Winter weather crosses West Texas

More rain in forecast, sleet and snow possible

From local, wire reports

A winter weather advisory was issued for a vast area of West Texas as light snow fell across the area and more was on the way.

Forecasts called for the possibility of snow over the Panhandle and South Plains and for a wintry mix of precipitation over the southern areas of the South Plains, much of the Permian Basin, the northern trans Pecos and mountains with rain expected across the rest of West Texas.

The worst of the weather could occur tonight for Scurry Countians, as temperatures dip below freezing. A 70 percent chance of rain has been forecast, with sleet and snow possible.

The early word calls for a 50 percent chance of precipitation Wednesday.

There will be occasional rain and few thunderstorms in western, northern and northeast sections of North Texas tonight. Rain and a few thunderstorms are likely in southern and southeastern areas. Some of the rain may be locally heavy at times.

South Texas is expected to get light rain over the Hill Country and scattered showers and a few thunderstorms in Southeast Texas and along the middle and upper Texas coast.

Highs Wednesday will be in the 20s in the Panhandle and in the 40s and 50s across the rest of West Texas, the 50s and 60s in North Texas and in the 60s in South Texas.

Rainfall in the county was less than a half-inch Monday, with just 15 one-hundredths recorded at the water plant in Snyder. For the year, Snyder has received 4.8 inches.

Robertson tosses hat back into ring

Councilman Dayton Robertson filed Monday for another two-year term on the Snyder City Council.

Robertson, an engineer and plant manager at Y-Z Industries, is seeking election to his third full term. He was first appointed to fill an unexpired term in the fall of 1992.

His seat is one of three on the council up for election on May 3. Two of those, Robertson's and one held by Ron Shaw, are at-large places. The other is the District 3 seat, vacated last year by Kenny Gambrell.

Shaw has announced he will also seek re-election, but has not filed. No one has filed for the District 3 chair.

The other city government position up for election is the mayor's post. Last week, Mayor David Holt filed for another term. Like Robertson, he is currently unopposed.

There are also eight school board trustee places up for election in May.

Robertson graduated from Snyder High School in 1984 and from Texas A&M University in 1988 with a degree in civil engineering. He earned his master's degree from the University of Missouri.

A member of the First Baptist Church, he is a Rotarian and has been a coach for youth softball, T-ball, soccer and basketball.

He and his wife, Bettsy, have two children. Their daughter, Blake, is a fourth grader and their son, Craig, is in the first grade.

"We've got a lot of big engineering projects underway — 30th Street, the water treatment plant, water line replacement and infrastructure for the industrial part — that I to see concluded," Roberts said in announcing his desire to serve another term. "It will probably take another two years to finish that."

To date, only four people have filed as candidates in the school board elections and all are incumbents.

Trustees Bo Robinson, Place 4, and Dirk Dunn, Place 5, are seeking another term on the Ira ISD board. Both are unopposed.

Richard Chambers has filed to retain his Place 3 seat on the Snyder ISD board. The other seat up for election on the board is Place 2, held by Geraldine Parker. She has said she will not seek re-election.

Four seats are up for election on the Hermleigh ISD board. The only person to file has been Tim Dacus, who was elected last year to fill out an unexpired term. He will be seeking a full term this time.

Also on the Hermleigh ballot will be terms held by John Williamson and Chip Roemisch, and the uncompleted term of Jimmy Hudgins, who recently resigned from the board.

Good turnout here for Anxiety IV sale

The event drew buyers and Hereford cattle industry officials from several states. Among them were A.L. "Dusty" Rhodes, president of the Texas Hereford Association and owner of the R2 Ranch near Abilene, and Jim Boyd of the American Hereford Association.

Kreig Herefords of Eden consigned the top-selling bull, a Domino which went for $2,500.

Golden Stevenson of Midland bought another Domino bull for $2,000, consigned to the auction by Dry Creek Company of San Angelo.

Also going for $2,000 was "Neb Tech 928," a bull consigned by Summerour Ranch of Dalhart and sold to Jack Barnhill of Turkey.

Seven females brought $8,600 to average $1,257.

The auctioneer was Stanley Stout of Linwood, Kan.

Jones testifies this morning

An eight-man, four-woman jury heard testimony from defendant Carl Anthony Jones this morning before heading into a noon recess.

The defense was expected to call one more witness when it resumes its case this afternoon in 132nd District Court.

Jones, a Price Daniel unit inmate, is on trial for assaulting a correctional officer on July 12, 1996. He is represented by Kandace Norris of Canyon, an attorney with the State Counsel for Offenders, a division of TDCJ.

Clinton OK'd White House stays to boost donations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two years before the Democratic fund-raising controversy erupted, President Clinton scribbled a note suggesting that his aides arrange overnight stays in the Lincoln Bedroom for substantial party donors, administration officials said today.

Clinton's notation was handwritten on a memo from his chief fund-raiser, Terence McAuliffe. McAuliffe's memo said White House visits were needed to motivate supporters, and he identified 10 major donors, the officials said.

McAuliffe was finance chairman for the Clinton-Gore campaign.

President Clinton today acknowledged he approved of McAuliffe's suggestions and said that on his own recommended aides arrange for "some of my friends" to stay overnight at the White House.

"They were my friends and I was proud to have them here," he said. "I didn't have any strangers here. The Lincoln Bedroom was never sold."

The McAuliffe memo proposed that donors beleaguered by the 1994 election loss should be given access to the president through such things as White House lunches and coffees or golf outings. It identified the biggest Democratic supporters from the past election, the officials said.

THE SDN COLUMN

By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Self-control is the ability to restrain from responding with the right thing at the wrong time."

Aline Parks brought us a copy of an article, "Talking Texan," which was in the February issue of the Texas Co-Op Power magazine.

The author, Max Woodfin, asks, "If we truly talk funny in Texas, as some non-Texans claim, why do we sound just fine to each other?.

An Austin anthropologist (that's egghead in Texas) says the unique Texas language is a result of rugged individualism. In other words, "Here it's every tub on its own bottom."

The article had a list of phrases. If you "savvy 'em," you must be a real Texan:

--He's all hat and no cattle.

--It's so dry my duck doesn't know how to swim.

--Fine as a frog hair split in the middle.

--Like (or, faster than) a duck on a June bug.

--So broke I can't pay attention.

--He's got a hitch in his getalong.

--There's a yellow jacket in the outhouse.

--Confused as a cow on astro turf.

--Just because a chicken has wings don't mean it can fly.

--This ain't my first rodeo.

--The good Lord willing and the creek don't rise.

--He traded his guitar for a harp (or, dead as a doornail).

--As disadvantaged as a rubber-nosed woodpecker in a petrified forest.

--We've howdied, but we ain't nook.

--Tender as a spring worm.

--I'll snatch you bald-headed.

--It fits like socks do a rooster.

--He cleans up real good.

--I don't care if it hairlips the overnor.

--As likely as grass growing ound a hog trough.

--Owl-eyed and fish-grilled.

--Tighter than two coats of aint.

--It's no hill for a stepper.

--As long as I've got a biscuit, ou've got half.

New guidelines slated for asthma treatment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Find new homes for Fido and Kitty. Stop taking over-the-counter inhalants. And make a written plan to care for yourself.

Those are among the new guidelines for treating asthma, a serious lung disorder affecting 14 million Americans.

A panel of experts in the National Asthma Education and Prevention Program, which represents 35 professional health care organizations, released the guidelines Monday to help doctors treat their asthma patients and to advise patients how to help control their illness.

"Medicine is a partnership now," said Dr. Shirley Murphy, a professor at the University of New Mexico school of medicine and chairman of the experts panel. "Patients need to take a greater responsibility for managing their chronic disease."

Among the recommendations are for asthma-prone families to protect newborns from all types of smoke and to get rid of any furry or feathered pets. They also are urged to control dust mites, the microscopic insects common in many households and the source of misery for many asthmatics.

Asthma is a chronic inflammatory lung disease that can severely affect the ability to breathe. The incidence of the disease among Americans has increased from fewer than 7 million cases in 1980 to more than 14 million in 1994. The disease causes thousands of hospitalizations annually, often on an emergency basis, and many deaths.

"Asthma is still the most underdiagnosed and undertreated chronic disease in the country," said Murphy.

The new guidelines, which are so extensive and detailed that they will be released on a computer disk, call for asthma patients to work with their doctors to develop specific personal plans for controlling the disorder.

Murphy said the personal plans, written out for quick reference, would include the daily medicines to take and what to do if there is an asthma crisis.

For some patients, she said, the plans may call for daily lung-capacity tests and specific directions on what medications to use to "rescue" themselves in a breathing crisis.

Also included are methods doctors can use to diagnose and start treatment of asthma at a very early age. Murphy said experts now know that early control of inflammation helps to preserve lung function later in life.

The new guidelines, which update those issued in 1991, are needed because in the last six years new medicines have been developed and clinical studies have given a sharper understanding of how to treat the disease, Murphy said.

Highlights of the new guidelines include:

—A reclassification of asthma status into four stages: mild intermittent, mild persistent, moderate persistent and severe persistent. The mildest form involves symptoms appearing less than twice a week, with only brief exacerbations, or breathing crises. The severest form includes continual symptoms, prolonged crises, limited physical activity and a lung function of less than 60 percent of normal.

—The precise use and dosage of medication for each step of the disease. Murphy said the plan emphasizes the use of inhaled corticosteroids in various doses to control inflammation and the use of inhaled beta-2-agonist for crisis symptoms. Daily use of the beta-2 drugs is not recommended, while the use of new drugs for long-term control is discussed. Murphy said patients also are urged to stop using over-the-counter inhalants. New prescription drugs, she said, are more effective.

—Skin tests to identify allergy-causing substances in the home that must be removed or controlled. In addition to dust mites, smoke and warmblooded pets, Murphy said patients need to identify and avoid foods that aggravate allergies and to keep the humidity low in the air they breathe.

—Doctors are urged to establish formal and written personal treatment plans for each patient. This includes written instructions for what drugs to use and actions to take in the event of a breathing crisis.

—Full pulmonary function tests should be conducted when asthma is first diagnosed and then repeated every year or two so that disease control efforts can be monitored.

"ABS EXERCISE?"

'Schindler's List' eclipses rival programming

NEW YORK (AP) — More than twice as many Americans watched "Schindler's List" on NBC as have seen the Oscar-winning film in theaters, the network said Monday.

With ABC, CBS, NBC and Fox claiming a combined 75 percent share of all viewers watching television, "Schindler's List" was the night's overwhelming favorite, attracting 34 percent, according to NBC's analysis of preliminary Nielsen figures.

The film aired from 7:30 to 11 p.m. EST. Its closest head-to-head competition was CBS' "Touched By an Angel," from 8 to 9 p.m. EST, which drew an 18 share.

An estimated 65 million people watched all or part of the film, NBC estimated. Twenty-five million people in the United States have seen the movie in theaters.

Winner of seven Academy Awards in 1994, "Schindler's List," directed by Steven Spielberg and starring Liam Neeson, made for an unusual night of programming for a broadcast network.

The somber, sometimes shocking film about the Holocaust, shot in black-and-white, aired virtually uncut and made no apology for its TV-M rating (mature audiences only). Uninterrupted by commercials, the film was sponsored solely by the Ford Motor Company.

NBC spokesman Paul McGuire in Los Angeles said just a "handful" of viewers called the network in response to the showing, and only about half of them complained about the film's content.

The king is alive — for now

By Phillip Alder

Here is another deal, like yesterday's, in which the position of a key spade honor was critical. It occurred during the 1985 European Championships in Salsomaggiore, Italy. The declarer was Frenchman Michel Perron, possibly the quietest-ever world champion.

North's jump to three no-trump was aggressive, but in a team event it pays to bid game.

West led the heart four: queen, three, seven. Perron continued with dummy's diamond nine: queen, ace, five. Now declarer played the diamond jack: three, six, king. East led back the heart nine, West taking the trick with the ace and returning the heart two. (True, it would have been better defense for West to duck his ace.) Perron cashed dummy's diamond eight, East discarding a low spade.

Perron paused to assess the situation. There were seven tricks on view: one spade, two hearts, three diamonds and one club. A second spade trick could be set up. And probably a second club trick generated. However, things looked grim. Assuming West wasn't falsecarding, he had started with five hearts and held the club king. (Without the club king, he definitely would have withheld his heart ace at trick four.) So, declarer needed three quick spade tricks.

Could East be down to the doubleton king of spades? No, because he was known to have started with only five red-suit cards. He had an easy club discard available if necessary.

There was only one chance: Perron led a spade to his ace. And, yes, as you can see, the king did come tumbling down. Incroyable!

Chopra seeks $15 million in 'murder of the soul' suit

VISTA, Calif. (AP) — Spiritual guru Deepak Chopra says character assassination is the same as murder, and he's going to court to settle the score.

In a lawsuit filed last week, Chopra claims a group of lawyers, private investigators and a journalist defamed him and set up an elaborate scheme to extort $1 million from him.

He said the group wanted the money in exchange for keeping stories quiet about his alleged trysts with a San Francisco call girl and a claim of sexual harassment from a former worker.

Chopra is seeking $15 million in damages.

"Character assassination, in my mind, is the same as murder," he said Friday. "I believe in the mind-body connection, as you know. To me, this is murder of the soul."

Ask Anne & Nan

By Anne B. Adams and Nancy Nash-Cummings

Shoe exchange is a step forward

DEAR ANNE AND NAN: Could you please send me info on a shoe-exchange club for orthopedic shoes? Someone was telling me today that they read an article you wrote in September about a shoe club for handicapped people. My husband has to wear a built-up shoe on his right foot and a regular one on his left. We always have to buy two pairs of shoes and throw two away. I would appreciate any help you can provide. — EVELYN HERDT, Hoffman Estates, Ill.

DEAR EVEYLN: We have two resources to suggest to you. Both of these organizations help people like your husband who need different-size shoes, as well as people who need only one shoe.

The One Shoe Crew is at 86 Clavela Ave., Sacramento, CA 95828 (916-364-7463). This nonprofit, all-volunteer organization has a one-time registration fee of $3. Registration is free for all U.S. veterans.

When you register, send along information on the sizes of the shoes you require. The One Shoe Crew will send you a computer printout of what is available in your size.

They also have a shoe bank, and accept only brand-new shoes. Before you send any shoes, please write and tell them what you have. If you need to speak to someone, call on Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday mornings, Pacific Standard Time. They charge $10 for sending out a shoe.

If you can't afford the $10, they will waive this fee. This all-volunteer organization works as quickly as possible, but it may take a while for them to respond. Please be patient.

The National Odd Shoe Exchange, 7102 N. 35th Ave., Suite #2, Phoenix, AZ 85051 is similar to The One Shoe Crew. They help people who need different-size shoes, as well as only one shoe. Most of the shoes are donated by manufacturers, although the exchange will happily accept single unworn shoes from individual owners. Membership is free for those under 5 years of age or over 75.

The organization provides members with new, different-size shoes for the cost of shipping only, and matches up members who live near one another so they can shop for shoes they can share.

For membership fees and information, you can write to the above address or call 602-841-6691.

STUMPED: DEVICE NEEDED TO KEEP OXYGEN HOSE FROM TANGLING — Mary Dowling of Prescott, Ariz., is looking for a contraption that will help her mother not get tangled in her oxygen tube. Her mother is on oxygen 24 hours a day and has a 50-foot tube so she can walk from one end of her trailer to the other. The tubing can get caught in a heap and becomes a tripping trap. Mary wondered if there was something that could coil the tube up so there would be tension in it, or even lift it out of the way. We are stumped and counting on you, Dear Readers.

Write to "Ask Anne & Nan" at P.O. Box 240, Hartland, VT 05048. Questions of general interest will appear in the column. Due to the volume of mail, personal replies cannot be provided.

Narcotics Anonymous Helps Those Overcome by Despair

by Abigail Van Buren

© 1997 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I just read the letter about the heroin addict who killed herself after writing "King Heroin Is My Shepherd." Her note mentioned "the doctor who told my family it would have been better, and indeed kinder, if the person who got me hooked on dope had taken a gun and blown my brains out."

Abby, I think the doctor who said that was partially responsible for the death of this young woman. She did not need a message of hopelessness and despair, especially from a person of authority and respect.

If only the doctor had encouraged her to hurry to Narcotics Anonymous, she might be alive today. Please print this so that other addicts may find new "courage, strength and hope." Narcotics Anonymous can be reached at 1-800-896-8896.

CLOSE CALL
IN SAN FRANCISCO

DEAR CLOSE CALL: That letter generated a flood of mail from readers whose lives have been touched by drugs, filled with important messages like your own. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: I'm writing in response to "A Saddened Mom" who believes "it takes a village." It really does. I'm glad someone seems to understand that children involved with drugs need to be helped by the whole community. I'm 17 years old, and I've already had a close friend (who was on drugs) commit suicide. I wish people would understand that people don't take drugs because they are stupid or naive, as convenient as that would be to believe. People take drugs because they are depressed and believe they have nothing better to do with their lives.

I know a lot of kids who are on drugs and none of them really feel they are truly valuable people. If a parent, relative or close adult had really given them a reason to believe they were worthwhile, special and needed, they wouldn't have needed drugs.

"Straight" kids are taught to stay away from "bad" kids, which is too bad — because peer pressure works just as well in reverse. Peer groups are oftentimes enough to save a child. Fortunately, most of my friends have been saved from drugs by peer pressure. I shudder to think how rare that is.

YOUNG ENOUGH TO KNOW
BETTER IN NEW ORLEANS

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for the reworded 23rd Psalm, "King Heroin Is My Shepherd." It is powerful testimony against drug abuse. It's a shame that an educated, talented 23-year-old young lady had to give her life to produce it. What a difference she could have made in the lives of others if she had been allowed to reach her potential. The loss is incalculable.

Neither my wife nor I has ever used illegal drugs, alcohol or tobacco. We have raised six children who, to our knowledge, have never used any of those substances either. For this success I give a great amount of credit to the reading of articles like this one to our children as they were growing up. They always knew where their parents stood and we tried to be totally upfront, honest and fair with them.

I am a volunteer high school teacher. I have already used this column as a teaching tool. Rarely do I have every student's undivided attention, but when I read your column to them, no one even blinked. There was dead silence afterward. I know it helped to reinforce the commitment of some to stay off drugs and help their peers to stay off drugs, too.

Thank you, Abby, and thanks to the 23-year-old's family for sharing that sad suicide note with the world. I hope some good may come of it.

DENNIS J. DAVIS,
GLENDORA, CALIF.

ATTENTION INVESTMENT CLASS

WTC Continuing Education Investment Class
Beginning February 25th through March 24th
Tuesday Nights from 6 - 9 p.m.

Whether you're a novice investor or a seasoned veteran, you will be interested to know that I am offering an investment class, and I'd like to invite you to join us.

The class begins with the very basics of finances, including examining some of the most common reasons why people fail to meet their investments goals, some money management tips that can help make sure you don't fall into those traps, and rules that every investor should know and follow.

Next, we'll examine many of the investments available today--everything from guaranteed investment certificates to locked-in retirement funds--and the advantages and disadvantages of each. This will allow you to determine which investments are best suited to your personal needs and objectives.

We'll finish the course with a look at retirement planning and ways to ensure your older years will indeed be your golden years.

Finally, as a follow-up to the class, I invite each student and his or her spouse to meet with me for a private consultation. This will give you an opportunity to ask questions about your personal financial situation. Of course, this consultation is entirely voluntary and free of charge.

If you'd like to attend this class, please call WTC at 915-573-8511 ext. 390 to reserve your place.

I look forward to hearing from you!!

Frank Phillips squeaks by WTC in final home game

By Jamie Sharp
Sports Editor

The Western Texas College Lady Westerners came within two points of ending their 11-game losing streak Monday night, but came up short in a 50-48 squeaker with Frank Phillips.

WTC was down by only two with 30 seconds left when Shanna Gathright drove the lane and appeared to draw a foul. The officials saw it another way and in the ensuing struggle for the ball, the Lady Westerers fouled Frank Phillips.

Frank Phillips went to the line with only two seconds remaining, but could not capitalize. The lead was safe though as the clock ran out with the Lady Plainsmen on top.

The first half was a defensive one as both teams had trouble finding an open shot and making it. Frank Phillips started it off on a jumper to put the first points on the board. WTC scored its first bucket of the game when Angelica Brooks drove the lane and hit a pull up jumper at the 18:45 mark to tie the score at 2-2.

The Lady Westerners went ahead, 4-3, on two Brooks' free throws with 15:33 remaining. WTC hit its first field goal in three minutes when Brooks knocked down a jumper to up the score to 6-3.

The Lady Plainsmen then went on a 9-4 run to go ahead 12-10 at the 9:20 mark. Jessica Jeffrey quickly answered for the Westerners with a trey to put WTC back up, 13-12.

WTC did not score a basket in the next 2:41, allowing Frank Phillips to take a 14-13 lead with 7:14 ticks remaining.

WTC again had an answer though as Celestine Otuoro hit a jumper in the paint to bring WTC to within one at 15-14.

Two Freda McKnight charity tosses and an Otuoro basket gave WTC a 18-15 lead at the 5:50 mark.

The contest went back and forth for the remaining minutes, and the game was tied at 23-23 with 38 seconds left in the half. The Lady Plainsmen had an opportunity to take the lead at the free throw line, but could not hit. Otuoro went to the line with 17 seconds left and nailed two free throws to give the Lady Westerners a 25-23 halftime lead.

Frank Phillips started the second half off with a 14-2 run that put the vistors up, 37-29 with 13:32 left in the game. Frank Phillips never trailed again.

WTC came within six points of the Lady Plainsmen lead when Jeffrey was fouled on a three-point attempt, sending her to the line to shoot three free throws. Jeffrey made two of three to up the score to 46-40 with 3:50 ticks remaining.

With a only a minute left in the game, Jeffrey brought the ball down court, pulled up at the three-point line and drained a trey to bring the score to 45-50. Shanna Gathright then stole the ball on the Lady Plainsmen's next trip down court and started back the other way. Gathright drove the lane, hit the bucket and was fouled. Gathright drained her charity toss to bring the Lady Westerners to within two at 50-48.

"We did what we've done all season. We got down and had to fight to get into the game," said coach Anthony Portley. "These girls fought hard just like they have all season."

"We didn't shoot the ball well, but our defense kept us in the game." The Lady Westerners shot 27 percent from the floor.

Otuoro paced WTC with 13 points while Jeffrey hit for 11. Brooks nailed 10 and McKnight knocked down 6. Gathright bagged 5 while Shawna McKee added 2. Kelley Willson finished with 1.

Bowe refused to train

According to the Washington Post in today's editions, Bowe didn't leave the Marines voluntarily, as his manager indicated last week.

He was booted out of boot camp because he "refused to train," the paper quoted a Marine Corps spokesman at Parris Island, S.C.

"There were a lot of occasions when he was told to do something and he just said, 'No, I'm not going to do it,'" Maj. Rick Long said.

Long told the Post he wanted to clarify reports that he said gave the impression that Bowe was allowed to leave the Marines last week after realizing that he had made a mistake by joining.

"You don't sign a contract with the United States Marine Corps, come in here, start training, and then say, 'Oops, I think I want to go home' and then just leave," Long said. "It's not that easy."

Bowe bowed out Friday, telling his drill instructor and battalion commander that the regimen was too strict, that he missed his family and that he wished he'd enlisted when he was younger.

At that time, Long was quoted as saying in describing the feelings of others at the camp, "The overall sentiment was one of respect for trying. From the Marines I talked to, they said he at least gave it a shot. That's more than you can say for some."

But Long was quoted in the Post as saying it became obvious that the 29-year-old multimillionaire was "a problem" recruit during his initial five days after processing, and that his behavior became worse Feb. 18 when he refused to train.

"It's just obstinacy, that's all," Long said.

Long said normally a small percentage of recruits refuse to train and eventually are allowed to leave.

Two playoff games tonight

Two Class 2-A playoff games will be played here tonight in the Scurry County Coliseum.

At 6:30, the Coahoma Bulldogs (23-8) will take on the Tahoka Bulldogs (25-5) in an area playoff.

At 8:30, undefeated Jim Ned (31-0) will challenge the Sweetwater Mustangs (26-5).

Tahoka defeated Stanton, 78-69, last Thursday in the coliseum. Coahoma advanced to the area playoffs with a 64-51 win over the Hawley Bearcats in Sweetwater.

Jim Ned advanced with a 71-47 victory over the Ozona and Shallowater ripped McCamey, 85-57.

Admission for both games is $3 for adults and $2 for students.

Hornets beat up Spurs

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — As the Spurs battled the Hornets, Dominique Wilkins of San Antonio at one point had blood on his uniform but didn't know where he was bleeding.

"That tells the story," Wilkins would say later. "I'm bleeding and only went to the free throw line once in the second half."

It was an unusually physical game for the Spurs.

As usual, though, it was another loss.

Glen Rice scored 33 points and Anthony Mason had 24 to lead Charlotte to a 96-84 victory over San Antonio Monday night, extending the Hornets' winning streak to a season-best five games.

"(Glen) Rice and (Anthony) Mason are All-Stars. They are unbelievable players," said Spurs coach Gregg Popovich. "We made an effort to upset them, but they didn't let it happen."

The Hornets led the entire game and fended off Spurs threats in the third and fourth quarters. Rice scored 10 points in the final period.

San Antonio moved within 89-82 with 2:37 remaining on a field goal by Wilkins, but the Spurs could get no closer.

Hornets coach Dave Cowens also thought the game was a rough one.

"It got really physical out there, and I just let the guys slug it out," Cowens said. "We've become a marked team, and people are going to come after us and get really physical with us. It makes their day to beat us, where before maybe it didn't."

The Hornets now have won 10 of their last 12 games.

Cowens, a Spurs assistant coach last year, had some sympathy for the injury-ravaged San Antonio team.

"They're playing tough and undermanned," he said. "This is a game of matchups, and it's tough to win because the matchups are tough for them."

David Robinson, Sean Elliott, Chuck Person and Charles Smith are among the Spurs sidelined by injuries.

AT&T and others' research could mean cordless local phone service

NEW YORK (AP) — AT&T Corp. wants to cut the cord on your local phone service.

AT&T and other long-distance companies are working on wireless technologies that could provide local phone service nationwide while bypassing traditional copper-wire networks in towns and cities.

Customers could use the same cordless phone to call from home, the supermarket and the car — for only slightly higher rates than wired calls.

While the service is at least several years away, the companies are hoping it will help seize local phone business from the Baby Bells and GTE Corp., and save money in the process.

But the real winners could be consumers, analysts say. Several regional Bell companies also are working on the new mobile technology, promising competition that could drive down prices.

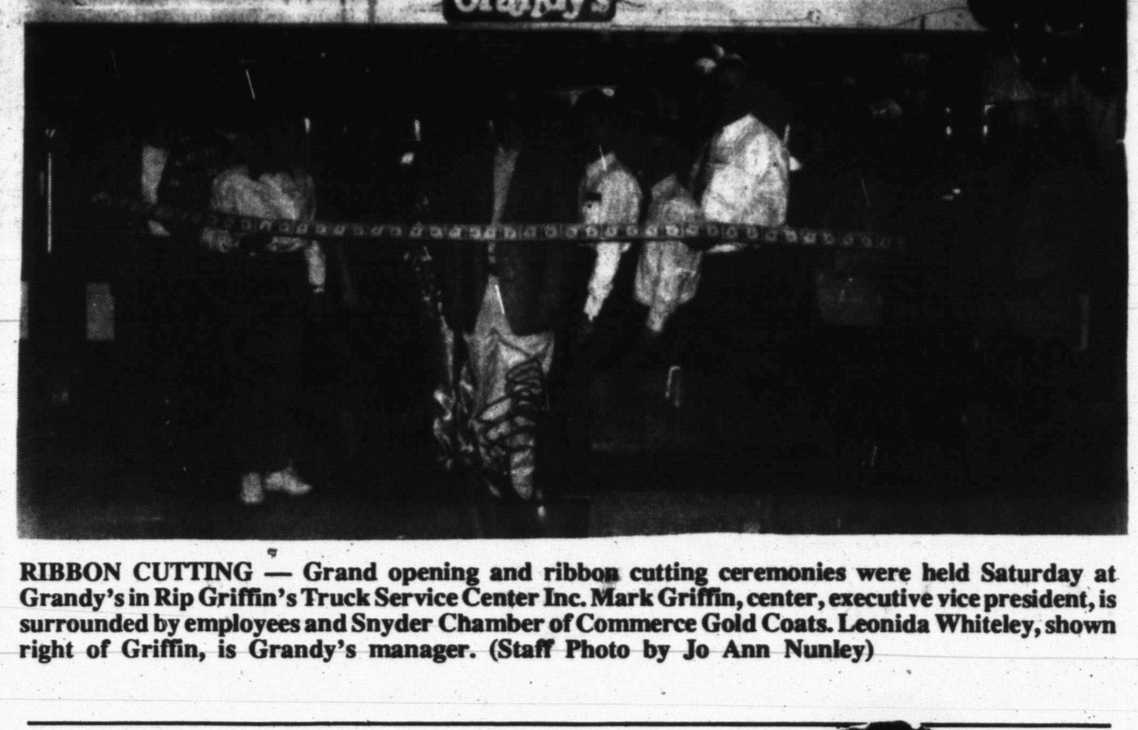

The new phone service could be priced similarly to local calls, said Jeffrey Hines, a telecommunications analyst with NatWest Securities Corp. "That's the whole key."

Since the services have yet to be launched, cost savings are a matter of speculation. People familiar with AT&T's plan told The Wall Street Journal on Monday that AT&T may charge as little as $10 a month as a flat fee to let a user of its new service make unlimited local phone calls from home.

AT&T declined to comment, but its plans have been discussed for months among industry analysts, who say the largest long-distance company appears positioned to lead the way.

The Journal reported that the AT&T technology uses a sophisticated electronic box to tie home telephones to the company's wireless network. The Journal said the box, which is 18-inches square and mounted on the side of a home, would sell for less than $300.

"They have a massive outlet, their wireless network, which they are laying awake at night thinking of ways to leverage," said Jeffrey Kagan of Kagan Telecom Associates, an Atlanta-based consulting firm.

Your Birthday

Wednesday, Feb. 26, 1997

Joint endeavors look promising for you in the year ahead, especially if you team up with a person with whom you have strong emotional bonds. Both of you will then look out for each other's interests.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) It is best today to limit your business dealings to individuals you either dealt with previously or know by reputation to be ethical. Pisces, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $2 and SASE to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) It could make matters worse if you agree to do something today that is self-defeating just to try to appease a sensitive friend's feelings.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You might be a trifle slow getting started today. In fact, your productivity could wane if you're not utilizing your creative talents.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Gauge your audience carefully today and don't come on too strong about something good that happened to you recently, especially if a listener appears to be envious.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Take time to put your house in order today, so that later when you're looking for something you urgently need, it won't have mysteriously disappeared.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Before passing on information you're told today, be certain your informant has all the facts straight, or else you may look a little foolish.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Do some comparison shopping today before making costly purchases. If you don't, you might be talked into paying more for some things than they're worth.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) When dealing with associates today, flattery isn't apt to serve a purpose. If you feel the need to compliment someone, be certain he or she is deserving.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Listen with your reason and not your emotions today. If your feelings dominate, there is a chance you'll be hurt by something where no ill will was intended.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If there is something expensive you're anxious to buy but can't afford, wait until you have the funds available instead of running up additional debt.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Needless anxiety could impede your progress today. Do not accidentally leave the phone off the hook and then panic because you aren't receiving calls.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your initial impressions might not be reliable today. Before making major decisions, be sure you have thoroughly sifted all the facts.

Clinton seeks cloning review

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Clinton wants a bioethics advisory commission to review the implications for human beings raised by the cloning of a sheep in Scotland.

"This represents an remarkable scientific discovery, but one that raises important questions," Clinton said Monday in a letter to Dr. Harold Shapiro, the commission chairman.

White House spokesman Mike McCurry said Clinton asked the commission to carefully review "the ethical and legal issues associated with this development in technology."

EVER PROTECT YOUR MARRIAGE
Working with God, how do we build and sustain Christian marriages?
1. By a careful selection of a faithful Christian mate.
2. By entrusting yourself for life with a will to abide.
3. By protecting your marriage at all costs.
4. By meaningful, constructive communication.
5. By experiencing trust, forgiveness, and faithfulness today.
"Love knows no limit to its endurance, no end to its trust..." (1 Corinthians 13:7-8, Phillips). We must give up our rights. I have no rights. They belong to God and another. Jesus gave up His rights for His bride. If He had not, there would have been no cross, forgiveness, life or hope. This is the incomparable analogy, Christ and His bride, a Christian husband and his spouse. That's how God creates, builds and sustains marriages that count!

Report: Army knew of chemical weapons danger in Iraq in '91

NEW YORK (AP) — The Army knew in 1991 that U.S. troops serving in the Persian Gulf may have been exposed to chemical weapons — five years before Pentagon officials say they were made aware of possible exposure, The New York Times reported today.

Two newly released declassified CIA reports cited by the newspaper undermine the Pentagon's repeated assertion that they were unaware of the possible exposure until last year. The CIA told the Army that investigators had found direct evidence that U.S. troops carried out a demolition of an ammunition depot, the newspaper said.

Negligence on the part of the Army, which did not confirm the CIA's findings, may have exposed more than 20,000 American troops to nerve gas and other chemicals when the soldiers were ordered to demolish the depot in March 1991, the newspaper said.

The documents show that the agency informed the Army in November 1991 that United Nations investigators visited ruins of the Kamisiyah ammunition depot in southern Iraq and found damaged rockets filled with sarin, a nerve gas.

The U.N. uncovered an empty American-issued crate with markings suggesting it had held American military demolition charges used to destroy the depot. One 1991 report warned of "the risk of chemical contamination" of American troops as a result of the demolition.

However the Army failed to conduct a thorough investigation and the information was put aside for more than four years, according to the report.

A Pentagon spokesman said last week that it was unclear why the documents had not been made public last year, in the midst of investigations by Congressional committees and a White House panel into complaints by soldiers who became ill after their return from the Iraqi conflict.

How much calcium is enough?

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a 50-year-old woman who takes 1,000 milligrams of calcium a day to prevent osteoporosis. I am also on hormones. How much calcium do I need?

DEAR READER: Most authorities recommend that post-menopausal women take 1,500-2,000 milligrams of calcium a day (along with vitamin D) to prevent or retard osteoporosis, the loss of bone density that occurs as men and women age.

If you eat many calcium-containing foods — such as milk and cheese — you can probably reduce the amount of supplemental calcium that you consume. Your doctor can advise you.

Here is the strategy that works for my patients. (I should mention that this is only my approach; other doctors may use different products.)

Take two Os-Cal 500 with D a day. This gives you 1,000 mg of calcium plus appropriate amounts of vitamin D. Add to this two, three or four TUMS. Each TUMS tablet provides about 250 mg of calcium, so judge the amount of supplement in relation to your dietary intake of calcium.

The fact that you have been prescribed hormones will further reduce your risk of osteoporosis.

To give you more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Osteoporosis." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: For a 57-year-old man, I'm in pretty good shape. I walk, jog, swim, bike, bowl and golf, depending on the season. Nonetheless, I do have problems: My body seems to exist to make my life miserable. I experience nausea, stomach cramps and muscle pains when I exercise. I sometimes see double. I bleed when I cut myself shaving. I am forgetful.

My body hates my exercising. Why does it want me to be an old man?

DEAR READER: While you may be experiencing some of the consequences of the aging process, I hesitate to blame age for all of your afflictions. For example, double vision and a tendency to bleed are not common in older people; such symptoms may reflect a condition that needs to be addressed. I worry that you might have a circulatory deficiency, diabetes, ulcers, or a bleeding disorder.

In order to sort out what is age-related and what is not, you should have a complete examination and testing by your family physician. I do not believe that your body is resisting your efforts at being active. More likely, it has served you well all these years and now expects you to take good care of it.

Your doctor should be able to distinguish between signs of normal aging and symptoms that need treatment. Get an exam.

Letters To The Editor

Just my opinion -

To The Editor,

This letter is in apology to all those who may have been offended by my letter in the Letters to the Editor column on Wednesday, Feb. 19, 1997.

My intent of the letter was only to express my own opinion of how good our hospital is and what great, caring, professional nurses we have. I hoped that it was obvious I felt that every area of our hospital was great. I felt so sorry for everyone who worked so hard that day on this precious life. There have been countless times we have had to deal with such tragedies, and times that we were rewarded in successful revival.

After dealing with situations such as these, you must pick yourself up and continue on and not let your heart harden to the tragedies we deal with every day. There is not any amount of money that makes this easy. Most of these nurses do their job not for the money, but because they care.

It was not because of your "pay scale" information that this letter was written. It was because Mr. Fritz has made the comment several times about RNs getting paid too much that prompted it.

I don't understand how you could take my comments and assume that "my little group" felt the same way. As I said, my letter was my opinion only. You also somehow got out of my letter that I said there was a bill being introduced that denounces Columbia or CHS. This was not what was written. I stated there were bills being introduced that denounce the practice of using unlicensed assistive personnel to care for sick patients. This is a practice of for-profit organizations, and in all fairness, other institutions do the same.

The bill I am talking about is HR 4315. It is currently in the House of Representatives and should go before the Senate in June. This would allow medical personnel to report unsafe practices without fear of losing their job. The bill covers several more areas.

My fear is that we will lose all of our great assets by leasing their hospital. I am entitled to my view as you are to yours. My view comes from working with individuals who have worked for such for-profit hospitals, from speaking with people who worked for Scenic Mountain, from attending continuing education inservices and seminars and reading medical publications.

My hope is that you are doing all you can to obtain all the information you can, from various sources, so that you can make a wise decision. Whatever decision is made will have to be lived with for some time.

There are a lot of emotional issues right now that have to be dealt with also, to make a wise decision. Money hits an emotional spot with a lot of people, whether they have money or don't. The issue of tax money well spent into such a thing as a hospital has a big economic impact on a community. So will the impact of losing employees who put tax dollars back into a community.

Anyone who knows me knows that I would not use information about anyone, especially "a precious child, to further my own agenda or personal gain.

I am a single parent, with two grown children. One lives in Missouri and one has just graduated and will be going to Texas Tech in the fall.

I have no family or ties to this community. I stay here because I have grown to love this community after living here for 20 years. I know without a doubt, with my experience, I could go anywhere and get a job and at much more pay. I choose to stay here, mostly because this is a county hospital that has not lost the ability to care for the patient first.

We also have a bottom line to watch, and we do so with every decision made. But if it comes to compromising patient care, there is never any question.

Again, I apologize to anyone who did not fully understand the intent of my letter.

Sincerely,
Cheryl Chance, RN

I'll vote no!

Dear Editor,

I would like to say something in defense of our hospital.

In our community, many people worked for large major oil corporations, only to find how suddenly their lives were altered by downsizing and merging. Individuals who worked for major corporations are merely a number or a pin in the map. This happened to us, before coming to Snyder, but we were lucky enough to go to work for a family business. I might add, after 40 years or so, it is still a booming family business, mainly because their employees are the first consideration and their greatest asset.

Please, do not let this happen to our community owned hopital that is so important to all of us. A large corporation would make changes regardless of what they say.

We have a good and stable hospital because of some hard working employees who go to work day after day to make it the best hospital anywhere around. We pay little attention to these people and tend to take them and the hospital for granted until we need it, and sometimes in a hurry!

These employees depend on their jobs, as the city and county depends on them, for the economy here. This too, would change with the possibility of downsizing! Please realize, bigger is not always better for hospitals or any other business. I know at least one commissioner worked for a large corporation for years, and now owns his own business. I am sure he feels very independent, as he should.

As senior citizens, we have a vested interest in our hospital system. St. Mary Hospital and Cogdell Memorial Hospital supports us financially through their Senior Class Program. Many senior citizens here depend on this health care system, as it is.

St. Mary provides soft, not hardcore management for Cogdell Memorial Hospital. They have their philosophy and they allow Cogdell Memorial Hospital to have their own.

There is more at stake than money. A principle is certainly involved in this case. Don't let the commissioners court compromise our integrity.

I, for one, will vote NO! to a proposal of leasing Cogdell Memorial Hospital. As Mr. McQueen stated, "If it is not broke, don't fix it."

ABC challenges punitive damages award to 'Lion'

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — ABC asked a judge Monday to overturn a jury verdict or grant a new trial in a lawsuit by a supermarket chain against the network over a 1992 hidden-camera expose.

ABC said the $5.5 million punitive damages award was excessive and should be overturned, or at least reduced.

At issue was the jury's verdict that ABC must pay Food Lion punitive damages for lying to get videotaped evidence it used in a "PrimeTime Live" report accusing the chain of selling rat-gnawed cheese and expired meat.

Accidents dominate lawmen's activities

A 1997 Peterbilt truck-tractor driven by Hugh Don Watson of Portales, N.M., overturned around 3 a.m. while traveling in the south-bound lane. Snyder EMS was dispatched but the driver refused treatment, said Alexander.

DPS trooper Joe Salinas investigated a one-vehicle accident around 2:50 p.m. Monday on U.S. Highway 84, some two miles east of Dermott. Leon Scott, 31, of Fort Worth was taken by Snyder EMS to Cogdell Hospital where he was admitted. His condition was listed as stable this morning.

City officers responded to a minor accident at 3:20 p.m. Monday in the 3700 block of Avenue M. Involved were a 1990 Pontiac driven by Joanne Browning of 2501 28th St. and a 1996 Dodge van driven by Michael Stanley of 501 Willis in Hermleigh.

In other activity Monday, officers arrested a 28-year-old male at 6:40 p.m. in the 2100 block of Avenue O on an outstanding warrant for driving while license suspended.

Deputies were called to Hermleigh around 2:55 p.m. in reference to a 12-year-old threatening to run away from home and leaving his residence. The youth returned home at 8:16 p.m.

At 8:07 p.m., officers took a report of a 15-year-old female juvenile running away from home.

A report of a possible prowler was made at 11:37 p.m. from the 1200 block of North Avenue N.

FBI: Nothing amiss in U-Haul truck

FORT WORTH (AP) — The FBI found nothing amiss in a U-Haul truck that became the subject of a nationwide search after reports that it was loaded with bombing-making materials.

There was "no substance to the fears," the FBI said today, canceling a terrorist threat advisory.

Fort Worth police said the truck was found in Atlanta, but the FBI office in Dallas would not immediately confirm the location.

FBI spokeswoman Marjorie Poche said agents found the men matching the descriptions by canvassing U-Haul rental outlets and places where fertilizer is sold throughout the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

No arrests have been made.
