He 'Sees' By Remembering

Sensitive fingers and a good memory serve Franklin Johnson, Texas Tech freshman from Colorado City, in learning his way about the Tech campus. The campus "map" Johnson uses was developed by the Vocational Rehabilitation Center at Tech for blind students. Sidewalks are indicated by pieces of string glued to the board. A raised shape of each building gives the students an idea of their size and location on the campus.

FRANK JOHNSON AT TECH

Blindness Can't Block Youth From Education

(Special for The Record)

LUBBOCK — A modern-day Diogenes searching for truth in knowledge at Texas Tech is Franklin Johnson, freshman psychology student from Colorado City.

While the Greek philosopher is pictured making his way through life holding high a lantern to aid in his search, Johnson relies on his sensitive fingers, a 54-inch cane and a portable tape recorder to guide him in his studies and about the expansive Tech campus.

"Ever since I can remember I have known I was going blind," said Johnson.

But he did not go totally blind until a year ago. His blindness is a result of deteriorating retinas.

Johnson, a resident of West Hall, has lived in dormitories all his school life. He went to the Texas School for Blind in Austin for 12 years and graduated in 1955. His roommate here at Tech is Claude Dempsey from Odessa, a senior education major.

A 4½ - pound, battery-powered, portable tape recorder — a gift of Colorado City Lions — takes Johnson's notes for him in class. With this recorder, he records only what he thinks is important, switching it off when the professor digresses. He copies these notes in Braille for further use.

Johnson gets outside help from a group of pretty Tech coeds. The Delta Gammas, national social sorority, spend hours reading to him. A student paid hourly by the State Commission for the Blind also reads lessons to him.

A psychology major, Johnson plans to work for the State Commission for the Blind as a home teacher in the rehabilitation program. In this way he feels that he can assist others who have lost their vision to become adjusted.

Johnson pointed out that the fields of teaching, law and psychology offer the best career opportunities to blind persons.

"The Tech psychology department has as extensive a curriculum as any in the state," according to Johnson. His courses this semester include zoology, algebra, French, and English. He has found the Tech staff and faculty to be considerate and congenial.

After graduation from high school in 1955 until October of 1957, Johnson worked for a company in Amarillo that specialized in custom windows for doors. He worked on an assembly line and operated a kurf power saw.

At the Lion's Crippled Children's Camp in Kerrville, Johnson took a rehabilitation course on the fall program for blind people, from November 1957 until February 1958.

Fitting right into the college social life, Johnson is learning to play bridge. He devotes the rest of his leisure time playing chess, reading (Shakespeare, Poe, Churchill, Zane, science, fiction, Greek mythology) and listening to classics on his hi-fi record player.

Johnson is the son of Mrs. Juanita Cook Johnson of Rt. 3, Colorado City.

League Meeting

Pony and Little League officers for the coming year will be elected at a meeting Monday, 7:30 p. m. in Junior High School Auditorium.

The meeting is being called by League Commissioner Joe Salter who is being transferred to Odessa in the near future.

ONE OF PAIR FLEES

Policeman Nabs Forgery Suspect

One forgery suspect was apprehended here Monday while another slipped temporarily through the grasps of police only to be arrested later.

Charges of forgery were filed on the pair in Howard County in connection with the cashing of a $435 check Monday at Big Spring's Piggly Wiggly store.

Big Spring city police alerted the local police department Monday when it was believed that the suspected pair boarded a bus traveling toward Colorado City.

Local police were handicapped in checking the pair due to the meager description given by Big Spring police.

City Policeman Selma Q. Dickson spotted whom he believed to be the suspects among passengers getting off the bus at Greyhound Station here at E. Second & Hickory.

Dickson told the pair to get in the police car and for a trip to the police station.

As the pair started to enter the car, one of the suspects — Loveless — fled around the building and raced south into the Lone Wolf Creek bottom. As Dickson ran to the back of the bus building in an effort to catch Loveless, he saw Bercolder attempting to leave the police car. Dickson sprinted back to the car to Bercolder while he called for additional police.

"I was just too short handed . . . I couldn't chase one for fear of the other getting away," Dickson said.

City Policemen — with the aid of Big Spring Police Chief C. L. Rogers and a Big Spring detective — searched the area south of the bus station for Loveless Monday afternoon.

Loveless was arrested in San Angelo Monday night and city police here said he paid a local man $25 to drive him there.

Big Spring police took Bercolder into custody.

Forgery charges were filed Tuesday in Justice of the Peace Walter Grice's court in Big Spring.

Youth Service Award

Joe Salter, left, receives the Chamber of Commerce's first Pop Warner award from Ernie Larmer in recognition of Salter's service to youth of the community.

FOR YOUTH WORK

Chamber's Warner Award to Salter

Colorado City Chamber of Commerce's first annual Pop Warner award for youth work goes to Joe Salter.

The Texas Electric Service Company employe, who served last summer as Little League Commissioner, received the award Friday at Lions Club luncheon in Civic House.

Presenting the plaque was Ernie Larmer, Chamber of Commerce manager.

The Pop Warner award — named for the late, noted coach who introduced the Warner system of single and double wing football to the nation — is in recognition of outstanding service to youth.

Salter was selected as recipient of the 1958 award as the outstanding local individual who during the year has contributed to the advancement of youth, particularly in the field of sports.

"This is a token in a small way," Larmer said, "to show the Chamber of Commerce's appreciation to you for your fine interest and contribution to the youth of our community."

Salter, who has for many seasons been a leader in Little League baseball here, was the top official of the program during the last summer.

He served in 1956 as president of the Quarterback Club, chairmaned this fall's Quarterback membership drive, managed the First Baptist Church softball team, serves as chairman of Junior Chamber of Commerce sports committee, works as a leader in the construction of the new Memorial Field for baseball, officiates at student athletic events and counsels with youngsters.

In addition, Salter is active in other civic programs and serves as a deacon in his church.

Year before last he was recipient of the Jaycee Distinguished Service Award as the city's outstanding young man, the same year he and his family were selected as the "outstanding family" of the community and district by Federation of Women's Clubs.

The new award comes as

First Cash Giveaway Set Nov. 8

Sixty-one firms Thursday had signed as participants in Colorado City's big pre-Christmas "money-tree' program that will give thousands of dollars in free cash to shoppers.

The list of participating firms was growing steadily and expected to include more than 75 local businesses before the end of the week. Twenty-one participants signed this week.

Almost every type of business firm in Colorado City already is represented in the list of sponsoring merchants, according to Bud Everett, co-chairman of the Chamber of Commerce merchants committee.

Fifteen citizens are in the group working with Everett in contacting potential "money tree" participants.

"MONEY TREE" cash will be given free to lucky Colorado City shoppers 16 especially designated days during a two - month period ending Christmas Eve.

First "money tree" day is scheduled in Colorado Saturday, Nov. 8.

Winners of "money tree' cash will be determined by motor vehicle license plate numbers displayed on cardboard Christmas trees in participating business firms.

Each firm will post three numbers each "money tree" day. Numbers displayed in each business firm will be different from those posted in all the other locations.

PERSONS WHO identify a license plate number as their own on any of the trees, will be given the number to take to Chamber of Commerce for cash prizes that will range up to $100 or more each "money tree" day.

Winning numbers will be deposited in City National Bank prior to each "money tree' event so that shoppers will be assured that the drawing for winners is fair and without prejudice.

Regular "money tree" days are planned each Saturday and Tuesday during the giveaway period.

Everett emphasized that there would be no registration or cost for any person to try for cash prizes in the "money tree" program. Identity of license numbers on any of the trees, backed by proper identification of the winner's license tag, will be all that is required.

HERE IS a list of the 61 firms already signed as participants in the "money tree" program:

STILL $8,620 SHORT OF GOAL

Loraine Campaign Aids UF Climb to $19,265

Contributions and pledges added more than $2,000 to Mitchell County United Fund during the first half of the week.

These boosted the campaign's total to $19,265, according to a Thursday morning tabulation at United Fund headquarters in Civic House.

Campaign Chairman Roy Bates emphasized that the finance drive — which in one concentrated roundup provides funds for nine deserving agencies — needs $8,620 more before reaching its goal of $27,885.

A big portion of the $2,000 boost this week came with the first report by Loraine workers, who are being led by K. L. Taylor and the Loraine Lions.

Loraine counted $815.11 in its first report. And more contacts were to be made there this week for United Fund.

Last year total donations and pledges for Loraine and the entire rural area of that vicinity amounted to $1,300.

This year Loraine is a separate division and does not include the rural areas of previous County East division. But the initial report indicates that the Loraine townspeople alone this fall may equal or surpass the entire County East total of 1957.

Volunteer workers at Westbrook began contacting potential contributors this week under the chairmanship of Supt. Herman Parson. But initial report was not expected until later in the week.

Call for renewed effort went out Thursday from Chairman Bates to volunteer leaders and workers in Colorado City's four big divisions — employes, special, general and advance.

These four divisions provide the bulk of the United Fund financing, but at least two — employes and special — have been lagging far behind their goals. The two divisions together have been assigned a total goal of approximately $10,500.

Fund headquarters workers already are checking assignment cards and preparing a special list for "catch-up" contacts next week.

In the catch-up list will be names of individuals and firms who have not been contacted so far in the 1959 fund campaign, Bates said.

Farm Loan Groups in Parley Here Friday

Representatives from 16 national farm loan associations in West Texas will meet here Friday at a regional Land Bank Conference.

They will come from a 55-county area and will meet with Sterling C. Evans, president of the Federal Land Bank in Houston, and other bank officials.

The conference is scheduled from 9 a. m. to 2 p. m. in Baker Hotel.

Purpose of the meeting will be to discuss operations of the national farm loan association and the bank. Included in the conference will be discussion of methods for providing low cost to land owners who need and use long-term credit.

Official representative for the Colorado-Snyder National Farm Loan Association will be Audry Head of Snyder.

However, the local association will be represented also by Max West, Martin Murphy, C. C. Thompson, A. K. McCarley and R. H. Bennett according to Newby H. Pratt, secretary-treasurer of the association.

IF IT'S A JOKE

Who's Going to Has Last Laugh?

If it's a joke . . . who is it on?

There are some folks who do not take very seriously to the many good arguments in favor of buying at home. Appeals to patronize home enterprise instead of the store and service establishments in other towns and cities sometimes are treated as something of a joke.

But it's no joke as this week's buy - at - home feature sponsored by local merchants on page 4, section 2, points out emphatically!

Or if it is a joke, perhaps it's really a joke on the fellow who would be getting a bigger pay check if his neighbors were giving more of their business to his Colorado City employer.

Or maybe it's a joke on the citizen whose property would bring in more rent money if he and the rest of us put more of our community-prospering trade into home channels.

But the real joke may be on those of our children who grow up and find we have no place for them in Colorado City . . . because we don't keep our trading dollars at home to make jobs for them.

It takes a great sense of humor to see the joke in a protest against the city-shopping habit . . . which costs us progress and costs our children opportunities at home.

AT WOLF STADIUM, 3 P.M.

Wolf B Team Battles Strong Stamford B Here Saturday

Stamford High's powerful B-team will furnish the opposition here Saturday, 3 p. m. when the Colorado High B-team gets its roughest test of the season.

Coach Bob McMillan has a strong lineup of gridders to battle the Little Bulldogs in Wolf Stadium.

The Stamford B has walked over all opponents this season with the exception of the Abilene B team and the Abilene Junior Varsity.

Since the Wolves have an open date this week, several players who have been seeing limited action on the varsity will participate in the B game.

Of the 22 players McMillan plans to use, 15 are sophomores.

Starting at center will be Rusty Whitaker, 165; guards Mike Wheeler, 166 and Red Lemons, 168; tackles Nick Martinez, 204 and Joe Weaver, 180; ends Phillip Bates, 155 and Alex Campbell, 150.

Jerry McKay, 150, will handle the quarterbacking with Don Vest, 155, and Bill Newell, 140 at halfbacks and Bill Davis, 180, at fullback.

Playing mainly on defense will be Larry Hardcastle, 170; Doug Hodges, 120; Gary Yancy, 110; Freddy Harrison, 130; Jimmy Palmer, 136.

Other who will probably see offensive and defensive duty are halfback Wayne Reed, 125; fullback Robert Womack, 130; guard Lonnie Robertson, 133; tackle O'Daniel, 160 and guard Joe Carrasco, 190.

This is the next to last B-team game of the year. The season will be finished next week when the local team journeys to Lamesa for a Saturday night game.

Last week, McMillan's forces tied Lake View 6-6 in a game that saw the Lake View coach suit up majority of his varsity at halftime since the Chiefs A-team had an open date.

Bill Newell put the Wolf B into a 6-0 lead when he sprinted 50 yards on a scoring play.

Lake View came back in the last half, with the addition of the varsity players, to tie the game 6-6.

B Team Halfbacks

Freddy Harrison, left, and Bill Newell will see action at the halfback positions here Saturday, 3 p.m. when the Wolf B team takes on the strong Stamford B team. Newell raced 50 yards last week in the team's 6-6 tie with Lake View.

Windham Out For Season

Injured shoulder ligaments will keep Colorado City's Jim Windham out of action for the remainder of football season.

Windham, starting guard for the University of Houston football team, underwent surgery last week in Houston following an injury received in Houston's loss to Oklahoma State.

Windham's mother, Mrs. J. C. Windham, said he started back to classes this week following his dismissal from the hospital.

Odessa Weekend

Mr. and Mrs. O. I. Griffin of Colorado City accompanied Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Templeton of Loraine to Odessa Sunday for a visit with their nephew and family, Mr. and Mrs. Troy Templeton.

Scribe Hits At Wolf Fans In Column

Snyder Sports Editor Buck Francis let loose a verbal blast at Wolf fans in his column Tuesday in the Snyder Daily News.

We'll let the Wolf fans decide whether there's truth in what he says.

The article reads:

"We hope Tiger (Snyder) football fans don't take the same attitude about the Tiger's changes against Sweetwater as the Colorado City fans did the Wolves' chances against the Tigers.

"Only 22 adult fans at Colorado City and 31 students were "brave" enough to purchase advance tickets to the game. There may have been a few more that bought tickets at the gate but there weren't many.

"We imagine there's several hundred football fans in Colorado City still kicking themselves for staying home last Friday night.

"It's certainly a shame that fans desert their teams when things are going wrong. Even though the C-City fans had only 22 miles to drive for last Friday's game here, they stayed away in droves for fear of a Tiger runaway.

"It's quiet amusing the way everyone took the 12-12 tie Friday. Colorado City, we have learned, celebrated the game until the wee hours of the night Friday as if she had won.

"Boiling it down, the Wolves figure they 'won the game 12-12' while the Tigers figured they 'lost the game 12-12'.

"Even the tie confused a sports scribe on one of the area newspapers (Abilene). In his story of the game, the scribe said the result of the game gave Colorado City a 2-5 season record and left Snyder with a 4-3 mark.

"In other words, he added

IN A WEEK OF UPSETS

Carl Echols Jr. Captures Top Prize in Grid Contest

Carl L. Echols Jr. is the top winner in the Record's football guessing contest the past week.

Echols won two tickets to the Texas Tech vs. Arizona game by picking eight of 12 games correctly and selecting a key score of Snyder 34, Colorado City 8.

It was a week of upsets and ties with Colorado City's 12-12 tie with Snyder one of the most astounding. Only a few local fans picked the Wolves to win with majority selecting Snyder to triumph by 40 to 60 points.

Every person who entered the contest missed the key game since no one predicted a tie. Also everyone missed the Wisconsin - Ohio State game, a tie tilt.

Ties may be indicated on an entry blank by circling both teams.

Ninety percent of the entries missed Purdue's win over Notre Dame, Rice over Texas and Texas A&M over Baylor.

Two persons tied for second place — Al Byrd and Thomas Dowty, both of Colorado City Each missed four games and had the same key score — 36-6.

Each wins a one year subscription to the Record.

Winning third place was a Silver resident, Mrs. Jim Herford, while fourth place was snagged by Don Jones, 340. 14th St. Both Mrs. Herford and Jones win two movie passes to the local theaters.

All the winners picked eight of 12 games while three others — Charles Rothwell, Will H. Jones of Corsicana and Bobby McNeese — did the same but missed further on the key score.

In the honorable mention bracket this week — with seven picks out of 12 games — are Willie O. Davis of Snyder, Pattie Sue Harrison, Mrs. Maberry Willbanks, Mrs. Howard Cain, Anne Burkhalter, Melvin Biggers, Mrs. U. H. Forrester, Arthur H. Millsap, Gene Garner, Pat Shields, Luke Thomas, Mrs. Jackson Ellis of Snyder, Joe Carpenter of Roswell, N. M., David Lelek, Mrs. E. Tilley, Mrs. Jeral Beard, Mrs. C. G. Harkins, Lois Breeden, Ray Noble, T. D. Harper, and A. M. Holman.

Entries to the contest came from far and wide this time. Coming the greatest distance were guesses by Beeman Dockrey of Bismarck, North Dakota and Alton Sparks of Ames, Iowa.

Since the Wolves have an open date this week, there is no football contest. The next contest will begin Sunday for next week's tilt when the Wolves play Lake View.

Eagles-Cards Vie Sunday

The Philadelphia Eagles and Chicago Cardinals, both losers by narrow margins last Sunday, will meet in Sunday's televised game of the week.

The Eagles lost a squeaker to the Packers while the Browns won their see-saw affair with the Cardinals. Sunday's game is important to both elevens since a win by the Eagles would take them out of the cellar post and the Cardinals could move into a second place tie if they can eke out a victory.

The Cardinals may have lost the services of their valuable rookie John Crow, former Texas A & M All American who was injured early in Sunday's game. His teammate Bobby Joe Conrad, also an A & M product, played an outstanding offensive and defensive game for the Cards behind the excellent quarterback of Arkansas' Lamar McHan.

The game can be seen in this area over station KPAR-TV and KEDY TV.

Your Ballot Is Important November 4

In numerous general elections during non-presidential campaign years there has been reluctance on the part of Mitchell County citizens to vote. That's because the Democratic nomination still is regarded tantamount to election here in West Texas where local races are decided in the earlier primaries.

But that appraisal is beginning to wear thin in Texas, where Republicans more and more are waging determined campaigns for key offices. And this fact alone, provides good reason for qualified voters to go to the polls Tuesday, Nov. 4, and mark their ballots.

Both U. S. Senator Ralph Yarborough and Governor Price Daniel have Republican opposition on the Nov. 4 ballot. The Republican opposition needs to be defeated.

There are other good reasons, though, for a large turnout at the polls. Not only will the fate of nine proposed state constitutional amendments be decided in the election, but also our delegate strength in 1960 Democratic Conventions also will be determined by the amount of Democratic votes registered for governor.

There can be no blanket endorsement either for the nine amendments, a fact making it imperative that citizens register their opinions on each of the proposals. But deserving special attention for a favorable 'yes' marking are amendments No. 1, which provide for annual sessions and annual salary of $7,500 for legislators in a progress move for better representative government; No. 7, which will allow the state to advertise at a minute cost for tourist trade and new industry with funds matched by private business; No. 3, which will allow county commissioner courts to fill vacancies of county and justices of the peace only until the next general election.

Words to Remember

These are words to remember. These words are the preamble to the Charter of the United Nations.

"We the people of the United Nations determined . . .

to save succeeding generations from the scourge of war, which twice in our lifetime has brought untold sorrow to mankind, and to reaffirm faith in fundamental human rights, in the dignity and worth of the human person, in the equal rights of men and women and of nations large and small, and to establish conditions under which justice and respect for the obligations arising from treaties and other sources of international law can be maintained, and, to promote social progress and better standards of life in larger freedom,

And for these ends . . .

to practice tolerance and live together in peace with one another as good neighbors, and to unite our strength to maintain international peace and security, and to ensure, by the acceptance of principles and the institution of methods, that armed force shall not be used, save in the common interest, and to employ international machinery for the promotion of the economic and social advancement of all peoples,

Have resolved to combine our efforts to accomplish these aims."

Who, having read these words, could offer anything but prayers and support for the United Nations as this great experiment begins its 13th year?

PHILOSOPHER SAYS

Foreign Policy Topic Is Puzzle

Editor's note: The Shinnery Flats Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Bone Hollow Creek discusses foreign policy this week, which is out of his field.

Dear editor:

All during the Congressional campaigns throughout the past few weeks I've been reading indigant statements by different people saying we ought to keep our foreign policy out of politics, and I wish to say that if foreign policy has been injected into politics, I didn't do it.

I don't even know what our foreign policy is.

For example, I know we must have some policy toward say Formosa, but how can you expect me to know what it is when nobody in Washington does either

However, I'm not sure there's anything wrong with injecting foreign policy into politics. Lots of candidates inject honesty into politics and some of them don't know what that is either.

If you're going to limit politics to what a man knows, I know some candidates whose campaign wouldn't last longer than five or 10 minutes. I figure mine, if I was running, would last one or two.

Speaking of foreign policy, I read the other day where a man in Washington said the United States now has fewer friends in the world than ever before. This is the sort of statement that intrigues me.

In the first place, I don't even know how many friends I had abroad before, not to mention now. Foreign friends added up by somebody else are somehow different from friends in your own neighborhood. With the latter, you can find out for yourself, but with the former, you have to take somebody else's word for it, and as a result you never know which side they're going to turn up on when the chips are down. Some of our best friends in the first world war were our worst enemies in the second, and some of our allies in the second are our worst enemies now. You get the feeling that foreign friends frequently are like your welcome in some stores. You're welcome only as long as you're spending money there.

If you catch any politician injecting our foreign policy into politics, I wish you'd let me know about it. I'd like to corner him and ask him what it is.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

DEFICIT IN STATE BUDGET

'Battle of Bulge' Still Roars With Pessimistic Statements

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

As Texas' "Battle of the Budget" roars on toward its 1959 climax, almost every week brings a new statement on the probable size of the state deficit. Usually worse than the last one.

State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert and Legislative Budget Director Vernon A. McGee combined to present a frankly pessimistic picture for the Texas Research League meeting in Austin.

McGee said the general revenue fund will need $279,000,000 during the next two years to keep things going as they are. Calvert estimated that the present tax structure would put $125,000,000 into general revenue during his period.

This leaves a gap of $154,000,000 between estimated income and outgo. In addition, Calvert estimated the general revenue fund will be $55,600,000 in arrears by the end of the present fiscal year in August, 1959.

Research League is composed of several hundred leaders in Texas business and professions whose private contributions support research in the interest of governmental efficiency. Much of the League staff's time during the past year has been devoted to assisting the State Tax Study Commission in a mammoth survey of Texas' revenue and tax problems.

CAN DO — Gov Price Daniel took a "we can lick this thing" attitude in a press conference on taxes.

Daniel said he felt the deficit could be erased and new revenue needs met without a general sales tax or income tax. Taxes we have presently could be raised to the maximum level used in other states, said the governor. And other taxes—not sales or income—could be added.

Daniel also indicated that he was not fully convinced that the gap between income and needs would be as large as the $154,000,000 mentioned by the comptroller.

He would not definitely say now, said the governor, that he would or would not veto sales or income tax bills if passed by the Legislature. But he made it clear that he did not favor them, and that he thought there were better possibilities.

Daniel praised state agencies who reduced their budget requests a total of $1,490,631. Overall, the budget requests had run $272,000,000 higher than for the present biennium.

HOSPITAL SPENDING AXED — Possibility of more drastic cutting loomed when the Legislative Budget Board voted to reject some of the appropriations being sought by the State Hospital System.

State Capital NEWS

It voted to lop $8,000,000 off the system's requested operating fund and disapprove spending $5,500,000 for a new mental hospital in the Gulf Coast area.

Budget Board recommended a slight increase in money for the Texas Youth Council. But it voiced a "thumbs down" attitude toward setting up a state-supported paid parole system for juvenile delinquents.

Legislative Budget Board is made up of 5 members from the House and 5 from the Senate who, with staff assistance, screen appropriation requests in advance and make recommendations to the Legislature.

PULLING UP—Two state agencies who've gotten black marks in past years got basically good report cards in the summaries given by analysts for the Texas Research League meeting.

State Insurance Department has made many improvements in the year since its reorganization, said one researcher. He predicted that an era of better regulation would result in saving to policyholders and fewer company failures.

State Welfare Department was described as "basically well-administered" in comparison to some years ago when it was the source of dissatisfaction.

In the welfare field, the League was told, Texas can expect increased spending in the future. Texas now spends 18 per cent of its tax money or $173,000,000 a year on welfare. But other states are "more generous," observed the researcher.

DON'T CUT OFF NOSE—U. S. Senator Ralph Yarbrough is urging Texas liberal Democrats not to scratch Gov. Price Daniel's name on the general election ballot regardless of how they may feel about him.

Senator Yarbrough warned delegates to the State AFL-CIO convention that each precinct gets one delegate for every 25 votes cast for the party's gubernatorial nominee. If a liberal area casts a small vote for governor, it will have a small delegation to the next party convention and less chance of gaining control.

If you scratch the governor's name, said Yarbrough, who has been at odds with Daniel for years, "you'll be cutting off your nose to spite your face."

ANTI-CRIME LAWS—New laws and institutions to deal more forcefully with Texas' soaring crime rate may be a major topic for the next Legislature.

County and district attorneys meeting in Austin were asked by Governor Daniel to help in the job of strengthening and plugging the loopholes in Texas' law enforcement structure. Daniel said that at the present rate Texas will have a 28 per cent increase in crime in three years.

Too often, said the governor, criminals escape punishment through hairline technicalities in the laws. He also urged (1) state-paid parole supervisors for juveniles, (2) a second boys training school to separate serious offenders from those for whom there is more hope, and (3) stricter narcotics laws.

BIBLE COMMENT

Reformer Always Object of Abuse

The fate of the Hebrew prophets and their intense suffering is summarized in the tragic words of the Bible: "They were stoned, they were sawn asunder . . . were slain with the sword . . . being destitute, afflicted, tormented."

We may wonder why these men endured these persecutions, when by simple compliance with the mores of their times they could have avoided such torment.

IT IS PROBABLE that the prophets could have led quiet, comfortable lives if they were content to denounce evil and malpractice in a general way. To be opposed to sin or graft or prejudice in vague, all-embracing terms is to court the displeasure of practically no one.

But to denounce evil in specifics, to point to a prominent member of the community and say, "You are the man" is another matter entirely. It was this direct illumination of evil that relegated the Hebrew prophets to a life of torment.

IN OUR OWN country there is as great, if not a greater, need for such social reform. The man who attacks the abuses of the powerful in generalities and pious hopes will find his name appearing in nobody's black book. It is the reformer who steps forth to denounce in direct terms those who would destroy the society who is persecuted.

But is is this same reformer who will be remembered, and whose accusations may eventually be translated into a cleaner, more decent civilization.

Upsurge Replaces Business Crisis

Record Advertising Mgr.

This has been a critical year for American business. As the year began, an economic recession threatened to develop into a full-fledged depression.

Now, as 1958 moves to an end, all signs point to an economic upsurge.

The business columns of national publications are full of optimistic headlines. They tell of increased orders, new jobs, and rising consumer demand.

WHAT HAS happened to convert a possible depression into a rebirth of business activity? One magazine writer says the upswing was caused by a change in the public's attitude toward spending.

Yet, something had to bring about the change in the consumer's mind. Consumer savings were not unleashed without some cause.

A similar situation existed in 1953. At that time increased advertising was a major factor in turning a recession into an era of prosperity. President Eisenhower, among others, stated that more and better advertising was needed for the same reason in 1958.

And American business did turn to more advertising as an answer. Advertising expenditures were increased approximately one billion dollars during 1958—or ten per cent more than 1957 expenditures.

CERTAINLY IT took courage for a business to increase its advertising in the face of a possible depression. But once again that optimistic courage has brought forth good fruit.

In the future, economists may be saying that 1953 AND 1958 were the years that advertising prevented depressions.

And what advertising can do for the nation as a whole, it can do for any individual business with a sound retailing program.

IN '59 ALLOTMENTS

Two Choices for Cotton Growers

A national marketing quota of 12,167,000 bales, a national acreage allotment of 16 million acres and a date set, Dec. 15, for a farmer referendum on marketing quotas for upland cotton have been set by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson.

All are in accordance with present legislation covering cotton.

In setting the national marketing quota figure the Secretary found that the total supply of upland cotton exceeds the normal supply needed by 4,379,000 bales.

The national acreage allotment for 1959 will be apportioned to the states, the state allotment to the counties and the county allotments to farms according to the provisions of the law.

If marketing quotas for 1959 are approved — it takes a two-third favorable vote — in the Dec. 15 referendum, the cotton grower will have a choice between two allotment — price support programs known as Choice A and B.

Under [illegible] growers who comply [illegible] their regular acreag[illegible]ment will have availa[illegible] support at not less t[illegible]er cent of parity.

Gr[illegible]nder Choice B rece[illegible]r farm allotmen[illegible]per cent above the[illegible]llotment — but wi[illegible]tion of 15 per ce[illegible]y in the support price as compared with Choice A.

If marketing quotas are not approved for the 1959 upland cotton crop, only the regular allotment program will be in effect. Price support will be available to cooperators at 50 per cent of parity as provided by law.

Under the 1959 quota program and in accordance with controlling legislation, growers who exceed their chosen farm acreage allotments will be subject to penalties of 50 per cent of the cotton parity price as of June 15, 1959, on the farm's excess production. Too, all cotton produced on the farm will be ineligible for price support.

Good ranges and plentiful grass plus a hesitancy on the part of many feeders to pay the asking price for feeder calves have, for the second year in a row, delayed the movement of beef cattle into feedlots, reports A. B. Wooten, economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Last year prices of feeder cattle and calves started upward in November and by late March had advanced $6.00 or more per 100 pounds from their October level. A similar increase, points out Wooten, is not likely this year. The bumper crops of feed grains has upped the demand for feeder calves, but feeder prices are now squeezing the price margin in feeding, adds Wooten.

If it's a Joke, ...who is it on?

There are some folks who do not take very seriously the many good arguments in favor of buying at home. Appeals to patronize home enterprise instead of the stores and service establishments in other towns and cities are often met with derisive kidding, and the matter treated as something of a joke.

But it's no joke. Or if it is, perhaps it's really a joke on the fellow who would be getting a bigger pay check if his neighbors were giving more of their business to his employer. Or maybe it's a joke on the citizen whose property would bring in more rent money if he and the rest of us put more of our community-prospering trade into home channels. Or could it be a joke on the home town business man who would be more prosperous if so many of us didn't follow his lead and spend a good deal of our money with roving peddlers, city stores and mail order houses?

But the real joke may be on those of our children who grow up to find we have no place for them here . . . because we don't keep our trading dollars at home to make jobs for them.

It takes a great sense of humor to see the joke in a protest against the city-shopping habit . . . which costs us progress and costs our children opportunities at home.

AT FRANK MOTOR COMPANY

New Engines Feature '59 Chrysler Models

Chrysler cars for 1959, with a new series of Golden Lion V-8 engines, are on display here at Frank Motor Company, 245 Chestnut.

The new Chrysler models have major styling changes, including new front and rear designs, side trim and roofing styling.

New optional Chrysler features include front swivel seats, an electronic rear view mirror, an automatic headlight beam changer, extra large super soft cushion tires carrying 16 pounds air pressure and rear air suspension for automatic leveling.

Frank Deregibus, owner of Frank Motor Company, said the emphasis in the design and styling of the 1959 Chrysler models was on functional improvements which contribute to agility and handling ease of the car on the road, and on economy, safety and passenger comfort.

He said the new Golden Lion engines, although larger in displacement and with greater rated horsepower, will perform as economically as the engines they replace. He recalled that Chrysler engines took top honors in competitive western economy runs last spring, and in previous years.

Low numerical axle ratios throughout the line, a reduction in engine weight and extensive use of aluminum in both trim and functional parts contribute to economical operation of the 1959 models.

Horsepower of the new engines ranges from 305 to 380, a modest increase from previous models except for the Chrysler 300E which is unchanged in horsepower.

Chrysler puts a high value on its new optional low pressure tires as an advancement in comfortable riding. They are similar in design and construction to the low pressure tires made available optionally on 1958 Imperials.

Auto-Pilot, the dial and push button device for controlling car speed, figures importantly in the Division's production planning.

"We are convinced that features such as Auto-Pilot which make for more restful and pleasurable motoring will be in greater demand in the months and years ahead," Deregibus said.

The Chrysler line includes the New Yorker, Saratoga and Windsor series as well as the sport-styled Chrysler 300E.

All models except the Chrysler 300E feature a new roof which is styled in two sections, separated by a stainless steel band. The ribbon of steel separates the top for striking two - tone color treatments. Hardtop roofs are changed in shape to provide increased passenger room.

New swivel front seats, which swing silently outward a full 40 degrees for easy entry and exit, are standard equipment on Chrysler 300E models and optional on all others except Town & Country wagons. The new swivel seat is available either with manual or six-way electric seat adjuster.

All air conditioning and heating controls are of the pushbutton type and are integrated completely in the instrument panel. The buttons actuate vacuum servo motors and electric switches to perform all adjustments previously made by the driver.

Chrysler's Windsor Hardtop

This 1959 Chrysler Windsor two-door hardtop is powered by an all new 305 horsepower Golden Lion 383 engine and features styling which includes a new two-tone roof design.

SANTA HERE ALREADY?

Better Begin Now to Prepare Christmas Gift' Card Mailing

Postmaster S. A. Palmer announced Thursday the period between Nov. 1 and Nov. 20 has been designated for the mailing of Christmas parcels, Christmas cards and letters to members of our Armed Forces overseas.

The postmaster explained that the term "Armed Forces overseas" includes personnel of the Armed Forces, members of their families, and authorized United States civilians employed overseas who receive their mail through an APO number.

Those of you who are planning to send Christmas gifts in addition to your Christmas cards and letters should check at the post office regarding size and weight limitations and best methods of packing your gifts for overseas delivery.

Palmer pointed out that boxes contain sufficient cushioning materials so that the contents will be tightly packed to prevent any rattling or loosening of articles within the package. Unless completely packed and tightly filled the boxes are likely to be crushed.

A slip showing list of contents and addressee should be enclosed in every box or package. To certain APO's and NPO's a custom declaration on Form 2966 or 2976-A must be completed by the sender.

There are some prohibitive articles that cannot be sent overseas, including matches and lighter fluid. Cigarettes, other tobacco products, and coffee are prohibited in parcels addressed to certain military post offices.

It's a good idea to check with the post office before purchasing or packing any overseas gifts, Palmer emphasized.

Domestic rates of postage are applicable, and all postage must be fully prepaid. Parcel post rates take the zone rate from the post office where mailed to the Post Office through which the parcel is addressed.

Air mail weighing not to exceed 8 ounces is chargeable at the rate of 7 cents per ounce, and articles weighing over 8 ounces are chargeable at the rate of 80 cents a pound.

Be sure your addresses are legible and complete, and they should always be clearly written, or better yet, typewritten.

Make special note of the time for mailing overseas parcels and Chrismas cards. Those going by surface mails can be sent between Nov 1 and Nov. 20. Cards and letters going by Air Mail should be sent between Dec. 1 and Dec. 10.

You can make it a merrier Christmas for your friends and loved ones in the Armed Services in far away places if you will take action now to follow the overseas Christmas mail suggestions, Palmer said.
