Boycott Election

MANAGUA, Nicaraguan (AP)-Voters boycotted municipal elections across Nicaragua in another massive protest against President Anastasio Somoza's dictatorship.

Many polling stations were nearly deserted during the voting hours Sunday.

"No one is voting," said an anti-Somoza member of the election board in a northern village. "It's this way all over the country."

Somoza's opponents had said the voter turnout rather than the results would indicate what support the Somoza family's 41-year-old hold on the country retains after nearly a month of demonstrations and a general strike protesting the assassination of one of his leading critics, newspaper publisher Pedro Joaquin Chamorro.

Leaders of the nationwide strike by business and labor say 80 percent of all enterprises have been closed, and 14 persons have been killed in guerilla attacks in the last five days.

Hijacker Surrenders

FRANKFURT, West Germany (AP)-An unarmed, 24-year-old Czechoslovak man, seeking political refuge in the West, used a fake bomb today to hijack a Czechoslovak jetliner with 46 persons aboard to Frankfurt, police said.

Frankfurt police spokesman Hans Neitzell told a news conference the hijacker, identified as Valadislav Molnar, surrendered meekly to German authorities after the Soviet-built Tupolev 134 landed here. It was unknown whether his request for asylum would be granted.

Neitzel said the hijacker slipped a note to the pilot soon after the Prague-bound flight of Czechoslovakia's state-owned CSA airline took off from East Berlin's Schoenefeld airport. It warned that Molnar had a bomb in his briefcase and would detonate it unless the pilot flew to Frankfurt, Neitzel said.

Fighting In Ethiopia

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)-Both Ethiopia and Somalia reported new fighting in eastern Ethiopia as the United States staged a minor show of force off the Horn of Africa and Somalia made a new bid for Western arms.

The Somali government radio said the rebel forces Somalia supports in Ethiopia's Ogaden desert region inflicted "heavy losses" on the Ethiopian garrison at Negele, in the southern region of Sidamo.

The broadcast from Mogadishu, the Somali capital, said two Ethiopian military camps were destroyed and large quantities of arms and ammunition were captured.

Meanwhile, the Ethiopian news agency reported that 70 Somali army troops were killed and 150 captured in a "search and destroy" operation in the Karage region east of Addis Ababa.

Pact Debate Near

WASHINGTON (AP)-The Panama Canal treaty - one of the most politically-charged issues of the year - is ready for Senate debate this week, while the House considers President Carter's $32 billion welfare package.

Senate leaders say the canal proposal may reach the floor Wednesday or Thursday. But consideration of the controversial pact will not begin in earnest until after Congress returns Feb. 20 from its 10-day recess for Lincoln's Birthday.

Bipartisan efforts to work out guarantees for future U.S. rights of access and defense appear to have enhanced prospects for the treaty's Senate ratification, which would require a two-thirds majority.

Trio Confesses

NEW YORK (AP)-A family babysitter and two male accomplices reportedly have confessed to abducting the 11-year-old daughter of clothing designer Calvin Klein for $100,000 ransom.

Assistant District Attorney Thomas DeMakis told a judge during arraignment proceedings Sunday that all three "have made full tape-recorded confessions to me."

The babysitter, Paula Christine Ransay, 23, her half-brother Dominique Ransay, 19, both French citizens from Martinique with permanent resident status in the United States, and Cecil Wiggins, 24, were arrested late Saturday in the kidnapping of Marci Klein.

New Snowstorm Hits Northeast

By The Associated Press

Heavy snow driven by strong winds struck Middle Atlantic and Northeast states today, forcing schools to close and snarling road and rail traffic in the second severe storm in little more than two weeks.

The snow began during the night and was expected to get worse as the day wore on, with winds of 40 mph predicted. National Weather Service forecasters said accumultions through the region would range from 6 to 20 inches.

By the middle of the morning rush hour, several inches of snow had fallen in the New York City area and forecasters said the city would get between 12 and 18 inches by midnight. Two to 3 inches was on the ground in New Jersey. Major roadways throughout the region were under snow, with ice and gusting winds adding to the danger.

Schools in parts of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut were closed but most businesses said they would open, but many were expected to close early. Commuter trains and bus lines bringing hundreds of thousands of workers to Manhattan reported serious delays.

The National Weather Service predicted up to 20 inches of snow in some New York City suburbs and said the storm would continue through Monday night. The one-day record for the city - 17.5 inches was set on Feb. 5, 1961; the Jan. 20 snowstorm brought 13.6 inches.

Two low pressure systems - one off the Carolina coast, the other in the Appalachians - were blamed for the snow.

Smith Campaigns In Snyder

State Political Races Begin To Take Shape

Preston Smith brought his campaign for governor to Snyder this morning as last-minute filings were expected for state-wide and local offices. Today at 6 p.m. is the deadline for candidates to file.

Smith arrived in Snyder this morning on a brisk, county-by-county drive. He said that in taking his campaign to the people at Texas, he is meeting with as many grass roots voters as is physically possible.

He was calling attention to the fact that during his two terms as governor, more new state universities and medical and dental training facilities were established than during any other regime.

Smith attended a brief coffee session and then made a quick trip to the courthouse and a few other stops along the way to shake hands and talk with voters. He said he was due in Abilene later in the morning.

Meanwhile, Jerry Sadler, a frequent last minute candidate for state-wide office, filed this morning as a candidate for the unexpired term of former Railroad Commissioner Jim Langdon. Sadler's entry makes it a three-way contest. The other candidates are John Poerner, Holdo, now serving in Langdon's seat until the November election, and former state representative Ray Lemmon of Houston. Langdon stepped down to enter private law practice.

Commission chairman Mack Wallace is a candidate for the full six-year term on the ballot.

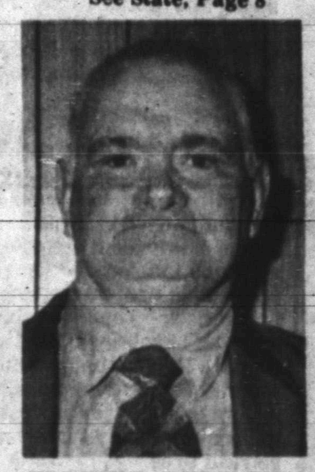

No Republicans have filed for the Railroad Commission.

Sadler, 79, of Grapeland, lost a runoff battle in 1976 to Commissioner Jon Newton. He led a field of eight candidates in the first primary.

Sadler previously served as a member of the Railroad Commission and was state land commissioner.

"I'm running because I believe at this time we need experience on the railroad commission," Sadler said Monday. "We have 76 billion barrels of known, recoverable oil reserves and 965 trillion cubic feet of known, recoverable natural gas reserves. We need someone

ERNEST E. SHIFFLETT

Shifflett Is Candidate For Commissioner

Ernest E. Shifflett, 2111 Merrill, has announced his candidacy for County Commissioner, Precinct. 2, subject to the Democratic Primary.

Shifflett, 51, has lived in Precinct 2 for 26 years. He was reared in the Polar community and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H.E. Shifflett, live in the Ennis Creek community.

Shifflett and his wife, Evelyn (Gregory) are parents of six children: Ernie, deceased; David, a mechanic at American Magnesium; Ken, an engineer at American Magnesum; Karen Hildebrand, a beautician at the Art Style Beauty Salon; Dale, a student in Snyder Junior High, and Tommy, a participant at the Scurry County Work Center.

He spent two years in the U.S. Navy during World War II, and had active duty in the South Pacific. He has farmed for 31 years and worked in the oil field most of this time. He is a dirt contractor in addition to being on the board of directors of the Scurry County Work Center.

Shifflett said he was familiar with the qualifications a commissioner must have. He said he is knowledgable of current events, maintenance of county property and financing. On this basis, he said he feels he is qualified for the position of county commissioner and said he sincerely wants to serve all residents of the area.

"Your support and influence will be greatly appreciated," Shifflett said in making his announcement.

She and her husband, who live on the Colorado City Highway, are parents of three sons and a daughter. All four of their children have their own families and live in other cities, except one son, who lives in Snyder with his family.

Mrs. Merritt operated her own business, "Merritt's Day Care Center," for six years and is now employed in Snyder. She is a member of Colonial Hill Baptist Church.

"If favored with the vote and support of the people of Scurry County, I will serve in the office with courtesy and efficiency," Mrs. Merritt said in making her announcement.

Crenwelge is now serving as president of the board and his current term expires this spring.

Two places on the board will be filled in the April 1 election. Bill Eiland is a candidate for Place 6, which is now held by Dillard Teal, while Anita Felan is a candidate for Place 7.

excessive protection

A few weeks ago HEW Secretary Joseph Califano opened a new crusade against cigarette smoking with a televised announcement that came as close to commiting the Carter Administration as a Cabinet member could hope to do. He followed the initial statement with figures which seemed to justify classification of cigarette smoking as a major cause of all deaths that occur in this country.

The Federal Government has been in the business of trying to protect smokers from an admitted health hazard for a number of years. Every package of cigarettes carries a statement that the Surgeon General of the United States has determined that smoking tobacco-filled cigarettes may be harmful to one's health.

It has probably had some effect. But a horseback survey conducted by a confirmed non-smoker seems to indicate that aside from increasing the cost of cigarettes very little has happened as a result of publicity given to the Surgeon General's finding.

But Secretary Califano is the type of public servant who can't be happy simply presiding over a loosely-organized public service that covers activities by its official designation.

Matters involving health, education and welfare affect just about 100 percent of the nation's population now estimated at 220 million. HEW will spend a considerable portion of the $502 billion set out in the Federal budget for fiscal 1979 now under review by Congressional committees. In that situation the man in charge of the operation should be able to find plenty of things worth looking into without mounting a national effort to discourage cigarette smoking.

Reports by way of the grapevine say President Carter is more than slightly annoyed over some activities of his talkative HEW Secretary and would like to see public attention directed toward matters of greater importance.

Some commentators say this is a good omen. It suggests the Carter Administration may be moving away from secondary to matters of primary concern to the American people. But there are some who would rather have Secretary Califano tilting at the cigarette windmill than to be working on more important aspects of the business his department is supposed to be managing.

not all oil burned

Not all the oil that mobile Americans consume goes into their gas tanks.

Some of it is their tires. Seven gallons of crude oil go into the production of the average new automobile tire. On the other hand, only two-and-a-half gallons go into recycling of a used tire.

This bit of energy-saving information comes from the Tire Retread Information Bureau, which has a natural interest in the situation and notes that Americans saved an estimated quarter-billion gallons of crude oil last year by buying 34 million retread tires.

This is one resource that is not in short supply. Some 10 to 20 million of the estimated 200 million worn-out tires discarded every year are retreadable.

To get reusable tires back into the economy, the bureau encourages civic groups to conduct regular collection and recycling drives. The proceeds benefit organization treasuries, and the energy savings benefit everyone.

My husband belongs to that great fraternity of men who not only believe silence is golden...it's safe.

Just once I'd like to come in from the beauty shop and not have him say, "Whatsa matter, couldn't they take you?"

Yesterday, I came in from the beauty shop and he said, "Whatsa matter, couldn't they take you?"

"Quit clowning around. Do you like it or not?"

"Do you?"

"Yes."

"Then that's all that matters."

"What do you mean by a crack like that?" I charged.

"It's not a crack. I like your hair before."

"Then you liked it better the way it was than you do now. Why don't you admit it?"

"I didn't say that. Is that a new style?"

"You didn't notice that it's Solar Hair? Everyone's wearing it."

"Fine, then you'll look like everyone else."

"Thanks a lot. Do you like the color?"

"It's interesting."

"Anwar Sadat is interesting. Hair is exciting, revolutionary, striking, memorable."

"I pick memorable."

"Do you think anyone will notice the change?"

"Do you want them to?"

"Why do you always answer a question with a question?"

"Did I say that?"

"Would it kill you just once to come out and say you liked something?"

"Is that what you want me to say?"

"I want you to say what you feel!"

"I'm hungry, what's for lunch?"

"If you hate my hair so much, I'll have it changed back to the old style and the old color. But just once I wish to heavens you'd give me an honest opinion instead of beating around the bush with those stupid innuendos."

"I think your hair looks like a porcupine in heat," he said clearly.

"Who asked you?" I said, slamming the door.

WASHINGTON--(NEA)--The metamorphosis that occurred within the Republican party in the late 1960s - and the fundamental change that didn't occur withing the Democratic party in the mid-1970s - continue to have a profound effect on contempory American politics.

When Sen. Barry M. Goldwater of Arizona captured the Republican presidential nomination in 1964, the conservative wing of the GOP routed the moderate "Eastern establishment" in the battle for control of the national party.

Essentially the same phenomenon occurred within the Democratic party in 1972. When Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota won its presidential nomination, liberals gained the upper hand over moderates - at least temporarily - in the continuing struggle for party power.

Both Goldwater and McGovern were, of course, overwhelmingly defeated in the national election for president, confirming the political axiom that this country's electorate prefers centrist politicians to those at either extreme of the ideological spectrum.

Although voters want moderate candidates and policies, the most enthusiastic candidates, contributors and campaign workers in both parties always have been dedicated, uncompromising, issue-oriented activists - liberal Democrats and conservative Republicans.

But the rank-and-file coalition that had imposed moderation on the Republican party for decades - businessmen, professionals and other white-collar workers - offered little opposition before capitulating to those conservative activists. To this day, the conservatives dominate the party.

On the Democratic side, however, the liberals' heyday was short-lived. Unlike the business community within the GOP, the labor unions, their members and other blue-collar workers refused to abandon the struggle with the ideological purists. As a result, the party was hauled back to the middle of the political road, where it stands today.

That background is of particular importance now because within the next few weeks the Republicans and Democrats will make public their end-of-year 1977 financial reports.

A cursory examination of those reports and the 1978 budgets of parties would suggest that the Democrats are on the brink of bankruptcy while the Republicans are so wealthy they can begin paying dividends.

Last year, for example, the Democratic National Committee (DNC) fell far short of meeting its $6.5 million fund-raising goal, while the Republican National Committee (RNC) collected for than $10 million.

The RNC this year has a $14 million budget, while the DNC will be lucky to raise half that amount - and the Democrats still have about $3 million in long-overdue debts to repay, some of them airline and telephone bills dating back to the 1968 presidential campaign.

On Capitol Hill, the contrast is even more striking. The committees that raise money for Republican candidates for House and Senate seats solicited more than $10 million last year, but their Democratic counterparts barely topped the $1 million mark.

That superficial disparity has existed for more than a decade. It doesn't take into account, however, the millions of dollars contributed to Democratic candidates by either organized labor or the special interest groups anxious to curry favor with committee and subcommittee chairmen in Congress - all Democrats.

Even more significant is the seemingly insoluble dilemma faced by the Republican party: Most of its money comes from hard-line conservatives who insist upon candidates for public office with similarly strong ideological proclivities.

But when matched up against centrist Democrats, those extremists seldom endear themselves to the voters. That's why the Republicans are rich but out of power while the debt-ridden Democrats continue to win elections.

a 'family affair'

NEW YORK (AP)-Becoming affluent in America is increasingly turning into a family affair, a new study on the demographics of the upper income class suggests.

The Conference Board study finds that more American households currently qualify as "affluent" than did 10 or 20 years ago. Even when adjusted for inflation, average family income has increased broadly for those households comprising the wealthiest 20 percent of the country.

But it also suggests that it is more difficult than ever for a family supported by only one worker to climb up the income ladder.

"An extraordinary 77 percent of our upper-income families have at least two persons in the labor force, while only 22 percent have a single earner," writes the study's author, Fabian Linden, director of consumer research for the non-profit business research organization.

"More often than not, the additional wage earner is a working wife. In some 54 percent of all homes in this bracket the woman is employed, up from 34 percent in the mid-'50s. In addition, there also are many instances where three persons, and sometimes more, are contributing," he finds in an analysis of data from 1975 and the preceding two decades.

In 1965, 30 percent of households in the top income bracket had only one person working and 20 years earlier, the figure was 35 percent.

All of this, of course, does not account for the fact that actual spending power depends on how many people must divide up the paycheck or paychecks coming in. And from that point of view, the economic pinch may still be harsh on families which statistically qualify as affluent.

But it does suggest "a greater democratization of the relatively wealthy segment of the population," says Linden, noting that 3.8 million of the upper-income families in the most recent year studied were headed by a blue-collar worker with a working wife.

Based on 1975 statistics, Linden found that 11.1 million households were earning $22,000 or more, which qualified them as among those in the top fifth. A decade before, 9.6 million families were in the top 20 percent but it took less - $17,600 - in comparable 1975 dollars to make it into the upper-income bracket.

In 1965, a household would have had to bring in at least $13,200 to make it into the ranks of what Linden refers to as the income "elite" and 8.4 million homes did.

"The living standards of the average family have just about doubled since the end of World War II. In no other comparable period of the nation's history did we experience such an improvement of such magnitude," he says.

But while he finds that the economic improvement was widespread, the study notes that it was not enjoyed equally by all population segments. Blacks and other racial minorities, which make up about 11 percent of the population, accounted for just 5 percent of the upper-income class. That is an increase from 3.5 percent in 1965 and 2.3 percent in 1955.

Alan: "South didn't have to use Blackwood to know about aces. North had clearly shown aces in diamonds and spades while looking at the other two. He decided to show the ace of clubs and let North take over. When North just bid six South passed."

Oswald: "There are eleven top tricks. South drew trumps and led a diamond. Had the suit broken 3-3 South would have made a grand slam. At 4-2 break would give him an easy small slam, but West showed out on the first diamond lead. Of course, South had drawn trumps first."

Alan: "When West showed out South paused to regroup. Things looked almost hopeless, but South found a delayed Vienna coup to bring home the bacon."

Oswald: "He led a club from dummy and played his ten in order to do what is known as rectifying the count. West was in with the jack and led a spade. South cashed dummy's ace and king to set up East's queen. Then he cashed all his trumps and the ace of clubs."

Alan: "East had to hang on to that queen of spades and was forced to discard all but one diamond whereupon the ace and nine of diamonds were both good."

The club accepted the resignation of Mrs. Joe Nelson who has moved to Longview. Also, the club decided to make a donation to Kiddie Park in Towle Memorial Park. Some money is from donations of members.

The program was given by Mrs. Marshall Wilson and Mrs. Buck Sitton on "Using House Plants" and "The Care of House Plants."

The Knapp Community Center was the meeting place for the February session of the Knapp Home Demonstration Club. Mrs. J.D. Blankenship, president, was hostess. She also presided at the business meeting. Roll call was answered by naming a famous American or something a member wants to accomplish during 1978.

Mrs. Pat Miller was elected secretary to fill the un-expired term of Mrs. Johnnie Word, who resigned. The president read a list of officers elected for Council; Blanch Murry was named assistant finance chairman and Jewell Bruner was named assistant yearbook chairman from the Knapp Club.

Mrs. Byron Henderson came as a new member and Mrs. Trietsch, president's mother was a visitor.

June Greenway gave a program on consumer buying. She read and illustrated "The Ten Commandments for the Star Consumer" which told members they should stop, look and listen before buying.

The serving table was centered with a large valentine and the hostess served refreshments to the guests and 13 members.

Next regular meeting will be 10 a.m. March 2 at Knapp Center with Nina Garner and Jewell Bruner as hostesses. It is to be a "fun and hobby day," and a covered dish luncheon.

Create A Valentine

By Joanne Schreiber

Looking for a new way to say "I love you?"

This year, you can sew up your Valentines and make a lovable Crafty Critter for your own true love. These appealing little animals are of white broadcloth, decorated with stars and flowers and featuring a big red heart.

The fun part about these critters is that the hearts and flowers are painted on, not stitched on, using Vogart ball point paint tubes. These nylon-tipped tubes make it easy to decorate tablecloths and napkins, sheets and pillow cases, jeans and T-shirts with permanent, washable designs in just about any color you could want. While the paints are primarily intended for use on fabric, they will adhere to almost any surface — needlepoint canvas, wood, metal, paper, glass and plastic.

One of the most appealing of the line of Crafty Critters is this kangaroo, with her baby in her pouch. The baby, too, has a heart. After cutting out the critters, use your ball point paint tubes to color in the stars, flowers and hearts. Then, using a double black thread on your sewing machine, stitch stems and outlines and the paws and features on the animals.

If you prefer a quilted effect, baste some polyester batting to the fabric before stitching.

After the coloring is completed and the stitching done, stitch the critters together, leaving an opening for turning and stuffing. Stuff with polyester fiberfill and stitch closed by hand.

You can design you own critter Valentines — just be sure that each one has a big red heart to carry your message.

The new 1978 Needlework Album is chock-full of patterns for adorable stuffed dolls and animals, all of which may be decorated with the Bogart ball point paint tubes. You can use the transfer patterns to adorn towels, aprons, pillowcases and other household items and then paint in the designs instead of embroidering them.

To get your copy, just send $2, with your name, address and zip, to Stitchin' Time, c-o this newspaper, Box 503, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. And remember — each copy of this 76-page album has a coupon for a free pattern, as well as a gift section with complete instructions for all kinds of beautiful Valentine gifts. Smith's 14 Belts NBA West Squad

ATLANTA (AP)-John Havlicek wasn't surprised. Neither was Jack Ramsay.

"I sort of had a feeling if anyone would turn it around, it would be Randy Smith," said Havlicek, the retiring star of the Boston Celtics.

"What you saw him (Smith) do today, I've seen him do many times," said Ramsay, who watched helplessly as the catquick guard of the Buffalo Braves scored 14 points in the fourth quarter, sparkin the East to a 133-125 comeback victory over Ramsay's West squad in the 28th National Basketball Association All-Star game Sunday.

The West had dominated play until Smith took charge, aided by the aggressive rebounding of Boston's Dave Cowens and Philadelphia's Julius Erving, to erase a 12-point West lead in the final 10 minutes.

Smith scored six straight baskets, two on layups and four on jump shots from the 14-foot to 22-foot range, chopping the lead to 113-112 with 5:42 remaining, and Erving put the East ahead for only the second time in the game, this time for good, on a three-point play with 5:10 to go.

Playing despite five personal fouls with seven minutes remaining, Smith triggered the rally that resulted in a stretch of 15 consecutive East points, which eventually carried to a 21-2 edge, changing a 113-104 deficit to a 125-115 lead as the East captured its third All-Star Game in four years and its 18th against 10 defeats.

Smith was an overwhelming choice for the Most Valuable Player trophy and an accompanying 1978 automobile. He scored a game-high 27 points, had seven rebounds, six assists and two steals in 29 minutes.

"This was one of the highest achievements I have ever accomplished," Smith said of the MVP honor, which he said his wife, Terrion, had predicted he would win.

"She didn't keep me out late last night, so I had all the rest in the world," Smith said.

He also paid tribute to Ramsay, coach of the defending NBA champions, the Portland Trail Blazers, who once coached Smith at Buffalo.

"Ramsay helped me a great deal when I played for him," he said. "He taught me how to shoot over those really tall guys and how to use my left hand. You can't be a success in the NBA using just one hand."

Heisman Award winner Earl Campbell weighs 220 pounds but runs 40 yards in 4.6 seconds.

Leonard's Speed Stuns Ramon

BALTIMORE (AP)-Capitalizing on his tremendous advantage in reach and height, Olympic champion Sugar Ray Leonard pounded Rocky Ramon and coasted to an unanimous eight-round decision Saturday over the game Texan.

"I just thank the Lord that I lasted eight rounds," said the 5 foot-3 Ramon, who resembled a man in need of a stepladder as he consistently missed the Palmer Park, Md., product with his lunging hooks during their nationally televisied fight.

Ramon - from San Antonio, Tex. - weighed in at only a pound less than Leonard's 143¾ pounds for the first welterweight bout for both fighters.

Leonard used his height advantage to fight the game Texan in the artistic manner of a matador fencing with an enraged, but single-minded bull. At times, the frustrated Ramon made a complete piroutte as his smiling Maryland opponent danced out of reach.

"Ramon's style was so unorthodox," the 1976 Olympic gold medal winner said. "I had to get down just to fight him, and we bumped heads several times. My handlers were afraid I would get butted."

Rebounding, Defense And Fast Breaks...

Arkansas Back To Basics

By The Associated Press

A worried Arkansas Coach Eddie Sutton, cocking a wary eye toward two Southwest Conference road games this week, has promised some brisk practice sessions to polish what he feels are flaws in the second-ranked basketball machine in the country.

Arkansas is 21-1 overall and can at least tie the Texas Longhorns atop the SWC standings with road victories over physical Texas A&M and he improving Texas Christian Horned Frogs Thursday and Saturday nights, respectively.

But, first, back to the basics like rebounding, defense and fast breaks.

"We must improve in those three areas," said Sutton. "These three areas are not allowing us to blow a team out. Practice should help."

And practice it will be, although Sutton was proud of his club after a 68-48 victory over Rice Saturday night.

"We had a miserable first half but we played hard the entire game," said Sutton.

Arkansas' 9-1 record in Southwest Conference play is still a half-game behind No. 12 ranked Texas' 10-1 but the Razorbacks can get even this week.

While Texas, which throttled Texas Christian 87-60 at home Saturday night, goes to Rice Tuesday night Arkansas travels to Texas A&M and TCU.

If there is something wrong with Arkansas, you certainly couldn't prove it by Rice Coach Mike Schuler.

"We couldn't run our offense because of their defense and they are the only team in the league that can do that or has done it so far," said Schuler.

"Arkansas just took us out of everything we wanted to do. They play excellent defense, are very quick and are superbly coached...Everything about the Arkansas operation is first class."

In other games Saturday night, Texas Tech stomped Baylor 78-62 and Houston outlasted Texas A&M 94-89.

Texas Tech is in third place with an 8-3 ledger while Houston is 7-4. Southern Methodist owns the vital fifth place spot at 5-5 followed by Texas A&M at 3-8, Rice at 2-9 and TCU at 1-10.

Houston is at Baylor, and Tech is at SMU in other games Tuesday night.

The SWC regular season ends Feb. 21 then the first round of the SWC playoffs is held Feb. 25. The survivors go to Houston for the SWC tournament March 2-4.

"If we didn't play good defense in the first half, we would have been blown out," said Schuler. "They are very good. Their subs came in and did a good job. Everything about the Arkansas organization is first class. Hopefully, we can get that kind of atmosphere at Rice."

9th Black Wins Tourney Title

SWEETWATER -- Snyder's 9th grade Black team, under direction of Coach Mackey Greene, took championship honors in the Sweetwater Tournament over the weekend and placed two players on the all-tournament team.

Led by Cris Seale and Tony Degrate, selected to the tourney squad, Snyder Black ripped Merkel 65-42 on Thursday and Big Spring 55-38 on Friday to advance to the finals against host Sweetwater.

Cris Seale and Jerry Don Greene led the scoring against Merkel with 16 and 11 points. Tony Degrate and Robert Rodriquez had 18 and 16 points to pace Snyder past the Big Spring Toros.

In the final contest, the Tigers roared out to a 14-10 lead, then put up 16 second-quarter points while holding the hosts to 6 for a 30-16 half time lead.

Snyder added 14 points in the third period and led 54-28 with three minutes to play before Coach Greene pulled the starters. Sweetwater made up for lost time, but never got near the hot Tiger team which won, 56-41.

Degrate led the crew with 20 points. Seale garnered 10.

"We played very well in all three games both offensively and defensively," praised Greene. "It was perhaps the best back-to-back play we've shown all year," he added of the team which is 16-3 for the season.

Tonight, Snyder Black concludes season play with a 5 o'clock contest against Coahoma in the Snyder Junior High Gym.

Sports Summary

By The Associated Press

Stockton Tops Tourney

NORTH LITTLE ROCK, Ark. - Top-seeded Dick Stockton of Dallas won a $50,000 tennis tournament when Hank Pfister of Bakersfield, Calif., retired during the second set with a sprained ankle.

Navratilova 3rd Straight

CHICAGO - Top-seeded Martina Navratilova used her strong serve to charge back from a narrow first-set loss and defeat Evonne Goolagong 6-7, 6-2, 6-2 to win her third straight tennis tournament.

Navratilova stretched her victory streak to 20 matches. She has won four of the five tour events this year.

The loss snapped Goolagong's streak of five tournament and 29 match victories. She had won this year's only other tournament on the tour.

Green Knots Hawaiian

HONOLULU - Hubert Green sank a seven-foot par putt on the second playoff hole, then watched Bill Kratzert miss a five-footer as Green won the $250,000 Hawaiian Open.

Both players, who parred the first sudden-death playoff hole, No. 15, hit into bunkers around the 450-yard, par-4 16th. Kratzert hit out of the sand and near the hole, then Green also hit a good shot to leave himself the winning putt that was worth $50,000 for first place. Kratzert won $28,500.

The two finished regulation play at 274, 14 under par.

Porsche Sweeps Dayton

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. - Rolf Stommelen, Toine Hezemans and Peter Gregg teamed to nurse their dying Porsche 935 turbo to victory in the 24 Hours of Daytona, as Porsches swept all but one of the first 16 places.

It was a record fourth victory for Gregg, who spent less than an hour behind the wheel. Gregg had won twice for Porsche and once for BMW in the past four runnings of this grueling "marathon to nowhere."

Gregg, who captained a two-car team, spent most of his time in the car he started with, even though it was out of contention after a 1 hour, 45-minute engine change early Sunday.

Could Smash A Couple Tonight...

Dusters Alter Records

WTC's Dusters will be trying to break a couple of individual records in Amarillo tonight when they tangle with Amarillo College at 6 o'clock.

Tonight's meeting marks the second time the two teams have met this season. The Dusters, currently holding a share of the WJCC lead, drubbed Amarillo 70-59 on Dec. 12, 1977.

Both records within snapping range are held by WTC's former All-American Marilyn Payton.

Working to break Payton's record of 95 assists in 28 games will be Cathy Minton, a 5'6" sophomore from Snyder. Minton, having 19 games to credit, will go into this evening's contest with 91 assists - just four short of the mark.

"The development of Cathy Minton as a playmaker has been an important factor in the Duster's success," commented Dr. Sid Simpson, coach. "We all feel confident Cathy can get us into our offense and find the open player. I think it's terriffic the way she has overcome her lack of experience to become a "take charge" player." Cathy, a graduate of Snyder High School, played only one year for the Tigers. Her senior year marked Snyder's first girls' basketball team.

Another record which will surely fall tonight is Payton's goal of 639 career points. Shooting for the record is sophomore Cindy Luttrull of Laverne, Okla., who has 635 after a 35-point effort against Texas Tech University last Friday. Luttrull has already broken two former WTC records; most points per game and most career field goals.

In other action tonight, WTC's Westerners, 9-3 in league play and also tied for the conference lead (with NMMI) will take on Amarillo immediately following the Dusters game.

Snyder Golf Team Takes Eighth In Sweetwater Meet

SWEETWATER--Snyder High School golf team took eighth in the Sweetwater Invitational Tournament over the weekend here with a mark of 662.

Big Spring won the meet with two-day scores of 314-311-625, followed by Abilene Cooper, 317-312-629; Odessa Permian, 316-317-633; Sweetwater 311-331-642; Kermit, 323-325-647; Midland Lee, 322-338-660; Abilene High, 320-341-661; and Snyder, 332-330-662. Other teams included Pecos 665, Monahans 668, Midland High 697 and Odessa High 703.

Abilene Cooper's Mike Orren won medalist honors with a 144, followed by teammate Johon Slaughter with a 149. Phil Kuss of Sweetwater was third with a 151.

Individual scores for Snyder Included Lance McMillian, 84-78-162; Clint Baach, 81-79-160; Dennis Gary 86-86-172; Walt Williams, 81-89-170; and Randy McCown, 95-87-182.

Snyder B-team shot 379 and 367 for the two day-meet. Randy Wolf and Randy Chambers led the group. Individual scoring included Wolf 86-92-178 Chambers 93-85-178, Kip Wadleigh 90-90-180, Mike Wolf 110-100-210 and Chris Ranis 111-109-220.

Snyder's next action will be in Odessa, on Feb. 16-17.

Consolation Captured By Snyder Gold

SWEETWATER--Snyder 9th grade Gold team garnered consolation honors here over the weekend, ripping Merkel 49-30.

Eric Arnold, named to the all-tournament team, led the Tigers with 19 points. Mike Roemisch and Barry Blackman scored 8 each. Barry Tubb had 8.

Snyder dropped a point behind 15-14 in the first quarter, but held a 26-25 lead at halftime. Some top defensive work held the Merkel team scoreless in the third quarter and allowed the foe only 5 points in the final set.

Snyder Gold fell to Sweetwater 50-42 on Thursday and defeated Stamford 52-37 Friday. Arnold scored 18 points against the Bulldogs while Blackman had 16 and Roemisch noted 10.

Snyder Gold will play its final game of the season tonight in Sweetwater at 7 o'clock.

Grand Jury In Session Today

Convening this morning, a Scurry County grand jury will consider the cases against 14 persons to determine if indictments are warranted.

Ten of the 14 cases involve charges of driving while intoxicated. The remaining four cases cover a gamut from allegations of forgery to aggravated assault.

Scheduled to be presented to the grand jury today was the forgery case of Luis Garcia. Garcia, 18, is alleged to have forged a check that was passed at a Snyder bank last Nov. 22. The check, allegedly written for $100, was drawn on a local man's account.

Seventeen-year-old David Kenney is charged with aggravated assault following an incident last week in which he is alleged to fired several shots at Rex Free. The incident is alleged to have occurred behind a local truck stop following an argument.

Accused of taking a gas range and refrigerator from E.E. Wallace, 21-year-old James Ellis is charged with theft. The alleged theft is reported to have taken place last May 15.

Also scheduled for grand jury presentation this morning was the criminal mischief case of Dale Rivera. Rivera, 17, is alleged to have vandalized a car belonging to Larry Berkley. The incident is reported to have occurred Jan. 4.

DWI cases scheduled for presentation to the grand jury today involve Fernando Garza, John Coonrod, Jessie Gonzales, Gary Allen, Larry Beard, Ignacio Castillo, Carl Coffelt, David Gutierrez, Roy Jasso, and Keith Jordan.

The aggravated assault case against Lorinza Garcia is being dismissed, District Attorney Pete Greene reported, at the request of the complainant. Garcia, 45, is alleged to have shot a 36-year-old Snyder woman in a brawl last month. The woman, reports indicate, was not seriously injured.

Death Upgrades Charges

DALLAS (AP)-Dallas authorities said they plan to upgrade charges today against the father of an 18-month-old baby who died of cardiac arrest Sunday night after having been "brain dead" since Jan. 22.

Roy Rachek, 26, the father of Charles Rachek, has been in jail on charges of attempted murder in the case, and police said that charge would be changed to murder.

The baby had been kept alive by life-support systems over the wishes of the mother and testimony by doctors that he was "clinically dead."

Doctors had given the baby no chance to regain consciousness.

The baby's body was transferred to the medical examiner's office.

Juvenile Judge Pat McClung ordered the infant kept alive last week, saying that no one had the right to turn off the life-support equipment unless Charles' heart and lungs ceased to function.

The father was one of a few persons who wanted Charles kept alive, and he made that wish known through attorneys.

The case touched off controversy over Texas' lack of a medical definition of death.

State Sen. Ray Farabee of Wichita Falls said, "We need a medical definition of death, and the state neurological association thinks so, too."

Charles' condition had worsened since his transfer to the sprawling Parkland complex from suburban Garland.

Police Investigate Thefts, Mishaps

Police this morning were investigating the reported theft of a $1,500 mechanical packer.

The packer was reportedly taken from the firm of Baker Packers on the Clairemont Highway, complainant Roy Bennett told police. The theft is believed to have occurred between 6:30 p.m. Friday and 7 a.m. Saturday.

In other reports of weekend activities, Don Bollinger told officers that a 12-volt automotive battery was taken from the Bollinger Ice Co. The incident was reported to police Saturday afternoon and value of the battery was set at $45.

Three traffic accidents were also reported to police.

A 1973 Chevrolet driven by Luis Alderette was in collision with a 1977 Ford pickup driven by Elvis Bollinger Saturday at 11:41 a.m. The mishap occurred in the 400 block of College Ave. and resulted in moderate damages to the vehicles.

At 5:41 p.m. Saturday, a 1968 Ford driven by Bobby King was in collision with a 1977 Chevrolet driven by Max Aucutt of Hermleigh. The collision took place at the intersection of 37th St. and College Ave. and resulted in minor damages to the cars.

The final mishap of the weekend resulted in moderate damages to two cars and sent one man to Cogdell Memorial Hospital briefly where he was treated and released.

The mishap involved the collision of a 1976 Chevrolet pickup driven by Edgar Brown and a 1974 Chrysler driven by Alfred Langley. Harold J. Rodgers, 46, a passenger in the Brown vehicle, received what were thought to be minor injuries. He was taken to the hospital and treated and released.

The collision occurred in the 4700 block of College Ave. and was reported at 5:58 p.m.

City Firemen Called Twice

Two grass fires were doused during the weekend by city firefighters.

The first fire occurred about 20 miles southwest of Snyder and was reported at 3:17 p.m Saturday.

At 3:22 p.m. Sunday the second grass fire was extinguished approximately three miles outside Snyder on the Colorado City Highway.

OBITUARIES

Buchanan Rites

A native and life-long resident of Scurry County, Mrs. Buchanan was married on Nov. 21, 1942, in Snyder to Doyle Buchanan. He survives. Also surviving are three daughters, Judy Nance of Midland, Betty Crowell of Houston and Fern King, of Balmorhea; four brothers, Henry Wells of East Texas, Lewis Wells of Odessa, Charles Wells of Snyder and Jesse Wells of Burbank, Ca.; and five grandchildren.

Leak Near Water Plant

EXETER, N.H. (AP)- And then there was the leak that let nearly two million gallons out of the town's water towers over the weekend. The leak turned out to be "in our own backyard," said Nelson Belanger, Exeter's water and sewer department superintendent.

A drop in water levels became noticeable Friday afternoon, but officials weren't able to locate the leak until Sunday. It was in a fire hydrant pipe at a plant near the town's water treatment plant.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Contradictory conclusions

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Our 13-year-old son has Osgood-Schlatter disease. Our family doctor told us over six months ago that he could be as good as new in six months to a year's time if he used his legs as little as possible. His condition has become worse and now his knees are swollen and he limps when he walks.

A friend's son was showing the same symptoms of the disease, so she took him to a bone specialist. This doctor said that her son would never be cured of the disease. He said that exercising the knees would make no difference one way or the other, so he should participate in any sports he was capable of and refrain from anything that aggravated his condition. Could you tell us about this disease and what you think we should do for our son?

DEAR READER — The disease is caused by a problem with the cartilage and bony parts that form the area just below the knee cap. This spot is called the tibial tubercle. The tibia is the large bone in the leg and the tubercle is where the large tendon that encloses the knee cap is attached.

It is not surprising that this would be a site for trouble. After all, the thigh and leg bones are the two longest bones in the body and represent the longest levers for action. That means the leverage can cause a great deal of force. And the force is applied by the strongest muscle in the body, the quadriceps over the front of the thigh.

In Osgood-Schlatter disease there is a failure of union of all the bony centers that are still maturing in young children or an actual injury at the site of the tendon's attachment. It affects boys three times as often as girls; it occurs in girls between the ages of 8 and 13 and in boys between 10 and 15. It may last until the bony development in the legs is complete.

The condition can usually be helped by conservative treatment. Almost all authorities agree that the knee should be rested and some put a short cast or splint around the knee with the knee straight to prevent any pulling of the tendon on the tubercle area.

Others tend to neglect the disease and do little active treatment, but I am surprised that anyone would recommend athletic activity and other things which are apt to increase the strain on the area.

In some cases orthopedic specialists do use injections of cortisone with an anesthetic agent. If one shot helps a second may be warranted. This is usually not required for most cases, but it is one more trick the doctor has up his sleeve.

Finally, in a very few cases when there is a piece of fractured bone in an abnormal position or some other complication, then an operation is indicated. This can also be done to reduce the size of an exceptionally large knobby knee that may result from Osgood Schlatter's disease.

You want to be sure that your doctor is making his diagnosis on the basis of X-ray studies. If not, more serious disorders of the knee, including a bone tumor may be missed. Since your son's condition has gotten worse instead of better, you might have a consultation with an orthopedic specialist. See if your family doctor can arrange to have him seen at the University Medical Center in your state for a consultation.

Meanwhile, I am sending you The Health Letter number 1-10, Exercise, Posture, Strength, which tells you how exercise helps develop and maintain the body. Others who want this information can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

No Suspects In Double Slaying

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)- Victoria Hill, an elderly woman found beaten to death with her husband in her home, had told a friend recently there were things missing from the house.

"It was almost like living with a ghost, she said" a neighbor of Mrs. Hill who asked not to be identified for fear her home would be next. "She told me she would fasten up things and go back later and found them open. But there were no signs of forcible entry."

Mrs. Hill, 77, and her husband Lee, 83, were found beaten to death in their large mid-town home Saturday night. Police said William Clark, Mrs. Hill's son, found one of the bodies upstairs and the other downstairs.

Sgt. Bill Hollander, head of a special five-man investigative unit, said there were no suspects Sunday night. Homicide squad officials said burglary was the apparent motive, but they declined to discuss what, if anything, was stolen from the house.

Police said there have been several attacks on elderly people in their homes in recent weeks. A week ago, a 90-year-old woman was injured when she surprised a burglar in her home in the midtown area.

Tense Vigil Ends At Derailment

VIEW (AP)-Workers cleared debris from the scene of a 21-car derailment and fire Sunday, ending a tense vigil near the small West Texas town of View.

Three tank cars carrying methyl and ethyl alcohol were allowed to burn themselves out Saturday night and early Sunday.

Authorities had evacuated some 40 residents from the area immediately around the derailment scene.

No one was injured.

A Santa Fe Railroad spokesman said the derailment was apparently caused by the disintegration of a wheel on an empty boxcar.

Quality child care has three major functions: it serves as an extension for the family, aids children's development, and is a way for society to intervene constructively when families and children need help, says Jenny Rienhardt, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Lions Will Hear Nader At Luncheon

Dr. Sam Nader, pastor of First United Methodist Church in Lubbock, will address the Snyder Lions Club at its noon meeting, Tuesday.

Dr. Nader is a noted speaker and author, who has accomplished many "firsts" in his career. He has worked and served in the Louisiana and Texas areas. In 1965 he received an honorary doctor of divinity degree from Centenary College in Shreveport, La. His Sunday morning sermon broadcast on a Shreveport station was the most popular program at that hour in the Shreveport area in 1970-72.

In 1961, he was a delegate to the 10th World Methodist Conference and also was elected a delegate to the 11th and 12th World Methodist Conference.

His subject at the Lions Club luncheon meeting Tuesday will be "What America Means to Me."

Optimist Club To Sponsor Circus

The all new edition of the Carson & Barnes Five Ring Wild Animal Circus is coming to Snyder on Monday, April 10, it was announced today by Bill Barlow, vice president of the Snyder Optimist Club.

"Our organization is bringing America's largest wild animal circus here to enable the children of our community to enjoy a traditionally wholesome form of unique American entertainment," Barlow said. "Profits derived from sponsoring the circus will go toward our community youth projects", he continued.

"Our fund will benefit greatly from the sale of advance tickets by our members. We receive up to 50 percent of the proceeds from these tickets. We are certain that the people of Snyder will back us 100 per cent in our organization's project," he added.

Hailed as bigger and better than ever, the Carson & Barnes Five Ring Circus will feature scores of imported and domestic circus acts, traditional circus spectacles, performing wild animals, and other breath-taking acts climaxed by the renowned Carson & Barnes performing elephants - all under the world's largest big top.

Performances on circus day will be at 5 p.m. and 8 p.m. with the doors open earlier to allow time to view the wild animals before entering the big top.

Applause Covers 'Happy Birthday'

NEW YORK (AP)-Internationally celebrated pianist Claudio Arrau performed at Avery Fisher Hall here the day before his 75th birthday.

But applause after his recital was too enthusiastic for the singing of "Happy Birthday" to be heard as concert hall employees wheeled a huge birthday cake onstage Sunday afternoon.

Arrau, a citizen of Chile, will give 92 concerts in 14 countries this year.

Protect yourself

By Karen Blaker, Ph.D.

DEAR DR. BLAKER — I heard that a court can rule on the division of property if a couple living together decides to break up. That concerns me. Although my boyfriend and I have been living happily together for more than two years, he has not held a steady job. I have paid for the apartment and furnishings.

I had assumed that the belongings purchased with my earnings would be mine if we split up. What can I do to make certain of that?

DEAR READER — Even if you and your boyfriend agree that the furnishings belong to you, you might want to set forth the understanding clearly in a written contract. Last year the California Supreme Court ruled that written contracts between unmarried people living together are legal and binding.

The written agreement need not be complicated nor notarized. You might use these contracts printed recently in Ms. magazine (November, 1977) as a model.

SAMPLE CONTRACT

Cerena Takahashi and Sam Armistead agree as follows:

1) That Cerena is a dentist and Sam an accountant and each wishes to be responsible for her or his own support, and that each will contribute equally to the monthly expenses for running the household.

2) That Cerena and Sam will share their love and energy, but they agree that the income of each and any accumulations of property traceable to that income belong absolutely to the person who earns the money. Any joint purchases will be covered by a specific separate written agreement.

3) That Cerena and Sam will maintain separate checking and credit accounts and that neither is in any way responsible for the debts of the other.

4) That in the event of separation neither party to this contract will have any claim against the other for money or property unless there is a subsequent agreement in writing.

JOINT PURCHASE CONTRACT

Cerena Takahashi and Sam Armistead agree as follows:

1) That they will jointly acquire and own a stereo system valued at $900.

2) That should they separate and both want the stereo, they will agree on a fair price and then flip a coin, with the winner keeping the stereo after paying the loser the agreed-upon price.

3) If on separation neither person wants the stereo, it shall be sold to the highest bidder and the money equally divided.

Any such contract should be dated and signed by both parties.

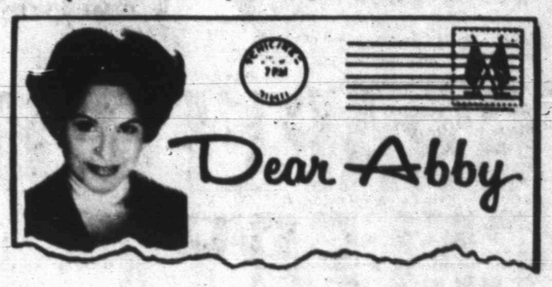

In your case, a contract seems especially important. Formalizing a contract may stimulate you to evaluate your relationship.

You may discover that you feel uncomfortable supplying the necessities while he enjoys a free ride. If so, why not ask him to pull his share? Or do you feel — and fear — he would leave if you made any demands? Unless this is only a temporary state of affairs, doing nothing will eventually make you resent his dependency even more. And then you definitely will need a contract to get out with what you have put in.

More detailed information on living-together contracts can be found in "Sex, Living Together and the Law," Massey and Warner, Nolo Press, P.O. Box 544, Occidental, Calif. 95465. The price is $4.95.

Write to Dr. Blaker in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. Volume of mail prohibits personal replies, but questions of general interest will be discussed in future columns.

Wants Loving Wife to Unswap

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1978 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: If someone had told me this could happen to me I never would have believed it. After six years of marriage (no children by choice), my wife and I got mixed up in a wife-husband swapping deal.

This other couple, who are about our age, weren't happy with each other, and the woman was attracted to me and the man liked my wife, so we went along with the swapping idea just for the fun of it. We had never done anything like that in our lives and thought it would be a good learning experience.

After three months of swapping, my wife left me to move into this man's apartment. His wife had no place to live, so I let her move in with me, but there is no sex between us, I give you my word. (There WAS some at first, but it didn't last long.) All we do is talk about my wife and her husband and wait for them to come to their senses.

It's been five months, and my wife is still living with this man. She says she loves me, but isn't ready to come home yet.

How much longer should I give her? I feel like a fool. We're both schoolteachers and I'm tired of lying and hiding the truth.

SORRY SWAPPER

DEAR SORRY: Although neither of you is a "saint," let St. Valentine's Day be the deadline. (If she's still giving you the "not ready" line, the marriage is dead.)

DEAR ABBY: Your response to NON-SMOKER should be burned! You apparently live in some ivory tower where smokers respect the rights of non-smokers in elevators, restaurants and confined public places. Come out of your tower, Abby, and smell the smoke!

I live in a large apartment building with "NO SMOKING" signs in the elevators, but the smokers smoke anyway. It does no good to remind them that it's against New York City law to smoke in elevators. They do not extinguish their cigarettes—they just move them away from the complainer.

Anyone who says that most smokers will quickly douse their cigarettes when someone complains obviously doesn't live in New York City.

SMOKED OUT IN N.Y.

DEAR SMOKED OUT: You're right, I don't. But please don't tar all New York nicotine users with the same brush.

DEAR ABBY: Maybe YOU think it's "gracious" for guests to telephone the hostess the next day or write a note to thank her, but I disagree.

If a guest ducks out of a very large party without saying goodbye because he or she doesn't want to start an exodus (or say goodbye to 100 people), then a note or a call to the hostess the next day would naturally take the place of what wasn't said in person.

But when guests leave my home and say they enjoyed being there, that's sufficient for me; and I don't want them phoning me the next day to repeat what they have already said.

If there is something to discuss, well and good, or if they had an exceptionally good time a written note is welcome, but I think perfunctory phone calls after a party are a nuisance and a thing of the past.

Am I alone in this? Please ask your readers to express their views.

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Readers? Is a phone call phony? Or is it right to write?

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212, for Abby's booklet "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (24 cents) envelope.
