CHARGE ANSELL AIDED BERGDOLL

LONDON OPTIMISTIC IN THE DISCUSSIONS OF IRISH SITUATION

ADMITTED, HOWEVER, REPORTS FURNISH SCANT BASIS FOR SUCH VIEW.

NOT CONVINCED REPLY OF DE VALERA IS SINCERE

Believe Irish Leaders Are Still Playing For Time and Increased Prestige.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—Optimism with regard to the Irish situation was still being expressed today in British official circles, although it was admitted that reports from Dublin furnished a scant basis for such a view.

Eamonn de Valera, it was said, has not yet convinced the British of the sincerity of his uncompromising statements of the last few days, officials being reluctant to believe that an offer which to them appears so genesous would be rejected outright.

The opinion obtains in official quarters that the Irish leaders are still playing for time and increased prestige.

As to the truce being broken and the warfare of a month ago resumed, officials stated that in their view there was not a chance of such a thing occurring.

IRISH PARLIAMENT BEGINS DEBATE ON PEACE TERMS

DUBLIN, Aug. 18.—The peace negotiations between the British government and Irish republican leaders were not mentioned during this morning's secret session of the dail eireann, or Irish republican parliament, it was announced officially this afternoon.

It was the general belief that the lantic ports. Announcements were made dail eireann would not break off the negotiations with Great Britain and it was thought some action might be taken to approach Ulster in an effort to secure her co-operation in carrying on the conversations in London. Mr. de Valera stated yesterday that he was ready to get in touch with the government of northern Ireland and that the Irish republicans would "make sacrifices to Ulster that they would never think of making to England."

The nature of the "sacrifices" to Ulster that Mr. de Valera had in mind were not discussed yesterday, but it was believed today that he would reveal to the members of the parliament the steps he would advocate in bringing Ulster in accord with the sinn fein. Should such an entente be reached, it was indicated yesterday, new proposals to Great Britain might be made and there were observers who expressed belief that the offer would take the form of a proposition to enter the commonwealth of British dominions as an independent state, an agreement covering the prime minister's stipulations relative to naval control of the seas about Ireland and air bases on the island, might be complimentary to such an offer, in the opinion of men who had followed closely the work of the parliament.

The possibility of calling a plebiscite by which the people of southern Ireland might give their leaders a mandate governing their future activities in the negotiations, remained today as one of the solutions of the situation. In the addresses delivered before the public session of the parliament it appeared that stress was laid on the principle that the chieftains of the Irish republican movement could not entertain Great Britain's offer, and there were many who believed Mr. de Valera and his colleagues possibly intended to ask for new instructions.

MEMBERS BRITISH CABINET WATCHING DEVELOPMENTS

LONDON, Aug. 18.—Members of the British cabinet and leaders in both houses of parliament are keeping in close touch with developments in Dublin, where the Irish parliament is in session. Mr. Lloyd George was in conference with his ministers for nearly two hours yesterday, and it was understood that the Irish situation was the principal subject under consideration.

The present session of the British parliament is to end tomorrow and it seems probable that in that brief interval no decisive step can be taken regarding Ireland. In any case, however, it is believed the king's speech in proroguing parliament will largely be concerned with Irish affairs.

Members of the dail eireann were astir this morning and they wore a more serious look than ever when they gathered at the Mansion House for the day's meeting. Apparently they realized the great responsibility they were carrying.

ARREST MIAMI, FLA., MAN IN CONNECTION WITH THE RECENT SEIZURE OF SHIP

MIAMI, FLA., Aug. 18.—J. G. Crosland, president of the Miami Fisheries companies and a wealthy resident of this city, was arrested today on the charge of conspiracy to defraud the government and violation of the national prohibition act, in connection with the seizure on August 2 of the schooner Henry L. Marshall off Atlantic City.

ICE AND LIGHT PLANT AT KINGSTON, OKLAHOMA, BURNS

DENISON, TEXAS, Aug. 18.—The Kingston ice and light plant was completely destroyed and the city waterworks station partially damaged by fire early this morning, according to word from Kingston, Okla., twenty miles north of here. A defective exhaust in the light plant is said to have started the fire. The loss is estimated at $25,000.

ANTI-BEER BILL IS SENT TO CONFERENCE, TWO HOURS DEBATE

ACTION IS TAKEN WITHOUT A RECORD VOTE ON THE QUESTION.

SENATOR REED INJECTS LIFE IN PROCEEDINGS

Declares Action of Anti-Saloon Leader "Unwarranted and Impertinent."

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—The presence of Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon league, at a meeting of the conferees on the anti-beer bill, was characterized in the senate today by Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, as "unwarranted and unmitigated insolence."

After more than two hours of debate, Senator Sterling's motion to send the beer bill to conference and to insist on retention of the senate amendments was adopted without a record vote.

Senator Reed read a newspaper item saying Wheeler had been closeted with the conferees and asked Senator Sterling in charge of the measure if it were true. The latter declined to answer, saying the question was "impertinent."

"I will state, however," Senator Sterling added, "that Wayne B. Wheeler was not closeted with the conferees. He came in for a few moments after we had concluded our work yesterday. Wheeler had nothing to do with any vote or action taken by us."

Senator Reed insisted it was pertinent to ask if men urging or opposing certain legislation were admitted to a secret conference which was not open to members of the senate or the house.

ASHURST REFUSES TO REMAIN IN CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Senator Ashurst, democrat, Arizona, announced today that he had refused to participate in further conferences on the anti-beer bill "because of an evident intention on the part of the conferees to weaken and destroy the effect of the Stanley amendment, adopted unanimously by the senate."

As a member of the judiciary committee, Senator Ashurst was named one of the senate managers, but it developed that he withdrew from the meeting Tuesday night. He declared that he "would not return to take part in the conferences if the conferees proposed to agree to any amendment which will directly or indirectly permit the manufacture of vinous, malt or spiritous liquors in the home or elsewhere for beverage purposes."

The Stanley amendment adopted by the senate provided that prohibition agents have search warrants before attempting to enter residences, automobiles or baggage for contraband liquor. The house adopted a substitute which provided that no search of a home shall be made without a search warrant, based on an affidavit setting forth that there was reasonable cause to suspect that liquor was being manufactured on the premises for sale or sold.

It was this latter provision that led advocates of prohibition to assert that its effect would legalize home brew.

In the absence of an official statement from the conferees, it was said they had prepared a substitute for both amendments requiring a search warrant for search of a residence and penalizing other searches made without a warrant, where "good cause" was not shown.

DALLAS MERCHANT ON TRIAL FOR MURDER OF WOMAN ON APRIL 12TH

RUSSELLVILLE, ALA., Aug. 18.—Fred R. Hall, merchant, was placed on trial here today on a charge of murder in connection with the death of Miss Martha Henderson of Dallas, Texas, on April 12.

Miss Henderson was shot to death by Hall in front of his store, testimony at the coroner's inquest disclosed. This inquiry revealed testimony to the effect that an acquaintanceship had existed between the two for four years. Hall was arrested in Atlanta in October last year on a charge of violating the Mann act. Miss Henderson was the prosecuting witness.

Gulf Company to Make This City North Texas Headquarters; Others Are Expected to Follow Its Example

Wichita Falls will soon become north Texas headquarters for the Gulf Production company, which will move a large number of offices and employes to this city from Fort Worth, according to announcement late Wednesday by W. B. Pyron, third vice-president of the company, in charge of the north Texas district.

It has been rumored locally for several weeks that the move would be made, but no announcement was made pending completion of arrangements for office and residential space for the newcomers. Such arrangements had progressed sufficiently Wednesday to make the announcement possible, and Mr. Pyron notified J. A. Gardner, superintendent for the Wichita Falls district, to make the change public.

The change will result directly in bringing several hundred people here from Fort Worth. It will result indirectly in the moving of supply houses, attorneys and others more or less closely associated with the company. And there is every reason to believe that it will result in other companies following the Gulf's example, adding still further to this city's prestige as the headquarters for oil activities in north Texas.

The Gulf will occupy practically all of three floors in the Bob Waggoner building, including 15 on the fifth floor, 19 on the sixth floor and 17 on the seventh floor.

Departments to be moved from Fort Worth are the purchasing, warehouse, legal, land commissioner's and executive offices. The production, pipe line, engineering and geological departments of the company have been in Wichita Falls for many years.

The Gulf's move has been under contemplation for some months, ever since it became certain that the Wichita Falls & Southern would be extended to give Wichita Falls direct connection with the central west Texas fields. However, the company is understood to have practically abandoned the idea at that time, and to have reconsidered it later when the advantages of such a move became evident after the Southern started build

When the company first began planning to make the change, the first consideration was that of obtaining suitable office space for the departments and of securing homes for employes and their families. In spite of akak business conditions here, neither offices nor homes were plentiful, and the task of providing additional accommodations was not easy. The office problem was solved through the public spirited co-operation of tenants on the floors desired by the company. Real estate men put their shoulders to the wheel on the housing proposition and made sufficient progress to enable a guarantee to the Gulf company that the houses would be provided.

G. C. Wood, R. O. Harvey, T. B. Noble and J. W. Chatham Jr. were the Wichitans on whom fell the principal burden of providing accommodations.

It is confidently expected that several supply houses now operating with Fort Worth as headquarters will follow the Gulf's example. Before the Southern was completed these companies found Fort Worth a convenient point from which to serve both the Wichita and Ranger fields; now, with a direct line from Wichita Falls to the central west Texas fields, such companies can maintain headquarters here, in direct touch with one field and in ready communication with the other.

There have been rumors, encouragingly persistent, that the Gulf is not the only large company that will move its headquarters to Wichita Falls.

HOUSE IS ADJOURNED AND SENATE AT EASE FOR THE SECOND DAY

LITTLE ACTIVITY IN LEGISLATURE BEGINNING NEW SESSION.

NO MESSAGE HAS BEEN SUBMITTED BY GOVERNOR

Only Appropriation Bill For Educational Institutions is Before Members.

AUSTIN, Aug. 18.—The house appropriations committee this morning rejected the educational bill passed by the senate yesterday and substituted the bill as passed out of the house. This latter was sent to the printer to prepare for consideration on reconvening.

AUSTIN, Aug. 18.—With the house of representatives adjourned over until tomorrow and the senate standing at ease waiting for some legislation to take up, there is very little activity in the Texas legislature, meeting in second called session. The governor has sent them no message, other than his proclamation calling the body and no legislation other than the appropriation bill for the educational institution is before them.

Governor Neff informed the senate this morning through Senator Sulter, who had conferred with him, that he would send no communications to the legislature until Monday morning.

LITTLE BUSINESS TRANSACTED FIRST DAY OF SECOND SESSION

AUSTIN, TEXAS, Aug. 18.—On the first day of the second called session of the thirty-seventh legislature very little work was done. At 10 o'clock Wednesday Speaker Thomas called the house to order and Lieutenant Governor Lynch Davidson called the senate to order.

The house roll call showed that there were only 85 members and no quorum present. The work of organization could not proceed until a quorum assembled and after an hour of deliberation a call of the house was ordered and the absentees in the city ordered brought in. Reconvening for the afternoon session found a bare quorum, 95 members present.

The initial roll call of the senate showed 21 senators present, an exact quorum. The senate proceeded to get busy, and on motion of Senator Dudley and under suspension of the constitutional rule the senate educational bill originally submitted by the finance committee was engrossed and passed finally. This was done to expedite the bill and send it to the house.

The per diem appropriation bill and the contingent expense appropriation was also passed finally.

In the house the day was devoted to deliberating on the method of procedure on the educational bill. An insufficient number of members was present to suspend any constitutional rules and the deliberation finally ended by the house adjourning until 2 o'clock Friday afternoon with promise of the speaker to wire the absent members instructing them to be present at that time.

To Prepare Bill.

In the meanwhile the house appropriations committee is to prepare the bill to be presented to the house and have it printed in order that the house may then proceed.

The resolution by Miller of Dallas introduced at the last called session proposed an investigation of large oil corporations in Texas as to violation of the anti-trust laws was again adopted in the house. The senate referred it to the commitee on commerce and manufactures.

Senator Woods of Navarro county was elected president pro tem of the senate for the second called session. Senator Parr of Duval was elected president ad interim late yesterday and served in that capacity only twelve hours, the governor's call cutting short his term.

GENERAL DEBATE ON TAX REVISION BILL IS NOW UNDER WAY

DEMOCRATIC OPPOSITION IS PLEDGED AS RESULT OF THE PARTY CAUCUS.

AMENDMENTS WILL BE TAKEN UP ON FRIDAY

Five Minute Limit Will Be Rule For Speeches and Vote is Expected Saturday.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Eliminating from the republican tax bill of the section proposing a license tax of $10 a year on vendors of soft drinks was agreed upon today by majority members of the ways and means committee, while general debate on the measure was continuing in the house.

Another amendment adopted would exempt from income tax all pensions or federal allowances.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. — With democratic opposition pledged as a result of the party caucus last night, general debate on the republican tax revision bill was continued in the house today.

Tomorrow amendments will be taken up under five minutes speech limitation with a final vote due late Saturday. Mr. Fordney in outlining the republican position on the bill said it was as equitable a measure "as was possible to draw under the circumstances."

BATTLE OVER TAX REVISION GETS UNDERWAY IN THE HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—The republican defense of and the democratic assault on the new tax bill got underway yesterday in the house. Discussion, however, was not confined to the bill itself, ranging all the way from the numbers of cooks president Wilson took to Paris to the question of social justice.

Chairman Fordney of the ways and means committee in charge of the measure, opened the four-hour debate after the house had adopted, on a strict party vote 223 to 115, a rule providing for a final vote at 3:00 p. m. Saturday. Most of his speech of an hour, as he said in closing, was a little about the bill and a whole lot about the democratic party."

Reviewing what he described as extravagances under the last administration, Mr. Fordney charged that President Wilson had taken over the railroads "for political purposes only" and had placed in charge of them "his son-in-law, McAdoo, whom he was grooming for the presidency."

Asked from the democratic side why he had voted for the bill authorizing federal control of the carriers, the speaker said:

"I voted to put the president in a hole and we did it."

Later Mr. Fordney said he had made his statement about taking over the railroads jokingly, but his declaration was greeted with jerrs from the democrats.

The committee chairman went into details about shipping board operations and war purchases as well as operations of the railroads and the telephone lines and declared that now the republican administration had "to go to the country and ask for money to pay for these extravagances." He then gave some figures about the number of people President Wilson carried with him to Paris and the money spent while there, adding:

Fiddler Wants His Pay

"The fiddler wants his pay now; we danced then."

Turning to the bill itself, the chairman discussed briefly the changes in tax levies proposed and declared the

PROSECUTION WAITS WITH INTEREST THE PROMISED EVIDENCE

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 18.—Possible arrest in connection with the Kennedy case of a man on a Los Angeles-Salt Lake route train which left here at 8 o'clock last night is forecast in a story which the Los Angeles Times is printing this morning.

The Times says the man is believed to have been one of two for whom automobile club officials are searching in connection with the theft of an automobile the night of the slaying of Kennedy and its recovery near the scene of the shooting two days later.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 18.—Investigators for the prosecution of Mrs. Madalynne Obenchain and Arthur C. Burch, jointly indicted in connection with the murder August 5 of J. Belton Kennedy, broker, were viewing with interest this morning the published statement of Ralph R. Obenchain, divorced husband of the young woman defendant and also her acting counsel, that he had uncovered evidence that would probably jail another man within five days and result in the freeing of both prisoners.

While they were interested in the statement they declined to comment, but indicated they were continuing with their work which, it is understood, revolves around the past relations of the two principals in the case and their connection with the dead man, and the past relations of Kennedy and Mrs. Obenchain.

The activity of the defense was further manifested late yesterday, it was learned, when an expected witness for Mrs. Obenchain arrived here late in the day from Honolulu, in answer to a cablegram from Mrs. Obenchain. The woman is Mrs. Frank Damond, Mrs. Obenchain's friend who, it is said, was with her up to a few days before the slaying of the broker. It is indicated by counsel that she may throw light on the prisoner's supposed love affair with Kennedy.

MAJORITY OF THE COMMITTEE TERM HIM THE "MASTER MIND;" TWO OTHERS HELD RESPONSIBLE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Samuel Tilden Ansell, former acting judge advocate general of the army and of the prisoner's legal counsel; Colonel John M. Hunt and Colonel C. C. Cresson were charged with conspiracy in connection with the escape of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, the draft evader, in a report signed by three of the five mmbers of a special investigating committee filed today with the house.

Characterizing Ansell as the "master mind" in the plan by which Bergdoll was released from a military prison under guard to dig up a pot of gold, the majority report recommended that he be debarred from practicing in the courts of the nation, "above whose safety and integrity he has placed gold."

A minority report filed at the same time, however, that there was no testimony to support the charge that Ansell through whose efforts, as counsel, the prisoner was released, "conspired to effect his escape," or that his motives were improper.

One republican — Representative Luhring of Indiana—and two democrats—Johnson of Kentucky and Flood of Virginia—signed the majority report. The minority views were presented by Chairman Peters and Representative McArthur, Oregon, republicans. The majority findings were the first of the many investigating reports submitted to the house since the close of the war, where a republican member joined with democrats and enabled them to file majority views.

Hunt Directly Responsible.

The majority held that Colonel Hunt, commandant of the barracks at Governor's Island, from which Bergdoll set out on his errand, was directly responsible for the slacker's escape through failure to handcuff him or to provide an adequate guard. The minority, after declaring that no army officer "knowingly participated in the conspiracy," found "grave dereliction of duty on the part of Hunt."

As a base for its criticism of Colonel Cresson, the majority report said that "as ugly as are the many phases of the whole matter, none is more defenseless than the conduct of Colonel Cresson in his pretense of prosecution of Colonel Hunt," tried by court-martial in connection with the Bergdoll scandal. No reference to Cresson was made by the minority.

Major Bruce R. Campbell, accused by Bergdoll's mother of having accepted $5,000 to help obtain freedom for the prisoner, was exonerated by the majority. The minority reported that there was no evidence that Campbell was in any way connected with the escape, but assumed the proper military authorities would "institute such investigation as may be necessary to the end that Campbell may be exonerated if not found guilty."

Ask Dismissal of Wood.

Dismissal from the department of justice of Earl B. Wood, in charge of correspondence in the Bergdoll case, for failure to transmit to the war department warning from a special agent that the prisoner was planning to escape, was recommended by the majority.

Major General Peter C. Harris, adjutant general of the army, who authorized Hunt to send Bergdoll under guard to the Maryland mountains to search for the gold, was charged by the minority with "primary responsibility for the situation which made possible the escape."

Asserting that General Harris did not attempt to evade responsibility, the minority held that there was "no question of improper motive on his part," adding it was "apparent his mind was readily overcome by the strong statement of Ansell," that he would stand responsible for safe return of the prisoner. The minority criticized General Harris for suggesting to Hunt, instead of ordering, that a commissioned officer accompany the expedition.

The majority reported that the escape was "the direct result of the proposition submitted by Ansell to General Harris," and that "even if Ansell did not conceive the plan, he presented it and pursued it to its accomplishment."

Taking up alleged connection with the Bergdoll case of former Judge John W. Westcott, one time attorney general of New Jersey, the majority held it unimportant whether he actually had legally represented Bergdoll. The report declared "it was clear" that Ansell undertook to use Judge Westcott's name for the purpose of bringing to bear political influence "upon any one in the administration who

FEAR DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE WILL BE A LEAGUE SIDESHOW

LEADERS OF ENGLAND ARE NOT SHOWING ENTHUSIASM OVER PROPOSAL.

WILL DISAPPROVE PLANS CONFLICTING WITH LEAGUE

May After All Prove Embarrassing to The Senate and Administration.

By CHARLES HAYDEN
Washington Correspondent Wichita Daily Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 — Despite fulsome advance notices of wonders which are expected to follow the forthcoming disarmament conference here in November, there is a gnawing fear on the part of administration leaders that instead of proving to be the main attraction this conference will turn out to be a sort of side show to the league of nations under "the big top."

The first intimation that the world at large does not view this conference with awe was contained in dispatches from London and Paris several days ago. These quietly stated that it was probable Premier Briand of France and Premier Lloyd George of England would not be able to come to Washington. The explanation was given that the Silesian situation would hardly be cleared up sufficiently to permit the premier of France to cross the Atlantic and that the Irish problem could hardly be worked out to a successful conclusion by November so that Lloyd George would be compelled to remain close at home.

With England and France represented by "bush league" statesmen, it doesn't matter much whether Italy and Japan send their "Babe Ruths" and "Ty Cobbs" of diplomacy or not. No definite and final agreement can be reached until it has received the "O.K." of Briand and George, and it appears that these canny gentlemen will so arrange things that they, and not the United States senate, will have the whip hand this time. Students of recent political history will recall that even the wily Lloyd George was caught in that trap before, but he is thrice armed now.

The, however, is only one fly in the ointment. Some little bird, perhaps the English sparrow, again has informed the dominating diplomatic gentry of the administration that England, France, Italy and Japan, the nations invited to join the United States in conference, are all members of that terrible instrument of oppression, to-wit, the league of nations. Thus in dealing with the United States, which has refused to join the league, these other nations will be bound by the sections of the covenant dealing with just such situations as this. These sections require that agreements which member nations plan to enter into with non-member nations must receive the approval of the council. The unpleasant prospect presented by this is that while the United States senate might have a veto on anything to which the United States plenipotentiaries might agree, the supreme council of the league of nations would have authority to exercise a like power and since both England and France hold memberships in this supreme council it would hardly approve anything not acceptable to these nations.

While this has caused some uneasiness among administration leaders with an international viewpoint, they are trying to reconcile the prospect of possible outcome with the reaction on the people of this country. There has been so much printed and said by the "irreconcilables" in and out of the senate, to prove that the league is a dead thing, unworthy of further consideration and attention, that it is going to take a lot of tall explaining to make the people of the United States understand it, and then, should the league decide adversely on the proposition or agree to adopt it with "reservations" that it may prove quite embarrassing for the senate, which stands to learn that two can play this game as well as one.

LAW ENFORCEMENT WORKER ARRESTED ON A CHARGE OF KILLING DAUGHTER'S BABY

ADRIAN, MICH., Aug. 18.—Mrs. Mattie Kirby of Hudson, for many years a prominent temperance and law enforcement worker, was arrested on a charge of murder and lodged in jail here today in connection with the alleged disappearance of a child born July 4 to her 20-year-old unmarried daughter Alice.

Officers who investigated the case announced Mrs. Kirby had told them the child died but refused to inform them as to disposition of the body or to relate the circumstances of its death. No burial record is on file in the county. The mother of the child also is held.

Mrs. Kirby, mother of four daughters, is president of the Lenawee Women's Christian Temperance union and a field agent for the state organization.

TWO OF PROMINENT CITIZENS OF BRENHAM HAVE BEEN KIDNAPED

BRENHAM, TEXAS, Aug. 18.—Two prominent Brenham citizens have been kidnaped within the past 24 hours and armed posses are scouring the surrounding country in the hope of finding trace of the latest victim or his abductors.

A. W. Hodde, 30, a lawyer, and graduate of the Texas University, was seized in his office at 11:30 this morning by masked men and no trace of him has been found.

Joe B. Guybon, 60, was seized by three unmasked men at about 6 o'clock Wednesday evening and taken three miles from the city, where he was administered a coat of tar and a severe beating. Guybon is in a serious condition and grave fears are felt for his recovery.

Hodde has a wife and baby. About a month ago he was warned to leave Brenham, but he paid no heed to the warning.

Guybon formerly was a deputy sheriff and constable and served as a peace officer in this county for a number of years. He received a warning to leave town about the middle of June. He left Brenham but returned ten days later. Guybon said his abductors were strangers to him.

"ISLANDS" FIGURE IN FREDERICK HEARING ON RIVER BOUNDARY

Staff Special to The Times.

FREDERICK, OKLA., Aug. 18.—Taking of testimony continued here Thursday in the Red river boundary hearings, the list of witnesses, being the largest called at any county seat in Oklahoma.

The best witness for the government so far was J. G. Bills, who has been farming on Red river, opposite the Waggoner pool, since 1888, and who evinced a thorough familiarity with the river and its habits. Mr. Bills testified that in 1888, underneath the bluff on Mrs. Lillis Morgan's land, there were several large lakes, which have since filled up with sand and disappeared. Mr. Bills' memory served him well in many particulars, from an Oklahoma standpoint, but on cross examination he could not remember ever seeing a large pecan tree, seven feet in circumference, which stood between the lakes and the river bed, nor could he remember other large trees nor the existence of a farm in the "flood plain" of river valley.

The questions propounded on cross examination gave the first indication of the line of testimony that Texas will offer in rebuttal when the hearings are held on the Texas side. Attorneys for Texas seemed confident that they would be able to rebut the Bills' testimony to a large extent.

Mr. Bills knew Mrs. Morgan in the eighties, her family having moved there several years before he came. He recalled Mrs. Morgan as "the outworkingest girl he ever saw," but did not recall that the family farmed some of the land north of the bluff.

Questions asked by Judge Cureton dealt with the existence of unusually large trees, a farm and a vast amount of vegetation north of the bluff. Mr. Bills' testimony, while looked upon as damaging to the Texas cause, was so by comparison with other testimony rather than by its own weight, for other witnesses were able to testify to little save that, as at other points on Red river, the current and channel are, and have always been, changeable and shifting and uncertain.

"Islands" Figure Prominently

The question of whether there are, or ever were, "islands" in Red river, has figured prominently in the testimony. The treaty of 1819 specifically gives the United States these "islands." The testimony dealing with this feature on cross examination usually ran something like this:

"Mr. Jones, you testified for the government that there are islands in Red river; those aren't really islands, are they?"

"Well, we always called 'em islands."

"But they're not surrounded by water, are they?"

"During high water they are."

"During low water, what are they surrounded by?"

"By sand."

"They're not islands then, are they?"

"Well, that's what we always call them."

"You've studied geography; you know what an island is, don't you?"

"Yes."

"Well, can you say that those sand bars are islands when they're not surrounded by water except during floods?"

"Islands is what we've always called 'em."

And Judge Cureton would usually let it go at that.

Judge Cureton's handling of the case has shown his great familiarity with the Red river situation, and it is felt that he has prevented the abduction of any testimony against Texas that cannot be rebutted when he gets the opportunity to present his side of the case. He goes at the Oklahoma witnesses, not aggressively, but tactfully and with a "homely Bosque county manner," as somebody termed it, that enables him to glean not a little testimony that will be useful to the Texas side.

Great Rise of 1891

W. A. Griggs of Davidson testified regarding the great rise of 1891, the only time that Red river actually reached the south bluff that Oklahoma contends is the real south bank. Mr. Griggs came uncomfortably near to not testifying about the flood, for he didn't lack a great deal of being a victim of it. He was driving across the river with his family, he said, when he happened to look up stream and saw an immense wall of water bearing down upon him. He turned around and started back toward the Texas side, and the advance waters of the "head" filled up the tracks that his wagon made as he drove.

The fact that only once within the memory of man, in 1891, did the waters of Red river actually touch the south bluff, has been established by the Texas side beyond contradiction, and this is considered a point of surpassing importance.

It is evidently the intention of the government to systematically "prove up" the condition of the river bed and the habits of the river, mile by mile, for the entire distance that Oklahoma touches that stream, and for that reason the same sort of testimony that was obtained at Hollis, Altus and Frederick may be expected at each of the county seat hearings to the Arkansas line.

Oklahoma officials who are with the hearing party are, politically speaking, making a little hay while the sun shines, during their visit to this part of Oklahoma. Attorney General S. Prince Freeling, who is understood to be grooming for the democratic gubernatorial nomination in 1922, has been taking advantage of the opportunity to throw a little grief into republican ranks, and the conduct of the recent republican legislature in Oklahoma has given him an opening that he is making the most of.

"I will walk barefoot out of the state before I will ever hold office under such conditions again," he told an audience at Hollis Monday night.

Judge Freeling is a man of engaging personality, the sort that is homefolks in almost any gathering, an orator of exceptional ability and the possessor of a public service record that ought to make him a formidable candidate, if he runs.

Bill Durant, former speaker of the Oklahoma house, former congressman and now state oil and gas expert, is also building up a few fences, taking a fall at every opportunity out of the democrats who defected from the ranks and gave a republican majority in Oklahoma last year.

John A. Fain, former United States district attorney, told Frederick folks Wednesday at a luncheon tendered the visitors, that Frederick and Tillman county will experience a tremendous boom next year when the case is decided and a goodly slice of the oil field is added to Tillman county.

Among the official reporters of the hearings is A. B. Reading, aged 62, who, 31 years ago, was an official reporter in the Greer county case hearings.

WILL RECOMMEND LOWER GRAIN RATES FOR ALL THE PORTS

Special to The Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—In response to a communication received from members of the Texas delegation, Secretary Herbert Hoover declared that his recommendations for a reduction in the export grain rates were not designed to apply only to the north designed to apply only to the north At several days ago that a reduction of seven cents in the export grain rate would be forthcoming and the impression prevailed that this would apply only via north Atlantic ports.

Protests began pouring into Texas congressmen and they took the matter up directly with Secretary Hoover, who was reputed to be back of the movement.

In a letter received this morning by Representative Box, as well as other members of the delegation, the secretary of commerce declares he would favor a reduction in the export grain rate applicable to all ports and gives assurance that, so far as his influence is concerned, it will be directed to that end.

Members of the Texas delegation also have filed statements with the secretary of the interstate commerce commission urging that if a reduced export rate on grain is promulgated that it be made applicable to gulf and south Atlantic as well as Pacific and north Atlantic ports.

DECREASE NOTED IN FOREIGN TRADE DUE TO WAR AFTERMATH

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—The decrease of over $3,000,000,000 in the value of the country's foreign trade during the past fiscal year was ascribed by the commerce department to the worldwide trade depression coming as an aftermath of the war. Lower prices rather than diminished quantities were to a great extent responsible for the decrease in exports, the department asserted in a statement reviewing the year's foreign commerce.

The total value of the foreign trade of the country dropped from $13,247,000,000 in the fiscal year 1920 to $10,171,000,000 in 1921, the statement showed. Imports dropped from $5,238,000,000 in 1920 to $2,654,000,000 in 1921, a loss of $1,584,000,00, while exports amounting to $8,19,000,000 in 1920 against $6,516,000,000 in 1921 decreased $1,593,000,000.

Aside from lower prices, other causes contributed to the small foreign trade totals, the department declared, asserting that the advantage enjoyed by this country during and after the war of being the only country able to supply the needs of the others has passed. The exchange situation also had an adverse effect on American exports, the department said.

CHARGE THAT ANSELL AIDED BERGDOLL

might be needed to make sure of the gold hunt release, which at last spelled Bergdoll's escape."

Commend Seizure of Property.

The majority report commended the seizure of the Bergdoll property by Alien Property Custodian Miller, and urged that he make every effort to produce $105,000 in gold obtained by Mrs. Emma C. Bergdoll from the treasury department, and alleged to have been buried on her farm near Philadelphia. This was put in at the insistence of Representative Luhring, who declared the withdrawal of the gold was the foundation stage of the whole conspiracy.

The minority held that while "unquestionably a conspiracy existed to effect the escape of Bergdoll," it did not find that any officer "received any bribe or was approached with a view to bribery," but that the conspiracy was participated in by Grover Bergdoll, the late D. Clarence Gibboney, a Philadelphia lawyer; James E. Romig, formerly a Philadelphia magistrate and friend of the Bergdoll family; Ike Stecher, the Bergdoll chauffeur, "and possibly Mrs. Bergdoll." On this point the majority declared that Gibboney and the Bergdoll group conspired to effect the slacker's release, "but in order to successfully accomplish it, it was absolutely necessary to have the active assistance of Ansell and Bailey (Edward S. Bailey, his law partner), and Colonel Hunt, for without the aid of these latters, Bergdoll could not have left Governor's Island.

"From the moment Bergdoll left Governor's Island and the conditions surrounding him," said the minority, "became apparent, he saw he could not depart when ready and without violence. That such a condition existed is, of course, a scandal. Less than ordinary precautions to prevent escape were used."

To Bergdoll's Advantage.

"It seems," said the majority, "that every happening—whether of act or omission—resulted in Bergdoll's benefit and not one to his detriment."

Colonel Hunt "within the next two months after he participated so criminally in the escape," said the majority, "was promoted and retired."

"An outraged nation," it added, "has the right to demand that Colonel Hunt's annuity be discontinued."

"Anybody who heard all of those associated, directly or indirectly, with the plan and manner of Bergdoll's escape," said the majority report, "not only must recognize Ansell as the master mind of them all, but also as their dominating and controlling spirit."

The minority declared that the escape was "seriously to Ansell's pecuniary disadvantage" in preventing him from obtaining a larger fee for appealing a courtmartial sentence, and added:

"But the letter and personal pressure upon his former associates, General Harris, were very important factors in gaining permission for the trip and the fact that Ansell did nothing to carry out his guaranty that Bergdoll should not get away, undoubtedly contributed to the escape."

FORT WORTH TAX RATE IS REDUCED THREE CENTS

FORT WORTH, Aug. 18.—The tax rate for the city of Fort Worth for 1921 was cut three cents on the $100 valuation today, the new rate being $2.14. The valuation of taxable property has increased $1,907,744 over last year, the commission announced.

GENERAL TAX DEBATE IS NOW UNDER WAY

committee had made an honest effort to reduce taxes and believed it had given the house "as equitable a measure as was possible under the circumstances."

Mr. Fordney was given a demonstration by his republican colleagues and some democrats who stood and applauded him for several minutes.

Representative Garner, of Texas, ranking minority member of the ways and means committee, opening the democratic fight on the bill, replied at some length to Mr. Fordney's statements about federal railroad operation. Asserting that democratic and republican congress had voted $2,600,000,000 to the railroads, he declared that the end was not yet.

"You are called upon," he said, addressing the republicans, "to vote $500,000,000 more which the president recommended the other day. Why do your leaders want to vote on this proposition before congress takes a recess? They dare not let you go home and meet your constituency on the proposition of giving the railroads $500,000,000 more."

Turning to the tax bill, Mr. Garner said he believed and hoped his party would say that the law put on the statute books should provide that those most able to pay should pay. He added that the republican proposal was for a lifting of the tax burden from the classes and placing it on the masses.

Five Sources of Revenue

Urging repeal of all of the minor war taxes, the Texas member said he would propose as a peace time policy the obtaining of all government revenue from five sources—inheritance taxes, individual income and corporation taxes, tobacco taxes, customs receipts and postoffice and miscellaneous receipts.

Mr. Garner charged Secretary Mellon in proposing tax revisions had only one object—"the relieving of the rich and taking off the poor." He also declared that in the light of the treasury recommendations it was only fair to assume that the administrative changes in the new bill "had been drawn always in favor of those who pay high taxes and against those who pay small taxes."

The provision in the new bill giving the secretary of the treasury authority to settle $1,500,000,000 claims involving back taxes was declared by the speaker to be a dangerous one. He urged that a quasi-judicial tribunal be set up to wind up the claims.

The member received an ovation from the democratic side of the house when he concluded after criticising the republican proposal to repeal the taxes on the salaries of the president and the judges of the federal courts.

FORTY-ONE ATTEND LOCAL RED CROSS HEALTH CENTER

Forty-one were in attendance at the Red Cross health center at the court house Wednesday morning when twenty-seven small patients received medical attention and advice.

Nine babies under two years were brought to the clinic, where they were weighed and their mothers given instructions as to diet and the proper care of them during the warm season.

Mrs. A. R. Cotton and Misses Clara and Emma Serlen furnished cars and served as drivers this week for those living too far from the clinic and asking assistance in bringing the little ones for attention.

A health center will be opened at Iowa Park on Saturday under the direction of Miss Dorpat, the local Red Cross nurse, and if sufficient interest is taken, a clinic will be held once a month. The local boy scouts have offered their services and will be on hand to assist in establishing quarters for the clinic.

LATEST STYLE

By LENORE

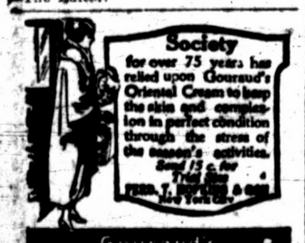

When one makes clothes at home it is possible to select models that have entirely new and individual features and at the same time offer no difficulties of fitting and construction. Such a model is shown in the sketch. It is a dress introduced for mid-season wear, and offers an opportunity for originality and style, combined with simplicity of design.

The material used is raven's blue crepe meteor—simply another way of saying old friend navy blue! The pleated inset on the bodice is of dull brick red Georgette, which is used also as an underhem for the slashed hem. The effect is obtained simply by hemstitching at the desired intervals—about four inches in th model I saw. Of course the effect may be carried out entirely in one color, with just a bright spot introduced in the knotted ribbon.

PATTERN No. 338.

A pattern for the above model (No. 338) can be obtained in sizes 34, 36 or 38 by sending to Lenore, 8 West Fortieth street, New York City, your name, address and 50 cents in postage stamps. Be sure to keep this newspaper clipping of the sketch and description of the garment to use as a working model when the pattern reaches you—which will be within two weeks' time. —The Editor.

JUBILEE'S PARDNER

by Judd Mortimer Lewis

When I woke up this morning Jubilee had one eye on the pillow and the other was looking up at me waiting for me to wake up and he kinda looked like he was wondering what I thought about his letting the mushrat get away. But I was not thinking about that. I was thinking about the Lost Bag of Tripe chawing the ladies' clothes. I do not think a fella ought to tie knots in ladies' clothes, and anyhow a lady's shirt has not got any sleeves in it to tie so I do not see how he done it.

When I had let Jubilee down by the rope in his teeth and had put on my short pants again after looking at the seat to see if there was any chance of there wearing out before I got as old as my grandfather, I happened to think about the mark I had made to measure how fast I am growing. So I got my chalk and backed up to the mark and made another one and when I looked at the new mark it was right by the side of the other mark, and I had not grown any and it has been about four days since I made the other mark.

I sot down by the window and looked over the roof of Farrel's house and wondered what I was going to do about it. I bet if I could hang myself up with a rope under my arms and a pail full of bricks tied to me feet and could sleep that way every night it would stretch me so my pants would look like swimming pants in about a week, but I don't think I could sleep very good that way, because I like to turn over once in a while.

Coming back from the pasture we went out the Hogback road to where there is a orchard we know and went in to take a look at some apples, and some of them are almost ripe. We saw the man coming, but we was not up in the trees and had not tooken any apples so we did not run, but Jubilee kept looking up at me like he thought it was time for me to start. The man come up with his face all scowled up and I said: "Good morning, sir," and I grinned, and he stopped scowling and grun back and said good morning to me, and then the rest of the bunch all said good morning and he said good morning to them, and asted us what we were doing. I said we was just looking around, and he said he hoped we was not disappointed but none of his apples was fit to steal yet, but he said there was a tree of ripe ones up by his barn and if we would come up there he would be glad to give us some.

We was kinda scairt he was going to hand us something, but we went along, and he had a tree of early goldens and he said for each of us to take two, and to take the cores over and give them to the pigs. He said it is wrong to waste anything. He told Banty he must sleep in a offal short bed, and all of us give Banty the laugh.

On the way home Banty said he is going to get a old rubber tire and cut it up in little pieces and by the time it is all et he bets he will be as limber as a snake and will stretch out as long as the rest of us. He is a brite little bugger to think of that. If I can get a tire maybe I will try it. I am going to go back and ast the man if he will give me the pigs' bladders when he kills them. If he does I will make me a swimming belt.

I have not seen Younias since Sunday. She knows where I live. I rubbed out the chalk marks before me and Jubilee went to bed. I do not like to look at them.

NEW TRIAL MOTION IN TOUSSAINT CASE IS HEARD THURSDAY

DEFENSE PUTS ON WITNESSES TO PROVE SEVERAL OF ITS CONTENTIONS.

NEARLY ALL MEMBERS OF JURY TO TESTIFY

State Makes Answer to Defense Petition—Hearing May Not Conclude Until Friday.

Testimony was being introduced by the defense in support of its contentions as set forth in their motion why the trial court should grant Henry John Toussaint a new trial, at a late hour Thursday afternoon before Judge Weldon of the 30th district court.

It required defense counsel one hour and twenty minutes to read the lengthy motion, after which District Attorney Bert Wilson read the state's answer in which the state denied all and singular the truthand effect of the matters set forth therein.

The motion for a new trial contained the contentions that new evidence had been discovered since the trial and conviction of the defendant and supported their plea of insanity; that new testimony had been discovered that impeached the testimony of Lee Huff, and that the defendant had not secured a fair and impartial trial, due to misconduct of the various members of the jury and the jury as a whole.

The state in its general denial stated that the so-called newly discovered evidence was all either cumulative, impeaching or contradictory to the evidence as brought out on the trial of the cause and therefore did not come within the meaning of newly discovered evidence.

The defense alleged in its motion that it was the duty of the state to bring expert witnesses employed in state institutions to testify as to the defendant's sanity but that since the state had failed in this duty that they had secured the services of Dr. Powell, superintendent of the institution for the insane at Terrell, Texas, who, after a two hours' examination declared the man to be insane.

Practically every member of the jury that found the defendant guilty of the murder of his father and sentenced to death were sworn in as witnesses in the hearing of the motion. The defense called for the rule and all witnesses were excused from the hearing of the witness on the stand.

The court room contained a large number of spectators. Mrs. Toussaint, wife of the defendant, occupied a seat among those in the audience during the reading of the motion but seated herself quietly beside her husband when the taking of testimony began.

The eleven affidavits attached to the motion were admitted as evidence.

"TREASURE HUNT" IS ABANDONED AFTER WATER INTERFERENCE

The search for hidden treasure which was started Wednesday morning by three strangers who declared that a large fortune was secreted on the banks of Hojiliday creek a short distance from the city, came to an abrupt end Thursday morning. The men, after sinking a hole some six or seven feet into the ground, picked up their tools and departed in an automobile.

The thousands of dollars supposed to have been buried on the banks of the creek just as it crosses the Henrietta road had evidently been planted too deep for recovery, for water was found in the excavation and those who visited the scene declared that it would be impossible to have gone any deeper.

According to stories told by one of the strangers, the gold had been hidden by a bank robber now serving life sentence in the Oklahoma state prison and its whereabouts revealed to a fellow convict who has since been released.

Police are of the opinion that such a case might have actually happened and that gold might at some time have been buried near the spot in question, but they are confident that no treasure exists along the creek bottom now and that the treasure hunt was a futile one.

BOY SCOUTS ATTENDING SPECIAL PICTURE AT EMPRESS

More than fifty local boy scouts attended the special matinee showing of "A Day's Activity With the Boy Scouts," a special scout film, given Thursday afternoon at the Empress theater. The scouts assembled at the First Methodist church, South, and with their drum corps in the lead paraded the business streets before going to the theater.

OFFICER IS FOUND BADLY INJURED ON BURKBURNETT ROAD

Fib Sheep, member of the Burkburnett police force, was found early Thursday morning, unconscious and with severe bruises about the head, by the side of a road just southwest of Burkburnett. He was taken to the Martin hospital in Burkburnett, and early Thursday afternoon was still unconscious.

His horse was grazing about 100 yards from where Sheep was found. The fact that there was mud on the horse's shoulder and on the saddle led to the belief that Sheep's mount had stumbled and fallen, and that the man's injury was accidental. There was said to be some indication of foul play, however.

MYSTERIOUS PHONE CALL TELLS WHERE MISSING FURS ARE

Two valuable fur coats reported by M. H. Chenault, 1208 Filmore street, to have been stolen from his home while the house was threatened with destruction by flames a week ago Sunday night were recovered late Wednesday after a mysterious telephone call had been reseivey by Mr. Chenault giving directions as to where the articles could be found.

According to Chenault he was informed over the phone that the coats were hidden in the weeds at the side of Eleventh street near the 2300 block. He reported the matter to the police and two detectives were sent with him to the place designated. After a short search they were found in the weeds, slightly damaged from exposure to the weather.

Mr. Chenault and city officials were at a loss Thursday to explain the matter, as no clue was given as to the identity of the person making the telephone call.

At the time of the alleged theft the Chenault home was damaged by fire which was declared to have been of incendiary origin. A polie of wooden shavings and traces of kerosene were found in a closet of the house, leading to the theory of incendiarism.

HARPER JONES GET 100 BARREL WELL IN THEIR TAYLOR TEST

The first completion in the Archer county pool for this week has been brought in by the Harper-Jones company in their No. 1 test on the Taylor, from the 1600 foot sand. The well was put on the pump, and has an estimated production of 100 barrels. This well is the 14th producer in this field.

Young county started out the week with an early completion. The Kent Oil company finished its No. 2 on the Kellar tract in the South Bend district, flowing around 100 barrels from the usual 1900 foot sand.

WHITE HOUSE MAINTAINS ABSOLUTE SILENCE ABOUT NEGOTIATIONS AT BERLIN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Officials at the white house and the state department maintained today the absolute silence they have consistently observed about peace treaty negotiations in Berlin. That Commissioner Loring Dresel is dealing with the German government on the subject of a separate treaty is the only authoritative statement ever made here on the subject although extensive if somewhat accounts of proceedings have been available in Berlin.

It is known that not only has the United States government through its representatives at Berlin undertaken the drafting of an agreement with Germany, but that the first steps toward similar negotiations have been taken in Hungary and, it is understood, in Austria.

FAVORABLE REPORT ON RAILROAD BILL

MISS ROBERTSON IS AROUSED BY LEAGUE

Asks to Be Permitted to Represent Her District "Without Interference From Indiana."

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Aroused by a statement issued yesterday by the National League of Women Voters as to her attitude on feminine representation on the disarmament conference, Representative Alice Robertson issued a statement declaring she had been misquoted in the league's statement. Miss Robertson contended she had never told President Harding there was no woman qualified to sit as an American commissioner. She did say, her statement continued, "show me the woman properly qualified," and her statement added that the league officials did not suggest such a woman to Mr. Harding.

Declaring she did not "claim to represent the women of the United States" in congress, Miss Robertson asked that she be permitted to represent citizens of the second Oklahoma district "without interference from Indiana."

WONDERFUL COUNTRY SURROUNDING GOREE

Successful Farmers Making the Best Of Splendid Opportunities Afforded.

GOREE, TEXAS, Aug. 18.—Through the kindness of W. H. H. Griffin, a real estate man of this city, the Times representative was given an early morning trip Wednesday west and north of Goree through as fine farming section as you will find in west Texas.

From the time we left the city until our return we saw nothing but good homes and well cultivated farms. The farmers in almost every instance have large orchards and gardens and we saw large flocks of thoroughbred chickens and turkeys in the poultry yards and grounds at these splendid homes. In talking with the farmers along the way, they are estimating the maize to average one and a half tons per acre on all the well cultivated lands. This crop is being headed and stored in the barns of the farmers, very little of the crop is being sold.

The corn crop will make a good average yield. Some of the best corn will exceed 35 bushels per acre and the acreage is above normal. The cotton acreage is much less than previous years, but the crop is earlier and only a few fields of cotton show the effect of the dry weather of the past few weeks. We saw open cotton in many fields and in a few fields the cotton is opened sufficiently to pick. The cattle and other live stock seen were in the best condition and the grass in the pastures was never better.

We made a special call at the home of W. J. Lovorn not far from the Hood school building. In speaking of his present crop he said that he had the best crop of everything growing on his place in 25 years. He has a large flock of pure bred white leghorn chickens and registered Poland China hogs. He also stated that his maize was making a ton and a half per acre and that he would feed his entire crop to livestock.

Another thing worthy of mention is that the farmers have broken all the stubble lands that were sown to grain, some using listers and other flat breaking plows. On a few farms we noticed the farmers had planted maize and sorghum on the stubble lands and good stands were the results of the planting.

When we arrived in the north suburban part of the city we stopped at the home of T. C. Griffin, father of our escort, who has lived in this section of the country for 21 years and has lived in Goree since the townsite was laid out. He owns eleven acres in his homestead, in which he has planted almost every shrub, tree and vine that will grow in west Texas. He has a good orchard, vineyard and garden with all kinds of berries and vegetables thriving and growing. From what we have seen and learned of this section, Goree and its trade territory is blessed with prosperity for which they should feel gratified.

BEAUMONT OFFICERS BATTLE WITH THIEVES, THREE MEN WOUNDED

BEAUMONT, Aug. 18.—Three men are thought to have been wounded and approximately $5,000 worth of alleged stolen property was recovered at an early hour this morning when special railroad officers and police battled box car thieves for half an hour in the railroad south yards of Beaumont.

The officers came upon seven men with a truck in the act of robbing a box car, it is said. The alleged thieves had two outposts in the grass who opened fire on the officers when they approached. The officers immediately returned the fire and the thieves ran into the marsh, where the grass is waist high. Three of them were seen to fall in the grass. One man who gave his name as John Modica, an Italian, was captured. The truck loaded down with stolen goods was filled with bullet holes and the windshield was shot away.

FAIL TO REACH SUBJECT OF PEACE NEGOTIATIONS

DUBLIN, Aug. 18.—The dail eireann spent three hours in secret session this morning without reaching the subject of the Irish peace negotiations. The time was spent in discussing the reports of the various ministers of the republican cabinet—the first time the parliament has been able to do this without fear of police interference.

The dail resumed sessions at 4:00 o'clock this afternoon, but Arthur Griffith told the Associated Press that there was no possibility of the subject of negotiations being reached before Saturday.

A COMFORTABLE SEAT.

The democratic party is enjoying an extremely soft seat in spite of unusually bumpy roads. The election last fall seemed quite a blow to their hopes but the power which guides this world of ours had decided that they needed a breathing spell. They had carried the load of war making; it was a heavy and trying load, therefore they were entitled to a rest. The republicans had long claimed to have within their party lines the executive and financial brains of the nations. The handling of the problems which came out of the war was no easy matter. So our guiding power must have reasoned that the proper course would be to give the democrats a rest and let the republicans carry the load.

The republicans do have a load, no one questions that, and to date they have not been able to get much of it off their shoulders. Whatever means they take for carrying our war debt will prove unsatisfactory to a large number of citizens. Every one would like to see the war profiteers taxed to the utmost to pay for the war. But nothing beneficial would come from such an undertaking because a large percentage of the war profiteers are now broke; they have nothing left to be taxed. The shipyards workers and those other laborers who profiteered spent their profits for silk shirts and flivvers. The munitions makers and other manufacturers who made great profits as the result of the war have but little left. Their profits were largely paper profits. They spent their cash in riotous living. The false values have been squeezed out of their business undertakings with the process of deflation.

All of us, each one of us, will have to help pay for the war and the republican party will have to provide means to get it from us.

Theirs is no enviable position. Even the most partisan democrats should feel sorry for them and extend the least little bit of genuine sympathy. While extending this sympathy they can be sharpening their tools of political warfare and getting ready to play general ned with the republicans at each succeeding election. Whoever does anything about devising new plans for paying the war debt is sure to be courting trouble. Disaster hovers just around the corner all the time.

Our greatest internal problems for the next twenty years will be those connected with the payment of the mortgage on our future which was placed there by the war. Our voters are likely to remain more or less indifferent when theories of government are promulgated; but this is not the case when their pocket books are being lifted. Then we have an issue immediately which is an issue. That is the question before the house today which has met in open session with one hundred and five million members. We all won the war but we insist that the other fellow shall pay for it.

What a tremendous amount of political thunder the democrats can accumulate now as they sit back and watch the republicans commit harikari!

GENERAL AND CHRONIC.

An old story was repeated this week when a mass of appropriation bills came up for final action in the closing hours of the session of the legislature. All was haste and confusion. Some very necessary appropriations failed of passage while others that may have been undesirable were made.

That is the way our state appropriations are always made. Both houses of the legislature daily along right up to the very close of the session and then it is necessary to rush through these bills appropriating the people's money in haste and confusion.

This is not an evil peculiar to Texas. It happens in every state of the Union and it happens almost every time any legislature makes its appropriations. There seems to be a universal disposition for legislatures to daily over trivial matters and to play politics and to crowd the important business of passing appropriations into a few hectic hours at the close of the session.

In the present instance of the Texas legislature important and essential appropriations failed of passage and it was necessary for the governor to call another session. This, too, just at a time when the people were congratulating themselves that the legislature had gotten through a session with a minimum of damage.

No remedy is suggested for this condition. There don't seem to be any so long as legislative nature is like it is. It is a condition that is merely noted & passing.

THE GULF PRODUCTION COMPANY COMES TO WICHITA FALLS.

The decision of the Gulf Production Company to move its North Texas headquarters to Wichita Falls is one of the most important business developments for Wichita Falls in several years. It not only means the addition of more than a hundred families and all the benefits resulting from the location here of a corporation of the magnitude of the Gulf Production Company but it is significant of the position of Wichita Falls in the oil industry in North Texas. Recognition of this position by such a corporation as the Gulf Production Company is certain to establish the primacy of Wichita Falls as an oil center.

The people of Wichita Falls will extend a very glad welcome to the Gulf Production Company and are confident that the officials of the company will never regret their decision to move their headquarters here. The company and those connected with it are coming among a people close to the oil industry and who are in sympathy with it.

For more than a year the Wichita Falls chamber of commerce has been at work on this proposition. It has done most effective work and the whole citizenship of Wichita Falls is indebted to the leaders in this movement.

The History of Your Name

By PHILIP FRANCIS NOWLAN

BERRY.

Variations—Burke, Burk, Burrowe, Burroughs, Atterbury, Berks.
Racial Origin—Anglo-Saxon.
Source—Descriptive of locality.

The Anglo-Saxons of ancient England has a word "beorgan," meaning "to hide," whom which have come not only a number of our very common modern words, but also, through various steps of development, the foregoing apparently dissimilar family names.

From it we have the word "burrow," meaning to "dig," also the words "bury" and "burial," but not the word "berry" (the fruit), which comes from another source. But the word "burrough" (a political division of land) and the endings "burg," "burgh" and "bury," as in Pittsburgh or Harrisburg, and Waterbury, do come from it.

In Anglo-Saxon times the word "burg," "burgh" or "burk" came to mean a defensive inclosure, a dwelling place, a town or city. It is noteworthy that the German ending, "burg," denotes a castle, the ancient German tongue being first cousin to the Anglo-Saxon.

All the foregoing forms of the family name were used first, with one or another prefix, to denote that the person or family referred to lived in, at or near the city. It was not necessary to designate which city for the lives and communications of most persons in those days were confined to such limited areas that all would know what town or city was meant.

The variation Atterbury still retains one of the prefixes. The name simply is a contraction of "at the burgh." The change of the "gh" into a "y" is thoroughly regular as a development from the old Saxon tongue, and there are parallels to be found in hundreds of our modern words.

Tomorrow—Ferguson.

A Sportsman.

Bill never took the little ones to fill his frying-pan.
He played the game with trout and bass the way he played with man.
And even fishing for his meal, he'd face an empty dish
Before he'd keep to feed himself an out-of-season fish.

Bill always gave the fish a chance. If they refused his fly,
He reckoned they were wise enough to know the reason why;
And when a big one took his bait he'd try to bring him in,
But even though he'd lose the bass,
he'd never lose his grin.

The laws don't always have it right.
The fifteenth day of June
Makes legal going after bass but sometimes that's too soon,
And Bill would wait for days and days before a line he'd wet,
And answer when we asked him why:
"They're not through spawning yet."

If I should write his epitaph when Bill is called away,
It wouldn't be a flowery thing; one simple line I'd say,
And yet I think 'twould be the phrase
which Bill himself would wish:
"He played fair with his fellow man and played fair with the fish."

HUMANISMS Inner Lights on Lives and Whims of Personages in the Public Eye

By WILLIAM ATHERTON DU PUY.

It was, as a matter of fact, very disconcerting to the navy when, a few weeks ago, it converted two captive German destroyers into targets that were to be sunk in practice for experimental purposes and the darn things refused to go down.

First at 9 o'clock in the morning the destroyers went out in a line, steamed back and forth and cracked away at 5,000 yards, which is a rather short range. They did it for half a day. Then a group of great big battleships went out to shoot. For them ten thousand yards was close up although they got closer later on. They unleashed main turret guns, broadsides 'n' everything and the sun traveled away over toward the western horizon—and one of those destroyers still bobbed contentedly out there in the ocean.

Finally all guns were concentrated on this hopeless, firmly anchored little boat. It stayed afloat until 7 o'clock in the evening, having endured ten hours of navy fire, then turned quietly over on its side and, as if disgusted, sank without so much as kicking up its heels.

It would not have been so bad if the performance had not been viewed by some army officers who hold that the way to sink ships is to let them drop bombs on them. Major H. M. Hickham was one of these—an inconsiderate sort of fellow. Do you know what he said? Well, he kinda drawled and, says he:

"If you give a woman a lead pencil, kinda long, with plenty of lead in it and a nice sharp pocketknife, and if everything holds out she will put a point on it sooner or later, by heck."

Uncle Joe Cannon, who has something of a reputation for republicanism, often evidenced considerable friendliness for Daniel C. Roper, protege of Mr. McAdoo and under him chief of the bureau of internal revenue. The venerable former speaker gave Mr. Roper a sweeping indorsement for being the most efficient man in the Wilson administration.

Friends of Mr. Roper crowded him for an explanation of this friendship. Finally he told of a trip to New York, of meeting Uncle Joe on the train, of a request from the octogenarian that he come up to his room and remain until he had to go to bed.

Then Uncle Joe was profuse in his thanks.

"Don't mention it," said Mr. Roper. "Nothing pleases a good democrat more than to put a good republican away."

They have been friends ever since.

Interstate Commerce Commissioner Ernest I. Lewis is one of the most traveled men in the United States. He used to be a writing man professionally and every year or so he would go off to the South Seas, or Africa, or some place and knock around for a spell and write pieces about aborigines or something and thus make a living as he went.

Senator Frederick Hale of Maine is a diffident young fellow of the college chap variety, slim, clean-cut, black-haired. He looks more like a polo player.

RUINS OF GREAT TEMPLE HAVE BEEN DISCOVERED

ATHENS, Aug. 18.—Ruins of a great temple have been unearthed at Sikyon, a city on the southern shore of the Gulf of Corinth, which in the fourth century before the Christian era, was one of the principal cities of Greece. The foundation and pillars would seem to indicate that the temple was built by the Dorians, who captured the town from the Aaegalian Ionians and held it for several centuries.

Experts who have visited the new excavations declare that the temple was sacred to the worship of Artemis, sister of Apollo, and goddess of the chase.

MANGUM, OKLA., Aug. 18.—The continued dry weather is hurting late feedstuff and cotton. Boll weevils and other insects are appearing in small numbers in places, but farmers are not alarmed, and state they will make an average crop of cotton if a little rain is had later on.

Canning in this section is in full swing. The crop of apples, wild grapes, plums and currants is above the average. Apples are selling around $1.00 per bushel delivered to the housewife. Some of the farmers, on account of the low price offered for their cattle, are canning beef for winter use. The county agent advises that nearly all the farmers running dairies are selling their cream instead of making butter, consequently butter is selling for a better price than common in this section.

FEAR FAMINE MORE THAN ANY ONE THING

Gives Communists More Concern Than Any Development Toward Free Trade.

REVAL, ESTHONIA, Aug. 18.—Famine, resulting from crop failure, is far more feared by the communist dictators of Russia than any development of capitalism that might come from recent concessions toward free trade, according to speeches by Lenine and other communist leaders, editorials in bolshevik official newspapers and other information from Moscow reaching the Baltic states.

Lenine, writing for the Baku Communist, as reported by the official bolshevik telegraph agency, Rosta, a few days ago, said: "There is nothing to fear in the rise of small farming and small industry. It cannot be dangerous to our big industry. Something else is to be feared. In case of a bad harvest there can be no diminishing in the crisis of the working classes.

"Not the growth of petty bourgeoisie and capital is dangerous, but the state of need and lack of foodstuffs that is continuing too long. That is why the proletariat becomes weak and cannot stand against the elements of petty bourgeoisie."

In this, as in other articles widely distributed throughout Russia in support of the new economic policy, Lenine points out that, by holding firmly to the reins of big industry, the dictatorship of the proletariat can always control any situation that might develop with regard to smaller capitalistic advancement.

In a speech before the all-Russian supply conference, recently held at Moscow, Lenine, as reported in the official newspapers Pravda and Isvestia, was extremely pessimistic about the famine possibilities.

"There has come to pass," he is reported as saying, "an unforeseen circumstance, which now, in the second year, subjects the country to extreme hardships. Whether we are in for a series of arid years, as has been prophesied these two years, we do not know. But it has become perfectly clear that this is the second year in which we will again, over large areas, experience a failure of crops, and this pictures in our minds the imminency of a great danger.

"I will not dwell on the extent of the area affected by this calamity, but the area is certainly very great. It is already quite clear that there will be large arrears in the payment of tax in kind in many districts; that in many districts the population, apart from this, will be doomed to unheard-of sufferings; and that the supply organizations, instead of obtaining in those districts a surplus of products for the maintenance of the army, the labor classes and the industry, will have to support the starving population."

Further, Lenine pointed out that the hardships entailed by the crop failures will be aggravated by the fact that in the few districts where the crops probably will be good, the soviet supply apparatus is working worse than elsewhere.

If we look at the map illustrating the prospects of the harvest," he said, "we find that in those districts of soviet Russia and the allied sister republics where the harvest promises to be good, or above the average, the supply institutions are certainly not above medium, but frequently below medium. We shall have to occupy ourselves with the question of changing the personnel of the supply organizations, but we have few suitable and experienced candidates who might soon adapt themselves to their new tasks and successfully push the work."

HOW TO TORTURE YOUR HUSBAND

Battles With and Kills Eagle Which Attacks His Child

BUTTE, MONT., Aug. 17.—While picking berries at a Sunday school picnic south of Butte this afternoon, Albert Pierce fought with and killed an eagle which attacked his ten month old baby which he was holding under one arm. The bird, measuring four feet from tip to top, seemed determined to have his prey, which in the clash was dropped into the grass.

The father after beating off the attack, first with a rock, seized a heavy stick and killed the agle after a fight lasting ten minutes. The baby was uninjured, but the father's face was badly scratched and bruised. The bird was brought home as a trophy.

CALOMEL HORROR TOLD BY DODSON

You Don't Need to Sicken, Gripe or Salivate Yourself to Start Liver.

You're bilious, sluggish, constipated. You feel headachy, your stomach may be sour, your breath bad, your skin sallow and you believe you need vile, dangerous calomel to start liver and bowels.

Here's my guarantee! Ask your druggist for a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone and take a spoonful tonight. If it doesn't start your liver and straighten you right up better than calomel and without griping or making you sick I want you to go back to the store and get your money.

Take calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak and sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day. Take a spoonful of harmless, vegetable Dodson's Liver Tone tonight and wake up feeling splendid. It is perfectly harmless, so give it to your children any time. It can't salivate.—adv.

NOT ALL THE FACTS OF SHIPPING BOARD KNOWN TO PUBLIC

CONFUSION NOT SURPRISING TO THOSE WATCHING DEVELOPMENTS.

CONTROVERSY IS TO BE DECIDED BY THE COURTS

Lasker Did As Chairman What He Would Have Done As a Private Citizen.

By MARK SULLIVAN,
National Political Correspondent of the New York Evening Post and the Wichita Daily Times.
Copyright, 1921, by the New York Evening Post.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 18.—If the public is puzzled about coming to a judgment on the spectacular controversy between the shipping corporation, represented in the courts by the law firm which ex-President Wilson and ex-Secretary of State Colby are principals, that confusion is not surprising. Not all the facts and allegations are public yet.

Mr. Colby promises his contribution to them shortly, but even after that reply shall have been made, the whole set of facts will turn out to be so complex as to make judgment difficult, except to the expert.

Whether there was any technical defect in the legal methods by which the shipping board tried to regain possession of the government's property will be decided by the courts. Aside from that, on the broader issue most of us in Washington who have followed the new chairman during the eight weeks of his administration are disposed to justify the agents of the government. Whatever the other merits of the government's side of the case, it has what is to Washington observers at the present moment one supremely important merit.

Goes After Property.

What Mr. Lasker did as chairman of the shipping board was precisely what he would have done as a private litigant. If it is desirable to have "more business in government," this was a worthy beginning on Mr. Lasker's part. He found the property of the government in the hands of a corporation which, according to his account, is in default of its payments, and in other respects is seriously at fault in its relations to the government. Believing this, he went after the government's property with exactly the same headlong directness with which he would have gone after his own property under the same circumstances. It was a case of "business in government" in exactly the same manner that Mr. Lasker would practice business in his private life.

Mr. Lasker is an eminently successful business man, and his successes in business in many cases have been built but of much the same sort of situation presented by the shipping board, namely, taking hold on an enterprise of difficulties, throwing enormous energy into it and working eighteen hours a day at it, dreaming about it the remaining six hours, and finally pulling it back across the line to prosperity in the shortest possible time. Mr. Lasker goes after success in whatever business happens at the moment to be his preoccupation with the entranced directness of a hound in pursuit of a fox.

Mellon Sane, Lasker Dynamic.

There are, of course, more varieties of business men than one. Secretary Mellon of the treasury, for example, is a business man who has come to great success by building up small or moribund enterprises slowly and surefootedly, with great patience over a long series of years, rather than by Mr. Lasker's furiously energetic striving for the quickest possible results.

As between the two methods, Mr. Lasker's more temperamental personality and prodigal pouring out of headlong energy is the better adapted to the job he is now doing for the United States. The shipping board is probably the biggest experiment in business either public or private, ever attempted. It represents a cash investment of some $3,000,000,000,000.

While its books are in a state of chaos, it is probably safe to say that the board's annual deficit is upward of $300,000,000. That is a case for the kind of quick and drastic action that is most likely to be accepted, from a man of Mr. Lasker's personality and methods.

The United States most decidedly has not the disposition to go on with this sort of enormously expensive experiment indefinitely. Mr. Lasker has told congress that in six months he will be able to see far enough ahead to be able to tell what he can do, and has given himself a limit of two years in which to accomplish results or acknowledge failure. And congres, on the whole, although it finds some of Mr. Lasker's dashing directness disturbingly novel, is nevertheless disposed to give him his chance and to anticipate success.

The insinuation that there was politics in the shipping board's recent action and that the ships are being taken from one corporation in order to favor another, is merely the sort of loose charge that occasionally arises in the smoke of this kind of controversy. Mr. Lasker might be charged with a hundred faults and mistakes, but never with harboring any such pickyunish conception as that of the best use to make of the opportunity his appointment has given him for great distinction.

NEEDED SIGNATURES HAVE BEEN SECURED ON ROAD SECURITIES

County Auditor W. W. Murphy returned from Colorado Springs Wednesday evening where he obtained the signature of County Clerk W. T. Harris to the remaining 1,000 of the special road bonds. County Judge J. P. Jones and County Treasurer Tom McHam also affixed their signatures to the bonds Thursday morning and the county auditor left at noon for Austin where the signature of the state comptroller will be affixed. This is the last signature that is necessary.

It is understood that banking officials from St. Louis will come to Wichita Falls to secure the $1,500,000 worth of bonds. The original plans were to have County Attorney B. L. Fulton and Mr. Murphy take the bonds to St. Louis, where Mr. McGregor and Mr. Kell would also be on hand.

Just what course will be pursued is not definitely known, but it is believed that the county's special road fund will be reimbursed by the first of next week as the result of the initial payment on the bond issue.

WICHITAN DROWNED LATE WEDNESDAY IN BURKBURNETT TANK

Elbert Moore, aged 25, world war veteran, son of J. D. Moore of this city and brother of John Moore of the Hunt Grain company, was drowned in a tank near Burkburnett Wednesday night, where he was swimming with a party of friends.

Mr. Moore, who was out in the middle of the tank, was heard to call for help. Others in the party swam out to him but he sank just as they reached him. His body was in the water only a few minutes and was hurried to Burkburnett, where a pulmotor was used in a vain effort to revive him. Members of the party believe that he may have been dead when he sank. He was a good swimmer.

Mr. Moore was a member of the 12th Engineers in the world war and his company was one of the first to reach France. He served with honor throughout the war. On his return to the United States and after his discharge he went to work for the Rigsby Grain company at Burkburnett, where he had since been continuously employed. He was looked upon as a splendid young man and had a most promising future.

He leaves his father and three brothers and three sisters. His brothers are John, Harry and Raymond of this city and his sisters are Mrs. W. H. Johnson and Miss Ruby Moore of Dallas and Mrs. Ralph Ready of Lubbock.

The body was brought to the Merkle-Lunn parlors from Burkburnett Thursday and funeral arrangements will await the arrival of his sisters.

NEGRO IS ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF BEATING WIFE

Alex Calloway, a small negro who has made periodic visits to the police station for the past few months, was taken into custody again Wednesday after complaints had been made that he was beating his wife.

The woman, together with her employer, appeared at the police station and made the complaints to Chief of Police Morgan. Calloway was arrested, brought to the station, charged with aggravated assault and turned over to county authorities for prosecution.

FORD TOURING CAR STOLEN FROM W. H. DOWNING WEDNESDAY

A Ford topring car owned by W. H. Downing, living near the south end of Harrison street, was stolen from the vacant lot at Ninth and Indiana between 7 and 8 o'clock Thursday morning. The machine had been parked near the Wichita theater and was gone when the owner returned after an hour's absence.

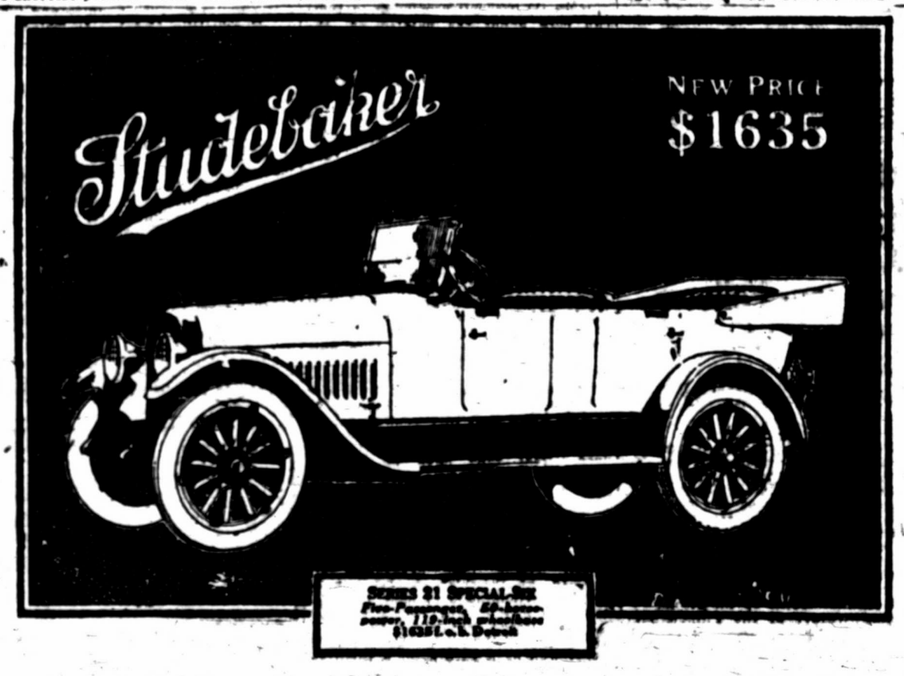

It bore a license number 615203, seal number 2151355 and motor number 5032138.

This was the only thing reported stolen during the day.

ROBERT GIFFEN STEWART IS DEFENDANT IN DIVORCE SUIT

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—Robert Giffen Stewart, assistant general manager of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, is made defendant in a bill for separate maintenance filed here by Mrs. Elisabeth W. Stewart. Stewart is the son of Colonel Robert Wright Stewart, chairman of the board of directors of the oil company. Infidelity, cruelty and desertion are charged.

They were married in St. Paul, Minn., August 5, 1915, and have one child.

NO other factor than public appreciation of the SPECIAL-SIX spread mouth-to-mouth fashion by prideful owners, could account for the unquestioned popularity that it enjoys today. For this unusual car is a member of the Studebaker family of cars whose production and sales, during the first six months of 1921, exceeded those of every other automobile manufacturer in the country with the exception of one manufacturer of a well known and very low-priced car.

Brock's Circuit Smash In Tenth Gives Bears A Well Earned Victory

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 18.—"Rube" Marshall and Mutt Williams gave Santone fans yesterday an inkling of what their battle was like the last time they met in Wichita Falls, the only difference being that the Bear hurler had a little something on the Salmite this time and came out on the long end of a 3 to 2 count after a great 10-inning tussle. It took the visitor some time to get started and had he twirled in the opening rounds as he did in the closing rounds he would have returned with the verdict.

The home run proclivities of Danny Clark and Johnny Brock were the two outstanding features of the duel. The former's arrived in the seventh roused with Tex McDonald on first base and it was his blow that made the game go into extra innings. The Bruins had previously tallied twice by bunching their hits off "Rube" and Danny's drive knotted the count.

Brock saved his smash until the tenth chapter, but didn't waste much time when the chapter rolled around. He was the first man to face Marshall and he leaned on the second ball served him, pasting it a few odd miles over the left field barrier. Clark's drive, as usual, cleared the right field wall.

Mutt was extremely stingy with his hits, allowing only two others besides those mentioned. The Wichitans went out in order the first four innings and one man had been retired in the fifth before Jake Miller scratched a hit through Johnny Nee. Jake also contributed the other safety in the tenth, a one-base blow to the center pasture. Jake, Tex and Danny were the only Spudders to get aboard as Williams did not pass or hit a man, nor did his mates err behind him.

Marshall was more generous with his allotment of drives, especially in the early innings, but after the sixth settled down and was as good as Williams in every respect—except when he pitched to Brock in the extra canto. He was touched for ten safeties, two of which came in the third and netted a run and two more in the fourth which also produced a counter. A double play in the fourth which cut a runner off at the plate and another in the sixth saved him from further trouble.

Though the Spudders were charged with a brace of errors, both of which were on wild pegs, neither figured in the scoring and they put up a much sterner defense than the score would indicate.

The detailed score:

First Inning.

WICHITA FALLS: McElwee flew out to Connolly. Tanner was thrown out at first by Miller. McDonald lined to Connolly. No runs, no hits, no errors.

SAN ANTONIO: Fuller lined to Miller. Tullos grounded out, McDonald to Works. Nee fouled out to McElwee in left. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Second Inning.

WICHITA FALLS: Clark flew out to Bowen. Miller lofted to Connolly. Griggs was thrown out by Williams. No runs, no hits, no errors.

SAN ANTONIO: Connolly went out swinging. Henry skied to Miller. Bowen singled to center, but went out trying to steal, Kitchens to Clark. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Third Inning.

WICHITA FALLS: Williams shot a third strike past Works. He then threw out Kitchens and sent Marshall out swinging. No runs, no hits, no errors.

SAN ANTONIO: Davis dropped a single in left on the second ball pitched, but was forced at second by Brock on an attempted sacrifice, Marshall to Tanner. Williams struck out. Brock stole second. Fuller walked on four straight balls. Tullos singled to right, scoring Brock and Fuller went to third. On an attempted double steal, Fuller was caught at the plate, Kitchens to Tanner to Kitchens. One runs, two hits, no errors.

Fourth Inning.

WICHITA FALLS: McElwee fouled out to Brock. Tanner lined to Davis. McDonald went out, Nee to Henry. No runs, no hits, no errors.

San Antonio: Nee doubled to center. Connolly grounded to Tanner and Nee was caught going to third when Griggs' return to second went wide of the mark. Bowen was thrown out at first by Tanner and Henry was doubled at the plate trying to score, Works to Kitchens. One run, two hits, one error.

Fifth Inning.

WICHITA FALLS: Clark went out, Fuller to Henry. Miller beat out a scratch hit past Nee. He was the first Spudder to reach first base. Miller stole second while Griggs was striking out. Works was thrown out by Nee. No runs, one hit, no errors.

SAN ANTONIO: Davis lined the first ball to Griggs. Brock doubled to left. Williams took a third strike. Fuller hit to Clark and was safe when the latter's peg drew Works fof the bag, Brock taking third. Fuller stole second. With the count three and two on him, Tullos grounded to Tanner and was thrown out at first. No runs, one hit, one error.

Sixth Inning.

WICHITA FALLS: Kitchens struck out and Marshall went out the same way. McElwee was thrown out by Fuller. No runs. No hits. No errors.

SAN ANTONIO: Nee popped to Works. Conolly thumped a safety to center and went to second on Henry's safety to the center pasture. Bowen lined to right and Conolly was doubled off second before he could scramble back to the bag, Griggs to Tanner. No runs. Two hits. No errors.

Seventh Inning

WICHITA FALLS: A powerful wallop by Danny Clark put the Spudders back in the running in this frame. Tanner fouled out to Bowen in right. McDonald singled pat Nee and Clark tied the score by driving the apple over the right field wall. Miller fouled out to Henry. Griggs took a third strike. Two runs. Two hits. No errors.

SAN ANTONIO: Clark threw out Davis. Brock fouled out to McDonald Williams skied to Griggs. No runs. No hits. No errors.

Eighth Inning.

WICHITA FALLS: Works flew out to Conolly. Kitchens struck out again. Marshall grounded out, Fuller to Henry No runs. No hits. No errors.

SAN ANTONIO: Fuller pulled a slow roller down to Clark which he beat out. Tullos sacrificed him to second, Marshall to Works. Nee hit to Marshall and Fuller was run down between second third, Marshall to Tanner to McDonald. No reaching second on the play. Conolly lined to Clark. No runs One hit. No errors.

Ninth Inning.

WICHITA FALLS: McElwee lofted to Conolly. Tanner took three outs and set down. McDonald sent Conolly back into deep center for his fly. No Runs No hits. No errors.

SAN ANTONIO: Henry was thrown out by Clark. Bowen popped to Tanner. Davis grounded to McDonald and was thrown out at first. No runs. No hits. No errors.

Tenth Inning.

WICHITA FALLS: Clark flew out to Bowen. Miller singled to center, but died stealing. Griggs skied to Connolly. No runs, no hits, no errors.

SAN ANTONIO: Brock hit the second ball pitched over the left field barrier for the circuit.

SPORT SHOTS by Paul W. Barkin

This stuff has gone about far enough. Pull yourselves together, boys.

Everybody knows, or at least many have stated, that the Santone club deserves something better than last place. We have always contended that there are worse clubs in the league than the Bears and we never could quite understand why they couldn't get out of the rut. But we know of no good reason why they should turn and start to pick up at the expense of the Spudders. They could have waited for three days and then started.

Hollingsworth is a wonderful hurler, so are Bugs Pate and Wachtel, Mitchell and others too numerous to mention. But there isn't a club in the Texas league that has any license to beat 'Mutt' Williams when he's right. He made dubs of some of the boys in the big show when he was in condition and he's not lost any of his stuff. "Mutt" can pitch for our money any time—that is, any time he's in condition. And he's been behaving pretty well of late.

Off the field he and "Rube" are the greatest pals ever, but one would never know it from the way they battle one another on the diamond. The last time they hooked up here at Athletic Park they went eleven rounds before "Rube" was awarded the decision.

Johnny Brock developed the home run habit while he was convalescing from his recent illness. He's been poking them out of the lot with great regularity since he got back into the game. He sure stopped yesterday's matinee in a hurry and just when it looked as if "Rube" were settling down to business. The Bears had been helpless since the sixth inning.

Jake Miller must have pulled a skull of some sort in the tenth inning. We never could quite get the drift of what he did. The operator first wired that he had stolen second base and then the message came that he had been caught stealing. Upon asking for an explanation the following answer was received: "Miller stole second and then got mixed up some way and went back to first. Don't know what he was thinking about."

Among the Spudders who have hit safely in 13 consecutive games or more are Jake Miller 18, Bob Bescher 16, Harry Rothfuss 14, Danny Clark 14, Danny Gross 13 and Tex McDonald 13. George Bischoff has crossed the plate at least once in the last 10 games in which he has played, thereby setting a mark for the league in that department.

Dave Paul counted the first day's votes received yesterday for the most valuable Spudder and found that Bob Bescher was leading. The contest is going to be a hot one, however, as Bob's lead is just about as healthy as the one being sported by the Spudders. Dave had a crowd of admirers in front of his store all day giving the silver bat and ball the once-over.

The thousands of fans who turned out in Cleveland yesterday to commemorate the death of Ray Chapman came near witnessing another tragedy. August 17 must be jinxed in that town, for Walker, the Athletic first sacker, was hit in the head by a batted ball which took a bad hop just before it reached him and he's now in a serious condition suffering from concussion of the brain. A pebbly infield and this lively ball are a wicked combination for the inner defense.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Browns 7, Senators 2.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 17.—The Browns defeated the Nationals Wednesday, 7 to 2, and gained a game in their third place drive. Shocker was effective, barring the eighth, when Milan doubled and Miller hit over the left field fence. The Browns finished Mogridge early.

St. Louis	024	001	000—7	10	1

Indians 15, Athletics 8.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 17.—The Indians had go trouble winning from the Athletics today, 15 to 8. They took kindly to the offerings of four Mackian hurlers, collecting 20 hits. Coveleskie was easy and gave way to Caldwell, who did a nice job of relief hurling. The first anniversary of the death of Ray Chapman, former Cleveland shortstop, was observed here, each fan entering the park being presented with a rose. Play was stopped for a minute at 4:40 while the fans and players stood with bared heads in honor of the departed dead.

Johnny Walker narrowly escaped a similar fate to that of Chapman when Jamieson's wicked bounding single hit him in the head and knocked him unconscious for seven minutes. It was feared he had sustained a fractured skull, but an examination at Lakeside hospital revealed that there was no break. He is suffering with concussion and will be out of the game for some time.

Yankees 11, White Sox 3.

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—The Yankees beat the White Sox in the first game of their series Wednesday, 11 to 3. Babe Ruth got a home run. The visitors won the game in the third inning when they got six runs. The game was called in the seventh on account of rain.

Another home run, this one by Dave Bancroft, marked the end of the Rube's reign on the hill.

MIDGET SMITH MATCHED TO MEET JOE BURMAN

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—Midget Smith, New York bantamweight, and Joe Burman of Chicago will appear for the main event of the next boxing show at East Chicago, Ltd., on September 2, it was announced today. Jack Sharkey and Roy Moore, bantamweights, will appear in the semi-finals.

SALM WANTS EXPORTER AND CRAB SERIES TRANSFERRED

When the Spudders hop over to Houston after today's game with the Bears, Skipper Salm will go to Beaumont to see what he can do about transferring the Beaumont series to Wichita Falls and he will then go to Galveston to see what can be done there. Walter has been with the club ever since it started on the road trip and did not make any effort to have the Buff series transferred.

PITCHES 19-INNING GAME

Frank Davis, of the St. Louis Browns, who has just established the season's record for longevity of pitching in the major league. This piece of pitching machinery, whose frail build belies the great physical strength he displayed in hurling the Browns to a nineteen-inning triumph over the Washingtons, hails from Winston-Salem, N. C., which accounts for his nickname, "Dixie." Davis is twenty-eight and is seeing his second season with the Browns. He obtained most of his experience with the Columbus and Louisville clubs of the American Association. After yielding thirteen safeties and six runs in the first ten frames, Dixie breezed through the last nine rounds without allowing a semblance of a safety.

AMERICAN LEAGUERS TRAILING NATIONALS IN HOME RUN DRIVES

Ruth However, Is 18 Days Ahead Of His 1920 Home-Run Record.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—With nearly one-third of the season yet to be played, National ledgue sluggers already have rolled up 102 more home runs than they made during the entire season of 1920. The four homers cracked out yesterday by Kelly and Bancroft of the New York Giants and Gibson and J. Scott of the Boston Braves, brought the total to date up to 363. Last year's total for the entire season was 261.

The American leaguers, despite the services of Babe Ruth, are trailing the Nationals by one circuit clout, with a total to date of 362. The American total last season was 366.

Ruth with 45 homers is 25 ahead of his nearest rival, Kelly, of the Giants, and needs only ten more to beat his last year's record. He is 18 days ahead of his 1920 stride and has 47 more games in which to garner the ten.

Downpour Follows Muffed Fly and Game Is Called Off

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—A muffed outfield fly was responsible for the postponement of one of the major league games on account of rain yesterday. Had Wheat of the Brooklyn Nationals made a successful catch there would have been three St. Louis men retired instead of two when rain came down heavily in the fifth inning and the Superbas would have won, 2 to 1. A home run by Johnston was wiped off the records by the storm.

Johnny Walker of the Philadelphia Athletics was seriously injured when struck in the head by a ball batted by a Cleveland player. The accident occurred exactly one year from the death of Ray Chapman of the Indians after being struck by a pitched ball.

SOMEWHERE BACK.

I knew a kid one day
Who looked beyond wide orchard lanes of white
To where a fellow held the laureled way
Of fame and name and fortune in the fight;
A kid who heard Life calling, and who turned
To catch the echo of far-marching feet
Where crimson fires of glory flashed and burned
Along the borders of the swarming street.

I know a fellow now
Who looks across gray years with weary eyes
Beyond the laurel and the olive bough
To old, old dreams beneath remembered skies;
To fields of golden harvest and the glow
Of God's lost sunshine waning to the gleam
Of starlit dusk back home, so long ago
It only seems the shadow of a dream.

I know a fellow who Would give life's motley fame again to be
In orchard drifts where lost winds wander through
And whisper softly to the bending tree;
Who dreams at each gray dusk within his den
Of oldtime honor and old-fashioned wuth,
And cries to God to lead him back again
And leave him with the clean, brave faith of youth.

The proud distinction of developing "the nine of least resistance" goes to Philadelphia by acclamation. And you can take your pick from either league.

THE GREATEST INVADER.

The presence of so many noted competitors from beyond the purling Atlantic brings up the point as to who should be listed as the greatest European entry from any sport that ever set hostile foot upon our shores.

"Would you rank Carpentier or Suzanne Lenglen at the top?" one non-combatant writes.

Neither. The amazing Suzanne is greater in her line than Carpentier ever was in his.

But neither classes with Harry Vardon or H. L. Doherty.

VARDON AND DOHERTY.

Vardon won the British open golf championship six times. He came over here in 1900 and won the American title. He came back in 1913 and tied for first place. He returned again in 1920 and finished second.

That is something, over a twenty-year span, to shoot at until your ammunition runs out.

H. L. Doherty won the British tennis championship five consecutive years. He came over here in 1903 and bagged our tennis crown.

If any one can name a visitor greater at some twist of sport than either of these he can name his own compensation for a fiscal working year.

MENTAL AND PHYSICAL.

Jim Barnes, the open golf champion of this commonwealth, says that it takes longer to master mental control of golf than it does physical control.

The Long One is 100 per cent right.

Only in this way can any one develop co-ordination, which is the ruling attribute of victory.

Who has ever seen finer co-ordination than Dempsey and Babe Ruth possess in their respective fields? They not only go through physically but they think through—all the way through—without a sign of hesitancy, doubt, uncertainty or half effort.

And they hit through largely because the directing thought back of the blow never wavers through lack of concentration.

The same applied to Mathewson, to a remarkable degree; to Cobb and Speaker, and to Johnston and Lenglen at tennis more than any of the others that we have seen.

ADVANCE NOTE.

Princeton stands pat with her share of the deck,
Keck and Lourie—Lourie and Keck.
—K. H. L.

Before they swing in ecstatically back to the idea Yankee fans desire to know where "complete disarmament" means the surrender of Babe Ruth's wooden mace.

Harry Heilman would be surer of leading the American League if the brace of feet treading upon his heels didn't belong to Tyrus Raymond Cobb, who has been up there before.

"Speaking of broken hands," comments F. L. P., "what would you call a busted flush?" We probably wouldn't call it if the holder pushed his stack out far enough.

BLACK SOX TO PLAY IN DUNCAN

What do baseball promoters in Duncan care about the opinion of the world in general? Nothing.

Despite the fact that the Chicago Black Sox are generally regarded as guilty as they were before their recent trial, and despite the fact that it was thought that no fans who called himself a real fan would ever turn out to see them play, Duncan promoters have decided to take a chance and have arranged a game for them with the Duncan club to be held in the near future.

Yes, the Black Sox are among us or will be in a few days. Jackson, Felsch, Risberg, Gandil, Cicotte and Williams will all be in Duncan soon to give the fans the horse laugh as they did in Chicago when "acquitted" by a jury of "12 tried and true men."

It will be interesting to note how many "fans" will turn out. If Duncan citizens care to openly countenance such a contest, that's their business. They should not. The players know that they cannot play in the larger cities and have evidently turned their attention to the smaller ones. Real fans have black-balled them. How many are there in Duncan?

SWIMMER WINS 500 YARD RACE BY ONE YARD

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—James W. Hall, Jr. of Brooklyn, national long distance swimming champion, was defeated in a 500 yard match race at Brighton Beach last night by Henry Giebel of the New ork Athletic club. Giebel won by a yard after a thrilling neck to neck contest. His time was 6:29 2-5.

FAVORITES SURVIVE IN TENNIS TOURNEY

Molla Mallory, Mary Browne and May Bundy Win Matches in Third Round.

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 18.—Nine players survived at the start of the fourth round of the women's national tennis championship on the west side courts today. The contest for places in the semi-finals found Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, the present title holder, pitted against Mrs. Edwin A. Falk of New York; Mrs. May Sutton Bundy, Los Angeles, against Miss Helen Gilleaudeau, New York; Mrs. C. V. Hitchcock, Mexico City, against Miss H. Stuart Green, Ardsley, N. Y.; Mrs. Mary K. Browne, Santa Monica, Cal., against Miss Edith Sigourney, Boston, and Mrs. J. Cole, North Andover, Mass., against the winner of the Browne-Sigourney match.

Miss Helen Wills of Berkeley, Cal., meets Miss Virginia Carpenter, Philadelphia, in the final round of the girls' championship.

ADMINISTRATION IS ANXIOUS FOR PASSAGE OF RAILROAD MEASURE

PRESIDENT MAY HAVE TO AGAIN ASSERT HIS PERSONAL LEADERSHIP.

GROUP OF SENATORS ARE OPPOSED TO BILL

Those Favoring Measure Declare It Will Have Wholesome Effect On Business.

By MARK SULLIVAN
National Political Correspondent of the New York Evening Post and Wichita Daily Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—That the administration does not want congress to adjourn until after it has passed the so-called railway bill is generally understood, but it is also apparent that if this is to happen it will probably be necessary for the president to overcome once more his reluctance to press his personal leadership on congress.

There is a group of senators who are opposed to the railroad bill as such, and a separate group who are either opposed to taking a recess or indifferent about it. Such a combination of opposition and inertia might readily delay a bill a considerable period, or prevent its passage altogether.

Those members of the administration who have been urging congress to act on the bill base their plea on the wholesome effect it would have on the business situation throughout the country.

Roughly the nature of the bill is that the government should pay the railroads in cash at once to the extent of $500,000,000 on account of what the government owes the roads. That the offsetting accounts which the railroads owe the government should not be demanded now, but should be funded into ten year bonds, and that the cash which the government needs for the transaction should be obtained by turning over the government's railroad securities to the war finance corporation and ultimately selling them to the public.

Bill Urged by Eugene Meyer.

The direct and immediate purpose of the administration is to affect the economic situation of country favorably by making a large sum of money available for the railroads to employ labor in the upkeep of the roads. Probably the best statement of what the administration hopes to accomplish by the bill was made by Eugene Meyer, the head of the war finance corporation, in a statement to the house committee on interstate commerce. He said:

"I believe it would be a distinct economic asset to this country of the greatest importance to restore labor to a full degree of employment. If there are 1,000,000 men who are going to be employed as result of this legislation at an average of say $4 a day, that would be $4,000,000 a day of production instead of non-production, and it goes on down the line and affects all our commerce and industry and finance and agriculture, it will be one of the most important steps in reconstruction. I should feel very much ashamed as one American citizen to go through the winter with three or four million men unemployed in this country. Unemployment is merely an expression of economic bad management for the most part.

"I do not know of a single thing that would do more to restore the industry of the country at this time—before the winter comes on, when the amount of unemployed labor will be increased by the return of the men who have gone into the harvest fields this summer—than this particular measure. If anybody knows of one I would like to hear it, because I want to advocate it."

The opposition to the measure is put chiefly on the ground that, even though it is largely a mere bookkeeping transaction on the part of the government, it will amount in the end to a certain amount of renewal of the kind of credit inflation from which we have been trying to recover. Another objection, which comes chiefly from the old advocates of stringent government discipline of the railroads, is that the proposal is improper largess to railroads which, according to the critics, have already been treated with too much consideration.

EXPECT REFUSAL TO MEET REQUESTS OF RAIL BROTHERHOODS

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—Refusal to meet the requests of the railroad brotherhoods for cancellation of the recent wage cut and continuation of present working rules was expected in the announcement of western railroads today, following a conference of managers and union officials.

A committee headed by A. W. Trenholm, vice president of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha, has been conferring with big four officials for the last two days. Mr. Trenholm's committee represents all western railroads.

The request of the brotherhoods and the switchmen's union have been presented at regular national conferences with railroad managers of the eastern and southeastern lines and individual conferences are being held with the southwestern roads.

The employes have presented a four-fold proposition to the railways before referring the whole situation to the rank and file for action. The employes ask that the July 1 wage reduction be cancelled, that no more be asked of the railroad labor board, that the roads will continue to pay time and one-half for overtime and Sundays and holidays, and that the present working rules be continued for a fixed period.

CHINA ACCEPTS THE INVITATION TO THE DISARMAMENT MEET

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. — China's formal acceptance of President Harding's invitation to participate in the discussion of Pacific and far eastern questions here was received today at the state department.

By Associated Press.

PEKING, Aug. 17.—China has formally replied with a cordial acceptance to the invitation to attend the Washington disarmament and far eastern conference, it was announced today.

President Harding's sincerity, says the reply, is appreciated.

Discussing China's preparations for the conference, Dr. Yen, the foreign minister, said today that not knowing what trend the discussions might take the government had organized a special department charged with the task of preparing data upon any possible questions in which Chinese interests might be involved.

1 Nip Enough For Midnight Visitor To Chicken Roost

One nip was enough. Not hootch—bulldog.

"When I moved out into the country," said J. B. Marlow Thursday morning, "I decided to be a first class farmer or move back to town, so I bought a large number of chickens, some of very fine stock. They hadn't been on the place long before I noticed that they were disappearing nearly as fast as they had come, but I laid the blame on a wolf that had been seen loafing about the place. I could see this wolf near the barn yard nearly every day.

"I told my chicken troubles to a friend who was the owner of a big bull-dog, and our conversation ended by my borrowing his dog, and I had a kennel built in the chicken yard.

"This morning about 4 o'clock I heard quite a commotion, and frequent growls from the dog, but paid very little attention to it, thinking he was after a rat, or growling at the wolf. A little while later I was awakened again by the sound of falling lumber, and decided that it was something more serious than a rat or wolf.

"In the center of the chicken yard was a pile of lumber, about four and a half feet high and perched on this was a dusky-looking person. His feet were drawn up and from the expression on his face and his gestures, I think I can safely say he was praying. I decided it was time to go to the rescue.

"What are you doing up there?" I asked him.

"Lawd, God, boss, cain't yo' see?"

"Yes, but what are you doing in this yard?"

"I'se jest walking through. Boss, please get dat dog away from me, and I'll do anything you says."

"I won't take the dog away until you tell what you're doing here."

"Boss, mah wife's in bed sick, and wants chicken soup, an' I knowed you had lots of chickens an' would len' me one."

Mr. Marlow says the negro was panic-stricken, and the fact that the seat of his trousers was missing wasn't adding to his composure.

"Was one chicken all you wanted?" asked Mr. Marlow. "Which would you rather have, the bull-dog or the jail."

"Jail, boss, jail."

Mr. Marlow finally told the negro he would hold the dog off for one minute, and to get out of there.

"Boss, I won't need no minute," said the negro as he began picking up his feet and putting them down.

Mr. Marlow does not think the Negro is the one who has been robbing his coop. He is of the opinion that the thefts have been committed by persons wishing to sell the chickens. He is moving the pile of lumber so that the bull dog will have fair play next time.

How Old Age Comes To Those Who Invite It

—"There's a Reason"

THERE are plain rules, well understood, about keeping a piece of machinery in repair and running smoothly.

Is the body as important as an automobile engine or a furnace?

Is it as reasonable to talk about the best ways of sustaining the body as it is to talk of proper care for the engine or the furnace?

Well, then—

The body is strengthened, warmed, sustained—kept young—in a very practical and scientific way.

Some Simple Facts

Food is heat and power and renewal for the body.

After all, there's nothing mysterious or magical about what food does in serving human need.

Nothing mysterious, but much that is interesting—and important.

Some foods are particularly good for the body.

GRAPE-NUTS is such a food.

Grape-Nuts is made from whole wheat and malted barley flour — product of the two grains which are richest in food elements for human need. Under the outer, or bran coating of the grain, nature has placed phosphates and lime which go to the making of bone, and the red blood corpuscles.

This may sound like physiology, but it works like health.

Hunger Not Cheated

All the richness of the kernel, together with essential mineral elements, are retained in the making of Grape-Nuts. Often, in the manufacture of foods, some of the most vital of nature's provisions are thrown away.

The long baking process (Grape-Nuts is the result of 20 hours continuous baking) partially pre-digests the food substances, develops the starches into dextrin and maltose—giving to Grape-Nuts its own natural sweetness—and produces a food which, when served with milk or cream, has been found by chemists to be almost perfectly balanced in qualities of nutrition.

The Enemies Within

Now, old age begins in the larger intestine.

This is what the scientists have found who know the human body as the mechanical expert knows his automobile engine.

No need to go into the particulars—it's enough to say that certain effects produced by food which is slow in digesting develop fermentation and other conditions which cause the bodily machine to slow down and wear out sooner than necessary.

Grape-Nuts digests quickly and wholesomely.

Much of this is due to the fact that the long baking has partly pre-digested the nutriment; partly to the fact that there is contained in Grape-Nuts the essential "roughness" to stimulate the action of the intestines.

Health's Splendid Champion

Grape-Nuts is a delightful food, for it is uniquely rich and sweet in flavor, and always crisp. It is unusually nutritious, for it has all the body-building elements of the most perfect food grains. It is a convenient and economical food, for it is ready to eat from the package, keeps in any climate, and is appetizing to the last bit.

It builds strength and vigor without taxing the digestion or leaving, within the body, elements whose familiar harm is really the beginning of "old age."

Grape-Nuts has been a favorite food, around the world, for nearly a quarter of a century—

And there is a reason!

COTTON MARKET.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—An opening advance of four to six points on relatively steady cables and some continental buying, met renewed liquidation and southern selling in the cotton market today. No fresh news feature was connected with the decline but the reading of yesterday's weekly weather report seemed to create an impression that early month buyers are likely to be disappointed by the showing of end-August crop figures. There was also comment on reports that the unsettled tone of raw material markets had checked buying of goods for forward shipment, and a few stop orders were uncovered as the market worked back to yesterday's low level. December sold off to 12.34 in consequence with the general list selling about five to six points net lower and into new low ground for the movement. Liverpool cables said that stop loss selling there had been absorbed by a good trade demand.

Rallies to about last night's closing quotations followed the execution of stop orders on the early break. Except for covering there seemed to be very little demand, however, with the market becoming very quiet on the rally, and prices broke again later under a renewal of southern selling. December sold off to 12.12 or 7 points net lower and all the more active positions made new low ground for the movement.

Earlier liquidation seemed to have left the market in a healthier technical position and prices rallied on covering or continued bullish crop reports from the southwest. December sold up to 12.65 and prices hung steady during the middle of the afternoon with active months about 15 to 18 points net higher.

Cotton closed very steady.

New Orleans Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 18.—After making advances of two to four points on the more active months during the first call the cotton market fell off under selling, some of which was attributed to spot interests, and at the end of the first hour of business was five to 10 points under the close of yesterday. October rose to 12.32 and reacted to 12.22. The early gains were due to better Liverpool prices than expected.

After declines of 8 to 10 points the market commenced to do better on reports of crop damage in the eastern belt and a message from Galveston reporting a better spot demand there from both Liverpool and Havre. At 11 o'clock prices were 8 to 11 points higher than the close of yesterday with October up to 12.43.

Shorts covered in the late trading and the market turned very steady. Toward the close the active months were 28 to 29 points higher than the final prices of yesterday with October up to 12.58.

The cotton market closed steady at a net advance of 24 to 27 points.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—New downturns in wheat took place today with dealers giving continued attention to bearish aspects of the industrial and financial outlook. Opening quotations, which varied from ⅛c lower to a like advance, with September 1.19¼@1.19⅝ and December $1.20⅛@1.21¼, were followed by a material setback all around.

Corn, after opening a shade off to ⅛c up, including September at 64⅜@64⅝c, averaged a little lower.

Later the September delivery fell to the lowest level known at this season since 1906. The finish was weak at ¼ to 1⅜c net decline, with September 52⅜ to 52⅝c.

Oats touched a new low price record for the season, starting unchanged to ⅛c down, September 33@33⅛c, and giving no sign of power to rally.

Higher hogs steadied provisions.

About the only support was from traders who had sold at higher figures. The market closed heavy, 2⅛c to 3⅛c net lower, with September $1.16¼@1.16⅝ and December $1.17⅛@1.17¼.

LIVESTOCK.

Fort Worth Livestock.

FORT WORTH, Aug. 18.—Cattle buyers were indifferent bidders today and for the fourth day this week the market was a slow weak affair. Calves were not disposed of to a good call and on that class the trade was fairly active. Southwestern Texas contributed 20 carloads of steers, the best of which averaged 1,332 pounds and sold to an outside buyer at $5, two cars bringing that price. Some choice native steers were offered. Receipts of cows and heifers were small, most of the run being made up of mixed shipments. Receipts were 2,200 head of cattle and 1,000 calves.

The hog market averaged steady with a run of 1,500 head. One car sold at 9.85 and most of the supply cleared at $9.25 to $9.50. Tops declined 25c to 50c, the top being $7.75.

A small supply of 200 head in the sheep house sold readily on an unchanged basis. Quotations:

Cattle: Beeves, $2.75@6.75; stockers, $2.50@4.75; cows, $2.00@4.00; canners, $1.00@2.00; heifers, $3.00@4.75; bulls, $2.50@3.75; calves, $1.00@5.75; yearlings, $3.00@4.75.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Rails and equipments carried yesterday's rally to greater lengths at the opening of today's stock market. Shorts evidently were apprehensive of financial relief for the transportation companies before the congressional recess and covered contracts in those issues. Reading, Northern Pacific, Southern Pacific, Baldwin, Pullman and Westinghouse Electric averaged one point gains. Oils were irregular, Mexican Petroleum easing slightly ut soocn recovering. Food and tobacco shares were lower and Industrial Alcohol, on which dividend action is expected today, also reacted.

The market again hardened during the dull mid-session. Mexican Petroleum made up its loss, Studebaker recovered half its decline and the strength of American Locomotive which rose 1½ points exercised a beneficial effect upon most other equipments as well as steels.

Further buing of rails enlivened the later dealings. Pacifics and coalers showed gains of one to nearly two points. Industrials also were better, Studebaker proving the only noteworthy exception. The closing was firm. Sales approximated 400,000 shares.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

The state of Texas—To the sheriff or any constable of Wichita county, greeting: You are hereby commanded to summon Progressive Production company, M. J. Sullivan, C. T. Sullivan and Liberty Trust company, by making publication of this citation once each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the 78th district court of Wichita county, to be holden at the court house thereof in Wichita Falls, on the first Monday in September, A. D. 1921, the same being the 5th day of September, A. D. 1921. Then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 4th day of August, A. D. 1921, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said court, No. 11072-B, wherein John L. Anderson is plaintiff and the Progressive Production company, M. J. Sullivan, Magnolia Petroleum company, C. T Sullivan and the Liberty Trust company are defendants, and said petition alleging that on or about March 2, 1921, the E. M. F. Oil and Refining company of Fort Worth, Texas, was justly indebted to plaintiff in the sum of $5,412.91, which sum of money was then due and unpaid; that on said date, said E. M. F. Oil and Refining company was the owner of certain valuable oil and gas leases, as well as oil producing wells situated in Wichita county, Texas, including oil producing wells, situated upon block 74, Red River Valley Lands in said county. That about March 2, 1921, said E. M. F. Oil and Refining company sold and conveyed all of said holdings to the Progressive Production company, save and excepting a sufficient quantity of oil produced from said block 74, Red River Valley Lands, to pay off and satisfy said indebtedness, that the Progressive Production company assumed the payment of plaintiff's debts. That all of said defendants have knowledge of plaintiffs right to said oil produced from said lease aforesaid, and plaintiff sues for said debt and for the proceeds of said oil runs and satisfaction of his debt and for general and special relief. A more full and complete statement of plaintiff's cause of action is shown by amended copy of plaintiff's original petition. Plaintiff sues said defendant for said debt, $5,412.91, interest and costs of suit, as well as, for the proceeds of all oil runs held by the Magnolia Petroleum company procured by it from producing oil wells on block 74, Red River Valley Lands. Herein fail not, but have before said court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon showing how you have executed the same. Given under my hand and the seal of said court, at office in Wichita Falls, Texas, this the 4th day of August, A. D. 1921. A. F. Kerr, Clerk, District Court, Wichita County, Texas; by Eunice Jackson, Deputy. Aug.4.11.18.25

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

The state of Texas—To the sheriff or any constable of Wichita county, greeting: You are hereby commanded to summon C. S. Peterson, F. W. Nowell and W. L. Moore, by making publication of this citation once each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the 78th district court of Wichita county, to be holden at the court house thereof in Wichita Falls, on the first Monday in September, A. D. 1921, the same being the 5th day of September, A. D. 1921. Then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 4th day of August, A. D. 1921, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said court No. 11146-B, wherein Canadian Petroleum company, a trust, together with A. D. Hudspeth, V. L. Heim and J. M. Kellerman, its trustees, are plaintiffs and C. S. Peterson, F. W. Nowell, W. L. Moore and G. A. Morris are defendants, and said petition alleging that on or about August 17, 1920, the state of California, granted plaintiff a permit to sell 150,000 certificates of stock in its company in the state of California, of the par value of $1.00 per share and as a condition for the issuance of said permit and prior to any sales of said stock in the state of California under its blue sky law, said state required plaintiff to deposit with the commissioner of corporations of said state 469,000 shares of stock in said company, to be held as escrow pending the further order of said commissioner of corporations of said state. That in pursuance of said requirements, plaintiff caused to be issued and delivered to C. S. Peterson 30,000 shares of stock in said company, and to F. W. Nowell 115,000 shares of said stock which shares of stock said defendants agreed with plaintiffs to deliver to said commissioner of corporations of the state of California for the purposes aforestated. That the defendants took said stock and paid no valuable consideration therefore, but refused to deliver the same to said commissioner of corporations and are now withholding the possession thereof from plaintiffs, who are the owners of said stock. Plaintiff brings this suit asking for the cancellation of said stock and for judgment that said stock be not transferred upon the books of the company at any future date and that said stock certificates in possession of said defendants be held for naught, for general and special relief. Herein fail not, but have before said court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon showing how you have executed the same. Given under my hand and the seal of said court, at office in Wichita Falls, Texas, this the 4th day of August, A. D. 1921. A. F. Kerr, Clerk, District Court, Wichita County, Texas; by Eunice Jackson, Deputy. Aug.4.11.18.25

POLICE TO ATTEND FIRST SESSION OF SCHOOL THURSDAY

The first session of the police school planned by Police and Fire Commissioner J. B. Fitts will be held in the city hall court room at 8 o'clock Thursday night, according to announcement made by the commissioner this morning. The main address of the evening will be given by District Attorney Bert Wilson, while short talks will also be made by City Attorney E. M. Mann, Commissioner Fitts and Chief of Police R. W. Morgan.

In commenting on the school and on his future plans for the improvement of his department Mr. Fitts stated that it was his intention to build the police force into a metropolitan organization that would compare favorably with any like body in the country.

"Extensive plans are now being worked out for the improving of the system," he said, "and when they are finally completed the police department will be in better shape than it has ever been before."

It is understood that the major changes relate to traffic rules, the parking of cars in the downtown streets and the right of way privileges for machines in the residence sections. A number of new regulations were submitted by Mr. Fitts to the city council at its regular meeting last Monday night and as soon as these are drafted in ordinance form it is thought that they will be placed in force.

OIL AND GAS JOURNAL REPRESENTATIVE TO MOVE OFFICES HERE

Dan F. Dugan, Texas representative of the Oil & Gas Journal, will move from Fort Worth to Wichita Falls shortly and make this city his headquarters. Mr. Dugan was here Thursday and authorized announcement of his move.

This means that Texas dispatches to the Oil & Gas Journal will be under a Wichita Falls date line hereafter and that still further recognition is to be given this city as an oil center.

Such dispatches were sent from Wichita Falls some years ago, before developments in central west Texas caused a change. Now that Wichita Falls has direct connection with that section, this city will be used as the oil capital.

Mr. Dugan is one of the veterans of the oil reporting game and has been with the Oil City Derrick and Oil & Gas Journal for many years. These publications are almost universally recognized as the most accurate and trustworthy media of oil field information. Mr. Dugan has a number of friends here who are heartily pleased, to express it mildly, that he is to become a Wichitan.

TEN CENT MOVIE IS GONE FOREVER, FORD TELLS ROTARY CLUB

Some "inside" on the moving picture business was given members of the Rotary club at the weekly luncheon Thursday by Henry Ford, manager of several local theatres. J. Wilkie Talbert was also a speaker at the luncheon.

The movie business has changed some since Mr. Ford first entered it, he told the Rotarians. Not very many years ago a movie manager paid $18 a week for three films a day and took whatever the distributors wanted to send him. Then came the 'star' period when fabulous salaries were paid noted actors and actresses, and the public no longer saw a movie for ten cents.

The new era in movies, Mr. Ford said, is that of well planned, well staged productions, in which neither high salaried star nor high paid "director" figures. That the public is taking kindly to such productions, Mr. Ford said, is evidenced by the popularity of "Humoresque," a starless production.

At present, Dallas is movie headquarters for Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas, Mr. Ford said, and the Dallas houses are required to make each feature pay three per cent of the total cost of production. Films cost different prices in different cities, Mr. Ford said, according to population.

Movies pay 21 different kinds of taxes, Mr. Ford said, and last year local theatres paid Uncle Sam $6,000 per month in amusement tax alone.

J. Wilkie Talbert gave the Rotarians a discussion of what the building and loan association is doing and what it hopes to do for Wichita Falls. Primarily, he said, it will mean a city of home-owners rather than a renters.

Music by an impromptu quartet consisting of Miss Bray and Messrs. Bergin, Shepherd and Murchison was a pleasing feature of the meeting.

TIMES NEWSBOYS READY FOR STRAND THEATER'S PARTY THURSDAY EVENING

The stage was all set early in the day for the big Times-Strand theater party Thursday night at which time all Times newsboys in the city are to be the guests of the Strand management at a showing of Marguerite Clark in "Scrambled Wives," the feature production at that theater for the latter half of this week.

The newsboys, paper carriers and the officials of The Times circulation department will go in a body to the theater this evening, and those movie fans who are anxious to find out just how much noise a small boy can make when the occasion warrants are advised to get a back seat.

NEARLY ALL RURAL SCHOOLS TO HAVE NINE MONTH TERM

With but one or two exceptions all the rural schools in the county will open on Monday morning, September 12, the same date that the city school term opens up. This announcement was made Thursday by Superintendent of Schools Buri Bryant.

Nearly all the schools will have a nine-month term while a few will have eight months and three will have a seven-month term.

Superintendent Bryant stated that teachers are plentiful this year and he has a sufficient number although he is unable to give a complete list of the teachers for all the schools. He stated that a majority of the contracts have not been returned to him signed up and that it will be some time during the institute before he will be able to give a list of all.

SINCLAIR OIL COMPANY TO MOVE ITS OFFICES TO CITY NATIONAL BUILDING

Offices of the Sinclair Oil company, now located on the seventh floor of the Waggoner building, will be moved September 1 to the City National Bank building, eighth floor, it was announced Thursday by Don O. Long, local superintendennent.

The move is made so as to provide additional room needed by the Gulf Production company, which will occupy practically all of the seventh floor of the Waggoner building in addition to two other floors.

BABY WILL THANK YOU—

Baby's dimpled, tender skin needs especial attention in warm weather, and most of the soap and powder that adults use is too strong for it. Bauer & Black have prepared a soap and a powder particularly for baby's needs.

OVER 150 TEACHERS EMPLOYED IN LOCAL SCHOOLS FOR TERM

The list of teachers to be employed in the public schools of the city next year has just been announced from the office of Superintendent Schools Lee Clark. The list as compiled at present contains 153 names, but about eight more will probably be added by the time school opens in September. Two more teachers are necessary for the Booker T. Washington (negro) school and several for the various other buildings in the city.

Fifty new instructors have been added to the teaching force this year, according to Miss Blanche Clark, secretary to the superintendent, this number being needed to fill the positions opened by the new schools erected during the summer.

Assignments of the instructors have not yet been made and these will not be announced until a few days before the opening of the schools.

GREAT BRITAIN NOT DISPOSED TO TURN BACK ON JAPANESE

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—Prime Minister Lloyd George in a statement in the house of commons today concerning the recent conference of imperial premiers, said the conference has recognized unanimously that Japan has loyally observed the alliance with Great Britain during the war. He asked was it right that Great Britain should now turn about and say to Japan, "Thank you for the trouble you have taken, but we don't want you any longer."

There were cries of "No" from the commoners.
