LOS ANGELES AREA COMMUNITY THREATENED

West Coast Brush Fires Send Hundreds Fleeing

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two disastrous fires threatened today to join and burn oceanward on a 10-mile front that officials said would threaten a whole new community — fashionable Pacific Palisades.

The major multimillion-dollar blaze—the worst in Southern California history—already had destroyed more than 250 costly homes including those of such film stars as Burt Lancaster, Joe E. Brown and Zsa Zsa Gabor. Ex-Vice President Richard M. Nixon was among those who fled the flames Monday.

This fire sprawled out of control today like an ugly, flaming crown in the Hollywood hills-Santa Monica Mountains range above swank Bel-Air and Brentwood.

SECOND FIRE

Eating through Topanga Canyon's explosively dry brush during the night, a companion fire that also broke out Monday moved to within slightly more than a mile of the Bel-Air fire.

By dawn the two fires, separated only by steep-sloped Rustic Canyon, had each raged over 4,000 acres. There are fewer homes in the Topanga area and they are less expensive. By dawn nine homes in Topanga had been destroyed.

Officials said the fires probably will join, forming a 10-mile flaming front. If they continue burning southward, all of heavily populated Pacific Palisades, near the ocean, would be in danger, the officials said. The two fires already were only three or four miles from that community.

"We are making full preparations for the worst," said County Fire Chief Keith Klinger.

BOMBERS OUT

Men and equipment in large numbers moved into the southern end of the Topanga Canyon holocaust. Twenty-four bombers, 12 for each fire, were loaded for daylight bombing of the flames with a fire-retarding borate solution.

Minor injuries to 10 firemen in the Bel-Air fire were reported.

More than 2,000 persons had been evacuated from one of the nation's richest residential areas. Residents leaving the area with armloads of possessions, leading horses, pets and children, suggested refugees fleeing from war.

Wild animals scrambled along Beverly Glen Boulevard. Flames had ravaged their native haunts.

Magnates, movie stars, school children and housewives fled from homes and classrooms to escape the blaze Monday. Fire officials called it the most damaging in Southern California history.

WORST HE'S SEEN

Nixon, whose rented home escaped the flames, said: "I have seen trouble all over the world, but nothing like this."

Some of the movie stars' homes reportedly cost more than $100,000.

The main fire is in rugged, mountainous terrain extending westward to the sea and dividing the San Fernando Valley from Los Angeles and its western suburbs. The sprawling blaze is roughly 10 miles northwest of downtown Los Angeles and three miles northwest of Beverly Hills. Brentwood, Bel-Air and the Hollywood hills are suburban communities.

The spokesman said the total value of ruined or damaged real estate alone could exceed 15 million—not including priceless art works, lavish furnishings, furs, jewelry and hillside watershed, a vital defense against springtime floods.

WORST PREVIOUS

The worst previous fire in Southern California burned about 40,000 acres and destroyed 67 homes in nearby Malibu in 1956.

Homes damaged or temporarily threatened included those of Cary Grant, Red Skelton, Kim Novak, Maureen O'Hara, Fred MacMurray, Alfred Hitchcock, Ginger Rogers, Marlon Brando, Robert Stack, Steve Cochran, Bobby Darin, Greer Garson, Jascha Heifetz, Peggy Lee, Meredith Willson, Maxene and Laverne Andrews and Cliff Robertson.

Nixon was working on his forthcoming book, "Six Crises," in his rented Brentwood home when he and research assistant Al Moscow noticed flames a few hundred yards away. Nixon, hose in hand, clambered up the roof and watered the shingles. Firemen ordered him, Moscow and a house man to leave. They took his manuscript.

"CHECKERS" IS SAVED

They returned later to recover personal effects and rescue Nixon's cocker spaniel Checkers, who figured prominently in his 1952 vice presidential campaign. The house, leased from producer Walter Lang, was saved. The Nixon family spent the night at a downtown hotel.

Flames licked the garage near the entrance of Red Skelton's five-acre, half-million-dollar estate. Firemen pumped water from the comedian's swimming pool and saved the home. Skelton and wife Georgia were en route home from Boston. His daughter Valentina, 13, and the household staff were evacuated.

The $400,000 home of Zsa Zsa Gabor, loaded with paintings, jewelry and furs, was a smoking ruin.

All that was left of Burt Lancaster's hillside home were two smoking chimneys, a water-soaked baseball diamond, a burnt exercise-bicycle and barbells.

PROPERTY SAVED

Kim Novak, clad in a leotard and flimsy blouse, rushed home from a movie studio, climbed the roof of her Bel-Air home, worth an estimated $200,000, and sprayed a hose about the property, which was saved. The beauteous blonde actress, her face besmirched with soot, her blouse soaked, emerged unhurt with her fiancee, director Richard Quine, who ripped his trousers.

Joe E. Brown lamented to newsmen: "Everything went—just as quick as that."

"I can't talk to you right now," said Marlon Brando, reached by phone as he scurried about his Japanese-style house atop Mulholland Drive. "I'm kinda busy." His home was left intact.

Art collector James Vigeveno fled from his suite in the Bel-Air Hotel with an autoload of 40 paintings, including works of Modigliani, Utrillo and Picasso.

The Bel-Air Hotel evacuated 100 guests—including producer Otto Preminger, playwright Gore Vidal and Broadway musical producer Morton Da Costa.

A few miles away, in sparsely settled Topanga Canyon and unpopulated Santa Ynez Canyon, a brush fire destroyed nine homes and scorched about 2,000 acres.

Wind-whipped flames roared through steep canyons, exploding at times into the dreaded "fire storm," which occur when flames get so hot they generate their own winds, up to 100 m.p.h. or more, and devour everything in their path.

Daughter Of B'Springers Fears Her Home Is Lost

Mrs. Delmar Bunn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Bennett, telephoned her parents here Monday that she was fearful the Bunn home had gone up in flames.

Mrs. Bunn was at her teaching post in Santa Monica when the fire raged out of control in the Bel-Air area and roared up the canyon where their home is located. A daughter, Martha Kay, had just returned home from the hospital when word came to evacuate. She and the other Bunn child left immediately with a neighbor.

Bunn, a student in UCLA, was helping fight the fire and hoped to be able to get into the area and ascertain whether their home had been destroyed. Reports from the area told of destruction all around. Several places near their home were in ashes, said Mrs. Bunn. The vast brush fire had generated such an intense heat, she said, that it was also creating its own draft and thus thwarting efforts to contain it.

NEWS BRIEFS

By The Associated Press

Gale winds of tropical storm Inga began lashing the southeast Mexican coast Tuesday.

Highest winds in Inga are about 60 miles per hour, compared with gusts of about 200 m.p.h. in hurricane Hattie which devastated Honduras last week.

Midland Man Is Shot To Death

MIDLAND (AP) — An autopsy report was expected today in the death of Rufus Gray, 61, who died Monday after he was shot in the shoulder by a .22 pistol slug.

Mrs. Gray told officers her husband staggered outside their house and collapsed on the front porch after the pistol accidentally discharged.

U. S. Political Pulse-Takers Watch Important Ballots

Voting Slowed By Light Rains

By The Associated Press

Light rain slowed voting in the early hours of today's elections in New Jersey and New York, where the top prizes were sought in scattered testing for the 1962 and 1964 national elections.

Voting also was reported light in the first hours in Pennsylvania, despite generally favorable weather.

Comparatively little national interest was shown in other contests for state and municipal offices in a handful of states.

The nation's political pulse-takers were intently watching the voters for any symptoms that could linger until the national elections in 1962 and 1964.

Of particular interest was the governor's race in New Jersey, whose unpredictable voters have skipped back and forth between both major parties for the past decade. Here an Eisenhower Republican, James P. Mitchell, was matched against Democrat Richard J. Hughes who carries the approval of the New Frontier. New Jersey was narrowly counted for Kennedy in last year's presidental election.

In New York City's mayoral race, much of the attention is focused on the bitter feud within the Democratic party. Republicans—who often provide little more than token opposition—hope their candidate, Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz, can make a strong showing against Democratic Mayor Robert F. Wagner, who is trying for a third term.

TRADITION

Virginia voters are expected to follow tradition and elect a Democratic governor. Dozens of other cities across the nation are electing mayors, and Michigan's Wayne County (Detroit) is electing a U.S. representative. Scores of state legislature seats are at stake in New Jersey, Virginia and Kentucky.

In the contest for mayor of New York, Wagner, who broke with Tammany Hall, has President Kennedy's endorsement. The party's state chairman, Michael H. Prendergast, withheld his support, giving it instead to City Comptroller Lawrence E. Gerosa, a Democrat running as an independent.

Wagner is heavily favored. The weather outlook is cloudy with chance of showers. Voting hours are 6 a.m. to 7 p.m. There are 3,506,913 eligible voters. More than two million are expected to vote.

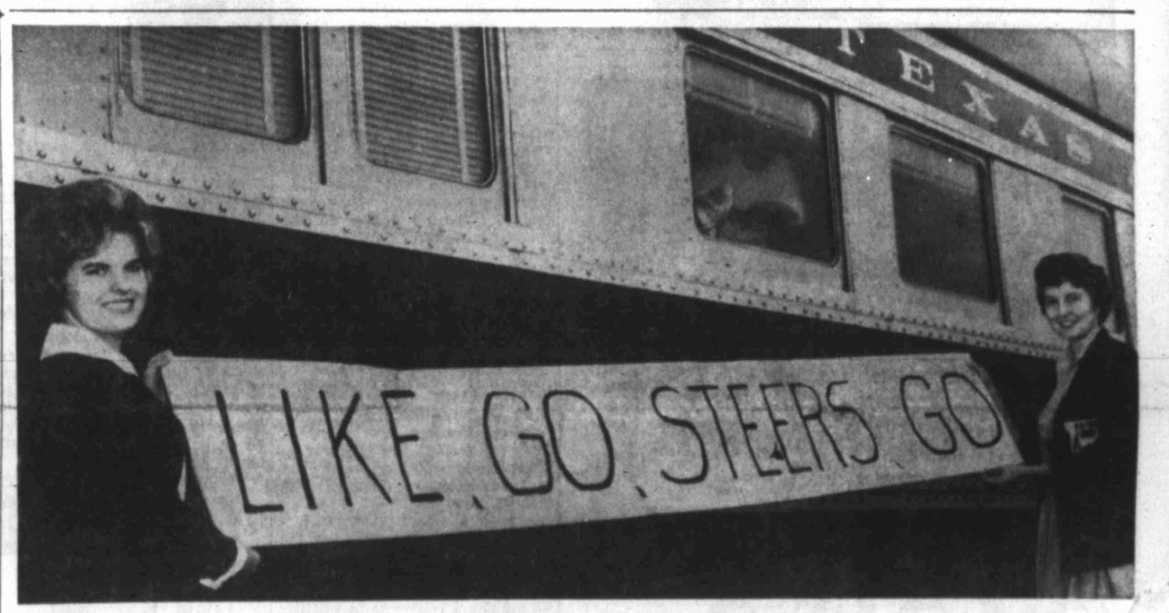

PHOTO FINISH

The office was open to them by a New Jersey law that prohibits a governor from serving three consecutive terms. Gov. Robert B. Meyner, a Democrat, has held office for eight years.

The New Jersey polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. The weather forecast: cloudy and cool with chance of showers. A vote of 2.25 million, out of a registration of 3,023,384, is expected.

The New Jersey campaign—fought long and hard from one end of the state to the other—ended on a low key, due to the death of Hughes' 85-year-old father on Sunday. Both candidates canceled scheduled eleventh-hour appearances.

Hey, Hey—All Ready To Go

Karen Kee, left, a cheer leader, and Katherine Hepner, president of the Big Spring Pep Squad, display a banner to show the head of spirit building up for the football special to Abilene Friday. Several hundred fans are expected to join in the fun and excitement of the special to back the Steers against an ancient rival, the Abilene Eagles. Tickets ($3.75 per person) may be had at the Herald, Chamber of Commerce, school business office, or Senior High School.

Pardons Board Considers Plea

AUSTIN (AP)—The State Board of Pardons and Paroles considered a request today for commutation of sentence of convicted killer Fred Thomas Leath, 41.

Leath is scheduled to die Thursday for the 1960 slaying of 15-year-old Charles Henry in Fort Worth.

Three men appeared at a hearing Monday to request the change of sentence. They were: Grand Prairie attorney Robert C. Benavides, The Rev. G. Ray Worley, Fort Worth; and Lloyd Leath, Fort Worth, brother of the condemned man.

Benavides presented a letter signed by Tarrant Asst. Dist. Atty. Spencer Shropshire who participated in Leath's trials. The letter recommended the death sentence be commuted to life imprisonment.

Enthusiasm Building Up For Special Football Train

Enthusiasm was building up Tuesday for the football special train to Abilene, and students and fans were urged to secure their tickets as soon as possible.

Members of the Big Spring High School pep squad favored paying the difference between their conventional transportation and the train ticket in order to ride the train which leaves at 4:15 p.m. Friday for the Big Spring-Abilene game.

Meanwhile, more than four score others had bought tickets on the special, and the big push was not expected to get under way until this afternoon or Wednesday.

The fare is $3.75 per person, and tickets are available at the school business office (where football tickets are on sale also), at Big Spring Senior High School, at the Herald and the Chamber of Commerce office.

No deadline has yet been fixed on the ticket sales, but if the number riding the special exceeds 300, then it will be necessary to advise the Texas & Pacific Railway Company a couple of days in advance in order to have enough equipment on hand.

The Quarterback Club will make plans at its 7:30 p.m. meeting in the high school cafeteria today to serve as sponsors on the train. Band Boosters met last night to arrange for sandwiches and cold drinks to be offered en route and thus solve the meal problem for many of the fans riding the train. Abilene school authorities, in a neighborly fashion, have promised school buses to meet the train and ferry passengers to and from the stadium.

Gillihan Elected To Secretary's Post

Rayford Gillihan, Big Spring, was elected secretary of the Texas Independent Automobile Dealers Association at its 17th annual convention in Fort Worth Monday.

J. O. Woodard, Dallas, was elected president, Cliff Magers, Fort Worth, Ed Fertsch, Lubbock and George Swain, San Antonio, vice presidents, and Lewis Byars, Fort Worth, treasurer.

Gillihan operates the Rayford Gillihan Used Car business in Big Spring.

Robertson Becomes Regent

AUSTIN (AP)—French Robertson of Abilene has given up the chairmanship of the State Hospital Board to fulfill a long-time wish and become a regent of the University of Texas.

"Maybe I'm jumping from the frying pan into the fire," he quipped at his last meeting with the hospital board Monday, just before he was sworn in as a member of the board of regents. The board will review the university's racial desegregation record Friday.

United Fund Surpasses $100,000

The 1961 United Fund Drive has surpassed $100,000 in donations, something which no previous local UF Campaign has done, according to Angy Glenn, manager.

Gifts shortly before noon today totaled $100,735.05, an increase of $1,162.21 over Monday. The goal is $105,000.

"Reports are beginning to slow down, even though Monday was a definite improvement over the weekend," Glenn said.

Marvin Miller, campaign chairman, said the division leaders would contact their workers in an effort to close out this year's drive Friday.

Big gifts has already exceeded its goal showing a total of $40,413.75 and the special gifts division is only $326 away from its projected goal of $10,000.

The only other division to exceed its alloted share of the 1961 campaign is the out-of-town division, which tripled last year's contribution with $4,613.50.

Other divisions and their totals are metropolitan $5,117.45, employes $23,033.22, public employes $17,298.71, and area $576.02.

More gifts are expected to arrive from the area communities as their drives are completed. Many of them were begun within the past two weeks.

The response to letters mailed out to persons who were not contacted by workers has been disappointing, Glenn said. A few have come in, and other persons have sent in contributions or pledges on their own initiative. He urged everyone to support the United Fund workers in their effort to put this year's campaign over the top.

Creeping Upward

The needle on the big United Fund clock was still creeping upward today as the campaign crossed the $100,000 mark. Mrs. Carol Chiavetta, one of the workers at UF headquarters, moved the hand over to the new total. When the drive reaches the top, the giant sign will blow apart, signifying breaking the quota.

CAA To Begin Investigation Of Fatal Area Airplane Crash

GARDEN CITY — Civil Aeronautics Authority representatives are expected to begin an investigation today in the crash of a private plane Monday afternoon which took the life of a Dallas salesman.

Killed in the crash was Raymond Frank Reiter, 59, Irving, an employe of the Southwest Airmotive Distribution division.

He was killed instantly when his Cessna 175, a single-engine airplane, crashed while attempting to land on the E. P. Driver ranch, 21 miles west of Garden City.

Buster Cox, sheriff of Glasscock County, who with Zack Reed, highway patrolman from Midland, investigated the accident, said that the mishap occurred around 1:20 p.m.

The plane was sighted circling over level land about a mile from the Driver ranch house. W. A. Floweree, a pumper for the Ashland Oil & Refining Co., employed near the scene, saw the tragedy.

He told Cox that the plane appeared to be operating satisfactorily and that it seemed the pilot was trying to land. The plane came in low, he said, "about as high as the top of the powerline poles."

"Suddenly the plane nosed down and the left wing dropped," Cox said Floweree told him. The plane nosed into the ground and began cartwheeling end over end. It was going north as it struck and continued northward for 200 yards before it broke in two and came to a stop.

Reiter's body was thrown clear of the wreckage and when Floweree reached the scene, it was 15 feet or so to one side of the wreck debris. The engine was hurled 50 yards farther north.

Floweree was only a hundred yards from the place where the plane struck, in the Spraberry Trend Oil field country.

The pumper said he could feel no pulse and that it was evident the pilot was dead.

Floweree, a pilot during World War II, said that he was sure the plane was not in any difficulty mechanically and that it was the pilot who appeared to be distress.

Reiter was reported flying from Dallas to Midland. His regular run took him from Dallas to Austin, San Angelo, Midland and back to Dallas.

Reiter had 500 hours of flying time credit. He is married and is survived by his widow and a teenage son in Irving. He had been employed by the Southwest Airmotive about a year.

Venire Prepared For Murder Trial

WAXAHACHIE (AP) — Summonses for a special venire of 225 persons, the largest in Ellis County in 5 years, have been prepared for the trial for murder of Dennis Woodbury.

Woodbury is charged in the slaying last November of Tyler druggist W. S. Carpenter, 43.

Miss Joan Brock, 28, Carpenter's companion on the night of the robbery-slaying, is serving a life sentence for her part in the killing.

Slain

Police pressed the search for the slayer of Mrs. Elizabeth Neate, attractive mother of three children, whose body was found near her home at Glenolden, Pa., a Philadelphia suburb. She had been shot through the head. Police said the 29-year-old red-haired woman was found 13 hours after she left home to keep a dental appointment.

Red Ex-Bigwig Rebuffed At Parade

MOSCOW (AP)—Former President Klementi Y. Voroshilov was rebuffed today when he tried to force himself onto the Lenin mausoleum reviewing stand for the parade celebrating the 44th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution.

The 80-year-old marshal, who has been among those taking the salute from atop the tomb every year since the parades began, was denounced at the recent 22nd congress of the Soviet Communist party as a Stalinist.

He apologized for his sins and Premier Khrushchev said he forgave him. But forgiveness did not get him his former place of honor overlooking Red Square.

Dressed in a black overcoat and a black astrakhan hat, Voroshilov moved slowly through the square just before the parade began. An officer in the elaborate blue and gold uniform of the Moscow garrison barred his way near the entrance to the tomb. The marshal argued and gesticulated broadly. The officer just kept shrugging his shoulders.

Eventually the old marshal, a former army commander, was allowed to enter the tomb. There he argued again with men in civilian clothes.

After a few minutes he was escorted out by two men in dark blue overcoats and green plush hats, the usual uniform of the secret police.

Voroshilov was taken to a spot near the tomb where a middle-aged woman in a white uniform was selling ice cream. One of the green-hatted men stayed with him as he watched the parade from there.

As soon as Voroshilov was disposed of, Khrushchev and the other members of the Presidium mounted to the top of the tomb to take the salute.

Khrushchev was bare-headed. The others kept their hats on.

The Soviet defense minister, Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky, made the keynote speech in which he boasted as usual that the Soviet Union now has weapons "powerful enough to smash any aggressor."

Lady Bird Returns An Overdue Book

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson has returned a library book she borrowed in 1955.

The book, "Elizabeth the Queen," by Marion Crawford, turned up when the vice president's wife was unpacking at the new Johnson home in Washington. It was marked due Jan. 3, 1955, at the Austin High School library.

Mrs. Johnson mailed the book to the school with a note.

"In moving I've found all sorts of things thought long lost," she wrote, "and, in the case of the enclosed long overdue book, something I don't know how I came to have.

"Thank goodness all book borrowers aren't such slow readers."

Great-Grandmother At Work

Mrs. Adah Whitcomb, who'll be 70 this month, goes up on the roof of her three-story nursing home in Rochester, N.Y., to fix the chimney and slate shingles as she has done four times this year. She also put two coats of paint on her double garage, mixed 900 pounds of cement and floored a fruit cellar, built a back porch and mows the lawn regularly. She has "five or six great-grandchildren."

Hard-Luck Constellation Suffers Fire, 4 Men Die

WASHINGTON (AP) — Flames flashed through the machinery room of the hard-luck U.S.S. Constellation, taking the lives of four men and injuring nine others as the sleek new aircraft carrier cruised on its trial run.

The Navy said the ship—hit by a major blaze in drydock that killed 50 men last December—suffered only minor damage in Monday's fire. The blaze broke ou. when fuel oil apparently was accidentally sprayed onto a hot steam line.

The Constellation, newest and largest of the Navy's carriers, was due to arrive in New York tonight after its cruise off the southeastern U.S. coast.

The dead were identified as:

All the injured were Navy enlisted men, none in critical condition.

Steinbuch survived the Dec. 19 fire which delayed completion of the 77,000-ton carrier seven months and tacked an estimated $47 million onto the original $275 million cost.

Monday's fire was under control within 10 minutes, Capt. Thomas J. Walker of Edgartown, Mass., commanding officer, said in a statement released by the Pentagon.

The Navy said "the apparent cause of the fire was the failure of a fuel oil service pump release valve which permitted a flange to separate spraying fuel oil on a 1100 degree (Fahrenheit) steam line."

Israel Rejects Refugee Return

JERUSALEM, Israeli Section (AP)—Israel's Parliament again rejected Monday any return of Arab refugees of the 1948 war as impracticable and as equivalent to readmission of potential fifth column.

Almost all parliamentary factions expressed support for the declared government opposition to any suggestions that the refugees—now about a million strong—be given a choice as to whether to return to Israel or be compensated for lost property. They advocated that the refugees settle in Arab states.

Reunion A Myth? Not In Germany

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

BONN, Germany (AP)—Is the idea of a reunified Germany just a myth?

Some in the West say it is—that the Soviet Union backs Communist rule in East Germany and never will surrender it voluntarily. Then, the reasoning goes, why not admit that East Germany exists as a separate state, and get on with negotiations on other issues?

West German leaders are being told to be realistic, to use common sense, to recognize the futility of a policy of German reunification.

It's not as easy as it sounds. Abandonment of reunification as a goal could involve serious risks for the West.

KREMLIN ACTS

The Kremlin, listening to the debate, seems to be acting accordingly. Soviet thrusts and propaganda zero in on West Germany as "the main threat to peace."

The Kremlin makes it plain it seeks, as one objective on the road to dominating Europe, the neutralization of West Germany. It wants West Germany out of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. It wants to divert the economically powerful nation from a development the Communists fear: a trend toward West European economic and political integration.

Some in the West contend nobody on either side, including the Germans, really wants unification. In Germany, one gets some sobering thoughts on that score.

West Germans seem convinced Moscow wants reunification of Germany—but as a "peace-loving democratic state." Everyone knows what Moscow means—communism for all Germany.

NO DIFFERENCE

West Germans trade with East Germany, deal with East Germans with regard to use of land routes to the east. But they argue that this makes no difference, that it is still all Germany, that they do not recognize the existence of another German state. For a man in office or seeking office, it is considered an invitation to political disaster to renounce the unification goal publicly.

"What would be your feeling," a West German asks an American, "if there were an Iron Curtain along the Mississippi and you were asked to regard it as permanent?"

Responsible Germans express fear that public abandonment of the unification goal would spur a resurgence of extreme nationalism. Even if the movement did not get within hailing distance of power, it could menace the West German government and the Western alliance.

FATALISM

Some say abandonment of unity as a goal would arouse fatalism among sections of the big middle class, where one finds mutterings about Germany going its own way—and a curse on both houses, Communist and West.

From a practical standpoint, unity seems unattainable short of war. The West does not want to go to war about it. But the West committed itself to the policy in the Paris treaties of October, 1954, which paved the way for Germany's entry into NATO and the Western European Union. West Germany promised to shun force to secure unification. The allies promised to reject permanent division of Germany and Berlin.

As chancellor, flinty, 85-year-old Konrad Adenauer laid down a basic policy seeking self-determination for East Germany and Berlin. West Germany's force within NATO eventually is to consist of 350,000 men. About three quarters of this force is in being now, but only about 150,000 men thus far are fully trained. West Germany is the only NATO member with no national force of its own. All its forces either are in NATO or ready to be assigned to it.

DETERMINED

Adenauer, apparently convinced he has a historic mission to hold back anti-Christian hordes from the East, seems determined to keep in his own hands the shape of West German foreign policy. He displays eagerness to bring about the common front so much desired of the West by Washington.

Adenauer's defense minister, Dr. Franz-Josef Strauss, is an implacable anti-Communist who stands for military and psychological preparation within NATO to meet Soviet threats. He and Eric Mende, the handsome former army major who heads the Free Democrat party, are sometimes regarded as voices of nationalism in Germany. Mende says he would never be a partner to a Berlin or German settlement recognizing permanent division.

Both men appeal to the big and prosperous middle class, which would be most subject to disillusionment with the Western alliance should the belief grow that the ideal of reunification had been abandoned as hopeless. A move toward neutralism among this powerful class could not be ruled out.

Dallas Cousins Face Rape Charge

DALLAS (AP) — Two cousins were charged with rape here Monday after an alleged attack on a woman they picked up in a South Dallas bar.

Charged were Albert Thompson, 33, of Paris, Tex., and Earl Ralph Smith, 29, of Dallas.

The woman told police she accepted a ride with the pair on their promise to take her to her Oak Cliff home. Instead, she said, they drove southward on U.S. 75 and raped her.

Thompson confirmed that Smith and the woman struggled in the automobile. She said Smith struck her several times as she begged to be taken home.

LOW BACK PAINS

By HALVARD T. HANSEN, D.C.

Backache is perhaps the oldest and is still today one of the most common complaints for which the patient consults his doctor.

We find the average patient is quite convinced their "nagging backache" is due to some disorder of the pelvic organs — or at least kidney trouble. It is usually neither. Yet, it is difficult to convince them. They usually come to the chiropractor after laboratory tests and exploratory X-ray examinations fail to reveal a pelvic or kidney lesion.

Constipation is frequently suspected. However, regularity usually returns when correction is made in the spine.

Neuralgic pains are common in bad weather. They shift around from one place to another and are often mistaken for arthritis. These too, will generally vanish when pressure is removed from hot, irritated nerves in the spine.

Hip joint dis-ease concentrates in one or both hip joints. This causes stiffness of the leg and a limp. Many times this condition can be relieved by removing nerve interference in the spine with NO painful manipulations of the inflamed joint.

Low back pains at waist level or lower usually are the result of injury to the popular "sacro-illiac joints" — so are those miserable sciatic pains. These joints must be restored to proper alignment for permanent relief. Operations are generally unnecessary. We have corrected hundreds of these conditions.

It took years of suffering to convince this Big Spring businessman to try our method of the healing arts. He came at the insistence of his daughter, whom we had helped earlier. Yet, when he was discharged, he stated, "Dr. Hansen, I'll be forever grateful for what you and chiropractic have done for me. I thought nothing could help me and this pain and suffering would go with me to the grave, yet now it is gone. I am able to do twice as much work as before and have doubled my income." This man suffered from constipation, indigestion and nervousness as well as the constant pain of the back and BOTH legs, for many, many years. We found the cause of his trouble deep in his nervous system and X-rays enabled us to make the necessary correction and his backache, leg pains and other symptoms faded away. Periodic check-ups keep him feeling tip-top. No. B-485.

22 State Laws Effective Today

AUSTIN (AP)—Twenty two new state laws became effective today, including controversial measures restricting weekend sales of some items and collecting certain abandoned property for the state.

Most of the new statutes are local or special interest laws.

The two which aroused the most controversy are the new blue law and escheat law.

The blue law names about 42 articles which merchants may not sell on either Saturday or Sunday —they have the choice of which days. The author, Sen. Bill Moore of Bryan, said the law is aimed at discount houses, which sell the listed articles.

The attorney general already has set up an escheat division within his department to enforce the new abandoned property law. The law provides machinery for collecting some unclaimed property for use by the state. It does not include abandoned bank accounts.

FAITH AND BAPTISM

By T. H. Tarbet, preacher, Church of Christ, 3900 West Highway 80 P.O. Box 1283.

Verses 26 and 27 of Galations 3, taken together, show that baptism is faith, and we are saved by faith because of our baptism.

"For ye are all the children of God by faith in Christ Jesus. For as many of you as have been baptized into Christ have put on Christ." What could be plainer?

Faith and baptism go together.

Baptism is not a work of man's righteousness. Yet many preachers talk as if the Bible somewhere said it is. Let them tell us where the Scripture is.

There is no power in the water; no merit in being baptized. The sinner is baptized because he believes in Christ enough to do whatever Christ commands him. In being immersed, he looks away from the water to the Christ who promised that, "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved." (Mark 16:16.) Claiming this precious promise, he gives Christ the glory; for he has not attempted to earn salvation; he has trusted Christ and His promise.

Cancer Advice

Dr. Sidney Farber, professor of Harvard Medical School and Director of Research at the Children's Cancer Research Foundation in Boston, urged more widespread use of new chemicals in treatment of cancer patients. He told a conference of 1,000 cancer specialists in Washington, D.C., that while final control of cancer is still in the future, achievements of great importance have been made in the treatment of the disease by chemicals.

Blind Girl Marches With School Band

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The girl marches briskly with the band down the football field, guided by two bells and the ringing courage of her heart.

The blazing floodlights never bring squints to Leah Russell's blue eyes; the floodlights are black to her.

"I have only one terrible fear," said Leah, 16, blind since birth. "I'm scared that sometime I may not hear the sound of the bell-players and I'll go marching off by myself—all alone, in the wrong direction. I would be so ashamed."

Almost three years ago Leah began studying the piccolo, painstakingly putting the music into Braille. Last year her Southwest Miami High band director, Marvin Mockabee, welcomed her into his 64-member unit.

"As a sitting member only," said Mockabee, "she practiced with us, played in concerts, but I was afraid to try her out as a marcher."

But Leah felt lonely sitting out the football game marches and finally pleaded to be taught to march. It was trying and often frightening for Leah.

"But her patience and determination almost brought tears to our eyes," Mockabee said.

The "left flank" and "right flank" movements gave Leah trouble. Then Mockabee hit upon the bell-player guides.

As the band struts down the field two husky bell-players pound their big shiny instruments with Leah marching between them.

With the radar-like hearing of the blind, Leah maintains a straight line of march—the sound of the bells measuring distance for her.

"When the bells stop momentarily, you can see her hesitate," said the band director. "But then the boys whisper, 'Leah, we're coming to the left flank. Or a right flank. Get ready.'"

Working alone in her world of darkness, Leah earns a near straight-A average. She does her homework in Braille.

Someday, she said, "I will become a teacher and perhaps help other boys and girls to march in the dark."

Asthma Formula Prescribed Most By Doctors—Available Now Without Prescription

Stops Attacks in Minutes . . . Relief Lasts for Hours!

New York, N. Y. (Special)—The asthma formula prescribed more than any other by doctors for their private patients is now available to asthma sufferers without prescription.

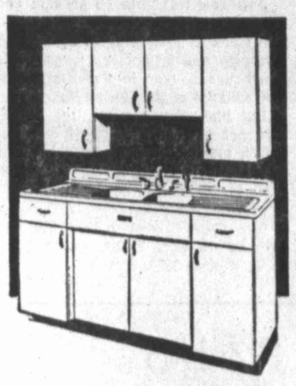

Medical tests proved this formula stops asthma attacks in minutes and gives hours of freedom from recurrence of painful asthma spasms.

This formula is so effective that it is the physician's leading asthma prescription—so safe when used as directed that now it can be sold—without prescription in most states—in tiny tablets called Primatene®. These Primatene Tablets open bronchial tubes, loosen congestion, relieve taut, nervous tension. All without painful injections.

The secret is—Primatene combines 3 medicines (in full prescription strength) found most effective in combination for asthma distress. Each performs a special purpose.

So look forward to sleep at night, and freedom from asthma spasms. Primatene—98¢, at any drugstore.

A Devotional for Today

"Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called sons of God." (Matthew 5:9, RSV.)

PRAYER: O God, author of true peace, teach me when to use my tongue and lips as instruments in building peace, and when to keep silent. Glorify Thyself, Lord, both in my speech and by my silence. For the Master's sake, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

Michigan Experiment Worth Watching

Among the virtues of the American federal system of government is the opportunity for the states to benefit from one another's mistakes and achievements.

This benefit has been limited in recent years in the matter of remodeling outmoded state constitutions. Only seven states have called constitutional conventions during the past 20 years, and most were handicapped by legislative restraints in the convention calls. Only New Jersey and Missouri are generally credited with substantial reforms. Hawaii and Alaska, as new states, also have modern constitutions.

Michigan's current ambitious experiment is another worth watching. The convention now in session is empowered to completely revise Michigan's 1908 constitution, and the legislature appropriated more than a million dollars in funds that could keep it going until next May.

Unfortunately, the partisan lineup in the convention, compounded by election of delegates from lopsided legislative districts and confused by factionalism, may thwart the Michigan effort to get a state constitution compatible with today's needs and problems. But even if the effort ends in failure, it should be instructive to other states.

The constitutional revision movement in Texas was hit a hard blow earlier this year by the Texas Legislative Council's research report that the present document is basically sound and can serve indefinitely if dead letters are erased and further patchwork done. That politically agreeable conclusion, however, is weakly supported by either fact or theory.

The Texas Constitution is not just overly long and excessively detailed for fundamental law. Many believe it is structurally unsound. The state government seriously needs a unified, stronger executive branch, better balance of powers among its three branches, thorough reorganization of the judicial branch, and comprehensive revision of state-local relations and county government. And that cannot be accomplished by a years-long series of single-shot amendments. The Michigan approach is the right one, whether its results prove exemplary or not.

Preserving The Ancient Treasures

It is heartening to be reminded in an age when so many old buildings and monuments are being demolished in the name of progress, that a movement is afoot to save the temple of Abu Simbel from the engulfing waters backed up by the Aswan high dam on the Nile River in Egypt. Part of the 75 million dollars required to move the temple above the new river level is being obtained by a showing of the treasures from the fabulous tomb of Tut-ankh-amen.

This tomb was discovered in the 1920s in the Valley of the Kings, ancient burying place of the Pharoahs. Some of its treasures which include a great variety of objects made from gold — amulets, collars, staffs formed liked winged snakes or hawks, vessels, even furniture—will be on display at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, and then will travel to 14 museums throughout the United States.

Many will recall the excitement when the tomb was first unearthed, near the tomb of Rameses the great. It was Rameses who built the temple of Abu Simbel, with its four seated 65-foot statues (of himself) carved out of living rock, and overlooking the Nile. He expected these statues to perpetuate his glory forever. If the project to save the temple is carried out, the four monoliths will continue to face the mighty lake which will be created by the new dam. And the treasures of Tut-ankh-amen will help to accomplish this feat.

The New Jersey Governorship

TRENTON, N. J.—As in almost every state in the Union, government here in New Jersey is running a race with bankruptcy. And yet two candidates for governor have been vying fiercely for the privilege of trying to find a way out of the dead end of urban decay and suburban sprawl, inadequate highways and bigger traffic jams, an explosion of school-age children and far too few classrooms.

THERE ARE many unique aspects of Jersey politics, including a tendency to swing dramatically from one party to another, and one of them is the fact that the election for governor comes when the rest of the country can read the New Jersey barometer and speculate on what it means for the years ahead. Even more than in past years the election just ahead promises to be a significant indicator for 1962 and '64.

What is happening here may be a reflection of the national trend and a mirror of profound changes in the party structure. The base from which the Democratic party has successfully operated over the past three decades—a combination of the city bosses and the rural-law material South and West—is under severe attack and the threat of dissolution.

THAT IS evident in New Jersey where the Republicans have put up, in James P. Mitchell, Secretary of Labor in the Eisenhower Cabinet, a strong candidate with a reform coloration. Mitchell has been running against the bossism of the bedroom counties of Hudson, Essex and Bergen where the vast mass of the commuters who pour across the river into New York City live. And the irony is that the pattern of that bossism has long since begun to crumble.

One proof is Sen. Clifford Case. Running last year for re-election Case, who squeaked in in 1954 by a few thousand votes, got a majority of 332,000. That Republican triumph came as President Kennedy was carrying the state by the hair-breadth margin of 22,000 votes.

THE REPUBLICAN conviction is that Case is the wave of the future. With Mitchell in the governor's office, as his backers firmly believe and most of the experts agree, New Jersey will be pointed toward the Republican column for 1964. The big cities, and, above all, the Negro vote, can be converted to Republicanism and the big cities spell victory in national elections.

One of the principal beneficiaries of this trend, if the election proves it out, will be Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of neighboring New York. He is one of the architects of the strategy to align the Eastern seaboard states behind the candidacy of a moderate Republican, namely Nelson Rockefeller, in 1964. That is the real significance of New Jersey where on several recent occasions under the leadership of Case right-wing Republicanism has been decisively defeated.

AS FOR THE Democratic candidate, Richard H. Hughes, a former state judge, he has had an uphill struggle from the start. Several better known potential candidates declined to be drafted. Hughes had never before run for a statewide office and he faced the difficulty and costly task at the outset of establishing his identity with the voters—costly in television and radio time and hard on the constitution of the candidate who must shake as many hands as he can reach 18 hours a day seven days a week.

GREAT PRESSURE was put on the White House to bring President Kennedy into the state. When the answer a week ago was a firm "no" to come in for a big political rally, Hughes's strategists were disappointed and angry. After all, former President Eisenhower came into the state only to campaign for Mitchell for a whole day and stir up almost the only real enthusiasm in the contest.

There was great rejoicing when Kennedy consented to come to Trenton. If he was to fulfill his role as party leader and keep morale up for the Congressional elections next year, it was almost inevitable that he visit New Jersey for this critical confrontation. Yet he cannot have been too happy over the prospect, since Hughes had been saying that he was coming not so much to help his candidacy as to defend the Kennedy administration from the dastardly attacks of those who were out to destroy it. This implied that the Kennedy reputation was hanging in the balance in New Jersey.

IN HIS APPEARANCE here the President looked little changed from the campaigner who a year ago came to Trenton to conclude the long-drawn-out struggle for the Presidency. He still seemed the youthful-appearing, buoyant, almost-casual stump speaker. His smile, the almost perfunctory gesture of the arm raised in a half-salute drew the cheers that resounded in a long crescendo across the nation in 1960. It was typical, too, that his staff should hand out advance excerpts of what he was to say and that the President would then utter not a word of it.

THE OCCASION obviously gladdened Hughes's heart and it could turn the trick. While Mitchell has been doing his best to stay ahead, the margin is believed to have greatly narrowed. If it should turn out that way, Kennedy would be encouraged to believe that some of his political appeal was subject to transference.

She Just Saw Red

BRADFORD, Pa. (AP) — A woman found an overtime parking ticket on her car and a policeman advised her to deposit the ticket and fine in one of the city's red fine boxes.

At a corner of Main and Chestnut streets she found a red box and tried to slip the ticket and money into the box.

Moments later, fire trucks rushed to the scene with wailing sirens. The lady had been monkeying with a fire alarm box.

WE HAVE A SUGGESTION—

U.N. Leader's Power Weakened

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's not just the eyes watching that's going to make filling Dag Hammarskjold's job tough for his successor. The very title of the job, and the fight over it, force him into self-consciousness.

Besides, the power of the office has been diminished. So it will not be unexpected if U Thant, the Burmese diplomat who replaces Swedish Hammarskjold, does only a so-so job, and maybe not even so-so.

Hammarskjold, killed in an African plane crash in September, was secretary-general of the United Nations. U Thant, chosen last Friday to succeed him, is simply acting secretary-general.

He will fill out the unexpired part of Hammarskjold's term which ends in about 18 months, April 1963.

IT WAS Hammarskjold's willingness to assert responsibility—to the fullest authority of his office, as he saw it—that sometimes angered several Western nations but particularly infuriated the Soviets.

In the Congo, for instance, it was the United Nations under Hammarskjold's leadership which frustrated Russian efforts to move in on a chaotic predicament. It was no wonder Premier Khrushchev said the Russians didn't trust the Swede.

Khrushchev in his anger went so far as to demand reorganization of the United Nations to provide not one secretary-general but three—one each representing the West, Russia, and the neutrals—and each with a veto over what the others wanted.

This so-called troika plan could have paralyzed the United Nations in any emergency and truly turned the world organization, which is supposed to preserve peace, into a namby-pamby debating society.

The Russians, with Hammarskjold dead, saw their chance to push for the troika. The United States was dead against it.

AFTER SEVEN weeks of maneuvering the United States and Russia finally worked out a compromise in picking U Thant.

He would be only the acting secretary-general but he would seek to reach agreement on decisions with advisers he would pick. As soon as he got the job he named an American and a Russian as his advisers. He may name more.

In a way Russia lost. It didn't get three secretaries-general. In a sense it won—U Thant is committed to consulting certain advisers although what happens if the Russian or American disagrees with him remains to be seen.

A Garland Of Girls

NEW YORK (AP)—Every big office is a garland of girls.

Some are married girls. Some are bachelor girls. No one is an "old maid." There is no such thing as an old maid anymore.

They are bachelor girls. Vintage bachelor girls maybe, but still bachelor girls.

Bachelor girls, in most cases, don't become bachelor girls on purpose. They are born that way—and haven't as yet been able to do anything to change the situation.

To the average middle-aged male inhabitant of a swivel chair, all office maidens in the stenographic pool look as much alike as trout in a babbling brook. They dress the same, talk the same, and nibble the same sandwiches at lunch.

But if he looks carefully at them, a thoughtful observer can note many differences.

Here are a few typical bachelor girls you can recognize in almost any office:

Romantic Roberta—She keeps a picture of Cary Grant on her desk because, she explains, "He reminds me so awfully much of the kind of man I never get to meet."

Hopeful Helen—When she was 12 her mother gave her a piggy bank and said, "Put a dime in it every day so you'll be able to buy a nice trousseau." Helen did. Now her apartment is so full of piggy banks it looks like a miniature version of the Chicago stockyards. The banks hold enough dimes to buy not only a trousseau but a department store.

Hopeless Hilda—"I've met a lot of marrying men," she wails. "The trouble is they were already married. All the good ones are gone."

Opportunistic Opal—She wants to marry money and took her job because she heard the boss had three unwed sons. She quits in a huff when she learns the ages of his sons—4, 6, and 9.

Sourgrapes Sally—She has hated all men ever since one of her boy friends borrowed $150 from her and ran off with a waitress. "I wouldn't trade a phonograph record for any man I know," she says. The feeling is mutual. No man that knows Sally would trade a broken phonograph record for her.

Learned Lena—Lena is very, very cultured, wears horn-rimmed glasses and goes to concerts—and all that stuff. She yearns to wed a college English professor, but admits she'd settle for a garage mechanic "so long as he loves to read Spinoza aloud."

Practical Priscilla—She is so confident that some day a knight on a white horse will gallop up to free her that she keeps a new saddle in her office locker—just in case he should show up riding bareback.

Tomboy Tilly — She hangs around the office water cooler challenging every passing bachelor to a game of Indian hand wrestling. "Sooner or later," she says, "I'm bound to run into a weak rundown fellow who needs a strong virile woman to lean on. When I bend his wrist to the table, he'll know I've found him."

Honest Hortense — "What's the use of kidding yourself?" she asks. "I'm ready to marry any guy in long pants who'll take me out of this nice cool office and put me to work slaving over a hot kitchen stove I can call my own."

One thing is true about practically all bachelor maidens. They aren't in the office just for the money. They're there just for the time being—they hope.

To Your Good Health

Is 'Tiredness' Physical, Mental, Emotional?

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.
(This is the last of a series two articles.)

Continuing from yesterday, we'll discuss "that tired feeling." Some other simple causes of this condition are sleeping in a room without adequate ventilation; inadequate sleep (some people unwisely pride themselves on "getting along on six or fewer hours a night"); excessive stimulants late in the evening; carousing; staying up too often for the late-show and kidding yourself that you are "resting" because you are just sitting. 'Tain't so!

Another cause of fatigue—and I hear the chorus of protest now, saying, "You don't mean ME!—is the dumb American habit of skipping breakfast. Many people stretch the evening out too long, sleep until the last minute in the morning, rush to work without breakfast, and then wonder why they are so drowsy and pooped.

Some people have systems which, either because of an innate factor or from careless eating, or both, react to a low blood sugar level. They sag in mid-morning or mid-afternoon. The best answer for them, as a rule, is to eat a little more protein and a little less starch and sugar, because protein absorbs more slowly and prevents that between-meals sag. That's the reason for the old saying about a meal of meat "staying with you."

Other disorders that can cause chronic fatigue are glandular insufficiency, a "lazy" thyroid gland being a foremost example, and it responds to proper medicatio chronic infection; nerve or muscle diseases; anemia.

And finally back to emotional factors — boredom may be the worst one of all in this regard.

The housewife who doesn't like being a housewife (or the man who is a salesman, a clerk, a mechanic, a lawyer, a doctor or in any other job that he doesn't really like) is apt to complain of being tired. The person who doesn't respect or like his work is bored. And so, also, is the person who doesn't have enough to do. Yes, "doing nothing" CAN make you tired!

This can happen to old people or young. Teen - agers can be chronically fatigued because they are doing too much, or doing too little, or because they are worried or because they have let things slide and suddenly realize that they've got to work like mad to catch up. And the thought makes them tired.

These are the things that give one "that tired feeling," and it sometimes takes some painful frankness on the part of the patient, and some pretty shrewd digging on the part of the doctor, to elicit the truth: Is the "tiredness" physical, mental, emotional? Is it some faulty habit of living? Is it the consequence of trying to do too much? Is it boredom? Is it illness? Lack of sleep? Poor diet?

Whatever it is, the prospect of correcting it is pretty good, once the facts are recognized and accepted.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Please tell me why so many people become laxative addicts.—I. Z."

I'm darned if I know, except that years ago somebody dreamed up the idea that frequent elimination was "healthy." Letting nature act normally is better. There's quite a variation in normal pattern from one individual to another. The harm of the laxative habit is primarily in irritation to the digestive tract.

Around The Rim

Goodness Gracious, This Is Bad

I used to spend a lot of nights out on the lawn with a 6 - inch reflector telescope. I got a big kick out of the stars, the planets and other celestial objects which were visible in my telescope.

Because of my interest in the stars, I was often asked to make little layman talks on the subject before civic clubs and other groups.

And it used to burn me to have the master of ceremonies, in his introduction, blandly describe my topic as a talk on astrology.

I SUPPOSE that to the average person there is no difference in astrology and astronomy. Both have to do with the stars and the planets. Both are ancient studies; probably astrology is the older of the two.

It is certain that man, always supremely egotistic, has believed from early times that the stars and other heavenly bodies were put in their places solely to play some sort of role in his life.

Many people still hold such beliefs. There are many persons who will never start any new enterprise nor make any important decision until they consult their horoscopes. And if their studies show conditions unfavorable, they postpone action until stellar and planetary changes offer more promising prospects.

IT ALL SEEMS rather ridiculous to me but, of course, this is a free country. If you want to believe in astrology you certainly have the right to do so, and if you want to let a horoscope decide your life for you—go to it! It's none of my business.

I read in the papers that on Feb. 2—which will be Groundhog Day—that seven planets will be in conjunction in Capricorn. That night, according to the smartest of the Asian astrologers, the moon enters the same house. Also, according to astrologers, that's just about as bad as things can get.

AS A RESULT of their studies these wise men of the East—who are still plowing their fields with wooden plows and threshing their grain with oxen—have reached a serious conclusion:

The world will come to an end of Feb. 2.

Just how this is to be brought about is not clear. One Indian expert says that the world is just going to explode like an overripe melon. Another forecasts floods, earthquakes, war in the Himalayas and the collapse of the United Nations.

But like other experts, the astrologers are not universally agreed on what the seven planets and the moon in the house of Capricorn will produce. Not all see the end of the world at hand. Some even pooh-pooh the idea.

One doesn't believe that the big day will be on Feb. 2. He thinks it will be delayed until 1965. So relax.

Why Are We Afraid Of Each Other?

There is a terrible and a disturbing current abroad in the United States. It stems from the undeniable fact that many Americans today are more afraid, more distrustful of each other than they are of international communism, Khrushchev and his big bombs.

ANYONE who takes a broad swing across the nation, as I have just done, comes face to face with a stunning and degrading situation in which numbers of citizens are more suspicious and fearful of their fellows than of the powerful, implacable enemy without.

There are groups of honest Americans who have become convinced that Communist subversion from within is so far advanced that our days are numbered.

While Khrushchev at the 22nd Communist Party Congress in Moscow was giving the world his blueprint and timetable for world conquest, I was in Pittsburgh, Detroit, Port Huron, Denver and Boise and Caldwell, Idaho.

BUT TOO OFTEN the talk, when it turned to the Communist menace, ignored Khrushchev, his bombs and his blueprint and came alive and alarmed only when it got around to wholesale subversion inside the U. S. A.

One can understand the sense of frustration shared by Americans over the expanding power and growth of international communism, over Russia's exploits in space and over Khrushchev's brutal boastings.

BUT IT IS profoundly disturbing to realize that many Americans prefer to believe that treason at home is responsible for everything they dislike or fear on both the national and international scene. It is certainly a simple, all-embracing solution for any ill on the horizon, but to prefer it to reason or truth is the ultimate in hysterical un-Americanism.

The after - luncheon or after - dinner conversation, when it turns to subversion at home, is always the same. No one present suspects any of his fellow guests. Nor does he really suspect his neighbor.

"BUT 'THEY' SAY there is a big Communist cell in Port Huron" or "They say there are 21 Communists in Caldwell," the argument goes. It is always some mysterious "THEY" who are the authorities on local and national communism. But no one can ever name "they" any more than identify the Communist suspects. And "they" know that the State Department is riddled with treachery.

On the local level I can only say that if I lived in Caldwell, where I spend my first 12 years, I'd find out at all costs who those 21 Communists were. Then I would begin an all-out campaign to reconvert the 21 to democracy. I just wouldn't sit still after dinner or luncheon and wring my hands.

I WOULDN'T wait placidly while the 21 organized a conspiracy to take over the town, and the country and me. I'd be willing to match my stamina, wits and political know-how against theirs. From my point of view, it is cowardly, in a community of 15,000, to be afraid to tackle and attempt to re-educate 21 Communists.

There is a sense of unreality about all these Americans who distrust their fellow citizens more than they fear the Russians. They are creating a schism in the nation at a time when unity was never more vital in the face of the real foe who is without, not within.

What, in heaven's name, do Americans have to fear from each other?

Danger Signals In China Policy

WASHINGTON — Reliable word from Taiwan is that the entire cabinet of the Nationalist Chinese government, along with that country's two top ambassadors, have offered their resignations to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, president of the Republic.

THIS EN MASSE resignation, not reported in the press but reaching this reporter from a knowledgeable source, is said to be the reaction from the loss of face which Nationalist China suffered in withholding its veto on Outer Mongolia's admission to the United Nations. Some alarmists, knowing how strongly the Chinese statesmen feel, expect a wave of suicides before very long. Calmer persons predict that the Generalissimo will refuse to accept the resignations, or will reshuffle the appointments.

IN ANY EVENT, big names are involved. Vice President Chen Cheng, who also serves as prime minister, heads the list. George Yeh, ambassador in Washington, and U.N. Ambassador Tsiang are high upon it. Whatever the exact details of these reports turn out to be, there is no doubt that the government of Nationalist China, our firm and fighting ally of the Far East, is in a major crisis of no less consequence than the one taking place in Berlin.

BEHIND THE CRISIS, and the immediate cause of it, appears to be an emergent policy by the Kennedy administration to eradicate Nationalist China in Taiwan and to substitute a shadow government known as the Republic of Formosa. Students adhering to the Formosa Republic are said to have been favorably received in Washington by the White House and by Sen. Fulbright, chairman of Foreign Relations. Thomas Liao, titular head of the Formosa Republic, is in Japan, seeking a passport visa to the United States. Dr. Liao apparently has been temporarily denied the visa, and this is the price paid by the United States to Chiang for withholding his veto.

ALL THIS is very complicated, as Chinese puzzles commonly are, but the meaning of it to Americans is relatively simple. Mr. Kennedy, pressured by the ultra-liberals in Americans for Democratic Action and elsewhere, has long been committed to the overthrow of Chiang. Some 18 months ago, a Kennedy aide came to my office with a speech the senator was scheduled to make. In it, Mr. Kennedy declared his intention, if President, to liquidate our responsibilities for the Quemoy-Matsu island group. The aide had come from the senator to engage my interest in his candidacy, but the Quemoy-Matsu reference set off a disagreement. Later, I wrote the senator, and personally implored his brother, Robert Kennedy, to take another look at the Quemoy-Matsu matter. The senator's pledge, carried to its ultimate end, amounted to a death sentence for the Republic of China.

IF THE PRESIDENT persists, and his Red China apologists win out, we are going to have a chaotic situation in Taiwan. If the Liao group gets encouragement or de facto recognition in Washington, the Chiang government, with a million Chinese and an armed force of around 500,000, is not going to make a tame surrender of its power.

One of the things we need the least, but may well get, is the bloody suppression of a rebellion on Taiwan. True, Chiang is wholly dependent upon the United States for his arms, and he might, at the end, be defeated by the Formosan republicans.

AND WHAT THEN? Well, all the liberals would rejoice to have another dictator overthrown and a democratic regime established. The fact that he was a pro-American dictator would not count for much, and the democratic nature of the new regime might not last very long. But one set of facts would inevitably result from Chiang's overthrow.

A great gap would have been blown in our Western Pacific defense line, leaving the two new states of Hawaii and Alaska horribly exposed. And with Nationalist China gone for good, there would be only one China in Asia, her claim to U.N. membership and a seat on the Security Council without a cloud.

Another Union

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Bruce Langhorne, 11, of Raleigh, N. C., was disgusted when he found a "union made" sticker on his Confederate hat. He sold it. But he got another and wore it happily after it was explained that union didn't mean Yankee in this instance.

Red Cross Help

For Work Well-Done

Mrs. Luther Fortenberry, at right, displays the banner won by the Scenic Chapter, ABWA, for the accomplishment of 10 requirements in the making of a good club. The banner was shown at a dinner given Monday evening at which time the turkey, displayed by Mrs. Milton Kirby, served as the centerpiece.

Scenic Group Wins Banner

Monday evening, members of the Scenic Chapter, American Business Women's Association, viewed the banner which was awarded to the group at the national convention for fulfilling certain requirements.

Among their accomplishments are a donation to the founders fund, 10 new members added, attendance at district meetings, selection of a woman of the year and certain social sessions.

The club met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. R. F. Bluhm, with Mrs. Milton Kirby, Mrs. Nathan Dietz, Mrs. Beatrice Mittel, Mrs. Fay Newman and Mrs. B. R. Stewart as cohostesses.

Hilton Sherrod was guest speaker, with the subject, "What Can I Do to Stop Communism?"

Plans for a Christmas party, planned for Dec. 15 in the Flame Room, were announced; the next session will be held Dec. 4 at the Manhattan Cafe with Mrs. Obie Bristow as guest speaker.

Mrs. Raymond Dyer was introduced as a new member; the capsule prize went to Mrs. H. A. Harris, while Mrs. Dietz won the special prize. Mrs. Sherrod was a guest.

Mrs. L. V. Mizek reported on the convention, which she, with Mrs. A. G. Eitzen, Mrs. Harris and Mrs. Doris Carr, attended.

The serving table was centered with a turkey made by Mrs. Mittel, of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums.

Five Mission Fields Discussed For WMS

Five new mission fields were introduced to members of the First Baptist WMS Monday evening at the church, when the Johnnie O'Brien Circle presented the program.

Against a background of maps, posters and pamphlets, Mrs. J. C. Pickle and Mrs. Ben Johnson portrayed homemakers planning a missionary program. Objects from the various countries to be studied were on the table at which they were seated.

Taking part in the program were Mrs. Charles Upton, Mrs. Lester Morton, Mrs. B. T. Tingle; Mrs. G. T. Grantham brought a devotion, stressing the idea of every American abroad being a missionary.

The prayer calendar was read by Mrs. B. T. Faulkner.

Announcement was made of an associational meeting set for Nov. 16; it will be an all-day session, with a sack lunch at noon. Members were reminded of the 75th anniversary of the founding of the local church to be observed Nov. 19.

Mrs. Horace Reagan dismissed the 31 with a prayer.

Dried Arrangements Made For Junior Club

Mrs. J. R. Hensley presented a discussion of dried materials for arrangements for members of the Junior Garden Club Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Obie Bristow. She also demonstrated groupings of leaves dried in glycerin and flowers cured by hanging and the borax and sand method.

Yearbooks were distributed; Each youngster was given rhizomes for brown iris by Mrs. Bristow, and a change in the regular meeting date was announced for December.

The club will meet at the home of Mrs. John Balch, Dec. 18, to make gumdrop trees which will be taken to the Big Spring State Hospital to be used for the Christmas party, Dec. 22.

Other projects selected by the group include the distribution of litterbags; keeping the club's plot in the Rose Garden, City Park; placing an anti-litterbug sign in the garden and the planting of a tree at Airport School on Arbor Day. An iris tour is slated for April 16, 1962.

Auxiliary Reports Poppy Sale

Final report on poppy sales, amounting to $626.18, was made Monday evening when the American Legion Auxiliary met at the Hut.

The meeting opened with prayer by Mrs. H. D. Bruton, and an announcement was made, asking that members who can be at the VA Hospital Saturday at 9:30 a.m., to assist chair patients to and from the morning program.

The Christmas gift shop was discussed and Dec. 2, is the date set for opening. Members who can work were asked to call Mrs. Bruton.

Forty-five paid members were reported and those who have not paid were asked to mail their dues. Eight members attended the meeting.

Baskets for needy families will be prepared at the next meeting and members were asked to bring canned goods for the baskets.

The group was dismissed with prayer by Mrs. T. P. Musgrove.

Benefit Bridge Party Is Given

Eight tables accommodated players at the benefit bridge party given Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. J. H. Fish.

Members of the 1946 Hyperion Club were hostesses for the affair, first in a series of four practice sessions in duplicate bridge. Mrs. Elmo Wasson assisted with the games.

Winners, north - south, were Mrs. Paul Meek and Mrs. Kenneth Perry, first; Mrs. Arch Carson and Mrs. George Peacock, second; Mrs. Jack Cook and Mrs. Gus Barr, third.

Mrs. Jim Bill Little and Mrs. Paul Shaffer led the east-west players, while a tie for second places was made by Mrs. Ed Swift, Mrs. John Hatch, Mrs. Bennett Brooke and Mrs. G. C. Boardman.

Hostess for the second party will be announced at a later date.

Guild Welcomes A New Member

Mrs. Charles Carrothers was welcomed as a new member of St. Mary's Episcopal Guild Monday afternoon at the church.

The meeting was opened with a prayer by Mrs. E. V. Spence, and Mrs. Obie Bristow brought a devotion. Mrs. Ray Broen presented the Bible study.

Dismissal was with a prayer by the Rev. Donald Hungerford, and Mrs. Spence served refreshments to 16.

Participants were Mrs. R. L. Bowman, Mrs. G. C. Graves, Mrs. Elvin Bearden and Mrs. W. B. Morris.

Following the program there was a business and discussion period. After refreshments were served, the meeting was dismissed with a prayer repeated in unison.

The next meeting will be at the church, Nov. 13.

Presbyterian Women Meet At The Church

Mrs. Don Farley presided at the Monday meeting of Women of the First Presbyterian Church, held at the church.

The opening prayer pertained to the World Council of Churches' meeting to be held Nov. 8 through Dec. 6, in New Delhi, India.

During the business session, committee reports were made and a report on World Community Day offerings from the church was made by Mrs. Roland Schwarzenbach. The Presbyterial held in Odessa was reported by Mrs. A. A. Porter, Mrs. H. L. Stamps and Mrs. Schwarzenbach.

Announcements were made concerning the Willie H. Black scholarship fund and the birthday offering, after which Mrs. W. G. Wilson Jr., gave a report on the United Council of Church Women.

Men of the Church extended an invitation for ladies' night, scheduled during the month of December. The meeting was dismissed with recitation of the Mizpah.

Midway P-TA

Midway P-TA will meet tonight at 7:30 at the school.

Hunts Are Honored At Autumn Tea

Arrangements of autumn flowers furnished the decor for a pre-Thanksgiving tea Sunday afternoon to honor Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Hunt at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Keese.

The hosts were assisted by dean and Mrs. Ben Johnson and Dr. and Mrs. Melvin Crawford.

Guests included members of the Howard County Junior College faculty, their wives and husbands, and board members and their wives.

The tea table was laid with a white linen cloth with lace inserts. The centerpiece was fashioned with giant red and gold chrysanthemums and leaves of deep red. Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Crawford served coffee and punch from silver services.

Hot Chocolate Made For 4-H'ers

How to make hot chocolate was the demonstration given by Martha Couch for a meeting of Gayhill 4-H Club, Monday afternoon at the home of the hostess. Members discussed plans for displaying food for Achievement Day.

Refreshments were served to four members and two guests, Annette Couch and Susan Underwood.

The next meeting will be Nov. 20, at 3:30 p.m., in the home of Deanna McWhirt.

K Admits Testing Harmful, Says He'll Stop If We Do

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev told a cluster of newsmen at a reception that the Soviet Union will drop nuclear testing "when the others stop." Earlier today, he acknowledged that nuclear testing is harmful to health.

"We will stop when the others stop," Khrushchev said in answer to a question by correspondents. "If the West continues testing there will be more tests here."

This was a reflection of the Soviet device of blaming the West for beginning the testing of nuclear weapons, although actually the moratorium was broken by the Soviet Union.

To further questions at a party honoring the 44th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution, Khrushchev also said the Soviet Union does not want to hustle the West into a needlessly fast response on the Berlin question. But when asked how long the Soviet Union would wait he replied, "Not indefinitely."

Khrushchev also denied reports published in the West that three Soviet cosmonauts had been killed in mid-October in an attempted launching of a Sputnik. Morever, he added, no immediate launching of another manned Sputnik is contemplated.

He conceded nuclear tests are harmful to health but insisted universal disarmament is the only answer.

"There is talk of the harmful affects of experimental nuclear explosions on peoples' health," the Soviet premier was quoted by the Soviet News agency Tass. "Yes, it has been scientifically established that they are harmful to health.

"But the use of nuclear weapons in war is a million times more dangerous, not only for the peoples' health but for the very lives of people—for it is clear that these weapons are not being produced to be kept in storage."

Khrushchev said the Soviet Union would "be glad if it were possible not only not to test these weapons, but also to rid mankind of them entirely."

Thompson ROW Trial Gets Started In County Court

A jury in Howard County court was hearing testimony this afternoon on the appeal of the Texas State Highway Department from a finding of a special commission on damages due to Clarence R. Thompson for land needed for US 87 right of way.

Judge Ed Carpenter opened the trial of the Thompson case, one of six appeals the state has filed against findings of special appraisers, Tuesday morning.

A jury was selected at 11 a.m. and the court recessed until 1 p.m.

Jurors are: T. J. Harvell, Jeanette Ware, Mrs. Britton Hull, James F. Reidy, Dan C. Freeman and Earl Wilson.

Thompson is represented by Wayne Basden, Big Spring attorney, and Wayne Burns, county attorney, is representative for the county and the state.

Thompson is one of six owners of land along US 87 who did not reach an agreement with the county commissioners. Nearly four acres of his land was needed for highway right of way and a special commission was appointed by the court to fix a fair value, recommending that Thompson be paid $6,740 for his land and for damages.

The State Highway Department officials held that this was an exorbitant award and appealed the findings to the county court.

Thompson was the only one of the six property owners on which appeals are pending to waive time notice and agree to lay the matter before the court this week. It had been planned originally to try all six cases at this session.

The jury will decide whether the special commission figure was excessive and determine its own valuation on the land involved.

Eight Cubs Attend Meeting

Den 6, Pack 14, met with the den mother, Mrs. Bluford Turner, Monday afternoon with eight Cubs and the assistant den mother present. The meeting was opened with the Law of the Pack. Dues were taken, advancement books checked, and plans for a skit for the Pack meeting worked out. Two Cub Scout songs were given, and refreshments were served by Gerald Rush. The meeting closed with the Pledge to the Flag.

District To Check Bids

Bids for microwave equipment to be used in automatic control of a booster pump station will be analyzed here Thursday by the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

General Electric appeared to be the low bidder on the basis of two proposals opened here Tuesday morning. Bids will be checked by specifications Thursday when James Nichols, representing Freese & Nichols consulting engineers, comes here for a conference with O. H. Ivie, assistant manager.

The GE proposal will range from $19,378 to $22,436, according to figures listed Tuesday. The other bid, submitted by Motorola, was for $24,984. Motorola's proposal was on a base bid, while the GE offers included a base bid and alternates.

The microwave equipment includes a 250-ft. tower at the Morgan Creek pump station in northeastern Howard County and a tower at the Big Spring-Odessa intake at Lake J. B. Thomas. Ivie said that the microwave would be the first leg of a system that ultimately would permit control of the district's far-flung pumping operations from one point.

Jack Willcox returned during the weekend from Houston, where he had undergone vascular surgery three weeks ago. He is making satisfactory recovery and is steadily regaining his strength.

School Trustees To Get Lakeview Progress Report

A progress report on construction of the addition to Lakeview High School will be presented to trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District at a meeting at 7:30 p.m. today in the Administration Building, 100 E. 10th.

The original predicted completion date of the work was Oct. 1 and since then delays have put the job about six weeks behind schedule. A new estimated time of completion will be given along with the date the building can be used.

Trustees will hear proposals from automobile agencies regarding a contract for a car for the superintendent. The current contract on superintendent Sam M. Anderson's car expires Nov. 30. Both the Acme Rental, from whom the present car was obtained, and Shasta Ford Sales are expected to make proposals.

Trustees will act on an invitation extended to Supt. Anderson to attend a proposed executive development seminar sponsored by the Department of Educational Administration of the University of Texas. Superintendents attending have an option of taking a one or two-week course.

A letter of resignation from Dan M. Krausse will be presented to trustees for action. Krausse's replacement, Joe A. Moss, will be administered the commission and oath of office.

Legion Marks 42nd Birthday

Friday through Sunday will mark the 42nd Anniversary of the first convention of the American Legion in Minneapolis when its organization was completed and a constitution and by-laws adopted. The meeting was held Nov. 10-12, 1919.

The organization of veterans of World Wars I and II was originally incorporated by an act of Congress Sept. 16, 1919. The charter was amended by Congress, Oct. 29, 1942, to expand membership eligibility to World War II veterans.

Any soldier, sailor, or marine, of either sex, who served honorably between April 6, 1917, and Nov. 11, 1918, and between Dec. 7, 1941, and the end of World War II is eligible.

The American Legion was born at a caucus of 1,000 members of the American Expeditionary Force in Paris, France, March 15-17, 1919. Further organization work was done at the caucus in St. Louis, Mo., May 8-10, 1919.

The Big Spring Legion Post, along with all others in the nation, observe the March 15-17 anniversary of the first meeting of the 1,000 in Paris. Veterans of World War I are honored, and 30 - 35 and 40 - year cards are awarded.

"We always have a full house at that time" H. J. "Sunbeam" Morrison, active member of the Big Spring Post, said. "Sometimes we have a special speaker, and sometimes not, but we always have a good crowd."

Associated with the legion are the American Legion Auxiliary, composed of wives, daughters, mothers, and sisters of Legionnaires; The Sons of the American Legion, composed of sons and other male descendants; the Forty and Eight, the fun and honor society of the legion; and the Eight, and Forty, the fun and honor group within the auxiliary.

Testimony Begins In Bean Trial

Testimony in the trial of Frankie Lee Bean, under indictment as a habitual burglar, began Monday afternoon in 118th District Court.

The morning session was devoted to the selection of a jury of six men and six women. The court recessed at noon, as soon as the jury was qualified, and resumed work at 1:30 p.m.

Gil Jones, district attorney, said that he did not anticipate that presentation of the state's case would take long and he believed the case could be completed late this afternoon. Bill Eyssen is the defense attorney. Jones said he did not know what testimony the defense planned to offer.

Bean is the first defendant to go to trial at the current jury docket in district court. He faces a life term in the state penitentiary if he is found guilty as a habitual criminal. Jones will press for this verdict.

Ringing Bells Mark Program

Bells will be sounded here Friday and Saturday noon as part of an international "Bells of Peace" program this weekend.

The occasion centers around a big homecoming celebration in Kansas City, Mo., for Charles Bacon, newly elected commander of the American Legion. A homecoming dinner is scheduled to rededicate the city's 217-ft. Liberty Memorial spire in the cause of international understanding. Former President Dwight Eisenhower is to speak Friday. The following day former President Harry S. Truman is to speak, and if health permits, former President Herbert Hoover also will appear and be on the program. A non-denominational religious program will continue on Sunday.

Churches and other institutions over the country are being asked to sound their bells while the new "Bells of Liberty" are being dedicated at Kansas City. Among those to join in the ringing bells is the First Baptist Church at noon Friday and Saturday.

Kirkland To Seek City Pact On State Hospital Water Rates

W. G. Kirkland, Odessa, a member of the State Board for Hospitals and Special Schools, was given authority Monday to attempt renegotiation with the City of Big Spring for more water and a new water rate for the Big Spring State Hospital. The board met Monday in Austin.

The board reviewed proposed rates set up by the Big Spring City Commission for supplying additional water to the hospital at a rate above the 10 cents per 1,000 gallons established in 1939.

"We are not in agreement on how they arrived at the cost," Kirkland said. "They showed depreciation for the city hall which was built in 1929. I think this should not be in the cost."

It was brought out at the meeting that Big Spring had proposed rates of 20 cents per 1,000 gallons until 1963; 30 cents from 1963-65; 40 cents from 1956-67 and the same rate as city residents after 1967.

Kirkland said he felt the 30-cent figure would not be unreasonable.

A complete outline of Big Spring water rates and costs was prepared in September for submission to the board. These included rates set up by bond fiscal agents and attorneys for paying off the revenue bonds used under the Master Plan for capital improvements in water and sewer facilities.

"We made it plain to the board that depreciation of the city hall did not enter into the rate picture," A. K. Steinheimer, city manager, said after the Monday meeting. "We did include rent and maintenance because the water department facilities occupy more than half of the city hall, half of our warehouse facilities, and storage barns.

"Under laws of the state, covering issuance of revenue bonds, a city cannot sell water to one customer for less than its established rates to other customers, something the board asks us to do. The attorney general said a new contract could be negotiated for 'new and adequate consideration' and we believe that we are entitled to get a fair rate."

The city commission has agreed to furnish water to the hospital in an amount up to 1,000,000 gallons per day or 210 gallons per minute above the present contract volume, following a recommendation of an engineer that more water was needed.

When the city commission learned that the hospital board would likely not agree to the regular rate it passed a resolution that no more water would be made available to the hospital unless a new contract was negotiated with equitable rates.

City Attorney John Burgess, who wrote the city's opinion to the hospital board, outlined the facilities needed to provide more water, and the estimated costs to the city. These included a new water line, elevated storage tank to provide more water supply and pressure, and other items.

In laying a new water line along the widened route of U. S. 87, to replace lines now in the old right of way, the city commission authorized a 12-inch line from the new elevated storage tank to the State Hospital gate. However, it stipulated that a new line to the hospital, under the highway, would not be installed unless the board agreed to an equitable rate. The city commission decided that an equitable rate would be the same rate as paid by other water customers.

Steinheimer said Monday that Mayor Lee Rogers would receive a letter from the board on its findings in Austin Monday.

"We will have the letter in time for the next city commission meeting Nov. 14," he said, "and will know in detail the board's official action. It will then be up to the commission to map the city's route in further negotiations."

Cold Dawn For Texas

By The Associated Press

Texas shivered in a cold dawn Tuesday, but again the only freezing weather was in the upper Panhandle.

A weak bnt fast-moving cold front approached the Panhandle Plains country at daybreak and forecasters said it would move through the state within 24 hours.

The new front was expected to knock down warmer temperatures due for most of the state during the day with a little colder weather due Tuesday night.

Cloudy to partly cloudy skies covered large sections of West Texas and the lower Gulf Coast before dawn, but East Texas, the upper coast and central portions of the state were clear.

Clear to partly cloudy skies were expected for Wednesday with temperatures remaining chilly. Light variable winds were expected ahead of the new front, shifting to north 15 to 20 miles per hour as the front speeds southward.

Pre-dawn readings included El Paso 40, Midland 42, Lubbock 37, Abilene 41, Mineral Wells 39, Fort Worth 37, Dallas 36, Junction 36, Austin 44, Waco 41, College Station 43, Houston 48, Corpus Christi 51, San Antonio 49, Amarillo 34, Childress 35, Texarkana 37, Tyler 40, Lufkin 40, Longview 40, Galveston 52, and Beaumont 47. The range was from 28 at Dalhart to 53 at Brownsville.

No rain fell during Monday night or Tuesday morning and none was in the forecasts for Tuesday and Wednesday.

L.A. Fire Sidelights

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Deadly, destructive fire is always a shock. But this city's worst blaze wasn't entirely unexpected.

Fire prevention officials warned early this year that, unless it rained, Los Angeles County would suffer the worst brush and forest fires in its history.

There has been no significant rainfall. Dust-dry vegetation covers the brown, sunburned slopes.

And Monday the prediction became fact.

Humane societies and municipal pound officers rescued scores of pets from the flames, many of them animals necessarily left behind in the hasty evacuation of their owners. Special shelters were established for the animals.

The rescued beasts included deer and other wild life that raced out of the hills, the flames on their heels.

One cottontail rabbit saved himself by leaping into a swimming pool. A passing student, Robert Kimball, 18, pulled him out and carried him to safety.

Volkswagen Club Elects Officers

Members of the newly organized Volkswagen Club elected temporary officers during a meeting Monday evening. A general election will be held after the first of the year.

Milt Knowles was named president; Jerry Cheatham vice president; Clarence Fisher, secretary; and Glen Bledsoe, treasurer.

Charter memberships will be available at $2 until Jan. 1. Backers says the organization will sponsor competitive events and will accommodate family memberships.

T&P Official Visits Big Spring

George Craig, vice president-traffic, of the Texas & Pacific Railway Company, was here Tuesday getting acquainted with Big Spring people.

Craig was recently named to this important post and this is his first official visit here since then.

County To Ask Control Board For Action On ROW

Howard County will ask the state board of control to take action in clearing right-of-way easements to a strip of Big Spring State Hospital property, Ed Carpenter, county judge, said Tuesday.

The four county commissioners were at a conference with the State Board for Hospitals and Special Schools on Monday in Austin at which the problem was discussed. Carpenter said that as far as he could discover, the hospital board turned a deaf ear on the county's plea.

He said that he is writing to the State Highway Department in Austin asking that a representative from the department sit in at the state control board meeting next Monday and ask that the board take action on the problem.

L. J. Davidson, Joe Hayden, Ralph White and Rufus Stallings were at the meeting with the state hospital board Monday. They argued that the request of the state hospital that two buildings on the hospital gounds be moved back from their present sites and renovated to their present condition would be too expensive for the county to attempt. The State Highway Department has allocated $7,400 to pay for the hospital right of way and the best bid the county has received is twice that amount, the commissioners told the state board.

They also pointed out that even with the road right of way established, the two buildings will be more than 50 feet back of the road line. They argued there is no need to move either building.

The state highway department is pressing the county to complete right-of-way acquisition on US 87 so that a contract for rebuilding the highway into a four-lane route can be awarded. Only the hospital property remains unsigned.

Carpenter suggested that if the state highway representative is unable to reach an agreement on the hospital land value, that he press for a right of entry to the land so that the highway department will be freed to go ahead with awarding the contract for the road job.

Shows Improvement

Sam Fisherman, who had his voice box removed by surgery at Houston a week ago, continues to show improvement. He may be able to leave the hospital before long. Mrs. Fisherman, who broke her hip in a fall while going to his bedside, is doing well in a Dallas hospital.

Added Report Included With Report Cards

A report on schools, sent along with report cards Wednesday, will be a part of the Texas State Teachers' Association contribution to American Education Week.

Included in the newsletter to parents are facts about the school system—its size, value in dollars and cents, enrollment, employes source of school funds, etc.

Points which parents are asked to give serious consideration in assisting a child with school work are noted in 10 items and the importance of parents working through such organizations as the P-TA is brought into focus.

Dates of coming events on the school calendar are listed.

OIL REPORT

Borden Wildcat Has Gas Shows

Chambers and Kennedy No. 1 Wills, an Ellenburger wildcat in Borden County, encountered slight gas shows on drillstem tests of an unreported zone. Recovery was salt water - cut mud and salt water.

In Glasscock County, Shell No. 1 E. Chriesman, a discovered potentialed May 23 in the Spraberry Trend (Devonian) field for 2.3 million cubic feet of gas daily, has been completed for 51 barrels of 46.4 gravity oil. The operator has applied for a new field designation and discovery allowable.

There were two field locations staked in the Iatan-East Howard field in Howard County. Both are Sawnie Robertson—Percy Jones projects.

Borden

Chambers and Kennedy No. 1 Wills reported slight traces of gas along with 450 feet of slightly salt water-cut mud and 2,400 feet of salt water recovered on drillstem tests of an unreported zone between 7,842-65 feet. The tool was open one hour. Thirty-minute initial shutin pressure was 3,450 pounds. This is the first drillstem test on this Ellenburger explorer. Location is C SE NE, section 533-97, H&TC survey.

Dawson

Southern Union Producing Co. No. 2 Janie Pitts is a ⅜-mile northwest offset to the one-well Ackerly, Northwest (Canyon) field. It spots 1,452.2 feet from the south and 2,191.3 feet from the east lines of section 46-34-4n, T&P survey 2½ miles north of Ackerly and is contracted to 9,550 feet.

Texaco No. 1 McDougal is digging in lime below 10,644 feet. It is C SE SW, section 23-36-4n, T&P survey.

Garza

Texaco - Seaboard, Inc. No. 3 George Beggs pumped 18.70 barrels of 35.4 gravity oil, with 77 per cent water, on initial potential in the Post (Glorieta) field. The well was fraced with 30,000 gallons and produced through perforations, between 2,688-751 feet, in 2⅞ inch casing set at 2,800 feet. Elevation is 2,447 feet, total depth is 2,800 feet, the oiler was plugged back to 2,788 feet and pay was topped at 2,688 feet. It is C NE SW, section 41-2, T&NO survey, on a 28,813-acre lease 13 miles east of Post.

Glasscock

Shell No. 1 E. Chriesman, originally potentialed May 23, 1961 for 2.3 million cubic feet of gas daily from the Spraberry Trend Devonian field, has been completed for 51 barrels of 46.4 gravity oil. It flowed through a one-half inch choke along with 26 barrels of water daily. The gas-oil ratio was 14,458-1. The operator has applied for a new field designation and discovery allowable. When the well was first potentialed, there was no pipeline carrier available. Total depth is 11,255 feet, it was plugged back to 11,223 feet, pay was topped at 10,967 feet, seven inch casing is at 11,260 feet, perforations are between 10,979-11,058 feet and the well was fraced with 45,000 gallons. It is C SE SE, section 12-36-5s, T&P survey, 15 miles southwest of Garden City.

Howard

Sawnie Robertson No. 8 Percy Jones is projected to 3,000 feet by rotary in the Iatan-East Howard field. It is 330 feet from the north and 990 feet from the west lines of section 13-30-1s, T&P survey, five miles southeast of Coahoma.

Sawnie Robertson No. 32 Percy Jones, spotting C NE NE NE, section 13-30-1s, T&P survey, is contracted for 3,000 feet by rotary tool in the Iatan-East Howard field.

Martin

Chase No. 1 Strain is putting on pump. The venture is C SE SW, section 18-35, T&P survey.

Humble No. 1 Campbell is making hole in lime and shale below 10,333 feet. Location is 1,120 feet from the south and 3,094 feet from the east lines of league 321, Wheeler CSL survey.

Mitchell

Paul E. Haskins No. 1 Elmo Daniel, spotting C NE SE NE, section 26-29, T&P survey, was completed for 63 barrels of 28 gravity oil, along with 15 per cent water, on initial potential in the Turner - Gregory (Clear Fork) field. It bottomed at 3,000 feet, pay was topped at 2,377 feet, 5½ inch casing is at 3,000 feet and perforations are between 2,377-791 feet. Elevation is 2,185 feet and the oiler was fraced with 20,000 gallons. The well is seven miles northwest of Westbrook, on an 80-acre lease.

Sterling

Roden Oil and Cosden No. 1 Read is digging below 1,594 feet in anhydrite, shale and lime. Location is 2,040 feet from the north and 650 feet from the west lines of section 9-30, W&NW survey.

Police Report Light Activity

Activities at Big Spring police headquarters were light during the past 24 hours. Main items were one accident, and one theft from a parked car, along with several dog calls and reports of drunkenness.

A minor accident at 2401 Scurry was investigated. Drivers involved were David Leon Coffman, Sterling City Rt., and John William Worley, 1611 Indian Hills.

Clifford Blythe, 1208 Main, called police Monday night and said he was visiting his wife at the Medical Arts Hospital and left his car parked outside for about 10 minutes. When he returned a floor mat, valued at $6, had been taken from the car.

The animal warden was called shortly after noon Monday to pick up four dead sandhill cranes in the 700 block of Creighton. He said someone had killed them and thrown them out.

Two Bids In For Wrecked Car

Two bids for a sheriff's department car, nearly demolished last week in a collision, have been received by commissioners' court, Judge Ed Carpenter, said today.

He said that no bids are as yet on hand for a new car to replace the wrecked sedan but that all dealers in the city had been asked to submit offers at a special session of the commissioners court slated for 10 a.m. Wednesday.

A new car is needed, Sheriff Miller Harris told the court, in order for the department to carry on its official duties.

The car, driven by D. R. Buzbee, deputy sheriff, was rammed by another auto on a rural road in the northwest part of the county. Buzbee, injured in the wreck, returned to work Monday.

6,000 Baptists Hold Texas Convention Today

AUSTIN (AP)—More than 6,000 messengers from most of the 4,000 Baptist churches in Texas meet today for the annual sessions of the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

The convention, at which decisions will be made effecting the 1½ million members of the churches represented, continues through Thursday night.

The general convention opens at 7 p.m. following the close this afternoon of the Woman's Missionary Union convention which attracted 2,000 delegates. The women heard a series of inspirational talks this morning with a business session and election of officers set this afternoon.

At noon today, there was an annual press luncheon honoring Mrs. Florence Patton, church editor of the Corpus Christi Caller-Times. Mrs. Patton, 67-year-old news reporter, last week became the first woman to win the annual Texas Baptist Press Award. At the Wednesday night session of the general convention Mrs. Patton will receive a lapel watch and certificate of appreciation from convention President James H. Landes and Dave Cheavens, chairman of the Texas Baptist Public Relations Advisory Committee that made the selection.

Landes will give the president's message on the convention theme "Decade of Decision," at 7:45 p.m. today. Paul M. Stevens, director of the Radio-TV Commission, Fort Worth, will give a 9 p.m. message.

The Wednesday morning program includes a number of business reports followed by the convention sermon by Dr. W. A. Criswell, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Dallas. There will be meetings and reports of the important executive board at both morning and afternoon sessions Wednesday.

Monday night Dr. Giles Fort, a medical missionary to Southern Rhodesia, told the Woman's Missionary Union convention that more than 90 million Africans will change religions the next 10 years.

"The old way is dead in Africa," he said. "New nations are being formed, and we must take the gospel to these new nations before the doors are shut forever. The Communists have had a master plan for conquering all of Africa for more than 25 years. Like in Cuba, they are taking young men out of Africa and training and indoctrinating them in Russia."

Dr. Fort challenged Baptists attending the convention to give enough money to send missionaries to fight the forces of materialism and communism in Africa.

Trotsky Widow Wants Hearing

PARIS (AP) — The widow of assassinated Bolshevik Leon Trotsky is willing to go to Russia to try to reinstate the name of her husband in Soviet communism, the newspaper France-Soir reports.

Madame Nathalie Sedov Trotsky, now 80, sent a letter to the Kremlin last week demanding a revision of her husband's Kremlin trial and an investigation of her husband's death later in Mexico.

She reasons that the time may be ripe for an investigation because of the Soviet government's allegation at the recent Communist party congress that Stalin provoked the assassination of Sergei Kirov, a Bolshevik contemporary of Trotsky.

"No one can doubt any longer that my husband was assassinated in Mexico in 1940 on the order of Stalin," the ailing white-haired woman told France-Soir.

"Remember that at the moment of the trial in Moscow, Trotsky defied Stalin to call him in. For my part, I would voluntarily go to Moscow as a witness if a public investigation is called."

Yarborough Says U.S. Must Take On African Problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., said today the United States must assume further responsibilities in Africa to prevent a possible Russian domination of the continent's new nations.

Yarborough, a colonel in the Army reserve, made his comment to a reporter after completing a two-week active duty tour in which he visited many of the recently emerged African nations.

He said U.S. economic and educational programs in Africa would be important in keeping Russian influence at a minimum.

"Since the British and the French pulled out," he added, "the burden is all the greater on us to keep (the new countries) out of the Russian sphere.

"We could abdicate and the Soviets would take over. We have a reservoir of good will there built up by our missionaries that stands us in well, whereas these people are suspicious that outsiders might want to colonize them. Of course they're suspicious of the British and French."

He said natives of most of the countries associated education with improved living standards, and that the influence of teachers cannot be exaggerated. Dealing with each country presents complexities, Yarborough said. He cited these examples:

In Ghana, first of the former European colonies to establish itself as an independent republic, Negroes in American military missions are welcomed. On the other hand, in informal discussions with Ethiopian officials, Yarborough said they let it be known that they did not welcome U.S. Negro troops.

Ghana also poses a real problem to the United States and the western allies because, Yarborough said, that republic's President Kwame Nkrumah is showing strong dictator tendencies and is leaning toward the Communist orbit.

He also said the United States should go slowly before pledging itself to back Ghana to the tune of about $100 million in development of the Volta River dam project, an undertaking in which Russia also would be a financial backer.

Mexico Takes Note Of Election

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Newspapers gave prominent display to news stories of Henry Gonzalez' election to Congress in San Antonio.

All pointed out Gonzalez Mexican descent. His parents were born in Durango.

Gonzalez, a Democrat, defeated John Goode Jr., a Republican.

The newspapers here made no editorial comment.

Death Sentence

DALLAS (AP)— Charles Lewis Forgey, 22, was sentenced to death in the electric chair Monday after he pleaded guilty to raping a 23-year-old mother.

Criminal district Judge J. Frank Wilson set Forgey's execution date as Dec. 11 for the July 20, 1960, crime.

A jury deliberated about an hour Oct. 5, 1960, in reaching the death verdict.

Economists Reject Fear As Retail Dam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most government and private economists reject the idea that public fear of war and nuclear disaster has discouraged consumer buying.

Debate and discussion continue, however, and economists are still puzzled over the failure of retail sales to join in the broad and general rise of economic activity this year.

The same period has seen international crisis piled on crisis, including the Cuban invasion fiasco, Communist penetrations of Southeast Asia, the threat of war over Berlin, the breakdown of nuclear test ban talks and the pall of fallout from the new series of Soviet nuclear explosions.

Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges and some professional economists tie these phenomena together. It is understandable, Hodges told a recent news conference, that "because of international conditions and . . . a little fear" consumers might defer spending for home appliances and other "big ticket" items.

OUT OF SHELTER

A similar thought was tossed out by economist George Cline Smith. As outgoing president of the National Association of Business Economists, the New York consulting economist told the association last month in Chicago:

"If the economy is going to take off for the expected highs, consumers are going to have to get their heads out of the fallout shelter and act as though they think the economy is going to last for a while."

Government economists — though reluctant to be quoted by name especially when dealing with psychology instead of economics—admit they have considered this thesis seriously. Most of them don't endorse it. Said one:

"If we were victims of a fright psychology, there would be a much greater slowdown than there is.

DON'T HAVE TO

"The recovery just hasn't yet generated enough momentum to catch consumers up in it. People are not spending for the same reason that industry is not piling up inventories at a boom rate. They don't have to.

"Goods are plentiful, you can get deliveries whenever you want them at stable prices. If the time comes when people suspect that prices will rise or goods get scarce, the consumer may start to run."

And Dr. Emerson P. Schmidt, research director of the United States Chamber of Commerce, told an interviewer he is convinced after talking with many Americans that the fear theory is "mostly hokum."

Driver Killed When Truck Runs Into Train

HOUSTON (AP)— A Louisiana truck driver died—and more than 35 persons were injured—when a truck loaded with brick hit a passenger train north of Houston Monday.

The train was knocked off the tracks by the force of the impact but all five passenger cars and the three locomotives stayed upright.

The truck driver, Maxie Martin Whittington, 28, of Baton Rouge, La., was dead when pulled from the wreckage of his truck.

The train was Missouri-Pacific's Texas Eagle bound from Houston to St. Louis, Mo., with 70 passengers. A highway patrolman said the crew told him the train was going about 70 miles an hour when the truck piled into the second of the three locomotives.

DEAR ABBY

Don't Let Him Get Away!

DEAR ABBY: I have been married 15 years and have 9 children. I love my husband more than words can express. A few weeks ago he came home and told me he didn't love me any more, and that he found somebody else. He said it all started years ago when I wouldn't go out with him. I did sort of stay around the house because the children needed me and besides, I was always pregnant. Now he wants out. He says he can't support two homes. Please tell me what to do. I am 32 and he is 33.

NERVOUS

DEAR NERVOUS: Small wonder he can't support two homes when one home has nine children. No matter what he is, he is yours. Hang onto him.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: In the midst of my happiness, I have a problem. I recently became engaged to a wonderful man and am planning my wedding. My father is a minister, and I know that he has always wanted to officiate at my wedding. The man I am going to marry is the son of a minister. I have known his father many years and have grown to love him almost as much as my own father. I would like very much for my future father-in-law to perform my marriage ceremony, but I don't want to hurt my own father's feelings. Is there any way this could tactfully be arranged?

TO BE WED

DEAR TO BE: Your father and future father-in law can share in the ceremony. But out of respect to your own father, do give him the lion's share.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: A relative of mine has a little ten-year-old boy who plays with dolls and doll clothes. He has never had a cowboy outfit, toy truck or car. He likes to dress up in his mother's high heels and hats, and play with the seven - and eight - year - old neighbor girls. He never wants to play any sports. Last year his school teacher called up his mother and tactfully suggested that she take him to a doctor. The mother replied, "Don't be silly. He has never even had a cold." How do you wise up a mother like that?

DISTANT RELATIVE

DEAR DISTANT: Better get a little closer for the boy's sake. How about talking to the boy's father? This family needs help, not criticism.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: The lady who signed herself "LUCKY" when she put out a grease fire in her kitchen with "a few handsful of flour and cornmeal" doesn't know how lucky she was. Flour and cornmeal can EXPLODE when thrown on a fire. A better way to extinguish a grease fire is quickly to place a lid or something similar over the burning grease. And please mention that WATER should never be thrown on burning grease as the grease will float on the water, continue to burn, and you'll be in worse shape than before. Sincerely,

VIC JONES,
YOUR FRIENDLY FIREMAN

An all-new Ford . . .
Galaxie and Falcon

Some cars have new names... this name will have a new car!

The name is familiar—the Ford Fairlane 500. The car itself is totally new—so new you'll see nothing else like it this year. It is one of Ford's milestone designs—and will be as influential in its way as the first mass-produced car (a Ford Model T), the first popular station wagon (a Ford Wagon), the first four-passenger luxury car (a Ford Thunderbird), the world's most successful compact (a Ford Falcon).

Right between Galaxie and Falcon in size and in price, the 1962 Ford Fairlane 500 is just the right car for just about everybody; you have never been able to buy anything so right before.

Big in room, ride and performance, it is still priced under most compacts. It nurses a nickel as though it never expected to see another. It moves like a rabbit on roller skates.

New unitized body a foot shorter outside . . . full-size inside

Ford engineers have changed the proportions of the automobile: a completely new unitized body gives you more room inside with less bulk outside. A foot shorter than previous Fairlanes, the new Fairlane 500 is pleasantly parkable, delightfully driveable, easily garageable. At the same time it packs into its neat and nifty 197 inches as much passenger room as you had in some of the biggest Fords ever built.

Twice-a-year maintenance

Service is reduced to a minimum—30,000 miles on many items, twice a year on the rest. You go 30,000 miles between major lubrications, 6,000 miles between oil changes and minor lubrications. You don't have to touch the engine coolant-antifreeze for two years—or 30,000 miles—at a time. Brakes adjust themselves.

All-new economy Eight from world's V-8 leader

The hand that honed the Thunderbird—and sped the Falcon to all-time Economy Run honors—turned to a new problem here, the world's first economy V-8. Made possible by new Ford foundry methods, the new Challenger V-8 is as strong as iron—and a lot lighter than iron's ever been before. As lively as you'd like . . . thriftier than you'd expect a V-8 to be . . . it's a natural powerplant for America's first eat-your-cake-and-have-it car.

For those who want even greater thrift, there's a new Fairlane Six. Its economy would be gratifying in a smaller car. In a car this size it's a downright delight.

Preview America's newest car now

As part of Preview Run U.S.A., new Fairlane 500's are riding the nation's highways and main streets right now. Watch for them. See what thousands have already seen—and raved about. Take a turn at the wheel—and perhaps do a little raving yourself.

We think you'll agree: this all-new Ford is just right for just about everybody. No matter how many new cars you've looked at, you haven't seen anything like this one. It will be at your Ford Dealer's next week. If you miss it now, be sure to see it then.

JUST RIGHT FOR JUST ABOUT EVERYBODY!
FORD FAIRLANE 500
ONLY THE NAME'S THE SAME!

Texas Leaps To Top In AP Grid Ratings

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Texas marched into first place in the weekly Associated Press poll of a 48-man committee of sports writers and sportscasters today after both Michigan State and Mississippi were upended.

Michigan State had ruled the roost for three weeks.

The unbeaten Texas Longhorns, 27-0 winners over Southern Methodist for their seventh straight, assumed the lead with only three games to play.

Alabama, also unbeaten in seven, took over second position by drubbing Mississippi State 24-0. Ohio State, 29-13 winner over Iowa, bolted into third place in the big shuffle.

Louisiana State, 10-7 conqueror of previously unbeaten Mississippi, advanced to the No. 4 slot and Minnesota, which knocked Michigan State out of the unbeaten class 13-0, took over fifth.

The points are figured on the basis of 10 for first, 9 for second and so on down to one for 10th place. On that basis, Texas has 473 points and Alabama 410.

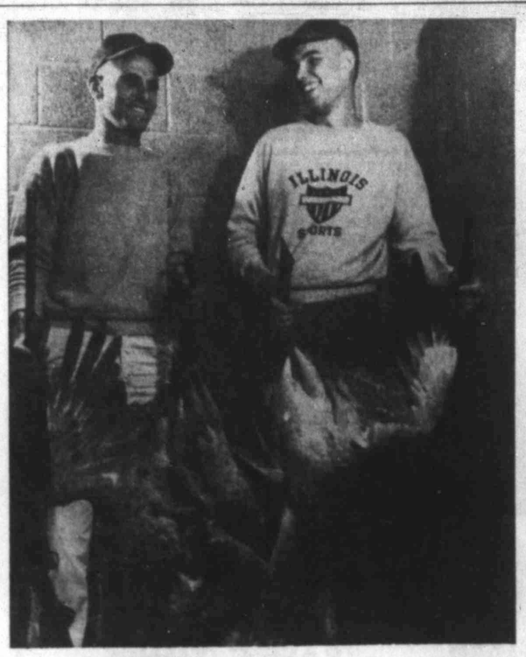

There are no pairings involving teams from the top ten in this week's schedule.

The only unbeaten, untied clubs in the top ten are Texas, Alabama and Colorado. Ohio State has not lost but was tied by Texas Christian.

The top teams with first-place votes in parentheses:

1.	Texas (35)	473
2.	Alabama (6)	410
3.	Ohio State (7)	365
4.	Louisiana State	317
5.	Minnesota	247
6.	Michigan State	202
7.	Mississippi	191
8.	Colorado	173
9	Georgia Tech	164
10.	Missouri	19

Others receiving votes: Syracuse, Utah State, Iowa, Maryland, Purdue, UCLA, Kansas, Arkansas, Northwestern, North Carolina, Rutgers, Rice, Auburn, Michigan and Navy.

Webb Officers Get Cranes

Lt. Jack Esler (left) and Lt. George Goodall of Webb AFB are shown with the sandhill cranes they killed on a hunting trip near here over the weekend. Each got his legal limit of two birds. The officers said they saw hundreds of the huge birds.

Partnership Golf Tourney Delayed Due To Weather

The Partnership Handicap Golf tournament, which was to have taken place at the Big Spring Country Club Sunday, was postponed until next Sunday due to bad weather.

Over 100 players were expected to take part in the 18 holes of play, had the weather held good, but the elements turned cold and the wind made it very uncomfortable on the course.

Entry fee for the meet will be $7.50 per team, or $3.75 per individual. Entries will be allowed to select their own partners and choose their own starting times.

A barbecue will climax the day's activity. Golf merchandise prizes will go to the winners.

The Country Club will also be the scene of some concentrated activity Saturday, at which time a team of about 40 Webb AFB players visits the course to meet a Country Club team.

The Webb squad will be repaying a visit the Country Club players made to the military installation recently.

Col. John Holt will captain the Webb squad while Jack Wallace leads the Country Club group into play.

Vote On Spit Ball Nearing

NEW YORK (AP) — Beleaguered big league baseball pitchers, stung by a record 2,730 home runs last season, have a strong ally in Commissioner Ford Frick.

"I hope they bring back the spitball," Frick said today. "The pitchers need help. Most of the rule changes the past few years have favored the batter. Something has to be done to give the game more balance."

According to Frick, a proposal to legalize the spitter was submitted to the major league rules committee last month. The group is expected to consider it during the majors' annual meetings early in December in Tampa, Fla. Jim Gallagher, veteran executive most recently with Philadelphia, is the committee chairman.

"A similar proposal was submitted to the committee a few years ago but was turned down," Frick recalled. "This time I think there's even more need for the spitter. The fans will eventually get tired of seeing all those home runs. The spitball would help bring back the stolen base, the hit-and-run and the sacrifice and would give the fans something new."

Frick pointed out Joe Cronin, American League president, and Frank Shaughnessy, former president of the International League, also are in favor of the spitball's return.

The spitball, outlawed in the early 1920s, moves up to the plate like a knuckler, only faster, Frick said.

Vote On Spring Drills Upcoming

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas high schools will decide whether they want to eliminate spring football training entirely.

Spring football now is carried out only in the Class AAAA schools and junior high school and elementary schools.

The legislative council of the Texas Interscholastic League has decided to submit the question to the schools and if voted the rule change will become effective in September, 1962.

Only the Class AAAA schools will vote on the question of eliminating spring training since they are the only ones that now retain it. An effort was made to eliminate it last year but the schools voted to continue, but by a narrow margin.

The league does not control the junior high and elementary schools but can do so by penalizing the senior high schools that promote spring training in the lower grades.

Other matters to be voted upon include prohibiting students from attending special training athletic camps in football or basketball and setting definite dates for the start of basketball. It would be Oct. 1 for Class B boys and Class B girls basketball; Nov. 1 for all the other classes of boys basketball and Oct. 15 for Classes AA and A girls basketball.

Obviously aimed at attempting to cut down on the number of injuries and deaths in athletics, a proposal will be voted upon to require the filing of a medical certificate and a permit from the pupil's parents or guardian.

Limiting practice to one period per day in football also will come up for a vote.

Alabama Back Among Elite In Football

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Alabama's Crimson Tide, back among the elite of college football after a decade of mediocrity, have spelled success this year with a pair of Qs, and a couple of blokes named Pat and Mike.

The Qs stand for "quarterback" and "quickness", the hallmark of its rapid-fire offense and a rock-ribbed defense. The Pat is also the quarterback, Pat Trammell.

Mike? He is a quick-driving fullback by the name of Mike Fracchia, who proves a perfect foil to the speed, deception and passing precision of his partner, Trammell.

This combination has led Coach Bear Bryant's team to a 7-0 record, and has helped it to be ranked No. 2 in The Associated Press' latest poll after whomping Mississippi State last Saturday, 24-0.

All elements have blended precisely. Trammell is ranked fifth nationally in total offense with 956 yards running and passing, and 11th in passing with 730 yards in completing 54 of 93 attempts.

Alabama is second nationally in total defense, allowing only 911 yards in seven games for a 130.1 average, and second in rushing defense with a miserly 55.1 per game average. It has allowed only 3.1 points per game, lowest in the nation.

Trammell has passed for five touchdowns, and scored eight. Fracchia has tallied four times and been the hatchet man on key yardage situations.

Both will be ready this Saturday when the Tide plays Richmond of the Southern Conference, causing the Spiders coach Ed Merrick to crack, "I hope my boys won't be overconfident."

Richmond may be without halfback Earl Stoudt, its All Conference halfback and leading ground gainer, who injured a knee in last week's 11-0 victory over Virginia Tech.

Texas, the No. 1 team, will have to face Baylor without fullback Ray Poage, out for the second straight week. Third-ranked Ohio State, playing Indiana, probably will be without quarterback Bill Mrukowski, who suffered a gashed finger in the Buckeyes victory over Iowa.

Penn State lost guard Bob Hart for the year because of a recurring ankle injury that will require surgery. Jerry Gross, the University of Detroit's quarterback who led the nation in total offense part of this season, was operated on Monday for a fracture of the right leg he suffered last week against Army. He is finished for 1961.

Notre Dame is expected to have guard Nick Buonoconte and end Jim Kelly back for this week's game at Pitt, when the Irish try to break a three-game losing string. Notre Dame fullback Mike Lind may be out another week with a pulled back muscle.

Baylor quarterback Bobby Ply was listed as doubtful for the Texas game after suffering a knee injury against Texas Christian.

Bednarick Says He'll Get Boos

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Veteran lineman Chuck Bednarik said today he expects to get booed next Sunday when the Philadelphia Eagles tangle with the Giants in New York in a crucial National Football League game.

The stellar Eagles' center figures that some New York fans won't forget his booming tackle in last year's victory which rocked back Frank Gifford and sidelined him the rest of the season with a severe concussion. It was a game-saving tackle and a clean one, Gifford conceded later.

"Some people are funny," said Bednarik. "But the booing won't bother me. Absolutely not. I'm just going to play my ordinary game."

Sands To Clash With Post Club

ACKERLY — The Sands High School girls play their second home basketball game this evening, at which time they oppose Post.

Post is coached by Van Kountz, who had a similar job with Sands last year. Sands' present coach is L. L. Laws.

Post won in a previous encounter with Sands this year, 31-21. Flower Grove also beat Sands, 32-27.

Sands has only one starter back from last season, Linda Bristow.

Lions Slump In News Poll

DALLAS (AP)—The leaders in the Dallas News schoolboy football poll stayed put this week except in Class AAA where a massive shakeup occurred.

Wichita Falls still heads Class AAAA, Jacksboro, Class AA, and Albany, Class A, but Brownwood, the long-time unanimous leader of Class AAA skidded from the top after being played to a scoreless tie by Breckenridge last week.

Brownwood dropped to fifth place while Breckenridge zoomed from tenth to fourth slot. Dumas shot up to first from last week's third place.

San Benito went from fourth to second, Gainesville from fifth to third, Cleburne from seventh to sixth, Bay City from ninth to seventh, Belton from sixth to eighth and Carthage from second to ninth while Corsicana dropped from eighth to tenth.

Haskell fell out of Class AA, and was replaced by Hearne. Stinnett disappeared from Class A as did Anahuac while Seagraves came in.

The top 10 by classes:

AAAA—Wichita Falls, San Angelo, Corpus Christi Ray, San Antonio Jefferson, Fort Worth Paschal, Galena Park, Odessa Permian, Corpus Christi Miller, Houston Milby, Ysleta.

AAA—Dumas, San Benito, Gainesville, Breckenridge, Brownwood, Cleburne, Bay City, Belton, Carthage, Corsicana.

A—Albany, Wink, Hull-Daisetta, Forney, Gruver, Rio Hondo, Crowell, New London, Kress, Seagraves.

Tucker's Aerial Gains Pass 1,000-Yard Mark

Jerry Tucker, Big Spring quarterback, has passed the 1,000-yard mark in aerial gains this season.

Through eight games, Tucker has completed 67 of 130 passes for gains aggregating 1,004 yards. His average gain figures out to 14.9 paces. He's thrown for ten touchdowns and had nine intercepted.

Jack Irons, although he carried the ball only one time against Midland High last week (due to an injury), remained the top ball carrier on the squad. His average gain is 4.7 yards, Irons having picked up 331 paces in 70 carries.

Irons has also punted 24 times for a 32.1-yard average.

James Gilbert and Willie Mendoza are the standout receivers on the club. Gilbert has the most completions, 25 to his credit. Mendoza has caught only 19 but they have been for gains totaling 393 yards.

Gilbert and Eddie Everett have each scored four touchdowns while accepting passes.

Midland High's tremendous running gain exhibited against the Steers last week gave the opposition the edge in overall rushing, 1,166 yards to 947, but the Steers have gained 1,096 through the air to 531 for the enemy and their total gains amount to 2,043, compared to 1,697 for the foe.

First downs favor Big Spring, 102 to 93.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

Sports dialogue:

DICK COLLINS, publicist for LOOK Magazine:

"We noted the following in the Help Wanted section this week: 'Manufacturer wants go-getter to sell coaches' effigies in newly opened Minnesota territory. These effigies guaranteed to hang and burn better than competitive models. Minnesota territory possible big money-maker in next six weeks.'"

FRANK ROBINSON, Cincinnati Redleg slugger:

"I couldn't count the number of times I've been knocked down — especially by Don Drysdale. A pitcher is a sucker for knocking down a good hitter. It only makes the good hitter mad and gets his eye sharper on the ball."

WOODY HAYES

BILL FURLONG, Chicago scribe:

"Betting on parlay cards is like making an appointment to be held up. Your losses are so certain that a parlay card operator who is a mere millionaire is considered underprivileged; his colleagues send him CARE packages. Most of them — when their kids get tired of their old toys — go out and buy them a new Texas. They'd feel underdressed if they were found in public without their nose napkins — mink Kleenex."

WOODY HAYES, Ohio State football coach:

"Any sound football team is sound first in running. It is sound secondly on defense."

* * * *

JACK KEMP, quarterback of the San Diego Chargers, when asked why he risks playing every week with a brace around his chest which encircles his left shoulder and takes Codeine immediately after every game:

"If I don't take the pills right after a game there would be a lot of pain as soon as the novocaine wears off. Of course, I'm concerned about playing this way and possibly being hurt badly, but it's the only way I can play. I want to keep playing. It's my life. This is the way I take care of my family."

* * * *

JACK CURTICE, Stanford University coach:

"Needless to say, the causes of injuries and death in football this year needs a thorough investigation. We must get to the point where they blow that whistle and eliminate the piling on and butting. There might be more deaths this year because more youngsters are participating and more games are being played than at any time in the history of football. This increase may have resulted in a smaller percentage of competent men supervising and coaching. Some times high schools assign English or history teachers as football assistants when they aren't qualified."

* * * *

JAMIE CURRAN, Los Angeles tennis authority:

"What is wrong with U.S. tennis? Who's to blame? Nobody is to blame — yet. Actually, the U.S. has merely been going through a rebuilding stage. History is once more repeating itself. From 1920 to 1926, the United States dominated Davis Cup competition. From the next six years, it was France's 'Four Musketeers.' For four years after that, Great Britain, with Fred Perry, ruled the tennis world. Finally, in 1937, the United States emerged again."

* * * *

JIM MURRAY, Los Angeles writer:

"Professional basketball is a game in which nine ten-man teams play a 700-game schedule just to get a couple of ribbon clerks out of the game and start all over again. It is a little like a three-day poker game in which the winner has to cut for high card on the last hand to see whether he gets to keep the money or go home in a barrel with the guy who only came with ten bucks — or a 15-round prizefight in which the winner of the last round gets the decision even if he spent the first 14 picking himself up off the floor."

QBC Maps Plans For Game Train

With one of the year's most important football games just ahead, officers of the Big Spring Quarterback Club are hopeful for a banner attendance at tonight's session in the high school cafeteria. The conclave starts at 7:30 p.m.

The QBC is cooperating with the Daily Herald in sponsoring a special train to Friday night's Abilene game and final details concerning the trip will be worked out at tonight's parley.

A detailed scouting report on Abilene will also be given. Roy Baird, dean of coaches here, headed the Big Spring team which has been scouting Abilene all fall.

Films of the Big Spring-Midland High game will also be screened, with the commentary given by head coach Emmett McKenzie.

The films will attract a number of fans, since the weather kept many patrons away last week.

Coffee and cookies will be served during the meeting.

David Hodnett Is Go Kart Champion

In go-kart races held Sunday at the 87 Kart track south of town, David Hodnett captured the first place trophy in the A Fast class, at which time he scored 875 points.

In second place was Clarence Woods with 700 points. He also captured an award.

The first place tropy in the Slow class was won by Malcolm Stephens. Bill Ellis was second in that division.

Tickets To Bowl Game Can Be Had

DALLAS (AP)—The public sale of cotton bowl tickets closes tonight and unless you have in an application you'll be out of luck.

There were indications that the 25,000 tickets available to the public would be oversubscribed.

GAME DUCAT SALE GOOD

Don Crockett of the School Business Office said reserve ticket sales for the Friday Big Spring-Abilene football game amounted to 237 this morning at 9:30 a.m.

An additional 34 student tickets have been sold, along with 62 special train ducats.

The game tickets were made available to the general public this morning after season ticket holders had first crack at them on Monday.

The tickets will remain available here until Friday. This will be the final road game for the Steers this fall.

Royal Cautions Team Saturday Foe Is Rough

By The Associated Press

A dry eye was hard to find Monday among the Southwest Conference football coaches.

Texas Coach Darrell Royal said he didn't think his high-ranked team had the big head over its sparkling record of seven straight victories.

As if to make sure, he warned that the Longhorns face a tough opponent in Saturday homecoming day game against the Baylor Bears.

He cautioned that Baylor should travel to Austin full of spirit. "They had a revival out there Saturday and now they are taking it on the road." The Bears dumped Texas Christian 28-14 last Saturday.

Royal said the Longhorns will tussle with the Bears without the services of fullback Ray Poage who has an injured knee and also missed last week's 27-0 rout of Southern Methodist. Center Perry McWilliams has a sprained ring finger of his left that is worrying Royal. "That's his snap-back hand," Royal moaned.

In the Ozarks, the Arkansas Razorbacks, fresh from a 15-8 victory over Texas A&M, stayed away from heavy contact in Monday's workout. They roughed out a few Rice plays against the reserve team preparing for the encounter with Rice Saturday in Houston.

Generally optimistic Coach Frank Broyles remained the driest-eyed mentor around as he praised the Razorbacks' performance in the A&M game. He named guard Dean Garrett and quarterback George McKinney co-captains for the clash with Rice.

Broyles credited tackle John Childress and guard Ray Trail with key defensive work in the 90-yard winning touchdown drive in the last five minutes of Saturday's game.

Rice Coach Jess Neely said tackle John Cornett—out for three weeks because of an ankle injury—may miss this week's homecoming game against Arkansas. "He's still limping and as long as he's limping he isn't going to help us," Neely said.

The Owl varsity worked in sweat clothes while the reserves scrimmaged. The varsity watched films of Rice's victory over Texas Tech, limbered up for about 30 minutes and went home.

Southern Methodist, which takes on A&M at College Station, has two players on the injury list. Both Billy Gannon and Rene Medellin are expected to be available Saturday, however. Left halfback Gannon has a bruised shoulder and Medellin, the No. 2 left end, was favoring his left ankle.

The squad went through a light workout and then watched movies of the A&M victory over Baylor two weeks ago. Assistant coach Jim Stanley, who scouted A&M against Arkansas Saturday said, "The Aggies are a strong team, with considerable depth and power."

Aggie Coach Jim Myers sent his team through a brisk workout featuring running. He said his Cadets will be facing "the highest and strongest line, tackle to tackle, we have met all season."

Texas Tech Coach J. T. King and his Red Raiders are preparing for an intersectional contest with Boston College in Lubbock. The Raiders practiced all phases of kicking in the Monday afternoon workout.

Evening Lions Hear Walker

Robert C. Walker, long-time military man and civil service employe of the USAF Information office at Webb AFB, was guest speaker at the Big Spring Evening Lions Club Monday night.

Walker spoke on "the old versus the new." His comparison of the early days of flying, based on a personal association with the military over the past 50 years, was both amusing and informative. Beginning with his first sight of an airplane at Fort Sam Houston in 1914, he traced the activities of aircraft through the years to the needle-nosed T-38 which arrived at Webb Saturday.

Walker said that when he was ordered into Mexico in 1915 with Gen. Pershing to fight Pancho Villa, the aircraft was dispatched from Ft. Sam Houston to aid the expedition. He said, however, that the airplane proved about as elusive as Villa, for neither of them were ever seen. He learned, later, that the airplane had been damaged in landing while en route and had to be returned to Ft. Sam Houston on trucks for repairs.

Walker explained the various commands into which the Air Force had been divided for defensive and offensive purposes, with descriptions of the destructive power of Strategic Air Command, its weapons system, and the deployment of that power.

Zale's Reports Big Opening Day

The biggest "opening day" in company history was observed Nov. 1 when Zale's Jewelers opened six new stores in various shopping centers throughout the country.

The six stores are located in Huntsville, Ala.; Denver, Colo.; Lawton, Okla.; Millburn, N. J.; Portland, Ore.; and La Mirada, Calif.

The Dallas - based company plans to open another five stores by mid-November, including two new leased departments, reported President Ben A. Lipshy. This would give the nation's largest retail jewelry organization 222 operating units as the firm heads into what is expected to be a record-breaking Christmas selling season.

Two Bobcats Added To Pack

Cub Scout Pack Pack 138 met at the College Heights School Monday night and two new Bobcats were added to the pack. They are David Davis and John H. Booker.

Awards presented were to Buddy Hardy, Wolf badge and one year pin; Andrew Merrick, Wolf badge and ond one year pin; Allen Murphy, one year pin; Rickey Tubb, Wolf badge and one year pin and David Moore, gold and silver arrow point and Wolf badge.

Area Students Pledge At Tech

Several area students at Texas Tech have been listed as pledges in 11 campus fraternities at the college. In all, 169 pledges have been accepted at the end of the fall rush, according to Hershel G. Potts, fraternity supervisor.

Included are:

Alpha Tau Omega—Jimmy Dale King, Lamesa; William Gerald Hyde, Midland.

Delta Tau Delta—Robert Dan Corley, Lamesa; Tom Edward Arnold, Midland; Kenneth Lea Ballard, Midland.

Kappa Alpha—Robert Joseph Breckenridge, son of Dr. and Mrs. E. O. Breckenridge, Big Spring.

Kappa Sigma—Kenneth Craig Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Johnson, Big Spring.

Weinkauf Found Guilty Of DWI

SAN ANGELO — Reinhold A. Weinkauf, 58, of Big Spring, was found guilty in 119th District Court here Monday of driving while intoxicated, second offense. His punishment was fixed at 10 days in jail and $100 fine.

Dale Bride, highway patrolman, testified he had taken the defendant into custody at Water Valley on Oct. 26 and that Weinkauf had trouble standing and speaking. Among the character witnesses for Weinkauf was Jess Slaughter, Big Spring justice of peace.

Barbecue Set For Thai Visitors

Projects affecting military-civilian relationships were discussed at a meeting of the Base-Community Council Monday noon.

The special events committee of the council reported that plans are under way to stage a West Texas barbecue for the Chief of Staff of the Thailand Air Force and his accompanying officers, when the group visits Webb Air Force Base Nov. 14.

The affair will be at the Horace Garrett Ranch near Forsan, and a number of local citizens, with Webb staff officers will join in sponsoring the event.

The recreation and education committee said that plans are being furthered for transporting young ladies, with chaperones, to dances at the service men's clubs.

Mayor Lee Rogers said the city will take under consideration the installation of a signal light at Wasson Road and the Webb Village roadway entrance. A large number of Webb Village children cross this intersection on their way to school. The light would be actuated by pedestrians, through manual control.

The mayor said there have not yet been any new developments on road changes to affect the entrances to the Base. The Council has been working for some time to improve the appearance of the entrances.

Payment Made On Uniforms

The first payment on new uniforms for the Runnels Junior High band was approved at a meeting of Band Boosters held Monday night in the high school cafeteria.

Payment of $2,000 will be made, leaving a balance of slightly more than $2,600. This balance will be paid in smaller amounts as funds become available, according to Mrs. Jo McCullough, secretary.

Sale of fruit cakes for the coming Christmas season was planned and saleswomen at the various schools were appointed. Rex Bishop is chairman.

Salesladies will be Mrs. R. E. Dobbins, high school; Mrs. Tolford Durham, Goliad Junior High; Mrs. Raleigh Rutledge, Runnels Junior High; and Mrs. Vern Vigar, in charge of industrial sales.

Members of the Band Boosters Club and the bands will take orders and deliver cakes. A contest for most sales by band members will be conducted.

Prices of the cakes are two-pound, $3.70; three-pound, $5.25; and five-pound, $8.25. Prices are somewhat lower when the cakes are ordered in large quantities, Mrs. McCullough said.

Refreshments will be served by the Boosters to riders of the special train going to Abilene this weekend.

There were 28 members present. The next meeting will be Dec. 4.

About 150 Attend Forum

Approximately 150 persons heard C. L. Kay of Lubbock, in the third session of the Freedom Forum sponsored by the Big Spring Jaycees, outline the threat of communism to the world.

"The strides of communism since the Revolution of 1917 have taken in the larger part of the world's surface today," he said. "The only way we can prevent its engulfing the world is through education. This education must make people aware that the threat of communism is a planned movement and that these plans include internal capture, without war, of all nations."

Kay, with film, charts and maps, showed the gains, strategies, and methods of communism. He also told of documented materials from Communist leaders, and showed how acts of aggression and political interferences in the governments of weak states, proved that the true aim of the Soviet powers is world domination.

James Cape, general chairman of the forum committee of the Jaycees, announced that next Monday night's session would deal with the threat of socialism, which always precedes communism.

The sessions will run for three more Monday nights. They begin at 7:30 p.m. at the Howard County Junior College auditorium. The public is invited and there is no charge for admission.

Also T. Sgt. Levett E. Brown, T. Sgt. Richard M. Clark, Airman 1.C. Herman Bradford, Airman 1.C. Felix Bruiton, S. Sgt. Dewey N. Smith, M. Sgt. Jesse V. Shans, S. Sgt. William L. Pfund, and Airman 1.C. Franklin D. Goff.

GOP Chairman To Speak At Lubbock

William E. Miller, chairman of the national Republican committee, is to be guest speaker at a dinner in Lubbock Saturday.

Miller is not only head of the GOP machinery, but he is a Congressman from New York. He has been a leader in the North-South conservative coalition in recent sessions of Congress. The dinner will be held at 7:30 p.m. in Fair Park Coliseum, and people in this region are invited to hear Rep. Miller.

Time Announced

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's news conference Wednesday will be at 4 p.m. EST, the White House announced Monday. There will be no live radio or TV coverage.

New Members Welcomed To 25-Year Club

Ten new members — largest group in a single year—were welcomed into the Cosden Petroleum Corporation's 25-year Club at a festive dinner dance Monday evening.

Going on the roster for having served the company for a quarter century were J. D. Cauble, Knox Chadd, Bill Conger, Rayford Liles, Garrett Patton, Otto Peters Jr., Roland Schwarzenbach, R. W. Thompson, Allen Wiggins and W. D. Willbanks.

Each man received personal remarks of recognition from Cosden President R. L. Tollett, who presented service awards. These include a diamond-studded Cosden 25-year emblem (for pin, ring, or tie stud), and a certificate for a month's pay with the stipulation that this sum be spent on a vacation for the recipient and his family.

The men also received gold membership cards from the club president, Douglas Orme, who was master of ceremonies for the brief program.

The affair was held at the Cosden Country Club, where tables were decorated with silver pieces holding golden and white mums. In each floral arrangement was a silver horseshoe with a "25" on it. Wives of the new club members received souvenir "diamond" rings.

The Cosden 25-year club now has 55 on its rolls, four of them deceased.

City Officials In Abilene Today For Road Opening

City Manager A. K. Steinheimer, Commissioner George Zachariah, Police Chief Jay Banks, and Assistant Chief Leo Hull, were in Abilene this morning to attend the opening of the 15.2 mile freeway around the City of Abilene. The recently completed freeway is a part of IS 20.

The official opening of the new route around the north and northeast sections of Abilene was observed in a ribbon cutting ceremony. Herbert C. Petry, Carrizo Springs attorney and chairman of the State Highway Commission, cut the ribbon after a short talk at 11 a.m.

Other officials attending the opening today are D. C. Greer, state highway engineer from Austin, Hal Woodward, Coleman, and Charles F. Hawn, Athens.

Abilene officials taking part were Walter Pope Jr., member of the Chamber of Commerce highway development committee, Mayor C. R. Kinard, and County Judge Reed Ingalsby.

The 400 to 500 persons attending the opening went to the highway department shops for a barbecue dinner.

Gonzales Ordered To State Prison

Alex Gonzales, charged with possession of marijuana, elected to plead guilty to the charge against him Monday. Judge Ralph Caton, acting on recommendation of Dist. Atty. Gil Jones, assessed a five year penitentiary sentence against Gonzales.

A plea of guilty entered by Orville H. Thomas, indicted for theft over $50, brought a three year sentence for the defendant which, on recommendation of Jones, was suspended.

Orientation Set For New Members Of Chamber

An orientation session for new members of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce is scheduled for 5 p.m. today at the chamber office, according to Carroll Davidson, manager.

The program of action by the Chamber will be outlined, and projects now under way and those coming in the near future will be spelled out. Davidson will review the work done by each committee in its area.

A financial report on how income for Chamber work is obtained will be presented along with an explanation of how that money is spent for the civic improvement.

Before leaving for the evening, the new members will be asked to sign a committee preference card so they can take part in Chamber work in the area of their choice. Refreshments will be served.

Kiwanis Meeting Place Announced

Big Spring Kiwanis Club will meet Thursday noon at the Wagon Wheel Restaurant, it was announced by Ernest Welch, president.

The Settles Hotel dining room, regular meeting place of the club, is now being redecorated. All members of the Kiwanis Club are asked to be at the Wagon Wheel at noon.

VW Service is as good as the car

Our service shop operates on this principle: We'd rather service your vehicle than repair it.

When you buy a Volkswagen from us you get a coupon booklet that provides for two free inspections, plus regular preventive service for the life of the vehicle.

Our mechanics, who perform this service, are trained in exacting VW methods. We have special tools and hoists to save their time and your money. We have a full supply of Genuine VW Spare Parts and factory-rebuilt assemblies on hand or immediately available, all moderately priced. And so does every other Authorized VW Dealer you'll meet in your travels.

Perhaps that's why Volkswagens stay young so long, and why VW owners usually speak well of us. Talk with one and find out for yourself.

Plane Crash Survivors Said Doing Well, 'Considering'

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP)—Three survivors of a plane crash Sunday near Santa Fe were "doing pretty well" today considering their experience, their physician said.

Two children died in the crash. They were Laurie Lee Bond, 2, and Tracy Lynn Bond, 1, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson R. Bond of Baytown, Tex.

The parents and the pilot, James L. Stover of Houston, Tex., survived.

The wreckage was spotted Monday morning by a National Guard helicopter after a hunter found it and telephoned the Federal Aviation Agency tower at the airport.

The plane disappeared Sunday night after attempting a landing and, then making a wrong turn while circling the field for another approach.

A physician said Mrs. Bond was in the best shape of the three survivors. Dr. Louis Zucal said all were suffering "from a sort of traumatic shock. The worst is yet to come."

"For what they went through, I think they are doing fine, Zucal said. He said all three suffered frostbite after spending the night in the open.

The wreckage of the Cessna 182 was found on a cedar-covered ridge three miles west of the Santa Fe airport.

Bond and Stover had tried to walk out from the wreckage through snow covered country, leaving the injured Mrs. Stover behind.

A New Mexico Air National Guard helicopter landed on a hillside near the wreckage and flew Mrs. Bond to St. Vincent's Hspital.

State police Sgt. Milton Matteson, en route to the crash scene, came upon Bond wandering along a ridge a mile from where the plane was down.

Other rescuers found Stover, badly injured, walking along in a flat area below the ridge on which the plane crashed.

The bright yellow aircraft left a trail of wreckage nearly 200 yards long through low-lying cedar trees along a ridge.

Clothing, personal effects and pieces of airplane were strewn all along the trail.

Laurie Lee Bond was found 30 yards from the major portion of the wreckage. The other little girl, Tracy, was under the main wreckage.

Rescuers were unable to get any details of the wreck from Mr. and Mrs. Bond and Stover.

Stover, construction superintendent for Texcraft Builders of Houston, had rented the plane Saturday from Southwestern Skyways and flown to Houston, where he picked up Mr. and Mrs. Bond and their two children.

He had refueled at Midland, Tex., Sunday afternoon en route back to Santa Fe.

Exams Slated For NROTC

High school seniors and graduates have until Nov. 17 to apply for the Navy's Reserve Officer Training Corps. Applicants will take the competitive examination on Dec. 9 as the first step toward an appointment as midshipman.

Designed to supplement the officer output of the Naval Academy, the NROTC program makes it possible for a young man to earn a regular commission while studying at a civilian college of his choice which has an NROTC unit. All tuition, fees and books are furnished by the Navy, and the student receives an annual retainer of $600 for not more than four years.

During the summers the student goes on training cruises to many parts of the world. After completing the usual four year college course, he is commissioned in the Regular Navy or Marine Corps and goes on active duty as a prospective career officer in the Naval service. He receives the same promotional opportunities, duty assignments and benefits as his Naval Academy contemporary.

High school seniors and graduates who have reached their 17th birthday and not the 21st, on July 1, 1962, may apply for the aptitude test. Those who make a qualifying score will be given a physical exam early in 1962. From the number of qualified young men remaining in competition, at least 1,600 will be selected to begin their naval careers next September.

The NROTC college training program is also open to enlisted men on active duty with the Navy and Marines. A separate quota is established for applicants within these services.

Application forms are available at high schools, or the local Navy Recruiting Station, located in the Big Spring Post Office.

Stamps In The News

By SYD KRONISH

It may be a little early for Christmas, but Australia has just announced it will issue its annual Christmas stamp on Nov. 8 depicting a religious theme. The 5 pence brown stamp will show an open prayer book with the Nativity Scene at the left and the wording "Glory To God in the highest and on earth peace. . ." The year 1961 appears atop the phrase. The Norfolk Island Post Office will issue the same design on Nov. 20 in grey-blue color but with the same 5 pence denomination.

The new Australian stamp will also help celebrate the end of 350th anniversary of the first publication of a new English translation of the King James Bible which first appeared in 1611.

The United States Post Office Department has announced it will issue a new 8 cent regular postage stamp portraying General of the Armies John J. Pershing (1860-1948). It will be released on Nov. 17 in New York City to coincide with the opening of the 13th Annual ASDA show. The new stamp will ultimately replace the 8 cent Statue of Liberty design which now appears also on the 3 cent and 11 cent regular denominations.

The new Pershing stamp will be a departure from the normal presentation of portrait stamps in the regular postage series of 1954-61. Pershing's portrait will be towards the right, facing left, and will show the general in full uniform. Only four stars will be on his shoulder. Although permitted to wear five, he never wore more than four.

Collectors desiring first day cancellations of the 8 cent Pershing stamp may send addressed envelopes, together with remittance to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed, to the Postmaster, New York 1, N. Y. Each envelope to the Postmaster should be clearly marked "First Day Covers 8c Pershing Stamp."

Sweden has issued four new stamps in its regular postage line. The 10 kronor depicts an old rune-stone of Oland as taken from an 11th Century drawing. The 25, 35 and 40 ore stamps are a continuation in the series featuring a portrait of the King. This series started in March of this year.

Republicans See Victory Sign

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Republican congressional committee said Monday the showing of John Goode Jr. against Democrat Henry Gonzalez in Texas indicated rising GOP strength in the South.

Goode's showing, Rep. Bob Wilson of California said, indicates "that the Republican party is well on its way toward winning control of the House of Representatives in 1962."
