That "day of infamy" was 34 years ago today...the day Pearl Harbor was hit by Japanese bombers. And like today, Dec. 7th fell on Sunday. We easily recall that sleepy Sunday afternoon. We had stopped in at a cousin's service station down there in East Texas. The radio was on and it wasn't very cold for December.

When the radio announcer blurted out the first bulletin, most of us thought it was a hoax.

"That Orson Welles is at it again! What won't he try to pull next?" It had been only three years since Welles had caused a near panic with his famous "War of the Women" Broadcast which had thousands of people believing the world was being attacked by forces from Mars.

But reality suddenly set in, and almost immediately American was welded together in a manner that it probably had not experienced since the Revolutionary War, even if then.

It has been 34 years since it happened, but it will never be forgotten.

Most any habit can lull you to sleep. And so it was with Cactus Pryor, who serves as the emcee on the Darrell Royal television show during football season, which usually extends through December for the Texas Longhorns. They were getting a few shots for the Royal show in the UT dressing room following the game down at College Station a week ago Friday. The UT players naturally were down in the dumps after their loss to the Aggies. But Pryor tried to brighten the atmosphere.

"Don't take it so hard," he told the team captains. "You've still got another game....remember Georgia?"

His director got his attention quickly, before he pursued the Georgia topic further, and needless to say that bit of dialogue didn't make the Darrell Royal show.

Speaking of the Aggies, they say J.D. Hinton refrained from mentioning their football prowess throughout the season, until the returns were in on the Texas game. But at the Lions Club's luncheon meeting last Tuesday he suddenly inquired when the Southwest Conference highlights film would be shown.

Baylor fans immediately reminded that defeating Texas doesn't necessarily mean a spot in the SWC highlights film. Last year, those who produce the highlights film apparently decided that the Baylor-Texas game would not be interesting enough to be included and they didn't film it, which meant that the new champion's triumph over the defending champion got left out.

MARCOS ASKS ARMS AID FOR SMALL ASIAN COUNTRIES

Ford Cheered In Manila

MANILA, The Philippines (AP) — President Ford was cheered by thousands today on his arrival in Manila, where President Ferdinand E. Marcos asked the United States to help the small countries of Asia arm themselves against any threat to their security.

Marcos greeted Ford at the airport when the American leader arrived from Jakarta, and the two men drove to the presidential palace for a round of talks.

At a toast at the state banquet winding up the day, the Philippine president said Ford's visit confirmed Asian faith that the region enjoys a high American priority.

Marcos said his country sought security treaty arrangements that will "build our capability (so) that in the future this will render obsolete and unnecessary further and future deliveries of military aid to our people.

"If there is any valid and noble contribution that United States can make to the small developing countries of Asia, perhaps, it is the development of the indigenous capabilities of these nations in order that they may meet any threat to their security with honor and dignity."

Marcos, who wants the United States to restore control of its military bases here to his government, did not specify the source of any threat to small Asian countries.

Marcos said he did not interpret The Philippines' mutual security agreement with the United States to mean the country wanted American foot soldiers here.

Instead, Marcos cited a U.S. policy to give small countries the means to make their own arms. Colt International is helping The Philippines build a small-arms factory under a $16 million American military aid program, and the United States has announced plans to provide Thailand aid in building a similar operation.

American spokesmen have said Ford came here to assure Asian allies of the United States' continued commitment to Asia despite setbacks in Indochina.

One of the subjects the President will discuss in his overnight stopover here will be American bases. The Philippines wants control of the bases restored to them, which the United States accepts, but what it wants to work out is what this would mean in practice.

In his welcoming remarks, Marcos told Ford that The Philippines considered the United States "its strongest ally, it will so remain for a long time to come."

But he said also "there are new realities in the world" in discussing what he called the partnership that has allowed the United States "to maintain the concentration of the greatest naval and aerial power in this part of the world." This was a reference to the American Clark Air Base, 40 miles north of here, and the navy base at Subic Bay, 45 miles to the northwest.

Marcos said The Philippines was a small power "but an independent and free country nonetheless.... We, too, seek an authentic role in the future."

The Philippine president added, "While America alone may be unable to solve all the problems of the world, there is no serious problem in the world that can be solved without America."

Before departing from Jakarta three hours earlier, Ford met privately with Indonesian President Suharto, after which the two presidents issued a joint communique that "expressed the intention of the United States to continue to provide substantial aid to Indonesia in support of Indonesia's development efforts."

Tulsa Tornado Damage Heavy

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A series of freak tornadoes struck eastern Oklahoma almost without warning Friday, injuring nearly 40 persons. Twisters tore through 12 city blocks of Tulsa, wrecking scores of homes and businesses.

No one was killed, but authorities said 34 persons were taken to Tulsa hospitals. Seven remained hospitalized today, four in serious condition. Other twisters hit rural areas, but officials said they did not expect the total injured in the state to exceed 40.

Tulsa Mayor Robert J. LaFortune said damage could run into the millions of dollars. The Red Cross estimated about 50 Tulsa homes were demolished, another 150 suffered major damage and a total of 50 businesses suffered substantial destruction.

Red Cross officials set up aid stations at two schools to feed and shelter the homeless. About 300 persons came to the centers, officials said.

Gov. David Boren planned to tour tornado-damaged areas of eastern Oklahoma by helicopter today as clean-up operations began. He said the tour was to see "what federal aid, if any, would be necessary."

Boren placed National Guard members on standby in Tulsa and activated a guard unit for Wilburton, 95 miles to the south.

"I'm amazed that we don't have 20 dead out there," said Larry Russell, area disaster director for the American Red Cross.

"It's just amazing. We had virtually no warning," he said after touring east Tulsa for a preliminary damage report.

Eastern Oklahoma was enjoying 70-degree temperatures about 4:30 p.m. Friday when a cold front rushed into the area, setting the stage for the violent windstorms. Within 30 minutes, funnels sprouted all over the eastern section of the state, the National Weather Service said.

Tulsa was hit by two or three twisters, Russell said. It appeared one twister did the major damage to an area about 1½ miles long and one block wide near the city's eastern boundary.

Damaged buildings in the area included a church, a large grocery store, a shopping center and several apartment houses.

Nimmo Rites Set Monday

Robert Earl (Bob) Nimmo, 68, a retired employe of Texaco, Inc., died at 9:10 p.m. Friday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital. Funeral will be held at 10 a.m. Monday at the Bell-Seale Funeral Home Chapel with the Rev. Ken Andress, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating. Burial will follow in Snyder Cemetery under director of Bell-Seale.

Born Jan. 21, 1907 in Bells, Okla., Mr. Nimmo had been a resident of Snyder since January of 1951. His home was at 3002 Thirty-eighth Street. He married Eva Davis, May 13, 1945 in Keifer, Oklahoma. He was a Baptist.

Surviving are the wife of the home; one daughter, Janis Nimmo, of the home; one son, Ronald Earl Nimmo of Duncan, Okla.; five sisters, Mrs. Icel Meyer of Tulsa, Okla., Mrs. Belle Thompson of Vinita, Okla., and Mrs. Billie Leith, Mrs. Vada Arnspeiger and Mrs. Johnnie Cannon, all of Pampa; two brothers, Frank Nimmo of Amarillo, and J.P. Nimmo of Birmingham, Ala.; and, three grandchildren and one great-grandson.

White House Approval Is Certain On NYC Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation authorizing $2.3 billion in federal loans to save New York City from default passed easily in the Senate early today and was sent to the White House for certain approval.

"Somehow or another an awful lot of fiscal rabbits have been pulled out of New York's hat in the last few weeks," said Sen. James Buckley, R-N.Y., who voted for the bill. Senate approval came on a 57 to 30 vote.

Final congressional action ended months of speculation as to whether the federal government would step in to keep the city from defaulting on its obligations. The bill extends $2.3 billion in short-term loans for the city and is effective for the next three years.

President Ford proposed the bill in late November, reversing his previous opposition to federal aid for the city. The House okayed the measure 213 to 203 last Tuesday.

City officials have warned that default could come as soon as next Thursday, but with approval of the federal loans, it is expected that city bondholders will exchange their due notes for long-term notes to enable New York to continue operations without a formal default.

"On behalf of eight million New Yorkers, I commend the members of Congress from all over the country who recognized that we have a practical self-help plan in place and that this legislation is in the national interest," said New York Mayor Abraham Beame

The final Senate vote, at 12:15 a.m., came after prolonged debate and parliamentary gimmickry by opponents who failed to mount a threatened filibuster. Amendments to weaken the bill all failed.

34-YEARS LATER

Pearl Harbor Attack Is Still Well Remembered

HONOLULU (AP) — Thirty-four years ago Sunday, World War II began for the United States with much of its Navy lying at the bottom of Pearl Harbor.

"Remember Pearl Harbor" became a rallying cry during the nearly four years of war that followed.

Today the Japanese sneak attack on the naval installation in Hawaii is still well remembered, a reminder of enormous changes that have taken place since that Sunday morning.

As usual, civic and service groups will mark the anniversary by laying nearly 30 wreaths at the stark memorial built atop the sunken wreckage of the battleship Arizona, where 1,177 men were entombed during the attack. The U.S. flag will be raised as it has been every day since the memorial was dedicated in 1961.

This year, for the first time, the President will speak at the ceremonies.

President Ford will stop in Hawaii for a few hours on his return to Washington from China. His first stop will be the Arizona Memorial.

Approximately 200 persons will gather in remembrance of the Dec. 7, 1941 attack by 33 Japanese ships and more than 350 airplanes.

The first bomb fell about 7:55 a.m. as 94 Navy ships lay in the harbor. Eighteen ships were sunk, nearly 200 planes were destroyed and 3,581 persons were killed or wounded.

The nation went to war and Hawaii was put under martial law. The territory's large population of Japanese descent was under suspicion but its very size precluded internment camps like those that housed Japanese-Americans on the U.S. mainland.

Half the persons inducted into the military in Hawaii during the war were of Japanese ancestry. The all-Nisei 442nd Regimental Combat Team became known as the Army's most decorated unit.

Today the Arizona Memorial is one of the few reminders of the Japanese attack. Pearl Harbor remains one of the largest and best sheltered naval bases in the world, surrounded by growing suburbs, shopping centers and freeways.

The Japanese who once were discriminated against now hold the majority of powerful positions in Hawaii government and education. The governor, lieutenant governor, a U.S. Senator and both House members, the president of the University of Hawaii — all are of Japanese descent.

Another measure of change is the visit to the United States last October by Emperor Hirohito, in whose name the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor. Ending his American visit in Hawaii, he was greeted by large, enthusiastic crowds.

The Arizona Memorial has become one of Hawaii's most popular tourist attractions, drawing a million visitors annually. Among them are thousands of tourists from Japan.

Rites Today For Jones

Andrew J. Jones, 82, who lived on the Lubbock Highway, died at 2 p.m. Friday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital following a lengthy illness.

Funeral will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday in the Bell-Seale Funeral Home Chapel with the Rev. John Grappe, pastor of the First Assembly of God Church, officiating, assisted by the Rev. James Zedlitz, pastor of the United Pentecostal Church. Burial will follow in Hillside Memorial Gardens under direction of Bell-Seale.

Born July 28, 1893 at Carthage, Mr. Jones had been a resident of Scurry County since 1941. He married Lula Dunnam April 4, 1943 in Snyder.

Surviving are the wife of the home; four daughters, Mrs. Dorothy Hudson of Lufkin, Mrs. Diamond Bowlin of Tenahaw, Mrs. Ella Mae Baird of Houston, and Mrs. Virginia Ann Baker of Mansfield; three sons, John H. Jones of Joaquin, Jimmy Ray Jones of Odessa, and Billy Dan Jones of Enid, Okla.; one sister, Mrs. James A. Clark of Snyder; and 27 grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren.

15 Shopping Days Till Christmas

Big Task Seen By Goodfellows

"This family could use some help Christmas," began a letter to the Snyder Goodfellows. "The mother and father were injured in an automobile accident.....they receive $355 per month from Social Security and get food stamps. There are four children. That is all the income they receive...."

A family with four children is "unable to buy Christmas and other needs."

"A family with four children, father has been injured on the job and has been out of a job for about 1½ years now."

"A mother with four children whose husband is deceased," needs help.

These are some the messages that are being received these days by the Snyder Goodfellows. Most of them come from neighbors and friends who know of the situations, said the Rev. Henry Hartman, Goodfellows president. In fact, Goodfellows learn of many who need help at Christmas time through third parties.

"The needs will be great this Christmas," said Rev. Hartman as he called attention to the Goodfellows booths now in operation at both Snyder banks. Contributions are coming in, but it looks as if the Goodfellows will need all they can get to take care of the needy this Christmas.

Applications should be mailed to the Goodfellows at Box 661, Snyder.

In addition to cash contributions, Goodfellows are seeking toys, These should be delivered to the Snyder Child Day Care Center at Thirty-first Street and Avenue B. Also, a drive for canned foods will be conducted in the elementary schools of the city Dec. 8-12.

RODENT CONTROL MEETING:

About this time of the year many of us become concerned about the control of rats and mice. With cooler weather these pests start hunting warm quarters in which to pass the winter months. Thus begins an influx of rats and mice into any available shed, barn or house that is handy.

We have arranged a rodent control demonstration and meeting for Dec. 11 at 10 a.m. at the Wilson Bright Farm. The Bright Farm is located five miles south of US 180 on the first road east of Ezell-Key Feed Mill. Larry Killgo, Rodent Control Service, will give this demonstration and information on control of rats and mice. There are many improved baits and methods of control of which the ordinary homeowner may not be familiar. Anyone having problems with rodents or who would like to have more information on this is encouraged to attend. It was felt that an on the site demonstration would provide an excellent opportunity to view control work.

COTTON HARVEST:

Good open weather has held all week and producers have taken full advantage to harvest cotton. Empty trailers are refilled almost immediately and any producers found at the gin is usually waiting for a trailer.

A check with the gins in Scurry County on Thursday, Dec. 4, showed there had been 9,162 bales ginned with approximately 3,764 on the yards. This number has surpassed the total number ginned in all of 1974. Total for each gin is as follows:

GIN	GINNED	ON YARD
Dunn	847	120
Fluvanna	1500	400
China Grove	1245	550
Hermleigh	603	157
Inadale	1860	800
Paymaster	1535	900
Snyder Coop	1572	837
TOTALS	9,162	3,764

This is a total of 12,926 bales harvested to date.

MODULE BUILDER AND RICKERS:

In an effort to beat the trailer shortage as well as complete their cotton harvest several producers are using rickers and module builders.

The ricker is a piece of equipment used to compress seed cotton into a rick, usually 100-150 feet long, and stored in the field. These ricks remain in the cotton field until the producers or gins catch up and then these ricks are loaded into trailers and hauled to the gin for processing. This all allows the producer to complete his harvesting sooner.

The module builder is a piece of equipment that compresses about 10 - 12 bales of seed cotton onto a pallet. This pallet is then picked up and hauled to the gin for processing. The module builder does not employ the use of trailers.

Wayland Huddleston, old Lubbock Highway, Snyder, is using the module builder, the only one in Scurry County as far as I know. There are several rickers being used throughout the county.

If you have considered the use of either of the these pieces of equipment, let me encourage you to visit one of these operators while in use. They do offer several advantages over the traditional method of harvest.

Anatomical Gift Statement On License

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas drivers' licenses issued after Jan. 1 will carry a witnessed statement whereby the holder of the license may donate any part of his body as an anatomical gift at the time of his death.

The statement on the back of the redesigned driver's license is the result of a law passed by the 1975 Legislature that becomes effective Jan. 1.

The new license will look the same on one side with the driver's name, address, physical description, signature and photograph.

However, on the back side will be the statement that allows the driver, on his death, to donate his body or any portion of it to any hospital, surgeon or physician. The bequest must carry the driver's signature and the signatures of two witnesses.

If the driver does not care to participate in the anatomical gift program the statement on the back of the license does not need to be competed and signed.

Col. William E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said the DPS will keep no records concerning anatomical gifts.

Mishap Is Investigated

The Texas highway patrol investigated a one-car rollover Friday around 5:30 p.m. 4.3 miles south of Snyder on Texas Highway 350.

Robert Jones, 27, the driver of the vehicle, a Ford pick-up owned by Newmont Oil Co., and a passenger in the pick-up, Kerry Clay, 21, were taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by Galyean Ambulance Service and treated and released. Kenneth Allen, 22, another passenger was taken to Cogdell by private car and treated and released.

Investigating patrolmen said Jones apparently lost control of the pick-up and it went off the road on the right side and overturned.

There was considerable damage to the vehicle.

Santa Claus Gets Reprieve

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — James Russell of Fresno was given a reprieve from mid-December jury duty for the best of reasons. He's Santa Claus.

The county jury commissioner's office said it granted Russell a delay in serving because "we want you to know the jury commissioner's office has a heart," an employe said.

Russel serves as a Santa Claus at a regional shopping center. He will be put back on the jury duty list after Christmas.

Dr. Lamb Sex affects heart rate

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I am very concerned about my husband's smoking – two packs a day. He doesn't seem to be able to give cigarettes up, but now he too is getting worried. Recently after intercourse, he finds breathing difficult during and after climax. This does not happen every time, but we engage in sex about three or four times a week, and this has been happening about once a week. He is 62 and in perfect health, according to his last checkup. He weighs 170 and is 5 feet 11 inches tall.

What I need to know is, could he have a heart attack at the finish of the sex act? If so, what should I do if an attack occurs? I mean until an ambulance arrives. I'll be eternally grateful for your help.

DEAR READER—Heart attacks are so common in American males in your husband's age group that he could have an attack during sex, after sex, while sleeping in bed, while eating, while driving, while riding, while watching TV or after anything. Obviously no one can guarantee you that your husband will not have a heart attack during any of his normal daily routine living patterns, including sex.

The fact that your husband smokes two packs a day increases his chances of having a heart attack or dropping dead about 300 per cent compared to a similar man who didn't smoke at all. That increased risk will stop at once if he stops smoking.

Whatever else sex is, it does work the heart. During the phase of anticipation the heart rate and blood pressure increase. The picking up of the heart rate may occur when a man watches an attractive woman. Things progress from there.

Kissing and preliminary advances or just loving that increases the anticipation raise the blood pressure and heart rate a great deal. The high heart rates are caused from the release of adrenaline, the stress hormone (usually called the fight or flight hormone, but obviously there are other alternatives).

The sex act changes patterns, and the physical work then influences heart rate and blood pressure. In normally healthy, active persons, the level of stress is no greater than many other daily activities. However, it is enough that a person should not resume sexual activities after a recent heart attack until his exercise tolerance has had some evaluation or he has demonstrated the ability to walk 15 minutes at a fair speed without difficulty. In general, in most individuals, the ability to walk briskly for 15 minutes means they have a level of tolerance equivalent to the amount of heart work required during sex.

Since fatty-cholesterol deposits are common, one might say almost universal, in American men over 50 and since sexual activity is also almost universal, it follows that coronary artery disease in the general population does not preclude sexual acitvity. However, the disease of the arteries to the heart also affects the entire body, including the testicles. A man who wishes to remain sexually active should pay attention to those measures to prevent heart disease, namely, avoiding smoking, obesity (by proper diet and exercise) and high blood pressure.

I think we are coming to the point where all adults should know what to do when they are confronted with a person with a sudden heart attack. I suggest that you contact the local chapter of your American Heart Assn. for literature on any public training programs they might have available. In Seattle more than 100,000 citizens have been trained for such emergencies. As a result, already one out of four people who would have died from a sudden attack are now saved. I think every community should have such a program. Your husband can help avoid your ever having to use such knowledge, after anything, by stopping smoking and following the recommended living patterns.

DEAR DR. LAMB—Somewhere, somehow, I caught scabies, and, after several trips to the dermatologist, it cleared up. I couldn't convince my husband that he should submit to the lotion treatment, and in several weeks he became a victim.

I have some infestation again, and now we are following the doctor's directions on the lotion, changing bed linens, and changing to freshly laundered clothes. My question is, how contagious are these mites? My doctor said the mite lives only on a warm body and therefore is passed only by close contact from the infected skin, and there is no danger of transmitting it by hanging a coat on a public coat rack, etc. His nurse says that it ping-pongs back and forth in contact with doorknobs, dishes, etc.

This problem is playing havoc with my nerves, so I'll appreciate any information you can send us on clearing my home of this pest.

DEAR READER--There is literally a world wide epidemic of scabies and other small animals of the louse group at the present time.

You are more likely to get scabies from close personal contact. The female has small, sharp, cutting edges on her front legs, and with these and her jaws, she digs a tunnel into the skin. These burrows, commonly in the folds of the skin as between the fingers, are one of the best evidences of an infestation with scabies. She mates and lays her eggs here, and they hatch, producing a new crop of bugs.

The itch usually doesn't occur until nearly month after the first burrow is plowed in your skin. So, a person may go along blissfully ignorant of a recent infection for a month or more after it started.

The itch is usually at night, and most of the skin surfaces can be involved except the face and scalp (in newborn babies the scalp may be involved, too).

The parasites are killed by prescribed medical lotions or cream used after a good bath for best effect. A second application must be used a week later to kill the second crop of parasites from existing eggs hatching in the old burrows. The itch may persist for weeks after successful eradication of the parasites.

While it is true that you can get the bug most easily by personal contact, as in just sleeping in the same bed with an infected person, you can get it from infected linen and towels. After treatment you need to put on clean sheets and clean clothing. All clothing and sheets and towels that have been used must be cleaned or laundered. And, as you have found out, all members of the household must be treated at the same time.

That usually is sufficient to eliminate the infestation from any household. If you are really worried, you might want to spray the mattresses, sofas, and other inanimate objects with Kwell spray which you can get without a prescription. This is not to be used on your body. Getting the infestation from door knobs and public coat racks is not very likely. But you can get it from shaking hands or rubbing elbows with someone who has an active skin infestation.

She Tunes Out When Older Men Turn On

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a college junior and my problem is that older men are always making passes at me. I'm no "touch-me-not," but I just don't dig older men. In fact, they turn me off.

First off, my roommate's father (he's divorced) propositioned me, and I told him "No way." He kept trying to talk me into it. I finally told him he reminded me too much of my father, so he gave up.

Then, one of my professors (an old, married man of 47) told me that I had a very good mind but that I didn't know how to study. Then, he offered to teach me.

I said, "Great," but when he told me he had the key to a friend's apartment for the instruction, I told him I wasn't interested. He looked crushed!

Last week, I went to the health service with an infected toe, and the doctor, who must have been 50, asked me for a date. He really was gross and wouldn't take no for an answer. I finally told him he was too old for me. I know I hurt his feelings.

When you tell a young guy to get lost, he accepts it and there's no hassle, but you can't turn down an older man without destroying his ego. How come?

HATES HASSLES

DEAR HATES: Men are no different from women. No one wants to be turned down because of age. Don't waste your tears on older men. If they approach enough young gals, they're bound to find one who digs older men.

DEAR ABBY: Several years ago, I read a letter in your column from a man whose family beat him to the newspaper every night. His wife had already clipped the coupons out, his mother-in-law had torn out the crossword puzzle and his daughter had cut out Dear Abby. Of course, the paper was unreadable by that time.

As a solution, you suggested that he treat himself to a second subscription.

It may be a little late to tell you this, but when I was growing up and my dad got home from work, all he wanted was his favorite chair and the evening paper. Sometimes he had to remind us to get out of his chair, and occasionally we'd have to hunt around for the paper, but he always got them both. That was one of the first lessons of respect I can ever remember learning.

I think you should have advised that family to go ahead and read the paper, but to leave it the way they found it until the man of the house had seen it. Then do the clipping.

KATHY S.

DEAR KATHY: Thanks. Your answer was better than mine.

DEAR ABBY: I read in your column where to send for a form to donate my eyes after death. Then I heard that they don't want anyone's eyes unless they have perfect vision, which I do not have. Is that true?

WANTS TO DONATE

DEAR WANTS: Not true.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MR. J.:

1. When was the last time you told you wife you loved her?

2. When was the last time you paid her a compliment about the way she looked (or cooked)?

3. When was the last time you gave her a kiss. (Not a peck, but a real honest-to-goodness, toe-curling kiss?)

4. When was the last time you surprised her with a little gift—flowers, a silly card or something you knew she wanted?

If the answer to three out of these four questions is "over six months," your marriage could be in trouble.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Texas Traffic Deaths Up 11%

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — State police said Saturday 3,029 persons have died in traffic accidents within Texas this year, up 11 per cent from 2,726 at the comparable time in 1974.

But the 1975 figures also compare with 3,370 at this time in 1973—before speed limits were reduced and gasoline prices began rising steeply.

Local Minister Reports Persecutions In Malawi

"Thousands of Christians are now under brutal persecution in Malawi," declared Jack Bryant, presiding overseer of the Snyder Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses.

"Starting Aug. 15, 1975, more than 34,000 Jehovah's Witnesses from Malawi who fled as refugees to Mozambique in 1972 because of severe persecution were forced to return to Malawi and now experience brutal persecution again. All of this is because of their refusal to join a political party."

Mr. Bryant said he had received a report from N.H. Knorr at the Brooklyn Headquarters of Jehovah's Witnesses. Knorr said that when a group of Jehovah's Witnesses arrived at the Malawi border, the Minister for the Central Region, Mr. Kumbweza Banda, greeted them: "We welcome you with both hands. You left Malawi of your own accord and now you have returned of your own accord. The Malawi Congress Party is still in power in this country. Go back to your home villages and cooperate with the party officials." Then, referring to the members of the League of Malawi Youth, he said: "My boys are here to see that you do cooperate with the Party." Soon roads in the north and central regions of Malawi were filled with Jehovah's Witnesses on their way back to their home villages.

In some instances the Witnesses were allowed to enter their villages and take up occupancy of houses they abandoned in 1972. However, in most cases Youth Leaguers soon called to ask if they were prepared to buy political party cards. Referring to Jesus' example of political neutrality, the Witnesses refused. Immediately beatings, rapings, and other atrocities began again and many were driven from their homes. In Kanchenche six Witness women were all raped by several men. In Sosola village a group of men and women, including the local Member of Parliament, Mr. Elson Muluzi, seized the possessions of the Witnesses and drove them from the village.

Early in September youths under the direction of the Kasonjola branch of the Malawi Congress Party visited homes of Jehovah's Witnesses in six villages, demanding they buy party cards. When they refused, the youths stole all their belongings, subjected them to terrible beatings and urinated on the supply of flour that these refugees had brought with them, making it unfit for food. In other locations the Witnesses were stripped naked, their hair burned off their bodies with torches and beaten until blood came out of their mouths and noses. This happened at Chimasongwe village in Lilongwe under the direction of the local chairman of the Youth League, Mr. Chipukupuku, while the attackers were urged on by local women members of the League of Malawi Women.

Because no one will accept them, many Witnesses have been forced to wander in the cities by day, sleeping in nearby forests at night. Upward of 4,800 fled to neighboring Zambia, but reports just received say they were repatriated to Malawi by force.

Dr. H. Kamuzu Banda, Life President of Malawi, recently instructed the Malawi police to round up adult Jehovah's Witnesses and put them in detention camps. The children are being left behind either to stay with relatives or fend for themselves. The government order applies this even to nursing infants. The police have ruthlessly executed this order. Whole congregations of Witnesses, men and women, have been rounded up and put in detention to further pressure them into buying political party membership cards and to prevent flight from Malawi, according to the latest reports.

Almanac Traces Texas History

"The American Revolution of 1776 set in motion events that led to the colonization of Texas and eventually to its own struggle for self-government, notes the new 1976-'77 edition of the Texas Almanac, published by A. H. Belo Corporation, publishers of The Dallas Morning News.

Those historic events affecting Texas have been traced in an article written especially for the Texas Almanac by the late R. Henderson Shuffler, editor, historian and, at the time of his death in the summer of 1975, executive director of the Institute of Texan Cultures at San Antonio.

"What we call the American Revolution was simply the first stage of the revolution of the Americas," Shuffler wrote. "Texas was affected directly by the American Revolution and the course of its history for centuries to come was shaped by the outcome."

Also in the Almanac's Bicentennial section, San Kinch Sr., chairman of American Revolution Bicentennial Commission of Texas, tells of the American Bicentennial in Texas. A commission listing of Texas events during the bicentennial year is included.

The new edition also contains a special section on "Gardening in Texas" prepared by specialists of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. It is a guide for planting vegetables, fruit and nut trees and ornamentals in all sections of the state.

"The LBJ Hill Country," written by Art and Elise Kowert, publishers of the Fredericksburg Standard, presents a description of the home of the late Lyndon B. Johnson, 36th President of the United States.

"Nowhere else in this land is there a place where, within a distance of a few miles, the story of an American President can be retraced through visiting the settlement of his grandparents, the birthplace, boyhood home, his 'White House' away from Washington, and his ranch where he lived in retirement and where he died and is buried," they wrote.

Other special features of the new Almanac include a history of the Texas Railroad Commission, the latest U. S. Census on manufacturing, wholesale and retail trade, the service industries and transportation in Texas, an account of the 10 Travel Trails of Texas, and a history of Texas A&M University observing its 100th anniversary in 1976.

Included also are data on election results, listings of county, municipal and state officials, appointive boards and commissions, officials of state and regional civic and trade organizations, and sections on agriculture, manufacturing, transportation and government.

Each Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area, the urban concentrations in which most Texans live, has an editorial page devoted to it.

A new Texas map in color, with major highways, supplements 254 county maps, updated from maps prepared by the Texas Highway Department. Tourism and recreation also are featured, with listings of state and national parks.

"This is the 48th edition of the Texas Almanac that has been published since 1857," said Joe M. Dealey, president of The Dallas Morning News. "We believe it continues the high standards that have made this publication the Encyclopedia of Texas."

HEALTH TIP from DEAN
Young people who abuse the use of drugs frequently are frustrated because poverty and prejudice do exist - they see nations at war, automation taking over - they see adults setting one standard for youth and another for themselves. Everyone would like to turn off frustration and turn on contentment at will. Drug abusers think they can. The trouble is that the facts of life cannot be changed with injection or a swallow. The troubles only increase, due to the bodily and mental injury from drug abuse and the financial burden of drug dependence.

A psychic bid is one designed to give misinformation. In the early '30s such bids were often called Jacobys because young Oswald Jacoby was known to bid them frequently.

Forty years later, old Oswald Jacoby has given them up, but Jim still tries one on occasion.

His one-spade bid in the East seat, made in a rubber bridge game turned out to be super-successful. It wasn't too risky. He wasn't vulnerable and could always run to diamonds if he got into spade trouble.

If Jim had passed or raised diamonds immediately the chances are that North and South would get to four spades and wind up making five odd. They might still have found spades if South had doubled one spade, but South elected to bid hearts and North raised him to game.

West opened a spade. South rose with dummy's ace and led a trump, but it did him no good. West grabbed the first heart, led a second spade which Jim ruffed. Jim led a diamond to his partner's ace, whereupon a second diamond ruff set the unfortunate declarer.

Melissa Mitchell Named Christmas Seal Ambassador

As people start thinking about Christmas it is time to start thinking about the American Lung Association's annual Christmas Seal Campaign. The tiny, energetic, and enthusiastic Mexican-American singer Vikki Carr, is the National Honorary Seal Chairman for the second consecutive year. The public will be seeing and hearing from her and other equally interested volunteers representing the national organization in its sixty-ninth campaign.

Here Elmer Reed, Jr. of Lubbock and Melissa Mitchell of Snyder are representing the West Texas Area of the American Lung Association of Texas as 1975 Campaign Chairman and Christmas Seal Ambassador.

In keeping with the children's theme, the West Texas Area has chosen, for the 1st time, a junior chairman as its Honorary Ambassador. Representing the 23 County area is Melissa Mitchell, an 8 year old third grader at Stanfield Elementary School in Snyder. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry G. Mitchell, 2204 40th, Snyder. Melissa is a member of the "Buckin' Bronchos" exercise class for children with asthma, jointly sponsored by the West Texas Area Lung Association and the Texas Tech School of Medicine.

Reed, who was born in Crosbyton and educated in the Lubbock Schools and Texas Tech University, has been in the United States Postal Service since graduating from Lubbock High School in 1945. He began as a war service substitute carrier, and made steady progress up the ladder of success to become Section-Center Manager-Postmaster in 1972. Reed also served in the United States Navy. He is a member of St. Luke's United Methodist Church, Southwest Lubbock Rotary Club, Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, Lubbock Parent-Teachers Association, the Texas Tech Ex-Students' Association, and the National Association of Postmasters. He, his wife (former Rita McCauley) and their sons, Brad and Brent, live at 3711 61st Street in Lubbock.

Just as the double barred cross emblem of the ALA is sometimes called "the Crusader's Cross", the 1975 Christmas Seals might be called the "Children's Crusade." The Seals are unique in that each sheet contains fifty-four seals designed by children from each state as well as from the Virgin Islands, Puerto Rico, Guam, and the District of Columbia. The art was done by individual students throughout the country from kindergarten to sixth grade. Students were asked to depict a holiday scene, not to design a seal. The Texas Seal was designed by Tim Cole, Austin.

The original paintings have become the property of the American Lung Association and will hang in a special exhibition in the National Collections of Fine Arts in Washington, D.C. from November 14, 1975 through January 4, 1976.

Reed points out that each sheet of seals bears the heading "Christmas Seal Greetings from the children of America." He adds:

"Let's not let the children down. The best Christmas Greetings we can send in return is a generous contribution to help the lung association continue its work of protecting the lungs of children and grownups. Answer your Christmas Seal Letter today. It's a matter of life and breath."

CHRISTMAS SEAL AMBASSADOR—Dr. Robert Clinton, county chairman of the West Texas Lung Association, talks with Little Miss Melissa Mitchell, who has been named Christmas Seal Ambassador for the association. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Mitchell, 2204 Fortieth St. Melissa, who attended a breathing clinic at Texas Tech Medical School to help her asthmatic condition, urges everyone to use Christmas seals.

Gymnastic Team Prepares For Contest In Odessa

Ginger Aron, Regional rated judge, from San Angelo travels throughout the United States, attending gymnastic clinics and workshops and judging meets.

Ms. Aron was in Snyder Thursday helping critique optional routines of Snyder High School girls who will be participating in the Dec. 13 Optional Meet in Odessa.

Also attending the meet will be several elementary students from Snyder. Members of the gymnastics team are: Seniors; Marla Watkins, Margie Simpson, Donna Roemisch; Juniors, Lisa Cameron; sophomores, Lesa Layfield, Renda Palo; and freshmen, Pam Blankenship and Rita Black; Junior High representative is Kim Neeves; Elementary students are Tammy Farmer, Penny Fulks, Rhonda Head, Jacqueline Pylant, Leeann and Gina Pierce and Stacy Sellars.

This is the fourth year Snyder has entered in gymnastic competition and "Our competition is going to be stiff" says Patsy Rainwater, instructor, noting that other teams in the region have participated in gymnastics for a number of years. "I am optimistic that we will do well because Ms. Aron said we have the material to produce some winning gymnasts. Snyder is very fortunate to have the equipment and facilities that we have," Patsy said.

The girls work out every day during class and every day after school.

Events for the year include the following: Dec. 13-Odessa Invitational; Jan. 17-Midland YMCA meet, compulsaries; Feb. 28-Odessa High School Dual Meet; March 6-Dual meet at Snyder with Abilene High, compulsaries and optional.

Optional routines are composed by each girl. Compulsaries are routines that are the same, and girls are required to perform the same routine.

Snyder gymnastics will enter in several divisions including the uneven bar, beam, floor exercises and vaulting, at the Dec. 13 meet in Odessa.

GYMNASTIC WORKSHOP—Ginger Aron, regional rated judge from San Angelo, critiques the optional routine Donna Roemisch has composed for presentation at the Odessa Gymnastics Meet Dec. 13. Ms. Aron instructed a workshop here Tuesday and helped the Snyder Gymnastic team prepare for the meet.

WORKING ON A VALDEZ—Patsy Rainwater, instructor, and Ginger Aron, regional gymnastic judge, are helping Marla Watkins with a Valdez, a gymnastic trick, she will present at the Odessa Meet.

Girl Scout News

Junior Troop 239 adopted Susie Black for their "grandmother." Fourteen scouts took a basket of goodies to Miss Black for Thanksgiving. The troop enjoyed the time they spent with this 78 years young "grandmother."

Brownie Troop 315 prepared Thanksgiving cards for their adopted "grandmother," Mrs. Roy Pilgrim. They also combined the Christmas toys that they brought for the needy children to be distributed Christmas by the Goodfellows.

Troops 85, 149, 324, and 327 dressed up and met at the Girl Scout Hut on Halloween night. First we became scared and excited by the Spook House. We wish to thank Cadette Troop 266 for their wonderful and terrible Spook House. We also played games and sang songs, had refreshments, exchanged candy, and bobbed for apples. The games we played were led by Mrs. Lancaster and Mrs. Baldwin, while Mrs. Anderson set up the bobbing for apples.

Troop 324 had their Rededication and Installation ceremony Nov. 2 Yellow stars were given to Patricia Auilar, Jean Anderson, Margaret Anderson, Becky Elam, Betty Jean Huntsman, Brenda Mann, Sandra Martinez, Kathy Ramirez, Delores Rios, Sherry Spells, and Joyce Williams—who actually got hers in California. Green backed stars were given to Kim Baldwin, Monica Becerra, Renee Fulford, Robin Huntsman, Diana Molina, and Kathy Stout. Girl Scout Badges were given to Marla Phipps, Rhonda Proctor, and Kelly Warren.

All registered Girl Scouts had 5 calendars to sell to help them to pay for next year's registration. Our 3 new recruits only had 2 each. Altogether seem to be doing well and most of us would have liked to have sold more.

Attendance Up At Six Flags

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Attendance at Six Flags over Texas for the 1975 season surpassed the mark set in 1973 with 2,277,006 persons visiting the park this year.

General Manager Dan Howells said the latest figure brought attendance at the park since it was opened to almost 26,788,000 persons.

Howell's said there was a 16 per cent increase in the number of visitors from outside a 500-mile radius at the park this year.

Christmas Story Is Told

The Twentieth Century Club met Dec. 2 at 3 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Bernard Bartels. The president, Mrs. Bernard Bartels, presided at the business meeting. The bazaar, to be held at the Martha Ann Woman's Club Dec. 5 was discussed. Donations of $1 will be accepted on the bicentennial afghan, handmade by Mrs. Guy Stoker, which will be given away by the club at the bazaar. The drawing will be held at 8:45 p.m. and the winner is not required to be present.

The theme of the program was "Freedom of Worship." The leader, Mrs. John Hamblen, read a prayer written by Peter Marshall.

The program, a Christmas story, was given by Mrs. Lester Moore on Christmas in Colonial and Early America. She stated that "Christmas is the time of spirit. The men and women of Colonial and Early America kept the Christmas spirit alive, often under difficult circumstances, on the trail, as pioneers opened up vast new continent, they would keep a simple Christmas with whatever they could find. The religious services and holiday customs came from every country in Europe as streams of immigrants landed in a new land, bringing their hopes with them. The spirit of good cheer in times when there seemed to be very little to be cheerful about is part of the priceless heritage our forefathers have left us. Jamestown Colony in Virginia is thought to have been the site of the first Christmas in North America in 1607.

The Dutch settlers took great delight in keeping the spirit of Christmas. They brought with them from Holland one of our happiest Christmas traditions, on Saint Nicholas Eve, Dutch children left their wooden shoes beside the fireplace before they went to bed. Every child knew that on that night Saint Nicholas would come riding by on a white horse and fill shoes of good children with small presents, cakes and candies.

By 1700 thousands of German immigrants were arriving in America. It is possible that they may have brought the delightful tradition of the Christmas tree with them.

Christmas customs from the old world were rapidly being incorporated into those of the new, and then as now, the spirit was unmistakable, thanks for the past, joy for the present and hope for the future."

For Sunday, Dec. 7, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19) The bigger or more active the gathering, the better it should suit you today. Try to attend a function where you can meet new people.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Though this normally isn't your work day, something good could be developed careerwise if you had a chance to talk with the boss.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't be afraid to think in big, bold terms today. Your ideas won't be all that far out. Even if you fall short, you'll be ahead.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You'll find today that people who aren't always that generous toward you will be surprisingly willing to share.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your judgment is particularly keen today. A good day to make major decisions.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Set aside mundane tasks today. Get yourself out-of-doors in the fresh air, doing something that's just plain fun.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) A short trip to visit someone you haven't seen for some time could turn out to be a ball. Phone first.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Get in touch with a family member who has something you've been wanting to make a deal on. He's in a generous mood today.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) This is a good day for you to take care of an important matter that must be committed to writing. Spell out your terms.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) An unusual shift in conditions is now developing. It should be of substantial benefit to you materially. Some benefits may even surface today.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your leadership qualities are excellent today. You may not fully appreciate this fact, but others will.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Benefits are likely to come your way today either through very unusual channels or in a unique manner. Trust in Lady Luck.

Your Birthday

Dec. 7, 1975

You will be extremely enterprising this coming year. You could have several worthy projects going at the same time. Explore all opportunities but be sure risks are minimized.

(NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

For Monday, Dec. 8, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You're apt to suffer a disappointment today if you lead yourself to believe another is as enthusiastic about something as you are.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Be careful. Don't tread on too many toes in order to satisfy your self-interests. Slights won't be quickly forgiven.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You've good ideas and intentions today, but when it comes to implementing them, you'll leave a lot to be desired.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Know when to back off today on business propositions. The party you'll deal with will go only just so far.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't bore associates or companions with problems that don't directly affect them, especially if it's a family matter.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) It isn't likely you'll get the thanks you expect for a service you perform today. Take satisfaction in knowing you did your best.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You'll be in a sociable generous mood today. This could suddenly switch if others turn out to be freeloaders.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) What you accomplish today will have to be earned through your own merits. It's not likely others will make things easier for you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) A promise impulsively made to you today will only be partially fulfilled. Be realistic as to what to expect.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) This could be a profitable day if you stay in areas you're familiar with. Getting out of your element would be a mistake.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) The timing is all wrong for you to talk with one you know socially about help with something careerwise.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) It's marvelous to be a Good Samaritan, but be careful you don't take on more than you can manage.

Your Birthday

Dec. 8, 1975

This coming year you'll become closely associated with a very active and "fun" companion. Your new pal will introduce you to a larger circle of friends.

Snyderite's Lab Tests Sunflower

CANYON—What is the optimum depth for planting sunflowers? West Texas State University junior Jodie Hart of Snyder has spent the last seven weeks of her plant science lab conducting an experiment to find out.

"We are doing a depth of planting study as well as studying the effects of nitrogen on sunflowers," Miss Hart said.

Miss Hart and the other members of her group planted the sunflower seeds at depths of one-half, one and three inches.

"We found that one inch is the best depth," she observed.

Plant science greenhouse experiments are designed to make students more aware of plant production principles and the methods and procedures of carrying out a controlled experiment, according to Dr. Ron Thomason, professor of plant science and lab director.

The students plant their crop seeds in groups of pots in the WTSU greenhouse. One group, the control group, receives only light and water, while the other groups might receive varying levels of nutrients, herbicides or other cultural practices. Each week the students return to observe and measure the progress of their plants as they grow. At the end of the experiment, the students harvest dry and then weigh their plants to determine yield as affected by treatments.

Miss Hart, a plant science major, resides on the Clairemont Route, Snyder.

Oregon has more than 30 million acres of trees and is the nation's lumber state.

Ford To Name Texan For Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford will nominate Texas native Betty Jo Christian of Washington as a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission, the White House said Friday.

Mrs. Christian, 39, was born in Smithville, Tex., near Austin. She attended the University of Texas, receiving a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1957 and a law degree in 1960. After admission to the Texas Bar, she served as a law clerk for the chief justice of the Texas Supreme Court.

Auxiliary's Special Funds Big Help To Hospital

Last February the Women's Hospital Auxiliary of Cogdell Memorial Hospital set up a fund known as a Medical Students Scholarship Fund, by making the first donation of which the fund was set up to help a needy student or students through medical school with the stipulation that a contract be signed by the student or students that they return to Snyder upon finishing medical school and practice three years. If he fails to finish school or come back to Snyder and practice medicine the money advanced to him will be paid back within one year to the Auxiliary at the rate of 6 per cent interest. The contract calls for $500 per month and $1,000 per year for books, tuition and laboratory fees, also the cost of an insurance policy on him so that the money will be repaid if something happens to him.

At the present time the Auxiliary has two medical students on contract, Stanley Allen and Paul Thompson, who are in medical school in Galveston. The total expenditure on the students has been $12,236.16. This is a continuous fund and this amount has been made possible throught the generous donations and support of the citizens and also donations from the Women's Hospital Auxiliary in the amount of $6,483.95.

The Auxiliary has had a busy year through money raising projects for the Medical Students Scholarship Fund, along with carrying out the normal duties within the hospital and keeping previous commitments to the hospital and all other phases active. The membership of the Auxiliary has increased by many new active members. The other phases or responsibilities of the Auxiliary consist of the general fund, which includes proceeds from the hospital floor workers by rental of TV's and telephones and duties helping the hospital personnel and serving the patients, and the snack bar, which is open seven days a week serving patients families. Revenues derived from these two departments go to bear the expenses of the Auxiliary with all net profit donated to the hospital for medical equipment in order to serve the patients more efficiently.

The gift shop, located in the lobby of the hospital sponsors the Nurses Scholarship Fund. In the past two years this fund has sponsored three Registered Nurses who are currently employed in Cogdell Hospital. The Rememberance Fund is a fund which is supported by memorial donations and all proceeds from this fund goes toward the purchase of life saving equipment for the hospital.

The Auxiliary was organized 18 years ago and is operated under a constitution and by-laws and governed by the Rules of Roberts. The constitution and by-laws are approved by the Hospital Board of Trustees. Cyrus Miller, Administrator of Cogdell Memorial Hospital, is an ex-officio member of the Auxiliary. Vivian Gibson serves as president of the Auxiliary for the current year.

Giants, Chicago On Selling Block

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — Baseball's 74th annual winter meetings, a high point of the hot stove league season, convene Monday with general managers anxious to start trading.

But this time, players may not be the only commodity being swapped during the convention. A couple of franchises could also be on the move.

Both the San Francisco Giants of the National League and the Chicago White Sox in the American League are on the selling block and decisions concerning the two finanicially troubled clubs could be made here.

At least two groups are in the bidding for the Giants and one group, headed by baseball senator Bill Veeck, has bid on the White Sox, although its proposal was turned down by the American League owners Wednesday. The owners gave the Veeck group one week to come up with $1.2 million more in debenture money.

A group of 40 investors, headed by financier Robert Lurie, has been negotiating for some time to buy the Giants while another group that includes San Francisco businessman Allan B. Murphy has offered $6 million and acknowledges it must come up with at least $2 million more.

There are several possibilities open to the owners. When the Giants are sold they could remain in San Francisco or move to Seattle, thus solving the overcrowded franchise population in the California Bay Area.

Seattle interests have been awaiting some franchise action from the two major leagues for almost a year. Hanging over baseball's head if it doesn't supply the city with a team is a lawsuit dating from the departure in 1970 of Seattle's franchise. The Pilots moved out of the city after only one season and resurfaced as the Milwaukee Brewers.

Another Seattle solution might involve transfer of the White Sox. However, Veeck's group, if successful, wants to keep the club in Chicago.

Complicating the franchise situation is Commissioner Bowie Kuhn's assurance to Washington that baseball wishes to return to the nation's capital. Baseball may want to but it is having problems finding an individual club willing to take the plunge.

Then, of course, there are other cities like Toronto, savoring a natural Canadian major league rivalry with Montreal, and New Orleans, with its awesome and expensive Superdome sitting in the middle of its downtown section, both hoping for teams.

While the franchise committee and the owners struggle with that complicated puzzle, the GMs will be trying to strengthen their clubs with the trades that are always a highlight of these meetings.

Cowboys, Cards Vie For First

By PAUL LeBAR
AP Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) —Dallas Coach Tom Landry calls the St. Louis Cardinals a "consistent team," but are they really?

The Cowboys and the Test of the National Football League should know Sunday after the two teams collide in nationally televised game to unlock a tie for first place in the National Conference East.

Before their last outing the Cards, 8-3, were alone at the top and approaching the description given them by Landry with a succession of six straight triumphs.

But then, while beset by seven errors that included Jim Hart's four interceptions, they lost 32-14 to the Buffalo Bills and slipped back to tighten the divisional race.

By winning in a subsequent game, Dallas match St. Louis' record and also stayed a game ahead of the Washington Redskins, who are close behind with a 7-4 record.

But even if the Cowboys corral the Cards, their road to the title would still include a barricade in the form of Washington, which invades Dallas next Saturday.

"I think we're desperate, said St. Louis Coach Don Coryell, who team has already divided its two games with the Redskins and will play its last game at home against the Cowboys.

"It's a must game for us," Coryell declared. "If we're going to have a chance to be in the playoffs we have to win, that's all," he added.

The Cards, before victimized by their own mistakes against Buffalo, had made the most of repeated late heroics and the multiple talents of Terry Metcalf to make their ascent.

Upon receiving a touchdown pass last week, Metcalf became only the third player in NFL history to figure in scoring through five methods in one season.

Boasting a touchdown pass, the 185-pound elusive back has also scored eight times on runs and once each on punt and kickoff returns for a total of 11.

"He's the one you have to stop to do much good against the Cardinals," warned Dallas Coach Tom Landry. "We have to control the ball fairly well to keep it away from them."

Mathematically, numerous possibilities remain for final determination of a division champion as well as the conference's wild card club in postseason playoffs.

None of them, however, is on the mind of Coryell, whose team's sole objective is minimizing mistakes and atoning for an early-season loss to the Cowboys.

"We realize that in order to stay in the ball game we've got to play a great game," Coryell said. "That's all we dare let occupy our minds."

Coryell Says Cards Desperate

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

Don Coryell sees things in rather simplistic terms.

"I think we're desperate," says the coach of the St. Louis Cardinals. "If we're going to have a chance to be in the playoffs we have to win, that's all."

That's not really all—but Sunday's National Football League battle between the Cards and the visiting Dallas Cowboys will give one of the teams first place in the National Conference's East Division and a better shot at those playoffs. Both teams are 8-3 and one game ahead of Washington.

What seems to be uppermost in Dallas Coach Tom Landry's mind is St. Louis' breakaway runner, Terry Metcalf. The elusive 185-pounder has 11 touchdowns this year and is a primary reason the Cards are considered an explosive team, capable of scoring virtually every time they have the ball.

"He's the one you have to stop to do much good against the Cardinals," Landry says.

The Cowboys are coming off a 14-3 victory over the New York Giants last Sunday. St. Louis lost its last outing 32-14 to Buffalo—but that was on Thanksgiving Day, giving the Cards three extra days rest and preparation time.

In Sunday's other games it's Washington at Atlanta, Buffalo at Miami, Baltimore at the New York Giants, Cleveland at Pittsburgh, Cincinnati at Philadelphia, Houston at San Francisco, Green Bay at Minnesota, Los Angeles at New Orleans, San Diego at Kansas City, the New York Jets at New England and Detroit at Chicago. On Monday night it's Denver at Oakland.

The Redskins need a victory to stay in the NFC East and conference wild-card race—and they may have to play without quarterback Billy Kilmer, who has a broken bone in his left foot.

Miami likewise has quarterback problems. The Dolphins, hosting well-rested Buffalo, are starting third-stringer Don Strock since Bob Griese and reserve passer Earl Morrall both are out with injuries. Backing up Strock is journeyman Jim Del Gaizo, an ex-quarterback who was selling insurance until a few days ago.

The Bills, tied with Baltimore for second place in the American Conference East, trail Miami by one game.

Pittsburgh has to beat Cleveland to make sure it remains atop the AFC Central Division. The Steelers are heavy favorites to beat the Browns—but so were the Bengals, who were upset two weeks ago and now trail Pittsburgh by a game.

Cincinnati expects to have quarterback Ken Anderson back in action against Philadelphia, but if his chest pains persist, the Eagles may find themselves trying to stop former teammate John Reaves, who tossed two touchdown passes for the Bengals against Houston last week. The Oilers' chances of an AFC wild card are virtually nil. They must win all three remaining games and the Bengals must lose all three for Houston to get it.

Governors Make Wager

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — More than a chance to play for a national collegiate football championship is riding on today' Grantland Rice Bowl game between the University of New Hampshire and Western Kentucky.

New Hampshire Gov. Meldrim Thomson and Kentucky Gov. Julian Carroll have made a little side wager on the game. Thomson put up a gallon of maple syrup taken from his farm at Orford, and Carroll put up a ham grown and cured in Kentucky.

Gobblers Win 44th Straight

By The Associated Press

Cuero and Big Sandy extended long Texas schoolboy football winning streaks Friday night but a long-awaited rematch in the Class B finals will not come about since Groom upset Celina.

Cuero won its 44th game in a row by defeating Jacksonville 14-0 at Bryan in a Class 3A semifinal playoff. The Gobblers, who will try for their third straight state title next week against the winner of Saturday's Pecos-Ennis semifinal, got two touchdowns on runs of five and 33 yards by Lloyd Wesley.

Big Sandy has now gone 41 straight games without a loss after it beat Moody 38-0 at Crockett. It tied Celina for the 1974 state title 0-0, but there will be no rematch since Groom beat Celina 15-13 at Vernon. Groom will meet Big Sandy in next week's finals.

Only one Class 4A quarterfinal was played Friday night as Port Neches-Groves ousted Houston Kashmere 27-19 in the Astrodome. Saturday's quarterfinals pitted El Paso Coronado and Odessa Permian at El Paso, Dallas Carter and top-ranked Longview at Texas Stadium in Irving and McAllen and San Antonio Lee at San Antonio.

Three semifinalists were determined Friday night in both Class 2A and Class A. Childress beat Slaton 27-0, Decatur outscored Gladewater 29-21 and La Grange humbled Hebbronville 47-0 in Class 2A. Top-ranked Seagraves blanked New Deal 14-0, DeLeon whitewashed Holliday 12-0 and Schulenburg nipped Falls City 7-6 in A games.

Top-ranked Cameron played No. 2 Hamshire-Fannett in 2A and defending champion Grapeland was matched with Groveton in Class A Saturday night.

Snyder Junior Varsity Rips San Angelo, 53-33

Snyder High School's talented Junior Varsity basketball team remained undefeated after first round play in their own tournament here Saturday night after socking San Angelo's JV, 53-33.

The game wasn't as close as the score indicates as the JV Tigers completely dominated play.

Central took a 2-0 lead, and the game was never that close again as the young Tigers outscored the 4-A team, 20-6 in the first quarter, 15-8 in the second period, and 13-6 in the third quarter.

Coach Ken Plumlee swept the bench as all of the local lads got in on the action in the second half. San Angelo had a 13-5 edge in the fourth frame.

Tony Cobb pitched in 24 points to spark the Snyder attack. Randy Courtney contributed 10, Pineda put in 24 for San Angelo, and Barta added 10.

In other first round action, Midland Lee beat Lubbock High 82-74, Monterey bested Plainview 62-56, and Abilene Cooper edged Coronado 38-35.

Snyder met Cooper Saturday morning in the second round and was to meet the winner of the Lee-Monterey game in the finals (if they beat Cooper).

Monterey has good balance. Three lads—Hamby, Edgar and Reeves—were in twin figures with 16, 14 and 11 points, respectively. Brown and Crear were high point men for Plainview with 13 and 11 points, respectively.

Cooper has an outstanding individual, Bradford, who roped 21 points. Morton led Coronado with only 10 points.

Lee has two sharpshooters, Denny and Blake, each of whom roped 22 points, while Lubbock was led by Berry, who also pitched in 22 points. Stearnes contributed 14 and Garcia added 12 for Lubbock.

Regains World Cup Golf Lead

BANGKOK (AP) — The United States regained the lead in the 23rd World Cup Golf Championship Saturday after Johnny Miller and Lou Graham shot matching two-under-par 70s for a three-round total of 416.

Taiwan, despite a four-under-par 68 by Hsieh Min-Nan, slipped to second place, one stroke behind the United States after sharing top honors overnight.

Australia, sparked by the day's low score of six-under-par 66 by Bob Shearer, surged into third position at 418.

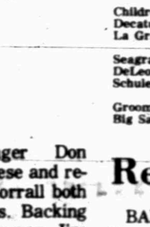

Taiwan and Argentina shared the fourth spot at 422.

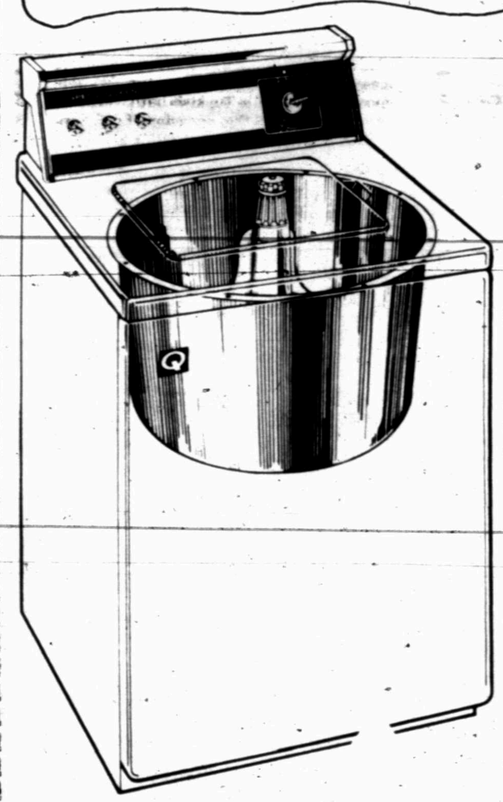

Ben Arda of the Philippines fired a three-under-par 69 Saturday but surrendered his solitary lead and settled for a tie for top spot with Taiwan's Hsieh Min-Nan at 204. Miller carded a 207 to retain third position—one stroke ahead

Willie Horton of the Detroit Tigers led American League designated hitters in 1975 with 25 home runs

Every new Allegro speaker has an opening on the front, called a tuned port. The tuned port works in conjunction with the woofer to reinforce and extend low bass response.
The result is amazing. A rich, resonant sounding bass that you've got to hear!

FM/AM/Stereo FM tuner with Digilite
New Digilite helps eliminate tuning confusion by automatically selecting the correct tuning scale. When you select the FM band, only the FM tuning scale lights up, when you select the AM band, only the AM tuning scale lights up.

Micro-Touch® 2G tone arm
Exerts a mere 2 grams of pressure. Won't damage your fine records if you accidentally drop or slide it. Diamond stylus for stereo and LP discs; 3-mil manufactured sapphire tip for 78 rpm discs.

A Little About One Or Two Hundred Things

By JEAN EVERETT

Why do I remember my social studies class of 1939? It may be because Mrs. Saunders was such a good teacher; then, again, it may be that the events of those years were of such drama and consequence as to impress even to a young student. The radio newscasts and the newspapers were full of aggression accounts of the German War Machine, so naturally our "current events" class was exciting. The printed maps became obsolete overnight; therefore one project of the class was to make an European map, and keep it up-to-date. That kept us busy. Each day, it seemed, as we came to class, another country had been overrun by Hitler's Army, and our first assignment was to change the map. Methodically we would draw red lines across the territory the Nazi had captured. We studied the war battles every day, yet we felt safe—they were a continent and an ocean away. Occasionally a chill of fear may have caused us to shudder as we sympathized with the victims, but I think that mostly we were just grateful that it was not happening in the United States.

The attitude of the American adult during those years was not much different, just stronger. History records that the spirit of isolationism prevailed in America, although not without reason. Memories of World War I were still fresh amid a weary people whose energy was spent digging out of the wreckage of a depression. Little wonder that we wanted no part of Europe's conflict. Even after the dictators Mussolini and Hitler were joined by Japanese warlords, Americans were hesitant to offer anything but sympathy to sufferers of Axis invasions.

Although President Roosevelt made attempt after attempt to prepare Americans for the unavoidable war, time and time again calling for concerted efforts to restrain the dangerous Powers, alarmed citizens voiced their disapproval of U.S. intervention. But the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor awakened the American public and aroused our anger.

PEARL HARBOR, Dec. 7, 1941—how many million words have been written about that infamous day and the treachery of the sneak attack? How many lives were lost? How many hearts broken because of those lost lives? The facts and statistics can be found in almost any history book, any library, any school textbook. And hearts do mend and a new generation comes along with a different viewpoint. Still, lives were changed, and, a nation today lives in that change. But, those involved, do they still remember after 34 years?

Yours truly does! Like many others, I can at will pick that event, as it related to me, out of my memory file and re-run it; in color, with feelings and sound.

"I just can't get the Christmas spirit this year," Mother had been saying for two weeks. Usually, she began bubbling with good cheer and activity of the Christmas season the day after Thanksgiving, but 1941 was different and she bewailed her lack of enthusiasm. Perhaps, she had some strange premonition of impending disaster. I don't know, and I doubt that she did. Nevertheless, on that particular Sunday, she had decided that after church and Sunday school, "we just must get a tree and put it up". After a hurried lunch, we drove north of town to where the mesquite trees gave room for cedars to grow. The afternoon was one of those beautiful West Texas December days, clear and cold, but not too cold. Trekking across the pasture, my brother and I played while Mother and Dad looked for the right tree to chop down. It had to suit Mother's aesthetic eye, but it also had to fit into the trunk of our little blue Studebaker.

Back at the house, we turned the radio on for our favorite Sunday afternoon program. What we heard sobered us. The trimming of a Christmas tree was completely forgotten as we gathered around the radio to catch every word and soak in the meaning. I remember my exact thoughts, childlike though they were: "I'll never live to see the end of the war. Why it may last 10 or 15 years."

Mrs. Roy Bonner (Dorothy) recalls that she was living northeast of Hermleigh at the time. Their house was across a field from the G.B. Williams family. As the family came home, they had to pass the Williams house. "Ruby came out to stop us and tell us about the attack on Pearl Harbor. I guess I felt like everybody else. I thought it was terrible," Dorothy comments.

★ ★ ★

Harold and Lois Bennett enjoyed a Sunday afternoon movie at a Colorado City theater and did not get the news until they got home. Harold's first thoughts were: "Gotto go". And he did! He enlisted in the Navy on January 20, 1942, and served until Sept., 1945. He and Lois had been married just five years at the time.

★ ★ ★

John and Fern Portis remember the day well. Fern says: "John had just returned home from a year's service in the National Guard. He got a telegram to report to Brownwood immediately for active duty. We were pretty disheartened; we knew what we were in for." John's unit, Company G of 142- 36th Division had been mobolized for a year and having served that time, John had been out only one month when he had to return to duty.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. E.M. Ashley of Rt. 3 Snyder says: "I remember thinking how terrible to be left with a small daughter to raise. I was such a coward; I was afraid I would have to be alone at night, I assumed that my husband would be called the very next day for Army service." Marsh and Lillian were living east of Dunn at the time, and he was exempted because of his farming status.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Z.W. (Janelda) Davis recalls how scared she was. She comments; "I didn't want to go outside. I wanted all of the family together in one room. My older brother, Ray, was 16 years old and I remember Mother and Dad talked in hushed sentences. I expected to be sent to prison before morning. The thoughts of going to school next day made my physically ill."

★ ★ ★

Jay and Patsy Huckabee were living at Kingsville, where Jay was already involved with national defense. He was in the Civil Service with the Federal Communication Commission. His job consisted mainly of radio monitering of European Foreign Intelligence. "We recorded the transmissions and teletyped them to Washington for decoding," Jay explained. Of course, with the news of the attack on Pearl Harbor, there was much traffic over the teletype and the monitering systems. Jay was so busy at his station when he went on duty at 4 o'clock, that he hardly had time to look up. Before he went off his shift at midnight, he whirled around in his chair and came face to face with three officers, in full battle dress. "I thought the enemy had already gotten me," Jay chuckled as he recalled his shock at anyone being in the room. It happened that the soldiers had been sent up from Fort Brown at Brownsville, to guard the installation at Kingsville.
