Favors Horse Race Betting

Senate Committeemen Okay Horse Race Betting Bill

AUSTIN (AP) — Horse race betting held Senate committee approval today after an emotional hearing, but the odds were against its getting an inside track for floor debate any time soon.

After a four-hour hearing that matched parson against preacher and dog racers against horse racers, the Senate Committee on Counties, Cities and Towns approved a parimutuel betting bill 6-5 Tuesday night.

Rep. Maurice Pipkin of Brownsville, introduced a similar measure in the House today. He said a poll taken by the Lower Rio Grande Valley Chamber of Commerce indicates 72 per cent of the people in that area favor parimutuel betting.

Sen. Jim Bates of Edinburg, sponsor of the bill, would need 25 votes to suspend constitutional rules and bring the measure up for debate during the first 30 days of the session. It is doubtful he can obtain that many.

'NOT MORAL ISSUE'

More than 1,000 persons crowded the Senate chamber and gallery for the hearing on Bates' bill to allow local option parimutuel betting with state control and taxation of race tracks.

An Episcopal priest, the Rev. Walter Campbell of Conroe, assailed ministers opposing the bill as "the militant minority opposition" and said betting is "not a moral or religious issue at all."

A light moment came at the end of the hearing when John C. Swaim of Temple criticized the bill for not including a provision to allow parimutuel betting on dog racing.

DISCRIMINATION

"This discriminates against greyhound races and breeders of the state of Texas," he said as the audience chuckled.

When opponents of the bill were asked to stand, it was clear they outnumbered the racing fans present.

Supporters of legalized betting — outlawed in Texas for 30 years — said open tracks would bring in more tourists, raise tax dollars and stimulate the state economy.

Opponents said the state's four-year experiment with parimutuel wagering in the 1930s was disastrous, both economically and morally. They said betting would bring in criminal elements and tempt

Kosygin Claims Kremlin Ready To Hunt For Peace

LONDON (AP) — Premier Alexei N. Kosygin said today the Soviet Union is ready to help in the search for peace in Vietnam after the United States unconditionally ceases bombing North Vietnam.

Addressing a banquet in his honor, the Soviet leader also said the people of his country were watching with "legitimate alarm" what he called the rise of extreme right-wing nationalism in West Germany.

Kosygin demanded that the United States withdraw from Vietnam to permit the Vietnamese people "to resolve their own affairs without outside interference."

He said this was "the sole, just and logical basis of solving the problem."

It was not clear from his remarks whether he was making U.S. withdrawal a condition for the start of peace talks.

He said the Soviet Union and other countries which he did not name "can make their contribution" to a Vietnam settlement. But this must be based, he said, on the Geneva agreement of 1954 which divided up the French colony of Indochina into

Bitter Cold Hampers Snow Removal Task

NEW YORK (AP)—The East Coast's millions, red-faced and numb in biting cold, struggled through the mountainous residue of a paralyzing blizzard today. Many schools remained closed, and the wheels of commerce and industry were slow to resume turning.

As the storm that dumped up to 15 inches of snow in some sections swirled northeastward off Newfoundland, bitter cold rolled in from the Midwest and plunged temperatures to sub-zero levels from the Canadian border to Tennessee.

28 BELOW

Oneida, Tenn., recorded 9 below zero this morning. The lowest recorded temperature was 28 below at Glens Falls, N.Y.

At least 39 deaths were attributed to the blizzard.

In New York City, where the mercury dropped to 11 degrees at 2:30 a.m., more than 100 persons took refuge in state armories opened by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to house the snow-bound and others whose apartments and homes had no heat.

BUSINESS BOOMS

Hotels did a booming business Tuesday night.

Most schools were closed again today all along the coast, including those in New York, the nation's largest city.

In New Jersey, Gov. Richard J. Hughes declared today a banking holiday.

Major airports in the East remained closed overnight as crews worked to clear runways to allow at least a limited resumption of operations. These included Kennedy and LaGuardia airports in New York, Newark Airport and Philadelphia International Airport.

MACHINE FLOPS

Philadelphia International Airport reopened on a limited basis at 6 a.m.

Most major arteries and main highways in the East had at least one lane open in each direction.

In Philadelphia, where 14 inches of snow fell, the city pressed a snow-melting machine into duty on an experimental basis but freezing temperatures proved it ineffective.

The machine sucks up snow, melts it and pumps the water onto the street to run into sewers. But the water froze before it could run off. The city planned to use salt to combat this.

The blizzard dumped 13 inches of snow in New York City, 10 in Washington, D.C., and nine in Boston. The snowfall in New York was the heaviest in six years.

FACTORIES CLOSE

The storm cut deeply into businesses in many areas, as they came to a practical standstill by noon. Factories, shops, offices and department stores closed. Restaurants and stores were virtually deserted.

"Business was very, very bad," said John Blum, senior vice president of R. H. Macy's, which employs 5,000 persons in nine New York area stores.

Persons working in New York tried to soften the economic impact of the blizzard by fighting through drifts to their jobs. Some leaped over piles of snow to reach the sidewalks. Some fell.

SWITCHES FREEZE

New York City's Commerce and Industry Association surveyed 160 concerns and reported that more than 80 per cent of New York workers made it to their offices and factories, although most of them were dismissed early. The association said the normal absentee rate was about 10 per cent.

Most public transportation facilities in the East were back in service by Tuesday night, but not on regular schedules.

A spokesman for the Long Island Rail Road said the main difficulty was the freezing of switches.

SCHOOLS SHUT

While most schools were closed in the East, Chicago schools returned to normal today for the first time since a blizzard there last Jan. 26. The Chicago schools have been on shortened days.

Johnson Maps Program To Aid Needy Children

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson outlined today a far-ranging program to aid youths and children, including a strengthened Head Start program and increased Social Security payments for children.

In a special message to Congress, Johnson said recent studies have confirmed that in education, in health and in all human development, the early years are critical.

"Ignorance, ill health, personality disorder — these are the disabilities often contracted in childhood: afflictions which linger to cripple the man and damage the next generation," Johnson added.

'FOLLOW THROUGH'

Most of Johnson's proposals are designed to help children disadvantaged by reason of poverty.

The first item of his program calls for strengthening the Head Start program.

He said he will ask for money to launch a "follow through" program during the first few school grades for children in areas of acute poverty.

This is designed to meet criticism from many educators who say the present preschool program is too short and benefits are soon lost when disadvantaged children enter regular schools.

PILOT PROGRAM

Johnson also said the Head Start program will be more beneficial if extended to earlier years, and recommended that the number of 3-year-olds taken into it be increased.

Furthermore, he said he will recommend that the Office of Economic Opportunity set up a pilot program to explore the effectiveness of the Head Start program on even younger children.

Johnson also recommended legislation for a pilot program to provide school lunch benefits to needy preschoolers through Head Start and similar programs.

Myers Cole, the special agent in charge here, said the FBI investigation started last week following the Feb. 1 arrests.

Among the 10 persons arrested were five Catholic priests from San Antonio. Two of the priests, the Revs. Sherrill Smith and William Killian, were later ordered to a New Mexico retreat house by the San Antonio archbishop for going into Rio Grande City without permission.

Texas authorities charged Felix Jr. with holding a Dumas, Tex., farm couple at gunpoint and stealing the couple's pickup truck the day he fled Boys Ranch.

OFFICER DIES

At Amarillo, patrol officer William Stanley Meadows chased after the stolen pickup and was killed in a hail of gunfire. Other Texas officers took up the chase and May was killed and Felix wounded.

After Felix Jr. turned 17 years old, he was tried in January 1966 at Canyon, south of Amarillo, and testified May forced him at gunpoint to drive the pickup and that May had fired at officers. He was acquitted.

Last August Felix Jr. was tried at Dumas, Tex., on an armed robbery charge stemming from the theft of the pickup. He was convicted and later placed on probation.

Officials said that it was felt this would help materially in the promotion of safety and contribute to a reduction of recent mishaps.

Indicted 'Bama Official Found In Black Ruins

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — A fire which began as tiny flickers in a cloakroom raced through a fashionable rooftop dining room in downtown Montgomery Tuesday night, leaving at least 26 persons dead, including a former state official who was indicted Tuesday.

Identification was difficult because of the condition of the bodies, which were taken to four funeral homes. A police identification team assisted by FBI experts was set up to help establish the identification.

Hours after the fire had been brought under control, Fire Chief W. T. Mallory said the cause was undetermined.

Water pouring from the blackened ruins of Dale's Penthouse restaurant atop the 11-story Walter Bragg Smith apartment hotel froze on the sidewalks and streets in the wintry 23-degree night, making it treacherous for firemen and police to move about. A city maintenance truck spread sand over the icy coating.

EXTORTION CHARGES

A spokesman at one funeral home said positive identification had been made of the bodies of former Public Service Commissioner Ed Pepper and his wife Ann. The Peppers were dining with friends at the plush cafe when the fire started about 11 p.m.

Pepper was indicted on two counts of extortion Tuesday by a federal grand jury at Birmingham.

The indictments charged he "obstructed and delayed the transportation of goods and commodities in interstate commerce" while a PSC member. A third indictment was brought against Pepper last November by the grand jury.

HORRIFIED

Also missing was Mrs. Jack Doane, wife of the sports editor of the Montgomery Advertiser. She was a hostess at the dining room. Accompanied by other Advertiser reporters, Doane, choking back the tears, watched horrified as the flames leaped high into the sky above the building.

Another victim was identified as Sidney Zagri, 53, chief lobbyist for the Teamsters Union from Washington, D.C. The union said he was in Montgomery on a business trip.

TERRIBLE TRAGEDY

Gov. Lurleen Wallace expressed sympathy for the families of the victims "of this terrible tragedy." She and her husband, former Gov. George C. Wallace, stayed up past midnight at the executive mansion half a dozen blocks away, getting telephoned reports from an aide.

John English, assistant manager of the restaurant and one of its owners, said the fire began in a cloakroom off the cocktail lounge adjoining the main dining room.

He said it started as a "very small fire" but the flames spread rapidly.

'WHOOOSH'

Many of the 75 or more diners trapped by the flames made their way to safety by breaking out windows and crawling onto the roof surrounding the penthouse. One of them was Bill White of Dothan, Ala., a truck-line president who was with Mr. and Mrs. Pepper.

White, his hand bleeding after he had smashed a window and led others to safety, said he saw no trace of the former state official or his wife after the fire erupted with a "whoosh" into a raging inferno.

A cook who tried in vain to put out the flames with a fire extinguisher, Jesse Williams, said the fire had spread too swiftly by the time he could run across the room.

The fire was confined to the rooftop dining room, and none of the 75 to 100 guests living in the apartment hotel was injured. However, the fire department ordered the building evacuated. Downtown hotels took in the stranded guests.

Besides the dead, at least eight persons were injured, most of them by smoke inhalation.

Civil Rights Probe Begins

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The FBI said here today that agents are investigating the arrest of 10 persons during a farm worker demonstration last week in Rio Grande City to determine if there has been a civil rights violation.

Myers Cole, the special agent in charge here, said the FBI investigation started last week following the Feb. 1 arrests.

Among the 10 persons arrested were five Catholic priests from San Antonio. Two of the priests, the Revs. Sherrill Smith and William Killian, were later ordered to a New Mexico retreat house by the San Antonio archbishop for going into Rio Grande City without permission.

Students Must Park Their Cars

COAHOMA (SC) — Students driving their cars to Coahoma schools must park and leave them there all day, the board of trustees has ruled.

In a new policy adopted by the board at its meeting Monday evening, it was decided that students driving cars to school must leave them there all day effective Monday, Feb. 13. The only exceptions will be where they drive home for lunch, or in cases of emergency certified by the principal.

Officials said that it was felt this would help materially in the promotion of safety and contribute to a reduction of recent mishaps.

Texan Rescues 'Sitting Ducks'

By The Associated Press

Clutching two grenades and a pistol, Pfc. Augustus Chinworth III crawled 150 yards over open terrain to silence enemy gun positions that threatened four American lives.

The daring action won the Texan at war the Silver Star for gallantry in Vietnam.

His parents in Fort Worth have placed together details of the June 26, 1966, incident from letters from their son and the Pentagon.

PINNED DOWN

Chinworth, 19, left Cu Chi in a four-man patrol heading into the "Hobo Woods" and moving toward Cambodia.

A burst of gunfire from an enemy bunker critically wounded the patrol leader and pinned down all four men.

"He wrote later there were no trees or bushes to hide behind," says his mother. "He said they were just sitting ducks waiting to die."

ONE-MAN ASSAULT

The Pentagon put it this way: "Immediately realizing that the remaining men pinned down invited rifle and grenade attacks and that the ground alone offered insufficient cover, he staged a one-man assault against the enemy position under fire."

During his 150-yard crawl, the Viet Cong's automatic weapons hit all around him. Finally close enough, he tossed both grenades into a firing port and ducked before the explosion.

The enemy gunfire ceased.

Power Grid Still Hums

WATERTOWN, S.D. (AP) — The nation's first coast-to-coast electrical power grid system was humming without a noticeable hitch today, in the second day of its hookup.

Power officials supervising the test said Northwestern states would be separated from the system today to operate on their own, while experts continued to analyze the workings of the power grid.

The system continued to function as expected, officials said.

East and West were joined Tuesday at points in Montana and Nebraska under the direction of the Bureau of Reclamation's power substation at Watertown. Included in the experimental interconnection are systems in southeast and southwest Canada.

Officials said there was no reason to believe any major problems would result after the first day's successful testing.

Experiments in exchanging power and isolating sections of the nation from the grid were to end today. The likelihood is that the ties will not be reopened, thereby permanently linking 94 per cent of the generating capacity of the United States and 40 per cent of the world's electrical energy.

Most officials at the Watertown control center didn't appear apprehensive about the operation Tuesday. They said the 209 private and public power systems hooked into the national grid retained control over their areas and that the closure could be opened in minutes if major troubles developed.

Southwestern states were successfully isolated from the national grid Tuesday as part of the test. Northwestern states are to be separated today to operate independently.

Official testing is scheduled to end at 6 p.m. (EST) today, although there is a chance that experimenting might be extended until Thursday.

Frank LaChicotte, the Watertown substation's manager and chairman of the task force directing the operation, is confident the inter-tie can continue permanently. But he and other officials are cautious in speculating on the next big question: How effective will the power grid be in preventing, relieving or correcting blackouts?

Fatally Knifed

FORT WORTH (AP)—Charles E. Jones, 24, of Fort Worth was fatally knifed Monday night in a brawl involving four or five men. It took place outside a tavern on the city's southside.

Re-elected were Dr. D. W. Halladay, East Texas State; Dr. Arleigh B. Templeton, Sam Houston State College, Huntsville; Dr. James H. McCrocklin, Southwest Texas State; Dr. Ralph W. Steen, Stephen F. Austin State College, Nacogdoches; Dr. James P. Cornette, West Texas State University, Canyon, and Dr. Norman L. McNeill, Sul Ross State College.

Low bid of the First Corporation and Associates of Boston, Mass., for the constitutional tax bonds was at an interest rate of 3.3 per cent less premium, yielding an approximate interest of 3.15 per cent.

The board invited applications from holders of earned doctorates to fill the place which Dr. Cavness will leave vacant at San Angelo.

Children Hurt In Car Mishap

Two children were taken to Hall - Bennett Memorial Hospital Tuesday night following a two-car accident at Sixth and Lamesa Drive, but both were treated and released.

The two boys were Tony Gallardo, 8, and Arthur Yanez, 11, both passengers in a car driven by Francisco Gallardo, 507 Abrams. They were taken to the hospital by Alert Ambulance. Driver of the other car was Emilio A. Ramirez, 608 NW 3rd.

Four minor accidents were also reported Tuesday. Velma Ferriz, 2303 Scurry, and Walker Ferriz, Midland, collided at Eighteenth and Gregg. Wyoma French, 714 Hillside, and Nancy Banks, 100 Circle, ran together at Fourth and Gregg. Johnnie Buckin Winham, 608 Runnels, and Guy Leroy Wakefield, Iowa, were in collision in the 1600 block of East Third. About 25 teachers will attend the session, Harris said.

Communist Groundfire Downs U.S. Spy Plane

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — A U.S. photo reconnaissance plane was downed in North Vietnam and more than a score of shooting incidents were reported in South Vietnam following the start of the lunar new year truce today.

Most of the incidents were small, and both sides appeared disposed to hold their fire.

The American reconnaissance plane went down at noon, five hours after the truce took effect, and presumably was the victim of Communist groundfire. The pilot bailed out and a U.S. destroyer rescued him from the Gulf of Tonkin 15 miles north of Dong Hoi.

22 INCIDENTS

It was the 472nd U.S. plane reported lost over North Vietnam.

Of 22 incidents reported by the U.S. and South Vietnamese military commands in the first 10 hours of the truce, eight were classified as significant. Most were exchanges of fire by patrols or sniper fire at helicopters.

The U.S. Command said the plane lost in the north was an unarmed RF101 jet on a photo mission. The United States has suspended bombing missions against North Vietnam for the four-day truce period but is continuing reconnaissance patrols.

FREE TO FIRE

On the Communist side, the truce was declared only by the Viet Cong. Thus North Vietnam feels free to fire on planes intruding into its air space. North Vietnam does not concede that its troops are fighting in the south.

U.S. officials in Saigon refused to comment on reports that the truce may be prolonged beyond the four days announced by the allies, but a State Department spokesman in Washington held open such a possibility.

SEVEN-DAY TRUCE

"We will see what happens," said State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey.

The Viet Cong has declared a seven-day truce for the new year celebration known as Tet. Its cease-fire is scheduled to run three days beyond the end of the allied truce at 7 a.m. Sunday — 6 p.m. EST Saturday.

A U.S. spokesman in Saigon said that under the truce declaration, the allies would not initiate any offensive operations. But he said because of numerous violations of previous truces, the allies assumed a "full alert posture." This entails increased patrol and security activity and air and naval reconnaissance, he explained.

CRACKERS POP

Saigon resounded with the incessant popping of firecrackers as the Vietnamese prepared to welcome in the "Year of the Goat" at midnight. Celebrations will continue until the end of the week at least.

In the two days before the truce started, U.S. planes waged a mammoth propaganda campaign, dropping 18 million leaflets over North Vietnam and 89 million leaflets over South Vietnam.

The leaflets over the Communist north were "news bulletins" telling of the rift between the Soviet Union and Red China, of defections from the Communist ranks and of defeats of Communist forces in South Vietnam.

During the two-day truce last Christmas, the U.S. and South Vietnamese military commands reported 122 incidents.

BOMBERS BLAST

In war action just before the Tet truce started, U.S. forces reported killing 113 Communist troops in fighting in several sectors. South Vietnamese troops reported killing 31 Viet Cong in three scattered engagements.

U.S. B52 bombers made two raids in South Vietnam at dawn just before the cease-fire began. One hit at troop concentrations

Bayh Says Texans Lack Information

HOUSTON (AP) — Prosecutors and criminal investigators lack figures to back up contentions that the U.S. Supreme Court decisions on rights of the accused have hampered their work, Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., said Tuesday.

As he closed a two-day hearing on the decisions and their effect on investigatory and court procedures, Bayh said the witnesses from across Texas did not supply him as much factual information as he would have wished.

FIRST OF EIGHT

Bayh said the hearings had served to clarify the divergent attitudes of defense lawyers and law enforcement workers on the court's rulings in the Escobedo and Miranda cases. The rulings said that a suspect must be advised speedily of his right to counsel and silence.

Houston was the first of eight cities the Indiana senator plans to visit in the probe for his Senate Judiciary Subcommittee on Constitutional Amendments.

That subcommittee holds a proposed constitutional amendment written by Sen. Samuel J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., which would prevent any court from reversing a decision on the basis that the trial judge erred in his ruling on whether a confession was voluntary.

COSTS CONVICTIONS

Through the Houston session, law enforcement officers complained that the stricter rules on questioning suspects had cost the state many convictions. The defense lawyers told Bayh the high court's actions were a much-needed response to police pressure tactics in interrogations.

Houston lawyer Ned Wade Jr. said interrogation techniques in the past included holding suspects incommunicado, torture and trickery—all of which led to courtroom "swearing matches" between police and the accused.

TRICKED MOTHER

Lawyer Fred Semaan of San Antonio brought to the hearing an attractive expectant mother, Mrs. Rea Salazar of Corpus Christi, who said police in that city held her incommunicado for 12 hours in August 1964 and extracted a confession of murder from her after wearing her and tricking her.

Then Miss Rachel Elizabeth Pike, Mrs. Salazar, now 25, had surrendered for questioning in the shooting death of Clayton Harrell, a 36-year-old Houston man. She later pleaded no contest to charges of murder without malice and received a suspended sentence. Harrell's name was not mentioned in her testimony before Bayh.

Bryan Voters Approve Bonds

BRYAN (AP)—Bryan voters Tuesday approved an $8.5 million utility revenue bond issue. The vote was 577-169.

Money approved will be used to finance additions to the electric power plant, improvements to the electrical distribution system, purchase of land and engineering for a new municipal lake.

Your Income Tax To Bare Secrets

WASHINGTON (AP) — Your income tax return is going to tell Uncle Sam more than just how much tax you owe.

Statistics on income, population and a host of other social analyses will be compiled from the tax returns due by April 17. Information from your return might even be used in a federal check if you apply for a government job.

"If you think your income tax return is strictly confidential, you're mistaken," one congressional source said today, lining up with critics who say the government should be satisfied to learn what the taxpayer owes.

COMPUTER CHECK

But the supplementary data processing will be even easier this year because every return will be read by computer.

It's against the law for an employee of the Internal Revenue Service to divulge the income, profits, losses and spending or any other information listed in tax returns, but this doesn't mean the data are always a secret.

Anyone may ask a district director of Internal Revenue whether you filed a tax return for a given year and the district director can say "yes" or "no" but divulge no further information.

TAX TREATIES

But government agencies can obtain tax returns under provisions spelled out by IRS and executive orders. So can state taxing officials and some foreign governments with which the United States has tax treaties.

Three congressional committees — the House Ways and Means, the Senate Finance and the Senate-House Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation — have access to any IRS files.

LEGAL REASON

For a federal agency to obtain a tax return, the request must be signed by the agency head and sent to the Internal Revenue commissioner who acts on the request himself. He must be satisfied that the reason given is legitimate.

The Senate Judiciary subcommittee on Administrative Practice and Procedure found that federal agencies sought access to tax records for reasons including an investigation of an Air Force employee, a disbarment case, a Civil Service Commission inquiry into an application for a federal job and an investigation by the Federal Communications Commission of a radio station licensee.

Many of the statistics published by the federal government are derived from tax returns, and there are constant new proposals for extracting more information from them.

Smooth Plane Hijack Pulled

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — The hijacking of an Egyptian airliner over the Red Sea went so smoothly that most of the passengers aboard did not realize what had happened, some of the passengers told newsmen today.

There was no panic — or even excitement — in the passengers' cabin.

"Most of us didn't know what was happening," said Norah MacKendrick, 60, a Canadian tourist. "Everything was carried off very coolly and without any fuss at all."

The plane was forced to divert to the Jordanian Red Sea port of Aqaba by an Egyptian, Riyad Kamal Hajja, who defected to Jordan.

NO VET FLIER

The 41 persons aboard, including Miss MacKendrick and three Germans, were brought to Amman. All but Hajja are scheduled to return to Cairo aboard the same plane.

The Russian-built Antonov was on a flight from Cairo to the Egyptian Red Sea resort of Hurghada, 350 miles south of Suez. It had been scheduled to go on to Luxor before making the return trip.

"I didn't feel there was anything wrong about the flight. You see, I have not done much flying," said Miss MacKendrick, who is from Galt, Ont. She is on an extended Middle East tour.

EMERGENCY LANDING

Other passengers reported they saw a man enter the cockpit after the plane had passed Suez and then heard him dump luggage behind the door.

"We didn't feel there was anything wrong at all," said Henry Kattawi, a retired Egyptian government official. "But some of us realized that we had flown longer than we would have to reach Hurghada."

"Just before we landed at Aqaba, the pilot came into the passenger compartment and told us we would be making an emergency landing at Aqaba and to stay in our seats."

Another passenger said the landing was normal. The travelers were taken for refreshments at an officers' club a few hundred yards from the Israeli border. Then they were driven to Amman and put up at a hotel as the Jordanian government's guests.

France Launches Third Satellite

HAMMAGUIR, Algeria (AP) — France launched her third satellite into orbit today to study the topography of the Mediterranean area.

The 50-pound satellite, named Diadem, was sent up by a French Diamant rocket from this Sahara base after a 40-minute delay to iron out technical difficulties.

Ground stations in southern France, Algeria and Greece will bounce laser beams off the satellite and attempt by triangulation to catalogue topographic details of the Mediterranean area and the distance between various points with more precision than has been possible.

Mardi Gras 'Cool Man'

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — This was the Mardi Gras in which some wore long underwear and ice cream vendors cursed the north winds. It was real cool man!

It wasn't the coldest Mardi Gras in the history of the city—just the third coldest. The temperature stood at freezing most of the morning, inching to a day's high of 43.

Street cleaners worked a long hard night carting away tons of beer cans, whisky bottles and other trash left behind Tuesday by over half a million revelers.

FINAL FLING

It was the traditional final fling before the 40 days of Lent in this predominantly Roman Catholic city.

Zulu, king of the all-Negro Krewe, showed up for Mardi Gras with Dixieland jazz, witch doctors, six floats loaded with "big shots" and a large cigar clenched between his teeth.

It was Zulu's most ambitious attempt in years. The Zulu parade used to be a major Mardi Gras attraction. It had slipped to a shadow of its former self after civil rights groups attacked the show as degrading.

VENDORS SAD

"I think we contributed something to our wonderful free show," said Zulu — Deputy Sheriff Milton Biena — after a procession in which souvenir hunters pinched away chunks of his float.

The crowd was smaller than the last Mardi Gras' monumental crush but it was as zany as ever, turning the downtown area into a costume ball.

The parade of Rex, premier Krewe of Mardi Gras, was a grand spectacle. So was Comus, the final procession.

About the only sad faces were worn by the ice cream vendors, who had enjoyed little trade.

Police reported about 200 arrests and spoke approvingly of the general behavior.

"They were, perhaps, little more sane than in years past," said a police spokesman. Or maybe they were just too cold.

Weather Cools Thieves

Cold weather might have contributed to a reduction in unlawful activities Tuesday night, as only one breaking and entering and four thefts were reported.

A breaking and entering was reported at Airport School. Rocks were used to break a window to gain entry, but an officer found a piece of the window with fingerprints on it. Earnest Boyd, principal, said this morning his desk had been tampered with but nothing was missing. It was the third time someone has gained entry to the school within the past few months.

Jack Lewis, 403 S. Scurry, reported four hubcaps, valued at $75 had been taken during the night. A. C. Balch, Americana Club, reported that a microphone, valued at $55, was taken sometime between Jan. 18 and Tuesday. Mrs. Gwen Whitworth, Travelodge Motel, reported a car load of boys had taken two cases of empty bottles from the soft drink machines. Dr. William T. Chrane, 1301 W. 5th, reported six used radiators, one starter, one bell housing, and a pressure plate and transmission, had been stolen from a shed on his property.

Pity Poor TV Thief

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Robert B. Watts told police that a television set and a radio were stolen Tuesday from his home.

Judge Watts said the nighttime robbery occurred as his 21-year-old son slept in a second-floor bedroom and a German Shepherd watchdog patrolled outside the house.

If a suspect is apprehended in the next few days he will be brought before the presiding judge of Northwestern Municipal Court — Robert B. Watts.

Iran To Buy Red Weapons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Iran, a perennial recipient of military aid from the United States, has decided to buy weapons from the Soviet Union, U.S. officials said.

The Middle Eastern nation is the first U.S. ally to take such action.

Officials who announced the development Tuesday night did not seem to regard it as a major setback.

The Iranians reportedly will trade natural gas for $90 million to $100 million worth of anti-aircraft guns, trucks and other transportation equipment. Officials believe the deal was one that Iran's ruler, Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi, felt he couldn't pass up.

American military aid to Iran has amounted to about $1 billion, U.S. officials said.

Iranian gas was the payment in an earlier deal between the two nations under which the Soviets agreed to set up a steel mill.

It was understood that in recent years the shah has come around to the view that the Soviet Union is less a danger to his nation than is Egypt.

Dallas Daddy Guesses Right

DALLAS (AP) — "Daddy! Daddy!" a weakening voice cried over the telephone.

R. O. Rorie couldn't be sure which of his three sons was calling. Fortunately he guessed right.

At their home six blocks away, the elder Rorie found J. D. Rorie, 24, and the son's wife Diane, 23, both suffering from carbon monoxide poisoning.

And if Mrs. J. D. Rorie hadn't set her alarm clock for 6 a.m. Tuesday, it probably would have been too late.

The clock roused her enough to take some aspirin before she fainted. Her cry as she fell, hitting a bath tub, awoke her husband. He, in turn, telephoned his father before collapsing.

Armed with smelling salts, the elder Rorie dashed to the rescue. He found his daughter-in-law partly revived. His son was unconscious.

Cool air admitted to the house soon dispelled the carbon monoxide, for which firemen blamed a malfunctioning heating unit.

Disjointed Travelogue Fails To Please Viewers

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

Associated Press TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Alaska, our 49th state, one-fifth the area of the rest of the United States, has a population that would comprise a medium-size state-side city and a romantic, gold-dusted history.

It has magnificent scenery, the lifeline of its outposts is a small group of colorful bush pilots, fishing is its largest industry and there was a serious earthquake on Good Friday 1964.

SCENERY SHOTS

Tuesday night a special program of the National Geographic Society on CBS tried to cram all this, plus a story of a family touring Alaska and some shots of wild life into a single hour. The results were predictable — a pack-jammed, disjointed travelogue notable for handsome shots of scenery and wild life.

The program started out to report on the summer travels of a single family. We never got acquainted with the family since the producer suddenly started adding old pictures of the Yukon goldrush, colorful comments by the colorful bush pilots, films of bears catching salmon in a river. The result was hardly a satisfying, well-organized television program.

GUYS AND DOLLS

ABC, in a daytime game show launched this week, "Everybody's Talking," came up with an amusing and fresh idea. The producers taped the opinions of assorted men-on-the-street in Los Angeles about such subjects as Sigmund Freud and the Beatles. They chopped up the interviews and snippets are shown to the TV audience and three studio contestants. The idea was to guess, from the remarks, the names of the subjects.

One strong point of any game show is to have the home audience playing along with the contestants, and "Everybody's Talking" succeeds in this.

Recommended tonight: "Guys and Dolls," ABC, 8-11 EST, uncut rerun of the feature film adapted from the Broadway musical show, with Frank Sinatra and Marlon Brando; Bob Hope Theatre, NBC, 9-10, "Blind Man's Buff," a suspense story with Michael Rennie and Bob Cummings.

Carnival Crowd

Thousands jam Canal Street in New Orleans Tuesday to view the annual Krewe of Rex on Mardi Gras Day. The colorful floats in the background could barely squeeze through the spectators who stretch along the parade route. (AP WIRE- PHOTO)

Burmese Political Prisoners Released

RANGOON, Burma (AP) — The Burmese government released 116 political prisoners Tuesday from jails throughout the country, official sources reported.

Among them were 56 Buddhist monks detained for antigovernment activity in 1965. Most of the others were students or rank and file politicians.

It was the third batch of releases in recent months.

Band Of Youths Rob Customers

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — A band of youths barged into a Fort Lauderdale restaurant Tuesday night and robbed the customers at gunpoint as they dined.

"It was just like you see in the movies," said Ernest Busker, operator at Ernie's Restaurant.

There were 16 customers in the establishment at the time. None was hurt.

Busker said one woman argued with the youths and eventually talked them out of taking anything from her.

But from the rest of the patrons they took $150 in cash, several handbags and a $600 watch in addition to about $150 in the cash drawer.

Police said the culprits escaped in a car. Police described the youths as being in their late teens and early 20s.

DEAR ABBY

Housekeeping Isn't All

DEAR ABBY: My married daughter lives 30 miles from me. She has a wonderful husband and a year-old child. She has a nice, new apartment and everything to go with, but whenever I visit her, the place is a mess and she is usually in her robe. There is never a place to put anything or to sit down. How my son-in-law can stand it is beyond me.

I know his mother, and she is an immaculate housekeeper. How can I make my daughter see the shame of it? When I walk in and see the mess, she doesn't even act embarrassed. She and her husband get along like two lovebirds now, but I'm afraid if she doesn't start keeping house properly it won't last.

HER MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Fortunately for your daughter, her husband's values are not the same as yours. If they were, he surely would have insisted that she improve her housekeeping. Do not try to "shame" your daughter.

Pretend you don't notice the mess. She may have qualities that are more important to her husband than the ability to keep house. For her sake, I hope so.

DEAR ABBY: This is the second marriage for both my husband and me. It is a happy marriage, and we get along beautifully. We've been married nearly five years. Our problem is that we would like to have a baby. My husband is 38 and I am 41. (I look 35.)

We want a baby very much, but the thing that has me worried is my age. Am I too old to have a baby? Would people stare? What about complications? If my doctor says to do ahead, should we venture into parenthood at our ages?

"AGE CONSCIOUS": Why not? When the good Lord decrees that a woman is "too old" to have a child, Mother Nature indorses the decree by revoking the privilege.

DEAR ABBY: I've been married for 25 years and my pet peeve is my husband's constant complaining about the sandwiches I put in his lunch pail.

He says he loves tuna fish, but it makes his hands smell. He doesn't like pork products and he says peanut butter gives him a pain between his shoulder blades. He also says he is sick of eggs and cold cuts. And chicken and turkey are too dry.

Yesterday he came home and said a fellow had a Canadian bacon sandwich and it looked real good, so this morning I put one in his lunch pail. Well, he came home tonight and said he found out Canadian bacon was ham and he hates ham! Do you have any ideas, Abby? My man is driving me nuts.

DEAR OUT: Keep giving him tuna and pack rubber gloves!

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mao's Units Hike Anti-Soviet Campaign

TOKYO (AP)—Mao Tse-tung's forces intensified their anti-Soviet campaign today with hostile demonstrations in a dozen Chinese cities and new orders for fighting the Kremlin's brand of communism.

The official New China News Agency said demonstrations were held throughout mainland China to emphasize "China's mounting protest against the Soviet revisionists' outrages."

The Peking correspondent of the Japanese newspaper Yomiuri said Mao had issued instructions for setting up in the Red capital a "liaison station for struggling against revisionism"—China's label for the Soviet brand of communism.

"ARMED COUP" The Maoists also gave new evidence of trouble in their own ranks with a warning to the faithful to be on the alert against a "palace coup" or an "armed coup."

The "Red Guard's Forum" of the Kwangming Daily said Mao's followers have "been retaking one after another of the positions of power held by a handful of party people taking the capitalist road" but cautioned that the victories would stir attempts at a "counterseizure of power."

'GREAT CONFUSION'

Maoist criticism of the Chinese army was reported mounting also, with Peking wall posters accusing soldiers of sup-

Corky Suffers Same Bad Luck

LIBERAL, Kan. (AP)—Corky Wilson, 13, suffered his usual bad luck Monday in a bid for the junior division championship of the annual pancake eating contest in Liberal, Kan.

Corky and Larry Williams, 15, each ate 24 pancakes, then flipped a coin for the title. Williams won the toss.

The same thing happened to Corky last year when he tied for first at 21 cakes, only to lose on the toss of the coin.

pressing Mao's followers as well as his opponents. Posters said army units had caused "great confusion" by turning against "truly revolutionary elements" in at least seven provinces.

Some posters indicated the incidents stemmed from inability of the troops to distinguish the good elements from the bad. Other reports from Peking suggested deliberate opposition to Mao in the army ranks.

Singer Eartha Kitt Free On $25 Bond

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Police released singer Eartha Kitt under $25 bond after arresting her at an apartment building in downtown Houston Tuesday.

Officers charged her with "failure to move on" as ordered.

They reported a man collapsed and died of an apparent heart attack as he stepped from an elevator.

Police said the singer kept asking if they had tried artificial respiration and would not leave.

The entertainer, now appearing at a night club here, told reporters: "I wanted to help if I could. I have had some nursing training."

The new Soviet ambassador to Australia, N.Y. Trankov, said in Canberra that Red China was trying to force the Soviet Union to break diplomatic relations. "It is difficult to say how much longer we can be patient with them," he said.

But Moscow radio in a Japanese-language broadcast said that "despite Peking's anti-Soviet campaign, the Soviet people will not be intimidated into taking any rash step."

Brown Joins Lamesa Bank Board, Yates' Stock Sold

LAMESA (SC) — Bob Brown has been elected to the board of directors of the First National Bank as an aftermath of a transaction which marked the end of a historical era of association in the bank by the Yates family.

Brown's election was announced by J. W. Bryant, chairman of the board. A native of Lamesa, Brown joined with Norman M. Stewart and Lloyd E. Cline, both of whom are vice presidents and directors of the bank, to acquire the stock held by the family of the late E. R. Yates, a long-time official of the bank. Brown purchased the majority of the stock.

The stock was held by Mrs. Nanie Cope Yates, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Norris, and Duane Hardin Young, heirs of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Yates, Cope and Norris all had served as directors of the bank.

E. R. Yates was a pioneer in this area, starting to work as a cowboy on the Slaughter Ranch in 1893 before Dawson County was established. He joined the First National Bank as director in 1919 and succeeded the late J. F. Barron as president in 1926, holding that position to his death in 1958. Mr. Cope, also a pioneer of Dawson County, served on the board until his death in 1958.

Brown, a native of Lamesa, is the son of the late Bob Brown and Mrs. Alma Brown who resides here. A 1955 graduate of Lamesa High School, he received a degree in animal husbandry in 1959 from Texas Tech. He has farming interests in both Dawson and Martin counties. An active civic and church worker, he is chairman of the finance committee and the ushers committee at the First Baptist Church, a member of Texas Tech Ex-Student's Association, Lamesa Chamber of Commerce, and its Round-Up and President's Clubs. He and his wife, the former Elena Esmond, have one daughter, Marcy, who is 19-months-old.

Cline has been associated with the bank since 1949, when he became a bookkeeper. He served as teller, assistant cashier, assistant vice president, before becoming vice president. He has been a director since August, 1966. Active in civic and church affairs, Cline is currently serving as a member of the city council of Lamesa. He also is a graduate of the School of Banking at Louisiana State University.

Stewart joined the First National Bank as assistant vice president in February, 1946 and became vice president of the organization in January, 1955. He was elected to the board of directors in August, 1966. Stewart recently submitted his resignation as vice president and trust officer of the bank, becoming effective March 15, but will continue to serve on the board of directors and the trust committee.

Stewart recently purchased a pharmacy in Lamesa and will operate the business, returning to his former profession. A graduate of the University of Texas School of Pharmacy, he owned and operated a pharmacy in Artesia, N. M., for 15 years. The Stewart's have one daughter, Jan, who is a graduate of Texas Christian University, and one son, Mark, who is a freshman at Texas Tech.

Big Spring school trustees Tuesday evening authorized the down payment of $21,887 on the property of Barr Studio, across from the high school. This will be developed as an administrative - service center for the school system.

The remaining amount of the $50,000 purchase price will be spread over three years at six percent interest.

The board voted to continue the policy of allowing one percent discount for school taxes paid in October. It also authorized the development of a newly purchased maintenance site as soon as possible.

The annual trustee election was set for April 1 with boxes at Senior High, Kate Morrison and Gay Hill schools. NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Police arrested two men Tuesday on charges of breaking out of a county jail in Anderson, Ind., last Thursday.

They were identified as Ronald Richardson, 23, of Ingalls, Ind., and Thomas G. Warren, 21, of Orange, Tex.

When police approached the men in the railway station Richardson fled but was later picked up in a bus terminal. He was armed with two loaded .22 caliber revolvers.

Officers meanwhile arrested Warren in the rail depot. He was charged with intoxication, using obscene language and violating police.

Gulf Hikes Gas Prices

HOUSTON (AP) — The Gulf Oil Corp. followed several other major marketers today in boosting gasoline prices.

Gulf suggested that the retail price at all its market outlets except the West Coast area be increased one cent a gallon.

The Gulf announcement gave no reason for the increase but a Gulf agreement last month set a general pattern for numerous settlements of new contract agreements between oil refiners and the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers International Union.

The general pattern included a 14-cent hourly pay hike immediately and a four per cent hike next January. The old average wage had been $3.50 an hour.

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — California Gov. Ronald Reagan, who proposes slashing state budgets by 10 per cent, got a birthday cake Tuesday in honor of his 56th birthday.

Ten per cent of the cake was missing. And the governor never got a chance to blow out 56 candles. Candles said 10 per cent of those were missing too.

Fund Builds Up For Garrisons

Nearly a score of other Big Springers expressed their concern and sympathy in a tangible way today for the Carl Garrison family which lost two daughters in a traffic mishap here last week.

These friends today sent in $140 to the Garrison Fund, being received by the Grace Baptist Church. Others who would like to help Airman L.C. Carl Garrison and his family in this emergency may take or send their gifts (payable to the Garrison Fund) to Grace Baptist Church, Box 1507.

Meanwhile, rites were to be said at 2 p.m. CST in Marion, S. C. for Betty Sue Garrison, 11, and Vickie Ann Garrison, 13, who were hurt fatally as they stood by the roadside waiting for a school bus. Both were pupils at Gollad Junior High. The Garrisons are at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Lewis, 325 E. Bond St. in Marion.

Memorial rites were to be said at 4 p.m. Wednesday in the Webb AFB Chapel with the Rev. Roy Honea, pastor of the Grace Baptist Church, where the Garrisons were members, officiating, assisted by Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Robert T. Deming. Leonard Moody was to be the soloist.

Besides those actually making contributions to the fund, a Boy Scout Troop, children who ride the buses, a unit at Webb AFB all called in to say that

Cape, Felts Seek Another Term On City School Board

James Cape and James Felts filed applications Tuesday evening as candidates to succeed themselves on the Big Spring Independent School District board of trustees.

Felts, who originally was appointed to the board, is serving out an elective term, and Cape, named to the board last year to succeed Jack Haralson, will be asking for his first elective term.

In seeking to continue on the board, Cape said that "we have an ambitious program started, and I would like to continue to see these things through to a conclusion. I appreciate the opportunity to serve during the past year, and I would like to have the chance to make whatever contribution I can during a full elective term. I believe that this is a responsible position and one to which a citizen ought to aspire to do what he can to help our children. I will pledge my best."

JAMES CAPE

Cape came to Big Spring in 1953 and is engaged as a life underwriter. He was state director for the Jaycees, vice president for the Jaycees, and one year was named the outstanding Jaycee. He has served on the Chamber of Commerce board, was president of the Ambassadors Club and headed the Howard County Rehabilitation Center board. He has worked on the United Fund and served as trustee, and has held various posts on the Industrial Foundation board. Cape was included in the 1965 edition of Outstanding Young Men of America. He is an elder in the St. Paul Presbyterian Church.

Felts is a long time resident of Howard County. He lives in the Gay Hill community and is associated with Reef Fields Company.

Originally a member of the old Gay Hill school board before that school was annexed to Big Spring where he served as president and secretary, Felts was appointed to the Big Spring board in 1962 to serve out a two year term left open by resignation of a member.

He ran for re-election April 5, 1964 and was returned to the board for his first official full term. He is now seeking his second full term.

Reds Free Prisoners

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — The Viet Cong released 19 war prisoners today, apparently relating the action to celebration of the lunar new year, military sources reported.

The prisoners — local militiamen and regular Vietnamese army personnel — were freed in the village of Rach Sol, about 125 miles southwest of Saigon.

No details of when or where the 19 were captured could be obtained immediately. Neither was it known where they had been held.

Stock Market Prices Jump

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market widened its gains in a brisk recovery drive early this afternoon. Trading was active.

Snapping back from its blizzard-shortened session of Tuesday—one of the three clear-cut declines of 1967 — the market produced a new list of speculative favorites while some of the recent ones faded.

The background to Wall Street was actually less encouraging news than it was a few days ago, but it was obvious that more and more investors were being attracted to the rising market.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 7.40 at $59.91 — pressing closer than ever to the upside resistance level of about $60, a line which discouraged the last rallying act.

R. Leonard Morris, Colorado City, has been appointed as a board member of the Texas Local Selective Service Board No. 71. His appointment, made by President Johnson, fills the vacancy on the local board caused by the recent resignation of Sie Hamm, also of Colorado City. Snow Coats Some Areas

By The Associated Press

Dry, powdery snow drifted down on much of the Panhandle-Plains sector and edged eastward today as bitter cold maintained its grip on a good part of Texas.

Early morning temperatures ranged down to 11 degrees above zero at Dalhart and 12 at Perryton. A raw northwest breeze sharpened the chill.

Slightly more than one inch of snow whitened the Perryton area. Dalhart measured only .61 inch of moisture although about an inch of snow accumulated at some places in the vicinity.

Lubbock likewise received one inch before the snowfall stopped about 2 a.m. The moisture content was .67.

Smaller amounts, yielding only traces of moisture, pelted Amarillo, Midland, Big Spring and Childress.

The dry San Angelo area, in its 11th straight day without measurable precipitation, was teased by a trace of rain for the second time in three days. Midland's hint of snow was the first moisture there this year.

Skies were generally clear in other sections of the state except the Lower Rio Grande Valley, where a cloud cover held temperatures up and averted a possibility of frost. The low at Brownsville was 45.

A dissipating cold front, with little difference in temperatures on each side, lay along a line from San Angelo to Del Rio about daybreak.

Forecasts called for scattered light snow in the north part of North Central Texas and a little rain dotting the rest of the state's central section and some areas in East Texas, continuing into this evening.

Clearing skies were expected to spread from Northwest Texas over all the state except the southeast by tonight.

San Saba Dam Hearing Slated

AUSTIN (AP) — Colorado River lakes cover the sites of eight dams proposed 53 years ago, so the Texas Water Rights Commission canceled those dams, Tuesday to build those dams.

The commission also canceled the right to build another dam, on the Tanyard site 18 miles west of Lampasas. It was proposed in 1926.

A hearing on a proposed cancellation of a dam on the San Saba River was postponed until Feb. 21 to give San Saba city officials, who reportedly protest the cancellation, a chance to attend the hearing.

The following lakes each cover two of the old proposed dams: Travis, Marble Falls, Lyndon B. Johnson and Buchanan.

Weather Forecast

Snow is expected Wednesday night in western New York State and the northern Rockies. Rain is predicted for the central Gulf region with some snow flurries on the northern periphery. Temperatures will be colder in the southern Plains. (AP WIREPHOTO MAP)

Herd Equals All-Time Record For Victories

By TOMMY HART
Big Spring has gone through a basketball season without getting beat at home and Midland High found out why here Tuesday night.

The Longhorns laid the lash on the Bulldogs, 72-48, in a District 2-AAAA encounter that was significant for a number of reasons.

For one thing, the Steers clinched at least a tie for third place in the eight-team circuit. For another, the victory was their 24th of the season, a feat that equaled the all-time record for wins in one campaign.

Forsan Lasses Wrap Up 67-B Basketball Title

GARDEN CITY — Forsan clinched the District 67-B girls' basketball championship by rallying to topple Garden City, 44-40, here Tuesday night.

The Buffalo Queens are now 26-5 for the season and stand 9-0 in conference.

In the boys' game, Forsan took the lead in the third period and held on to win, 73-70. The Bisons are 15-9 for the season and 7-3 in conference.

The two Forsan teams wind up regular play in games at Sterling City Friday night.

Forsan's defensive combination of Valynia Conway, Wanda Albertson, Deryl Dunagan and Nancy Anderson did a fine job of slowing down Garden City's tremendous point-getter, Brenda Jacob.

Mary Simpson hit 13 points for Forsan and most of them from outside when the Bisons were in desperate straits for points. Mollie Condon was unerring from the line, connecting 16 times on penalty shots. She wound up with 28 points.

Brenda Jacob led the scrappy Bearkittens with 25 points. Clayton McKinnon paced the Frogs Survive Bruin Threat In Home Gym

By The Associated Press
A northern blow into Daniel-Meyer Coliseum on the Texas Christian campus Tuesday night and it almost froze the Horned Frogs out of the Southwest Conference basketball race.

A basket and three timely free throws broke the ice and the Frogs shivered to a 96-89 victory over Baylor, moving within one game of leading Southern Methodist.

It all started when Texas Christian was costing along with a 14-point lead late in the second half. In the last 5:41 of the game the Frogs managed only one field goal, by Wayne Kreis with eight seconds to play.

During the freeze the Bears came within two points of tying the game with 36 seconds to play. Fifteen seconds later Baylor lost its great scorer, Darrell Hardy, on fouls. That left the Bears minus their scoring punch because Jimmy Turner had fouled out earlier.

Hardy and Turner, the conference's two top point makers, scored 24 apiece. It was the first time in 64 varsity games for Hardy to foul out.

TCU's second half chill was almost a duplicate of the first half. The Frogs went without a field goal in the final 4:45 of the initial period and only six free throws by Mickey McCarty, James Cash and Kreis kept an 18-point lead from dwindling more than the 53-45 margin they took into the intermission.

The victory, paced by McCarty's 21 points and 18 from Kreis, ended a two-game conference losing streak and put the Frogs' league record at 5-2. Southern Methodist is 6-1.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Mickey Mantle is only (1) 51 games removed from equaling Lou Gehrig's record of having played in 2,164 contests with the New York Yankees. (2) Three games from parring in with Yogi Berra's longevity mark of 2,116 with the same team and (3) only four home runs shy of the 500-career mark in the big leagues.

Think he'll rate the Baseball Hall of Fame? Mantle says this positively will be his last year to play the game.

It would appear, at this stage of the campaign, that Ranger, Dallas Baptist, Amarillo, Odessa, New Mexico JC and Christian College of the Southwest (located in Dallas) have virtual clinches on Region V basketball tournament spots at Amarillo next month.

If that be the case, then that leaves only two positions open. If HCJC can straighten up and show the expected poise in the race down to the wire, it has a reasonably good chance to be invited.

However, such worthies as Cisco, Clarendon, South Plains and Lubbock Christian College refuse to concede anything to the Jayhawks.

Unless the Hawks nail down a spot in the Region V meet, their chances of another 20-victory season will have gone by the boards—for the second straight year. Even now the odds are rather remote.

Perhaps the Hawks fight better with their backs to the wall.

Incidentally, coach Larry McCulloch of Odessa College reasons the people who do the balloting in the National Junior College basketball poll are overlooking perhaps the finest team in Texas—Tyler.

The poll lists Ranger and San Jacinto among the top 20 teams in the nation and Larry thinks Tyler is capable of beating either club.

When Rod Rust was taken aboard as head football coach at North Texas State University in December, there were cries of dismay around the commonwealth.

In substance, the anvil chorus was saying: "We never heard of him!"

Rust may be an unknown with most Texas sports buffs but he brings a solid reputation to the state with him. Although he was hired away from Stanford University in California, Rust, is a native of Iowa. He graduated from Iowa State University as a center and linebacker.

Rust had settled down as head coach at Ottumwa, Iowa, and said he wouldn't have been disappointed if he could have stayed there the rest of his life but Bill Weeks got the head coaching job at the University of New Mexico and asked Rust to go along with him.

Rod spent three years at New Mexico and coached such hard-nosed lines that John Ralston, then moving from Utah State to Stanford, asked the pleasure of his company. That was four years ago.

Rust's credentials must have been imposing. He was selected over 30 candidates. The odd thing about the North Texas offer was that Rust asked to be considered for four head coaching jobs in other areas he didn't get, yet he didn't apply for the North Texas spot. Ralston recommended him without telling Rust about it.

Rod's father is a former Cedar Rapids, Iowa, coach who now is an athletic director. At one time, Rust had every intention of becoming a veterinarian but that idea didn't last long.

Rust has agreed to keep the North Texas assistants, and that doesn't always work out, but the Eagle alumni may find they have a winner in the young Iowan. He's going to be quite a change from Odus Mitchell, who held the job 21 years.

Rust expects to do more recruiting in the small towns rather than in the metropolitan areas so he'll, no doubt, be out our way.

Longest lead any National baseball league team enjoyed last season was 4½ games. It's no wonder the senior circuit outdrew the American league by close to five million customers.

Sands Decisions Dawson, 64-36

DAWSON — Sands moved to within one game of a clinch tie for first place in District 87-B boys' basketball standings by routing Dawson, 64-36, here Tuesday night.

The Sands boys are 8-1 in district play and 17-5 over-all. They close out regular season play against Loop in Ackerly Friday night.

Oren Lancaster had a big night for Sands, scoring 27 points. Rex Drennan led Dawson with 15.

The Sands team remains in a tie with Gail for first place. If the tie continues after Friday, a "sudden death" playoff will have to be arranged.

The Sands girls allowed the foe only one point in the second quarter on their way to a 53-28 victory in the opener.

Boys' game: SANDS (40) — Lancaster 11-5-27; Russell 1-2-4; Lynn Maxwell 5-0-10; Hambrick 5-2-2; Fryar 4-0-12; Hopson 2-0-4; Kynn Maxwell 6-3-3; Oaks 1-0-2. Totals 26-12-64.

DAWSON (36) — Rex Drennan 5-2-12; Rex Drennan 4-3-15; Schooter 1-0-2; Harg 2-0-4; Morris 1-1-3. Totals 15-6-36.

Sands 25-13; Dawson 13-20-48-64.

Bobby Layne Is Nominated For Grid Hall

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Chuck Bednarik, Bobby Layne, Ken Strong, Joy Stydhar and Emilen Tunnell from the playing ranks and Paul Brown, Dan Reeves and the late Charles Bidwell of the coach-owner category have been named to pro football's Hall of Fame.

The eight new members were the unanimous choices of the Board of Selectors at its annual meeting Dec. 30 in Dallas but announcement was withheld until today.

The Hall of Fame, built four years ago, now has 47 members. Since its opening in 1963, almost 250,000 persons have visited the museum.

Bednarik, former center and linebacker with the Philadelphia Eagles, and Bobby Layne, veteran Texas quarterback who played with the Chicago Bears, New York Bulldogs, Detroit Lions and Pittsburgh Steelers, retired after the 1962 season. They now share the honor of being the players who were active most recently to make the grade.

Strong, halfback and kicker, came out of New York University to play with the Staten Island Stapletons, New York Giants and Yankees. He still is the Giants' all-time scoring leader with 351 points.

Stydhar, 6-foot-4, 250-pound tackle was all-pro four straight years with the Chicago Bears for whom he played from 1936-42 and from 1945-46, interrupted by service in the Navy. He later was head coach of the Los Angeles Rams for two years.

Both Gail teams have tied for first place in the standings.

French Diplomat Campaigns For Seat He Doesn't Want

May I Have Your Vote?

French Foreign Minister Couve de Murville talks with woman walking her dog as he campaigns in the Left Bank district of Paris where he lives. Couve de Murville, 60, is trying to be elected a deputy in the French National Assembly—but if elected he will probably resign in order to continue as foreign minister. He will be replaced by alternate elected on same ticket. He is seeking his first elected post to defend policies of President de Gaulle. (AP WIREPHOTO)

PARIS (AP)—He's one of the world's leading diplomats but Maurice Couve de Murville is finding his neighbors aren't much interested in his job.

For the first time in his 36 years in government, Couve de Murville, 60, is trying to be elected a deputy in Parliament. He's running from the Left Bank district where he has had an apartment for 34 years. The Foreign Ministry, which he heads, is located there, too.

The campaign doesn't officially open until Monday, but Couve de Murville has already set up two electioneering offices in the district and has been holding private meetings.

MARKET QUIZ

After one session where the voters were invited to ask questions, a reporter asked him if there had been any questions about foreign policy. Couve de Murville laughed and said, "No. Nothing. They asked about almost everything else, including what the stock market was going to do."

A photographer following Couve de Murville on a walking, handshaking tour asked a woman with a small dog to pose with the candidate. She did but she asked the photographer after Couve de Murville strolled on, "Why did you want that man in the picture?" She had no idea who he was.

WOULD RESIGN

Couve de Murville is running for an office that he doesn't want and a seat he will never occupy. If he were elected and were asked to continue as foreign minister, as everyone would expect, he would resign from the National Assembly and leave the seat to his replacement, elected on the same ticket.

Under the Fifth Republic, an alternate for each deputy is elected at the same time as the deputy. The alternate takes the seat if the deputy leaves the assembly for any reason. The constitution also says a person cannot be a minister and a deputy at the same time. Hence, a

Red Ringleaders Placed In Jail

MADRID, Spain (AP)—Security police today announced the arrest of seven persons they said were promoters of recent student and worker protests and ringleaders of two Communist organizations.

Police said two of the seven were members of a leftist student group and the other belonged to Communist organizations that receive support and direction from pro-Chinese Communist in Italy.

The disorders began Jan. 27 with a violent demonstration at Madrid University in support of workers protesting rising living costs.

Death Row Bill Filed

AUSTIN (AP)—A bill abolishing the death penalty but allowing juries to impose natural life sentences without parole was introduced Tuesday by Rep. Ronald Bridges of Corpus Christi.

Bridges, a longtime opponent of capital punishment, said some provision should be made for thugs who commit "heinous crimes."

His bill would provide that a person sentenced to life imprisonment must serve at least 15 calendar years.

Condemned men now on death row would receive automatic commutations under the Bridges bill.

The bill probably will be referred to the House Criminal Jurisprudence Committee, whose chairman, Rep. Jim Nugent of Kerrville, opposes repeal of the death penalty.

Rep. Willis Whatley of Houston, introduced a proposed constitutional amendment permitting branch banking in counties with more than 500,000 people—Bexar, Dallas, Harris, Tarrant.

Thousands Begin Fast

NEW YORK (AP)—Thousands of church people in more than 100 cities begin a three-day fast today for peace in Vietnam.

The fast, beginning on Ash Wednesday, the start of Lent, was urged by a national gathering of churchmen in Washington last week.

The Committee for Clergy and Laymen Concerned About Vietnam said Tuesday it had received notice that the fast would be observed in 111 cities.

Those fasting will take only tea, rice, fruit juices and water for nourishment.

A spokesman said some groups plan to spend most of the three-day period in worship at churches and synagogues. Others will continue their daily work routine.

YOUR Horoscope Forecast for Tomorrow By Corroll Righter

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You can get into a real tight spot unless you control your temper and let others see you want to get along with them. Later your judgment in any new venture or undertaking is NOT good. However, there are benefits accruing to you by a tactful, systematic and diplomatic approach of whatever your work.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Avoid that temptation to fall into argument with close ties or those in civic circles; this could give you much trouble. Be kind and courteous. Instead, gain their favor easily and be much happier as well.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Listen to what a friend has to suggest and then you know whether it will be wise or not to attend to outside business or home chores. Be careful of what you say in correspondence. Say nothing on the telephone that can be repeated to your disfavor.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Think and how you can have better entertainment of lower price and also improve your business affairs. Do whatever will make you more efficient. Close the demands more than is possible for you to give. Show your love to your loved ones.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Doing whatever will make your home life more harmonious and secure is wise, even if you have to forget about some entertainment you planned. Give up people, conditions, most hold you back. Get busy early.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Take care you do not forget important business because you are so angry over some personal worry you can hardly see. If you have to give someone a piece of your mind, do it wisely. Clear the air and all is fine.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 21) You are very anxious to see some good pay and yet keep busy with monetary matters of importance. Be sure to plan your time wisely. Avoid the purely social. This could cost you a pretty penny now.

LIBRA (Sept. 22 to Oct. 22) Impress upon yourselves that you are able to control your temper and also follow every regular thing applies to you. Avoid going off on tangents. This could cause you to lose prestige and profits.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Buy yourself with whatever is more modern and get in touch with individuals who can help you to advance along such lines as well. Forget that comfortable rat you are in. Shady and get ahead faster.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Others are apt to be so wrapped up with own affairs, with exception of a loyal relative, that you get little help from them when you need it the most. Start on upswing instead. You become inspired.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Those who are interested in furthering your interests should be contacted and you can show that you are an astute business person. Steer clear of allies who are in an argumentative mood. Be happy.

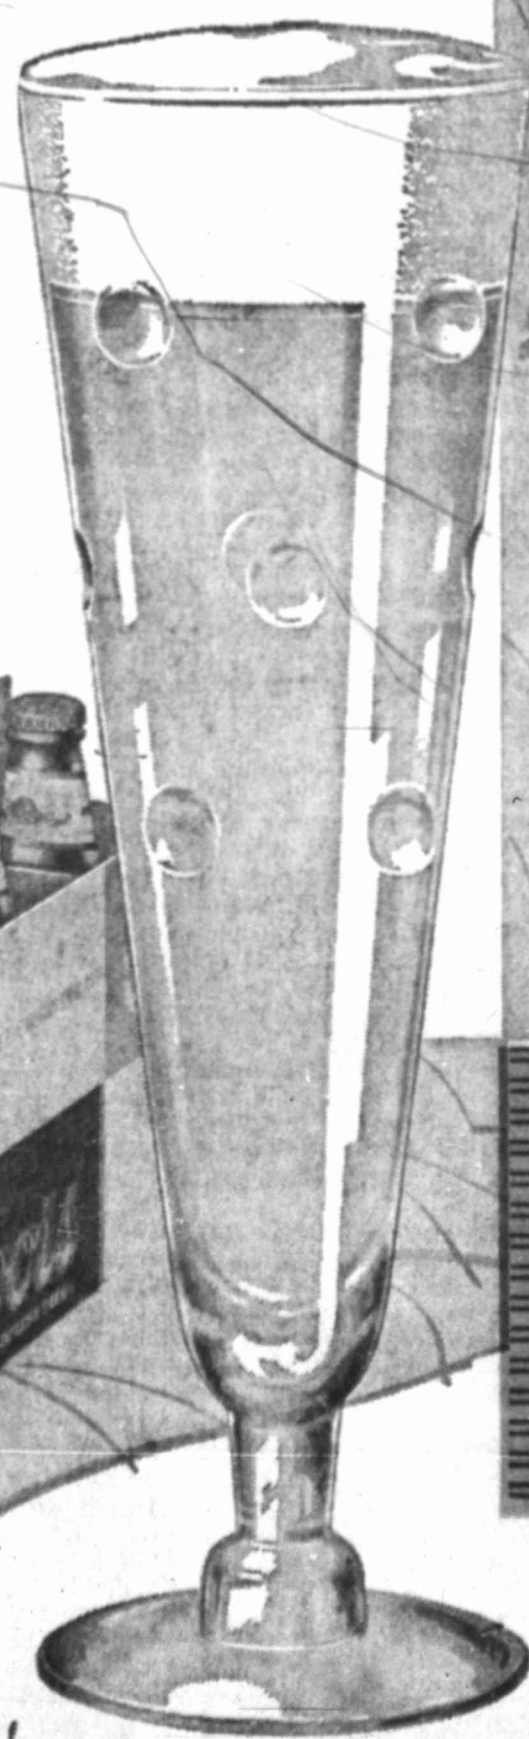

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Avoid that temptation to let your work suffer so that you can go off on some foolish tangent. Evening is best time for recreation. Be sure that this is wholesome and inexpensive.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) You are down-to-earth and thinking straight but others around you are certainly full of hare-brained ideas and acting strangely. Be courteous, but don't fall into any of their traps. Labor wisely at even affairs.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN tomorrow he or she will be one of those delightful ones who will want to understand everything and make big plans for the future, but there is a tendency to want to pursue whatever may be pretty risky or whatever has an element of danger. Early point out that a more safe course should be followed, and teach not to be so critical of others. Send to the very best college in the country.

A LOVELIER YOU

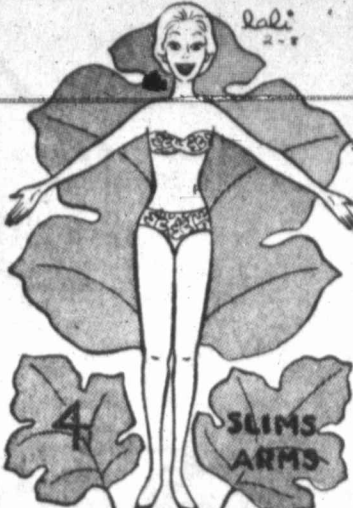

Look Younger With Firm, Slender Arms

By MARY SUE MILLER
The figure is in real trouble when the arms are heavy or flaccid. Heavy arms add inches to the girth of the figure—even an otherwise normal figure. The flaccid arm, whether slim or plump, adds years — and years.

Ideally the arm is slender and firm. Achievement of the ideal is the aim of these routines:

1. A Reducer. Stretch out, back down, on floor with arms straight out to sides at shoulder level. Then bend elbows so that fingers point to ceiling. Now "massage" upper arms against floor by alternately swinging forearms forward and backward to touch floor. Working briskly, continue for one minute.

2. A Firmer. Stand erect with hands forward at shoulder level and backs of hands touching. Leading with palms, swing arms backward as far as possible.

sible and then sharply twist hands forward to face ceiling and so to tense upper arm muscles. Hold position for five slow counts and swing back to starting position. Repeat 20 times.

To further effects, develop your reach. When you wish to pick up an object from a shelf or table, stand back and fully extend arm. The stretch achieved in that way has the value of conventional slimming and trimming exercise. And, what's more, the habit increases the grace of all your gestures.

SLIMMERS

Let me help you with the problem of a too-fleshy arm, chest or upper back by sending you my leaflet, "Trimmers and Slimmers." It contains a set of coordinated sport reducing exercises—easy to do, quick to get results. Just write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents in coin to cover handling.

TOPS Club Has Queen

Mrs. W. E. Miller was named January queen at the Tuesday evening meeting of the TOPS Pound Rebels in the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas Company.

Mrs. Miller also read an article concerning a circus fat lady who lost over 400 pounds in one year, and Mrs. Walter Goodwin showed films of herself on a float in Seminole. The picture was taken after she had lost 100 pounds, serving as an incentive to other members.

Mrs. Herald Bell presided. The next meeting will be Tuesday in the Reddy Room of Texas Electric Service Company.

Abuse Of Continuance

The issue of abuse of legislative continuance in court cases was raised in pungent form by Dist. Judge Herman Jones in Austin last week.

Before the court was a suit filed by property owners against Austin Raceway Park, Inc., operators of a drag strip adjoining a residential area 12 miles north of Austin. The suit was filed last July when the drag strip began operating. The case was successively set for trial last August, November, December, January and February, but the drag strip owners, who represented the drag strip owners, testified at a hearing on a motion for a continuance that he had not asked for one, having agreed to the Feb. 6 setting. But the drag strip owners retained another lawyer, Rep. Travis Peeler of Corpus Christi, who moved to postpone the case until 30 days after the legislature adjourns.

Under present law, a continuance in a civil or criminal case is mandatory when asked by a member of the legislature. The continuance operates from 30 days before the legislature convenes until 30 days after it adjourns—30 days after a special session, if one is called. Thus July 10 would be the earliest trial setting for the case under discussion.

Judge Jones recalled that he had overruled a motion for a legislative continuance in 1963, only to be overruled by the Supreme Court of Texas. That highest court had held that it is the legislature's "responsibility to curb abuses" in this area, not the judiciary.

In our own area, the Colorado River Municipal Water District has had some experience with a version of the legislative continuance as it pertained to one hearing before one of the state's commissions. The injection of this issue produced delay, which, while it did not produce defeat of the district's application as some had hoped, it did seriously set back the time table. As a result, the district had to take action at the very peak of a bond market. There's no telling how much money that will cost.

Surely legislators can take action to minimize abuses by giving court far greater discretion. And while they are at it, the legislators might do well to examine the issue of members of that august body representing clients before commissions or boards.

Unlimited Limit

The periodic farce of increasing the federal debt limit is again approaching its third act climax. Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler has asked Congress to raise the $330 billion limit to $337 billion.

Congress has no choice. The Treasury has been skirting near the limit since December, and will have to have a higher limit by late February. No one knows exactly what would happen if the Treasury had to borrow beyond the debt limit—probably it would weaken the dollar internationally and certainly it would be awkward on the home front, especially in time of war.

The Treasury has resorted to several questionable gimmicks—as the Republicans call them with considerable truth—but then it had no choice either. It had to try to pay off its bills and stay just under the debt limit.

Actually there are permanent and temporary debt limits. The latter is the important one, as there is no prospect of ever getting back to the so-called permanent limit.

The debt limit was initially established as a means of compelling economy in the federal government. But it hasn't worked that way, as it is raised every time the Treasury gets near the limit.

Astronomical as the federal debt is, it is now only 47 per cent of the annual Gross National Product, as against 129.2 per cent just following World War II. In other words, despite two wars, the federal debt is a declining percentage of the nation's aggregate income in works and services—and so is easier to carry.

Considering the administrative trouble it causes, and the partisan bickering in Congress, the wisest thing to do probably would be to scrap the concept of a legal debt limit—because there is no actual one anyway. Politics undoubtedly will prevent that, but common sense argues against this period commotion which always ends the same way. A more realistic limit would be for Congress to limit its appropriations.

WASHINGTON — If you don't mind resexing the story, the belle of the Mardi Gras Ball held here a weekend ago was Governor John McKeithen (D., La.), currently the most irresistible Southern charmer in Democratic politics.

When the voluble and vivacious governor was being courted on one flank by Sen. Ted Kennedy, he was being flanked by the opposite flank by Vice President Hubert Humphrey. And whenever the lights were turned up brightly, the Democratic whip, Sen. Russell Long, was twining fingers with the bayou beauty. It was a multiple political love scene—with meaning.

ONE OBSERVANT Louisiana Congressman said, "Russell Long and John McKeithen are holding hands to keep from fighting," for the rivalry between them to become a National Figure (Southern style, modern) is covert but intense. A National Figure (Southern style, modern) is not the same as Southern Democrat (old style and obsolete), and it has one increasing purpose—to be regarded and accepted as a candidate for vice president on the Democratic National ticket. This opportunity became realistic and important in 1966 with the election of Republican governors in Arkansas, Florida and with a near-miss in Georgia. The Democratic ticket that follows the reign of Lyndon Johnson is going to need a Southern tail to its kite.

THIS EXPLAINS everything about the love scene. Sen. Long is willing to become vice president himself, but the two men most likely to choose the next vice president are partial to McKeithen. Ted Kennedy was wooing agent for Sen. Bob Kennedy, who was image-repairing at Oxford and Paris. The Kennedy-McKeithen combination has been romantically discussed in Baton Rouge, the Louisiana capital city, although Bob, son of battle, is deep in the doghouses of Dixie where liberals and conservatives alike shun an alleged wiretapper and book burner.

BUT THE Humphrey-McKeithen liaison is warmer and more plausible by far. The vice president took his master's degree at the University of Louisiana and made some lasting friendships in that state. But the affinity between Humphrey and McKeithen has a more recent and binding tie. It relates to the inside, unpublished story of a racial outburst in June, 1965, at Bogalusa, when one Negro deputy sheriff was killed and another wounded by gunfire from a passing truck. By way of research I obtained a telegraphed account from a friendly Southern editor. The telegram reads in part:

"THE FEDERAL Government was on the verge of moving in, possibly with troops. It was a question of whether McKeithen could keep things quiet enough to keep Federal troops out. . . . Finally, after discussion with a number of persons around Louisiana, including myself, he telephoned Humphrey and pleaded for Humphrey's help in gaining time. Humphrey got it for him from the national Negro organizations and from the Department of Justice."

The incident does the vice president immense credit, but his role these days is not glory-hunting and he won't give any details. Without doubt, however, the episode did cement a friendship between Humphrey and McKeithen, who are much closer and more often in contact than partisans of the extremes would like to admit.

'SEE—HE'S MAKING PEACE GESTURES'

James Marlow Nightmare Power Bloc Possible

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviets and the Chinese Communists each took about 17 years to digest their revolutions, and then they had convulsions. For another 19 years, the Soviets were in Doctor Stalin's sickbed.

The Chinese may recover sooner because of the difference in age between Stalin and Doctor Mao Tse-tung at the time of the convulsions. Mao is an old man. Therein lies, perhaps, the West's best hope for the future.

THE MURDER of a party friend in 1934—17 years after the Bolshevik revolution—gave Stalin the take-off point for wiping out any possible opposition in the bloody purges of the 1930s.

He was 55 when the purges began and he remained in total control another 19 years until his death in 1953, although his energy and ambitions were distracted and much consumed by World War II.

If there had been no war, the U.S.S.R. might have been different now, and the world also. Certainly if Stalin had lasted longer, the Soviets would have been slower turning toward more moderation.

He had one policy: Progress for the U.S.S.R. And it made progress, industrially and scientifically. But the people paid the price in lives, sacrifices and suppression.

IN 1966, MAO, 17 years after his Red Chinese took over mainland China, began his rampage against some of his old associates and the new bureaucracy. Revisionists, he called them, which is another word for reactionaries.

This is what he called the Soviets, to explain his break with them.

If he wins, with his primitive concepts of organizing a nation, he will set China back but that cannot last long. He is 73.

If the new Chinese patch up become solid allies, it will be a quarrel with the Soviets, nightmare power bloc for the and the two Communist giants West.

Hal Boyle Men Feel Sorry For Gals

NEW YORK (AP) — Why is it so many women today say they would like to be men? A few men say they would like to be women.

When a woman remarks that if she were a man, she would prefer to be a male, she is expressing a real desire, an actual envy.

But when a man expresses a supposed yearning to be reborn as a woman, he is only kidding. He is probably one of those uncouth husbands who have a fixed idea that women live an easy life. He thinks that, after sending their husbands off to work with a pat on the back and a peck on the cheek, wives just sit on the sofa with their feet on the cocktail table and sip coffee and gossip until noon.

However, whether wives really do or don't live the life of Mrs. Riley, few husbands would be willing to change places with them.

IN HIS heart of hearts the average man feels sorry for the other sex. He rather wonders how women can stand being women. He is silently grateful that he is not one of them—and never will be.

Well, he realizes that despite women's quest for equal rights, they still dwell in a world in which their real freedoms are ruthlessly rationed. A woman can't even scratch herself in public without becoming an object of immediate criticism and the verdict, "she's no lady."

THAT GOAL — the desire to act like and be treated like a lady—still makes of womanhood a serfdom in skirts.

A man can act directly in almost any situation. He lives in a clearcut world of "yes" or "no." But a woman must achieve most of her aims by indirection, and dwells in a world made up of "maybes." At a party, though she be dying of pneumonia and a blizzard is sweeping through an open window, she cannot rise and shut it. At the most she can but inquire meekly, "Does anyone feel a draft?"

As a result of this kind of feminine talk, men have the idea that they are honest and women are hypocritical. They don't realize that women aren't born hypocrites; women become hypocrites to please men who want them to be ladylike.

THE REAL reason men prefer to be men is that they can escape the prisonership of themselves. They can forget their own identity in their work. A woman rarely can. She is always and eternally self-aware.

A man can get up, shower, shave and dress and be on his way in a few minutes.

Not a woman. Every part of her requires her brooding close attention. She must do her fingernails, anoint her body, roll on a deodorant, slap on rouge and lipstick, gird up her girdle, put perfume behind her ears, brush goo on her eyelids, and spray something on her hair that will make it look and feel like wire.

SHE IS never through doing some kind of salvage operation on herself. All day long she must keep peeking into a mirror to be sure she is still there—the real her.

And that's why no man really wants to be a woman. He can't stand the thought of being that much of a nuisance to himself. And he wonders why women don't seem to mind it at all. They actually seem to enjoy being a nuisance to themselves.

To Your Good Health How To Know When You Have The Real Flu

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

How do you know when you have flu?

It's one of the commonplace diagnoses that people make for themselves, sometimes correctly, more often incorrectly. Folks have a cold and call it "a touch of flu." Or they have a digestive disturbance and call it "intestinal flu."

True influenza is a specific disease, not a catch-all phrase to cover whatever ails you. It can be important, or at any rate useful, for you to know when it is flu and when it isn't.

A variety of strains of influenza virus exist, and they take turns attacking us. Modern flu vaccine includes different strains and provides considerable immunity against all of them, but the immunity doesn't last. Hence a booster once a year is needed.

Real flu comes on suddenly with high fever and aching muscles, but it lasts only a few days. Usually there is a cough, along with a burning sensation in the chest, and chills. Headache is common. The combination of symptoms makes the diagnosis pretty definite.

A cold, by contrast, usually starts with nasal obstruction, sometimes with a sore or raw throat, but without the fever, chills and muscular aches that typify flu. Since a great many different kinds of cold viruses exist, there can be some variation in consequences. Sometimes eyes may be red and runny. But except for the adenoviruses (upper respiratory), flu vaccine does not protect against colds.

When you have genuine flu, there is no specific treatment (nor for a cold!) but bed rest and drugs (aspirin or the like usually is adequate) to relieve the misery are essential. Although flu usually lasts only three to five days, it must be treated with respect because it can readily lead to pneumonia. As we well know, flu epidemics can cause deaths, and these deaths usually are from pneumonia.

Any ordinary cold is less dangerous, although I strongly recommend that people with colds stay home and rest, both to conserve strength to throw off any possible complications and to avoid spreading their germs.

With either colds or flu, promiscuous use of penicillin or other antibiotics is of questionable value since they won't attack viruses. Their use is indicated primarily when fever persists and changes in symptoms indicate that bacterial infection has developed in the wake of the original virus invasion, or pneumonia threatens.

Now for "intestinal flu" which, while usually a virus disease, isn't flu. Vomiting, diarrhea and intestinal distress are not part of the true flu picture.

In these intestinal upsets, treatment is to allay symptoms: Nausea, vomiting, diarrhea. Trying to feed the patient is usually futile because his stomach is upset and he doesn't feel like eating. Sips of water, sucking ice chips, and giving (if wanted) carbonated drinks will offset thirst and prevent dehydration, which is important.

When the patient perks up enough to be hungry, small feedings of soft, low-residue foods are best for a day or two.

How to get rid of leg cramps and foot pains? The answer may be simple. Write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald for a copy of the booklet, "How To Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Around The Rim Moving Excitement

In tomorrow's edition of The Herald, Ed Syers, who specializes on Texas history "Off the Beaten Trail," spotlights the Medicine Show.

This is not an institution peculiar to Texas, but it certainly adds flavor to life for a generation of Texans, our town not excepted.

THIS ITINERANT phenomenon was a combination of several things. It had a touch of the minstrel show, a bit of vaudeville. There was something of the circus and the carnival. There was a glimpse of the big city in the presence of the shills who baited the natives into buying. There were color and excitement to liven otherwise dull evenings or humdrum Saturday afternoons before the farmers loaded up to go back home.

AND ABOVE ALL, there was the magic medicine. The "doctor," like as not, was dressed in frock coat and a top hat. He had a buffoon, usually a black-face character. The doctor's "wife" or "daughter" helped fill in by singing such heartbreakers as "She's Just a Bird in a Gilded Cage" or reciting touching poems. Sometimes, the group would cook up a little "drammer" and sometimes conjured a crude spring band, dominated by the banjo.

THE ENTERTAINMENT was interspersed by occasional sales pitches by the fast-talking doctor, who didn't ask you to believe what he said—just read it for yourself on the label. Immediately the entertainers passed among the audience, yelling like auction hawkers when a sale was made, and crying out with glee: "Sold out, doctor, give me some more." Later, after a song and dance, perhaps, the doctor trotted out a new set of symptoms—and a new message. He had a mysterious liniment, compounded secretly from Indian herbs. If these didn't go, he even had magic spot remover, or gadgets guaranteed to make you whistle like a canary.

building at Second and Main and what is now the Record Shop. Later, as buildings closed these spots, the site was moved to vacant lots on Third Street west of Bell.

The format was generally the same, with embellishments. The doctor, like as not, was dressed in frock coat and a top hat. He had a buffoon, usually a black-face character. The doctor's "wife" or "daughter" helped fill in by singing such heartbreakers as "She's Just a Bird in a Gilded Cage" or reciting touching poems. SOON THE TROUPE was gone, but there lingered the memory of the show and a few good knee-slappers the clown had pulled on the good doctor. And, having been blessed by a general purging, the population was usually in a better frame of mind for a few days.

David Lawrence Will Soviets Give Us Reciprocity?

WASHINGTON — Reciprocity is supposed to be the formula which the United States and the Soviet Union have in mind in the proposed treaty which permits Russia to open up a number of consular offices in this country and allows America to establish several consular offices throughout the Soviet Union.

But even if this treaty should be ratified by the U.S. Senate—and there's considerable opposition to it—the question arises as to what privileges the American consulates are to enjoy. Will the United States, for example, be able to distribute anti-Communist literature, and to make it available to the Soviet newspaper through the consular offices?

THE SOVIET Embassy in Washington in August, 1965 handed out to the press of this country a document typed on its official stationery giving the full text of an "Open Letter to U.S. President Lyndon B. Johnson" under the title, "We Accuse!" The letter said in part:

"There are moments when one cannot keep silent. Shocked to the depth of the soul by the monstrous massacre of the population of the Negro ghetto in Los Angeles, we are addressing these words to express our indignation, sorrow and pain. . . .

"WE SAY THIS because we feel and see that the carnage in Los Angeles is no isolated event. The disgraceful trial of violence against the Negro population is growing longer from year to year. And the main thing is: There is no end in sight. How long will this go on? What 'Great Society' is this where people are brought to despair and then in full daylight, before the eyes of the whole world, shot by automatic rifles and machine guns? . . .

"THE EVENTS in Los Angeles cannot but be associated in the minds of the people with the barbarous actions of the American soldiers in Vietnam and the Dominican Republic. In the rumble of the blocks tumbling down in Los Angeles we hear the echo of the walls of the ancient town of Santo Domingo crumbling under the pressure of tanks. The flames flaring up over the Negro ghetto reminded us of the burning towns and villages of Vietnam. . . .

"Mankind has the right to say at the top of its voice to you, Mr. President: 'Look at Los Angeles. Here you have the "freedom" that the United States wants to impose upon other peoples through bayonets and bombs. . . .

"WE, AT ONE with all Soviet people resolutely demand an end to the outrages. This is the wholehearted demand of all peoples. Mankind's mind, honor and conscience cannot be reconciled with the disgraceful actions of the racists and aggressors."

Would the American consulates in the Soviet Union be permitted to issue the Soviet press, and would the Soviet newspapers print any part of an "open letter" to the Soviet premier narrating the atrocities that have been committed during the last few years against innocent persons who have attempted to move from East Germany to West Germany over the Berlin Wall?

SO THERE'S every reason why the proposed consular treaty should be examined carefully, and perhaps reservations or amendments made to it guaranteeing that the United States shall have "equal rights" in Russia on a par with the privileges granted the Soviet officials both in the consulates and in the embassy in this country.

Unless the principle of complete reciprocity can be guaranteed, the consular treaty is doomed to rejection by the Senate.

(The foregoing was written on Sept. 1, 1965. The same points are still applicable as the Soviet-U.S. consular treaty is again before the Senate.)

John Cuniff Amateur Speculator Never Learns

NEW YORK (AP) — The amateur stock market speculator is one of the most curious psychological packages produced by the human race.

He sometimes forgets so as to hide from pain. He convinces himself that he has learned his lesson, but often just so he can go back for more of the same trouble.

IN THE market to make a killing — to double his money overnight or make a 50 per cent profit in a week or for some such foolish reason — he also desperately holds to a stock that is going the opposite way.

Said one of them: "It is surprising how one can come to live comfortably with imminent financial ruin, or, at the least, a devastating loss. You get used to living in what is really a rotting structure."

This is the statement of a young man who set out to double his money and, instead, lost an inheritance, his insurance money, his wife's savings and the cash he had set aside for a rainy day.

HE LISTENED to hot tips, bought impulsively, fired brokers and hired others whose ethics could be questioned, confused his purposes, adjusted to losses but became even greedier with gains.

Some will recognize his words as those of the Anonymous Investor who wrote the book "Wiped Out." The Anonymous Investor says he lost $60,000, even though the market was rising. The story reads like fiction. The author says it is fact.

One big mutual fund distributor has offered the book to its salesmen in bulk lots for possible distribution to potential customers, for in its own way it is an advertisement for sound management.

THIS AMATEUR speculator, who didn't have rugs on his Manhattan apartment floor because he needed the money for stocks, lost his money between 1957 and 1964, then wrote a book in which he convinced himself that a lesson was learned.

He is back in the market. "Not heavily," he said in an interview. "I got an advance and I got hold of some other dough." He would, perhaps, have returned long before but "it was academic. I had no dough."

The advance referred to was a cash payment for his book in advance of publication. Authorship, he feels, has permitted him to talk out his problem, his heartache, his loss.

"IT'S HISTORY. I've learned to live with it."

This man soon will get some more money, the income from sales of his book, which now exceeds 20,000 copies. What will he do with this money?

"I'm going to spend it on the apartment," he said, "and then what's left I'll probably go back into the market with caution, care and patience. I will invest conservatively."

Delta Electric Develops Another Unique Device

In line with its progress toward further automation of well pumping, Delta Electric Corp., of Big Spring has announced the development of an economy type liquid level control involving solid state circuitry. It has been put on the market this month, according to Mike Craddock, inventor and general manager.

Craddock said D. L. Dorland has already purchased three to go on tanks on his water leases south of Howard County.

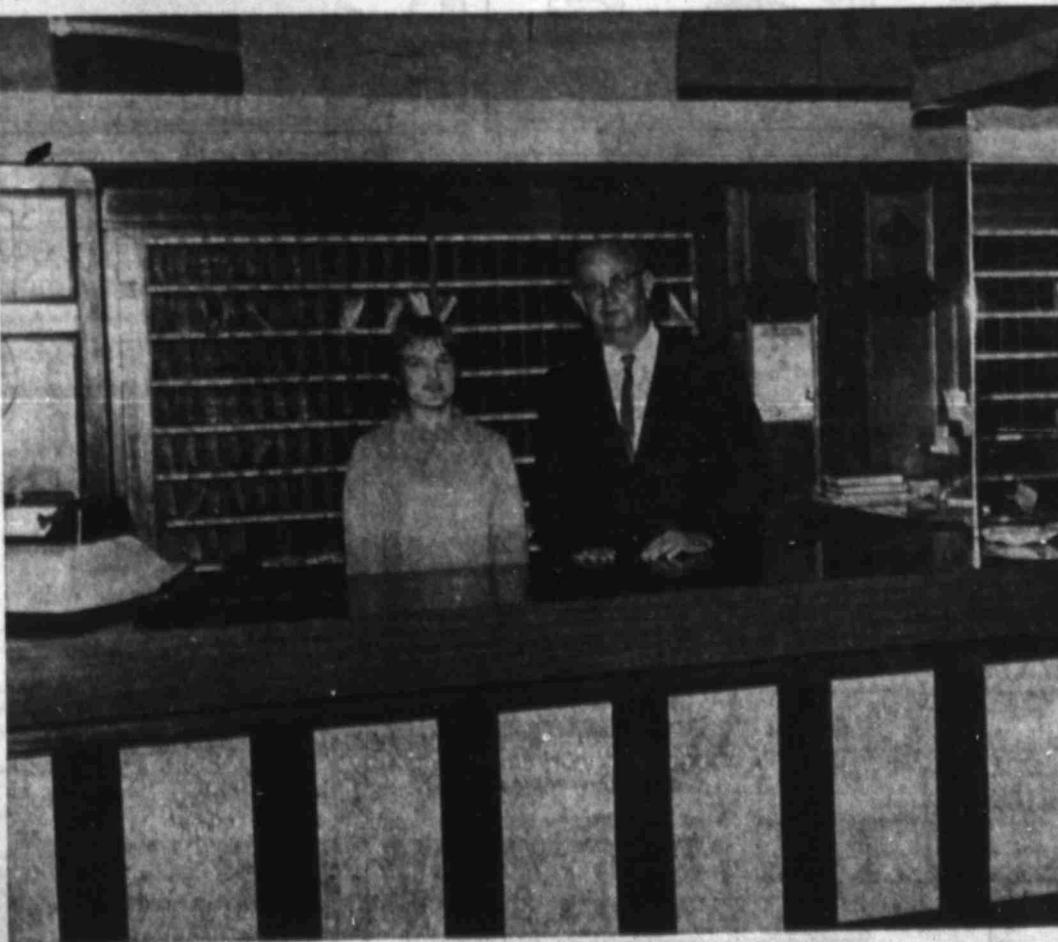

Another new gadget — the Surge Protector. This instrument grounds out high "spikes" and prevents causing serious damage to the power lines.

They are now experimenting with silicon and quartz, which are both excellent insulators. Polyester is put into the top and bottom which keeps the moisture from getting into the silicon and quartz. This quartz serves as an arc for lighting. It prevents serious damage to power lines from lighting.

Also in the process is a redesigned version of Delta Protectors adapted for submerged pump motors and they are having great success. It automatically shuts the well down if any electrical trouble occurs preventing the motor burning up. It is also being used in relation to current industrial motors.

Sales are gaining constantly and a new sales representative was hired to handle sales in Oklahoma. Other sales representatives will be hired to cover other areas with Texas and surrounding states, according to Craddock.

Delta Electric, which has served oil companies in this area by building and maintaining electric equipment for the past eight years, had entered the manufacturing field with high hopes in January, 1965.

Sukarno's Pal Dies In Jail

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Chaerul Saleh, once one of President Sukarno's closest advisers, died early today in his jail cell, military sources reported.

The sources said they believed Saleh had a heart attack. His body was taken to his home, where a large crowd gathered.

Saleh, a third deputy premier until the army took over Indonesia's government last year, had been in jail more than 10 months awaiting trial on charges of corruption and involvement in the attempted Communist coup in October 1965. He was 50.

"It's too bad he died in prison," said one military source. "Now everyone will think interrogators had something to do with it."

Saleh was arrested with 15 other Cabinet ministers last March. Two of them, former Foreign Minister Subandrio and former Central Bank Minister Jusuf Muda Dalam, have been sentenced to death. No date had been set for Saleh's trial.

Government sources said Saleh was believed to have deposited $100,000 of state funds in his own bank accounts abroad. Some persons who knew Saleh said he was a man of considerable ability with a talent for organization. They said he was not a Communist but leaned to the left since the political wind was blowing that way.

Dr. Fallon Compiles Book Of Educational Innovations

LUBBOCK—Public school administrators are finding many of the answers to the post-Sputnik revolution in American education in an unusual "catalog of curriculum practices" compiled and edited by a Texas Tech education professor.

In his book, "Educational Innovation in the United States," Dr. Berlie J. Fallon has compressed into one volume a collection of abstracts selected from hundreds of successful practices initiated since 1957 by school systems across the nation.

Topical and alphabetical indexes make the information as easy to find as a page number.

EASY TO FIND

Sectional divisions and cross references enable an educator in Beaumont, for example, to obtain pertinent facts at a moment's notice on how curriculum directors in Chatham Borough, N. J., handle "Team Teaching in the Junior High School," or how Lubbock Public Schools conduct "A Preschool Instructional Program for Non-English Speaking Children."

Months of action research went into preparation of the first volume, published last year by Phi Delta Kappa, an international professional fraternity for men in education, an organization fostering promotion of free public education through research, service and leadership.

Popularity of the initial edition prompted the publishers to commission Dr. Fallon to conduct the necessary research to bring the chronology up to date, thus covering a full decade of significant changes in schools in all 50 states.

REVISION DUE

The revision, slated for publication this summer, will include the 628 practices in the current edition, plus approximately 400 additional school innovations implemented in 1965, 1966 and early 1967, including some 250 programs made possible by Title I and Title III of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act enacted in 1965.

Dr. Fallon became alerted to the need for a handy reference volume through his work as executive director of the West Texas School Study Council, founded nine years ago by Tech's Department of Education in cooperation with area school systems.

In compiling his book, Dr. Fallon abstracted materials from the WTSSC study and from 11 yearbooks published by the National School Study Council. The result is a "data bank" of capsule information.

INNOVATION RAMPANT

"Innovation has been the key word in American education since Sputnik created a near panic in educational circles 10 years ago," notes Dr. Fallon. "In the ensuing hurry — and sometimes furor — to bring about change, a number of 'crash' programs came into being. While many of these programs had, and continue to have, validity and value on a long term basis, implementation was often on an 'adoption' rather than an 'adaptation' basis.

"Programs were installed, in

Compressed Information

Texas Tech Education Prof. Berlie J. Fallon compares the size of his one-volume edition of "Educational Innovations in the United States" with the bulky stack of yearbook reports from which it was abstracted. Dr. Fallon's compressed version contains resumes of more than 600 new curriculum practices introduced by public school systems since 1957, when Sputnik triggered what has been termed "a revolution in American education."

rent edition, plus approximately many cases," he points out, "by schools eager to keep up with the Joneses—without careful analysis of local problems, needs and staffing adequacy."

Trends in the last few years, however, have shown a change of direction in the "pattern of innovation."

Says Dr. Fallon: "Schools surveyed have shown a tendency, since 1962, to move from 'crash' programs geared to the academically talented student toward a broader approach to improve the total school program in all its facets, with added emphasis each year on the average and slow learner and more individualized instruction."

NO. 1 CONCERN

This trend has been accelerated, he feels, by the development of counseling services in the elementary school, special education programs, the development of libraries and materials centers to enrich instruction and a strong focus on methods of reducing school dropouts.

"The underprivileged child is perhaps the number one concern in American education at present," concludes Dr. Fallon. Dr. Fallon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Claude Fallon, 1105 E. 5th, and is a graduate of Big Spring High School. He has been a member of the Tech faculty for nearly a score of years.

South relied on an avoidance play to preserve his "Achilles heel" from attack while he developed the fulfilling trick, to land his four spade contract.

West opened the king of diamonds and declarer played the six from dummy, allowing his opponent to hold the first trick. West chose to adopt a passive attitude by shifting to a trump at trick two and South was in with the nine.

Inasmuch as one trick must be lost in each of the side suits, it may appear that the fate of the contract hinges on the location of the ace of clubs. If East holds that card, declarer can establish a trick by leading toward the king.

If West holds the ace of clubs, however, a club play will deal a fatal blow to South's cause. There is one other hope. If the hearts divide evenly, declarer can establish North's long card in that suit for a discard. It might be essential in the process, to keep East out of the lead, and South directed his efforts toward that end.

The jack of diamonds was led at trick three and when West covered with the queen, the seven was played from dummy. A trump was returned, taken by North's ten and the ace of diamonds was cashed, on which South discarded a heart.

A heart was led to the ace and another heart back to the king. A third round of the suit was ruffed with the ace of spades as both opponents followed, thereby establishing dummy's nine. A spade to the queen drew the remaining trump and South discarded a club on North's long heart.

The losses on the deal consisted of two diamond tricks and one club. By transferring his heart loser to the diamond suit, declarer prevented East from obtaining the lead to make the fatal club shift.
