check for $50 for "Sheila and Karen's children's fund."

Modern Devices Cause Headaches

DALLAS (AP) — Modern offset printing devices which can be operated by self-educated printers are causing the Secret Service headaches in catching counterfeiters, an agent says.

"It is not, however, getting out of hand," said Leroy M. Letteer, special agent in charge of the Secret Service's Dallas office, in a recent talk.

Letteer said about $3,000 in counterfeit bills is being taken out of circulation each week in the 149-county North Texas area.

Recently the Secret Service in Dallas captured printing equipment and confiscated about $125,000 in bogus bills ready to be circulated.

Letteer said public awareness is the best method of combatting counterfeiting.

"It's the theory that if a person knows what good money looks like, he'll have no trouble identifying bad money," he said.

Small businessmen in particular should be aware of the difference, the agent said.

If anyone takes a counterfeit bill, he is stuck with it.

Pro Cage Stars Defy Club Owners

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "This 'Super Game,'" superstar Oscar Robertson said, "will show that the two pro leagues can play against each other at the highest competitive level without an illegal merger."

The game pits all stars from the warring National Basketball Association and American Basketball Association May 28 in the Houston Astrodome.

By agreeing to the first meeting between the two loops, the NBA Players Association defied the league owners who barred such a game until a formal merger occurs.

The players' group opposes any merger and has a court injunction now in effect to bar one. Just last week the owners of both leagues agreed to seek congressional legislation to clear the way for it.

Asked whether the owners approved of the game, Robertson, a star guard for the NBA champion Milwaukee Bucks and president of the players association, snapped:

"It doesn't matter whether they approve or not!"

He said that by refusing to present such a game without a merger "the owners' sole motivation becomes clear—money.

"What should be of interest is the fan and the quality of product he sees."

NBA Commissioner Walter Kennedy refused to say what action the league might take to halt the contest but ABA Commissioner Jack Dolph said his league would "take steps to stop our players from participating if it is decided the game would be detrimental to the league—which we have not.

"A player's contract requires him to get permission from his team for any such game," Dolph added.

But Arlen Preblud, attorney for the ABA Players Association, insisted:

"It is not the intention of the ABA players to play this in defiance of our owners. And it has nothing to do with the merger. The ABA players are merely playing a game with the NBA players for the Whitney Young Foundation."

The net gate receipts from the game will go to the newly created foundation which directs funds to programs that prepare ghetto youngsters for college.

The game will be syndicated for national television at 8:30 p.m., EDT, by TVS, an independent network. The television receipts will go to supplement the pension plans for the players in both leagues with a share of it also going to the participating players in the game.

The NBA players will be centers Lew Alcindor of Milwaukee and Nate Thurmond of San Francisco, forwards Billy Cunningham of Philadelphia, Dave DeBusschere of New York, John Havlicek of Boston and Elvin Hayes of San Diego and guards Earl Monroe of Baltimore, Dave Bing of Detroit, Walt Frazier of New York and Robertson.

The ABA's 11 players will be centers Zelmo Beaty of Utah and Mel Daniels of Indiana, forwards Rick Barry of New York, Roger Brown of Indiana, Willie Wise of Utah and Dan Issel of Kentucky and guards Charlie Scott of Virginia, Larry Jones of the Floridians, Bill Melchionni of New York, Steve Jones of Memphis and Donnie Freeman of Texas.

Robertson said the NBA will name its 11th player next week, along with the coaches for the two teams. They will not be existing NBA or ABA coaches, he said.

Joe, Max Remember When . . .

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Joe Louis and Max Schmeling, heavyweight boxing champions from another era and old friends now, drank cokes and arm wrestled for fun after their meet here again Tuesday night.

"He's too strong for me," said Schmeling, now in his sixties and tired after a day that started 22 hours earlier in Hamburg. "But Joe, he is the greatest."

And Louis smiled and kidded back. "He is in great shape, great shape," said Louis, "always was."

Schmeling knocked out Louis the first time they fought in New York in June, 1936, before Louis won the heavyweight title. Schmeling tagged Louis early in the fight and won on a 12th-round knockout.

They met again on June 22, 1938 with Louis reigning as world champion. It was the eve of World War II and Schmeling was the pride of Nazi Germany.

Louis charged from his corner in the first round and hit Schmeling with a right hand shot to the rib cage that staggered the German. Louis won a knockout before the round was over.

"I remember," said Schmeling, "I remember." But he would say no more about the fight.

Louis and Schmeling said they have met frequently since the last fight, most often at championship fights where protocol demands the introduction of former ring greats.

Schmeling is in Las Vegas for a testimonial night for Louis to be held Friday at Caesars Palace, a plush Strip casino-hotel where Louis is now on the payroll as a house greeter. Louis will be 57 on Friday.

Unconscious To Run In Belmont

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Unconscious, San Antonio oilman Arthur Seeligson's three-year-old colt, will be flown to New York this week to prepare for next month's Belmont Stakes.

The horse finished fifth in the Kentucky Derby as the favorite.

A rear ankle injury will keep him out of the Preakness but he has been working out at Hollywood Park, Calif.

The average public swimming pool contains about 250,000 gallons of water.

Jan Kruse In State Track Meet

Jan Kruse of Ira will compete in the 80 yard hurdles and in the high jump at the Girls State Track Meet Friday and Saturday in Abilene.

She has participated in six meets this year. She has earned three first places, one second place, one third place and a fourth place in the hurdles. Her best time is 11.5. In the high jump, she has earned three first places, one second, one third, and one fourth. Her best jump is 5-1. Jan is only a sophomore.

There will be about 1,800 girls in the state meet this year. The meet will be moved to Austin next year with the UIL sponsoring it for the first time.

Prelims in the running events begin at 5 p.m. Friday. Finals in the running events begin at 2 p.m. Saturday. Field events begin at 2 p.m. Friday and at 9 a.m. Saturday.

Macias Scores Knock Out

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Angel Macias of Mexico City, weighing 131, knocked out Marion Thomas, 127, of Indianapolis, in 2:56 of the third round Tuesday night in a scheduled 10-rounder.

Macias, No. 2 Mexico featherweight, unleashed a strong series of punches midway in the third and finally nailed Thomas with a solid left to the jaw. Thomas also hit the canvas in the second for a mandatory eight count.

In other pro bouts, Manuel Benitez, 177, of Mexico City knocked out Jimmy Singleton, 180, of Baton Rouge, La., in 2:50 of the second. Eliseo Estrada, 128, of Juarez, Mexico, took a unanimous 10-round decision over Felipe Lopez, 128, of Mexico City.

Giants Increase Lead

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

A couple of West Coast Willies are off on a whirlwind spree and, for a change, neither one answers to the name Mays.

Willie McCovey, coming on strong after a slow start this season, belted three hits, including his seventh home run, as the San Francisco Giants widened their National League West lead to eight games with a 6-1 triumph over Cincinnati Tuesday night.

Willie Davis, meanwhile, continued his torrid hitting with three singles and a triple, helping the Los Angeles Dodgers whip Atlanta 6-1 to snap a three-game losing string and move into second place behind the runaway Giants.

Davis has banged out 11 hits in his last 13 trips to the plate, hiking his batting average to .395. McCovey has gone 9-for-12 in his last four starts, bringing his average up to .311.

Elsewhere in the NL, the New York Mets battered Houston 8-1 behind Nolan Ryan's three-hitter and Dave Marshall's grand slam homer; two homers by Joe Torre paced St. Louis to a 10-4 romp over Montreal; Pittsburgh drubbed San Diego 10-4 with Manny Sanguillen stroking four hits and the Chicago Cubs clubbed Philadelphia 6-2.

In the American League, Cleveland topped Oakland 7-5; Baltimore shaded Kansas City 5-4 in 10 innings; Boston nipped Minnesota 5-4 and California beat Detroit 5-0. Rain washed out the New York Yankees' game at Milwaukee and the Washington-Chicago White Sox contest at Chicago.

McCovery put the wraps on the Giants' 24th victory in 33 games with a two-run homer in the third inning after Mays, a .375 hitter, drew a walk from Jim Merritt.

Bobby Bonds' eighth homer, singles by Chris Speier, McCovey and Ken Henderson and another homer by Dick Dietz had given the division leader a 4-0 first inning jump.

Gaylord Perry, 4-1, checked the reeling Reds on six hits. Merritt, a 20-game winner last year, absorbed his fourth setback in as many decisions.

Davis punched a two-out single in the first inning before Richie Allen walked and Wes Parker drilled a two-run double, sending the Dodgers ahead to stay at Los Angeles.

After Bill Buckner's three-run homer in the fourth chased Braves' starter Jim Nash, Davis tagged reliever Pat Jarvis for a triple and scored on a single by Allen.

Southpaw Claude Osteen tamed Atlanta on six hits for a 4-3 season mark as the Dodgers moved percentage points ahead of the Braves into second place in the west.

Ryan walked seven Houston batters and hit another, but pitched hitless ball until the fifth inning, struck out eight and wound up, breezing to his fourth victory without a loss.

The Mets, who have won four in a row for a one-game edge over second-place Pittsburgh in the East, scored three runs off Larry Dierker in the third and knocked out the Houston ace in the sixth before Marshall rocked reliever George Culver for his bases-loaded homer.

Ryan has issued 24 walks—but has yielded just 12 hits while fanning 23—in 25 innings of work this season.

Torre broke a 3-3 tie at Montreal with a two-run homer in the fifth inning and walloped his sixth homer of the year—another two-run shot—in the ninth. Jose Cardenal and Dick Schofield also homered for the Cards.

Sanguillen drove in two runs for the Pirates, who overcame a 2-1 fifth inning deficit and then poured it on against the Padres. Roberto Clemente slammed a double and his first homer of the season, delivering three runs, and Gene Clines sent Pittsburgh in front with a two-run triple in the fifth.

Chicago's Bill Hands, backed by two-run homers off the bats of Johnny Callison, Billy Williams and Ron Santo, held Philadelphia hitless after the third inning, finishing with a five-hitter to square his record at 4-4.

Williams' homer off Rick Wise and Santo's blast off reliever Woody Fryman shot the Cubs out of reach in the third.

Bengals Pound Brownfield 6-2

BROWNFIELD — Snyder's Tigers sacked up second place in the District 3-AAA baseball race here Tuesday with an impressive 6-2 victory over Brownfield's Cubs. The Tigers finished the season with a 15-7 record overall and a 4-2 district mark. Lamesa, 5-1 is the district champion.

Snyder's Tim Holder and Marvin McClanahan teamed up on a 4-hitter. Tim was relieved in the sixth inning. The Tigers got seven hits off Nall and Miller, who also relieved in the 6th.

Brownfield went ahead 1-0 in the 1st, but Snyder took the lead at 2-1 in the 3rd. The Bengals tallied four more runs in the 6th while Brownfield added another one in its half of the 6th.

An error, a sacrifice and a single by Ryburn enabled Murphy to score for the Cubs in the 1st.

Singles by Larry Braziel, Stewart Sims, Butch Buchanan and David Thompson accounted for the first two Tiger tallies.

In the 6th, two errors, two walks and a triple by Albert Hernandez and a single by Buchanan accounted for the final four runs for Snyder. Hernandez' three-bagger drove in two of them.

A single by Chance and an error in the last half of the 6th enabled the Cubs to score their last run.

The Cubs left men stranded on base in every inning except the 5th and 7th when they were set down in 1-2-3 order. The Tigers left runners on base in the 4th, 5th and 7th frames.

Tuesday's tilt ended the season for the Tigers.

Weather Helped On Fuel Supply Shortage

By MAX B. SKELTON
AP Oil Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — October fears of a winter fuels supply shortage with possible widespread industrial plant shutdowns in the East and Midwest failed to materialize.

Government-industry cooperation, aided a bit by the weather, was more than adequate in solving a problem created by a tanker shortage, spiraling tanker rates, and stricter air pollution standards.

New statistical reports on petroleum supply and demand trends for the winter months indicate adjustments made to avert the potential emergency were more than adequate.

Home heating oil supplies in storage at the end of March were 11.9 per cent higher than on the comparable year earlier date. Residual or heavy heating oil inventories were 12.5 per cent higher.

Winter demand simply did not match estimates made as early as September when the National Petroleum Council reported it was possible there would be a winter residuals shortage approximating 250,000 barrels a day.

Chase Manhattan Bank estimated October-December heavy heating oil requirements at 8.9 per cent above the year earlier level but placed demand for light heating oils at 9 per cent below the 1969 level. The bank's new report on January-March requirements reversed the situation. Light oil demand was 3.7 per cent above the same 1969 period while residuals were down 6.2 per cent.

The bank's new report said the level of demand in the first quarter of 1970 had been unusually strong.

"For this reason, primary consumption in the first part of 1971 was expected to grow at a rate well below the pace anticipated for the year as a whole," the report said. "But first quarter results were even lower than expected."

In its January report, Chase Manhattan had attributed the absence of a large gain to weather conditions.

"January, 1970, was one of the coldest months ever recorded and, accordingly, demand exhibited extraordinary strength," the bank said. "Although temperatures in January this year were again colder than normal, they were still milder than a year ago."

The bank's November report also had described September-November as unusually mild months. It later described December temperatures as normal.

The potential supply shortage report made in September by the petroleum council, an advisory body to the Interior Department, drew quick reaction from President Nixon's council of economic advisers and from his energy subcommittee.

Domestic refiners were urged to boost residual output above scheduled levels. The industry also was urged to increase imports of the low sulphur residuals many industrial plants had started using because of new air pollution restrictions.

While there have been no official overall estimates, the temporary increases made in domestic residuals output are believed to have approached the 250,000 barrels a day figure mentioned in the petroleum council's report.

Residual imports climbed from 1,984,000 barrels a day in September to 2,736,000 in December.

Help At Home Needed By Mentally Retarded

This is the second in a series of articles about mental retardation prepared by the Public Education Committee of the Texas Association for Retarded Children.

Texas and its citizens are becoming aware of the needs of the retarded as public awareness programs are becoming more numerous. Throughout the state programs for the retarded are developing that have long-range goals and objectives, although there are still many communities that are behind in the development of programs.

One of the primary reasons for improving community services is to reduce the number of children in state institutions. Institutionalization should be avoided when it is not necessary not only because of the high cost to the taxpayer but particularly because it separates the child from his parents. If adequate educational and vocational training opportunities and properly supervised job placements were provided for the mentally retarded in their home towns, they, their families, and the nation would profit from their remaining at home.

There are a number of services which the National Association for Retarded Children recommend be available in each community. Among these are:

1. Diagnostic and Evaluation Services
2. Parent Counselling and an Association for Retarded Children parent group
3. Day Care Services
4. Preschool Services
5. Special Education Classes in the Public Schools
6. Vocational Services and Training Program (including preparatory training and supervised work opportunities)
7. Half-Way Houses
8. Community Residence Centers
9. Recreation Programs
10. Religious Education

Some of the mentioned services and programs in this series are being provided in Scurry County.

Many of these services will be discussed in detail in later articles in this series. But we might mention briefly what some of these services consist of.

Diagnostic and Evaluation Services are generally the responsibility of local Mental Health and Mental Retardation Centers. These Centers also may provide Counselling Services, Day Care Services, and may assist in developing new services. These Centers operate on local, county, state, and Federal funds and will be discussed futher in another article. A Community Board would operate such a Center, employing a professional staff, assisted by Para-professionals in the field of Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

Public School Special Education Departments are continually up-grading their programs in an attempt to meet the needs of the trainable and educable mentally retarded. Senate Bill 230 has recently been passed which is enabling the schools to expand their services.

Day Care Centers are also needed for the severely retarded children who do not qualify for the Special Education programs. The Center would care for children on a part-time basis, giving the family an opportunity to enjoy and participate in other activities. These activities could include working, shopping, medical and dental appointments, social functions, etc. This service is highly recommended by professional authorities in the field of mental retardation.

Retarded children can become useful, productive adults if given an opportunity. This brings us to the need for Sheltered Workshops for the more severely handicapped retarded adult who needs supervision and sheltered conditions in which to work.

Local Association for Retarded Children can be another service offered to parents when they wish to further their child's welfare and living conditions. Affiliated member units of the State Association for Retarded Children receive excellent material for educating the public. Monthly meetings with planned programs relating to every known phase of mental retardation should be presented to parents, city officials, law enforcement personnel, ministers, and public school employees. As people in the community become more informed about retardation, the more aware they will become of the need for adequate facilities and services. The public's response is growing in an encouraging way.

She can't lick stamp problem

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I see a lot of your readers are "sports widows." That's rough. But until a woman has become a "stamp widow," she doesn't know what misery is. Sports are seasonal and there is a limit to the amount of time and money they take, but a stamp collector is something else.

We have stamp albums, stamp literature and stamp hinges all over the place. Also, cigar boxes filled with loose stamps. He corresponds with stamp collecting pen pals all over the world, and he reads their boring letters to me.

I didn't know he was a stamp collector until after I married him. Then it turns out he's been collecting stamps since he was 8 years old. Not only does he collect stamps, he buys collections from other collectors. It's like a disease. How can I stamp out stamps? —STAMPEDED

DEAR STAMPEDED: Why try to stamp out stamps? It's the only hobby you can lick!

DEAR ABBY: What would you do if the day before your birthday your husband said to you, "Honey, do me a favor and go buy yourself a birthday gift and a card to go with it. I'll give you the money for it."

I told him I really didn't need anything, so I said, "Why don't you just pick up some roses for me?" Then he said, "Aw, heck, they don't last, and you know the price of roses nowadays."

So, Abby, I didn't buy myself anything, and he didn't get me anything either. And to top it off, he didn't even wish me a happy birthday. So what would you do next birthday?

—PUZZLED BUT HAPPY

DEAR PUZZLED: I am glad you are also "Happy," because there is no way of injecting "sentiment" into a spouse who is utterly devoid of it. You could try to make him understand how delighted you'd be with just a card of his own choosing, but if you have to hit him over the head to remind him to "remember" you—forget it.

DEAR ABBY: My husband made sure I didn't miss your column about the wife who is constantly mistaken for hubby's mother. That's our situation.

I wish I could get together with the woman who wrote it. We could have a good cry together. I, too, am fat and gray. I have had 10 children in 14 years, so it's no wonder I have aged so. My husband never believed in birth control. He also never believed in giving me any help once they were brought into the world. He thinks that because he supports them [financially] his duty is done.

I have known for a long time that my husband is ashamed of the way I look. We hardly ever socialize. I do get an occasional invitation to the movies, but if they ever devise a way of showing movies with the house lights on, I'm a dead duck.

I keep a clean house, am a competent mother, and I work part-time to supplement our income. [With 12 at dinner every night, I have to.] I also have a sense of humor. How else would I have survived? —SIX MONTHS YOUNGER

Pair Charged In Theft

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—A top security police official at Lackland Air Force Base here and a former part-time deputy U.S. marshal were charged Tuesday in the theft of weapons from the base.

Arrested by the FBI and arraigned before a magistrate were M.Sgt. Edward Walter Battoe and Johnnie Pate, formerly a non-commissioned officer at Lackland.

FBI agents said Battoe, 43, is the non-commissioned officer in charge of security police at Lackland, home of all Air Force basic training.

The U.S. marshal's office confirmed that Pate, 51, at one time was a special deputy marshal in the "wages as earned" category, meaning he worked only when the marshal's office needed him in such capacities as a guard or for serving papers.

Officials said Pate last worked for the marshal's office two or three months ago.

The two were charged with theft of government property and conspiracy. Each was released under $5,000 personal recognizance bond.

The FBI said in a statement, "These arrests are the results of an FBI investigation into an alleged theft of various weapons from Lackland Air Force Base."

The number of weapons and other details were not disclosed.

Battoe also was charged with possession of an unregistered automatic weapon.

AIRPORT CAVE-IN BURIES WORKERS — Rescue workers dig in tons of shales and concrete in an effort to locate bodies of three workmen who were buried alive when a wall collapsed at the Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport construction site during a rainstorm last night. Eight workmen were pouring concrete in a 70-foot ditch, part of the underground passageway, when the cave-in occurred. Five escaped and the other three were trapped in the slide. The bodies were recovered. (AP Wirephoto)

New Auto Bumper Impresses Investigator

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators investigating the high cost of auto repairs have been shown a bumper designed by an inventor who claims it is cheaper, more efficient and safer than bumpers planned by the auto industry to meet new federal regulations for 1973 models.

After watching movies of tests and taking test drives into a Senate Office building loading platform at more than 5 miles an hour, Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., said he was impressed.

He appeared to be slightly shaken by one jolt after riding a bright red American Motors Hornet into the platform. But he was not hurt and neither was the car.

Hart said he would demand the Department of Transportation tell the Senate Commerce Committee why it suggested putting off new bumper standards until 1973 when, if the claims of inventor Paul Taylor of Buffalo, N.Y., are true, high impact bumpers could be installed on next year's models.

Taylor and his 23-year-old son, Doug, a mechanical engineer, said, DOT has repeatedly ignored attempts to call its attention to their device, which works like a shock absorber. In other words, a plunger is forced by the impact into a cylinder filled with compressible silicone oil.

The Taylors also said DOT has ignored their warnings that rigid or spring-supported bumpers planned by some automakers could simply pass the force of an impact to the car's occupants.

They said they have offered to sell their devices to the automakers at $5.60 a unit or less than $25 a car.

Flames Destroy Armour Plant

FORT WORTH (AP) — Flames destroyed a building which formerly housed part of the Armour Packing Co. plant early today and still burned hours later in a second structure.

The four-alarm fire broke out shortly after 11 p.m. and at its peak, as the blaze leaped 200 feet into the air, was visible for miles.

Armour had closed the plant in 1966, describing it as too old to be modernized, and the buildings were being torn down. They were erected in 1902 and stood in the northeast corner of Fort Worth's stockyards.

First the flames destroyed a six-story brick structure which Armour used for offices and then spread to a second building, licking hotly through thick wood floors soaked for years with animal fats.

Firemen using all available equipment battled desperately to keep the blaze from spreading into an adjacent building formerly occupied by Swift & Co. Officials said the big danger was that it might have reached hydrogen tanks there.

On the opposite side of the old Armour facilities, sparks spread the fire to a cooling tower atop another former Swift building, but these were quickly extinguished.

Swift stopped using the buildings less than two weeks ago, closing down the operation April 30.

One wall of the first Armour building started collapsing about 1 a.m. as the flames began dwindling a bit.

Cattle in stockyards pens about 150 yards away bawled lustily, adding to the confusion.

The sight of the fire reaching high into the night sky, drew hundreds of spectators and created an almost hopeless traffic jam at one time.

Pope To Relieve Joszef Mindzenty

PARIS (AP) — The weekly newspaper L'Express says Pope Paul VI has agreed "in principle" with the Communist government of Hungary to relieve Joszef Cardinal Mindzenty as Roman Catholic primate of Hungary.

The mass circulation newspaper said the pontiff's agreement with Hungarian Foreign Minister Janos Peter provides for Cardinal Mindzenty to leave the U.S. Embassy where he sought refuge in 1956 and go quietly into retirement.

The cardinal, now 79, was sentenced to life in prison for treason by a Communist court in 1949.

Evans Speaks To Convention

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The man slated to pilot the last Apollo flight to the moon says the solution to earth's pollution problems can be found in the same technology that carried man into space.

"These isolated abuses of our environment can be solved through technology," Navy Cmdr. Ronald Evans told a convention of instrument manufactures.

Evans is training to pilot Apollo 17 to the moon in December 1972.

Ling Sells LTV Stock

DALLAS (AP) — James J. Ling said he sold 432,000 shares of his Ling-Temco-Vought Inc. AA stock Tuesday to meet the Justice Department's order that he sever all connections with the firm he built and formerly headed.

The sale was made through his wholly-owned subsidiary, Omega-Alpha Corp., but the purchaser's name and the price paid were not disclosed.

A few days ago the Justice Department said Ling must end relations with LTV if he buys the Okonite Co., which is one of the conglomerate's subsidiaries.

The government ordered LTV to divest itself of some of its properties and LTV decided to sell Okonite and Braniff International, the Dallas-based airline.

Ling wants to buy Okonite through his newly organized Omega-Alpha company.

Most Modern Equipment Used At Snyder Laundry

Snyder Laundry and Dry Cleaning, 1401 Twenty-sixth Street, has one of the most modern dry cleaning plants in West Texas.

The almost completely automatic process cleans garments safely and efficiently. Some of the latest machines in the industry can be seen at Snyder Laundry and Dry Cleaning for the firm keeps abreast of all of the new innovations.

There are specially-developed machines for pressing cuffs, collars, sleeves, etc. There is actually less chance of clothing being torn with the machines than with the hand press process.

Each garment, after it has been pressed with the special machines, is hand finished and inspected. Clothing cleaned at Snyder Laundry and Dry Cleaning almost never becomes torn. However, if that should happen, the firm would cheerfully replace the articles or reimburse the owner.

"We guarantee satisfaction," said J. W. Palmer, owner, who has been with the firm for the past 21 years.

Palmer takes pride in the quality of work done at Snyder Laundry and Dry Cleaning and he feels the Sanitone cleaning fluid used in their huge $7,000 dry-cleaning machine is the best in the business.

"The Sanitone fluid turns out brighter, cleaner, white shirts and they are odor-free," said Palmer.

The Sanitone fluid is filtered every day and changed in the machine every week so that clothing cleaned in the big dry-cleaning machine always will have that spotless new look.

Any cleaning service that a person can think of is available at Snyder Laundry and Dry Cleaners. They offer a complete finishing service of course. But in addition, if people wish, they can get wet wash, rough dry or fluff dry.

Free pickup and delivery is offered simply by dialing 573-3681. Some folks prefer to stop by the plant which is located at 1401 Twenty-sixth Street. The same prompt service is available either way at Snyder Laundry and Dry Cleaning.

Testimony Heard On Prayer

AUSTIN (AP)—Public outcry against the U.S. Supreme Court ban on prayers in public schools seems to be a "patent admittance that something is wrong in our homes and churches," Rep. Ben Bynum said Tuesday night.

"The only thing left is to spoon-feed our children (religion) in the schools," said Bynum, a member of the House Constitutional Amendments Committee.

The committee heard testimony on a resolution by Rep. Bill Blythe of Houston to put the House on record supporting nondenominational prayer in public schools.

Bynum, from Amarillo, said he was not against prayer in schools but the uproar since the court banned prayers was admittance of failure to give children religious training properly outside the classroom.

Blythe also has offered a resolution urging immediate action to overturn the U.S. Supreme Court's ruling that busing to achieve desegregation is constitutional and justified.

Bynum said schools have not desegregated in the last 100 years or even since 1954 when the high court ordered them to desegregate. Perhaps busing is going to have to be the answer, he said.

Blythe replied that nothing is accomplished by going against the wishes of the majority of the people, as busing does.

The committee approved and sent to the House floor a constitutional amendment calling for a convention to rewrite the Texas Constitution.

The measure would set up a commission to study the need for constitutional change and report its findings to the legislature not later than Nov. 1, 1973.

The legislature would then be called into session as a constitutional convention in January of 1974.

Also approved for floor debate was a Senate-passed constitutional amendment to let state employes serve on school boards and in any other non-elective offices if there is no conflict.

Marines Promise No Compromise

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maybe "Today's Army Wants To Join You," but as far as the Marines are concerned, "nobody's joining them; they'll be joining us."

The Army may have gotten the opening edge in the recruiting race with its $10.6 million experimental advertising campaign which began in March. But now the Marines have called in Madison Avenue to escalate the interservice rivalry with a campaign of their own which takes a few pot shots at the Army's pitch of a soft life and duty in Europe.

The Marines are emphasizing a small, tough elite force with no promises of the good life.

"We're a tough club to join, a tough team to make," says Corps commandant Gen. Leonard F. Chapman. "And that's exactly the way we're going to keep it."

Marines will be trained the way they've always been trained, he says. "No compromises, no short cuts, no promises except one—they'll be Marines ..." And as for the Army's new recruiting slogan proclaimed in newspapers, radio and television ads—"Today's Army Wants To Join You"—Chapman says Marine recruits will know "nobody's joining them, they'll be joining us."

The theme carried throughout Chapman's speeches is taken from the new Marine Corps recruiting philosophy drawn up by its advertising agency, J. Walter Thompson.

The idea will be carried over on recruiting posters soon to go up all over the country.

One new poster shows a high school athlete walking along the street. The wording says "If you just want to be one of the boys, stick with the boys. The Marines are looking for a few good men."

Another poster from the ad agency shows a tough drill instructor chewing out a young recruit, "We never promised you a rose garden," it says.

The old slogan, "The Marine Corps Builds Men," has been tossed out in favor of "We Want Good Men—And Then We Make Them Better."

Reactions Vary On Veto Threat

AUSTIN (AP)— The reaction from Senate and House members to Gov. Preston Smith's threatened veto of the $903.8 million tax bill was predictable.

Those opposed to the bill were elated and commended Smith and the others were unhappy. Most predicted a special session after the regular session ends May 31 if he vetoes it.

"It gives us a good opportunity—if the citizens of this state are paying attention—to pass a corporate profits tax," said Sen. A. R. Schwartz. The Galveston senator who lost 16-15 in the Senate on his move to tack a 5 per cent corporate profits tax on the bill.

"I hated to see it," said Rep. Menton Murray of Harlingen. I'm afraid it's going to mean a special session. Lots of us didn't like the bill we passed but it was the best we could do under the circumstances."

Rep. Jim Nugent of Kerrville said it was strictly a matter of whether the legislature wanted to pick up the cost of welfare for the second year of the biennium. The bill only allows for one year of welfare spending. "I'm ready to discharge my duty now," meaning writing a tax bill large enough to take care of the spending.

"He has the privilege of the veto, if that's what he wants to do," said Sen. Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells. "I'll work with him."

Sen. Don Kennard of Fort Worth, who headed the Senate tax subcommittee, said he was disappointed but not surprised."

"He offers no solution to the problem he creates by the veto. I hope the Senate will hold firm. I hope the House holds firm and overrides the veto."

Should Smith veto the bill, it will go first to the House.

Rep. Bill Heatly of Paducah said the House could pass a resolution deleting the two-cents-per-gallon gasoline increase, which Smith specifically criticized.

"We'd still have enough money to cover the appropriations bill," said Heatly, chairman of the appropriations committee.

Rep. Dick Reed of Dallas, one of the so-called "Dirty 30" who urged the governor to veto the bill, said he hoped their speeches generated unrest from the public to press the governor to challenge the bill.

Rep. Carl Parker of Port Arthur summed up the feelings of most senators and House members when he said, "I wonder if I can extend the lease on my apartment."

ICC OK's MK&O Purchases

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — MK&O Lines is purchasing the Oklahoma Transportation Co. and Mid-Continent Coaches from Greyhound Lines and has the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission, company officials announced Tuesday.

Purchase price was $4,050,000 cash "and other considerations." Completion of the purchase will create the country's biggest independently owned bus system.

MK&O, in accord with the agreement, will give up its intercity route from Tulsa to St. Louis, and the route will continue to be served by Greyhound and Continental Trailways.

Completion of the acquisition will create a system with routes from Ft. Smith, Ark., and Dodge City, Kan., south through Oklahoma City to Childress, Vernon, Wichita Falls and Abilene, Tex.

Old Bones Found

NEW YORK (AP) — A Columbia University anthropologist has reported finding the bones of a dismembered deer ritually buried by Neanderthals some 50,000 years ago.

Prof. Ralph S. Solecki found bones from the foot, jaw and back, plus the shoulder blades and the top of the skull during excavation of the Nahr Ibrahim Cave in Lebanon, 20 miles north of Beirut, a university spokesman said.

Helmet Made For Bleeder

GRAND PRAIRIE, Tex. (AP) —It took a football type helmet to rescue 18-month-old Ronnie Jonke of Pompano Beach, Fla., from his carefully padded playpen.

And he's indebted to Jim Cody, 33, of this Dallas-Fort Worth suburb for devising the headgear.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Jonke, had to keep the youngster penned up and watch him constantly because he suffered from a rare and fatal disease similar to hemophilia.

It's Wiskott Aldrich Syndrome and because of it Ronnie bleeds profusely at the slightest bump.

Doctors told the parents they could stop the bleeding everywhere except his head. They recommended a protective helmet.

More than a dozen helmets were tried without success. It appeared nobody could make one strong yet light so Ronnie's small neck could support it.

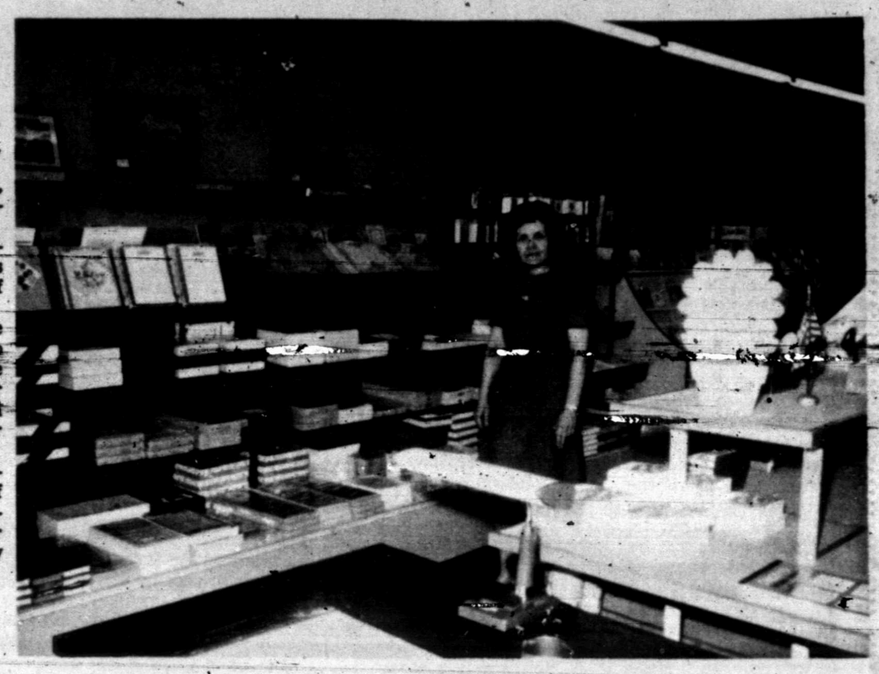

Cody finally heard about the problem. He's a former head trainer of North Texas State University athletes and he helped set up a program for equipping monkeys used in the nation's space program with headgear.

Now owner of a firm which manufactures protective pads, Cody experimented with various materials. At length he came up with a lightweight plastic outer shell and an adjustable polystyrene liner allowing room for a child's growth.

He flew to Florida and delivered it last week. Since his return the parents have telephoned to report Ronnie doesn't want to take off his new helmet. That means the end of playtime.

"The minute we got home we turned him loose," Mrs. Jonke told Cody. "Then we sat down, put up our feet and relaxed for the first time.

"Ronnie emptied my kitchen cabinet—pots, pans, canned goods. There he was on the floor, having the time of his life."

More Graduates Going To College

NEW YORK (AP) — Seventy-six per cent of last year's 68,400 city high school graduates went on to some form of full-time higher education, a study by the City University of New York reports.

The figure compares with 57 per cent the previous year and 55 to 60 per cent across the nation, according to the study.

The increase was attributed to the City University's open-admissions policy, begun last fall. The policy guarantees admission of all graduates of city high schools to the university.
