Former mayors, city officials honor 4 retirees

Approximately 40 of Snyder's current and past city leaders — including three former mayors — gathered Tuesday at a dinner in honor of four city staffers whose retirement is now effective after a total of some 126 years service to the City of Snyder.

Certificates of recognition and gold watches were given out by City Manager John Gayle and Mayor Rod Waller to the four.

Those honored were:

—Nita Farren, who retires as city secretary after 32 years with the city; George Lee, who retires as water superintendent after more than 33 years with the city; Dayle Hoyle, who retires as plumbing inspector after 32 years with the city; and L.E. (Doc) Griffin, who served as tax assessor-collector for the majority of his city service. After working in a part-time capacity the last two years, he now officially retires after 29 years service.

Both Gayle and Waller noted that the four's combined years service likely totals as much or more than the combined years of the remaining city staff. In all, the four staffers had accrued more than 126 years service.

Farren, Lee and Hoyle were employed before the present city charter and began their work for the city when it was still operated under the old mayor-alderman form of government.

Voters approved the new city charter in 1952. Since that time, they have served under four city managers to include Jack Shelly (1952-55); Roy Dunlap (1955-62); George Patterson (1962-1977); and current City Manager John Gayle.

Special guests at Tuesday's dinner were former mayors of Snyder. Attending were Mal Stevenson, John Fagin and Milton Ham. Current city council members were guests also.

In addition, Western Texas College President Dr. Don Newbury offered a brief talk in honor of the four retirees. The dinner was conducted at the Snyder Country Club.

Demo's Lebanon stand said 'politics'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan's chief spokesman charged today that Democratic congressional efforts to get U.S. Marines out of Lebanon amount to "playing politics" and aid enemies of peace in the Mideast.

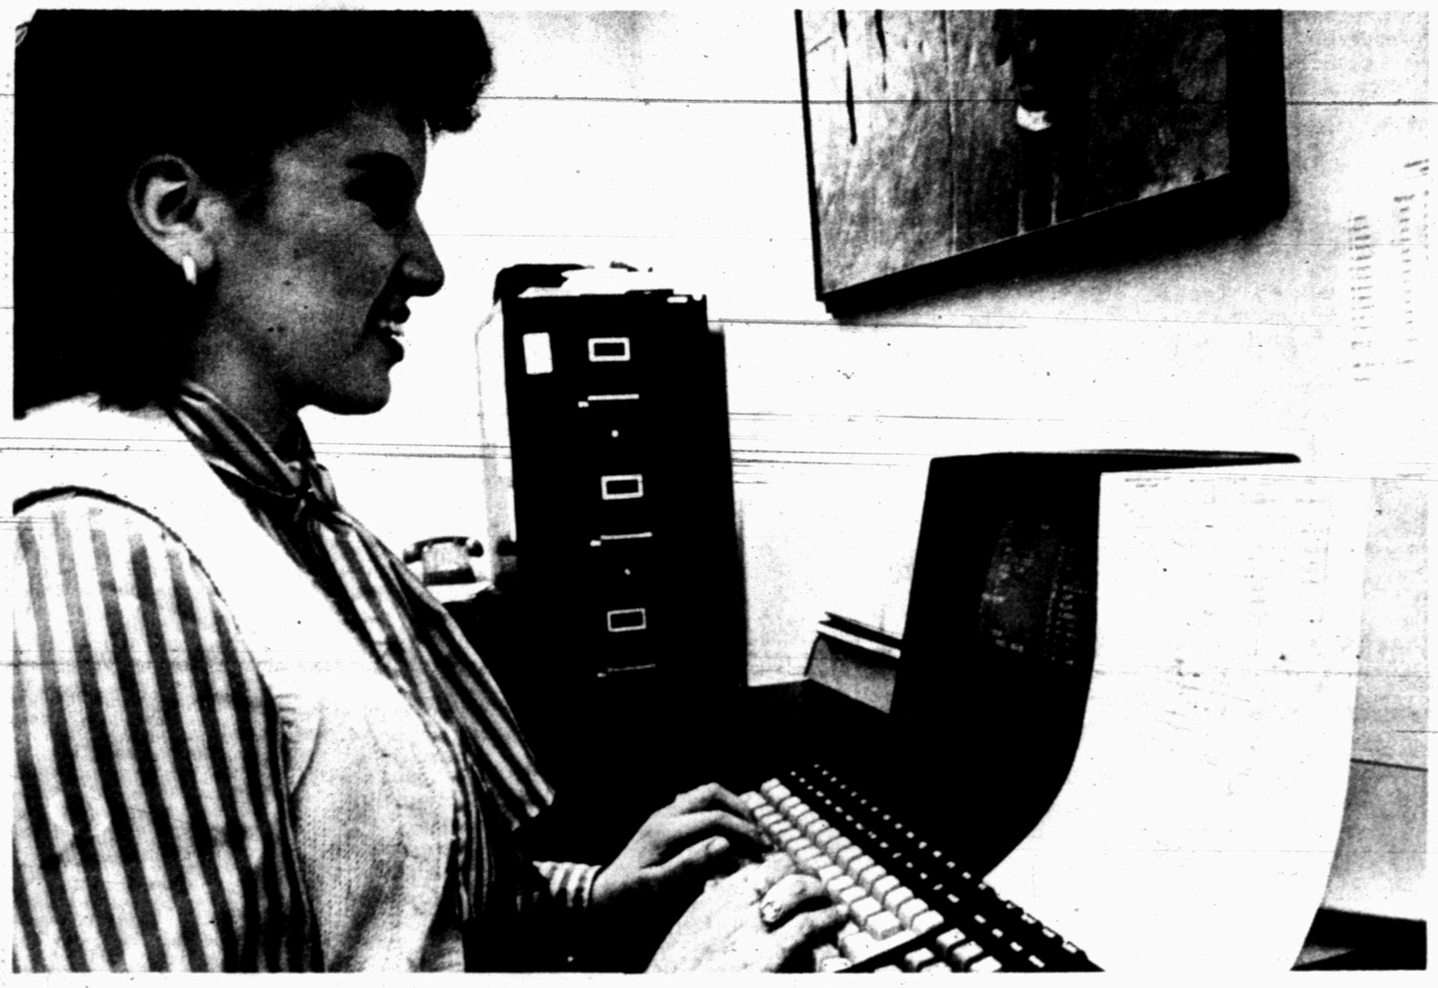

Presidential spokesman Larry Speakes implored the Democrats to "close ranks" behind Reagan, who says he will keep the Marines in the multinational Lebanese peacekeeping force as long as necessary.

On Capitol Hill, meanwhile, Speaker of the House Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. and other party leaders worked to line up Democratic support for their resolution calling for a "prompt and orderly withdrawal" of the American forces.

While the Democratic plan does not set a specific timetable for the pullout, it does call on Reagan to report to Congress within 30 days on what steps he has taken to accomplish the withdrawal.

Speakes, condemning the move, said:

"This is one that we would like to close ranks on. ... We are watching this very closely."

FINAL COUNT—Staffers at Western Texas College's admissions office were punching in final numbers Wednesday morning for WTC's spring semester enrollment count. Approximately 1,300 students are expected. If the tally goes over this mark, it will be only the second time in the school's history that this figure has been exceeded. The record remains at 1,414, set last spring. Cathy Chevez is shown at the computer. (SDN Staff Photo)

School illness on rise

Snyder High School students appear to be the hardest hit by flu absences this week as students out due to illness increased by 50 from Monday to Tuesday.

Overall Tuesday, 164 students were absent from SHS with some students reported going home during the day.

Systemwide, the number of absentees Tuesday was set at 516-plus. The "plus" indicates students were continuing to leave the campuses during the school day.

These figures indicate approximately 17 percent of Snyder school students were absent from class Tuesday.

By campus, the absentee count Tuesday was: SHS, 164-plus; junior high, 98; North Elementary, 55; Central Elementary, 40; East Elementary, 38-plus; West Elementary, 42; Northeast Elementary, 24; and Stanfield, 55.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "The most important software for a home computer is an ample supply of folding money."

It's official. President Reagan is a candidate for re-election, and a host of Democracts want to replace him in the White House.

We've concluded that perhaps the wrong folks are running for President. The Grace Commission just ended an 18-month study of federal waste and made recommendations that should, but won't, shake the federal government to its foundations.

The panel, chaired by J. Peter Grace, said by reducing inefficiency and waste that federal spending could be cut by $424 billion in just three years. One such suggestion was to pay the traditional three cents for a bolt rather than $91. The study was officially known as the President's Private Sector Survey on Cost Control. The study hit at special interest expenditures known as "pork barrels."

The question is how to stop a pork barrel since each one of us is considered a special interest. Reagan hasn't. Republicans generally have done little or nothing to stop them, and Democrats continue to vote for them as well.

Perhaps Grace should run for president...or at least for congress.

She says her husband Billy J. proposed to her under a full moon on Lake Brownwood in 1948.

Not long ago, Joy led her husband to the front door and said, "Billy, look at that gorgeous full moon. What does that make you think of?"

Buying time, Billy murmured, "Gee, ..."

"I thought the romance is not dead in the old boy yet. Then he said, 'Don't you know you could run a trot line by that?"

Ira stock show to open season

Preparations are well underway for the Ira FFA Chapter stock show which will open the 1984 junior livestock show season in Scurry County at 1 p.m. Saturday.

According to Richard Long, ag instructor at the Ira school, approximately 30 youngsters are expected to exhibit around 100 animals during the event. This year's show will feature some 60 hogs, 37 lambs and four steers and will be held in the ag barn on the grounds of the Ira school.

Judge for this year's show will be Ron Mayfield, vocational ag teacher at Lamesa High School.

The Ira show will be the first of five stock shows planned in Scurry County during February. All remaining shows will be staged in the ag annex of the Scurry County Coliseum.

The Scurry County 4-H show will be Feb. 11, a Saturday, followed by the Snyder FFA Chapter show Feb. 13; the Hermleigh FFA Chapter show Feb. 14; and the countywide fat stock show slated Feb. 15-18.

Hermleigh ISD calls for ballot

School board members at Hermleigh have officially called for the annual spring school board election. Balloting for all of Scurry County's three school districts will take place on April 7, a Saturday.

At Hermleigh, two trustees have terms about to expire, board members Jimmy Hudgins and Alan Kuss. Both are completing their first three-year term on the board.

Hermleigh board members are elected at-large rather than for a specific place. The first day to file as a candidate is Feb. 6.

Applications to have names placed on the ballot may be picked up at the Hermleigh school office.

Remaining school board members are Doug Foster, president, Jerry Gannaway, Donald Tate, Jay Roemisch and Larry Don Nachlinger.

Contends Reagan in budget...

Deficits won't slow economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, a longtime critic of government deficits, said today the nation's economy can churn along in steady revival despite deficits approaching last year's record $195 billion.

Private analysts say the president has donned again the rose-colored glasses they felt he had removed one year ago.

His fiscal 1985 budget message, sent to Congress today, calls for deficits of about $180 billion every year through 1987. But rather than showing any ill effects, Reagan predicted business will continue to expand in solid fashion while unemployment drops and inflation remains low.

"That is tremendously unrealistic in our judgment," said Lawrence Chimerine, chairman of Chase Econometrics.

More likely, he said, the defict will grow to $250 billion or more by the end of the decade, with the possibility that rising interest rates will bring a new recession.

Chief White House economist Martin Feldstein acknowledged in a recent interview that "if you literally took the numbers in the budget, they would be inadequate to get you the kind of economic outlook that we assume."

But by also assuming that deficit-reduction negotiations with Congress bear further fruit and that more reductions are voted in 1985, "then the forecast can happen," he said.

The assumptions say:

—The deficit will hold at around $180 billion through 1987 before declining to about $152 billion and $123 billion in the last two years of the decade.

—Economic growth, measured by inflation-adjusted gross national product, will decline from last year's 6.1 percent to 4.5 percent in 1984 and then level off at 4 percent in each of the following four years.

—Unemployment will drop steadily from 8.4 percent of the total labor force at the end of last year to 5.7 percent by 1989.

Q. — Are the salaries of all Snyder school district personnel negotiable?

A. — Yes. Although the salary paid teachers is standardized through a combination of teaching experience and educational level, school policy also gives administrators the option to negotiate salary levels.

In Brief

Radiation source is named

CUIDAD JUAREZ, Mexico (AP) — A team of Mexican officials says a cancer treatment machine that was left in a Juarez hospital warehouse since 1977 is the source of radioactivity that contaminated tons of steel exported to the United States.

The director of the Mexican Federal Health Department in Ciudad Juarez, Dr. Juan Rauda, said a hospital worker who handled the machine received radiation burns on one hand and was being examined for signs of radiation poisoning.

Three Juarez junkyard workers have been listed as "contaminated" with radiation, said Leobardo Larios Hernandez, assistant director of the Mexican Social Security System Hospitals in Juarez.

The workers were exposed to radiation that could have been as high as 20 rems an hour, said Arturo Parra, an engineer with Mexico's Nuclear Safety Commission. That's 44 times the dose of radiation in an average X-ray, he said.

Shultz arrives in Venezuela

CARACAS, Venezuela, (AP) — Secretary of State George P. Shultz arrived here today to help celebrate 25 years of democratic rule after telling leaders in El Salvador the same path is open to them if they defeat "barbaric extremism."

Shultz will attend the inauguration Thursday of President-elect Jaime Lusinchi, a ceremony that will mark the fourth consecutive peaceful transfer of power here from one party to another.

Shultz's visit to this bulwark of Latin American democracy followed a day-long stay in El Salvador. There, he declared Washington's neutrality in the March 25 presidential elections, despite long-standing U.S. hostility to one major candidate, Roberto d'Aubuisson, the country's leading rightist politician.

D'Aubuisson was among six candidates who attended a lunch Tuesday hosted for Shultz by the provisional president, Alvaro Magana. Shultz told reporters afterward he had a "straightforward" discussion with d'Aubuisson. Asked whether he was reassured by the encounter, Shultz replied that he was.

Ma Bell needs authority

AUSTIN (AP) — Southwestern Bell says it needs the authority to suspend local service to customers if they refuse to pay their long-distance bills.

Carlin Brandt presented the company's position at a Tuesday hearing before the Public Utility Commission, which is reviewing its rules on disconnections and deposits.

Southwestern Bell lost most of its long-distance business as a result of the Jan. 1 breakup of American Telephone & Telegraph but now bills for AT&T Communications.

Brandt said historically 5 percent to 7 percent of the company's customers have made partial monthly payments on bills, and 98 percent of that number would give no reason.

He mentioned the possibility of a customer paying Bell for local service but nothing to AT&T on long-distance calls. "What do we do? Our position is that we should be able to suspend the local exchange," said Brandt.

Shuttle countdown begins

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The countdown for America's 10th space shuttle mission began today with the crew predicting the journey would open "new frontiers" for servicing satellites and building the permanent orbiting station President Reagan has endorsed.

Among the activities planned for the five-day flight aboard the shuttle Challenger are the first space walks without lifelines. Two of the five astronauts are to move away from the shuttle with a backpack propelled by nitrogen gas jets.

Liftoff from Cape Canaveral is scheduled for 8 a.m. Friday. Test conductor Andy Browne began the countdown at 2 a.m. today with the the "call to stations," summoning more than 50 engineers and technicians to the control center three miles from the launch pad.

Commander Vance Brand, pilot Robert Gibson and mission specialists Bruce McCandless, Robert Stewart and Ronald McNair arrived here Tuesday from their Houston training base and told reporters they anticipated an exciting mission.

Federal judge won't rule in case

MIDLAND, Texas (AP) — A federal judge turned down requests by two animal rights groups for an order to require ranchers to care for horses forced on them by a failed business, but he hinted that state courts might have jurisdiction.

U.S. District Judge Lucius Bunton on Tuesday said he might not have the jurisdiction to issue an injunction, but he said he would hold a Feb. 10 hearing if the controversy is not resolved by then.

The judge also hinted that Fund for Animals of New York and the American Horse Protection Association of Washington, D.C., which requested the temporary order, might have more valid legal remedies in state court.

The groups had sought the federal order against Horses Unlimited, Roland Jones Jr. and R.D. Plunkett, partners in the horse-dealing business; ranchers Mike Davis of Clifton and Phillip Scruggs of Marlin; and A.J. Roming and Leslie Green, both of Roming & Green Livestock Co. of Marlin.

An executive of one group charged, meanwhile, that the Texas Animal Health Commission has failed to stop the shipment of diseased horses into and out of Falls County.

The groups also had asked Bunton's court to stop shipment of horses to and from Falls County until tests prove they are healthy and that a veterinarian be appointed to determine the condition of the horses and the care needed.

Jerry Owens, executive vice president of the Fund for Animals, on Tuesday criticized ranchers he said resisted efforts to help the horses, saying some were "getting a kick" out of obstructing relief efforts.

Owens also accused the Animal Health Commission of failing to stop the shipment of diseased horses into and out of Falls County. He said many horses have been stricken with the equine infectious anemia, a sometimes fatal disease.

Dr. John Holcombe, commission executive director, said the number of horses infected with the disease has been exaggerated. He said an estimated 30,000 horses were shipped into the Falls County area during the last year, and only about 30 showed a positive reaction on a test for anemia.

Holcombe said the governor's office was "concerned" about the matter and would release a statement today.

Groups angered by the deaths of starving and diseased horses in Falls County said more than 1,200 horses have died because of the harsh winter and the collapse of Horses Unlimited, which left ranchers with between $2 million and $5 million worth of horses the company could not buy back.

Horses Unlimited, which brought about 14,000 horses into Falls County during the past nine months, sold horses to ranchers and promised to buy them back later, officials said. Ranchers were paid for grazing costs, allowing them to make a profit while Horses Unlimited received fatter horses to sell at higher prices for slaughter.

Holcombe said about 1,500 horses were quarantined in the Marlin area Sunday — 900 or 1,000 of them at the Falls County Livestock Auction Barn in Marlin — as a precautionary measure. Horses that have been sold to individuals are being tested and released. The law does not require horses bound for slaughter to be tested.

No horses at the Marlin auction barn have been found to have the disease, officials said.

Authorities said Jones has been charged with 12 counts of theft, and Jones, Plunkett and rancher Mike Davis have been charged with cruelty to animals.

Dallas man indicted in death of Longview cop

LONGVIEW, Texas (AP) — A Dallas man remains in custody today after his indictment on capital murder charges in connection with the shooting death of Longview Police Sgt. Randy Davis.

A Gregg County grand jury indicted James Charles Billups, 46, on Tuesday after it was called into special session to hear the case, said prosecutors. Grand jurors returned the indictment after about two hours of testimony.

Billups remains in jail in lieu of a $1 million bond set by Justice of the Peace Robert Malcolm.

The single indictment against Billups was presented to Judge Alvin Khoury by grand jurors.

Paul Harvey

The United States of America is the most durable, the most consistent, the most stable government this world has ever known.

Resentment's do not fester until they become explosive in the United States mostly because we vent our frustrations with "a revolution every four years."

This is your year.

Our nation's present prosperity is building on quicksand; on a foundation of national debt totaling more than 1.4 trillion dollars.

The economic philosophy we have come to call Reaganomics presumes that if taxes are held down so that people will have more money to spend and businesses will have more money on which to expand -- then everybody making money will eventually be paying enough more in taxes to support our government and pay our debt.

So far Reaganomics has not accomplished the latter objective of amortizing our debt because government spending keeps going up.

Federal spending as a percentage of our nation's Gross National Product has increased an additional 2 percent under Reagan. And spending in 1983 was up 9 percent from 1982.

Congress and the president must share the blame for increased government spending.

The president because he has dared to make only token budget cuts.

The Congress because congressmen in an election year have gone through their regular quadrennial mating dance, offering more subsidies for construction, for farmers; have not dared discipline recipients of Medicare or Social Security

The Grace Commission has surveyed federal spending, has concluded that 100 billion dollars in fat could be cut from the federal budget.

But the president's White House advisers are as convinced as are the members of Congress that "their first responsibility is to get themselves re-elected."

So expend no significant husbandry this year.

So what is the electorate to do? How do we vote if we want our nation to be solvent again and if we do not want to resume the tax-and-spend formula which was destroying our currency?

Since candidates, albeit understandably, are running so scared this year, we have to rely on the records of individual candidates in past years.

If we want government to take more of our money and spend more of our money there are more than enough candidates with that philosophy. And they are not all in any one party.

If we want government to take less of our money and spend less of our money -- essentially Reaganomics -- there are politicians who have fairly consistently voted that way.

One year from now leadership will be up to them. This year it is up to you.

Plague infects Kermit man

KERMIT, Texas (AP) — A Texas Department of Health official says a 46-year-old Kermit man contracted bubonic plague after handling infected rabbit meat.

William Rosser, regional veterinarian for the health department, said the man, who officials declined to identify, returned to work Tuesday.

Rosser said the man and a friend had hunted rabbits earlier this month in two different areas west and north of this West Texas city. The man was admitted to a hospital for tests and observation after plague symptoms appeared about three days later, Rosser said.

Your Birthday

Feb. 2, 1984

This coming year you will experience strong desires to put your personal imprint on all of your involvements. Things will work out well, provided they are not done at the expense of others.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You have an effective way of managing things today which is best for all concerned. Don't let another muscle in and take over where you can do better. Major changes are in store for Aquarians in the coming year. Send for your year-ahead predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Follow your instincts as well as your logic today in matters affecting your reputation and status. Your inner voice will help guide you properly.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) A little extra effort on your part today could do much to make a friend out of someone who is now merely an acquaintance. Extend yourself.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Try to complete as many steps as possible today on projects affecting your career. Tomorrow your frame of mind might seek other outlets.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Let your ideas take precedence over those of your associates today. It won't be an ego trip. Your thoughts have greater clarity than theirs.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Do not let shifting conditions disturb you today. You tend to benefit from changes, even those which are not of your own making.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) In order to gain cooperation today, try to put yourself in others' shoes. Once you appreciate their perspective, you'll make the right moves.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) This could be a very productive day, provided you are able to work at your own pace. Schedule events so that you retain control.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) A pleasant social diversion could do you a world of good today — such as quiet dinner with select friends where you can relax and be waited on.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Don't attempt to do things today which you know in advance you might be unable to finish. Leaving things dangling will affect your peace of mind.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) This is a good day to try to get in touch with persons you feel you've neglected a bit lately. If a phone call won't work, drop them a note.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your financial aspects continue to look encouraging, but there is a chance you may be extravagant in several situations where you should be prudent.

Vivace studies music of '30s

The Vivace Junior Music Club, affiliated with the Snyder Musical Coterie, Texas Federated Music Clubs and National Federated Music Club enjoyed "Songs of the 1930s" Jan. 29 in the home of Juli Lay.

Narrating the program were Kasi Campbell, Anne Egelston, Juli Lay, Linda Walker, Alfred and Alex Brice, Phil Hagar, Jody Webb, and Mrs. Wayne Bethel.

Excerpts from old radio shows were enjoyed including "Amos and Andy" and "The Shadow." Records played were "Inka Dinka Do" by Jimmy Durante; "Piano Man," Earl Hines version; and "Wrapping It Up," Benny Goodman version.

Playing a piano duet, "Heart and Soul," written by Hoagy Carmichael, were Mrs. Janet Lay and Phil Hagar. Judson Morrison played "Deep Purple," Jody Webb played "Over the Rainbow," and Mrs. Bethel played "On the Good Ship Lollipop." Jeana Fox sang "Georgia on My Mind."

Special guests, Donna Fowler and Cindy Hataway, dressed in costumes from the '30s, sang "Try a Little Tenderness, "Goody, Goody," "Jeepers Creepers," "Love Letters in the Sand," and "Lullaby of Broadway," all accompanied by Mrs. Bethel.

This period was also known as the swing era. Music of the big bands played was by Count Basie, Jimmie Lunceford, Chick Webb, Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey, Bob Crosby, and Duke Ellington.

Members and guests enjoyed refreshments served by hostesses Pamela Bowlin, Amy Armstrong and Juli Lay.

Music of the 1940s will be studied at the next meeting on Feb. 18 in the home of Judson Morrison.

When declarer has two chances (slim and none), he had best try the slim chance. Sometimes it works.

South found himself in a rather normal four-spade contract. Only a club lead could hurt him, but West opened the four of that suit. East's king fell to South's ace, but South was very unhappy. He was looking at four quick losers, or one more than he could afford.

South was accustomed to using tricks of the trade, so at trick two he promptly led his eight of spades in the faint hope that somehow or other the ace and king would fall together.

No such luck. South was one down.

If South had not been so anxious to get his opponents to make a mistake, he might have found a way to make his contract. It was a slim chance indeed, but it was there.

South should merely have led hearts. The suit would go around three times. Suits do break 3-3 almost 36 percent of the time. They did this time, and now South could lead a fourth heart and discard his losing club. It wouldn't matter which opponent ruffed. East-West would get only one more trump, and the slim chance would have succeeded.

Four man art show

CHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Paintings, prints and drawings by Pierre Bonnard, Henri de Toulouse-Lautrec, Felix Vallotton and Edouard Vuillard will be on view at the Memorial Art Gallery through April 15.

The four artists were closely associated with the late 19th century Parisian journal, "La Revue Blanche," and the exhibition is titled "Artists of 'La Revue Blanche'."

The Queen Mary was launched Sept. 26, 1934, after a royal christening in Glasgow. Four years later she captured the Blue Riband of the Atlantic from the French ship Normandie and held the title until 1952.

In Sweetwater...

Colonial Daughters meet

The Cross Tie Restaurant in Sweetwater was the setting for the January meeting of the Texas Chapter of Colonial Daughters of the Seventeenth Century. Ethel Nelson, Connie Tutt and Misses Josie and Delila Baird served as hostesses.

Chapter president, Mrs. Kenneth G. Whisenant of Abilene, called the meeting to order and invocation was given by Mrs. Alfred P. Harris of Kermit, chaplain. Patriotic rituals recited in unison included the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, Pledge of CDSC, and the American Creed.

Following luncheon the meeting was reconvened. Minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Ernest Thomas of Odessa. Reports heard from chapter officers included the treasurer, Mrs. Whit Clark of Rotan, who reported all dues and contributions for national projects had been sent to the treasurer general.

The registrar, Delila Baird of Rotan, noted that two applications for membership in Tejas Chapter were approved at the October board meeting in Washington, D.C. One application is pending with the registrar general and several prospective members are preparing lineage claims on approved ancestors. The two new members are Mrs. Robert R. Truitt of Fort Worth and Mrs. Edward J. Niedermaier Sr. of Dallas.

The name of the proposed new member, Gertrude Williams of Hale Center, was presented by Mrs. R. G. Russ and endorsed by Delila Baird.

In other matters of business delegates were elected for the General Assembly of the National Society to convene in Washington, D.C. in April.

Mrs. Henry F. Clark Jr. of Snyder, first vice president and program chairman, introduced the program which was presented by Delila Baird. Giving a 17th century commemorative program Miss Baird chose as her subject "The Six Carpenter Sisters."

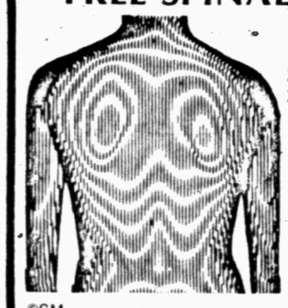

The next meeting of the chapter will be in Snyder in May with Snyder members as hostesses. The program, a musical presentation, will be by Mrs. Miloslav Skalicky of Big Spring.

Photography grant

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles County Museum of Art says it has recently received a $1 million grant to establish a curatorial, acquisitions and exhibitions program for photography.

The museum says the grant from the Ralph M. Parsons Foundation will "ensure the development of an active and comprehensive program in the area of photography to make the museum commensurate with major programs in other large metropolitan museums."

Weight on the heart

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Much has been written about the benefits of weight lifting. However, what are the possible bad effects? From what I understand weight lifting is an anaerobic exercise and puts a strain on heart muscles by unevenly pumping blood to the heart.

After I do a heavy set of lifting, I can feel my heart pumping rapidly. By the time I'm ready for the next set, one or two minutes later, my heart rate has increased considerably. Is this constant shift in heart rate safe?

I've been riding an exercise bike for about 25 minutes every three days. Is that enough to adequately strengthen the heart or should I incorporate other aerobic exercises into my training?

DEAR READER — There are different ways to do weight lifting. How you do it makes a big difference. Some people increase blood pressure by weight lifting because they never learn to breathe properly.

Many of the bad things that have been said about weight training are based on erroneous ideas and sometimes just plain prejudice. The body builder who lifts one large weight once or twice and then rests for a long time, then does it again later, never really works his heart at a constant level and can't expect much benefit as far as the heart is concerned. But continually exercising one group of muscles requires a lot of oxygen. This method trains the heart and lungs.

The change in your heart rate you described is healthy and indicates your heart is being worked on in a healthy manner.

To clarify current thinking on the best methods to develop strength, muscle size and muscle fibers, I'm sending you the Health Letter 5-4, Weight Training for Energy and Weight Control. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have a condition known as angioneurotic edema. It causes inflammation and swelling of my face. Is there any surgical procedure that can stop it? What type of specialist should I consult?

DEAR READER — Today we call it angioedema, because it has nothing to do with being neurotic. These are large hives deep within the tissues usually caused by allergic reactions. There is no surgical procedure indicated. In the true case of angioedema, transitory swelling occurs after exposure to the allergic substance. Sometimes this is after eating something that causes an allergic reaction.

You should see an allergist to help define what's causing the problem and avoid the substances, or ask him to give you some preventive medicine.

SS budget to include expected hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan sent Congress today a record $191.3 billion budget for the Social Security retirement and disability programs for fiscal 1985 that includes an expected 4.3 percent benefit increase next January for nearly 37 million retirees, disabled workers and their families.

And for the first time in nearly a decade, the Social Security budget is not written in red ink. The system expects to pay out $11.5 billion more next year, but it also anticipates that revenues will rise by $22.5 billion.

Reagan, in his budget message, said the bipartisan bailout plan enacted last spring has rescued Social Security "from the threat of insolvency raised by rampant inflation, excessive liberalizations and lagging growth of its tax base."

The budget forecasts that the ranks of retirees will grow by 700,000 next year. The system will pay $185.9 billion in retirement, disability and survivors' benefits, and cost $5.3 billion to run.

One of the changes Congress adopted to shore up the system was to delay last July's scheduled benefit hike for six months and to shift future increases to January. In addition to the projected 4.3 percent benefit hike at the start of 1985, the budget predicts a 4.6 percent benefit hike in January 1986.

The administration, which has completed almost 600,000 periodic reviews of the eligibility of people on the disability rolls in the past two years, expects to carry out 274,000 more such checks in fiscal 1985.

About 45 percent of the beneficiaries have been found ineligible, though some retain their benefits on appeal. The administration said it hopes new face-to-face hearings early in the appeals process starting this year "will improve the accuracy of decisions."

Social Security's cash benefit programs will absorb nearly 21 percent of all federal spending in fiscal 1985. In addition, Medicare benefits, primarily funded through the Social Security payroll tax, are expected to cost $73.9 billion.

The president proposed no Social Security changes in his budget. The administration said it supports legislation to allow people to keep drawing disability benefits through their first face-to-face appeal hearing.

Social Security and Medicare combined will account for 28 percent of federal spending in fiscal 1985 and provide benefits to nearly one in six Americans.

CBS reporter is subpoened for Geter trial

DALLAS (AP) — CBS News "60 Minutes" reporter Morley Safer has been ordered by a state district judge to testify in the armed robbery retrial of Lenell Geter and to bring with him all videotapes CBS made in connection with the case.

Judge John Ovard signed a subpoena on Tuesday that was requested by Dallas County prosecutors.

The subpoena also directs Safer to furnish all unaired tapes, or outtakes, CBS News made in connection with the Geter case.

The program "60 Minutes" aired a 24-minute segment, narrated by Safer, on Geter's armed robbery conviction in December.

Geter, 26, a former E-Systems Inc. engineer, had been sentenced to life in prison in October 1982 for robbing $615 from a Balch Springs Kentucky Fried Chicken.

District Attorney Henry Wade offered, after the program aired, to drop charges against Geter if Geter passed a polygraph test administered by a Dallas polygraph examiner.

Geter's attorneys initially accepted the plan, but later declined the polygraph offer and the case was scheduled for retrial.

In New York, a spokeswoman for "60 Minutes" said Tuesday that network officials have not been notified of the order, but will fight it in court.

"We will file a motion to quash the order," said Ann Morfogen, director of communications for CBS News. "First, we consider all outtakes or unpublished tapes to be our property and not to be turned over. We will resist turning over our outtakes."

Ms. Morfogen said Ovard's order requiring Safer to testify is "the first time anyone can recall him being involved in any similar action."

She said the subpoena "is not that uncommon a practice" for CBS News.

The subpoena specifies that Safer be present when Geter's trial begins April 9 in Dallas because he and "60 Minutes" "did extensive investigative work" in the Geter case.

Assistant District Attorney Gerald Banks said prosecutors want Safer to appear in court up to a period of seven days to verify that "these are the tapes."

L. Flynt is given jail term

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A federal judge has sentenced Larry Flynt to 15 months in prison for contempt of court after a six-hour, obscenity-laced hearing in which the paraplegic Hustler magazine publisher was gagged and handcuffed to his wheelchair.

Flynt, 43, crippled by a 1978 assassination attempt, was calm at first on Tuesday when U.S. District Judge Manuel Real ruled him in contempt for a Dec. 12 outburst before a federal magistrate.

At the court's invitation, Flynt spoke for about five minutes.

"I either want to be free or put me away forever," he said.

Real then sentenced him to six months in prison, and Flynt began yelling obscenities and screaming: "Give me more! Give me more!"

"That will be another six months," Real snapped.

The judge then tacked on 90 days for the additional contempt shown at Tuesday's marathon hearing, during which U.S. marshals wheeled Flynt in and out of the courtroom, on occasion muzzling him by placing their hands over his mouth.

Mother sensed son's danger

EL PASO (AP) — Margarite Rodriduez says she heard her son calling for her, and sensed he was in danger, even though he was thousands of miles away in Beirut.

Her son, Lance Cpl. Rodolfo Hernandez, was struck in the head with shrapnel in a clash with Shiite Moslem militiamen Monday. He is listed in critical condition.

Officials said Hernandez was flown by helicopter to the amphibious assault ship Guam off the Beirut coast. Another Marine, Lance Cpl. George L. Dranis, 19, of Cape May, N.J., died before he could be evacuated, officials said.

Mrs. Hernandez told the El Paso Times that, in her south El Paso home, she felt her son's pain Monday morning.

"I've always had that feeling when my children are in danger, when they are hungry," Mrs. Rodriguez said Tuesday. "My mother has it. All of us have it."

She said the feeling made her nervous, and she was not surprised about eight hours later when a Marine Corps representative came to her home with news of her only son's injuries.

"I just can't stop thinking of him over there covered with blood, calling for me," Rodriguez said, shaking her head. "I can't be with him. Do you think they can bring him back here? Would they do that? The Red Cross or someone?"

Hernandez, 28, was within seven months of being discharged from his second tour with the Marines. he was among the first Marines sent to Beirut as a peacekeeping force in September 1982.

He came to El Paso on leave last October, but was called back to Beirut after about 10 days.

On his way to Beirut a second time, Hernandez' unit was diverted temporarily to Grenada before its return to Lebanon with the 33rd Marine Amphibious Unit.

Mrs. Rodriguez said she has seen news footage of her son, behind a machine gun or asleep in a bunker, three times on national television.

"I was happy to see him, but being behind a machine gun — his only protection — was not a very good thing for a mother to look at," she said.

Mrs. Rodriguez also has a news photo of her son and four other Marines erecting barricades near Beirut Airport.

She said she recognized her son because of his "big cheeks."

After receiving four boxes of "goodies" from his mother last Christmas, Hernandez teased her about her about "forgetting the kitchen sink," she said.

But in Hernandez' last letter to his mother, he was counting the days to his homecoming, she said.

"He said he just wanted to come home, to mom's good home cooking.'" she said.

Hernandez, described as a "restless" college, student, joined the Marines about six years ago.

DDT found on cabbage imported from Mexico

HIDALGO, Texas (AP) — Three truckloads of cabbages will be destroyed or returned to Mexico after tests run by the federal Food and Drug Administration revealed the produce was coated with the insecticide DDT.

The manufacture and use of DDT was outlawed 12 years ago in the United States but Mexican growers still sometimes use the inexpensive pesticide, officials said.

U.S. authorities are working with the Mexican government to try and identify who and where the chemical is being used.

The cabbage trucks were held at the international bridge in Hidalgo while samples were being tested, said Patricia Cook of the FDA in Hidalgo.

SMOKERS AND QUITTERS

Many still smoke, despite health warnings

(Source U.S. National Center for Health Statistics) NEA Moffitt Cecil

New health reports, anti-smoking campaigns and warnings have had little effect on the number of U.S. smokers. About one-third of U.S. adults still smoke. The percentage of ex-smokers has also changed little since 1970. The most marked change has been in the number of male smokers, which decreased by nearly 7 percent.

Deputies accused of causing death

MIDLAND, Texas (AP) — An Odessa man who was in Ector County Jail the night Larry Ortega Lozano died says he fears retaliation "from the county" for testifying in a civil lawsuit brought by the inmate's family against two sheriff's deputies.

The suit filed against Ector County Sheriff's deputies Randy Teeney and Jackie Perkins by Lozano's two children alleges the two men used excessive force to restrain the prisoner during a Jan. 22, 1978 jailhouse scuffle.

Lozano died in the deputies' custody from a crushed larynx received during the restraint effort, an investigation concluded.

Orlando Molinar testified on Tuesday he heard noises coming from Lozano's cell early that evening and, minutes later, deputies lay Lozano in front of Molinar's cell.

"He was gasping for air," said Molinar. "He had like liquid in his mouth, saliva and blood, whatever."

Lozano was being held on traffic violations and a charge of resisting arrest at the county jail, authorities said.

The suit first was heard in 1981. A federal court jury ruled in favor of county officials and sheriff's deputies, including Tenney and Perkins.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans overturned the Midland jury's verdict last December regarding the conduct of the two deputies and ordered that portion of the suit retried.

In the second day of the trial Tuesday, Molinar initially refused to give his address under cross-examination, saying, "I fear retaliation."

"From whom, Mr. Molinar?" U.S. District Judge Lucius Bunton asked.

"The county," Molinar answered.

On Monday, the six jurors in the case heard testimony from three witnesses who were absent from the 1981 trial.

The three, serving time at the Texas Department of Corrections who were in the jail when Lozano died, contended that former Ector County Sheriff Elton Faught beat Lozano the night of his death, then tried to whitewash the incident.

Certificate is not needed attorney says

AUSTIN (AP) — An officer for Hospital Equities Inc. told a state examiner today HEI has no intention of changing the way Orange Memorial Hospital is operated and should not have to go through a full hearing to lease the 205-bed facility.

Hearing examiner Kay Trostle of the Texas Health Facilities Commission took testimony from Thomas Rice of Houston, HEI executive vice president, and gave lawyers until March 19 to submit written briefs.

Ms. Trostle will submit a report to the three-member commission.

Rice testified that HEI has no plans to add or terminate any hospital services and will not increase or decrease the number of beds or relocate any beds.

Cotton

NEW YORK (AP) — Cotton futures No. 2 were higher at midday dealings today.

The average price for strict low middling 1 & 1-16 inch spot cotton advanced 98 points to 72.76 cents a pound Tuesday for the eight markets, according to the New York Cotton Exchange.

Midday prices were $1.25 to $2.00 a bale higher than the previous close. Mar 77.75, May 77.65, Jul 77.00, Oct 73.50, Dec 72.00, Mar ., May . and Jul ..

Miller to head nursing home

Jerry Miller, who moves to Snyder from Roswell, N.M., is the new administrator for Snyder Nursing Home, 5311 Big Spring Highway.

He replaces Kathye Gerrity, who will continue her work with nursing home owners Beverly Enterprises in Maryland.

Miller was in private business in Roswell. He is joined here by his wife Jina.

The Millers are members of the Church of Christ. In addition, he is a member of both the Texas Nursing Home Association and American Health Care Association.

New jump is reported in price of groceries

By Louise Cook
Associated Press Writer

Grocery prices rose by almost 1 percent during the first month of the new year, according to an Associated Press market-basket survey that showed meat and egg prices leading the list of increases.

The boost was the third monthly rise in a row and confirmed earlier predictions that consumers will be paying higher prices at the supermarket in 1984 because of last summer's heat and drought.

The AP survey covers 14 food and non-food items which were selected at random and priced at one supermarket in each of 13 cities on March 1, 1973. Prices have been rechecked on or about the start of each succeeding month. The figures are not adjusted to reflect seasonal variations. Nor are they weighted to show what percentage of a family's actual spending goes for each item on the checklist.

The latest survey showed that the marketbasket bill increased during January at the checklist store in nine cities, rising an average of 2.1 percent. The bill decreased at the checklist store in four cities, dropping by an average of 2.1 percent. Overall, the marketbasket bill rose by an average of nine-tenths of 1 percent.

The January picture was a familiar one. The marketbasket bill also went up in nine cities during November, when the over-all average increase was eight-tenths of 1 percent, and it rose in eight cities during December, when the average boost was 1.2 percent.

Price decreases late in 1982 and early in 1983 have helped consumers keep grocery spending under control despite the latest increases, however.

A comparison of prices today with those at the start of February a year ago showed the market-basket bill at the checklist stores rose only one-tenth of 1 percent during the 12-month period.

Higher prices for meat and eggs are to blame for much of the rise in grocery bills. Meat and eggs make up just under 30 percent of the items in the AP survey,

'85 budget items listed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan today sent Congress a $925.5 billion budget plan for 1985 that would rein in domestic spending for another year but press ahead with a military buildup. The result: a $180.4 billion deficit that will occupy much of Congress' attention.

Despite the hefty budget deficit, the financial blueprint offers no major action — either through sharp spending cuts or a major tax hike — to wash away the red ink.

If the president's financial guide is followed, there would be a decade-long freeze on domestic spending, after adjustment for inflation.

Nevertheless, the deficit would impose huge burdens. The budget projects that taxpayers will pick up a $164.7 billion tab just in interest payments on the national debt in the upcoming fiscal year that starts on Oct. 1. Those payments are estimated at $149.5 billion this year.

The deficit hit a record $195.4 billion in the 1983 fiscal year and is projected at $183.7 billion this year.

Reagan, in his message accompanying the document, took note of the red ink, saying:

"Only the threat of indefinitely prolonged high budget deficits threatens the continuation of sustained non-inflationary growth and prosperity. It raises the specter of sharply higher interest rates, choked-off investment, renewed recession and rising unemployment."

He called for the deficit problem to be "laid to rest" through a bipartisan effort to curb spending.

He also urged, as he has previously, enactment of constitutional amendments that would require a balanced budget and give the president line-item veto authority so he could pare individual items from appropriations bills rather than accepting — or rejecting — the measures in total.

In an election year, the administration apparently decided against adding controversial spending cuts or taxing proposals to its financial blueprint, especially since the likelihood of Congress heeding such suggestions — even to pare the troublesome deficits — is considered slim.

Overall, the blueprint calls for spending $925.5 billion next year, up from the $853.8 billion estimated for this year.

As a result, government spending would account for nearly 24 percent of the value of nation's output of goods and services in 1985, above the 22.4 percent in 1980, the year before Reagan took office.

The budget document lauds the administration efforts to keep domestic spending under control. It said spending on domestic programs would run $523.1 billion next year, virtually the same as last year, when adjusted for inflation.

Underpinning the budget plan are the administration's assumptions that the economy will continue expanding at a solid pace through the end of the decade, despite the deficits that private economists worry could sink the recovery.

The projections also forecast that inflation, interest rates and unemployment will decline.

With that rosy economic outlook, the deficits are projected to decline to $152 billion in 1988 and $123.4 billion in 1989.

Overall, the budget blueprint urges spending cuts of about $9 billion in a variety of non-defense programs, about half of which would be wiped out by fresh increases in other areas.

Turning to the military, the document asks Congress to boost spending next year by 14.5 percent, to $264.4 billion, by far the biggest increase for any major agency. After discounting for inflation, the boost would be 9.3 percent.

No major new weapons are proposed. But tens of billions of dollars would go for 40 MX nuclear missiles, almost two dozen ships and hundreds of planes, tanks and other armaments. There would be a 5.5 percent pay raise for the 2.1 million men and women in uniform.

The administration also wants more money for foreign aid, both economic and military, which would rise less than $500 million to $15.2 billion. The biggest chunk would go for Israel and Egypt.

There would also to be a sizable increase in aid for Central America, but Reagan wasn't expected to spell out the exact amount until later in the week.

To help pay for the increases, the president urges Congress to tighten some of the loopholes he says now exist in the tax code. They would include placing restrictions on tax-exempt leasing, altering the system of taxing life insurance companies and limiting the growth in private purpose tax-exempt bonds.

He also suggests that, starting next January, employees be required to pay Social Security and income taxes on the the health insurance premiums, now paid by their employers, that are in excess of $175 per month, or $2,100 per year for a family plan. Premiums paid below those sums would still be excluded from taxation.

More than 500 people died in an earthquake in eastern Turkey in 1966.

New budget affects lives, pocketbooks

WASHINGTON (AP) — With impacts ranging from dimes to thousands of dollars, President Reagan's budget will reach out and change the lives and finances of millions of Americans — students and the elderly, veterans and housewives, doctors and lawyers.

The fiscal 1985 budget talks of millions and billions of dollars, but the real impact is in the budgets of American families where the numbers are just plain old dollars, often hard-earned and carefully spent.

For the elderly person paying for supplemental health insurance, Reagan's budget would mean 40 more cents every month in premiums, going up from $17.30 to $17.70.

For poor people who need medical care, Reagan's budget would cost them an extra dollar in "co-payments" each time they go to the doctor or a hospital.

For families with students in college or about to get there, Reagan's budget would both give and take away.

For the neediest students in college in the 1985-86 academic year, Reagan would raise the maximum amount of Pell self-help grants from $1,900 to $3,000.

But middle- and lower-income families would be required to pay more of their income to cover college costs, and students would be expected to put up $500 before they could qualify at all. Those changes would cost about 300,000 students their grants.

In addition, all students would be required to show financial need to receive government-guaranteed loans. Currently, only those from families with incomes of more than $30,000 are required to demonstrate financial need.

Wreck occurs on WTC road

Snyder police were called to investigate a minor traffic mishap on the Western Texas College main access road at 10:56 a.m. Tuesday.

Involved in it were a 1972 Ford driven by Randall Craig Kimbler of Rt. 1, Snyder and a 1976 Chevrolet driven by Jerry Alan Rose of Loraine.

No injuries resulted from the mishap and damage to both vehicles was called minor.

5 arrests all misdemeanor

Snyder police logged five misdemeanor arrests Tuesday.

All five of the local men detained by city officers were charged with public intoxication and one of the suspects was also charged with disorderly conduct.

Did you move in '83?...

Adjustments reduce tax

By Robert Metz
(Eighth of 14 articles)

Moving expenses were an important item for many Americans who found new jobs in 1983.

Moving expenses are one of several categories of a powerful tax reducer, adjustments to income. Adjustments to income are taken from gross income to determine one's adjusted gross income.

TAX TIP: The adjustments are particularly important if you do not itemize because you can claim adjustments even when you use the zero bracket amount.

Adjustments to income

Once you've figured your income, you should determine what, if any, income adjustments you are eligible for. This is the first step — and an important one — in whittling down your tax liability.

There are eight adjustment items. They are:

— Moving expenses.
— Employee business expenses.
— Payments to an Individual Retirement Account.
— Payments to a Keogh retirement plan.
— Interest penalty on early withdrawal of savings.
— Alimony paid.
— Disability income exclusion.
— Deduction for married couples who both work.

After these adjustments are made, you can either itemize deductions or take the zero bracket deduction.

CUT YOUR OWN TAXES AND SAVE

TAX TIP: Those who do itemize should also do adjustments to income carefully. They reduce adjusted gross income, the figure setting the medical, casualty and charitable expenses one can deduct.

The rules say that if you moved to a new location during 1983 because you were transferred by your employer, found a new job in another community, or are self-employed and moved for business-related reasons, you may have a moving expense adjustment.

While there is no limit to how much you can claim for moving your household goods and traveling to your new home, the costs must be fair and reasonable. The maximum adjustment for other moving expenses is a total of $3,000. There is a $1,500 limit on the combined expenses of house-hunting trips and temporary living quarters.

There are two important qualifiers: distance and time.

The distance between your new job and your old residence must be at least 35 miles greater than the distance from your old job to your old residence.

Let's say that your old job was 10 miles from your home. Your new job must be at least 45 miles from your old home for a moving expense adjustment. So, if you moved within a city, you might not qualify.

The time requirement varies according to your employment status. If you are an employee, you must be employed full time for at least 39 weeks during the first 12 months immediately after the move.

If you are self-employed, the time periods are doubled. That means that you must have been employed for at least 78 weeks in the two years immediately following the move, with at least 39 of those weeks occurring within the first 12 months.

TAX TIP: You may deduct your moving expenses if the time test has not been met by the date your 1983 return is due, if you expect to meet the time test for an employee by the end of 1984, or the test for the self-employed by the end of 1985. But if you then fail to meet the time test by the deadline, you must report the moving expenses claimed as income for the year in which you did not meet the test.

TAX TIP: Under extenuating circumstances, the time test can be waived. These circumstances are: You lost your job, and it was not due to willful misconduct; you moved a second time in a transfer that was for your employer's benefit; disability or death.

TAX TRAP: Note, however, that there would be no waiver if you reached mandatory retirement age before the end of the 39-week time test and your retirement had been anticipated.

You may claim:

— The cost of moving household goods for you and family members. In addition to the hauling charge you may include charges for packing and crating, in-transit insurance and storage.

— Travel expenses for you and your family from the old location to the new one. This includes meals, lodging and transportation. If you traveled by plane, train or bus, the actual fare can be claimed. If you traveled in your own car, your transportation expenses can be claimed. Either total all out-of-pocket expenses for gasoline, oil, repairs, parking and tolls; or claim 9 cents for each mile driven. If you claim mileage, you may also claim the actual cost for parking and turnpike tolls.

— The cost of house-hunting trips made after you obtained your new job, but before you moved to your new place of employment. Such costs include transportation, meals and lodging for you and your family. You all don't have to travel together, or even at the same time, but only one trip for each person qualifies. You may deduct the cost of house-hunting even if you didn't find a new residence.

— The cost of temporary quarters. This is solely for meals and lodging for any period of 30 consecutive days after obtaining work.

— The costs incurred in selling the former home and buying a new one. If you rent your quarters, you may claim the costs of settling your old lease and obtaining a new one. Typical home-sale costs include the realtor's commission, closing costs, attorney's fees, points charged on a mortgage if they are not deductible as interest, and your share of the escrow fees. Losses on the sale of homes are not deductible.

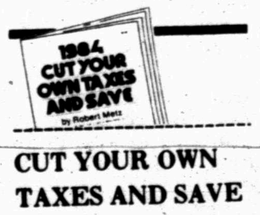

TAX TIP: The homeowning taxpayer has an option in determining how the selling expenses on his home can be charged. The selling expenses can be used to reduce the gain, if any, on the sale of the first residence. The purchase expenses can be added to the purchase price to increase the cost basis of the newly purchased home. While the same dollars cannot be used twice, the taxpayer can apportion the figures and use them to his greatest advantage. For example, because of the $3,000 limitation, it is possible that not all of the selling expenses on the sale of the home could be claimed as a moving expense. You may include such expenses up to the maximum allowed as a moving expense and use any remainder to reduce the gain on the home sale.

TAX TRAP: The goal of this adjustment is to free you from paying tax on money you had to spend on a move that is business related. If your employer reimbursed for the move, you must offset the reimbursed sum.

Lady Tigers beaten...

Maids outlast Snyder

SAN ANGELO -- Snyder's girls stayed in contention most of the way here Tuesday, but finally fell to the superior height and experience of the San Angelo Lake View Maidens, 57-39.

Lake View jumped out to a 14-5 advantage but led only 22-14 at halftime. Snyder had had a chance to cut that to five points, but missed a pair of freethrows. Lake View then hit a 20-foot jumper as the buzzer sounded, giving the Maids an eight-point halftime advantage.

A determined Snyder team continued to make runs at the hosts, cutting the lead to six points in the third period. A mediocre night at the freethrow line and several turnovers hurt the Tigers. Lake View put the game away early in the fourth by crashing the boards with the likes of 6-1 Lori Hoelscher.

Hoelscher led all scorers with 19 points - 14 coming in the second half. Teammate Krista Olin scored 13 and Sheila Gordon added 8.

Snyder was led by Karlene Thompson's 17 points. Carie Housden had 15 and Carmen Rios added 6.

Snyder was 15 of 28 from the stripe and only 12 of 43 (28 per cent) from the field.

Thompson had 12 rebounds and four steals for the Tigers. Housden had eight boards and also got four steals.

The loss puts Snyder at 3-8 in District 2-4A play, 10-12 for the season. The Lady Tigers will return home for a 6:15 p.m. game Friday as they host Monahans.

Lake View continues to lead the 2-4A standings with a 10-1 record. The Maidens are 21-4 on the season.

Netters defeat Steers; set for district action

Snyder tennis team opened the 1984 season with a 10-8 win over Big Spring here Tuesday, gaining momentum for Saturday's District 2-4A match with Monahans.

The Tigers are scheduled to host Monahans at 11 a.m. on the local courts.

Coach Charlie Chrane declined to name his top seeds prior to Saturday's match, saying, "There is a lot of good competition among our players for positions and I expect they'll fluctuate from week to week."

In Tuesday's matches Snyder played without its No. 3 and 4 boys singles players, Michael Risenhoover and Toby Hinshaw, and Big Spring was without its No. 3 doubles team as a flu-like illness continued to plague both schools.

Chris Wiman and James Melott, No. 1 and 2 boys singles for Snyder, won their matches easily. Brad Hart also took a victory in singles play. Wiman and Melott and Bob Spikes and Geoffery Chamblee also won in boys doubles play for Snyder.

Shana Hart, Terri Holley, Michelle Killian and Dee Butler were winners in girls singles. Holley and Killian also teamed for a doubles victory.

Frosh fall to Maid JV

SAN ANGELO -- Snyder freshmen girls played tough, but couldn't keep up with the junior varsity of San Angelo Lake View here Tuesday and took a 32-21 loss.

Snyder was down 14-4 after the first quarter and got back in the game by halftime, 15-13. Lake View then outscored the visitors 13-2 in the third quarter to make the difference.

Monica Hinojos, Leslie Ward and Donna Clay led Snyder with 5 points apiece. Sharnette Thompson had 4 and Shondra Robinson put in 2.

Pecos shocks 'Stangs, 57-56

PECOS -- Pecos' Eagles shocked the Mustangs of Andrews here Tuesday, opening the door for a mayhem of possibilities as far as the boys District 2-4A standings are concerned.

Andrews, perhaps looking ahead to Friday's key contest with Lamesa, dropped a 57-56 overtime decision to the Eagles.

That, coupled with Lamesa's 95-64 blitz of Sweetwater Tuesday, renews playoff hopes for several teams, including Pecos and Snyder.

Flu-stricken Snyder outlasted a determined Lake View team 58-55 in other boys play Tuesday, while Fort Stockton knocked off Monahans, 46-39.

The results leave Lamesa at 9-0 and with a two-game cushion in the 2-4A standings. Andrews is now 7-2 and Sweetwater 6-3, while Pecos and Snyder are both 5-4. That brightens the picture for teams like Snyder, for instance, who host both Andrews and Sweetwater and travel to Pecos in upcoming games.

Meanwhile, the girls standings kept in step with previous weeks. Lake View held the top spot by defeating Snyder 57-39 while Andrews beat Pecos 63-34 and Sweetwater nailed Lamesa 68-34 to remain in a tie for second place. Also, Monahans defeated Fort Stockton 66-42.

In addition to the Lamesa-at-Andrews game Friday, Monahans is at Snyder, Pecos is at Lake View and Fort Stockton is at Sweetwater.

Tigers nip Chiefs, 58-55

SAN ANGELO -- Marcus McGlouthin came off the boards with a rebound and stuck it back up in the waning seconds and Chad Peterson followed that with a stellar defensive move as Snyder eased past upset-minded San Angelo Lake View here Tuesday, 58-55.

Snyder had trailed by a point, 55-54, when McGlouthin put up the go-ahead bucket. Lake View came down the floor and went for the do-or-die last shot, but Peterson drew a charging foul with six seconds left and the Tigers got the ball back. The Chiefs then fouled John Murphy and the 6-1 senior sank both freethrows to give Snyder the three-point winning margin.

Snyder had led by more than 10 points earlier in the game, but Lake View rallied for 18 fourth-quarter points and put on a press that took the Tigers out of their game plan. The Lake View effort was keyed by Mark Cox, who chunked in 26 points from the 12 to 15-foot range.

The final score was something of a shocker, since Snyder had defeated the Chiefs 74-42 earlier in the season.

Coach Larry Scott said there was no one answer to why Tuesday's game turned out differently.

"I think it was a combination of things. I don't think we were mentally ready to play, partly as a let down from Friday night (the loss to Andrews), and partly because we beat them 32 points the first time we played them," he said. "I think probably also not having Sunny (Cobb) in there affected us some. You don't take away one of your leading scorers, rebounders, a guy that is one of your leaders in steals and assists, and not feel it.

"Also, I think Lake View did play a whole lot better. They shot 55 per cent from the field Tuesday and I think they shot about 30 per cent when we played them the first time," the coach said.

Cobb was unable to play because of the flu, a problem concerning all of the athletic teams in Snyder during the past couple of weeks.

"We had several others that weren't as bad off as Sunny that did play, but I'm sure it bothered us some," said Scott.

Paul Tate, one of those who was hampered with the flu-like illness, took up some of the slack for the missing Cobb. Tate continually hit the jump shot from around the key, sacking up 22 points for the Tigers. McGlouthin came off the bench for 14, while Fred Fleming and Murphy had 6 apiece, Willie Greathouse 4 and Mike McWilliams, Jerry Comstock and Peterson 2 each.

Snyder was 26 of 45 (57 per cent) from the field and six of nine (67 per cent) from the line.

Cox's 26 led all scorers. Robert Franco added 12.

The win improves Snyder's records to 9-15 for the season and 5-4 in District 2-4A play. Lake View falls to 1-20 and 1-9.

Snyder plays at home Friday, hosting Monahans at 7:45 in Scurry County Coliseum.

JV wins again

SAN ANGELO -- Wade Forga slapped in 14 points, Jimmy Velasquez scored 12 and Chris Garrett added 10 as Snyder's junior varsity boys routed Lake View here Tuesday, 64-34.

It was the Cats' 15th consecutive win, 9-0 in district play, and leaves them 19-5 for the season.

Snyder outpointed the Chiefs 14-8 in the first period and came back to cuff the hosts 18-6 in the second, enroute to a 32-14 halftime lead.

Also scoring for the Cats were Jackie Anderson with 8, Greg Stansell with 7, Tim Courtney with 5, Sammy Barrera with 4, and Mark Daniel and Todd Pollard with 2 apiece.

The Cats play again Friday, hosting Monahans at 4:30 in the Snyder High School Gym.

WTC entertains Chaps Thursday

Western Texas College's Westerners entertain Midland's Chaparrals in Western Junior College Athletic Conference play here Thursday.

Tipoff is scheduled for 8 p.m. in Scurry County Coliseum.

Midland is 6-3 in conference play, 16-6 for the season. The Chaparrals are coming off of a 72-69 victory over Odessa.

Coach Barry Davis' Westerners are 5-4 and 13-7. They defeated Frank Phillips College earlier this week, 81-58.

Western hopes to repay the Chaps for an 82-62 loss they suffered in the first conference game of the season. That got the Westerners off to a 1-3 start in WJCAC play. Since that time, Western has won six of its past seven games.

WTC's Dusters will be idle Thursday. Both the Dusters and Westerners play in Levelland next Monday at 6 and 8 p.m.

In other men's games Thursday, Howard college travels to meet NMJC, South Plains is at Frank Phillips (Borger), Odessa goes to Clarendon and NMMI is at Amarillo.

Women's games pit Odessa at Clarendon, South Plains at Frank Phillips and Howard at Hobbs against NMJC.

Chancellor Kohl will not oust defense minister

BONN, West Germany (AP) — Chancellor Helmut Kohl will clear a top NATO general fired for allegedly frequenting homosexual bars but won't oust Defense Minister Manfred Woerner, the man who fired him, government sources said today.

Gen. Guenter Kiessling, dismissed by Woerner on Dec. 31, will be "rehabilitated" under the terms of an agreement worked out between Woerner and Kiessling, the sources told The Associated Press.

The sources, speaking on condition of anonymity, also said Kohl would give Kiessling a "declaration of honor."

It was not clear if that meant Kiessling would return to active duty or would be honored with military ceremonies that traditionally accompany the retirement of a high-ranking officer.

Woerner fired Kiessling after seeing a military counterintelligence report labeling the four-star general a security risk because he allegedly was a regular patron at two gay bars in Cologne. The dismissal was made known Jan. 4.

Kiessling, 58, has denied the allegations, sued "unknown persons" for slander, gone to court to fight his forced early retirement and appealed to Woerner publicly to "restore my honor."

The sources said Kiessling had agreed to the arrangement in talks with Wolfgang Altenburg, general inspector of the army. They said Woerner and Kiessling had exchanged letters cementing the deal.

The chancellor told his 16-member Cabinet this morning he would resist opposition pressure to fire Woerner after making certain the defense minister could come to terms with Kiessling, the sources said.

However, Erwin Horn, an opposition Social Democrat on the parliamentary committee investigating the case, said his party would "in no way" be satisfied with an arrangement between Woerner and Kiessling.

The scandal exploded in Kohl's absence last week when the Defense Ministry confirmed Woerner had met with homosexuals in mid-January in what appeared to be a belated attempt to gather evidence against the already-fired Kiessling.

Kohl returned from a five-day trip to Israel Sunday to find the opposition calling for Woerner's resignation and his own conservative party divided over the issue.

Critics said the evidence against Kiessling was too thin to warrant his dismissal and that Woerner, a Christian Democrat, had badly mismanaged the affair.

Kiessling was released from a Munich army hospital Tuesday where he had been since last week for treatment of an undisclosed illness, but his whereabouts were unknown.

Kiessling was the No. 2 general at North Atlantic Treaty Organization headquarters in Belgium, sharing the position with Air Marshall Sir Peter Terry of Britain. U.S. Gen. Bernard Rogers is NATO commander.

Ex-director quietly leaves job

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — W.J. "Jim" Estelle quietly left the tumultuous Texas prison system that he headed for 11 years and changed from a small rural operation to one of the nation's largest.

Estelle, 52, resigned in October from the $56,000-a-year post as director of the Texas Department of Corrections but agreed to work temporarily as a consultant at the same salary. Prison spokesman Rick Hartley confirmed that Tuesday was Estelle's last day with the TDC.

Daniel V. McKaskle, former head of prison security, was named acting director until the TDC board selects a permanent replacement later this year.

Estelle said farewell in an open letter to prison employee.

"Together we've seen some of the good and some of the less than good times; but overall you have caused progress and improved effectiveness to continue in every area.

"You are Texans (by birth or choice) working for other good Texans who expect and deserve your best efforts. Your allegiance and loyalty to the department and yourselves will continue to make you work the standard of excellence. Don't ever be found lacking in your persevering courage and integrity which has alway defined duty," the letter said.

Estelle, son of a California prison guard, has not revealed his plans. Friends told the Houston Chronicle he is considering a consulting partnership or a possible teaching post at Sam Houston State University in Huntsville.

Estelle's departure was much quieter than the past three months have been for the prison system.

TDC officials disclosed earlier this month that they were investigating payment of more than $8 million to independent consultants in 1983. The Texas attorney general's office also is probing several discrepancies in TDC accounting practices.

Dear Abby

Face-Lift Lifts Spirits But Raises Some Doubts

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1984 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: My husband died when my son was 3, so I went to work as an aide in a hospital to support myself and my son. It wasn't easy, but it was worth the effort because he has just graduated from college.

My problem: About five months before my son was to graduate, I looked in the mirror and thought, "You look like an old lady. If you go to your son's graduation looking 20 years older than the other mothers, your son will be ashamed of you." So through the generosity of a plastic surgeon I met at the hospital, I nad a face-lift. It cost me only $1,500, and it was worth it to make my son proud of me.

He was very pleased when he saw me, but the women I work with were cold and unfriendly. (One said, "Even $1,500 is a lot of money to a woman in your circumstances.") Abby, many of these women spend $20 and $30 at the beauty shop every week.

Please tell me I didn't do anything so terrible. Or do you feel the way they do?

UNHAPPY

DEAR UNHAPPY: You deserve to be happy. But unless you do things to please yourself, you never will be.

You had a face-lift for the wrong reason—to please your son. (He may have been just as proud of you the way you were.) And now you're "unhappy" because the women at work "think" you did something wrong.

You, my friend, are the most important person in the world. Be good to yourself, and don't worry about what others may think.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: A group of us girls were gathered at our weekly card club when a question was asked by one of the members:

"Is it possible for a husband to come home, undress and get into bed with his body reeking of someone else's perfume, then deny that he was with another woman?"

The majority said it is not possible, so we decided to ask you.

THE THURSDAY GROUP

DEAR GROUP: It's possible for a husband to deny it, but in view of such overwhelming circumstantial evidence, it would be impossible to believe him.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: When you advised the young girl who wanted to get married to go to college first because one day she might have to support herself and maybe a child, too, it really struck home with us.

My husband and I tried to convince our daughter of that very thing, but she refused to believe that one day she might have to support herself and a child. Well, after five years of marriage and a darling little son, that's exactly what happened. Her husband suddenly decided that the responsibilities of marriage were not for him.

The responsibility, of course, became our daughter's, so she and her son are now living with us, and she's gone back to college to become a registered nurse.

It's difficult for all of us, but we are glad we can give her the assistance she needs to become self-supporting. How much easier it would have been if she had finished her training and then married and had a family.

Abby, if all the young girls out there who should have taken that advice, but didn't, were laid end to end, they would reach from UCLA to the University of Maine.
