DEMONSTRATIONS NOT VIOLENT PROSPERITY PROSPECTS VERY FAIR, HOOVER SAYS

CONDITIONS IN NATION ARE ON STEADY CLIMB

CONSTRUCTION SHOWS BOOST ALONG WITH OTHER TRADES

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—A summary of business conditions in the United States as presented to Secretary Hoover by commerce department studies has convinced him he said today, "the outlook for American prosperity during the next five or six months is very fair."

Figures Are Given

Mr. Hoover presented to me a series of figures dealing with the situation during the first seven months of 1927. In comparison with the corresponding period of 1926, the country's exports have been five per cent more than during the same period of 1926; the freight carriage of American railroads so far this year has been almost the same as last year.

Money Rates Low

Money rates are now low and the effect of cheap money on enterprise is almost invariably tending towards stimulation. The harvest in the grain country is passing through a somewhat critical period at the moment especially with reference to corn, but if frost is delayed a matter of ten days or two weeks the corn growing area will be a bountiful crop. On the whole, outlook is for a maintenance of general buying power.

Half Of Flooded Area Is Replanted

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP)—One half of the Mississippi bottom lands flooded last spring have been replanted and are now giving promise of some production. Secretary Hoover said today on the basis of a preliminary survey the Red Cross has reported the return of practically the entire population to homes washed out by a spring and the relief work has been maintained, he said.

Man Held After Crashing Into Auto

Crashing into a car belonging to M. C. Overton in front of the book Sanitarium last night at 10 o'clock, a man was placed in the city jail last night and today on a charge of driving an automobile without a license. The man was parked at the curb in front of the book Sanitarium. Wrecking tender and puncturing a casing, driver damaged the car to the extent of about $50.

BIG LESSON IS LEARNED FROM DOLE CLASSIC

FRUITLESS HUNT GOES ON AS STUDY MADE OF PROBLEMS

(By Associated Press)
SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Aug. 23.—While the search for the lost fliers in the Dole race from the Golden Gate to Honolulu continued with unflagging zeal, though with dying hope, efforts to derive profits from the flight's "sons were under way today, just one week after the start of the 2,400 mile air marathon.

As 40 naval vessels and a fleet of observation planes fruitlessly searched the great Pacific's waves for the six men and the girl who made up the crews of the Golden Eagle the Miss Doran and the Dallas Spirit, Lieutenant Benjamin Wyatt of the navy air, who inspected the planes and their compasses for the flight committee, declared that two "miserable lessons" had been learned from the flight's disasters.

Lessons Are Cited

First—All planes in undertake an extended ocean water flight should have a thoroughly adequate fuel under full sea conditions.

Radio Improvements

Gosbel and Davis likewise forecast improvement of the radio beacon and other radio sending and receiving equipment for aircraft as a result of the Dole flight. They also expect development of floating landing stages at sea, where over water aviators may land during long flights.

Defects Discounted

Wyatt discounted talk of defects in the three lost planes, saying the Golden Eagle was the last word in plane construction, and that the Miss Doran had passed all tests successfully.

Big Increase Shown In Cotton Ginnings

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP)—Cotton of this year's crop ginned prior to August 16 totaled 457,081 running bales, counting 10,933 round bales, compared with 142,355 bales, including 1,285 round bales to that date last year, and 579,271 bales, including 3,334 round bales to August 16, 1925, the census bureau announced today.

LEGION PLANS TEXAS WELL IN HOGG LECTURE LEAD IN HOMES SEPTEMBER 26 FOR TEACHERS

PROCEEDS TO GO INTO BUILDING FUND FOR LEGION HOME

September 26 was set as the date for the humorous lecture of Dr. Will Hogg, evangelist, for the benefit of the American Legion, and admission charge was fixed at $1 at the regular meeting of the Legion Monday night here. Two or three committees were named to complete details of the several points of arrangement, including one committee to draw up plans for a ticket sales campaign that will probably precede the lecture by at least two weeks.

The program under present plans will be given in the assembly hall of the Tech college, the largest available auditorium in the city.

September 26 was selected at the wish of Reverend Hogg, who has said that he will remain here after close of the revival campaign now under way and give the lecture next week if the Buddies wished it, but that he preferred to wait until the close of a campaign at Vernon that opens one week after close of the meeting here, when he will have more time for rest between campaigns.

Start Building Fund
It was also unanimously voted that all funds derived from the program be placed in a building fund for a Legion home, and it is expected that a good start on the fund will be made. Reverend Hogg is recognized as one of the best humorous speakers in the South in addition to being an evangelist of wide repute, and his lecture "Straps 'O' Khaki" taken from his experiences overseas during the World War is filled with laughs from beginning to end. He is offering his services free to the Legion, as he has done at several places, and the entire proceeds, with the exception of a few dollars miscellaneous expenses will be devoted to the building fund.

The Legion also briefly discussed a contract held with Harley Sadler whereby the organization derives a percentage of his gross receipts when his company shows here the week of September 19.

Chicken Banquet

It was announced that the chicken banquet to be offered by Homer L. Phay and his troupe mates as a result of their defeat on the diamond recently by a team captained by Vaughn E. Wilson, is to be held soon after close of the revival meeting, and that fowls are now being fattened for the occasion.

1,068 TEACHERAGES IN STATE SHOW VALUE OF $1,314,093

(By the Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Aug. 23.—Texas, first state to establish homes for public school teachers, before the Civil War, now leads the nation in the number and value of "teacherages." It was revealed today in a report of William Eilers, rural supervisor in the state department of education.

At the last accounting, Texas had 1,068 teacherages valued at $1,314,093. The number is believed to constitute one-fourth of the ago welfare worker for aid in securing clemency for Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, radicals who were electrocuted Monday.

He said that it would be a national humiliation and cowardly compromise of national courage to pay the slightest attention to mob protests both at home and abroad.

The Legion unanimously passed a resolution approving Senator Borah's statement and actions in displaying the courage of his convictions.

total in the United States, composed with the best available figures from other states.

Homes Commodious
The homes in most cases are good, commodious, substantial structures. The one at McAllen, Hidalgo county, known as the "faculty club," cost $40,000 and is believed to be the most costly in the south. The one at Graham, Young county, cost $28,000; the one at Westlake, $12,200; the one at Fairview, $9,000. Carrizo Springs and Crosbyton each have a teacherage costing $6,000.

In fact, there are only eight teachers homes in independent school districts that cost less than $1,000.

Of the total amount of teachers homes, 868 are in common school districts for the whites and 19 for negroes, while independent districts have 136 homes for white teachers and five for negroes. The Judius Rosewald fund gives financial aid to negroes for building teachers homes, which must meet stipulated building requirements.

First Built in 1860
The first teacherage was built in 1860 in the Blum district in Guadalupe county, which now leads the state in numbers, having 25 white and three negroes. A Mr. Schwenker, the Blum professor, was the first occupant of the home. In 1862 he joined the Confederate army and was killed in battle. The same year, another teacherage was built in Guadalupe county, this in the Schumannville district, where a national record has been set for continuous occupancy of a teacherage.

The first building was replaced by a new one in 1884, and from 1884 until now, H. E. Diel has owned and taught school in the district. The "long time" record is held by the Bureau of Education, Washington.

The Millheim teacherage in Tarrant county, has been occupied 46 consecutive years by different teachers.

Concentrated in West
During the last few years, teachers home movement has concentrated in West Texas. About four fifths of the schools in Lubbock and Lynn counties have homes.

Teacherage are built with issues voted as for addition to general school plants.

After Guadalupe county, Lav and Limestone counties are next in the number of teachers homes, having 19 each. Van Zandt and W. larger counties have 17 each; H. Hidalgo, Comal and L. counties, 15 each; Kaufman, Johnson and Runnels counties, 13 each; Austin county 12; Mitchell, E. and Concho, 11; Karnes, Childress, Gillespie, 10; Andrews, Er. Hall, Jones, and Nueces, 8; Collin, worth, Dawson, Floyd, Harris, Knox, Milam, Scurry, Wharton, Young, 7; Collin, Comanche, Col. Dewitt, Dickens, Fort B. Frio, Hale, Hopkins, Medina, M. Texas, Nacogdoches and Navar. 6; Bell, Calhoun, Colorado, Cot. Falls, Hardeman, Hays, Hill, L. Oak, McCulloch, San Saba, Stephens, Stonewall, Swisher, Tarrant and Taylor 5.

Harry Meyers and J. Levy of Amartillo left Lubbock this afternoon for the Kingsland well in east central Terry county. This well has been in the limelight since it encountered a showing of gas last Wednesday at 2,230 feet, with a hole full of slush as they were using a rotary at the time. Since then they have been changing back to cable tools. It is expected as soon as cable tools are rigged up and the hole cleaned the gas pressure will materially increase.

EVER since Sir Walter Raleigh brought the first tobacco home from America, the Londoner has made fine tobacco a part of fine living.
So it is only natural that he should be quick to appreciate the pure natural tobacco taste and fragrance of Chesterfield.
By his preference, London takes its place among the world capitals of Chesterfield's popularity.

The Legal Mind Again

Under the caption of "Legal Minds on Parade," the Journal not long ago took occasion to comment on that element of the legal profession which attempts to have its own way in the labyrinth of technicalities and having cases settled on precedent rather than on basic law.

A few lawyers have taken exception to this stand, calling it "curbstone chatter," indicating in the minds of a great number of people a disrespect for law and the courts, and declaring that there are many questions of public concern, a discussion of which would be more beneficial than an attack upon the law, the lawyer and the courts.

The editorial in question was neither an attack, nor was it curbstone chatter. It was intended as constructive criticism of involved legal procedure, and as a plea for general simplification of the legal code.

This paper claims no originality for this plea. In fact it is a plea made so often that it is becoming trite, and in support of these views can be quoted such authorities as the recommendation of the American Bar association, Chief Justice William Howard Taft and Dean Roscoe Pound of the Harvard law school. Weightier testimony would be hard to find, but there is plenty of it.

Justice Taft some years ago went so far as to say that "The trial here is a game of chance in which the advantage is with the criminal." That is rather damaging testimony to the contention that all is well with the law.

The same sentiment comes from ex-Governor Charles S. Whisman of New York: "The laws of America, as at present constituted, are protecting the criminal."

The 1925 convention of the American Bar association, meeting in Milwaukee, heard its special committee on crime report that our legal system of the United States lacks in three great essentials for law enforcement—celerity, certainty and finality; and that "in most courts of the United States, for a trial judge to attempt to correct a false argument, to expose a specious plea, even when that plea is a plea of a wrongful effect, for him to expose an effort to inject passion or prejudice, or to arouse sympathy in order to shield the blackest guilt, if the defendant is convicted, may require a new trial."

Writing under the heading of "What's Wrong With the Law," U. S. Attorney DeChambeau, at New York City, of the southern district of New York declared that "The old machinery, the old attitudes, the old dogmas—all have been stretched and strained by unprecedented changes, and only recently, after twenty years of distrust, has the profession frankly asserted the need for fundamental alteration."

"The prosecution machinery is choked with cases of which it can make no other disposition than to dismiss them wholesale," writes Dean Pound of Harvard under the heading "The Crisis in American Law."

"The law," says the Rules and Customs by which business transactions are legitimized and judged are narrow and based upon ideas and methods of the past."

"Even after capture, the modern professional criminal frequently finds a way to evade justice through the archaic technicalities of our inherited procedure," says an editorial in the current issue of "Public Affairs" discussing the same points for which this paper pleaded previously.

Carrying the argument further, "Public Affairs" continues as follows: "He (the criminal) and his advisers have learned to turn the very chinery of justice to their own advantage—to make devices which were designed to protect the

THE PLAINSMAN

Says:

If he's not a doctor, don't call him doctor; if he's not a judge, don't call him judge; if he's not a professor, don't call him professor. These titles are bestowed upon certain individuals who have by some particular work or service, attained them. They should not be used indiscriminately. You may think you're flattering a man by bestowing upon him a title which he does not hold but you're not—you're embarrassing him. He doesn't like it but he's too polite to call your attention to the error. The Plainsman recently had a conversation with one of the leading pastors of the city—a man universally liked, respected and appreciated and a man who preaches better sermons than lots of pastors who have had conferred upon them the degree of Doctor of Divinity. Because he is universally hailed as 'doctor' The Plainsman was curious. He asked the pastor, point blank if he had the doctor's degree, and the reply was most naive: "I am not a doctor of divinity," the pastor said, "and don't you ever refer to me as such. I hope to attain that degree some day but until I do people who refer to me as such are embarrassing me rather than flattering me." Similar statements have been made by many leading lawyers—men who have made more of a success before the bar than many others who sit on the bench. Yet they do not wish to be called 'judge' unless they have at some time filled that post. Give the professional man a chance.

J. W. Popelizer was found guilty and given a 5 year penitentiary sentence here last night on a charge of murder in connection with the shooting at Stinnett last spring of Bill Parks.

The foregoing is a story printed under a Borgia dateline in an Amarillo newspaper. Can you see now why our murder statistics are showing an advance every year? Can you see now why murder in Texas is regarded as little more than a misdemeanor? It's as plain as the nose on your face. Further on in the account of the trial it was brought out that Popelizer killed Parks with a shotgun and then, in hand, went to the sheriff's office to give up. No circumstantial evidence, mind you. Witnesses saw the shooting, the verdict JUST! The Plainsman says no. If Popelizer killed Parks in self defense or under the terms of the unwritten law—his words, if he was technically guilty of murder, he has sometimes interpreted the charge, then he should have been FREED. If he was guilty of shooting an unarmed man (testimony showed that Parks had left his guns in his car) when in no danger himself or not in protection of some and honor then a five year term is nothing short of MOCKERY of the law.

William Jones was killed today. He drove down the street while he looked the other way!

Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Jr. has donated $7,000 to be used as a fund for improving the architecture of hot dog stands. It's The Plainsman's opinion that the money could be spent in a way that would be greatly more beneficial. Seven thousand dollars worth of hot dogs, for poor children would certainly be more appreciated and a score of better ideas for the expenditure of such a sum can be suggested.

Dr. Will Hoag will face the 'acid test' here Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons when he dons the mask and breast protector to umpire behind the plate in a series of ball games between the city league champions and an all star team. The Plainsman can say from experience that if any man can come out of umpiring a man 'hot' game in Lubbock with the same faith in human nature that he had when he entered the game he's practically certain of being an extraordinarily good man.

"BIG BUILDING ON HIGHWAY PLANNED" announces a headline in the Midland Reporter. The Plainsman thought it was against the law to build on a public road.

That Girl on Broadway says that the only thing higher about stockings now as compared with when mother was a girl is the price.

Innocent a means of escape for the guilty.

"Misplaced words, misplaced or omitted initials, and the use of even well known abbreviations are still sufficient in not a few states to invalidate an indictment."

III An example of this last practice is offered in the celebrated "semi-colon case" at Trenton, N. J., in which attorneys for Sylvester Merz, the condemned slayer, contended that the accused should be given life imprisonment instead of the chair because his verdict contained a comma where a semi-colon was intended.

Such is the case against the law. The Journal presents it not with disrespect for the law, but with a wholesome desire to see the legal code so simplified and brought up to date that simple justice shall not miscarry.

"Without-Or-With, Offense To Friends Or Foes, We Sketch Your World Exactly As It Goes."—Byron

Owen D. Young, Though Not Widely Known, May Be The 'Dark Horse' For The Democrats In Next Convention

IN NEW YORK SEE-SAWING and BROADWAY

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—The handily speciousness of the Broadway belt are rapidly taking the place of the old bar-rooms as gathering places of those groups allied with the world of amusement. But such places are no longer retreats for the male alone. Now, even the seclusion of his pet bar is constantly invaded by the once center sex.

JUST off Columbus Circle is a blabbing emporium where gather the odds and ends of Tin Pan Alley. Here, just before the noon hour, gather the young fellows—who thump the piano and write the words for those bits of harmonies that either find their way into the best sellers or die unborn.

Here is a little room fronted by a long bar, wherein hope springs eternal after the fourth round of beer. Catering to the wants of his customers, the innkeeper has provided a rattled-bang piano so that his guests may feel right at home.

Each day there comes some high spirited soul firm in the belief that he has achieved the season's success. He will seat himself at the piano and inflict upon the gathered throng an opus born overnight. Over and over he will play it for the newcomers, and although he asks their opinion, he seldom is willing to take it, unless it happens to be favorable. None protests since most of them have done the same thing or will live to do it.

THE other day a couple of young women came in for refreshments and were immediately pressed in to service for a try-out at the song.

"Ya see," the composer confided, "it's a wow for a girl act and I want to see how it sounds when you put it over. So hold another one and gimme your best."

And so it went. People coming and going and enthusiastic creators rushing in to "hoist one" and then to bang out hopelessly. Most of them seemed hopelessly bad. But, such is the camaraderie of the speakeasy, that few tell their true thoughts.

IN years ago there were several bars scattered at important points where actors met and drank and told stories. The more affluent actors now foregather in exclusive clubs where bars are none too carefully concealed, while the lesser figures have an assortment of speakeasies.

Before the "ladies" arrive there is often complaint concerning the petticoat invasion of an ancient male province. Nothing, apparently, can be done about it.

Within the past week I have kept an eye upon a cellar place just around the corner from my Village garret. I have seen parties of from three to six women enter unannounced and exit, some time later, in hilarious mood.

It does seem to me that feminine drunkenness increases yearly and that the habit of women drinking alone or in groups is becoming a commonplace. Perhaps it is less common elsewhere, but in New York such things are treated as casually as though the woman were smoking a cigar.

With Our West

BY JAMES L. DOW
Contemporaries

THEY'RE O. K.

Here the town is slowly getting along, getting new people and new ambitions. Though in the midst of the customary August slump, the men with brains and money are building up the business section, and adding houses to the residence district.

With all this, the people who live here, who have families, which in cloudy weather, are also getting along, changing their ideas about certain trivial and important matters.

The children, of all ages, who live here, are also getting along. Right here, and right now, we wish to state that they are, perhaps, the cleanest bunch we have ever known. We mean morally, for this alkali is known for its clinging tendencies, and some of the boys and girls fail to get out to the swimming house every evening.

The gatherings, including the dances, find the conduct of most of our young people, becoming any well drug up young 'un. The parents are to blame for this, and thank the powers that be, that they are real parents. The old south with its high standards of morals and inbred courtesy to the ladies, is still prevalent in this territory. The parents still teach their children, in this country, that a girl is a lady, and a boy may be a gentleman at all times, without being made to fight about it.

Despite all these criticisms of the modern age, etc., they are not half so tough or mean as they are used to be. Girls are far more natural, false modesty is a lost art, and boys are better. This is true of Peccos, where the ain is missing. Lack of liquor, and correct training is responsible.

We're for the younger generation of this city, and wish to give the parents the true credit that is theirs.—Peccos Enterprise.

We have just about decided that the young people of this day and time are about the most remarkable set of youngsters that was ever known. A great many of them are having to raise themselves train their own minds, and make respectable citizens out of themselves in spite of the influence of their parents to the contrary.

The parents of many of the children and young people of Lubbock, and Lubbock is no worse than 99 percent of the other towns, are living wild and reckless lives, pulling all sorts of wild parties, and doing all of those things that many people are prone to condemn the youngsters for. There are many of the younger set that absolutely bluish at some of the capers that some of the older people engage in. We have often heard that "an old fool is the worst kind," and we are pretty thoroughly convinced that this is the case. If the mothers and fathers of the children of this day and time will give the youngsters half a chance they will make a remarkable showing. Just think about this statement for a few minutes, parents of children from ten to twenty-five years of age. Check up on your own steps a bit, and you will probably do some back stepping that you have never heard of before.

It takes 15 pounds of soap to bathe an elephant. Many a small boy has had more soap than that applied to him at one scrubbing, and his ears aren't as big as elephants' either.

Electricity rates probably would have none of him. Others, including the old Bryan Democrats, will think of him as too closely allied with the Morgan banking interests.

In this connection, however, reports may be worth noting that General Electric is seriously considering cutting loose from the so-called "power trust" and coming out for cheap electricity in the homes. It is said that this great manufacturer of electrical devices for the household feels there is more to be gained from greater production and distribution of its wares with cheap electricity than a distribution limited by high rates now in effect. Young himself, according to this report, is strongly in favor of such a change in policy.

But to return to Daves—

His Precedent Buster

Vice presidents seldom step into the presidency save by accident, but Daves as a vice president is unique. He has broken enough precedents to make anyone weary by the assertion that "it isn't done."

Current report has been that Mr. Coolidge would throw his support to Hoover, but no one can prove that he will do anything of the sort. In the last big cabinet row, Coolidge took the side of Kellogg against Hoover and two or three other "Hoover men" in the cabinet, and the fact has solidified by this time that when Coolidge was interrupted as rebuking Hoover publicly at a press conference, the interpretation was just about correct.

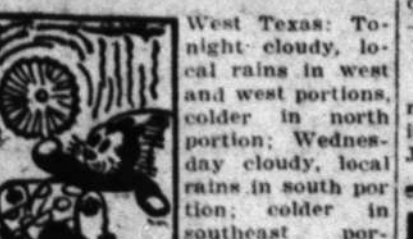

It has been said that Coolidge bores Daves and Daves annoys Coolidge. And it does seem likely now that Coolidge, if he supports anyone other than himself, would support Hoover rather than Daves. The question is one of how much the Coolidge support will be worth in the next convention. The politicians, if Coolidge is definitely out of it, will be their own men and not Coolidge's, for he has a personal hold on none of them.

Coolidge Aid Worth Little

Reverting to the Hoover-Daves comparison, much may depend on how Hoover's candidacy is taken by his home state of California. Senator Hiram Johnson is Hoover's political enemy and if Hoover can not satisfy California that he is "right" on the Boulder dam issue, he is likely to be sunk.

On the other hand Daves made a hit with Johnson and his cohorts by adding the Boulder dam bloc during the last session. It is quite conceivable that, with Boulder dam coming up again, Daves might maneuver himself into a position where he could snatch California from under Hoover's nose.

Big Circus To Be Here September 6 In Acuff Heights

Hey kids, circus is coming. Time—Tuesday, September 6th. Place—Acuff Heights Show-grounds.

Yes, its true. The rumor that has been in the air for weeks was finally confirmed this morning when the big, brightly colored Advance No. 1 of the Sells Floto and Buffalo Bill's Wild Combined Shows came to Lubbock from Amarillo.

The advance car was no sooner into the house truck, when the men that compose the crew of posters, lithographers and men, under the direction of Williams, started therefrom with speed and haste.

Proclaim to all creation—this electric tented organization would be here for two performances, afternoon and night, on Tuesday, September 6th. By late evening the entire city and surrounding country for miles around will be covered with the many colored circus bills and posters.

Have Biggest Show

While the Sells Floto circus needs no introduction to the city of Lubbock, the advance men claim that they have this season, the greatest show in their history. There are over 400 scenic stars that perform under the "big top" alone. Heading this empassing array of talent are such well known performers as the Hannaford family, with George, Europe's greatest riding comedian. The Flying Wards, 18 men and women who are seen in daring displays on the flying trapeze, making amazing flights in mid air, performing double and triple somersaults from one to another and hundreds of others to numerous to mention.

In the managerie they have added two baby giraffes and the only saddle backed Tapir in this country.

The Sells Floto tented city will be erected, during their stay in Lubbock at the Acuff Heights show grounds.

Jack Lockwill at Summer Camp

With his hands extended, the Indian boy clove the water with the cleanliness of an arrow shot from a bow. He made scarcely a splash as he disappeared from sight. To the swimmers and the boys in the judge's canoe, it seemed that he would never come up. But he popped into view at last. "As I live and breathe," exclaimed Jack Lockwill, "he's brought Saunders up with him!"

(Creator of Frank Merriwell)

Getting a limp fellow as big as Saunders into the canoe was a ticklish job, but it was done at last. Recovering, Buke sat up and held his head in his hands.

Jack swam again with all his might, and he reached Longpine and Saunders a little ahead of the judge's canoe. "Swing up and take this one in, too," he called.

There was a bleeding gash in Buke's scalp. "Rotten, murderous Injuns!" he gulped. "I guess they're both good and bad, like other people," said the judge. "You owe your life to one of them. Don't forget that." Saunders didn't speak another word during the trip back to the camps. When the float was reached, he was the first to get out of the canoe, still sullenly silent. Flashes Of Life

NEW YORK-Mrs. Mabel Phillips, who hopes to do a Lindbergh and fly the Atlantic alone, considers aviation a great field for women. She is ambitious to disprove a statement she read credited to a noted aviator's wife that women have not the brains or stability to become fliers.

Would Buy Plane

LE BOURGET-Miss Mabel Bell desires to buy the trans-Atlantic plane Columbia from Mr. Levine. She has gone up in it as a passenger with M. Drouhin piloting.

Too Much Waste

NEW YORK-Mrs. Margaret Winttingham, M. P. is here to study prohibition. "There is $30,000 a year spent on liquor in England," she says. "I believe that money could be put to much better purpose."

Birth Rate Down

LONDON-Official figures show a decline in the birth rate in England and Wales, also that women are more agile than men in dodging automobiles, fewer dying in traffic accidents. The birth rate for 1925 was 17.8 per 1,000 population, the lowest since 1918.

Generous Old Cal

LIVINGSTON, Mont.-Mr. Coolidge asked Governor Erickson what the population of the city was. The governor said 5,000. A woman in the crowd shouted 7,000. "He is slandering you," said the president. "Let's make it 8,000."

Needs Scrubbing

NEW YORK-Civic virtue needs purification occasionally. The statue in City Hall park showing a husky male with a siren at his feet has been scrubbed with 25 pounds of soap.

Another Craze

NEW YORK-The kinkajou is approved authoritative successor to the Charleston and the black bottom. It won the vote at a dancing masters convention in preference to the Dixie stamp.

TRUST IN GOD IS PARAMOUNT HOGG ASSERTS

REVIEW OF CHRISTIAN LIFE TOLD REVIVAL AUDIENCE TODAY

"Putting Your Trust in God," was the theme of the evangelist at the tabernacle this morning. His message was largely a review of his Christian life and experiences, and how God had healed him of his afflictions, and had enabled him to do his bidding as a physician.

As soon as news was received that the men had actually been electrocuted, a crowd in front of a newspaper office in Buenos Aires, Argentina, began stoning United States consular houses.

The strains of the "red flag" and shouts of "Sacco and Vanzetti must not die," a procession marched into the mall in London this morning.

London Embassy Guarded A strong guard was kept about the American embassy in Paris in neighboring yards and enclosures.

Paris had several demonstrations but a steady rain kept them within reasonable bounds.

Communists in Berlin and other German cities attempted to stage manifestations but they were suppressed by the police.

Some disturbance took place at Stockholm and Copenhagen, Sweden. At the latter place the police had to charge the crowd when it tried to reach the American consulate.

Argentina Active There was a fairly complete stoppage of work throughout Argentina.

At Montevideo, Uruguay, and Asuncion, Paraguay, laborers stopped work. There were no taxicabs or buses and no newspapers, the printers having joined the protest strike.

Sacco-Vanzetti sympathizers in Mexico City held parade in the business section, after which there was an orderly demonstration before the United States consulate general.

1,000 Guard U. S. Embassy in Paris

PARIS, Aug. 23 (AP)—More than 1,000 policemen and infantrymen were stationed along the streets in the immediate vicinity of the American embassy building today.

The police gave notice that the slightest disorder would be sternly repressed.

L'Humanite, La Presse and Liberte, the latter an anarchist organ, printed full pages in heavy black type filled with reproaches of "American capitalists."

"The proletariat will avenge them," said L'Humanite. I called on the workers of the world to gather for "collective reprisals."

La Presse hailed Sacco and Vanzetti as "martyrs" and declared their execution left the civilized world in mourning.

In another column, Contespe Demolles, French poetess, called upon the liberals of the world to reply to the execution by beginning a campaign for abolition of the death penalty.

Pickers Fined $5 In Court Today BOSTON, Aug. 23 (AP)—One hundred and fifty-four Sacco-Vanzetti sympathizers who were arrested in front of the state house when they attempted picketing yesterday, were fined $5 each by Judge William Sullivan in municipal court today.

The pickets were charged with loitering and disturbing the peace. When a number of them declared they were not loitering their fine was increased to $10. Several appeals.

Has His Eye On West Texas Oil

Following a complete tour of the oil fields of Southwest Texas, which brought him as close to the Plains as Snyder, in Scurry county, E. L. Doherty, of California, one of the largest operators in the United States, may turn to West Texas in his next move.

He has made the Doherty headquarters in Los Angeles, told the Associated Press last night that upon the return to California of the executive today the question of West Texas operations would be discussed.

ply your every need if you will only trust him." He does not promise to give you all the luxuries of life. That is not in the bible. I have looked for it, he continues, but he will supply our needs," said the evangelist.

Great Subject Tonight Dr. Hogg will preach tonight on the "Ten Plagues of the Twentieth Century." This is said to be one of the greatest sermons that he preaches. It is reported that when he preached this sermon in Jacksonville, Miss., that he was requested to repeat it for those who could not get in the tabernacle, even though it had a seating capacity of more than 8,000 people. There will be a great crowd to hear him tonight, and it will be necessary to go early to the tabernacle if you will be sure of a comfortable seat. Many will likely be turned away. Wednesday night the evangelist will speak on the subject "How Shall We Escape?" etc. This is another of the very best sermons that the evangelist delivers, and you will miss a great message if you fail to hear this.

AVIATION

I feel they never had a chance." Lieutenant Wyatt will make an extended report to the government on the Dole contest. He expects to leave here tonight for his station at San Diego.

Expect Congress To Act Secretary of the Navy Curtis D. Wilbur stated here that he expected congress to take some action providing stricter supervision for such events as the Dole flight. Orders were received from Washington, D. C., for the navy to keep up the search for the missing fliers until Thursday.

Meanwhile no tangible clue to the fate of the seven missing fliers had been found.

Search For Lost Fliers Extended

HONOLULU, Aug. 23 (AP)—Acting under orders from Washington the navy's search for the missing Dole fliers was extended today to cover various small bits of Hawaiian waters which have not been closely inspected during the larger and more general operations.

Rear Admiral John D. McDonald, commander of the fourteenth naval district, declared that he still is hopeful that the lost aviators may be found.

Continue Search Seaplane patrols today continued to search the area to the north and east of the islands of Oahu and Kauai. The tugs Pelican and Sun Nadin were ordered seaward over that region last night to remain there ready to aid the planes if necessary.

Two civilian aides in the search appeared Monday. Captain William Anderson, master of the fishing schooner, Larkspur, who sailed at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon for a six weeks cruise of Pearl Harbor and Hermes reefs, northwest of the main group of islands, announced

Death Of Druggist Held As Suicide

DALLAS, Aug. 23 (AP)—Justice of the Peace A. C. Flory today returned a verdict of suicide after investigating the death of Robert C. Cloninger, drug store proprietor, found dead in his home here Monday night. His health was given as the motive.

Pistol Wound Fatal To Girl In D...

DALLAS, Aug. 23 (AP)—Misses, 13 year old son of Mrs. Mrs. C. Miles, died in a hospital here today from a pistol shot he believed to have been accidentally inflicted. Detectives expressed opinion the boy was shot while aiming the pistol.

EXECUTION

chamber at 12:11:12 and was pronounced dead at 12:19:02.

Vanzetti Most Collected Two guards left the chamber and returned with Vanzetti. He was the most collected of the three and seemed quite at ease as he entered.

He shook hands just inside the door with a guard whom he recognized and then grasped the hands of others as he walked to the chair. Without a quiver he took his place and said "I wish to tell you I am innocent and never committed any crime but sometimes some sin. Thank you Mr. Warden for everything you have done for me. I am innocent of all crime, not only of this one but all. I am an innocent man."

Vanzetti had been convicted after the Braintree murder of a robbery while armed, committed in Bridgewater a short time before.

As the final straps, those which held the head in place, were being adjusted, he spoke a final message of forgiveness. "I wish to forgive some people for what they are now doing to me," he said simply. He entered at 12:26:28 and was dead at 12:26:55.

Innocence Maintained Through seven years of repeated efforts to save them, Sacco and Vanzetti protested their innocence of which they were convicted. They maintained that it was their radical beliefs and activities which had brought upon them the "persecution" of the authorities.

When tried for the South Braintree crime Vanzetti was serving a sentence of 15 to 15 years at Charlestown for the holdup of the paymaster of the I. Q. White shoe factory at Bridgewater, Mass. This holdup was December 14, 1919. Vanzetti always protested his innocence of this crime also.

Madeiro was convicted of the murder of James E. Carpenter, cashier of the Wrentham National bank, which occurred November 1, 1924.

Identified as Robbers The conviction for the South Braintree crime was obtained partly through direct evidence of witnesses, some of whom identified Sacco and Vanzetti, and partly through circumstantial evidence, in which a cap found at the murder scene was identified as Sacco's and the fact that both were armed when arrested.

The shoe worker, Sacco, and the fish peddler, Vanzetti, soon became known in many lands as the defense committee organized and collected hundreds of thousands of dollars which were spent not only for legal talent to fight the case but also for extensive propaganda.

Both bore fruit. Counsel succeeded but the fight went on until eight motions for a new trial had been argued and the Massachusetts supreme court had three times been asked to pass upon exceptions. Even after sentence had been pronounced last April, there remained the review of the whole case conducted by Governor Alvan T. Fuller and his advisory committee, consisting of President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard, President Samuel W. Stratton of Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Robert Grant, former protest judge.

Many Protests Fied Meanwhile from many countries and from individuals of high and low estate came protests that injustice was being done, or asking mercy. But there were also messages which demanded that the men pay the penalty for their crime.

Miss Lucia Vanzetti, sister of Bartolomeo, who came from his native village in Italy to be near him during the last few days, and Mrs. Rose Sacco who has been constant in her attentions to her husband spent the night at an apartment on Beacon Hill within two blocks of the state house. Three minutes after the last execution they were notified by telegrams. Their cries aroused many of the neighborhood from sleep and it was late this morning before the district quieted down.

Committee Gets Bodies The bodies of Sacco and Vanzetti were removed after the execution to a mortuary where autopsies were performed by Dr. George B. Magrath, medical examiner. The authorities decided to turn the bodies over to the Sacco-Vanzetti defense committee. No announcement has yet been made for burial plans. The body of Madeiro will be taken to New Bedford for burial.

Following the law of the state, the executions were witnessed by Warden Hendry of the state prison; Sheriff Samuel Capen of Norfolk county, in which the crime was committed; Dr. McGrath and Surgeon General F. P. Williams, official physician; W. E. Playfair of the Associated Press, official representative of all the press, and Dr. Howard A. Lothrop and Dr. William Otis Faxon, as guests of the warden. All four physicians examined each man to make certain that the sentences had been executed.

Inside and outside of the prison wall stood a small army of police, armed with a variety of weapons, ready for possible demonstrations which did not materialize. Two hours after the executions there was little to be seen to indicate that a drama had been enacted which had held the attention for a moment of the world.

CHAPLIN CASE

attorney fees, the actor's quintet of counsel is expected to receive no less amount.

Lawyer Get $36,500 In the cutting of the legal melon, the firm of Young and Young, which withdrew only recently from the case and precipitated a brief but bitter court scene with their fees as the crux of the affair, will receive $36,500. A like amount will go to Edwin T. McMurray of San Francisco, Mrs. Chaplin's uncle as well as counsel. The firm of Lee and Lee, which succeeded the Youngs, will receive $10,000, and George Beebe, who withdrew as counsel for the wife prior to the filing of the complaint, will receive $5,000.

Another possible cut into the $25,000 was seen in the $50,000 bill offered by the receivers placed over the Chaplin properties on the wife's request soon after the actor had left for New York. The comedian has agreed to pay only a part of this sum.

$375,000 in Cash Under the terms of the property settlement, Mrs. Chaplin will receive $375,000 at once $100,000 September 1, 1928, another $100,000 a year later and the closing $175,000 the following year. The principal of the $200,000 trust fund will be to the children when the younger reaches 35.

The million dollar price paid by Chaplin for domestic freedom does not include the loss of a year's work on his unfinished picture "The Circus" a factor that would run into huge sums in delayed receipts and production costs in gathering his cast together again.

The divorce trial itself, after months of legal bickering between attorneys and numerous threatening gestures on the part of Mrs. Chaplin's counsel hinting at the prominence of the film actresses involved, was a tame affair.

RADICAL RIOTS

marching on the United States consulate and being beaten off by the police, broke windows of the great ball of liberty of the League of Nations palace.

Theaters Attacked From the palace the crowds went to the American agency of two picture theaters showing American films and began to attack it. Streams of water had to be played on the demonstrators before they could be dispersed. In the course of the struggle with the police, some one fired a shot killing an onlooker.

The Geneva correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph company, London, in his version said 500 persons took part in the rioting, at-
