CITY RACE

McAdams, Zachariah Score Wins

Garner McAdams and George Zachariah were elected to the two vacant seats on the Big Spring City Commission Tuesday in a near record turnout of voters.

Residents turned out exactly 2,000 strong to give the overwhelming majority of their votes to the winners, scattering the balance of the votes among five other candidates.

McADAMS

McAdams led the ticket with 1,136 votes, and Zachariah was close behind with 1,033. McAdams led the balloting at the Eighteenth and Main, and Eleventh and Birdwell polling places, while Zachariah was at the top of the heap at the Northside and Central voting stations.

Election judges said voters, as usual, swamped the polls between 5-7 p.m. The largest turnout was at the Eighteenth and Main station, where 736 ballots were marked. There were 678 voting at the Central station, 462 at the Eleventh and Birdwell station, and 124 at the Northside station.

"Every citizen of Big Spring has my assurance that the vote of trust placed in me will be upheld," Zachariah said this morning. "One of my reasons for entering the contest was to eliminate apathy and encourage more voter participation in civic affairs. From this standpoint, Tuesday's election results were most gratifying to me.

ZACHARIAH

"I appreciate the confidence, support, and efforts expended in my behalf in securing the wide margin of victory in returning me to a seat on the commission," he added.

McAdams also expressed thanks to voters.

"I am grateful for the fine vote I received in Tuesday's election," he stated, "and will show this gratitude by doing as I said in my original announcement—the best job I can for Big Spring.

Zachariah is purchasing manager for Cosden Oil and Chemical Co., and previously served 10 years on the commission, four of them as mayor. He has served on many civic organizations, and is prominently identified with the Easter Seals Society for Crippled Children and Adults, at the local, state, and national levels; the Chamber of Commerce, of which he is vice president; the Elks Lodge, American Business Club, American Legion post, and others.

Active In Community

McAdams has ranch, farming and rental interests here, and has also served on numerous civic projects, including the Chamber of Commerce, American Business Club, Knights of Pythias, American Cancer Society, Tuberculosis Association, Quarterback Club, and others.

Others in the race, and their vote totals, included Mrs. Mary Thomas 459; Tony Taroni 391; L. A. Hiltbrunner 347; Roy Granbery 236; and Fred Lonsford 223.

This is how the voting was charted:

Johnson Asks Postal Rates, Pay Increases

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked congress today for postal rate increases totaling $800 million and for a three-step pay increase of some $2.5 billion for all federal employes and members of the armed forces.

In a special message, Johnson recommended that the cost of mailing letters be increased by one cent. The charge for first-class mail would go to six cents and an air mail stamp would cost nine cents.

The President also called for increases in all other postal rates.

WAGE HIKES

Johnson proposed that the government's 2.5 million civilian employes, and members of the armed forces, be given an average pay increase of 4.5 per cent effective Oct. 1.

In addition, he called for further increases on Oct. 1, 1968, and Oct. 1, 1969, for civilian workers.

Johnson said that would make federal salaries comparable with those in private industry and, "with a similar increase for the armed forces, the cost would be more than $2.5 billion per year."

The chief executive talked about the desirability of putting federal salaries on a par with private pay as soon as possible.

THREE STEPS

He added, however: "In view of today's fiscal and economic conditions, my advisers inform me that a pay raise of this magnitude would not be prudent."

For that reason, he proposed the three-stage increases that would not take full effect until Oct. 1, 1969.

"While inflationary pressures in the economy have lessened in recent months, they have not disappeared," Johnson said. "They could easily recur. We must therefore continue to seek restraint in private wage settlements and to exercise restraint in the operations of government."

Johnson said higher postal rates are needed because the Post Office Department deficit will be about $1.2 billion plus the cost of the pay increase he recommended.

JULY 1 TARGET

He asked Congress to make a one-cent increase in letter mail rates effective July 1. He also called for an average increase of 21 per cent for special rate fourth class mail — mainly books and records — on the same date.

The President called for a gradual three-year average increase of 22 per cent for second-class mail — newspapers and magazines — starting next Jan. 1.

As for third-class charges, the chief executive proposed an average increase of 28 per cent. The increase for single pieces of mail would go into effect July 1. On bulk mailings it would be delayed until Jan. 1.

ZIP CODING

Johnson said he was proposing this delay in recognition of the cost borne by mailers who had to start zip coding and presorting their bulk mailings as of last Jan. 1.

He pictured the proposed rate increases as a necessary forerunner to a modernized postal service.

"We do not have such a postal service today," he said.

He added that many post offices are old and too small, and all must be equipped with modern, high-speed mail processing machines — "the most efficient our nation's technology can produce."

Two More Girls Nominated For Youth Award

Names of two more girls were submitted today as candidates for the Zale - Herald Youth Achievement Award. Listed for honors are Sarah Bennett, Big Spring senior, and Sarah Oakes, Coahoma senior.

There are now 23 young people in the Howard County High Schools who have been nominated to receive an outstanding honor for dedicated service and leadership in school, church and community affairs. Many of these have received multiple nominations — two, three, perhaps a dozen — as friends have listed their special achievements.

Nominations will close the first of next week, so those who wish to submit names are urged to do so now. The junior or senior boy or girl will be publicly honored at a banquet, and presented a large trophy and an engraved watch.

RUNNELS STUDENTS LIKE EXCITEMENT
Besides, they didn't have to go to class

Fire Snuffed Out At Runnels School

Runnels Junior High School students this morning had a brief respite from classes and a lot of excitement.

A fire broke out about 9:35 a.m. in a closet containing choir robes and books located in a girl's rest room on the lower floor. Flames quickly spread throughout the room.

FOUND BLAZE

R. T. Newell, principal, and a janitor, began searching the blaze, after a teacher reported smelling smoke in the building.

They made a search of the boy's rest room and were coming out when they saw smoke coming from the girl's rest room.

When they opened the door, "it was like the whole room had blown up," Newell said. "Flames were climbing to the top of the rest room."

He sounded the fire alarm — three short rings — and students on the top two floors thought it was just an "old fire drill," and trudged out. But students on the lower floor saw the smoke and flames and quickly left the building.

While Newell called the fire department, teachers tried to put out the fire with the standard school fire extinguishers. They were quickly surrounded by smoke and were forced to abandon the fight.

SNUFFED OUT

Firemen arrived at 9:40 a.m., and with assistance from several teachers, brought their noses down to the rest room and had the fire extinguished by 9:50 a.m. The rest room received considerable damage and the closet where the fire started was a total loss, according to fire chief H. V. Crocker.

The fire may have been started by a cigarette or matches, because there is no wiring near the closet nor any wiring damaged, A. D. Meador, fire marshal, said.

There were some girls in the rest room before the fire started, according to one teacher. It is primarily used by seventh grade girls, but some eighth and ninth grade girls are sometimes on the lower floor.

NO PANIC

"Everyone got outside quickly and there was no panic, just excitement and curiosity," according to Newell. "The teachers and janitors also helped the firemen and helped clean up the mess afterwards," he added.

"I knew I smelled smoke, but I thought it was something being burned by the girls in cooking class," one teacher said, after the excitement.

Classes resumed at 10:45 and no injuries were reported.

Maiming Rap Is Reversed

AUSTIN (AP)—The Court of Criminal Appeals reversed and remanded today the maiming conviction of Byron L. McClellan Jr., who was given a 7-year probated sentence for allegedly blinding a North Texas State University student in 1965.

McClellan appealed the conviction on the ground "there is no evidence in the case" that he committed an offense.

State attorneys argued that evidence showed McClellan was the leader of a group of four students who entered the dormitory room of Michael Portman at Denton. Portman lost the sight of one eye when he was hit with a bottle.

The appeals court said, "to affirm this conviction we would be required to find, contrary to the trial court's ruling, that appellant (McClellan) was not deprived of a constitutional right . . ."

Judge K. K. Woodley, writing the decision, said U.S. Supreme Court cases have held that "it was a fundamental error to require the appellant . . . to appear before the grand jury which found the indictment against him."

Records in the appeals court show that McClellan was indicted by a grand jury before which he was required to give evidence in the case.

Connally Inks City Sales Tax Measure

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. John Connally signed into law today the local option city sales tax bill, one of the most controversial issues so far in the legislature.

Present for the brief ceremony in the governor's office were the legislative sponsors, Sens. Joe Christie of El Paso and Jack Hightower of Vernon, and Reps. John Traeger of Seguin and Bill Clayton of Springlake.

UP TO VOTERS

Also attending were Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, Speaker Ben Barnes and a number of mayors representing the Texas Municipal League.

The bill becomes effective 90 days after the end of this legislative session. The regular 140-day session ends May 29.

Under the measure a city could levy a local sales tax of 1 per cent if approved by voters in that city. An election proposing such a levy could be called either by the city council or by petition of 20 per cent of the voters. It could be abolished in the same manner, after two years.

SAME ARTICLES

In cities where the local sales tax is authorized, the state comptroller would collect the 2 per cent state sales tax and the 1 per cent city tax at a combined rate on retail sales of 17 cents or more.

The same articles that are covered by the state tax would be covered by the city tax.

After collection the state comptroller would remit the city's share of the tax, deducting about 2 per cent for collection costs.

Faculty Adviser Flames Victim

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Nine persons — eight students and a faculty adviser — died today in a smoky fire that swept a Cornell University residence hall in the predawn hours.

Eleven other persons, eight of them girl students, suffered from smoke inhalation but none was considered in serious condition.

Among the dead students were three who were taking part in a six-year experimental course for top-ranked freshmen seeking doctorate degrees.

CAUSE PROBED

A university spokesman said the two-story, cinder-block building on the edge of the city near the campus housed 71 persons, including 43 in the experimental program.

The cause of the fire was not determined. Firemen said it apparently began in the basement.

The bodies were discovered in hallways, rooms and in the lobby.

Sheets dangling from modern, horizontal paned windows indicated an escape route used by more than a score of the students.

TERRIBLE TRAGEDY

A policeman among the first on the scene told a newsman there was no fire visible from the outside of the building but "people were hanging out of all the windows."

University President James E. Perkins was in Paris when informed of the tragedy.

"I am shocked beyond belife," he cabled. "This is a terrible tragedy. My sense of grief has been transmitted to the parents. I am cancelling my commitments and returning home on the earliest plane."

University Provost Dale R. Corson said that in addition to the 31 boys and 12 girls taking part in the six-year experimental course, the building houses three faculty members, a senior counselor and 24 graduate and senior women.

The freshman students in the experimental course all had achieved nearly perfect scores in aptitude tests for enrollment. Nearly half the students, Corson said, were valedictorians or salutatorians of their high school classes.

The program director, Stephen Parrish, said it calls for a bachelor's degree in three years, master's in the fourth and a doctorate after two more years.

"It is designed for the exceptionally able, committed student who is likely to find undergraduate routine confining and the pace of the regular bachelor of arts program too slack," Parrish said.

Cornell had been using the 15-year-old building as a student dormitory only since last year. Previously it had accommodated visiting professors and officials.

Area Fugitive Shot To Death

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—One Texas state prison fugitive allegedly shot himself to death Tuesday and his companion was taken into custody after sheriff's officers surprised the pair in a bar.

Both men, from Midland, Tex., escaped from the Sugar Land unit of the prison system March 22.

Dead is Martin Reginald Love Jr., 23. Behind bars is Darrell Ernest Hatch, also 23.

They were serving two-year prison terms for burglary.

Officers, seeking the two for questioning in several Sacramento area burglaries, went to the bar on a tip that Love was to meet a friend there.

Sgt. Bruce Keller said Love entered the bar and went to the juke box.

"I walked up to him, placed one hand on my revolver, tapped him and told him he was under arrest. He kicked me and whipped a revolver from under his jacket," Keller said.

"Love's gun went off when Keller knocked it aside but none of the 30 to 40 bar customers was hurt.

Keller said Love fled. He said he fired three times at the running man, apparently creasing Love on the forehead with one shot.

Officers said Love ran across a street and knelt. Then, Love's gun went off and he slumped over, fatally wounded with a bullet in the abdomen.

Hatch was found hiding in a nearby automobile.

Innocent, Says Shaw

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Attorneys for Clay L. Shaw entered a plea of innocent today at Shaw's arraignment on a charge of conspiring to murder President John F. Kennedy.

Shaw, smiling and chain smoking during the four-minute court appearance, said nothing.

The 54-year-old retired managing director of the International Trade Mart was arrested March 1 by Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison. A subsequent grand jury indictment accused Shaw of conspiring in mid-Septmeber 1963 with Lee Harvey Oswald and others to kill Kennedy.

Criminal District Court Judge Edward A. Haggerty Jr. accepted Shaw's plea and granted the defense 30 days in which to file motions in the case. He said the state would have an additional 30 days in which to file answers to the motions.

As a technicality, Shaw's attorneys withdrew the innocent plea pending filing of the motions. They said this was merely a legal formality and the innocent plea would be reinstated when necessary.

Civil Rights Bill Okayed

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas House members passed today the first civil rights bill in recent state history, sending it to Gov. John Connally for signature.

Senators pulled out their rule books before voting, 17-11, to lay on the table subject to call a proposal providing four-year terms for governors and other statewide officials. The motion was made by Sen. Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells, the sponsor, who obviously did not have the 21 votes necessary for Senate approval of the measure.

To get the proposed constitutional amendment off the table also will require a two-thirds vote. An earlier motion, by Creighton, to set the proposal for special order a week from today failed, 16-10, with 21 votes needed.

A motion by Sen. A. R. Schwartz of Galveston, simply to lay the proposal on the table failed, 8-19. "It would have been a dead duck," said Creighton, "The chair (Lt. Gov. Preston Smith) advises me that would kill it."

Senators adjourned until 10:30 a.m. Thursday.

Clearing the calendar of several major bills, representatives also passed Dallas Sen. George Parkhouse's "Water Rights Adjudication Act," a Senate-passed bill extending old age assistance to non-citizens who have lived in the state 25 years and a House bill removing all legal exemptions from jury duty.

Delaying Mail Costs Nine Slow Railroads

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Post Office Department has fined nine railroads $127,500 since Jan. 1, charging them with delaying the mails, it was learned today.

The fines range from $2,500 against the Chicago & Eastern Illinois to $35,000 against the New York Central. The latest fine was $20,000 against the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy.

A Post Office official said the fines were imposed after the department decided to 'take a closer look at train schedules" in an effort to find out whether late arriving passenger trains were slowing mail deliveries.

The official was unable to say how the current fines compare with those imposed in past years because until Jan. 1 the railroads were fined by regional offices and records were not kept in Washington. The operation now is handled at Post Office headquarters.

WHOSE FAULT?

Thirty-two railroad systems carry U.S. mail. Nearly all the mail the railroads carry is hauled on passenger trains. Railroads have complained recently that the disappearance of passenger train service has been the fault of the Post Office.

The railroads charge that the Post Office has been diverting mail from the trains and transferring it to trucks. The lines say that revenue from mail often means the difference between profit and loss in the operation of some passenger trains.

But the Post Office says the railroads have discontinued passenger trains, leaving it no alternative but to use highway transportation for mail. The department charges that the railroads in many cases have asked the Post Office to remove mail from trains.

Other fines levied since January are: Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific, $10,000; Louisville & Nashville, $5,000. Missouri Pacific $15,000; Norfolk & Western, $10,000; St. Louis-San Francisco, $5,000, and Southern Pacific, $25,000.

ALWAYS LATE

The department has the power to impose fines against railroads when mail - carrying trains do not meet their posted schedules. The department considers a train late when it is 15 or more minutes tardy.

In the Burlington case, the Post Office notified the line Feb. 10 that its trains had been arriving late for several months and that if the record did not improve within the next four weeks, a fine would be imposed.

The department then made a survey which showed that 21 of 58 Burlington trains carrying mail arrived late an average of 54 per cent of the time. The other 37 were late 11 per cent of the time.

Boat Operators Need To Carry Proper Papers

Tighter enforcement of the state law requiring boat operators to have official papers aboard will be made by game wardens patrolling state waters, according to information received from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

The department quoted that part of the state safety code:

"When your motorboat is in operation, your certificate of number must always be aboard and available for inspection by an enforcement officer. Your certificate is valid until the expiration date shown thereon. When you renew your certificate the same number shall be reissued, if you apply to the Motor Vehicle Division of the Texas Highway Department within the 90 day period preceding the expiration date.

"The number awarded to your motorboat must be painted, decaled, or otherwise affixed to both sides of the bow of the boat in such position as to provide easy identification. The number shall read from left to right, must be in block characters of good proportion not less than three inches in height, and must be of a color that contrasts with the background. The four numerals must be separated from the prefix and the suffix by hyphens or equivalent spaces. Federal and state law prohibits any other number from being displayed on either side of the bow of your boat.

"Notify the Highway Department of a change of address within 15 days.

"The seller must: (1) sign the Transfer Stub on its face and then give stub to purchaser; (2) complete the "Notice" on back of Certificate and return to the department. The purchaser must: (1) complete the Transfer Stub and mail to the Highway Department with fee of $1 within 15 days. (Dealer excepted); (2) if no Transfer Stub available, submit application (Form 80) to this department with $1 fee and bill of sale from seller.

"Fill out Form 80, check the space marked "Duplicate," and mail to the Highway Department together with the statutory fee of $1. You cannot legally operate your motorboat without a certificate of number on board; therefore, you should exercise care so as not to lose your certificate."

King Plans Teach-Ins, Preach-Ins

NEW YORK (AP) — Civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. has unfolded a major new program of teach-ins, preach-ins and mass demonstrations in an effort to gain from the government an admission "that we have been wrong from the beginning of our adventure in Vietnam."

The winner of the 1964 Nobel Peace Prize pictured the United States Tuesday as so dedicated to its worldwide money and material investments that it has become "the greatest purveyor of violence in the world today," and is on the wrong side of a world revolution for human rights.

OBJECTORS

"Now they languish under our bombs," he said of the South Vietnamese, "and consider us — not their fellow Vietnamese — the real enemy. They move sadly and apathetically as we herd them off the land of their fathers into concentration camps where minimal social needs are rarely met. So far we may have killed a million of them, mostly children."

King's first recommendation, delivered at a news conference, was for "those who are prepared to do it, who see the great dangers ahead for mankind," to become conscientious objectors.

FIVE-POINT PLAN

In the evening, before more than 3,000 persons in the Riverside church, he called for clergymen to give up their draft-exemption as clergy and become conscientious objectors.

He also suggested a five-point program designed to "begin the long and difficult process of extricating ourselves from this night-marish conflict:"

—End all bombing in Vietnam.

—Declare a unilateral cease-fire "in the hope that such action will create the atmosphere for negotiation."

—Curtail U.S. military build-ups in Thailand and Laos.

—Accept a role for the National Liberation Front — Viet Cong —in negotiations and in any future government, because it "has substantial support in South Vietnam."

—Set a date for removing all foreign troops in accord with the 1954 Geneva agreement.

In his hour-long address, sponsored by the Clergy and Laymen Concerned about Vietnam, King said the civil rights and peace programs were inextricably linked in his mind.

Texas Pilot Joins Attack

SAIGON (AP)—The Air Force said Tuesday eight of its fliers—including Maj. James K. Fox, 36, of Alto, Tex., and Capt. Walter Bancraft, 32, of Panama City, Fla., joined 10 South Vietnamese Air Force pilots in attacking a Communist base camp in South Vietnam Monday.

The raid six miles east of Quang Ngai City set off three secondary explosions while destroying 74 enemy fortifications and damaging 15 others. The Vietnamese attacked first, the Viet Cong returned to their camp and the Americans were called in.

"We had dropped our bombs on another target and were getting ready to land when we heard on our radio a flight being scrambled for take off," Fox said. "We still had our 20 millimeter cannon ammo and plenty of fuel, so we diverted to the target area. The VC were running down the beach."

Dear Abby

Should Heed Son's Request

DEAR ABBY: Will you please answer this quickly? My only son will soon be returning from Vietnam. He has requested that I let his wife meet his train ALONE. He says he wants just two days and nights with his wife for "the honeymoon they never had."

He wants me to keep their two young children, without telling them that their Daddy is in town. I am just supposed to say that "Mama went to get Daddy, and will bring him to Grandma's house. After this disgusting two-day sex orgy, the children and I will be allowed to greet him!

I may not like your answer, Abby, but I will abide by it. I think this request is highly unfair to me. Just sign me—

ONLY HIS MOTHER

DEAR ONLY: It is your son's request, Mother. Forget everything other than fulfilling it.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: To get right to the point, I do not care for dogs in my house. This goes for big dogs, little dogs, and even the hairless kind that are not supposed to smell, but do. They are all dogs to me. We reared our children and had dogs for them, but they were never allowed in the house. They slept in doghouses or out in the garage.

My problem: Whe have relatives who are dog-crazy. They love their dogs more than some people love their children . . . These relatives have visited us, and brought their dogs along—knowing how I feel about them, and have even taken them into their beds! Abby, we have just redecorated our home, installed new carpet, and recovered our furniture, and I do not want dogs on it.

These relatives are coming again. How can I let them know they are welcome but not their dogs, without having them think I am an old crab?

NO DOG LOVER

DEAR NO DOG LOVER: You can TELL them before they arrive that they are welcome, but their dogs are not. But don't be surprised if you get the "love me — love my dog" bit. They WILL think you are an old crab, but you'll have kept the dogs out of your home, and that's the object, isn't it?

* * *

DEAR ABBY: The other day I was jolted by a flaw in an otherwise stunning 21-year-old blonde. On my first approach to her, I noticed that her teeth badly needed brushing. I realize that this could happen to anyone occasionally, but with this girl, it is a habit.

The idea of kissing a girl with noticeable food particles between her teeth is utterly revolting. Someone should tell her, but I am not the one. How about you? STUNNED

DEAR STUNNED: Since I consider it a kindness to offer constructive criticism, I'll do it: Girls, look at your teeth after you've eaten, and, if necessary, slip away and privately use a bit of dental floss. P.S. You, too, fellows.

Rain, Snow Dots West

By The Associated Press

Rain and snow fell in the West and in scattered sections of the Midwest today. Skies were generally clear or partly cloudy in most other parts of the nation.

Showers covered areas in the Pacific Coast and extended inland to the Rockies. Snow fell in the mountains.

Thundershowers dampened parts of the Ohio Valley, with some heavy amounts in Ohio, including about one inch at Dayton in six hours. Hail fell in scattered areas. The wet belt extended into Illinois and Kansas.

Warm air spread from the Gulf into the nation's midsection and southerly winds sent temperatures to near normal marks in the Northeast. Cool air from south Central Canada moved into the Dakotas and Minnesota, with readings dropping to freezing in some cities.

Floods along the Mississippi River menaced some cities in Wisconsin and Iowa.

Milk Price Act Picks Up Steam

AUSTIN (AP) — A bill which a House member said amounted to a milk price fixing act was approved by a Senate Committee Tuesday night after a 2-½ hour hearing.

"All it is is price fixing," Dallas Rep. John Field told the Senate Public Health Committee.

The bill, by Fort Worth Sen. Don Kennard, sets up a nine-member Texas Dairy Commission which would establish regional production marketing areas in which it would set minimum prices processors would pay dairy farmers for raw milk.

Production stablization plans would be issued on approval of two-thirds of the dairy farmers in a production marketing area.

Distribution marketing areas also would be created, with uniform prices for milk and milk products. The Commission would be required to provide automatic changes in the prices of packaged dairy products to coincide with changes in raw milk prices.

"We are trying to protect the finest food mankind can have," testified James Alexander of Harlingen, who favored the bill.

Eleven Farmers Sign SCS Pacts

MUENSTER, Tex. (AP) — Eleven farmers in the Muenster area are beginning to apply conservation practices under the Great Plains Conservation program. Cecil Chaney, work unit conservationist, said these farmers have signed contracts with the Soil Conservation Service to carry out a soil and water conservation plan. The plan includes installing, establishing and managing practices that will reduce soil and water erosion.

Total acres under contract are 6,982. The minimum length of contract is three years, and the maximum length is 10 years. Maximum amount of government cost-share is $25,000, Chaney said.

Fire Takes Four Boys

MILLINGTON, Tenn. (AP) — Four boys, the oldest 6, died Tuesday in a fire at their home near this Memphis suburb.

Their mother, Tassieranne Jones, 38, had gone to a neighbor's home only moments before to borrow a bucket of water. Deputies said she had to be restrained from running back into the flaming house.

Killed were Sylvester Jones, 6; Jerry Louis and Terry Louis Jones, 4-year-old twins; and Calvin Lee Jones, 3. Five other brothers and sisters were attending school at the time.

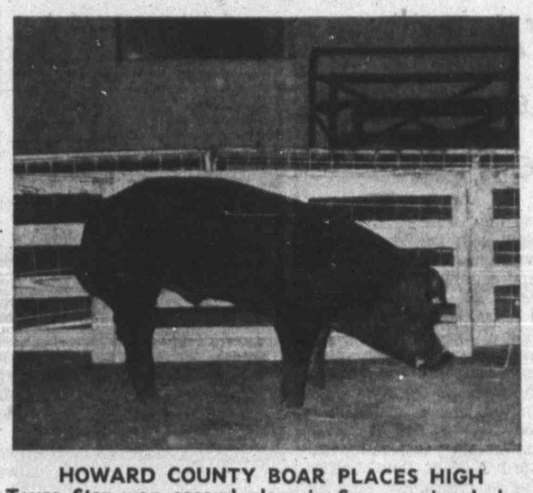
Car Plunge Fatal

HOUSTON (AP) — A car plunged 35 feet off the Spring Creek bridge on US 75 early today killing William R. Hay Jr., 21.

Ronald Ray Roberts, 21, of Waco, driver of the car, was admitted to Montgomery County hospital in Conroe in serious condition.

Highway Patrolman James Ray said the northbound car struck the south end of the bridge and plunged over the rail into the creek.

The bridge is the boundary between Harris and Montgomery County about 25 miles north of here.



HOWARD COUNTY BOAR PLACES HIGH
Texas Star won second place in Sears regional show

Local Entries Place 2nd In Regional Pig Show

Howard County's two entries in the Sears swine foundation swine show in Sweetwater last Saturday each won a second place, according to Henry Parmenter, who attended.

His son, Bill Parmenter, had the Howard County first place boar in the show and sought the district title. Gary Stallings had the first place Howard County gilt.

While Bill and his father were disappointed their entry did not take a first place, they were pleased with the praise given their Duroc. The judge's one criticism of the boar, named Texas Star, was that the animal lacked a little of having enough "ham" to make him first place.

The Sears Foundation show at Sweetwater had gilts and boars entered from Stonewall, Howard, Nolan and Mitchell counties.

The board shown by Bill Parmenter is the son of Bright Star, who was the Southwestern Duroc Congress champion boar in 1962 and sold for $1,600. Texas Star's mother produced the 1964 El Paso grand champion barrow.

Bill, who is an eighth grader at Goliad, is deeply interested in swine. He has been in the Howard County 4-H swine program for four years. He won the county 4-H swine achievement awards in 1966, and he also works with lambs, winning a second place in 1966. He is a life scout and a member of Troop 179, sponsored by the Kentwood Methodist Church.

Bone Dry In Texas

By The Associated Press

Bone dry Texas stayed that way today.

Experiencing its worst drought since the mid-50s, the U.S. Weather Bureau could hold out the hope for only a few evening thundershowers over extreme West Texas.

Skies were partly cloudy over South Texas today and generally clear elsewhere.

Temperatures were in the 60s and 70s. The mercury zoomed to an even 100 degrees at Presidio Tuesday—the nation's high.

No measureable rain was reported in the past 24 hours.

TEXANS AT WAR

'He Chose The Snake'

By The Associated Press

This is the story of a snake, a helicopter pilot terrified by snakes and a Texan at war who witnessed a bizarre confrontation of the two in Vietnam.

"One day we were flying with the 101st . . . to Ca Mau in the southern tip of the Delta," said CWO Wayne Nippert, 30, a helicopter pilot born in Levelland who now calls Houston home.

"All of a sudden our flight leader received a call from one ship that had a snake in the cockpit.

TERRIFIED

"You'd really have to know this individual . . . to appreciate it. The pilot was terrified of snakes.

"He was advised not to land then because it was VC country. So the pilot drew his .45 and was ready to fire the next time the snake stuck his head out of the radio compartment.

"We got to Ca Mau with the crew chief and gunner still trying to locate the snake . . ."

The pilot was beside himself.

TWO EVILS

"Mortars started falling in on us. Everybody immediately had to crank their ships back up. Of course, this one individual had to decide on the lesser of two evils.

"He chose the snake."

Nippert said they circled the area searching out the mortars and finally set back down.

"The second time we got shut down long enough to get the snake out of the cockpit," he laughed. "The CWO was greatly relieved. It was a poisonous snake.

"Americans call it the banana tree snake."

Mexico Has Joined Coast Association

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Mexico has joined the Louisiana-Texas Hug-the-Coast Highway Association.

A Mexican delegation was accepted into the association's membership at the 16th semi-annual meeting here Monday.

Eugenio Hernandez Balboa of Ciudad Victoria, Tamaulipas, Mexico, offered the association five routes to extend the route into Mexico.

Generally, the proposal is to extend US 11 to Matamoras, across from Brownsville, Tex., to Mexico City via Ciudad Victoria and Tampico.

S. E. Doughtie of Bay City, Tex., who was re-elected president, said the two-state organization wants to extend US 11 from Montreal to the Mexican Border. US 11 now terminates in New Orleans and Scranton, Pa.

The group will hold a meeting in Galveston, Tex., Sept. 16-18, said Doughtie.

Dumb Thug Steals Insurance Papers

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — A burglar fled with only insurance papers after he banged away at a combination dial on a safe until it broke off. Police said the safe was unlocked.

VIDA Leaders Slate Rally

LAREDO, Tex. (AP) —VIDA leaders, including five arrested Monday on charges of disturbing the peace, awaited today a visit Thursday of Texas AFL-CIO leaders.

A labor rally is scheduled that day to support their goal of higher wages for Laredo cafe and restaurant workers.

The five arrested Monday were among a group of 35 that were marching on the Laredo City Hall to ask Mayor Joe Martin Jr. to take public stand in their fight for higher salaries.

All were released on $100 bonds. A hearing was set for April 11.

The 35 marchers said they were members of VIDA (Voices in Democratic Action) which began picketing a cafe Feb 22, about the same time 26 of the place's employes walked off.

The strikers asserted today they were paid only $2 per day plus tips.

A restraining order against mass picketing was ordered April 1. Sheriff Porfirio Flores said the marchers violated this order Monday.

"They were violating the restraining order, but we decided to file on them for disturbing the peace," he said.

Police Chief William Weeks said he and some police were discussing peace disturbance when the sheriff made the arrests in front of the police station.

VIDA was organized here after some anti-poverty workers and VISTA (Volunteers in Service to America) became dissatisfied with that group's accomplishments and decided to take more direct action, leaders said.

The labor leaders who are scheduled to visit the Thursday rally here include Hank Brown, president of the Texas AFL-CIO who is billed as main speaker.

Ten members of the Future Homemakers of America are working on degrees at Big Spring Senior High School. Shown are five girls who are earning their chapter degrees. Seated are Juanice Key, Sherry Powell and Susan Lawhon, and standing are Caroline Crawford and Corky Grantham. Others working on the degree are Peggy Riherd, Loretta Owen, Marianne Lipscombe and Halena Wozencraft. Cathy Shaw is working on her state degree.

Future Homemakers Observe Anniversary

Texas' 72,000 - plus Future Homemakers of America join their half - million sisters in chapters throughout the United States, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands in celebrating their 21st birthday this year.

Public attention will focus on the organization during FHA Week, April 2-8, as the girls plan a different activity for each day to emphasize their high ideals.

This national youth organization of homemaking education students in junior and senior high schools officially is sponsored by the U.S. Office of Education and the American Home Economics Association. The Texas Association is sponsored by the Homemaking Education Division, Texas Education Agency, Austin. Local high school homemaking teachers serve as advisers to the 1,514 chapters

Under the supervision of these advisers FHA'ers enjoy opportunities for developing individual and group initiative in planning and carrying out homemaking activities. They have set for themselves two very ambitious objectives: (1) To help each family member recognize his abilities and strive for their full development; and, (2) To participate actively in projects for family, community and world improvement.

Today these young women are responsible members of their families, learning to be creative leaders in the homes they will have in the future. They are educating themselves to establish secure, stable homes.

Six thousand officers, delegates and advisers of the Texas Association will convene for their 1967 meeting in Dallas, April 21-22, announces Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, director of Homemaking Education, Texas Education Agency, Austin.

Locally, the FHA anniversary is being observed in the senior high school and both junior high schools. A "color day" was slated with members wearing the FHA colors of red and white, and the traditional "Apple for the Teacher" day saw faculty members being presented with fresh fruit. Mrs. Jack Alexander of Goliad, announced "Little Sister" day was held today and FHA meetings will be held during Thursday classes. On Friday, the ninth grade girls will visit the homemaking department at the senior high school. At the end of the week, two delegates from Goliad and Runnels will be chosen to attend the state meeting April 21-22 in Dallas. There are 110 FHA members at Goliad and 90 at Runnels.

Mrs. Kenneth Wink, homemaking teacher at Sands High School, said that Monday was Teacher Appreciation Day, Tuesday was Color Day and today is Most Irresistible Day. Thursday will be Dress-Up Day and Friday will be Twirp Day which will climax with a party in the home economics cottage. Mrs. Wink will accompany two delegates, Sarah Bledsoe and Vickie Grantham, to the Dallas meeting.

At Big Spring Senior High School, approximately 100 FHA members are instructed by Mrs. Wilbur Cunningham, Mrs. John Hamilton and Miss Helen Willard. This week the girls have observed a publicity day, color day and teacher appreciation day. Thursday will be Twirp Day and Citizenship Day. On Friday, the group will entertain girl students from both junior high schools.

D&D Told Of Deep Drilling

R. J. Hand, division drilling supervisor for Standard Oil Company of Texas, was guest speaker for a dinner meeting held by the Desk and Derrick Club Monday evening at Furr's Cafeteria. C. C. Michel, who was guest speaker at the club's March meeting, introduced Hand.

"Deep Drilling in the Delaware and Val Verde Basins" was the subject chosen by Hand. A map defined the Delaware Basin as an elongated feature extending from a point midway between Carlsbad and Artesia, N. M., on the northwest to a point approximately 30 miles southeast of Fort Stockton in Pecos County, Tex. The approximate length is 190 miles, being 100 miles wide on the northwestern end and 50 miles wide on the southeastern end. The Val Verde Basin begins immediately southeast of the Delaware Basin at approximately the boundary line between Pecos and Terrell counties. This basin extends southeastward to the middle of Edwards County paralleling the border on its north boundary and extending into Mexico on the south.

Hand pointed out that the greatest percentage of deep drilling activity in Texas has been in the Delaware Basin. Of the total of 97 deep wells drilled in Texas during 1966, 55 of them were here. In Pecos County alone there were 23 deep development wells and three wildcat wells drilled. Of these, 12 development wells were in the ultra deep category in the Gomez Field.

A chart of formations and depths revealed that in 11 of the 17 formations hydrocarbon is present and these formations are all at extensive depths. Drilling at such depths requires heavy drilling equipment. Improvements in drilling practices have reduced drilling costs from $200,000 — $1,000,000 to the present range of $75,000-$125,000 per well.

Hand discussed problems of drilling with the aid of a chart of casing landing depths. Casing programs throughout the Delaware Basin vary from area to area and company to company. A generalized casing program for use in the Gomez Field or Hamon Field areas was used as an illustration.

The speaker summarized that Texas' 97 deep holes in 1966 accounted for 1,877,241 feet of hole drilled for a total of $96,605,990 for an average of 19,353 feet per well at a cost of $995,938 per well. Most of this work was centered in the Delaware Basin of West Texas.

Hand, who spent five years in the Army during World War II, is a 1950 graduate of Texas A&M where he earned a degree in Petroleum Engineering. He joined the Standard Oil Company of Texas the same year and resides in Midland.

Mrs. Paul Van Sheedy presided for a brief business session and introduced a new member, Mrs. Richard Schilling, and three guests, Michel, Hand and Scott Hughes. Seventeen members attended.

The next meeting will be May 1 in the Community Room of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association building.

Community Property Law Affects Income Tax Return

DALLAS—The income tax instructions mailed to taxpayers do not tell the whole story for married taxpayers in Texas.

Ellis Campbell Jr., district director of the Dallas District, points out that married couples in Texas must consider the Texas Community Property law in determining what they should report on their income tax return. They must distinguish what is community property and income and what is separate property and income if they plan on filing separate returns.

In filing separate returns each spouse must take into account half of the community income and deductions, and all of his or her separate income and deductions, to determine the proper tax on separate returns. Each may claim only his own exemptions and deductions. A dependent supported with community funds may be claimed by either spouse—however, an exemption may not be divided by the taxpayers.

Campbell says that—contrary to other states—a non-working wife in Texas is liable for filing an income tax return and paying the tax due on one-half of her working husband's income, unless they file a joint return that is signed by both husband and wife. Determining the amount of community income and deductions becomes especially important in divorce cases.

The husband and wife are each liable for income tax on one-half of the income from the salaries of both and are each entitled to one-half of the deductions up to the date of divorce. Each is naturally liable for his or her own separate income after the date of divorce.

Campbell emhasizes three special areas affected by community property law:

DIVIDEND EXCLUSION

Since dividends are considered community property in Texas, the husband and wife may claim a $200 dividend exclusion rather than $100, no matter which spouse owns the stock. An estimated 160,531 Dallas District taxpayers filing joint returns report dividends on their tax return. Many of these taxpayers do not understand that the community property law gives them a double dividend exclusion.

Community property law makes it possible for Texas taxpayers with a capital loss of more than $1,000 on sale of community property, to file separate returns and claim as much as $1,000 capital loss on each return. An estimated 22,462 Dallas District taxpayers file joint returns showing a capital loss each year. Some of these are eligible to file separate returns and claim an additional loss.

RETIREMENT INCOME

The community property law works both for and against Texas taxpayers in claiming retirement income credit. When one spouse retires and becomes eligible for retirement income credit on his tax return and the other spouse continues to work, the community property law can eliminate part or all of the retirement income credit that that would be available to the retired taxpayer in other states.

On the benefit side, community property can give a young wife in Texas full retirement income credit from the retired husband's income from a public retirement system, even though she would not qualify in non-community property states. Community property's greatest tax benefit comes from the additional $1,524 retirement income credit for a non-working wife who qualifies for retirement income credit on the basis of having community income for more than 10 years. An estimated 19,530 Dallas District tax-payers claim retirement income credit on joint returns each year. The community property law can cause some of these taxpayers to pay as much as $300 additional tax—or it can reduce the tax bill by as much as $300.

Document 5192, explaining the community property law effect on income tax, is available at IRS offices for taxpayers who need additional information to claim the proper dividend exclusion, capital loss, or retirement income credit. Taxpayers who are concerned about the community property effect on their income tax return should call the Internal Revenue Service for help.

LBJ, RFK Clash Over Election Act

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy again are clashing — this time over the White House-backed presidential election campaign financing law.

Kennedy called Tuesday for repeal of the law enacted by Congress last year, saying it would give "massive amounts of funds in a dangerous and unrestricted way to the national leadership of the two major political parties."

NO NAMES

Although the New York Democrat named no names, his remarks seemed directed at least partially at Johnson — particularly since Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., said Tuesday the White House "was calling all over the United States during the Easter recess" seeking votes to prevent repeal of the plan. Johnson had endorsed the the plan last year.

The current law would provide up to $30 million to each major political party in 1968, with the money coming from income tax payments. It allows each taxpayer specifically to allot $1 of his income levy to a fund to be split between the parties.

'CHECKOFF' PLAN

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., author of the measure, has suggested amending it this year to eliminate the taxpayer "check-off" system and substitute direct $30-million federal appropriations to the major parties.

But Gore is leading a drive to repeal the measure altogether.

He is trying to tack his repealer amendment onto a bill restoring tax breaks to business.

'A MONSTER'

Kennedy, attacking Long's proposed amendment as "a monster," said "it could lead to destruction of our local political parties and their domination from Washington."

He suggested national leaders could withhold funds generated by the measure from states whose leadership refused to deliver delegates at the national conventions.

Long insisted that anyone using the tactics Kennedy feared "would end up in the penitentiary."

Further spotlighting Kennedy's clash with the administration was a letter to Long urging defeat of Gore's move and signed by Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler.

SHOWDOWN LOOMS

As the Senate headed for a possible showdown today on the campaign financing issue, the House Foreign Affairs Committee opened its hearings on Johnson's request for $3.1 billion in foreign aid for the year beginning July 1.

Some committee members predicted the President's aid package — a controversial item any year — would get a particularly rough going-over from this year's economy-minded Congress.

Patriotic Judge Discharges Marine

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Marine Cpl. Wardell Finney limped as he approached the bench in traffic court where he was answering a speeding charge.

When Judge Nathan Young learned the reason for the limp, he said, "on my own motion, I am going to discharge you in view of the fact that you were wounded in the service of the country."

The local winner will receive a merchandise certificate redeemable at Furr's Market where the winner's entry in the national contest was obtained. This entry was selected from almost 750,000 registrations in the sweepstakes.

About 50 attended the meeting, which is an outreach feature of Head Start to get parents involved in the efforts of the program. The meeting was held in the Kate Morrison School building.

Mrs. Crawford discussed ways to improve nutrition and encouraged the parents to work with the Head Start objectives.

No Place For Bermuda Grass

Sherry Sandburg, 10, expresses amazement at a long, healthy strand of bermuda grass which has suddenly popped out of the wall in the kitchen at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Sandburg, 2607 Carlton Drive. The Sandburgs do not know where the nomadic grass started. The first they noticed was the sprig growing healthily out of their wall. Whether to mow the kitchen wall or look for the source and destroy the invader is the problem that Sherry will have to solve. (Photo by Sam Blackburn)

District Hits High Rate In March, Earliest Ever

For the first time in its history, the Colorado River Municipal Water District has hit a billion gallons production in March.

Until this year, the district had never sold as much as a billion gallons of water until May, and that in only three years. Usually it is June or after when this level of demand is reached.

Figures compiled by W. P. Odom, assistant to the general manager, show 1,016,885,956 gallons metered to customers in March, or 8.64 per cent more than this month last year.

The member cities of Odessa, Big Spring and Snyder took 633,388,600 gallons, about 36,000 gallons or 6.07 per cent more than March, 1966. The oil companies required 383,497,356 gallons, some 45,000,000 more or 13.16 per cent over March of last year.

The surge in output boosted the year's deliveries to 2,732,442,370, which gives it a 12.06 per cent bulge for the first quarter.

During March, Odessa drew 356,380,000 gallons, up 8.95 per cent over March of 1966; Big Spring took 216,672,000, up 2.70 per cent; Snyder 60,336,600, up 2.18 per cent.

The system is in order for continued high production, Odom reported. Currently, some preventative maintenance is being effected on the Snyder reservoir, but other than that the district is in position to meet immediately the summer peak demands.

Bill Takes Aim At 'Other Guy'

AUSTIN (AP) — If the "other guy" that causes an auto accident has no liability insurance, the victim has no protection in most cases, a House Committee heard Tuesday night.

The House Insurance Committee was presented a bill that would require uninsured motorist coverage as a mandatory part of auto liability policies.

Mandatory, that is, unless a driver specifically states he does not want it.

William Hunter McLean, chairman of the State Insurance Board, said mandatory uninsured motorist coverage would cost about a third more than the present $4 annual premium for a one-car family or $7 for a two-car family.

It's a terribly expensive way to get at the problem," McLean said.

The bill went to a subcommittee for more study.

Sewage Treatment Bill Clears Panel

AUSTIN (AP)— Two identical bills, aimed at giving greater flexibility in sewage treatment and disposal and backed by state water agencies, won House committee approval Tuesday night.

A Senate-passed bill and a House bill, both worded the same, cleared the House Conservation and Reclamation Committee and are now eligible for floor debate.

Enemy Defections At All-Time High

SAIGON (AP) — An all-time high of 5,557 Viet Cong deserted last month and came over to the allied side, U.S. officials announced today.

The record surge of defectors was nearly double the previous record of 2,917 Viet Cong who deserted in February under the South Vietnamese government's open arms program.

The mounting wave of enemy defections was announced as the ground war in South Vietnam simmered in small, scattered patrol clashes and bad weather returned to North Vietnam, curtailing U.S. air strikes after the heaviest raids in five months Monday.

SURPRISE ATTACK

U.S. and allied forces reported killing 75 of the enemy in scattered contacts Tuesday. Units of the South Korean Capital Division claimed 41 Viet Cong killed in the nine patrol skirmishes and said there were no Korean casualties.

In an unusual encounter, a two-man U.S. reconnaissance unit spotted and engaged about 10 Viet Cong troops who were acting as a screening force for a larger enemy unit of about 40 men. The two U.S. soldiers, with help from the rest of their patrol, killed nine Viet Cong in a surprise attack 33 miles southwest of the coastal city of Tuy Hoa, a U.S spokesman said.

South Vietnamese force s reported killing 33 Viet Cong in four small contacts.

ATTEMPTS FAIL

The U.S. Air Force charged that ground fire from the middle of a North Vietnamese village brought down an F105 Thunderchief Sunday. The loss of the plane, the 500th downed over North Vietnam in the war, had been announced Tuesday. The followup Air Force announcement apparently was intended to show that the Communists position some of their antiaircraft guns in the center of populated areas and that civilian casualties therefore cannot be avoided.

The ground fire from the middle of the village was reported by the U.S. pilot flying wingman for the Thunderchief that was shot down. Repeated attempts were made to pick up the downed flier by helicopter, but all failed and he was listed as missing.

'OPEN ARMS'

The surge of 5,557 Viet Cong defectors during March raised the total for 1967 to 10,746, or nearly double the rate last year, U.S. officials said. The number of "open arms" defectors in the first three months of last year was 5,521.

In the last week of March, up to last Saturday, 1,000 Viet Cong defected to the government side. Of these, U.S. officials said, 630 were Viet Cong soldiers, 301 were political cadre and 69 were "miscellaneous" Viet Cong adherents.

A spokesman for the U.S. mission reported that the total of Viet Cong defectors since the open arms campaign began in 1963 now stands at 58,970.

Gazing at him (Stephen), all who sat in the council saw that his face was like the face of an angel. (Acts 6:15, RSV)

PRAYER: Our Father, Creator and Redeemer, we thank Thee that we know Thou art alive because Thou dost shine into our lives when we pray. Through the meditations of our hearts and minds, prepare us to witness for Christ. We ask in the name of Thy Son, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

San Antonio Conference

Perhaps the most significant thing about the first Texas Conference for the Mexican - American, to be held in San Antonio April 13, is that it could hardly have happened a decade ago and certainly could not have attracted such impressive attention if it had.

This state is awakening to the special problems of its largest, and most rapidly growing, population minority group. More important, it is beginning to recognize the feasibility of solving those problems and the potential that has for the social progress and economic development of the state as a whole.

Open and informed discussion of those problems and that potential, particularly in relation to education and community life, will be the worthwhile purpose of the San Antonio conference. The opening address will be by Gov. John Connally, and other speakers will include Sen. Ralph Yarborough, U.S. Rep. Henry Gonzalez, Dr. George I. Sanchez of the University of Texas, and State Eduation Commissioner J. W. Edgar. The conference is ponsored by the Texas Education Agency, the Inter-American Education Center and the Southwest Education Development Laboratory.

Only in recent years has this state, with considerable stimulus from federal programs, made significant beginnings in coping with Mexican-American minority group problems, as in special education projects, migratory workers' welfare, alleviation of oppressive conditions in urban slum areas, and training and employment. The San Antonio conference may serve a useful purpose in bringing into focus the many remaining problems, and thus through public consciousness open the way to attack and solve them.

Up To Cities Now

With minor opposition the Legislature approved a one per cent city sales tax. Local - option elections can begin in September, one month after the law becomes effective, to determine if local voters will agree to add another cent to the present state sales tax of two per cent.

A partial survey among legislators by The Associated Press indicates that most cities in the state will find it difficult to persuade voters to adopt the tax. Legislators from Houston, Corpus Christi, San Antonio, Lubbock, Midland, and other points fairly representative of the state as a whole, expressed the opinion that voters would not approve.

Thus, a tax for which municipal officials worked so hard may prove to be an empty accomplishment. Nevertheless the state for the first time in memory has recognized the fiscal plight of the cities. The Legislature has relaxed its grip on taxation. The job of persuading voters is now left to city officials.

There is a possibility that opposition to a city sales tax will gradually disappear when voters realize that the alternative is a steady increase in the property tax rate. Sentiment for a broader tax base would then carry the day. In any event, in the best tradition of the democratic process, the voters will decide.

A 50-Year-Old Story Repeated

WASHINGTON — Do fundamental issues in international affairs really change in a half - century? This correspondent has just been re-reading his news dispatches published during the eventful week of April 2, 1917, beginning with the memorable occasion on Monday night when President Wilson addressed both houses of Congress. He formally requested a declaration of a "state of war" against the imperial government of Germany.

DESPITE pacifist demonstrations outside the Capitol and after a comprehensive debate, the resolution declaring a "state of war" was passed on Wednesday by a vote of 82 to six in the Senate, and by a vote of 373 to 50 in the House of Representatives at 3:15 a.m. on Friday, April 6. At 1:19 p.m. that same day, the war proclamation was signed by the President.

EXAMINING the pro and con of the discussion in Congress, the points made 50 years ago against involvement of the United States in war are remarkably like some of those being heard today with reference to a possible "escalation" of the Vietnam war.

During 1914 America had stood aloof and, through a series of diplomatic notes, had insisted on "freedom of the seas." But German submarines in May, 1915, sank the "Lusitania," a British unarmed passenger ship. Nearly 1,200 of the citizens aboard, including 124 American citizens, were killed.

THE UNITED States government resisted the clamor for war and tried the path of negotiations. The Kaiser's government agreed not to attack unarmed ships thereafter. America continued to exercise her right to trade with both sides. Peace sentiment swept the country, and Mr. Wilson was re-elected in November, 1916. The slogan — "he kept us out of war"— and improved trade conditions played a large part in his close victory. He had only an 11-vote margin above a majority in the electoral college and less than a 600,000 majority in the popular vote.

BUT PUBLIC opinion changed when less than four months later — in February, 1917 — Germany ordered unrestricted submarine warfare. Mr. Wilson asked Congress for authority to arm American vessels for defensive purposes. A Senate filibuster, however, prevented action, as Congress automatically ended its session on March 4. The President then issued an executive order to permit merchant ships to be armed, but it soon became apparent that, without the help of the navies on the Allied side, such a step would be inadequate. So the President called a special session of Congress, and, in his address on April 2 requesting the declaration of a "state of war," he pointed out that America was not against the German people but against the military autocracy in Berlin.

WHAT WAS overlooked then, as it is today, is the interdependence of the countries of the world. It was reasoned by the enemy strategists in 1917 that the United States could never mobilize its forces in time to prevent the defeat of Britain and France.

The Vietnam controversy of today, which started with the 1954 Geneva Conference, has turned into a major war despite previous agreements, truces and pledges. There is again no indication of any reciprocity or good faith. An enemy is still counting on the pacifist sentiment inside America and believes that the demands from misguided groups — "halt the bombing" — are the true reflection of American public opinion.

WILL A miscalculation by the enemy again lead to a big war, or will a policy this time of military firmness by the United States convince the Communists that no sacrifices will be spared to force an end to the conflict and ensure a garuanteed peace?

Billy Graham

I am tremendously concerned about the slaughter on our highways. In fact, I have written to every governor in the United States asking them to join me in a nation - wide drive to Cut Traffic Deaths in Half in 1967. If you have ideas on how this campaign could be implemented, I would like to hear them. H. C.

The terrible toll of human life on our highways has long been a concern of mine too. In fact, I have preached several times on my radio program on the problem. I am convinced that death on our highways is a spiritual problem. The restlessness, the tenseness and the "hurry" phobia of our times contributes greatly to our shameful statistics. If the Golden Rule were applied to driving, your goal of cutting traffic deaths in half could be realized. If we would "drive unto others, as we want others to drive unto us," our highways would be much safer. The modern car is a lethal weapon, and it has been placed in the hands of thousands of irresponsible people. Any privilege carries with it responsibility, and irresponsibility in driving a car can endanger the lives of many people, and is tantamount with murder.

Thousands more are killed in cars every year than are killed in the war in Vietnam, and a life is no less valuable when it is taken by accident on our highways, than when defending the innocent in a war.

TITUSVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Suzette is only a miniature poodle but thinks — with some justification — that it's a mighty hunter.

Mrs. Joyce Ellis' pet chased a full-grown bobcat up a utility pole and kept the snarling predator there until a policeman arrived and shot it.

LBJ Loses Magic Wand

WASHINGTON (AP) — The earth not only didn't shake, it didn't even tremble. What happened Monday may not mean much in the long view of history. But President Johnson was rebuffed, and at an awkward time for him.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee simply questioned his judgment and leadership in foreign affairs, and put a brake on it. That this could happen, in the way it did, shows Johnson no longer waves a magic wand over Congress.

NEXT WEEK he is going to a summit meeting of Latin-American leaders at Punta del Este, Uruguay. As an encouragement to them in creating a common market, Johnson wanted to take with him a congressional pledge of U.S. aid.

He wanted to avoid being vague; he wanted to be a little definite. But the committee, headed by Sen. J. W. Fulbright, Arkansas Democrat, decided that being vague was as far as he should go.

This decision has roots beginning in August 1964, when North Vietnamese PT boats attacked American destroyers in the Gulf of Tonkin and U.S. planes retaliated by bombing coastal bases of North Vietnam.

JOHNSON asked Congress then to back him up by approving a resolution giving him a congressional go-ahead beforehand for whatever steps he thought necessary to "repel . . . aggression."

Both houses approved overwhelmingly but not before some of the members expressed misgivings about such a blanket endorsement for the future.

The resolution said the power it authorized for the President would last until he had decided peace was restored to Southeast Asia. On the strength of this, and without any formal declaration of war, Johnson intensified the war.

AS TIME passed, and the United States got more deeply involved, some of the misgivings in Congress grew, particularly among critics of the war, like Fulbright and Sen. Wayne Morse, Oregon Democrat.

Finally, in 1966 Morse tried to get the Senate to rescind the Gulf of Tonkin resolution which Fulbright had helped push through. In 1966 Fulbright said he regretted the 1964 resolution and opposed killing the Morse proposal. But the Senate did kill it, 95 to 5.

Wives Play Waiting Game

NEW YORK (AP) — One of life's little ordeals to men is waiting for women.

It is particularly to husbands, who sometimes figure they spend the greater part of their married life waiting for their wives to do something or to get ready to go somewhere.

Actually, however, it isn't that bad. If a man is kept waiting by his wife for an average of only an hour a day, by the time of his golden wedding anniversary he will have wasted only two full years of his life in this manner.

OF COURSE a fellow could get a lot of constructive things done in two years. For example, he could:

1. Read the Harvard five-foot shelf of books forwards—and backwards.
2. Build a houseboat in the back yard.
3. Take a correspondence course and fit himself for a better job.
4. Learn how to become a pool shark.
5. Raise enough chinchillas in the basement to make his wife the most expensive fur coat in the neighborhood.

BUT SINCE his waiting is spread over so many years, it usually results in nothing more productive than an ulcer.

The whole situation has its odd aspects. If a guy is courting a dame and she is late for a date, she apologizes all over the place.

And she doesn't keep him waiting the least bit, ordinarily, when he proposes. Her "yes" comes with such a breeze that he is likely to catch a cold.

But once women get married they start playing the waiting game. Not just this wife. Not just that wife. Not some wives. All wives.

THEY SEEM to feel that every time they keep their husband waiting it wins them another merit badge in heaven. Either that or it's their subconscious revenge on him for waiting too long to propose.

If you are going to the supermarket for a wife, she will keep you waiting while she mulls over whether you should get two cans of dog food or three.

IF YOU are supposed to meet her at a downtown corner, you can wait through three changes of climate before she shows up, cheerful as a guilt-free cherub.

If you are ready to go to a party at 7 p.m., she is still daubing goo on her face at 8 p.m.

If you are ready to leave the party at 11 p.m., you are still holding the door open at midnight while she and her hostess exchange goodby gossip.

Sleeping Hand No Cause For Alarm

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am a male aged 58, five feet 11 inches and 210 pounds. My question: My hands go numb quite often while I am asleep. I have been to doctors but they give me no satisfaction. Can you help me? — J.H.M.

While this is a not uncommon complaint, it is not an easy one to deal with medically. You may have better luck trying some simple experiments by yourself.

Here's the reason: As we get on into middle age we can expect some changes in the spine. That's perfectly natural. But sometimes there may be traces of arthritis, or some slight change in shape of the spine which, under some circumstances can put a bit of pressure on a nerve.

The pressure may not exist during the day when we are up and moving around. But at night the bones of the spine settle into a different position. Pinch the appropriate nerve and it can result in numbness.

Cutting off circulation to some degree can have a similar effect at times. You know how your foot can "go to sleep" if you sit with legs crossed in a certain position.

There's nothing dangerous about that, and usually there is no reason to be concerned over numbness after you've been asleep, since the trouble stops when you wake and move about. Still, it's a nuisance.

The pinching of the nerve is very slight and does not exist when you are up. That's why it is very difficult for a physician to identify the exact trouble spot. Neither can he very well guess what odd position you may sleep in.

So here are my suggestions:

Experiment with a higher or lower pillow, or none. The position of the neck and shoulders may well be suspected since it is your hands which turn numb. Nerves serving the hands run from the neck spine through the shoulders and arm.

Too soft a bed, or sagging of it, can compress a nerve. A harder mattress might help. But a less expensive method to try first would be inserting a bed board (a sheet of ordinary ply wood works well) between the springs and mattress, to minimize sagging.

Or you might merely try to correlate your sleeping position with numbness. Some particular position may cause it. This is somewhat difficult, however, because most of us change position repeatedly in our sleep.

X-ray examination of the spine, especially the neck, and neurological tests are necessary to determine the exact site of trouble. You are overweight. This might well have something to do with your symptoms, also your sleeping position, pressures on circulation to the arms. Try the simple methods first.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 15 and recently have noted a hard lump-like formation in my right breast. In the last years I have had two chest X-rays and wonder if this could have caused it.

My mother thinks I should see a doctor and I am planning to do so as soon as I hear from you and find out if it is serious. —S. H.

Do as your mother says. Until your doctor examines it, there is no way to guess whether it is serious or trivial. Maybe it will amount to nothing at all, but find out.

* * *

Note to Mrs. L. T.: Yes, it is possible for cataracts to exist from birth. It is not common, but it does occur. Your only recourse would be to consult a specialist to see whether surgery can correct the problem. Glasses can't.

* * *

How to get rid of leg cramps and foot pains? The answer may be simple. Write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald for a copy of the booklet, "How to Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Around The Rim

Give Us Patience

When our old dog, the late, lamented Stubby, departed for the happy hunting ground, we were agreed that we would forego the luxury of a canine. However, No. 3 boy moped until it was unbearable, and in a compassionate moment, Mama took him across town to where a mother dog had blessed her host family with another of her ceaseless litters.

ONE OF the issue was a little black bundle which was immediately reminiscent of our deceased dog, so between boy and dog it was a case of love at first sight. It's a good thing it was love, for we surely would have killed the creature dozens of times since.

From the time he was a tiny pup, Fella has barked at everyone. I doubt he would bite a cream puff, but he feels obliged to bark as though he were guarding the family jewels. When he is ignored, he stops barking and wants to play. Some protector!

HE WAS so tiny that we felt that we had to keep him in the house at first, and now he thinks he has a divine right to the place. We had a terrible time house-breaking him, and for a period it appeared that he would break us.

This character is a chronic chewer. At first we wrote this habit off as being part of puppyhood. I was ready to write him off when he chewed holes in the cuffs of the trousers to a new suit. Only the fact that I was working on my Sunday School lesson kept me from brutally extinguishing him when he chewed the cuff of another pair into. Christian charity restrained me. My father thought he was cute until he, too, discovered that something had happened to the cuffs of his trousers.

Mama's hosiery has suffered, and socks have been riddled. He even chewed a corner of a cushion and bit the end out of a pillow filled with shredded nylon. We were running late for work, or Mama would have done him in on the spot.

NOW THAT spring has come and we are no longer shamed by cold north wind, we insist that he take to the out of doors. But I'm not so sure I can stand that, either. It turns out that this critter is also a digger. Plant something, and look behind you. There is a hole right in the middle of the furrow, and dirt sprayed everywhere.

WHEN MY dahlias came up, I mulched around them, but Fella went on the theory that if a little was good, a lot was better. After this traumatic experience, it took the potato three weeks to send up another shoot. The other day I put out some tomato plants, and right behind me came this digging dog, excavating as though it were a smart thing to do. I had nursed my peonies along after having separated them against my better judgment, and with great tenderness I worked around a sprout, the last of the row to come up. Old Nuts dug around it, too, and then tromped over the others like an elephant in a glass works.

WHEREVER YOU put water — whether it is around a tree, or in a flower bed, or on the lawn, he feels called upon to start digging. His mother must have been frightened by a gopher.

He has us buffaloed. Everytime we get to the point of dealing with him in wrath, he rolls over on the floor, puts his paws behind his floppy ears and pushes them over his eyes, then peeks out with the most woe-begone look you ever saw. It's not fair!

Manchester's Book: Good And Bad

WASHINGTON — Dr. Sam Johnson, probably the most - rounded man of letters in our literature, enunciated the parable concerning books, saying that a man needn't eat the whole of an apple to find out if it were rotten. The converse of that maxim is that several large bites into William Manchester's 600-page tome, "The Death of a President," are sufficient to prove its worth.

IT IS A book that deserves a favorite accolade of Kennedia. While not flawless, it is a book of excellence. The Harper and Row publication, after so much bad publicity and a bit of compromise, still remains a literary event. It still represents a prodigious feat by its author. It is a treasury of expressive phrases, of artful contrasts in the presentation of minor figures. It gives vivid and intimate, glorified but essentially valid, word - portraits of the hero and heroine, John and Jacqueline Kennedy.

The flaws can't be overlooked. This is, or started out to be, an authorized biography of a royal family, and that's the worst kind. But Manchester's very honesty lost him the family seal of approval, and that's much to his credit.

THERE IS pictorial proof that Manchester erred several times in fact and interpretation when describing the history - making, heart - rending scene of Lyndon Johnson's taking the oath in the presence of the blood-spattered widow. The author committed a discrediting absurdity in his mauldin comment that Johnson was sworn in on a treasured Bible which Kennedy brought along on trips and pisouly read each night before going to sleep. We know now that it wasn't a Bible, but a missal or prayer book, and that the cellophane wrapping had not been broken in Kennedy's lifetime.

One reason I didn't get through the Manchester volume during the leisure allowed by the Easter vacation of Congress is that I attempted some parallel reading.

I READ, almost literally by the parallel process of holding a book in each hand, Charles Roberts' "The Truth About the Assassination." It is a superior critique of the many accounts of the murder, including the Manchester serializations in Look magazine and the half - dozen sensationalist screeds which seek to upset the Warren Report.

The value of Charles Roberts' thin volume is that he made the round trip to Dallas with the Kennedys and Johnsons, was present at the swearing-in and is merciless in double-checking both his own observations and those of other murder-scene and aftermath witnesses.

MANCHESTER FARES very poorly with Roberts, and the Warren Report fares very well. The Roberts book and the blizzard of reviews which will certainly descend on "The Death of a President" (I'm writing this before its publication) are apt to de-bunk it in a big way. There are already indications and predictions that its sale will not live up to expectations. Manchester and the royal family are both suffering from over-exposure. I'd be surprised if readers don't shun this massive work in hordes.

These are reasons, I have felt, that somebody should speak up for it as a work of creative reproduction of history. Its mistakes of fact are deplorable. Its distortions, as in its spiteful characterization of Gov. John Connally, are excusable only as dramatic license — for even the historian needs his villains.

BUT THIS big book about a big subject rises, it seems to me, above its failures. If it goes into extra editions, Manchester can and should make corrections and deal with re-evaluations in a fresh introduction. If he does so, this book will outlive its author and its generation, which is the test of literary immortality.

Pope Paul Gigs Capitalism

NEW YORK (AP) — Pope Paul's encyclical on the development of peoples, though it contained some pointed criticisms of capitalism, has evoked very little public reaction from American business interests.

If some of these same criticisms had been made from within the country, a pained and predictable roar would have been heard. In the past, at least, this has been the response to criticism from certain elements.

THE PRESENT silence could be for several reasons: Out of courtesy to the Pope, out of fear of controversy, out of lack of concern, out of necessity to assimilate the material before reacting.

The most likely reason is the last named. Although obviously critical of capitalism, the encyclical also is critical of communism. People used to criticism of one or the other will be confused, for this encyclical is a critique of many institutions.

IN SOME respects the ideals of humanism espoused in the encyclical, Populorum Progressio, are the same as those held dear by Americans: That each man is the principal agent of his success or failure.

But, the observation that private property does not constitute "for anyone an absolute and unconditioned right" might be construed as inimical to those who equate property with freedom.

Even in specifics, capitalists are going to find criticism mixed with what they will consider to be in support of their views. An example came this week.

THE POPE, in discussing the disturbing and explosive reality of the rich nations becoming richer and the poor poorer, suggested that free trade itself might be contributing to this and suggested price regulation.

This was followed by a recommendation from a committee of businessmen that the United States apply preferential tariffs to help less developed nations, a proposal very similar to that made by the Pope.

But, some adherents of capitalism are going to find it difficult to assimilate the Pope's view that it is "unfortunate" that industralization has been accompanied by a system which "considers profit as the key motive for economic progress, competition as the supreme law of economics, and private ownership of the means of production as an absolute right."

THESE VIEWS are, indeed, widely held in the Western world and will find ardent defenders on principle. But, few enlightened capitalists will admit they believe in the concluding thought of that sentence:

"As an absolute right that has no limits and carries no corresponding social obligation."

Though irresponsible capitalism is not unknown in American history, most American businessmen today would argue that, as far as they are concerned, it is a thing of the past, if not in fact, then in ideal.

They would argue further that the recent history of capitalism in America has been one of increasing social responsibility, admittedly sometimes through the force of government regulation, and that irresponsible capitalism would be as much a danger to this nation as any other "ism."

Stanton Council Approves Water Pact With CRMWD

STANTON — The Stanton city council has approved the contract negotiated between it and the Colorado River Municipal Water District, Mayor S. W. Wheeler said Wednesday.

This document, which must be approved by Stanton voters and given final approval by the CRMWD board, would mean up to 2,000,000 gallons of water for Stanton in any one day. The price would be the same as that contracted by Midland last year. Stanton covenants to keep its wells in operative condition, but if demands go beyond the 2,000,000 gallons per day or the district's ability to supply, water produced from the Stanton wells would not be charged for by the district.

The district will tap its 27-inch supply line six miles north of Stanton near State Highway 137 and will install a 12-inch gate. Stanton will tie on with a 12-inch line (if this is what the engineer recommends) and deliver to a filter plant at Stanton.

No minimum contract quantity is required of Stanton, but the city covenants to take all its water from the district.

Tuesday evening, said Mayor Wheeler, the council engaged Columbian Securities as fiscal agent. A decision has not yet been reached on whether to attempt a revenue bond issue, or one partially revenue and general obligation (tax) bonds. Meanwhile, Roy Crim, engineer, is shaping plans and cost estimates for a pipeline and filtration plant.

There is no estimate as to when these details can be firmed, but Mayor Wheeler was hopeful that it could be done by next month's meeting. If ready before then, the council will be convoked and action taken. Presumably, Stanton voters would ballot on authorizing the contract as well as on bonds, if general obligation issues are involved, and the council likely will call the election when the fiscal agent and engineer report.

LAST MINUTE TAG BUYERS WITH POCKETS FULL OF MONEY
Friday's Gross At Tax Office For Car Plates Hits Record $113,740

Heavy Surge Of Sales On Final Car Tag Day

Were you one of the belated motorists who neglected to get his license plates until nearly 5 p.m. last Friday?

If you were and got caught in the jam which packed the offices of the tax assessor-collector, you won't be surprised at the volume of business the offices handled on that last day.

Mrs. Zirah LeFevre, assessor-collector, said that her deputies have just finished digging out from under the mass of paper work and have determined the day's gross business was $113,740.62.

When you consider that for the entire month of February, the offices issued only $81,983 worth of car plates, the immensity of the day's deadline rush becomes even more dramatic.

So far, Mrs. LeFevre reports, the motorists of this county have paid in a grand total of $473,295.24 for license plates for their motor vehicles.

Last year, when the deadline had passed, the total business for the first two months of 1966 stood at $474,893—which was $1,590 more than for the same 60 days in 1967.

However, Mrs. LeFevre estimates she may have that much money in checks on hand which are yet to be added to the February-March business.

Of the total so far, $175,000 has gone to the county funds and the balance has been sent to the state. The county shares in the money until $175,000 has been reached.

Many tags were issued Saturday—the actual final day—by the two substations at Newsom's Food Store on Gregg and the Lewis 5-and-10 in College Park Shopping Center. Mrs. LeFevre said that she was grateful to these establishments. She pointed out that the service they give to the public is not paid for—that the stores provide the clerks to do the work without compensation from the county.

Colleges Disappointed In Senate Money Bill

College administrators — both senior and junior — are disappointed with the Senate appropriations bill which would cut off about a third of the money they say they need to operate an acceptable program.

Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of Howard County Junior College, said on his return from Austin Tuesday evening that the College Coordination board had gone back to the legislature to appeal for more funds.

The amount the Senate bill appropriated for junior colleges, $49,000,000 for the biennium, is 32 per cent less than the coordinating board had recommended. Senior college appropriations were cut 31 per cent under the board's suggestion.

The figure proposed for junior colleges was $500 for each of the first 350 students and $450 for all full-time equivalents over that figure.

The House appropriation bill has not yet come up. Whether it will measure up to the asking of the coordinating board or the colleges and universities is not known, but prospects admittedly are gloomy. Some observers believe that each house into originating new taxes necessary to finance a program de- is trying to jockey the other signed to measure up to the governor's program for excellence in higher education.

Carson Wants More Money?

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Carson's resignation from the "Tonight" show, amid charges that NBC breached his contract, brought the retort from the network that Carson probably wanted more money. A spokesman for the entertainer denied it today.

"I have never discussed money with Johnny, and there's been no talk about any new contract," said Carson's press agent, Garry Stevens.

Carson has a $500,000-a-year contract with NBC. A network spokesman said his resignation Tuesday "seems like a question of more money."

Zoning Board Approves One, Denies Another

The Big Spring Planning and Zoning Commission Tuesday turned down one zone change request and approved another, in the only two items on the agenda.

Mary Jane Briggs asked for a change from Zone 1F-2 (one family residence) to Zone R (retail) for the south half of lot 6, and all of lots 7 and 8 of block 33, Amended College Heights Addition. The plat coincides with the Main Street and FM 700 intersection, after the farm road is rebuilt with service roads.

The change was requested to allow an expansion of the United Rent-Alls. All but one homeowner within 200 feet of the property opposed the change, stating it was primarily a residential area and should not be changed.

Ernest Lillard, public works director, said extra traffic problems might result from the change, after the new highway is completed.

The commission voted down the request.

Ben Faulkner, manager of West Texas Roofing Co., 1811 Scurry, asked a change from Zone R (retail) to Zone C (commercial) for lots 7-8, block 5, in the same addition. He said he wanted to move a trailer house onto the lot so he could guard against vandals and thieves which have been preying on the property.

The commission approved the change, noting the property is already being used for commercial purposes.

Robert Lee Dam Work About 14% Complete

In terms of dollars earned, progress has levelled on the Colorado River Municipal Water District's dam above Robert Lee. However, the volume of earth being moved has stepped up.

At the end of March, approximately 14 per cent of the project has been earned in work complete. This will pick up, however, as work on the spillway begins to hit stride and as the contractor, Clement Bros. of Hickory, N. C., swings to two shifts per day.

Last week, said O. H. Ivie, general manager of CRMWD, the dirt haul to the dam embankment reached 20,000 cubic yards per day. Near the river, the embankment has now reached a height of approximately 30 feet, and the contractor is carrying the gravel blanket up with the slope. The area for rock rip-rap has been cleared and this will be carried up with the slope, too.

Meantime, Terry Bros. of Greenville, S. C., the spillway sub-contractor, has started the concrete pour for two parts of the service spillway. Footings are down for part of the wing in the stilling basin below the dam. Forms are in place and the pour about ready for a foundation for the huge morning glory of the spillway.

David Johnson Leads Cougars To Victory

Two towering home runs by David Johnson, who ordinarily earns his keep as a pitcher, broke the backs of the Big Spring Steers in the first two innings as Abilene Cooper raced to an 11-2 District 2-AAAA victory here Tuesday afternoon.

Each of Johnson's four-masters came with two runners aboard and served to boost the undefeated Cougars into a 7-2 advantage before the Longhorns had warmed to the task.

For a brief moment in Round One, the Longhorns appeared intent on making a game of it. They fought back for their two tallies on the strength of a single by Gary Don Newsom, a mighty triple by Jesse Zapata and a perfectly executed squeeze bunt by Moose Ryan. Then Johnson jerked the rug out from under them with his second round - tripper.

POWER HITTER
David Johnson

Coach Henry Colwell of Cooper sent Johnson into the outfield and gambled with Gary Oakley on the mound. The strategy paid off. Staked to the early advantage, Oakley easily contained the Steer power after the first inning outbreak. The Longhorns managed six hits, in all, against the stocky righthander.

Johnson's first blast arrived with Randy Allen and Steve Howard aboard. His second homer came with Allen and Mike Lungberg up front.

Johnson also connected for a single in the fifth and reached base in the seventh when his hard hit grounder caromed off the glove of Jimmy Wilson.

The Steers thus receipted for their second defeat in three league starts and face a long, plodding fight back to the top. Over-all, they are 9-5. They will be at home again Saturday in a 2 p.m. game with Odessa Permian.

Zapata beat out a single in the sixth inning to go with his first inning triple to lead the Steers in hitting.

Cooper managed seven blows, with no one on the club getting more than one safety, outside of Johnson.

James Newman, who failed to survive the first inning, was charged with the defeat. David Mitchell and Junior Mendoza also mound action for the Longhorns.

A fairly stiff breeze from the southwest helped Johnson's drives carry over the left field barrier but they would probably both have been home runs on a still day.

Hogan Practices Without Gallery

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — The lonely little man crouched unnoticed on the practice green, stroking putt after putt.

The gallery rushed and eddied around him, flowed over the Augusta National course to gain a glimpse of Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer.

And he was alone again.

His only gallery was a vast sea of backs.

A little more than a decade ago crowds by the thousands hung on his every shot. The putter in privacy was Ben Hogan, winner of four Opens, two Masters, two PGA's, the British Open and the unchallenged emperor of all golf.

Now the crowds stomped after new kings.

BEN HOGAN

Hogan kept putting, trying to sink dinky little putts most other pros don't worry about.

"I worry about 'em all," Hogan said, and he has reason to. "I just can't get the ball in the hole anymore," the 54-year-old Hogan added. "It's my nerves, that's all."

He putted again. It was almost embarrassing to watch the three-foot try fall short. Hogan shook his head, grimaced and tried again.

Another miss. Hogan looked up at the sky, despairingly. Then he sank a shorhone, and he grinned, his teeth gleaming in contrast with his tanned skin.

Hogan tried a longer putt, missed and returned to his three-footers.

Hour after hour the balding old champion kept putting, but his accuracy didn't improve.

Finally he quit and said "I don't think it would make any difference if I hit a million balls. I just can't seem to do anything about it.

"I've tried about everything and it doesn't help," he added. "But all I can do is keep trying.

"My legs were too sore for me to play today, so I just putted, but it didn't do much good."

Hogan played a practice round Monday and the rolling Augusta National layout took its toll of the once-feared Hawk, who hasn't been in a tournament since the U.S. Open nearly a year ago.

Hogan rarely plays anywhere anymore, partly because he is almost ashamed of his putting.

He once said that sometimes he worries so much about his putting that he is afraid he'll freeze in front of a big gallery, unable to even hit the ball.

Hogan didn't have to worry about that Tuesday. There wasn't any gallery.

WIDE OPEN SCRAMBLE IN NL

Giants Given Edge

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — The National League looks like a wide open scramble again this year with the San Francisco Giants the pick in this corner to win over the favored Pittsburgh Pirates and the Atlanta Braves in another tight finish.

If there is any firm conviction about what is to be expected in October, it is the notion that the Los Angeles Dodgers will not repeat without Sandy Koufax. If Walter Alston does it again, he should be named manager of the century.

Juan Marichal figures to be Mr. Big of the pitchers, with Koufax in the television booth, and Willie Mays appears headed for a super season. The Giants just missed last year, losing to the Dodgers, but they beat out the Pirates by 1½ games and took their season series 11-7.

Granted that the addition of Maury Wills, Juan Pizarro and Dennis Ribant should improve Pittsburgh, the Pirates still do not have a solid pitching staff. Atlanta closed with a rush in 1966, but their pitching also is questionable.

JUAN MARICHAL

The Braves have the power to blast the league apart and the Pirates have the steady hitting and necessary tight defense, but pitching still is the big thing in baseball.

Back of the front three, we would toss St. Louis, Philadelphia, Los Angeles and Cincinnati in a hat. Take your pick. Houston, Chicago and New York are the "other league" of the National although the Astros could get tough.

Here's the way it looks from here:

1. San Francisco
2. Pittsburgh
3. Atlanta
4. St. Louis
5. Philadelphia
6. Los Angeles
c Cincinnati
8. Houston
9. New York
10. Chicago

It will be up to Marichal, Gaylord Perry, Bobby Bolin, Lindy McDaniel and possibly Ray Sadecki to pitch the Giants to the pennant despite a weaknes at shortstop. Mays and his younger outfield mates, plus Willie McCovey, Jim Ray Hart and Tom Haller must provide the bang.

If Wills can regain his old Dodger form and avoid leg injuries, he will make the Pirates' attack even more formidable. With Maury on base and men like Willie Stargell, Roberto Clemente and Donn Clendenon to drive him around, Pittsburgh should score plenty of runs.

The trick will be to keep the other club away from the plate. Much depends on the development of Tommie Sisk, Steve Blass and Woody Fryman. Pizarro, only 8-6 with the White Sox, could be the key.

Atlanta has the home run boom in Joe Torre, Hank Aaron, Mack Jones, Rico Carty and Felipe Alou. If Denis Menke and Woody Woodward firm up as a solid short-second combo, it will be easier for pitchers like Tony Cliininger, Ken Johnson, Denny Lemaster and the youngsters.

A healthy Orlando Cepeda and Roger Maris can add needed punch to the Cardinals who have strong front line pitching in Bob Gibson, Al Jackson, Ray Washburn and Larry Jaster. Much depends on the success of Mike Shannon in moving from the outfield to third base.

Philadelphia's hopes took a body blow when Bill White reinjured himself in spring training. Gene Mauch does have a formidable pitching foursome in Jim Bunning, Chris Short, Larry Jackson and Dick Ellsworth and a budding super star at third base in Richie Allen. The club may have a little too much age.

Without Koufax the Dodgers are just another ball club. They scramble for runs and should get more with Bob Bailey added to the attack. But they no longer have that big man to act as a stopper every fourth day.

Cincinnati has potential in rookie Lee May at first. The shift of positions by Pete Rose, Deron Johnson and Tommy Helms seems to be working out. Much hangs on the ability of Milt Pappas and Sammy Ellis to bounce back strong.

ACC, Odessa To Meet Hawks In Snyder Show

SNYDER — ACC's crack freshman unit gets a chance for revenge in a five-way track and field meet with HCJC of Big Spring and Odessa College here Friday night.

HCJC edged Odessa by a single point while ACC finished third in a five-way meet held several weeks ago in Big Spring. HCJC since has lost one of its key performers, relays star Dee Fletcher, out with a leg injury.

ACC has since picked up two key performers, who have been out due to illness. Odessa won the team title at Laredo recently and is deeper than HCJC.

Lubbock Christian is the fourth team in the meet and doesn't appear to have the depth to win the team crown but could score heavily in several events.

Joe Turner is coach of the Cisco team, which may be coming back after a letdown in the sport.

No preliminaries will be staged in the junior college division of the meet. Prelims in the high school division start at 4 p.m.

The first junior college events (pole vault and high jump) start at 5 p.m. Finals in the junior college discus throw and broad jump get under way at 6 p.m.

McCamey, a power in Class 2A, is entered in the high school division. The Badgers boast some of the state's outstanding performers and have already won five meets this year.

Snyder is a favorite for team honors, however, due mainly to its strength in the relay events.

Rocky Woods of San Angelo Lake View, a tremendous all-around athlete, is a probable entry. Crane, Brownwood, Lamesa, Sweetwater, and Midland Carver, along with three junior high schools, are also in the field.

Trophies will be awarded to the first place winner only in each event.

The running events at night start at 7:15 o'clock with the sprint relay. The meet is timed to end at 9:35 p.m.

The question involves Masters champ Jack Nicklaus and whether he has a case of the mumps.

"I don't know." Nicklaus said as he put the finishing touches on his preparations for the Masters Tournament that starts Thursday.

"I just don't know. My doctor doesn't know. No one knows. I was exposed to it about two weeks ago when I visited Gardner Dickinson. His kids have it.

"The incubation period isn't yet past. I may have it, but I don't think so. I don't think it's a problem."

Cage Quints Resume Play

By The Associated Press

With Philadelphia and San Francisco in a commanding position to win their divisional playoff titles in the National Basketball Association this year, the league begins to look ahead, scheduling an expansion draft to fill two new teams and the regular draft of college players.

The 76ers and Warriors, both 2-0 in their final divisional playoff series, will be trying for three straight tonight. Philadelphia against Boston at home and San Francisco at St. Louis.

The best-of-7 series winners then clash in the championship playoff to determine the league champion.

The NBA announced Tuesday that the special draft to stock the new San Diego and Seattle clubs, which enter the league next season, will be held in New York May 1.

Both clubs will be entitled to a total of 15 players from the existing clubs, which can protect seven of the players on their rosters. No team can lose more than three players to a new club.

The regular draft of college players will be held in New York on May 3, with a toss of the coin determining whether Detroit or Baltimore, the two cellar dwellers, get the first choice.

In another NBA development Tuesday, the New York Knicks rehired Coach Dick McGuire, who led the team to a playoff spot for the first time since 1959.

Redman Leader In Trap Shoot

Larry Redman scored 19 breaks out of a 20 bird total to lead the field in the trap shoot at the Mesquite Gun Club Sunday.

There were 12 competing in the competition which had 10 single birds and five double bird targets.

Skeeter Davidson had 17 breaks and Jimmy Felts had 16, for second and third place respectively. Trophies were awarded the prize winners.

Taylor, in a sense, is levelling a charge at pin manufacturers of putting too much 'rabbit' in the pins as baseball has been accused of doing its home-run prone balls.

Tony Martinez, the young third baseman for the Big Spring Steers, contributed a tremendous fielding gem in the locals' semifinal game against the host school in the Andrews tournament.

Andrews was very much in contention when it attempted a squeeze play in order to get a runner home. Tony anticipated the stratagem and came charging in to take the ball on the first bounce. Martinez then cooly bluffed the runner back to third and threw to first in time to get the out.

The play might be considered routine in pro ball but certainly not in high school, where a player sometimes loses his head when called upon to outthink the opposition.

The one maneuver should have done much to gain Martinez consideration on the all-tournament team. Regrettably, it didn't.

David Johnson Leads Cougars To Victory

Two towering home runs by David Johnson, who ordinarily earns his keep as a pitcher, broke the backs of the Big Spring Steers in the first two innings as Abilene Cooper raced to an 11-2 District 2-AAAA victory here Tuesday afternoon.

Each of Johnson's four-masters came with two runners aboard and served to boost the undefeated Cougars into a 7-2 advantage before the Longhorns had warmed to the task.

For a brief moment in Round One, the Longhorns appeared intent on making a game of it. They fought back for their two tallies on the strength of a single by Gary Don Newsom, a mighty triple by Jesse Zapata and a perfectly executed squeeze bunt by Moose Ryan. Then Johnson jerked the rug out from under them with his second round - tripper.

Coach Henry Colwell of Cooper sent Johnson into the outfield and gambled with Gary Oakley on the mound. The strategy paid off. Staked to the early advantage, Oakley easily contained the Steer power after the first inning outbreak. The Longhorns managed six hits, in all, against the stocky righthander.

POWER HITTER
David Johnson

Johnson's first blast arrived with Randy Allen and Steve Howard aboard. His second homer came with Allen and Mike Lungberg up front.

Johnson also connected for a single in the fifth and reached base in the seventh when his hard hit grounder caromed off the glove of Jimmy Wilson.

The Steers thus receipted for their second defeat in three league starts and face a long, plodding fight back to the top. Over-all, they are 9-5. They will be at home again Saturday in a 2 p.m. game with Odessa Permian.

Zapata beat out a single in the sixth inning to go with his first inning triple to lead the Steers in hitting.

Cooper managed seven blows, with no one on the club getting more than one safety, outside of Johnson.

James Newman, who failed to survive the first inning, was charged with the defeat. David Mitchell and Junior Mendoza also mound action for the Longhorns.

A fairly stiff breeze from the southwest helped Johnson's drives carry over the left field barrier but they would probably both have been home runs on a still day.

Hogan Practices Without Gallery

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — The lonely little man crouched unnoticed on the practice green, stroking putt after putt.

The gallery rushed and eddied around him, flowed over the Augusta National course to gain a glimpse of Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer.

And he was alone again.

His only gallery was a vast sea of backs.

A little more than a decade ago crowds by the thousands hung on his every shot. The putter in privacy was Ben Hogan, winner of four Opens, two Masters, two PGA's, the British Open and the unchallenged emperor of all golf.

Now the crowds stomped after new kings.

BEN HOGAN

Hogan kept putting, trying to sink dinky little putts most other pros don't worry about.

"I worry about 'em all," Hogan said, and he has reason to.

"I just can't get the ball in the hole anymore," the 54-year-old Hogan added. "It's my nerves, that's all."

He putted again. It was almost embarrassing to watch the three-foot try fall short. Hogan shook his head, grimaced and tried again.

Another miss. Hogan looked up at the sky, despairingly. Then he sank a shorhone, and he grinned, his teeth gleaming in contrast with his tanned skin.

Hogan tried a longer putt, missed and returned to his three-footers.

Hour after hour the balding old champion kept putting, but his accuracy didn't improve.

Finally he quit and said "I don't think it would make any difference if I hit a million balls. I just can't seem to do anything about it.

"I've tried about everything and it doesn't help," he added. "But all I can do is keep trying.

"My legs were too sore for me to play today, so I just putted, but it didn't do much good."

Hogan played a practice round Monday and the rolling Augusta National layout took its toll of the once-feared Hawk, who hasn't been in a tournament since the U.S. Open nearly a year ago.

Hogan rarely plays anywhere anymore, partly because he is almost ashamed of his putting.

He once said that sometimes he worries so much about his putting that he is afraid he'll freeze in front of a big gallery, unable to even hit the ball.

Hogan didn't have to worry about that Tuesday. There wasn't any gallery.

WIDE OPEN SCRAMBLE IN NL

Giants Given Edge

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — The National League looks like a wide open scramble again this year with the San Francisco Giants the pick in this corner to win over the favored Pittsburgh Pirates and the Atlanta Braves in another tight finish.

If there is any firm conviction about what is to be expected in October, it is the notion that the Los Angeles Dodgers will not repeat without Sandy Koufax. If Walter Alston does it again, he should be named manager of the century.

Juan Marichal figures to be Mr. Big of the pitchers, with Koufax in the television booth, and Willie Mays appears headed for a super season. The Giants just missed last year, losing to the Dodgers, but they beat out the Pirates by 1½ games and took their season series 11-7.

Granted that the addition of Maury Wills, Juan Pizarro and Dennis Ribant should improve Pittsburgh, the Pirates still do not have a solid pitching staff. Atlanta closed with a rush in 1966, but their pitching also is questionable.

JUAN MARICHAL

The Braves have the power to blast the league apart and the Pirates have the steady hitting and necessary tight defense, but pitching still is the big thing in baseball.

Back of the front three, we would toss St. Louis, Philadelphia, Los Angeles and Cincinnati in a hat. Take your pick. Houston, Chicago and New York are the "other league" of the National although the Astros could get tough.

Here's the way it looks from here:

1. San Francisco
2. Pittsburgh
3. Atlanta
4. St. Louis
5. Philadelphia
6. Los Angeles
c Cincinnati
8. Houston
9. New York
10. Chicago

It will be up to Marichal, Gaylord Perry, Bobby Bolin, Lindy McDaniel and possibly Ray Sadecki to pitch the Giants to the pennant despite a weaknes at shortstop. Mays and his younger outfield mates, plus Willie McCovey, Jim Ray Hart and Tom Haller must provide the bang.

If Wills can regain his old Dodger form and avoid leg injuries, he will make the Pirates' attack even more formidable. With Maury on base and men like Willie Stargell, Roberto Clemente and Donn Clendenon to drive him around, Pittsburgh should score plenty of runs.

The trick will be to keep the other club away from the plate. Much depends on the development of Tommie Sisk, Steve Blass and Woody Fryman. Pizarro, only 8-6 with the White Sox, could be the key.

Atlanta has the home run boom in Joe Torre, Hank Aaron, Mack Jones, Rico Carty and Felipe Alou. If Denis Menke and Woody Woodward firm up as a solid short-second combo, it will be easier for pitchers like Tony Clininger, Ken Johnson, Denny Lemaster and the youngsters.

A healthy Orlando Cepeda and Roger Maris can add needed punch to the Cardinals who have strong front line pitching in Bob Gibson, Al Jackson, Ray Washburn and Larry Jaster. Much depends on the success of Mike Shannon in moving from the outfield to third base.

Philadelphia's hopes took a body blow when Bill White reinjured himself in spring training. Gene Mauch does have a formidable pitching foursome in Jim Bunning, Chris Short, Larry Jackson and Dick Ellsworth and a budding super star at third base in Richie Allen. The club may have a little too much age.

Without Koufax the Dodgers are just another ball club. They scramble for runs and should get more with Bob Bailey added to the attack. But they no longer have that big man to act as a stopper every fourth day.

Co-director of the Eunice, N.M., baseball tournament last week was Joe Langston, who helped bring professional baseball to Big Spring in the '40s.

Joe now helps coach the Eunice baseball team and is head basketball mentor there.

* * * *

Joe Newbill, dismissed from his job as head coach at Midland Lee prior to last season, decided to depart the profession altogether.

He's now a sales representative for a trucking concern, working out of Houston.

* * * *

Carol Mann, the pro golfer who gave an exhibition here a few years ago, is bothered by a deranged disc in her lower back.

She says the misery grows worse on the final holes of any round she plays.

* * * *

Tony Martinez, the young third baseman for the Big Spring Steers, contributed a tremendous fielding gem in the locals' semifinal game against the host school in the Andrews tournament.

Andrews was very much in contention when it attempted a squeeze play in order to get a runner home. Tony anticipated the stratagem and came charging in to take the ball on the first bounce. Martinez then cooly bluffed the runner back to third and threw to first in time to get the out.

The play might be considered routine in pro ball but certainly not in high school, where a player sometimes loses his head when called upon to outthink the opposition.

The one maneuver should have done much to gain Martinez consideration on the all-tournament team. Regrettably, it didn't.

Ruby Writer Resigns Post

HOUSTON (AP) — Norman Hooten, the former Dallas deputy sheriff who says Jack Ruby made many disclosures to him, has resigned his post as a game warden.

He said he resigned under fire from his superior. But J. R. Singleton, executive director of the Parks and Wildlife Department, said he did not know why Hooten quit.

Hooten was a guard in the Dallas county jail while Ruby was confined there. Ruby killed Lee Harvey Oswald, named by the Warren Commission as the assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

Ruby died Jan. 3 of cancer while awaiting a new trial for the Oswald killing.

GUNFIRE DAMAGE

The jailer turned game warden says he is writing a book about what Ruby told him in jail. He also said Ruby wrote a will in jail that left Hooten several small items.

Hooten said Singleton told him he had "no business being involved in writing any books about Jack Ruby or knowing anything about the assassination or anything else."

But Singleton said today in Austin:

"He resigned of his own accord. I did call him into my office last week to discuss damage to a state vehicle and how it occurred.

Singleton said the damage was to a car's windows, which Hooten contends were shattered by gunfire.

NO CONFIRMATION

"Hooten did tell me he was writing a book on Jack Ruby but I told him that was his business as long as he did it on his own personal time," Singleton said. "I don't know why he resigned. He didn't resign to me. It wasn't until later that I received word from Houston that he had resigned."

Coahoma Has Tie For Mayor

COAHOMA — The City of Coahoma had something new in municipal elections Tuesday—a tie vote for mayor.

Burr Brown, retired farmer and worker at Webb AFB and who served as mayor for a number of years, finished in a dead heat with Joe Swinney, Cabot Carbon employe. They received 67 votes.

This sent officials scurrying for the law books, since Coahoma's form of city government is under the general state laws for incorporated towns. This may call for a runoff election. Meanwhile, Mayor Ralph White, who is retiring after having held a pair of two-year terms in the office, will continue to serve until his successor is named.

DeWayne Clawson, lumberman, polled 85 votes and was returned to his post, but Robert Miller, other incumbent seeking re-election, got 58 votes and was five short of Bill Logsdon, who will succeed him with 63 votes.

Tommy McFarland, Bell Telephone employe, also fell short with 56 in the closely contested election. Logsdon is a Cosden employe and Miller operates a service station business.

New Trial For Santiago Asked

A motion for a new trial in the case of Narciso Santiago, found guilty in February of assault with intent to murder, was being heard this afternoon by Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court.

Santiago was assessed a 10-year term in the shooting of Jean Morton.

George Thomas, his attorney, has moved that his client be given a new trial. He alleges the court erred in permitting certain evidence to go before the jury and that certain other testimony was not permitted which should have been presented.

The motion is largely based on the premise set by the celebrated Miranda case ruling by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Kiwanians Will Host Students

Big Spring Kiwanians will be hosts to the members of the newest class of jet pilot students at Webb AFB Thursday evening. All Kiwanians and their wives are urged by Bill Johnson, president of the club, to be at the Downtown Tea Room at 7:30 p.m. All students and their wives are to be guests.

It is estimated 150 men and women will be on hand for the dinner and the program.

The Kiwanians, in cooperation with other clubs, act as hosts to classes of students at the Webb AFB as each new group arrives.

Back Stabbing Kills Texan

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Morris Johnson, 50, a San Antonio cafeteria manager, was found stabbed to death today at his home.

His widow, Dorothy, 44, told police she found the body as she returned home after working a night shift as a nurse.

Investigators said first indications were burglary and homicide. The Johnson home was ransacked and the family car missing when Mrs. Johnson arrived.

Police said Johnson's body was found in the living room. He had been stabbed repeatedly in the back.

Police Ring Demonstrators

Houston police and sheriff's deputies form a ring around Texas Southern University demonstrators after their march from the campus Tuesday afternoon. The demonstrators were demanding the release of three men in jail that have been active in demonstrations on the campus the past week. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Daley Gains Fourth Term

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago voters handed their three-term Democratic Mayor Richard J. Daley another four-year lease on his City Hall suite in Tuesday's election, but whittled his City Council majority.

Daley, 64, received 789,163 votes to 272,955 for Republican John L. Waner in a turnout of about 65 per cent of the city's 1,772,610 voters.

Daley received 72.84 per cent of the votes, but there was a slight increase in the opposition minority of the 50-man City Council.

The lineup before the Feb. 28 primary and Tuesday's runoff in seven wards was 41 organization Democrats, 6 Republicans, 2 independents, and 1 vacancy. The new lineup leaves 39 Daley men, and 11 who will oppose Daley on some issues. These are 7 Republicans and 4 independents.

Negro representation on the council increased, from 7 to 10, or 20 per cent. This racial division of the chamber does not match the burgeoning Negro population of the city which is estimated to number nearly 1,100,000 or about one-third of the city's residents. Some of the Negro aldermen are solid Democratic organization supporters.

The white backlash vote which had given Daley cause for apprehension during the racial housing demonstrations and Negro riots last summer proved to have minor force in the elections.

Election results also revealed a small core of 20,775 voters who cast write-in ballots for the Negro civil rights activist and avowed anti-Daley candidate, night club performer Dick Gregory.

Another 579 voters tossed their write-ins to Lar Daly, 55-year-old field runner in 27 races.

Mayor Daley, son of a poor back-of-the-yards family who early took his law degree into the service of the Democratic organization and rose to command of the powerful big city political organization, based his campaign entirely upon the record of his 12 years in office. He is the first Chicago mayor ever to win four 4-year terms.

Negro Pupils Camp Before Courthouse

HOUSTON (AP) — More Negroes poured into the area of the Harris County Courthouse today while three of their leaders remained in jail, unable to post bonds. A week of protest at Texas Southern University set off the demonstration.

Hundreds of workers in the County Building walked past the demonstrators who sat on the sidewalk. Buses brought rested students from the university campus about daybreak. A guard of 20 officers and as many policemen stood watch.

180 SIT-IN

A spokesman for the office of Mayor Louie Welch said that the decision whether to arrest the students lay with the county and that county officials said no arrests were planned.

The sit-in continued to the left of the main entrance to the building, and the students left a strip of the wide sidewalk clear for pedestrians.

As the sit-in went into its 18th hour, approximately 180 young Negroes were counted.

HEARING MONDAY

The mayor's spokesman said Justice of the Peace Jack Treadway had talked to Mayor Welch and told him he did not plan to free the jailed trio on recognizance bonds (without physical security).

Tuesday night, President J. A. Pierce of TSU, the state's largest Negro school, asked that the three be released on recognizance bonds. Dist. Atty. Carl Vance said he would advise against such a release. Their hearing is scheduled for Monday morning.

Treadway had set bond at $25,000 apiece, and his action had the right of criminal injunction.

LEADERS LISTED

The men arrested are Franklin Alexander, 25, of Chicago, the national leader of the W.E.B. DuBois Clubs, who surrendered Monday night after an 11-hour student blockade of a through-campus street; the Rev. F. D. Kirkpatrick, a leader of friends of SNCC (The Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee), the group whose ouster from the campus began the week of troubles, and Lee Otis Johnson, an expelled TSU student.

Johnson was apprehended Tuesday by two big Negro policemen and a plainclothes officer as he strode at the head of the group of 500 students moving out from campus on a 4.5-mile march to the county building.

RIOT GUNS

He tried to melt into the crowd, but the two policemen dragged him away while other officers stood by with riot guns at the ready.

The column moved on in an orderly, double-file way along sidewalks and through rush-hour downtown traffic. They sang all the way, and when they got to the courthouse, were met by a double line of 15 plainclothes deputies guarding the door. Men with guns were in the lobby.

While speeches were delivered, secretaries and businessmen on their way home paused to stare. Newsmen, police and demonstrators blocked the street. Out of sight stood a 200-man police riot squad.

The demonstrators' demands include formation of a student court with review powers "at least equal to the dean of students," extension of library and coffee shop hours to midnight, later womens' curfew hours, a training table for athletes, dismissal of the athletic director, establishment of an outdoor relaxation area, and removal of Dean of Students J. B. Jones from a Houston draft board.

CHAMBER WEEK

Volunteers Help Develop Plans

Volunteers spend many hours working on Chamber of Commerce committees, make complex studies, and carry their findings to the community in order to develop important programs and plans for a growing city.

Many projects in the city and county were born in some chamber committee, nourished by a unified chamber campaign, and flowered to full growth by chamber efforts. It is a vital segment of our community, that calls on many volunteers to see its plans through to fruition.

Harold Davis is chairman of the Sports and Recreation Committee, with Dr. Robert Johnson as board coordinator.

The committee has earmarked this program of work for the year: sponsor a C-C member golf tournament; assist in the YMCA swim meet; continue efforts to secure district play-off games; cooperate and assist the bowling tournaments; study the plans for a recreational basketball league; and study the ways and means for an all-purpose race track.

George Weeks is chairman of the Retail Committee, with Randall Polk as board coordinator.

This committee hopes to promote more special promotional sales days; continue work on the parking problems downtown; work in all areas to the best interests of retailers; promote courtesy among salespeople and business owners.

The base-community council has the longtime objective of maintaining good relations between the community and Air Force base. Col. Chester J. Butcher, wing commander, and Dr. Carl B. Marcum are co-chairmen.

Members of these committees include:

McMahon To Head MOD Organization

Clyde McMahon Jr. was elected chairman of the Howard-Glasscock counties chapter of the National Foundation for Birth Defects during the quarterly meeting held at the First National Bank Tuesday evening.

McMahon has been chairman of the March of Dimes annual campaign for the past two years, during which record contributions have been received. He succeeds Wade Choate, long time MOD worker who was named treasurer for the new year.

Balance of the officer slate includes Mrs. Betty Rains, elected vice chairman, who has served as treasurer of the organization 10 years, and Miss Edith Gay, longtime secretary, was re-elected.

Mrs. H. H. Stephens, staff worker for the National Foundation, outlined the history of the organization to the board members, detailing the battle against polio, then when that fight was won, turning its efforts to birth defects.

Bob Galbraith was named campaign chairman for the MOD drive next January. He was instrumental in the campaign this year, guiding the successful telethon effort as well as assisting in other phases of the campaign.

Mrs. Rains reported the drive this year brought in $7,830.

Charges Dropped

A charge of worthless check writing and theft against Mary Bell Williams has been dropped by the district attorney's office. A. N. Standard, sheriff, said that the matter was settled out of court and no prosecution ensued.

Electric Firm Plans To Make Battery Auto

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Westinghouse Electric Corp. says it will enter the car manufacturing field next year with a battery-powered, two-passenger vehicle to be known as the Markette.

A model of the Markette, shown here Tuesday, resembled an enclosed Jeep. A spokesman said it was designed for use on streets but not on freeways.

It has a top speed of 25 miles an hour and a range of 50 miles between chargings of its 12 six-volt lead-acid batteries. The batteries can be recharged overnight from 110-volt receptacles, Westinghouse said.

George W. Jernstedt, general manager of Westinghouse's industrial equipment divisions, said the Markette will sell for "under $2,000." The company hopes to begin sales in June 1968.

Bail Bill Advances

AUSTIN (AP)— A proposed constitutional amendment that could keep accused felons from getting bail if they commit another crime while free on bond was approved Tuesday night for House debate.

The House Constitutional Amendments Committee endorsed the measure by Rep. Bob Armstrong of Austin.

Armstrong's amendment would allow judges to deny bail to persons who commit a felony while free on bond in another felony case. A hearing would be required.
