

Nationwide Demonstrations Against Vietnam Policy to Climax

By United Press International
The week of nationwide demonstrations against U.S. policy in Vietnam and the draft today built toward the planned climax—a massive rally at the Pentagon.

The demonstrations, erupting in police-demonstrator violence in some places, have resulted in hundreds of arrests since they began Monday.

At Oakland, Calif., where a total of 252 persons had been arrested by today and 22 injured, authorities were warned by a protest leader to expect "one helluva battle" today.

"We will stop the buses and close that damned induction center," said Morgan Spector, 19, a member of the Stop the Draft Steering Committee. "We anticipate 2,000 to 3,000 people will be willing to help us, and we intend to give the cops one helluva battle."

On the troubled campus of the University of Wisconsin at Madison, students—who charged police with brutality in putting down an antiwar demonstration Wednesday—urged students to boycott classes. Pickets appeared on the campus Thursday but no incidents were reported.

Two thirds of the school's faculty met late Thursday night and voiced approval of the university's action in calling police. When police moved in on the demonstrators, Wednesday, they used clubs and tear gas in a pitched battle. At least 71 persons were injured.

Federal authorities today were putting together a 10,000-man force of Paratroopers, National Guardsmen, police and U.S. marshals to defend against possible violence during the planned anti-Vietnam, antidraft demonstration in Washington, D.C., Saturday and Sunday.

As many as 70,000 demonstrators were expected to take part in the mass rally. Many, on arrival, began training in nonviolent resistance techniques.

Demonstrations Thursday ranged from massive metropolitan areas to humble hamlets.

About 60 Manchester College students staged a 20-block march through tiny North Manchester, Ind., Thursday night while fellow students and townspeople tried to break up the protest.

Authorities said one of the marchers was injured as demonstrators became targets for eggs and rocks. Police moved quickly, ending the violence. There were no arrests.

At least one policeman required hospitalization in the resulting conflict between grim police and kicking, shoving students. Forty students were arrested and arraigned within hours on various charges. Other Brooklyn College students called for a complete boycott of the college today.

In Portland, Ore., half a dozen Reed College students chained themselves to the draft headquarters door, forcing police to use cutting tools to clear the entrance.

"If you do the best and the most you can today, don't worry about tomorrow."

Conspiracy Trial Jury Finds Seven Guilty

BULLETIN
MERIDIAN, Miss. (UPI) — An all-white jury found seven men, including a deputy chief, guilty today on conspiracy in the 1964 slaying of three civil rights workers.

MERIDIAN, Miss. (UPI) — Despite the prodding of a federal judge, an all white jury appears hopelessly deadlocked in the trial of 18 white men charged with conspiracy in the 1964 slayings of three civil rights workers.

The seven woman woman, five-panel was locked up for the second straight night Thursday night when it could not reach a decision after 13 hours and 28 minutes of deliberation. Deliberations resume today.

Defense attorney Mike Watkins predicted a mistrial on the theory there are two factions on the jury who refuse to compromise. Watkins said he believes there is one faction that wants to convict some of the defendants and acquit others. Another faction, he believes, feels that if one defendant is convicted, all should be.

Federal Judge Harold Cox told the jury "in his charge Wednesday that at least two persons must be involved in a conspiracy — meaning there must be at least two convictions for the charge to stand up.

The federal government has charged that Michael Schwerner, 24, Andrew Goodman, 20, both white New Yorkers, and James Chaney, 22, a Negro from Meridian, were killed as a conspiracy approved by imperial wizard Samuel Byers of the White Knights, a defendant. The bodies of the youths were found in an earthen farm dam near Philadelphia, Miss.

The judge, in a legal prodding called an "Allen charge," recalled the jurors Thursday and told them the trial has been expensive to both prosecution and defense and there was a good possibility the case would be retried in the event of a hung jury.

"This court wishes to emphasize to you that it does not wish any juror to surrender your honest convictions," he said. "However, it is your duty as jurors to consult each other. You should not hesitate to change your opinion when you think it is erroneous." Cox then sent the jury back for more deliberation.

On the record of the trial, the judge said that the jury was close to agreement on a new three-year contract.

Police Clash with Negro Crowds in School Fracas

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A fracas at a high school escalated Thursday night into a clash between bands of Negro youths and police inside a 20-block area midway between Watts and downtown Los Angeles.

Thirty-one persons, mostly Negroes, were arrested and at least five persons were injured before police restored order by a show of force.

Police estimated 400 young adults were involved in the rock and bottle throwing rampage along a 20-block stretch of Vermont Avenue near the Memorial coliseum and sports arena complex in southeastern Los Angeles.

An uneasy calm in the area was shattered early today when three separate firebombing incidents occurred within a 10-minute interval. Firemen quickly contained the flames from Molotov cocktails hurled into several area stores.

Police said they had picked up a "carload" of suspects and were searching for others seen in the area.

More than 230 policemen moved into the area at the height of the disturbance Thursday afternoon. There were no reports of shooting and no looters were observed.

One of the injured was an unidentified Caucasian who was pummeled by a crowd of Negroes. Police emphasized, however, there were no racial overtones to the disturbance.

"We're terming it a major disturbance," said Police Sergeant Dan Cooke. "It's not a riot. There were very few club-wielding police and only a few officers took their clubs out of their rings."

It was the second most serious Negro disturbance here since the August 1965 Watts riot. There were very few club-wielding police and only a few officers took their clubs out of their rings.

Police Capt. Charles Reese, commander of university division, said the roving bands, numbering 50 to 150 persons, were "groups of young adults who like a tumble. They are preponderantly dropouts from school."

Unrest and tension were created in the predominantly Negro neighborhood Wednesday with the arrest of Mrs. Margaret Wright, 45, a Negro

DESPITE DEFEAT Governors to Force Showdown on Policy

CHARLOTTE AMALIE, St. Thomas, V.I. (UPI)—Democratic governors promised to force a showdown vote today on a pledge of support for President Johnson's Vietnam policy although they faced almost certain defeat.

"We have little choice but to proceed," said Vermont Gov. Philip H. Hoff. "Having gone this far, and having voted in previous governors conferences (1966 and 1965), I think we have to make the effort. More than likely we'll be licked."

The Democrats needed a three-fourths vote to suspend the rules and bring their Vietnam resolution before the National Governors Conference. They were confronted by an almost solid lineup of GOP opponents, who argued that the issue did not belong in a meeting devoted to state problems.

The governors hold the final business session of their 59th annual conference today aboard the luxury liner SS Independence, en route from St. Thomas to its sister island of St. Croix. The islands are celebrating their 50th anniversary under the U.S. flag.

The governors sailed into this duty-free port Thursday and abandoned business for more than a day of shopping, sightseeing and fishing. They were guests in the evening at a buffet dinner spread out under a row of palm trees at a nearby beach.

Mrs. Wright was removed forcibly from the school when she interfered with a conference between a vice principal and a mother of a boy who faced disciplinary action.

AGAINST ANTIWAR DEMONSTRATORS 5,000 Paratroopers Defend Pentagon

WASHINGTON (UPI)—U.S. authorities were building up a 5,000-man force of paratroopers today to defend the Pentagon against possible violence during a giant antiwar demonstration Saturday and Sunday.

As the vanguard of a predicted 70,000 demonstrators poured into the city and began training in nonviolent resistance techniques, planeloads of combat-attired troops from the 82nd Airborne Division at Ft. Bragg, N.C., were arriving at nearby Andrews Air Force Base.

Motorcycle-Car Crash Hurts Two

Two 14-year-old Pampa boys were injured, one seriously, Thursday evening in a motorcycle-car accident on Decatur St. in back of Pampa High School.

Listed in satisfactory condition in Highland General after undergoing surgery on his leg was Robert Lee Bird II, 14, of 1932 N. Banks.

Treated for shock and released from the hospital was Jim Casey, 14, of 2130 N. Banks, a passenger on the motorcycle driven by Bird.

Bird also suffered facial cuts and a torn muscle in his leg and underwent X-rays Friday morning.

According to investigating Pampa police officer Jerry Poston, Bird was traveling west on Decatur and ran into the side of a parked taxicab.

Both boys, members of the Robert E. Lee ninth grade football team, were taken to the hospital by private car.

U.S. Troops Kill 64 Cong in Battle

SAIGON (UPI)—Typhoon Carla halted U.S. Navy air raids against North Vietnam but Air Force and Marine bombers hit the Communist nation with 77 missions, American spokesmen said today. They also said U.S. Army Green Beret teams killed 64 Viet Cong in vicious battles.

Carla fizzled to tropical storm status in the Tonkin Gulf but rocked 7th Fleet carriers enough to bar takeoffs Thursday. The spokesmen said, however, land-based Air Force and Marine jets smashed Hanoi's rail links with Red China and vital military targets in North Vietnam's southern panhandle, they said.

U.S. spokesmen also reported the number of Communist MIG jets shot down by American pilots has zoomed to 89, four "probable" downings earlier now being classified as "confirmed kills." The North Vietnamese jets have downed 25 U.S. planes.

In South Vietnam, where U.S. Army and Marine units killed more than 30 Communists in small brief fights, official American reports from the jungles said the Army Special Forces' Berets killed the 64 guerrillas in twin battles Wednesday.

The Green Berets and their Vietnamese "srikers" caught one Viet Cong band in the jungle 26 miles west-northwest of Saigon, they sliced through the other in the Mekong-Delta rice paddies 78 miles west-southwest of the capital.

No Americans were lost and striker casualties were light, the spokesmen said. The Berets also captured 18 prisoners including a Viet Cong nurse.

With Carla giving the North Vietnamese port of Haiphong his first day of rest in a week Thursday, Air Force pilots streaked through MIG Alley and pounded the Lenh Khanh railroad bridge 70 miles north-west of Hanoi, spokesmen said. They cut the supply line from Communist China in five places.

Other U.S. jets hit truck parks and other targets in North Vietnam's southern panhandle.

City's Operating Costs Less Than Budget Estimate

It didn't cost as much to operate the City of Pampa in fiscal 1966-67 as was anticipated, City Manager Jim White said today.

When the annual budget was set up more than a year ago, the city manager stated, it was estimated the city would need $1,500,000 to cover all operating expenses.

When the books were closed at the end of the fiscal year on Sept. 30 the figures showed that only $1,440,000 had been spent.

This was $60,000 less than the estimate or about 4 per cent below the original budget figure. White said the two big savings were in the street and police departments.

The street department was operated for $35,000 less than estimated and the police department for about $16,000 less.

The operating budget for fiscal 1967-68 has been set at $1,652,000 or around $145,000 more than last year.

Officers Solve Four Burglaries

Gray County Sheriff Rufe Jordan announced today that two of his deputies, D. L. Day and C. L. Wallace and Texas Ranger Bill Baten have apparently solved four burglaries that occurred on Price Road Sept. 23, 1967.

Jordan said that four counts of burglary had been filed in court here against Jim Lee Bradshaw, 33, Pampa and Homer E. Beard, 34, address unknown, who are being held in jail in Kermit.

Jordan said the pair were in the Kermit jail on burglary charges and in lieu of $5,000 bonds each.

The pair was charged here with burglarizing Waukesha Sales and Service where they took tools; International Hardware Co. where $232 was taken from a safe and I. W. Tenney Lumber Co. and McCul-

State, Defense Close Cases On Huff Bank Robbery Trial

LIPSCOMB — Closing arguments by both counsels were heard in 31st Judicial Court this morning in the bank robbery trial of Ernest (Rusty) Huff of Pampa and Miami.

The case did not get to the jury before noon because defense attorney John Warner and District Attorney Bill Waters could not agree on the charge.

In testimony Thursday Pampa doctor, M. C. Overton, Huff's family physician, gave testimony to the effect that he suspected Huff suffered from psychomotor epilepsy.

He said he thought alcohol started Huff's epilepsy which in turn brings on schizophrenia, but the paranoid type.

Bond Election Almost Assured By Signatures

County Judge S. R. Lenning Jr. revealed this morning that "almost enough" signatures on the petition for calling an election for Highland General hospital improvements have been certified to allow County Commissioners to call the election Wednesday.

"So far we've got 986 certified voters who have signed the petition and 100 more have just been taken down for certification," the judge said this forenoon.

"We need only about 45 more certified voters to be able to call the election," Judge Lenning said.

"Response to the petition has been very good," the judge noted. "We've had about 1,600 or 1,700 signatures on the petition so far, and it looks like we may have over 2,000. Most of the signatures weren't readable and couldn't be certified for other reasons," the judge continued, "but I don't have any doubt that we'll have enough certified voters to call the election next Wednesday."

County Commissioners have already announced their intention to call the $850,000 bond election for improvements at Highland General Hospital if the required number of petition signatures is available. The law requires that ten per cent of the registered voters who are property owners must petition for a bond election before one can be called for improvements on hospitals.

Though not required by law, petitions for the $250,000 Perry Lefors Airfield bond issue have been circulated, and Judge Lenning has reported favorable response.

Both bond elections are expected to be called Nov. 11 to coincide with the state-wide special election on constitutional amendments.

Dear Abby

by Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am still haunted by a letter in your column from a mother. She was irritated because strangers would stop her on the street when she was with her three little daughters, and invariably comment on "That Gorgeous Red Headed Child!" This was done in the presence of all the little girls, and that mother was justifiably provoked.

Not all mothers are that wise. Some show favoritism among their own children. In my husband's family, for instance, my husband went into business and his brother chose the priesthood. They have pictures of their son, the priest, in every room of their home. Not one of my husband's and how they brag about their son, the priest.

People would think they had only the one son. My husband, who is equally fine, rates not one word. His success in business is due to "pull" or "lucky breaks." Never hard work. Thanks, Abby, it helped to get this off my chest.

KOKOMO
DEAR KOKOMO: A priest or a nun, in most Catholic families, is regarded as a special contribution to the life of the church. A business man, by comparison, is commonplace. Don't stew about it. His quality as a man is what counts — to himself, to you, and to society, even if not to his family.

DEAR ABBY: I am 23, tall, slim, and attractive. I recently became engaged to J who is 25. We've gone together two years. J was married at 20. His parents forced him into marriage with a pregnant girl who claimed he was the father. He was able to disprove it and got a divorce.

Three weeks ago J told me that his father had noticed some "stretch marks" on my upper legs while I was sun-bathing around their new pool, and J was told that I should get medical proof that I had never had a baby!

I consulted my family doctor, who was furious, but wrote a letter to state that I had never had a child. I presented the letter to J and his parents.

J apologized, and asked me to go through with wedding plans. I agreed on the conditions that I would not have anything more to do with his parents.

Shortly afterwards, J said he was short of money and wanted to wait a year before marrying me. He has a good job, and a nice bank account, but he lives at home and his parents handle all his financial affairs. I told him that inasmuch as all my wedding plans had been made, I would not wait. His only comment was, "When you change your mind, call me." Nice, ah? What would you do?

DEAR BEEN: Shower him with silence. And send up a silent prayer of thanks, for having been spared from a marital disaster.

DEAR ABBY: Tell "HANGING ON" to keep hanging on. My husband also ran around on me. He even asked for a divorce, saying he was "in love" with another woman and wanted to marry her. My friends, family, and even my lawyer told me I was a fool to hang on to him, that I should give him a divorce, but I just could not because I loved him. And besides, we had four children.

Now I'm glad I hung on because something happened and now he is a changed man. He became a born-again Christian. All he said was "I want to be forgiven for my sins and accept Jesus Christ as my Lord and Master."

Now I couldn't ask for a better husband.

GLAD I HUNG ON

Education Is Answer To Problems: Dr. Newberry

We are living in a confusing, tense and violence-ridden world of decreasing human warmth and increasing criticism, Dr. W. C. Newberry told members of the Top O' Texas Knife and Fork Club last night in an address larded with wit and humor.

"If there is an answer to these problems," Dr. Newberry said, "I believe it is to be found in education."

"Education is far more than reading a book or taking a test or learning some new facts," Dr. Newberry continued. "It is the sum total of all our knowledge... a mixture of the formal and informal."

Dr. Newberry pointed out that there were two basic problems in education: getting people

"truly educated," and bringing "the environment to bear."

"Before you can be truly educated, you must be informed of the truth... rational and able to make decisions for yourself... tolerant and compassionate... and responsible."

The educator expressed concern about "our own shortcomings in our society." Materialism and its concomitants of more leisure time, were blamed by Dr. Newberry for much of the confusion, tension, violence and lack of warmth in today's society.

"We are living in a world with more and more leisure time, but there seems to be more and more violence and less and less warmth. Sometimes we just seem to be going through the motions."

Back-to-School Night Slated For Oct. 26

Pampa High School is getting into the act this year with its own back-to-school night for parents of high school students.

More than 1,300 adults are expected to attend the school's special event at 7 p.m. Oct. 26.

After parents receive schedules of their student's courses, they will spend five minutes in each class. Teachers will be available for conferences on high school students' ability and class behavior.

Student Council members will serve refreshments in the cafeteria to parents. Dwight Rogers and Tommy Rose, student body president and vice president, are in charge of committees.

Committee chairmen are Martha Myatt, refreshments; Greg Gunter, visitation ushers, and Steve Grady, cleanup committee of Key Club members.

High School Principle Cameron Marsh said the school had not tried having a back-to-school night in about four years.

"I was in a faculty reception line at Southwest Texas State when we started our fall term and after greeting about six people that I knew, I started introducing myself to people in the line as the Boston Strangler. People would say 'How do you do, Mr. Strangler... Mrs. Strangler' and pass on to the next person."

"And if you don't believe that we live in a violence-saturated society, just turn on your TV."

"No wonder it's such a confusing world for youngsters."

The educator felt that if the problems of confusion, tension, violence, materialism and the other shortcomings of people and society were not solved "then we may lose our identity as a civilization."

Dr. Newberry offered his own solutions for the problems.

"Offer experiences to young people that you want them to have," he exhorted. "You have got to be willing to plant a tree under which your children can sit. Our civilization can be whatever we want it to be," he continued, "but remember it is largely you who will determine if your children will be truly educated, rational and able to make decisions for themselves, tolerant and compassionate and responsible."

Knife and Fork Charter Member Receives Plaque

Mrs. Fred Thompson, an original charter member of the Top O' Texas Knife and Fork Club, founded in 1949, was presented a plaque last night by a representative of the international organization for "guiding the club to a position of prestige and importance in the cultural and social life of the community."

Emil Von Riesen, a member of the board of trustees of Knife and Fork Club International, made the presentation.

Approximately 230 persons attended the dinner held last night in the Coronado Inn, according to Paul Bowers, president of Top O' Texas Knife and Fork Club.

Dr. W. C. Newberry, speaker for the dinner, was introduced by District Attorney Bill Waters. Travis Lively gave the invocation and Mrs. Sue Higdon presented dinner music.

Culberson Speaks To Chevy Dealers

F. M. Culberson of Culberson-Stowers Chevrolet, Inc. has returned from Oklahoma City, Okla., where he acted as spokesman for fellow dealers of his zone at a meeting of the Chevrolet Dealer Council.

Overton said that the defendant knew when the spells were coming on.

Gray County Deputy sheriff C. L. Wallace was asked by District Attorney Bill Waters to describe what kind of prisoner Huff was.

Wallace, who has been transporting Huff to and from Gray County jail replied that Huff seemed "very alert and interested in the press." He said he noticed the country in general and was interested in livestock. He said Huff was a model prisoner.

Dr. Overton described Huff, when normal, as a "very charming, likable boy with average intelligence and hard working." He said Huff was normal most of the time.

The doctor said he once contacted state prison officials urging them to give Huff psychiatric treatment because he thought he was "criminally insane and not safe to be turned loose on the public."

Warner then asked Overton if, on March 2, the night before the bank robbery, Huff wept for an hour in his Amarillo motel room, then called a Pampa police officer asking for help and saying, "Something bad is going to happen," then went into such a rage he was asked to leave the motel — "Would you say he was suffering from psychomotor epilepsy?"

The doctor answered, "yes."

Churchman Says U.S. Can't Leave S. Vietnam Abruptly

The United States has a vicious bear by the tail and dare not let go abruptly. Withdrawal "should be gradual," rather than unilateral and sudden.

This summary of the Vietnam dilemma is implied by the head of Methodism's world missions division after an on-the-spot investigation.

At the same time, Dr. Tracy Jones, Jr., warns against escalation of the war.

And he cautions against the temptation to seek a military answer to the complex struggle.

What stands out especially in an interview appearing in the November issue of "Together" magazine is that U.S. hands may be tied by the South Vietnamese government in moves to win peace and arrive at a solution.

Dr. Jones, associate general secretary of the Methodist Board of Missions' world division, was one of the National Council of Churches' four-man delegation which recently studied conditions first-hand in South Vietnam. The group had thrashing-out talks with the newly-elected heads of state (Nguyen Van Thieu and Nguyen Cao Ky) opponents of the regime. Buddhist leaders, hamlet chiefs, refugees, prisoners of war and students, as well as American commanders.

The NCC investigators endeavored to go to North Vietnam also, but Hanoi failed to respond to requests for visas.

Eventually, Dr. Jones believes, U.S. power will have to be withdrawn.

Meanwhile, he is convinced of the validity of the NCC general board's recommendation that the U.S. stop bombing North Vietnam and submit the issues to the United Nations or some other international agency.

A sweeping "social revolution" is imperative over there, Dr. Jones thinks.

He reports that a massive social reconstruction effort is under way, but questions whether the Saigon government "is capable of leading social and political reform that would undercut the claim of the Viet Cong that they alone are concerned for the 14 million peasants" in the South.

Currently, work toward land reforms, setting up schools and clinics, and "the total pacification effort" are retarded by VC control during the night of about two-thirds of the villages.

While conceding that U.S. forces dare not pull out of South Vietnam now, Dr. Jones thinks that Washington should "take risks for peace." The alternative, he warns, "is along war involving not only risks, but ruin on an increasing scale."

What are some hurdles to progress over there?

The most serious one, Dr. Jones points out, is the "devastating fatigue of the people," resulting from 25 years of war against first the Japanese, then the French, now the civil war. "Much of the population is physically and emotionally exhausted," he explains.

South Vietnam, he goes on, also is handicapped by "tribal loyalties." There is "no strong bond uniting the hodge-podge of communal groups," he elaborates.

A third roadblock is religious, he said.

"The Buddhists all too often are a disruptive rather than a unifying force," he makes clear.

Such internal pressures are compounded, Dr. Jones reports, by the "competing messianic claims of both Communist China and the U.S."

He shows that its history, Marxism and need for rice drive Red China to play a mighty role in Vietnam, while our nation likewise is driven by to take a firm stand there, and its history in the last 100 years our action is abetted by an "all-consuming anti-communist world view" stemming from our desire to protect small nations.

What is most important for American citizens to understand, Dr. Jones makes clear, is that the issues are bigger than Vietnam.

For instance, he wonders if the present policy of opposing communism rigidly everywhere will be valid for the 1970's. And if containment of Red China similarly will be valid in the coming decade. Also if the U.S. should adhere to its world-policy role, and if so how "we avoid other Vietnams."

Calling for a flexible and creative American policy, Dr. Jones recommends "a deeper understanding of the changes taking place in Asia and emerging nations around the world," and he thinks adjustments ought to be made to such changes.

"Every intelligent Christian has a responsibility to study and sort out the issues and forces that got us into this Vietnam quagmire," he says forcefully. And he urges that efforts be made to "come up with fresh ideas" and alternatives so that "we will not be trapped in a frozen situation."

An important conclusion of the NCC investigators is that "solutions to the social, economic and political crisis in South Vietnam cannot be manufactured by any outside power."

Rather, the solution "will depend on Saigon government initiative and determination."

Yet, Dr. Jones is concerned whether prosperous upper-class South Vietnamese would go a

He constantly turns away from material sense, and looks towards the imperishable things of Spirit. If honest, he will be in earnest from the start, and gain a little each day in the right direction, till at last he finishes his course with joy."

The group's repertoire will range from close-harmony, to old hymns, to sacred classical numbers, to southern spirituals, to patriotic melodies, and some music written by the Katters.

Religion in America

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

Unless churches become empty figuratively, they may become empty literally.

That in a nutshell is the message of Fr. Robert Adolfs, an Augustinian monk who has stirred a storm of controversy in the Netherlands with a book entitled "The Grave of God."

The book has become a best-seller in Western Europe, thanks to a clumsy attempt by Catholic authorities to suppress it. A U.S. edition was published this month by Harper & Row.

Fr. Adolfs says bluntly that the church can survive in the modern world only if it follows the example of Jesus Christ by emptying itself of all "princely splendor" and taking on the humble role of a servant.

That is hardly novel doctrine. The Apostle Paul said substantially the same thing 1,900 years ago in a letter to struggling Christian churches in the Greek city of Philippi (Philippians 2:3-8).

Advice Forgotten Fr. Adolfs feels that Paul's advice has been forgotten, and he cites specific ways in which the church today is burdened with temporal trappings of wealth, power and prestige.

He says it is pretentious and unnecessary for the Vatican to claim the status of a miniature country with its own government, army, currency and taxation. He would have the Pope abandon all claims to political sovereignty and let the Vatican become just another piece of private property in the city of Rome.

He also advises the Pope to move out of the Vatican palace and find a more simple dwelling. He says the Pope, and the cardinals and bishops as well, should quit wearing elaborate robes and crowns and other articles of dress that "are suggestive of a royal court" rather than of a servant who washes the feet of his brethren.

"This must seem pretty radical," Fr. Adolfs acknowledges. "But it would not change anything that is essential to the church and would, on the contrary, reveal more clearly than ever before the true form of the church."

If he stopped there, he might find considerable support in the Catholic hierarchy. At the Vatican Council, a number of bishops expressed similar views about the inappropriateness of the external pomp and ceremony which surrounds all episcopal offices and especially the papacy.

Needs New Image But Fr. Adolfs contends that the church also must empty itself of a prideful concern for its prestige, or as Americans would say, its "image."

He says many of its leaders are obsessed with the fear that it "might damage the church's prestige" if they ever admitted that the church had made a mistake.

Thus when changes are made in Catholic teaching—or any matter from war to birth control—they are invariably billed as "clarifications" and the emphasis is placed on their "continuity" with past pronouncements.

The modern world would have far more respect, Fr. Adolfs concludes, for a church that was seen to be "going forward in service and humility, and always open to truthful self-criticism."

In their effort to communicate with modern man, Christian theologians are returning to the language of the early church.

They're talking more and more about the holy spirit. And they are discovering that contemporary minds are quite receptive to the original Biblical concept of the holy spirit as God-in-action in the everyday world.

The Apostle Paul and other authors of the New Testament had a great deal to say about the holy spirit. But they were concerned primarily with the spirit's activity. It was so real to them that they felt no need of definitions and explanations.

Baffled Many It wasn't until the third and fourth centuries A.D. that church fathers began to enshrine the experience of the Christian community in creedal definitions drawn from the terminology of Greek metaphysics. That was the era in which the holy spirit became "the third person of the Trinity"—a concept that has baffled countless generations of catechism classes.

Today theology is breaking out of the prison of Greek thought-forms. It also is reacting against the mania for definition which obsessed the church for so many centuries. It is returning to the attitude of the earliest Christians who were willing to live with mystery, and who knew that experiencing God's presence is infinitely more important than trying to explain it in a neat verbal formula.

Thus it is possible for contemporary theology to speak of the holy spirit not in confusing trinitarian language but simply as God-here-and-now, God at work in the world, God dwelling within the hearts and minds of men.

Congential Approach This is a congenial approach to a pragmatic generation that thinks in terms of results. And it opens up a whole treasury of Biblical language for use in answering the religious questions that are actually being asked by young people and adults today.

One of those questions is: How can I know what to believe—about the meaning of life, my relation to the ultimate, about right and wrong?

The Bible's answer is that the holy spirit "will lead you into all truth" if given a chance. The spirit's guidance is freely available to all who seek it. It is given not through "voices" or "visions" or other external manifestations, but quietly and naturally from the innermost depths of man's own being.

The spirit's guidance may be experienced subjectively as "conscience" or as "intuition." In the former aspect, it undergirds man's moral sense.

Katter Family Sings At Assembly of God Sunday

The singing Katter Family from Pasadena, Calif., will be appearing at the First Assembly of God Church at 7 p.m. Sunday night.

The group's repertoire will range from close-harmony, to old hymns, to sacred classical numbers, to southern spirituals, to patriotic melodies, and some music written by the Katters.

The family started as a local group in Minneapolis, Minn., about ten years ago, but have since appeared in most areas of the U.S. in open-air summer concerts and churches of many different denominations.

All three brothers, Bill, Paul, and John, are ministers as well as singers and often preach short-sermons. They have received training at such schools as Wheaton College, the University of Minnesota, North Central Bible College and Fuller Seminary.

The Katter family has a strong musical background. Nils Frykman, great grandfather of the current singers, wrote many hymns still found in Covenant and Evangelical Free Church hymnals. In earlier years their father, Rev. Wilson Katter Sr., sang in a quartet with his three brothers, and his mother sang in a trio with her two sisters.

Pastor J. S. McMullen of the First Assembly of God Church, 500 S. Cuyler, invites all persons to attend the service Sunday.

Texas Baptists Will Hold Meet Soon In Lubbock

LUBBOCK — Texas Baptists meeting here Oct. 31-Nov. 2 will consider approval of a $12.8 million budget and at the same time will receive the first report of a 100-member evaluation group appointed at last year's annual meeting.

The Cooperative Program budget is the largest ever offered to messengers (delegates) of the Baptist General Convention of Texas who will hold their 82nd annual session at the Lubbock Municipal Auditorium. It is an increase of $375,000 over the budget of this year. It was received and endorsed earlier in the year by the convention's Executive Board. It will be presented during the first session on Nov. 1.

T. A. Patterson, executive secretary of the 1.8 million member Baptist convention, said that the proposed budget "is a bold declaration that we are concerned about people and their needs."

He added that its acceptance will "involve an equally bold challenge to every Texas Baptist church to embark upon a new mission commitment in Cooperative Program giving."

The Cooperative Program is the missionary arm of Texas Baptists. Funds given by individual churches support Southern Baptist work in Texas as well as the nation and world.

This will be the first time since its formation last year that the "Committee of 100" will report to convention messengers who established the special evaluation group. The committee was authorized following demands by a Baptist layman, Carr P. Collins Sr., of Dallas, that a separate organization, to be called the Texas Baptist Laymen's Association, be formed. The controversial organization was designed to give laymen more say in Baptist affairs. The present committee, composed of an equal number of ministers and laypeople, was charged with the responsibility "to make a review and evaluation of all the work of the BGCT board, agencies, commissions, committees and institutions."

Among its reports to be made in Lubbock is a recommendation for a new organization for laymen. An auxiliary organization to the convention will be proposed to replace the department that now operates as a part of the State Missions Commission. The committee has also agreed to recommend to the convention that the Sunday School, Training Union and Church Music Departments be given a stronger role.

Rev. Dan Cameron To Deliver Sermons At First Baptist

The First Baptist Church will hear the Rev. Dan Cameron, pastor, in both services of worship Sunday. At the eleven o'clock morning worship he has chosen "Tongues" for his sermon topic, with a text taken from I Corinthians 14:20-25.

Randall Purvis, minister of music, will direct the Chancel Choir in singing the anthem "All That Thrills My Soul" by Lyall and will sing a solo, "I'll Sing It Today" by Marsh. Miss Eloise Lane, organist, will play "Meditation on Melita" by Wolf for the offertory.

"When Religion Hurts Business" is the subject for the six o'clock Sunday evening sermon. The Youth Choir will occupy the choir loft and sing "I Will Extol Thee" by Ange. Other special music will be a men's quartet composed of Paul Barrett, Roy Korngay, Hoyte Phillips, and Randall Purvis. They will sing "Redeemed" by Bulter. "Savior, Like A Shepherd Lead Us" is the selection Miss Lane has chosen for the offertory.

Roy Korngay, minister of education, urges all Sunday School workers to attend the class officers clinic next Wednesday evening from 7 until 8. Prayer Meeting will be at 6:15 until 7 prior to the clinic with the pastor in charge. He will continue teaching the book of Revelation.

For The Weekly Message of Inspiration

And Jesus came and spoke unto them, saying, All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth. Matt. 28:18.

Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers. For there is no power but of God: the powers that be are ordained of God.

Whosoever therefore resisteth the power, resisteth the ordinance of God, and they that resist shall receive to themselves damnation.

For rulers are not a terror to good works, but to the evil. Wilt thou then not be afraid of the power? Do that which is good, and thou shalt have praise of the same.

For he is the minister of God to thee for good. But if thou do that which is evil, be afraid; for he beareth not the sword in vain: for he is the minister of God, a revenger to execute wrath upon him that doeth evil. Romans 13:1-4.

We find the words of Nebuchadnezzar after he had been humbled by God. And all the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as nothing: and he doeth according to his will in the army of heaven, and among the inhabitants of the earth: and none can stay his hand, or say unto him, What doest thou? Daniel 4:35.

But the saints of the most High shall take the kingdom, and possess the kingdom forever, even forever and ever. Daniel 7:18.

And the devil that deceived them was cast into the lake of fire and brimstone, where the beast and the false prophet are, and shall be tormented day and night forever and ever.

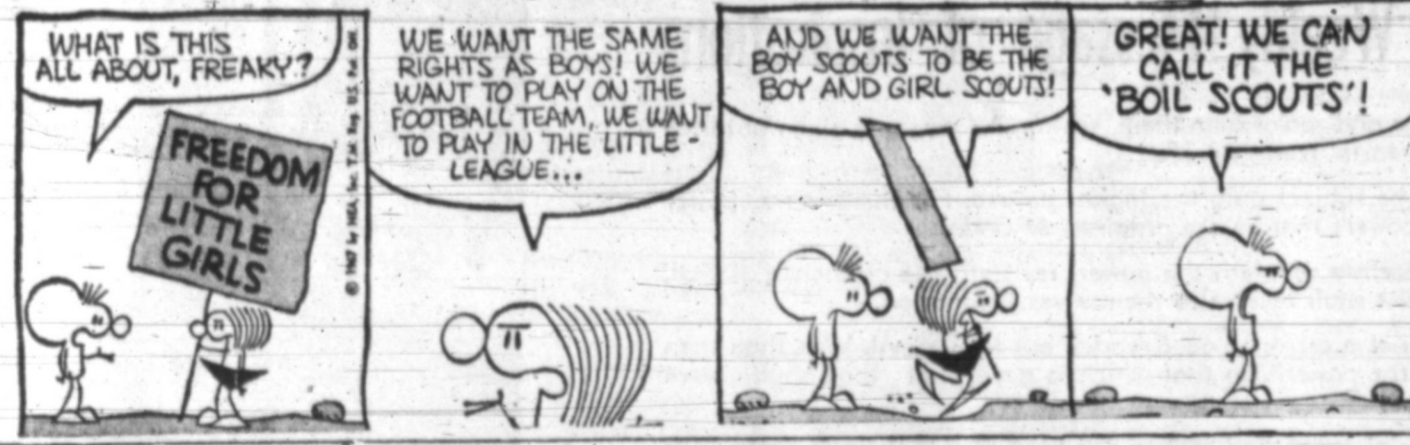

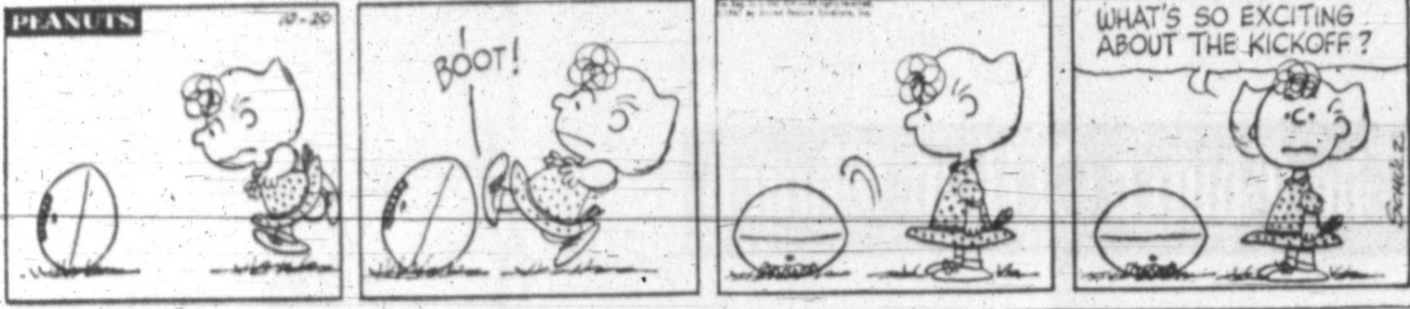

And I saw a great white throne, and him that sat on it from whose face the earth and the heaven fled away, and there was found no place for them.

And whosoever was not found written in the book of life was cast into the lake of fire. Revelation 20: 10, 11, 15.

Blessed are they that do his commandments that they may have right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city. Revelation 22: 14.

STOMACH TRIUMPHS
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—Antonio Riojas, 17, had just ordered a hamburger and a root beer at the drive-in when a waitress whipped out a pistol and shot him. She accused him of bullying her brother.

"Make that hamburger to go," Riojas said. He ate the hamburger and drove himself to Robert B. Green Hospital.

"I was too hungry to leave that food," he told hospital attendants, who treated him for a gunshot wound. Police charged the waitress, Alicia Palacios, 18, with assault with intent to murder.

Judge Roy Bean Would've Called Lilly Langtry to Chili Cookout

LEO: (July 22 to Aug. 23) — Plan to be with a close and powerful tie for the social or sports activities that bring you both great pleasure. The more you do a finest aim. You can get together for some business venture later on.

VIRGO: (Aug. 23 to Sept. 23) — Out of the house early and contact those persons in business, etc., who can accord you far greater benefits than actually were difficult in the past. Make some very influential ally. Be happy.

LIBRA: (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) — Out to some new place with a charming association and service. You are looking for a partner with him or her. One of different background gives you an idea that is very good. Follow through on it.

SCORPIO: (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Working along together with associates in a harmonious fashion will bring in the profits right now. Get into that fascinating new plan you have had in mind. Find new accessories for fall wardrobe.

SAGITTARIUS: (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Associate and close ties will do almost anything you ask of them now so that you get ahead much faster. Get closer to some cherished goal. Taking time to entertain persons you like is wise also increases their happiness.

CAPRICORN: (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Following through on what ever will improve the lot of closest ties is wise now. You also need their cooperation for some cherished plan you have in mind. They will then gladly give it.

AQUARIUS: (Jan. 21 to Feb. 18) — Out to some charming spot where you can be with congenial for pleasure during your spare time. Then contact those who can join you in some new and profitable outlet. Avoid persons who are touchy-matters.

PISCES: (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20) — It is important that you handle real estate matters with kin and do so harmoniously. Don't waste any time about it. Also handle some financial affair that has you pretty much in a bind. Be clever.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY: he or she will be one of those clever young people who realize early the importance of organization. Along lines that will help to re-establish business, relations, etc. The fields of law, teaching, psychology are also fine here. Help to travel early in life.

Terlingua (Three tongues) will lay down the red chili carpet for one H. Allen Smith, a Mount Kisco, N.Y., fiction writer. Smith's most fictionalized bit of writing over the years was his recipe for chili which appeared in a recent issue of Holiday Magazine. His article blasted Texas chili, even though the chili art in this state goes back to the beginning of good eating.

I personally have not eaten Smith's concoction, he calls chili, but I saw a punch bowl of it recently. It does make a nice centerpiece for the table.

Total Surrender
Smith has eaten my chili and he claims that it is second to his. Whenever a Yankee admits that much, it amounts to total surrender.

Everybody who is anybody knows that Texans make the best chili in the world. So naturally, when the Texas-born Chili Appreciation Society (International) members saw Smith's insulting magazine article, a challenge was laid down for the Yankee newcomer to good eating.

Since I am the chief-chili chef of CASI, I was chosen to participate in the world champion chili cook-off against the chili impostor from the East, at Terlingua—population two—the recognized chili capital of the world.

I may even compete over the chili pots with one hand tied behind me to show the visitor from Mount Kisco a bit of that famous Texas hospitality.

Cattle-goat War
In his articles and letters, Smith poked ridicule at Texas meat, claiming that Texans eat their curry-comb the meat off the bones. Smith admits to raising milk goats and his remarks could easily trigger a cattle-goat war in West Texas.

The main purpose of the Chili Appreciation Society is to improve the taste and quality of chillie over he world. If the Terlingua contest should prove once and for all to Smith and his prejudiced adherents that his recipe for chili plays into the hands of the soup crowd, this event will have lasting importance. If not, Terlingua might just become a ghost town.

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS

TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Here's a Success Story

It could start a trend — we were good students as well. In 1963 they made their TV debut at Burbank, California, after which NBC asked them to sing on the Fourth of July show. They were an immediate hit. They won a Peabody Award for their performance. Other bids came for them to sing at the Kennedy Center, the Elting Crosby Fall Singers, and the Elting Crosby Fall Singers. They made a tour of California, and Meredith Wilson then invited them to appear on all four of his Star Theater Specials. The following year they appeared with Johnny Mathis at the Greek Theater in Los Angeles, to sell-out crowds, then they performed with Andy Griffith, Johnny Carson, Ed Sullivan, Dean Martin, Judy Garland, George Burns, and George Smith. Several years ago they were in school music in Cincinnati. Now, capping all this, they are being featured in a Columbia Pictures Technicolor movie, appropriately called "Young Americans." It tells of a transcontinental bus tour which takes them to a lot of scenic and historic spots in this country, but we're not so much interested in the plot as in something else. We intend to see the movie to reassure ourselves about young Americans generally. And we think we'll have a lot of comments, and dance, and they

Two at Opposite Poles Unmourned

I am Che Guevara and I am the last word of the scene. He was the epitome of the classic capitalist parasite against whom the Guevaras of the world fight. In one sense, both men lived the way he wanted to live. As the hippies would say, each man did his "thing," though we may question the respective sets of values they served. In the final analysis, however, Guevara's pronouncement on himself was correct — not because he failed to create a Communist revolution in Bolivia but because communism itself is the great failure. Nowhere has it brought freedom or prosperity to any people. It eliminates the Manville, but substitutes in their place a far more oppressive type of exploitation. The one man is perhaps to be admired for his devotion to his cause, however dangerous they are; the other man condemns a great liberator in the mold of Bolivar or San Martin, ended in a hail of bullets. But the world can do very well without either.

Reagan Support Increasing

From all accounts, there is a growing movement to push California Gov. Ronald Reagan as a presidential candidate next year, despite Reagan's avowal that he does not want to be a candidate other than as a "favorite son" to keep down an intra-party fight. But despite the repeated denials of his candidacy, the push for Reagan seems to be mounting in intensity. Reagan seems to have captured the support of "conservatives" all over the nation, who seem to like the things Reagan has said, even though he has as yet been unable to accomplish much in the way of savings and tax reduction in his state, with its Democratically controlled legislature. John J. Synon, a Virginian and former Californian who is pushing the candidacy of George Wallace says "Reagan is the only man in the Republican corral who stands a ghost of a chance of being elected in '68." And his chance of success depends upon the candidacy of George Wallace. We do not pretend to know who can and who cannot win in the coming election. We know that as of October 1967 there are a great many people who

The Manion Forum

By MARILYN MANION
An Old Problem — and a Time-tested Solution
An ancient spectre still haunts the world.

Despite man's mastery of science, hunger today threatens millions of human lives. Some observers predict an unavoidable and devastating famine within the next several years, not only in perennially plagued India, but in other underdeveloped countries as well. "Overpopulation plus underproduction" is the unlucky combination that is said to produce hunger. What with all of the attention given to reducing the population explosion, one is led to conclude that the experts have given up on the problem of production — that their only hope is to reduce the number of people who must eat.

But the earth is full of yet untouched natural resources. Charles B. Shuman, President of the American Farm Bureau Federation, offered this constructive explanation of the food shortage:

"If you look around the world to find the places where people are hungry, you almost invariably find that these same countries have adequate natural resources to produce all the food that the people need.

India, for instance, could produce enough food to feed all of its millions of people and have an exportable surplus — if they used the resources that they have, the land and the water and the manpower and everything else, in a way which would get the maximum production.

"This causes you, then, to try and find out why they don't get production in a country that's rich with soil and mineral and other resources like India. The only conclusion that you can come up with is that India has devoted itself to a system of government management of agriculture and of an economy that's copied very much after the Soviet system. This management reduces incentives that come when you have free production on the part of farmers looking for profit on the market.

"I have said that socialism and hunger are twin brothers. Everywhere you go, you find this to be true in the world today. It's only where the markets are allowed to function and where the incentive of profit, and the danger of loss are free to operate, that you get adequate production for human needs. They can't do it by planning. The only way they can do it is by letting the free forces of the market operate, as well as the incentives that free men have to gain by their production.

"Here is something that many observers have noted about the agriculture of many of the countries that are not producing enough food for their own population: When they have price controls, a price ceiling imposed by the government, the farmer tends to hang on to his little tract of land and to produce for his family and his relatives who gather around him. But he uses his extra time, NOT to produce food, but to work in other occupations which will reward him better for his time. The result is that they reduce and strangle food production by trying to produce only for their own needs."

The profit motive, in other words, is a vital factor in agriculture, as it is in any other enterprise. If a farmer has produced enough to feed his own family, and if he sees that further production would not be profitable to him, he simply does not engage in further production.

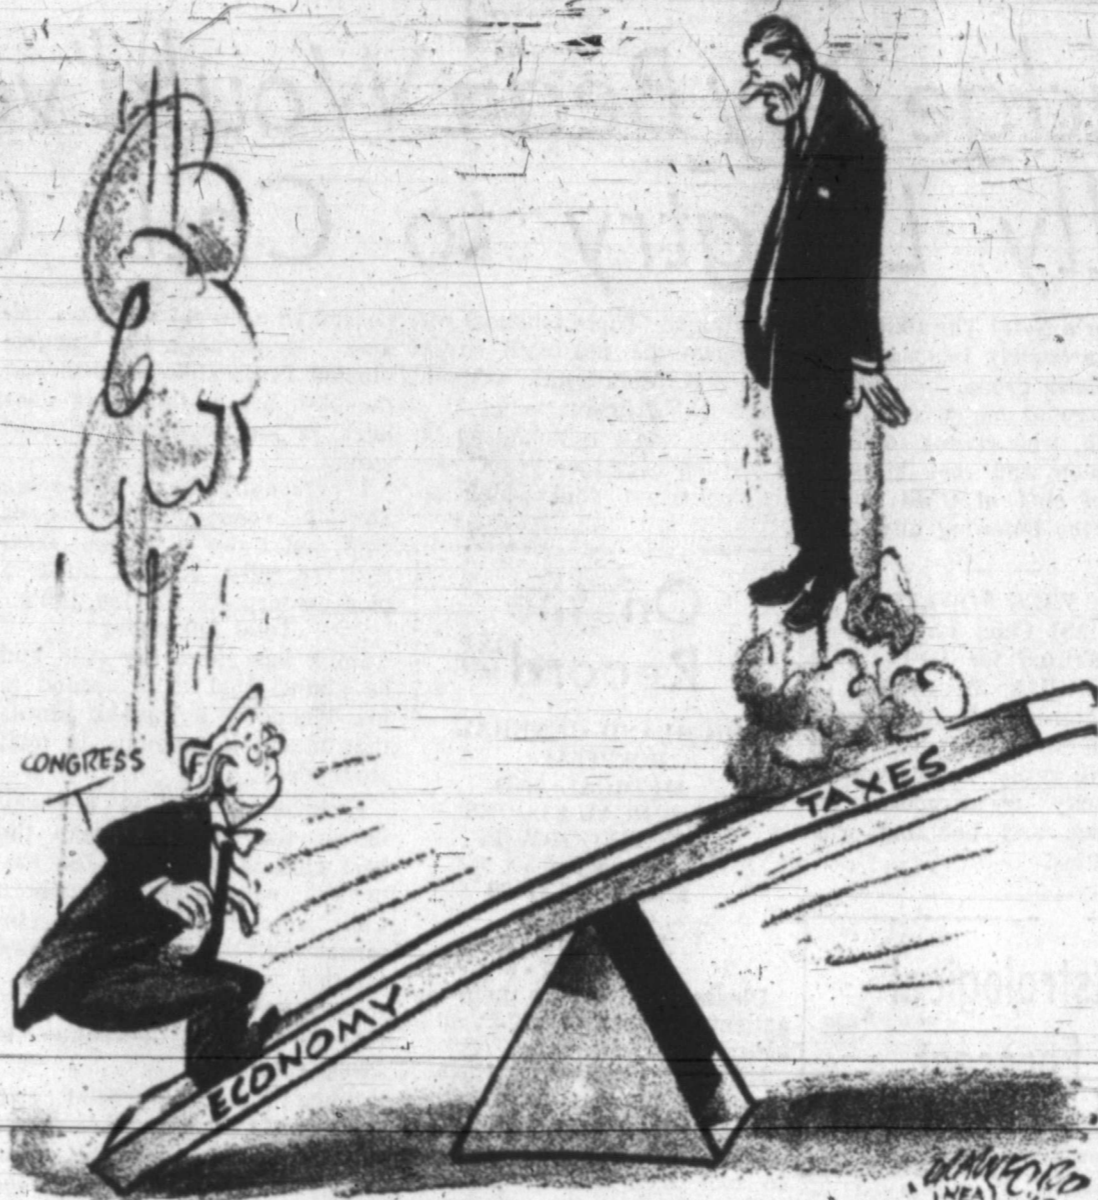

Free enterprise is a proven system under which food CAN be produced in sufficient abundance to feed a nation. Yet, the United States Government seems determined to interfere with free enterprise — the laws of supply and demand — in the area of agriculture. "Only about one-third of total agricultural production in the United States is involved in government programs," declared Shuman.

"Most of the sickness, most of the trouble, all of the surplus that we have been plagued with are located in that one-third that has been under government control programs.

"It's quite obvious that if the United States is going to need increased production to feed hungry people, it's almost insanity to continue regulating and controlling production in this country."

A thought for the day — Greek poet, Mimnermus once said: "We are all clever at envying a famous man while he is yet alive, and at praising him when he is dead."

The American Way

By WILLIS E. STONE
Not long ago I enjoyed a most interesting television show in which young college students participated in discussing our current modes and manners. I was startled along about the middle of the program, however, when one young participant observed, in a most factual manner, that "ours is not a freedom to choose, only a freedom to enjoy."

I certainly thought that would strike fire, because if there is anything in the American theory more important than the right of self-determination, I cannot imagine what it could be. However, the idea that "ours is not a freedom to choose, only a freedom to enjoy" went without challenge.

It indicates a very real lack of instruction in American concepts. It illustrates the amazing success achieved in domesticating the American people and harnessing them under the yoke of compliance and conformity. It explains the vague expressions on youthful faces when the Constitution or Bill of Rights gets under discussion.

Try and remember how long it has been since a good solid and articulate spokesman has been on campus of any university in your area. The historic concepts of self-determination and free enterprise have not been presented.

And while we are on the subject, how long has it been since you last read and considered the meaning of the Constitution and the Bill of Rights? Because we are unschooled in basic Americanism, most folks tend to believe the Liberty Amendment is a radical proposal. Are we so drenched in the status-quo that we forget the intents and purposes of the Constitution which limited government and thus gave us freedom of self-determination so we became the greatest and richest people in history?

When the Liberty Amendment, Section 1, provides that "The Government of the United States shall not engage in any business, professional, commercial, financial or industrial enterprise except as specified in the Constitution," it stipulates restoration of the original power of the Constitution — not its change.

Enormous quantities of documentation exist, proving that by getting the government back within the confines of constitutional limitations, the costs of government will be cut in half, restoring constitutional protection to private property, sovereignty to states and freedom to people. By cutting governmental costs in half, the need for federal individual income taxes will vanish, permitting repeal of the 16th (Income Tax) Amendment — and this, in turn, will put about 20 per cent more take-home pay in the pay envelopes of American labor without changing the rate of pay a single penny.

And it will change the status quo in other ways. It will restore our freedom to choose and our right to the pursuit of happiness as the Declaration of Independence asserted, and no longer confine us to the political obligation of being free to enjoy without choice.

This may appear to be a revolutionary development — this right to choose and be self-

WASHINGTON: Saturday Viet Protests Won't Paralyze Pentagon

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA)—There are some curious things about tomorrow's highly advertised "national" march of the Pentagon to protest Vietnam. Though advertised as an anti-Vietnam war demonstration, the leadership of the march is composed of men primarily with other axes to grind.

Jerry Rubin, a self-styled socialist who wants to close down the banks and the universities as "institutions that use and destroy human beings and values," is known primarily for his part in the University of California riots, for his 1964 trip to Castro's Cuba and for his support of "Black Power."

David Dellinger is known for his openly expressed support of Castro and his regime. James Bevel and Ralph Abernathy are from Martin Luther King's civil rights movement. Lincoln Lynch has been a high official in the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE).

Arnold Johnson, active in getting the march idea started, is better known for his work as national public relations director of the Communist Party, USA.

It is getting so that most large protest movements — for whatever cause — are controlled by interlocking "boards of directors." The leaders shift from one movement to another — Vietnam one week, Cuba the next, then to Black Power, Puerto Rico, the Dominican Republic.

These men and women are professional organizers. They are experts in publicity, whipping up crowds. Some have had special training in these fields. Frequently, these men and women organizers seem to be more interested in personal publicity than in achieving the ends of the causes they are professing to back.

Organizers of the October 21 march have said they will "shut down the Pentagon." Says a spokesman: "We will fill the hallways and block the entrances and thousands of people will disrupt the American war machine."

However, actual arrival at the Pentagon is scheduled for 4 p.m. on that Saturday afternoon. At 4 p.m. on a Saturday, a demonstration outside the Pentagon won't disrupt or even slow down any Defense Department operations. A cordon of police will prevent a massive invasion of the offices.

Only skeleton crews work at the Pentagon on Saturday and Sunday. Most come in early and start leaving in the early afternoon. By 4 or 5 p.m. the governing, but it will open best new horizons of hope, ideals and dreams for the new generations — and this, to me, is the most rewarding consequence available to us by restoring the principles and practice of true Americanism through the application of the Liberty Amendment. ### Yeah, a Lot Smarter

By D. R. SEGAL
A fellow I know who used to fool around ranching and operating radio and TV stations, and Lord knows what all else, is in Washington now working for the government. And this fellow has a wife who helps him. Mostly.

You wouldn't believe her name if I told you. You'd think I was putting you on and that would tend to discredit the rest of what I am going to tell you; and, confidentially, I wouldn't much blame you for not believing any of it. I sort of hate to believe it myself.

Anyway, there is this lady who is the wife of the fellow who has this high government position, and she is all the time wanting to abolish junk yards and billboards in favor of trees and flowers, which is okay with me except this lady's husband makes his bread from taxes, and you can tax billboards and junk yards but who ever heard of a p-e-l-m paying taxes? So there seems to be a conflict of interests in this household.

This lady has plunged pretty deep into a program of dressing up America and she has always called it beautification, but now she is disenchanted. Not with beautification as a hobby or even as a life's work but with beautification as a word. Apparently it isn't beautiful. So this lady has asked the 11 million girls who belong to the General Federation of Women's Clubs to come up with a name which means beautification but which sounds sexier. Something with a little pizzazz to it.

Well, I am not one of the 11 million dames she asked, but I am prepared to offer a free lance suggestion.

How about "LBJazzing Around?" Has a nice ring to it, rolls easily on the tongue and is descriptive besides.

A friend of mine — not the one who works for the government, another one — thinks that the lady is lots smarter than her husband (a theory which is not without widespread support) because folks will get tired of eradicating poverty long before they get bored with planting trees. "Tree-planting is a tradition and we've even set aside a special day for it. There is very little competition in the tree-planting game, but everybody has fielded an entry in the poverty-eradication industry. As I remarked before, down in our part of the country, where poverty is popular, it's gotten so there are more anti-poverty programs than there is poverty to be against; and poor folks have taken to shopping around, seeing where they can get the best deal. This has led to spirited bidding among the anti-poverty agencies; and if he plays coy, an eligible pauper can just about name his own terms.

But beautifying, or LBJazzing, is a slow track and a small field of entries. A genuine card-carrying LBJazzer ought to be able to hang on for years, dig, fertilizing and enjoying a long if rather uneventful career.

Yeah, she's a lot smarter.

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK JAY MARKEY

We know a businessman whose physician gave him an odd prescription. After a thorough physical check-up that included the GI series of X-rays, an electrocardiogram reading of his heart and sundry other tests, the medico suggested that he buy one of the home electronic organs and learn to play it.

Also suggested that when our friend arrived home at the close of the day's business, he mix himself a stiff highball and play the organ for at least a half-hour. He followed the doctor's advice and enjoys good health.

Today's smile: Manny Williams, the funniest magician in show biz, writes us from Las Vegas: "People are funny. You can tell a guy there are 250 billion stars in the Milky Way and he'll believe you, but if you put a 'wet paint' sign on a park bench, he'll sit on it just to prove it."

Christmas came early to Tulsa, Okla.; this year when the merchants put up their Yuletide decorations two months before Santa Claus was scheduled to arrive. Temperatures were in the 90's when the workmen moved into the downtown area to arrange the toy soldiers, the Christmas trees and the thousands of colored lights. The merchants were not trying to rush the season; they just wanted to see what the decorations would look like before buying them.

Thoughts while shaving: There are three dominant alphabets of the world: Roman, Arabic and Cyrillic. The latter is said to have been invented by Cyril, a missionary to the Slavs in the 9th century. It consists of odd, shaped letters and is used these days by the Russians and Bulgarians. . . . Thanks to rock 'n' roll groups like The Beatles, the sale of drums, which had really taken a beating in musical instrument shops for years, is now zooming. However, it may be good news to the drum merchants, but we are awfully glad we haven't a teenager who would pester us to buy one for him. . . . The next time your wife tells you she's tired after a long day of housework, you can agree with her. A survey reveals the average housewife takes between 18,000 — a 25,000 steps in a single day of normal activity. Sort of puts her on a par with the letter carrier, doesn't it? . . . Ever hear of Alonzo D. Phillips of Springfield, Mass.? Well, he was a benefactor of mankind since he invented friction matches in 1836. At any rate, Alonzo didn't strike out in his efforts. . . . Another citizen of Springfield was Dr. James Naismith. He invented basketball, but never played the game. It was too strenuous for him. . . . We do not know how they figure such things, but some genius ascertained that a Bridge player's chances of drawing a perfect hand — 13 spades — are only one in about 63 billion. . . . The Gregorian calendar used throughout the world now is so close to perfection with its Leap Year arrangement, that the average length of a year is only 26 seconds too long and it would take 3,323 years to accumulate sufficient discrepancies to amount to a single day. . . . The Lowell (Mass.) SUN headlined a story: "Ho Says No." That's nothing to ho-ho about, but it would be nice to give him the old leave ho.

Vigorous Brushing Will Help Whiten Teeth
By WILL LAWRENCE D.D.S.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
A reader from Niagara Falls, N. Y., writes: "I'm having trouble with my gums. There's quite a lot of pus and soreness. I can not afford to go to a dentist right now. Is there something I can use at home, a mouthwash or special toothpaste, that will help until I can see a dentist?"

ANSWER — Although something more may be involved, your symptoms suggest periodontal disease. This cannot be successfully treated with home remedies which are primarily for preventive, not remedial, treatment of periodontal disease.

It's sad that you don't have money for proper dental care now. If you wait it might be too late to help and your teeth may become loose and have to be extracted. More than half the total number of teeth extracted in the United States are because of periodontal disease.

Have you investigated the possibility of using benefits provided in the Medicaid law? Your state and others have enacted laws providing funds which together with federal funds, give medical and dental help for all residents whose family income is less than the prescribed amount determined by their state law.

See your local Medicaid office for further information.

DEAR DR. LAWRENCE: Do toothpastes which claim to whiten teeth really do so? Do these toothpastes harm teeth?

Answer — Dentists have always maintained that toothpastes powerful enough to whiten teeth might be strong enough to damage teeth and sensitive mouth tissues. They are not recommended by most dentists.

Three shades lighter in three days. . . . gives your mouth sex appeal. "You will wonder where the yellow went. . . . are misleading slogans. If you haven't been thorough about tooth-brushing and have allowed food and stain to collect, chances are you'll get your teeth three shades lighter by vigorously brushing with any dentifrice. ## H. L. Hunt Writes

COLLECTING AS A HOBBY
Collecting is a great hobby in the United States. Many Americans play the collector's game. Some collect stamps, some collect coins, old glasses, pictures, antiques, even paper matchbooks. The range is wide, with hundreds of choices available to the avid collector.

Collectors have fine fun with their hobby, and any collector can add to his fun, and help preserve freedom at the same time, by adding patriotism to his collection. It is not difficult. For example, as stamp collectors exchange stamps, so patriots exchange patriotic literature, information on freedom-oriented radio and television programs, news about businessmen who express patriotism in their advertising.

Some people find a great stimulus in collecting letters-to-the-editor on freedom subjects and writing the authors of the letters a few words of commendation. A hobbyist interested in American youth can enjoy himself and make an eminently worthwhile contribution to his community by organizing a Youth Freedom Speakers Chapter. A collector of choice observations by outstanding American patriots of the past will never find himself at a loss for words when speaking on patriotic subjects.

There is no end to the game. The enemies of freedom are most often deathly solemn and joyless. That is all the more reason why freedom fighters should enter into the fray with high good spirits and a happy dedication to their cause. Anybody who collects ammunition for freedom, and uses it effectively, has a good time even as he performs a service of unold value to his country and his fellow-man.

"Sets your mouth on fire." "Feels like your mouth is exploding" and "It's tangy."

Pampa 9th, Lee Eighth Win Jr. High Games

Pampa football teams had their best week this season Thursday when they lost only two of five games. One game ended in a tie for a 2-2-1 mark.

The Pampa Shockers were the most rudely treated, losing 13-8 to Borger after leading for three quarters.

The Buffalups scored with 8:04 left in the game and then halted every Shocker attempt to cross the goal line.

Borger went in front 7-0 in the first period before Ross Holman connected on a 10-yard pass to Mike Albus for a touchdown. Holman then hit Wyatt Earp for the two-point conversion and an 8-7 Pampa lead.

But the Shockers, now 1-5, couldn't hold on the second half. Borger onslaught and were just outplayed in the final two quarters.

Pampa had only 61 yards rushing and had minus yards on the ground in the second half.

Pampa ninth grade won their first game of the season when quarterback Mike Jordan scored from the one yard line with just one second left to edge Borger Houston 22-14.

Fred Harper set up the touchdown with his second pass interception of the evening.

Borger led 8-6 after one period and Dwayne Glover ran the Pampa score on a two-yard scamper. The Reapers led 14-3 at halftime on a three yard run by Glover and Jordan's run of the conversion.

Then in the fourth period with the score tied came Harper's interception and Jordan's game winning score. Glover carried in the conversion.

Pampa eighth grade ran their record to 1-3-1 when they tallied in the third quarter on Kelley Everson's three-yard run to tie Borger Houston 6-6.

Borger had led since the first period when they scored the first time they got the ball.

Lee ninth lost their sixth in a row, 42-9 to Dumas.

Mike Poole scored at the close of the second period on a four-yard run and Doug Thompson kicked the conversion. Dumas led 28-7 at halftime.

The final Lee points came in the last quarter when they got a safety.

Lee eighth won their second game in four outings as they pushed Dumas all over the field for an easy 52-16 triumph.

This is the most points scored by a Pampa football team, and the most points won by a Pampa football team in two years.

Today Lee seventh (2-1-1) plays at Borger Houston.

CATCHING A FOOTBALL is not always an easy process especially if your hands don't co-operate. Ohio State end Bill Anders (upper left) assumes a hatching position high on the ground, as the ball drops between his legs. Purdue halfback Leroy Keys (34, upper right), the intended receiver, allowed ball to slither through his fingers. Neil Smith of Boston University (26, bottom photo) leaped in vain to catch pass. Harvard defender Bob Hoffman had no better luck.

Amarillo Here For Zone Tilt

By RON CROSS

One of the oldest rivalries in Texas Schoolboy history resumes at 7:30 p.m. tonight on Harvester Field when Pampa hosts Amarillo in a District 3-4A North zone football game.

The unbeaten Sandies (6-0) will bring the state's longest winning streak, eight games, into the contest in quest of their second zone triumph. They clipped Borger 33-7 last week.

Pampa has lost three straight years to the Sandies and will go into tonight's contest a 20-point underdog.

The Harvesters have lost all six starts, handily, but usually play their best ball against Amarillo.

A lack of defense and failure to get the offense rolling has been plaguing the Harvesters all season. Pampa has scored only 18 points while giving up 236. They lost their first zone outing last week 42-9 to Monterey.

Amarillo hasn't been having much trouble at all. The Sandies have scored 150 points and have given up just 62 with their defense their strongest point.

Coach Warren Harper returned four starters and nine other lettermen from a 1966 team that finished 6-4 last year and won their last two games of the season.

The Sandies are big and experienced. They will average 171.3 pounds per man in their offensive line and 163 pounds per man in the starting backfield, which has three starters from last year and one letterman.

Defensively, the Sandies weigh an average of 169 pounds per player. They returned on defense 155 pound All-District safety Dick Graham.

Halfback Harmon Hollar, who did the most damage against Pampa last year, fullback Doug Robbins and Graham have been the workhorses for the Sandie offense along with wingback Jimmy Pickard.

Hollar is the Sandies leading ground gainer with 124 yards on 13 carries last week while Graham is the total offense leader for his club with 37 yards rushing and 83 more passing for 120. You might see Pampa passing more than ever before with Steve Summers leading the North zone in passing. Summers hit on seven of 13 attempts last week for 92 yards and played less than two quarters.

His favorite receiver was end Jay Johnson who caught three passes for 36 yards and Wayne Williams who had two catches for 19 yards.

Punting will be no problem for the Harvesters; they have the best punter in the district in end Larry Elledge who has toed the ball six times for a 43-yard per average kick.

In other District 3-4A games tonight Borger (1-5) hosts Caprock (0-6) in a North zone game while Coronado (6-0) plays at Palo Duro (2-3-1) and Plainview (4-2) at Tascosa (2-4) in a couple of South zone contests. Saturday Lubbock (1-5-1) plays at Monterey (3-3) in a non-zone battle.

Trojans are Favored Saturday

By United Press International

O. J. Simpson made short work of Ollie Matson's records at the City College of San Francisco and is well positioned for a run at Mike Garrett's prized rushing mark at the University of Southern California.

The top-ranked Trojans have gone all the way with O. J. this season, knocking off five consecutive opponents, including a rare USC triumph over 1966 national college football champion Notre Dame at South Bend, Ind.

USC completes the second half of its "must-win" road trip Saturday against the Washington Huskies in Seattle. The teams are locked with UCLA for the Pacific Eight Conference lead at 2-0.

UCLA, ranked third and matching Southern Cal in both conference and over-all records, also faces league competition when the Bruins tackle Stanford.

Rematch Colorado, Nebraska. In other action involving top 10 teams, No. 4 Colorado seeks revenge against Nebraska for costing them the 1966 Big Eight Conference crown, fifth-ranked Alabama tangles with No. 7 Tennessee, sixth-rated North Carolina State plays Wake Forest, eighth-ranked Georgia goes against VMI, No. 9 Wyoming meets Wichita State and 10th-ranked Houston takes on Mississippi State.

Saturday marks the start of the season's second half and key conference battles are beginning to shape up for eventual league titles and bowl invitations.

In the Big Ten, Michigan State and Minnesota may reach an early decision as to Purdue's successor to the Rose Bowl.

By RON CROSS

Everybody has a bad week every once in a while and we had ours last week. The old record dipped to 7-6 thanks to Oklahoma and Ohio St.

The season record dipped to 45-29-2 but things look a bit more promising this week and you can bet on our upsets for this weekend.

AMARILLO 22, PAMPA 14—It could be worse and if the Sandies are mad it will be. The Pampa offense should move this week if Eural Ramsey will let the passes fly. Steve Summers was on the mark last week.

BORGER 35, CAPROCK 0—The bulldogs will have a lot of bad feelings to take out on the Longhorns. Borger will want to break a two-game losing streak and Caprock is just the team to do it on.

CORONADO 16, PALO DURO 0—The Dons have one of the better defenses in the league but haven't been able to score enough. Coronado's league leading offense will be put to their stiffest test.

MONTEREY 16, LUBBOCK 6

—This could go the other way should Lubbock be well. The Plainsmen aren't too impressive and Lubbock has been hit hard by injury to key players.

TASCOSA 21, PLAINVIEW 20—The Rebels should be catching the Bulldogs when they're down after a tremendous effort last week against Coronado. Tascosa had to score late to beat weak Caprock.

WHITE DEER 21, CANADIAN 0—The Bucks have the defense to stop Johnny Curtis and Gary Purser and if they do the "Cats" can't win. Look for Canadian to keep the pressure on all night. But the Bucks offense should win it for 'em.

SILVERTON 38, GROOM 14—The Tigers are gonna be tough by the time District 5-B competition gets underway. They've played nothing but Class A teams and have played most of 'em tough.

LEFORS 18, VEGA 16—Based on what they both did against Canadian and the fact the Pirates are a lot healthier now this should be a good football game but look for Lefors to win their second in a row.

MCLEAN 16, CLARENDON 10—If the Tigers can be a tough Claude team on the road then they should be able to repeat the performance at home. Both clubs have standout defensive teams and the McLean offense will have to jell tonight.

WHEELER 28, CLAUDE 10—The Mustangs have fullback Fred Goad back and this makes them about 12 points better than normal. The Mustangs need this win to stay in the district running.

GUTHRIE 28, MIAMI 21—The warriors kept getting closer every week and might turn the tables in this eight-man District 5-B game.

PERRYTON 21, TULIA 0—The Rangers will start off district action in fine fashion and run their winning streak to six games.

ARKANSAS 10, TEXAS 7—The borzhorns will have the field goal backfire on them this week with a fitted-up brood of hogs ready to enhance their Southwest conference standing.

FLORIDA ST. 16, TEXAS TECH 0—The Red Raiders have quarterbacking problems as John Schovall can't get back in the groove and neither can the Raiders defense.

NEBRASKA 16, COLORADO 8—The Nebraska defense should be able to bottle up the Buffs offense. Many feel Nebraska was thinking about Colorado last week when Kansas slipped up on them.

DEFENSE OR OFFENSE, THEY HAVE BOTH

Bucks Host Canadian in District Contest

When two teams meet that boast three of the top four scoring leaders in the Top O' Texas area an offensive game would normally be in the offering.

However, this probably won't hold true tonight in White Deer when the Bucks (5-1) hosts Canadian (4-2) in an important District 1-A battle.

Most folk believe that the winner of this contest will represent the district in regional playoffs. The game must be rated a toss-up with both owning the best two defensive clubs in the Top O' Texas area with Bucks having ing given up just 28 points and Canadian only 31.

The Whitecats have lost to Booker, 28-0, in their opener, then ran off a string of four straight victories and four straight shutouts until Clarendon pulled a mild 3-0 upset last week.

White Deer has lost only to Claude, 10-8 in abig upset and have bowled over five other foes. The Bucks stand 1-0 in district play, having clubbed Sunray 45-12 last week. Tonight's game will be Canadian's first district outing.

Stan Bush, first-year Buck quarterback, came through last week with a four-touchdown performance to take over the area scoring lead with 42 points.

He inched ahead of Canadian's Johnny Curtis who had 36 points and Gary Purser who has 26. The two halfbacks spearhead the Canadian offense.

McLean and Wheeler will try to keep their lofty perches atop the District 2-A standings tonight meeting league foes.

McLean (3-3) plays at home against Clarendon while Wheeler (4-2) journeys to Claude, the team McLean upset last Lefors and Groom continue non-conference activity with the Pirates (1-5) playing host to Vega and Groom (0-6) still seeking the win column with a game at Silvertown.

U.S. Manages Only Four T&F Medals

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Almost all track and field medals will begin Sunday.

Four Americans are in today's shooting competition, Elnesh Anderson and Emil W. Haugatter Jr., both of Columbus, Ga., go in free pistol, and James W. Beck of Columbus, Ga., and Gene Lumsden of Mapwood Calif., are in clay pigeon.

The only other American who will see action today is Phil Grippaldi of Eselleville, N.J.—in the middle heavyweight division of weightlifting.

The U.S. was shutout in gold medals in track and field Thursday—a day in which Russia's Igor Terovyan, a favorite of American fans, tied Ralph Boston's world long jump record of 27-4 3/4.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Various Supreme Court interpretations of what constitutes obscenity have confused the issue for many people, including members of the Supreme Court.

Even so, the situation is not as mixed up in this country as it is in Sweden.

A recent dispatch from Stockholm reports that a Swedish film producer has brought out a new movie in which the boy-meets-girl theme is carried to its ultimate conclusion. On camera.

The epitome of togetherness would eventually be depicted on the silver screen was obvious to anyone who has been to the neighborhood theater lately. So there is no point in pretending I am thunderstruck by the development.

To me, the curious thing was the comment by a member of the Swedish film censorship board, which approved the film for public showing. He described it as "profoundly moral."

Well, now. Any moviegoer who grew up under the old Hays office code may have some trouble adjusting to that concept of morality. But once you grasp it, you are ready for the next step:

Hollywood—Sol C. Hara, darling avant garde movie director, revealed today that his next film will include a scene in which an 18-year-old starlet appears fully clothed.

"Frankly," O'Hara said, "the scene has nothing to do with the plot. I just threw it in to shock people. I'm hoping it will appeal to their prurient interests."

The film has been banned in Sweden.

Paris — Lacy D'Estriogen, France's foremost fashion designer, today unveiled his new spring collection of teeny-skirts.

"Frankly," D'Estriogen said, "even beautiful women look like hell in these things. But that's not important. What I'm striving for is a virtuous effect."

"Any woman who appears in one of my creations will be a sermon unto herself."

Chicago—Bubbles La Bumps, queen of the strippers, is trying out a new act.

She appears on stage completely nude and then dresses herself in front of the audience. It drives them wild.

Highlights and Sidelights From the State Capitol

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

Austin — A multi-million-dollar Texas tidelands case once more is before the highest court in the land. It involves 37,000 acres of oil-rich offshore territory.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin and his aides have presented the state's arguments to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Key question is whether Texas coastline includes its jetties as part of the permanent harbor system. Jetties in question are at Port Isabel, Port Mansfield, Port Aransas, Matagorda, Freeport, Galveston and Sabine Pass. They extend as far as four and a half miles into the Gulf of Mexico.

Decision for Texas would add four and a half miles to the three marine leagues (10.35) offshore boundaries allowed by the federal submerged lands act of 1953.

New case is the latest round in legal exchanges, dating back to 1950. Then the Supreme Court held that the federal government had paramount rights over submerged lands. Later the submerged lands act reversed the decision and granted Texas title to all lands reaching three marine leagues into the Gulf.

Present controversy arose when the Texas School Land Board advertised a lease sale of mineral rights under a 1965 Supreme Court decision which established the California coastline as including "outermost permanent harbor works that form an integral part of the harbor system."

U. S. Government filed an injunction to prevent Texas from leasing, contending that the Texas shoreline was defined by the 1845 annexation agreement under which the state joined the union.

Texas claims jetties are a part of the permanent harbor system and to determine where the shoreline was in 1845 would be impossible.

POLITICAL POT BOILS — Political pot continues to boil at the state capitol:

As expected, 29-year-old House Speaker Ben Barnes announced for lieutenant governor. He said his move should not be interpreted as a tipoff to Gov. John Connally's plans. He stated that he would run as an independent, with no "ticket" affiliation with Connally or anyone else. Barnes immediately opened his statewide campaign headquarters in Austin.

Gov. John Connally left for Canada and the National Governor's Conference in the Virgin Islands without revealing his decision as to retiring or running for a fourth term.

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith already is campaigning for governor. He predicts that Gov. Connally will not run for an unprecedented fourth term and submits as evidence Connally's 1962 pledge not to do so.

Former Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr called on all three — Connally, Smith and Barnes — to run for re-election. In a letter to Connally he said he may run for governor if Connally doesn't or for lieutenant governor if the governor seeks a fourth term.

Supreme Court races continue to draw increasing attention. Declared candidates are Houston District Judge Sears McGee, Texarkana Court of Civil Appeals Associate Justice Matt Davis, Amarillo Court of Civil Appeals Chief Justice James G. Denton and Austin District Judge Tom Reavley.

WATER BOARD MEETS — Texas Water Development Board met here Monday to review a variety of loan eligibility matters and a bond ordinance.

Titus County Fresh Water Supply District No. 1 is seeking eligibility finding for a $2,200,000 loan to pay its share of the Titus County Dam and Reservoir near Mt. Pleasant.

City of Thorndale wants a $130,000 loan to provide municipal water from a Soil Conservation Service reservoir.

Guadalupe-Blanco River Authority seeks a $1,100,000 loan for facilities to provide Port Lavaca with water from the Guadalupe River.

Wichita County WID No. 2 requested a $1,500,000 loan for rehabilitating Lake Kemp.

San Patricio Municipal Water District requests formal approval of a $900,000 loan application for treatment, pipeline, pumping and water storage facilities.

Terrell asks approval of a bond ordinance so the city can go ahead with its application for a $750,000 state loan for the first phase of a water improvement program which contemplates taking water from nearby Lake Tawakoni.

PARK GRANT APPROVED — Three new federal grants for park improvement or development have been announced by the Parks and Wildlife Commission.

City of Diboll will receive $174,500 (to be matched by equal amount of local funds) for buying 175 acres of land and to develop the city park.

A grant of $211,214 from the federal land and water fund program will go to Waco for a $422,428 jointly-financed 35-acre park on the banks of the Brazos River.

A $69,550 grant will go to Webb County toward a $139,100 park program, covering 218 acres, four miles east of Laredo on the banks of Lake Casa Blanca.

COURTS SPEAK — A proposed state constitutional amendment to wipe out the poll tax as a voting requirement and require annual voter registration is headed for a U. S. Supreme Court test.

AFL-CIO challenged the outcome of the vote, contending that voters did not realize that an annual registration feature was involved. Union promises to take the case to Washington.

Texas high court agreed to review the case of four Houston lawyers who contend that free legal service to the poor, under the War on Poverty, program unfairly deprives attorneys of fees. Court of Civil Appeals had upheld the district court's summary judgment against the group.

Court of Criminal Appeals affirmed the 99-year prison sentence assessed Goliad rancher Shaper Taylor on charges of killing his 33-year-old former "girlfriend" and her elderly husband.

Austin District Judge Mace Thurman Jr. is presiding over the court of inquiry here to look into allegations of malpractices by home improvement contractors and their agents.

VOTER REGISTRATION — Texas Secretary of State John L. Hill is warning persons who are 60 years of age or older and live outside cities of 10,000 or more population that this year, for the first time, they must register to vote.

Hill said that a special provision has been made for such persons to register during the period October 1 to January 31, 1968 at the county tax office or by mail to the county tax assessor collector.

GET INSERT — They are Reps. Rufus Kilpatrick of Beaumont, Travis Peeler of Corpus Christi and Russell Cummings of Houston.

Three Senate members (selected by the lieutenant governor), the land commissioner, highway department chief engineer (or their representatives) and a citizen named by the governor also will serve.

Purpose of the body is to facilitate development of beaches as public recreational areas and tourist attractions. Group also will determine the best method of obtaining rights-of-way and easements for needed highway and parking areas.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES — A county tax assessor-collector is not authorized to accept applications for voter registration certificates mailed or delivered to him by someone other than the applicant, or the husband, wife, father, mother, son or daughter of an applicant. Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin advised Secretary of State John L. Hill of the opinion.

Martin also ruled that bonds voted in a Sherman County election, held before creation of the Texoma Memorial Hospital District, will not become obligations of the district.

SHORT SNORTS — Texas traffic deaths are one per cent behind last year reports the Department of Public Safety—Texas Public Employees Association will hold its annual meeting in Austin during Texas Public Employees Week, October 22-29. Confirmed cases
