Road Hub Of Japs Taken By Yanks

By CLYDE BARTEL
Associated Press War Editor

AMERICAN troops using mobile guns and armor smashed Japanese tanks and artillery to capture Urdaneta, a highway hub town on Luzon island's central plain, Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported today.

The fight Thursday (Philippine time) was the stiffest action since the liberation troops came ashore on Luzon at Lingayen gulf Jan. 9. Enemy guns were cleverly concealed in bamboo thickets but failed to halt the American advance.

Paniqui, another highway center, also was captured by the Americans in their advance southward on the central Luzon plain. The town is 12 road miles north of Tarlac, provincial capital on the highway to Manila, which is 70 more road miles south.

Fleet Shells Rosario

Seventh Fleet ships bombarded Nipponese positions at Rosario, on the east flank of the American drive, helping break down stubborn enemy resistance to Yank forces which have reached the outskirts of the town.

The Americans are moving toward Agoo northwest of Rosario, apparently to sever another road into the Benguet mountains, where the Japanese are reported to be concentrated.

Yank warplanes are operating from Lingayen airfield, which was captured a few hours after the Lingayen landings.

Allied aircraft continued to attack enemy-held airdromes on Luzon and to sweep the roads and railways over which the Japanese are attempting to move supplies and troops. Planes wrecked three locotives, 20 freight cars and more than 80 enemy motor vehicles.

Jap Dromes Hit

For the second straight day, American night reconnaissance planes from Philippine fields hit Okayam airdrome on the southwest coast of Formosa and also bombed the Toko seaplane base there.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz reported Army Liberators with Lightning escorts hit Iwo Jima in the Volcano islands, 750 miles south of Tokyo, Monday for the 30th consecutive daily attack on the enemy airbase. Other aerial blows were made on Nipponese positions in the Marianas, at Babelthuap in the Palaus and Yap in the western Carolines.

The American sea and air operations against Japan paid more big dividends. Washington announced the sinking of 24 additional enemy vessels by Yank submarines, and U. S. 14th Air force headquarters in China reported the most destructive assaults ever made by fighter planes against the Nipponese in occupied China.

Victims of the submarines operations in the Pacific and far eastern waters included a Japanese destroyer and three escort vessels, and 20 other ships ranging from large transports and tankers to small craft in the to 958 the total of Nipponese vessels sunk by U. S. submarines.

Reinstatement Of Rainey Demanded

AUSTIN, Jan. 18 (AP)—A women's committee on education freedom marched on the state capital today with demands on the Senate and the governor that Dr. Homer P. Rainey be re-instated as president of the University of Texas, and that laws bearing on appointment of regents be changed.

They cornered as many as a dozen senators at a time in a small reception room at the door of the Senate chamber, and after that body adjourned for the weekend, they called in a group on Gov. Coke R. Stevenson.

The governor told the women he would read their resolutions. He said he considered his appointees to the board of regents to be "open-minded," and said he was sorry the women were disappointed in what he had done. He added that he had listened patiently to everybody who wanted to say anything on the university controversy.

Forts Rain Bombs On Kaiserlautern Yards

(By The Associated Press)

A small force of Flying Fortresses based in Britain bombed the Kaiserlautern railyards which feed supplies to German troops on the Saar front today while medium bombers and fighter-bombers based in Italy struck at communications in northern Italy.

The only opposition for the British based bombers was the weather, with driving rain storms in their homeward path. The planes from Italy bases operated in generally good weather.

'Standby' Status For SPAAF Seen

ALTHOUGH the Army Air Forces, neither here, at Randolph Field Training center, nor in Washington, have yet issued an official statement in the matter, The Morning Avalanche has it upon good authority that South Plains Army Air Field will go on a "standby" basis on February 16.

Civilian employes of the station were advised yesterday that they would be released from their jobs between the dates of February 3 and February 16, depending upon when there ceased to be need at SPAAF for their individual contributions.

The Army Air Forces at this time has no plans for further use of facilities at SPAAF, but will leave a small group of men here —probably under one officer in the Corps of Engineers—to look after the property. If customary practices are followed when SPAAF is "inactivated," less than 100 persons will remain there for further duty, mostly of a guard and upkeep nature.

May Become City Airport

With prospects for commercial air service being instituted for Lubbock in the near future, next meeting of the Lubbock City commission probably will have on its agenda discussion of plans to secure a portion of SPAAF for use as a municipal airport. Land, a large hanger and runways on the western and southern edges of SPAAF orginally composed Lubbock Municipal Airport and both land and improvements will revert to the city whenever the Army is certain no further use of SPAAF's facilities will be necessary.

The Morning Avalanche further learned yesterday that "inactivating" of SPAAF likely will result in Lubbock Army Air Field's continued maintenance and operafor a longer period of time than might otherwise have been the case.

LAAF may be continued in operation, although with fewer personnel, well into the postwar era.

ABSORPTION OF CIVILIAN EMPLOYES IS PLANNED

Employes of South Plains Army Air field will largely be absorbed by Lubbock Army Air field as soon as they are released from duty at the glider school, was the assurance received here Thursday.

According to Colonel Howell M. Estes, commanding officer at LAAF, almost every department at that field can use one or more civilian workers in addition to the employes now in those departments. In some cases, Col. Estes said, it has been necessary to employ military personnel in jobs that normally are filled by civilian workers because of the local labor shortage.

Appreciation Said

Col. James A. DeMarco, SPAAF's commanding officer, has expressed his pleasure for the attitude taken by the high command and in the number of job vacancies that surveys have shown to exist at LAAF. He stated "I have been very appreciative of the work done by civilians at this base and have been much concerned over the possibility that many of them might be lost to the war effort if they were not immediately re-employed in similar work."

Capt. Richard Purrington, civilian personnel officer at LAAF, estimates that between three and five hundred employes can be fitted into aircraft maintenance and supply jobs at the west base and that other departments on the field can use clerks, typists and general office workers in addition to the more technical jobs in the larger departments.

Bar Opposes Move To Abolish Court

By RANDALL ABERNETHY
Avalanche Staff Writer

STIFF opposition to the legislative proposal to abolish the district court is being mapped by the Lubbock County Bar association.

The Lubbock court is included in a list of 26 district courts and eight district attorneyships which judicial redistricting bills proposes to abolish, the United Press reported Thursday. The measures were filed in the Texas House of Representatives by Rep. C. M. McFarland of Wichita Falls.

Redistricting was requested as necessary legislation by Gov. Coke Stevenson in his message to the legislature.

Retort Being Prepared

If effected, the abolition of the 99th would leave Lubbock county to be served by only one district court, the 72nd which serves four counties—Lubbock, Crosby, Hockley and Cochran. The 99th serves only Lubbock county.

Unsuccessful attempts have been made in other sessions of the legislature to "kill off" the court, Lubbock attorneys recalled. They, however, term the present movement as one "more determined and threatening."

The 99th was created in 1927.

The bar association is preparing an exhaustive report on the volume of business done by the court, and detailed information on the population and growth of the area, its wealth and its industrial and agricultural potentialities. Leo S. Hay, president, said the document would be presented when a hearing is conducted on the bill.

Both Courts Needed

The consensus of Lubbock attorneys is that the county needs both the 99th and 72nd district courts, and that the 99th should be maintained as a full-time court.

One attorney said that while he "understood" that there are now fewer cases tried in the 99th, more are filed and that many of them are settled out of court, due to the fact that litigants are either in the armed services or in some other section of the country in

Brown Man Slain By Ranchwoman

BROWNWOOD, Jan. 18. (AP) — Sheriff Earl Stewart today identified the body of a man found near the Jim W. Phillips home at Byrds as that of Manley Kellar, 60, of Blake, northern Brown county.

Mrs. Phillips, whose husband, as district Democratic presidental elector, was in Washington for President Roosevelt's inaugural, told Stewart she fired a shotgun after hearing a noise outside her ranch home.

With her were her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Velara Phillips, and the latter's two children.

Thought War Prisoner

"We thought it might be an escaped German war prisoner," Mrs. Phillips reported.

Mrs. Phillips' who had never fired a gun and who suffered a cut hand when the weapon was discharged, related that she fired through a window about 11 p. m., but that she and the younger Mrs. Phillips were afraid to venture out of doors until daylight. They had no telephone to summons neighbors.

Mrs. Phillips' daughter-in-law first noticed a movement outside a window. Later there was a noise at the front door which 8-year-old Jimmie Phillips summoned with "Who's there and what you want?" He received no reply.

Mrs. Phillips added an attempt then was made to start her car, followed again by a noise at the front door.

Father Of Airman Asks For Navy Job

SAN ANGELO, Jan. 18 (AP) — County Judge Richard T. Dyess of Albany, father of the late celebrated airman, Lt. Col. W. E. Dyess, who escaped from the Japs after being forced to make the "march of death" with other Bataan survivors, has applied for a Navy yard job.

Judge Dyess wants to go to the Pacific where his son blazoned a name for himself.

"I'd like to get to the Philippines and shake hands with some of the men who helped my son escape," he told W. P. Donovan, Navy yard recruiter.

Col. Dyess was killed in a plane crash in California after he returned from the Pacific.

Support For Labor Draft Requested

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—With objectors still far from overpowered, sponsors of an 18-45 labor draft sought today to enlist agricultural backing with testimony that it should aid farm labor.

The timetable which had called for House Military committee approval today was thrown overboard.

Another call for help—to General of the Army George C. Marshall—in an effort to get specific Army approval for the particular measure at hand, went unanswered. The Army position for a general national service law, however, has been fully stated, and was reemphasized by Marshall yesterday. He did not, however, specifically mention the pending measure in a message transmitted by President Roosevelt asking quick action on Manpower controls.

Marvin Jones Testifies

Today's testimony came from Marvin Jones, war food administrator, who endorsed the pending May bill for coercive action against men 18 to 45 who won't stay on war jobs but suggested changes to aid farmers.

Before calling in Jones, the committee through Chairman May (D-Ky), author of the measure, sent an oral invitation to the army chief of staff to give his views. May and other committee members were reported to feel that an outright statement from him is needed to break the committee bottleneck.

Because of the pressure of other business—"because he has a full-dress war on his hand," one member put it—Marshall declined the invitation to make a personal appearance.

To Discuss Nurse Draft

The door apparently was not closed, however, against a change in Marshall's mind if the committee shows an inclination to delay.

After a brief executive session following Jones' appearance, the committee recessed until tomorrow, but it will spend a large part of Friday's meeting hearing the Army's views on legislation to draft nurses.

By a 14 to 6 vote in executive session the committee rejected a revised draft of the original Austin-Wadsworth national service bill.

This bill originally made every man and woman up to the age of 65 liable for assignment to industry, agriculture, the armed forces, or wherever else the services were needed.

Jones told the committee the May bill, with a few changes, would help, rather than hinder, agriculture.

One amendment suggested by Jones would give agriculture, as well as management, labor and government, a voice in helping the director of selective service determine the manpower needs of various localities.

Punishment Sought

These needs, under terms of the May bill, would be met by local draft boards directing deferred draft registrants between 18 and 45 into occupations where manpower shortages exist. Failure of a registrant to heed such a directive without reasonable cause would subject him to punishment.

While the May bill provides for induction of violators into Army work battalions, the committee favors application of the penal provisions of the draft law — a $10,000 fine and five years imprisonment—to violators.

Jones also recommended an amendment to assure that men deferred by the Tydings act—a draft law amendment defining farm labor deferment—would not be ordered to leave the farm for some other job.

Jones told the committee he did not believe the bill would in-

Reds Say Nazis In Chaotic Retreat, Defeat Imminent

British Continue Drive Toward Rhine Valley

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Jan. 18.—The British Second army, backed by American heavy artillery, slugged out gains of two and a half miles today and overran four towns as its drive on a 28-mile front in western Germany's approaches to the Rhine rose in scope and intensity.

Simultaneously the U. S. Third army opened a new assault in northern Luxembourg, broke across the Sure river on a seven-mile front and plunged on two miles into the mountainious defenses on which the enemy must rely to hold his shrunken positions in Belgium.

With some infantry wearing white camouflage suits such as those worn on the Russian front, Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's doughboys fought into Diekirch, 17 miles northeast of Luxembourg city, and Bettendorf, three miles east, while other forces seized strategic hights beyond.

Fighting Stiffly Contested

As Patton struck here in two-division strength with assaults that carried all the way to the German border, Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' First army on the northern shoulder was forced back 200 yards at one point due north of St. Vith but the 30th infantry was slowly closing on that transport center from positions four miles away.

Between the southern Luxembourg border and the Saar basin, the Germans struck savagely with tanks against the Third army's 94th infantry division in Butzdorf. The doughboys knocked out six tanks but still the enemy came on and sharp fighting raged tonight.

Another American setback came on the Rhine front in northeastern France, where the Germans threw armor and infantry into their bridgehead eight miles north of Strasbourg and forced Seventh army doughboys from the towns of Heerlisheim, 11 miles north of the Alsatian capital, and Sessenheim, five miles farther north.

Rain Hampers Airmen

Elsewhere along the northern Alsatian front the Germans were trying to break through American positions in the Maginot line.

Rain fell on nearly every sector of the western front throughout the day, grounding all tactical air forces.

It was disclosed that for the first time American heavy artillery was firing in support of the British offensive, which had begun to threaten Roermond, key to German defenses at the apex of the Maas-Roer river triangle.

Lt. Gen. Sir Miles C. Dempsey's doughboys, battering up through the Holland appendix north of Aachen, cut the highway and railway leading from Roermond 11 miles southwest to Maeseyck.

Broadening the assault to western Germany, the British in an advance of more than a mile were nearing Hoengen, three miles inside the Reich.

In the first counterattack since the British opened their drive on the Maeseyck salient Tuesday, the Germans tried to save the Maeseyck-Roermond highway but they were beaten off.

The drive appeared designed to clear the enemy from all positions west of the Roer and bring the Allied assault lines up solidly to

IN 250 MILES OF BERLIN—Thursday night broadcasts from Berlin said Russian troops had reached the German Silesian frontier 250 miles southeast of Berlin, and that history's greatest offensive was collapsing trans-Poland defenses of the Nazis in a 30-mile advance in 24 hours.

German Defense Is "Splitting Apart In All Seams"

By W. W. HERCHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Jan. 18—Berlin said tonight that Russian troops had reached the German Silesian frontier 250 miles southeast of Berlin as other powerful Soviet formations in history's greatest offensive tore big holes in collapsing Nazi defenses clear across Poland, capturing more than 1,000 localities with 30-mile advances in 24 hours.

Unconfirmed reports said the Russians already had crossed into industrially-rich Silesia and also into lower East Prussia. A Moscow dispatch said Soviet artillery and airplanes were laying down a terrific barrage on Silesia.

Near Silesian Capital

Quoting a front dispatch, Berlin radio said the Silesian Volkssturm, or home army, already had "received its baptism of fire during this hour of greatest danger as the enemy reached the Reich border."

The frontier conflict apparently raged west of Czestochowa, captured yesterday by the Russians, in an area only 78 miles from Breslau, Silesian capital. A Berlin report to the Stockholm Aftonbladet said that Breslau, 170 miles southeast of Berlin, "is now directly in the danger zone."

The Russians, estimated at 2,500,000 men, also reached the immediate approaches on three sides of Lodz, "Poland's Pittsburgh" and second city 70 miles southwest of captured Warsaw, and Berlin said other Red troops had broken into the suburban streets of Krakow, big Axis bastion in the southwestern corner of Poland.

Russians Capture 28,000

Moscow's communique announced that Soviet troops had driven three miles north of Krakow with the capture of Babice, while on the Hungarian front the Russians captured 20,000 Germans and Hungarians in Budapest, making a total since Dec. 28 of 59,390. The commander of the 10th Hungarian infantry division, Colonel of the General Staff Andros-Sandor, and his staff were taken.

The Russians now have cleared the entire Pest half of Budapest on the eastern side of the Danube, leaving the Germans clinging only to a small part of Buda on the west side of the river in the Hungarian capital, the bulletin said.

Premier Stalin in an order of the day said that Marshal Ivan S. Konev's First Ukraine army in a 25-mile advance had captured Piotrkow, "an important communications center and strongpoint" in German defenses 22 miles southeast of Lodz.

In another order of the day Russian leaders disclosed that Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's First White Russian army had toppled Sochaczew and Lowicz, on the Warsaw-Berlin highway 30 and 40 miles west of Warsaw. The seizure of Lowicz in a 30-mile advance put the Russians 30 miles northeast of Lodz, and other units also captured the seven-way road hub of Skierniewice, 30 miles north-

Dramatic Promises Made By 'Winnie'

"NEVER" SHOUT GERMANS

LONDON, Jan. 18 (AP)—The German radio tonight shouted "never" in answer to Prime Minister Churchill's renewed demand for Germany's unconditional surrender in his war report to the House of Commons.

"It is especially stressed in Berlin that the entire German people categorically replies 'never' to Churchill's renewed demand for unconditional surrender," the radio broadcast said. "A burning will of self-preservation is opposed to the hatred of our enemies who want to destroy us. The German people know what fate the enemy wants to prepare for us."

er," Churchill pointed out to the enemy that enforcement of these terms "in no way relieves the victorious powers of all their obligations to humanity, or of their duties as civilized and christian nations."

Threats Enunciated

"This at least," Churchill declared, "I can say on behalf of the United Nations to Germany. If you surrender now, nothing you will have to endure after the war will be camparable to what you are otherwise going to suffer during 1945.

"Peace, though based on unconditional surrender, will bring to Germany and Japan an immense and immediate alleviation of the suffering and agony which now lies before them."

Addressing the House of Commons for two hours in one of the greatest of the many greet speeches of his career, Church—sometimes bitter and pugnacious, sometimes smooth and conciliatory — discussed British-Soviet relations, Greece, Yugoslavia, Italy, the military picture, "spheres of influence" and Britain's over-all aims.

In a sweeping bow to the American doughboy, Churchill said that the Yanks in reversing Germany's winter offensive in the Ardennes had "done almost all the fighting and suffered almost all the losses" in "what is undoubtedly the

Freeze Clamped On Shortening

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18. (AP) — The OPA tonight ordered a three-day 'freeze" of retail sales of lard, other shortening and salad and cooking oils, preparatory to resuming rationing of these commodities next Monday.

The sales freeze is effective at 12:01 a. m. Friday and will continue to the start of rationing at 12:01 Monday.

In a companion move, the War Food administration ordered 40 per cent of total lard production set aside to meet military requirements.

Two Points Required

A ration value of two points a pound was set for all of the commodities affected.

Red ration stamps will be used hereafter for the purchase of lard and other cooking fats and oils.

The purpose of the freeze, OPA explained, is to conserve short supplies 'on retailers' shelves while all consumers and levels of distribution are fully informed regarding the new point values, and to permit dealers to take inventory of supplies in an orderly fashion."

Sales of butter and margarine are not affected by the freeze.

The new home front belt-tightening follows by just 24 hours the return to rationing of grapefruit juice and blended orange and grapefruit juice. OPA took that action when WFA ordered a 100 per cent set aside of canners' production for the armed services.

The prospective supply of lard for the next several months is expected to be considerably under production during the same period of 1944, OPA said.

"Under these circumstances,"

Maverick Warns Of Army Supply Task

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18. (AP)—Military supplies necessary to defeat Germany will be "two or three times what anyone has estimated," Maury Maverick, a vice chairman of the War Production board, asserted today.

Just returned from a tour of the European battlefront, Maverick said the public must be told "much more of the truth" about the war, including the number of troops to be required and supply needs.

He foresaw a drastic belt-tightening in this country involving a "complete change in mode of life," and urged the immediate enactment of draft legislation for workers, but with labor having a strong participation in its administration.

High-Priority Travels Of "Blaze," Elliott's Dog, Is Called By White House A "Regrettable Combination Of Errors"

By W. H. MOBLEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—The White House today stamped the high-priority travels of Elliott Roosevelt's bull mastiff as a "regrettable combination of errors"—but indicated no one will be put in the doghouse.

Stephen Early, presidential press secretary, said nobody in the executive offices had anything to do with giving the huge pet a rating high enough to get three servicemen bumped off an Army transport plane in Memphis, Jan 9.

The President's second son, an Air forces colonel, said in London he had nothing to do with air transportation priority for the dog "Blaze" which was sent to his bride, actress Faye Emerson, in Hollywood.

"I should say that somewhere down the line somebody has made a mistake," was the comment of Secretary of War Stimson when he was asked about the matter at his news conference.

Maj. Gen. Harold L. George, commander of the Army Air Transport command, said after a preliminary investigation that there had been "an error of judgment," and that procedure would be changed so that there will be no more such mistakes. But he didn't say who made the error nor what sort it was.

Rep. Hoffman (R-Mich.) meanwhile brought the travels of "Blaze" to the attention of Congress, reading a letter from a serviceman complaining of long service abroad and commenting:

"I wonder what he would think if he knew that three men who might have been his buddies were put off a plane because Col. Roosevelt's dog was aboard."

Asked whether any punitive action were being considered against any persons who may have put the priority rating on the mastiff's crate, Early answered in the negative.

He added that certainly nothing of the sort is contemplated for Seaman Leon LeRoy, who first disclosed at his home in Antioch, Calif., yesterday that he and two others had had to get off the plane to make way for high priority freight while the dog stayed aboard.

LeRoy's mother, saying that the matter "sort of frightens us," had expressed concern lest it affect her son's status in the Navy.

Western Front Takes Big Toll

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—American Army casualties of the Western front have brought the total from D-day in June to Jan. 1 to 332,912.

Secretary of War Stimson, reporting this today, said the total for that period includes 54,562 killed, 232,672 wounded and 45,678 missing.

The 74,788 figure for December included 10,419 killed, 43,554 wounded and 20,815 missing. Most of the missing in December, Stimson said, probably are German prisoners.

Cover Major Actions

December casualties, the secretary told his news conference, covered not only the first two weeks of the German counter offensive in the Ardennes but also the Allied offensive on the Western front during the early part of December.

Stimson said that by far the greatest part of the 52,594 casualties which he had previously reported for the Western front from Dec. 15 to Jan. 7 were included in the total for December.

German losses on the Western front during the month, Stimson said, are estimated at between 110,000 and 130,000 including 50,000 taken prisoners.

Bowen Buses Rolling Again; Strike Ended

DALLAS, Jan. 18. (AP) — Bowen main line buses continued rolling today as drivers ended a two-day strike after company President H. E. Moore promised to pay retroactive wages by Friday.

The return to work followed a War Labor board hearing to which union committees had been summoned by WLB after the union failed to comply with a back-to-work order of the board yesterday.

The War Labor board, on which two public, union and industry officials served under Wales Madden, chairman, voted unanimously that the strike had been unauthorized and again sent wires to union officials ordering the workers to return immediately.

Further Protection Given U. S. Airmen

LONDON, Jan. 18. (AP)—American airmen now are almost entirely encased in armor when making missions over Germany.

Their new flak suit has a specially hardened steel back as well as front. Previously the air crew depended on the heavy metal backing of their seats for protection. Since the new armor suits were developed, casualties from enemy fire have been reduced 66 per cent, the Air Service command said.

Superforts Heavily Damage Jap Factory

B-29 HEADQUARTERS, Guam, Jan. 18 (AP)—The Kokuki factory on Nagoya's waterfront—the plant which produces a large portion of Japan's fighter and bomber planes—has been bombed at least 40 per cent out of commission, Brig. Gen. Haywood Hansell, commander of the 21st U. S. Bomber command, said today.

The general said photographs of the Mitsubishi company's oldest factory, showing results of the major attack on it last Dec. 18, but taken prior to the most recent Nogoya raid, Jan. 14, indicated that damage to the Kokuki plant far exceeded earlier expectations.

Seventeen per cent of the plant's entire roof are a has been damaged, Hansell said.

Patton's Christmas Greeting Is Prayer

WITH THE U. S. THIRD ARMY, Jan. 18. (AP)—Every officer and enlisted man in the Third army received a Christmas greeting from Lt. Gen. George S. Patton, jr., and on the back of each card was this prayer:

"Almighty and most merciful Father, we humbly beseech Thee of Thy great goodness to restrain these immoderate rains with which we have had to contend. Grant us fair weather for battle.

"Graciously hearken to us as soldiers who call upon Thee that armed with power we may advance from victory and victory and crush the oppression and wickedness of our enemies and establish Thy justice among men and nations. Amen."

Coughs That Cause Restless Sleepless Nights

or Bronchial Irritation Resulting from Colds

But adults can't expect real results from the same sweet syrupy concoctions that you'd give to a child. When you want to throw off a bothersome cough you've just got to have a real cough medicine; then you should ask your druggist for a bottle of good old Bron-chu-line Emulsion.

Bron-chu-line isn't a cheap cough syrup mind you, for first-raters are never cheap. But if you want the best and are willing to pay a little more for real results, get a bottle today and notice how the first dose takes hold right away and gives you real relief from the coughing and soreness.

Don't ignore a cough — get relief as quick as you can. Ask Mark Halsey Drug Co. O'Donnell agent, Corner Druz Store or any progressive druggist for a 65 cent bottle of Bron-chu-line Emulsion and keep this in mind — if not joyfully satisfied — money back. Adv.

Fire Less Damaging Than Hungry Persons

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 18. (AP) — There was a fire today in a building in which Louis Katz had stored hard-to-get items for a new grocery store he planned to open.

Damage to the store was trivial but Katz said his loss was high.

Point-conscious spectators, he told police, carried away such stuff as canned pineapple, salmon and sardines as fast as he and firemen carried them from the threatened building.

CASTANEDA ELECTED

Strange Jinx Keeps McGuire From Catching Up With Bong's Record

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18. (AP)—A strange jinx kept Maj. Thomas B. McGuire, aerial ace of the Southwest Pacific, from catching up with Maj. Richard I. Bong's score of enemy planes knocked down.

McGuire recognized the jinx, cursed it, and fought it. But now the battle is over, for word has come from the Philippines that McGuire was killed in action against the Japanese.

Destroys 38 Planes

McGuire's score stood at 38 Japanese planes destroyed. Bong, now back in this country, led with 40.

Capt. Elliott Arnold of New York and Port Clyde, Me., formerly on the New York World Telegram, told today how fate dogged McGuire. Arnold, just back from the Philippines, said:

"When Bong was home last summer, McGuire had his big chance, but he got dengue fever and was forced out of action. Bong was back shooting them down again before McGuire got started. McGuire usually was about eight planes behind.

McGuire Grounded

"Then the day Bong left McGuire shot down four and the following day three more Japs for a total of 38. But then Lt. Gen. George C. Kenney grounded him.

"McGuire might have run up a bigger score but as squadron commander he was always looking out for his boys, hovering over them. Most of his kills came when enemy planes attacked his formation. He never pulled off to look for targets on his own."

Arnold said McGuire's death left Lt. Col. Gerald T. Johnson, Eugene, Ore., top score man now in the Southwest Pacific. Latest war department figures gave Johnson 23 enemy planes shot down as of Dec. 15.

MAJ. THOMAS B. McGUIRE

HELPING WINGMAN

AN ADVANCED FAR EASTERN AIRFORCE BASE ON LUZON, Jan. 18. (AP)—Maj. Thomas B. McGuire, jr., the highest ranking Army's top ace active in the Southwest Pacific, perished when his P-38 stalled on a high speed turn and crashed 200 feet into the sea.

McGuire was attempting to come to the assistance of his wingman, who was under attack by a Japanese fighter plane when the stall ended his brilliant career.

He had a total of 38 kills.

Brig. Gen. Paul B. Wurtsmith in command of the Fifth airforce fighters said that McGuire's wingman also lost his life. He was shot down.

Area Unaffected By Feb. 1 "Brown-Out"

The War Production board's order of a nation-wide "brown-out" to go into effect Feb. 1 is not expected to affect this section of the country because "we are located in the heart of the natural gas area," Hubert L. Allen of Southwestern Public service said Thursday.

He said apparently the order applied only to those sections of the United States where electricity is generated from fuels in short supply, such as coal and oil.

He explained that a large block of power for the South Plains area is generated from "sour" gas which means actually a waste product of gas. The same is true in the Borger area. "Our company uses very little 'sweet' gas in the production of electricity."

The "brown-out" in critical fuel areas will mean no more outdoor electric advertising, promotional and display lighting, show window and marquee lighting.

Two Fighter Pilots Killed In Crashes

VAN NUYS, Calif., Jan. 18. (AP)—Separate crashes of two P-38 planes brought death to two student pilots in the Mojave desert yesterday, the Army air base here announced.

They were Second Lts. Robert J. Sleske, 26, Milwaukee, Wis., and Austin G. Strickland, Roswell, N. M.

BY, OF, and FOR THE PEOPLE

FOR SHUT INS

Editor, The Avalanche: I have no idea who first started the face up domino game. But I do know it is an interesting game to me. Being a shut-in I get a lot of pleasure in playing alone. Especially during the winter months.

I began last summer and have tried the dominoes in every way. For example, I start by playing first the six-four, using the double four for a spinner. You may play from one to three dominoes to make a count, but be sure you play them in order. Dominoes will not lie unless you make them do so. I have made a count of 480 by downing the six-four

I am writing this for the benefit of others on the South Plains who may be invalids, or shut-ins. I am sure you will find it to be a brain-teaser as well as entertainment when you are tired of reading, or writing. Because the game has been of much help to me, I like to pass it on to others. If you like dominoes, you will enjoy it. Turn the set of dominoes face up and try your luck.

For 50 years or more I have played games such as dominoes, cards and checkers. I have proof of the scores I have made, and you know proof of the pudding is in in the eating. I will be glad to furnish to anyone in these parts with the proof. I hope this will start some shut-ins and invalids to many hours of pleasant amusement and pastime. It is educational, interesting, and good wholesome fun. As a brain teaser it can not be beat.

HONEST AMERICANS

Editor, The Avalanche: I am glad to be an American for this could not happen anywhere else.

When I arrived in Lubbock last Saturday, I found to my amazement that I had mislaid my billfold containing approximately $100. I called back to a drug store in Slaton to inquire if it had been found in the phone booth from which I had placed a call, but I did not locate it.

On Monday morning I received a note from Mrs. Horton Haire, of the Gordon community, saying that she had found my billfold and was keeping it and the contents until I could call for it.

I assure you that Mrs. Haire will receive a sizable reward. And again I will say that I am glad to live in America where people are honest.

Yours truly,
J. W. Savell,
Slaton.

Prisoner Of Jap Imperials Home

Sgt. Lawrence P. Ingley of route 6, is home after two and a half years in a Jap prison camp with a sizeable cluster of ribbons on his chest and a long row of service stripes on his sleeve, not to mention most of the 40 pounds in weight he has regained since being home.

Another ribbon was added Friday when Sergeant Ingley was presented the Purple Heart at Lubbock Army Air field. It was a quiet ceremony in the office of Colonel Howell M. Estes, jr., with Colonel Estes making the presentation in the presence of a few military witnesses. "Quiet is what I want most," Sergeant Ingley, who lives with his mother Mrs. Mary C. Ingley on Route 6, said. "I want to forget as soon as I can those years in the Philippines and even if disposed to talk about it I couldn't because of security reasons." Sergeant Ingley even requested that members of his own family not be present for the presentation of the award.

Wounded When Ship Sunk

The Purple Heart was awarded for wounds received when the ship on which he and a ship load of other prisoners were being transported by the Japs from Mindanao to some northern Jap base was torpedoed and sunk by an American submarine. With eighty-three other survivors he managed to swim to shore where he lived with Philippino guerrillas until the U. S. Navy sent in a rescue boat.

After that he spent a month in a hospital in Australia arriving in the U. S. November 6. Since November 14 he has been quietly recuperating from his experiences at home, with his mother getting most of the credit for his regained weight. "There is sure a lot of difference between home cooked food and the scanty rations of rice and fish provided by the Japanese," according to the veteran sergeant. "Working in the rice fields between bouts with malaria don't help a fellow keep up his weight either," Sergeant Ingley concluded.

The Lubbock soldier, who was in the regular Army before the war began, was sent to the Philippines in October of 1941 with an aviation ordnance outfit. They were taken prisoner when the Japs overran Mindanao on May 10, 1942. The prisoners were kept on Mindanao until September 7, 1944 when they were loaded in a Jap transport ship and started for an unknown destination farther within Japanese-held territory. The boat was promptly sunk and most of the American and British prisoners and most of their captors were lost.

In addition to the Purple Heart, Sergeant Ingley wears the Distinguished Unit badge with two Oak Leaf clusters, the good conduct ribbon, the American Defense ribbon with a bronze star for service prior to Pearl Harbor and the Asiatic-Pacific ribbon with two stars.

Bill's Passage Would Aid County Teachers

If the Senate approves the rural aid teachers appropriation bill as passed by the House, it will mean approximately $27,300 more for the 91 Lubbock county rural teachers this year, Roy Boyd, county superintendent, estimated.

The bill, as it was passed by the House, provides that each rural teacher's salary will be raised $75 each month the last four months of the fiscal year which ends Aug. 31. Boyd said the average salary now of rural teachers in the county, including superintendents and principals, is about $93 The increase would up the average to approximately $1,200 per year.

Final passage of the bill will also mean an additional $1 per month for transportation aid to bus students in the county.

Intensified Offense Pledged By Admiral

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 18. (AP)—Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King, announced the Navy intends to pursue a policy of "intensified offense" to the "limit of the facilities available to us" through the coming year.

"In less than four years," King said in an address prepared for delivery before the Ohio League of Municipalities, "we have built a bridge of ships across 3,000 miles of the Atlantic and 7,000 miles of the Pacific to the Philippines and Marianas.

"And in the Pacific, we are marshalling our ships and bases to bridge the final gap leading to the coast of continental Asia and to the Japanese homelands."

The hardest part of the task lies ahead, the fleet commander warned.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

IT must take a wholesome philosophy to make the most of dull hours and to endure the best of dull people.

BENJ. FRANKLIN

TALKATIVE Benjamin Franklin, whose birthday marks today's calendar, said many things during his lifetime. One statement was "I am only one, but I AM one."

Yes, you and the Woman's Angle, we are "only ones" of America's millions but because of that we still have representative government, and freedom of worship and laws and restrictions respecting the right of the individual. And we still have the right to say by vote who and what shall govern us.

FREE GIVEAWAYS

There are three cherry trees, from six to eight feet tall, and four Chinese elms to be given away at 2121 Fifth.

FOUR PUPPIES

FOUR puppies that are so appealing their owners are becoming attached to them must be given away because there are seven other dogs about the place. They are small dogs, not pedigreed, and are about two months old. Three females and one male are in the litter.

If you would like to have one of them for your little boy or girl, telephone 2-9926 between 10 a. m. and 12 noon.

THE TEEN-AGERS

AT least one cosmetics company has devoted a line to the teen-age girl, we were told by Joyce Ward, of Bowen's drug store, who saw our query in Thursday morning's column. Mrs. Ward says there is an all-purpose cream for the sub-debs, soap subdued rouge and lipstick and perfume and cologne in a light floral odor.

And on the subject of acne, Mrs. Ward said she has a number of treatments for skin blemishes that are not too advanced to call for the treatment of a physician.

IN THE MAIL

DEAR Miss Turner: Your article in today's paper regarding teen-age complexion problems strikes close to the hearts of mothers of Lubbock school children.

Few children pass through the grades and high school using text books handed down from generation to generation (apparently without encountering some complexion or skin troubles. My puzzle is not especially one of beauty for my teen-agers—but rather one of health.

Much of the spread of itch, impetigo and acne is due to use of common school books which should have been laid aside with the common drinking cup.

If so many external diseases are carried in books, is it not reasonable that more serious ones, such as tuberculosis, are distributed in the same way? It is not only possible, it is probable.

Not more than a week ago I heard three mothers discussing "cures" for children's skin diseses and comparing medical formulae in a small neighborhood grocery. It is a problem for all of us.

Once our family went through an expensive series of treatments for allergies only to learn that the $75 was spent on the lowly—h-h-h!—itch. Oh, the subject is strictly taboo in Lubbock, yet our poor, miserable little children are enduring nights of untold agony.

Miss Turner, have you ever administered first aid for impetigo? A hard, crust-like scab forms (usually on hands and face. Each morning that scab must be pulled off and a strong, burning salve applied to that raw sore. Not much fun for the kids, nor for mothers.

We have a wonderful school system in Lubbock. Our faculty personnel is the best, our buildings with one exception are as beautiful and well-equipped as can be found in cities three times our size. Why not bring our book sanitation standards up to twentieth century methods?

Send the disease-laden text books the way of the common drinking cup and the community roller towl, far into the past with the out-door toilet and mail-order catalogs.

Sincerely,
A Mother.

Committees Consider Club House Plans

Committees considering possibilities for a woman's club building in Lubbock met at the home of Miss Martye Poindexter, 2706 Twentieth, Wednesday night to consider definite plans.

Mrs. William G. Dingus presided.

Committees and their chairmen are: Finance, Mrs. Hub Jones; building site, Mrs. Fern Cone; plans and operation, Miss Poindexter.

During the evening it was voted for the group to send out two questionaires: one to Texas club women who enjoy the use of club homes or club rooms and the other to Lubbock clubs interested in the possibility of a club building here. The questionaires will cover services, employees, finance, furnishings and suggested improvements.

Last fall at a Better Citizenship conference, possibilities included buying a building at one of the airfields, renting office space in a downtown building, likelihood of someone donating her home to the group, asking for a space in the proposed municipal auditorium, renting a building or building a club house. Since it appears it will be several years before a club house could be built, present plans call for purchase of a home which might later be enlarged to answer whatever needs might arise.

Attending the meeting were Mesdames A. W. Young, Fay Westmoreland, Allen, George Berry, Cone, Arch S. Underwood, George Soash, W. L. Bradshaw, Misses Ruth E. Ford and Margaret Turner.

Miss Clara Pratt Is Speaker For HD Club

"Because of wind and sun hazards for fruit in West Texas, two points should be followed in pruning the tree," Miss Clara Pratt, county home demonstration agent, told the Slaton home demonstration club members Wednesday afternoon. "Trees should be allowed to branch low to decrease wind and hail damage. To do this cut the tree back to 18 or 20 inches from the ground when set. Encourage dense head growth to prevent sun damage to trunk and fruit," she said.

Those present were Mesdames Carter Shaw, R. C. Hall, E. E. Wilson, Lucille McEver, Forney Henry and Douglas Wilson.

Next meeting will be Feb. 7.

Burbank Port Said Lacking In Safety

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 18. (AP) — A Civil Aeronautics board hearing was told today that the Burbank airport, locale of last week's air liner crash with 24 dead, is lacking in adequate safety facilities.

"Margins of safety are narrower than at other major air terminals," said Robert V. Keeler, CAA air carrier division chief.

He cited as unfavorable factors the low power of the radio range localizer, the lack of station identification and special rectrictions at the field made necessary because of peculiar weather and topographical problems there.

Previously Walter Hughen, American airlines chief of flying, and C. J. Hudgens, dispatcher for the air line, testified the pilot of the wrecked plane complied with usual landing procedure prior to the crash.

The Navy today announced the identity of the last of four Navy men killed in the crash. He was Sam A. Montanarella, aviation radioman second class, Rochester, N. Y.

The Army announced its 17th casualty last night, Sgt. Phillip Kaufman of Pittsburgh, Pa. Three crew members also were killed.

Travels Of "Blaze"

China-Burma-India war theater, identified himself in Riverside, Calif., last night as another of those bumped off the plane. Riding on a "C" priority, he was en route to visit his wife, who was ill.

The third man who lost his seat in Memphis had not come forward, but at Granite City, Ill., Mrs. Ola Vee Nix said her husband, Maurice Nix, a Navy carpenter's mate, wrote her from San Francisco that his trip back to duty was delayed because he could not board the plane in Dallas. Nix had been home visiting his four children, who were ill.

LT. GOV. SMITH SENDS "PRIORITY" TELEGRAM

AUSTIN, Jan. 18. (AP)—Lt. Gov. John Lee Smith of Texas today sent a telegram to President Roosevelt asking whether dogs have a higher priority rating "than soldiers and sailors who are fighting to preserve human liberty, or do the dogs posses such higher rating only when they happen to belong to persons related to you?"

Capacity Of Rubber Plant To Be Doubled

WACO, Jan. 18. (AP)—Word was received here today that the War Production board had authorized the doubling of the capacity of the General Tire and Rubber company plant here.

President W. O'Neil in a mesage said more than $1,500,000 would be spent immediately for buildings and equipment.

Shortening Frozen

Price Administrator Chester Bowles explained, "return of lard to rationing at this time is necessary if civilians are to be given an opportunity to obtain their fair share of the shortened supply."

Lard had been ration free since last March 3, while points were removed last April 16 from other shortening and salad and cooking oils.

The new move also comes close on the heels of the sweeping order Christmas week putting back under rationing a wide variety of meat cuts and all major canned vegetables. With the addition of fats and oils, virtually all important food commodities which had been removed and now back on the list.

Packers Instructed

The WFA order, effective Jan. 21, requires packers operating under federal inspection to set aside lard at the rate of 7¼ pounds for each 100 pounds of live-weight of each week's slaughter of hogs. This amounts to approximately 60 per cent of the production of federally inspected lard, but comes to about 40 per cent of the estimated output of all lard, WFA said.

Another Complaining Letter Is Announced

GRANITE CITY, Ill., Jan. 18. (AP)—Mrs. Ola Vee Nix, has announced her husband, a sailor, had been forced to give up his seat in a westbound Army cargo plane at Dallas because a big dog which he said belonged to Col. Elljott Roosevelt, had a higher priority rating.

Mrs. Nix said her husband, Maurice Nix, carpenter's mate second class, had reported the incident in a letter to her from San Francisco.

She said he had been home on emergency leave granted because she and their four children were ill.

Mrs. Nix said her husband borrowed $98 from the Dallas Red Cross and continued to San Francisco by civilian plane, "arriving just as his leave expired."

Martin On Trial In Murder Case

BOONVILLE, Mo., Jan. 18 (U.P.)—Edward Jewett Martin, 24-year-old scion of a wealthy Cooper county family, entered a plea of innocent today and selection of a jury to hear testimony in his trial on a second degree murder charge was started.

Martin was charged in connection with the death last May 9 on a Cooper county road of his 67-year-old grandmother, Mrs. Edward M. Jewett.

Maintains Death Accidental

Martin has maintained that the death of his grandmother was accidental. He was her constant companion and on him she had lavished every care since boyhood.

Both Thomas G. Woolsey, county prosecutor, and Roy D. Williams attorney for young Martin, expressed the belief that the trial would require only about three days.

Indications were that Williams would not attack a statement allegedly made by Martin to North Carolina authorities in which, Woolsey said, he detailed how his grandmother fell from a motorcar he was driving and how, in backing up, the car ran over her.

The body later was recovered from Eastwood lake at Durham, N. C., by a diver. It had been weighted down with cinder blocks.

Was Traveling Companion

Martin was raised by his grandmother and had been her traveling companion when she journeyed from Durham to Boonville to look after property here. Until two years ago she lived here.

Martin, a chemist, received high grades during his scholastic work at the University of Missouri and Duke university.

Martin was named co-executor of his grandmother's will. Under the terms of that document, he was left one fifth interest in a 550 acre farm, one half interest in water stock she held, a Packard car and a large blue diamond. The estate was appraised at $53,500. The will was dated Feb. 5, 1940.

PLAN GRECIAN VISIT

ATHENS, Jan 18. (AP)—Newspapers in the British-occupied portions of Greece published reports today that, as a consequence of the forthcoming debate on the Greek situation in the British parliament, a delegation of British political leaders would come to Athens for a first-hand study of the problems involved.

RENEWING HIS RESOLUTION TO KEEP TRUCKS ROLLING

Through three years of war, the GMC service man has made it his job to keep trucks on the job by carefully checking, servicing and repairing them at regular intervals. This year, he has renewed his resolution to "keep 'em rolling" on the home front in order to keep more supplies moving to the war fronts. Serve Casseroles And Save Points

(Associated Press Feature Service)

ENTERTAINING these days need not swallow all your precious red and blue ration points. There are dozens of simple casserole dishes that require few if any coupons. You need never apologize for a dish that is hot, well-seasoned, and attractively served.

Why not entertain at tea-time instead of having dinner parties? You will be keeping one of hospitality's most cordial traditions as well as saving your points. Invite small groups of friends to share the warmth of your fireside on a frosty winter's day. Serve hot tea, tiny hot biscuits with honey cream, thin slices of nut bread, squares of cinnamon toast or dainty slices of sponge or pound cake.

Try Home—Baked Bread

Let the bread box replace the cookie jar, and keep it filled with fresh, home-baker bread of different kinds. Nut, fruit, or graham bread tastes as good as do cookies, and is more nutritious to serve to the children as between-meal snacks, or as last-minute refreshments for unexpected guests.

With careful planning, you can serve a variety of non-rationed luncheon, or buffet dinners to your friends. Spaghetti with meat balls, crusty bread, a green salad, and fruit makes a simple yet tasty meal for any occasion. Stews, casseroles, fish, and poultry can be dressed up for the best of company. When there isn't butter for the bread or sandwiches, use honey butter or fruit spreads, or other fillings.

If you splurge on a can of point-high pineapple for a special occasion, save the liquid from the fruit and cook applesauce in it. The applesauce takes on a delicious pineapple flavor and adds much to an applesauce gingerbread.

SCOTCH MEAT LOAF

1 lb. ground meat(beef, veal or lamb)
1¼ cups rolled oats
2 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
1 egg
1½ cups milk
1-3 cup ketchup
2 tsp. chopped onion

Combine meat, oats, salt and pepper. Beat egg; add milk, ketchup and onion; mix well. Pack into greased loaf pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 1 hour. Serves 6.

Work fast when making pastry. Too much handling is not good for pie crusts.

EASIER THAN THEY LOOK: Cream puffs are simple if they're split and then filled.

Making Cream Puffs Isn't As Hard As You Imagine

By CHARLOTTE ADAMS
Associated Press Food Editor

THE idea of making cream puffs in the home is very frightening to many. They're such professional looking things when they're done right. And many women are sure they couldn't make one properly no matter how hard they tried.

This is to assure you that anybody who knows how to cook at all can make fine cream puffs. It isn't necessary to fill them through a practically invisible hole, as a French chef does. Cut them in half, fill them, and replace the tops and you will have an even more apetizing looking dessert because the filling does show through the crack a little.

Cream Puff Ring

1 cup flour — 1 cup hot water
½ cu vitaminized margarine — ¼ teaspoon salt
4 large eggs.

Sift flour, then measure it. Dissolve margarine in hot water and bring to a boil. Add salt and flour all at one time. Stir vigorously with a wooden spoon until a ball of dough is formed, leaving the sides of the pan clean Cool until you can hold the palm of your hand on the bottom of the sauce pan comfortably Add eggs one at a time and beat the mixture smooth after each is added. The dough should be glossy. Arrange heaping tablespoonsful of dough touching each other in a circle on a lightly greased cooky sheet. Bake at 400° for 30 minutes. Reduce to 350° and bake 30 minutes longer. This makes 12 medium or nine large puffs.

Angel Custard

3 tablespoons cornstarch — 1 tablespoon vitaminized margarine
½ cup sugar
1 cup milk — 3 egg whites
½ teaspoon vanilla — ¼ teaspoon salt

Blend cornstarch and 1-4 cup sugar. Add milk slowly and stir perfectly smooth. Bring to boil and cook over low flame three minutes. Stir in vanilla and margarine. Fold in egg whites beaten stiff with salt and remaining sugar. Beat mixture until points are formed. Cool and chill. Fill with Angel Custard and serve with one of the following sauces.

Chocolate Sauce

2 tablespoons vtiaminized margarine — ½ cup sugar
2 ounces unsweetened chocolate OR ¼ cup cocoa — ¼ teaspoon salt
1½ tablespoons cornstarch
1½ cups water
1 teaspoon vanilla

Melt margarine with chocolate. (If cocoa is used, mix it with sugar and other dry ingredients.) Add sugar mixed with salt and cornstarch. Add water slowly and stir until smooth. Boil three minutes, stirring constantly. Add vanilla and serve hot.

Sunny Sauce

¼ cup flour — margarine
2-3 cup sugar — 2 egg whites
¼ teaspoon salt — 1 teaspoon vanilla
1½ cups hot water
2 egg yolks — ½ teaspoon nutmeg
3 tablespoons vitaminized

Blend flour, 1-3 cup sugar and salt. Add one cup water slowly thickened. Blend 1-2 cup water with egg yolks and add to mixture. Cook a minute longer. Beat egg whites until stiff. Add rest of sugar and beat until points are formed. Add vanilla and nutmeg.

Need For Waste Fats Is Urgent Says OPA Rationing Officer

"Waste cooking fats are needed more now than at any time since the beginning of the war," Opal L. Wood, district food rationing officer of the Office of Price administration, said Thursday afternoon.

During the past few months, she said, the amount of salvage fats turned over to renderers has fallen far short of the amount needed. She pointed out that waste fats serve hundreds of war purposes, especially in the manufacture of medical supplies and ammunition.

The call from the government to housewives to renew their efforts to save their waste fats follows the call for more medical supplies and for more ammunition to meet the needs of stepped-up war activities both in the Pacific and in Europe.

Housewives are reminded that two red points will be given for each pound of fats turned in to butchers.

BRAN MUFFINS

Although Mrs. Lora Tucker, 1506 Ave. R, says it's difficult to give a recipe for her popular bran muffins because she has made them so many times she measures with a glance, she lists the ingredients and method as follows:

4 tablespoons shortening
3 tablespoons sugar
1 egg, beaten
1 cup milk
1 1-4 cups bran flakes
1 cup flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1-4 teaspoon salt
1-2 cup chopped raisins

Blend shortening and sugar. Add egg and milk and stir in the bran flakes, setting aside for 20 minutes. Sift flour, baking powder and salt three times. Add to other mixture with raisins and chopped nuts, if desired. Bake for about 20 minutes in greased muffin tins in an oven 375 degrees Fahrenheit.

KITCHEN KORNER

Try lentil soup with a dash of curry powder.

Why not stuff poultry the night before cooking; while standing the meat absorbs flavors from the stuffing.

Stuffed peppers make a nutritious and flavorful main dish. Stuff them with rice, lentils, scalloped tomatoes or with left-over vegetables when there is no meat on hand.

Breath-taking Russian Drive Is Sweeping Nazis Toward Berlin

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

The mighty Russian steamroller attack across the Polish plains rolled on unchecked for the fifth day, overshadowing even Prime Minister Churchill's intimation to Paraliament that a Nazi retreat from all Italy also might be impending.

There was no other suggestion of that and Mr. Churchill did not elaborate on it. But the German army flight from Poland was in full swing, Berlin hinted at an escape evacuation of the Carpathian - Slovakian bulge to the south. Above the Vistula northwest of Russian captured Warsaw Red columns were striking heavily toward Danzig in an effort to isolate all East Prussia and its Nazi garrison.

SIMPSON

The Churchill intimation that a German flight from Italy into the Alps was to be expected soon probably was based on allied estimates of Nazi forces available to meet the synchronized Allied pressure in the west and the Russian break-throughs in Poland. Churchill noted that Allied troops in Italy were pinning down some 27 top-notch German combat divisions desperately needed elsewhere now.

Western Offensive Unretarded

The Briton also said that there would be no surcease for Germany on any front now that the Russian main winter attack had begun so auspiciously. All encircling battle lines would "flame" with action continuosly, he added, bluntly denying that the frustrated Nazi counter attack in Belgium, whatever its cost in American and British casualties, had materially delayed the Allied winter offensive in the west.

The prime minister apparently shares the known conclusion in Washington that the battle of the Belgian bulge will go far to shorten rather than to lengthen the war in Europe. In that "violent and costly sortie" he said the foe had expended "forces they cannot replace against an enemy which has more than replaced every loss that he has sustained." The Nazi offensive "in no wise delayed nor even less averted, the doom that is closing in upon them," he added.

Action Proves Point

There was evidence supporting that in West front progress bulletins coming in as he spoke. The limited purpose British Second army attack between the Maas and the Roer south of Roermond, was moving ahead. Field Marshal Montgomery appeared to be intent on straightening his own front as a direct extension of the American line along the Roer farther south.

By every sign, that is a move preliminary to resumption of a full scale Allied offensive in the north.

LINES NOT TAXABLE

AUSTIN, Jan. 18 (AP)—Because rural electrification lines owned by a municipality were held to be "public property used for public purposes," the state supreme court ruled today that they are not subject to taxation by school districts through which they pass.

Belgians Of Liberated Village Await Safety; Plead For Doctor

By J. EDWARD MURRAY
United Press War Correspondent

HOUFFALIZE, Belgium, Jan. 18—Whimpering women and children remained in a crowded catacomb beneath their ruined church today pleading for a doctor to treat their wounded and waiting until it was safe to emerge.

They symbolize the tragedy of the second German occupation of this once picturesque Ardennes village and the second liberation which left it a mass of rubble.

Many Wounded

I climbed down two steep flights of stairs to reach the "black hole of Houffalize," a double cave connected by a stone archway so low I had to crawl to get from one room to the other.

The air was foul from too many people living together. Lining the walls were 75 persons, mostly old women and children, many of them with serious wounds.

As I circled the walls with a candle, murmured prayers came out of the shadows mixed with pleas in French for me to have the Americans send a doctor and medicine.

Father Georges, their pastor, said some of the old ones had been in the cave since Dec. 19 when the first American bombers came while others had been there the last three days and nights during the "hell of the artillery bombardment," which demolished or damaged every building in the village.

200 Killed

Father Georges said 200 of the town's 1,300 population had been killed. The remainder, excepting those in the caves, were living in surrounding woods.

Pointing to one rubble pile after another Father Georges said: "There 76 were killed. Here 23 died. And over there a little girl who was burned in the fire screamed until she died."

In a long room leading to the cave entrance were rows of freshly dressed beef on benches. The town's burgomaster, Joseph Marechal, explained that cattle killed in the bombardment had been dressed immediately to provide food.

As the burgomaster, the pastor and I walked past eight cross-marked graves of Germans buried in the church cemetery, Father Georges asked if the Germans could return a third time.

"It really doesn't matter much now," he added.

Down the road from the church we found Pfc. Winford F. Herring of Gatesville, Tex., and Pvt. Leo (Lucky) Robin of New York, of the Second armored division. They were searching for mines.

Much Of Nation In Grip Of Cold Wave

(By The Associated Press)

Crisp, cold weather gripped the northeastern United States this week in the wake of a snowfall that left many areas to the west and south still blanketed.

Light snow continued in New England, where Montpelier, Vt., had 29 inches in mid-afternoon, and in the Middle West, spreading to the Great Lakes region.

Rising temperatures brought rain to Texas. Light snow and sleet was the outlook for Tennessee.

Steamboat service was suspended to Nantucket, off New England's sleet-lashed coast, and some bus runs were cancelled. Ice-covered roads remained dangerous from New York as far west and south to Kentucky. Three deaths were reported in upstate New York.

Eastern Pennsylvania shook off a snowfall that broke 50-year records, reaching 29 inches at York. At Philadelphia, 90 sailors on leave took up shovels at the Reading railroad terminal.

Drys Spurn Proffers Of Liquor Dealers

DALLAS, Jan. 18. (AP) — The United Texas Drys have adopted a resolution regretting the gift of $30,000 by Dallas retail liquor dealers to the Southern Methodist university expansion campaign.

The action was taken as liquor dealers reported other contributions of $25,000 to the Baylor-in-Dallas drive and $10,000 to St. Paul hospital.

"We believe such gifts mitigate against the welfare of such institutions and the publicity given to such contributions are unfortunate," the resolution said.

Westerners Play Amarillo Tonight

Coach Dixie White and his Lubbock Westerners, defending cage champions of District 1-AA, leave today for Amarillo where they tangle with the Amarillo Sandies in a return battle. There will be both an A and B team game on the program at Amarillo.

The Sandies "out free pitched" the Westerners here in the opening game of the series, and gained a rough 30-28 victory. The Westerners hope to even the count tonight at Amarillo.

Coach White indicated that he would start R. W. Moyers and Gerald "Dingy" Davis at forwards, Verdell Turner at center, and George Brewer and Charles Pressley at guards.

In the first meeting of the two clubs, T. J. Price was starting at one forward post, but Price has been lost since that game, and Davis has stepped into the starting forward position.

The rangy Sandies will be highly favored to make it two in a row, and Coach T. G. Hull is expected to start the same lineup against the Westerners that he used here.

Idalou Cage Tourney Opened By Thrillers

IDALOU, Jan. 18 (Special)—The Idalou Invitation basketball tournament opened here tonight with a pair of thrillers getting the play off to a flying start, and sending the Roosevelt boys and the Petersburg girls advancing with well earned victories.

The Roosevelt boys nosed out the Idalou B team by a 19-17 margin, and by the same score, the Petersburg girls defeated the Roosevelt girls. Frenship moved into the quarterfinals with a forfeit from Petersburg's boys team, which was unable to appear tonight.

The opening game was the boys battle, and was close all the way, and scoring was so well divided that four boys tied for scoring honors of the game with four points each. Thomas and Norris paced the winners, and Steely and Sneed paced the losers.

In the girls game, the powerful Petersburg sextet was hard pressed to win over Roosevelt, with Byrd setting the pace for the winners by copping scoring honors with ten points. McCallister led the Roosevelt club with nine points.

A full schedule is on the bill for Friday, starting at 10 o'clock in the morning and running hourly through the day with alternating boys and girls game.

The Jayton teams withdrew from the tournament, and the Petersburg boys team has been given the Jayton's boys place on the schedule.

Crosbyton and Idalou A team will start the play Friday morning with the first boys game. Following this game, at 11 o'clock, will be the first girls battle between Cooper and Lorenzo. Cooper and Cotton Center boys play at noon. Idalou and Shallowater girls play at 1 o'clock. New Deal and Robertson boys play at 2 o'clock. Cotton Center and Robertson girls play at 3 o'clock. Lorenzo and Petersburg boys play at 4 o'clock.

Starting the evening program, Roosevelt boys will play the winner of the day's opener between Crosbyton and Idalou.

Louisiana Puzzled By Non-Arrival Of Ducks

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 18 (AP)—Thirty five million wild ducks are supposed to be in Louisiana but they aren't.

The state wild life and fisheries department, mystified, want to find out why.

Maj. James Brown, director, says an effort will be made to determine just what's happened.

Experts figure 140,000,000 ducks left Canadian breeding grounds in October and November and that about 25 per cent should come to Louisiana.

Not five per cent of the ducks remained in Louisiana long enough for the hunter to oil his gun, Crown says.

FIELD TRIALS SET

GRAND JUNCTION, Tenn., Jan. 18 (AP)—The birddog's world series—the National Field trials—will start Feb. 19 on the rolling Hobart Ames plantation near here.

Secretary Reuben Scott said permission to hold the event, which usually draws the nation's top birddogs, had been obtained from Washington authorities.

Lamesa Cagers Defeat Tahoka

LAMESA, Jan. 18. (Special). — Lamesa's Golden Tornados turned on the heat in the last half here tonight, and roared to a 35 to 20 victory over the Tahoka Bulldogs in a fast, rough battle that gave the fans plenty of thrills.

A total of 22 fouls were called in the game, and two Tahoko stars went out of the game on the personal fouls route as the Bulldogs wilted in the second half and allowed the Lamesa club to pull away.

First Half Close

The first half was a close, see-saw battle right up to the intermission, with Lamesa nosing out a 7-6 lead at the end of the first quarter, but the Tahoka club had eased past them to hold a 14-12 advantage at the halftime.

Coming back on the floor for the second half, Lamesa began to pull away, after gaining the lead, and were never headed off again after building up a 23-17 lead by the end of the third quarter.

The scoring honors for the game were well divided, with Tabor nosing out the honors for Lamesa with nine points. Three men were close on his heels, with Roberts and Nieman of Lamesa and Hanes of Tahoka each getting eight points for runnerup honors.

Tahoka B Wins

Tahoka gained an even split in the twin bill, the Bulldog Pups winning a 21-16 victory over the Lamesa B team in the opener. The game was close all the way, with Tahoka holding an 11-19 advantage at the halftime.

Donaldson and Jones accounted for 16 of the Tahoka points, each getting eight, to share the scoring honors for this game. Moore paces the Lamesa B team with six points.

The Tornado five will play at least one more practice game before launching the District 3-AA title chase here with Midland on the night of Jan. 30. The next game will be played with either Post or Seminole, but no date has been set for the game.

Boys Club Five Nips Schoolboys, 37-19

The Lubbock Boys club All-Stars, under Captain Hubert McQuire, invaded the Lubbock High school gym Thursday night and romped off with a 37-19 victory over the Cowhands Black team.

Johnny Lawson and Benny Gunn set the pace for the Boys club five, Lawson getting 14 points and Gunn 13 points. Arthur Rampy set the pace for the Cowhands, getting seven points.

The Boys club five rolled up a comfortable 28-4 margin in the first half of the game, and coasted in with the victory in spite of a Cowhand rally in the last half.

Season Called Off, Basketball Is Lost

CLARENDON, Jan. 18 (AP) — Pending the new basketball — if any — Clarendon High will be inactive on the court.

The game was revived at the school this season after a ten-year lapse. The team had managed to win three out of seven but a loss in a tournament last week closed the campaign — at least temporarily.

Not only did the team lose the game but it also lost its one and only basketball.

Coach Slick Naylor has tried without success to obtain another ball from sporting goods company and unless one turns up at an early date, the team will be out for the remainder of the season.

DALLAS NAVY WINS

DALLAS, Jan. 17 (AP)—Dallas Naval Air Station, paced by Lloyd Cook with 14 points and D. W. Johnson with 12, turned back an invading Fort Worth Army Air Field quintet, 49 to 39, at the NAS floor here tonight. NAS led 22-18 at halftime.

COMES BACK SWINGING—Ralph White, Petersburg High school lightweight, who fought his way into last year's Golden Gloves finals with a sensational victory over SPAAF's high touted Milt Papps, will be back swinging with both fists this year when the Avalanche - Journal Golden Glove district tournament is staged at the Texas Tech gym for three big nights, Feb. 1, 2 and 3. White made himself a place in the hearts of the fans at the annual mid-winter sports feature last year with one of the greatest fights in Golden Glove history. White again will enter the lightweight division.

Levelland Tourney Opens Play Tonight

LEVELLAND, Jan. 18 (Special) Three basketball games that promise to be real thrillers will launch the Levelland invitation basketball tournament here Friday night, with two veteran cage teams favored to reach the championship finals Saturday night.

The opening game tonight will pair up the Brownfield Cubs and Morton at 7:30 o'clock. Section A of the Lubbock Army Air Field Squadron loop will play the Levelland Lobos in the second game of the card. The Section C cagers from LAAF and the Littlefield Wildcats will play the finale of the night.

Sudan and Levelland B team will launch their play Saturday morning.

Trophies have been obtained for the winners, and are already on hand. Many other special prizes have been arranged with malted milks to be given to the man making the first score in each game, and the high point man of each game. The first team to lose two games, and go out of the tournament will be set up to malted milks.

A shirt, civilian or military, will be given to the high point man for the tournament, and a tie will be given to the best guard of the tournament.

BOXING FOES NAMED

DALLAS, Jan. 18 (AP) — Midget Mexico of Juarez and Wild Bill McDowell of Dallas will headline a boxing show here Jan. 24.

Tucson Open To Test Sam Snead

TUCSON, Ariz., Jan. 18 (AP) — The ability of Sam Snead to stand the pressure of the winter professional golf tournament swing may be answered in the $5,000 Tucson Open starting tomorrow over El Rio Country club course. The event is 72 holes.

The Hot Springs, Va., star was bothered by a back ailment last week in the Phoenix Open where he plummeted to 13th place after winning the Los Angeles Open the previous week.

Snead turned in a sparking 65, five under par, yesterday in a practice turn over the 6,402 yard local links. Sam is the winter circuit's leading bond winner with more than $8,000.

Byron Nelson, Toledo, Ohio, ace who won the 72 hole Phoenix Open with a 274 ten under par, holds the El Rio course record of 63.

Most of the leading touring pros have been scoring in the middle and high 60's over El Rio this week. Toney Penna, Dayton, Ohio, had a 65 too.

Those who have turned in 66's in practice here include Bob Hamilton, Chicago, professional golfers' association champion, Harold (Jug) McSpaden, Sanford, Maine, Leland Gibson, Randolph Field, Tex., Leonard Ott, Denver, Colo., and Chick Rutan, Birmingham, Mich.

Clubhouse observers tab Denny Shute, 38-year-old Akron, Ohio, veteran who placed second at Phoenix, as a darkhorse in the local tourney.

Kiwanis Keglers Eke Out Win Over Lions

The Kiwanis club bowlers defended their home front, the Lubbock Bowling club, against the invasion of the cross-town Lions club five from the Plamor alleys, and won two out of three games, nosing out the total pin honors by six pins.

The Kiwanis won the first game, but the Lions came back to win the sacond. The Kiwanis came back strong to take the third game, and overcome the big pin handicap of the first two tilts.

The Lions club salvaged some honors for the night as Leo Bell paced the scoring honors with a top game of 194 pins and a top series of 516.

Joe Louis Announces Plans Of Retirement

CAMP SHANKS, N. Y., Jan. 18. (AP)—Staff Sgt. Joe Louis, world heavyweight boxing champion, said today that "it's true that I am going to defend my title only once after the war and that Billy Conn will be my opponent."

The London edition of the Stars and Stripes will say tomorrow in an article by Pvt. Tony Cordaro, former Des Moines, Ia., boxing writer, that Louis intended to fight only once—against Conn — and then quite the ring.

Louis said today that Conn "deserves the first crack at the title. He is the No. 1 contender and gave me my hardest fight." Conn was ahead on points when Louis knocked him out in the thirteenth round of their first meeting on June 18, 1941 in New York.

"While the war is going on, though, I am not thinking about prize fighting," Louis added. "I am doing whatever the war department wants me to do for as long as it wants me to do it. But when peace comes I'll have that fight with Conn and win, lose or draw, I'll quit."

Section 1, Section A Win In Squadron Loop

In a fast game of the Squadron league in Lubbock Army Air field gym Thursday night, Section "1" cagers defeated the Flying officers 46 to 26, with Roger Ellerston of the winners accounting for 18 points to take scoring honors.

Section "A" upset the favored Finance quintet in the second game by a score of 25 to 13. Bob Brewer of Section "A" was high point man with eight points. This was the first loss suffered by the Finance team in four games of the second half. Two other scheduled games were postponed.

Rice Wins, But Big Henry Stopped Cold

HOUSTON, Tex., Jan. 18 (AP) — The Rice Institute basketeers defeated the Waco Army Air field quintet here tonight 39-35 in a game played for the benefit of the infantile paralysis fund.

Vide Kriste, seasoned 6 foot, 5 inch center, clamped down on Bill Henry more thoroughly than the great Rice point maker has been checked on the local boards this year. Henry scored only six points, all in the first half. Kriste swished in six buckets, most of them on circus shots from the corner.

Dick Wehr was the game's top scorer with 13 points, and Murray Mendenhall, who handled the ball more than any other player, contributed 11.

Hoot Evers, a major leaguer on the basketball field, shared Waco scoring honors with Kriste.

A New Day Approaches

Old Methods On The Way Out

EVER since the first transcontinental railroad was completed, people have wondered when it would be possible to cross the United States from coast-to-coast in an uninterrupted train trip. This may be a postwar innovation.

Officials of the Chesapeake & Ohio lines, who have taken the initiative, are negotiating with western railroads to set up a through route, with no halt at Chicago, or Saint Louis, now the breaking points of cross-country train travel. There is an added urge to adopt this innovation because of competition from other forms of transport, especially the airplane.

C. E. Newton, president of C. & O., says: "Transcontinental passenger services have been proposed in the past, but for a variety of reasons none has ever been established. The C. & O. lines place high on their agenda of postwar aims the objective of cooperating in the establishment of transcontinental through passenger service in collaboration with western lines. We do not believe that the obstacles are insuperable."

If the average person had been under the impression that transcontinental passenger service had long since been established, it will not be necessary for him to change his thinking in this respect if Mr. Newton has his way. Furthermore, attitude of the railroads toward postwar competition may be taken as typical of the attitude of much of the nation's business in the postwar era. Service in many older fields must be improved to meet new demands, else the dodderes will be run out of business.

Toward A Better Economy

THE United States has just finished its record agricultural year in terms of dollars. Latest estimate of total farm income in 1944 is $21,000,000,000. The income consists of prices received by farmers for products sold and government benefit payments. The latter totaled $800,000,000.

This is a situation which is strengthening to American economy if it can be maintained. During the depression years of the 1930s farm income averaged $5,000,000,000 a year and the national income $60,000,000,000. Thus the farmer was getting one-twelfth of the national income. Last year the farmer received one-seventh of the total income of the nation, which is in more direct line with realities. There are 25,000,000 people on the 5,000,000 farms of the United States—between one-fifth and one-sixth of the total population.

If the present level of farm income can be maintained, the entire national economy will be more healthy.

Another Threat To Cotton

MANY people will not believe it until they see it, but garments made of spun glass are forecast, and the advantages of glass clothes are being described in glowing terms.

The forecast comes from London, with the assertion that after 14 years of experience glass cloth is ready for postwar exploitation. It is said that the new fabric can be made in scores of shades and will be reasonably cheap, non-inflammable, moth-proof, mildew-proof, rot-proof and sun-proof.

It is asserted that it can be patterned, cut with scissors and stitched on household sewing machine. The London Express declares that it can be spun and woven on the machines now in use in the Lancashire mills and, blended with cotton ,silk or linen yarns, can be made to produce scintillating effects and unusual designs.

Also it is claimed for it that unlike cotton and other materials it cannot acquire more than surface dirt because it is non-cellular. All this sounds decidedly imaginative and a majority of persons before accepting the story will wait to see duds that are closely akin to window panes. But the possibility that still another competitor to cotton looms on the postwar horizon is no joke. It demands study from those interested—as all of us in West Texas should be—in bulwarking cotton against being relegated to an unimportant place in world ecenomy.

"Fourteen of 42 persons killed in Atlanta traffic accidents this year were jaywalking." —Press report. Many a person has started across the street in the middle of the block and landed in the middle of eternity.

"I know a currently purported picture of Hitler is spurious because the ears are too large," says a London editor. Not necessarily. Hitler's ears may have grown recently through exercise. For months he has been listening instead of talking.

Breach Of Promise

THE situation was saved by Tom Beckley's opportune arrival. Jennifer hated to leave her father marooned, but her business was with her own generation and she went about it.

After a vague while, the maid Norah appeared and indicated in pantomine against the radio that dinner was ready. Hilyard gathered himself for one more effort. He went to Margaret and put his arms about her to say:

"Margaret, honey—"

She pushed his arms away with violence: "You take sides against your own wife. You're ruining our child."

"Oh, Margaret, for God's sake, snap out of it. She's what you were once. Don't be a hypocrite."

She fancied herself as a martyr, and she began to weep—not beautifully or pitifully but as a thwarted bully weeps.

"My daughter calls me a dodo; my husband calls me a hypocrite."

From the radio came the voice of a soprano singing in a young girl's voice some song of beautiful regret. It might have been Margaret's own young soul crying from the tomb. But she consented to be persuaded to the dining room. She could always eat.

* * *

AFTER dinner he made a last try: he offered Margaret a game of cards, a trip to a movie, a visit to the theater. She shook her head at everything. At last he was reminded of an imaginary business conference at the club. She laughed:

"What's her name?"

"Ah, Margaret, Meg! We were so happy once. I don't want anybody but you—the old sweet you I used to love."

She turned her head from him. "He calls me a hypocrite and says he loves me!"

He left the house without a word. The sight of lighted windows made him wonder where there was happiness and where there was empty frustration like his own. Some of the couples must be like the watches beside a coffin.

As he was passing a bright restaurant, he fell back to make way for a man and a woman who turned out to be Beckley and his wife. Len hailed him:

"Walt! Come on in and dine with us?"

"I've had my dinner, thanks," said Hilyard. "I've got some business at the club."

"A liqueur then, while we have our cocktails."

Len seized one of his arms, Sue took the other. The dining room was in carnival mood. On the dance floor among the young maniacs, many in uniform, were a few husbands and wives. Some of them were rather bulky and awkward, but they were dancing together. They were dancing! and together!

At Beckley's table a waiter pushed up a chair for Walt next to — Mrs. Drummond, of all people. He was left alone with her when all the others swung out into the current for an appetizer of a dance. He had to say something. He said:

"I'm doing you a favor by not asking you to dance. I'm very rusty."

"You'll have to prove it," she laughed and stood up. They joined the mob. He felt a fool, but a pleasant fool. He found himself laughing as he had not laughed for a long, long while. And the woman grew strangely more beautiful very moment.

Suddenly Jennifer was there with Sgt. Tom Beckley. She looked startled, frightened at the sight of her father so plainly enjoying communion with a new woman. Walt stopped dancing with a sense of gilt. Len Beckley explained for him that Walt was on his way to the club and had been dragged in against his will.

Jennifer's terror gave Walt the lift he needed. He said he must be on his way to his "business engagement." He bade Mrs. Drummond good night with formality. He was almost afraid to meet Jennifer's eyes. He thought he saw in them no reproach, but that worse look of pity.

THE club was deserted save for a few forlorn old widowers—some of whom had wives still living in what had been built for homes. The club was an orphanage for unburied and unwanted old men. Even home was better than this.

Margaret had fallen asleep in her bed with the bedside radio still crooning. He turned it off. The silence woke her. She gave him a drowsy glare, turned the radio on and went back to sleep.

He was denied that oblivion. He sought for it in the icebox. He took ice and soda and a bottle of Scotch into the dining room. He had never been a solitary drinker, but it is never too late to bend.

Walt was in such depths that his spirits could go no place but up. They took a holiday—an alcoholiday.

He had been letting Margaret make a fool of him. He would make a fool of himself from now on. He would sue her for divorce on the grounds of—of what? Of perjury. She was unfaithful to to the dear Margaret he had married. Where had she gone? Who was this woman who had taken her place?

He thought of freedom, a world full of Mrs. Drummonds. But he couldn't throw Margaret out into the cold. She was Jennifer's mother. There must be some way to bring her back to her senses—make her keep her solemn promises. He was just tottering on the brink of the solemn nonsense of promise suit when he grew too drugged for further thinking or further drinking.

He returned to his room and found the bed a trifle elusive. But he made it. His sleep was not good, and he was doubly remorseful for trying to get drunk; and for not quite succeeding.

Looking At Life ----- By Erich Brandeis

I WANT you to read this letter which I received a couple of days ago. I'll tell you afterwards why I want you to read it.

"You will be surprised to hear from one of your constant readers from the Netherlands East Indies. I always read the Hazelton paper which I get from my buddy. Your column is the most interesting in the whole paper.

"I agree so much with your article about the school principal that I just had to write. My adventures in school were much like yours. In the fifth grade in the Nanticoke Public school I had the principal for my teacher in arithmetic. At school I was sort of a continual joker and usually put the class to laughing when they should be studying the work at hand. Mr. Luzenski, the principal, very seldom punished me for this habit, but when the class failed to bring arithmetic night work, that's when he would call the pupils forward, girls or boys, and he had a nice paddle about two feet long and two inches wide (it looked much larger to me), and he would not spare the rod. It never angered me, and every time I look back upon the old times, I admire Mr. Luzenski above all my other teachers.

"I'm glad he went by the old rule 'Spare the rod and spoil the child.' A few spankings will never hurt anyone. I used to meet my favorite teacher years later in Wilkes Barre, and I was proud to shake his hand and talk of the bygone days. It's Americans like him that make America the best of countries, and that's why we are willing to fight for it.

"I never had a father to teach me right and wrong. If I could choose my own father I'd be sure to pick my old principal, paddle and all."

Now I'll tell you why I wanted you to read this letter.

A lot of you people are wondering what our boys are thinking about out there on the different fronts. A lot of you picture them as heroes and gallant knights in shining armor.

That's where you are all wrong. This letter proves it. And it's only one of many I receive.

Those kids out there don't think of post-war problems and of the Atlantic Charter and of economic rehabilitation.

They think of Hazelton and Wilkes Barre and Brookfield and Dayton and Newark and Lubbock. They think of their fathers and mothers and of their old teachers and their girls. They think of Christmas days and New Year's eves and of hayrides and picnics and baseball games.

They want their home-town paper with the personals much more than they want hifalutin' articles about what the world is going to be like after the war.

They would much rather have their mother visit them for 10 minutes than to have a whole week of Roosevelt and Churchill and Stalin, with Eden and Sidney Hilman and Eleanor thrown in for good measure.

THAT'S what they are fighting for—home, the folks, the good old corned beef and cabbage. They don't want Hitler or Hirohito to throw bombs on their baseball field in Hazelton and muss it all up. They don't Ma and Pa and Sis to get hurt by robot bombs.

It's Americans like old Mr. Luzenski they are fighting for—because it's people like him and like you and like every soldier's folks that have made this country great—and that, in the words of Sgt. Robert Bacon, from whom this letter came, is what they are fighting for.

Yes, rationing is tough. It's just too bad that we had to give up 24 points for butter and that it's so hard to get a good steak.

If I were you, though, I would not squawk too much.

Your boy in the fox-hole may be disappointed in you.

The U. S. Food Picture

Here's The "Why" Of Tightening

WASHINGTON
By J Ray Tucker

THE autocrats of the dinner tables in Washington have concealed the worst news about future food shortages. Like so many other officials in the capital, they have not yet learned that the American people will endure almost any hardships if they are told the truth about them.

The recent imposition of new rationing controls, as well as others which may be ordered, was not due entirely to military reverses and the prospect of a longer war than had been expected when restrictions were partially lifted last summer. It was based on the discovery that growing conditions have deteriorated throughout the world at a time when our expanded fighting forces and the liberated nations are making peak demands for supplies.

TUCKER

Europe, for instance, is experiencing the most damaging floods in more than 100 years. Millions of her best farm acres, including those recovered from the enemy, are under water. Had it not been for this devastation, the continent might have been self-sufficient during the present year. Now, they must still draw on the Allies for sustenance.

North Africa normally provides most of her own edibles and exports a sizeable quantity to Europe But the lack of seed, labor and machinery, plus the war's destruction, has removed this area as an important producer.

Australia's severe drouths have wiped out the possibility of large-scale production of wheat, sheep vegetables and fruits. In order to save shipping space, our men in the Pacific have been fed to a certain extent with staples drawn from Down Under. Now they will have to depend on the American farmer for their rations.

CROPS: Britain has also re-entered the food market as a heavy buyer and an American competitor. The need for improving and increasing her home and military population's dietary requirements in her sixth year of war has forced her to invade areas which once contributed to our stores.

London will purchase all surplus beef, lamb and mutton from Australia and New Zealand until June of 1948. Canada will supply almost 12 billion pounds of bacon through 1946. All exportable sugar from the dominions through 1946 will be shipped to the mother country.

These new factors mean that the United States, besides feeding her own, whose rising incomes have lifted their standards of living, must serve as quartermaster for her steadily expanding armed forces, export some surplus to our Allies under lend-lease and try to spare certain basic crops for the starving peoples if Italy, France, Greece, Belgium and now the Philippines.

WEATHER: Still another unpredictable element may darken the picture. For five years the United States has enjoyed exceptionally fine growing weather; indeed, it has seemed almost providential.

In view of the law of averages, Department of Agriculture experts are keeping their fingers crossed hoping that the sun will shine for at least another year or two.

Despite these gloomy, long-range prospects, the average American will have seven per cent more food in 1945 than he had in the 1935-1939 period. Transportation difficulties will hamper distribution. But diet, although somewhat thinner, will be ample and nutritious. There will be less meat, butter, canned goods and sugar. However, there will be plenty of milk, eggs, cereals, certain vegetables and fruits.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

A FINE break for us in the Pacific is that American troops are now fighting in the Philippines, an area inhabited by an intelligent and friendly people. But this is no fortunate accident; long ago we planted the seed now ripening.

In Luzon this will prove to be an asset even more valuable than in Leyte, as local resources and communications are superior. In many ways the situation is similar to that in France where the Maquis acted as scouts and spices as well as saboteurs for General Eisenhowers. The absence of such cooperation is felt in the Reich border towns; passive or active enmity everywhere is a menace.

LEMAN

In nearly all the other Far Eastern islands the natives helped the winning side. They did the bidding of the Japs but were equally willing to turn a hand for Yanks and Aussies.

Veterans arriving in New York say it is a far cry from the greasy, ignorant ex-cannibals of New Guinea—or even from the loyal head-hunting Nagas on the Burmese-Indian frontier—to the Filipinos. The belles of Bougainville are "terrible on the eyes" but the girls in Leyte are pretty. Many soldiers are billeted with families whose members are high school or university graduates—and know American swing music.

BATAAN: Guerillas aiding General MacArthur are not mere roving bands out for revenge and plunder as they are in the southern archipelago.

The commonwealth is divided into 10 districts. Units of about 25 men each are subject to military discipline and operate under trained officers. Some have carbines, grenades and light artillery. Others flock down from the hills armed with sharpened bambo poles, bolo knives and homemade muzzle-loading guns fashioned from water pipes.

Even while the martyrs of Bataan were holding out, resistance forces were organized to help them as much as possible. They raided Nip airfields and ambushed convoys, escaping into the wild Zambales mountains.

During the occupation they perfected their art. When we were about to land on Leyte they were very useful in reporting and removing underwater mines and obstructions spread along the beaches.

TRUSTEESHIP: In the old days European nations frequently scoffed at Americans as colonizers. We were said to put too many "highfalutin" ideas into the heads of the subject races, thus spoiling them.

But the events of this war have demonstrated that we were right. Our fairness to our Filipino friends has paid big dividends. Except for a few politicians and collaborationist merchants, the bulk of the populace has been unwaveringly loyal to the Stars and Stripes.

After the insurrection that followed our taking the islands from Spain, the United States set out to develop the Philippines in the interest of the natives. Men of high caliber—President Taft, Gen. Leonard Wood, Theodore Roosevelt jr., Secretary of War Stimson, War Manpower Commissioner McNutt, Supreme Court Justice Murphy, Francis B. Sayre, son-in-law of Woodrow Wilson—were at different times our leaders there.

We looked upon our commitment as a trusteeship. At first we permitted local self-government. When the people measured up, we released more controls. The status of a Commonwealth with a president, judiciary and legislature was granted in 1935 and a constitution was adopted by the Filipino voters.

They know now that we will keep our promise to give them independence, so they have something worth fighting for.

Why Hitler Was Brought Out To Talk Again

Unrest Stalking Nazi-land

EDITOR'S NOTE: Curt Riess, international journalist and author of such best-selling books as "The Nazis Go Underground" and "Total Espionage" which have forecast happenings inside Germany with uncanny accuracy, is in Europe on assignment from NEA Service.

* * *

By CURT REISS
Copyright, 1945, by NEA Service

LONDON—The reappearance of Adolf Hitler before the microphone and in public life after a prolonged and mysterious silence can be interpreted as meaning that things are going badly on the German home front.

More than two months ago the press in America and England started a campaign asking the whereabouts of Hitler and questioning whether he actually were still alive. When, in the face of repeated inquiries in the Allied newspapers, Hitler remained silent, many concluded that he at least was sick or mad.

What we failed to understand was that the curiosity and apprehension of the Allied press was of no concern to Goebbels and the Nazi propoganda machine. Only apprehension and anxiety among the Germans themselves would have necessitated producing Hitler. His continued silence simply meant the Germans were not anxious.

FIGHT PROPAGANDA

HOWEVER, the fact that the Allied press and radio went out on a limb suggesting the death or madness of Hitler now provides a major victory in psychological warfare for Goebbels. He can say now that the Allies always lie and falsify.

There are many indications that Goebbels is about to conduct a vigorous propaganda campaign against Allied propaganda and trustworthiness, combined with a campaign establishing Hitler as infallible and a saviour. The start of this campaign was, of course, the declaration that Hitler had the original idea for the von Rundstedt counteroffensive. This alleged fact was "proved" for Nazi home consumption by the long account of Leon Degrelle, Belgian Quisling, titled "The Fuehrer Thinks and Plans," published first by "Front und Heimat," German telegraph service for the forces' papers and reprinted in many German papers.

The story tells about his meeting with Hitler at headquarters on February 20, 1944. Though times seemed bad then, Hitler was calm, composed, optimistic, Degrelle reports. He saw the Fuehrer again in the autumn. Hitler was even more confident, also "amazingly rejuvenated," talking about Degrelle's family and the inevitable socialist revolution after the war. Finally, Degrelle says, he spoke of the war, explaining that in due time he would stage a counteroffensive, while he was now organizing strategic retreats for just that purpose. Hitler was amused about enemy claims and propaganda. Nowadays Degrelle says, "Months have passed just as the Fuehrer foresaw, and the enemy is halted in East Prussia and Aachen, and now the Fuehrer attacks."

WHILE discrediting Allied propaganda and news sources always was an important aim of Goebbels, there is no reason to believe that he would have produced Hitler and build him up all over for this reason alone. Dependable sources from inside the Reich tell me that Goebbels for about three weeks was anxious to get the Fuehrer to talk, with a gramophone recording unit waiting day and night near Hitler, till finally the New Year's speech was recorded.

At the same time Goebbels himself went all out in praise of the Fuehrer. He said Hitler is working constantly for the Germans, "spends sleepless nights, but gives the impression of almost a young man." Goebbels wrote an article in "Reich" about Hitler "standing alone in the icy loneliness of genius, and Hitler knows everything. No details are hidden from him and he has a sixth sense enabling him to see what is hidden from others. If the world really knew what his message meant and what love he possesses for his own people and for humanity, the world would surely desert false gods and worship him. Hitler is truth personified." One must know the style of Goebbels, also read his new article in the German original to understand that perhaps for the first time Goebbels is badly frightened.

FEAR REACTION

HIS analysis of Hitler's speech is another indication that things aren't going well on the German home front. Most interesting is the fact that it does not refer to the Rundstedt offensive. This does not mean, as many here believe, that the offensive has failed. It means, however, that the offensive will not live up to the expectations to which the Germans were encouraged; namely, ultimate victory. In short, Hitler is anxious to keep from arousing hopes and even reminding the Germans that such hopes were aroused only a fortnight ago, evidently fearing the reaction already setting in.

He prefers to prepare the Germans for a long war until 1946. The new motive of the German propaganda line as described above, namely, all-out attack on Allied trustworthiness, is taken up by Hitler extensively when he reminds listeners how often the Allies promised immediate victory. However, Hitler admits that something is foul inside Germany by threatening to destroy those who are unwilling to continue the war.

All this goes far towards proving that Hitler spoke because he had to, because he is the only person capable of checking rising discontent and unwillingness to continue the war.

Far East War

135 Japanese planes were destroyed or damaged, hundreds of Nipponese were killed by strafing and bombing and thousands of tons of enemy shipping were damaged in Tuesday and Wednesday sweeps of Allied fighters throughout occupied China.

Shanghai Heavily Hit

Shanghai was heavily hit, the raiders smashing Japanese airdromes there and destroying 27 fighters and 41 bombers on the ground, damaging 19 other grounded planes, and shooting one enemy fighter from the air.

These raids, tying in with four days of hammering of Japanese shipping and war facilities at China coast cities by U. S. Third fleet carrier planes, prompted Tokyo radio to concede that "it is really possible that the American forces can cross the Pacific ocean and wage battle on the China continent."

The enemy radio also broadcast unconfirmed reports that 28 China-based superforts with fighter escort raided the Hongkong and Canton sectors late Wednesday, with other B-29s making reconnaissance flights over Korea and the Tokyo and the Osaka-Kobe industrial area in Japan.

Further expressions of dissatisfaction with the war policies of Premier Kuniaki Koiso were implied in another Tokyo broadcast. It said that a plan was under consideration to create a new and powerful political party which "under a new set-up" would provide a "strong and resolute" administration to press the war.

Doimei, the Japanese news agency, announced the death of Rear Adm. Kiichiro Akamatsu last Dec. 29. He is the 83rd Nipponese admiral whose death has been reported from Tokyo since May, 1944.

The Chungking Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek predicted that governmental differences with Chinese communists would be settled peacefully. He said there would be no civil war in China while he was head of the government.

Labor Draft

terfere with operation of the Tydings act. Instead, he said, it might help agriculture keep many physically-rejected men because they would risk punishment if they left an essential job.

While "on the whole the food picture is good," he declared, the need for food and for farm labor "won't grow less in the next six months."

To help relieve the farm labor pinch, Jones disclosed, the WFA hopes to be able to import 75,000 Mexican farm workers this year.

Senator Capper (R-Kas.) called on Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director, to "clearly" inform local draft boards what action they should take in drafting farm labor.

WAR ISSUES STUMBLE

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (AP)—War stocks stumbled in today's market as the Russian drive against the Nazis gained momentum and, while there were scattered exceptions in the peace-time group, leaders dropped fractions to more than two points.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was off .3 of a point at 59.3, wiping out the recovery of the preceding session.

New 1944-45 tops were posted for Fajardo Sugar, Emerson Electric (which ended a shade under water), Third Avenue Transit, General Realty and Childs Co.

Railway bonds dipped.

Ahead in the curb were Electric Bond and Share, Niagara Hudson Power, Texon Oil and United Gas. Turnover here was 495,600 shares versus 610,195 yesterday.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18. (AP)—L. C. Akins, a Dallas, Tex., negro facing execution following a murder conviction, today protested to the supreme court that he was discriminated against because only one negro was on the grand jury which indicted him.

Akins was convicted in the death of V. L. Morris in Dallas county Sept. 15, 1941.

the stream on the north flank of the U. S. Ninth army, which already is on the river.

Strike In Fog

In this push, the British had swept up the towns of Overeind, Echt and Ophoven along the road and railway which leads south from Roermond to Allied-occupied Sittard north of Aachen.

They struck through a fog that gradually was lifting and releasing Allied airmight against the strongly dug-in German positions

British forces coming up on the right flank captured the town of Susteren, two and a half miles south of Dempsey's northernmost forces.

Associated Press Correspondent Roger Greene reported the battle had spread from this sector eastward into Germany and was nearing the town of Hongen, three miles northeast of Sittard, as Dempsey's troops battered at the enemy lines between Geilenkirchen and Roermond.

The Germans struck back on the Susteren-Maeseyck highway and were sharply repulsed, Greene said.

In two days the British had occupied six or more towns in an advance that had carried at least three and a half miles.

What is left of the once-menacing German salient in the Ardennes was being steadily reduced despite the strongest resistance and a prodigal use of tanks.

19 Tanks Destroyed

Gen. Patton's Third army, breaking up a series of enemy attacks east of Bastogne that cost the Germans 19 tanks in the last 24 hours, struck from a new quarter in Northen Luexmbourg.

Elements of the Fourth and Fifth infantry divisions broke across the Sure river near Eidkirch, 15 miles northeast of the city of Luxembourg, in the face of heavy mortar and machinegun fire.

The force of this crossing was not known but it posed an outflanking threat to the German positions passed on mountainous northern Luxembourg. Diekirch is four miles from Germany and 28 miles south of St. Vith.

Stalled At Recht

Apparently stalled for the moment at Recht, about four miles northwest of St. Vith, the U. S. First army lashed out west of this enemy communications center standing four miles from the German border.

Gen. Hodges' doughboys striking east of Vielsalm seized Burtonville, seven miles west of St. Vith, in a two-mile advance that also engulfed Petit-Thier, a mile and a half farther north.

It was resumed that Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley again had assumed command of the First as well as the Third army in his Twelfth army group. Field Marshal Bernard L. Montgomery took over the First and Ninth armies when the Germans split the American front.

east of Lodz.

In a third order of the day Stalin disclosed that Marshal K. K. Rokossovsky's Second White Russian army had captured the strong hedgehog position of Przasnycz, on the Warsaw-Konigsberg highway 53 miles north of Warsaw and 17 miles from the lower East Prussian frontier.

Rokossovsky's troops also toppled Modlin, on the west bank of the Bug-Vistula confluence 15 miles northwest of Warsaw, linking up along the Vistula with Marshal Zhukov's army which took devastated Warsaw Wednesday.

Moves To Warsaw

A Moscow broadcast said the Soviet-sponsored Lublin Polish regime already had moved to Warsaw.

Berlin denied that Marshal Konev's First Ukraine army, which had reached the Silesian frontier, had captured Krakow, Poland's fifth city, as reported Wednesday by the Lublin Polish government. But the enemy said the Russians had broken into the northern and "western" fringes of the town and were fighting in its suburban streets. This indicated that the Russians were encircling Krakow.

The German government general of Poland now has fled into Germany, dispatches through neutral countries said.

Far behind the surging tide of the three big Soviet armies Russian infantrymen and artillery chopped up elite Nazi divisions trapped last Friday by Konev's break-through in South-Central Poland.

A Moscow radio report said the German defense system is "splitting in all its seams." Declaring that "Fascist Germany is on the brink of inescapable catastrophe" the Russian broadcast said this mighty drive would "end its historic part in Berlin."

Catastrophe Hinted

"Complete chaos" was reported in German ranks. Long columns of enemy vehicles and great piles of equipment and ammunition were abandoned as the Germans fled to escape encirclement in their retreat back toward Germany.

Berlin indicated that Germany's only hope was to give up Poland and fall back hurriedly enough to escape destruction and reform ranks for a defense of eastern Germany.

"Territorial losses are immaterial," said one German commentator. "This is the moment for large-scale strategic operations with the ultimate view of breaking the grand offensive. This can only be achieved by employing large units farther to the rear at the most favorable moment when the enemy has loosened the compactness of his front through the very speed of his advance."

Although Moscow has not announced any such drive, Berlin said that Gen. Ivan Cherniakhovsky's Third White Russian army still was attacking in the eastern part of German East Prussia as a part of the enveloping move against that province. Soviet traaps last were reported about 70 miles east of Konigsberg in the Gumbinnen area.

Hay said that a breakdown of courts in the state would show that each serves an average of 30,000 people. He cited the population and enormous growth of the counties served by the 99th and 72nd courts.

Population Cited

Hockley, Cochran and Crosby, served only by the 72nd, together with Lubbock county, have, according to late 1943 estimates, a combined population of 104,856. From April 1, 1940, to Nov. 1, 1943, Hockley showed a population increase of 71.1 per cent, Cochran 42 per cent, Crosby 15.5 per cent and Lubbock county 27.9 per cent.

Members of the Hay-appointed committee to oppose the abolition are Thomas B. Duggan, jr., chairman, W. W. Campbell, George S. Berry, Charles C. Crenshaw, C. L. Harris and Hobart Nelson. Hay, G. V. Pardue and Dan Blair, presiding magistrates, respectively, of the 99th and 72nd, are ex-officio members.

Churchill's Speech

greatest American battle of the war."

American losses, he said, were at a ratio of 60 to 80 to 1 compared with the British fighting in the bulge. "Care must be taken in telling our proud tale not to claim for the British armies an undue share" of the credit for the battle, the prime minister added.

Suggesting in the current Eastern front offensive a coordination of Russian and Anglo-American military drives, the prime minister said:

"Marshal Stalin is very punctual. He would rather be before his time than late in combination with the Allies. I cannot attempt to set limits to the superb and titanic events which we are now witnessing, or their relations in every theater.

"Constant Flame" Promised

"I can only say that it is certain that the whole Eastern and Western fronts and the long front in Italy, where 27 German divisions are still held by no more than their number, will now be kept henceforth in constant flame until the final climax is reached."

He said that "military victory may yet be distant and it is certainly costly, but it is no longer in doubt."

Churchill made these other main points:

1. Yugoslavia—Britain and Russia have agreed that unless young King Peter agrees to a regency within the next few days, he will be tossed overboard.

2. Greece—Absolving Moscow of causing the troubles involving the leftist EAS forces, he declared these were Trotskyist-Communists "dirtier than the Germans."

3. Italy—The Germans will pull out or be thrown out of Italy within a few months, and the whole weight of a hungry country will be thrown upon "the fragile structure of the Italian government in Rome."

4. Britain's aims—"We seek no territory, we covet no oil fields, we demand no bases for the forces of the air or of the sea. We do not set ourselves up in rivalry or bigness with any other community in the world. We have given and shall continue to give everything we have. We ask nothing in return except that consideration and respect which is our due.

Cites Principle

5. Goals for freed small nations —"We have but one principle about the liberated countries or the repentant satellite countries which we strive for according to the best of our ability and resources. Here is the principle:

" 'Government of the people, by the people, for the people set up on a basis of free universal suffrage, and elections with secrecy of ballot and no intimidations.' "

6. Forthcoming "Big Three" conference—"I have great hopes of this conference, because it comes at a moment when a good many moulds can be set out to receive a great deal of moulten metal, and also at the moment when direct advance may be made towards the larger problems which will confront the victors, above all advance to that world organization upon which, as we all know, the salvation of our harassed generation and the immediate future of the world depends.

Mexico Receives Fifteen Answers

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 18 (U.P.) — Fifteen countries have accepted the Mexican government's invitation to the forthcoming inter-American conference in Mexico City.

In sending acceptance, Panama added a recommendation that point four of the agenda—consideration of the Pan-American Union's resolution on Argentina—"be made sufficiently broad to cover other measures of general and immediate interest to the governments participating."

The foreign ministry announced it will formulate the general themes which the conference will discuss on the basis of opinions received from the various governments accompanying their acceptances.

Themes Announced

The ministry said these will be:

1. Supplementary measures to achieve cooperation in the war effort until final victory.
2. Examination of the problems relative to the international organization for the maintenance of peace and security; furtherance of the present inter-american system and its coordination with the world organization.
3. Consideration of the economic and social problems of America with the fundamental view of raising living standards for the benefit of the economic and social conditions of the peoples.

Foreign office spokesmen said that in event of application for postponement of the opening date, Feb. 15, all participating countries would have to be consulted before it would be decided.

Fewer Steaks To Be On Restaurant Menus

DALLAS, Jan. 18 (U.P.)—More stews and casserole dishes and fewer steaks may be on Texas restaurant menus shortly, Pat. D. Moreland of Austin, general manager of the State Restaurant association, said today.

Moreland's statement came at a meeting of the association's board convened in Dallas to discuss effects of recent tightening of rationing regulations. He said that shortages would call for many changes in menus by food dispensers just as they did for housewives.

Mrs. Donald Nelson Files Divorce Suit

CHICAGO, Jan. 18. (AP)—Charging desertion, Mrs. Helen W. Nelson filed suit for divorce in superior court yesterday against Donald M. Nelson, former chairman of the War Production Board and one time Sears, Roebuck & Co. executive.

Mrs. Nelson charged that Nelson, 56, who has held several governmental positions since 1934, deserted her on Dec. 15, 1940. They were married on Dec. 18, 1926.

Nelson, who resigned in 1943 as executive vice president of the mail order house to become WPB chairman, left that post last fall after returning from a trip to China as a special representative of President Roosevelt to study production problems.

Two-Thirds Of U. S. Public Thinks Victory In Europe Over Six Months Removed

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Jan. 18. — A great many Americans have recently made some sharp revisions in their thinking about how long it will take us to lick the Nazis.

In a survey made since the first of the new year and reflecting the still uncertain news from the war fronts, the Institute finds that about two-thirds of those questioned think it will take more than six months before the war with Germany ends.

GALLUP

By way of comparison, back in November fewer than one-third felt the war would last more than six months.

In September, when optimism was very high, as many as two-thirds thought it would take only three months or less to finish the war. Only seven per cent, or one in 14, thought the European war would last more than six months.

All of this is not to say that American confidence in ultimate victory has been shaken. A survey taken at the same time as that on the length of the war finds nine out of every ten with opinions thinking there is no chance of our losing the war with Germany. Five per cent had no opinion.

HERE for comparison are replies given in September, November, and today, in answer to the question:

"How much longer do you think the war with Germany will last?"

Think War Will Last	Sept.	Nov.	Today
3 months or less	67%	28%	4%
4-5 months	11	9	4
6 months	9	26	19
More than 6 months	7	28	64
No Opinion	6	9	9

For those interested in a more detailed breakdown on the present survey: Eight per cent say they think it will be seven to eight months before the war's end in Europe, eight per cent more say nine to 11 months, 32 per cent place the time at on year, 62 per cent say over one and including two years, four per cent say over two years.

Included in the present survey was this question:

"Do you think there is any chance that we will lose the war in Europe?"

The replies:

Yes	9%
No	86
Uncertain	5
