Reds Closing On Vitebsk In Mighty Drive

By TOM YARBROUGH
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sunday, June 25.—Two mighty Red armies are closing pincers from the north and south on Vitebsk in White Russia and the German-fortified town already is threatened with encirclement, Moscow said early today.

More than 7,500 Germans were killed in this area as Soviet infantry fought its way forward with the massed support of artillery and aircraft, the Russians asserted.

In closing in around the Nazi fortresses, Hitler's closest remaining outposts to Moscow, Red troops made two new break-throughs in Nazi defenses to the south, advanced forward up to 25 miles in the north and lengthened the whole central fighting front to approximately 150 miles.

900 Places Liberated

More than 900 places were liberated in fighting on all fronts yesterday, including more than 200 which had been held by the Finns in the lake region to the north.

The early morning supplement to the Russian communique said the Germans were rushing reinforcements into the battle for Vitebsk by forced march from the south. The last remaining railway into the town from the Germans' rear was cut Friday on the first day of the offensive on the main eastern front.

Fighting grew in ferocity, but the supplement said Red troops were hitting relentlessly at disorganized Nazi formations and were moving ahead on both sides of Vitebsk.

On the northwestern flank of the town more than 2,000 Germans were killed and huge quantities of equipment destroyed or captured. Southward toward the rail junctions or Orsha and Mogilev, where the new break-throughs occurred, the supplement said approximately 3,500 German soldiers were slain in bitter battles. Six hundred dead were counted in one small sector, Moscow added.

Premier Stalin announced in special orders of the day that the two-day old offensives northwest and southeast of Vitebsk had been expanded to 50 miles on each side of the town and in addition new break-throughs farther south in the direction of Orsha and Mogilev were revealed.

The momentous Soviet successes on all active fronts were recounted in a series of three special orders of the day by Stalin and the regular nightly communique, which said a total of nearly a thousand places had been liberated in the wide-spread fighting.

Two-State Storm Toll Reaches 142

PITTSBURGH, June 24—Weary rescue forces searched for more victims today in the ruin left by a great storm which devastated parts of southwest Pennsylvania and West Virginia, taking a toll of 142 lives and injuring hundreds.

Almost hourly reports from villages and towns hit by the tornado which traveled a narrow twisting path from McKeesport, Pa., near Pittsburgh, nearly 100 miles south to Shinnston, W. Va., brought grim detail of more deaths and destruction.

The huge job of relief was under way by federal and state agencies while many injured victims lay in hospitals and homeless hundreds wandered through the streets of wrecked communities, many of them looking for friends or relatives who might have been killed.

Families Wiped Out

Latest reports showed 101 killed in West Virginia, 38 in Pennsylvania and three in Maryland just across the line from West Virginia.

Some families were wiped out. Hospitals and improvised receiving stations were swamped with the injured, some of whom died during the day. Other scores were reported missing. Many dead were unidentified. Wrecked communications and clogged roads kept some communities from reporting their casualties for hours.

Dwellings, farm buildings and other structures by the hundreds were demolished, littering streets and highways with wreckage. The twister, of only brief duration, lifted houses from their foundations and smashed them to bits, uprooted trees and tossed them crazily about.

Shinnston Hardest Hit

The storm lashed out hardest against little Shinnston, a coal mining community of 2,800 near Clarksburg, W. Va., where 58 were reported killed, and took its heaviest Pennsylvania toll around Charters and Clarksville, 40 miles south of Pittsburgh, and at other communities within 20 miles of Pittsburgh.

Relief work was reported in good control.

Hospitals all over West Virginia sent blood plasma to Shinnston and one allotment was flown to the city from Charleston, the capitol.

Relief Crews Sent In

The Red Cross immediately sent disaster relief crews into the stricken areas with blood plasma, medical supplies, food and cots for the injured and homeless.

Civilian defense organizations and military police and Army Medical corps units from Pittsburgh and other cities worked side by side with local police, fire and relief agencies.

The devastation was terrific. Striking at nightfall, the storm trapped many families in their homes. Through the night, rescue workers dug by the light of flashlight and torch to extricate the bodies of the dead and injured from the ruins.

Twister Lashes Lorenzo, Other Areas Get Rain

A baby twister struck Lorenzo about 3:15 o'clock Saturday afternoon as the weatherman emptied his bag of tricks over the South Plains.

The twister twisted the sheet-iron roof off the Higginbotham-Bartlett lumber yard shed, and dropped it piece by piece in the business section of the town, mostly along Main street, according to reports. None was hurt, it was indicated. There was no word of damage to other buildings or residences.

Telephone circuits to Lorenzo were out of order, and it was not possible to get information directly.

Heavy Rain And Hail

A torrential rain and a hail of "three or four minutes duration" accompanied the twister. Water accumulated on Main street and overflowed into several stores. The rain fell so rapidly that gutters were unable to deliver the water, which seeped through the roofs of several buildings.

One piece of sheet-iron hit a truck belonging to Ralph Weese, shearing off parts of a sideboard and the end gate. A section measuring approximately 10 by 15 feet landed directly in front of the Piggly Wiggly store. The flying tin, it was said, probably would have resulted in injuries, if not worse, if people on the street had not scurried inside stores at the approach of the storm.

W. M. Howard, of 2508 Twenty-ninth street, Lubbock, said there was "slight hail damage" which extended from Lorenzo to several miles southwest of there.

Weather Is Scrambled

Elsewhere in the area came reports of sandstorms, electrical disturbances, hail and heavy rains. In Lubbock it was estimated that not more than a quarter of an inch of rain fell.

Shallowater received two inches, Ropes .50 and Slaton an inch. The rain at Slaton was packed into a short period, flooding the streets. With it came a flashing electrical storm.

J. R. Whitmire, highway patrolman, said hail and a heavy rain fell at Levelland, tearing up gardens. He reported rain from Levelland to Lubbock, but said the heaviest fall extended only about a mile and a half east of Levelland.

Fifth Pounds Through Stiff Nazi Defense

By GEORGE TUCKER
Associated Press Staff Writer

ROME, June 24.—The Germans hurled fresh armor and their air force into the battle of Italy today, but French elements of the Fifth Army thrust on through the mountains to the south bank of the Ombrone river at a point about 115 miles northwest of Rome.

In this advance, the Fifth Army overran Roccastrada, southeast of Pisa, near which the Germans are preparing a stand, and the strong resistance apparently was a bid for more time.

Heaviest Fire Of Week

The point reached on the Ombrone was six miles northeast of Roccastrada. The French had to fight through the heaviest enemy artillery fire of the week and tread through heavy minefields to reach it.

West of Roccastrada on the coast another column of Allied infantry and tanks was fighting at the outskirts of Fallonica, which straddles the coastal highway leading north to Pisa.

Bad weather, which has given the Germans some respite from tactical air attack, did not keep a force of from 250 to 500 U. S. Liberators from blasting the Ploesti oil fields of Romania today for the second straight day, and attacking a rail bridge over the Oltul river on a main line from Ploesti to central Europe.

Harbor Still Ablaze

Fires blazed in the harbor and storage area of Giurgiu, 40 miles south of Bucharest, which was bombed yesterday despite strong aerial resistance which cost the enemy 31 aircraft, a communique announced. Ten Allied heavy borbers and eight other planes are missing from Friday's operations, in which Mediterranean air force planes made 1,500 individual flights in spite of unfavorable weather.

On land, the Germans registered one of their few successes since the big Allied push began by recapturing Chiusi, nine miles southwest of Lake Trasimeno on the center of the front.

The British Eighth Army beat off counterattacks north of Perugia, which lies east of the lake, captured the village of Corciano and cleared the enemy from Monte Gioga, three miles north of Perugia.

Nazis Blowing Up Installations As Troops Close In

By GLADWIN HILL
Associated Press Staff Writer

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, Sunday, June 25—American shock troops closing in for the kill last night drove to within 1,000 yards of Cherbourg's southern city limits, and were so close that observers could see the Germans destroying installations inside the city, which also was torn by the explosion of ammunition dumps.

A dispatch direct from the field by Don Whitehead, Associated Press front correspondent, said Cherbourg was almost blotted from view by a black smoke pall as the Americans steadily expanded their deep wedge in cracked German lines despite fierce resistance.

The new American penetration occurred early last night, said Whitehead's dispatch which was filed at 8 p. m. (1 p. m. central war time). There also were some signs of enemy demoralization he had said in an earlier report.

Systematic Progress

Headquarters communique No. 38 issued at 11:30 p. m., told of steady progress on a semi-circular front around the city and said "each link in the chain of defenses is being systematically destroyed."

The bulletin said the Americans were less than two miles from the heart of the city, but this version was outdated by late reports directs direct from the field.

A French civilian who reached American lines said Cherbourg's remaining civilians had hidden wine and champagne with which to celebrate the Americans' expected entry soon into the city.

The Yank infantrymen were fighting through a maze of ravines and 400-foot plateaus where the Germans were dug in with guns so mounted as to lay down a murderous cross-fire.

Crack Concrete Barrier

They also had cracked a formidable concrete barrier in the city's southern outskirts, finding only four bomb-dazed Germans alive in a pile of dead.

British naval forces thwarted a German sea escape attempt early Saturday morning, sinking possibly five small German ships, as the Americans ashore battered their way toward Cherbourg from the south, east and southwest.

The Americans had the support of Allied artillery firing at point-blank range. Air support also was the closest yet, so close that American officers had to withdraw their forward patrols early yesterday as hundreds of U. S. Marauder medium bombers blasted the German pillbox positions with 250 tons of explosives. American airmen were only a few minutes flying time from Cherbourg, using newly-created Normandy landing fields.

Information Hours Late

Information reaching headquarters was hours late, and it was considered possible that American patrols might already have enter-

Raiders Destroy 84 More Planes And Five Ships

By LEONARD MILLIMAN
Associated Press War Editor

AT LEAST 84 more Japanese planes and five ships have been destroyed by American warplanes in new protective raids extending 700 miles either side of U. S. invasion forces on Saipan in the southern Marianas islands.

Japan has lost 44 ships definitely sunk, two probably and 47 damaged, plus 638 planes in the two weeks since the attack on Saipan began. If supporting Caroline island raids are included Japanese plane losses total 723, against 98 American. All but 25 American airmen were rescued.

More than 60 enemy planes were shot down when they tried to intercept daring carrier forces striking at Iwo island in the Kazan group, midway between Saipan and Tokyo, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz reported yesterday. The five ships and a dozen more enemy planes were knocked out in carrier strikes at Pagan, Rota and Tinian in the Marianas.

Dozen In Southwest

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's land based bombers demolished another dozen on the ground at Yap, east of the Philippines and 650 miles southwest of Saipan, he reported today. Big fires were left blazing there and at nearby Ulithi and Sorol islands.

Other bombers smashed at Truk in the central Carolines and Shumushu in the Kurlies on the northern approaches to Tokyo. The Japanese radio reported other raids, including Guam.

Nimitz announced American ground forces were forging ahead on Saipan despite extensive Nipponese use of land mines and MacArthur announced that 2,333 Japanese have been killed in the Biak campaign, off northwest Dutch New Guinea. This is a ten to one ratio compared to American losses.

Japs Advance In China

Only consolation for Japan in the day's war news was a new victory by her armies in central China as they neared the halfway point in their drive to cut China in two.

Allied troops in North Burma seeking to reopen a land supply route to China, edged deeper into the enemy's Myitkyina base and apparently completed encirclement of Mogaung, only other remaining Japanese stronghold in the area.

GOP's Slate Seen As Dewey-Warren

By PAUL MILLER
Chief of AP Washington Bureau

CHICAGO, June 24. — Republican legions stormed Chicago tonight for their first war-time convention since 1864 amid increasing talk of a "hands across the nation" ticket headed by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Gov. Earl Warren of California.

After nearly a week's preliminaries, the rank and file of delegates and campaigners poured in. They taxed hotels and transportation. They perspired and argued in hotel rooms, lobbies and bars, they overwhelmed restaurants.

Most of all, they got seriously, excitedly ready to nominate a candidate for President of the United States—but amid speculation that climactic developments might come even before the convention starts.

This speculation grew and spread as plans were laid for caucuses of the big delegations of California (Monday) with 50 votes, Pennsylvania (Sunday night) with 70, and Illinois (tonight at 9:30) with 59.

Decisions by these states to throw first—or second — ballot support to Dewey would, his headquarters believed, clinch the nomination for the man who still says he's "not a candidate."

Might Take Second

A break toward Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio would reverse the so-called "draft Dewey" tide, perhaps engineer a complete turn. There was continuing speculation also that if Bricker does not receive the presidential nomination he might consider the second spot.

Rep. Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts, permanent convention chairman, arrived and predicted that Gov. Earl Warren of California—most-discussed vice-presidential possibility—will take the second place spot if offered it. Warren has said he wants nothing from the convention.

With all of this in mind, both Bricker and Dewey headquarters went all-out in the battle for delegates as national chairman Harrison E. Sangler predicted a fast-moving convention, highlighted by.

1. Swift approval of the party's 1944 platform after its presentation to the convention Tuesday by the resolutions committee.

2. Nomination of a presidential candidate by Wednesday night, a vice-presidential candidate Thursday morning.

3. Speech of acceptance by the nominee Thursday afternoon.

Nazis Lash U. S. Russian Bases

WASHINGTON, June 24. (AP)—A number of American planes were destroyed in a recent German air raid on two Russian airdromes used by the American Air force in shuttle bombing operations over Europe, the War department announced tonight.

Three crewmen also were lost as a result of the attack on the fields, apparently those used by Italian-based and Britain-based bombers in the shuttle flights over Axis targets.

While the type of the destroyed planes was not specified, they presuambly were Flying Fortresses or other heavy bombers.

Further details were not available.

(It was announced in London tonight that the U. S. Eastern Strategic Air force had announced that three persons were killed and several planes destroyed in the German raid on two airdromes in Russia.)

RAF Out Again To Robot Ramps

By HENRY B. JAMESON
Associated Press Staff Writer

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, Sunday, June 25.—RAF heavy bombers thundered out over the southeast coast of England early today in the fifth large-scale Allied aerial mission in 24 hours with the Germans' flying-bomb ramps in northern France their apparent objective.

The RAF attack was made as the robot bombs fell again on Britain after a 15-hour lull.

Many Formations

Numerous formations filled the night air, taking three-quarters of an hour to pass over a coastal town, as they opened a new week of aerial assault, combining support for the invasion and defense against Hitler's rocket weapon.

Soon after the planes had passed out of sight heavy gunfire was heard from the Calais and Dunkerque areas.

At 4 o'clock this morning the German radio said there were no enemy planes over the Reich, but earlier it told of "nuisance raiders" leaving the Rhine, Hannover and Brunswick areas.

Both U. S. and RAF heavies made attacks Saturday afternoon and night against the launching ramps of the Nazi flying bombs, following up earlier attacks on the same targets by medium bombers.

Robots Cause Damage

Some casualties and damage in southern England was reported caused by the attacks of the flying bombs early today. Before one

Dates Set For County's Drive

The intensive drive to push Lubbock over the top in the Fifth War Loan drive has been set for Thursday and Friday, July 6 and 7, according to an announcement Saturday by Neil H. Wright, county chairman, after a conference with the drive committee.

Until that time, he said, buying in the drive in the city will continue on a voluntary basis. The intensive campaign will seek the subscriptions needed to reach the total quota of $4,685,000, including $1,110,000 in Series E bonds.

Buying Said Too Slow

Exact figures on the progress of the drive were not available Saturday. The county chairman said, however, that voluntary buying has been "too slow." Lubbock county still has far to go to maintain its record of never having failed to exceed a War Loan drive quota.

A few scattered reports were made, and they were most encouraging. These came through Rural Chairman Roy Boyd.

Henry Mahoney, Shallowater chairman, reported investments totaling $30,437.73 in his community. The quota of $38,137 will be reached in Shallowater, he promised.

In Roosevelt, $27,750 in maturity value bonds were sold at a rally Friday night. This equals more than $20,000 in cash value, or more than half the $35,138 quota.

Boyd announced that a rally is scheduled in Cooper High school

Cherbourg Called Fire-Spitting Hell By Nazis Command

LONDON, June 24 (AP)—Cherbourg is a "fire-spitting hell," and German troops are retreating into its recesses "only after they have fired their last bullet," the Berlin radio said tonight in quoting a front line report.

"Never before have the defenders had to withstand such assault waves," said the report of the German correspondent, Lutz Koch. "They could not help but retreat. From land—with infantry and tank divisions and an artillery barrage—and from the sea, German positions were constantly shelled while the town and supply roads are under constant air bombardment by day and night.

Other German broadcasts said strong American tank concentrations had been sighted north of St. Lo, mid-Normandy communications city, and forecast that "a new break-through attempt will be made in that sector," 43 miles southeast of Cherbourg.

Wallace Concludes Chungking Mission

CHUNGKING, June 24. (AP)—Vice President Henry A. Wallace ended his mission to Chungking today with a joint Chinese-American press release which declared that enduring peace in the Pacific would depend on permanent demilitarization of Japan; understanding, friendship and collaboration among China, Russia, Britain and the United States; and recognition of the right of self-government for Asiatic peoples now dependent.

The statement said that Wallace, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and other Chinese officials who held discussions in "an informal, frank and friendly atmosphere," had "found themselves in agreement on basic principles and obpectives."

DeGaulle Denies He Plans Moscow Trip

ALGIERS, June 24 (AP)—French authorities here said today there was no plan at present involving a visit to Moscw by Gen. Charles de Gaulle, head of the French committee of national liberation.

(The Berlin radio said yesterday in a broadcast heard by the Blue network that de Gaulle was preparing to visit the Soviet capital at the invitation of Premier Stalin).

FORMER RANGER DIES

LAREDO, June 24 (AP)—William M. Rayn, 63-year-old former Texas Ranger captain, died here early today from a heart ailment. He was Ranger captain under the Gov. James E. Ferguson administration, was active in oil development and later served as Webb county deputy sheriff. A native of Gonzales county, he is survived by a brother and two sisters.

British Ships, Planes Sink Three U-Boats

LONDON, June 25. (Sunday) (AP)—Three German submarines were sunk and several were damaged in a battle with British ships and planes inside the Arctic circle which developed out of an attempted attack on a convoy to Russia in April, the British Admiralty disclosed today.

Six enemy planes attempting to direct the U-boats to the attack also were shot down by naval fighter planes.

The only Allied loss at sea or in the air was one plane downed by a U-boat. Its pilot was saved.

ESCAPEE CAPTURED

ABILENE, June 24. (AP)—Rudolph Thielicke, 28, German paratrooper captured in Sicily, escaped from the Camp Barkley prisoner of war stockade, but was picked up by local police early today after four and one-half hours of liberty.

ODT To Ration New Commercial Vehicles

WASHINGTON, June 24. (AP)—The War Production board today turned over to the Office of Defense transportation full authority to ration new trucks and other commercial motor vehicles.

The new plan becomes effective July 1, replacing joint operation of the rationing program by the two agencies.

Texas Bond Sales Total 136 Million

DALLAS, June 24. (AP)—Fifth War Loan bond sales reached a total of $136,643,453 in Texas today, Chairman Nathan Adams of the State War Finance committee reported.

Adams said the response from purchasers of the series E bond—so called "little money" bond—had been good, adding that sales for this security totalled $42,120,150 or 33.7 per cent of the $125,000,000 goal.

The bond chairman said buying of other securities by individuals was also going at a brisk clip—sales amounting to $73,345,282 or 31.1 per cent of the $236,000,000 assignment.

Adams reported an intensive campaign of corporations and other non-banking investors will begin Monday.

Girl's Body Found In Ship Channel

HOUSTON, June 24. (AP)—The body of Miss Lenora Buckley, 19, was found early today five miles below Morgan's Point where she drowned after the car in which she was riding with three companions plunged into the ship channel Thursday night.

The crew of a ship coming up the channel saw the girl's body floating. They reported to the coast guard which recovered the body.

Miss Buckley came here about a year ago from Palestine to work for Houston Shipbuilding corporation. The three other occupants of the car were recuperating today from shock.

LLANO MAN DIES

LLANO, Tex., June 24. (AP)—W. B. Collins, 66, postmaster here for 12 years, died of a heart attack tonight. Prior to his postmastership, he was editor and owner of the weekly Llano News for 30 years. Funeral services will be Monday.

First Casualties Of Invasion Reach U. S.

WASHINGTON, June 24. (AP)—The first arrival in this country of invasion casualties from the beachhead in Normandy, France, was announced tonight by the War department.

Two men, an officer and an enlisted man, arrived at Mitchel Field, N. Y., at 6:45 p. m., cwt., aboard an Air Transport command hospital plane, the departmetn said.

It added, however, that "it is not contemplated that additional casualties in large numbers will be returned to this country immediately."

The wounded were not identified.

FORGOT ONE MARRIAGE

DALLAS, June 24. (AP)—An oft-married Highland Park woman today was served with papers in a divorce case. Her comment was:

"You know, I'd forgotten all about that one."

U.S. Argentine Policy Flayed

DALLAS, June 24. (AP)—Byron G. Skelton, Temple, Texas, attorney and former special assistant to the ambassador of the United States to Argentina, charged today that the Argentine government is pro-Nazi, pro-Fascist, pro-Axis, anti-United States, anti-British and anti-United Nations.

He told the Dallas Bar association that the situation is "the result of incompetence of career officers in our Buenos Aires embassy and fumbling of the ball by the State department."

Career Diplomats

Said Skelton: "Our continued appeasement can be traced directly to the door of the career diplomats."

He added: "During the years when Nazism took effect in Germany, Argentine Army officers were invited to Germany to study military tactics at Germany's expense and many served in the Nazi Army. While the Germans and Italian were building up the totalitarian idea in that country, the United States seemed to be perfectly oblivious to it and did little, if anything, to bring Argentina into our camp."

Skelton asserted that in 1943 the Argentine government awarded millions of pesos worth of government contracts to the German black-listed firms who are enemies of the United Nations, even went further and bought raw materials in the name of the Argentine government and delivered

Nazis Slay Many Frenchmen In Bloody War On Sabotage

PORT BOU, Spain, June 24. (AP)—In a bloody attempt to halt sabotage, the Germans were reported today to be shooting French hostages in groups of 10 in several villages and towns between Toulouse and Bordeaux as saboteurs severed both rail and canal communications between the Mediterranean and Atlantic in southern France.

At the same time, another report reaching here said the Germans had scored a victory over French Maquis, or guerrilla forces, in one Jura mountain town but that the battle was but one of many raging between the Nazis and southern Frenchmen.

Approximately 100 Frenchmen have been shot in southern France by German firing squads since Wednesday, a report said, relating that several weeks ago the German commander of the Tarnetgaronne department ordered all mayors of towns and villages along railroad and canal routes of the area to keep day and night guard against sabotage.

The Saturday following D-day, the report said, both canal and railroad routes were cut. The next night the Midi canal locks were dynamited. Last Thursday morning, a witness said, a force of 200 Germans arrived at the little town of Grenade, north of Toulouse, and selected 10 Frenchmen at random. The hostages were machine-gunned in front of the populace which had been assembled by the Nazis.

Similar executions took place the same day at several other towns in the district.

The report said a number of German soldiers had been slain recently by snipers.

Arguments Close; ICC Takes Under Consideration Rate Equality Plea

WASHINGTON, June 24. (AP) — The Interstate Commerce commission had under consideration today one of the most bitterly fought and longest controversies in its history as a rate fixing body — the plea of the South and West for rail freight rate equality with the East.

With the close of two weeks of legal argument yesterday came an optimistic prediction from Tennessee's Gov. Prentice Cooper, chairman of the Southern Governor's conference, that the ICC would decide in favor of the South and set a new uniform system of rates covering all territory from the Mississippi river to the Atlantic coast.

Parity with the East in class rates AA, those applying to finished products, is vital, Cooper declared, for postwar prosperity in the South and successful reconversion of its war plants for peacetime use.

South's Development Barred

The South is now shut off from industrial development by a barrier of rates 30 per cent higher than those of the East and has a billion-dollar interest in the removal of that barrier, Cooper declared.

The legal arguments concluded five years of study of the rate situation by the ICC.

The city of New Orleans and some other southern shipping interests opposed equalization on the ground that lower southern rates on manufactured goods would lead to a boost in southern raw materials rates.

New England and eastern railroad and industrial interests declared parity in rates on manufactures would put their sections at a disadvantage because of the south's lower rates on raw goods.

Spokesmen for some southern railroads told the commission their roads would be unable to operate with low rates both on manufactures and unfinished products and forecast a rise in raw materials rates if parity were established.

Southerners contend that costs of providing rail transportation in the North and South are alike and therefore class rates should be the same. Parity with the east, they told the commission, would raise per capita income in the south, stimulate industries and make for postwar prosperity.

Commission members would give no indication of when a decision might be expected.

New Skipper Finds Everything Except 'Neutral' On Ship

WITH THE U. S. NAVY in Britain (Delayed)—(AP)—The rapid growth of the American navy has given birth to many stories of green men sailing new ships in strange waters.

One concerns a new skipper who was rushed aboard a ship with orders to get her underway as soon as possible. In the excitement of a new command plus the necessity of speed, the skipper gave the order "full speed ahead" before casting off his lines and the ship lurched and lunged clumsily. Then he ordered full speed astern and the quivering vessel repeated its performance and struck another ship.

In desperation he shouted to a quartermaster:

"How do you put this thing in neutral?"

Buster Owens Heads Littlefield C. Of C.

LITTLEFIELD, June 24. (Special) — Following an election here Buster Owens was announced as the new president of the chamber of commerce.

In making the announcement, E. C. Cundiff, secretary, said there is some doubt as to who will be the new vice president as Jack Farr and Hardy Shelby revived equal numbers of votes for that office, 25 each. A decision will be made soon, he said.

New directors to serve for the year are: J. O. Garlington, W. B. Cox, and I. D. Onstead.

Gallup Poll Shows Last-Minute Bricker Drive Has Fallen Short

Coast-To-Coast Survey Shows Dewey Choice Of GOP Followers On Convention's Eve

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., June 24. — With the Republican nominating convention opening Monday, the popularity of Gov. John W. Bricker as a presidential nominee, has increased slightly while that of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey has declined, a final survey by the Institute shows.

However, Governor Dewey continues to be the choice of an overwhelming majority of Republican voters, leading other Republican candidates by a wide margin in every section of the country.

GALLUP

The present popular standings of Dewey, Bricker and Lt. Commander Harold E. Stassen, the three men most widely talked about as nominees, are shown below, together with the trend since the first of the year.

	Dewey	Bricker	Stassen
Jan	42%	8%	6%
Feb.	45	7	5
Apr.	55	9	7
May	65	9	5
TODAY	58	12	6

Other Republicans, including Wendell Willkie and Gen. Douglas MacArthur, receive a total of 24 per cent in today's survey.

One question of great concern to political leaders is which Republican candidate would run the strongest race against Roosevelt.

While Republican ranks usually close up solidly behind whatever candidate is named by the GOP, surveys indicate that Dewey runs a better race against Roosevelt than Bricker does as of today.

When voters of all parties were asked to make a choice between Dewey and Roosevelt, assuming they are the nominees, and to make a choice between Bricker and Roosevelt, if they are the nominees, it was found that Dewey runs 7 percentage points better than Bricker at this time against the President.

By sections, Dewey as of today runs 3 points better than Bricker against the President in the East Central states and in the South, 8 points better in the Pacific Coast and Mountain states, 9 points better in the New England and Middle Atlantic area, and 10 points better in the West Central states.

However it must be emphasized that the above describes the situation before the convention opens. If Bricker is nominated the attendant publicity and the consolidation of Republican support behind him as the standard-bearer might put him in just as good a position against Roosevelt as Dewey holds today.

VOTERS' REASONS

IN the course of many surveys on Republican candidates in recent months the Institute has collected the main reasons which followers and supporters of each of the various leaders give for favoring him.

In the case of Dewey, Republican voters single out for praise his record as governor of New York and praise him also for being fearless and energetic. For example: "He has a good record as governor and as district attorney before that. . . . He knows how to get things done without quarreling with people. . . . He would do away with bureaucracy, wasteful spending, and red tape, and give us a business-like administration. . . . He is young, aggressive, energetic and has new ideas."

The voters who support Bricker praise him as "the best governor Ohio ever had," and go on to say that he has kept his promises as governor, and that he is a prudent, level-headed administrator with wide experience in office. Examples: "Bricker has common sense and money sense. . . . He's always honest in what he says. . . . He doesn't act coy and play politics. . . . He's a budget-balancer not a waster. . . . He has all the qualities that inspire confidence."

Republican voters who would like to see Stassen nominated say that he straightened out the finances of Minnesota when he was governor of that state, that he knows how to handle farm problems as well as labor problems, and that he combines intelligence with good practical sense. "His past performance in Minnesota has been excellent. . . . He is open-minded, practical, progressive. . . . He is from a farm region and understands farm problems. . . . He would bring new blood and a fresh viewpoint to Washington."

HOW SECTIONS STAND

THE line-up of candidates in the various sections of the country is shown as follows in the Institute survey.

	Dewey	Bricker	Stassen
N. Eng.	64%	14%	4%
M. Atl.	66	7	4
E. Cent.	45	21	4
W. Cent.	58	8	15
Rocky Mt.	54	7	5
Pac Cst.	63	6	6

The popularity of various candidates with voters in the party does not, of course, necessarily reflect the way the delegates from the 48 states will cast their votes in the nominating roll-calls next week.

Many uncivilized races are adept in ventriloquism.

Little Interest Being Displayed In Politics

The first Democratic primary election is July 22—less than a month off.

Absentee voting ballots will be accepted July 3 through 18; Saturday was final date for candidates to pay assessments for ballots, and Tuesday is the last date for candidates to file first election expense accounts.

Usually summer temperature and political fever climb together about this time on alternate years—but local politics at this moment looks more like a dud, or something with a delayed-action fuse.

Floyd Jersey Club Plans Classification

FLOYDADA, June 24. (Special) — Members of the Jersey Cattle club of Floyd county, representing some 14 owners with ten herds of registered animals, are making plans for the first classification of Jerseys under the new rules of the American Jersey Cattle club.

Joe Ridgeway, of Fort Worth, a classifier appointed by the national organization, will judge the cattle on July 3, making a tour of nearly 100 miles in the area in company with D. T. Simons, secretary of the Texas Jersey Cattle club.

Officers of the Floyd county club are: Clyde Farrish, president; C. B. Carmack, vice president; and Earl Edwards, jr., secretary-treasurer.

BODY RECOVERED

HOUSTON, June 24 (AP) — Coast Guardsmen early today recovered the body of Miss Lenora Buckley, 19, who drowned Thursday night in the Houston ship channel when an automobile plunged through a pier railing at Morgan's Point and sank in water 30 feet deep. Miss Buckley lived at Palestine, Tex., until a year ago.

Russian Offensive Ends Hitler's Hopes For Division Among Allies

BY J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
(Substituting For DeWitt Mackenzie)

The new Russian offensive marks the end of Hitler's last hope for divisions among the Allies which would prevent their full military co-operation. That the drive had been fully expected detracts little.

The two great jaws of the vise in which der feuhrer now finds himself cannot but remind us of the situation just four years ago, when France had fallen in one of history's greatest military debacles. Hitler stood on the shores of the English channel. He assembled an invasion fleet, suffered tremendous losses before he could get it under way and, over confident in his land army, decided to take another tack.

He would secure his flanks in southeastern Europe and whip Russia. Then, with no threat at his back, he would be able to mass everything against Britain.

Opened Two-Front War

Right then and there he opened the two-front war which was to prove his downfall. In sight of Moscow, in the fall of 1941, his legions faltered and the war was decided. Later, when he entered Stalingrad, there was no Allied fear of the ultimate outcome. The Russians had shown what they could do.

Today two great screws are pinning Hitler to the pillory. Not even he can feel the slightest hope of escape. It's merely a question of how many Germans he and his high command are willing to see killed before the end, of how many Germans are willing to be killed.

Even the possibility that Hitler can retire to his inner fortress for any extended defense of Germany seems remote now. Hitler still has some good fighting men, but the varied types of prisoners taken by the Allies indicate that his army is shot through with weakness.

NAZI SHIPPING SUNK

AT A NORTHERN BRITISH NAVAL BASE, (Delayed) (U.P.) — Forty-two thousand tons of German shipping and a 600-ton German naval vessel were sunk and damaged by the Royal Norwegian submarine Ula during a recent series of operations in Norwegian waters, her captain announced today. The Ula headed into this base cockily flying from her bridge a Jolly Roger of skull and cross bones decorated with eight white stripes—one for each merchant vessel sunk—one red stripe for a naval vessel, and two daggers for two special operations which thus far are a secret.

Rush Season Opens At Wheat Market

KANSAS CITY, June 24. (AP)—Approximately 100 cars of wheat were received at this grain center yesterday, marking the opening of the 1944 rush season. Grainmen expect the movement to reach a peak the first week in July.

Producers, handlers and processors are not agreed, however, on how the peak this year will compare with the 5,500 cars which arrived here the first week of July last year. Conditions are much different this season. The war comes first on the box-car supply, with vast changes in Army-Navy demand likely to occur overnight. Spots in Oklahoma already are complaining of car shortages.

Manpower also is not only a problem but a huge question mark. From the farmer who doesn't have enough help to garner the harvest, through the railroads and elevators who handle the golden flood down to the mills—all are short of the personnel required to handle the crop efficiently and quickly.

The harvest in the Southwest is a week or so later than usual but the areas of big production now are experiencing excellent weather and operations promise to spread rapidly.

Divorce Of Heiress Held 'Null And Void'

CHICAGO, June 24. (U.P.) — The Mexican divorce of Heiress Alice de Tarnosky was held to be "null and void" today in a court decision which said that she had lived in adultry with Army Private Charles McIntosh, now at a rehabilitation camp, and Joe McWilliams, now charged with sedition.

The ruling was made by Judge Michael L. Feinberg who held that Mrs. de Tarnosky was "unfit to have custody" of her three children. Custody of the children, the court ruled, will be with Mrs. Olga Hudson, sister of Capt. De Tarnosky, now serving in England with the United States army.

A Mexican divorce obtained by Mrs. De Tarnosky was "a badge of fraud," Judge Feinberg said, adding that Mrs. De Tarnosky never appeared before any court of the Republic of Mexico but was divorced through a representative and received notice of it by mail.

Ex-Seaman Admits Port Arthur Slaying

BEAUMONT, June 24. (U.P.)—A 52-year-old former seaman was jailed here today after reportedly confessing he murdered Durward B. Allen, 38, Port Arthur refinery worker.

Sheriff W. W. Richardson of Jefferson county identified the prisoner as J. S. Jernigan. The purported confession, according to Richardson, stated that Jernigan ambushed Allen on a "back road" near Port Arthur last Monday night while the refinery worker was sitting in a parked automobile with a woman companion.

Navy To Reduce Pilot Training

WASHINGTON, June 24. (AP)—With casualties in aerial combat one-third less than had been anticipated, the Navy reported today it "must reduce substantially" the pilot training program.

Because of the lowered needs, a Navy statement said, it will be necessary to discontinue training of "many cadets at the pre-flight stage." It was learned that the reduction will be about 50 per cent.

"Fine fighting qualities, superior training and equipment have produced a rate of survival nearly one third greater than had been anticipated," the Navy said.

Personal letters were sent by Rear Adm. A. W. Radford, acting deputy chief of naval operations for air to all naval cadets telling them of the decision to reduce the training program.

Several Opportunities Open

The Navy said it hoped that the majority of the cadets affected would remain with the aeronautical organization, either as combat air crewmen or as seamen on new carriers. Those with previous training in the V-12 program will be given opportunity to complete their training and may be commissioned in non-aviation branches of the Navy.

Those who have had two years of college training will be given an opportunity to train as reserve midshipman with ultimate commission as deck officers.

Also, the Navy said, each cadet will be permitted, if he wishes, to serve in enlisted capacity in non-aviation duty, or to withdraw from the service.

Ban On Candidates Is Held Unconstitutional

AUSTIN, June 24. (U.P.) — The Texas supreme court today ruled that the name of John Long of Crockett should not be placed on the Democratic primary ballot as candidate for the state Senate from the Fifth district, and that the name of Sen. Clem Fain of Livingston should not go on ballots in eight counties of the nine-county district as a candidate for the office.

The court, in a special sitting, also declared unconstitutional the law of the last legislature forbidding the holder of a four-year tenure office, except state senators, from seeking another office without first resigning.

The law imposes undue restrictions upon a candidate, the court said in declaring it invalid. Test of its constitutionality grew out of Long's four-year term as county superintendent being but half served.

No motions for rehearing will be received, the court said.

The court held that Long did not file in time. In Fain's case, the court held he did not file in time in eight of the counties but did in Polk county.

Price Ceilings Ready For 1941 Used Jeeps

WASHINGTON, June 24. (AP)—The Office of Price administration is ready with price ceilings for 1941 used "jeeps," but there's no indication when the Army's popular little reconnaissance cars will be sold to the public.

A three-year-old model sold "as is" this year would cost approximately $600, plus a transportation charge. Reconditioned, and sold with a guarantee, it would cost about $750, plus a transportation charge.

Soldiers Allowed To Help Unload Wheat

WICHITA FALLS, June 24. (U.P.)—Sheppard field soldiers have been given permission to help unload wheat cars in Wichita Falls where a critical labor shortage has developed.

In a move to prevent spoilage and fulfill war-vital government committments, Sheppard field authorities gave the soldiers permission to accept off-post duty jobs unloading the wheat.

Russell Robinson, operator of the Wichita Mill and Elevator Co., said more than 100 railroad wheat cars, badly needed for transportation of the 1944 crop, were tied up at his elevator.

Robinson appealed to Sheppard field authorities for aid from the soldiers. He said "unless the wheat is unloaded quickly, we are facing an embargo on badly-needed grain cars."

Tech Conducting Experiments To Find Best Johnson Grass Killer

Experimentation has been underway for some time at the Texas Technological college farm by the plant industry department in an effort to discover the best and most economical method of eradicating Johnson grass which is beginning to spread throughout the county and the South Plains.

On a recent trip to the Tech farm, in company with Jason O. Gordon, Lubbock county farm agent, Cecil Ayers, assistant professor of agronomy at the college, was found at work spraying the menace with a solution of kerosene, water and liquid soap. The solution contained 25 gallons of kerosene, 75 gallons of water and a four per cent solution of soap. Ayers explained the soap, when thoroughly mixed with the kerosene and water, was used to make the solution stick to the plants and also to aid in spreading the solution.

Leaves Blacken Quickly

After spraying for about an hour, a journey back to the spot where the spray was first applied revealed the long leaves, or blades, of grass were already beginning to turn black. He explained that the kerosene burns the plant, not only on the leaf, but down into the ground killing the rhizomes, or roots.

A copy of Ayers' report on progress of weed eradication work for the summer of 1943 revealed that numerous methods had been tried, some with much success. Of these various methods it seems that "summer fallowing" is about cheapest. This is especially true in fields that are badly infested with Johnson grass.

Repeated Plowing Effective

The report has this to say concerning this method: "Approximately 15 acres of land badly infested with Johnson grass was was listed about four inches deep in April. A count of plants per acre was impossible because the land had been plowed before it was decided to summer fallow it. On June 9 and 10 the land was leveled with a disk so that it could be cultivated with sweeps the remainder of the growing season. On June 14 it was plowed with sweeps spaced so the back ones over-lapped with the front ones so the entire surface would be cut. The points of these sweeps ran about two inches deep and just as flat as possible to get them to stay in the soil. The purpose of this was to stir the entire surface, cutting off the Johnson grass without disturbing the soil very deep in order to work the rhizomes to the top. This operation and suceeding ones pulled out many of the rhizomes and allowed them to dry out. Approximately every two weeks thereafter (every time the Johnson grass put out new growth) the land was replowed with sweeps. The Johnson grass did not joint above the soil surface after June 9. Part of the land was plowed with a spring tooth harrow on Aug. 17. Although this did not give a complete cut, thus destroying all vegetation, as did the sweeps, it pulled up a great many rhizomes. Further checking will tell more about its use."

Inspection of this 15-acre tract last week revealed that, except for a few little patches, the Johnson grass was completely eradicated, proving this method to be practical as well as economical, but requiring a lot of hard work. Ayers adde that "you have to keep working with it if you want to completely rid the land of this menace."

Salt Treatment Used

The salt treatment was also used last year, 5,100 pounds of salt being used. In ditches along the railroad right-of-way where the soil was very hard it was loosened with a hoe. Applications were made at the rate of three-fourths pound of salt per square foot. Where the soil was level and soft so the salt penterated, it was 100 per cent effective in killing the grass. Where the soil was hard or very sloping the treatment was too light. Due to the drouth last summer, the results cannot be too positive because the salt must have moisture to carry it into the soil.

Other methods used were: Sodium nitrate (six-tenths pound per square foot); zinc chloride (a mixture of one pound per gallon of water for spraying); ammonium theocynate (a mixture of one pound per gallon of water for spraying); atlacide (a mixture of one and one-half pounds per gallon of water for spraying); sodium chlorate (a mixture of one pound per gallon of water for spraying); kerosene; cresote (used by spraying); iron sulphate and copper sulphate; sodium arsenate (used in strength varying from two to ten per cent with water); and crude oil.

Lamb County Boy Is 'Lone Star Farmer'

LITTLEFIELD, June 24 (Special)—Dwane Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Jones of Spring Lake, and a member of the Spring Lake chapter of Future Farmers of America for the past three years, was selected as the State Lone Star farmer from Area 1, which is made up of about 80 chapters. The selection was made on the basis of his farming program, leadership work, citizenship and scholarship.

Dwane was elected treasurer of the State FFA at a recent convention of that organization held in San Angelo. At this meeting he received his Lone Star Farmer degree, which is the highest honor granted by the organization, at a banquet given during the convehtion at the Cactus hotel.

He also received a check from Firestone Tire and Rubber company for $238 to be invested in his farming program.

Dwane is looking forward to a big year, especially a trip to Kansas City, Mo., where he will attend the national FFA convention and national livestock exhibition in October.

It is estimated that 50 million refugees left the occupied areas to go into Free China.

Yanks Risk Lives In Offering Terms To Saipan Japs

MAGICIENNE BAY, Saipan, June 19. (Delayed) (AP) — Risking their lives to provide the enemy with a chance to surrender, American intelligence officers set up a loudspeaker today on a ledge over a network of caves and broadcast to Japanese garrisons trapped inside, a guarantee of safe surrender.

Soldiers were giving up along with numbers of dazed Japanese civilians. At least one Nipponese officer chose suicide, however.

The proclamation, read in Japanese, told the enemy that although it had fought bravely and well it had no chance against overwhelming odds, and would suffer no disgrace in surrendering.

Sergeant Lowered To Ledge

One American sergeant, to make an even more direct offer, lowered himself down a crude ladder to a ledge where, covered by the guns of his comrades from above, he could try to persuade the Japanese to give themselves up.

Several Japanese emerged from their hiding places. One, an officer, carried a sword and limped from a leg wound.

The sergeant instructed the Japanese officer to return the sword to its sheath and drop it. The officer held the sword high in the air, as if to show obedience. Again ordered to drop the weapon, the officer turned toward the sea and walked into the choppy surf. While the Americans and their prisoners watched, the officed disappeared under the water, still carrying his sword.

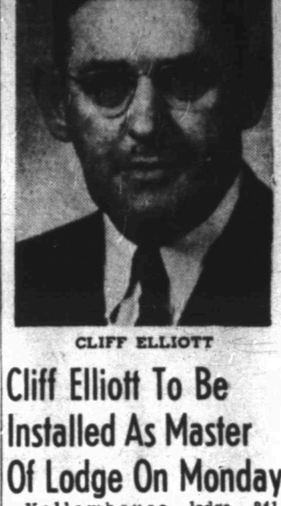

Civilian Japanese prisoners, meanwhile, huddled in temporary stockages on the American beachhead, hardly noticing the endless movement of men, tanks and guns in their misery. Even the deep blasts of nearby artillery fire seem to go unobserved.

SPAAF Bond Goal Is One-Third Subscribed

With everybody climbing aboard the "bondwagon," South Plains Army Air field has travelled nearly a third of the way towards its goal of $100,000 in the Fifth War Loan drive.

The War Bond office at SPAAF announced that $30,000 in bonds had been sold so far during the drive and that $10,000 was sold last week. Simultaneously, it was revealed that the highest percentage of military personnel is participating in the bond allotment plan at SPAAF since the field started.

With both civilian and military personnel extremely bond-conscious, SPAAF expects to reach and possibly exceed its ambitious quota. During the Fourth War Loan drive, the glider school more than doubled its bond quota.

Planned for the rest of the drive are three war bond dances to promote sale of bonds on the field, and other events may develop. An enlisted men's dance is planned for some time around the first of July and an officer's dance will be held July 8. Tentative plans are being made for a civilian dance also.

WASHINGTON, June 24. (AP)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor has written President Roosevelt asking him to "give every consideration to the disapproval" of the congress-approved price control extension bill, or at least "send to Congress a strong statement regarding the destructive effect of the amendments adopted upon price control and economic stabilization.

Green specifically criticized changes in the rent control provisions which he said would lead to a "stampede for rent increases," and in provisions relating to ceiling prices and OPA enforcement.

In a statement terming the extension bill "the black market act of 1944," President James G. Patton of the National Farmers' union also said he had written the President urging a veto.

A TEN-YEAR-OLD HOUSING TEAM

NOW DOING A WAR JOB

10TH ANNIVERSARY
BETTER HOUSING FHA PROGRAM

THE TEN-YEAR RECORD OF ACCOMPLISHMENT IN THE NORTHWEST TEXAS AREA

Under the FHA program in this area—

- Better housing has been provided for 50,850 families.
- For this purpose private capital has advanced $69,950,000.00.
- 15,107 homes have been built or purchased under the FHA Plan for which private lending institutions have advanced $51,250,000.00.
- 41,550 families have received Home Improvement Loans amounting to $15,700,000.00.

For the past ten years, in war and peace, private builders and lenders have teamed with the Federal Housing Administration to provide homes for millions of Americans. In this outstanding example of Government-industry cooperation, American builders have provided the materials, the plans, the workmanship, the "know-how"; private lending institutions have advanced the funds; FHA has insured the loans and provided standards of excellence and security to protect builder, lender and home owner alike.

IN WAR. Since Pearl Harbor FHA mortgage insurance has helped private builders and lenders meet the additional risks involved in providing thousands of vitally needed living units for the nation's war industry workers. At the same time private builders and lenders are backing FHA in trying to halt a dangerous trend toward sale of existing homes at inflated prices, thus to forestall the threat of a deflation which would seriously handicap home construction after the war.

IN PEACE. Before the war, in the years 1935 through 1941, this housing team produced over 800,000 homes, all privately build, privately financed, FHA insured at an average selling price of less than $5,000.

This is a record of which FHA can be proud—it is an achievement in which the private builders and lenders of Lubbock and Northwest Texas are gratified to have played a part.

Tomorrow, when America has returned to its peacetime ways, the builders and lenders of America, with the FHA, look forward to the next big job which will challenge their energy, their ingenuity and their teamwork—the job of bringing better homes within the reach of more and more Americans and, thereby, of helping to provide employment for all.

Task Force 58, Invasion Of Saipan Have Upset Japan's Naval Strategy

By RUSSELL BRINES
Associated Press War Editor

America's seaborne battering ram—Task Force 58—has upset Japanese naval strategy and transformed smouldering Saipan island into a four-alarm fire for Tokyo.

With undiluted grimness, the Japanese high command in domestic propaganda has pictured Saipan as the first American-invaded objective so vital it must not be lost.

This unusual frankness is coupled with the hint of future Nipponese sea and aerial assaults in force against American element in that area.

Japs Surprised

The first American breakthrough into Japan's inner defense arc was the exact reverse of Nipponese expectations as revealed to me while a prisoner of Asia last year.

The Japanese then were confident they could lure American task forces into over-extended positions within Japanese waters. Far from their bases, the American ships theoretically would be limited in maneuvering and fighting time.

Hitting with superior power, the Japanese expected to smash or disperse these units. Then American land forces were to be trapped and isolated, exposed to "eradication."

Japs Tried Air Attack

The Japanese tried this by launching their aerial attack last Sunday. One of their fleets was in position to move in for the surface "kill" if the air assault crippled the American force.

But Task Force 58 showed such power in smashing the aerial thrust that the Japanese fleet withdrew; not in fear, but because the odds were unfavorable.

The might and the staying power of 58, which has remained in Marianas waters for two weeks, has shown the Nipponese that straight power, not "ganging" tactics, is necessary to protect Saipan.

Island's Importance Enlarged

Hence that island's tactical importance was enlarged by the fact its defense requires the risk of larger fleet units than the Japanese heretofore have wished to expose.

Etsuzo Kurihara, chief of the navy press section, Tokyo Imperial headquarters, hinted at future Japanese counterattacks, saying in a domestic broadcast:

"By mobilizing the entire strength of the land, sea and air forces in this area, we must exert our efforts for the destruction of the enemy in the future. . . ."

All Tokyo propagandists have taken this theme. Instead of usual face-saving claims that invaded points are unimportant or no longer useful, they picture Saipan as a vital spot, defense of which is "a most important duty of the 100,000,000 people of Japan." The Japanese people know that homeland cities are within range of aircraft based there.

Cherbourg Yanks Are Given 'Close' Support By Fliers

A NINTH AIR FORCE FIGHTER BASE in France, June 23. (Delayed) (AP)—If American troops assaulting Cherbourg are to get any closer air support than they are now enjoying from this Thunderbolt base, they'll have to widen their foxholes and move the planes right in with them.

Today seven Thunderbolts roared off from a steel carpet and disappeared into the midday haze.

Just 15 minutes later they flashed in for a landing.

"We knocked out a bridge, cut a rail line and hit a German bivouac area near St. Lo, and smashed that strongpoint near Cherbourg that has been holding up our troops, Maj. Harvey Case, jr., of Houston, reported to the colonel.

679 Men In Service Taking Tech Courses

Service men numbering 679 are are now enrolled for correspondence work in the division of extension at Texas Technological college. About 600 applications have been received this year.

Over half of the men receiving credit by correspondence from Texas Tech are overseas. Almost every state in the union is represented in the enrollment.

The United States Armed Forces instituted has just renewed a contract with the college for another year. Terms of the contract provide that the United States government pays one-half of any service man's tuition who meets entrance requirements.

Courses may be sent to Americans in enemy prison camps.

Gilchrist Joins In Suporting Eudaly

COLLEGE STATION, June 24. (AP)—President Gibb Gilchrist of Texas A. and M. college said today that M. L. Wilson, director of the National Extension service, had promised to give an answer in a short time on the appointment of a director of the Texas extension service.

Gilchrist, just returned from Washington, said he had a number of conferences with Wilson and that "we discussed many extension matters and naturally the appointment of a director of the Extension service at Texas A. and M. college."

The A. and M. board's nomination of E. R. Eudaly as director of the Texas Extension service has for months been opposed by the National Extension service authorities.

"After I became president, I satisfied myself as to the qualifications of Mr. Eudaly and joined the board wholeheartedly in his nomination," Gilchrist said.

First Car Of Grain Sorghums Received

FORT WORTH, June 24. (AP)—The first car of grain sorghums of the 1944 crop to reach the Fort Worth grain market was received Friday night and was purchased by the Transit Grain company.

President Lee Potishman of Transit said the car was 85 per cent milo and 15 per cent kaffir and came from Bishop, marking the beginning of what is likely to be the heaviest movement of sorghums from South Texas in history.

"That section has a big acreage in grain sorghums and the yield is expecially heavy this year," Potishman continued. "The movement is expected to be well under way within the next two weeks and should do much to relieve the shortage of feed grains all over the United States."

Potishman said there is an unusual moisture content in the early sorghums this year and the car just received was put through an artificial dryer which reduced the moisture to around 11 or 12 per cent. Only a limited number of these dryers are in service in South Texas and that factor may limit early sorghum shipments.

JOURNALISTS FACE PURGE

Brief Bits Of Local News

Mrs. W. K. Cooper and G. L. Parker were notified Friday night of the death of their mother, Mrs. J. E. Parker, at Cisco. Mrs. Parker formerly lived in Lubbock. One other son survives, D. L. Parker of Pampa.

Two West Texas servicemen. T/Sgt. Perry L. Corley, son of Mrs. A. L. Corley, Shallowater, and S/Sgt. William H. Westcott, son of Mrs. Minerva J. Westcott, Seminole, are among the 1,605 United States soldiers held as prisoners of war by the Axis, the War department announced yesterday.

It would seem that L. F. Hathaway, 60, is assured a place to stay for some time. In Lubbock county jail since June 19 to satisfy a $500 fine and two years for swindling by worthless check, the following other places have telegraphed county jail asking that detainers be placed on the man: Fort Worth, Kilgore, Big Spring, Pampa and Temple, it was announced here Saturday.

Patsy Kaigler, 2, of 1402 Avenue T suffered minor injuries of the back, right arm and left cheek when automobiles driven by Carl Silven Lane, 31, and James Virgil Burnett, jr., of Lubbock general delivery, were in collision at 7:15 o'clock Saturday morning at Fifteenth street and Avenue S. city police said.

Ernestine Lewis was fined $100 and court costs when arraigned Saturday in county court on a liquor charge. Home brew was seized, the search warrant said.

The first six-weeks term of the summer session at Texas Technological college ends July 7. A six-weeks term and a nine-weeks term opens the same day.

F/O William D. Halbert of Dallas, a flying instructor at Lubbock Army Air field, has been promoted to a second lieutenant, it was announced Saturday. Lt. Halbert, a 43-I graduate from LAAF, attended the instructor's school at Randolph field, and returned here as an instructor. Mrs. Halbert, the former Frances L. Ballard of Dallas, resides here with her husband.

The five-day-old son of Lt. and Mrs. N. A. Lucas, of 2404 Thirty-second street, Robin D. Lucas died Saturday afternoon in the Lubbock Army Air field base hospital. Scholastic Population For Lubbock Is 8,396

A scholastic population of 8,396 for Lubbock independent school district is shown on census rolls which were completed Saturday, according to A. C. Jackson, district business manager.

The figure compares with 8,350 on similar rolls last year, an indicated increase of 46 for this year. However, the new roll is subject to recheck in the state department in Austin. The rechecking there last year pared the 1943 roll to 8,280, which became the official census figure for the school district.

The scholastics consist of 7,666 white children, of whom 3,855 are boys and 3,811 are girls, and 730 negroes, of whom 353 are boys and 377 are girls.

Former Texas U. Prof Is To Plead Guilty

TOPEKA, Kan., June 24. (AP)—Arthur G. Billings, former Texas university economics teacher who attracted attention several months ago when he refused to obey the draft law and again last week when he announced his candidacy for the U. S. Senate, decided today to plead guilty to draft evasion if authorities would word the charge to suit him.

Billings told Lester Luther and Eugene Davis, assistant district attorneys, that he would enter a plea if the charge pointed out specifically that he refused rather than evaded the draft law. They agreed.

"I wanted it to be clear that I have not evaded the draft law but have defied it," Billings said.

St. Louis Adds To Lead, Blast Tigers

Cooper Blanks Pirates, 16-0

ST. LOUIS, June 24. (AP)—The St. Louis Browns combined a strong hitting offensive with effective pitching by Bob Muncrief for a 7 to 1 victory over the Detroit Tigers today, stretching their American league lead to 3½ games over idle second-place Boston.

In winning his sixth straight victory and seventh of the season against only two losses, Muncrief parceled out the six Tiger hits at not more than one to an inning, except for the seventh when Johnny Gorsica singled and Joe Orengo doubled. Gorsica scored on Chuck Hostetler's long fly.

The Browns staked Muncrief to a three-run lead in the second on four hits and a pair of walks, added one each in the fifth and seventh and two in the eighth as they cashed in handsomely on their 15 hits.

Vernon Stephens and Milt Byrnes led the Browns' attack accounting for seven of the 15 hits. Stephens rapped out four, including two doubles, and Byrnes three, including one double.

Big Show Has Many General Handy Men

NEW YORK, June 24. (AP) — Mike Ryba, former one-man ball club of the Boston Red Sox, has confined his talents exclusively to the pitching mound this year but there are at least half a dozen other major league players who have become jack-of-all-trades in a baseball uniform.

In their 1944 prize rookie, Ed Carnett, the Chicago White Sox have a man of many positions, however. Carnett is a former pitcher and had tryouts as a flinger with the Chicago Cubs and the Boston Braves. For the White Sox, the Irishman has played all the outfield positions and when Hal Trosky pulled a muscle, Carnett moved to first base. He is hitting better than .350.

Cuban Handy Man

Gilberto Torres, one of Washington's Cubans, is another handy man. Winner of 19 games for Montgomery of the Southern Association last year, Torres now is the Senators' regular third baseman. He also has filled in at second and first.

Bobby Bragan came to the Brooklyn Dodgers as a catcher but also has appeared at shortstop and third base. Mickey Owen, another Dodgers backstop, has had similar experiences this year.

Jim Wasdell opened the season as the regular first baseman for the Philadelphia Phils but when Tony Lupien was purchased from the Boston Red Sox he switched to the outfield and now is leading the club in batting.

Others Jump About

Luis Olmo started the campaign as Brooklyn's second baseman but after three weeks returned to the outfield.

Max Macon, a pitcher with the Dodgers in 1943, is the regular first baseman for the Braves. He's hitting just under .300 and leads the circuit in stolen bases.

Others who have appeared in more than one position this spring are Manager Mel Ott of the New York Giants, in right field and third base; Nap Reyes, Giants, third base and left field; George Metkovich, Red Sox, first base and center field; Eddie Lake, Red Sox, shortstop and pitcher; Buck Fausett, Cincinnati, third and pitcher; Al Unser, Detroit, second and catcher; and Mark Christman, Browns, first and third.

Ralph Hodgin, White Sox; Joe Orengo, Tigers; Babe Dahlgren, Priates and Bob Johnson, Red Sox, played in two or more positions last year but have struck to one station so far this year.

Team Title Holding Interest In Tourney

CHICAGO, June 24 (AP)—With the dethroning of Francisco (Pancho) Segura, the Pan-American pulverizer from Miami university, as unlikely as snow on July fourth, the only conjecture in the National Collegiate tennis championships opening at Northwestern university Monday revolves around the scrap for the team title.

If Notre Dame brandishes the same balance it did in romping through a nine-match season undefeated, the Irish should supplant California which will not defend.

Capt. Charlie Sampson, former Ohio State star, heads a four-man Irish entry which also includes Jerry Evert, brother of Jim Evert, a semi-finalist last year, Jim Griffin and Billy Tully.

Also represented among approximately 50 players entered in the singles division are Michigan, the Big Ten champion, Northwestern, Chicago, Bradley Tech, Lawrence, De Pauw, Oberlin, Western Michigan, California Tech, Gonzaga, George Pepperdine, Utah, Utah State, University of Texas and the U. S. Naval Academy.

Texas will bring one of its title winning duo of last year—John Hickman, who with Walt Driver defeated Brown and Harry Buttimer of California in a thrilling four-set championship match.

Swedish Runners To Open Record Assault

STOCKHOLM, June 24 (AP) — Arne Anderson and Gunder Haegg, two of Sweden's most rapid trackmen, meet Wednesday in their first 1944 assault on the world record book after months of secret training.

Haegg did his preliminary work on the forest paths at Valadalen, northern Swedish resort while Anderson drilled on the wooden tracks around Stockholm.

While Wednesday's duel at 1,500 meters will be their first meeting since 1942, Anderson already has been defeated this summer in a 1,000-meter affair, and Haegg, who spent the summer of 1943 in the United States, makes his debut tomorrow in a two-mile run at Oestersund.

While Wednesday's race is at Anderson's favored distance—he holds the world mile at 4:02.6 and for the 1,500 meters at 3/45 — Haeg is a slight favorite because he always has been able to finish in front of his rival.

Anderson set his two world records last summer while Haegg was in the United States.

Babe Didricksen Zaharias Cops Women's Golf Crown

CHICAGO, June 24. (AP)—Amazing recovery shots from traps and and rough today gave Babe Didriksen Zaharias her second Women'sWestern Open golf championship in four years with a 7 and 5 victory ovver 20-year-old Dorothy Germain.

All even at the end of the morning round, Babe commanded a five-up lead at the end of 27 holes after firing a remarkable 35, three-under-par, on the first afternoon nine to Miss Germain's 40.

Babe Recovers Well

Seldom were Babe's rocketing drives out of the rough, and many of her long iron shots wandered into traps—but her recoveries left a gallery of some 200 spectators gasping.

So good was her short game to the green that she required only 20 putts for 13 holes of her final round. She had a total of 14 one-putt greens, and was so consistently close to the pins that eight of the putts were only four feet or less. Her longest was one of 25 feet.

Miss Germain, a junior at Beaver College near Philadelphia, recorded the most exacting shot of the day. On the first hole, she walloped a spoon shot from the rough within two feet of the pin for an eagle 3.

Morning Round Even

But despite this edge she was one-down at the end of the first nine, then rallied to take three of the last four holes of the morning round—two with birdies—to square the match at the junction, posting a splendid 75, even par, to Babe's 77.

Babe's six one-putt greens on the afternoon's first nine helped her fashion a three-under-par 35 and a 5-up lead after 27 holes. Miss Germain, failing to win a hole, took a 40. Babe steered even with pars on the final four holes, while her opponent went two over.

Miss Germain, winner of the 1943 Western Amateur crown, played a steady game, although her usual well-aimed short irons to the green and her bulls-eye putting were not up to standard.

But it was enough to break the heart of the most experienced tournament competitor to watch Babe get out of trouble as easily as she got into it—planting shots within one-putt range of the cups from the sand, from behind trees, or from the wiry rough.

Ben Hogan To Enter Chicago Golf Meet

FORT WORTH, June 24. (AP)—Ben Hogan gets a 15-day "vacation" from the Army Air Forces starting next week and he'll spend part of it seeing what a "Sunday golfer" for more than a year can do in the big time.

The erstwhile little giant of the fairways — golfdom's greatest money winner two years in a row —is taking regular leave from Fort Worth Army Air field, where he is assistant special services officer, and will arrive in Chicago Tuesday to enter the Victory National tournament opening Wednesday.

Hogan entered the Army in March last year, took time out to compete in the Texas Victory Open at Dallas the next month, but since then has confined his golf to Sunday practice rounds.

"I don't have any idea what I'll shoot in a tournament," he said.

However, he complained of lack of practice last year at the Victory Open. He hadn't played in a tournament for eight months. Yet he took the Dallas Country club course apart to win the event with a par-shattering exhibition.

Hogan for three years held the Vardon trophy, high accolade of golf, and at the time he entered the Army estimated that since hitting the big-time in 1937 he had earned $97,000.

Ben apparently still is well-heeled financially. At a war bond sports show in Dallas this week he bid $15,000 for a bottle of scotch that was being auctioned off. He was not the successful bidder.

LEAVE SPAAF—Just as he was getting his desk cleared for work in building an athletic program that would put South Plains Army Air Field on the sports map of the Southwest, Lt. Bernie Stock (above was called to other fields. Stock took over the reins recently upon the departure of Capt. Nathan Eubank. His tenure in office as athletic officer was short, but Stock will leave behind him the groundwork of a football schedule that will be one of the top service schedules in the area.

Cagni New Athletic Officer For SPAAF

With the groundwork laid for an ambitious football schedule in 1944, Lt. Bernard A. Stock, athletic officer at South Plains Army Air field, got his transfer orders last week, just a few weeks after he succeeded Capt. Nathan B. Eubank, also recently transferred, as head of the physical training department at SPAAF.

Lieutenant Stock leaves athletic affairs at SPAAF in the hands of Lt. Ray B. Cagni of Pittsburgh, who already has begun to carry on where Stock left off in arranging a grid schedule. Cagni is assistant athletic officer at SPAAF.

Schedule Is Started

Games already tentatively or definitely scheduled include tilts with Texas Tech, Lubbock Army Air field, Amarillo Army Air field, Southwestern university and Texas Christian university. Officials at the field are dickering with New Mexico university, West Texas State Teachers college, Kirtland Field and North Texas State Teachers college.

Definitely arranged is a home-and-home series with Amarillo Army Air field, which will play here Sept. 24. SPAAF will return the visit later in the season for a game to be played in the Amarillo High school stadium.

Dates with TCU Sept. 30 in Fort Worth and with LAAF Oct. 22 at Tech stadium are tentative. Correspondence on the TCU game has been going on for a week or so, and officials are optimistic concerning the game. A game with LAAF is scheduled, and only the date is tentative.

SPAAF will play Southwestern university, one of the strongest teams in the Southwest last year, at Georgetown Nov. 3. The Winged Commandos will renew their rivalry with Texas Tech on Dec. 3.

Seek Home Games

In attempting to fill open dates on the schedule, SPAAF is seeking as many home games as possible and is hopeful of bringing Kirtland Field, NTAC and West Texas State, as well as others, to Lubbock for games.

Lieutenant Stock reported to SPAAF Dec. 30, 1942, and has been assistant athletic officer from that time until Captain Eubank's transfer. While at SPAAF, he played football, basketball and baseball on SPAAF squads and was in charge of physical training for glider pilot students.

Lieutenant Cagni was formerly an enlisted man at LAAF and SPAAF, winning his bars at Miami Beach OCS and returning to SPAAF to hold down the job of assistant athletic officer. He also has played football, basketball and baseball on the Winged Commando teams. A former football and basketball star at West Virginia university, he coached football and basketball in high school and at Stetson university, Deland, Fla.

Navy Zoomers To Play LAAF Here

NORMAN, Okla., June 24 (AP)—The Norman Naval Air Station Zoomers, wit hprospects high for a great season on the gridiron this fall, have booked several top-flight games over the Southwest for the 1944 schedule.

Arrangements were completed today for the season's opener with the University of Oklahoma Sooners at Owen Stadium here Sept. 30.

The game rounds out a ten-game schedule for the Oklahoma Sooners.

Other games on the Zoomer schedule for this season include an Armistice Day game in Lubbock with Lubbock Army Air Field, it was announced here today.

The Zoomers have also booked a game for Oct. 14 at Fayetteville, Ark., with the Arkansas Razorbacks, and the following week will be in Amarillo for a game with the Amarillo Army Air Field.

Lubbock Legion Club Named As Champions

Lubbock's American Legion junior baseball team has been named as district and regional champion in this area, according to word received last week from state leaders by H. J. McCabe, chairman of the junior baseball committee of the local American Legion post.

The word also stated that the local team would meet some other team for the North Texas championship sometime in July with the winner being eligible for the state tournament.

The Lubbock Legion team was selected from the eligible boys from the four day baseball school conducted here by Sam West, former major league outfielder.

The official Legion team will play an all-star club picked from the junior baseball National league clubs this afternoon at Chapman field. The game will start at 3 o'clock. Lineups for the two teams have not been announced.

Shirley Fry Throws Scare Into Champion

CINCINNATI, June 24. (AP)—A rangy Akron, Ohio, girl of 16 threw a scare into the elite of the women's amateur tennis world today where she lost a hotly-contested match with Dorothy Bundy, National Clay Courts champion, by a score of 3-6, 6-2, 9-7.

Shirley Fry, making one of her first bids in bigtime competition, was forced to bow finally to the experience and all-around smoothness of the Santa Monica, Calif., champion in a semi-finals match of the tri-state tournament.

Miss Fry grabbed the first set in a hurry but dropped the second the same way. In a blistering, 16-game final set, she recovered after being behind 5-2, took up the slack and forced the issue to the end.

In the other women's singles match, Pauline Betz, strawberry blond from Los Angeles, moved into the finals by easily defeating Mary Arnold, Wilmington, Del., 6-2, 6-4.

Moore Returns From New York, Glad To Be Back In Texas

Burl Gene Moore, the blonde comet of the Lubbock Westerners, returned to Lubbock Saturday morning from New York where he took part a week before in the National AAU meet. Moore brought back his sixth place medal for the 400 meter run.

The young Westerner star said Saturday that "New York is a nice place, a great place to visit, but I am sure glad to be back in Texas."

Was Boxed In

Moore set the fastest time for the 440 yard dash in the nation this season when he stepped off the distance in 49.5 at the state meet, and did the distance in 50 seconds at New York in the preliminary heat, but was "boxed" in for the final and was never able to escape the box.

A negro runner from a New York club gave Moore a terrific beating with his elbow every effort Moore made to escape the box in the free for all battle for positions. The AAU meet was not run in lanes as are the regulation Texas track meets.

Equaled Winning Time

The winning time in the final was 50 seconds, the same as in the preliminary heat run by Moore. The meet was running behind schedule, and rest was very brief between preliminary and final, which proved another handicap.

Moore's future plans are still uncertain, but he expects to decide his track future between Rice Institute and Texas University, and at present is leaning more toward Rice.

Moore traveled to New York with the rest of the Texas party, starting from San Antonio, and arrived in New York two days ahead of the meet. The Texas athletes worked out for these two days, but were "tight" at the time of the meet.

Visited High Spots

After the meet was over, the Texans "took in" New York and attended a number of stage hit shows, Coney Island and a number of the top notch dining rooms of the city as the guests of a New York lawyer, a former Texan and personal friend of "Bones" Irwin, the San Antonio coach. At one of the New York dining rooms, the Texas party was greeted by the orchestra playing "The Eyes Of Texas" in their honor.

While in New York, Flying Charley Parker, the San Antonio dash sensation, was taken to West Point where he passed the eye examination for entrance into that school by way of University of Texas. Parker was recently rejected for Navy service because of color blindness.

Moore said that he was greatly surprised by the number of negro athletes entered in the AAU meet. Parker was the first white boy to ever win the AAU junior 100, Moore learned.

Moore returned to Texas with the Texas party, and reached Lubbock about 10 o'clock Saturday morning by bus from San Antonio where he left the rest of the party.

Eddie Dyer To Quit Post With Cardinals

ST. LOUIS, June 24. (AP)—Eddie Dyer, personnel director of Class AA and A-1 minor league baseball clubs of the St. Louis Cardinal farm system and a member of the Cardinal organization for 22 years, is quitting baseball July 1, President Sam Breadon announced today.

Dyer will enter the oil business with three brothers at Houston, his home town.

No announcement was made as to Dyer's successor.

The major league baseball players are not the only ones with a red hot race in the American league and a more onesided affair in the National league. The same is true of the Lubbock junior baseball loops where the Hemphill-Wells Cats have moved out into a comfortable position at the head of the National loop.

But in the American loop, the younger kids, it is a far different story. The race is fast turning into a four-way battle that three star games of the week may turn into something that will throw some light on the winner.

Forfeit Alters Race

The American league race was thrown into this muddle when a victory last week by the Kiwanis Cardinals over the American Business club was protested and forfeited to the ABC nine to knock the Cards back into a three way tie for second place along with ABC and Rotary.

The American Business club boys moved into the limelight the easy way last week, reaching their high peak on a pair of forfeits.

But they will get the chance this week to prove their right to be classed among the "big shots" of the race. The ABC lads draw the tough Rotary gang Tuesday in the first feature game of the week, and Friday draw the league leading Optimists in another of the top games.

Other Top Games

The third feature game of the week will be Wednesday's clash between the Kiwanis Cards and the Optimists. From the results of these three games may come a much clearer picture of the race.

Other games on the schedule will send the Jaycees against the Lions club Monday with the Jaycees seeking the season's first victory. Thursday will offer the Jaycees another chance for a win as they draw the rugged Rotary nine.

While the ABC and Optimists battle on Chapman field Friday, the Lions club will draw the high flying Kiwanis Cardinals.

National Loop Card

Anything can happen in the National league race this week, but the schedule will not offer a feature game on the basis of the present league standings.

Hemphill-Wells is a game and a half out front with Bill Dean's Service in the second slot. They each have games this week with the two second division clubs.

Hemphill-Wells opens the week's play with Sears Monday and battle Wards Thursday. Bill Dean's Service draws Montgomery Ward Tuesday, and come back the next day to play Sears and Roebuck.

At a meeting Friday night, dates for the all-star games in each league were set, with the first half winners in each league to play an all-star club picked from the rest of the league. The American league game will be played July 14 and the National league game July 17.

Arkansas Grid Star Is Second War Hero

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., June 24. (AP)—Maurice L. Britt and Nathan G. Gordon, a pair of studious quiet-spoken Arkansas boys whose football and military careers paralleled each other, have something new in common today both have won the Congressional Medal of Honor.

Britt, now an Army captain, received his award here a little over two weeks ago for heroic action in the Italian campaign. Today, the news came from Washington that Gordon, a Naval lieutenant, had been awarded the medal for spectacular rescue of 15 downed American airmen near Kavieng, New Ireland, last February.

Here at the university, the two played the same position—end. They missed by one year being on the same team.

Gordon, a brilliant defensive wingman, ended his grid career in 1937, the year the Porkers won the Southwest conference championship. Britt, a member of the freshman team Gordon's last year in school, took over Gordon's wing position in the 1938 team and went on to win All-Southwest conference honors.

Gordon joined his brother, Ed, in a law practice at Morrilton, Ark., after graduating and went into the Navy in June, 1941, about the same time Britt chose the Army.

The fate of Army and Navy assignments placed them at opposite ends of this global conflict—Britt in Italy and Gordon in the Southwest Pacific — but both came through to win the nation's highest military decoration.

SUN AGAIN WINS

CHICAGO, June 24. (AP)—Sun Again, entry of Warren Wright, Chicago, galloped to half length victory in the $10,000 added Equipose Mile at Arlington Park today, with Georgie Drum second and Anticlimax third. Sun Again ran the distance in 1:36 1/5, returning $3.40 to win.

CAMP LUNA WINS

EL PASO, June 24. (AP)—Camp Luna defeated Pyote Air base, 6-1, in the Southwestern semi-pro baseball tournament here last night and they did it without the services of Joe Gordon, former New York Yank star.

COACH RESIGNS

MENARD, Tex., June 24. (AP)—Roy White has resigned as football coach of Menard High school and will go to San Antonio to become athletic director and coach of Thomas A. Edison High school.

Softball League Offers Big Week

The men's softball league moves into the third week of its schedule on Monday evening with a clash between the Armed Forces Induction Center, victor over Keith's Wizzers last week by a 16-8, and the Scarborough Grocermen, winner in a contest with the Jaycees by a 14-2 tally, at the Twenty-third street and Avenue W basin.

Most important clash of the week will take place Thursday. The two remaining undefeated teams—South Plains Army Air Field Medics, who defeated the Lubbock Army Air Field Civilians 8-0 in the season's only no-hit no-run game; and the South Plains Army Air Field Civilians, winner over Hurlwood All-Stars to the tune of 6-3 last week, will engage in a battle royal.

Tuesday evening the Lubbock Army Air Field Civilians tackle the Federal Employees. The Civilians were beaten last week by an 8-0 count by the Medics from SPAAF in a no hit no run game pitched by Frank Barupha, while the Federals were out-played by the Tech Faculty 12-9.

A contest between the Hurlwood All-Stars and Keith's Wizzers will be decided on Wednesday. During last week's games, the All-Stars were licked by the SPAAF Varieties to the tune of 6-3, while the Keith's ten was rolled over by the Induction Center 16-8.

The Texas Tech Faculty and the Junior Chamber of Commerce will have it out on Friday evening at the usual time—6:30. In a contest last week the Faculty nosed out the Federal Employees in a 12-9 decision. The Jaycees were romped over in their battle last week by the Scarborough Grocermen by a final tally of 14-2.

Parker May Become West Point Dashman

SAN ANTONIO, June 24. (AP)—West Point may get Flyin' Charley Parker by way of the University of Texas.

Parker, the San Antonio schoolboy who went to the National AAU and kept his record intact for three seasons by winning the junior 100 meters and senior 200, has returned from the East with word that he passed the eye test at the United States Military academy.

Flyin' Charley, kept out of the Navy because of color blindness, will enter Texas July 6, but has let it be known he'll be ready to shove off for the point if they want him.

Parker and his friends will ask Congressman Paul Kilday of San Antonio or one of the Texas senators for an appointment.

Charley, who becomes 18 years old July 1, was pepped up over the West Point possibility after being shown the academy and being introduced to the coaches.

Parker will automatically become 1-A in selective service but chances are considered good that he will be appointed or be named an alternate for West Point. As an alternate he would be deferred for a year.

Should Parker enter West Point, it would mark renewal of a track feud begun in Texas and bring together Parker and the runner who last beat him—Ralph Ellsworth, the University of Texas star dashman and football player now at the United States Naval academy.

Ellsworth attended Alamo Heights High school here and ran against Parker, who was at Thomas Jefferson. He beat Charley in the first duels but later Parker triumphed to start his streak of victories now resting at 52.

San Angelo Tennis Star To Tour East

SAN ANGELO, June 24. (AP)—Bernard (Tut) Bartzen, tennis mite of the West Texas Plains, is going East for the summer to get moving competition.

Tut's opposition has been furnished mostly by a wall. Bartzen did pretty well with it, twice winning the Texas school championship, but he likes something that'll make him hustle.

Bartzen, ranked six nationally in scholastic tennis and twelfth among the juniors, has been doing road work since February getting in shape for seven Eastern tournaments, his first stop is Haverford, Pa., for the National Interscholastic championships Monday.

Then he'll play in the Elmora Junior at Elizabeth, N. J.; Westchester County championships at New Rochelle, N. Y.; Eastern championships at Forest Hills, N. Y.; River Forest, Ill., Open; Western championships at Milwaukee, and the National Junior at Kalamazoo, Mich.

San Angelo civic clubs raised funds for the trip.

Tut runs a mile and a quarter a day except after a hard workout when he cuts down some.

BILL HULSE WINS

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 24. (AP)—Bill Hulse, of New York, America's fastest outdoor miler, failed today for the second time this year to set a new record for the three-quarter mile.

Running in a Y.M.C.A. meet sanctioned by the A.A.U., Houlse won easily by 35 yards over Jim Rafferty of New York in 3.06.

BOSTON, June 24. (AP)—Connie Ryan, Boston Braves contender for the second base slot on the National league team for the All-Star game at Pittsburgh, July 11, today received his induction notice from his Atlanta, Ga., draft board.

South Plains Oil Development Activities . . .

Gaines Co. Furnishes Week's Highlights In Oil News; Russell Field Extension Completed

GAINES county—with one wildcat project running casing to test a zone which has indicated possibilities of developing production; with an official completion of a three-quarter of a mile southwest extension of the Russell field, in the northwest sector of the county, and with another exploration, which had indicated some prospects of developing oil, having been abandoned on account of sulphur water—furnished most of the highlights of the oil activity on the South Plains during the week.

Stanolind Oil & Gas company No. 1 Riley, section 79, block H, D&W survey in northeast Gaines, about six miles west of the Cedar Lake pool, was running 5½-inch casing to somewhere above 5,050 feet, to start making tests of possible oil yield of the formation from around that level, to the bottom at 5,176 feet.

Porous Dolomite Streaked

The operators decided to set the casing after cores and drillstem tests of the horizon had shown some saturation, and some bleeding oil in porous dolomite, which was streaked through the 125 or more feet above the total depth.

A drillstem test covering the zone at 5,057-6,147 feet, had indications of gas, and considerable oil in the 1,170 feet of drilling mud, which was recovered by the operation.

In addition, a Schlumberger survey was taken on the entire hole, before the pipe running started, and informed quarters indicate that there are possibilities of the well making a producer.

No. 1 Jones Is Producer

Shell Oil Company, Inc., No. 1 Jones, section 490, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey, in northwest Gaines, three-quarters of a mile southwest of the closest oil well in the Russell lower Permian field, has been officially finished for a flowing 24-hour potential of 465 barrels of 32-gravity oil. Cut averaged three-tenths of one per cent basic sediment, and no water.

Gas-oil ratio was 322-1. The pay was between the bottom of the casing at 7,400 feet, to the total depth of 7,780 feet. Acid treatments of about 4,000 gallons, in several stages, were used before completion.

Test Is Abandoned

Gulf Oil corporation No. 1 Buck, section 104, block G, WT survey, in north-central Gaines, reached a bottom of 5,502 feet in lime, and has been abandoned, on account of sulphur water, which came in around 5,454 feet.

The prospector had slight porosity, and some bleeding oil and bubbling gas in the zone from 5,350 feet to the 5,454-foot horizon, but none of it was of the quantity to make an oil well, and when the water was developed the operators were forced to plug the development.

Shell No. 1 Sparks, section 3, block A-13, psl survey, in southwest Gaines, and scheduled to dig to around 8,000 feet to test through the Clear Fork section of the lower Permian lime, had penetrated to 6,414 feet, in dolomite, and was continuing.

Humble Oil & Refining company No. 1 Doss, section 9, block A-24, psl survey, in south-central Gaines, had reached 5,818 feet in lime, and was drilling ahead.

Free Oil Recovered

Continental Oil company No. 1-A Jones, section 22, block A-7, psl survey, four miles north of the Russell field, and in extreme nothwest Gaines, has been recovering a small amount of free oil, and no water in swabbing through perforations at 7,455-7,591 feet, in the lower Permian, where 8,000 gallons of acid had been injected.

This test drilled into the Ellenburger, to a total depth of 12,222 feet, before starting to plugging back and testing various zones above that bottom. No oil had been found until the testing started on the section now under investigation.

Recoveries of around one barrel per hour have been reported. The operator was still swabbing to try to develop more oil.

Dawson Test Abandoned

Lion Oil Refining company No. 1 Everett J. Turner, section 17, block C-38, psl survey, in northwest Dawson county, has been plugged and abandoned as dry at total depth of 5,260 feet, in lime. No shows of oil of any quantity were encountered.

Show In Lamb Test

Humble Oil & Refining company No. 1 J. A. Jackson, southwest Lamb county wildcat oil test, about 25 miles northwest of Lubbock, recovered ten feet of oil cut drilling mud during a 40-minute drillstem test in the upper zone of the Clear Fork lime of the Permian.

The test was at 5,369-76 feet. Operator was reported preparing to drill ahead. The project is contracted to at least 6,000 feet.

Surface elevation is 3,461 feet. Nearest production in the Clear Fork is Woodley Petroleum company No. 1 Harless, approximately 16 miles south and slightly west, discovery well in the Smyer field, which topped pay around 5,830 feet, with an elevation of 3,386 feet.

Some checking, in unofficial quarters, put this Humble test high to the nearest test which was drilled to that horizon in the area. There is about a 30 feet south dip in that region and the 300-foot higher figure cannot be applied between the Jackson and Woodley No. 1 Harless.

Honolulu Oil corporation and Devonian Oil company No. 1 Payton, northwest Garza county wildcat in section 1,421, TT survey, is cleaning out with a cable tool unit, to the retainer set at 3,592 feet, and will start testing the zone from that level to the casing-seat on the 5½-inch casing, cemented at 3,545 feet, in a few days.

Hope Water Plugged Off

The zone from 3,592 feet to the original total depth at 3,768 feet, had some sulphur water. The operators hope that they have plugged-off the water, and that they have enough of the saturated Permian lime left uncovered, to make a commercial producer.

Helmerich & Payne, Inc., No. 1 Wright, labor 19, league 97, Brewster county school land survey, three miles northwest of the closest production in the northwest side of the Slaughter field, in east Cochran county, had swabbed a small amount of free oil from the section between 4,900 feet and the bottom at 4,925 feet, and had treated with 5,000 gallons of acid, and was swabbing to clean out and test.

Oil Being Recovered

Falcon company No. 1 Dean, in the southeast corner of league 94, Mills county school land survey, two miles from production on the west side of the Slaughter, in south-central Cochran county, had recovered oil at the rate of approximately 10 barrels per day from the section between 5,012 feet and 5,035 feet, with a small amount of water.

Arrangements were ready to perforate the 5½-inch casing at about 4,925-62 feet, where cores had some porosity and saturation.

Likely that zone will be treated with acid, and tested, after it is swabbed natural for production.

Stanolind No. 1 DeLoache, labor 19, league 80, Reeves county school land survey, in west-central Hockley county, was making hole past 5,735 feet in lime. This test could encounter the Clear Fork zone at any time. It is unofficially reported to be in the Gloretta.

Fishing For Tools

Phillips Petroleum company No. 1 Ellwood, in the northeast corner of section 20, block A, R. M. Thompson survey, in east Hockley county, 1,320 feet west of the discovery well of the Smyer field, from the lower Permian, had swabbed at the rate of two barrels of free oil per hour, from the pay section which had been penetrated to 5,852 feet, and was fishing for tools.

This test will drill ahead to around 5,950 feet, when the fishing is consumated, and then test the entire section for production.

Woodley Petroleum company No. 1 Forkell, section 378, block D, John H. Gibson survey, in northeast Yoakum county, was making hole below 4,520 feet in brown lime topped at 4,240 feet, on an elevation of 3,613 feet.

Acid Treatment Given

Schererhorn Oil corporation No. 1 Moss, section 606, block D, Gibson survey, central Yoakum county semi-wildcat, in the West area, had reached a total depth of 5,268 feet, in lime, and was treating with around 10,000 gallons of acid, in several stages.

The section from 5,185 feet to the bottom had shown slight amounts of free oil, and the acid is to attempt to develop a well from those shows.

Drilling & Exploration company No. 2-A Hamner, 660 feet from the north and east lines of the northeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section 490, block D, Gibson survey, is a one-location outpost from production on the south side of the Ownby field, in east-central Yoakum. It is to start drilling to 5,400 feet by June 27.

Flanker For Extension

Shell No. 1-B Jones, is a flanker for the recently extended Russell area in northwest Gaines. It will be 660 feet from the west and 663 feet from the north lines of the northwest quarter of section 460, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey.

Magnolia Petroleum company and Atlantic Refining company No. 2-491 Havemyer & Jenney, 660 feet from the south and east lines of section 591, block G, CCS D&RGNG survey, is a second new location, and stepout from production for the Russell region. It has already started drilling to around 7,800 feet.

Magnolia and Atlantic No. 1-491 Havemyer & Jenney, in section 491, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey, and one-half mile west of the nearest production in the Russell pool had progressed to 7,524 feet, in hard lime and was drilling ahead, and was due to encounter the pay zone at any time.

New Tech President May Come Out Of Tuesday Board Meet

Directors of Texas Technological college will meet in Fort Worth on Tuesday and indications last night were that the session likely will produce a successor to Dr. Clifford B. Jones as president of the institution.

Doctor Jones resigned on April 15, due to the necessity of safeguarding his health, and at that time was elected president emeritus of the college. He has continued in the presidency until a successor can be named, although he hoped he might retire at the conclusion of the spring semester last month.

Four Are Considered

No official statements have been made by either Charles C. Thompson, of Colorado City, board chairman, or by any members of the directorate. However, it was learned here that at least four prospective appointees will appear before the board Tuesday.

Appointment of the new president, whenever it comes, will be by the board as a whole. Consideration of prospects, however, is in the hands of a four-man committee composed of Thompson; C. E. Weymouth, Amarillo; A. G. Mayse, Paris, and Mark McGee, Fort Worth.

Attending the Tuesday meeting, scheduled to be held at the Fort Worth club, will be President Jones and W. T. Gaston, college business manager and secretary of the directorate.

Cherbourg Natives Plan Yank 'Party'

WITH THE AMERICAN FORCES BEFORE CHERBOURG, June 24. (AP)—French civilians in Cherbourg have hidden stores of wine and champagne which they are eagerly waiting to uncork when the Americans arrive.

This was the news brought from Cherbourg today by a young Cherbourg merchant who slipped through enemy lines to offer his services to the Americans and to give them all the information he could to aid in the capture of the city.

"There are 5,000 civilians left in the city," he said. "Most of the townspeople fled to the country to escape possible bombings and shellings but those who are left are waiting to give the Americans a big welcome."

The Germans have mined the approaches to the city, he said, and prepared the buildings for house to house defense by knocking holes in the walls from which to shoot machineguns and rifles. The merchant asserted, however, that he doubted the enemy had the manpower to man all of the defenses.

Germans Lay Basis For More Butchery

LONDON, June 24 (AP) — Adolf Hitler's headquarters said tonight that Nazi prisoners had been reported "murdered" in Normandy and threatened that, if the reports were true, "ten United States prisoners of war will be shot for every German."

The high command threat was transmitted by the Nazi DNB agency in an English language broadcast which said reports had been received that members of the German Army taken prisoner in the Cherbourg area were shot although in uniform and "clearly recognizable" as combatants.

This threat came a day after British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told Parliament that Germans had admitted 50 British RAF officers had been shot attempting to escape a prison camp. It also followed reports that U. S. airmen parachuting into Germany from damaged planes had been lynched.

Corporation Charged With OPA Violations

NEW YORK, June 24. (AP)—The Equitable Trading Corp., and its president, Hyman Karlin, were named co-defendants in a 50-count criminal information filed today in federal court charging violation of OPA maximum price regulations.

If convicted, the corporate defendant faces a maximum penalty of a $250,000 fine while Karlin faces a 50-year prison sentence plus a similar fine.

U. S. Attorney James B. M. McNally said the corporation, which operates on a nation-wide scale, diverted liquor to roadhouses, restaurants and hotels in Ohio, Georgia and Texas. The information, citing 50 alleged violations, charges sales totalling more than $250,000 at prices aggregating between $80,000 and $90,000 in excess of ceilings.

80 Enemy Ships Said Sunk In Two Ports

LONDON, June 24 (AP)— Eighty enemy vessels were sunk by the RAF in the ports of Le Havre and Boulogne in day and night attacks June 14 and 15 which put a substantial proportion of German channel forces out of action, the air ministry announced today.

Included were 22 E and R boats, three torpedo boats, one corvette, one M class minesweeper, three M class minesweeper, three M class tenders, six tanks landing craft, a score of naval auxiliaries and another score of vessels of various types.

62 WELLS COMPLETED

AUSTIN, June 24. (AP) — Completion of 82 oil wells in Texas during the week brought the year's total to 1,728, compared with 976 for a similar period last year, the state Railroad commission reported today. Also during the week, 138 drilling applications were filed, and 31 wells were plugged.

Committee Warns On Light Newsprint

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP) — A committee of ten newspaper executives, after conferring with Canadian newsprint manufacturers in Montreal, recommended today that this country abandon the use of the new, lightweight 30-pound newsprint.

The committee recommended that Arthur R. Treanor, director of War Production board's printing and publishing division, request the Canadian government to return to the earlier arrangement under which the Dominion guarantees shipments of 200,000 tons of regular 32-pound newsprint a month.

Unless this is done, the committee reported unanimously, total Canadian production will suffer and new cuts will have to be made in the quotas of newsprint allotted to American publishers.

The findings are expected by the WPB and the publishers group to put an end to the lighter paper, which now is used by about 20 per cent of U. S. publishers.

Burns was shot to death on O'Donnell's main street. Since Burns' death Pugh has been held in jail. District Attorney Rollin McCord said he had not requested examining trial.

McCord said the grand jury would investigate several other matters of a minor nature.

Farmer's Spuds Are Converted To Bond

BROWNWOOD, June 24 (AP) — T. J. Bryan of the Sidney community had 500 sacks of spuds, three sons in the service (two overseas).

He offered to trade the potatoes for a $1,000 war bond, but that was too many spuds for Brown county war loan Chairman Joe N. Weatherby.

Camp Bowie was suggested as a big potato market, so Bryan contacted Capt. Robert F. Bradley, quartermaster commissary chief.

Today Bryan bought the bond from Weatherby with a United States treasury check.

Five Injured In Railway Crash

HOUSTON, June 24. (AP)—Five men were injured, two critically and three seriously, today when a Houston-bound Southern Pacific freight train was in collision with a two and a half ton truck carrying 16 barrels of pipe line tar coating which splashed onto the train setting fire to the engine and a box car at a crossing two miles east of Cypress.

Behind the box car was a long line of oil cars which were saved extensive damage by a passing Marine who extinguished the blaze in the engine, uncoupled the box car which was being pushed by the engine, from the oil cars behind it, and then drove the engine and burning box car 40 feet away.

Former Machinist

The Marine, Michael Boam, 28, stationed at A. and M. college, a former railroad machinist of Ogden, Utah, then uncoupled the engine from the box car and drove it away, leaving the burning car clear of any other cars.

The train collided with the truck directly behind the cab and carried it 500 feet. After about 250 feet the driver fell from the truck. The crash caused the truck's gas tank to explode and the explosion sent the tar splashing on the train.

The driver of the truck, Frank Bohanan, 34, of Iowa Park, is in critical condition in Jefferson Davis hospital with severe burns all over his body.

The four others injured—all of Houston — were members of the train crew and are at Southern Pacific hospital.

Engineer Leon Kraus, 41, is in critical condition suffering from burns on his face, hands and arms and cuts about the body. Fireman J. R. Lewis, 29; conductor H. D. Morgan, 40, and Brakeman L. C. Huckaby, 29, are all in serious condition with burns on the upper parts of the body.

Fight On Federal Encroachment Asked

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., June 24 (AP) — Arkansas' Gov. Homer M. Adkins today proposed the calling of a national constitutional convention after the war "to prevent further encroachment by the federal government upon state sovereignty."

He outlined his proposal before the Arkansas Press association convention here and invited chief executives of other states to join him in such a movement.

In letters to the governors, Adkins said the convention should not be held "until after our boys return from the Army."

Partisans Harassing Nazis In North Italy

BERN, Switzerland, June 24. (AP) — Reports from the Italian border today told of street fighting in Bologna and Milan, a general strike in Genoa and strikes in several factories in Turin with the German Fascist grip on northern Italy weakening steadily.

The Swiss telegraphic agency said German SS troops established permanent guards in Milan factories to combat strikes and check a wave of sabotage.

The newspaper La Suisse reported an Italian general was commanding partisans in the Turin sector, including former French, British and Russian prisoners of war. The publication said that the Bologna partisans numbered 80,000 and that the electrical works and the German barracks were attacked in street battles. Fascist Party Secretary Pavolini reported to Mussolini that the situation was grave. The account said the Bologna mayor had been killed.

La Suisse said that the forces at La Spezia naval base were in revolt, and that partisans around Sienna, Arezzo and Florence were attacking the retreating 228th German division.

Denmark's Armament Factory Is Wrecked

NEW YORK, June 24 (AP)— The Swedish radio said today that 70 to 80 armed men destroyed Denmark's only armament factory—the Copenhagen harbor plant of the Dank Rekyl syndicate—in the biggest coup of patriots so far carried out in that German-occupied country.

The broadcast, reported by the Federal Communications commission, said the men, dressed in work clothes, pulled up to the factory in three big trucks Thursday night, produced automatic pistols, disarmed guards, ordered workers to safety, then planted about 15 bombs, and set off explosions that sent fires sweeping throughout the factory.

TWO CONVICTS ESCAPE

HUNTSVILLE, June 24 (AP) — Prison authorities said a search was being pressed today for two prisoners who escaped yesterday from a construction squad at Ramsey prison farm. The fugitives were listed as Manuel Villagren, 24, serving 13 years for robbery from El Paso county and Robert Smith, 24 serving two years for auto theft from Gillespie county.

Bricker Flays FDR's 'Subversive' Support

CHICAGO, June 24. (AP)—Gov. John W. Bricker told a hall full of cheering supporters tonight that "radical subversive groups" are advocating the re-election of Franklin D. Roosevelt and declared that circumstance alone is sufficient reason for the choice of a Republican president.

The Ohio governor, candidate for the Republican nomination, asserted "the foremost radical groups in this country," including the communists and the CIO political action committee, are out to re-elect Mr. Roosevelt.

A jam-packed ballroom of the Stevens hotel roared with applause as he declared:

"I will never consent to a super-[illegible] or an international government' I will never consent to any American soldier or sailor or flier being put under the command of any foreign nation."

Tariff For Livestock Protection Is Urged

CHICAGO, June 24. (AP)—Support of the Republican party for tariffs to protect the American livestock industry was urged today by Rep. Daniel A. Reed of New York, member of the House Ways and Means committee.

Recalling, in a statement prepared for submission to the party's resolutions committee, the lowering of tariffs in 1894 and again in 1913, Reed declared that foreign imports drove domestic beef, wool and mohair producers into bankruptcy.

"Let us not repeat the tragedy of such competition as the tariff bill of 1913 forced upon the cattlemen of Texas and New Mexico, and other production states," he said.

General Visits Normandy Again

By EDWARD V. ROBERTS
(Representing the Combined U. S. Press)
(Distributed by the Associated Press)

ALLIED ADVANCE COMMAND POST, June 24. — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower returned here today after his second tour of the American beachhead positions in France.

He spent four hours in Normandy conferring with Lt. Gen Omar N. Bradley and talking to many GI's in the field.

The supreme commander was accompanied only by his aide, Lt. Col. Ernest R. Lee, and this correspondent as representative of the combined press.

Three-Jeep Caravan

Eisenhower crowded as much as possible into his four-hour visit. He spent an hour talking with Bradley and other U. S. leaders and most of the remainder of his time with infantrymen, gunners and tankmen. He whizzed through Normandy in a three-jeep caravan that startled the MP's.

It was his first visit to the American sector since June 12 and he came away with his face wreathed in satisfaction at what he saw.

He spent much of his time with units recently arrived in France, shooting questions to see if the men could handle themselves in case of attack.

Today BORDEN DAIRY FOODS ALSO FIGHT FOR FREEDOM

Today at Borden's we strive to maintain the traditions of public service set for us by our founder. Gail Borden was among the leaders in Texas' fight for freedom. 1944 finds Borden folks "all out" in helping supply our armed forces and civilians with milk, ice cream and vitally needed dairy foods . . . foods that provide proteins, minerals, vitamins and strength . . . important to a nation at war. We appreciate your cooperation. It's helping us to do our job.

General Motors, Chrysler and Packard were ahead fractions while Graham-Paige slipped and Hupp, Continental Motors and Willys held even.

Rail stumblers included Union Pacific, Great Northern preferred, Southern Railway and Chesapeake and Ohio.

Cities Service and Carrier Corp. were lower in a mixed curb while Brown-Forman distillers, Brewster Aero, American Gas and Electric and Creole Petroleum advanced. Dealings here totaled 178,905 compared with 221,675 a week ago.

Russian Pincers

miles northwest of Vitebsk and 15 1-2 miles southeast of that Nazi-fortified town in the first two days of the new offensive on the main eastern front, the premier said that another break-through had been accomplished in the direction of Orsha, an important railway junction approximately 50 miles south of Vitebsk.

This new puncture in the German lines in White Russia was made to a depth up to 9 1-2 miles on a front 12 1-2 miles wide.

Order For Each Zone

Stalin devoted a special order to each of three battle zones—the Finnish front, the wedge northwest of Vitebsk and the fighting to the southeast of that place—and directed a salute of 20 rounds from 224 of Moscow's big guns for each.

In his orders he disclosed the names of the two commanders directing operations in White Russia—Col. Gen. Ivan Bagramian of the First Baltic Army northwest of Vitebsk, and Col. Gen Ivan Cherniakhovsk of the Third White Russian Army south of there. It was Bragramian's Army which made the original advance close to Vitebsk last winter.

Swarm Across River

The premier said Red troops on the northern front had swarmed across the Svir river all along its 100-mile course between Lakes Ladoga and Onezhskoe (Onega) gaining up to 19 miles in three days, and had freed more than 200 places from the Germans.

The communique broadcast later by Moscow and recorded by the Soviet monitor said that 150 miles farther north at the tip of Lake Onezhskoe the Russians liberated Medvezhegrosk, a district center of the Karelo-Finnish Soviet Socialist republic and an important station on the Leningrad-Murmansk railway.

Mogilev Break Through

The communique also announced the new break-through in the Mogilev direction, saying that "our troops passed over to the offensive, forced the river Pronye, broke through strongly fortified enemy defenses north of Chausi and advanced up to 20 kilimeters (12 1-2 miles) while widening the break-through to a front of 50 kilometers (31 miles)." In this new thrust the Red Army occupied 70 populated places.

This drive made a virtually continuous front of 100 miles which the Reds had punched into the German lines south of Vitebsk since the big summer offensive opened Friday and coupled with the 50-mile wide wedge hammered into the enemy's defenses northwest of the town, presented an early threat of encirclement for the Nazi stronghold.

Argentine Policy

It is possible, he declared, that Herman Goering's riches may be safe today in American banks. Skelton added:

"Argentine banks carry huge deposits in the United States. We don't know who owns this money as we have never required a breakdown in ownership of accounts. If Goering's money is deposited in one of these accounts, it is apparently quite safe under our protection."

He declared that: "We could force a change in the Nazi government in Argentina in six weeks if we would stop all purchases and all sales to and from Argentina and declare the country a blockaded nation to prohibit its use of the dollar to finance its trade."

Japs Lashed Again

Hankow-Canton railway through central China captured Hengshan and pushed on to within 20 miles of Hengyang, crucial railway junction. Hengshan was the last important obstacle on the path to Hengyang. Indications were the Japanese would follow their customary encircling tactics on Hengyang while other units pushed on toward a junction with Nipponese columns above Canton.

P-40s Strafe Japs

American P40s, supporting the Chinese, strafed cavalry and infantry around fallen Changsha and probably destroyed a troop-laden river steamer.

Tokyo reported U. S. carrier-based planes again raided Iwo island in the Kazan (Volcano) group, less than 800 miles from Tokyo. More than 60 other planes, the broadcast said, smashed at Guam.

Another Axis broadcast told of heavy bomber attacks on Yap, Palau and Tobi islands, all flanking the Philippines. Tobi is midway between MacArthur's advanced positions in the Dutch New Guinea area and the Philippines.

Tokyo claimed "two more" American carriers were heavily damaged off Saipan Friday morning by land-based Japanese planes.

Yanks Advance On Saipan

On Saipan, the American right flank captured Laulau on the east coast and pushed northward to straighten the line across the island. Other infantrymen crawled up the steep cliffs of Mt. Tapotchau, formidable vocanic citadel dominating the island and believed to be the enemy's headquarters. Associated Press war correspondent Morrie Landsberg reported the mountain was honeycombed with caves and tunnels and literally alive with guns.

The Japanese, who had made no massed infantry attacks, were believed to be waiting at Carapan, on the west coast, to stage the major battle for Saipan.

In a broadcast to the controlled press of conquered Asia Tokyo boasted of what Japan would do to the U. S. fleet "when that day comes in which our whole Navy will be deployed in the waters of the Marinas islands."

substantiated said the Wellman community, in southwest Terry county, received a battering hail. According to Andy Stricklin, Brownfield newspaper publisher, approximately two inches fell in Brownfield. Crops are good in northern and western Terry county, he stated, but are poor in the sandy southern portion, where winds this spring have continually harried farmers.

Between a quarter and a half inch fell at Lamesa. Moisture was received Friday in the Ackerly vicinity, in southwest Dawson county, and north, northwest and east of Lamesa. Western Lynn county was included in the rain belt.

Some Rain In Lynn

Rain hit west and southeast of Tahoka Friday night, ranging from a quarter to a half inch; but it was spotted. Lynn county cotton prospects are reported good.

Motorists said yesterday afternoon's rain extended northwest only as far as Anton.

Floydada got .50, Lockney .25, Meadow, .50 and Plainview no rain, according to Santa Fe dispatchers.

Ralls received .75 and moisture was general west, south and east of there, according to C. W. Mann, Ralls Chamber of Commerce secretary. The fall was lighter north of Ralls, he said. Mann said the rain would hold up several days the wheat harvest which had just got in full swing in that section. Wheat in that area is producing 15 to 18 bushels an acre, he stated.

Moisture was slight in the Idalou area.

The mercury, which stopped at 100 Friday, edged past the 100-mark again Saturday, according to West Texas Gas Co. Yesterday's high was 102, at 2 p. m.

"Buy A War Bond TODAY"

BY, OF, and FOR THE PEOPLE

"NEW DEALER" JEFFERSON

Editor, The Avalanche: First, what is democracy? The standard definition is "rule of the people collectively." There are three essentials: people, ruling, in one body.

Recently I heard a speaker say, "Democracy is where an individual thinks and acts as he pleases, just short of running over the rights of others." But to that must be added—"an individual must have power to regard others as he does himself, and give all the courtesies and privileges to others as to himself. Then he is a Democrat." To build a democracy the people must place themselves as equal stockholders to promote a common welfare.

Jefferson regarded all people the same, be they rich, poor, black or white. He even entertained an educated negro in his home with as much courtesy as he would give an English nobleman. His proclamation of democracy was in the Declaration of Independence, setting forth that "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, with inalienable rights of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness, etc. . . . and to secure promote, and maintain that which men form, or abolish and reform, themselves into governments to suit their needs."

Then Jefferson proceeded to put over the first American New Deal. His program included what afterwards became our Bill or Rights, plus some very radical, if not communistic, economies in the people's affairs. This provided for the cutting up and distributing all large estates to smaller owners, and climaxed by the abolishing of slavery. He desired this because of the monopoly and unfairness to the common whites, as much as because of its inhumanity.

He failed to accomplish this dream only because his followers regarded their business more important. It was left to Abe Lincoln to perfect our national democracy with that provision.

Jefferson's fears that a federal government might interfere with his New Deal in his state caused him to stress the doctrines of state rights, local self-government, etc. They were the blessings derived from democracy, like free schools and free speech. The Southern leaders seized the gun of state rights and used it to fight for what Jefferson was fighting against, and they had the gall to call themselves Jeffersonian democrats.

However, when the true Southerners rejoined the Union, they wholeheartedly gave up their interpretation of the Jeffersonian democracy as a lost cause. Most of their grandsons knew then it was a false cause without losing respect and reverence for their granddad's good intentions. It is only a few hardshelled Southerners, late-comers from the North, and self-serving politicans that persisted in keeping those sectional and racial fires rekindled.

When Jefferson became President he found the federal government a richer field for New Dealism than he had suspected. A great opportunity for the American people suddenly opened, and he at once made the biggest deal ever made in our country's history. He doubled the size of purchase of the Louisiana territory for $15,000,000. He did all that without even waiting to consult Congress.

With this description of Jefferson's character and democracy it is not easy to tell who are now the true Jeffersonian Democrats.

crashed, gunfire was heard and explosion and fire folowed.

The weather was unfavorable during most of the day, somewhat hampering operations, but the big planes jammed the skyways at sunset for their tenth attack on the mysterious, camouflaged rocket ramps around Calais. They also hit a number of railway switching stations around Boulogne.

RAF Lancasters and Halifaxes also struck the rocket ramps during the late afternoon in what the air ministry called a "well concentrated" bombing.

Range Far And Wide

Fighters and medium bombers ranged far and wide over France, blasting trains, truck convoys, bridges and airfields, and dealing precision attacks on German gun positions in Cherbourg.

Two separate formations of American Fortresses and Liberators, escorted by Thunderbolts, Mustangs and Lightnings, raided the continent this morning and afternoon, while American heavy bombers based in Italy plastered the Ploesti oil field area of Romania for the second straight day.

Oil Parley Delay Laid To Britsh

WASHINGTON, June 24. (UP)—High American oil officials charged the British today with using the invasion as an excuse for delaying action on plans for an Angelo-American agreement on postwar petroleum activities.

British and American delegations engaged in preliminary talks here two months ago and it was understood that these were to be followed immediately by conclusive conferences at "the cabinet level."

The United States has already named its delegation, headed by Secretary of State Cordell Hull, to participate in the final talks. The British, however, have not yet appointed representatives for this "full-dress" parley.

Delegation Expected Soon

Some quarters reported that the British delegation would arrive here within 10 days. These quarters would not state whether Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden was expected to head the group, but it was said that "someone with equivalent power" would be present.

American officials, however, have become extremely annoyed over what they termed the British "procrastination." They said the British have "used" the invasion "to drag this whole thing out indefinitely." They gave as a possible explanation the belief that Britain wants to show this country it has no enthusiasm for our participation in middle eastern oil affairs.

with more pledged and otherwise favorable delegates than any candidate. A tabulation of delegates credited to Dewey by state party leaders, his supporters in the various states, and polls among delegates themselves showed Dewey to have at least 390 pledged and claimed. The Bricker camp—through Rep. Clarence Brown of Ohio, floor manager—gives Dewey 385 on the first ballot, estimating Bricker's initial strength at from 200 to 225, conservatively, with hopes, of producing up to 300.

There will be 1,057 delegates, with 529 needed for a nomination.

No Talks Of Darkhorse

Talk of a darkhorse nominee being selected was totally lacking.

Even so, headquarters of Lt. Comm. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, now on Pacific duty, announced (1) that Stassen's name will be presented to the convention come what may and (2) that they are not interested in the vice presidency.

Rep. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and Gov. Simeon S. Wills of Kentucky are represented by supporters who are actively trying to cut them the vice presidential nomination. The names of Gov. Dwight H. Green of Illinois and Gov. Dwight Griswold of Nebraska also are heard, along with those of Eric Johnston, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, and William Hutcheson of Indiana, president of the Carpenters' union (AFL).

Willkie Not Present

One familiar Republican figure was conspicuous for his absence on the pre-convention scene. He is Wendell L. Willkie, the man who went to the 1940 conclave without a pledged delegate and carried the nomination off on the sixth ballot. There was doubt he would show up at all, although he has been invited to attend but not to speak.

(In New York, Willkie said today he has not yet reached a decision concerning his plans for the 1944 presidential campaign.)

German broadcasts acknowledged American break-throughs at four points around Cherbourg, termed the city a "fire-splitting hell" and said its thousands of defenders were retreating into the city only after firing their last bullet. Berlin again declared that the port was being shelled by Allied warships, but there was no Allied confirmation.)

The first German attempt to flee by sea from the doomed city was smashed by British light coastal forces, headquarters disclosed.

"Two enemy vessels were destroyed and three more believed sunk," out of an escorted convoy of seven small ships, the communique said.

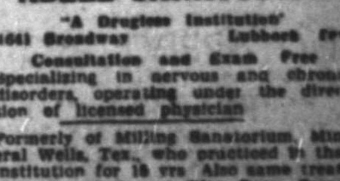

Carrying Key Technicians

The ships presumably were carrying key technicians, and the undamaged vessels sought refuge at Alderney islands off the northwest tip of the Cherbourg peninsula, where Allied planes or heavier Allied naval forces apparently will finish them off.

The British motor torpedo boats which attacked them suffered some damage and personnel casualties.

Rocket-firing Allied planes and fighter-bombers also damaged three 1,000-ton German motor vessels near St. Malo at the base of the Brittany peninsula to the south, leaving one of them afire, headquarters announced.

Dandelions Menace Lawns; City-Wide Action Is Needed

By GEM BOB CALLEY
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

With farmers of Lubbock county working diligently to rid their fields of Johnson grass, city homeowners are beginning to wonder if they shouldn't activate a similar cooperative program to eradicate the dandelions which are infesting their lawns and gardens.

For many years the danlelion has been a hindrance to lawn beautification, a nuisance to residents of this city. If allowed to continue growing at the great speed with which it reproduces, this dent de lion (lion's tooth) is likely to have lawns of the city crowded out within a very few years.

Many homeowners and renters have allowed their yards to become a virtual storehouse for the plant to multiply seasonally and the seeds to germinate as though they were cultivated flowers. Reproducing in 10 to 14 days, each head of this plant produces from 100 to 300 seeds whic hare quickly and widely scattered by the wind and birds. If one yard is cleared of this weed and the next door neighbor allows his lot to be a germination spot for the dandelion, eradication is made doubly hard.

City-Wide Plan Needed

A city-wide, eradication plan for this pest, is the solution of the grass-growers' problems. Eradication of dandelions in lawns is a difficult task, one that may take several years of continued effort because the weed itself is a perennial, having roots that persist and stems that die down to the ground seasonally.

Several methods have been used by persons interested in eradicating dandelions, but the most important point is to promote a vigorous growth of the grass. Mulching in the late fall with well rotted manure is one of the best and most available methods. The plant begins to bloom early in the spring, and eradication steps should begin then.

C. D. McGeehee, city parks superintendent, said reproduction of dandelions in the parks is fought the year around, and the best method they have found is to punch a hole in the top of the plant and pour on a low grade of fuel or diesel oil, applied when the sun is shining. The dandelion blooms most profusely form 11 a. m. to 2 p. m., and if the application is made at this time the bloom can be treated. The sun will heat the oil and burn the plant out a lot faster and no second application is needed for this particular plant.

Oil Easily Obtained

This fuel oil can be obtained at any service station. One quart of regular crank case oil, mixed with one gallon of kerosene oil costs very little and goes a long way in getting rid of the dandelion. McGeehee said if a person kept a small bottle filled with this solution on all four sides of the house, and treated each plant as he found it, very soon his yard would be almost cleared of the weed, but the grass may have died in a few spots from the oil.

In a few cases where dandelions have obtained a seated growth, too thick to be treated individually, it is best to spray the grass with iron sulphate, according to Cecil Ayers, agronomist at Texas Technological college. This solution, prepared by dissolving two pounds of the commercial material in one gallon of water, is effective and the chemical is only slightly harmful to the grass, Ayers said. The solution should be sprayed on in the heat of the day, for the effectiveness of the chemical depends upon the relative humidity of the atmosphere which should be high at the time of application. Several applications will have to be used, according to Ayers, for the dandelion is a plant that cannot be eradicated with one stroke, nor is any one method always 100 per cent effective.

Continuous Work Required

Recommended by the agronomist are other methods which require continuous and persistent labor, with a determination not to become discouraged when the plant sprouts up again. Dig around all four sides of the dandelion, about three inches deep, and work the plant out of the ground. Clip off the top each time the plant reaches the surface, about every 10 days, and the weed will finally die because it can not manufacture enough food for itself.

Two other methods which have been effective cures, Ayers said, is to clip the top of the plant and put a pinch of salt or Diesel oil on the root. Both the salt and the oil will absorb all the moisture and the plant will die. The part of the root which reproduces is from 3 to 4 inches in the soil, and if the root is clipped to this fleshy part which supplies food to the plant, reproduction will not take place.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

THIS verse to the Army Chair Corps song is worth repeating:

"Here we sit, loyal to dear old Royal
Typists all, until the end.
Here we sit, where there should be a goil,
Fingers raw, when will they mend?
Others fly, spouting their flame from under;
Off in one helluva roar!
They fly in fame, we sit in shame,
When will it stop, THE ARMY CHAIR CORPS?"

COWGIRL SPONSOR — Perhaps you think Lubbock should be represented in the Texas Cowboy reunion in Stamford July 3-4, and perhaps you are the one who could be the representative. Because it was difficult to find a girl who was interested, the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce hasn't tried to get a sponsor in recent years.

An entry must own or borrow a horse and saddle and know how to ride because there will be a parade, a show-off in the arena and flag races during the reunion. She must see that the horse is fed and cared for during her stay.

Midland, Stamford and Pecos, which number several ranch girls among their citizens, have no difficulty in obtaining cowgirl sponsors. But Lubbock, where there aren't any "naturals," seems indifferent.

THE HUMAN ASPECT

ONE of the touching revelations the war is bringing is the effect living among the Chinese people is having on soldiers from the United States. Men stationed inland in China have time to think and to observe conditions among those patient people, whose drab lives are so aptly described by Writer Pearl S. Buck. They see farmers employing the same methods and implements that were in use before the time of Christ. They realize parts of that great country truly are to be compared to a "sleeping giant," as pictured in their grade school geographies and many are hoping they will be instrumental in bringing about an awakening.

Recently we read an interesting letter from a Texas boy stationed in China which expressed the hope the stay of the American soldiers and airmen will open a new concept of life for those people, that China will be enabled to develop and educate herself and attain in some respect the better life for which they fight.

As he expressed it. "After the war there will be unlimited opportunities for all men, depending on their ambitions, resourcefulness and willingness to produce. The men with whom I have lived feel that these opportunities should be for all peoples, not for only a few.

"God placed resources on this earth for the use of all mankind, let all mankind work these resources and share in their use."

CERTAIN medicos have advanced the idea that gargling with fresh fruit juices rather than with standard mouth-wash is healthier and tastes better. . . . A new angle in home furnishings: a "global" lamp-shade made out of maps of World War Two. . . . Those two-piece sports outfits, bra top, bare midriff and shorts are meant only for the gals who have watched their calories. . . . Two suggestions a lovelorn editor made to an inquirer: "Don't call a man up before marriage and don't call him down afterward."

It's said a child of five or six is not too young to learn to prepare and serve refreshmen's the "correct" way for her tea parties, according to educators. Naturally, the fare should be simple. A beverage and cookies are suggested for the first attempts. (We suppose they don't mean for the youngster to bake the cokies herself.)

Democratic and Republican party activity among the feminine part of our population has been spurred on by early reports that the women can, if they want, elect the next president. It is estimated that if all eligible women cast their ballots, they could control 60 per cent of the vote, and run the country politically. . . . When this writer votes she is going to be sure that her ballot is what her three brothers and dozens of friends overseas want and what they feel about social security, rehabilitation for service men, fair employment practices, world peace plans and the pro-

Greeting People:

Well it looks as if Alma is not coming home. According to last reports she was supposed to leave California Monday and she isn't home yet. Could it be she really is lost or is it her interests in New Mexico that's keeping her?

However, it was a good time to be away (moving time). It looks as if by Monday morning the moving will all be over. The work room moved next door is all established in new air conditioned quarters and is well equipped to do (in cool comfort) those new slip covers and draperies you will need to freshen and brighten your home front.

A number of interesting items are coming in that Alma bought while in California. That girl must have something we haven't—I thought it was supposed to take months to receive merchandise even when you have the money to pay for it. We'll see how good Fredda is soon, because she is leaving for New York and other marketing East coast points in the near future.

Better keep an eye on 1302 Ave. N—as there is lots of water going under the bridge of Decorators Studio. You might miss something. Besides it's air conditioned and in addition to the lovely things you will see, it's a good place to keep cool these hot days. One fellow who always drops in when he's in town, John Chalk, paid the Studio quite a compliment the other day when he said that he hadn't been able to find, even in some of the larger towns, anything to compare with what the girls have down at 1302 Ave. N. At the present, John is serving Uncle Sam at Memphis, Tennessee.

See you next week and I hope to have a report from Alma.

Grandpa Nosey.

Air Crew Training To End June 30; Tech Given Certificate Of Service

BY VIRGIL MIERS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

Closing one of the most colorful phases of Texas Technological college's history, the 3086 AAF Base unit (College training, Air Crew) of Tech will be completed by June 30, as given in orders received by the unit March 31. This unit is one of the two largest in the Western Flying Training command, and one of the three largest units in the United States, according to Maj. John Huttig, commanding officer.

The unit has been known as the 309th College Training Detachment (Air Crew) until the first of this month when its name was changed to its present title.

In appreciation of the services rendered by the college for the air crew unit, a presentation of the Certificate of Service award was made Friday evening at 5 o'clock in the Chemistry building auditorium. Representatives from the unit, college and the city of Lubbock attended. Major Huttig presented the award in behalf of Gen. Barton K. Yount, commanding general of the AAF Training command, to Dr. Clifford B. Jones, Tech president. Dr. Jones gave the response, and introduced Dr. J. William Davis of Tech, coordinator of the unit, who formally accepted the high award.

Dr. Jones Presents Certificate

In turn, Dr. Jones in behalf of Texas Tech presented Maj. Huttig a certificate, in appreciation of the splendid work of the unit. The formal presentation was made by Mrs. W. C. Holden of Tech, a member of the air crew faculty and presented to Maj. Huttig.

The certificate given by Tech read: "Texas Technological college desires to express its deep gratitude to Maj. John N. Huttig, commanding, 309th CTD, Air crew, and to the members of his staff, for his and their splendid cooperation and unfailing helpfulness in our joint effort successfully to instruct cadets for the Army Air Forces in World War II." It was signed by Dr. Jones and Charles C. Thompson, chairman of the Tech board of directors.

Thanks To Tech Expressed

In a letter to Dr. Jones, Brig. Gen. Martin F. Scanlon of the AAF Western Flying Training command said in part—"During an extremely trying period in our nation's history, Texas Technological college has participated in the program of training Aviation Students for the Army Air Forces. This undertaking was conceived and executed in haste to meet a swiftly-changing military situation. It has been a most satisfying experience to me, personally, to witness the outstanding service you have rendered our Air arm, and I desire that you and your faculty claim your just share of credit for the present successes of our combat air forces . . . My most hearty congratulations go with this Certificate of Service Award. I regret that our association must be terminated. Please accept my personal best wishes for your continued success and leadership in the field of education."

While some military personnel came to Tech in February, 1943, classes did not begin until March 1, 1943. Purpose of the creation of the unit was to give the men the high spots of a two-year college education in only five months. In peace time, it was required of every man entering the Air Forces to have at least two years of college education, and this program fulfilled that requirement for new men.

6,000 Men In Program

"A good many thousand" men—something like 6,000—have entered this program at Tech, Maj. Huttig said. During their five-month stay on Tech campus, they took such courses as geography, history, math, English, physics, and a flight indoctrination course, lasting four weeks. Maj. Hutting listed their activities in four categories—academic, military, physical training and flying.

The unit utilized the facilities of the college which were already existing. Men occupied the two men's dorms on the campus, which will be turned back to civilians sometime within the next two weeks. Most classes were held in the new Agriculture building on Tech campus, which was headquarters for the 3086 CTD. Civilian college teachers were in charge of the academic work, and military personnel in charge of all military instructions. The unit kept a permanent staff of 32 officers.

Maj. Huttig emphasized that the college did this work on a non-profit basis and he extended his "personal appreciation of the many courtesies Lubbock, itself, has shown." He said that Tech had "gone all out" in its cooperation.

All Young Men

The average man enrolled in the Air Crew program was from 18 to 23 years old (maximum age was 27 years). Many of the former men enrolled in the program have already seen combat, Maj. Huttig said. Men of this unit are training to be either pilots, bombardiers or navigators.

First commanding officer of the unit was Maj. Ralph K. Johnson who served in that capacity until July, 1943, when Lt. Col. (then a major) Ford M. Monroe took command. Col. Monroe was transferred in February, 1944, and until Maj. Huttig took command in March of this year, Maj. Henry R. Gaus was acting commanding officer.

Headquarters of the AAF Western Flying Training command, of which the Tech unit is under jurisdiction, is located at Santa Ana, Calif.

Came From Wide Area

Men assigned to the unit, Maj. Huttig stated, have come from all 48 states, and from Alaska, Hawaii, the Philippines, Panama Canal Zone, and many other places.

Tech students and faculty members were always aware of the presence of these servicemen, for they sang as they marched along the streets of Tech's campus, coming to and from class. They would sing everything from "Mairzy Doats" to the "Army Air Force" song. Each class printed an annual summarizing their activities. The annuals were named, "Off We Go."

In a formal statement to the press, President Clifford B. Jones reiterated: "It has been a source of deep gratification to be privileged to participate in this phase of the war effort. Texas Technological college was among the first to tender its available facilities to the government on declaration of war. Although ours is a co-educational institution and has a fairly substantial continuing enrollment, our entire plant would have been made available to the government had it been needed for the war effort."

Cooperation Cited

"We are especially desirous," Dr. Jones continued, "of expressing to Maj. Huttig, and to members of his staff, our gratitude for his and their splendid cooperation and unfailing helpfulness in our joint endeavor to instruct students of the Army Air Forces. We are particularly mindful also of the loyal, diligent effort put forth and in some cases the personal sacrifice made by members of our faculty and many other employes of the college under conditions which challenged the best. We should like to add, with notably few exceptions the gentlemanly conduct of Air Crew students on the campus has been the subject of frequent favorable comment."

"Obviously," Dr. Jones concluded, "we regret the termination of the program except for the significance which since termination would seem to imply—namely, a most satisfactory progress of the war."

Men who are forced to leave by June 30 and have not yet completed their courses at Tech, will do "on the line" training at Air Bases, for the present, Maj. Huttig said.

AWARDS ARE PRESENTED—Texas Technological college and the War department participated in a mutual back-slapping ceremony at the college Friday afternoon when certificate of awards for meritorious service were exchanged. Major John M. Huttig, above right, presented Tech with an award from the War department for the college's cooperation in the training of aircrew members the past year and a half. Major Huttig presented the award to Dr. Clifford B. Jones, retiring Tech president, above left, who yielded the honor of receiving it to Dr. J. William Davis, second from right, coordinator of the military training program. Mrs. W. C. Holden, second from left, an instructor in the program, presented Major Huttig his certificate. The certificates are shown in the foreground. The War department's training is being closed at Tech this week. (Staff Photo).

GOP Campaigner In 1940 Opposes Dewey

HARTFORD, Conn., June 24 (AP) —Russell W. Davenport, presidential campaign coordinator in 1940 for Wendell Willkie, told the Hartford Courant in an interview published today that he would not support the Republican party this year if it gave the presidential nomination to Gov. Thomas Dewey.

"If Tom Dewey is nominated," he said, "I won't support the Republican party purely on the international issue alone."

Asserting that he was opposed to any more wavering on the international issue," Davenport told the Courant before he addressed a United Nations rally here:

"Dewey has wavered in the past and I will not support anyone who wavers on the international issue. The turning point with me so far as Dewey is concerned is his stand against lend-lease shortly after it was proposed."

Asked whether he would support the Democratic ticket should Dewey be named at the Chicago convention which opens next week, Davenport said:

"Let's wait and see."

Farm Marketing Probe Planned

WASHINGTON, June 24. (AP) — A comprehensive investigation of agricultural marketing processes will be launched, Rep. Hill (R-Colo.) said today, as soon as a special House agriculture subcommittee can find the right man to supervise it.

Hill said the committee wants a man who is solidly grounded in marketing practices, preferably an experienced business executive or attorney.

He would direct and correlate the work of six groups, each concerned with a separate phase of the problem.

Out of the inquiry, Hill asserted, the committee expects to smooth the way for agriculture's return to a peacetime basis.

Six Phases Of Plan

Th six phases of the proposed investigation are:

1. Preparation of commodities at origin, including grading and selection procedure, disposal of culls and methods of packing.

2. Transportation, including railroads, trucks, planes, coastal and inland waterways and methods of caring for perishable foods en route.

3. Operation and utilization of terminal markets such as those for grain, cotton and wool.

4. Cooperative marketing and its correlation with other marketing agencies.

5. Disposition and control of commodity surpluses.

6. Study of present marketing legislation and development of new legislation.

Japs Display Parts From Superfortress

(By The Associated Press)

A Domei broadcast from Tokyo today said the "wreckage of the enemy's vaunted Superfortress which fell victim to our interception fire" in the raid on northern Kyushu June 15 had been put on exhibition at Anmatsuyo department store.

"Parts exhibited" included bulletproof glass, a doublebarrelled cannon, shells and cartridges, Domei reported.

The Japanese originally claimed to have shot down seven of the planes, but later acknowledged that they had succeeded in bringing down only one. They later reported salvage operations off Kyushu in an effort to find three or four more.

The War department announced that one of the bombers was lost over the target, that another is missing and that two more failed to get back to their bases because of accidents.

Mathis Announces His Candidacy For County Attorney

The Avalanche-Journal Saturday was authorized to make formal announcement of the candidacy of Eugene F. (Gene) Mathis for the office of county attorney of Lubbock county, subject to action of the Democratic primary.

His formal statement follows:

"I will be 46 years old July 28, four days after the election. I was born and reared in Wichita Falls, where I attended school and was admitted to the bar in 1925. Since receiving my license, I have practiced law in Wichita Falls and San Angelo, where I held the office of district attorney from 1931 to 1935, after which I again engaged in the general practice of law.

"I moved to Lubbock from San Angelo in February of 1940 and have been actively engaged in the general practice of law here since that time.

"I believe in law enforcement for all persons alike, and if elected promise to conduct the office in a way that the citizens will be protected. Persons coming before me will receive justice.

"I am married and have my home in Lubbock. I will greatly appreciate any assistance that the citizens of Lubbock county may give me in my coming campaign."

From Lou To Louella

Dear Louella: Tech co-eds who are making plans for summer weddings are Lucille Melton, Frances Chance, Jackie Tollison and Norma Croxton. Frances will wed A/C Chesley Whadford from Idaho, Jackie will marry "Jeff" Jefferies next month and Norma will marry 'round July 1 . . . Hallie Crum is wearing the "all significant ring" which she received last week-end when Earl Christy was visiting her in Dallas . . . Also on Catharine Knight's third finger, left hand, is a beautiful sparkler put there by Chris Christiansen now stationed at Barksdale Field, La. Catharine has been to see him a couple of times and hopes to go again before he is sent overseas . . . The ring that Pat Naylor was wearing wasn't the real thing, but just a joke she played on her friends. She has her eyes on Bill Morley of Quanah.

Doings of the high school set: Leslie Morrisset and Johnny Cole seem to enjoy teaching "Button" Peters to dive . . . Amelia Pryor and Beverly Giles, are frequenters at the swimming pool where they admire the diving of George Brewer, John McLarty and Johnny Trout . . . The look of romance in Jo Ribble's eyes is for Bill Pool at present instead of T. S. Cranford . . . Charles Walden and Bettye Lois Tubbs are getting along swell. Ditto, Martha LaRoe and Dean Pierce . . . Mary Jean Woods is sad and lonesome since Mark Dickeson moved to Minnesota . . . Ella Norman isn't exactly happy while Tony Rogers is vacationing in Arkansas . . . Charles Kelly will go to the Navy soon and Sam Henly will leave this week for University of New Mexico where he will begin his training in the Navy V-12 program . . . Burl Gene Moore will start to Rice Institute this summer.

* * *

Here and There

Among the few boys at Tech this summer are to be found some very cute freshmen, namely, Gerry Henderson, Robert Garber, LeRay Swim, Orvis Smith and Jack Gibson . . . And turning from college freshmen to Army lieutenants — Lt. Ed Coulon from San Francisco should be mentioned because he is a wonderful dancer; Lt. John Danyo, who has been practically everywhere but lives in New Jersey, for his ability to be a good conversationalist . . . Seen this week with an orchid and a glider pilot escort was pretty blonde Mary Stewart.

* * *

ABOUT Uncle Sam's boys: Machinist Mate Pat Wiman, former Techsan now stationed in Anacortes, Wash., was in Lubbock this week visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Babb and was full of talk about his wife, the former Bettye Babb, and his infant son, Pat, jr. . . . Pvt. Jack Wheat, formerly of SPAAF, is now "somewhere in Italy" with the Army Air forces . . . Billy Wright, former Westerner football star and ex-Tech student, is on leave from the Navy Training school in Norman, Okla. . . . The Billy Wright who goes with Janet York is also here. He is a West Point cadet . . . Other sailors around are Buddy Crites, Tom Hodges, Tom Hassell, Lee Turner and Elwin Ellison, who is here on a 30-day leave from the South Pacific . . . The Army is represented by Jim Joe Rieger, George Perkins, Eddie Sumral, and Bill Aycock who is stationed in Kansas as a gunner on a B-29 . . . Mack Elston is expected home from Iowa this week.

Caught On The Fly

Spending the week-end in Ruidoso are Bill Kennedy, Eddie Poage, Al Howell and dates, Marguerite Nobles, "Dodo" Bizzell and Maxine Hill. They will stay in a cabin owned by Eddie's aunt, Jeanette E. Maulin, author of "Signal" and other books written about West Texas life. Eddie and Al are just back in Lubbock from a vacation in Hollywood . . . Courtney Brooke — ex-Techsan stationed in California not far from where Dollie Robinson lives —reports have it that there is a romance brewing. And more about the Brooke family, Godfrey and Grady are a cute set of twins . . . Tech-exes to be here this week-end for a Wrangler party are Hugh Monroe, Hoke Holbrook, Gus Gallager, J. D. Milner, Smitty Farrar, Marion Fox, Jerry Shaw, Doris Cornelius and Mary Nixon . . . Mrs. Floyd Earthman, the former Mary McNeill, received a Japanese soldier's shirt and a grass skirt this week from her husband who is in the Pacific.

Congratulations to the following couples who will celebrate wedding anniversaries this week: Mr. and Mrs. Durwood Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Chester A. Slingerland, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd A. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie M. Goldwater.

So long,
Lou.

Higher Ration Points On Some Beef Seen

DALLAS, June 24 (AP) — Southwestern meat packers foresee no meat shortage in this area, but expect higher ration points on the better grades of beef now under rationing, it was disclosed today.

Packers attending a regional meeting of the American Meat institute predicted a more plentiful supply of the lower grades of beef shortly when grass-fed cattle begin their trek to market.

BY ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, June 24—Exclusively yours: Don't be surprised if Betty Grable and former boy friend George Raft are co-starred in a new movie now that Raft has signed a long term contract with 20th Century-Fox. Betty works there, too, and the studio is looking for a story in which to team them.

Raising Standards Of Minorities Favored

HOUSTON, June 24 (U.P.)—The state conference of Christian Endeavor was on record today as determined to assist minority groups in raising their standards "until they can receive the rights and privileges to which they are entitled."

In other resolutions, the conference pledged itself to: Aid in ridding Texas of liquor traffic, convert 5,000 young people to Christianity, and adopt greater loyalty to principles of the Christian church.

Dr. Hoyt Boles, assistant to the president of Trinity university at San Antonio, told the conference delegates in a closing sermon that "no matter how brilliant or how strong our so-called statesmen, or our world police force, the world peace plan will crumble in a quarter century" unless it is built on Christian principles.

Active duty orders to sea or to some shore station now awaits Willbanks.

A NINTH AIR FORCE FIGHTER BASE, England,—Everett L. Jones, 1103 Main street, Lubbock, Tex., has been recently promoted to the grade of first lieutenant from second lieutenant. Lt. Jones, an intelligence officer with a Ninth Air Force unit, attended Kansas State College and was graduated from Texas Tech., where he attained a B.S. in Geology. Before entering the service in Oct., 1942, Lt. Jones operated a filling station in Ashland, Kan.

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY, Italy—First Sergeant James S. Hardin of Lubbock, Texas whose quick thinking and courage under fire contributed materially to the successful landing of his unit at Salerno last September, recently recalled incidents of the memorable invasion. Husband of Mrs. Money M. Hardin and step-father of Carrol Marie Phillips, both of Lubbock, Sgt. Hardin is a member of a 36th "Texas" Division artillery unit. Landing with his battery on D-day the Lubbock sergeant and his group encountered one of the heaviest artillery, mortar and machinegun barrages ever hurled at American forces in World war II. At a time when Allied control of the beach was in grave doubt, one amphibious truck wiggled from the water to the beach and was stopped instantly. A shell landed nearby and killed the driver. Realizing that the craft would have to be moved immediately in order to save its vital load of supplies from a direct hit, Sergeant Hardin left a position of cover and raced to the vehicle. Under constant machinegun fire he drove it to a supply dump where it was unloaded and turned over to proper authorities. The sergeant then made his way under heavy fire back to his unit and his regularly assigned duties. Member of the "Texas" National Guard, Sgt. Hardin has been in the army since July, 1940. Participation in the Fifth Army invasion of Italy placed him among the first American soldiers to set foot on European soil in World war II.

QUANTICO, Va.—Warren Hamilton Smith, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren H. Smith of Floydada, Texas, has been graduated from Marine Officer Candidates' class here and appointed second lieutenant in the Marine Corps Reserve. Lt. Smith attended North Texas State Teachers' college, Denton, before enlisting in the Marine Corps April 14, 1942.

SMITH

T. C. Root, formerly on the faculty at Texas Technological college, has been promoted to captain in the Army Air Corps in England where he is serving in intelligence. His family is living at 2629 Twenty-second street.

Staff Sgt. Samuel Board, 1522 Twenty-seventh street, Lubbock, a graduate of the Scott Field, Ill., Army Air Forces Training Command radio school, is now on duty with the famous "Red Raiders" in New Guinea, according to an announcement from an advanced echelon of the Fifth Air force.

Pvt. Calvin G. Walker, son of Mrs. Mary Michaels, 1912 Sixteenth street, Lubbock, has recently graduated from the B-24 Liberator bomber mechanics school at Keesler Field, Miss. He successfully completed 17 weeks of training in all phases of servicing the heavy bomber.

DONATHAN

FAIR

T. D. Donathan and Carl H. Fair, both machinist's mates 3/c in the Seabees, returned to their station at Lido Beach, Long Island, N. Y., Tuesday after spending a 10-day leave with relatives in Brownfield and Idalou. Donathan and Fair graduated with the same class at Union High school (Terry county) and entered the service together, both volunteering. They received their boot training at Camp Peary, Va., from where they were transferred to Camp Endicott, R. I. Later they were transferred to Camp Thomas, L. I., and then to their present station. They have been fortunate in having all their leaves at the same time. Donathan, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Donathan of Route 5, Brownfield, was employed on Catalina Island prior to entering the service in September, 1943. They visited Donathan's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Griffith in Idalou while on leave.

S. B. (Sully) Schrampfer, storekeeper second class, has been in the Seabees since April, 1943, and is now stationed at Pearl Harbor. He formerly worked for Montgomery Ward in Lubbock and prior to that time lived in Merrill, Wis., which is the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schrampfer. Before going to Pearl Harbor in February he was stationed at bases in Richmond, Va., and Gulfport, Miss. His wife lives in Lubbock at 2101 Ninth street.

SCHRAMPFER

1st. Lt. Harry Clifton Burrus, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Burrus, 602 Avenue R, has recently been promoted from the rank of second lieutenant, according to a War department announcement.

BAINBRIDGE, Ga. — Now receiving basic flight training as an aviation cadet at the Bainbridge Army Air field is Samuel H. Crockett, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Crockett, Lubbock, Texas. He completed pre-flight training at Maxwell Field, Ala., and his primary training at one of the many fields throughout the Southeast. The Bainbridge flying school, a unit of the vast Army Air Forces Training command, is commanded by Colonel Mills S. Savage, a graduate of Georgia Tech and a veteran in the Army Air Forces. Cadet Crockett, who is a former student of Texas Tech, Lubbock, joined the Air Forces on May 21, 1943.

How Much Sea Power Has Japan?; Willkie-Dewey Fued Is Unlikely To Be Healed

U. S. Is "Taking No Chances"

But Enemy May Not Be So Tough

OBVIOUSLY, our Naval High Command could not make a worse mistake than to under-estimate the strength of the Japanese fleet. So our admirals aren't making that mistake. Indications are that they are prepared for eventualities much worse than they ever are likely to encounter from the Japs.

But the command is taking no chances. Nor should it take chances. All the indications are that our Naval High Command is assuming that, if the Japanese grand fleet ever can be forced into a showdown battle, it will be just as tough as Tokyo has proclaimed so often and so effusively.

And, for that matter, the Jap navy may be all that it is cracked up to be. Certainly it is modern and certainly it includes a large number of fine and powerful warships. Nor can there be much doubt as to the skill of its crews, nor as to the desperation with which they will fight if they can be forced into battle. Definitely, the Jap fleet should be no pushover.

Even so, the Japanese navy has yet to prove by deeds that it is the big bad wolf it pretends to be. True, it has the reputation of being a tough customer. It has enjoyed and nourished that reputation for nearly 40 years, since May 27 and 28, 1905, when an under-rated Jap fleet annihilated the Russians off the Island of Tsushima in the Sea of Japan. That was the greatest sea battle in Japanese history and it gave the Jap fleet its reputation.

Actually, if ever there was a pushover fleet, it was that of Russia on the day when its commander stupidly allowed himself to be trapped in waters for which the Jap navy was designed. True, the Russian fleet possessed the greater paper strength. But it was stronger only on paper.

The Japanese fleet was new and modern. The Russian consisted, for the most part, of old and even obsolete ships. The Russian fleet was miserably manned and equipped. Its crews were poorly trained and their morale was of such low state that mutinies were attempted en route to the scene of battle. It was short of ammunition, much of the ammunition it did have was defective, and many of its guns were out of commission. Furthermore, it had been out of port nearly eight months, having steamed from the Baltic sea, a total distance approximating the circumference of the earth at the equator. If ever a fleet was made to order for annihilation, it was the Russian that day.

Naturally, no one could pretend that the strength of Japanese sea power today can be measured by the events of nearly 40 years ago. The events then are entirely without bearing on what might happen should the American and Japanese fleets meet in a full-scale decisive engagement.

But it is a fact that the Japs love to boast about their victory at Tsushima. They take the attitude that, "I'm a tough guy on the sea, and I proved it at Tsushima—so you'd better look out." As a matter of fact, the truth of Tsushima is that the Japs met a desperately sick tenth-rate pushover. They hardly could have lost if they had wanted to.

Why Not A Big Ceremony?

MOST Americans doubtless share fully the spirit exemplified the other day by Uncle Sam's sailors aboard the naval seaplane tender, USS Coos Bay, who pooled 41,200 pennies and then requested that the amount be used "to help pay the wage increases that money-hungry strikers are demanding."

As was pointed out by the sailors, most of whom were described as veterans of numerous engagements, all they have been able to do has been to risk their lives for their country. So they felt "compelled to try to do something for the poor strikers." A splendid spirit, indeed!

Since they have provided the pennies, it is to be hoped that those at home will do their part. The least they could do, it would seem, would be to arrange for appropriate ceremonies in connection with the formal presentation of the money.

For such an occasion, it would seem most appropriate to invite Adolf Hitler himself to deliver a broadcast of appreciation and presentation. The strikers have been good to Adolf, so he should be willing to return the favor. Likewise, it would seem nice to enclose the money in some sort of container —something bearing the likenesses of Judas and Shylock, and into which 30 pieces of silver might appropriately be set. Emblazoned upon the lid should be a double-cross.

Yes, by all means! Those at home should help the fighters of the Coos Bay to let the strikers know just how true Americans feel about them and their strikes.

It is best for a person to order his time so that he will not have any left idle for sitting around wondering what-the-hell.

"GI Correspondent" Tells U. S. Public: "Don't Be Impatient!"

Pyle Describes European War Picture

By ERNIE PYLE
Special Correspondent

SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE, (By Wireless)—Folks newly arrived from America say that you people at home are grave and eager about this, our greatest operation of the war so far.

ERNIE PYLE

But they say also that you are giving the landings themselves an importance out of proportion to what must follow before the war can end. They say you feel that now that we are on the soil of France we will just sweep rapidly ahead and the Germans will soon crumble.

It is natural for you to feel that, and nobody is blaming you. But I thought maybe in this column I could help your understanding of things if we sort of charted this European campaign. This is no attempt to predict—it is just an effort to clarify.

* * *

Divides Campaign Phases

On the German side in Western Europe we face an opponent who has been building his defenses and his forces for four years. A great army of men was here waiting for us, well prepared and well equipped.

On the English side of the Channel, we and the British spent more than two years building up to equality in men and arms with this opponent. Finally we reached that equality, and I am sure considerably more than equality.

Then—on June 6—came the invasion we had waited for so long. The big show has begun. So let's divide the remainder of this campaign into phases.

* * *

PHASE No. 1 was the highly vital task of getting ashore at all. That phase could not last long. We either had to break a hole in the beach defenses and have our men flowing through that hole within a few hours, or the jig was up. Phase No. 1 came out all in our favor.

We planned phase No. 2 so that we could throw in our first follow-up waves without casualties or delay. That also was a phase we didn't dare to dilly-dally about. The beaches were fairly clear of shellfire within two days.

* * *

In Phase 3 Now

Phase No. 3 is what we are in right now. And that is to build a wall of troops around the outer rim of our beachhead that will hold off any German counter-attacks.

The whole split-second question of the first few days was whether we could get troops and supplies through our little needle's-eye of a beachhead faster than the Germans could bring theirs from all over Europe.

As this is written no important counter-attack has developed. The Germans are having plenty of trouble moving their stuff up, because of our savage air activity. Every day that passes adds to our forces and gives us greater security.

If we can hold that outer line against all attacks for a short while yet, then we will have won Phase No. 3. And right now it certainly seems that we are winning it.

* * *

PHASES 1, 2 and 3 are preliminary ones. It took three of them merely to get us a place in Europe from which to begin. The three of them merely give us the corner lot on which we are going to build our house.

Phase No. 4 is the house-building prase. This is the phase you folks at home have been working so hard to make possible.

In England and America we've got the men and machines and supplies and munitions to overbalance the great stockpile Germany has built up in Western Europe. But we've got to get it over here into France before we go on.

You may have imagined that we would hit the beach and go right on, advancing 30 miles a day till we reached the German border. We could no more do that than a baby, after taking its first step, could run a 100-yard dash. You have to wait until your strength is built up before you can run.

That is Phase No. 4. It will go on for some time yet. Don't be impatient. The wall in front of us will hold while we gradually pile this beachhead to the saturation point with extra men, guns, trucks, food. Ammunition, gasoline, telephone wire, repair shops, hospitals, airfields, and thousands of other items—pack it until we have more than the Germans have, and with lots of reserves in addition.

* * *

Don't Be Impatient

Then, and not until then, will Phase No. 5 start. Phase No. 5 is the real war—big-scale war. How long we will have to wait between now and the beginning of Phase No. 5, I don't know. But my guess is that it will take months rather than weeks.

So don't be impatient if we seem to go slowly for a while. You can't lay the foundation of a house in the forenoon and move into the house that evening. We are just now laying the foundation of our house of war in Europe. It will take a while to build the walls and get the roof on. And then . . .

Looking At Life - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

A SKEPTIC said to me: "Do you believe all that bunk about those people over in Europe throwing bouquets at our soldiers whenever they get into a town that had been overrun by the Nazis?

"Just the other day I read about the men and women in Rome throwing their arms around our soldiers when they marched in, kissing and giving them wine and fruits. I think that's just newspaper talk."

"No, it isn't," I told my doubting Thomas, and then I tried to explain the thing to him.

For centuries those people in Europe have been overrun by conquerors.

In 390 B. C. the Gaul sacked Rome; in 63 A. D. most of it was burned by Nero; Alaric almost destroyed it in 410; Genseric the Vandal ruined it in 455; Totila the Goth in 546; Arnulf the German in 896. The Constable of Bourbon plundered it in 1527; Napoleon seized it in 1808 and a littler Napoleon in 1849. Mussolini the Puny enslaved it in 1922 —and then came Hitler, the Hun of Huns.

* * *

Is it any wonder that roses and wine and joy and affection await us wherever we go?

For we come not as conquerors and destroyers and beasts, but as deliverers and liberators and human beings.

No matter how low a slave may have sunk, deep down in him there is a longing for freedom and self respect, for the privilege of being a man again or a woman who can bear her children as her own and raise them according to the teachings of her heart, her parents and her faith.

We have all become too cynical and too materialistic. We, too, have become slaves of the industrial age in which we live.

* * *

And yet, way down deep in our hearts, we here in America are idealists.

* * *

WAY down deep in our hearts we have a stern sense of justice, of honor and of human rights.

The peoples of the world whom we have set out to free know that; they know that we want nothing from them but that we want to restore to them what is rightfully theirs.

So when they give us roses and kisses and wine, they give it to us because they know that we are their brothers and sisters all baptized in the common blood of sacrifice and suffering.

To them we have once again opened the doors of the Kingdom of Heaven.

To even the least of them we have given, from none of them taken away.

Split May Mean GOP Defeat

(Washington Merry-Go-Round)

BY DREW PEARSON
Special Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 24.—The Republican party goes into its convention tomorrow with its biggest opportunity of electing a President in twelve long years. But also, it goes into the convention with its ranks split just about as wide open as the Democrats—and along the same conservative-liberal lines.

Wendell Willkie, who controls a minimum of at least 1,000,000 votes—enough to tip the scales one way or the other—will not be in Chicago. Furthermore, he will not be present in spirit as far as the leading candidate is concerned.

The enmity between Dewey and Willkie is not going to be patched up easily. Probably it won't be patched up at all.

PEARSON

Dewey forces have been watching Willkie like a hawk, anxious to win over his friends, though not too enthusiastic about Willkie himself. They know pretty much whom he talks to, where he goes.

Not long ago, Rep. Joe Martin of Massachusetts, Republican floor leader, was in New York and telephoned Willkie. They arranged to breakfast together at the Waldorf-Astoria. As they sat down, Willkie noticed Harrison Spangler, GOP national chairman, breakfasting at a nearby table.

"We'd better not talk about anything at all," Willkie remarked to Martin, "because whatever we do or say will get right back to Dewey in exaggerated form."

"Yes," agreed Congressman Martin, who also happened to see ex-Sen. John Townsend of Delaware, chairman of the GOP Finance committee, sitting at another table.

So they talked about anything except politics. But before the day was over, word of their "mysterious and important meeting" got back to Dewey headquarters.

This is the kind of bitterness and suspicion the Republicans will have to overcome to win next November—unless the Democratic civil war develops into a greater rebellion.

* * *

UNWANTED DEWEY SUPPORTER

EVERY important political candidate succeeds in attracting his quota of embarrassing supporters and, as Tom Dewey goes into the most important political meeting of his life, he is no exception.

One embarrassing, but very ardent Dewey supporter has just been shelved—officially. He is charming, go-getting Bob Lyons of Indiana, former treasurer of the Ku Klux Klan and biggest chain-store lobbyist in the USA.

Officially, the dynamic Lyons is now on the side-lines, having been induced to resign as Republican National committeeman by his own Indiana delegates to the convention. Actually, however, he is as busy as a bird-dog behind the scenes and has executed an important political stroke in Indiana for the man he admires most—Tom Dewey.

Bob Lyons leaped into the Indiana limelight about the time the Klan was having all its troubles over the conviction of Kleagle Stephenson for murder. Lyons at that time represented one faction of the Klan, received his first big law fee, then moved to Washington to one of the neatest lobbying jobs ever seen in this hardboiled capital.

Various states proposed outlawing chain stores, so Bob Lyons set himself up as the chain stores' champion—in return for a fee reported by a Congressional committee to be $375,000 annually.

Of this, he spent whatever was necessary to pay for the services of powerful operators in each state—Nebraska's late Arthur Mullen, vice chairman of the Democratic National committee; ex-Governor Bowerman of Oregon; ex-Judge W. D. Erskine of Oregon; ex-Judge C. C. Tague of Indiana; ex-Sen. George C. Purl of Texas; ex-Sen. A. J. Wirtz of Texas; ex-Judge T. S. Allen, brother-in-law of Gov. Charles Bryan of Nebraska; ex-Gov. A. T. Hannett of New Mexico.

* * *

FRUSTRATED POLITICAL AMBITIONS

TODAY, Bob Lyons is a successful lawyer and garners fat fees in both Washington and Indiana, but never has he been successful in his political ambitions. One of these is to be governor of the state. Another was to block his old enemy, Wendell Willkie. Another is to elect Tom Dewey, for whom he has been the leading Indiana booster.

Nearest he ever came to political success was two weeks ago, when Republican politicians, forgetting about his former KKK connections, elected him GOP National committeeman from Indiana. Immediately, there was a hue and cry from newspapers and other GOPers, especially Congressman Charley LaFollette of Evansville, Indiana, who branded Lyons a onetime Klansman.

So last week, when Republican leaders met again, the Dewey leaders agreed to have Bob Lyons step down as national committeeman.

However, this was not all of the story. Bob was not a willing stepper-downer. Before he would relinquish his committee post, he drove a shrewd bargain for his favorite candidate, Tom Dewey—and for himself. Here are the terms of the bargain:

* * *

LYONS' BARGAIN

1. Of Indiana's 29 delegates to the Chicago convention, at least 26 must vote for Dewey. Previously, Indiana delegates were unpledged, had shouted down a motion that they pledge for Dewey. But so anxious were they to dump Lyons, that 26 secretly pledged to vote for Dewey. One delegate didn't vote, and two were absent.

2. No successor should be named to replace Lyons as national committeeman.

3. There should be no change in the GOP State chairman, friendly to Lyons.

Under these conditions, Bob Lyons stepped aside, relieving Governor Dewey, at least officially, of an embarrassing but ardent and dynamic supporter. However, some politicos suspect that, after Chicago, the cards may be stacked for Bob Lyons to walk back again.

NOTE—Friends say that Bob Lyons has now sworn he will spend $25,000 in the Evansville district to defeat Congressman LaFollette, chief Republican who demanded his resignation.

* * *

BRICKER'S SESSION WITH SOLONS

OHIO's statuesque Gov. John Bricker pulled important popularity strategy with Congress in preparation for Chicago when he met with more than 100 GOP congressmen in a closed-door session.

The meeting was off-the-record in the Willard hotel and supposedly had no political motives. However, it was a shrewd move by the Bricker crowd, since most of the Republican congressmen went off singing his praises.

Bricker didn't say anything new or startling, but one thing they especially liked was his determination to keep after the nomination until the last gong.

"I'll be in there pitching right through to the end," he said in reply to a question by Rep. Carl Hinshaw of California. "Let me assure you, I won't be making any deals to take my name out when I reach Chicago".

The GOP congressmen who met with him call themselves the 76th club because most were elected in 1938 to the 76th Congress.

"The United States," Bricker told them, "is not in position to force its way on our allies. We want real cooperation from them in setting up peacetime policies and we should be a central figure in drafting these policies. But under no circumstances should we surrender any of our sovereignty of our resources.

"This nation has a heart, and it has the good will of most of the world. We must utilize this good will, but at the same time we must remember that our surest strength lies in a powerful Army and Navy."

Our Curious World---By William Ferguson

ANSWER. By the forelock. The fetlocks are on the lower legs.

"War Below Zero" Is Story Of Arctic War

Lubbock Flier Participated In Events In Balchen Book

THE war is creating a new kind of book, books that represent the combined efforts of men of action and writing men. In this category is "War Below Zero" by Colonel Bernt Belchen and Majors Corey Ford and Oliver LaFarge.

BALCHEN

Colonel Balchen, who is credited with more hours over Arctic and Antarctic regions than any other pilot in the world, has been in charge of our base in Greenland since 1941. The idea of writing "War Below Zero" came to Balchen and Ford one day last summer when they were breakfasting in an Iceland hotel. It occurred to them that Americans might like to know what has been happening in that northernmost American air base. In like manner, Major LaFarge, who writes the second part of "War Below Zero," tells the story related to him by four air pilots, participants in one of the most spectacular episodes mentioned by Balchen and Ford.

Key Region For Strategy

Though only a little area of Greenland on the southern tip is habitable by anyone but Eskimos, it is one of the key regions in the world for strategy. For over southern Greenland the coming weather for Europe is made. Germany realized how necessary this information was and by 1941 had planted a fully equipped signal station above the Arctic Circle. Colonel Balchen was responsible for ousting the Germans.

The second part of "War Below Zero" is the story of a Flying Fortress which crashed on the Greenland Ice Cap, and so thrust nine men into the frozen mid-winter without preparation or equipment. The last of these men were rescued five months later. Throughout the long weeks of the siege, they were kept supplied with food, with supplies, even with war news and letters, by planes that flew up from coast stations. This is a story of unbelievable courage and heroism, both of the men who did the waiting and those who finally brought the long wait to an end.

Capt. Bill Bayless, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Bayless, was a pilot of one of nine Fortresses forced down on the ice cap and rescued eleven days later by dog train, one of the events mentioned in Balchen's book. Capt. Bayless is now stationed at Pueblo, Colo.

The book is an elaboration of a series of articles which appeared earlier this year in a national magazine. In the magazine articles, Capt. Bayless' plane was pictured in several illustrations.

Mr. and Mrs. Bayless have a series of pictures which their son gave them showing the various planes, crews, and scenes on the ice floe taken during the thrilling adventure described in the book.

HEARTWARMING STORY

UUDOUBTEDLY Fairfax Downey had the kids who play at war in mind when he started to write "Jezebel the Jeep" (Dodd, Mead), but the appeal of this little story will extend far beyond the teens.

It is a heartwarming story of a soldier and his jeep, and it is bolstered by just enough technical knowledge to make it credible. Downey, a former newspaperman and writer, is a Major in the Army and knows whereof he writes.

All the affection that T/5 Johansen has lavished on the girl back home was transferred to the jeep, Jezebel, when her human counterpart let Johnny down. He treated her like a kid sister and kept Jezebel in top-notch working condition. All this care paid dividends when Johnny had his memorable feud with the motor sergeant over Jezebel.

Johnny and Jezebel were parted by the Germans, but not for long, for they met again on the boat going home. And it was at the end of the voyage that he met Jezebel's successor, Jessie Bell.

CARTOON COLLECTION

THOSE who have chuckled over the cartoon antics of the multi-fingered, small-eyed, and low-foreheaded people that Virgil Partch does for Collier's, have new cause for rejoicing, for some 70 or so of his choicest offerings now appear in book form.

He calls his collection, "It's Hot in Here" (McBride), and what the title means, no one knows. But the drawings and the humor vie for honors.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

IF WHAT you did for the war effort today was an easy thing to do, it isn't enough. We can not hope to give as much as the boy who gives his life . . . but we can do our utmost!

For instance, if you have not yet found yourself scheming and figuring on a way to buy extra War Bonds, it's a pretty good sign you aren't buying enough!

When your neighbor calls on you during the 5th War Loan to ask if you'll increase your purchases, say "Yes" . . . even if it takes a lot of scheming and figuring afterward to pay for them.

That's the way our men are doing their part . . . in the Pacific, in Italy, in England. Ordered to attack, they do not first consult themselves to determine whether it's safe or convenient or comfortable. They're thinking of you at home. To protect you, they attack first . . . and figure out how to do it as they go.

Uncle Sam needs your dollars to finance this war and he needs them now! Not just the dollars you can spare but every dollar you can earn that you don't absolutely need for food, shelter, clothing and the operation of the farm.

War Bonds savings mean more to the average farmer or rancher than to almost anyone else. For they form a financial reserve indispensable for the profitable and efficient operation of his business. War Bonds are safe, they pay a good return, they're easy to buy. When they mature, they mean new machinery and equipment, new conveniences for the house, money for the children's schooling, funds for retirement.

The next time you pick up your paper or listen to the radio news, have a conference with yourself. "Am I doing as much as I can to help win this war? Am I matching what I can do with what the boys are doing over there? Am I investing every possible dollar in War Bonds today to make my future and my family's future more secure?"

Most of us haven't yet begun to do our best. Uncle Sam needs it now! BUY MORE THAN BEFORE in the 5th War Loan!

5 REASONS FOR INCREASING YOUR WAR BOND PURCHASES

1. The tempo of this war is hitting its highest point. Government expenditures for war are at the peak. MORE MONEY IS NEEDED . . . NOW!
2. In proportion to WHO HAS THE MOST MONEY, individuals are not buying their share of War Bonds. America must correct this situation.
3. War Bonds provide the farmer and rancher with the financial reserve he must have to survive the ordinary ups and downs of farming as a business.
4. Money will be needed urgently at a future date to replace and repair farm equipment, machinery, and buildings. War Bonds will provide it.
5. War Bonds are the safest investment in the world, return a good rate of interest, are easy and convenient to buy . . . from bank, post office, rural mail carrier or Production Credit Association.

GENERAL ADVISES BOY

NORTH WOODSTOCK, N. H., (AP) — Thirteen-year-old Herbert Lynde is taking no chances on being unprepared when his draft board calls him. The boy wrote to Brig. Gen. George H. Weems, assistant commandant of the Infantry school at Fort Benning, Ga., asking how he could "get ready" for the Army. The General's advice: "Stay in school—there'll always be an Army."

Open House At SPAAF Slated

With students displaying the same type of combat training which paved the way for many South Plains Army Air field glider pilots to land behind enemy lines in Normandy on D-day, SPAAF will throw open its gates to the public of the Lubbock area on the Fourth of July.

The event will give people hereabouts the opportunity to see in action at close range the identical type of troop-and-cargo-carrying gliders and transport towplanes which hit the soil of France to spearhead the invasion.

There will be no prepared or "rehearsal" program of flying training; it will be simply the everyday routine of combat training through which glider pilots go before emerging as full-fledged "winged commandos," but "routine" training at SPAAF is possibly more unusual than at any air field in the nation.

Many Events On Program

Day-to-day training at the glider school includes takeoffs seconds apart, "blitz" landings, "obstacle" landings and other techniques of invasion. The nearest thing in West Texas to a sky-train 50 miles long such as launched and backed up the invasion will be seen in the groups of gliders and towplanes at SPAAF July 4.

Ordnance personnel will demonstrate use of some of their equipment; mass calisthenics to the music of the SPAAF band will be featured; a drill exhibition by WACs will be a highlight of the program.

The open house probably will be held on the afternoon of July 4. The exact time and other details will be announced later.

INSECTICIDES CONTROLLED

AUSTIN, June 24 (U.P.)—Insecticide manufacturers must register each type of label and pay a $25 inspection fee on each different product sold in Texas, the attorney general's department ruled today.

PLANE CRASH KILLS ONE

DALLAS, June 24 (AP)—Morris Landau, 39, former photographer for a local hotel, was killed and Dr. Tom V. Connor, 33, Dallas dentist, was hurt critically when their light plane crashed here last night.

Coal is formed by the decomposition of vegetable matter under conditions of moisture and in many cases of increased heat and pressure.

The Tomb of the Unknown Soldier is in Arlington Cemetery.

SHOOTING STAR—Lt. Wayne Morris, former motion picture star, walks across Pacific Fleet carrier deck to ready room upon returning from his third mission of the day against Japs. Lt. Morris, who flies a Navy "Hellcat" fighter, was in recent Marcus and Wake Island raids.

BANK PIONEER DIES

DALLAS, June 24 (AP)—Fred Harris, 70, a native of Van Alstyne, Grayson county, died at his home here yesterday. Harris was one of the original employes of the Dallas Federal Reserve bank when it was opened in 1914.

The city of Dieppe, France, existed in the Gallo-Roman era and in the middle ages possessed a large fleet.

NERVOUSNESS AND KIDNEY TROUBLE BACK AND LEG TROUBLE

Case History No. 1498. Lady age 32, who had been extremely nervous and had a serious kidney condition for three years. She came to me as a last resort. Upon examining her I found that she had pressure on nerves leading to the affected regions. After the nerve given time to rebuild so that they could function properly, the lady got entirely well. She wouldn't take anything for the good Chiropractic has done for her.

Case History No. 1598. Man age 28, had had a hurting in his back, legs and feet for seven years. His condition was so serious that he was unable to work. He came to me and I located the cause of his trouble. The cause was corrected and health was the natural results. For every symptom there must be a cause. When you come to me for health service I am going to find the cause of your trouble before I take you as a patient. After I locate the cause I will take you as a patient if I am sure that I can correct the cause. If you have pressure on nerves you can expect disease. If the pressure is not released you can never expect to be well.
