Damage Noted As Hail Hits Near Tahoka

Lake Spreads Across Highway; Only Light Moisture Falls Here; Other Reports Given

Tahoka Thursday night was lashed by rain that measured almost three and one-half inches, and most of the entire South Plains and a great outside area received moisture as a continuation of intermittent falls since Tuesday night.

The driving rain at Tahoka caused a lake to spread across the Tahoka-O'Donnell highway, almost blocking traffic.

Hail Causes Damage

A damaging hail fell five miles south of Tahoka.

Water ran across the highway and over runningboards of automobiles. One machine almost plunged its occupants into disaster when it went off the road into water over the machine's hood. B. B. Williams of Lubbock pulled it back to safety.

Some hail also fell to the east and southeast of Tahoka and on the city itself. Damage had not been reported great.

Light Fall Here

At Lubbock, only .02 inch of rain was registered, adding to the inch and a quarter already received this week. A trace fell at Municipal airport and at the experiment substation east of the city.

Santa Fe Railroad dispatchers said Lehman received two inches; Amherst an inch and a half; Crosbyton, inch and a quarter; Sudan, Eldsoe and Lamesa, inch; Shallowater, three quarters; O'Donnell and Meadow, half; Levelland and Floydada, quarter; Muleshoe, fifth, and showers at Happy, Kress, Ralls, Post, and Snyder.

Dispatchers of that line said Sagerton received a half inch; Sylvester an eighth; Mertzon an inch; Barnhart, Blackwell, Bronte, Texon, and Fort Stockton, showers; Big Lake three fourths; Best, half; Rankin, two inches; McCamey, one inch, and Alpine, quarter inch.

Other Reports Given

Fort Worth and Denver City dispatchers said Dimmitt had one inch, Quitaque and Turkey a half, and Petersburg, Sterley, and Lockney, showers. Hart, Plainview and Silverton were "left out" by rain clouds.

The fall will be good for late feed, which was beginning to show need of moisture, said Don L. Jones, superintendent of the experiment station here.

"The effect on cotton is not so well known—some fear insect trouble," said Jones. "Good warm weather would hasten maturity of late cotton now," he said.

Temperatures continued low, the airport giving the maximum for Thursday as 81 degrees, the night's minimum as 65 degrees. The max-

Death Charges Face Husband

(By The Associated Press)

HUTCHINSON, Kas., Aug. 20.—The "hay-ire" slayings of Mrs. Eugene Paul Warner and her three children—hacked to death with a double-bladed ax while they slept—were pinned on the husband today by County Attorney Wesley E. Brown.

Warner, a 31-year-old oil field worker, was quoted by the prosecutor as admitting he stole into the bedrooms yesterday and committed the crimes, explaining:

"I guess I just went haywire.'

Prevented From Working

Illness had prevented him from working recently.

Late yesterday Mr. and Mrs. George Strate called at the Warner home. They found Warner in a storeroom, dazed from five wounds in his head.

Strate said Warner immediately informed him:

"I guess I went haywire and killed my family this morning."

Brown asserted the wounds resulted from Warner's crude attempt to take his own life by letting the axe fall on his head.

The Weather

THREATENING

WEST TEXAS: Unsettled, probably local showers in north portion tonight and Saturday.

EAST TEXAS: Unsettled, probably scattered showers in north portion and on the upper coast tonight and Saturday. Moderate to fresh south and southeast winds on the coast.

Last Minute Dispute Breaks Calm; Form Of Housing Bill Causes Slight Controversy

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20—Congress finished most of its work today, ready for an unspectacular adjournment this week-end of the long, unproductive session begun in January.

Only a last minute dispute between house and senate over the form of housing legislation broke the abnormal calm.

Flurry Is Created

A momentary flurry was created last night by the refusal of southern Democratic representatives to take part in a party caucus called by supporters of the administration wage and hour bill.

The supporters wanted the caucus to force the house rules committee to let the bill be debated. Southerners, who contend the measure would hamper industrial growth in their states, would not answer roll call—and a quorum could not be obtained.

Consequently, it became certain that the wage and hour program, already passed by the senate, would go over until next session.

There was a possibility, however, one of its chief provisions—abolition of labor by children under 16—might be enacted this year. The senate unexpectedly approved that portion yesterday as a separate bill.

Major Bills Passed

All major bills on the pre-adjournment calendar have passed both houses, except for the third deficiency appropriation measure which the senate took up today. Its appropriations committee approved the inclusion of $20,000,000 to start the farm tenancy program, funds which the house already had voted.

The senate passed yesterday the bill designed to close loopholes in the tax laws, an outgrowth of an inquiry into tax evasion and avoidance requested by President Roosevelt. The house probably will accept minor amendments.

So little was left to be done that veteran observers and legislators wondered why the leaders did not wind up the session tonight. There was a belief in some quarters that they might, although the regular program called for adjournment tomorrow night.

Not for many years has there been so little major legislation in the mill at a session's close. It happened this time only because most of the controversial problems were postponed until the next session.

It was this procrastination which provided the only worry for tired legislators as they looked forward with relief to adjournment. They wondered whether it would cause President Roosevelt to call them back into a special session two months hence.

Ditched in the rush to adjourn were not only the wage-hour and farm bills, but a crop insurance measure and a host of less important bills.

House leaders believed they might salvage from the wreckage a bill already passed by the senate for an unemployment census, and some senators were seeking a vote on a natural gas regulation measure which the house has approved.

Before quitting, house leaders also planned to approve a senate resolution making farm legislation the first order of business at the next session.

Man Is Being Sought After Corpus Christi Shooting

CORPUS CHRISTI, Aug. 20. (AP)—Officers today sought a man for questioning in connection with the shooting of Miss Mildred Ashley, 21, beauty parlor operator, here last night.

Miss Ashley, suffering from a shotgun charge in the back, was said by hospital attendants to have a fair chance for recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Burney Jackson, with whom Miss Ashley had been staying for the past five days, told officers a man drove up to their home and the young woman walked out to his car.

When she reached the car, the people related, she immediately turned and started back to the house. They said the man then fired a shotgun from the car.

Parents Are Urged To Reveal Facts Of Life To Youth Of Land; Church Could Help

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Aug. 20.—Not from the crowded cities with all their bright lights, but from the rural districts come 75 per cent of the unwed mothers, Col. Mary Stillwell, retired Salvation Army leader, said today.

A rising tide of loose living, especially amond younger women, can be stemmed only in "religion and the church," she declared.

"I used to think the girls had come to big cities and were the innocent prey of traps. Now I know that virtually all of them have fallen in their home communities and come to the city to hide their shame.

"Unmarried mothers differ greatly now from the class we used to get," she said. "Once they were from the underprivileged class. Now we have a thick sprinkling of high school graduates, college girls and even trained nurses."

For the parents of these women Colonel Stillwell, the mother of eight children, had bitter words. "The mothers come to see them, without shame at their condition. They smoke, are rouged and powdered, talk loudly. Their letters have no depth of character."

Most parents neglect to explain the facts of life to their children, who thereupon find out for themselves, often "in the worst way possible," Colonel Stillwell added.

"The only cure is religion and the church. Every church should have a committee of

Erection Of Shacks At Texas Tech. Indicated

Concededly faced with the most overcrowded condition ever to threaten the school, Texas Technological college officials have divided large classrooms by "partitions and "may face necessity of asking for shacks," said Dr. Bradford Knapp, president.

Dr. Knapp said advance number of transcripts from high schools and other colleges, together with reservations made in dormitories and rooming houses had indicated "heavy enrollment."

Deep Concern Felt

Especially has the congestion extended to the divisions of agriculture, home economics, business administration and all the engineering departments, including geological and chemical, said the school head.

Dr. Knapp made no attempt to disguise "deep concern" at prospects, but said his pleasure at the dispatch with which plans to open for the long session were moving.

"The schedule of classes had been made out in sympathy with anticipated registration," he said, "and the college staff will report Sept. 11, the morning of which the first faculty meeting will be conducted. Enthusiasm and cooperation are evident."

War Excitement Is Sweeping Through Frisco Chinatown

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 20 (AP)—War excitement swept through San Francisco's famed Chinatown today and inhabitants turned from the prosaic task of entertaining tourists to piling up a relief fund for the battle-torn homeland.

Chinese and American newspapers with reports of the Shanghai fighting sold readily.

B. S. Plong, president of the Chinese National Salvation league, said Chinatown's 17,000 inhabitants already had raised between $50,000 and $100,000 to send homeward.

Luke Trammel Is Executed In Prison This Morning

HUNTSVILLE, Aug. 20 (AP)—Luke Trammel, 27, farm hand turned criminal, died in the state's electric chair today for killing Guard Felix Smith during a break from Retrieve prison farm a year ago.

Several hours before his death Trammel said: "I didn't think the parole board of Texas and the governor of Texas would see a man executed on such evidence." Shortly after midnight, a minute from death, Trammel said he "was ready to go."

Houston Convict Is Shot To Death As Result Of Attack

ANGLETON, Texas, Aug. 20 (AP)—Tom Mills, Houston convict, was shot dead yesterday by Alvin Stewart, Retrieve prison farm guard who said the prisoner attacked him.

At an inquest Stewart and several convicts said Mills refused to work at his wood-cutting assignment and approached the guard, who was watching the crew with a shotgun across his knees. The witnesses testified Mills picked up a stick of wood and swung at Stewart. Without raising his weapon the guard fired and the convict fell dead, they asserted.

Graves Names Wife To Post

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20 — Affable Mrs. Dixie Bibb Graves of Alabama is going to let her governor-husband shift for himself while she sits in the United States senate for five months.

"Always before," she said, "we have gone everywhere together — done everything together."

Governor Graves appointed his wife last night to the seat vacated by Hugo L. Black, who resigned to take his oath as a supreme court justice.

Serve Until Election

The 55-year-old Alabama woman will serve until a Democratic primary next Feb. 1 selects the party's candidate for the remainder of Black's term, which ends in January, 1939.

The governor announced he chose his wife not only because she is "best-fitted" but because he did not want to give any candidate for the nomination an advantage.

Mrs. Graves will be paid at the rate of $10,000 a year, almost twice as much as her husband's $6,000 salary.

Fourth Ever Chosen

She is the fourth woman ever chosen for the senate. The only feminine member this year has been Mrs. Hattie Caraway of Arkansas.

The new senator enjoys flying. She likes to read particularly mystery stories.

Speech-making has no terrors for her, although it's not a favorite sport.

She said that she plans to make a further study of social questions, such as social security and better housing, before congress convenes next January.

Three Americans Are Rescued From Jail Cells In Shanghai

SHANGHAI, Aug. 20. (AP) — A United States marshal and a strong arm guard, all clad in steel vests, braved Sino-Japanese crossfire today to rescue three American prisoners from the beleaguered ward road jail.

One of the prisoners, Mrs. Lorraine Richards, of Dallas, Tex., who had been held for an alleged attempt at suicide, said:

"I now want to live. I have seen the horrors of war and I want to work for peace."

The others were Margaret Evers, of San Francisco, and Alexandro Gonzales, former New York seaman, both held on narcotics accusations.

JEWELS ARE RETURNED

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 20. (AP)—Twenty-five thousand dollars' worth of jewels and furs, reported stolen from actress Ketti Gallian last Sunday, were returned to her mysteriously early today in a suitcase dumped on the front porch of her canyon home.

Stronghold Of Spain Nears Last Stand

Rebel Columns Advance Slowly But Surely On Santander; Only Question Of Days

(By The Associated Press)

HENDAYE, France, (Spanish Border) Aug. 20—Santander and the Spanish northwest today appeared doomed to a quick fall before Generalissimo Francisco Franco's columns, slowly but relentlessly advancing through rain and mud.

"It's only a question of days," said several French and Belgian citizens who arrived at Bayonne from Santander, last important city-stronghold of the government in northwest Spain.

Famine Faces City

These refugees said famine faced the city because it was impossible to get food through the insurgent blockade of the port.

Today, Franco's troops pounded through a natural barrage of fog and rain for possession of the waterworks of the city at Arriela park. The generalissimo's communique said his forces met strong resistance in all sectors on the Santander front.

The insurgent chieftain himself visited his relentlessly advancing front, pleased by the now almost unopposed push toward the Spanish government's last city stronghold on the northern coast.

Defenses Are Smashed

In less than a week of the insurgent offensive, Franco's commanders reported, Santander's outlying defenses in the tumbling terrain to the city's southwest had been virtually smashed.

The drive yesterday was confined to infantry attacks against the last strands of the government's defensive. Thick fog and a driving rain throughout the southern sector grounded the insurgent aerial armada and Franco's field guns were useless in the low visibility.

Meanwhile, normal business activity within Santander had come to a tense halt. Workers were rushed to the fringes of the city to build last line fortifications against the advancing insurgents.

Crop Loans During The Last Four Years At High Total

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20. (AP)—Crop loans of the Commodity Credit corporation totaled $609,289,917 in the last four years, records showed today. Farmers have paid back all but $121,504,137.

The unpaid balance resulted largely from loans on the 1934 cotton crop. Secretary Wallace said the corporation lost $23,000,00 in liquidating this loan of $300,000,000 and would lose another $30,000,000 if the "collateral," of the carryover cotton, were sold on today's market.

These losses, he said, might reduce the capital stock of the corporation, originally $100,000,000, to $47,000,000.

Negro Dies In Electric Chair To Pay For Slaying Woman

OSSINING, N. Y., Aug. 20. (AP)—Mrs. Mary Robinson Case, pretty 25-year-old housewife, died last January in the bathtub of a Jackson Heights, Queens, apartment, the victim of strangling fingers about her throat and hammer blows on her head.

Major Green, meek-looking 34-year-old negro handyman, died last night in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison, his life claimed by the state in payment for the slaying of Mrs. Case.

Andrew Mellon Too Infirm To Leave Home Of Son-In-Law

Mellon's condition was said to be due to his advancing years. He was 83 last March. His condition was said not to be critical.

Great Aerial Search Opens For Russians

Sir Hubert Wilkins To Take Part In Hunt; Break Looms In Bad Weather Of Arctic

(By The Associated Press)

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Aug. 20—Missing a week, the Soviet transpolar fliers were the object today of the greatest international aerial search in Alaska-Arctic history as Sir Hubert Wilkins, noted explorer, joined the hunt with a party of five in a 17-ton flying boat.

Sir Hubert and his pilot, Herbert Hollick-Kenyon, expert Canadian airman, arrived at Port Arthur, Ont., last night from Toronto, and planned to take off for Fort Smith, N. W. T., 1,200 miles distant today.

Will Join Others

The huge silver flying boat, purchased by the Russian government for the expedition, will then fly north to join other aviators in the search for Sigismund Levaneffsky and five companions, last heard from a week ago today, several hours before their four-motored plane was expected in Fairbanks to refuel for a United States dash.

Levaneffsky took off from Moscow for a 4,000 mile flight here via the north pole a week ago yesterday.

Jimmy Mattern, grounded for three days by bad weather, continued preparations here today for an exhaustive search of the northern Alaska coast and beyond to the polar ice cap in his sleek, aluminum colored plane.

Break In Weather

The weather forecast here for today showed probable flying conditions toward the Arctic coast, but with likely fog along the coast. The forecast was hailed as the first break in three days of rain and low-hanging clouds. Fog was reported over Point Barrow, where Canadian and Russian fliers waited to take off.

A. Vartanian, Soviet representative here, said radio advices brought news Pilot Zadkoff, with Navigator Padalko, arrived at Barrow late last night from Siberia and were expected to continue their flight today to Aklavik, N. W. T.

Vartanian said he was informed the Russian ice breaker Krassin, carrying four Russian planes to be pressed into the search, was within 10 miles of Barrow late last night.

At Barrow, Alaska's northernmost tip, Pilot Bob Randall, veteran Canadian northland airman, planned to resume his quest for information concerning the lost fliers through interviews with scattered eskimos.

Teachers Are Being Named

Changes in teaching personnel continue to be made as the time for school in this area to open draws near.

T. H. Stewart, a fellow in the chemistry department at Texas Technological college, who will receive a master's degree at the commencement Tuesday, has been made head of the science department at Clarendon Junior college at Clarendon.

Going To A. & M.

Clifford Ransdell, who also will receive a degree Tuesday, has been appointed instructor in engineering drawing at Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college. He has resigned a position in the Breckenridge schools.

Marion B. Edwards, who has been working on a master's degree at Tech this summer, has been elected coach at Pleidton in Parmer county. Paul Nixon, who graduates from the college this summer, has been made principal and coach at Anton. Gordon Mills of Lubbock, who was graduated in 1933, has been made principal of the Union school in Terry county. Mills had been principal at Whitharral. W. Varnell Hale of Lubbock, who has been at Walnut Springs, will take Mills' place at Whitharral. Rosalie Carter, graduating Tuesday, will teach in the primary department of the McLean school.

Aggravated Assault Charges Filed Against Two Texans

DALLAS, Aug. 20 (AP) — Aggravated assault charges were on file today against two men implicated in the kidnaping and beating of George Baer, millinery union organizer.

Earl Johnson and R. J. Johnson were released under $500 bonds each, a day after Baer's wife told police a telephone caller had warned her to have Baer out of town in 10 hours. The Johnsons were charged in connection with a labor disturbance early this week.

At Governor James V. Allred's behest, meanwhile, Texas rangers supposedly had reached the city to put a stop to labor violence.

HEAVY FIRE DAMAGE

Others Injured; Fourth Of City Is In Flames

(By The Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, Aug. 20—An American sailor was killed tonight and eighteen were wounded when the cruiser Augusta, flagship of the United States Asiatic fleet, was struck by an anti-aircraft shell in the midst of terrific Chinese-Japanese artillery and aerial warfare along the Whangpoo river.

Fires crackled in a fourth of all Shanghai at the time.

The one-inch projectile—of undetermined origin—plunged from a high angle onto the cruiser's after well deck.

The sailor killed was Freddie John Falgout of Raceland, Louisiana. None of the wounded was badly hurt.

The American flagship, which has been lying in the Whangpoo a little below the heart of Shanghai to cover evacuation of some 2,000 American refugees, was struck at 6:40 p. m., while most of the officers and crew were at mess. Otherwise casualties probably would have been greater.

One fourth of Shanghai was burning, the result of savage Chinese airbombings of Japanese properties in Pootung and the Hongkew district and Chinese land batteries blasting at Japanese defense lines in the eastern district.

American-owned buildings were believed engulfed in the flames, which spread over wide areas unchecked.

Duel Is Fiercest

The artillery duel between Japanese warships on the river and Chinese shore batteries was the fiercest of the eight-day-old battle for Shanghai. The international settlement rocked to the detonations.

Three shells, believed to be from Chinese batteries in northern Shanghai, had fallen near the Augusta shortly before she was hit. Another fell less than 100 yards astern shortly after.

Her crew of 800 was ordered to remain below decks as much as possible. Similar precautions were taken by the United States destroyers Edsall and Parrott and other foreign naval ships off Shanghai.

Some prepared to move to safer anchorages.

The Augusta, $10,000,000, 9,050-ton flagship of Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, commander in chief of the Asiatic fleet, had stood by earlier today as the Parrott and Edsall and Dollar line tenders carried 1,100 United States refugees down the Whangpoo to the Dollar liner President Hoover, bound for Manila.

Refuse To Give Notice

Admiral Yarnell had told the Japanese navy concisely that American vessels would navigate the Whangpoo whenever and however he wished without reference to the Japanese, who had asked him to give advance notice if any United States craft were to move on the river after dark.

At 10:30 p. m. (8:30 a. m., C. S. T.) the Shanghai international area was rocked as if in an earthquake by the savage artillery duel over the Whangpoo. Chinese batteries well to the south of the settlement were exchanging shells with Japanese warships on the river and projectiles screamed over the foreign-held parts of the city.

The fires which raged into the night over a fourth of the city's area had mostly been started in late af-

Terror Reigns Over Manila With Quake

American Refugees Greeted By Heavy Shocks; City Plunged In Darkness As Power Fails

(By The Associated Press)

MANILA, P. I., Aug. 20—Two sharp earthquakes threw Manila into darkness tonight in a terrifying welcome to American refugees arriving from war-town Shanghai.

Manila residents fled from homes and hotels into the darkened streets, on many of which light wires lay in a tangled mess. Many fires started by the shocks, the worst in 40 years, added to the panic.

Buildings Damaged

Several large buildings and a number of churches were damaged. Other major structures swayed noticeably. Many injuries but no deaths were reported during the confusion following the first shock about 8 p. m. The second tremor added new terror 20 minutes later. The shocks were felt at least 200 miles away.

Most terrified by the rumbling and shaking of the earth were the 376 refugees arriving aboard the President Jefferson to a supposed haven after their terrifying experiences in Shanghai.

One girl among a score of screaming refugee women and children undergoing rigid inspection in the customs house, cried:

"Is this another war?"

Had Scarcely Landed

The refugees had scarcely landed when the quake struck.

They had left a city of death behind and were greeted by the lively tunes of a United States army band and the blazing lights of Manila.

A score or more were still in the customs house when the very earth roared, the building swayed and creaked and the welcoming lights blinked out. Terror reigned.

Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, jr., and her son, Quintin, had hurried ashore under the escort of President Manuel Quezon's personal bodyguard and were whisked away by automobile.

Some of the refugees, with babes in arms, were forced to look for persons supposed to greet them on their arrival. Others carried their own bundles, some wrapped only in papers and others with their own blankets over their arms.

Clutches His Toy

One small boy barely able to walk, clutched tightly to a tin play bucket.

All of them were greeted by the teror of the quake. Their composure was largely restored when the electric lights were turned on again. The main power line had blown out.

Seismologists said the quake was centered three and a half miles from Manila.

The Associated Press correspondent, busily writing about the arrival of the Shanghai refugees, was forced to stop when his typewriter was almost toppled to the floor.

Firemen from virtually all stations in the city responded to alarms.

Shop windows were smashed by the force of the shock and toppling goods.

The extent of the damage of the area over which the shocks were felt could not be determined during the first hectic minutes after the quake.

Wrecks In Her Lawn Becoming Old Story To This Woman

ORANGE, Aug. 20. (AP)—When an automobile failed to make a sharp turn on the highway and plunged into her yard, Mrs. John Hart was not unusually perturbed.

She sighed and removed a two-foot square chunk of curbing jarred loose by the vehicle. The stone had disfigured her lawn.

The car was the 23rd this year which failed to make the curve.

Officers Will Probe Affair

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20 — President Roosevelt said today that whatever action was deemed advisable in connection with the shelling of the cruiser Augusta off Shanghai would be determined by officials on the ground there.

The president told a press conference he had received only fragmentary unofficial dispatches on the shelling.

Bound To Happen

Asked what this would mean as far as any counter action was concerned, the president said such things were almost bound to happen in a situation such as that of Shanghai.

Asked what he was going to do about it, he said the people on the spot could tell more about that than officials in Washington.

In response to other questions, he said official Washington was talking about the advisability of invoking the neutrality act every day.

Also informed about a statement by the council for prevention of war favoring immediate proclamation of neutrality, the president said, without derogation to that organization, that government officials had more information than it had.

KANSAS CITY, Kas.—Miss Lola Adams, a summer student at Arizona State Teachers college at Flagstaff, recently sent a horned toad to Frankie and Buddy Kuebelbeck, two other students at Bryant elementary school here.

Shortly after its arrival, the toad acquired a family of 18 baby horned toads—one for every member in Miss Adams' class.

Conscience Stricken

CHICAGO—Three years ago a large brass sign, bearing the words, "the president," was stolen from the door of President Robert M. Hutchins' office at the University of Chicago.

The sign is back in place again. It was contained in a package which an unidentified young man handed to a university switchboard operator with the comment: "This turned up at a party."

Man Vs. Watermelon

PETERSBURG, Ind.—William Conrad, weight 128 pounds, had only a sore stomach today to show for his attempt to devour a 45-pound watermelon.

Allowed an hour to complete the feat, Conrad had a quarter of a melon to go when time was called.

Conrad swore he would redeem himself by downing 48 raw eggs in public Saturday.

He Asked For It

COLUMBIA, S. C.—Mayor L. B. Owens, addressing a hotel banquet, told the out-of-towners:

When he turned to leave, his hat was missing.

Shoo, Bossy

ELLENSBURG, Wash. — A passenger plane, one of its two motors failing, had to pass up Ellensburg's unfinished airport because a herd of cows wouldn't "move over."

The plane later landed safely at Ephrata, 50 miles away.

The cattle took possession of the airport when their owner leased the airport, an abandoned WPA project.

FORT PECK, Mont. — Snake Butte, long infested with deadly diamondback rattlers, is losing its reputation — the snakes are gone.

Workers quarrying stone for Fort Peck dam nearby said the reptiles fled from the sound of dynamite blasting. At this time of the year, they said, the snakes shed their skins and are blind and sensitive to all noises.

The explosions got on their nerves.

Mineral Rich Diet Will Defer Signs Of Approaching Age Says Beauty Expert

Irene Dunne carefully watches her diet not alone for the sake of general health and an enviable figure, but as insurance against getting old.

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Service Staff Writer

Like all the advancements of age, the coming of gray hairs can be held back with attention to food, especially those rich in iodine, silicon and sulphur.

This is the belief of Benjamin Gayelord Hauser, who writes interestingly of diet in relation to beauty.

"Graying hair that comes with age appears because, as we grow older, the arteries get tougher and slow up the blood supply," Mr. Hauser writes.

"Less blood means less nourishment. So when the blood vessels of the scalp grow smaller, one of the first things that happens is that the hair begins to lose its color. It grows gray and becomes thin, because it is starving. And finally it falls out.

Mr. Hauser says that anyone who doubts what mineral-rich diet does for the hair has only to look at immigrant men and women, freshly arrived in this country. Usually they are equipped with fine, strong teeth and superb hair. The author explains the reason for this is that in the old country these men and women lived on mush simpler foods, consisting chiefly of milk, coarse grains and vegetables.

Among the best iodine foods are oysters, clams, lobsters, cod liver oil, pineapple, artichokes, garlic, sorrel, whole barley, wild rice, beech nuts, strawberries, horseradish, cucumbers, asparagus, whole wheat, figs, cabbage, lettuce, spinach are rich in silicon. And cabbage, radishes, onions, cauliflower, carrots, apples and turnips contain sulphur in generous quantities.

Undoubtedly the reason the majority of Hollywood stars have such beautiful hair, skin and teeth is that vegetables, salads and fruit form the bulk of the diet of the average motion picture actress. At lunchtime, in the commissaries of the various studios, one sees salads instead of sandwiches, vegetable plates instead of meat dishes, and fruit instead of rich desserts at the places of the girls who are important in the glamor industry.

Aid To Horses Being Sought

Approximately 75 farmers owning horses stricken with a disease resembling encephalomyelitis or "sleeping sickness" have sought aid in the last 10 days from Dr. F. C. Harbaugh, associate professor of animal husbandry and veterinarian at Texas Technological college.

They have come from all directions, but the outbreak apparently is greater north of Lubbock, said Dr. Harbaugh.

Dr. Leon G. Cloud, assistant state veterinarian of the Livestock Sanitary commission, announced to the Associated Press in Fort Worth Thursday that a seasonal outbreak of "sleeping sickness" had stricken Panhandle horses, with losses running as high as 50 per cent. The greatest area of infection includes farms and ranches between Lubbock and Amarillo, he said.

Belief that the disease was not "sleeping sickness" had been given by Dr. Harbaugh as result of reports he had received from farmers and treatment of cases in which he found horses did not react to the same treatment as for "sleeping sickness" and that they were emaciating faster.

A chemical change taking place in feed or some parasite on the horses is believed by Dr. Harbaugh to cause the disease, which apparently is non-contagious.

Conducting Experiments

Only simple remedy which farmers can administer is to take horses off cut or pastured sudan, and feed them oats and hay in the lot, said Dr. Harbaugh. Although conducting experiments with drugs, they are not sufficiently advanced to determine their effectiveness, he said. Of 14 horses he has treated, only one died.

Dr. Harbaugh has not recommended vaccination because "we don't know what we are vaccinating for," he said.

A disease in Kansas known as the "Kansas horse disease" may be the same as that which has broken out here. The malady has symptoms similar to "blind staggers," said the veterinarian.

Seven horses owned by a man north of Shallowater have died, according to a report here.

Forty Cases Of Disease Are Said Treated At Ralls

RALLS, Aug. 20. (Special)—Ten forage poisoning and approximately 40 cases of encephalomyelitis have been treated here by W. L. Botkins, veterinary surgeon.

"Those horses that were allowed to go without serum died when they went down; the ones treated when they were on their feet recovered," said Dr. Botkins.

Dr. Botkins warned that stockowners should watch their horses and have treatment given when symptoms show. Cyanide and prussic acid apparently are causing the disorders, and definite differences present themselves in each ailment.

Immunity from serum lasts only approximately 20 days, he said.

New Building Permits Being Issued In Seagraves Area

SEAGRAVES, Aug. 20. — Building permits for new construction to cost a total of $26,975, including 15 residences and three apartment buildings, have been issued here since Aug. 1, according to City Building Inspector Ray Tucker.

Two churches, the First Methodist church for $7,000 and the Church of Christ for $800, were included. The Methodist church will be of brick veneer, 50 by 60 feet. The other church is of frame.

D. H. Turner was issued a $1,500 permit for a 50 by 45 tile business building; First State bank a $2,000 permit for a 24 by 70 frame and stucco office building; L. Shropshire, a 20 by 50 two-story frame and stucco hotel, $2,500; Roland Hassell, a frame and stucco residence, 28 by 42 feet, $1,750; O. M. Reese, a 10 by 50 frame apartment, costing $400; Mrs. L. Thurman, a $2,000 frame apartment, 20 by 42; R. E. Edwards, a 24 by 42 frame and stucco residence, $1,000; L. Miller a 24 by 28 frame apartment; Home Ice Co., a frame and sheet iron ice manufacturing plant, $1,100.

E. A. Cleavinger, extension agronomist at Kansas State college, says investments in soil improvement are the soundest that a farmer can make, but they are not quick turn-over ones.

Visible Multiplication

KANSAS CITY, Kas.—Miss Lola Adams, a summer student at Arizona State Teachers college at Flagstaff, recently sent a horned toad to Frankie and Buddy Kuebelbeck, two other students at Bryant elementary school here.

Shortly after its arrival, the toad acquired a family of 18 baby horned toads—one for every member in Miss Adams' class.

Conscience Stricken

CHICAGO—Three years ago a large brass sign, bearing the words, "the president," was stolen from the door of President Robert M. Hutchins' office at the University of Chicago.

The sign is back in place again. It was contained in a package which an unidentified young man handed to a university switchboard operator with the comment: "This turned up at a party."

Man Vs. Watermelon

PETERSBURG, Ind.—William Conrad, weight 126 pounds, had only a sore stomach today to show for his attempt to devour a 45-pound watermelon.

Allowed an hour to complete the feat, Conrad had a quarter of a melon to go when time was called.

Conrad swore he would redeem himself by downing 48 raw eggs in public Saturday.

Shoo, Bossy

ELLENSBURG, Wash. — A passenger plane, one of its two motors failing, had to pass up Ellensburg's unfinished airport because a herd of cows wouldn't "move over."

The cattle took possession of the airport when their owner leased the airport, an abandoned WPA project.

FORT PECK, Mont. — Snake Butte, long infested with deadly diamondback rattlers, is losing its reputation — the snakes are gone.

The explosions got on their nerves.

Mineral Rich Diet Will Defer Signs Of Approaching Age Says Beauty Expert

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Service Staff Writer

Irene Dunne carefully watches her diet not alone for the sake of general health and an enviable figure, but as insurance against getting old.

Like all the advancements of age, the coming of gray hairs can be held back with attention to food, especially those rich in iodine, silicon and sulphur.

This is the belief of Benjamin Gayelord Hauser, who writes interestingly of diet in relation to beauty.

"Graying hair that comes with age appears because, as we grow older, the arteries get tougher and slow up the blood supply," Mr. Hauser writes.

"Less blood means less nourishment. So when the blood vessels of the scalp grow smaller, one of the first things that happens is that the hair begins to lose its color. It grows gray and becomes thin, because it is starving. And finally it falls out.

Mr. Hauser says that anyone who doubts what mineral-rich diet does for the hair has only to look at immigrant men and women, freshly arrived in this country. Usually they are equipped with fine, strong teeth and superb hair. The author explains the reason for this is that in the old country these men and women lived on much simpler foods, consisting chiefly of milk, coarse grains and vegetables.

Among the best iodine foods are oysters, clams, lobsters, cod liver oil, pineapple, artichokes, garlic, sorrel, whole barley, wild rice, beech nuts, strawberries, horseradish, cucumbers, asparagus, whole wheat, figs, cabbage, lettuce, spinach are rich in silicon. And cabbage, radishes, onions, cauliflower, carrots, apples and turnips contain sulphur in generous quantities.

Undoubtedly the reason the majority of Hollywood stars have such beautiful hair, skin and teeth is that vegetables, salads and fruit form the bulk of the diet of the average motion picture actress. At lunchtime, in the commissaries of the various studios, one sees salads instead of sandwiches, vegetable plates instead of meat dishes, and fruit instead of rich desserts at the places of the girls who are important in the glamor industry.

Aid To Horses Being Sought

Approximately 75 farmers owning horses stricken with a disease resembling encephalomyelitis or "sleeping sickness" have sought aid in the last 10 days from Dr. F. G. Harbaugh, associate professor of animal husbandry and veterinarian at Texas Technological college.

They have come from all directions, but the outbreak apparently is greater north of Lubbock, said Dr. Harbaugh.

Dr. Leon G. Cloud, assistant state veterinarian of the Livestock Sanitary commission, announced to the Associated Press in Fort Worth Thursday that a seasonal outbreak of "sleeping sickness" had stricken Panhandle horses, with losses running as high as 50 per cent. The greatest area of infection includes farms and ranches between Lubbock and Amarillo, he said.

Belief that the disease was not "sleeping sickness" had been given by Dr. Harbaugh as result of reports he had received from farmers and treatment of cases in which he found horses did not react to the same treatment as for "sleeping sickness" and that they were emaciating faster.

A chemical change taking place in feed or some parasite on the horses is believed by Dr. Harbaugh to cause the disease, which apparently is non-contagious.

Conducting Experiments

Only simple remedy which farmers can administer is to take horses off cut or pastured sudan, and feed them oats and hay in the lot, said Dr. Harbaugh. Although conducting experiments with drugs, they are not sufficiently advanced to determine their effectiveness, he said. Of 14 horses he has treated, only one died.

Dr. Harbaugh has not recommended vaccination because "we don't know what we are vaccinating for," he said.

A disease in Kansas known as the "Kansas horse disease" may be the same as that which has broken out here. The malady has symptoms similar to "blind staggers," said the veterinarian.

Seven horses owned by a man north of Shallowater have died, according to a report here.

Forty Cases Of Disease Are Said Treated At Ralls

RALLS, Aug. 20. (Special)—Ten forage poisoning and approximately 40 cases of encephalomyelitis have been treated here by W. L. Botkins, veterinary surgeon.

"Those horses that were allowed to go without serum died when they went down; the ones treated when they were on their feet recovered," said Dr. Botkins.

Dr. Botkins warned that stockowners should watch their horses and have treatment given when symptoms show. Cyanide and prussic acid apparently are causing the disorders, and definite differences present themselves in each ailment.

Immunity from serum lasts only approximately 20 days, he said.

New Building Permits Being Issued In Seagraves Area

SEAGRAVES, Aug. 20. — Building permits for new construction to cost a total of $26,975, including 15 residences and three apartment buildings, have been issued here since Aug. 1, according to City Building Inspector Ray Tucker.

Two churches, the First Methodist church for $7,000 and the Church of Christ for $600, were included. The Methodist church will be of brick veneer, 50 by 60 feet. The other church is of frame.

D. H. Turner was issued a $1,500 permit for a 50 by 45 tile business building; First State bank a $2,000 permit for a 24 by 70 frame and stucco office building; L. Shropshire, a 20 by 50 two-story frame and stucco hotel, $2,500; Roland Hassell, a frame and stucco residence, 28 by 42 feet, $1,750; O. M. Reese, a 10 by 50 frame apartment, costing $400; Mrs. L. Thurman, a $2,000 frame apartment, 20 by 42; R. E. Edwards, a 24 by 42 frame and stucco residence, $1,000; L. Miller a 24 by 28 frame apartment; Home Ice Co., a frame and sheet iron ice manufacturing plant, $1,100.

E. A. Cleavinger, extension agronomist at Kansas State college, says investments in soil improvement are the soundest that a farmer can make, but they are not quick turn-over ones.

Fourteen Will Enter Chase

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 20 (AP) — Thirteen pilots and fourteen planes have been entered in the Bendix trophy dash to the 1937 National Air races at Cleveland, Chairman Larry Therkelsen of the Bendix race committee said today.

A tentative fourteenth contestant is Dick Merrill, trans-Atlantic flier.

The $25,000 Bendix speed event is to start from Union Air terminal Burbank, near here, late on the night of Sept. 2, or early in the morning of Sept. 3.

Col. Roscoe Turner of Hollywood, veteran cross-country speedster, has entered two planes. He has not chosen a pilot for his second ship.

So far, only one woman pilot, Jacqueline Cochrane of New York, has entered the race. The prize money included a special award of $2500 for the first woman to finish.

Other pilots entered in this year's dash include: Reginald Robbins, Fort Worth, Tex.

Speech Department To Present Play

Students of the speech department of Texas Technological college will present a comedy, "Three-Cornered Moon" at Senior High school auditorium tonight at 8:15 o'clock as the last number of their summer program.

Many weeks of rehearsal and careful cast selections went into preparation for the play, which will be directed by Miss Annah Jo Pendleton, speech professor.

By Gertrude Tonkonogy, the comedy presents a woman whose husband left a small fortune and a houseful of irresponsible children.

Gags and nitwitticisms fly off at all angles, described by a reviewer as a "sort of beautiful inanity that makes the stage groggy now and then with the buzz of a madhouse."

Cast members are Mrs. J. B. Caldwell, James Kimmel, Noel Edgar Thompson, Dorothy Mann, Billy Eads, Mrs. Bryan C. Henderson, Weldon George, Hugh Ayers and Ioway Claunch.

Long between-act waits will be done away with, since the same scenery will be used throughout.

Admission for persons who do not have summer recreational program tickets will be 35 cents.

PLENTY OF FEED

18-Year-Old Dog Thrives On Candy And Also Ice Cream

CINCINNATI, O. (AP)—Patrick Henry, it seems, cares not for death, but is concerned only with liberty—and ice cream.

Patrick Henry is only a German shepherd, but at 18, says Harry Lahke, his druggist owner, is "just about the best hold-up insurance I've got."

Pat wears 16 annual license tags on his shoulder harness. Others, Lahke explains, have been lost. Registration papers "that long"— with Lahke extending his arms as if telling a fish yarn—further attest to the dog's antiquity.

Besides possessing a child-like fondness for ice cream and candy, the dog is almost human, Lahke boasts, in his fastidious "demand" for cleanliness.

"He has to have his face washed every morning and dried with a clean towel," the owner says.

"As regularly as I go to the bathroom to shave, in comes Pat, to be washed. He'll sit and watch until the last bit of lather scrapes off. Then it's his turn. If I get a used towel—nothing doing. If I start out without drying his face, I feel a tug at my wrist, and I've got to go back and finish the job."

Brazil's Boss Cracks Whip

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Specialist

NEW YORK, Aug. 20 (AP) — When (and if) President Vargas of Brazil repays President Roosevelt's visit in June, the American capital will have the unusual experience of meeting a real dictator—one fresh from an exhibition of strong-arm tactics.

Vargas just applied the big-stick to one of his chief lieutenants—General Flores da Cunha, governor of the important state of Rio Grande do Sul. The general's sin was apparently preparing to support for the presidential election next year a candidate not approved by the boss. Vargas virtually stripped da Cunha of executive authority.

Man Of Action

That's the way he works. Leader of a country which has the third largest area in the world (following Russia and China), he is a man of action and few words. Few have learned his inner mind, which has been likened to an underground river flowing to an unknown end.

Fifty-one, swarthy, smiling, Vargas displays a velvety blandness which belies his dictatorial characteristics. Big in mentality, he is small of stature—barely reaching five feet four inches. He will look like a schoolboy beside the towering American President.

Rode In On Revolt

The Brazilian Napoleon came into power through an armed uprising in 1930. As dictatorial head of the provisional government established by the revolution, he wrought a new republic during four years of apprehension and social tumult marked with an unsuccessful counter-revolt in Sao Paulo.

He gave his country a fresh constitution, and was elected first constitutional president of the second republic. This constitution chartered a new social order, identified rather vaguely as "liberal democracy." As an indication of the trend, women won equal status with men, and workers were safeguarded against summary dismissal, long hours, low wages, and want in illness and old age.

Vargas is credited with having promoted good feeling with foreign countries, especially the United States, Argentina and Uruguay.

Marland Planning On Comeback In Oil

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 20 (AP)—Governor E. W. Marland, who once headed the $300,000,000 Marland oil company, now the Continental, plans to stage a come-back in the oil business.

Since he retired as president of the Marland company in 1930, Marland saw his personal fortune dwindle. But he retained his interest in the progress of the industry and was instrumental in bringing about formation of the interstate oil compact commission two years ago.

Now the governor has announced he and Howard B. Drake of Ponca City, a former Marland oil company official, expect to drill oil wells on a lease they have acquired somewhere in Texas.

"When I complete serving out the remaining two years of my term as governor I expect to retire from politics and give my entire attention to the oil business," Marland said.

OLD AX FOUND

BROWNFIELD, (Special) — A pole ax that belonged to the grandfather of A. J. Stricklin, Brownfield editor, has been located and sent to Brownfield. The ax was used in clearing the forests in western Tennessee during the 1830's. The ax is thicker and "clumsier" than the modern axes, the editor said.

Traded A Puppy

Painting, pup and proprietor of an antique shop figured in the Oak Park, Ill., drama of a mysterious little old lady who traded a small fortune for a pet. She wanted one of the spaniels Arthur Lloyd, Jr., raises as a hobby in his shop, and offered a stained and dust-covered picture in trade. Later Lloyd discovered the painting was a work of Jean Baptiste Greuze, French master. Lloyd, painting and brother of the traded pup are pictured above.

"I had been needing a medicine like this new Gly-Cas for the past twenty years," said Mrs. C. B. Holloway, Rt. No. 8 Bx. No. 60 Pine Bluff, Arkansas. "I had been badly constipated and my stomach was out of order as gas, heartburn and difficulty in breathing followed every meal. I would have awful bilious attacks, terrible headaches and vomiting spells. I was so nervous a good nights sleep was out of the question. Then neuritis settled in my body until I was practically a cripple with the awful pain. I put many medicines to the test in my case but with no results—until my attention was attracted to Gly-Cas and what it was doing in so many cases similar to mine and I gave it a trial."

"Never have I seen a medicine as wonderful before," continued Mrs. Holloway. "My bowels were regulated almost at once, poisons removed from my system in a most natural manner. Gas, bloating, indigestion and heartburn has left me entirely, my kidneys are fine, sleep good the entire night through, enjoy new strength and energy and feel fine. I am even relieved of those awful neuritis pains, get around with ease and it is a joy in living feeling as I do. Gly-Cas does not disappoint with the results it gives."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1210 Broadway, this city, and by all the leading drug stores in surrounding towns. Adv.

Bruins' Slump Finally Ends; Giants Beaten

BY SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Charley Grimm sat down with pleasure today to eat a few of his own words.

The diet was about as appetizing as a barbed wire sandwich, but Jolly Cholly had a lot of fun stowing it away. Since it had to do with a bright spot for his Chicago Cubs and their three-game lead on the National league pack.

The words, spoken by the Cubs' pilot when the current season was just a youngster, revolved about big league baseball's champion hard luck guy, Curt Davis, and his right-hand pitching prowess. The Cubs, said Grimm at that time, didn't expect much, if any, help from Davis this year.

Cubs Begin Fadeout

And for weeks it looked as though Cholly had it figured about right. The big lumberman from the northwest wasn't fully recovered from last year's stomach ailment before a sore arm put him on the shelf again. To all intents and purposes, he was going to be about as useful to the Cubs as a layer of banana peels around second base.

But even without him, and in the powerful presence of a record-breaking list of injuries, the Cubs were doing all right. The pitching was getting by, the hitting was heavy, and the windy city wallopers were sporting a growing lead in the pennant chase.

Then came the slump. The Cubs lost five in a row, and their lead was cut to two games over the reviving Giants.

Into that situation Grimm yesterday threw Davis, largely because there wasn't much else to do, the hospital list being what it is. And Davis, although his performance wasn't sensational, showed that he's ready to take his regular turn again by coming through with a 7-3 decision against the perennial Cub jinx, Pittsburgh's Pirates. He pitched shutout ball in all but two innings, and finished stronger than even he himself expected.

Means Two For Bruins

The victory really meant two games to the Cubs. Had they lost and the Giants won, their league lead would have been shaved to a single game. But the Giants dropped an 11-inning, 2-1 heartbreaker to the pitching mastery of Jim Turner and the Boston Bees and gave the Cubs another breathing spell.

The Yankees, meantime, got the breaks to maintain an 11 1-2 game edge in the American league with a 12-inning, 4-3 decision over the Senators. The second-place Detroit Tigers, featuring a pair of homers each by Rudy York and Gerry Walker, walloped the White Sox, 12-4, in a game cut to six innings by rain. The second game of a scheduled doubleheader was rained out.

Getting effective pitching from Lon Warneke and Mike Ryba, the Cardinals clouted the Reds, 6-2 and 8-1, for a twin win. The Phillies and Dodgers split, Brooklyn winning the opener, 3-0, and dropping the nightcap, 7-5.

Eric McNair's pinch-homer gave the Red Sox a 5-4 edge over the Athletics. The Indians ran away from the Browns, 9-1.

Missions Near Cinch To Play For Loop Title

(By The Associated Press)

Galveston's never-say-die Pirates may never get a look at the first division this waning season but as of today they could boast of what they did to Oklahoma City's high and mighty Indians.

Anchored in sixth place five games behind Beaumont, the Galveston team has but the thinnest chance of working into the Shaughnessy playoff — but they whipped the league-leaders three times running. The score last night was 5 to 1. Frank Anderson turned the trick with a fine pitching performance which yielded the Indians only four hits.

San Antonio meantime was virtually assuring itself of a play-off spot by dusting Fort Worth 7 to 5. The Cats lost two of three games in trying to overhaul the second-place Missions.

Tulsa eased into a tie with Fort Worth with a thumping 11-2 victory over Houston. Beaumont took it easy with a 9-4 victory over lowly Dallas.

Women's Final Slated Today

Mrs. C. L. Dean coasted into the finals of the Meadowbrook Golf club's annual women's tournament Thursday with a 9 and 8 victory at the expense of Miss Ruth Bell who had played only two weeks but who surprisingly had bombarded her way into the upper bracket of the championship flight. In her first round of play, Miss Bell had beat Mrs. J. R. Farmer, 2 and 1.

In the finals today with the leading woman "linksman" hereabouts will be Mrs. Guy McAfee, whose competitive golf so far as tournament play with Mrs. Dean is concerned is limited to a match in the same bracket last year when she lost 2 and 1.

To win the right to enter the finals, Mrs. McAfee nosed out Mrs. Charles Akey, 1 up 19 holes.

A one-up margin also separated Mrs. Cliff Widener's win over Mrs. V. Smith, in finals of the first flight. Mrs. Widener had won 1-up over Mrs. Bob Crawford. Mrs. Smith was 5 and 4 winner over Mrs. C. E. Dean in the first round.

In championship consolations, Mrs. W. F. Helwig also won by the narrow margin of 1 up 19 holes over Mrs. Farmer, and Miss Nancy Leaverton won over Miss Mildred Boone, 4 and 3.

In first flight consolations, Mrs. C. E. Dean lost 1 up to Mrs. Crawford.

Texas Stars Depart For Snipe Races

DALLAS, Aug. 20. (AP)—Five expert Texas sailors headed today for an opportunity at New Rochelle, N. Y. to return to this state the Hub Isaacks trophy embelmatic of the international snipe racing championship.

Howard Chilton and Delany Lingo, crewman, of Dallas; and Elbert Loveless and Crewmen Marvin Harrison and Carl Woodson, of Denton, will represent Texas in the races Aug. 27, 28 and 29.

Chilton won the right to represent the Dallas fleet when he won 12 of 16 races. Included among those he defeated was Bill Bracey of Dallas, who won the international title in 1933.

The Denton crew this season has defeated Bracey and George McGown of Fort Worth, last year's runner-up for the international title.

C. Z. Crean of San Antonio also may make the trip.

Snipes are single-design sailboats, 15 and 1-2 feet long. They are simple to operate and are priced nominally. They can carry six persons as pleasure craft but in racing carry a skipper and crew of one.

Dana Bible Is Sitting Good At Texas U.

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, Aug. 20 (AP) — Prettiest sitting football coach is Dana X. Bible at Texas U. . . . He has a ten year contract at $15,000 per. . . . Note to American league managers: Joe McCarthy says he'll make the Yankees 40 per cent stronger by trades next winter. . . . Read it and weep. . . . There isn't a married gal on the British Wightman cup team. . . . Al Schacht, back from a triumphant tour of the south, sees another subway World's series. . . . Clowning through the provinces has enabled Al to bank more dough so far this year than in any three years he spent as a big league coach.

When more and better overtures are made, Max Schmeling will make 'em. . . . Mike Jacobs is "regusted" at the German's demands for 30 per cent of the gate to meet the Louis-Farr winner . . . "I offered him that to meet Louis two months ago," says Mike, "and he gave the old run-around. . . . We'll just leave him on the hot seat for a little while". . . .

The No. 1 comeback man of the 1937 baseball season is Senor Vernon (El Goffy) Gomez of the Yankees. . . . A writer in a southern paper says the only way to stop War Admiral and Seabiscuit is to let "Man Mountain" Dean jockey 'em. . . . If wise old Bill McKechnie is offered the job of managing the Cleveland Indians, the Bees will release him. . . . Only hitch is, Bill says he is content to stay right up there in Beantown with Bob Quinn. . . . Just for the records, Harry Lenny and "Dumb Dan" Morgan, two plenty smart fight managers, give Tommy Farr a chance to stay longer with Joe Louis than Jimmy Braddock did.

Littlefield Gives Warning To Hubber Baseball Clan

Littlefield's aggregation of slugging baseball talent has sent official warning to the Hubbers that they will be here Sunday afternoon to dispute the Lubbock claim to outstanding merit among clubs of this section — even if they have to forfeit a game in a tournament scheduled to start that day at Muleshoe. Littlefield's delegates have entered the Muleshoe tourney.

Virtually the same lineup which emerged victorious over the Hubbers late in June will be here in efforts to repeat the performance. They are scheduled to test their ability at the plate against the heretofore effective hurling of Lefty Blanchard who, in addition to chalking up strikeouts apienty, has been driving out hits with monotonous regularity.

Americans Expected To Sweep Tennis Matches

NEW YORK, Aug. 20 (AP)—America's tennis girls shouldn't have any difficulty making it seven straight over England in the Wightman cup matches today and tomorrow at Forrest Hills, Giving the visitors all the best of it, the final score figures to be around 6-2 in the home team's favor.

This must be about the weakest side England has mustered in the 14-year history of the event. Dorothy Round's decision to spend this month getting a trousseau together deprived the invaders of their best bet. She was the only one they had capable of beating players like Helen Jacobs and Alice Marble.

Kay Stammers Ill

Kay Stammers, England's left-hander number 1, has been ill most of the time this season. Ruth Hardwick, the number 2, slows up when things get tight. Margot Lumb, number 3 singles, is little more than a hard swinging novice.

The three of them don't stack up with the veteran singles trio of Miss Jacobs, Miss Marble and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan.

Today's pairings, in order, were Marble vs. Hardwick, Jacobs vs. Stammers, and the doubles Marble-Fabyan vs. Joan Ingram and Evelyn Derman. An American sweep of the three matches seemed entirely likely, leaving the defenders needing only one more win in tomorrow's four matches to keep the cup.

Stage Fright Helps You Make Speech

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 20 (AP) — You can be scared into making a good speech, Charles W. Lomas, debate director at the University of Pittsburgh, believes.

Lomas said in an experiment with high school students he found those "scared stiff" before their speeches but calm when once started talked more fluently than those never frightened at all.

Students who were unable to control their stage fright, however, made the poorest speeches of any group.

Crack Shotmakers Open Fire In Lake Placid's Tourney

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., Aug. 20 (AP)—Nearly 100 crack shotmakers, led by stocky Gene Sarazen, began firing today in the $3,000 72-hole Lake Placid open — one of the east's few remaining big money golf events of 1937.

Included are such luminaries as Leo Diegel of Philmont, Pa., Craig Wood of Rumson, N. J., Jimmy Hines of Garden City, L. I., Willie Goggin of San Francisco, Cal., Ben Hogan of Fort Worth, Texas, and Bob Barringer of Philadelphia, Pa.

Eighteen holes are slated for today and tomorrow, and 36 holes on Sunday.

Frog Coach Rates Razorbacks And Aggies Machines To Beat

DALLAS, Aug. 20. (AP)—Promoters of Port Isabel, on the Rio Grande valley's gulf coast, believe recent catches of blue marlin will revolutionize game fishing in that region. . . . Sportsmen say the coast will get a much greater play when fishermen over the country learn the tough marlin is ready to battle them off the tip of Texas. . . . Sailfish, highly respected as fighters, are plentiful, but says Henry A. Phol of the Miami, Fla., Rod and Reel club: "The blue marlin is of more importance insofar as game fishermen are concerned than all the sailfish. We will fish for them for weeks on a stretch without a strike in our waters, which are off the coast at Bimini." . . .

Story of the week: from Joe Wheeler, Austin attorney, comes the word an interesting English court decision has come to light. The officials of a certain golf course posted a graduated scale of fines for violation of a no-profanity rule —so much from a caddy, from a professional, and from a gentleman.

One day a gentleman bogged down in a sand trap. For minutes he uttered terrifying sounds and cussed with a demon's ardor.

He refused to pay his 100-pound fine and carried the case to court. His defense was that a golfer, especially a golfer in a sandtrap, was no gentleman. He won.

Long Standing Rivalries To Be Renewed In Big Tourney

ST. PAUL, Aug. 20 (AP) — Some long standing rivalries will be renewed at the 37th annual Women's Western Golf association tournament at town and country club next Monday through Saturday.

A field of nearly 130 golfers has entered.

Marion Miley of Lexington, Ky., was regarded one of the strongest contenders. Miss Miley was beaten by Miss Dorothy Traung, title defender, one up in 19 holes in one of the preliminary matches of last year's tournament.

Among others entered are Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Texas and Mrs. Dan Chandler of Dallas, Texas.

Another Sopwith

Awaiting the return of Papa T. O. M. Sopwith's four-times beaten Endeavour II to England is young Tommy Sopwith, no mean yachtsman himself, as shown by the above picture taken on the beach at Westgate, Kent, England. Perhaps Tommy is planning to challenge his father to a race, or he already may have started training for his attempt, several years hence, to wrest the "Old Mug" from American holders.

Trail Drivers Will Gather

Announcement of and the invitation to attend the annual convention of the Old Trail Drivers association of Texas at the Gunter hotel at San Antonio Oct. 7, 8, and 9, was received yesterday by Sheriff Tom Abel.

The announcement bore the signature of W. T. (Bill) Jackson, president of the organization.

Plea For Membership

Accompanying the invitation was a prepared statement by the organization's president which he asked Sheriff Abel to make public. The statement is a plea for membership of younger persons to carry on the organization. Membership fees, which are a dollar a year, he explained, entitle new members to all privileges of older members, and part of the money will go to building of a memorial hall at San Antonio which is in honor of the old trail drivers, pioneers of the state, and Texas Rangers.

The statement is addressed to the descendants of the trail drivers, descendants of pioneers, and old-time cattlemen and stock raisers.

Statement Quoted

Jackson's statement in part is:

"From information gathered at the 1936 convention of the Old Trail Drivers convention and from other research, I have learned that numerous members of the organization are still alive but unable to attend meetings because of various disabilities. Many are more than 90 years old, others are sick, some indigent. Average membership age is more than 82 years.

"Within a few years the burden of continuing this organization will fall on you. We urge young people to come and join us now and learn how we handle this organization, how it should be carried on after we have died. How we would like to clasp the hand of those who take this obligation and to explain fully the designs we have drawn for this organization! By attending, you can learn our mode of entertainment and procedure and later follow these methods.

"One dollar dues entitle members to all entertainments, such as dances each night, barbecue and other programs without additional charge.

Work Began In 1866

"The trail drivers work began in 1866. Vast millions of cattle and horses had grown on our prairies in the Civil War and we had no market for them. They were worthless in this section. We found a fine market in Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado, Idaho, Wyoming, the Dakotas and other states, and resolved to reach those markets regardless of the dangers of the Indians and other outlaws. This work was undertaken by the younger generation of that day, many of them under 20 years of age. Many went down. Those more fortunate went on to victory with their undertaking, bringing home many millions of dollars which were distributed over the entire state."

Relative to the memorial hall, he said, "In this hall we may meet for business or pleasure at any time we may care to. Should you perpetuate this organization, the management of the hall will be yours to use for all entertainments desired."

"These are facts for your consideration written in cowboy language," he said, "and I hope you will understand it. I have no words at my command to express my greatest desire that you cooperate with us at our next meeting."

He expressed the hope that all members work for the association's perpetuation. "Do not get the idea that we are begging, for we are in good financial condition. We only believe it is your duty in remembrance of your ancestors."

Cutting through the gordian knotted marital affairs of J. Asked if he would remarry his third wife, who stood by him during the trial and who is pictured at lower left with one of Younghusband's children by Wife No. 1, Younghusband grinned and said: "Well, you never can tell."

Full Time Employment For A County Nurse Decided Upon

LEVELLAND, Aug. 20, (Special) —Full-time employment of a county health nurse and change in a county precinct line featured orders at the regular meeting here of the county commissioners court.

The nurse, who will be selected by the state board of health, will begin duties Sept. 1. She will give special attention to pre-natal and post-natal and infant care, afflictions of pre-school and school children, prevention of tuberculosis, and work with crippled children and adult hygiene.

The line separating precincts 1 and 2 was changed so that a line running south along the center of the highway from a turn about two miles south of town reaches the center of the court house.

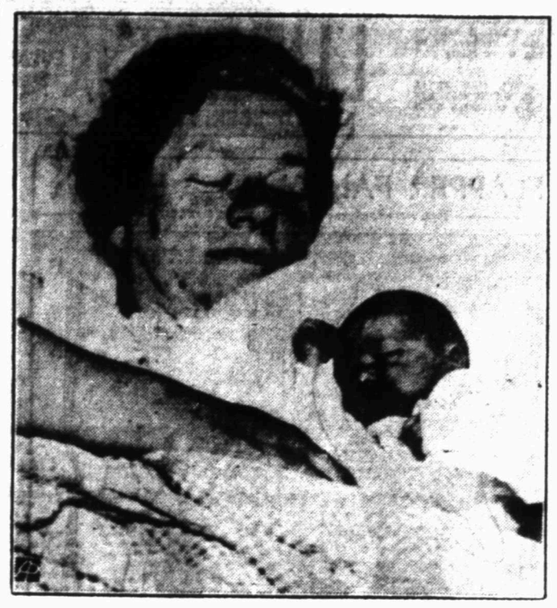

Crop Production Increased By The Terracing Of Land

HALE CENTER, Aug. 20, (Special)—Terracing of land has increased crop production on the farm of J. E. Johnson, farmer of Fieldton community, he reported here.

Cotton planted on the terraced farm is from four to five inches higher and much heavier fruited than cotton on the unterraced farm, and the plants on the terraced farm withstood July dry weather much better than on the other farm, he said.

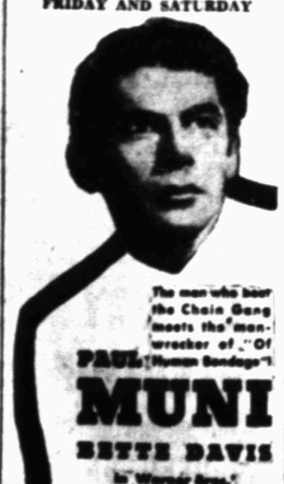

More than 6,000 campgrounds will be ready for this season's vacation visitors to the 160 national forests, the United States Forest Service says.

THAT Girl on Broadway remarks that some girls fall head over heels in love with a fellow, others just fall in love with the heels.

One thing appears fairly certain at this stage of next year's gubernatorial campaign.

The winner likely will be a red-headed Irishman.

The two men most prominently mentioned at this time as candidates and probable winners are Ernest O. Thompson of Amarillo and Bill McCraw, the attorney general from Dallas. Both of them wave thatches for Erin when bare-headed and when the breezes blow.

ONE of the finest instances of spontaneous civic loyalty it has been the pleasure of The Plainsman to see in a long time has been that attending plans for the post-season training camp for the Westerners—who are the football men of Lubbock Senior High school.

Such training trips are not unusual. They have become the accepted thing. It is proper that they should be, because at least 90 per cent of the serious injuries on football fields are to boys who have lacked proper training. Likewise they are a proper recognition for the boys themselves.

While it is true that they get more than enough ego-satisfying pleasure and benefit to reward their efforts, it also is a fact that teams of the type which have represented Lubbock for the last several years have been a distinct community asset.

ENTHUSIASM for football is so great that a publicized campaign to raise funds for expenses of the camping trip probably would have gone over in a big way. And it would have been a more deserving campaign than many that have been waged to "reward" individual winners of pennant winning baseball clubs—individuals drawing salaries better than those of the average wellpaid workman.

But in this case, there has been no public appeal. A few fans, many of them former Westerners, have kicked in with contributions with no more appeal to them than the simple statement that the trip was planned. The boys themselves are helping along with contributions of $5 each which has been made an elastic requirement as an evidence of individual loyalty.

PLANNINGS for the camp also have brought to the fore a policy by our new city school superintendent which will appeal to our citizens. W. B. Irvin, the superintendent, states emphatically that he is opposed to drives for funds of any and every kind unless they are so absolutely necessary as to be obvious. It's a pretty good guess that there will be little hat passing while he is the school boss—thus continuing a policy Lubbock long has enjoyed and which many cities have not.

"Up to 16," says that Man on Avenue Q, "a boy may be a Boy Scout; then he becomes a girl scout."

JUST an observation or two about the pharmaceutical convention which came to a close Thursday. Lubbock hotel officials report that their income or the two big days was larger than for any corresponding mid-week period in years. . . . Mrs. C. W. (Marge) Ratliff, quotes an observer as remarking that never has she seen a convention gathering where faces reflected such contentment . . . J. H. Brock, assistant manager of the chamber of commerce who handled much of the detail of preparations, says it was one of the most "satisfactory" conventions with which he ever has been associated—and he has been associated with dozens of them over a considerable span of years. . . . And may we add for The Plainsman and the citizens of Lubbock, it has been a pleasure and a privilege to entertain a group of visitors as fine as those who attended the convention.

"Flame Trail"

BY MARIE DE NERVAUD
(Copyright, 1937, Marie De Nervaud)

SYNOPSIS: Kay Crandon impulsively hires Ted Gayner, a jobless puncher. He helps her fight Josh Hastings, a "friendly" neighbor who wants Kay and her ranch. Ted and Scrap Johnson, a cowhand who molests Kay, shoot it out, wounding each other. Hastings sneaks up and kills Scrap with Ted's gun. Ted is arrested and tried for murder, but Kay stops the trial by technical protest. Ted escapes and rescues Kay from Hastings' cellar lockup. Then he goes to aid Marion, who saved his life with her nursing. Her father, a firebug, has disappeared; Ted hunts him. A forest fire rages as Kay reaches Marion's cabin.

Chapter 48
Fire Claims Its Own

In a few broken words, Marion related how her father had come back after his mysterious absence, and how she had discovered that he was the firebug that everyone was hunting.

"He didn't know what he was doing," she moaned. "For a whole year he hasn't been himself. He collapsed, after he got back, and for several days he was as helpless as a baby. Then, he suddenly began raving, and declaring that he must get back to his fire. It was awful! He talked as though the fire was a child! Again and again, he would say, 'It's calling me! It needs me! Let me go!'"

Marion buried her face in her hands, and Kay put her arms around her in silent sympathy.

"Time after time," Marion went on, "he'd try to get up and go, but he was too weak. I counted on that to save him until his frenzy should pass over. But one evening, when I had gone out for water, I came back to find him gone."

"How terrible! What did you do?"

"I acted like a crazy thing, I guess," Marion answered. "I ran in every direction, calling until my voice went completely. I never dared get too far from here, for fear he would come back and not find me. After searching all night, I gave up. There was nothing to do but wait. It was the next night that Ted appeared after I had about decided that I would just head out at random for the fire. I'd gathered a general idea of where it was, and I was crazy enough to do anything. Ted brought me back to my senses, and said he would go after my father himself, if I would promise to wait here. It's too soon to expect news, I suppose, but it's terrible, waiting without word of any kind."

For some time, the two girls clung together, the thought of each filled with foreboding for her own loved one.

"Don't you think we ought to go and try to find them?" Kay said at last.

Marion shook her head. "Terrible as it is to wait, I'm sure it's the only thing to do, I promised, and somehow I have faith that Ted will get back. They might need our help desperately, and if we started out, we'd be almost sure to miss them."

"I'll stay with you, then," Kay declared. "I promised Ted to stay in hiding from Josh Hastings until the trial, and I can do that here as well as anywhere. Then if . . . I mean, when," she corrected herself with a catch in her voice, "he comes back, I'll be able to see him before he gives himself up."

Marion's face lighted up with the first real smile Kay had seen on it. "Ted told me how wonderful you were," she said, "and I guess he was about right."

Kay gave a violent dissenting shake of her head, but her heart sang with reckless happiness that not even her fears could dispell.

Duty Despite Risk

When Ted left Marion on his quest for her father, he pointed down the south ridge, heading for the faint distant glow that illumined the southern sky. It was a cloudy night, but no stars were needed to guide him to the fire.

He did not minimize to himself the danger of going into the fire fighting region, where he would be almost sure to run across someone who would recognize him. But he never questioned his duty in the matter.

Marion had saved his life. It was up to him to save her father if he could, without regard to his own safety. There was a slender chance that in the excitement of the fire his presence would pass unheeded, if not unnoticed, and it was up to him to do his best for Marion.

Obviously, the strength of his position in the trial would be greatly diminished if he was captured, instead of giving himself up, but that was no longer the main consideration. He reflected bitterly that nothing much mattered, anyway, now that he knew his love for Kay could never come to anything, blighted as it was, by the knowledge of her treachery.

Marion, at least, had been true, so he owed all his effort to her. He could hear again Marion's indignant incredulity when he had told her of Kay's betrayal. But her violent repudiation of Kay as being unworthy of him was cold comfort.

Hour after hour passed as Ted pushed his way south. He could get a better idea of the extent of the conflagration now, and he marveled how it could ever have had such a start. Marion's father must have spent several days penetrating to the spot where he had first set the blaze. The place had been chosen with diabolical cleverness, as far as remoteness was concerned.

At last Ted reached the final ridge but one that separated him from the fire, and he drew up with an exclamation at the magnificence and terror of the wholesale destruction.

It must have been three miles or so away with an intervening lower ridge that from this point of vantage in no way obstructed the view. Even at this distance, the whole scene was lighted up, and the air was filled with smoke and the bitter sweet smell of burning pines.

Ted could see where they were fighting it on the western flank, and trying to restrict the front by pinching it out. It was a practically hopeless task, as the fire had undoubtedly originated as a crown fire, and they always proved almost impossible to put out.

For the moment, the wind had died down, and it almost looked as though the impossible had a chance of achievement. The immediate problem for Ted, however, was not the putting out of the fire, but the finding of Marion's father.

Knowing how Old Man Howell was carried away by his frenzied craze, Ted hadn't a doubt but that he was somewhere in the thick of the fire fighting, gloating with all a madman's cunning, while he seemed to be helping to put it out.

The question was, which flank had he chosen? Deciding that the western one seemed more spectacular, Ted headed down the slope, and plunged into the canyon that divided it from the lower intervening ridge.

He worked his way along, urging his mount in spite of his increasing restiveness around windfalls and up the slope, slippery with pine needles. He tried to figure out how long it would be before this, too, would be ablaze.

A Fatal 'Blaze-Fire'

Finally Ted topped the intervening ridge and paused again, estimating the blaze to be at least a 50- or 75-mile fire. He decided to leave his mount here. Swinging to the ground, he tethered his horse to a tree and walked to a bare ledge of rock from which he could see the whole panorama.

As he watched, he suddenly saw a blaze spring up not half a mile away, and a long distance from the main conflagration. He muttered a horrified oath, realizing he was witnessing that rare and terrible phenomenon, a "blaze-fire." Generated from the heat around it, a dry part will sometimes explode and burst into flames. From this kind of fire, no one ever gets out to tell the tale.

Recognizing that this new development would probably eventually doom the ridge on which he was standing, Ted nevertheless could not resist the temptation to run down for a nearer view. There also was the chance that he could be of assistance to anyone who might have been caught on the outskirts of the sudden explosion.

As he ran down the slope, he saw, outlined against the flames, a man stagger a few steps and then pitch headlong to the ground. He raced to him, bent over the prostrate form and instantly recognized Marion's father from the description she had given. The gray hair and bushy eyebrows were singed and he was badly burned about the face and hands.

Opening his eyes, he stared straight at Ted, his labored breathing coming in slower and slower gasps. Suddenly, with an incredible display of strength, he pushed Ted aside and rose to his feet. He faltered for a moment, then fell with a crash to the ground.

One look at the staring eyes, and Ted knew that his quest was ended. He stood still a moment, gazing at the pathetic figure at his feet. Should he try to take the body back to Marion?

With a shudder, he turned away. No, it would be cruel to take back that body, burned and disfigured at it was! Better for Marion to picture her father as she had always known him, and to think of him as having perished in the element that, in his madness, had held such a compelling lure for him.

How much better it was, after all, than to have him live, and face either imprisonment or an insane asylum for life! Ted looked down again at all that was left of Marion's father, lost for a moment in musing on the strangeness of life and death, and the fitness of the end that had overtaken this poor old man.

Ted captures his enemy, Josh Hastings, Monday.

THE EXPERIMENT STATION'S COMING PARTY

Don Jones, the big boss of the state experiment station over across Yellowhouse Canyon, announces his annual show for Friday, August 27. He'll stage his annual field day then.

The state experiment station has been doing a wonderful work these past years with sub-stations over the state. The Lubbock station is by no means the least; in fact it ranks well up to the top of the list.

Of course, reports from station superintendents are compiled and later published, generally within a year or so after the experiment. That frequently is a little late for practical farmers to take advantage of the information.

But the boys who want to know first-hand what Don is doing should drop out there on August 27th. It might not be a bad idea for some of the town boys, who left the farm many years ago, to visit the station that day too, and get an idea or two of modern agriculture. It is as modern as merchandising. If you don't believe it, visit the station, or Texas Tech's division of agriculture.

A Thought . .

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 20.—All over the lot:

Movie fans will see something that the nation's wrestling fans never have glimpsed—the face of the "Masked Marvel," mystery man of the tug-and-grunt industry. His name is Leo Numa, and he wrestles Gordon Jones in the comedy called, "Fight for Your Lady." Of course he appears under a different name, and without his mask, but it's no secret around the set that this is the fellow who so carefully guarded his identity in the big leagues of mat mayhem.

Says Director Ben Stoloff: "I guarantee that the wrestling in this picture will be just as much on the up-and-up as the professional wrestling you see anywhere. It's all carefully prearranged, rehearsed, and then performed."

Gregory Ratoff recently bought a huge black automobile which at first glance was reminiscent of a hearse. It is now, anyway. While it was parked on the Fox lot the other day some of the actor-director's pals attached six shiny coffin handles to the exterior, together with a brass name plate and incidental decorations of funeral wreaths.

Ah! Some Modesty!

In special quarters on a remote corner of the United Artists lot, members of Balanchine's American ballet are rehearsing daily.

So secluded are their lives because of their rigid training routine that they know nothing of Hollywood, but Hollywood comes to them. Stars and chorus girls and local dance directors visit their mirrored studio to watch them work. The ballet girls look strange because, instead of bathing suits or scanty shorts, they wear full-length black wool tights. These prevent leg cramps and also preserve modesty.

Said one: "I'd feel awfully nude even in some of the clothes that Hollywood girls wear on the streets."

In an attempt to restore Burgess Meredith's memory in "Don't Forget to Remember," Ann Sothern decides to crack him on the head with a pitcher. For the closeups, they had to have a real china pitcher, but for the actual bopping of Mr. Meredith, the studio prop shop provided replicas cast in lightweight plaster.

Meredith himself had joked about the possibility of a substitution as he compared the heavy pitcher and an imitation—and it was he who put the real one on a table for Miss Sothern to grab. Knocked him stiff as a poker. The scene wasn't satisfactory, either, because the pitcher didn't break.

Hot Under The Fur Collar

This isn't what you'd call football weather; it's the time when the studios must film their gridiron pictures. On the Ritz Brothers' flicker, "Life Begins at College," scores of co-ed chorines are heavily muffled against what is supposed to be the biting November air. In fur coats, they cheer and sing and perspire until Director William Seiter calls "Cut." What happens then is startling. Every girl removes her coat and is seen to be wearing nothing else but the skimpiest of sun-suits.

For a scene in "Stand-In," Leslie Howard is kissing Joan Blondell.

That's about all he is doing, too, because he can't remember the lines which are supposed to follow the clinch. Tries three times and is unable to carry on. Director Tay Garnett calls to an assistant: "Telephone Dick Powell and have him come right over. I think this guy is faking."

Howard blushes, everyone laughs, and they try the scene again. This time Howard remembers his lines.

Sleeping Sickness Is Being Found Among Many Horses

FLOYDADA, Aug. 20 (Special)—Encephalitis, commonly known as sleeping sickness, has been found among many horses in Floyd county, according to reports received by B. B. Gulley of Floydada.

Many cases are southwest, west and northwest of Floydada and none had been seen further east than Center by Gulley.

Reports from Petersburg and other places in Hale county indicated the disease is widespread among horses of that area.

Veterinarians in this vicinity have been busy answering calls. Several horses have died.

The sickness does not tally in some respects with symptoms of sleeping sickness, but in others the diagnosis is almost exactly the same as in 1933, when state veterinarians came here to assist in checking the disease.

Who Called 'Em 'The Melancholy Days?

Too Many Blocs Block Legislation, Dutcher Says, Pointing To Many Stumbling Blocks

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20. — The trouble in Congress, according to one member, is that a bloc of blocs is blocking each other.

Certainly a half dozen and more blocs have taken definite form in the last few weeks and it is necessary to have some knowledge of what they are and what they mean in order to understand even partially Capitol Hill at this season.

Dutcher

Here are some of the blocs as they are regarded in Congress with special reference to the House, but applying in general to the Senate:

1. The Southern bloc. As far as the administration is concerned, this one is a fly in nearly every New Deal ointment. The group met recently as a "common bloc" and several members argued that there must be no wage and hour law unless the government first provided cotton loans. Congressman Wright Patman of Texas arose to ask whether the group would accept the wage-hour bill even if it did get cotton loans, and the consensus was that it guessed it wouldn't.

2. The wage-hour bloc, led by Congressman Arthur D. Healy of Massachusetts and including about a dozen determined congressmen as well as others from the urban North and Northwest.

3. The "reactionary bloc." This includes both Republicans and Democrats who don't want anything of any sort passed. The group includes men such as Cox of Georgia, Hoffman of Michigan, Pettengill of Indiana, Taber of New York, and perhaps a score more.

4. The new "prairie states" bloc. This includes relatively radical Western progressives and the group seeks controlled production, fixed farm prices, or an ever-normal granary scheme with plenty of crop loan money. This bloc is willing to blackmail or play with any other group which wants something, including the liberal bloc or wage-hour bloc. (Certain of these blocs overlap each other.)

5. The liberal bloc, led by Maury Maverick of Texas. It represents actually about 25 members who will stand solidly together plus about 30 more who sometimes show up at meetings. Its chief aim is to get other blocs together as far as possible and pass everything on the administration program.

6. The big city bloc, which suddenly has begun to take form among congressmen from New York, Chicago, and other large cities. It swears vengeance on the Southern bloc because the latter group made such a mess of the housing bill. Some members are for the wage-hour bill and some not, but most of them stand together for relief appropriations and pro-labor measures.

The other blocs, such as the lobby-controlled "sugar bloc" and the large group of Western farm congressmen who don't want crop control legislation because of an anticipated bumper American crop in the face of world scarcity.

South Would Rule

The Southern bloc is the most powerful, partly because it dominates most of the Senate and House committees. It demands cotton loans, but doesn't want crop control which Roosevelt demands as collateral. Demands run all the way from 10 to 15 cents a pound. Some Southern members represent mills or speculators.

The Southern bloc, which has been successful in killing or mutilating most proposed legislation, wants to control the government and ward off any federal legislation which might interfere with the South's economic system. Its power is enhanced by support of conservative Republicans.

The liberal bloc has been discouraged by Roosevelt's loss of the court fight and other defeats, but pleased with Senator Black's appointment to the Supreme court. It hasn't worked effectively, being vastly outnumbered.

TERRACING PAYS PROFIT

POST, (Special) — Avery Moore, jr., a farmer of the Barnum Springs community, reported to County Agent J. W. Potts that terracing and contouring of land has paid him well. He pastures 48 animals on his sudan pasture.

In comparison with human eyes, the eyes of most birds are telescopic. A small grain particle, hardly distinguishable by a person standing a yard away from it, is seen 100 yards by some birds.

Mexican Hairless Dog Proves Too Tough For A Coyote

EAGLE PASS, Aug. 20 (AP) — The southwestern coyote is reputed to be able to digest anything it can chew, but Jim Lane, bus operator here, believes the Mexican hairless, or "pelon," dog is a bit too tough for the tawney scavenger.

While fishing five miles north of here recently a coyote seized Lane's hairless dog, "Peachy," which had wandered from camp, and dragged it into the brush. Lane and his companions searched unsuccessfully until after dark for the missing pet, resuming the hunt the next day. After combing the brush, Lane said, the party returned to the campsite and found "Peachy" sitting near the spot from where the coyote had been seen to seize it.

It apparently was unharmed and Lane said the coyote either attempted to adopt it in place of a lost pup, or found "Peachy" too tough for a meal, probably the latter.

SELLS POLO PONY

BROWNFIELD, (Special) — A polo pony belonging to Leslie Green, county commissioner, has been sold to northern buyers, the owner said. The pony brought Green $350. He is training two other ponies that will be ready for market in the near future.

Since 1920 there have been 10 per cent more men teachers and only 6 per cent more women teachers in the public elementary schools of the United States.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

HANDKERCHIEFS, as we know them today, are a comparatively recent addition to man's wardrobe. At one time, before the days of dentistry, ladies carried dainty lace handkerchiefs to hide their decayed teeth when they smiled. Long before that, however, fox tails were carried, as combination handkerchiefs and fans.

ternoon when Chinese airbombers and artillery struck savagely at Japanese properties on both sides of the Whangpoo river.

Fourth To Be Killed

The sailor casulty was the fourth American to be killed in the eight days of war in Shanghai. Three United States citizens died last Saturday when misplaced Chinese air bombs wrecked buildings in the international area and killed more than a thousand persons.

American property suffered heavily as the battle for Shanghai, in its second week, became increasingly destructive of life and wealth.

A large section of the Hongkew district to the north was burning furiously. This section, now largely Japanese, was the American concession for a few years in the nineteenth century.

Among the buildings reported destroyed in Hongkew was a paint factory belonging to the American Sherwin-Williams company.

The fires spread with no effort to check them, for the fire companies of the international settlement had all been withdrawn from the battle zone, which most of Hongkew has become.

The war came closer to Americans in Shanghai as Japanese shells fell on the border of the French concession — where most American residents have their homes.

Independent reports from the battle area said Chinese had not yielded an inch of their gains, and that the Chinese attack had split the Japanese lines.

Dreaded Cholera Epidemic Threatening Hongkong; Vaccine Is Rushed There

(By The Associated Press)

HONGKONG, Aug. 20—Enought vaccine to innoculate 250,000 persons was rushed here tonight by airplane and steamer to combat a cholera epidemic that has caused almost 200 deaths along the south China coast.

The spreading plague created a new peril for thousands of Asiatic, British and other refugees fleeing the war danger in northern China.

The liner Rajputana, carrying the first British refugees from Shanghai, docked here today in pouring rain to find the city already packed with South China and Formosa refugees and in the grip of a cholera epidemic.

Because of the epidemic, inoculation of all new arrivals was enforced before landing. Afterward they were taken to quarters provided by the government.

The epidemic threatened to shut the door of one of the best havens, the Crown colony destination of many refugees already on the seas from Shanghai.

Outbreaks of the disease occurred here and on the mainland at Macao, a Portuguese colony, and at Canton, China, up the Pearl river.

Health officers said the number of cases were increasing at an alarming rate.

There have been 101 deaths in Hongkong in the past two weeks. Eighty-two of 136 reported victims died last week and 19 the week before.

The vaccine was shipped from Singapore, British Straits settlement colony, to supplement 600 pounds of the serum sent here on China National Airways corporation planes.

The serum from Singapore, it was believed, would amount to more than 300 quarts.

Attention Stenos! "Sweet Tempered" Typewriter To Make You Wild With Envy; Punch It Hard And It Never Gets Riled

NEW YORK, Aug. 20 (AP) — Invention of a "sweet tempered" typewriter has been announced by Joseph Spiel Vogel of Newark, N. J.

No matter how angry you are when you use it, the machine refuses to get riled.

Punch the keys as hard as you will, but the typewriter keeps putting the letters down on the paper at the same even-tempered, undisturbed pace.

Each Letter The Same

The machine is enough to make a stenographer wild with envy. It taps each letter so that every word is as black as the next one. It pushes the "I" key more lightly than the "W," for if the two fell with equal, weight the "I" would be darker than the "W."

The invention prints type similar to that of a printing press.

Instead of giving each letter the same amount of space, as is the case on conventional typewriter keys, the device with the unruffled temper varies the space to suit the size of the letters, as in standard type.

Prints Bold Face

It prints bold face type when the proper control is adjusted.

A complete newspaper, except for headlines, could be produced on the typewriter, Spiel Vogel said, for it automatically spaces the type to bring each line out even at the right as well as at the left margin.

Spiel Vogel said he had obtained permission from the federal government to license prospective manufacturers of the invention.

Spiel Vogel is the man who three years ago invented stretchable paper. If the lines you typed didn't come out even, you could stretch them until they did.

They were named Nancy Lee and Sally Ann.

Nancy Lee was promised a spanking "because she caused all the trouble."

Resettlement Officials To Gather Sunday In College Station For Conference On Improving Service To Texas Farmers

DALLAS, Aug. 20 (Special) — Rural Rehabilitation workers of the Resettlement administration in Texas, numbering several hundred, will gather at College Station Sunday to begin a week's conference on methods of improving services which they are now rendering to more than 30,000 Texas farm families.

Organized into small committees, the workers will get together Sunday afternoon to study specific problems, and prepare reports which will be discussed later before the entire body. County supervisors throughout the state have already received a long list of questions for preliminary study.

To Discuss Living Standards

Standards of living which shall be set up for borrowers opens one broad field of discussion. In previous years, plans have not covered such items as essential clothing, household equipment and insurance. Clothing has been provided largely through non-repayable grants and distribution of "surplus commodities" from the relief administration. In other cases, loan funds set up for something else have been diverted to buy such necessities. Supervisors have been asked to suggest means by which these diversions, and need for grants and surplus commodities may be reduced to a minimum.

A subject that has to do with the temperament and traditional independence of the American farmer is opened with the question: "To what extent are supervisors responsible for seeing that feed, food and money crops are produced according to plans outlined?" It is noted that many families neglect their gardens until all field crops have been planted and cultivated. Workers are asked to outline methods of convincing the family of the importance of giving first consideration to the garden.

To Talk Lease Relationships

Landlord-tenant relationships, and the extent to which tenants financed by RA should be encouraged to make improvements on their property, is another subject of special interest. This will cover means of obtaining a lease for longer than one year, and when such a lease is made, assurance to the landlord that the tenant will be financed for the longer period.

The conference will be under general leadership of Paul V. Maris, acting for the regional director of RA; C. M Evans, assistant regional director; and V. R. Smitham, state director of rural rehabilitation. This is the first time that the annual rural rehabilitation conference has been held at College Station, that location being chosen in order to facilitate cooperation with the A. and M. College agencies. Dr. T. O. Walton, president of the college, and members of his staff, will address the gathering at various times during the sessions, which will last through Friday.

C. M. Evans, assistant director of the Resettlement administration in Texas and Oklahoma, and V. R. Smitham, state director of rural rehabilitation, will lead discussion among several hundred rural rehabilitation workers who gather Sunday for week's conference at College Station.

Tyler's School Children May Be Fingerprinted If Consent Is Given By Their Parents

TYLER, Aug. 20 (AP)—If parents approve, Tyler's 7,000 school children will be fingerprinted when they start to school this fall.

The city safety council proposed and the school board approved such a plan to thwart any possible recurrence of the confusion arising from the New London school explosion this spring. In that tragedy many identifications were difficult to establish.

Superintendent of Schools John Hodges said the plan would go into effect if parents agreed and that he expected little opposition inasmuch as the idea was to protect the children.

The council said the prints would be sent to Washington for permanent filing. The plan contemplates eventual fingerprinting of every person in the city.

Hollywood Lure Is Too Strong For Kids; Search Is Started

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 20 (AP)—Two missing girls from out of state were hunted here today on the theory movie glamor had attracted them to Hollywood.

Police were asked to look for Miss Naomi Caldwell, 17, of Royalty, Texas, by her mother, Mrs. Ruth Caldwell.

From Hyde Park, Mass., a peace officer, W. J. Hodgkinson, wrote that his 13-year-old daughter, Elizabeth, had left a note saying she "was going to hitch hike across the continent."

Meanwhile, two boyish runaways, who came here expressly to see Gene Autrey, film cowboy, had their wish satisfied when Autrey visited them at Juvenile hall. The boys, Robert Ray, 19, of Shreveport, La., and Marvin Alvey, 15, of Abilene, Tex., will be sent home by the Travelers' Aid society.

Democrats In Annual Meet

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 20—Young Democrats of America swung into an important portion of their third biennial convention here today, with addresses by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Postmaster General James A. Farley and James Roosevelt headlining the program.

Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, will go before the convention's closing session tomorrow.

Election On Saturday

Prior to the addresses, delegates concentrated on possibilities in the election tomorrow. Stock of Alvin C. Johnson, Indianapolis attorney and head of the Indiana Young Democrats, boomed following official announcement of his candidacy last night.

Friends of Pitt Tyson Maner of Montgomery, Ala., continued to maintain the young southerner "has the presidency in his pocket."

Others in the field are Paul A. Williams of Columbia, Mo.; Thomas N. Logan of Covington, Ky.; Robert Campbell of Wichita, Kas.; Judge Charles Bliss of Taylorville, Ill.; Lockwood Thompson of Cleveland, O.; Wilford Peebles of Youngstown, O.; and Floyd Harper, Tipton county (Ind), prosecuting attorney.

Seattle, Wash., appeared to have the edge for the 1939 convention after delegates from ten far western states voted that city their support. Other cities seeking the meeting included Pittsburgh, Pa.; Omaha, Neb.; Chicago, Philadelphia and Richmond, Va.

Connally Supports Aid For Farmers

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20 (AP) — Senator Tom Connally of Texas declared today "it is a matter of simple justice that the cotton producer who bears the burdens of the protective tariff should receive some benefit payment to offset the tribute the tariff law exacts of him."

He made a radio speech in support of the plan to loan farmers 9 or 10 cents per pound on cotton and pay them a subsidy equal to the difference between that figure and 12 cents.

"The price of cotton is fixed in a world free market where our farmers must compete with growers from other sections of the world," said Connally, "and can not be aided effectively by a protective tariff. However, he pays the protective tariff duty on articles he consumes and the implements with which he farms.

"Since the cotton farmer can receive no benefit from the tariff . . . it is only just and fair that he receive compensation or benefit payment to partially offset tariff burdens placed upon him by the federal government."

Former Littlefield Man Writes Of Customs In Venezuela

LITTLEFIELD, Aug. 20 (Special)—E. C. Ross, former resident of Littlefield, from Venezuela, South America, writes of customs of the natives. He is constructing houses for oil workers.

"There were no roads or railroads when I came, nothing but a dense forest full of alligators, monkeys and boa-constrictors. The oil camp was built on stilts over the Maracaibo lake. There was no way of transportation except by boat and mule train. The natives wore very little clothing, slept in hammocks in trees and lived on wild fruit.

"Now the oil company is building modern houses for them. Conditions are much better. There are 100 miles of good oiled roads, cars, trucks and machinery of all kinds, radios, club houses and picture shows."

Frank R. McNinch Nominated As Communications Commissioner

Jim Ferguson Lauds New Deal But Is Silent On Ma's Plans

QUITMAN, Aug. 20 (AP)—Former Governor James E. Ferguson, stood staunchly behind President Roosevelt today but was quiet on his wife's political intentions.

He spoke here yesterday at the Wood County Old Settlers' union, and in a speech he insisted was non-political endorsed New Deal policies, aid for tenant farmers and old-age pensions to persons over 65.

Of the President, Ferguson said "maybe he has made mistakes, but he has done something and I am for him." The Roosevelt administration may have wasted money, he said, but "I had rather see money thrown away than to hear the cry of a single hungry baby or the moan of a grief-stricken mother."

Brownfield Schools Show Rapid Growth

BROWNFIELD, Aug. 20, (Special)—Increase in enrollment from 900 to 1,200 pupils and addition of nine teachers to the school faculty as compared with last year is cited by M. L. H. Base, school superintendent, as evidence of rapid growth here.

Extensive renovation has been effected on desks and furniture during the summer, and clean, shiny desks will be used by pupils when they return to their books after the vacation.

G. D. Holbrook, deputy state superintendent, recently met with the Brownfield school board and advised the necessity of additional teachers to insure the scholastic status of the high school, stating that crowded conditions in some of the school rooms would lead eventually to suspension of the high school from affiliated rating if allowed to continue. Some teachers in the grades last year had as many as 60 pupils, but, with the new additions, no teacher will have more than 35 or 40 this year, according to Superintendent Base.

Renner Is Appointed Head Of Group; Notice Is Received

Notification of his appointment as chairman of the livestock committee of the Texas State Manufacturers' association has been received by K. M. Renner, head of the department of dairy manufacturing at Texas Technological college.

Renner received notice of his appointment from Porter A. Whaley, executive vice-president and general manager of the association. He was recommended for the place at the annual meeting of the association in San Antonio in June.

Purpose of the association is to correlate agriculture and industry and to promote use of Texas agricultural and livestock products in Texas industries. Renner said next year the committee of which he is chairman would cooperate with other committees in setting up more rigid standards for Texas products that go into goods manufactured in the state.

Renner's appointment has come as a result of his work in the grading and standardizing of dairy products.

OPEN NEW CAFE

BROWNFIELD, (Special) — A new cafe will be opened here soon by Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Oliver. The building, formerly occupied by Mack's grill, is being remodeled.

The first United States coin ever issued was minted in New York in 1787. It was a "Franklin penny" executed by a local coppersmith named Jarvis.
