HEAVY PURCHASES OF WHEAT AT SAN ANGELO.

San Angelo, Texas, May 23.—During the week just closed San Angelo has been visited by the representatives and buyers from many of the Eastern wool houses and mills, who have secured samples of this valuable product. The clip this year is the finest that has been produced during the last few years and will bring good prices. The annual sale takes place in the middle of June. Charles W. Hobbs, one of the largest wool merchants in this community, has on hand 750,000 pounds. The Wool Growers' Central Storage Company have in their warehouse more than 900,000 pounds. George Richardson is still at work shearing his sheep and will have a considerable quantity to dispose of during the June sales. The excellent climatic condition of the past winter are largely responsible for the present excellent showing of the wool crop.

POLITICAL BATTLEFIELD SHIFTS TO NEW JERSEY

Taft, Roosevelt and La Follette All Making Active Campaigns—Opposition to Gov. Wilson.

By Associated Press.

Newark, N. J., May 23.—New Jersey became the battlefield in National politics when Taft and Roosevelt moved into the State to battle for 23 representatives who will be sent to the National convention. La Follette began his campaign last night. Roosevelt opened his engagement in the northern part of the state. Taft will open at Camden tonight. The primaries are next Friday.

Wilson is the only Democratic candidate but is opposed by a strong anti-Wilson faction which is trying to elect unrestricted delegates.

RECITAL AT ST. MARY'S BY MUSIC DEPARTMENT

Number of Invited Guests Attend and Young Ladies Give Very Pleasing Program.

The pupils in the musical department of the Academy of St. Mary Immaculate gave a recital at the Academy last night to a number of invited guests. The evening was a very pleasing one from both a musical and social standpoint. The young performers gave the recitals in a way that reflected credit both upon themselves and their instructors. About forty took part in the program and the included both instrumental and vocal numbers.

Among those taking part were: Misses G. Hendrickson, T. Salmon, R. Cowan, F. Haddix, J. Little, Gertrude Walsh, L. Gilbert, M. Engman, L. Wood, C. Whitley, Z. Denham, R. Simpson, L. B. Anderson, E. Smith, Rose Watson, L. Fonville, F. Williamson, Z. Bell, G. Haier, G. Carver, P. Leach, M. Heard, Master C. Emmert.

DEAF MUTES DISPLAY HEROISM DURING FIRE.

Plint, Mich., May 23.—Several hundred deaf mutes, some of them not more than five years old, displayed splendid courage when the Michigan school for the deaf in this city was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. Passing hastily from room to room, the asylum teachers turned on the lights, shook the little sleepers, signaled quickly to them, received their answers in the sign language and had hardly gained the ends of their respective corridors when the mute tots were in line marching in an orderly manner from the burning building.

TRIBULATIONS AND TRIALS OF OIL MEN BEING TOLD TODAY

Oil men and owners of leases who appeared before the county commissioners this morning in connection with the assessment of leases and oil property at Electra attempted to persuade the officials that they were objects for bounty rather than levy. One asserted that the oil brought to the surface at Electra to date had cost more to get it than it had brought on the market.

The oil business was represented as a most uncertain and speculative game. The commissioners, however, were not fully persuaded that many of the leases at Electra did not have an intrinsic value and are proceeding with the assessment this afternoon.

GALLINGER ATTACKS PRESENT LEGISLATION.

Washington, D. C., May 23.—An attack "on present legislative tendencies" was delivered in the Senate by Senator Gallinger, during debate on the bill passed by the House extending the eight-hour law to labor on Government contracts. Senator Gallinger cited this measure as a specimen of "pernicious legislation."

"I hope we shall vote promptly on every measure coming before the Senate," he continued, "because the longer we stay here the more harm we shall do to the country. We are to be asked to tear up the established principles of the country and do away with the injunction. A member of the House has advanced the idea that six hours is long enough for any man to work, and I suppose that under the snap of the whip we will be forced to submit even to that."

REBEL AND FEDERAL FORCES CLASH TODAY

Wednesday's Fight Resumed—Insurrectos Said to be Holding Their Own. Result Will Be Very Decisive

By Associated Press.

Four hundred miles south of the American border near Rellano along the Mexican Central railroad, a fierce battle is being fought between the main forces in North Mexico of the rebels under Gen. Orozco and the federales commanded by Gen. Huerta.

The battle may prove to be a turning point of the revolution. Ever since late yesterday when the federales attacked, the firing has been almost incessant. It is estimated 5500 troops are engaged on each side and already scores of dead and wounded dot the desert battle ground.

The advantage early today appeared to be with the rebels in that they held their strongly fortified position repelling the repeated charges of cavalry and infantry. The government has more artillery and if the rebels are dislodged it will be because of the superior command of the federales which has been gradually forcing the rebels 114 miles north and away from Torreon, the railway gateway of North Central Mexico and originally the objective point of the rebels in their present campaign.

The scarcity of food and water, the burning heat and the stifling atmosphere that spreads over the sandy mesas where the battle rages today make it seem impossible for either side to keep their forces in the field for many hours at a time.

Yesterday's battle was resumed today after two weeks of hard marches through the desert plains of Northern Mexico. General Huerta today forced Orozco's army of 5000 insurrectos into a battle which may prove to be the turning point of the present revolution.

At daybreak the heavy artillery fire of the federales was renewed. Five hours of steady shelling interrupted from the forty big guns in the government line slowly disorganized the enemy until night interrupted the combat.

With vigor both sides resumed fighting today. The heavy artillery of the federales, projecting shells nearly four miles is counted upon by the government to drive the rebels northwest as was the case in the last battle at Cornejas a week ago Sunday.

The battle field just outside Rellano is a sandy mesa with its approaches visible for miles. High grasses from a cover for the infantry for a short distance but indications were that if cavalry charges followed the advantages gained by the artillery they might prove disastrous to the rebels. The latter are well fortified in Rellano.

J. J. Campos captured one cannon and two machine guns from the rebels. General Huerta attempted a flank movement behind the hills to the east but was unsuccessful. Orozco has been on the firing line since 5 o'clock this morning.

At 6:30 the federal main column fell back and the flank movement was checked. The federal fire was desultory.

At 7:00 a. m. the rebels were holding their own, the fire growing heavier every minute.

NEW HEAD OF KATY IN TEXAS

W. A. WEBB OF TEXAS CENTRAL APPOINTED ASSISTANT TO PRESIDENT SCHAFF.

CAUSES MUCH SURPRISE

New Official is Very Close to Employment. Formerly With Colorado & Southern Lines.

The appointment of W. A. Webb as executive head of the Katy in Texas caused considerable surprise in local railroad circles, where such a change was entirely unexpected. Mr. Webb becomes assistant to President Schaff, with headquarters at Dallas, the effect of the appointment being the retirement of A. D. Bethard, who has served as vice-president and general manager of the Katy of Texas for some time.

Mr. Webb came to Texas thirteen months ago as general manager of the Texas Central. Previous to that he had been assistant to Vice-President Parker of the Colorado & Southern.

It is worthy of mention, in this connection, that Frank Trumbull, the new chairman of the Katy directorate, was formerly in charge of the Colorado & Southern and it is not unlikely that Mr. Trumbull's former association with Mr. Webb influenced the making of the appointment.

Very few railroad men in Texas or elsewhere enjoy the esteem and regard of the employees of their lines, that is accorded Mr. Webb. Although at the head of the Texas Central only thirteen months, he was able in that space of time to endear himself even to the members of the section gangs.

On one occasion when the little child of a section hand had died, Mr. Webb saw that a special car was provided for the transportation of the remains.

It was his custom to frequently accompany the engineer on the cab and on more than one occasion he took his turn at "firing" clad in overalls.

A. D. Bethard, whom Mr. Webb succeeds as head of the Katy lines in Texas, has been in the Katy service for practically a lifetime. He began many years ago as station agent in Denton county, being elevated by numerous promotions to the executive position which he has held for some time. His health has not been good of late.

Mr. Webb, being only 34 years of age, will be one of the youngest railroad men in the country to hold a position of such importance.

BURKE BURNETT KILLED MAN TODAY

FT. WORTH MILLIONAIRE RANCHMAN SHOT FARLEY SAYERS AT PADUCAH

SELF DEFENSE IS PLEA

Old Trouble Said to Have Precipitated the Tragedy—Burnett Released on Bond.

Paducah, Texas, May 23.—Burke Burnett, of Fort Worth, millionaire ranchman and former president of the Texas Cattle Raisers' Association, shot and instantly killed Farley Sayers, a prominent King county ranchman here at noon today.

The shooting took place in the wash room of the Goodwin Hotel. Only one shot was fired by Burnett. It entered the left side of Sayers' body below the shoulder and came out on the right side below the shoulder blade. Sayers fell to the floor dead. Burnett walked from the hotel across the street to the First State Bank and told officers of the bank to telephone for the sheriff. He was later released under $15,000 bond for his appearance at a preliminary hearing, the date for which has not been set.

His plea, it is said, will be self-defense. A revolver was found on Farley's body and it is said he had threatened to kill Burnett at sight.

There were several eye witnesses to the tragedy but few of the details can be learned.

It is said that there had been trouble of long standing between the men which was lately aggravated by a dispute over some land.

Sayers was about 34 years old and leaves a widow and two children. He lived about 16 miles south of Paducah.

Mr. Burnett is the owner of the 6666 Ranch of 252,000 acres lying in King, Cottle and adjoining counties. He had been here several days.

Burke Burnett is well known in Wichita Falls and has a sister, Mrs. Tom Roberts, living here. Constable Tom Pickett was formerly employed by Mr. Burnett and is reported to have gone to Paducah several days ago in response to a telephone message from Mr. Burnett.

TEXAS COMPANY LEASE IS FILED

COVERS 420 ACRES OF BYWATERS TRACT, SHOWING HEAVY GAIN IN VALUE.

$105,000 IS TOTAL PAID

Lease Provided for Drilling of Wells to Depth of at Least 1900 Feet.

If the oil and gas right to 100 acres of land were worth $1 in March, 1910, would the same right in 420 acres of the same tract be worth $4.20 in May, 1912?

The answer of the Texas Company as evidenced by a lease filed with the county clerk yesterday was $105,000 a mere trifle of $104,995.00 more.

In March, 1910 the Texas Company leased a tract of 100 acres out of section 19 of the G. C. and S. F. survey from J. K. Bywaters and other Bywaters heirs of Lamar county for $1 and agreed to start a well within twenty days. As a condition of the lease the Texas Company was given an option on the remaining 420 acres of the tract at its market value provided the owners desired to sell, the value to be determined by what it could be sold to other parties.

Yesterday a lease was filed for record showing that the Texas Company had paid $105,000 for the oil and gas rights on the remaining 420 acres. The Texas Company binds itself to have five strings of tools drilling on the tract within thirty days and to continue the development of the tract with due diligence as long as oil is found. The wells shall be drilled to a depth of 1900 feet unless oil or gas in paying quantities is found at a shallower depth. When the production of the well in the shallow sands falls below 5 barrels daily, the company shall in the same hole or within fifty feet of the same drill to the deeper sands.

GRAIN DEALERS IN CONVENTION

PRES. J. C. HUNT MAKES ESTIMATE OF THIS YEAR'S WHEAT PRODUCTION.

HEAVY IMPORTS IN 1911

Urges Association to Try to Have Telephone Companies Regulated By Railroad Commission.

By Associated Press.

Fort Worth, Texas, May 23.—The 14th annual session of the Texas Grain Dealer's Association with 150 in attendance began here this afternoon at 1:30. President J. C. Hunt delivered his annual address, showing Texas imported fifty million dollars worth of grain last year because of the grain failure in the Southwest. President Hunt said:

"We are reminded that another year has rolled around in the history of the Texas Grain Dealer's Association. The past year has been marked by unusual shortages in nearly all grain crops in this country. Never before do I recall in the history of our association, when prices for the whole year have averaged so high. Owing to the steady advance in prices, the dealer has done well, and would have reason to feel rejoiced at his success, did he not realize that the consumer which means in large portion of the State, the farmer, had to spend all of his surplus money, and in a number of instances, mortgage or sell a part of his stock, to get money to buy feed to keep his remaining stock alive. When the Texas farmer has to pay one dollar per bushel for corn and seventy-five cents per bushel for oats and then have to buy hay at twenty dollars per ton, as was the case this past year, it is disastrous to him and relatively hard on Texas.

"When I say we have had to ship into Texas from the Northern markets this past year, millions of bushels of grain and feed, I am using no figure of speech.

"While no accurate statistics are kept and the figures I give are necessarily a matter of guess, I venture the assertion that not less than forty to fifty million bushels of corn and oats were shipped into Texas in the past ten months. This, together with other feed stuffs and hay, (not including wheat) has cost Texas in my opinion, between forty and fifty million dollars. Some of this shortage could have been avoided had the farmer been more provident; while probably the larger part of it was caused by the unusual drought.

"Present Crop Conditions.—Fortunately the heavy winter and spring rains have developed the crops and brought much needed relief to nearly the whole State. Hay, wheat and oats being especially fine. From information and statistics gathered by our secretary, we can reasonably expect from present prospects fifteen million bushels of wheat and possibly fifty million bushels of oats raised in Texas this season.

"Owing to the shortage in last year's crops, the visible supply of available grain, being low, we can, I have, reasonably expect good prices on both wheat and oats, especially that part of the crop that can be gotten to market extra early.

COLOMBIAN LETTERS ARE NOT MADE PUBLIC.

Washington, May 23.—President Taft sent a message to the senate declining to make public the correspondence between this government and Colombia relating to Panama. The President said it would be incompatible with the public interest to make it public. Secretary Knox in a letter to the President, said that publication of the correspondence "would tend to excite feeling and vitiate the atmosphere of calm now prevailing among the people of Colombia." The senate's request for the papers was at the instance of Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska.

Madero Hopes to Recapture Juarez and Employs Young Italian to Lead Troops.

El Paso, Texas, May 23.—Giuseppe Garibaldi, grandson of the famous Italian liberator has been given a special commission by President Madero to take charge of the Mexican federal troops close to the international border, with the ultimate idea of retaking Juarez for the government.

RECENT OHIO RETURNS INDICATE LITTLE CHANGE

Roosevelt's Lead is Safe, But Wilson Appears to Be Gaining on Governor Harmon.

By Associated Press.

Columbus, O., May 23.—The most recent returns indicate that Roosevelt delegates acquired in Tuesday's primaries will not drop below 32. Wilson has made slight gains and there is a possibility that Gov. Harmon's delegates will not total more than 27. On a basis of tabulation of delegates to the Republican State convention, Roosevelt apparently has 387 out of 754, while 378 are necessary to control.

AMERICAN TRANSPORT IS ORDERED TO CUBA

Reports from Island Republic Today Pessimistic—Depredations by Negro Insurgents.

By Associated Press.

Washington, D. C., May 23.—Because of reports of danger to American lives and property in Cuba the naval transport Prairie has been ordered to embark 500 marines at Philadelphia and proceed to the U. S. naval station at Guantanamo to join the Paducah and Nashville.

The State Department advises today regarding Cuba were very pessimistic. Apparently the government has been unable to estimate the strength or purpose of insurrection. Cuban military authorities admit the situation is serious but think they can control it.

INSURGENT NEGROES MAY ASK FOR PEACE.

Havana, Cuba, May 23.—A report has reached here but is unconfirmed that Gen. Espinoza and Gen. Ivolet, leaders of the insurgent negroes, have sent emissaries to the camp of the commander of the government troops near Guanatanamo to treat for terms of peace.

The Cuban government is confident that it has the situation fully in hand and is determined to accept nothing less than immediate and unconditional surrender.

A body of 700 negroes under the leadership of Gen. Espinoza set fire today to cane fields on plantations owned by Spaniards. The rural guards are unable to control the situation.

"FIRST THINGS FIRST" IS SUBJECT OF SERMON.

The largest congregation since Sunday assembled at the First M. E. Church, South, last night. Dr. Hill's theme was "First Things First." The text was Matthew VI 33: "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God and His righteousness." The sermon was addressed, as all his discourses have been during the meeting, to the members of the church—he taking the position that to secure the thorough consecration of his own people to Christ was the first and greatest work possibly to be accomplished.

The attention of the congregation is not only good but intense. The old saying about "being able to hear a pin drop," is true at all these services.

The meeting this morning was far superior, both in attendance and interest, to any of the series. The fact is, every service now is characterized in this way.

Services commence this evening at 8 o'clock and close, as Dr. Hill remarks, from time to time, "Just one hour from that minute." All those who are taking part in the meetings are encouraged more and more; and the expectation seems to be getting general that the final outcome will be the best for the church and the community in its entire history.

SLAVE TRADE IN BAVARIAN TOWN

CHILDREN "LEASED" TO FARMERS FOR WORK DURING THE HARVEST SEASON

IS BUSINESS PROPOSITION

Lessee Look Over Fine Points of Young Boys and Girls Like They Were Horses

(By Karl H. Von Wiegand, Berlin correspondent of the United Press) Berlin, May 22.—"I'll give 150 marks for him!"

"210!"

The competition was keen for the boy was a sturdy looking lad. Despite his poverty-stricken appearance, he seemed to be stronger and healthier than many of the other children. Around him swarmed a score of peasant farmers, scanning the child as they would the points of a horse. There was little sentiment in their demeanor. It was business. They were buying him, to be exact, "leasing" the boy. They expected to make a profit on their investment hence they did not want a boy who possibly would be ill and could not work hard. He was knocked down at 240 marks or $60. The next boy was younger, he lacked the robustness of the other lad; he was pale, thin and did not look as if he ever had a full meal. He went at $30.

This is not a scene from "Uncle Tom's Cabin," but from the annual "Children Market," "Little White Slave Market," some of the German radical papers term it. In the pretty town of Friederichshafen in Bavaria, here is this quaint little town in sight of the Tyrolean Alps, made famous as the place where Germany's big Zeppelin airships are built, is held the annual sale every spring, of the poor children of the Tyrolean peasants. Orphans, half orphans and children of poor peasants in the Austrian Tyrol region, who thereby profit a little, are turned over to the "German Children's Society" which in turn leases them out for the summer months on the German side of the border at whatever they will bring.

The annual market has just been held. The Austrian steamer "Maria Theresa" brought 125 boys and 30 girls ranging in ages from 11 to 16 years, across the Bodan Sea. They were quartered at the "Golden Wheel Hotel" an appropriate place for this children's lottery.

More than 500 peasant farmers from Wurtemberg, Baden, Hohenzollern and the Bavarian region along the Bodan Sea, were on hand to bid for these youthful wage slaves. Competition was keen. The demand this year was greater than the supply and prices considerably higher than last spring, were offered for the labor of the children for the summer. The children had nothing to say about their fate, whether they liked the looks of the "lessee" or not. The market was held under the auspices of the Rev. Calm, of the Tyrolean Children's Society, who has charge of them for the society.

From daylight to dark and after, the children labor, which in south Germany means about 17 or 18 hours daily. It is but natural that the lessee chief interest is to get as much out of them as possible. What the fate of some of the children is, is indicated by the Tyrolean Grenzboten, a paper which has started an agitation against this child market. It says:

"The children return to their parents and homes on October 28, if they do not fall a victim to the heavy labor, long hours, intense longing for father, mother and brothers and sisters, during the summer and are buried in the regions where they were leased."

"We ask, in what land or country would the authorities permit such a slave trade to exist? That many of these children have a hard time of it under the strangers to whom they have been leased, is evident from the fact that the Children's Society has a number of farmers on its blacklist to whom they refuse to lease children again. But what good does that do the little ones whom they may have ruined physically and morally?"

The Morgenpost of Berlin also marvels that the authorities of Bavaria, Wurtemberg and Baden would tolerate dealing in little slaves.

"There are about 2,500 artists and painters in Munich who seek to live off the work of their palettes, brushes and pencils. Many of them eke out a miserable existence. Not a few are half starved." So writes Dr. Paul Kutter in a little booklet which he has just published for the purpose of showing the poverty, misery, and wretchedness that exists in the big art center of the world—Munich.

Munich often has been termed the "Eldorado of the Artist and Painter." It enjoys even a greater fame for its beer. As students of the music flock to Berlin and Dresden, so hundreds of would-be Raphaels, Michellets, Keiths, etc., from all over the world come to Munich. It is their Mecca. Just as hundreds of music students, particularly in the United States, seem to think that all they need is to study music in Berlin for a few weeks to become a Paderwals, Kubelek, or Shugan, Keim, so scores of fully developed and embryo artists and painters seem to be under the impression that to come to Munich means fame and fortune.

Dr. Kutter tells a different story in revealing the misery, privation and disappointment that is met with. "There are not less than 2,500 artists, old and young, good and bad, who are seeking to live off their art in Munich," he says. "It is particularly among the young artists, those who come with little means, that hunger, privation and misery exist. Any kind of an old room for a studio will cost $5 a month. The least that body and soul can be kept together for is from 25 to 37 cents a day. He must have a living model, who will not pose for less than 25 cents an hour. With no money for coal, to heat their studio, kitchen and bedroom, the artists spend the cold days in winter in the cafes, libraries, museums, etc., to keep warm."

"It would be pathetic to describe the extremes to which many artists are driven. Worn out shoes, threadbare clothing and the point is finally reached where even the few cents necessary for paint and brushes can no longer be borrowed."

"The young artist sells his pictures. The inexperienced take them to picture dealers. There are some 116 in Munich. They are in business to make money and care as little about the poverty of the artist as the coffee dealers are concerned about the welfare of the plantation workers. They have paintings which sell inclusive of big gold frames for $7.50 to $15. Many of them are hastily and almost mechanically painted. The dealer offers the young unknown aspirant to fame, anywhere from 75 cents to $2 for a picture of real merit on which he probably has worked for weeks. The artist leaves in indignation."

"He tries the porters of the big hotels, most of whom do picture selling as a side line. No better success. The artist then begins to draw cartoons and comics and sends them to Simplicimus, and other comic art papers published in Munich, little dreaming that these papers are simply flooded with such contributions and many lie unopened for weeks. "Next, he tries earning enough for a meal drawing advertisements, menu cards and other commercial work. Again he finds the market so deluged that he cannot sell his wares. He tries retouching negatives in a photograph studio and earns 27 cents a day. He probably winds up playing a piano in a cafe."

In conclusion, Dr. Kutter says "Is it any wonder that so many artists here become drunkards, bunco men and even criminals?"

So Sweet of Them.

Houston Chronicle.
The Dallas Times-Herald, which backed Harmon against Wilson, advises that the Bailey-Harmon party of the party to permit the Wilsons to enjoy the full fruits of their defeat and send a solid Wilson delegation to Baltimore.

This generous suggestion touches deeply.

We cannot imagine what comedy the Times-Herald had in mind whereby the Harmon-Bailey party could embarrass the Wilsons, who less meant that Harmon's declaration of might be sent to Baltimore from the few congressional districts which House of commons: "If I had my way son failed to carry."

If the Times-Herald is agitated that thought, it may compose its mind and be at peace.

It is true the delegates to the convention are required to attend district conventions and record

SHRINE AT RANGOON

Edifice in Judson's Country is Over 4,000 Years Old.

Noted Shrine Has Gilded Dome That Rises 370 Feet Above Vast Platform—Picturesque People at Worship.

Rangoon.—Beyond the silt of the hydra-mouthed Irrawaddy, as you swing in from the Bay of Bengal and churn the turbid waters of the Rangoon river, rises a slender cone of gold out of the smoke of rice mills and oil refineries. There is nothing in all the temple east, from the mosque of Sultan Hassan at Cairo to the Shogun temples of Nikko, that surpasses it, for it is one of the few great shrines that stand out in memory as a thing apart long after the others have faded in confused perspective down the vista of forgetfulness.

That this tapering dome of gilded and bespangled handwork rises 370 feet above the vast platform of its base and that its circumference is a quarter of a mile—all this is nothing beside the wonderful life that throbs in its shaded recesses or basks in the torrid sun. Here at Rangoon, as nowhere else—not even at Benares on the Sacred River—here in Judson's country, the most Christian of eastern lands, you may best see "the heathen in his blindness" and idolatry in its grossest and most massive form. Elsewhere you see one or a few statues of Buddha; here you count them by dozens and scores—heroic size, life-size, miniatures; Buddha seated, reclining, standing; Buddha on post card and in chromo; Buddha, Buddha everywhere.

And yet it is all so resplendent in gold-leaf and so gaudy in iridescent spangles that you feel yourself to be in some stupendous playhouse or Oriental bazaar instead of in a holiest-of-all place where the feet of the countless pilgrims have turned continuously for more than two-score centuries.

It is a long climb up the damp, dirty stone stairway that leads from the two gaudy dragons that flank the entrance at the street level. At every step as you mount, on either hand, you hear the voice of supplication—not of worshippers nor of mendicants, but of vendors of post cards and melodious songs and of the "whacking fat cheroot" made famous by Kipling's "On the Road to Mandalay." When at last you reach the topmost stair and are confronted by the base of the golden dome—for the Shwe Dagon is an overtowering cone that rises direct from a stone-paved platform instead of from some forms of geometric walls—a surprise awaits you.

This dome that you saw hours ago—for it is one of the most conspicuous landmarks that the hand of man has uplifted in the east—is not itself, a temple to be entered with unshod feet and irreverent heart. It is but a gleaming tower that thrusts itself upward from a village of temples, each of which is itself a marvel of architectural beauty or a monument of tawdry ornamentation.

But the Shwe Dagon has a lovelier aspect when you turn from the pagoda dwellers to the streams of devout visitors that empty into the square from each of its four gateways. The Burmese seem to worship in family groups and they have the pleasant habit of arraying themselves in their brightest garments before ascending to the great house of prayer. It is no uncommon sight to see a dainty little lady performing her genuflections before a shrine, with the stump of a very fat and very black eclair protruding at a nonchalant angle from her tiny mouth.

We saw much more in Rangoon—we of the "Cleveland" pilgrims to so many sacred places—but this is the one overtowering memory of Rangoon.

Every Man a Markman.
London.—Colonel Seely, under secretary of war, made the following striking declaration in the course of debate on the territorial army in the House of commons: "If I had my way every little boy, when he leaves school, would be physically tramped, and it would be a very good thing if he were learned to aim with a gun."

W. J. Harvey, who is in the hotel business at Dundee, was a visitor in the city today. He left this afternoon for his home.

HEAVY PURCHASES OF WHEAT AT SAN ANGELO.

San Angelo, Texas, May 23.—During the week just closed San Angelo has been visited by the representatives and buyers from many of the Eastern wool houses and mills, who have secured samples of this valuable product. The clip this year is the finest that has been produced during the last few years and will bring good prices. The annual sale takes place in the middle of June. Charles W. Hobbs, one of the largest wool merchants in this community, has on hand 750,000 pounds. The Wool Growers' Central Storage Company have in their warehouse more than 900,000 pounds. George Richardson is still at work shearing his sheep and will have a considerable quantity to dispose of during the June sales. The excellent climatic condition of the past winter are largely responsible for the present excellent showing of the wool crop.

La Follette began his campaign last night. Roosevelt opened his engagement in the northern part of the state. Taft will open at Camden tonight. The primaries are next Friday.

DEAF MUTES DISPLAY HEROISM DURING FIRE.

Flint, Mich., May 23.—Several hundred deaf mutes, some of them not more than five years old, displayed splendid courage when the Michigan school for the deaf in this city was struck by lightning and burned to the ground.

Passing hastily from room to room, the asylum teachers turned on the lights, shook the little sleepers, signaled quickly to them, received their answers in the sign language and had hardly gained the ends of their respective corridors when the mute tots were in line marching in an orderly manner from the burning building.

TRIBULATIONS AND TRIALS OF OIL MEN BEING TOLD TODAY

Oil men and owners of leases who appeared before the county commissioners this morning in connection with the assessment of leases and oil property at Electra attempted to persuade the officials that they levy one object for bounty rather than two. One asserted that the oil brought to the surface at Electra to date had cost more to get it than it had brought on the market.

The oil business was represented as a most uncertain and speculative game. The commissioners, however, were not fully persuaded that many of the leases at Electra did not have an intrinsic value and are proceeding with the assessment this afternoon.

GALLINGER ATTACKS PRESENT LEGISLATION.

Washington, D. C., May 23.—An attack "on present legislative tendencies" was delivered in the Senate by Senator Gallinger, during debate on the bill passed by the House extending the eight-hour law to labor on Government contracts. Senator Gallinger cited this measure as a specimen of "pernicious legislation."

"I hope we shall vote promptly on every measure coming before the Senate," he continued, "because the longer we stay here the more harm we shall do to the country. We are to be asked to tear up the established principles of the country and do away with the injunction. A member of the House has advanced the idea that six hours is long enough for any man to work, and I suppose that under the snap of the whip we will be forced to submit even to that."

REBEL AND FEDERAL FORCES CLASH TODAY

Wednesday's Fight Resumed—Insurrectos Said to be Holding Their Own. Result Will Be Very Decisive

By Associated Press.

Four hundred miles south of the American border near Rellano along the Mexican Central railroad, a fierce battle is being fought between the main forces in North Mexico of the rebels under Gen. Orozco and the federals commanded by Gen. Huerta.

The battle may prove to be a turning point of the revolution. Ever since late yesterday when the federals attacked, the firing has been almost incessant. It is estimated 5500 troops are engaged on each side and already scores of dead and wounded dot the desert battle ground.

The advantage early today appeared to be with the rebels in that they hold their strongly fortified position repelling the repeated charges of cavalry and infantry. The government has more artillery and if the rebels are dislodged it will be because of the superior command of the federals which has been gradually forcing the rebels 114 miles north and away from Torreon, the railway gateway of North Central Mexico and originally the objective point of the rebels in their present campaign.

The scarcity of food and water, the burning heat and the stifling atmosphere that spreads over the sandy mesas where the battle rages today make it seem impossible for either side to keep their forces in the field for many hours at a time.

Yesterday's battle was resumed today after two weeks of hard marches through the desert plains of Northern Mexico. General Huerta today forced Orozco's army of 5000 insurrectos into a battle which may prove to be the turning point of the present revolution.

At daybreak the heavy artillery fire of the federals was renewed. Five hours of steady shelling yesterday from the forty big guns in the government line slowly disorganized the enemy until night interrupted the combat.

With vigor both sides resumed fighting today. The heavy artillery of the federals, projecting shells nearly four miles is counted upon by the government to drive the rebels northwest as was the case in the last battle at Cornejas a week ago Sunday.

The battle field just outside Rellano is a sandy mesa with its approaches visible for miles. High grasses from a cover for the infantry for a short distance but indications were that if cavalry charges followed the advantages gained by the artillery they might prove disastrous to the rebels. The latter are well fortified in Rellano.

J. J. Campos captured one cannon and two machine guns from the rebels. General Huerta attempted a flank movement behind the hills to the east but was unsuccessful. Orozco has been on the firing line since 5 o'clock this morning.

At 6:30 the federal main column fell back and the flank movement was checked. The federal fire was desultory.

Washington, D. C., May 23.—Because of reports of danger to American lives and property in Cuba the naval transport Prairie has been ordered to embark 500 marines at Philadelphia and proceed to the U. S. naval station at Guantanamo to join the Paducah and Nashville.

The State Department advises today regarding Cuba were very pessimistic. Apparently the government has been unable to estimate the strength or purpose of insurrection. Cuban military authorities admit the situation is serious but think they can control it.

INSURGENT NEGROES MAY ASK FOR PEACE.

Havana, Cuba, May 23.—A report has reached here but is unconfirmed that Gen. Esponoz and Gen. Iyonet, leaders of the insurgent negroes, have sent emissaries to the camp of the commander of the government troops near Guanatanamo to treat for terms of peace.

The Cuban government is confident that it has the situation fully in hand and is determined to accept nothing less than immediate and unconditional surrender.

A body of 700 negroes under the leadership of Gen. Esponoz set fire today to cane fields on plantations owned by Spaniards. The rural guards are unable to control the situation.

"FIRST THINGS FIRST" IS SUBJECT OF SERMON.

The largest congregation since Sunday assembled at the First M. E. Church, South, last night. Dr. Hill's theme was "First Things First." The text was Matthew VI 33: "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God and His righteousness." The sermon was addressed, as all his discourses have been during the meeting, to the members of the church—he taking the position that to secure the thorough consecration of his own people to Christ was the first and greatest work possible to be accomplished.

The attention of the congregation is not only good but intense. The old saying about "being able to hear a pin drop," is true at all these services.

The meeting this morning was far superior, both in attendance and interest, to any of the series. The fact is, every service now is characterized in this way.

Services commence this evening at 8 o'clock and close, as Dr. Hill remarks, from time to time, "just one hour from that minute." All those who are taking part in the meetings are encouraged more and more; and the expectation seems to be getting general that the final outcome will be the best for the church and the community in its entire history.

PRES. J. C. HUNT MAKES ESTIMATE OF THIS YEAR'S WHEAT PRODUCTION.

HEAVY IMPORTS IN 1911

Urges Association to Try to Have Telephone Companies Regulated By Railroad Commission.

By Associated Press.

Fort Worth, Texas, May 23.—The 14th annual session of the Texas Grain Dealer's Association with 150 in attendance began here this afternoon at 1:30. President J. C. Hunt delivered his annual address, showing Texas imported fifty million dollars worth of grain last year because of the grain failure in the Southwest. President Hunt said:

"We are reminded that another year has rolled around in the history of the Texas Grain Dealer's Association. The past year has been marked by unusual shortages in nearly all grain crops in this country. Never before do I recall in the history of our association, when prices for the whole year have averaged so high. Owing to the steady advance in prices, the dealer has done well, and would have reason to feel rejoiced at his success, did he not realize that the consumer which means in large portion of the State, the farmer, had to spend all of his surplus money, and in a number of instances, mortgage or sell a part of his stock, to get money to buy feed to keep his remaining stock alive. When the Texas farmer has to pay one dollar per bushel for corn and seventy-five cents per bushel for oats and then have to buy hay at twenty dollars per ton, as was the case the past year, it is disastrous to him and relatively hard on Texas."

"While no accurate statistics are kept and the figures I give are necessarily a matter of guess, I venture the assertion that not less than forty to fifty million bushels of corn and oats were shipped into Texas in the past ten months. This, together with other feed stuffs and hay, (not including wheat) has cost Texas in my opinion, between forty and fifty million dollars. Some of this shortage could have been avoided had the farmer been more provident; while probably the larger part of it was caused by the unusual drought."

"Present Crop Conditions.—Fortunately the heavy winter and spring rains have developed the crops and brought much needed relief to nearly the whole State. Hay, wheat and oats being especially fine. From information and statistics gathered by our secretary, we can reasonably expect from present prospects fifteen million bushels of wheat and possibly fifty million bushels of oats raised in Texas this season."

"Owing to the shortage in last year's crops, the visible supply of available grain, being low, we can, I believe, reasonably expect good prices on both wheat and oats, especially that part of the crop that can be gotten to market extra early."

"Our association has grown the past year, and I feel sure has rendered good service to its members, through the able way in which our (Continued on Page 2)

COLOMBIAN LETTERS ARE NOT MADE PUBLIC.

Washington, May 23.—President Taft sent a message to the senate declining to make public the correspondence between this government and Colombia relating to Panama. The President said it would be incompatible with the public interest to make it public. Secretary Knox in a letter to the President, said that publication of the correspondence "would tend to excite feeling and vitiate the atmosphere of calm now prevailing among the people of Colombia." The senate's request for the papers was at the instance of Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska.

GRAIN DEALERS IN CONVENTION

arbitration committee have performed their difficult task.

"We admit to membership in our association only firms that are reputed to be honorable, trustworthy and competent to fulfill their contracts.
The man who tries to avoid the filling of his contract, because the market goes against him; or the man who is not willing to arbitrate his differences with a member, before our arbitration board is not desired. I believe, however, that every good grain dealer and every flour mill in Texas can derive some real benefit from membership in the association and that we can be mutually helpful.

"Recommendations—I recommend the cultivation of a friendly and cordial spirit towards the flouring mills of the State; they are our friends and customers; in the same business that we are, and I would like to see every good mill in the State a member of our association.

"At a recent meeting of our executive committee, I had occasion to note, with pleasure, that every member of the committee feels friendly toward the suggestion of cordial relations and co-operation with the mills.

"I recommend a revision of our trade rules, making them plain and comprehensive, so as to avoid any construction that is ambiguous. With this in view, I recommend the appointment of a revision committee of three, who shall submit to this association, a complete list of rules, as may to them seem best for the association; retaining, omitting, or adding to, our present trade rules.

"I recommend that we continue our efforts to place the telephone and telegraph companies under State control. I have never been able to find a reason why these very important public service corporations should be permitted to make their own rates and form their own regulations, without restraint, while every railroad in Texas gets its rates from, and is regulated by, the State commission. The grain dealers of this State lose thousands of dollars annually for lack of state protection from these corporations. We must pursue an aggressive policy, and with this in view, I suggest that we continue the ad-interim committee and instruct them not to let this matter rest until these corporations are safely under State control.

"I trust also that we may find the text legislature composed of men who favor this measure, who favor reform in legal procedure, and other needed legislation, and who will oppose the consuming of time in purely political measures.

"Finally—I have an ambition to see our association, the best organization of its kind to be found anywhere. To this end, I would like to see such a spirit of fraternity and of helpfulness exhibited by our members toward each other, that we shall feel it a pleasure to be so associated, and this fraternal spirit made so manifest that those on the outside, may be made to feel that we have the true interest of the grain trade in Texas at heart, and that it is an honor to belong to such an association.

"Of what value is this or any other association, unless it exhibits and practices this spirit of helpfulness?
If you have differences with a fellow member, and you can't interpret your contract like he does, don't write him in ugly letter, and question his veracity, and thus widen your differences; and if he says 'we cannot see alike and we are both honest in our convention, and I suggest that we arbitrate,' then don't say 'I don't see anything to arbitrate.'

"I suggest that we deal as much as possible with our own members, and always with firms of good standing and reputation. The reason that some firms quote and sell grain several cents under the market, is frequently because they are dishonest enough to repudiate a contract when the market goes against them, and when the market goes their way they can well afford to offer bargains. If you persist in trading with them they will get you sooner or later.

"Trade with honest dealers. I wish you everyone—all the success the coming season, that you can stand."

that the milk has something to do

Do You Have a Bank Account?

The possession of a bank account is a matter that must be of interest to every man, woman and child in any prosperous community. Many people without stopping to give it consideration, are inclined to delay in making a start along this line. When you stop to think about it there is really no good reason why you shouldn't have a growing bank account. This bank is ready and willing to help you save. ONE DOLLAR is all that is needed to open an account. You have the privilege of withdrawing your funds whenever you want to. Still, with all these inducements and incentives to become a saver there are hundreds of people in our county who do not deposit their money in a bank. If YOU are among this number, do not wait any longer, bring your first deposit to this bank and get a bank book.

HARRINGTON EMERSON OF NEW YORK SPEAKS ON "THE SOUL OF ADVERTISING."

AWARD THROPHIES TODAY

Roswell Gets Prize for Having Largest Proportionate Number of Ladies in Attendance.

By Associated Press.

Dallas, Texas, May 22.—The "Printers' Ink" cup for the club doing the most instructive work during the year was today awarded to the New York advertising men's league. Roswell, N. M., carried off the bronze trophy for the club bringing the greatest proportionate number of women to the convention. They came all the way in autos bringing eleven ladies about 30 per cent of the total membership.

Several clubs brought "better half" delegates, Atlanta and Oklahoma City having eleven each and many others with large delegations. Toronto and Waterloo, Iowa brought the largest number of ladies, each club having fifteen in the party.

An address on "The Soul of Advertising," by Harrington Emerson opened today's discussion. He said:

"Consider three of the most attractive and beautiful things that live—flowers, fruit, women. It is from them that we shall learn about the soul of advertising."

"The flower wants the bee and the butterfly to help it. If it is not helped it will not ripen into fruit, it will fade, wither and die. It must advertise. So it decks itself out with all imaginable beauty of form and color. It pours out perfume that is carried miles afar. Those who scent the perfume, those whose eyes are charmed by the color and form, hasten to where the flower is."

"In the flowers and in fruits you can find the soul of advertising, and also concrete, definite examples of successful advertising practice."

"The soul of advertising, as of other psychological control of humanity, consists in first liking the one you are claiming you serve so that he will in turn like you. There is a gulf between getting up as good a watch as can be made for the money and asking a dollar for it, and taking a man's dollar and giving him as little as possible in return. There is a tremendous difference between running the safest steamer in the world, incidentally also the fastest and most luxurious as are the Cunarders, and charging high prices for the tickets and giving speed and luxury and neglecting every underlying moral principle of efficiency."

"Therefore, the soul of advertising further consists in making the client, the buyer serve commercial ends by first giving him what he most needs, in such agreeable form that he is willing and eager to purchase. A dinner prepared by a French chef is more healthy, more digestible than one prepared by the unskilled cook and incidentally it tastes so good that we are willing to pay three times as much for it. The whole aim of the good cook is to put what is good, not what is bad, in palatable form. Therefore, the fact is recognized that the more solid benefits are etherealized, are spiritualized, are made romantic not by direct appeal to the grosser instincts of self-preservation, race preservation and parasitism, three major instincts but by appeals of color, of perfume and of taste. The flower never advertised the fact that it had proteins and hydrocarbons, very useful to bees and butterflies as food and building materials. It advertised color and beauty and sweetness and took pains to put something of transcendent value back of them. The fruit never advertised starch and cellulose, it advertised color and beauty, and orna and incandescence and it gave with these qualities transcendent food value. Woman does not advertise her usefulness, she advertises her attractiveness, and the woman who makes goodwives, also the real essentials, a whole life of self-effacing devotion."

"To what extent have advertisers grasped the soul of advertising?" James Schermerhorn of Detroit, was among last night's speakers. He said:

"Publicity can do for us what the light that fell upon the Damascus road did for Saul; it can save us from ourselves. It is the searchlight turned back upon our own purposes and methods. It can save nations, states and parties by uncovering the refuge of deceit and the hiding place of duplicity. Some far-sighted corporations are beginning to love light rather than darkness. They are coming out of their secret places to give their side of the case to the common people."

"Professional reserve is blinking in the sunlight of publicity. It thinks it may be able to stand it eventually. What a blessing to mankind, if ministers, doctors and lawyers would daily let their credentials and records be known of all men, so that publicity could point the way straight to the right door in the urgent hour of stress and need."

The medical associations have a greater horror of getting into print than they have of transmitted infection through the marriage of the physically unfit—a frequent tragedy that might be averted if ethics did not impose solemn silence upon the

Sherman 5, Denison 4

Sherman, Texas, May 22.—One of the largest crowds ever accommodated in the Athletic park witnessed the game here this afternoon in which Sherman defeated Denison by a score of 5 to 4. Napier's pitching was easily the feature of the game. Townsend saved the game in the eighth when he connected for a scorching single into left field with one man on and two down, tying the score. Napier's one-base hit and Bennett's netted the winning tally.

Score by innings:

Sherman 102 000 020—5 8 4
Denison 000 201 010—4 6 4
Batteries—Napier and Townsend; Clark and Bobo.

Ardmore 9, Greenville 1

Ardmore, Okla., May 22.—Greenville could do nothing with Reed today, while Shoup was pounded hard. Kizlar, for the visitors, made two circus catches in left. Woodward featured at the bat for Ardmore.

Greenville 100 000 000—1 4 2
Ardmore 002 015 100—9 13 1

learned men who could save the race through preventive publicity. Publicity can save bodily health through popular enlightenment and business through multiplied appeal.

As a man advertises from day to day in his own business, so he. It is really the old-fashioned sign of conversion, "taking a stand in meeting." It is the formulation of your business creed, your confession before men.

You are putting into form your best promptings, your fondest hopes commercially. What you have written, you have written, and when it stands out from the printed page day after day, it may speak to the necessities and purses of others, but it speaks to your sense of consistency and integrity.

If at the outset your promises are fairer than your performances, there is hope; for your copy proves that you know what you ought to do in your dealings with the public. Give conscience time and it will catch up with your copy; for self-accusation is a self-starter, and is not restricted by the speed laws.

Advertising may be self-revelation to begin with; but on a long contract it is pretty liable to become self-regeneration. For we all aspire to become of becoming. It is the distressed that despair. Publicity is the advertiser's pledge, his covenant with the consumer in the open.

Daily repeated and daily tested it should come to be in good time—for true worth is not gained at a bound, but toils upward through the night—the lodestar of his better self, the light that saves!

LURID GAME IS WON BY LOCALS

THIRTY RUNS, THIRTY-SIX HITS AND TWELVE ERRORS IN YESTERDAY'S CONTEST.

REGULAR TOWN LOT GAME

Drillers Take Lead in First Inning and Keep It Growing—Doomats Fight Gamely.

In a game, or rather an exhibition that reminded one of the good old days, when all the score-keeper had to do was to cut notches in a piece of pine scantling, the Drillers defeated the Doomats from McKinney yesterday afternoon. It is reported on what seems to be good authority that the score was 21 to 12.

The performance resembled a marathon, everybody running bases until their tongues hung out. The McKinney boys made enough runs and hits to win two ordinary games but by the side of what the locals did, their efforts pale into insignificance.

A total of 24 hits were recorded for the locals, with just that many for the visitors. Everybody on the Wichita team got at least two. Guthrie was up seven times, getting five hits. Clark, Phillips and Chapman got three each.

After the game appeared to be safely locked up the locals ceased to exert themselves and the contest was prolonged just the two hour mark. There was not much baseball. It was simply a case of hit and run, hit and run. Wright, the very elongated specimen who started in the box for the visitors lasted five innings, being replaced by Morgan who was some improvement.

Duke Morris presented a new batting order yesterday, with Guthrie leading off. To judge from yesterday's game, it seems to work pretty well and there is little doubt that it has been needed. There are still some changes for the better that might be made, but these will have to be worked out.

Ten of yesterday's thirty-six hits were for extra bases and of these, McKinney players got ten. There was a familiar face in the Doormat lineup, Foley White. Foley has been playing ball in Texas since the year grandpa's barn burned and he is not ready to be counted out yet. He is credited with being one of the best base-runners in this circuit and developed an attack of it yesterday.

Yesterday's game seemed to be over in the first inning, when the locals drove in six runs. After a breathing spell in the second they went at it again, this time for eight runs. Seven more were added in subsequent innings. McKinney kept battling bravely on even after the game was worse than hopelessly lost, and managed to give a fairly good account of herself, everything considered.

The trouble with McKinney seems to be on the infield. McGee at first fields his position in almost faultless style, but none of the other stations are competently filled. All of yesterday's errors on the McKinney side were on the infield, some of them on ridiculously easy chances that should have been handled faultlessly.

McKinney will be here the remainder of the week. Yesterday's score:

Use My Fruit Shelves For a While Now....

YOU GET IT BY AUTO DEL.

PHONES 422 & 232

The fresh fruit season is almost here. Only a few weeks away, and while you are waiting for it to arrive both for immediate use and for fruit preserving let me make this suggestion. Use my fruit shelves for a while for 2 purposes. 1st. To supply your immediate needs, and 2nd. To get an idea of the quality of my Hunt's Cream of Orchard fruits.

I am quite sure that with a fair trial of these fruits, on your table right now, you will make up your mind not to put up any further this fall at all, but will place an order with me for a full variety of fruits under this brand at my special fall delivery price.

A great many families in Wichita Falls have learned this secret in past years and have already told me that they wanted to place their order for next winter. Very soon, I will have a man out taking orders for these fruits and in the meantime, I should like to have you follow my suggestion and try one or two varieties on your table now. Let me talk with you about it.

The question: Can Roosevelt come back? has only been partially answered.

That he will secure the Republican presidential nomination is now almost assured.

As to whether or not one-half of the Republicans were sincere in saying they were opposed to "the third term" idea, will be determined finally at the general election.

With a man like Wilson as the nominee of the Democratic party, the chances are that a majority of the people of the United States will vote against Roosevelt for the third term.

It is quite possible they might do the same if the nomination were given to Harmon, Clark, Underwood, or even Bryan. But there is abundance of evidence to prove that of the names mentioned, Wilson is by far the strongest and most popular.

With the passage of the new pension law, which was championed by Champ Clark and which adds $35,000,000 pension annually to the already large pension grab, every federal soldier who has reached the age of 65 years, and who served as long as 30 years during the war between the States will receive $1 per day from now until his death, without regard as to whether he ever smelt powder or was in any way injured during the war. This will explain to some extent the popularity of the Democratic presidential candidate in States where federal soldiers are most numerous, and also why his name as a Democratic presidential candidate was left off the Democratic ticket entirely in those States that furnished the bulk of material for the southern army. There are thousands of federal soldiers on the pension roll today whose health is good, and whose annual incomes from the conduct of their legitimate business amounts to more than $2500 per year, which is much more than the incomes of equally as many southern soldiers who will be taxed for the payment of this additional pension grab. There is a strong possibility that Champ Clark will be the Democratic nominee for president, but if so, how can any truly southern man vote the ticket without having a feeling that he has voted to place in the highest position within the gift of the people a man, while a Democrat, has gone further toward increasing the pension burden than even the most fanatical bloody-shirt waver the north or east has ever had the nerve to ask for. Of course, as Democrats, we will vote the ticket, but it will prove as bad a pill for some to swallow as it was at the time Gen. Hancock was made the Democratic presidential nominee, and who boasted that his record as a soldier for the north would substantiate the statement that the forces under his direct command had killed and slaughtered "more d—n rebels than that of any other general in the northern army."

EDITORIAL COMMENT

STOOD STILL.

Clebune Review.

The papers Sunday chronicled the passing of a man that was said to "stand still." We have been told that one either had to go forward or backward, but this quaint character seems to have refuted this. But the fact of a man's standing still doesn't astonish us. We know fellows who not only stand still but seem to go backwards, in traveling, on a fast train the trees and buildings which are stationary seem to go backward, and in the rush and forward movement of business nowadays a great many of those who are actually standing still seem to be going backward very rapidly. It must be a sad life to lead when one is out of joint and out of harmony with the age in which he is living. Here is the pathetic story of a man who stood still:

He was known as "the man who stood still."

As owner of one of the biggest stores in Northern Illinois outside of Chicago during the civil war, he prospered. After the war he failed to keep abreast of the times and the same goods which he carried then still adorn the shelves and show windows of the store.

Five years after the war he was still making a profit. In ten years more the place was a curiosity shop and has continued so. The hoop skirt, barber striped hose, jet jewelry and like antiques continued a part of his stock.

In later years he was the only one who entered the place except visitors to the city. He did no advertising. He had about $10,000 worth of goods and settled down to wait for customers who never came. He was at business at 7 o'clock each morning and remained until 6 o'clock in the evening. He was 77 years old.

One of the strikingly significant features of the pre-convention campaign is the manifest absence of any genuine popular enthusiasm for the Democratic candidates. From Champ Clark to Judson Harmon, none of them has been able to stir the voters. Woodrow Wilson, who it was expected, would make a strong appeal to the masses of the people, has disappointed

FOUR HELD AT TULSA FOR BANKER'S MURDER

Wife of Deceased and Three Men Bound Over Following Preliminary Examination.

Tulsa, Okla., May 23.—"It now becomes in painful duty to bind the four defendants over for trial in the district court."

These were the words of Judge J. J. Slack, and marked the closed incident in the preliminary trial of Guy D. McKenzie, Mrs. Laura Reuter, Glover (Bud) Bell and Joe Baker, all charged with the murder of Charles T. Reuter in his home at 1 o'clock Sunday morning, May 5.

The decision came after an all afternoon devoted to argument by both state and defense. During the time of the defense's arguments, the venerable judge, aged and feeble, time and time again wiped the tears from his eyes. The dense mass of humanity crowded into the courtroom was visibly affected in the appeal of Judge A. J. Biddison of the defense, as he deplored the fact that the dead man's widow, and twice a mother, had had her name linked with the crime.

Sheriff McCullough consented on account of the dangerous condition of Mrs. Reuter to allow her to remain at the home of friends last night. She was on the verge of collapse all day and was nervous when court adjourned. She and her children, 7 and 3 years old, are at W. W. Stover's where they have since the death of the husband and father.

A most dramatic scene ensued on the announcement of Justice Slack's finding, which followed County Attorney Malloy's argument at 6 o'clock. Mrs. Reuter fell in a heap. The three men, who have shown but little emotion or even interest through the five grueling days, broke into tears as they surrounded by relatives and friends. Even Bell's Indian wife became hysterical. The tremendous crowd was moved out by officers.

Arguments lasted all afternoon. A pin's dropping could have been heard when Prosecuting Attorney Pat Malloy, soft-voiced and easy of manner, arose to reply. A woman began clapping her hands, and a spontaneous outburst of applause swept over all without an effort made to check it.

The arguments were of a most bitter nature. A. J. Biddison made an attack on the officers.

The same counsel served for all in the examination, but no plans for the trial which probably will not be before August, were announced. The state charges collusion of the four with alleged intimacy of Mrs. Reuter and McKenzie as the motive, with robbery as the secondary motive of the actual perpetrator of the crime. McKenzie has an alibi.

Mrs. Reuter's application for bond will not be considered. The state will attempt to keep the other defendants in jail.

ARRESTED AT VERNON FOLLOWING AUTO TRIP

Following an auto trip through North Texas and part of Oklahoma in which he represented himself as the agent of an Eastern oil and gas concern, a man is being held by the officers at Vernon and may be called upon to face charges.

R. J. Abbott, connected with a local garage, was employed by the supposed representative to pilot him in an automobile to the points he wished to visit. A stop was made at Crowell, Foard county, where a company was organized and work started on a rig; it is said this transaction netted the visitor about $1500.

Mr. Abbott's expenses and services for the trip amounted to $275 for which he accepted a check on an Oklahoma bank. Investigation developed that no such bank existed and Mr. Abbott immediately got busy with the wires and the arrest followed.

BANKER CHARLES MORSE IS BACK IN NEW YORK.

New York, May 23.—Charles W. Morse and Mrs. Morse, who sailed for Europe Feb. 14, shortly after Morse's sentence in the Atlanta penitentiary, was commuted by President Taft, returned today. Mr. Morse talked freely with the newspaper men. As to whether he intended to return to the business world, he said that would depend upon how his health keeps up.

The former banker declared he had gained a great deal by his rest in Europe, and his looks confirmed his statement. After touring Italy and Germany, he spent the latter four weeks of his trip at Wiesbaden, taking the baths. A physician there told him that with careful attention to his diet he would live "quite a while."

WILBUR WRIGHT IS REPORTED VERY ILL.

Dayton, Ohio, May 23.—The first change in the condition of Wilbur Wright, who is critically ill with typhoid fever, was for the worse and his physician, Dr. D. B. Conklin, said: "This has been the worst day yet and the case is very uncertain."

REBELS ATTACK TRAIN, BRAKEMAN IS WOUNDED.

By Associated Press. Laredo, Texas, May 23.—Advices from Torreon under May 21 say: In or near Nevilles, eight miles from Torreon, a train which left here with a small escort Tuesday morning was fired upon by the rebels and one brakeman was mortally wounded.

NO PANAMA TOLLS, IS HOUSE VERDICT AGAIN.

By Associated Press. Washington, D. C., May 23.—The House today reaffirmed its decision that no tolls should be charged American vessels for coast wise trade for passage through the Panama canal. The provision was bitterly fought and the result greeted by cheers.

OIL NEWS.

E. A. Dale and associates are getting ready to drill a well in Woodruff Heights at Electra.

W. J. Sheldon brought in a fine well in Woodruff Heights at Electra this week. It is reported to be a 150 to 200 barrel producer.

Benson and Little have a star rig on the ground and will drill to the shallow sand on the Douglas lease. Their well in the 1100 foot sand is holding up well and is a good producer.

Concrete is being laid at Electra for the Fort Worth & Denver's new passenger and freight station.

The contractors are putting the finishing touches on the new high school building at Electra.

Operations at Childress.

Last week work was suspended on the Cooper oil well on account of a delay in the arrival of a car of drill pipe. The pipe has arrived and the last of it is being hauled out today.

The Orient Gas and Oil Development Co. have sold their contract for drilling the well to the Great Southern Oil and Development Co. The latter company is much stronger than the Orient company. They are operating at Electra and are also drilling two wild-cat wells near Crowell.

The company is also in the producing business and expect to bring in their first well in the Electra field this week. The men in charge of the work at Childress are B. F. Robbins and W. L. Power. Mr. Robbins was formerly connected with the Witherspoon Cattle Company, the ranch headquarters being eight miles south of Crowell. He has been in the oil business for some time. Mr. Power has been in the townsite business with the Orient railroad company. Their oil company is incorporated under the laws of Texas for $50,000.

The new company has ordered much new material to drill the Cooper well and from now on work will be rushed on the well. They have plenty of capital to carry out their contract with Dr. Cooper. The company also expects to take leases in Childress county, believing that oil will be found. They are guaranteeing to develop within one year or pay a money rental.

JAPANESE OF TODAY

Physician Visits Flowery Kingdom After 30 Years.

Topknots Have Vanished and Hata Reappear—Changes Among Women—"Hemist" Being Given, and Classic Music Is Enjoyed.

Tokio, Japan.—Dr. Thomas C. Mendenhall last summer revisited Japan after an absence of 30 years. He says that it was not the tall chimneys of new factories or the big steamships flying the Japanese flag that most impressed him, but a thousand minor details which nevertheless made the contrast with the picture of life there as he had remembered it.

"What, for instance, had become of the topknot, or small tuft of tied up hair, that partially covered the shaven head?" he says in the Oriental Review. "Gone, absolutely! Not one was to be seen in Nagasaki, Osaka, Kioto, Tokio or other city, except on the head of an actor and then it was soon discovered to be part of a wig. In the country one or two were found, the insignia of ultra conservatism.

"The absence of the queue was made up for by the presence of the hat on the head of nearly every man and boy; although formerly the habit of hat wearing was so rare that hats were constantly found where last deposited by the owners, who had gone off without ever missing them.

"Shoes of the western model have become nearly as necessary a part of a man's dress as the western hat and the number of men who clothe themselves completely after the western fashion is now so great that they have long since ceased to attract special attention.

"Few things in Japan have been so fixed and unalterable as the fashion in woman's dress. While the material of which it is composed may range from the poor and cheap to the rich, costly and exquisitely beautiful, the model has been practically the same for centuries.

"But even in this a very considerable change has somehow been brought about, and it is especially noticeable in the style of hairdressing now all but universal among Japanese ladies. The new style is vastly less complicated and difficult, and hence less costly than the old. It is not very unlike some of the fashions recently in vogue among the western people, and to the general European taste is more artistic and beautiful than the elaborate coiffure which so long prevailed.

"There are many indications of a tendency to change other long established features of the costume of Japanese women and it does not seem rash to predict the abolition of the obi, the tremendously large, heavy and often very expensive sash, with which a Japanese lady encircles her waist and which in the eyes of most foreigners detracts so much from the grace of her movement.

"To abandon this classic feature of woman's dress at once would be little short of a revolution; but already it has disappeared from the authorized and generally prescribed outfit of young women and girls at school, who now dress in very attractive style, uniform in model with charming variations in color according to the taste of the wearer.

RAIL CHIEF HELD IN COURT

President Elliott of Northern Pacific is Witness in Case He Knows Nothing About.

Spokane, Wash.—Though ready and anxious to be called to the witness stand, President Howard Elliott of the Northern Pacific railway, was kept waiting in the superior court here from 9:30 a. m. until 6 p. m. before being allowed to testify in a case about which he knew nothing. President Elliott was served with a subpoena last week while visiting Spokane.

Asked concerning the shipment of 20,000 cement sacks, for the loss of which the railroad is being sued for $1,700, Mr. Elliott said: "There are about seven million freight transactions a year and I do not think I recall this particular one."

Kill Trapped Eagle. Placerville, Cal.—An eagle measuring 79 inches from tip to tip of its wings is on exhibition here. It was caught in a trap near Riverton by Louis White and Joseph Wells. The traps were baited and set for wild animals. The eagle put up a hard fight before he was killed by the trappers.

SHORT MEDICAL TALKS

BY DR. DUNCAN & DUNCAN

LECTURE NO. 24, "PRICES"

Over 800 people have consulted us in the last 4 months. Many did not take treatments because they thought our prices too high. The fact is our prices here have been less than any place we ever practiced. We realize that our rate is a little more than the ordinary physician charges, but you must also take into consideration that it is little effort and only requires a few minutes for a doctor to write out a prescription. With our treatments it takes from a half to an hour to give a treatment. We work hard to cure our patients; we want everyone to be satisfied and most of them are. WE ARE GOING TO MAKE A SPECIAL RATE for 10 days or from now until June first.

We are going to give every one a chance to take a month's course of treatment. We are going to make the price the same to all. No matter what your disease may be we are going to give you a chance to try our methods. No matter whether you are sick or just a little sick, we will give you our lowest rate. You can now have an opportunity to try MILD MEDICINE, Osteopathy, Electricity, vibration, super-heated air, light therapy and other modern methods. The rate will be so low that you can not afford to suffer. This rate will be until June 1st only. If you start between now and June first you will get the same treatment at almost half the price we usually charge.

Dr. Blanche A. Duncan has made a specialty of diseases peculiar to women for 20 years. She treats women only. Thousands of women in Texas feel that they owe their health and life to her. There are a great many here in Wichita Falls who think the same way. She is equipped to treat you by non-surgical methods, and request you to ask any of her many patients about the treatment they received. We will give free consultation and examination. No matter what disease you have (except consumption which we do not treat) call and be examined and see if we tell you the same as other doctors. Do it now.

The Terrible Tragedy of the Auburn Tresses

NEW YORK.—No matter how many times you walk along Amsterdam avenue, in the sixties, you will never see Elizabeth O'Rourke in the group of women standing around the entrance of the New York flat building in which she lives laughing and exchanging the neighborhood gossip or running out to the stores near by, writes Maude H. Neal in the New York World.

If you should ask for her of any of the tenants they will look puzzled and not be sure than any such person lives there, although they could tell you in a second if Mrs. Casey's husband came in sober the night before or whether Annie Allen is still keeping company with her young man.

Yet it is no so very long ago that Elizabeth O'Rourke was one of that same group—a plump, good-natured Irish girl, "giving back as good as she got" in the banter of the neighborhood as it passed in the early evening hours, when the streets are turned into a sort of promenade for the young people who have been tied up in factories and stores all day.

Every morning she issued forth briskly at the same hour and every evening she came back, more or less wearily, a well-known, well-liked figure in her little world.

If you recall these facts to the gossiping crowd at the doorway a flash of recollection will come across one of the faces, and in a low voice she will say:

"Oh, you mean—why, she lives fourth floor back, on the right." As you start to climb upward it seems to you that you have left a hush in the chattering group behind you—a strange, significant silence that you do not understand.

But if the world has forgotten Elizabeth O'Rourke you find her very far away from that same world when you have entered her three-room flat where she lives with her old mother and her brother. The chances are that you won't see her.

Visitors Not Welcome. When you have told the old woman who peers out whom you are seeking she bids you wait a moment. Then there is the sound of hurrying steps inside and a door closing before you are admitted. Then the mother tells you that Elizabeth is not at home.

However, I did see her, because I had called on business, to find out what progress her suit for damages for the loss of her hair had made. I knew of her misfortune, so I was prepared to conceal any shock I might feel, and very glad I was that I had myself in hand when she stood before me with a hesitant, fearful look in her eyes, like one who is expecting a blow.

It was easy to see that Elizabeth had been a good-looking woman, with a soft, almost childish expression on her face. She is 28 years old, and on account of her good features her misfortune has left her less repellent than it otherwise would. Her health seemed excellent, so that she is quite likely to live to be 70 or 80, but she was very nervous at first as she sat fingering the skirt of her shapeless black dress.

Twelve years ago, when Elizabeth was 16, she followed the precedent of all her seven sisters and brothers and went out to make her living. She got a place with a drug manufacturing firm, and from that time on all the working hours of the day were passed there.

Before the Trouble. It was an uneventful life. Perhaps if you had asked Elizabeth then if she was happy and satisfied she would have hesitated at declaring that she was.

Two years ago Elizabeth had become what is technically known as a pill-coater. In good times she made seven dollars a week—in slack season—well, she made less. It is easy to imagine that magnificent sum did not purchase all the things Elizabeth would have liked to adorn herself with to go to Coney Island and the church fairs and the picnics of the O'Brien association with her "young man."

But Elizabeth had one glory—besides a nice disposition and a simple, kindly face—she had a head of beautiful, curling auburn hair.

"Well," said Elizabeth, "one morning—that morning I mean—the blow-pipe of the machine kept falling down on me and I was very impatient. Every time it did that it meant that I had lost time and could coat fewer pills that day. You see, I got two cents a thousand, and to make a dollar you have to hurry. It fell down again, so I climbed up to fix it. I was getting down when I felt a little tug at my head.

"It was my hair, caught in the shafting. I tried to pull it out, but it wouldn't come.

"I felt myself going up. I screamed. I felt a horrible, horrible pain—something tearing—I was way up in the air—I couldn't stand it—that tearing.

"Then something gave way. I fell. I didn't know anything more for a time. I couldn't see.

"The doctor came and put something in my arm. It was days and days later when I came to in the hospital.

It was sickening to hear it. But she had described just what had happened. Her scalp had been torn off, and her forehead and her ears. Her eyelids, too, were torn away, and only a relentless Fate forbore to snatch along with them her eyes.

So you can see why she came in to see me looking as if she expected a blow. She conceals her scars the best she can, but what woman could ever venture forth with that terrible blight across her face and in her soul?

"I can't bear to go any place," she said. "People look so, and I can see many of them turn away in disgust. You can't imagine how you feel to be a thing like that. And, oh, the children—that is what I hate and what hurts me most. They stare at me so and the smallest ones are afraid of me—that's the worst. And I'm always afraid some bad little boy, who doesn't realize, might laugh or shout at me."

Her Life's Monotony.

"What do you do with your time?" I asked.

"Nothing. I help with the housework, but that's soon done. Then there isn't anything else. I walk around—from the door in there to the window—and look out—then back to the table in the back room, and then to the window again. There isn't much to see. There's no use for me to try to fix up, or make clothes. I've just let myself go. What's the use? I'm in prison—I am—in prison."

"What do you think about, Elizabeth?"

"I don't know—most of the time about my trouble. I cry a great deal. I am so sad. I live it all over, every day. What is there for me to think about? Or hope for? Or plan about? You don't know how wretched I am. Sometimes I cry out. But what's the use?"

"I try to be patient. But what's the use? What the reward? There isn't anything in the world for me."

We sat looking out the window at the chimneys and the littered fire-escapes and the washings flapping in the wind. After a few minutes, Elizabeth went on.

"When I first knew anything in the hospital, they wouldn't let me see myself. For weeks before that I was in darkness, because of the injury to my eyes, but when I was in the light I wanted a handglass. They wouldn't give it to me. My head was all bound up, but I didn't know."

The nurse tried to break it to me, but I didn't guess. Finally the day came when they first unwound the bandages from my head and I saw what had happened. I thought I couldn't live. The tearing day it happened came again, worse, to my heart. I thought I would kill myself rather than live a thing like that. But I didn't—I don't know why."

Keeps Torn Tresses.

Miserable Quasimodo, looking out over Paris from your refuge in Notre Dame and watching the dying struggles of the only woman who had called you friend—wretched "Man Who Laughs," eating your heart out with your Wolf-unhappy Cyrano, resigning your dreams of love—were your sufferings like this?

We sat there in silence, a few minutes, then Elizabeth said, "Would you like to see my hair?"

Without waiting for my answer, she went over to an old trunk and began taking things out of it.

Finally she brought out a shoe box. I cannot explain the feeling of horror I had when I saw it. I felt as if I were going to see a dead thing. Not a peaceful, quiet corpse, laid quietly away, but some strangled creature, whose unhappy ghost refused to be laid.

Then she opened it, and we stood looking down at it—a great mass of curling auburn hair, that had been cut out from the machines when the accident happened. Some of it was snarled and broken, but in places it triumphed into the burlesque waves which had once laid so smoothly upon the poor, marred head.

"It was pretty, wasn't it?" she said, putting a gentle, caressing finger lightly upon a curl.
