THE HARRISON-THOMAS-FLETCHER BILL

"We hold these truths to be self-evident," proclaims our Declaration of Independence, "that all men are created equal—", but no one has ever contended that the environments into which men are born, and which influence their lives so overwhelmingly are equal. It should be one of the aims of the schools in a Democracy to lessen these differences, but at the present time our schools are actually accentuating them, because these schools range from excellent down to the very, very poor.

The Harrison-Thomas-Fletcher bill, now before Congress, is the result of a country-wide study of our educational systems. It revealed deplorable conditions. The bill (S.419, H. R. 10340) provides federal funds "for the purpose of lessening inequalities of opportunity for elementary and secondary education, among States and within States." Surely this is in line with our ideals, especially as the sovereignty of the several states has been carefully preserved. All who believe in giving every American child a chance to secure a fair elementary and high school education should write to the President of the United States, to the Chairman of the Education Committee of the House and to his own Senator and Congressman, in support of this bill. Is any one worthy to be called an American if he would deny the boys and girls of our country this simple service?

ALUMINUM FOR SPEED ON LAND, AIR AND WATER

RECIPE! — Take an ordinary stock automobile engine, "aluminumize" it and you have a powerplant for a speedboat, a race car or an airplane. One of the methods for obtaining the gains in speed and performance noted in racing automobile, marine and airplane powerplants is the improvement in efficiency made possible by more complete use of aluminum.

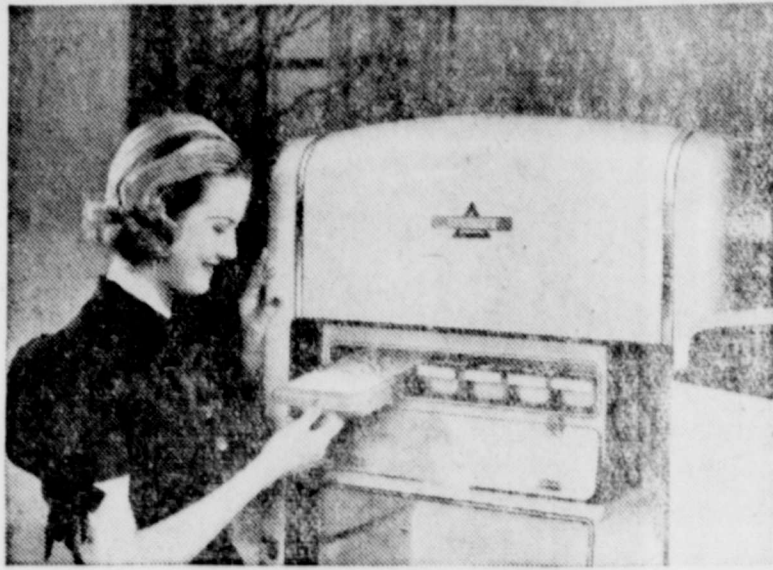

David E. Anderson, Chief Engineer of Bohn Aluminum points out how this super performance is obtained. In the manner of engineers, he explains it with curves. Referring to the diagram above, Curve A is an ordinary 75 horsepower automobile engine. Curve B shows the horsepower obtained by simply adding an aluminum cylinder head and boosting the compression a bit. Curve C includes the aluminum head with dual instead of single carburetion.

A better combustion chamber boosted the horsepower up to 110 as shown in Curve D. With a still better combustion chamber and improved timing and using an Autothermic piston the horsepower was pushed up to 114 as shown by Curve E. This is the engine used in the speedboat, airplane and race car illustrated in the insets in this picture.

Anderson points out that with the aluminum cylinder head and with the Autothermic type of piston, it is possible to use a compression ratio and ignition timing which produce performance far beyond that possible with the original cast iron unit. This means more horsepower from the same size engine or equal horsepower from a smaller and more compact engine. All of the major performance records are obtained with engines which employ aluminum cylinder heads and pistons. For performance beyond the usual it is necessary to have a high ratio of power to weight, engineers explain.

NEW KEROSENE REFRIGERATOR

The latest models in Kerosene Refrigerators May Be Seen At The Boyd Bros. Store in Burkburnett

Br-r-r! When It's Hot It's Cold

Friends of Tom Boyd have been remarking about the change that has come over him.

"Like a kid with a new toy," they say, and although it's a far cry from a toy, the thing in which he is so much interested is as intriguing as any of those modern talking, walking, squawking mechanical contraptions that bring shouts of glee from youngsters.

"But there's nothing mechanical about this," he tells you. "It has no moving parts or machinery to get out of order, and it's almost like magic, the way it makes ice from oil heat."

Right. It's a refrigerator. Not an ordinary refrigerator, yet not a new idea, he will tell you, but a new model of the modern kerosene-burning refrigerator which for the last ten years has been bringing delight to so many rural residents—even those who live miles from other conveniences.

"Do you wonder that I am enthusiastic?" he asked as he handed us this photograph of the sleek new model. We don't. Would you?

Of course, it's the refrigerator we're talking about, not the young lady "model" shown beside it—but she's passing fair, too, don't you think? And not so cold—even if she is demonstrating the large ice cubes and desert-freezing capacity of the refrigerator.

Give The Bricks

Listen to the children: "Who's afraid of the big bad wolf?" That's all very well, but suppose there are millions of children instead of three little pigs, and more than one bad wolf, to be considered. This is the fact at the present time, and the children are in need of bricks with which to build themselves strong houses.

Who will deny that a good

Right Beauty; Wrong College

Chosen as "the only beautiful girl" at the University of Chicago, Miss Joy Hawley, graduate and former beauty of Texas State College for Women, turned up to be enrolled in Northwestern University, where she has already been named a 1938 beauty.

The mix-up began when a Chicago U. magazine stated, "There hasn't been a really beautiful woman around here since Lina, Egypt reared her skirts on the World's Fair midway in 1937." To debunk the article, Chicago boys went down to the photographers and with the help of those prominent judges selected what they thought was the picture of a Chicago co-ed.

Great was the elation of the C. U. student body when their triumph choice turned out to be a Northwestern girl. Miss Hawley is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Hawley of Denton, Texas.

a law. Then write to your own Senator and Congressman. If you and others neglect to do this, the children may get no bricks. Then when the wolf-like winds "huff and puff" and blow their poor little houses in, one moment of regret will be more wearisome than many hours of effort now spent in persuading neighbors and friends to write those letters or postcards. Of course the children have perfect faith in you and in everything else that is American. Hear them: "Who's afraid of the big bad wolf!"

May 15, Final Signup Date of New Program

May 15 has been set as the final date for accepting farm work sheets and application for range inspection under the 1938 AAA program, according to George Slaughter, Wharton, chairman of the Texas Agricultural Conservation Committee.

The work sheets constitute a record of various acreages on farms while the range applications are requests for inspection. These two forms are the first steps farmers and ranchmen take if they want to take part in the Agricultural Conservation Program, and farms and ranches will not be eligible to enter the program unless these forms are filled out, signed, and tendered to the offices of county agricultural agents or to committeemen prior to the final signup date, Slaughter said.

May 15th was selected by the state committee in a recent session at Texas A. and M. College, and the date has been approved by I. W. Duggan, director of the Southern Region of AAA.

Slaughter emphasized that a farm covered by a work sheet in 1937 or since did not need a new work sheet unless the ownership had been changed or the farm divided. Ranches which will be entered in the 1938 range conservation program must be covered by a 1938 application regardless of the 1937 status.

Road Improvement
 Congress has authorized $200,000,000 for road improvement and grade-crossing elimination for the next fiscal year. Approval of primary construction programs have already been granted to 25 States and 17 others for secondary roads, both to be matched by States.

FSCC Will Buy Dry Skim Milk
 The AAA announced that Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation has made awards for the purchase of 91 cars (3,642,000 pounds) of roller process skim milk under the dairy products purchase program. These awards are in addition to the awards granted early in March for the purchase of 5,000,000 lbs. of spray process dry skim milk. The milk will be allocated to relief agencies.

Relief and Taxes
 The Appropriations Committee is now hearing testimony on relief needs of the country. The President has already stated clearly his views on this important question. From the testimony we are hearing, it is evident the President's views are very conservative concerning the relief needs for the immediate future.

The conference committee will report the compromise tax bill this Thursday. The agreement reached retained practically the House provision on undistributed profits and the Senate provision on capital gains, together with additional cushions and loop holes to protect chiselers and tax dodgers, added in the Senate.

Wage and Hour
 The Wage and Hour Bill, Senate 2475 was reported by the House Labor Committee by a vote of 14 to 4 and after bitter debate the Rules Committee refused to give this legislation a rule by a vote of 8 to 6. Five Democrats and three Republicans constituting the majority against granting a rule. Unless the Committee favorably reports this legislation by Thursday, a discharge petition will be filed to force this legislation before the House. It is believed the required signatures will be had within a short time should this procedure be necessary.

Anti-Trust Monopoly
 The President sent one of his strongest messages to Congress Friday, clearly setting forth his views regarding monopolies and suggesting a very definite remedy to correct same. The message was well received throughout the nation and practically all are in accord except the monopolies themselves, that the remedy suggested should be speedily enacted into law and of course carried out. ASK THE CITIZENS WHO OWN THEIR OWN AT HOME

Those communities which have been seeing and wise enough to establish municipal light plants will tell of innumerable benefits derived from such projects. They will mention advantages aside from dollars and cents, they will speak of profitable revenue.

In Vernon a recent report shows that sales totaled $59,908.90; in Lubbock amounted to $219,123.84. Both these municipalities have competition, and yet judging revenue alone, the citizens are strong in support of the plants.

They see the wisdom of owning their own at home. Examination of facts in the light of reason, convinces all that citizens are wise to loyally back municipal ownership by PATENT AGE of home-owned light and power plants.

Burkburnett is attempting to arrange matches with Vernon for this week-end, which will

Inspect Your Lights When You Clean House, Advises Expert

By Jean Prentice

THE clean sweep is on. Along about this time of year, regardless of conversation on politics, business or wars, women's minds sooner or later turn to house cleaning.

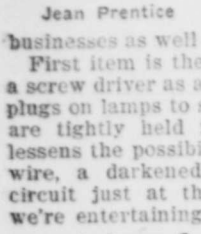

Of course no house cleaning is to be taken lightly. (As is known by any poor husband who has to lug out the mattresses.) But there is such a thing as "light" cleaning. It goes on periodically in many businesses as well as homes.

First item is the inspection, with a screw driver as aid, of all the cord plugs on lamps to see that the wires are tightly held in contact. This lessens the possibility of a loosened wire, a darkened lamp or short-circuit just at the moment when we're entertaining company.

Is Lamp Cord Frayed?

Second item to check is the condition of the lamp cord. If this is frayed, it needs to be mended or replaced with a new one, as protection against possible fire.

Nothing dates a room more quickly than old lamp shades. If new ones are needed, select white-lined ones. They give you more light for your money than dark-lined ones which tend to absorb illumination.

Next we clean the light bulbs in lamps and fixtures, as well as the equipment itself. In many factories bulbs are dusted on a regular schedule, since a dust accumulation cuts down the light output. A damp soft cloth is best for cleaning bulbs, which should not be burning during the process.

Replace Blackened Bulbs

Bulbs that are blackened on the inside should be replaced with new ones. They are now burning less economically than when new, and will soon burn out anyway. Few American-made bulbs of good manufacture blacken very seriously before they go out, but if they do it is probably because they have burned beyond their normal life.

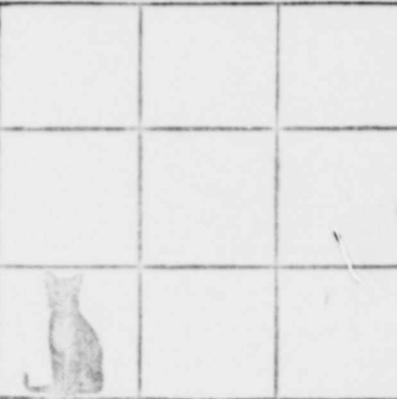

Empty sockets, from which lamps have been taken for some other location, are often a source of irritation when one turns on a switch... and gets no response. Prepare the sockets for use by installing bulbs made by a good manufacturer.

If an old lamp is both an eyesore and a cause of eyestrain now is a good time, when the spirit of change is upon us, to relegate it to the attic and replace it with a scientific, designed lamp.

A Lesson in Zoology—For Drivers

A car is like a cat, according to a new highway safety booklet entitled "Death Begins at 40" recently issued by The Travelers Insurance Company.

It is quiet, except for a low and pleasing purr. Its padded tires are like padded feet. It has powerful eyes that shine at night. And when it is allowed to run wild, it gives an awful screech at the moment before it does its victim to death.

At 25 miles an hour, it is like a pussy-cat. It may scratch you up in an accident, but it isn't likely to kill you. Few fatal accidents, it has been found from official reports, occur at low speeds.

At 50 miles an hour, it is not twice but four times as powerful. Like a bobcat, it is quite able to inflict great damage.

And at 75 miles an hour it is not three times but nine times as powerful as at 25. It is nine times as hard to stop, nine times as hard to turn, nine times as deadly.

Thinking of speed in these terms will help you to keep a lighter toe on the accelerator.

Receiver Named For Big Wichita

Receiver for the state-owned Big Wichita riverbed in Wichita county was asked last week as production in the KMA field came within 330 feet of the river bed.

Such a step was suggested to Attorney General William McCraw by Governor James V. Allred.

The State heretofore has filed suit to cancel the lease which Land Commissioner W. H. McDonald extended to the Ven Mex Oil Company and which Allred asserts was extended without authority.

Miller was named by District Judge J. D. Moore on application of Attorney General William McCraw. He will serve during the trial of the state's case seeking to cancel the lease by the Ven Mex Oil Company.

Land Commissioner W. H. McDonald issued the lease to Ven Mex, and its cancellation was asked by Governor James V. Allred as Chairman of the Board for mineral development on the theory that McDonald had no authority to lease the riverbed. Since the cancellation suit was filed, the KMA field in Wichita County, opening a new deep sand in this area, has approached within 330 feet of the riverbed and the receiver was asked so that wells could be drilled and drainage of state property prevented.

Fight To Make Highways Safe Shows Progress

March traffic crashes brought death to 147 people on Texas streets and highways, state police reported today, raising the 1938 death toll to 434.

Cities, the figures revealed, showed improvement during March when 55 were fatally injured within corporate limits and 88 were highway casualties. Fifteen of the dead reported in March received their fatal injuries during the previous month. Safety Department experts pointed out that only 115 of the 1,123 crashes in March proved fatal and that in a number of instances more than one person was killed.

In analyzing the causes of the increase in the death rate over February when 143 died of traffic injuries, police were prone to believe that spring weather played an important part. Heavily trafficked highways, particularly on week-ends, were the scenes of many of the fatal collisions. There was a sharp rise, too, in the pedestrian death list. Thirty-eight died in March while 25 were killed by automobiles during the previous month.

At dusk—from 7 to 8 p. m.—officers of the safety department said, the majority of the fatal collisions took place. Eleven of the 147 were killed during that hour and 18 met death from mid-night until dawn. State police declared their campaign against speeders is continuing in view of that factor entering into most of the fatal crashes.

A number of unfit drivers have been removed from the highways since the drivers' license law amendment requiring the examination of license applicants was placed in effect several months ago. At least three per cent of those applying for the permits have been refused because of physical, mental or other defects.

Burk Hi Students Study Telepathy

Mathematics long have been noted for their development of the reasoning faculties of the mind, and, when Dr. J. B. Rhine of Duke University evolved a system for detecting mental telepathy, a group of Burkburnett students organized for experimental study.

Dr. Rhine calls it "extra-sensory perception," which means communicating thought by the mind instead of through the known senses. The fact that Duke University, a famed and richly endowed medical center, should recognize telepathy as a regular field of study and offer courses of the subject, is the basis for an elementary study of it in Burkburnett.

A person sees an object in detail but remembers it only as a general shape, thus the use of symbols even since ancient times. One can look at an electric light, close the eyes, and "see" the image of the filament for several seconds. If such is true, it may be possible that a few scientifically chosen symbols be arranged to test the presence of such a thing as telepathy, if it does exist.

As a result, a set of cards has been developed bearing various symbols. There are twenty-five cards in the deck, five each of the following designs: circle, cross, square, star, and wavy lines. These are calculated to represent the primary mental impressions.

Telepathy has always been considered a fake, and the tool of the fortune teller, but if it has good points they should be proven, and if really a fake should be discarded.

Mr. Pommerening and his student helpers do not know whether there is anything to this telepathy business or not, but they are doing some serious study to try to find out. Once a week this group meets and carries on a series of experiments. Included in the group are Jessie Mae Brady, Helen Rhea Dickson, Billie Faye Dudley, Marie Gamble, Desmond Harms, Hubert Ogilvy, John H. Rigby, Shirley Simpson, James Thomas and James Walling. Two of these students demonstrated their experiments to the Lions Club a few weeks ago.

It has been found that bright light causes distraction, while soft light aids concentration on a given image. Furthermore, certain images confuse themselves with others; for example, the cross and the square, the cross and the star, and the circle and wavy lines. This is due to a faulty focus of concentration.

In a test run of the twenty-five card deck, a person should select at least five correct to rate chance. According to university tests any consistent scoring above five out of twenty-five is an indication of the presence of mental telepathy.

'Buying Power' Gains Bolster By Texas' Appeal

Impressive gains for Texas as a whole and for its "big five" of cities over 100,000 population in 1937 retail sales and "effective buying income" constitute further evidence, says a report of the All-South Development Council, of the state's potentialities to provide healthy and growing consumer markets for the industries its business leaders are trying to attract.

A study of authoritative business surveys shows that the total effective buying income of Texas in 1937 was $2,996,100,000, a gain of $109,462,000 over the 1936 figure of $2,886,638,000. While in percentage this amounts to only 3.8 per cent against the national average increase of 6.7 per cent for last year, in the matter of retail sales Texas ran ahead of the national average. In this, Texas totaled $1,666,880,000—a gain of 9.3 per cent—whereas the national retail sales were estimated at $40,590,000,000, an 8.5 per cent rise.

Texas' effective buying income, per family, was $2,171 in 1937, the same rate of increase, 3.8 per cent, over the 1936 per family figure of $2,092. The state's "buying power index" number slumped slightly last year, from 92 in 1936 to 89.

While Dallas retained its hold on fifth place nationally—and leadership in the Southwest—among the 100,000 population group of cities—in effective money income per capita, Houston, Fort Worth, San Antonio and El Paso all made sensational advances in this rating. Houston climbed into eighth place nationally, from 46th in 1936, the per capita income rising from $770 to $925. Fort Worth was close behind, moving up from 81st to 14th place by advancing its per capita figure from $710 to $900.

El Paso and San Antonio were tied at 45th with $780 per capita. The former was 129th the year before, with $490, while San Antonio was 74th, with $720, that year.

The Dallas per capita figure moved up from $925 to $940. New York ($993), Washington ($976), Des Moines ($950), and San Francisco ($946) were the only cities topping the Texas leader, though Los Angeles and Miami tied with it for the fifth position.

The salt wells of Szechwan, China, of which there are over 1,000, are 1,000 to 3,000 feet deep.

As the result of a peasant accidentally striking a black rock in southwest Sardinia a coal mine has been found and a new town, Carbonia, is being built there.

Governor Allred Declares Texas Bread Week

GOVERNOR JAMES V. ALLRED by special proclamation calls upon the citizens of Texas to observe the week of May 9th as TEXAS BREAD WEEK by serving bread, toast, sweet rolls, cake, and other baked wheat foods. The Governor points out that this program is important to the agricultural and industrial welfare of Texas because the increased consumption of bakery products increases the consumption of wheat, flour, milk, butter and cottonseed-oil products. These products all are important to the prosperity of Texas agriculture. Farmers, millers, bakers and grocers are cooperating to put the proclamation into effect.

80,000 Texans Are Now On WPA

Employment on Works Progress Administration projects in Texas has increased to 80,300 persons, it was announced last week by State Administrator H. P. Drought. During the fortnight names of 1,011 persons have been added to WPA rolls in the state.

Although funds allotted to Texas for the month of April allow the employment of only 79,000 full-time workers, a combination of circumstances, such as the failure of a number of workers to work the full number of hours due to temporary private employment and other causes, makes it possible to exceed the normal employment quota and still remain within financial limitations, Drought explained.

quite a reputation as a singer, even then, when he was only a boy, and had had practically no training.

And now, comes this accolade from the foremost dramatic and operatic critics in the state. To quote from the article:

"On last Thursday and Friday nights in McFarlin Hall, where all things musical and dramatic come to the light in Mustang city, Joshua (Othar) showed all the Dallas elite just what an ex-Bulldog football man can do with an operatic role. One year earlier, he had served ample notice with an ingenious performance in Rimsky - Korsakov's 'Snow Maiden'."

"Last week, in the 1938 production, he definitely 'wow-ed' two audiences with his singing of Prince Galitzky in Rorodin's 'Prince Igor' and threw Dallas operatic critics into postulations of praise.

"Wheeler not only employed a baritone voice, rich, resonant, and of operatic volume, but displayed a pronounced flare of dramatic expression while commanding the stage with delightful nonchalance. The Dallas News (John Rosenfeld) found Wheeler's performance 'delightfully Chaliapinesque;' while John Rodgers in the Dallas Times Herald capped his paragraph of outright commendation by stating that Wheeler 'was not unsuggestive of the youthful Lawrence Tibbett on the operatic stage.'"

According to those who know Othar best, the record he is establishing at S. M. U. is the fulfillment of a dream he has had since he first realized that he had an unusual voice. Of moderate means, and with practically no backing, he set his heart on going to S. M. U. because he had been told that the best voice teachers in the state were there.

He has worked and struggled to the end that he might stay there with them. It has not been easy, but this boy has great courage and a burning desire to arrive. Well, he seems to have arrived.

There is something about the possession of a great singing voice that seems to furnish its own inspiration. He is not the first who has climbed slowly and painfully out of the ranks. He has come far to be so young and it is our hope that his golden voice will carry him to complete and satisfying success.

who had business that needed attention and had no other time convenient in which to transact their business could do so on Saturday, and I have found that many patrons have needed this service.

During the time that I have served you, this office has earned considerably more than its operating expense, and this surplus has been turned in to the County to help defray operating expenses of your County government. The earnings of this office would be considerably greater but for the fact that since the effect of the Officer's Salary Bill a great deal of service is performed for the County, and other State departments, and also for the public for which no compensation is derived.

During the times in which the volume of business has been greatest it has been necessary to work early and late to give as prompt service as possible, and your Clerk is glad to give this service when the occasion demands.
My experience as a public official has been an enjoyable one, and one who likes his work can accomplish more and can do best by the duty that is before him. The duties of this office require a knowledge of legal transactions and many other qualifications which I have earnestly endeavored to gain and to improve. I have also made a conscientious effort to render such good service that I would merit your continued support. The duties of the office at this time are many and require a great deal of attention, but I am going to try to see every person in Wichita County, to thank you for your support and to solicit your vote and influence, which will be greatly appreciated in the coming primaries.
