'Definite Gains' Claimed in Rail And Labor Issue

President Johnson Confers With Management, Union Men

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House said today that railroad management-labor negotiators have made "some definite gains" in talks aimed at averting a coast-to-coast strike that could begin Saturday.

However, it was stressed that difficult issues remain and one member of President Johnson's mediation team summed up the situation by saying it was now as difficult to gain an inch as it was a week ago to gain a foot.

Generals In Laos Back Down

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI) — Right-wing generals who deposed Premier Souvanna Phouma in neighboring Laos Sunday reversed themselves today and released him from house arrest, diplomatic sources here reported.

(A dispatch from Vientiane, capital of Laos, said Souvanna, leader of the country's neutral faction, was allowed to leave his villa and unexpectedly flew to the royal capital of Luang Prabang to meet with King Savang Vatthana.

(The Vientiane dispatch said Souvanna was accompanied by the two coup leaders, Gen. Kouprasith Abhay and Gen. Siho Lanphouthacoul, and Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, leader of the right-wing faction.

(Gen. Kong Le, leader of a neutral faction in Laos, was reported to have pledged his 5,000 troops to support of Souvanna.

(Vientiane was calm, with virtually all troops withdrawn from the streets, shops opened, and traffic normal. The airport remained closed.)

Diplomatic sources in Saigon said the coup leaders had apologized for attempting the coup. Souvanna was said to have denied he had resigned as the generals claimed Sunday.

Strong action by the United States, Britain, and France put pressure on the coup leader, Gen. Kouprasith Abhay. The Western Allies feared that the change of the delicate balance of forces in Laos could have repercussions throughout Southeast Asia. Since 1962, neutralists, pro-Communists, and (See LAOS, Page 3)

Cubans to Get Red Missiles On May Day

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Soviet Union is expected to turn over operation of its anti-aircraft missiles in Cuba to the Cubans on May 1 and withdraw an additional 3,000 Russian troops from the island.

Estimates of Soviet troop strength in Cuba now range from 4,000 to 7,000 so the anticipated withdrawal would leave from 1,000 to 4,000 still there. Most Washington authorities lean toward the higher figure.

It is considered possible the Russians might try to retain veto power over the firing of the anti-aircraft missiles, even though their operation would be handed to the Cuban armed forces.

But Cuban Premier Fidel Castro is believed likely to resist any such veto power being put in the hands of Soviet officers and to try to obtain complete control over the missiles.

The weapon is the Sam surface-to-air missile, which can reach an altitude of more than 70,000 feet and is believed to have been responsible for downing an American U2 plane in October, 1962.

Castro Charges U.S. With Violations of Air Space

HAVANA (UPI) — Cuban Premier Fidel Castro charged the United States with violations of Cuban air space Sunday night and called on his armed forces to speed up preparations for use of new anti-aircraft missiles.

He also accused American Marines of unfriendly acts toward Cuba and said he would protest to the United Nations.

In a speech marking the third anniversary of the abortive Bay of Pigs invasion, Castro said in reference to the United States that "if they want war, we are not afraid of it."

Castro said Cuba is not intimidated by blackmail or display of power.

READY FOR CONCERT DRIVE — Headquarters office for Pampa's 20th annual Community Concert Association membership drive opened today in the Southwestern Public Service Co. lobby. Shown here, left to right, are Mrs. Tex DeWeese, membership secretary; Mrs. Eben Warner, membership drive chairman; and Mrs. MacField McDaniel, assistant chairman, getting promotional material ready for the opening of the season ticket sale at 9 a.m. Tuesday.

New Yorker to Keynote Drive

Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor, Columbia Artists representative, will speak at the kickoff dinner tonight for Pampa's annual Community Concert Association membership campaign which opens tomorrow.

The dinner, to be attended by approximately 150 workers from Pampa and towns in the surrounding area, is set for 7:30 p.m. today in the Inn Starlight Room.

A renewal membership campaign has been in progress for the past week and the drive for new members will start at 9 a.m. Tuesday.

Campaign headquarters opened today in the lobby of the Southwestern Public Service Co. and the office there will be open daily this week from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. until the seating capacity of Pampa Junior High School has been sold out, according to Mrs. Eben Warner, drive chairman.

Memberships are $10 each for adults and $5 for students. The season membership entitles members to attend all concerts in the 1964-65 season.

Workers at tonight's dinner will include concert association representatives from White Deer, Miami, Perryton, Panhandle, Spearman, Canadian, Clarendon and Wheeler as well as Pampa.

Dudley Steele, concert association president, will preside at the session.

Association officials pointed out again today that memberships are sold only for the entire season. There are no tickets available for single attractions and there will be no box office sale on concert nights.

One of the outstanding attractions of the coming concert season will be the Pampa appearance of Zizi Jeanmaire and her French Hit Revue with the Roland Petit Ballet company of 50 singers, dancers and musicians.

Newsman Says Reds Winning in Viet Nam

NEW YORK (UPI) — Neil Sheehan, United Press International correspondent in Saigon, said today the U. S.-supported South Vietnamese government is losing its guerrilla war against the Communist Viet Cong.

"We have been losing it for some time. The situation has deteriorated so badly now that it probably cannot be reversed without massive American intervention in all Indo-China, a move which, in my opinion, our people do not seem willing to accept," Sheehan said.

Sheehan, who covered the war in Viet Nam for UPI for nearly two years, spoke at the United Press International breakfast for publishers attending the annual meeting of the American Newspapers Publishers Association (ANPA). UPI White House correspondent Merriman Smith also addressed the breakfast at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

Earl J. Johnson, vice president and editor of UPI, presided at the session and A. Mims Thomson, UPI president, outlined the news service's annual business report to the publishers.

Sheehan said he warned at a similar meeting a year ago that the U.S.-backed forces in South Viet Nam were in serious danger of losing the guerrilla war.

"Now, 12 months and two coups later, I must tell you that the news today is even graver," he said.

President Says Nikita Plans Similar Move

By ALVIN SPIVAK

NEW YORK (UPI) — President Johnson announced today that he has ordered a further "substantial reduction" in U.S. production of enriched uranium for nuclear weapons. He said Nikita S. Khrushchev has indicated he plans a similar move.

In a wide-ranging foreign policy speech, Johnson also disclosed that he has sent William Bundy, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, to Laos for a first-hand look at the political crisis there.

Johnson also reaffirmed U.S. policy to isolate Cuba. He likewise reiterated this country's determination to win the war in Viet Nam and put in a plug for congressional approval of his new foreign aid requests.

Touches Domestic Issues — Discussing domestic politics, Johnson said "partisan politics must yield to national need." In this connection, he said he has instructed the Departments of State, Defense and the Central Intelligence Agency to be ready to provide "major candidates" for the presidency with "all possible information helpful to their discussion of American policy."

But the President's address, made before the annual meeting of the Associated Press at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel, dealt mainly with foreign policy.

Reiterating his willingness to seek solutions to cold war problems with Russia, Johnson declared: "We will discuss any problem, listen to any proposal, pursue any agreement, take any action which might lessen the chance of war without sacrificing the interests of our allies or our own ability to defend the alliance against attack."

Four-Year Reduction — Johnson said his order reducing uranium production would be carried out over a four-year period. Added to previous reductions, he said, the new cut will mean an overall decrease in the production of plutonium by 20 per cent and of enriched uranium by 40 per cent.

"By bringing production in line with need," he said, "we

Lady Bird's Plane Hit by Lightning, But Lands Safely

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) —

The plane carrying Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson to a day-long series of speaking engagements in Cleveland, Ohio, was struck by lightning today but landed safely.

The incident occurred as the plane, a commercial airliner, was about one-half hour out of Cleveland on the flight from Washington.

The bolt struck about 2 seats behind where the First Lady was seated. It popped loudly and flashed blue and white. Mrs. Johnson jumped but she laughed with the rest of the passengers when it became evident that no damage had been done.

Negroes Told to Use Economy in Conflict

By United Press International — Negroes at Jacksonville, Fla., were urged Sunday to use economic power as a means toward ending segregation.

"Wear rags, but wear your rags in dignity," integration leader Rutledge Pearson told a church rally. "Buy only food and medicine, and as little food as possible."

Rutledge, one of 12 Negroes to resign over the weekend from Jacksonville's Bi-Racial Committee that was set up to help end racial tension following bloody violence of three weeks ago, warned that a "holocaust of terror" could break out in Jacksonville at any moment.

Dr. Martin Luther King, one of the top integration leaders in the South, called Jacksonville "a real problem" in a talk across the state at Tallahassee. He said new efforts will be made to end segregation in Florida this summer.

Elsewhere: Cleveland, Ohio: Civil rights leaders called today on 75,000 Negro children to boycott public schools in protest against alleged de facto segregation.

Savannah, Ga.: More than 3,000 voters were registered Sunday in an unprecedented drive. There was no breakdown between whites and Negroes but integration leader Hosea Williams said the number of Negroes registered to vote in the county has climbed from less than 10,000 to more

Buses Stoned By Africans In Strike Try

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (UPI) — Gangs of Africans stoned buses today, apparently trying to stop other Africans from going to work in a protest strike against the new "white supremacy" government.

The stoning of at least five buses in the Highlands African township area near here added to the rash of incidents which began last week in protest against the new government's banishment of African nationalist leader Joshua Nkomo to a remote part of the country.

Police made at least nine new arrests, bringing the total number since Nkomo's banishment Wednesday to more than 300.

The government reinforced police patrols and road checks in an attempt to prevent further violence in Southern Rhodesia's sudden flare-up of racial strife.

Salisbury schools were scheduled to re-open this morning after a three-day shutdown following the disturbances that broke out Thursday and led to a riot in a Salisbury department store Friday.

Police firing from bus tops Sunday night shot and wounded two Africans in the city of Bulawayo. Gangs of Africans were fired on by police after they refused to obey orders to stop stoning police officers.

Elsewhere, African gangs stoned beer halls, houses, cars and trains. One house near Salisbury was reported to have

House-to-House Drive for Cancer Fund Set Tonight

Pampans will be given the opportunity to reach into pocketbooks and purses tonight to aid the Cancer Society's annual fund raising campaign.

A house-to-house drive will open at 6 p.m. and continue until 9 p.m. with workers spreading across the city, ringing doorbells and knocking on doors in an effort to reach everyone in town.

Some 500 women will take part in the drive here tonight and a similar effort will be staged from 5 to 7 p.m. Friday in Lefors under the sponsorship of the Art and Civic Club.

Mrs. Maynard Johnson, chairman of the drive, said anyone who is missed in the campaign tonight may make all contributions to the American Cancer Society in care of Paul Keim, treasurer of the county drive unit, at the First National Bank.

Workers in the house-to-house drive are asked to turn in their collections at the Chamber of Commerce office tonight after they complete assignments.

Anti-Castroite Announces 'War'

DALLAS (UPI) — A leader of Alpha 66 said Sunday the anti-Castro Cuban commando group will launch a civil war inside Cuba within 90 days aimed at toppling the Castro government.

"Supplies are already in Cuba," said Antonio Veciana of Miami. "Our main objectives will be sabotage and guerilla warfare."

An exile army has been training at a secret base in the Caribbean, he said, according to The Dallas Morning News.

Veciana addressed a group of Cuban exiles in the auditorium of Blessed Sacrament Roman Catholic Church Sunday — third anniversary of the Bay of Pigs invasion.

He said that for the first time, there is unity among the anti-Castro groups.

The success of the revolt, he said, depends on Cubans, those on the island and those in exile.

"We don't want Americans to die on our soil," he said. "This is our war. We would welcome their financial aid but we don't expect to get any help."

Cause Sought in Airplane Collision

WILMINGTON, Ohio (UPI) — Air Force investigators looked to the wreckage of two C119 aircraft for clues today as to the cause of an in-flight collision which killed 17 men.

Two men survived.

The pilots and crews of both of the twin-engine "Flying Boxcars" were among the dead, leaving investigators with the twisted and scattered wreckage as the only lead on which to work.

The Air Force kept a tight security guard around the open field in which the planes crashed Saturday night, about 10 miles east of here.

A routine parachute drop had been called off because of inclement weather and the planes were returning to Clinton County Air Force Base when the crash occurred.

There were nine C119s in the formation approaching the base. One of the three lead planes collided with another and one burst into flames and exploded. Bodies were scattered about the fields, many of the men being badly burned.

Kennedy Memorial in Dallas To Include Downtown Plaza

DALLAS (UPI) — Plans for a memorial in downtown Dallas to the late President Kennedy were expanded Saturday to include a park area just two blocks from the scene of his assassination last Nov. 22.

It will be named the John F. Kennedy Plaza and contain a monument—probably a curved white marble wall bearing appropriate quotations, an announcement by a Citizens Memorial Committee said.

The Kennedy Plaza will be one of two planned plazas bounded by Commerce and Elm Streets and by Market and Record Streets. It is on the route Kennedy's motorcade took through downtown Dallas just before it reached the site where he was assassinated, at the intersection of Elm and Houston.

Dr. Luther Holcomb, director of the Dallas Council of Churches, and one of the members of the committee to establish a memorial, explained that traffic problems forced a change from first plans to put the monument only a few yards from the assassination site.

"This will be more impressive but still will be in keeping with the wishes of Jacqueline Kennedy for a modest and dignified memorial," Holcomb said. The Baptist minister said land for the park is being donated by Dallas County.

So far about $11,000 has been donated for the project, mostly by Dallas schoolchildren, and Holcomb said a public fund drive would begin in May. The Dallas committee also plans a gift to the memorial library for Kennedy being built in Boston, Mass.

Previously the committee had revealed plans for the monument, with suggested quotations from Kennedy's inaugural address in 1961 ("ask not what your country can do for you...") and from Ecclesiastes ("a time to live and a time to die...").

Holcomb said the new location would permit visitors to park and spend more time at

Senior Center Corner

By MRS. O. A. WAGNER

Hello Folks! Shortly after the Altrusa Club founded the Senior Center a fund was started by donations from the seniors for a flower fund to send flowers to those members in the hospitals, or taken to death.

Mrs. H. M. Norris has served as chairman of that fund, serving faithfully. Mrs. Norris' health has not been so good the past year, and she has decided to resign after seven years. Mrs. Myrtle Enge has been her assistant the last year. Mrs. J. C. Mosley has asked to serve with Mrs. Enge, on the flower committee and would appreciate being notified of any illness or death among the Centerites. Mrs. Norris was present Thursday with a cast on her right wrist which was broken a fall recently. Mrs. Norris thanked the group for their operation in the past; and will be with us as often as her health will permit. An ARCHID to Mrs. Norris, and thanks from all of us for her untiring efforts in behalf of the CENTER.

A card of thanks was read from Mr. J. L. Appleton of Huntsville, Ark., thanking the group for the flowers and the many kindnesses shown to his brother, Marshall Appleton, whose body was sent back to Huntsville for burial recently. J. L. Appleton mentioned his visit to the Center in September of 1961 and how much he enjoyed the meeting. We missed Mr. Towe, as he was not feeling so well this week. Was good to have Jerry Torvie back with us this week. He is staying at Twilight Acres No. 2, and is quite content, we understand, with all the folks out there. Mrs. Torvie is a teacher in the school system, so his friends will probably find him at home after school is out. Jerry loves company, and there are no restrictions on visiting hours at the Acres, folks.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Evans attended the funeral of a sister-in-law of Mr. Evans at Hobart, Okla., last week. We extend Christian sympathy in behalf of the Seniors.

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Clemin of Rye, Col., spent last week-end with her brother, Fred Cullum and Mrs. Cullum.

Mrs. W. R. Hamilton returned Sunday from Lubbock, where she visited with her daughter, Mrs. Clyde Melton and Mr. Melton, and the Melton's daughter - in-law who is flying to Spain next week for a short visit with relatives.

Mrs. Adah Brown of St. Louis, Mo., who is visiting her daughter, was a welcome guest at the Center this week. Miss Grace NeCase was also a visitor. Can't remember seeing her there before, so hope you enjoyed it, and will return often. Miss NeCase presented the Seniors with a picture, in color, of Uncle Billy Frost she had taken at his birthday party in January. Thanks, in behalf of the Center. Mrs. Pearl Scarberry was reported in Highland Hospital. Speedy recovery, Mrs. Scarberry.

Have you seen the lovely art exhibit by the Pampa Art Club at the Library? Mrs. C. G. Miller was a guest last week of her nephew, C. C. Hampton and wife, in Amarillo, as were his sisters Mmes. Ollie McCullough and Grace Daire of Marysville, Calif.; also nieces of Mrs. Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Burgin have returned from a three-weeks vacation to Florida. They also visited in Oklahoma, Mississippi, Alabama and Tyler. They reported a very pleasant trip; but Pampa still looked good when they got home.

Cannot close without a word about Gen. Douglas MacArthur who was buried Saturday. He was one of the truly great men of my time, of my country.

Am proud that the American people are showing their appreciation of his dedication as a soldier and Christian, and his love of his country. The more we hear of him, the prouder we must be. He deserves all the honors that are being bestowed upon him.

Hostess this week; the 20th Century Club. Serving: Mmes. W. R. Campbell, G. F. Branham, Jack Stroup, Raymond Harrah, Tom Rose, Jack Foster. Cake and coffee were served. Door prizes went to Mrs. Garland and Mrs. N. O. Altrusans; Louise Sewell, Lena Pearl Hobbs, Charlene Yeager, Emily Coston, J. Flannigan.

Gray Ladies: Mmes. Jess Hatcher, G. Benham, Frank Yealey, O. F. Kreimeyer, A. D. Hills.

The beautiful centerpiece on the serving table was furnished by Mrs. Campbell. The bowl holding the bouquet was around a hundred years old; a lovely Haviland bowl, fluted, edged in gold, was part of a set inherited from Mr. Campbell's mother.

By, and God Bless you all.

Love, Mrs. Wagner

A-Frame House Provides Ideal Retreat For Those Planning Suburban Living

By KAY SHERWOOD

The A-frame house, a relatively new architectural development, has skyrocketed in popularity as a second or vacation home and in some areas as a first or year-round home.

A-frame housing is compact, inexpensive and attractive. In our part of the country—the West—the A-frame is widely used on hillside locations. The name is derived, of course, from the steep-pitched roof which extends to the first floor, taking the place of siding or outer walls and performing a dual function for the price of one. The steep roof angle inhibits the weighty accumulation of

MATURE PARENT

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE:

Our daughter, 11, was recently sent knitting materials by her grandmother—needles, an instruction book and enough yarn to make one of those bulky sweaters all the youngsters are wearing. She was so enthusiastic that I got a neighbor who knows how to knit to show her how to use the instruction book. She started work on the sweater. But now that the back is half made she has lost all interest in finishing it. Could this be because I bought some needles and yarn for her younger sister? If she is jealous...

ANSWER: She sounds more dissatisfied with herself than jealous of her sister.

Knitting a sweater isn't done one-two-three. It takes time and beginners make mistakes. If your daughter is a child who feels obliged to conquer all problems immediately, knitting's demand for patience would be resented. And she would withdraw her interest in knitting not because her little sister shares that interest but because it refuses to gratify her pride in immediate success.

Lots of us suffer from this kind of pride. There are the politicians who want to drop H-bombs on any other people who refuse to know how to do the way we think they should. There are the police officials who want delinquent youths beaten into respect for their communities. There are the mothers who can't wait for little boys and girls to outgrow their desire to suck their thumbs but must have the habit removed right away.

For all such people, as I suspect it is for your daughter, time, like the indulgent, spoiling mother, must produce what they want the moment they want it instead of exposing their limitations to them by making them work and wait for results as other human beings have to.

Why don't you learn to knit—and start making a sweater for yourself?

If you can demonstrate your satisfaction with the stitch-by-stitch progress you make as your sweater begins to develop, your child will register it. And you may be able to help her revise her disdainful attitude toward any progress that is not immediately triumphant.

Dear Abby...

Tell Mom That You Just Don't 'Dig' Her Choice!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a college freshman. While I was home for Easter vacation, my mother asked me to take out the 17-year-old daughter of some friends who had just moved to our town. She told me the girl had a great personality and was real sharp. Not having any special girl, I thought, "Why not?" Well, I took this girl out and I practically had to beat her off. She didn't want to go anywhere. All she wanted to do was park. She told me a couple of jokes that were dirtier than those I would tell a fellow. She was so fast I honestly couldn't control her. I never took her out again. My mother asked me what was wrong with her and I said, "Nothing. I have studying to do." I know when I get home this summer I'll have this girl shoved at me again. I can't tell my parents what kind of girl she is. What excuse can I use? Her folks and mine are a constant four-

DEAR ABBY: When our children used to quarrel while doing dishes together, we allowed the one who did NOT start the quarrel to walk out, leaving the one who started the quarrel to finish the job alone.

DEAR FATHER: How did you ever manage that? The granddaddy of all quarrels usually results when one tries to determine WHO started the quarrel in the first place.

FUTURE FARMER AT DAVIS

DEAR FARMER: Tell your parents that as a future farmer you plan to do a lot of digging. But you just don't dig that girl.

DEAR ABBY: My mother doesn't think my big brother and his girl friend should get married in church just because they jumped the gun a little bit and she is going to have a baby. I can't see anything wrong with their getting married in a church as long as she doesn't wear white. What do you think? Thank you.

"FOURTEEN"

DEAR FOURTEEN: I can't think of a better place for them to be married.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell the mother whose children fight over doing the dishes until she finally chases them out of the kitchen and does them herself that I have solved that problem. I had a son and a daughter who were given the chore of doing the supper dishes. They would alternate washing and drying. Oh, they squabbled, too, so I politely told them that since they couldn't get along with each other on the same chore, one was to do them all by himself one night, and the other was to do them all by herself the next night until they learned

A relatively inexpensive home, close to sports facilities (skiing, hiking, boating, fishing) is considered a good investment. They have no difficulty renting their homes during periods when they're not using them themselves. To work in harmony. It work-

Sometimes we have to rip a seam or an edge. Quickest and safest way is to snip the thread on one side, cutting with tiny scissors. Cut every third, fourth or fifth stitch, depending on the length. After threads are cut, turn seam over and lift off the thread. This way you cannot damage your fabric or stretch the seam and it is easy and quick.

Coach Holladay's Spouse Miami Surprise Speaker

By JEFF COHANE
Pampa News Sports Editor.
MIAMI — The Miami Sports Banquet attendees were slightly surprised Saturday night, when the program read "Speaker — Mr. Otis Holladay". . . . and Mr. Holladay turned out to be Mrs. Holladay!

Pampa High coach Otis Holladay, trapped in New Mexico by car trouble, sent the most accomplished pinch-hitter he could think of . . . his wife Ruth, a noted speaker in her own right, who delivered an inspiring address on "The Values of Athletics," which won her a standing ovation from the audience and the sponsoring Miami Mothers Club.

Awards were presented wholesale at the all-sports gathering, with boys and girls basketball and football honors predominating. Receiving the football award for outstanding offensive warrior was Roy Bean, for defense it was a tie between Jody Holland and Hack Coffey. Basketball's defensive warrior award went to Ray Guerrero and offensive to Lewis Holland. "Finest Warrior" was Cheryl Gill, "Bravest Warrior" went to Connie Dodson.

Lewis Holland was crowned basketball king, and Bean football king. Cheryl Gill was presented as Basketball Queen, Ruth Ann Cunningham as Homecoming Queen and as Football Queen and Connie Dodson as Miami Tournament Queen.

Defending Champs In Trouble Yankees Have Only One Win, No HRs

By United Press International
Yogi Berra tasted victory as a manager for the first time but he's still waiting to see the vaunted New York power.

After dropping three consecutive, extra-inning contests, the American League champions picked up their first win by downing the Baltimore Orioles, 5-3, in a rain-delayed game. But Berra is still haunted by the thought that his Yankees are the only major league team without a home run this season.

When the rains came the Yankees had a 2-0 lead after a walk, Joe Pepitone's double and a single to Clete Boyer off starter and loser Milt Pappas, who did not return after the rain due to a stiff shoulder.

Bud Daley, who hurled only one inning last year because of an arm injury, went the first five innings and got the victory. Steve Hamilton pitched the final four frames.

Houston Golf All Souchak

HOUSTON (UPI)—Mike Souchak left Texas today for his Durham, N.C., home with a fat check of $7,500 first prize money from the Houston Classic in his pocket and a warm spot in his heart for the Lone Star state.

The good-natured former Duke University football player from a small Pennsylvania coal mining town fired a final round of 70 Sunday for a one-stroke win over Jack Nicklaus.

Nicklaus made an amazing comeback in the tournament after a disastrous first round score of 76.

Souchak credited his Houston win to an improved putting game which he credits to some instructions by Houston pro Jackie Burke at last week's Masters tournament in Augusta, Ga.

Ironically, it was Nicklaus' usually reliable putting game that went sour and probably cost the "Golden Bear" the tournament. Big Jack missed putts of four, six, seven, eight and nine feet during the final round and had to settle for a 71.

Nicklaus' $4,000 second-place money put him ahead of Arnold Palmer in the see-saw race for golf's top money earnings.

Nicklaus now stands with $34,150 in winnings for the 1964 season compared to Palmer's $33,488. Arnie and his army were noticeably absent from the Houston tournament for the third straight year.

Souchak put together steady rounds of 71-69-68-70-278 in the Classic compared to Nicklaus' more erratic scores of 76-66-66-71-278. Par for the long course is 284 — only 13 of the 95 pros and five amateurs were able to tie or better it.

Chi Chi Rodriguez, the crowd-pleasing Puerto Rican who weighs about 120 pounds dripping wet, continued his winning ways with a 280 and a third place finish good for $3,300.

Harvesters Hot, Howard Happy

Pampa High baseball coach Ray Howard, although down with the virus this morning, was overjoyed at the outstanding performance of the Harvesters this past weekend as they swept two district baseball games, 3-1 from Palo Duro and 2-1 from Borger.

"The kids really wanted to win," said Howard. "You could feel it against Palo Duro. They wanted these games and they wanted to get back into the thick of the district competition. They did it."

Howard, of course, was especially elated over the respective two-hit pitching of Jim Arthur and Jerry Garrison, and even more over the final breaking of the "Big Joe" jinx. Big Joe Robinson, outstanding Borger pitcher, has never been beaten before by the Harvesters, this being only his fifth defeat in the last two seasons.

"There were a lot of factors involved," said Howard. "Of course, the tremendous clutch pitching of Jerry Garrison and the home run that won the game by Kenny Hebert were the big ones, but there were several that have been overlooked. One was the tremendous, dying, roll-over catch by Gene Madrid in the seventh inning that stopped the tying run from scoring."

"Another was our bunting. We literally set up Big Joe for the loss by bunting him to death. That's the way Monterey beat him too. He comes off that mound in a bad position to field them and, well, I guess he kinda feels it an insult for anyone to hit the ball on him. In any case, he let several of them get by, and their infielders play pretty far back, so we were able to capitalize on our running game."

"We made some base-running mistakes in both games, getting men trapped in rundowns, but in every case, our runners kept going until the men behind them could move up."

"We had some fine fielding for Arthur too, especially by Claude Middleton and Steve Moiberg. Old Eugene belted that ball too. I think he feels more confident back in left field, with Ricky Maynard in center, and it helps him both ways."

"We play Caprock in Amarillo tomorrow and Jim Arthur will probably get the starting assignment again. Caprock is a lot tougher than their record. Their beating Lubbock Friday, 6-2, is an indication of their improvement. The Palo Duro coach said they were getting tougher every game, and if their best pitcher hadn't been hurt, would be right up there. Duane Gore is supposed to pitch for them tomorrow, but don't be surprised to see McSwain, the boy who won for them Saturday."

Knucklebauer Bob Tiefenauer in relief of Warren Spahn, received credit for the victory after hurling one-hit ball in four innings on the mound.

Phillie third baseman Richie Allen socked two home runs and a single as Dennis Bennett scattered 12 Chicago hits. The rookie from Wampum, Pa., is hitting at a .429 clip and seems to have filled the gap for Philadelphia at the hot corner.

Outfield is Hot
The Phils' outfield of Johnny Callison and rookies Danny Carter and Johnny Herstein contributed seven more hits as Philadelphia held on to a half-game lead over San Francisco with a 4-1 record.

With virtually the same ball club but a new ball park, the Mets drew 110,401 fans in three games over the weekend with the Pirates. And the World's Fair, located across the street from Shea Stadium, does not open until Wednesday and will undoubtedly attract many customers that the Mets would not ordinarily get.

Al Jackson, the Mets' winningest pitcher last season with 13 triumphs, struck out six and walked only two as every starter except the pitcher registered a base hit against Pittsburgh loser Bob Veale and three relievers.

Bob Gibson boosted his record to a 2-0 by limiting the Colts to four hits. The big Cardinal right-hander got all the runs he needed when St. Louis scored twice in the second inning after Houston had a 1-0 lead in the opening frame. All six Cardinals runs came at the expense of Don Nottebart, including Julian Javier's two-run seventh-inning roundtripper.

Tri-State League Fields Six Teams

STINETT (Sp1) — The Tri-State League will operate with six teams this season, although there is still a possibility that two more teams may rejoin the loop.

At a league meeting here yesterday, four of last season's eight teams and two new members appeared to enter the league for the 1964 season. Newest member of the loop, Umberger, which has been a long-time member of the Tri-State League, and which competed in the NBC district tournament at Borger last year.

Returning from last season's teams are league champion Graham Plof of Amarillo, second place Pampa Colts, the Borger Braves and the Stinnett Rattlers.

Guymon, Okla., also a new member, actually consists of most of last year's Spears. Fritch failed to show at the meeting and apparently will not field a team this year. Woodward, Okla., formally withdrew from the league some time ago.

Liberal, Kans., which also withdrew from the league to join a higher-classification loop, was expected to seek readmittance as it was reported they had been unsuccessful in entering another league.

There will be a final pre-season meeting at Stinnett on Monday, May 18, at which the teams may seek readmittance or bid to enter, after which league schedule will be drawn up for either a triple or quadruple round-robin.

Austin Rights Demonstrators Planning Continued Action

By WILLIAM HAMILTON
AUSTIN (UPI)—Civil Rights demonstrators have chosen a new battlefield in the pretty, hilly city of Austin that President Johnson calls home grounds.

Three demonstrators have been carried bodily from a city council meeting. Pickets have marched. There have been fistbumps before the council and a Negro minister proclaimed himself acting mayor for a day at the height of them. Say the demonstrators: This is only a starter.

More picketing and more arguments before the council are expected. The mayor has collapsed of exhaustion and nerves show signs of fraying. But there have been no arrests and there has been no violence.

With Huston-Tillotson, a Negro college and the integrated University of Texas within picket-toting distance, there is no shortage of demonstrators for the pressure to come.

The issue is a demand for a municipal anti-discrimination ordinance with teeth that includes punishments for violators.

At issue is a demand for a municipal anti-discrimination ordinance with teeth that includes punishments for violators. Volma Overton, president of the local chapter of the National Association for Colored People (NAACP), the Rev. Wesley Sims and Booker T. Bonner, a candidate for a seat on the county commission, are the three Negroes spearheading the civil rights demands.

Sims proclaimed himself acting mayor one day when Mayor Lester Palmer collapsed and was hospitalized after several days of civil rights speeches before the council.

Much of Austin already is integrated. But not all of it. Mayor Palmer advocates voluntary desegregation. The demonstrators want the force of law behind it.

The goal: A municipal anti-discrimination ordinance with a penal clause for violators.

The proposed ordinance is not unique. El Paso became the first city in Texas to pass an anti-discrimination law, nearly two years ago.

Austin is home base for President Johnson, though his LBJ ranch is located 65 miles west, near Johnson City. On official visits to Texas, the Washington press corps and much of the White House staff are lodged in Austin.

Overton meeting the floor at the council meeting two weeks ago, during a regular Thursday meeting of the four-man one-woman body. He made a brief speech in support of a civil rights bill, criticized the council for not taking action earlier, then opened a copy of the best-selling John Howard Griffin book "Black Like Me," and began reading of a white man's experience posing as a Negro.

He read for more than 100 pages, keeping the councilmen seated most of the day while he droned on. Late that day Claude Allen, a white college teacher, relieved him and spoke on the "crime of the Austin hierarchy," a slap at the city's leaders who have mostly stated opposition to the ordinance proposal.

Outside, folk singer Joan Baez led more than 200 chanting, singing protesters—most of them students—in picketing city hall. She called for more demonstrations, then left town to continue a concert tour.

Long Speech
Allen spoke until 1 a.m., when by mutual agreement with the council, the filibuster was postponed until the next day.

Mayor Palmer granted the demonstrators the floor the next day and promised "to stay here until the end of June by myself, if necessary," to let the Negroes have their say.

Palmer, who has a heart condition, collapsed from exhaustion a day later. He was hospitalized and relieved of all duties. Doctors said the demonstrators caused "an extra burden" too great for Palmer.

With Palmer hospitalized, the council lost its patience and broke an old tradition of allowing unlimited debate by interceding citizens on a matter pending before the council.

Mayor pro-tem Travis Larue called the council into session with obvious nervousness as more than 100 Negro and whites sat crowded in the chamber. Rev. Sims started talking and spoke loudly, blasting the council.

Shouts at Mrs. Long
When councilwoman Mrs.

Emma Long attempted to interrupt him, Sims shouted her down.

Larue adjourned the meeting and council members shifted to a back room.

The Negro minister sat down in the mayor's chair and declared himself acting mayor.

He remained in the seat all day, reading to the dwindling audience.

Demonstrations are not new to Austin. University of Texas students picketed theaters and restaurants beginning in 1960 and accomplished varying degrees of integration in the city of 220,000.

Mayor Palmer has urged restaurants, hotels and theaters to desegregate. He says 75 per cent of the city's facilities are open to all races.

The Negroes say the figure is "absurd." Allen estimated "25 per cent would be more accurate."

The Austin Junior Chamber of Commerce has proposed a citywide referendum on the proposed ordinance, confident that it would fail to win majority approval. The Negroes agree that the ordinance would not pass on a voter basis, but are opposed to the polling.

They estimate Austin's population is 12.8 per cent Negro.

Nixon Renews His Assault on Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, leveling a new assault on President Johnson's foreign policy, asserted Saturday that the war in South Vietnam can and must be won—and should be extended into Communist territory to the north.

Amplifying an earlier statement in New York, Nixon expressed belief that it would not be necessary to commit U. S. combat forces to win the war. The South Vietnamese can do the job if the rules are changed, he said.

Nixon, an unannounced contender for the Republican presidential nomination, spoke at a luncheon meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editors (ASNE).

A few hours earlier, in a sample poll, a majority of the editors tapped Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge as the man they would like to see become the GOP candidate for president. Nixon came in a close second.

The editors also said that President Johnson, the Democrats' certain choice for election in November, was doing a good—but not an excellent—job in domestic and foreign affairs.

Nixon, who returned Wednesday from a 24-day Asian tour during which he met Lodge in Saigon, told the editors that the administration's policy in South Vietnam now is inadequate and that it should be made an issue in the 1964 political campaign.

Nixon asserted that the United States, while rejecting proposals to pull out of South Vietnam or to neutralize it, must "stay in with stamina and sacrifice" and do whatever is necessary to win the war.

Kremlin Launches Blast At Chinese Reds Again

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Kremlin launched another broadside against the Chinese Communists Saturday as East European Communist leaders here for Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's 70th birthday celebrations returned home from a summit meeting that never took place.

The Communist leaders of Poland, Czechoslovakia, East Germany and Bulgaria and Romanian Premier Ion Gheorghe Maurer left with no public indications they were agreed on tactics in the explosive Sino-Soviet dispute.

As they left, the Communist Party's theoretical Organ Kom-munist attacked the Chinese for "nationalistic blindness," a adventurous approach to events and twisting Karl Marx's teachings to justify a schism in world communism.

Too Little Time
Most of the East bloc leaders were here so briefly there was scarcely time for the Summit conference expected though each held separate talks with Khrushchev between the flurry of activities honoring the Soviet premier.

Diplomats had expected Khrushchev and the East Europeans to discuss particularly whether they should press for the world Communist summit conference proposed April 3 by the Kremlin for a showdown with Peking.

As one of the most hectic weeks in recent Moscow history closed, the outside world was certain Khrushchev's health was fine but could only guess what his next moves toward Red China would be.

On Wednesday Khrushchev violently accused Peking of bringing world communism to the "verge of a split," mentioned Chairman Mao Tze-tung by name for the first time in a public attack and called the Moscow-Peking quarrel on "open conflict."

Mao Surprises
On Thursday Mao, turning the other cheek, sent Khrushchev a surprisingly conciliatory birthday message wishing him "long life" and calling the Sino-Soviet split "only temporary."

On Friday Khrushchev, surrounded by old comrades honoring him at an emotional Kremlin ceremony, declared he would not break off relations with Communist China.

Diplomats said the suddenly conciliatory words from the two leaders appeared to be merely tactical moves and did not alter the fundamental Moscow-Peking schism.

They said neither side wants to accept the onus of bringing on a final and irrevocable split and for this reason the Kremlin may be reconsidering the idea. This could be because of varying degrees of support for the Kremlin's communist summit proposal.

The communist leaders departing today included Poland's Wladyslaw Gomulka, Czechoslovakia's Antonin Novotny, east Germany's Walter Ulbricht and Bulgaria's Todor Zhivkov. Romanian Communist party leader Gheorghe Gheorghiu-Dej did not come to Moscow but sent his premier.

THANKS TAXPAYERS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—"Thank you Mr. and Mrs. Taxpayer," says Internal Revenue Commissioner Mortimer M. Caplin.

Caplin issued his bread-and-butter note to the nation's taxpayers Wednesday, shortly before

He estimated that approximately 65 million Americans would contribute more than $100 billion in taxes to support their government this year—mostly without complaining too much.

GET BETTER GAS MILEAGE

Who says a woman driver can't tell that The Best Additives DO Make The Best Gasolines Today?

"When I first tried Skelly Keotane, I noticed a great difference in mileage—approximately 2 to 3 miles per gallon—both in city and country driving. I noticed greater pick-up, more zip, and just a general better performance all around."

Dr. Merle G. Danon,
Springfield, Mo.

Can YOU Get More Mileage Just By Switching Gasolines?

Like many another car owner, you may think that all major brand gasolines are pretty much alike. If so, you're right—as far as you go. Today, the BIG difference is additives—and the best additives make the best gasolines.

Recently Skelly invited car owners in 9 mid-west cities to try a sample of Skelly's patented additive, Keotane, in whatever gasoline they were using. In Springfield, Mo., 1,685 car owners accepted. Later, when Skelly asked, "What happened?" 288 car owners, including the people shown here, replied.

Had everyone gotten more mileage? Of course not. Cars, drivers, and driving conditions vary. And, of course, not everyone had kept records or continued to use Keotane. But...

Of those who kept records and reported...

54% claimed more mileage*
63% claimed more power*
64% were still using Skelly Gasoline!

(Mileage and power compilations verified by Ernst & Ernst, a national firm of Certified Public Accountants.)

*Naturally, Skelly can't guarantee you these same results. But you can get the same additive, Keotane, in Skelly Keotane Gasoline. Since it costs no more than other major brand premium gasolines, why not try 3 tankfuls and see what results you do get?

Meet 6 more of the 1,685 Springfield drivers who tried a sample of Skelly's additive, Keotane:

"Got an increase in mileage when I used Keotane," reports Mr. John Bilek, "and increase in power. Got quicker starts, too. I think Keotane is a wonderful additive."

"With Keotane, got two more miles to the gallon," reports Mr. Norris Nelson. "Noticed more power and better performance. Doesn't stall in traffic. Completely satisfied."

"I got a power increase with Keotane," reports Mr. Dean Walker. "Noticed it right away. Car ran much smoother. I get an average of 3 more miles to the gallon."

"Got an increase of 2 miles to a gallon," reports Mr. John W. Troth. "I like Keotane better than any gasoline I've ever used. Keotane gives my car better performance."

"Got an increase of 3 miles to the gallon," reports Mr. Wallace Otto. "Noticed an increase in power. Engine ran smoother. Have used Keotane ever since. Well pleased."

"I think Skelly Keotane is the best gasoline they've got on the market today," reports Mr. C. L. Griffin. "It gives you this power, and it gives you the mileage."

Only Skelly has Keotane.

World is Oyster for U.S. Women

Spring is a fitting time to pay a tribute to the fair sex by passing on some remarks made a few weeks ago by Mrs. Katie Louchheim of the State Department. As deputy assistant secretary for community advisory services, Mrs. Louchheim has been in a position to note the surprise of foreign visitors when they encounter the American woman in her natural habitat. "Before they come to the United States," says Mrs. Louchheim, "they have a mental image of the American woman living in idleness, pushing buttons to activate her innumerable electric servants. Instead, they find her out ringing doorbells to raise money for the United Fund, the Heart Drive, the Lighthouse. She sits on the boards of community organizations, she carries trays in hospitals, exercises handicapped children in clinics. "The community's welfare activities depend on her. It has been estimated that the hours of work freely given by our women volunteers would cost

The group of so-called "free nations" of which the United States is considered the bellwether when it comes to handing out money or military assistance for protection against the socialist-communist bloc, must be sorely confused at times by our domestic policies. For example, we oppose the doctrine of communism which is the ultimate in socialism and centralized government. Then many of our public officials turn right around and promote government ownership and control of industries and services, and the extension of centralized government into the affairs of local communities and family life. The Congressional Pay Bill

It doesn't take a seer to figure out why the House, when a roll call vote was demanded, turned down the bill to increase Congressional salaries by $10,000 a year. Numbers of other officials would have received similar boosts. This, after all, is an election year and every member of the House must face the voters come November. And a majority of the members obviously didn't relish the idea of defending a huge pay raise at a time when all the talk concerns economy to prevent inflation. But the bill is not dead. And

AWAKENING IN WISCONSIN
The drive to regiment the American people through the means of the so-called Civil Rights Act of 1964 received a tremendous jolt when Gov. George Wallace of Alabama won more than a quarter of million votes in Wisconsin's preferential presidential primary.

Political writers in the North are openly acknowledging that grassroots disapproval of the "Civil Rights" bill is much greater than anticipated. The votes that went to Gov. Wallace represent a great awakening on the part of citizens outside the South. For years, the Southern States have been presented in national news media as a benighted region. Politicians automatically assumed that a Southerner couldn't win support north of the Mason-Dixon line. But Wisconsin proves that times have changed.

Despite the outpouring of abuse directed at Gov. Wallace and at Southern opposition to federal force bills, more than 30 per cent of the Democratic voters of Wisconsin, including those in heavily urbanized areas, went to the polls to throw their support to a Southerner who stands for opposition to totalitarian democracy.

From now on, no politician or "liberal" agitator will be able to dismiss Southern leadership. It is tremendously heartening to know that so many people in Wisconsin, a state with a long tradition of "progressive" politics, have not been fooled by the pressure groups' campaign in behalf of the Civil Rights bill. They have seen the significance of its contents, and realize that the legislation represents a blow at American liberty.

Wisconsin is not the only area in the North where people are waking up to the danger from coerced association as decreed by federal bureaucrats and agitation front leaders. The thousands of New Yorkers who marched earlier this spring in behalf of neighborhood schools are part of the nationwide movement of emancipation from "liberal" political dogma. In Chicago, aroused citizen groups are employing legal talent to defend their rights from a combination of ultra-liberal sociologists and pressure group leaders who want to turn the city's school system into a sociological experiment.

In Cleveland, Ohio, the public is beginning to learn of the anarchists in their midst, the vigilantes who in the name of "civil rights" are determined to take the law into their own hands and plunge the community into chaos. The people of Cleveland are learning about the Black Muslims, the formation of rifle groups with Mau Mau names, and of the role of Castro supporters in the local agitation.

In the space of a year, the country has had revolutionary groups grow up in its midst. Agitators openly discuss turning a city like Cleveland into another Cyprus. Dangerous men talk of Molotov cocktails and hand grenades being thrown. Finally, the press, public authorities, the police and the courts are beginning to comprehend what has been going on. In Cleveland, a judge warned that in the future he will throw the book at demonstrators who create violence. A large daily spoke plainly of "anarchists" in the city's streets.

Responsible citizens in communities north and south, east and west, cannot allow this country to be taken over by a handful of lawbreakers and leaving extremists who, to prove a point, would give American cities a bloodbath. No doubt this summer these extremists hope to plunge the nation into internal chaos. They are planning for this objective. Thus communities across the country should be forewarned and ready for prompt and effective community action. Congress should let the agitators know that it will not be intimidated into passing legislation that would not only regiment responsible citizens but would give irresponsible, lawless elements the privilege to disrupt the nation. Preservation of the Republic requires an alert citizenry that will not tolerate social terrorists who hide behind the label of "civil rights."

Congressmen, Officials, Newsmen Fear Wiretapping; Three Committees Probing Phone Leaks, Monitoring

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—Wiretapping and phone monitoring have become so prevalent in the national capital that many officials, members of Congress and newsmen are sedulously avoiding discussing confidential matters over the phone. Instead, they are taking the time and trouble to resort to private conferences.

Graphic instances of the reason for this spreading distrust of telephones in Washington, about which little is being said publicly but which is a common subject of conversation, are the following: A prominent Southern congressman has personally complained to President Johnson about a suspected tap of his home phone. The indignant legislator related that on one occasion his wife picked up the phone and actually heard a discussion of the tap by two apparent wiremen.

A well-known woman correspondent phoned her newspaper with an exclusive tip on an impending judicial appointment. A half hour later she was called by the White House and sharply informed her information was inaccurate—a claim that was made several days later. When the newsmen irately phoned her paper about this extraordinary White House kickback, she was emphatically assured her scoop had not been conveyed to anyone.

The press gallery phone booth used by the woman reporter has become highly suspect to other correspondents as a result of this and a series of similar incidents. Pressmen are now referring to this booth as the "tap line."

Staff directors of two Senate committees have installed private phone lines that do not go through the Capitol switchboard. These lines are checked frequently to ensure they are not tapped.

A top Democratic congressional leader privately is making no bones that he no longer discusses security matters over the phone because of several experiences that convinced him his phone was tapped.

WHO IS DOING IT?—This shocking backstage situation has become so serious that it is under investigation by three congressional committees. They are the Senate Internal Security Committee, headed by Senator James Eastland, D-Miss., the Senate Commerce Committee, headed by Senator Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., and the House Government Operations Subcommittee, headed by Representative John Moss, D-Calif.

Moss, limiting his probe to phone monitoring, already has established the startling fact that some 40 government agencies are secretly resorting to this practice by using conversation-recording devices. Senator Howard Cannon, D-Nev., member of the Commerce Committee, has first-hand knowledge of wiretapping as a

CAPITOL EYE: Rights Issue Is Set for High Court

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
WASHINGTON (NEA)—The U.S. Supreme Court must soon decide a civil rights "public accommodations" issue that could prove one of the thorniest constitutional matters it has ruled upon in a decade. It is studded with controversy over the legal fundamentals of American society.

Up for decision are five related cases—one involving a Negro "walk-in" at a Maryland amusement park, four involving restaurant and lunch counter sit-ins by Negroes in Baltimore, Columbia, S.C. (two cases), and Miami, Fla.

Altogether, 42 Negroes were tried and convicted, charged in Florida with misdemeanor but with trespass in the other instances.

The natural questions for the public are these:

Why were these pending cases not embraced by the Supreme Court's 1963 decision setting aside Negro sit-in convictions in several southern states?

How does the high court's current review of this issue relate to the fight in Congress over a public accommodations section in the big civil rights bill?

To answer the first question, the court ruled in 1963 that state governments, or their lesser units, had acted through law or other clear expressions of authority to deprive Negro sit-ins of "equal protection of the laws" as provided under the Constitution's 14th Amendment.

Under the amendment's wording, the courts must discover that "state action" has been used before they can sustain a charge that "equal protection" has been denied any citizen.

In the pending cases, no state laws, city ordinances or official expressions demanding segregation can be found. A new situation thus arises.

The federal government, entering the cases as a friend of the court, sought last fall to have the Negroes' convictions set aside on the narrow ground that the young folk in question were not warned their conduct was unlawful. In late November the justices asked the government to file a supplementary brief on the larger constitutional matters involved. Solicitor General Archibald Cox submitted a 145-page document this January.

The result is an attempted major constitutional breakthrough. Federal attorneys are arguing for a new and much broader definition of "state action" which might make the 14th Amendment applicable even when no segregation laws or ordinances exist.

The Almanac

By United Press International
Today is Monday, April 20, the 111th day of 1964 with 255 to follow.

The moon is approaching its full phase.

The morning star is Saturn. The evening star is Venus.

Nazi dictator Adolf Hitler was born on this date in 1889.

On this day in history:

In 1836, Congress established the territory of Wisconsin.

In 1361, Col. Robert E. Lee resigned his U.S. Army commission with the intention of offering his services to the Confederate cause.

In 1920, Dr. Weir Ketter, Grove City, Pa., became the first man to address an organization by radio. He broadcast a speech to a Rotary Club 25 miles away.

In 1948, Walter Reuther, president of the United Automobile Workers Union, was wounded by a shotgun blast fired by an unknown assailant.

The argument is that state action is present when a proprietor, in refusing service automatically to all Negroes, acts in conformity with a community-wide segregation system buttressed by custom and "past law"; when state and local authorities respond to his call for support by ousting, trying and convicting the would-be patrons; when these same authorities are found to be regulating most other conditions (example, sanitation) in the affected public accommodations.

Contend the government's lawyers:

"The state is responsible for the momentum its action has generated. A state which has drawn a color line may not suddenly assert that it is color blind."

Attorneys for Columbia, S.C., locale of two of the sit-in disputes, argue in response that no state action in the established sense has been proved. They belittle the notion that anything short of law or ordinance or official statement comes within the 14th Amendment's meaning.

The Supreme Court is concerned only with the question whether any state, in violation of the 14th, supports discrimination. What the Congress is considering is whether to make it a matter of affirmative federal law to bar discrimination in most public accommodations by individual proprietors.

Newsman Beaten and Threatened by Klan

JACKSON, La. (UPI) — A television newsman was beaten and his life threatened by a group of armed men Sunday as he tried to film a backwoods meeting for a documentary about the Ku Klux Klan.

Bob Wagner, Correspondent for WDSU radio and television, New Orleans, was seized near a farm house about a mile east of Jackson as he and Robert Schaefer of United Press International were scouting the meeting.

Wagner has been conducting an investigation of Klan activities for several months and is preparing a documentary program on the Klan in Louisiana.

He said he would not press charges against the men who beat him. He was warned that if he told anyone of the beating, he would be killed "within 24 hours."

Schaefer said Wagner wanted to take movies of about 15 armed guards at the farmhouse gate and posted along a fence. He drove the car, while Wagner sat in the back seat and

United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — Improvement of news handling was a major theme in the annual four-day meeting of newspaper executives of the United States and Canada beginning here today.

The 78th annual convention of the American Newspaper Publishers Association (ANPA) got under way with an announcement from the ANPA general manager, Stanford Smith, that registration would break all records, with more than 1,500 executives attending.

The ANPA now represents 882 daily newspapers in the United States, Canada, Puerto Rico, Bermuda and Jamaica — an all-time high membership.

First Day Highlights

The convention's first day was highlighted by its annual conference on newspaper labor relations, by the annual breakfast of United Press International's regional editors associations, and by the annual Associated Press luncheon.

President Johnson was the speaker at the AP luncheon. The UPI breakfast program included a review of the situation in Viet Nam by correspondent Neil Sheehan and a commentary on Washington affairs by

Escaped Convicts
Back in Cells

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — Five convicts who tunneled their way from prison only to be flushed from a fog-shrouded game refuge by a gun-bristling posse, today were back in their cells.

The five were captured Sunday afternoon near Plattsmouth Neb., after a massive search by police, shotgun-toting farmers, a helicopter and barking police dogs.

The convicts were Dale Carstens, 26, Lincoln, who was serving life for the slaying of a liquor store manager; Richard Lavender, 23, Kankakee, Ill., serving terms for auto theft and escape; Richard Ruhr, 38, Omaha, serving 10 years for manslaughter; Charles Dean, 27, Omaha, serving 20 years for rape and attempted escape, and Frank Hancock, 24, Lincoln, serving 5 years for burglary and escape.

All were taken into custody with no resistance.

The five escaped through a 6 1/2 foot tunnel dug with a chisel, hammer and screwdriver. The tunnel led from the closet of a clothing storage room to the outside and, probably took two or three weeks to complete, Warden Maurice Sigler said.

'Bomb' Proves to Be Kid Prank

DALLAS (UPI) — William A. Murphy did what any suburbanite would do if he suddenly found a 5-foot bomb nosed into the earth in his front yard.

"I looked it over very carefully," he said, "and pulled it out. I figured if it was normal, it would have gone off on impact."

Murphy — and his neighbors — were lucky. It was a fake, apparently the hollow practice type sold in war surplus stores, played as a prank.

Police and firemen rushed to the suburb of University Park Sunday night in force and evacuated houses for four doors around Murphy's home. A call was put in to the Air Force for bomb-disposal experts, but 30 minutes went by and none appeared.

Some policemen approached the bomb.

It went "tick, tick, tick."

Finally, some officer as nervous as Murphy picked up the casing and pulled it apart. Inside was an alarm clock.

"Kids in the neighborhood," said Murphy.

CIGARETTE REPORT

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Surgeon General Luther Terry reports that cigarette smoking dropped off more than 25 percent in the first few weeks after the government issued its report on smoking and health.

Terry said in a television interview Sunday there had been some evidence that some of the persons who quit smoking had gone back to the habit. He said this trend indicated that program against smoking would have to be directed at youths to be effective.

B&B Toyland Becomes
Redemption Center

Today is the big day for holders of S&H Green Stamps. Yes, today B&B Toyland becomes a S&H Green Stamp Redemption Center. Just think, a S&H redemption center right here in Pampa. No more need to go to Amarillo to redeem your valuable S&H Green Stamps.

B&B Toyland will have 100's of items on display in their store. They invite you to come in and look around. These items on display are only a few of the thousands available from the S-H Green Stamp catalog.

Stone would also like to point out that the redeemer's selection is not limited to those items on display in the store. All of the many valuable items in the catalog are available at no extra cost to the customer. Just bring your S&H stamp books to the B&B Redemption Center, and they will be glad to order you any item from the S&H catalog at no extra cost to you.

The S&H Green Stamp Mail Order Redemption Center is located in the B&B Toyland at Ballard and Browning. Stone invites everyone, especially S&H Green Stamp holders, to come in and look over the S&H display and catalog. As evening, the reports said.

The missionaries, including women and children, were rescued by a detachment of gilese army troops Thursday, the reports said.

"This is just another fine service of B&B Pharmacy and Toyland," says Stone.

BACKS UP REPORT

MOSCOW (UPI) — A Soviet academician Sunday backed up a recent American report on the harmful effects of smoking.

The "connection" between lung cancer and smoking has been long established," he said.

A. Myasnikov's statement was published with a summary of the report of the Surgeon General's Advisory Committee on Smoking and Health in the newspaper Sovetskaya Rossiya (Soviet Russia).
