Victory Ride

Jubilant backers of school board members Everett Tucker, Russell Matson and Ted Lamb, left to right, hoist them for a victory ride around campaign headquarters in Little Rock, Ark., after the trio won in a recall election. The three opposed a teacher purge by the three diehard segregationist members of the board—Ed McKinley Jr., Ben Rowland and Robert Laster, all of whom lost their places on the board in the hotly disputed election.

70 Blocks Of Paving Approved By City, Engineering To Start

For a change, the City Commission meeting Tuesday evening was short. Nevertheless, commissioners handled some important matters, including taking of bids on fire truck equipment and approving the initial segment of blocks to be paved in the assessment paving program.

The meeting lasted less than two hours, in sharp contrast to the sessions the past few months, few of which have been shorter than four or five hours.

No concrete decision was reached on bids for equipping the fire truck, but it should be easily determined. Two firms, Fire Appliance Co. of Texas, Wichita Falls and Howe Fire Equipment of Glendale, Ariz., had close bids, and selection of the firm hinged on freight rates.

DELIVERY QUESTION

The city specified that it would pay the freight on the truck chassis from International's factory to the equipment plant. There was some doubt about where the truck was to be delivered in each case. Fire Appliance's bid on the equipment was $5,979, with delivery in 108 days. Howe bid $5,926.44 with delivery in 60-70 days.

The city was not sure where either firm planned to install the equipment, so Mayor Lee O. Rogers asked commissioners John Taylor and Paul Kasch to check and determine which bid was low considering the city's freight bill.

TWO MONTHS OF WORK

City Engineer Clifton Bellamy estimated that two months work will be needed to get this portion of the program out of the way. The city has additional areas it wishes to see included in the paving job. Mayor Rogers appointed George Zachariah and Tom South to a committee to work on the proposed areas and report to the commission in June on its findings.

The ordinance officially calling an election on July 11 to determine citizens' wishes concerning a low-rent housing project was passed.

This matter has been discussed by the commission for about four months, after being proposed by the Big Spring Civic Improvement League. As considered, 200 housing units would be erected and would be financed by the federal government. A local housing authority would administer it, however.

George Melear was appointed election judge, and Mrs. Roy Bruce was named his assistant.

DUMP ORDINANCE

An ordinance was discussed which will regulate use of the city dump by firms in the trash-hauling business, and Dr. Rogers asked Kasch and South to make a report in the future to the commission about it.

City Manager A. K. Steinheimer said that the city is having to bear the costs of handling refuse which is hauled there by firms in the trash-hauling business. Commissioner Taylor said he was not against firms hauling their own trash, but he could not see why the city should furnish dump ground space for persons who were making a profit from it.

Bids were received on 390 new parking meters, but Steinheimer said the city, in advertising for bids on the meters, had failed to include trade-in of its old meters. As a result, the city will retake bids at a later time.

MORE BIBLE GIFTS NEEDED

The dollar volume of contributions to the Bible Class fund held steady through Tuesday, but the number of contributors dropped off alarmingly.

Gifts reaching the Herald amounted to $112 for the day, bringing the total to $302.

The Bible classes in Senior High School are dependent upon contributions because, under state law, no tax funds may be used for this purpose. Officials of the sponsoring Big Spring Pastors Assn. pleaded earnestly for support of this project, for there are already 134 signed up for next autumn—and funds are depleted.

Please mail or send your gifts to The Herald for deposit and acknowledgement. Make checks to the Pastors Assn. or to the Bible Class Fund. Previously Ackn'd: $190.00 Anonymous (two gifts) $2.00 Mrs. Nannie Garrett 10.00 R. L. Tollett 100.00 TOTAL $312.00

Soviet Attache's Family Is Missing

LONDON (AP)—The wife and 5-year-old daughter of a Soviet naval attache were reported missing in London today.

The woman was named as Nina Dmitriev, 35. She vanished with her daughter Lena on Saturday, informed sources said. Mrs. Dmitriev is the wife of Capt. Aleksander Dmitriev, a new assistant attache at the Soviet Embassy.

Scotland Yard refused immediate comment. The Foreign Office said it could not discuss the affair. Officials indicated privately it was not politically important.

Aussie Girls Mob Actor Tab Hunter

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—Hundreds of teen-age girls mobbed U.S. film star Tab Hunter today. They dragged him from his car and covered his light-colored coat with lipstick. The screaming girls kissed him, tugged at his arms, pulled his hair and tried to tear his clothes off. Hunter eventually escaped into a radio station after the mob stopped all traffic.

Russ Berlin Deadline Sees No Trouble

BERLIN (AP)—The day the Soviets once set for the Western Allies to get out of West Berlin dawned today with no trouble likely.

Premier Nikita Khrushchev has postponed the deadline indefinitely. The Soviet Embassy in East Berlin assured the West that the Kremlin wouldn't renege.

The U.S. Army said it planned no special alert for American troops in West Berlin.

But all the talk of May 27 apparently acted as a magnet for tourists. West Berlin was thronged with a record number of foreign visitors.

"I must disappoint those who expect to get bravery medals," said Mayor Willy Brandt smilingly. "May 27 will be like any other day."

Six months ago today—on Nov. 27—the Soviet premier called for an end to the World War II occupation of Berlin and withdrawal of the Allied military garrisons from West Berlin. He said that in six months the Soviets would give East Germany's Communist regime control over Allied military traffic between West Germany and the Communist-ruled Western half of the city. The East Germans have controlled civilian traffic to and from Berlin since 1955.

TALK OF CONVOY

The Western Allies, who refuse to recognize or deal with the East German government, rejected Khrushchev's demand. There was talk of an armed convoy or a new airlift to challenge any transfer of traffic control to the East Germans. Fear of war was widespread.

The fears subsided when the West and the Soviets agreed to negotiate. Khrushchev said he wouldn't try to alter Berlin's status while negotiations were in progress.

The foreign ministers of the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France began talks on Berlin and Germany in Geneva last week. Any permanent settlement apparently must wait for the summit conference expected in August.

Despite the Soviet assurances that May 27 was no longer D-Day, some suspicion lingered that the Communists might try something today just to remind that they still want an end to the Western Allies' protection of the 2,200,000 West Berliners.

But post-midnight inspections showed the Soviets still manning the checkpoints on the rail and road routes to West Berlin. "All's quiet on the Eastern front," said one of the American soldiers on duty at Helmsdorf, western end of the 110-mile highway between West Germany and the divided city.

Churchmen Study Virgin Birth Issue

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—A tall, middle-aged theologian's views about the virgin birth of Christ were under scrutiny today by his fellow Presbyterians.

It's not officially a heresy trial, but there were overtones of such a case in the expected airing of charges against the Rev. Theodore Gill.

The matter could bring a contemporary test on whether the United Presbyterian Church considers a rigid concept of the virgin birth as a prime essential to Christian faith.

Dr. Gill, 38, a bespectacled, quick-minded scholar and writer, is up for confirmation by the denomination's general assembly as president of its San Francisco Theological Seminary.

A group seeking to block his approval, led by the Glendale, Calif., Presbyterian Church, claims he has questioned the virgin birth teaching.

CTC Half Way To Funds Goal

The Citizens Traffic Commission has passed the half-way point in its fund-raising drive, it was announced today.

James Eubanks, executive secretary of the CTC, said that contributions have reached $620. The CTC set $1,200 as its goal for the current year. This money is needed to carry out its objectives during the next 12 months.

Lewis Price is chairman of the fund-raising drive.

Ike, Herter Slate Big 4 Conference

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Christian A. Herter will discontinue sessions that lie ahead sufficient progress can be made to justify the United States in going to a summit conference," he said.

Lloyd steered clear of world politics.

"It is sad that the occasion for this visit to Washington should be the funeral of my friend and colleague, John Foster Dulles," he said.

Coupe de Murville expressed sorrow on his own part and that of his government. He said his tribute will be paid "in the spirit of that long friendship which unites France and the United States, and to the strengthening of which the late secretary of state contributed so much."

While the House talked taxes the Senate turned to Gov. Price Daniel's deficit-solving plans.

The Senate State Affairs Committee will hear (2:30 p.m.) two phases of the plan—one year increase in all franchise taxes (HB2) and revised bookkeeping of state funds (HB5).

The third part of the plan, seizure of dormant bank accounts, was introduced in the Senate yesterday (SB1).

The 10-member Conference Committee from both houses began work yesterday on a compromise appropriation bill. Reporters and taxpayers were barred from the discussions.

24 Texans May Die Over Holiday

AUSTIN (AP)—Twenty-four persons will die over the Memorial Day holiday in Texas, the Department of Public Safety predicts.

Last year's toll was 29 but the holiday fell on Friday. This allowed more people more time to travel farther, said N. K. Woern, DPS statistical chief.

Before the conference, with Adenauer the President had a 30-minute conference with Australian Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies, who was in this country on other business as well as to attend the Dulles funeral. Menzies favors an East-West summit meeting.

Italy's Foreign Minister Giuseppe Pella, flew in shortly after midnight for the funeral.

Others in Washington or on the way included the foreign ministers of Belgium, Austria and Japan, and Mme. Chiang Kai-shek, wife of the Nationalist Chinese generalissimo.

Paul Henri Spaak, secretary general of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, also was on hand to pay tribute to Dulles, whom he called "a great secretary of state and a great man."

Later in the morning Foreign Minister J. M. A. H. Luns of the Netherlands flew in with his Austrian counterpart, Leopold Figl.

First of today's contingent was Gromyko, full of praise for Dulles, his old adversary at the conference table. He described the former secretary of state, dead of cancer at 71, as "an outstanding statesman, outstanding diplomat."

Gromyko, who made the trip from Geneva by commercial airliner, flew in from New York.

A little over half an hour behind him U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter flew in by Military Air Transport plane with British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville as passengers.

Levy On Natural Gas Is Retained

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Price Daniel won a preliminary but major victory today as the House voted 94-48 to keep his proposed natural gas taxes.

Rep. Ben Lewis of Dallas offered the amendment to cut the proposed severance beneficiary tax of 5 per cent on value of gas and 5 per cent production tax. He wanted each to be 4 1/2 per cent. The beneficiary tax is aimed primarily at pipeline companies taking the gas out of Texas.

"This cuts the tax revenue from gas in half," Rep. Robert Eckhardt of Houston said. He said it would eliminate 18 million dollars.

An earlier move saw the House vote down a corporate income tax, 102-21. It also indicated the governor's forces seek to keep the bill in its present form.

The first vote taken was on the corporate income tax as two rival revenue-producing plans collided on the 10th day of the 30-day special session.

The Senate met briefly then adjourned until tomorrow. Many senators shifted to the House as spectators in the long awaited tax bill battle.

Representatives got their first chance at a tax bill today when Speaker Waggoner Carr laid out the general tax measure approved by House committee last Monday.

Rep. George Hinson of Mineola, author of the original tax measure considered by the committee, immediately offered a substitute bill containing all Gov. Price Daniel's tax recommendations. If Hinson's substitute is voted down, then debate turns to the committee-approved bill.

Rep. Dean Johnston of Houston proposed taking out the selective sales taxes on cigarettes, cigars and liquor in Hinson's bill and substituting a 5 1/2 per cent tax on net corporate income.

"Anything paid under this would be paid half by the federal government because there already is a 52 per cent federal corporate income tax," Johnston said. "Any state tax could be subtracted from the federal tax."

"This is one of the most perfect inflationary measures anyone could devise," protested Rep. Jack Woods of Waco. "It's another hidden tax on the consumer."

Hinson's motion to table Johnston's amendment was successful 102-21.

While the House talked taxes the Senate turned to Gov. Price Daniel's deficit-solving plans.

Mom, 3 Children Saved, But Rest Of Family Drowns

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (AP)—Two men rescued a mother and three of her six children from Lake Marian Tuesday but the father and three other children drowned.

Raymond Adolphus Miller, 31, had taken his family on a late afternoon fishing trip when waves capsized their 12-foot boat.

Drowned with Miller were LeRoy 9, Shirley Jo, 7, and Andy Wallace, 4.

Mrs. Miller and the other children—Jimmy, 8, Donnie, 6, and Randall, 2—were brought ashore by O. L. Williams and R. J. Nasworthy, who noticed the boat in trouble while working on a dredge at the lake on the outskirts of this central Florida city.

The Millers had gone most of the way across the lake, half a mile away, when wind roughened the water and they decided to head back.

The boat swamped and went down, stern first. Mrs. Miller and three of the children clung to the boat but the father and other children disappeared in the water. Their bodies were found an hour later.

Miller, a native of Gadsden, Ala., was employed by a citrus packing firm.

District Court To Meet On Holiday

Howard County courthouse offices will be closed down on Friday—with two exceptions.

The sheriff's office will be open—it observes no holidays. And Wade Choate, district court clerk, will be on duty although his office will not be officially operating.

Judge Charlie Sullivan has two civil matters to hear on Friday morning and has agreed to go ahead with the hearings despite the general Memorial Holiday being observed by the courthouse in general. Choate's services will be required at these hearings.

$174,000 Bid Is Low On Webb Utilities

An Abilene firm, H. D. Gillis Co., was apparent low bidder yesterday on construction of utilities and an electrical starter system for jet aircraft at Webb AFB.

The bid was $174,597. Second low proposal also was turned in by an Abilene concern, Anderson Construction Co., which bid $177,569.

Government estimate on cost of the project was $203,015.

Officials of the Corps of Engineers said in Fort Worth that contract with Gillis probably will be signed in the next few days. The contractor will have 210 days in which to complete the work.

Utilities extensions called for in the contract include 5,000 feet of 10-inch water line; 4,000 feet of three-inch gas line; 4,000 feet of sanitary sewer line; a septic tank and oxidation pond; three 167-KVA transformers and 10 25-KVA transformers.

The jet starter system will require 56,100 feet of underground cable, 21 apron receptacles, six pull boxes, one manhole, and a control center.

Last week, Warner Construction Co. of San Angelo was low bidder on construction of three ammunition storage igloos, a big ammunition assembly and checkout building, guard house and other facilities. The Warner bid was $461,674.

All of the new facilities are being provided to serve the 331st Fighter-Interceptor Squadron, a unit of the Air Defense Command now assigned to Webb.

Cotton Up And Thriving, But Faces Insect Threat

Cotton farmers jubilantly report they have never seen initial plantings of cotton do so well as this spring. Stands are good in all of the fields. The plants are flourishing and there is a good backlog of moisture in the fields.

However, not all is well—grasshoppers, just hatching out, have already attacked some fields and are advancing on others. Further, according to Jimmy Taylor, county agent, trips and other cotton enemies are already in evidence and becoming more and more abundant.

The farmers are beginning to wage war on the hoppers and will have to step up the warfare as the current spring hatch of the pests continues.

Taylor said the hoppers are the flying variety which usually appear about this time. They are extremely numerous and hungry, he said.

Farmers have reported instances in which the hoppers have already stripped rows of tender young cotton for as much as 100 yards along row after row.

Several poisons are effective in coping with grasshoppers, Taylor said.

Recommended is 20 per cent toxaphene and 40 per cent sulphur, used as a dust. Also recommended for dusting is 3.5 per cent aldrin. Dieldrin 2.5 per cent dust will also do the job. Taylor said that while the standard 3-10-40 cotton poison widely used by cotton farmers to battle insects is not recommended for grasshoppers, it has been proved fairly effective in driving the pests away from fields.

Recommended spray solution for grasshopper control is composed of 2 ounces of aldrin or one pound of toxaphene mixed with enough water to cover an acre.

Also offering potential threat to tender young cotton is the horde of jackrabbits in the county. Taylor said that recently he drove past a field in the Lomax area and spotted 10 jackrabbits sitting in the borrow ditch at the end of the field. When traffic passed the rodents moved in to attack the cotton.

The hail of early this week apparently caused very little if any damage to county crops. However, it was reported a strip of Martin County farm land near Stanton took a terrific beating from the barrage of ice.

A little rain in the near future would be welcome in this county to enable farmers to better work their fields but so far there is no suffering from lack of moisture.

Truman, Rayburn Deny Handpicking Of Candidates

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Harry Truman and Speaker Sam Rayburn say they didn't put their heads together and decide that one of two senators—Lyndon Johnson and Stuart Symington—should be the Democratic party's 1960 presidential candidate.

Life magazine reports that they did just that about three weeks ago in Washington. Rayburn and Johnson, the Senate majority leader, are both Texans. Symington and Truman came from Missouri.

In Washington yesterday, Rayburn called the story far-fetched. He said he had no recollection of ever having discussed presidential candidates with Truman.

This Home Recipe Takes Off Ugly Fat

It's easy — no trouble at all to make this home recipe and inexpensive, too. Just ask any Texas druggist for 4 ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Mix with 12 ounces of canned grapefruit juice. Take according to directions and watch the fat just seem to melt away, just as Mrs. O. J. Jones, Sherwood, Texas, did, who lost 30 pounds. Results on first bottle or money back.

Children's Falls Cause Fever Convulsions or Polio

We have checked a great number of Polio cases and in every instance our findings paralleled those of the English physician who wrote that he checked thirty-seven cases in one epidemic and found a fall or other violence occurred just prior to the first symptoms of Polio.

Falls are known to cause spinal column and spinal cord injuries that set up irritation of nerve tissue. These irritations appear in the patient as fevers, colds, meningitis, Polio, convulsions, vomiting, headache, and many other diverse symptoms. A ten year old boy of one of our patients suddenly developed a fever, sore throat and headache, so his parents immediately brought him to The Chiropractic Arts Clinic for an examination. We were informed that the child had suffered a fall while at school playing. With our spinal analysis and x-rays, we located the cause of his trouble. We made some simple painless spinal adjustments and within a short period of time, the symptoms disappeared and the child was enjoying normal health. He is brought back every time he shows any symptoms or after hard falls to prevent sickness. Case No. 1043

To the Chiropractic Arts Clinic was brought a small baby whose sickness had been diagnosed as Polio. Both legs were partially paralyzed. This little one was headed for a life of braces, crutches, and loneliness, not being able to play with other children as they play. Examination of the spine in this case clearly revealed pressure on nerves which was causing the mal-function. An adjustment of the spine was made which relieved the pressure on the nerves. The case was kept under observation for several weeks during recovery, while life was returning to the paralyzed legs. She was eleven months old at the time she was diagnosed as having Polio. Now at seven years, no one would know of the few short weeks of paralysis unless they were told. Case No. 1122.

Our records show that under spinal adjustments children respond rapidly when acutely ill. When your personal opinion is based on fair investigation and not upon conditioned emotions, you become satisfied. It will pay to investigate.

Clouds Spread Across Texas

By The Associated Press

Cloudiness spread quickly northward from southern sections of Texas Wednesday and temperatures boomed upward with the sun toward summertime afternoon levels.

Scattered light drizzle and fog covered many east and South Texas points with skies generally partly cloudy to cloudy in those areas and clear in West Texas and the Panhandle.

Temperatures before sunrise ranged from 52 at Dalhart to 77 at Laredo on the Rio Grande and Galveston in the Gulf of Mexico.

Thundershowers were expected in East Texas and South Central Texas, mostly in the afternoons, through Thursday. Afternoon and evening thundershowers were on tap for North Central Texas through Thursday and in West Texas Thursday.

Little change in temperatures was looked for in West Texas, but slightly warmer weather was expected in other sections.

Light rain showers fell Tuesday night in a hit-and-miss fashion across the Texas map. A tornado and severe thunderstorm alert for Clay County, on the Red River, expired at 8 p.m. without any severe weather reported.

Tuesday's maximum temperatures were all hot but not exceptionally so. They ranged from 98 at Laredo and Presidio to 82 at Dalhart and Amarillo. Rainfall was light.

Idaho Revives Sterilization Plan

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—Idaho is reviving a program which permits the state to sterilize certain mental patients.

State law permits a sterilization operation to be performed with consent of the patient or without his consent if officials obtain a court order.

Dr. Terrell O. Carver, state health administrator, said the state's mental institutions would submit names of candidates for the operation to the State Board of Health, which would hold hearings and review each case.

Dr. Carver said the candidates would be limited to those who "by reason of mental deficiency, sexual perversion or mental illness, are considered to be a menace to society," and who likely would transmit their condition to their children.

He told the Supermarket Institute that four different clothing articles sealed in opaque and rig-

DEAR ABBY

BLESS YOU, SONNY

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a boy 11 years old. I didn't have anything to do so I took our tools next door and cleaned up the neighbor's yard. They are two old people and he is lame and she works out. He came out on his crutches and made me take two dollars. Abby, I didn't want the two dollars. He said he would be mad at me if I didn't take it, so I had to take it. It took all the fun out of doing it for me. Do you think I should go back and try to get him to take his two dollars?

CUB SCOUT
DEAR CUB: Keep the two dollars. His "pride" might suffer if you tried to return it. Just keep right on doing those nice things for people who can't do for themselves and I predict a very happy life for you. Bless you, Sonny.

DEAR ABBY: I met a man at work and we fell in love at first sight you might say. He says he has no family or friends and does not like to talk about his past. I am 20 and have been on my own for four years, but I don't have much experience with men. I live with my grandparents and work at a factory. This man is handsome and treats me nice but he seems to have come from out of nowhere. Do you think his past is important?

NOT EXPERIENCED
DEAR NOT: A man's past is very important—especially if he doesn't like to talk about it. People who seem to have "come from out of nowhere" usually end up the same place. Find out where he's been all your life or lose him.

DEAR ABBY: I am a young widow who has a nice business which my husband left me. All my friends warn me to watch out for men who are interested in marrying me for my money. I have met a few men who seem interested in me for myself, but how can you tell? My friends say it would be foolish of me to waste my time with a man who has less in assets than I have. I can't ask a man for an accounting of his assets, can I? I know one man in particular whom I suspect doesn't have as much as I have, but I like him. I am lonesome but I don't have to buy a man yet. What is a woman in my position supposed to do?

STELLA
DEAR STELLA: Look for a man who is decent, treats you right and is good company. If you reach the point in your relationship where marriage is discussed, lay your cards on the table and ask him to do likewise. If he couldn't possibly marry you without your money, then you can safely assume that your "assets" created his urge to merge.

DEAR ABBY: What would you do if you had a brother who was 12 and he loved model airplanes? When I am trying to get dressed he comes into my room with a model airplane and shoots it over my head and wrecks my hair and scares me to death. What do you do with a brother like that?

MAD
DEAR MAD: Lock your door and tell your brother to go fly a kite (outside!).

Borden Again Leads In Cancer Crusade Giving

Borden County citizens, for the second straight year, were the first contributors to exceed their quota in the 1959 Texas Cancer Crusade.

Borden County is now 68.8 per cent of its goal—leading the entire state by a wide margin. Nearest to Borden in percentage figures is Kimble County with 23.6 per cent.

Howard County, too, is over its quota but not by the wide margin achieved by its neighbor to the north. Howard County's standing as reported by the state cancer society is 104.6. Dawson and Andrews counties have 100 per cent ratings. Midland County is 132.5, Glasscock 131.4; Martin County 125.7; Mitchell County 123.8.

In all, the society reports that to date 62 counties have reported better than 100 per cent of their goals in the 1959 Cancer Crusade. Nearly a million dollars has been pledged for the work so far.

C-C Membership Rises At Stanton

STANTON (SC) — The Martin County Chamber of Commerce has reached a new peak in membership. The present total of 213 members is probably the largest ever carried on the rolls.

An increase from only 90 a year ago has been attributed largely to getting farmers to join the organization. The finances are also in much better condition than at that time, according to H. M. McReynolds, secretary.

On June 1, 1958, the chamber was $468.84 in the red. Now it has over $1,500 on deposit, and revenues are adding to the total each month.

Officers For Key Club Are Installed

New officers for the coming year were installed at the Key Club meeting Tuesday at the high school.

Jack Alexander, division chairman of Key clubs, was installing officer. New officers for the club are Ray Alexander, president; Benny Edwards, vice president; and Buddy Newell, treasurer. Wayne Vaughn Jr., lieutenant governor for Division No. 22 of the Texas-Oklahoma District, also took part in the installation ceremonies.

In addition to Jack Alexander, other visitors included Sherman Smith, president of the Kiwanis Club, and George Larson, Kiwanis Club songleader.

The Key Club is a youth group affiliated with Kiwanis Clubs.

Another Mouse Flight Delayed

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Technical difficulties have forced a third postponement of firing of Discoverer III into north-south orbit with four mice passengers.

The postponement came Tuesday after six hours and 15 minutes of delays blamed on the weather and technical troubles.

GET BACK ON SCHEDULE

Millions of people have found a safe, gentle way to regularity, and you can, too! It's the Kellogg's All-Bran way, and there's a good reason why this way works.

You see, one of the common causes of irregularity is lack of bulk in the diet. Laxative drugs which contain no bulk can do nothing to correct the cause of this trouble.

Kellogg's All-Bran, on the other hand, is a whole bran cereal. And bran is nature's best bulk-forming food. So just a half-cup of Kellogg's All-Bran with milk provides all of the bulk needed for consistent regularity.

If you'd like to try this common-sense way to get back on schedule, without the use of harsh laxative drugs, try Kellogg's All-Bran.

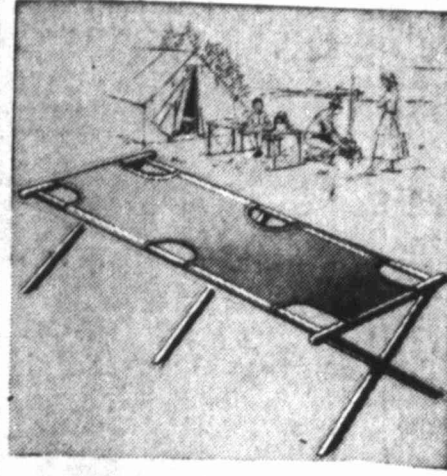

You know, it is now America's favorite whole bran cereal by 3 to 1.

Accountant Honored

Mrs. Laura Harris, right, accountant at Lone Star Motor Co., has been cited by Chrysler Motors Corp. for accounting proficiency. Bob Bridgewater, Chrysler district manager, presented the award at the local motor firm yesterday. He said Mrs. Harris has demonstrated the importance of financial management in modern automobile dealership business practices. To win the award, she competed with accountants in more than 7,000 other Chrysler dealerships across the nation. C. Y. Clinkscales, center, partner in Lone Star Motors, also cited the contributions made by Mrs. Harris to financial soundness of the firm for which she has worked for four years.

Dulles Goes To His Final Rest After 6 Years Of U.S. Service

WASHINGTON (AP)—John Foster Dulles, admired by his free world friends and respected by his Communist foes in the cold war, goes to a final rest today after six turbulent years as secretary of state.

Solemn services in Washington's huge National Cathedral, A horse-drawn caisson into Arlington National Cemetery. The muffled drums. The burial services. The echo of taps across the monument-covered hills.

Thus went the plans for the official funeral which President Eisenhower arranged to attend along with representatives from nations large and small. With them Dulles had worked to preserve the world's peace until cancer ended his career and caused his death Sunday at the age of 71.

Ordinary citizens of his own country also honored Dulles as they streamed by the thousands past his mahogany casket, lying in state in a chapel of the cathedral. Through the night they came to see, to pause, perhaps to pray in the flower-banked chapel.

The nation shares in the final rites to be telecast at 3:30 p.m. EDT from the cemetery by the NBC and CBS networks.

The Senate adjourned for the day so its members could attend as a group. House leaders announced a recess at the time of the funeral.

Top officials from many lands flocked to Washington to pay their final respects. West Germany's chancellor Konrad Adenauer arrived Tuesday night.

A plane from Geneva carried Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and Britain's Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd from the Big Four conference on Germany, adjourned two days for the occasion.

The Soviet Union's Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, an opponent of Dulles over the conference table, flew in a commercial plane.

An hour before the services, Dulles' body was to be moved from the Bethlehem chapel to the main chapel for the Presbyterian funeral service conducted by the Rev. Roswell P. Barnes, secretary of the World Council of Churches.

Dulles was a lay leader and senior elder in the Presbyterian Church. The cathedral is Episcopal but services of various denominations are held there.

Diplomats, the 23 honorary pallbearers composed of prominent citizens and a special honor guard of the Joint Chiefs of Staff were to take their seats as the hour approached.

Then to enter in order members of the Dulles family, Vice President Richard M. Nixon and his party, President Eisenhower and his party, and lastly Dulles' widow.

After a 25-minute service, the funeral party arranged to travel in a motorcade of some 200 cars on the quarter-hour drive to the Memorial Gate at Arlington National Cemetery.

There, amid flourishes and ruffles from a military band, Dulles' casket was to be moved from the hearse to a horse-drawn caisson, for the slow procession through the peaceful cemetery to the grave.

The grave site for Dulles, an Army major in World War I, was at the edge of a hill sloping down toward the Potomac River. It and his simple marble tombstone were much the same as those accorded thousands of other military dead buried in the National Cemetery.

Final rites at graveside—a committal service and benediction—were to be watched by the family, the President and vice president and their parties from chairs placed under a canopy.

Then the military would present arms, fire a full 19-gun salute and three volleys of rifle fire, and sound taps.

Praises for Dulles continued to flow to the capital as they have ever since he entered Walter Reed Army Hospital with the cancer that was to take his life.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev told a meeting in Tirana, the capital of Communist Albania, that Dulles was an "outstanding politician" who in the last months of his life displayed a "more sober understanding of the international situation."

Adenauer told airport well-wishers headed by Vice President Nixon that "I came this time as a friend of the late secretary." He said, "There was between us a genuine friendship, far beyond a political one."

Other foreign chiefs to attend included King Baudouin of Belgium and Australia's Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies. Mme. Chiang Kai-shek, wife of the Nationalist Chinese generalissimo, was among the galaxy of foreign dignitaries.

At home the Senate Foreign Relations and the House Foreign Affairs committees adopted resolutions voicing appreciation for Dulles' service to his country and to the free world.

Waterfield pinned his hopes on the rural vote but only 1,808 precincts remained to be counted. He was ahead by less than 1,000 votes in his home district in far western Kentucky.

The winner will meet former U.S. Rep. John Robison Jr. in November. The Louisville Republican was far ahead of his two rivals for the GOP nomination.

Robison led with 27,774 votes to 2,295 for Thurman Hamlin and 1,626 for Granville Thomas with 1,740 precincts reported.

Wilson W. Wyatt, Combs' running mate for lieutenant governor, was running by a four to one margin in front of his nearest competitor. With 1,895 precincts tabulated Wyatt led 167,584 to 41,025 for J. B. Wells.

Chandler, barred by law from seeking re-election, had counted on Waterfield's nomination, and possible election in November, to sew up Kentucky's 30 votes at the Democratic National Convention.

Combs, backed by former U.S. Senator Earle Clements, was expected to deliver them to Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas if he seeks the nomination.

In Frankfort, Waterfield said he was "still hopeful" that the rural

Teen-Age Boys Charged With Stanton Theft

STANTON (SC)—Two teen-agers were arrested in Dallas Tuesday evening in connection with the burglary of Payne Dry Goods Store Monday night here and both have issued statements admitting the crime.

Martin County Sheriff Dan Saunders said that officers from Dallas County arrested the two about 6:30 p.m. Tuesday. When apprehended, they had all the loot which had been taken from the store. This was about $400 worth of men's clothing and about $50 in change.

The two, Harvey Gene Lillard, 17, and Michael Ray Bynum, 19, have been charged with burglary and their cases will be taken before the grand jury on Monday, Saunders said.

Sheriff's deputy Garland Hawkins and Constable Marshall Yates left here Tuesday night for Dallas and will bring them back today.

A nightwatchman Monday night saw a car which looked suspicious, and it led to apprehension of the pair, Saunders indicated.

Godfrey Calls For Cancer Cure

WASHINGTON (AP)—Arthur Godfrey, who recently underwent surgery for lung cancer, asked today for a stepped-up national program of cancer research.

"Surely, a crash program of cancer research is as important today to America as similar projects now being pursued by nuclear fission, missiles and space scientists," the television and radio entertainer said.

Godfrey, in a request prepared for Congress, made it clear that "I ask this in the interests of millions of our fellow Americans, not for myself."

Godfrey made his plea in a letter to Sen. Lister Hill (D-Ala.), chairman of a Senate Appropriations subcommittee.

Legislature Essay Contest Pays Off

AUSTIN (AP)—Top essays analyzing the disputed annual election plan for the Legislature today brought thousands of dollars in college scholarships to high school students.

First winner for the state in the annual AFL-CIO writing and research competition was $500 to Linda Shira of Bellair High School.

Second went to Gary Ratkin, McAllen.

Regional winners included: Midland—Odessa: Ronda Horn, Midland.

Texas City: William Darlington, LaMarque.

Wichita Falls: Charles Elmo Todd, Vernon High School.

Sex Segregation Florida Weapon

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—County school boards in Florida now have authority to segregate pupils by sex to deal with integration problems, when they come.

The bill passed by the Florida Legislature was signed into law Tuesday by Gov. Leroy Collins without comment.

The sex segregation plan is merely a permissive law, and there are no immediate plans for using it anywhere in Florida.

It was the second segregation bill to become law during the current legislative session. Collins earlier approved a bill to allow groups of citizens to set up private schools.

Resident's Kin Dies In Oklahoma

Mrs. Charles Bell, 66, mother of Earl Bell, Big Spring, died in Cushing, Okla. Tuesday night after a long illness. Mr. and Mrs. Bell had just returned from her bedside when they received word of her death.

Services will be held Thursday in Cushing. Survivors include two sons, Roland Bell, Cushing, and Earl Bell, who operates the Quick Lunch Cafe in Big Spring; seven grandchildren; two great-grandchildren; a sister and a brother.

Gielgud Directs

NEW YORK (AP)—After a notable season of acting in this country in his one-man Shakespearean show, Sir John Gielgud is returning next fall as a director.

The noted star will oversee transfer to Broadway of "Five Finger Exercise," current London hit by Peter Shaffer.

Music Hath Charms

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Eighteen students used their "musical instruments" as fire extinguishers to douse their flaming "ship."

They were riding on a paper-mache ship, one of several floats on parade during Ohio State University's May Week celebration, when flames broke out in the stern.

The students were singing to music produced by striking water-filled bottles. They poured the water on the fire and abandoned ship.

Oil Man Speaks

Harold Hensley, Midland representative of Humble Oil & Refining Co., discussed the oil men's denials of allowance Tuesday in a talk at the Rotary Club meeting. Hal Mitten was introduced as a new member of the club.

in the area on a tour, took another helicopter and found Diaz and his two companions alongside their wrecked aircraft. They were unhurt.

Later the prime minister personally took over the search for his brother, whose plane had only enough gas for an hour's flying.

Raul's light plane took off at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday for Cienega de Zapata, on the fringe of swamplands 120 miles southeast of Havana.

No word was heard from the plane. The presidential palace said there was a possibility it had made a forced landing in the marshes.

Raul has been his brother's closest collaborator in the revolt they launched July 26, 1953 that led to the overthrow of President Fulgencio Batista New Year's Day.

When Fidel became prime minister in February he named Raul to succeed him as commander-in-chief of the armed forces and publicly designated him to lead the revolution if anything happened to him.

Fidel reportedly has had to curb his younger brother to keep him from rushing the revolutionary program too fast and too violently.

A helicopter spotted Raul and his companions this morning. It radioed for help and the men were picked up by four Navy launches at the mouth of the river.

Raul took off from Havana Tuesday in the light plane to search for the crashed helicopter of air force commander Maj. Pedro Luis Diaz Lanz.

Woman Is Charged With Forging, Cashing Checks

A 21-year-old Negro woman has been charged with forging the names of three well-known Big Spring residents to bogus checks. She is alleged to have cashed checks in local stores and began her operations on April 17. The most recent check she cashed was on last Friday.

Mary Lou McGuff, whose address is 306 W. 5th, has admitted in a signed statement to officers that she wrote two checks for $45 and $42 to which she signed the name of Jack Rhoton, and one check for $53 signed Oble Bristow.

She is accused of using fictitious names on the checks and endorsing them with these names. She allegedly posed as being an employee in the homes of her victims and representing that the checks she offered the stores were pay for her work.

The case has been filed by the district attorney's office in the court of Justice of Peace Jess Slaughter. Slaughter has fixed bond at $1,500.

She was arrested late Tuesday afternoon by Sheriff Miller Harris and Bobby West, investigator. She made a statement to these officers, in which she admitted the acts, according to West.

10 Towns Enter Girls In Local Rodeo Queen Contest

Ten towns have entered girls in the rodeo queen contest, to be held in conjunction with the annual Big Spring Rodeo and Cowboys Reunion which opens June 11.

Several other communities have inquired about the contest and may send entries, the Chamber of Commerce reported today.

The contestants will vie for the rodeo queen title and a big trophy which goes with the honor. Sponsor of the event is the Big Spring Mounted Patrol.

Girls will ride in the rodeo parade and each of the grand entries at the three rodeo performances. They also will participate in a round of social activities being planned by local girls who are members of the Patrol.

Towns which will send contestants are Fort Stockton, Stanton, Sanderson, Gail, McCamey, Sterling City, Sweetwater, Brady, Odessa and Midland.

Entries Are Needed For Annual Reunion Parade

Entries are needed for the parade which will precede the opening of the 26th annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo.

Malcolm Patterson, who is chairman of this activity, urged that organizations and business firms contact him or the Chamber of Commerce to enter floats in the procession. There will be prizes of $50, $30 and $20 for the winners in the parade.

Meanwhile, box seats are on sale at the Chamber of Commerce, and those who want seats on the inner circle next to the scene of action are urged to acquire these as quickly as possible. This year's show is shaping up as one of the liveliest on record. The producers are Beutler and Morgan, and the card includes seven major events. There are saddle bronc, bareback bronc, and bull riding, steer wrestling, calf roping, and wild cow milking. The other event is the girl's barrel race.

This year's rodeo also will include a rodeo contest, and there will be a round of social events for the sponsors from surrounding communities and ranches.

Dates for the rodeo this year are June 11-12-13 in the rodeo bowl, near Webb AFB, one of the finest plants in the Southwest.

Tired Stockholder

Mrs. John W. Elder, center, of Catonsville, Md., starts to stifle a yawn as her husband, right, follows proceedings at the 51st annual General Motors stockholders meeting at Wilmington, Del. Another stockholder listening intently at left is Miss Maude O. Hickman of Philadelphia. The corporation announced at the meeting that it will build a new, lighter Chevrolet for the small car market this year.

Fast Denver Thugs Haul Off $165,540

DENVER (AP) — A $5,000 reward offer spurred officers searching today for two swift thieves who looted an unattended armored car of $165,540 Tuesday. The theft took less than a minute.

One man—described by the lone woman witness as about 45 and short and fat—opened the locked car with a key. He pitched four sacks of currency into a stolen car driven by an accomplice.

They sped away before Maude Moore, the only witness, could get a good description. The car was found abandoned in a shopping center a few blocks away.

The Armored Motors Service car was raided in a parking lot outside the Jefferson County Bank in suburban Lakewood. The reward for recovery of the money, covered by insurance, was posted by Armored Motors Service.

John Jeffery, 54, driver of the armored car, has been with the firm 15 years and R. K. Peterson, 49, guard assigned to the car, has 12 years with the company.

Leonard Delue, president of Armored Motors Service, said the two men were following proper procedure.

"They had about 20 sacks of silver to take into the bank," Delue said. "The truck was locked—the door locks automatically—and they were only a few yards away for just a very few minutes."

Officers said they were convinced the thieves used a key because of the speed of the raid and the recovery of a broken key chain at the scene.

Demos Paring Bills In Light Of Veto Danger

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional Democratic leaders reportedly are urging reluctant colleagues to pare down housing and airport spending bills. They want to avoid presidential vetoes.

Wrapped up in these two measures is the core of the political controversy between the majority of Democrats and President Eisenhower—budget balancing.

The two bills now are before Senate-House conference committees.

Democrats from the big cities particularly want Congress to enact large-scale housing and airport programs to which they can point in their 1960 re-election races. If Eisenhower vetoes these bills and his action is sustained, these Democrats think Republican candidates will suffer.

On the other hand, Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) and Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas were reported arguing that the Republicans thus far have developed budget balancing as the only major issue for 1960.

As reported by some of their colleagues, their argument is that if the Democrats trim the bills to minimum amounts, they may be able to blunt this issue by getting presidential approval for the expenditures involved.

If this means less housing and airport development than some of the Democrats think is necessary, the leaders were said to have pointed to what they regard as the likelihood that their party will elect a president next year who would be willing to support an expansion of the programs in 1961.

For practical purposes, the committees trying to reach a compromise must stay within the framework of the different versions passed by the two houses.

As an instance, in passing the housing bill, the Senate approved an urban renewal program authorizing commitments of $50 million dollars a year for six years. That totals $2,100,000,000 in eventual expenditures. The House voted for a three-year program geared at $50 million dollars annually.

If the compromise committee listens to Democratic leadership suggestions, it could agree on a three-year program authorizing $50 million in annual commitments. This would bring the long-range total down to $1,500,000,000, compared to the $1,350,000,000 Eisenhower asked for a six-year program.

Aid Bill Gets Nudge From Economic Side

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's foreign aid program had a strong nudge today in the direction of economic rather than military assistance.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee provided the change of emphasis as it approved late Tuesday a foreign aid authorization bill cut $266,800,000 below President Eisenhower's request for $3,330,000,000.

The measure, subject to both House and Senate action and to a change of figures in a later appropriation bill, would authorize new spending of $3,642,000,000 plus about 21 million dollars of left-over funds.

The cut was only slightly below last year's authorization of $3,656,400,000.

The over-all reduction, however, does not tell the full story the committee plainly intended to convey to the administration.

It raised by 100 million dollars Eisenhower's proposed 700-million-dollar allocation for loans to help develop backward countries.

And—counter to the trend of foreign aid votes in the House in recent years—it made major cuts in military items.

It was understood the committee also agreed to emphasize in its report that the military reductions are to be made primarily in arms aid to Latin American and other countries not considered to be the potential firing line—as are the NATO countries, South Korea and Nationalist China.

Eisenhower's general military aid item was cut by 160 million dollars—from $1,600,000,000 to $1,440,000,000.

The related defense support item, for cash aid to countries straining their budgets through their military efforts, was slashed from $35 million to 750 million dollars.

The President's contingency fund, to be used on his authority in emergencies, was cut from 200 to 100 million.

One economic aid item, providing for grants, not loans, was trimmed. This is the special assistance fund, cut $21,800,000 from Eisenhower's recommendation, to an even 250 million.

But the committee voted the full 179½ million dollars Eisenhower had recommended for technical assistance—the "know-how" program to help underdeveloped countries get started on economic improvements.

Actual funds for foreign aid are provided in separate appropriations legislation. These cannot exceed, but may well cut below, the figures in the authorization bill Congress finally passes.

Chairman Thomas E. Morgan (D-Pa.), who has favored a strong foreign aid program, called the committee-approved bill a sound one and said he would try to arrange a House vote the second week in June.

Toothbrush, Filthy Canal Are Symbols Of New Trend In Asia

By WES GALLAGHER
BANGKOK (AP) — The young man dipped his toothbrush into the canal and brushed his teeth vigorously.

Within a space of a few yards the canal was being used as a sewer, toilet, bathtub, garbage disposal, water fountain, swimming pool and a watery thoroughfare for small boats hawking merchandise.

The young man symbolizes the problem of awakening Asia. He knows there is a better life than the one he lives. He wants it. He is trying to get it. But even in the simple matter of personal hygiene his environment prevents him from achieving it.

Worse still, the prospects are none too good for him to improve his situation in the future.

Does this mean that he will look to the Chinese Communists and their methods as the answer to his problem?

Forces pull at him from opposite directions.

A top American diplomat said that Red China's advance toward the nations around her border has been stopped for the last two years. With each day, Asians and their governments — many of whom have known freedom only since the end of World War II — are learning more about the harsh, brutalizing tactics of the Chinese Reds.

The rebellion in Tibet underlined these tactics, particularly in the bloody way it was suppressed.

The other side of the picture pivots on one word—opportunity.

In the Far East, the way of life has changed little in hundreds of years. Today, Asian youth is no longer satisfied with it.

Ironically, Western aid, particularly in education and communication, is spreading dissatisfaction at an ever-increasing pace.

In the propaganda war with communism, the United States has spent millions in telling Asia of the Western way of life. Movies point up the higher standard of living. Newspapers and radios, aided with American money, hammer away on the point that there is a better way of life and everyone should enjoy it.

Students go to the United States to see for themselves and convincing them is not difficult. But improving conditions on their home grounds is quite a different problem.

Singapore, former British naval base, a major commercial center, gateway to an empire of rubber and tin, is an object example.

On May 30, Singapore will become a free state, governed by a city election. The population is predominantly Chinese. Singapore is probably the best administered area in Southeast Asia. It has less visible poverty, a higher level of education, an efficient police force, and other advantages not found to the same degree in most Asian cities.

Yet the betting is that a left wing group, the Political Action party, will win the May 30 election.

Why, in view of the relatively better conditions in Singapore, would a Red-tinged party appear to have the best chance of winning the coming elections?

Because of that same factor, opportunity.

The young people, although they come from middle class families seem to see more hope in the arguments of the left wing groups. Red cells have been organized in the schools. They have made an impression. The promises of the Chinese Communists for a better future have more appeal than the cold lack of opportunity at home.

Elsewhere in Southeast Asia, the number of youths who get a higher education is a trickle. The trickle will soon be a flood, however, as more postwar educational programs take effect. There is no indication that industrial growth will keep pace, creating purchasing power to achieve higher living standards, providing the opportunities so eagerly sought.

The young Asian today has a better knowledge of conditions in other parts of the world. He demands more than his father, and certainly his grandfather, demanded.

Only in industrialized Japan is the economic growth likely to provide a pattern that will meet these demands.

Aggravating this new problem is an older one—population.

Asia already is overcrowded as a result of a tremendous birth rate, which shows no signs of slackening. The problem becomes more dangerous by the minute because of the success of another Western-sponsored program, world health and hygiene.

The United States is pouring millions into economic aid, but the results are slow, even slight, in improving conditions. By the same token American information and communication programs have whetted the aspirations of the younger Asian. This is a key to the discontent in Asia.

What happens when the young man brushing his teeth in the canal is joined by many others as the populations rise? What will they think and say to each other if garbage and excrement still float past in the water?

Will they wait for the situation to "evolve" or will they look elsewhere, perhaps toward China, and undertake more drastic solutions?

In the long view, Asia represents a much thornier problem than Berlin and a far more dangerous one for both the West and its present friends in the East.

FBI Reportedly Solves Lynching

CHICAGO (AP) — The Tribune said today the Federal Bureau of Investigation has solved the Mack Charles Parker lynching and has turned the names of the asserted killers over to Gov. James R. Coleman of Mississippi.

The Tribune, in a copyright dispatch from Washington, said it learned from "informed sources on Capitol Hill" that approximately 10 men were involved. All are reported to be from communities and the rural area surrounding Poplarville, Miss. The story did not identify the men.

The FBI declined comment on the Tribune's story. The Department of Justice announced at Washington Monday it had withdrawn from the case because no evidence had been found of a federal law violation.

Parker, 23, a Negro truck driver, was kidnapped from the jail the night of April 25, two days before he was scheduled to go on trial on charges of raping a 24-year-old pregnant white mother. His body was found in a river 20 miles from Poplarville on May 4.

Scientist Predicts Lunar Freight Line

TOKYO (AP) — A U. S. Army scientist today predicted that manned observation stations on the moon will be supplied by freight-carrying rockets that drop their loads without landing and return to earth. Dr. Ernst Stuhlinger said the rockets would be powered from nuclear sources or from the sun and should be ferrying supplies by 1965 or 1970.

Singer-Turned-Minister Will Appear Here June 8

Little Richard Penniman, the roof-raising rock and roll singer who quit show business for the ministry, will appear here Monday, June 8, at 8 p.m. in City Auditorium.

Purpose of the performance is to raise funds for two Negro Methodist congregations, Payne Chapel and Baker's Chapel. The two pastors are the Rev. Robert C. Tietel Jr. and the Rev. J. W. Birt.

The Rev. Tietel visited in Los Angeles recently and met Penniman, telling him of the difficulty he was having of raising his assigned quota for Texas College at Tyler, which is supported by the colored Methodist denomination.

The singer, who has made as much as $10,000 per performance, promised the minister he would appear with his entire musical concert group.

Also the singer will give a donation on a scholarship fund he has set up for deserving male students who would like to study for the ministry or young women who desire to go into missionary work.

Famed for such numbers as "Long Tall Sally," Penniman quit the popular music field two years ago.

"At last I have found the peace of mind and spirit that can only be found when one devotes his whole life to the cause of Christ," he said.

Tornadoes Strike As Harsh Weather Lashes Central U.S.

By The Associated Press

Another outbreak of stormy weather lashed the central part of the country Tuesday night and more showers and possible storms appeared in prospect today.

Tornadoes struck areas in five states, injuring at least nine persons and destroying or damaging several homes. The twisters which skipped across areas in southern Oklahoma and northwestern Wisconsin were the worst. Smaller tornadoes struck sections of Indiana, central Kansas and in suburban areas northwest of Chicago. No injuries were reported.

The tornado storms were part of a wet belt extending from Oklahoma northeast through the middle Mississippi Valley into the Great Lakes.

Eight members of two families were injured and their homes destroyed by a tornado that hammered the small towns of Graham and Clemens, in southern Oklahoma.

Three twisters raked northwestern Wisconsin. One pounded the Fairchild area, injuring one person. Another struck 60 miles south at Trempealeau, while a third flattened a grain and storage shed near Eau Claire.

Heavy rains fell throughout the storm belt.

Thunderstorms also erupted in the Gulf Coast states northward into Tennessee, with heaviest falls in northern Alabama.

Cool air from Canada extended southward through the Dakotas into northwest Minnesota and Nebraska and was expected to reach into the Great Lakes region during the day.

Showers were indicated across wide areas from the Great Lakes and Ohio Valley into western sections of the Atlantic Coast states. In the South, showers were forecast from Eastern Texas across the Gulf Coast states and into the southern Atlantic Coast states.

Convicted Rapist Faces Execution

AUSTIN (AP)—Convicted rapist Milton Williams is scheduled to die shortly after midnight tonight at the Huntsville State Prison.

The State Pardons Board said no last-hour hearings have been scheduled. Williams was sentenced in Lee County for raping a 16-year-old Negro waitress in Burleson County. Two stays, totaling 33 days, have been granted.

A Devotional For Today

What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own? (1 Corinthians 6:19.)

PRAYER: Our Father, we thank Thee for those who have in any way encouraged us in the Christian way of life. Help us that those seeds of Christian learning implanted in us may not wither from lack of cultivation, but may mature to benefit others. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Courage Both Moral And Physical

When John Foster Dulles succumbed to cancer complicated by pneumonia, the grand old man of the Eisenhower administration passed from the scene of pain and turmoil leaving the world richer by his services to mankind and the poorer for his going.

As secretary of state, a post peculiarly susceptible to public criticism at home and abroad, Mr. Dulles drew his share of obloquy. But he bore it with fortitude and a serenity that must have astonished his enemies. He was a deeply religious man, a man of unwavering courage, and truly a man of peace. Offhand we cannot recall a single instance when he repaid his enemies for their harsh judgments of him with the same coin: his language was always temperate and his attitude forbearing.

Yet in defense of liberty and in behalf of peace through strength and alertness, he was a lion of determination and boldness. His courage was both moral and physical; he took chances with his personal safety and his health without the slightest sign of hesitation or cost-counting in terms of personal comfort or convenience.

In the end, his policies were proved, by events, to be right — however much he was criticized at home and abroad over details. In the custody of a man less perceptive and courageous, our nation's policies regarding the threat of communism covert and overt might easily have become soft and disastrous.

A great and good man has laid down his burdens and departed a shaken — and shaking — world. He will be sorely missed in the councils of the free world. We can only hope that the policies to which he gave voice and made to stick will not go into a decline.

Castro Due To Reap The Whirlwind

Chief prop to the Cuban economy throughout its history as an independent nation has been the growing and processing of sugar cane.

To develop this industry called for the investment of hundreds of millions of dollars in foreign capital, mostly U. S., not to mention the skill and efficiency of foreign enterprises.

Now Premier Fidel Castro proposes to diversify Cuban agriculture and as a first step he would seize around two million acres of land owned by sugar companies alone.

Under the Castro plan no landholders would be allowed more than an absolute maximum of 3,300 acres for all purposes. Stock companies involved in sugar cane growing must be made up entirely of Cubans. Payment for land expropriated must be based on tax value of the land before October, 1958, the date when Castro first proclaimed his policy from his mountain hideout.

What these laws would do to Cuba's principal economic prop can be better imagined than calculated. The first effect would be chaos; the end result calamitous. (It would be a godsend for sugar producers in the U. S.)

Fidel Castro spent part of his exile in Mexico. He should have spent some of his spare time there studying the effects of Mexico's expropriation of oil lands owned by Americans in the late 1930s. For many years, and even today, foreign capital — U. S. capital in particular — has been extremely wary of doing business with Mexico. Expropriation is a horrid word.

But just recently stories out of Mexico reflected some of the end consequences of that revolutionary attempt at "reform." Under government operation the oil business of Mexico has gone to pot. Bureaucrats have a stranglehold. Graft and corruption are rampant. All the familiar drawbacks of institutionalized operation and development are present — favoritism, kickbacks, poor quality of product and a public-be-damned attitude from top to bottom.

Mexico has come a long way in many respects in recent years, but in spite of the oil expropriation, not because of it.

Yet with this example before him, Castro proposes to seize the sugarlands and place them under what must essentially be government operation and effective if not actual government ownership. If he goes through with his wild-eyed scheme he will reap the whirlwind of ruin when it comes to getting foreign capital — and government loans — out of the United States and other countries, which he must have to survive, will be foreclosed.

Dulles Inflexible Only In Principle

GENEVA—The air waves of Europe have been filled with tributes to John Foster Dulles. Words of praise were broadcast by the radio stations everywhere on Sunday as the sad news of the death of the former secretary of state became known.

The contrast between what is being said now and what was said a year or so ago is striking. Somehow the free world came to appreciate Mr. Dulles only when it was apparent that, being stricken with a fatal cancer, he would be lost to the councils of the Western governments.

Listening to the eloquent eulogy by Selwyn Lloyd, the British foreign minister, as it came over the British Broadcasting Company on Sunday afternoon, this correspondent felt that no more fitting appraisal could have been uttered in government circles anywhere. For, as Mr. Lloyd put it, there was no "inflexibility" about Mr. Dulles except on matters of principle, and he had the courage to stick to moral principle even in the face of the bitter criticism.

The position of John Foster Dulles in history is in a sense being fixed earlier than might otherwise have been the case. For he was suddenly removed from the scenes of his greatest labors at a time of crisis. His statesmanship began to be appraised in the highest terms when it was realized that he would no longer be available to guide the free world.

Mistakes were in Mr. Dulles' handling of some of the major problems that came to him for solution, but he was the first to admit them and to correct them. He was not rigid in a negotiation. Indeed, he was resourceful and never felt that the door should be slammed when there was a possibility of agreement.

He had a faith that the West could win the long battle with the Communists only by sticking to principle and refusing to compromise on fundamentals. His critics thought he was unrealistic and that he should accept the Soviet position as one not likely ever to change.

Dulles realized that Americans often were too impatient and sometimes were ready to appease on the false theory that this would be of benefit in the end and bring peace. He felt just the opposite—that appeasement or surrender at the time would mean dangerous complications later on and that maybe we would not have been plunged into two world wars if firmness, instead of vacillating diplomacy, had been manifested early enough by the Western Allies.

Mr. Dulles frequently was represented as a believer in a one-man department because he handled so many problems personally. But he did develop a fine staff, and his legacy is the great team in the Department of State today.

The picture of Mr. Dulles that unfriendly critics painted was that of a man who unduly influenced President Eisenhower. This was not true. Mr. Dulles always functioned as an adviser—as a lawyer to his client—pointing out the different courses of action and leaving it to the President to make the decision.

It was this quality of deference rather than any kind of domination which endeared Mr. Dulles to the President. In fact, Mr. Eisenhower's respect and admiration for Mr. Dulles constantly grew, and a deep affection developed between the two men. When Mr. Dulles had learned that there was no hope of a recovery and that Mr. Dulles had himself recognized the facts and submitted his resignation, the grief of the President was noticeable.

Somehow, since a termination of service was inevitable some future day, it is a splendid thing that John Foster Dulles, lying on his hospital bed these last few weeks, lived to see his principles vindicated in the world-wide acclaim given him.

Mr. Dulles' ambition from early days was to serve in the State Department where his grandfather, John W. Foster, had been secretary of state in the Republican administration of President Benjamin Harrison, and where his uncle, Robert Lansing, had served as secretary of state to President Woodrow Wilson, Democrat.

The life of Mr. Dulles was enveloped in diplomacy and foreign relations from the days he graduated from Princeton University in 1908. Just a year ago, at the fiftieth reunion of his class, Mr. Dulles spoke at length in an off-the-record address which moved even some of the critics of his policies. At the time they described it as an expression of deepest sincerity and the highest devotion to principle.

John Foster Dulles is gone. A great statesman—perhaps one of the greatest in modern times—has departed. While the free world today appreciates what he did, it is important now that his principles and the doctrines he preached shall not be forsaken by his own government or by the governments of the free world for the preservation of those liberties and freedoms he gave unstintingly and unselfishly all his ability, his strength and his energy.

The Most Boring Ministers Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Big Four foreign ministers are taking a two-day break in their Geneva conference. It's a break for everyone else, too.

There have been a number of foreign ministers meetings since the war but none more boring than this one has been so far. Three weeks of talks and the result is nothing. It's been diplomatic in a goldfish bowl—with amplifiers.

More than 100 aides surrounded the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain, France and the

Stuttering Road To Success

NEW YORK (AP) — "For years," said the man from Texas, "I ordered chicken salad sandwiches, which I hate, because it was the only item on the menu I could pronounce without stammering."

John Quincy Mahaffey, editor of the Texarkana Gazette, is a gifted practitioner of the art of after-dinner speaking, much in demand. He stands there, mesmerizing an audience, weaving his ancient witchcraft. Nobody moves except when he makes them laugh, which is often.

Afterward, few remember that J. Q. has a speech impediment.

Or rather, he uses it to enhance what he wants to say. Stammering no longer terrorizes him. Years ago, however, it throttled him to such a point he thought he might have to give up being a newspaper reporter. He couldn't ask questions. He would "freeze," completely unable to talk.

His managing editor heard him struggling on the telephone one day and passed the word around the office. "Don't let Jake talk long-distance—ever. He's unbalancing my budget."

Day after day, J. Q. despairingly settled for the chicken salad sandwich. "Once or twice," he said, "I made a stab at ordering the pimiento-and-egg. But I never made it."

Then the turning-point came. It came in a hotel barber shop through a face full of lather.

Will Rogers, the cowboy humorist, arrived in Texarkana on a fund-raising tour. J. Q. was assigned to meet him and get a story, a funny story, of course.

All the way to the airport, he kept repeating, "My name is Mahaffey and I'm a reporter. My name is Mahaffey and I'm a reporter." It came out smooth as silk.

But when he saw Rogers, he froze again. The words stuck in his throat. In panic, he followed Rogers to the hotel and called him on the telephone. Rogers answered it himself. J. Q. couldn't even say "hello." He hung up, completely shattered now.

A moment later, Rogers came downstairs and went to the barber shop. J. Q. followed him and sat there, struggling to speak. Suddenly, the barber looked at J. Q. and said "Next — you, you're next." J. Q. only shook his head.

At that point, Rogers sat up in the chair and beckoned to J. Q. "Old country boy," he said, "you've been following me all morning so you must want something. Now you sit over here and tell me what it is you want."

J. Q. sat on a high stool beside the barber chair. He managed to fight his way through the words, "My name is Mahaffey and —"

Silently, he pulled out a reporter's notebook.

"And you want to know what I'm going to do? And what I think about things? And a few quotes?" said Rogers. J. Q. nodded.

The cowboy talked and talked. J. Q. got his story, a great story. When he was finished, Rogers said "You know, old country boy, you don't have to be afraid. Because anybody who amounts to anything will know before you open your mouth that you stutter. And the others aren't worth talking to, anyway."

This is not quite the end of the story. J. Q. did not emerge overnight as the William Jennings Bryan of Texarkana. But what he did do, and to his own immense astonishment, was to accept a speaking engagement not long afterward.

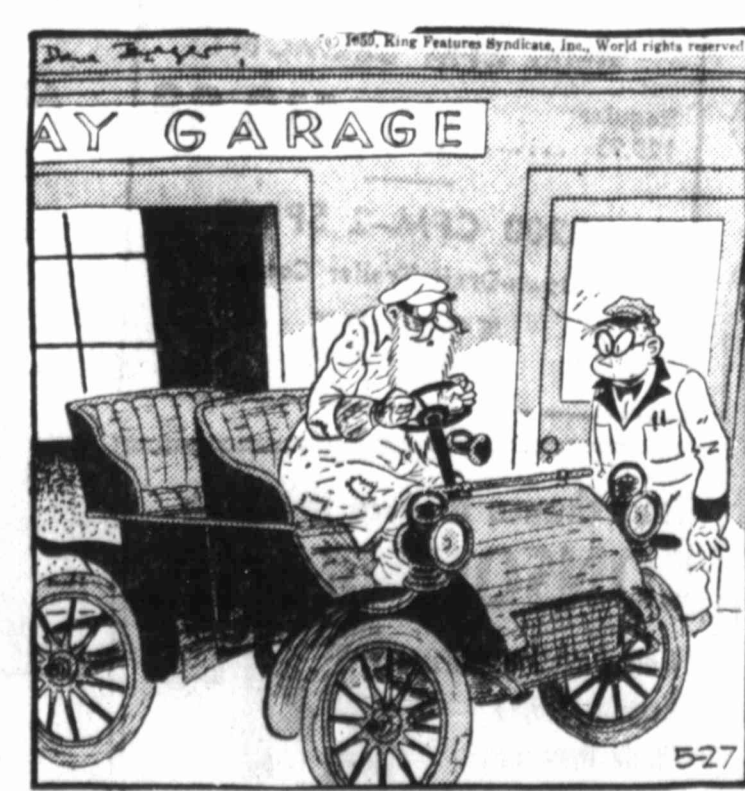

"That was the worst week of my life," he said. "You see, a stammerer can look down a whole long sentence and see the words that's going to throw him. Sure enough, when he comes to it, it does throw him."

How did he overcome it? "By accepting every time somebody asked me to make a speech," he said. "Every time you make a talk, it throws that old trouble back just a little further."

After nearly 30 years, and thousands of public appearances, J. Q. no longer has to order the chicken salad sandwich.

Around The Rim

... And They Still Are!

One on the signs of age is looking back, but at this season of the year my mind goes back to the days when graduation was a community climax.

There weren't so many competing events and interests then, and the whole affair wasn't quite so ready-made. About the only similarity was the invitations — and even then these weren't too highly employed or regarded. They were, for the most part, done in the Spencerian flourish and more frequently with raised letter engraving.

Those were the days before even the class ring. It was before caps and gowns were heard of for anything less than a bachelor's degree. Whereas contemporary attire is of no particular consequence because candidates don gowns and mortarboards, apparel was then quite an item. Usually the boys wore dark trousers and white shirts, with starched collars, possibly with a little bow tie or a black cravat. Some few, not yet regarded as men by the head of the house, still wore knee britches with black cotton ribbed stockings.

Usually some general type of dress was agreed upon for the girls, which meant that their mothers had to sew up a storm. The graduation dress was most always something very special, and even with the sheers of material, care was taken to use stitches which wouldn't show. Like the boys, the girls went in for white or very light shades, and their shoes likely were to be white also. The thing about both boys and girls, they had to count on those toes being Sunday-go-to-meeting wear for a long time after graduation.

There was no air conditioning then, and the thought of holding an exercise outdoors never entered the minds of authorities. Graduation called for the dignity of the schoolhouse, and proud parents fought off the ravages of summer heat with a paper fan extolling the virtues of Putnam's dyes.

I recall one baccalaureate where the village band was pressed into service. Mr. O. Dubberly, who dearly loved his band, took over in the absence of the director and conducted the processional, "Onward Christian Soldiers," most beautifully except for a squeaky reed on Etchies Gensberg's clarinet. Of course, we settle for a piano or organ nowadays.

The commencement address was apt to be more eloquent and efflorescent, and the graduates were nailed to the cross of silver-tongued oratory at great and often painful length. A great-to-do was made over the history and the class will and invariably there was a noble recitation by some candidate who had good marks in elocution. Then, as now, the valedictory and the salutatory, were on the high and airy plane that only the untarnished sagacity of youth can achieve.

There was polite applause for the academically proficient, a warm hand for some who had overcome obstacles to graduate, and a chuckle for the gawky lad nobody thought would make it.

But the young folks, with diplomas in hand, were just about the most important individuals in town.

Come to think of it — they still are. God bless them!

Inez Robb

Can't Buck City Hall, Alias Intourist

COPENHAGEN—I shall have to preface this column by saying that I am an experienced traveler. I have taken the bitter with the better around the world and still managed to grin and bear it.

But at any time during my first 48 hours in Moscow, I would have leaped at the chance to grab the next plane home. Not until I quit bucking City Hall—or Intourist, the Soviet agency that handles all tourism—did my frustrations lessen. As soon as I was willing to admit that Intourist knows Best, life was easier. The sad part is that I did not know that I was upsetting Intourist as much as it was disturbing me.

Now, I must explain that I came to Russia as a Tourist First Class. That means that I was traveling with a group entitled to an interpreter-guide and transportation by bus. I was one of a group of newsmen who flew into Moscow on the inaugural flight of British European Airways. The British and the Russians have just signed an agreement that allows each to fly between London and Moscow.

To Intourist, our little band of 20 newsmen was known as "the BEA group." My first enlightening and enlightening experience with Intourist inflexibility came my first morning in Moscow, when I went to the dining room of the Ukraine Hotel for breakfast at 9 a.m., per the Intourist instruction sheet.

I walked into the dining room, sat down at the first handy table and breakfasted. All my expenses had been paid in advance. So when the waiter presented a check for 15 rubles (or $1.50), I explained that I was with "the BEA group."

Well, that was my mistake. The waiter took the check to the Intourist guide, who had arrived by this time. She proceeded to dress me down because I had not breakfasted at the "BEA table." I explained that I hadn't known there was a BEA table especially set aside for our party.

She, in turn, was visibly angry and upset because I had presented a problem by straying, even innocently, from the rigid Intourist line. She told me I would have to pay the check, which I did rather than fuss. And then, after I had paid the bill, she berated me for doing so!

By this time I was hoping mad, chewing my tongue and counting to a thousand, and it takes a long time for a newcomer to count to a thousand in Russian. There was nothing to do but walk away from the situation. Fortunately for both of us, Miss Straw Boss never appeared with our group again.

However, the feeling that Big Brother is eternally watching was certainly heightened for me later that day when I went to Intourist headquarters to ask it to arrange for me to meet and talk with a Soviet newspaperwoman. My dossier included the breakfast contretemps, a matter that seemed so trivial by afternoon that I had already forgotten it! By the way, I never did get to meet a Russian woman reporter. It was not deemed practical.

In all fairness, Intourist had planned an interesting schedule of events for the BEA group, providing you didn't prefer to go and see other things. But I did. Very often I preferred to go off on my own. This, in turn, upset our chief guide, a very personable and pleasant young woman. According to Intourist rules, I should have stuck with the group. She would look at me, half pleading, half accusing, and say, "Please, Mrs. Robb, you come with us!"

But in the end, the rigidity of the system overcame her, too. My last night in Moscow, I wanted to settle my bill with Intourist for hiring a private car and guide on different occasions. I lacked 29 rubles of having enough to pay the bill.

But the guide and the Intourist woman in charge of transportation at the Ukraine Hotel both insisted that I pay only in rubles. They rejected both dollars and a traveller's check. The girl whose job it was to cash traveller's checks had left for the night! The rules allowed no one else to do so, apparently.

All the persons in the Ukraine whom I knew had suddenly vanished, so I couldn't borrow the rubles. Only my pride kept me from howling in sheer frustration. Finally, Intourist gave in. If I had three one-dollar bills, they'd call it quits, the two girls said.

I handed over the bills, crept to my room and swallowed half a bottle of aspirin. But don't get me wrong. It's a case of "loved Moscow, hated the system."

The Gallup Poll

Demos Gain Confidence Of The People

PRINCETON, N. J. — During a springtime in which the ever-threatening Berlin crisis has heightened concern over international situation, public confidence in the Democratic party's ability to handle the nation's top problems has grown significantly.

Today, among all those voters who can see a difference in the ability of the major parties to handle the problems that voters themselves consider important, here is how the two parties fare:

PARTY HANDLE BEST?
—May, 1959—

	Per cent
Democrats can handle best	61
Republicans can handle best	39

Earlier this year, a Gallup Poll "reading" on this party confidence barometer produced these results among voters who saw a difference between the two parties:

PARTY HANDLE BEST?
—Feb., 1959—

	Per cent
Democrats can handle best	57
Republicans can handle best	43

(About one voter in three in the current study, or 33 per cent, either could see no difference in the parties' ability or had no opinion on the issue. In the February study, the comparable figure was 40 per cent.)

As was the case in the late winter—and, in fact, has been the case with few exceptions since the early days of the "cold war"—the problem of keeping international peace is the one uppermost in the minds of voters today.

WAR WORRY INCREASES
But as the following comparison with the February study shows, concern with keeping the peace increased measurably during a period in which East and West moved cautiously, sometimes haltingly, toward the present talks at Geneva. Voters in both studies were asked this identical question:

"What do you think is the most important problem facing this country today?"

MOST IMPORTANT PROBLEM
Today Feb., '59

	Per cent
Keeping the peace	44
High cost of living	35
Unemployment	17
Integration	10
Others	7
No opinion	6

This approach, which measures the political implications of the problems that voters themselves feel are most pressing, has proven to be a reliable barometer of basic party strength.

At the time of the 1956 presidential election, for example, the Republican party had a comfortable lead on the party confidence barometer. The vast majority before the Eisenhower-Nixon landslide among those who saw a difference between the parties was:

PARTY HANDLE BEST?
—Oct., 1956—

	Per cent
Republicans can handle best	53
Democrats can handle best	45

In the 1952 election, with the Korean stalemate and the threat of war as the top issue in voters' minds, the Republicans had a 57 to 43 per cent advantage over the Democrats on this question.

Just previous to the 1958 Democratic Congressional landslide, by way of contrast, the Democrats led the Republicans on the party confidence barometer by about the same margin as they do today.

The photographer told the young lady to recline in the easy chair and make like Sophia, or maybe Gina. So, she sat and scowled—maybe it was because Italian movie stars trying to look sexy most often end up with a scowl, but more probably it was because she didn't like the photographer. At any rate, the lensman finally settled for a view from the bridge, allowing his subject her natural smile, which made everyone happier. All this was brought about by the Big Spring Civic Theatre's publicity crew to advertise the forthcoming "The Seven Year Itch," an hilarious and sometimes slightly naughty comedy about a husband who gets an itch to roam after seven years of marriage. That's where the girl in the picture comes in. No Italian movie star, she. She's Carol Ackerson, and hers is the role of the girl upstairs who, with wifely away, causes hubby to flip—the role made famous by Marilyn Monroe on the screen. Insiders say Mrs. Ackerson has a running chance to equal Monroe's performance. Tickets for "The Seven Year Itch" and two other summer season plays may be had from any Civic Theatre member, or by mail from Box 643, Big Spring. Prices are $3 per season ticket, $5 for two.

Tough Talk May Force Plan Change

WASHINGTON (AP)—Tough talk by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in Albania appeared certain today to force a quick Western strategy review of prospects for easing the Geneva conference deadlock on Germany's future.

Such a Western huddle was reported likely after the Western Big Three foreign ministers and West Germany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer attend John Foster Dulles' funeral this afternoon.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, accompanied by British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville was to arrive this morning by Air Force plane from Geneva.

Herter arranged to report to President Eisenhower on futile efforts at Geneva thus far to persuade the Soviets to offer enough concessions to provide a compromise settlement of the Berlin and German problems.

In an off-the-cuff speech in Albania where he is now visiting, Khrushchev lashed out anew at Western policies and threatened to sign a separate peace treaty with Communist East Germany.

Khrushchev reinforced this oft-repeated threat by warning that the Soviets will set up missile bases in Albania if American missiles are stationed in Italy and Greece.

It marked the third time in three weeks that the Soviet leader has publicly sought to pressure the West into agreeing to Soviet demands under the threat of taking single-handed action if the Allies refuse.

Khrushchev's remarks clearly irritated top American officials. They came only one day after the State Department bluntly advised him in effect to shut up unless he wanted to ruin prospects that friendly talks at Geneva could lessen Berlin tensions.

The new Khrushchev threats were expected to bolster Adenauer's appeals to the Western Big Three to adopt an equally tough line.

New Food Store Slated At Stanton

STANTON (SC)—A new food store to be known as the Superette Food Market will open its doors about July 1, if building plans are not delayed.

A new brick and tile building 50 by 80 feet in size is being constructed near the corner of Broadway and St. Paul Streets. It will be operated by B. Hanks, who also has a couple of grocery stores in Midland.

Building contractor is Pioneer Builders of Big Spring.

Ballet Experts Watch Classic Jap Dances

By W. G. ROGERS
Associated Press Arts Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—The oddest of all the dance spectacles which veteran balletomanes here have seen — and they know companies from Bali to Moscow — was presented Tuesday night by the Japanese Imperial Household troupe.

It was the company's formal American debut in City Center, where it appeared as guest of the New York City Ballet.

Wearing fantastic costumes and masks, the visitors imitated the crane, the warrior joining battle, and the Mongol hunting a snake, devouring it to cure his illness and then rejoicing at his recovery.

An orchestral interlude was played by a dozen kneeling men, also elaborately costumed. The entire performance was called "Gagaku," a millennium-old art form associated exclusively nowadays with court ceremony and deriving from imported as well as native musical forms.

This is essentially a religious expression, if not actually a kind of worship, and in Japan it is to be seen only in the royal household or at important shrines.

For a performance that was only a few blocks off Broadway, this had no theatrical appeal at all. The contrast with the American ballets on the same bill, among them such sterling secular works as "Serenade" and "Stars and Stripes," was even more drastic.

The dancers' movements are painfully slow—a hitch, a squat, a hop, a shuffle, a deliberate turn, an arm raised and later, much later, lowered. The music, matching it perfectly, is painfully thin, pure and also slow. The ensemble is something the Western ear will take a heap of getting used to before it ever learns to enjoy it.

But this is not to deny the awe-some solemnity of the visitors' curious offering.

Russ Plan Rocket Bases In Satellites

MOSCOW (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev says the Soviet Union is ready to set up rocket bases in Albania and Bulgaria to match any the United States may establish in Italy or Greece.

The Soviet premier, visiting Albania, repeated an earlier Soviet proposal for a ban on nuclear weapons in the Balkan peninsula to make it "a peninsula of peace without any missiles or nuclear weapons."

He warned Italy and Greece that U.S. rockets based on their territory "will attract our rockets as a magnet."

"These bases are clearly spearheaded against the Soviet Union, against Albania and other Socialist (Communist) countries," he said in a speech Tuesday in Tirana, the Albanian capital.

If Italy and Greece go ahead with NATO plans to locate bases for American-supplied missiles on their territory, Khrushchev declared, "it will compel us to build up forces for a worthy reply."

"Perhaps," he said, "we shall have to reach agreement with the government of the People's Republic of Albania to put something here to counter them."

Albania has a common frontier with Greece and is only 100 or so miles across the Adriatic from Italy. The Italians have agreed to accept American intermediate range missiles which can carry nuclear warheads and are expected to begin getting them by early July.

There has been no word of a similar agreement between the United States and Greece, although the two nations have agreed the Greek army will get American training in the use of nuclear weapons.

The Soviet Union, said Khrushchev, could establish bases for intermediate and even close-range missiles in neighboring satellites that could "blanket" both Italy and Greece.

"Now there are missiles which strike targets not hundreds but thousands of kilometers away," he continued. "As to locations to install these rockets, we have a wide choice in the matter."

Khrushchev tempered his warnings with the declaration "We consider the international situation is not a bad one. One might even say it is good."

"We are fully confident, meaning the Soviet Union," he said, "that by following correct policy it is possible to do away with armed conflicts."

But Khrushchev said the Western proposals at the Geneva foreign ministers conference "offer no basis for agreement."

Once again the Soviet premier plumped for a summit meeting and said it was immaterial to him where it was held.

"To us the main point is that the meeting be useful and that world peace be consolidated," he said. "To achieve this end we are ready to go to the end of the earth."

Khrushchev injected a tribute to John Foster Dulles in his speech, calling him a "distinguished politician" and expressing "sincere condolences" on his death.

THE NEWSPAPER... ALL THINGS TO ALL MEN... AND BY ALL TAKEN FOR GRANTED

FANCY DOING BUSINESS WITHOUT NEWSPAPERS

History is the biography of the human race. The newspaper is its diary. Each day's newspaper is another installment in the continuing conduct of the affairs of man — recording the stuff that makes his life... the changes that shape his economy.

All things to all men... the newspaper supplies specific help to particular men... to professional men... to business men... to workers and farmers everywhere... even to those who are out of work and are looking for it.

Are you a professional man? The latest news of all professions is in your newspaper. Are you a manufacturer, a merchant? The day's final quotations on raw materials, the latest index on the public's buying is at your fingertips. Are you a union worker? Up-to-the-minute facts about what unions are doing, how the trends of pay and living costs are moving... all these are here. Are you a farmer? Your newspaper brings you the weather reports, the fluctuating market prices, the Washington and local bulletins that you must have immediately.

So, whether you are a man with a million, or a man with a job, chances are you'll find timely information to help you in today's newspaper.

And the reason why is obvious. Your newspaper not only brings you more news and usable information than any other daily medium, but it pours it all into printed words... giving you a record, not a recollection... information that registers when you read it, remains for reference when you need it.

Diary of the world... bookkeeper of its business... defender of its human liberties... your taken-for-granted newspaper is self-evidently all things to all men.

AND HERE'S A REVEALING FOOTNOTE... The U.S. business world's virtual admission that it can't do business without newspapers eloquently speaks in this significant summation: Advertising, the mouthpiece of the American economy, spends more money annually in newspapers than in any other medium.

It's The Most Complete Medium
In Big Spring

If you have goods to sell or offer services you should be advertising in The Herald. Every day, more than 9,000 homes receive the daily newspaper and look forward to shopping the advertising columns. This is because to most people, advertising is news, it tells them what is being offered for sale, at what price and where. It is there to be read and re-read again at leisure. Your advertising messages in The Herald deliver more "ready-to-buy" customers than any other medium in Big Spring. Call AM 4-4331 now and ask to have a Herald representative outline a program of result-getting advertising for your business.

Lynda Kay Camp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Camp of Forsan, has been chosen for the summer training program for high school juniors under the National Science Foundation Teacher Institute. She was among 30 chosen at Howard Payne College out of 160 applications on the basis of her achievement and aptitude tests. This is the first year that such a special training program in science has been offered by the Foundation on a high school junior level and is being provided only in a few colleges over the country.

Work Wanted For Teen-Agers

An SOS went out from the YMCA today to employers who may be able to offer some type of summer jobs to teen-agers.

"We're covered up with boys and girls who really want to work at something," said Everett Taylor, YMCA program director. "But so far we have practically no response from businessmen."

The YMCA and Jaycees, who are co-sponsors of this proposed program to take up the leisure time of teen-agers constructively, sent out 700 letters to prospective employers asking them to fill out and return cards.

So far only three have replied. On this basis, there are about 30 youngsters wanting to work for every job opening listed.

Taylor pleaded with businessmen who might be able to offer something, even part-time, to contact the Y.

Local Medical Society Honors 4 Local Men For Long Service

An aura of goodwill prevailed at the Cobden Country Club Tuesday evening, when four men in the medical and dental professions were honored for a cumulative total of 217 years of service to the Big Spring community.

Senior professional men, each of whom has practiced here more than 50 years, were guests of the Permian Basin Medical Society, and nearly 100 doctors, dentists, pharmacists, their wives and guests joined in an affair which struck heart-warming notes with easy informality.

The veterans are Dr. T. M. Collins, practicing physician from 1895 to 1954; Dr. E. H. Happel, dentist who opened his office here in 1902; Dr. G. T. Hall, physician and surgeon who has made this community his field of practice since 1906; and Dr. E. O. Ellington, who began his Big Spring practice at the start of 1909. Mrs. Happel and Mrs. Collins were present to share in the good wishes.

Principal speaker was Delbert Downing, Chamber of Commerce manager of Midland and known throughout West Texas as a raconteur of note. Downing's droleries kept the crowd delighted, and he adopted the curbstone role while chatting of days gone by. His tribute to the veteran professional men was pitched on the theme of what the present day generation owes to all the pioneers who helped carve out a new country. Downing called for a re-assessment of personal values — difficult to do in the complicated and chaotic world of today — and observed that the highest values are those based on service to others.

Two of the honored guests — Dr. Ellington and Dr. Hall — responded with some reminiscent remarks. Ellington, with his typical sharp humor, protested that his seniority had come about because he "finished dental college."

Confirmation Asked For Hospital Board

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Price Daniel asked the Senate today to confirm four appointees to the State Board for Hospitals and Special Schools.

They were Dr. Raleigh White, Temple; Walter Woodul, Austin; W. G. Kirklin, Odessa; and Dr. Raleigh Ross, Austin.

at the age of 12," and recalled that he chose dentistry as his field when, as a lad, he had to pay an East Texas dentist $1.50 each for some gold fillings. "I saw that was the way to make money," he grinned.

Dr. Hall cited the progress made in the field of medical and scientific research, to point out that practice of medicine today is a far cry from a half-century ago.

A big change in transportation and communication, he observed, in recalling that his first car was one that had to be primed in each of the cylinders for starting.

Dr. G. E. Peacock, president of the Permian Basin Society, was master of ceremonies, and acknowledged help from Dr. B. Broadrick, secretary, and Dr. Clyde E. Thomas Jr. in making arrangements for the program.

Teen-Age Program Registration Lags

While registrations for the elementary age city-wide recreational program are setting records, the enrollment in the teen-age program is lagging.

Bobo Hardy, general secretary for the YMCA, urged young people to register for the various special events at the YMCA before 5 p.m. May 29. There is no fee, but in the case of golf and model building there are charges for green fees at the golf course and for materials.

Here are activities scheduled: TRAMPOLINE—Girls on Tuesday and Thursday from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m. at the YMCA; boys on Tuesday and Thursday from 5 p.m. to 6:30 p.m.

TENNIS — Girls on Monday, Wednesday, Friday from 5 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. at City Park west courts; boys on Tuesday and Thursday at same time and place.

GOLF—Girls Tuesday and Friday from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m., meeting first at Birdwell Park and then at Muny Golf Course; boys same time and place Monday and Thursday. Participants must furnish own clubs and balls; green fee of 25 cents each time the golf course is used.

MODEL BUILDING — Boys and girls will meet Monday and Friday from 5:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. at the YMCA. A $1 materials charge is made.

JUDO — For boys on Tuesday and Thursday from 6:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. at the YMCA. FENCING—For girls on Monday, Wednesday, Friday from 3 p.m. to 4 p.m. at Goliad gym.

BASKETBALL — For boys. There will be two leagues, one for boys 12-14 on Tuesday and Thursday from 4:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m., and the other for boys 15-19 on Tuesday and Thursday from 8 p.m. to 10 p.m. Games will be at Goliad gym. Boys will meet first at 8 p.m. on June 2 at Goliad for assignment to teams.

CHARM SCHOOL—For Girls. First period June 23-26 and second on July 14-17; both at YMCA from 10 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

GIRLS DANCE — Monday, Wednesday, Friday from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m. at Goliad gym.

POWER BALL—For boys. This will be on Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 5:30 p.m. to 7 p.m. at the YMCA.

The H-Y council is sponsoring a Drop-In program for teen-age boys and girls on June 15, June 29, July 13 and July 27 from 8 p.m. to 11 p.m. at the YMCA for a varied program of recreation.

Sulphur Hurts Oil Refining

NEW YORK (AP)—Sulphur is a troublemaker in the race for higher quality gasoline.

Most crude oil has a certain sulphur content. Gasoline production requires removal of the sulphur even though the process can cause costly damage to equipment.

The problem is old but sulphur is a particular enemy of the most modern method of processing super gasoline—hydrorefining.

Two California scientists said today boosting quality by processing gasoline under large pressures of hydrogen causes severe corrosion to plant equipment.

They offered advice on combating the problem but told the nation's refiners the headache is here to stay.

Results of a research project by W. H. Sharp and E. W. Haycock of Emeryville, Calif., were placed before the opening session of the mid-year meeting of the Refining Division of the American Petroleum Institute.

The Shell Development Co. scientists told how the rates of corrosion can be predicted. They said the information will aid in the selection of new refinery equipment and in replacement of parts from existing units.

AFL-CIO Awards $500 Scholarship

AUSTIN — Linda Shira, Bellaire High School senior, today was announced the winner of a $500 cash scholarship for writing the best essay in a statewide contest on the subject "Annual Salaries for Texas Legislators."

The Harris County student's essay was selected by the judges in the contest sponsored by the Texas State AFL-CIO. Seventeen other contestants also were awarded scholarships ranging from $50 to $300, offered by Texas organizations affiliated with the Texas AFL-CIO.

Among other winners were Ronda Horn, Midland, who won a $300 scholarship posted by the Midland Electrical Workers No. 460, the Midland Bricklayers and Tile Setters No. 28, Odessa CWA No. 6127, Odessa Bricklayers and Tile Setters No. 10 and Goldsmith Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers No. 3-586.

Several Articles Reported Stolen

A variety of items were reported as stolen Tuesday and this morning.

BARNES-PAGE

Big Spring's Progressive Realtor

20th & Gregg

Phone AM 4-6598

WE ARE DEDICATING THIS WEEK TO THE BUYERS WITH $50,000 CASH. WE SAY NEVER THE TWIN SMALL MEET. BUT BARNES-PAGE HAS BEEN KNOWN TO ACCOMPLISH MORE THAN THIS.

HERE IS ONE YOU CAN BUY - 3 (1) house on one (1) lot. Can be yours - cheap - just $8,000 - $750 down - bring what you have - we may lend you the rest!

WE'RE GOING TO CUT ADVERTISING - THIS IF SOMEONE DOESN'T BUY - this is a good house - buy my ad must not even get you people out to look at this one - $2,000 down - $98.00 a month - 3 bedrooms, 1 big den, 2 car garage, grass, fence, floor, windows, this house has everything a house should have - who will buy?

TO YOU DRY LAND FARMERS - IRIGATION (according to Webster) means W-A-T-E-R - GOT 160 IRRIGATION out of Lorraine with beautiful improvements.

I LIED - I said this 3 bedroom brick for $10,000 wouldn't last out the day. We still have it!

LAND - LAND - LAND - our Land goes pretty deep (half way to China) for smallest chunk is 30 by 80 ft. from that to 20,000 acres in one place. We'd like to sell every piece we have this week.

1800 SQ. FEET OF KING'S LIVING - Built-in washer-dryer, refrigerator, oven and stove - carpets so thick short people would get lost - baths so pretty it's a pleasure - bedrooms so big you get lost - located in the center of elite people - come look at this and either buy it or be dissatisfied for life. It's price is $22,500 and we might trade some.

THIS ISN'T ALL WE HAVE, BUT IT'S ALL THE SPACE WE HAVE - COME SEE US - 90 Per Cent of the property for sale in HOWARD county can be bought through BARNES-PAGE.

FOR RENT - 2 Bedroom house - $65 month.

WASHINGTON PLACE-3 Bedroom

this one won't last long. It is nice and clean. Pretty yard. In good location and PRICED TO SELL. Only $8988 for equity - Payments only $88 month.

CRITIQUE

Of The Local
Entertainment Scene

By Bob Smith

Dr. Phillip Deza, who took the part of a psychiatrist (appropriately enough) in "The Seven Year Itch," apparently will not be able to take the role, after all.

A medical convention which he must attend is scheduled for the same time as "The Seven Year Itch."

Director John Austin, with opening night approaching fast, was in something of a lather—it is too late to re-cast such an important part. Last word on the situation was that Austin probably will take the role himself.

Carol Ackerson, co-starring with Dewey Magee in the sexy comedy, shows promise of out-Monroeing Marilyn. It was La Monroe who took the screen role. Mrs. Ackerson is not only decidedly attractive, but an accomplished actress as well. (See page 3-B.)

"The Seven Year Itch" shows signs of being a top summer attraction.

Odd bits:

The five acts of Eugene O'Neill's Pulitzer Prize play, "Strange Interlude," opened on Broadway in 1928... It ran for 426 nights...

Listed was the first to use the symphonic poem in his music... it was WILL ROGERS who said, "Everything is funny as long as it is happening to somebody else..."

The best selling book in 1976 was "Common Sense" by Thomas Paine... it sold 100,000 copies in 3 months...

Earliest known record of American theatre was in Virginia in 1685... it was a production of "Beare and Ye Cub"... Stephen Foster's first hit was "Massa's in de Cold, Cold Ground"... in four years, it earned him nearly $1,000 dollars in royalties...

Composer Joe Venuti was born at sea, so he's a pain to vital statistics experts — he can't give a birth address... Composer Arthur Schwartz also is a lawyer... the full name of the noted conductor is Leopold Antoni Stanislaw Boleslawowicz Stokowski...

Rendition Forms Mailed In Martin

STANTON (SC)—Over 2,000 rendition sheets for assessing property have been sent to Martin County residents by the sheriff's department. Each owner is asked to sign the paper and return it to the office.

"We're doing this to save time and money," said Sheriff Dan Saunders. "It would require one man three months to visit each house. We don't have the personnel to handle such a job. Doing it by mail will save the county the expense of hiring an extra person."

Sanitarian Is Sought

The search is still under way for another sanitarium for the City-County Health Unit, Lige Fox, city sanitarian, said.

Fox said that two or three men are being considered for the job. Actual hiring of a sanitarian will be made by Dr. R. E. Johnson, Midland, director of the three-county health district and in charge of the local unit.

The vacancy was created when Tom Hardie resigned about the middle of May.

The TOP TEN

(Best-selling records of the week based on The Cash Box Magazine's nationwide survey.)

1. KANSAS CITY, Wilbert Harrison.
2. THE HAPPY ORGAN, Dave Cortez.
3. KOOKIE KOOKIE, Ed Byrnes & Connie Stevens.
4. SORRY, IMPALAS.
5. QUIET VILLAGE, Martin Denny.
6. BATTLE OF NEW ORLEANS, Johnny Horton.
7. A TEEN-AGER IN LOVE, Dion & Belmonts.
8. DREAM LOVER, Bobby Darin.
9. ONLY YOU, Frank, Pourcel Strings.
10. PINK SHOE, LACES, Dodie Stevens.

Henderson Rites Held At Burnet, Boadles Return

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Boadle have returned from Burnet where they attended the funeral Sunday for her brother, Lyell J. Henderson, 62.

Mr. Henderson, a rock contractor, was killed in a two-car collision Friday evening north of Burnet.

net during an electrical storm. The driver of the other car was killed also.

Surviving Mr. Henderson were his widow; two sons, L. J. Henderson Jr., Burnet, and Don Henderson, Houston; four daughters, Mrs. Emory T. Long, Lampasas, Mrs. Leroy Maddox and Mrs. Wayne Eckert, Burnet, and Mrs. W.B. Hammond, Mexia. He also leaves a brother and three sisters.

Accompanying the Boadles to Burnet were their children, Mr.

and Mrs. Ben Boadle, Robert Boadle, Goerschler, Chicago, Ill., who was visiting here at the time.
