PRACTICE MAKEUP

This Oklahoma reformatory "honor girl" is experimenting with big rouge so she'll have the job done put by the time of the big party.

By The AP Feature Service

TECUMSEH, Okla., July 13—Romance is coming to the Oklahoma State Training school for girls—and excited inmates are getting ready to welcome it.

With fresh curtains and finger-waves, new dresses and makeup, 30 "honor girls" are preparing for their first party night, July 16.

Provide Experience

Mrs. Creighton Burnham, school superintendent, said the parties—which may become monthly affairs—are being given to provide the girls with "social experience" against their dismissal from the school. All 30 are more than 16.

Boys wishing to attend must present references.

The girls will make their own refreshments—cake and ice cream—as well as their dresses.

There will be dancing for those who like it, games and fudge-making for the others. The party house will be a rambling one-story brick cottage which has a spacious parlor.

WAY TO A MAN'S HEART . . . This "honor girl," figuring that a man never frowns on a good cook, puts up preserves for the gala night.

North Pole Is Left Behind By Russians

Three Men Hurdle Cyclone And Fight Through Snowstorm To Speed Closer To Frisco

(By The Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, July 13 — Three Soviet airmen raced southward over desolate northern Canada today on Russia's second epic Moscow-to-San Francisco flight.

Hurdling over a cyclone and fighting through a snowstorm, the big single motored monoplane crossed safely over the north pole last night, and early today flew over Great Bear lake.

Message Is Received

A radio message at 7:21 a. m., Eastern standard time, breaking through static which shut out listening United States army signal corps stations in the United States and Alaska, reported "everything ok" as the plane flew over McKenzie territory about 1,400 miles south of the pole. The message was intercepted by the Canadian signal corps.

Army officers estimated the plane's speed at approximately 120 miles an hour, far above that of the preceding Russian plane which landed at Vancouver, Wash., about 700 miles short of its goal.

Soar Through Storms

Soaring through storms and a cyclone area where terrific winds buffeted the plane, the fliers crossed the north pole at 4:14 p. m., yesterday (6:15 p. m., C. S. T.), less than 24 hours after leaving Moscow.

The airmen—Pilot Mikhail Gromoff; Co-Pilot Andrei Yumosheff, and Navigator Sergei Danilin—followed a trail blazed three weeks ago by three countrymen in a similar plane who flew approximately 5,400 miles to Vancouver, Wash.

The present flight, plotted for San Francisco, may end either here or at some other Pacific coast city, depending on weather conditions and fuel consumption aboard the plane, which has a single wing 154 feet from tip to tip, and is powered by one motor developing more than 1,000 horsepower.

Roar Over Bleak Wastes

More than 8,800 feet in the air to escape snow and a cyclone area, the plane soared over the polar region and out across the bleak ice cap for the northern Canadian shores, 1,500 miles southward.

The fliers planned to follow a

Bombers Take Up Burden To Half Drive

Big Swords Of Chinese Flash In Hand-To-Hand Fighting; Airdrome Bombed Today

(By The Associated Press)

PEIPING, China, July 13—Five Japanese bombers, Chinese sources reported today, bombed the Nanyuan barracks and airdrome eight miles south of this ancient city.

The report was not at once confirmed.

The aerial attack, according to the Chinese informants, occurred between three and four p. m. (1 and 2 a. m., C. S. T.)

The report first became known here late in the day, delayed because telephone communications with Nanyuan were cut during today's fighting.

Forced To Retreat

Gen. Sung Cheh-Yuan's 29th Chinese route army today forced a heavily supported detachment of Japanese troops to retreat toward their Pengtai base after they had been driven back on Peiping's southern wall in two hours of hand-to-hand fighting.

The big swords of the Chinese infantry clashed in the sultry noon sunshine with the bayonets of the Japanese at the strategic railway bridge a half mile south of the walls.

The Japanese formed one of the advance units of a reported 10,000 troops being rushed to the North China battle area from Manchoukuo, the state Japan carved out of Chinese Manchuria.

Planes Are Ordered

Reliable foreign sources declared 100 Japanese warplanes flew over Shanhaikwan, on the border of Manchoukuo and Hopeh province, en route yesterday to the scene of action.

The Japanese detachment was advancing on the Nanyuan airdrome and barracks, eight miles south of Peiping, when they were met half way by Chinese troops and gradually driven back on the southern wall before they turned and retreated toward Pengtai, seven miles to the west.

Before wheeling toward Pengtai, the Japanese headquarters and base in the Peiping battle area, they made a determined stand at the railway bridge. Heavy casualties were reported suffered by both sides.

Railway Tracks Torn Up

As they retreated, the Japanese were reported to have torn up the railways tracks, halting train ser-

Navy Prepares Final Search

(By The Associated Press)

HONOLULU, July 13—The greatest air force ever assembled for a mid-Pacific search—53 planes—was fueled today to skim along the equator in the navy's last efforts to find Amelia Earhart, missing 11 days in one of the world's loneliest regions.

If weather conditions are favorable the planes will zoom from the aircraft carrier Lexington's deck to survey an area of 36,000 square miles centering about bleak Howland island, which the aviatrix and her navigator, Frederick J. Noonan, missed on a flight from New Guinea.

Search Is Delayed

Officials said the giant carrier, expected to reach the search area by dawn, was hampered last night by a tropical storm which might delay the aerial search.

An area 60 miles wide and 600 miles long extending north and south from Howland was mapped for the first day's survey in the hitherto fruitless search, which has seen hopes of rescue practically vanish.

Romantic Story Of Associated Press Will Be Seen In New Film, "Freedom Of The Press"

(By The Associated Press)

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., July 13.—"Freedom Of The Press," a film depicting the history of the Associated Press and the part it has played in the development of the free American press, will go into production immediately, it was announced by David O. Selznick, president of the Selznick International Pictures, Inc.

"The story of the Associated Press has been the procession of world history, the birth and death of kings, the fury of wars, the lightning strike of catastrophes, historic political battles, and of unsung heroes who got the story, no matter what the cost," Selznick said.

"It is a story yet to be told, which under the title, 'Freedom Of The Press,' soon is to take living form on the screen."

Producer Selznick said the motion picture will describe the Associated Press at its beginning in 1848. It will show the growth of the non-profit cooperative association into the largest news-gathering organization in the world. It will be, in effect, a cavalcade of American journalism in all of its romantic and exciting aspects.

"The picture will present a truthful outline of the nature of the Associated Press and its firm development of the principle of unbiased news," Selznick said.

Hitherto unpublished records to authenticate the production will be made available by the Associated Press, of which approximately 1,400 newspapers in this country alone are members.

The Associated Press makes no profit and does not sell its news. It is a news-gathering and distributing organization, mutually owned by its member newspapers. And motivated by one purpose only — to provide

Judge Assesses Heavy Fines After Officers Convicted Of Contempt

(By The Associated Press)

RAYMONDVILLE, July 13—County Judge W. E. McCharen today fined State Ranger Power Penner and Game Warden Morgan Miller $50 for contempt of court in a case growing out of investigation of the mysterious disappearance of Luther and John Blanton.

LAMADRID

A fine of $50 was also assessed against the Willacy county sheriff's department on the same charge. Judge McCharen said the department could pay the fine, or it could be paid jointly by Sheriff H. T. Cragg and Jailer Mallie Brownfield. They, with Penner and Miller, were found guilty of contempt yesterday in the arrest of Louis Lamadrid, deputy constable appointed by the Willacy county commissioners' court to press an investigation of the disappearance of the Blanton men.

Jail Terms Remitted

Judge McCharen also assessed a three-day jail sentence against Penner and Miller, but remitted it. Three days in jail is the maximum for the offense with which they were charged. The maximum fine is $100. Attorneys for all the defendants gave notice of appeal to the court of criminal appeals at Austin.

McCharen called Penner and Miller before the court and reminded them that a sub-machine gun had been displayed to him (McCharen) in the county courthouse Sunday. Penner, upon questioning, denied that the weapon had been displayed in order to intimidate McCharen.

Allowed To Make Bond

The four defendants were allowed to make bond of $1,500.

Only a small group of spectators were in court today in contrast to yesterday's crowd. Today's proceedings were marked by the presence of heavily armed officers, but the tension of yesterday had subsided.

Eight months ago Luther Blanton and his son, San Perlita farmers, went hunting in a game preserve near the former King ranch. They failed to return. Rangers and civilians found no trace of them. The rangers have never retired from the case.

Arrested Last Week

Last week Lamadrid, generally believed to have been sent here to investigate the mystery, was arrested by Penner on a charge of carrying a pistol without a permit. He was charged in Brownsville.

Released on bond after being taken to Brownsville, Lamadrid was rearrested on a charge of impersonating an officer. His attorney, A.

Income Tax Returns Of FDR's Son Demanded By Republican

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 13—Rep. Treadway (R-Mass) demanded today that James Roosevelt, son of the president, submit to a congressional tax committee his income tax returns for a five-year period during which he was in the insurance business.

The committee, however, refused to press the demand, deciding to take it up later in closed session.

Appears Before Group

Young Roosevelt, now serving his father as secretary, entered the insurance business in 1930. He appeared before the committee somewhat unexpectedly today and denied a suggestion of Rep. Fish (R-NY) that he had had an interest in a personal holding company in the Bahamas.

Treadway sought to question Roosevelt about the names of some of his insurance clients. Rep. Vinson (D-Ky) objected. The Massachusetts member then asked him to submit the returns.

"I shall be glad to," Roosevelt replied.

Hoped To Avoid It

Treadway said he had hoped to avoid making the request. Vinson interrupted him to assert that "even the gentleman from Massachusetts shouldn't be so dumb—"

The remainder of his remarks was lost as he and Treadway roared at one another and Doughton rapped for order.

The committee then decided to settle the matter in the privacy of a closed session.

Senator LaFollette (Prog-Wis) said he assumed young Roosevelt would have no objection to examination of his tax returns.

Has No Objection

"None whatsoever," the witness answered. Shortly afterward he left the hearing room.

Fish suggested to the committee last week that it examine the income tax of the president's son to see whether he had any interest in a personal holding company in the Baham Islands. Fish said a Mr. Darbyy of New York City had come to him with a statement that he had a photostatic copy of information pertaining to such a holding company.

Roosevelt told reporters he did not know Darby.

North-Central Kansas Streams Recede After Minor Damage

CLAY CENTER, Kas., July 13 (AP)—North-central Kansas streams, sent out of their banks by heavy downpours yesterday receded today leaving only minor damage.

Floodwater reaching the Rock Island depot at Keats damaged tracks between there and Manhattan. A near-cloudburst washed out 90 feet of Union Pacific track between Clay Center and Wakefield.

Nearly eight inches of rain near Stockdale sent streams into lowlands and washed away much shocked wheat.

Today, officials announced they had

Lengthened a bed in a special cell for him.

AUSTIN, July 13 (AP)—Lt. Gov. Walter F. Woodul of Houston today spiked reports he would be a candidate for governor next summer and reiterated his intention to run for attorney general.

"I do, however, have and have had for some time the ambition to serve the people of Texas as their attorney general. At the proper time I will announce for and be in the race for attorney general. This is definite."

"Clothed Nudity" Adds Nothing To The Heat Wave In Gotham

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, July 13—"Clothed nudity," successor to burlesque, added nothing to Gotham's heat wave today.

On the contrary, the lobbies of the reopened palaces of the late strip tease were among the cooler spots of the city. Departing audiences spilled frigidity all over the place. They had been left cold.

Inside the theaters, talented young women variety performers smiled and kicked to the old burlesque band music against a backdrop of larger, more statuesque girls, nude from the waist up.

License Commissioner Paul Moss, who ended burlesque here on May 1 by refusing to renew licenses, issued three-months permits to three ex-burlesque theaters yesterday, virtually putting the theater operators "on their honor" to keep their shows clean. There was no code.

Theater managers stressed the propriety of the perfarmances. The show girls didn't move, they pointed out.

Observers noticed the audi-

Quick Passage Being Sought By President

Chairman Jones Declares That His Committee Can Make No Promise Of Early Action

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 13—Immediate passage of the "ever normal" granary system and broad crop control legislation appeared uncertain today despite a recommendation from President Roosevelt.

Chairman Jones (D-Tex) of the house agriculture committee, said he agreed with the president's views, but added:

Can Make No Promise

"We can make no promise that the program will be enacted at this session."

Jones said his committee will continue to work for passage. He emphasized, however, success will depend largely on the length of time congress remains in session after the senate court debate ends.

Mr. Roosevelt sent letters to house and senate committees yesterday, asking sympathetic consideration of three objectives.

"First, to the continuation of the present agricultural conservation program as the foundation of the long-time plan.

Assurance Of Abundance

"Second, for the assurance of abundance for consumers by storage of substantial reserves of food for use in years of crop failure.

"Third, for protection of farm prices and farm income.

"It is my theory that the time to repair a roof is when the sun is shining," the president said.

"Though the situation at the moment is excellent, we have no safeguard even in the year 1938 against the great danger of loss of income due to drouth, or against the equally great danger of low prices."

Hearings Are Held

The house committee, Jones pointed out, has held hearings on the proposed "agricultural adjustment act of 1937" sponsored by the American Farm Bureau Federation and endorsed in principle by Secretary Wallace.

It provides for the granary system, production control through a marketing quota system, and payments from the treasury to supplement farm incomes when prices fell below a "fair" level.

Jones, expressing opposition to compulsory production control, said he was writing into the bill a program to give the farmers "maximum control."

Crops Of 1937 Valued High

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, July 13—Market experts estimated today the 1937 harvest of principal grains, including the nation's first two billion dollar corn crop since 1929, would be worth almost $4,000,000,000.

Timely rains in the midst of the heat wave have contributed to almost ideal growing conditions for corn, the farmer's greatest money crop. The market valuation of corn, and the other major grains, wheat, oats and rye—was figured at more than $3,500,000,00.

Eight-Year High

The valuation was based on Chicago prices for grain deliverable in the fall and winter and on the most recent official forecasts of production, both subject to change.

The prospective yield of 2,571,-851,000 bushels of corn would top last year's crop by more than a billion bushels and would be the biggest since 1932.

Higher Than Year Ago

Nevertheless, the current price of corn deliverable here in September is 31 cents a bushel higher than a year ago while December delivery corn is 6 cents higher. At 80 cents, December, the 1937 corn crop would be worth approximately $2y,057,500,000. This price is the highest for new corn at this time of growth in eight years.

The biggest wheat crop since 1931, estimated at 882,287,000 bushels, would have a valuation of $1,058,-750,000 if sold at around $1.20, which is slightly below current prices for all deliveries in Chicago. The price is the highest for wheat at this time of year since 1929.

Parts Of Nation Gain Relief In Heat Wave

(By The Associated Press)

Showers and clouded skies relieved a large part of the nation today from the scorching temperatures of a week-long heat wave.

Meteorologist J. R. Lloyd at Chicago said more rain was expected today but that the plains states probably would be dry and warm tomorrow.

Mercury Soars Again

New York and New England states were cooler but temperatures soared again in South Atlantic states.

An Associated Press survey showed at least 357 persons in 25 states died from causes attributable to the prolonged heat wave. New York led with a total of 68. New Jersey had 40 and Connecticut 38.

In Chicago two heavy downpours yesterday sent temperatures down 15 degrees from the day's high of 86.

Deaths By States

Heat deaths by states were:

New York 68; New Jersey 40; Connecticut 38; Pennsylvania 27; Michigan 20; Illinois 21; Massachusetts 17; Ohio 15; Wisconsin 11; Rhode Island and Indiana 10 each; Maine 6; Minnesota, Kansas, Maryland and Virginia 5 each; West Virginia, District of Columbia, Tennessee and Kentucky 4 each; Iowa and Nebraska 3 each and Georgia, Missouri and South Carolina 1 each.

Jap Visitor Is Peace Lover

The Chinese-Japanese war pot has slight interest for an affable peace-loving Japanese visitor here, Dr. G. T. Akamatsu, who is more interested in medical science than in the bickering of Asiatic races.

America is "independent," he said, with a widespread gesture. "I don't believe in this fighting business," he said.

The root of the Chinese-Japanese trouble is in China's hugeness and its failure to recognize Manchoukuo's independence, Dr. Akamatsu said, he believes.

Might Be Hindrance

"Does warfare hinder progress of his country?

"It hinders Manchoukuo's progress," and "it might" be a hindrance to Japan, he said.

Coming to Texas with high references, Dr. Akamatsu, of small stature with a responsive, friendly personality, is seeking association with a Texas hospital. Texas had been recommended to him by his brother, who studied at Southern Methodist university in Dallas.

Graduate Of Emory

The doctor is a graduate of Emory university school of medicine at Atlanta, Ga., and served a year's internship at Columbus, Ga.

He visited Lubbock sanitarium here and watched an operation this morning. Everywhere in America and particularly in Texas he has found friendliness, he said.

He has no intention of returning to Japan. If he does he will need "a pull," he said with a grin. "Don't you think it's the same way here?"

Methods Are Same

Japanese and American medical methods are the same, he said. The only difference he knows is that knowledge of the German language

Al Smith Says He Will Not Be Candidate For Mayor

NEW YORK, July 13 (AP)—Former Governor Alfred E. Smith, returning from Europe last week, said he would not be a candidate for mayor on the Democratic ticket.

Foundation Of Peasant Class In America Is Predicted

COLLEGE STATION, July 13. (AP)—Differences in educational opportunities between urban and rural areas, in the opinion of Dr. A. W. Birdwell of Nacogdoches, may found a peasant class in America.

Dr. Birdwell, president of the state teachers association, made the point today in opening the annual conference of county superintendents and county supervisors at Texas A. & M. college.

"Rural areas," he said, "have less than three adults to support each school child, compared to four adults for each child in urban communities."

Dr. Birdwell declared the remedy lay in additional appropriations by state and federal governments.

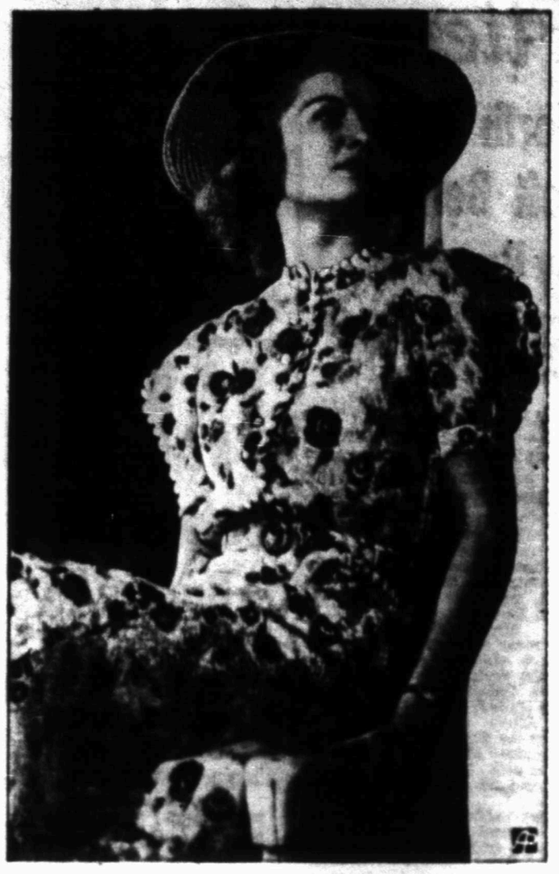

More than 90 registered for the opening session, including L. A. Woods, state superintendent of public instruction, who will speak tomorrow afternoon.

GARNISH SHOULD FLAVOR

A true garnish supplies flavor and appeals to the eye. Serve slices of lemon with fish, slices of lemon or orange with iced tea, chopped parsley as a topping for cooked potatoes, rice or macaroni and green pepper or pimiento strips on the top of potato salad.

Going To Aid Of Sick Dogs Is More Of Hobby Than A Habit

Going to the aid of sick dogs has grown from a "habit to a hobby" for Dr. Fred G. Harbaugh, associate professor of animal husbandry and veterinarian at Texas Technological college.

Dr. Harbaugh said a clinic he maintains at his residence at 3519 Twenty-first street is "not a hospital," as it is commonly called. Dogs taken there are not "hospitalized," he said, but simply "treated and sent back home." Dogs are brought from distances as far as Hobbs and Eunice, N. M. and are often sent here from all points on the South Plains.

Should Limit Diets

The summer diets of dogs should be more limited than in the winter, the professor said. Change of food is not nearly so essential as the limitation of it. Starch foods such as breads and potatoes should be eliminated from Fido's diet. Dog biscuits alone will give dogs fits, Dr. Harbaugh said.

Much of a dog's diet should consist of meat. Raw meat should be given to the dog three or four times a week. Cooked oatmeal is good morning food and table scraps are "okay" if they do not have small bones in them, Harbaugh said.

Cause Of Rabies

Both rabies and "running fits" are caused by an improper diet of the canine. Malnutrition and lack of fresh water are the contributing factors to fits among dogs on the South Plains, Dr. Harbaugh said. A fit is the sign of a "stomach ache" in the canine family, he said. These stomach aches are accompanied by nausea.

Shearing of dogs often brings satisfaction to the owners but it is not necessary "lots of times," Dr. Harbaugh said. Often short cutting of hair causes the animal to be blistered instead of getting relief.

The most common ailment among South Plains dogs is broken legs, Dr. Harbaugh said. Treatment of fractures is given at Harbaugh's clinic. Another common ailment found in dogs, he said, was distemper caused by virose poisoning. Vaccinations now are given to combat the disturbance. Tapeworms are caused from dogs swallowing fleas. Dr. Harbaugh termed that disease as one of the most dangerous among the canine family. Coal tar disinfectants are not good for dogs, but flea soaps are the most effective, he said. Killing biting insects in dog houses is the most logical way of ridding dogs of "pesky" fleas and lice, the veterinarian said.

OWN MORE LAND

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—State agriculture authorities have noted a great increase in the number of farm owners and a corresponding decrease in tenants during the past half-decade in Texas.

Landowners increased by more than 20,000 while tenants decreased by at least 15,000.

The change is attributed to government loans.

AIR BREAD BOX OFTEN

Summer calls for diligent cleaning and airing of bread and cooky boxes, pantry and cupboard shelves and refrigerators. Since bread molds easily in the summer, it is best to buy just enough for each day's needs.

Flood Funds To Be Given

WASHINGTON, July 13. (AP)—Chairman Jesse H. Jones of the reconstruction corporation said today the lending agency would advance about $50,000 to repair flood damage near Albuquerque, N. M.

Jones told his press conference the money would be used for building, drainage and similar projects in the middle Rio Grande conservancy district.

RFC officials assured the New Mexico congressional delegation today of their cooperation in a program to readjust the financial affairs of the district.

Care For Emergency

After a conference with Chairman Jones and Director Henderson, Senator Carl Hatch issued this statement:

"We were assured that all emergency matters in connection with the district would be taken care of immediately.

"Mr. Jones and Mr. Henderson have agreed to cooperate with the New Mexico delegation in working out the problems of the district on a permanent basis looking toward a complete readjustment of its financial affairs.

"The New Mexico delegation is of the opinion that a permanent solution of the problems will have to come through cooperative effort between the RFC and the bureau of reclamation. As a result further conferences are to be held."

Attending today's conference at the RFC, besides Hatch, were Senator Dennis Chavez, and Representative John J. Dempsey, and W. C. Oeftriech and R. H. Hanna, chief engineer and attorney, respectively, for the conservancy district.

Gets The Bird

A peck of trouble was in store for this bluejay when it came around for its morning drink "on the house" in a Seattle residential neighborhood. For several weeks householders found tops of their milk bottle punctured, the cream drained off. Then one of the victims rigged a fake bottle so it would photograph the culprit in the act—and here is the picture of the guilty bird!

Hopes Of Property Owners For Substantial Tax Reduction Hiked

Allred Favors Cut In Rates

AUSTIN, July 13 (AP)—Hopes of property owners for a substantial reduction in the state ad valorem tax for school purposes rocketed considerably today as Gov. James V. Allred announced he would vote for such a cut.

"I will join Comptroller George H. Sheppard in slashing the rate to the amount necessary to purchase textbooks," the governor said. That would mean a reduction from the present 20 cents to around seven cents on the $100 valuation.

Allred and Sheppard constitute a majority of the automatic tax board, which will fix the rate within the next few weeks. The other member is State Treasurer Charley Lockhart.

Had To Reduce Rate

The comptroller said yesterday his construction of the law was that the board had to reduce the rate unless retention of the present figure was necessary to pay a $17.50 per capita school aid apportionment. Statisticians had estimated income from the 20 cent rate would be sufficient to pay a $22 apportionment.

The board of education voted last week to raise the apportionment from $19 to $22 per school age child.

"We all have been advocating ad valorem tax relief," Allred said, "and this is our only chance to get it. The schools of Texas have had the most liberal treatment in history during my administration. They should have been content with a $19 or $20 apportionment."

The governor suggested that property owners desiring tax relief communicate with members of the tax board.

Fun, But Don't Get Rattled

Sneaking up on a snake looks easy the way Oklahomans did it in Blaine county's annual rattlesnake hunt recently. First, find a rattler and pin him down with a forked stick. Then, as Mark Garvey, champion hunter, demonstrates at right in top photo, grab the reptile just back of the head. Lifting the snake's rock shelter with his stick is Fred Bennett. To show off your prize, especially a nine-rattler, take a hint from John Garvey, lower left, and wear leather gloves. But, according to Maxine Bennett, lower right, Mr. Snake is still a public menace until he's in the bag.

Mountain Climbers Risk Their Lives To Save Another Man

SEATTLE, July 13 (AP)—Mountain climbers, risking in the darkness a 1,600-foot plunge into oblivion, Monday rescued Joseph G. Halwax, 28, from a ledge near the peak of 6,070-foot Mount Index and brought him to Seattle in a critical condition.

Halwax was badly injured when he slipped on the steep north face of the mountain and narrowly escaped plunging to death with two companions, Scott Osborne and Stanley King, to whom he was linked with a rope.

Seventeen mountain climbers worked their way up the sheer north face in an all night rescue expedition, lowered Halwax 1,600 feet to the bottom of the sheer face and then down four miles of steep timber covered slopes to a waiting ambulance which brought him 60 miles to Seattle.

City Plant To Be Enlarged

Enlargement of the city electric plant as soon as equipment can be delivered was assured Monday afternoon by award of a contract at a recessed meeting of the city commission to Nordberg Manufacturing company of Milwaukee to purchase a 2,250 horsepower Diesel engine on a bid of $132,074.

Payment will be made out of the earnings of the electric plant, a specific provision of the contract of sales being that money derived from taxation is perpetually exempt from liability.

The bid, according to tabulations submitted to the commission, was approximately $6,600 lower on a horsepower basis than any of the others submitted.

Only Two Bidders

However, only two bidders sought the contract. One by Busch-Sulzer Bros. Diesel Engine company of St. Louis, submitted proposals on two engines, while the Nordberg company offered four engines ranging in horsepower from 1,800 to 2,625. Amounts of bids for various types of engines ranged from $116,898 for those of lowest horsepower to approximately $151,000 for the highest.

Charles B. Trimble of Dallas, Texas representative of the company, said that delivery of the engine can be made in about six months. The machinery will be of the type to use crude oil as fuel, but parts are to be supplied which will enable it to consume natural gas. The parts to convert it to a gas burner will be delivered, Trimble said, within six weeks or two months after it has been delivered ready for use as an oil burner.

Will Increase Capacity

The machinery city officials were informed, will increase the capacity of the electric plant by approximately 15 per cent, and will mean electrical service for approximately 1,000 more patrons than now possible. The unit will be housed in a building now under construction at the power plant.

Commissioners also discussed and then declined to authorize the issuance of a building permit for a bakery planned for construction at Fifteenth street and Avenue Q in violation of what were described as being terms of the present building code. R. H. Bean, attorney, said that the bakery company wants permission to build to the sidewalk line in the block. Commissioners were informed that the building code forbids the building of a business structure beyond the line established by residence property in the affected block unless more than 50 per cent of the property owners in the block are agreeable. In the particular case, the required percentage of property owners have refused to waive the protection of the building ordinance, members of the commission were told.

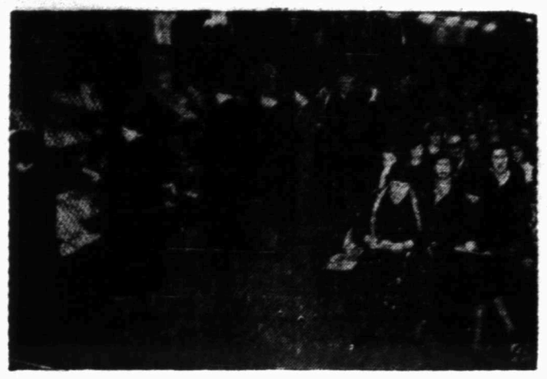

More Than 60 Cars Of Wheat Are Shipped From Muleshoe

MULESHOE, July 13 (Special)—More than 60 cars of wheat have been shipped from here and local grain men estimate 125 cars in all will be shipped.

Normal goats are able to produce 500 gallons of milk annually, the average production of the average dairy cow.

For Bargains, Try A Post Office Auction

AUCTION SALES by the U. S. postal department attract housewives, second-hand dealers, speculators—anyone who enjoys trying to get cheaply such items as 26 left-foot shoes or a second-hand christening set. This auction was held in Chicago. Some folks are inspecting goods lost between sender and addressee, while others check sales lists. The post office guarantees nothing, takes back nothing.

SHALL I BID? To join the fun, this gentleman has to raise his numbered paddle. But he can't make up his mind—maybe the folks are bidding on 20 pounds of egg noodles.

COUNT ME IN. Whatever's on the block (six toy guns, perhaps, or 482 dress weights), this man is sure he wants it. His upraised paddle means he's jumping the previous bid by 50 cents.

Foundation Of Peasant Class In America Is Predicted

COLLEGE STATION, July 13. (AP)—Differences in educational opportunities between urban and rural areas, in the opinion of Dr. A. W. Birdwell of Nacogdoches, may found a peasant class in America.

Dr. Birdwell, president of the state teachers association, made the point today in opening the annual conference of county superintendents and county supervisors at Texas A. & M. college.

"Rural areas," he said, "have less than three adults to support each school child, compared to four adults for each child in urban communities."

Dr. Birdwell declared the remedy lay in additional appropriations by state and federal governments.

More than 90 registered for the opening session, including L. A. Woods, state superintendent of public instruction, who will speak tomorrow afternoon.

Going To Aid Of Sick Dogs Is More Of Hobby Than A Habit

Going to the aid of sick dogs has grown from a "habit to a hobby" for Dr. Fred G. Harbaugh, associate professor of animal husbandry and veterinarian at Texas Technological college.

Dr. Harbaugh said a clinic he maintains at his residence at 3519 Twenty-first street is "not a hospital," as it is commonly called. Dogs taken there are not "hospitalized," he said, but simply "treated and sent back home." Dogs are brought from distances as far as Hobbs and Eunice, N. M. and are often sent here from all points on the South Plains.

Should Limit Diets

The summer diets of dogs should be more limited than in the winter, the professor said. Change of food is not nearly so essential as the limitation of it. Starch foods such as breads and potatoes should be eliminated from Fido's diet. Dog biscuits alone will give dogs fits, Dr. Harbaugh said.

Much of a dog's diet should consist of meat. Raw meat should be given to the dog three or four times a week. Cooked oatmeal is good morning food and table scraps are "okay" if they do not have small bones in them, Harbaugh said.

Cause Of Rabies

Both rabies and "running fits" are caused by an improper diet of the canine, Malnutrition and lack of fresh water are the contributing factors to fits among dogs on the South Plains, Dr. Harbaugh said. A fit is the sign of a "stomach ache" in the canine family, he said. These stomach aches are accompanied by nausea.

Shearing of dogs often brings satisfaction to the owners but it is not necessary "lots of times," Dr. Harbaugh said. Often short cutting of hair causes the animal to be blistered instead of getting relief.

The most common ailment among South Plains dogs is broken legs, Dr. Harbaugh said. Treatment of fractures is given at Harbaugh's clinic. Another common ailment found in dogs, he said, was distemper caused by virose poisoning. Vaccinations now are given to combat the disturbance. Tapeworms are caused from dogs swallowing fleas. Dr. Harbaugh termed that disease as one of the most dangerous among the canine family. Coal tar disinfectants are not good for dogs, but flea soaps are the most effective, he said. Killing biting insects in dog houses is the most logical way of ridding dogs of "pesky" fleas and lice, the veterinarian said.

OWN MORE LAND

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—State agriculture authorities have noted a great increase in the number of farm owners and a corresponding decrease in tenants during the past half-decade in Texas.

Landowners increased by more than 20,000 while tenants decreased by at least 15,000.

The change is attributed to government loans.

Flood Funds To Be Given

WASHINGTON, July 13. (AP)—Chairman Jesse H. Jones of the reconstruction corporation said today the lending agency would advance about $50,000 to repair flood damage near Albuquerque, N. M.

Jones told his press conference the money would be used for building, drainage and similar projects in the middle Rio Grande conservancy district.

RFC officials assured the New Mexico congressional delegation today of their cooperation in a program to readjust the financial affairs of the district.

Care For Emergency

After a conference with Chairman Jones and Director Henderson, Senator Carl Hatch issued this statement:

"We were assured that all emergency matters in connection with the district would be taken care of immediately.

"Mr. Jones and Mr. Henderson have agreed to cooperate with the New Mexico delegation in working out the problems of the district on a permanent basis looking toward a complete readjustment of its financial affairs.

"The New Mexico delegation is of the opinion that a permanent solution of the problems will have to come through cooperative effort between the RFC and the bureau of reclamation. As a result further conferences are to be held."

Attending today's conference at the RFC, besides Hatch, were Senator Dennis Chavez, and Representative John J. Dempsey, and W. C. Oeftriech and R. H. Hanna, chief engineer and attorney, respectively, for the conservancy district.

Hopes Of Property Owners For Substantial Tax Reduction Hiked

Allred Favors Cut In Rates

AUSTIN, July 13 (AP)—Hopes of property owners for a substantial reduction in the state ad valorem tax for school purposes rocketed considerably today as Gov. James V. Allred announced he would vote for such a cut.

"I will join Comptroller George H. Sheppard in slashing the rate to the amount necessary to purchase textbooks," the governor said. That would mean a reduction from the present 20 cents to around seven cents on the $100 valuation.

Allred and Sheppard constitute a majority of the automatic tax board, which will fix the rate within the next few weeks. The other member is State Treasurer Charley Lockhart.

Had To Reduce Rate

The comptroller said yesterday his construction of the law was that the board had to reduce the rate unless retention of the present figure was necessary to pay a $17.50 per capita school aid apportionment. Statisticians had estimated income from the 20 cent rate would be sufficient to pay a $22 apportionment.

The board of education voted last week to raise the apportionment from $19 to $22 per school age child.

"We all have been advocating ad valorem tax relief," Allred said, "and this is our only chance to get it. The schools of Texas have had the most liberal treatment in history during my administration. They should have been content with a $19 or $20 apportionment."

The governor suggested that property owners desiring tax relief communicate with members of the tax board.

Fun, But Don't Get Rattled

Sneaking up on a snake looks easy the way Oklahomans did it in Blaine county's annual rattlesnake hunt recently. First, find a rattler and pin him down with a forked stick. Then, as Mark Garvey, champion hunter, demonstrates at right in top photo, grab the reptile just back of the head. Lifting the snake's rock shelter with his stick is Fred Bennett. To show off your prize, especially a nine-rattler, take a hint from John Garvey, lower left, and wear leather gloves. But, according to Maxine Bennett, lower right, Mr. Snake is still a public menace until he's in the bag.

Mountain Climbers Risk Their Lives To Save Another Man

SEATTLE, July 13 (AP)—Mountain climbers, risking in the darkness a 1,600-foot plunge into oblivion, Monday rescued Joseph G. Halwax, 28, from a ledge near the peak of 6,070-foot Mount Index and brought him to Seattle in a critical condition.

Halwax was badly injured when he slipped on the steep north face of the mountain and narrowly escaped plunging to death with two companions, Scott Osborne and Stanley King, to whom he was linked with a rope.

Seventeen mountain climbers worked their way up the sheer north face in an all night rescue expedition, lowered Halwax 1,600 feet to the bottom of the sheer face and then down four miles of steep timber covered slopes to a waiting ambulance which brought him 60 miles to Seattle.

City Plant To Be Enlarged

Enlargement of the city electric plant as soon as equipment can be delivered was assured Monday afternoon by award of a contract at a recessed meeting of the city commission to Nordberg Manufacturing company of Milwaukee to purchase a 2,250 horsepower Diesel engine on a bid of $132,074.

Payment will be made out of the earnings of the electric plant, a specific provision of the contract of sales being that money derived from taxation is perpetually exempt from liability.

The bid, according to tabulations submitted to the commission, was approximately $6,600 lower on a horsepower basis than any of the others submitted.

Only Two Bidders

However, only two bidders sought the contract. One by Busch-Sulzer Bros. Diesel Engine company of St. Louis, submitted proposals on two engines, while the Nordberg company offered four engines ranging in horsepower from 1,800 to 2,625. Amounts of bids for various types of engines ranged from $116,886 for those of lowest horsepower to approximately $151,000 for the highest.

Charles B. Trimble of Dallas, Texas representative of the company, said that delivery of the engine can be made in about six months. The machinery will be of the type to use crude oil as fuel, but parts are to be supplied which will enable it to consume natural gas. The parts to convert it to a gas burner will be delivered, Trimble said, within six weeks or two months after it has been delivered ready for use as an oil burner.

Will Increase Capacity

The machinery, city officials were informed, will increase the capacity of the electric plant by approximately 15 per cent, and will mean electrical service for approximately 1,000 more patrons than now possible. The unit will be housed in a building now under construction at the power plant.

Commissioners also discussed and then declined to authorize the issuance of a building permit for a bakery planned for construction at Fifteenth street and Avenue Q in violation of what were described as being terms of the present building code. R. H. Bean, attorney, said that the bakery company wants permission to build to the sidewalk line in the block. Commissioners were informed that the building code forbids the building of a business structure beyond the line established by residence property in the affected block unless more than 50 per cent of the property owners in the block are agreeable. In the particular case, the required percentage of property owners have refused to waive the protection of the building ordinance, members of the commission were told.

For Bargains, Try A Post Office Auction

AUCTION SALES by the U. S. postal department attract housewives, second-hand dealers, speculators—anyone who enjoys trying to get cheaply such items as 26 left-foot shoes or a second-hand christening set. This auction was held in Chicago. Some folks are inspecting goods lost between sender and addressee, while others check sales lists. The post office guarantees nothing, takes back nothing.

SHALL I BID? To join the fun, this gentleman has to raise his numbered paddle. But he can't make up his mind—maybe the folks are bidding on 20 pounds of egg noodles.

COUNT ME IN. Whatever's on the block (six toy guns, perhaps, or 482 dress weights), this man is sure he wants it. His upraised paddle means he's jumping the previous bid by 50 cents.

In 1933, his first full season with the New York Giants, Schumie won 19 games. The following year, he chalked up 23. Two years ago it was 19 again and each time Schumacher kept his percentage above the .600 level.

Now In Nose Dive

Today he is in a nose dive. Sixteen times he has been sent into action as Bill Terry's starting pitcher. On all but three occasions—the last on June 1, when he hurled a ten-hitter to whip the Dodgers—he has failed to finish.

He failed again yesterday, against the Phillies, a club the Giants had beaten in six out of nine games. Schumie, pulled out of a bad hole by a Mel Ott-initiated triple play in the first inning, dropped out of sight in the seventh. When he bowed out, he had put on base five of the six runs the Phils scored in that inning to win the game, 6 to 3.

Costly To Giants

The defeat cost the Giants a chance to draw up virtually on even terms with the rained-out Chicago Cubs. In addition, it may have sealed Schumacher's fate for the balance of this season.

It was, they say, his last chance to prove his claim as a starting pitcher. There even is talk of converting the 180-pound, 6-footer into an outfielder.

A happier figure than Schumacher is the irrepressible Joe Medwick. That gas-house gangster, who leads the league in everything but triples, stolen bases and, of course, pitching, pounded out three more hits and drove in three more runs as the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Pirates, 6 to 5.

The Cubs' night game in Cincinnati was rained out, as were the Bees-Dodger date in Brooklyn and the only American league game scheduled, between the Indians and White Sox at Chicago.

Six Clubs Are Signed Up For Annual Tournament In City

With six clubs definitely in and at least two more expected to enter, deadline for filing entries in the Seventh Annual Avalanche-Journal baseball tournament falls Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock. Managers of entering teams or their representatives are to meet at Hilton Hotel at that hour to draw for first round positions. Managers of teams planning to enter should file intention before that time, although entries will be accepted up to the time of drawing.

The tournament begins Sunday with a double header at the local park. If eight teams register for the tournament, double headers will be played nearly every day during next week, with the championship series scheduled for Sunday, July 25.

Each team will receive a cash bonus of $25 every time it wins a game, and the three teams finishing "in the money" will divide a purse of not less than $300, depending on the attendance during the week.

Golfers To Be Guests At Big Dinner Here

Entries in the City Open golf tournament being staged at Meadowbrook this week will be guests of the tournament management at an outdoor dinner this evening on the club grounds.

At that time, pairings for first round matches will be announced and the Calcutta party will be held. The public is invited to the Calcutta party, at which time the tournament favorite will be determined.

Kay Bradshaw's 63, seven under Meadowbrook's par, stood low through yesterday's qualifying, and threatened to cop the medal.

The City Open, which drew 77 golfers last year, is not expected to attract over 64, but even that means that approximately 40 scores must be turned in today. A few more than 30 had registered and qualified yesterday. It is hoped that there will be four full flights of 16 each.

Judging from the scores posted yesterday, something close to par will be required to "make" the championship flight. More than a dozen had turned in scores of 77 or busters, most conspicuous of which were Bradshaw's 63 and Bill DeGarimore's 64, posted Sunday. J. R. Farmer had a 68, Weldon Counts a 66, Don Doherty a 68, Ed Doherty a 66.

The defending champion, John Edmisson, no longer a Lubbock resident, will not be on hand to try for a second straight title.

Matches begin Wednesday. Two days will be allowed for the first round and one each for succeeding rounds. Attractive prizes will go to all winners and runners up and consolation winners.

Three Leaders Win Battles

(By The Associated Press)

The upper crust of the Texas league found things pretty much to its liking last night.

The three leaders blasted the opposition without a great deal of effort and thus maintained the status quo in their race for top honors.

Oklahoma City's league-leaders had a rollicking time in plastering San Antonio, 8 to 2. Except for four Mission double plays, the score would have been more lopsided. Jim Moore, meanwhile, was letting the Padres down with seven well spaced hits.

Cats Are More Brusque

Fort Worth's Cats, fighting to keep second position, were even more brusque with Galveston. Jackie Reid had plenty of support in winning his sixteenth game of the year, 12 to 3. In the first inning the Cats rushed across 10 runs.

The third-place Beaumonters had to fight for their win against Tulsa, finally squeezing ahead, 3 to 2. It was the Shippers' eighth straight victory and put them within hailing distance of Fort Worth.

In a battle to decide who should be relegated to the cellar, Houston blanked Dallas 3 to 0. John Grodzicki of Houston was the hero with a fine two-hit performance.

Three-Day Fair At Seminole This Fall Being Planned

SEMINOLE, July 13 (Special) — Plans for a three-day fair here this fall were formulated at a recent meeting of the fair association at which officers were selected and committees to handle finances named.

With unusually good grain crops already harvested and prospects for other bumper crops before fall, hopes are for a well-attended celebration.

Third Coat Of Surfacing Is Being Planned For Route

HALE CENTER, July 13 (Special) —A third coat of surfacing is to be placed on the 14-mile Cotton-Hale Center county road, said L. M. Rankin, county commissioner.

The road already has two coats of asphalt and a third one will be put on soon. Similar work is planned for the Plainview-Petersburg highway, it was said.

Reynolds Smith Takes Severe Licking From Links Foe

LONGVIEW, July 13 (AP) — Trans-Mississippi Champion Don Schumacher of Dallas had another golf title tacked to his record today on the strength of a crushing defeat he handed a fellow-townsman, chunky Reynolds Smith, Walker cup player last year.

Schumacher and Reynolds have met seven times in tournament play and their battles have always been fairly close. In yesterday's final of the Pinecrest Country club tourney, however, Schumacher finished ahead 12 and 10. It was the worst licking Smith ever took from his links foe.

Youngster Is Sure Victory Will Follow

CHICAGO, July 13 (AP)—Bob Feller, the 18-year-old Cleveland Indians' hurler who blazed a strikeout trail across the baseball horizon in 1936 and then injured his arm this season, is convinced he's just as good as ever, notwithstanding his current record of three defeats and no victories.

"I'll get the breaks soon," he smiled, "and I'm far from discouraged over losing those games. If I could go out and pitch like I did against Detroit Sunday, I'd win 25 games a season." He allowed Detroit only two hits although he lost the game.

Arm Feels Good

"I've been relying mainly on my fast ball, and my arm feels just as good as ever. My curve is getting better—when it's right I think it's as good a curve as any pitcher has in the league—and I'm sure that I'll start winning soon."

The Feller case has been baseball's most intriguing mystery of recent years. When he injured his arm pitching against St. Louis April 24, some said he was through for good. Others that he wouldn't pitch again until 1938. Starting against Detroit at Cleveland, he allowed one hit in four innings, bu the Tigers got three unearned runs off him and won a seven inning game, 3 to 2.

At Detroit Sunday he walked six and made one wild pitch.

Standing Of Teams At Slaton Given

SLATON, July 13 (Special)—Bart's Cafe team was tied with the Morgan outfit for top place in the Slaton Softball League standings after last week's play. Each club had won five games and lost one.

It is planned to correct faults in the lighting system here and thereby create more interest both for players and fans. The city spent $500 to equip a playground park with lights for night softball, but complaint has been registered regarding the arrangement of the floods.

Standings of the teams through last week:

Teams—	Won	Lost	Pct.
Bart's Cafe	5	1	.833
Morgan	5	1	.833
Santa Fe	4	2	.667
Hi-Y	2	4	.333

You Can Just Lay The Blame On Heat Wave

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, July 13 (AP)—Blame it on the heat . . . A radio editor said: "Sailing enthusiasts will be interested in listening to the Vanderbilt cup race tomorrow" . . . Haw! . . . (He is still blushing) . . . Another expert: "DiMaggio has yet to prove he was not just a flash in the pan last year" . . . Joe answered the next day by belting two homers, a triple, a double and a single . . . A western scribe reported: "Van Lingle Mungo, Carl Hubbell and Dizzy Dean will work in three inning shifts for the senior league (in the all-star game) and that means the American leaguers are in for a rough afternoon" . . . Did he say rough? . . . Are his ears burning?

• • •

Gabby Hartnett, big good-natured catcher of the Cubs, said a mouthful: "Joe Medwick's only batting weakness is a base on balls." . . . The White Sox collected $29,669 for renting their park for the Braddock-Louis brawl . . . Don Budge's performance abroad indicates he ought to take two Davis cup singles matches and help Gene Mako win the doubles.

• • •

Ho hum, they are trying to get Jimmy Johnston out of the Garden, again . . . Must be tough on Mickey Cochrane sitting out there on his front porch and not being allowed near Navin field . . . The Cubs seem to have just the type of ball team the fans go for . . . It was 12 years ago today that Dazzy Vance of the Dodgers hung up his National league strike-out record by whiffing 17 St. Louis Cardinals in a 10-inning game.

• • •

People all over recognize real class . . . That AP picture of Dick Bartell, hustling, scrappy Giant shortstop, receiving a loving cup from admirers, was printed in papers all over the country . . . Just for the records, Max Schmeling has squared himself with Mike Jacobs.

TAXES ARE COLLECTED

CROSBYTON, July 13 (Special)—Approximately $5,000 in delinquent school taxes has been collected in the past two weeks here, said Edgar Allen, tax collector for the school district. Bumper wheat crop has stimulated payment.

New Guys Are To Be Seen

A couple of new guys will be introduced from Sied Allen's Auditorium ring tomorrow night to provide preliminary action for the Kopecky-Lipscomb show.

One John Nemanic of Colorado is said to be of the clean, fast type, but the Nemanic opposition on tomorrow night's curtain raiser is another story. They say that Gust Johannson of Minnesota is built along the lines of Tex Watkins and fights rather like Buck Lipscomb, although fans hope it isn't true.

Tired Of Being Shoved

Jack Hagen, who is getting tired of being shoved around and who may become one of the circuit's greatest villains if the tough boys don't leave him alone, tangles with Clie Erickson of Kakima, Washington, in the semi-final. Erickson has been here and showed considerable speed, stamina and resourcefulness.

Joe Kopecky and Buck Lipscomb take the spotlight, and the fans should need little advice concerning this one. It'll be a rough, tough fracas from the gong, or possibly before the gong, since Lipscomb takes delight in surprising his enemies before the opening gun. Buck was at his best, or worst, last week to beat up and defeat the likeable Tony Piluso, but it was a snappy brawl, featured by the knocking out and through the ropes by Lipscomb of Referee Big Train Clements. When Clements recovered sufficiently to regain the scene of activity, Buck had kicked Piluso down and was sitting astride him, dealing out punishment after having won the fall.

Stadium Stomper

ON BEHALF OF the Lubbock Hubbers, we wish to repeat, this time in the public print, a word of gratitude and appreciation to the Hobbs, N. M., people, the ball players, oil company magnates, business men and fans, for their kind and generous treatment of last Sunday.

The Amerada Oilers beat our ears down — and made us like it. They deserved to win, after taking that long lead early in the game, and they were due to win after three setbacks at the hands of the Hubbers. So they did win, cleanly and squarely, although it took 'em eleven innings of pretty hot baseball.

After the game, the Lubbock ball players and their guests which accompanied them to Hobbs in the bus were guests of the Ameradas at a swell feed, an informal affair that hit the spot.

And so, thanks again to you Hobbs guys. We'd like mighty well to have you send a team to the tournament, and we're not giving up on you until tomorrow night.

TOO BAD ABOUT the Independents and their tough luck Sunday, but Hobbs had two ball clubs in action, it seems, and they were better, for the day, than the two Lubbock clubs. It is to be trusted that the Independents raise their sights and show a bit of improvement in the tournament.

The decks are cleared for the joust now, and the next baseball sound you'll hear will be that of the initial game, at 2 o'clock next Sunday, at the local park. We'll know after Wednesday night's meeting of managers who'll play in the first day's games.

Until then, you'll do a lot of reading and, we hope, a lot of thinking and planning re. the tournament, which ought to be the best.

TECH "OLD TIMERS" CHEW STEAKS AND FAT

YOU SHOULD BE a former Texas Tech gridder visiting or passing this way or even living here yesterday, because then you could have taken in the mid-day party thrown by Coaches Pete Cawthon and Dutchy Smith and Manager Bo Williams at the Hilton.

It was a fine get-together, with about 20 of the old boys sitting around the table, swapping yarns and looking at Satch Hill's movies.

Among those Cawthon proteges who have made good in the coaching racket since graduation and who attended yesterday's blowout were Elva Baker, coach at Greenville; Bill McWilliams, coach at Plomot last year, moving to Ralls this fall; Bennie McWilliams, coach at Denison; Volney "Satch" Hill, head man at Burkburnett; Bill Teal, assistant at Borger; Adrian "Toy" Clark, who goes to Sweetwater after a season of coaching at Colorado City, and Milton "Speedy" Moffett, Baker's partner at Greenville last season.

Still another, and one of the earliest of Tech's athletes who has been coaching but who now is dean of boys at Bowie High school in El Paso, was Sidney Knowles. Another special guest was Hurley Carpenter, who played a mean game in Tech's early football days. Then there was J. V. Beauchamp, Carlton Luper, Bert Williams, Ed McKeever, Gaines Davis, Ealy Harris, Yancy Price, Joe Barlow, Rankin Goode and George Langford. And we're not forgetting Byron "Babe" Hallmark, who quarterbacked Tech's first team.

A special guest was big Bill Henderson, one of Cawthon's Austin College proteges, now coaching at Stanton, formerly of Midland.

In Hobbs Sunday we ran across three other well known Tech names, two of which should be on the roster this year. Captain Red Ramsey got his hits in the ball game, playing for Amerada. Wilson Gilmore, former assistant coach at Vernon, who is to help Stud Turner at Wink this year, is working in Hobbs. So is J. W. West, the new bridegroom, and maybe the regular end on the ball club this fall.

A FOOTBALL PLAYER who makes the team and a letter his first year on the varsity, who works his way through school and who still has time to make an average grade of 90 in his class room work is a guy who stirs up our deepest feelings, especially if he's a big, rough and tough, red-headed, freckled top hand like A. B. Murphy, of the Beaumont Murphys.

That's old Abe, and his classroom work bags the 1936-37 Standefer-Canon trophy. The beret is off to big Abe, who'll be a regular tackle this fall and a 20-pound tackle at that. His name goes on a bronze plate, mounted on a large oak plaque with a lot of other names, and he wears a gold football charm, and Standefer and Canon, who are a couple of average duffers out at Country-club, are also a couple of all-right guys.

No! John L. Lewis!

SOME of our local gentry who have failed to worry any about the administration's labor policy and others who haven't taken time out long enough to realize what sort of government we are rapidly drifting into, might be interested in this little item from the Texas Observer, a weekly newsmagazine covering the Texas field and published in Austin:

"Organized labor made its first entry last week into the Rio Grande farm picture when cotton pickers at San Benito banded together to demand a price of $1 per hundred pounds for picking.

"Alonso Salinas, president of the San Benito unit, said that similar groups would be organized throughout the Valley. Ninety-nine pickers joined the San Benito organization at its first meeting.

"Farmers met at Harlingen a fortnight ago and set a price of 50 cents per hundred for pickers, so the pickers' demand was for an exact doubling of the price set by the farmers.

"With the cotton picking season at hand, labor troubles might prove serious in the Valley section but officials of the National Reemployment service said they would bring in laborers from other parts of Texas if a shortage developed. Last year negroes from Central Texas were imported into the Valley for picking work."

* * *

It's only a few weeks until picking of the crop in the Lubbock section will be under way and what's going to happen when unionization of pickers results in demand for $1 per hundred here?

Our guess that some of the folks who here-to-fore have been praising the New Deal to the skies will be hollering out of the other side of their mouths.

After all, a man's opinions change when his ox is being gored!

ALL the news stories about the search for Mrs. George Putnam, nee Amelia Earhart, remind The Plainsman of a most unusual occurrence in Abilene on June 12, 1931, when the woman flier was taking off from the municipal airport there in an autogiro.

Max Bentley was managing editor of the Abilene Reporter-News at the time and in mid-afternoon his telephone rang.

"Hello, Max," said a voice on the other end of the line. "This is So-and-So, out at the airport. Amelia is just taking off. She's about 200 feet up. By golly! She's losing altitude! It looks like she's going to crack up! She's coming down! She's cracked up!"

While the story was being told him over the phone, Newsman Bentley started scribbling. Within 38 seconds after Amelia's ship had cracked up — and fortunately she was unhurt — a bulletin-flash hit the Associated Press circuits reading:

"Abilene—Amelia Earhart cracks up in autogiro."

It was one of the quickest pieces of wire service reporting ever recorded.

SYNOPSIS: When Kay Crandon's Lazy Nine ranch house and barn burn, Josh Hastings, owner of the Flying Six, tries to buy her ranch and court Kay. But she hates him and is determined to keep her ranch and rebuild. Ted Gaynor, a puncher she impulsively hired, stirs the outfit to cut its own timber and rebuild without pay. Hastings sends his cowhand Scrap Johnson to tie up the only available timber land. But Ted wins the option race, then whips Scrap for molesting Kay. Hastings finds Scrap on the mesa and berates him, but Scrap turns the tables by deftly snatching his boss's gun. He takes his horse, sending him home afoot.

Chapter 20

Chance For Revenge

Alternating between thoughts of Ted Gaynor as a rival, and his fury at Scrap Johnson, Josh Hastings found himself cherishing two distinct plans of revenge.

First of all he meant to make his former puncher pay through his nose for his insolence, and his plan here was definite and drastic, although it had to be handled with care.

He had no idea of telling the whole story of his plight and being the laughing stock of the range. So this prevented him from calling the sheriff to his aid, and following on the trail of Scrap Johnson with a posse.

He had a hunch that Scrap was headed for the Idaho state line, and that he planned to make his getaway through the one pass that led over the Bitter Root from this region.

If he followed right after him, there was a good chance of overtaking him. Scrap Johnson would be pretty sure to figure that his one-time boss would rather lose his mount and call quits on the situation than let the story leak out of the fix his cowhand had landed him in. Therefore, he wouldn't feel pressed for time, and it would be a fairly easy matter to catch up with him.

"And there won't be any doubt about who'll have the drop this time!" Josh Hastings' thought voiced itself aloud, with a malignant intensity of tone that boded ill for Scrap Johnson when that moment should come.

He stooped down to ease the heel of his boot, then limped along with a groan.

"He'll pay for that damn blister, too," he muttered savagely, as he forged ahead, his eyes squinted into the distance for a glimpse of the scattered buildings of the Flying Six.

Finally they loomed in sight, and Josh Hastings slowed up as he planned his campaign of action. Then, regardless of his blistered feet, he broke into a run for a nearby coulee. He had no time to lose if he was going to make the lower corral and get a horse without being seen.

When he had left the ranch to follow Scrap Johnson, he had announced that he might spend the night in town, so no one was expecting him. Right now the boys would be either in the mess shack or gathered around waiting for the supper call, so here was his chance for a safe getaway.

At The Central Divide

Following the coulee, he came at last to the lower corral, which was hidden from the ranch buildings, and located a good 300 yards distant from the upper corral.

Roping himself a horse, Josh Hastings quickly saddled him and rode back through the coulee which sheltered him from view. He gave the ranch house a wide berth, and headed off for the mountains at a run.

It was more than an hour later when he reached the trail that eventually led to the pass across the divide.

The last streams of color from the afterglow of the sunset were fading into light pinks and lavenders, and twilight was well under way, as he started up the steep climb between the living walls of pines.

Only the faintest light penetrated through the thick branches that interlaced overhead, but Josh Hastings pushed on, his lust for revenge still strong upon him.

There would be a moon later to guide him through the pass in the saddle of the divide's profile, if he had not overtaken his victim by that time. But he figured he would come upon him before reaching the central divide.

Urging his horse on, he finally emerged from the heavily timbered slope of the eastern divide and, topping the ridge, plunged down to the shallow valley that lay between it and the central divide. Quickly crossing the valley, Josh Hastings urged his mount on up the scantily timbered slope of the central divide.

The light of the rising moon gradually spread over the whole landscape, and by the time he reached the crest of the pass it was high in the heavens.

Just beyond the saddle of rock was a small grassy plateau, which harbored a spring-fed stream. From its mysterious depths water flowed in both directions, part seeking the Bitter Root river in Montana, and part flowing to the Clear Water river in Idaho.

As Hastings neared this strange spot, his mount plunged restively, and instead of making for the inviting water that gleamed ahead in the moonlight, he balked and tried to whirl back and head through the pass again. Hastings steadied the animal and, urging him on with a sharp cut of his quirt, reached the small grassy meadow that bordered the stream.

Peering ahead through the moonlight, he made out a strange, hunched form lying by the edge of the water.

He swung his mount sharply at right angles and headed him away from the gruesome discovery. Dismounting at some little distance, he came back on foot to investigate, a baffled sense of rage rising in him at the thought of being cheated of his revenge.

He turned over the inert figure, then let out a startled oath as he gazed at the deadly white face which he had exposed to the moonlight.

Instead of the pinched features of Scrap Johnson that he had expected to see, the still face of Ted Gaynor in its frame of glossy black hair, stared up at him.

The Trail Of Blood

Recoiling in the first surprise of finding his other enemy so unexpectedly delivered into his hands, Josh Hastings stared back at the seemingly dead face for a

PROFESSOR PITKIN INDICTS US

The worldwide crisis is principally the fault of Americans. So says Prof. Walter B. (Life Begins at Forty) Pitkin. The prof is an American, himself, so he can't be accused of the sort of stone-throwing which makes neighborly relations among nations so interesting right now.

Here is how Professor Pitkin figures it out: The present crisis in civilization was caused chiefly by "the world's wild dream"—a wild dream "of progress, of universal comfort, security and freedom"—and, says the professor, "we Americans are mainly responsible for it."

We are responsible, it seems, because "people would have remained content had we Americans only been satisfied with our own good fortune. We had to ballyhoo it all over the world. . . . For half a century we have been telling the world that the American way of life is the best way and that everybody ought to follow it—but, alas, most of the seekers lived in poor places, they could not raise crops like ours, they could not use power so abundantly and they could not create wealth enough to lift themselves to the American level. America has taught the world to dream a wild, wild dream that cannot come true. America has caused world-wide unrest, which, unless we move cautiously, may destroy us along with malcontents. Our only salvation is to return to realism."

Very well, professor. And, if life begins at 40, where does realism begin?

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON

Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, July 13 — Talking with Ann Dvorak, you get the impression that movies are incidental in her life. Oh, she likes 'em well enough, but then, she likes a lot of things.

She'll talk about her husband and her house, her dogs, garden, the prospects for a good walnut crop, the marvels of the steel guitar, and the objects of antiquity they're digging up over in Crete.

Then she will talk about the movies.

Since she finished "We Who Are About to Die" and stepped into the free-lance ranks, Miss Dvorak has felt a good deal more like talking about the movies. She had a pretty stormy time of it for awhile because she didn't like some of the pictures to which she was assigned.

"It isn't true, though," she said, "that I quarreled about money. I quarreled over treatment and stories and parts, but never about money."

* * *

Liked Being Alone

One day three years ago she walked out of the Warner studio without even a goodby, married Leslie Penton, English-born character actor, and went with him to Europe for a year's stay.

They came back on a freighter, were 48 days en route, and got so used to being alone that they decided to desert the screen colony and buy a secluded ranch in the valley to the north.

Both resumed their film work. Miss Dvorak has just finished her first farce-comedy role, in "She's No Lady," with the ex-flyer, John Trent. She liked that. She liked it so well that she's going to sign a contract with the producer, B. P. Schulberg. Only five pictures a year, which will give her time for fussing with her petunias and playing her steel guitar.

The green-eyed actress and her husband bought a 17-acre walnut grove and decided to live in the middle of it. They had a refrigerator and a bed when they moved into a couple of finished rooms of the house.

Since then the house has grown enormously and seems to be filled with books, heavy, hand-carved furniture, wrought iron and cocker spaniels. There's a big swimming pool outside, and around that a lush tropical garden.

* * *

Animals' Benefactress

Besides being green-eyed, Miss Dvorak has what is known as "the green thumb." That's horticultural slang for being a successful gardener with instinctive understanding of growing things. Miss Dvorak is prouder of "the green thumb" than of anything, and will tell you all about budding trees and rose bushes. The couple shook $6000 off their walnut tree last season.

The way to strike fire from Miss Dvorak is to get her to talking about animals. Once she got a studio into a terrible mess because she happened to be working late at night and strolled onto a sound stage and found some horses being galloped to exhaustion on a treadmill. She called the S. P. C. A. and says a man went to prison as a result of an investigation.

"I don't care how many people get killed in a picture," she grumbled. "They know what they're up against and take the jobs voluntarily. Animals don't. What right has anyone to injure an animal just for a lousy movie?"

She doesn't take risks herself — not since she jumped off a house. She said: "I wouldn't have minded if they'd said at the beginning, 'Now, Ann, we'll be wanting you to jump off this house.' I'd have done it. I wasn't hurt much, anyway.

"But they said nothing and saved it for the last shot in the picture. Then I had to do it. It was trickery, and it cured me. Now I won't walk down a flight of stairs unless I know they're perfectly safe."

* * *

Intellectual Interests

For all that, she's thoroughly sold on movies — as opposed to the stage, anyway. Last autumn she went to New York and saw the shows and was disappointed — not in the plays, but in the medium.

Miss Dvoark finds the flesh-and-blood theater artificial, full of old tricks and exaggerated gestures. She said, "I couldn't get back to Hollywood quickly enough."

Her best screen role, she believes, was in "Scarface" with Paul Muni. Another role with him, but a bad picture, was in "Dr. Socrates." She likes and admires Muni, but is amused by him, says he wears himself out worrying about the performances of the entire cast, wanting everyone to be perfect.

Also, he is a funny kind of farmer. After moving to a neighboring ranch, Muni planted geraniums in all the irrigation outlets — upright cement pipes which faintly resemble flower pots. When the water was turned on — and to the actor's consternation — geraniums exploded in all directions.

Miss Dvoark and her husband haven't attended a Hollywood party in two years. Their friends are mostly physicians and college professors.

She reads a lot about medicine, about archaeological research, current European affairs, and she wants more than anything else to travel.

Oh, yes — she likes movies, too. Especially comedy leads.

Industrial Disputes Not Only Cause Of Violence

Treasury Department Took A Few Licks, Too In Parading Names Of Alleged Tax Dodgers

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 13—The names and favorite legal tricks of various tax evaders and avoiders have now been paraded by the Treasury department before the joint congressional committee and it now remains for Congress to plug up some loop holes in order to make the job of some 45,000 private tax lawyers that much harder.

But it would be a mistake to say that the Treasury had not lost a few tail feathers in the process. It ought to be said for the Treasury that its primary motive in putting on this show was to rouse Congress to the point of some remedial legislation, thereby increasing revenues. But there is circumstantial evidence that the administration did hope to make plenty of political capital out of the effort, and that the Treasury was unnecessarily choosey in selecting the names which it tossed out to the lions.

Dutcher

The Treasury took its first spanking when conservative leaders in Congress turned down its proposal to have Treasury agents hold hearings and take charge of the publicity. Then Vice President Garner and Speaker Bankhead took pains to appoint the most conservative members available to the joint committee, further spiking administration hopes of bringing the evaders and avoiders here in person.

One of the first committee reactions was to ask the Treasury, in effect, "Where the devil have you boys been?"

Although it had been losing hundreds of thousands of dollars a year over a five-year period through a tax evasion scheme involving fake foreign insurance companies, and agents had reported frauds and evasions through the scheme, no action was taken until February. And, of course, the general question was raised why the Treasury hadn't made its public exposure long before.

* * *

They May Be Lobbyists, Too

Queerer still was the fact that the Treasury, long acquainted with the personal holding company method of tax avoidance, was now foaming at the mouth about it, but as recently as last year Congress—apparently with Treasury approval—had slashed personal holding company taxes heavily, some by 50 per cent. Undoubtedly certain tax lawyer-lobbyists here did that job, but why the Treasury and the White House let them get away with it continues to be puzzling.

The fact that thousands of tax lawyers have been graduated into private practice from the Bureau of Internal Revenue after intensive courses—at government expense—in the latest, most improved methods of tax evasion was also brought out. This racket flourished through the Wilson-Harding-Coolidge-Hoover period and is still going strong.

Secretary Andrew Mellon once called for a survey of tax avoidance methods.

Later he used several of those methods himself.

And it stands revealed that Undersecretary of the Treasury Roswell Magill, in general charge of presentation of evidence before the committee, once—as a lawyer—wrote two or three books which told wealthy taxpayers how to "minimize" taxes.

You might suppose Congress would now pass some drastic legislation covering government tax experts who resign to handle private tax cases and give tax advice. Possibly it will. But it seldom does act where the interests of lawyers and lobbyists are involved. Scores, if not hundreds, of members of Congress bear in mind that some day they may have to settle down here to embark on a lawyer-lobbyist career for themselves—as hundreds of other members have done before them.

* * *

Anyone But Ham Fish

A certain amount of odor has been stirred up by Congressman Hamilton Fish's charges that President Roosevelt himself has been guilty of tax avoidance or evasion. There would be more general interest in this, however, if the charges came from anyone but Ham Fish.

Somewhere between the Treasury and Department of Justice stands responsibility for the $76,000 tax suit against Mayor Daniel Shields of Johnstown, Pa., who has led the anti-union movement in the steel strike there. The administration is pro-labor, of course, but this case dates back to 1925.

Shields was convicted, retried, reconvicted and sentenced after a prohibition raid on a Johnstown brewery. Shields finally was pardoned by Roosevelt on recommendation of Senator Guffey. But now the government decides he should pay taxes on 12,000 barrels of illegal beer and 400 gallons of liquor seized in 1925. Quite a lot of people here who don't think much of Shields, don't think much of that tax action at this late date, either.

The inorganic theory of the creation of petroleum is that it was formed in the earth by chemical reactions due to volcanic disturbances.

The production plans to depict the Associated Press' unending struggle to annihilate time and space from the days of the first feeble Morse telegraph when newspaper ingenuity drafted carrier pigeons, fast horses, and clipper ships to speed news.

This is a saga of triumph over terrific obstacles, for today there is no habitable spot on earth that is more than a few minutes from the nation's front pages whenever news breaks.

Newspapers the world over are members of the Associated Press and the spread of its humming wires feeds thousands of presses at the rate of 240 words a minute.

In step with the march of progress the AP wirephoto now sends pictures over wires with the same speed as news, marking a tremendous forward strike in the work of reporting "things as they are."

Another Japanese force was said to have launched a futile attack on Nanyuan at the same time the column from the north went into action.

Meanwhile, rioting was reported in the southern Chinese quarters of the city.

At the height of the battle outside the walls, Japanese and Korean citizens who reside in the district were said to have attempted to escape into the old Tartar city — the northern section — only to find the Chien-Men gate, near the U. S. embassy, barred.

Cities Are Cut Off

The southern city was cut off from the Tartar city which contains the former imperial palace and the sacred area. All traffic was stopped and the populace was confined to the houses.

Reports received in the Tartar city indicated the fighting was among the heaviest of the past week. Chinese troops were rushed from all points about the city to reinforce the guards at the southern gate.

The fighting in the new area of the Peiping battle zone south of the Yuh-Ting-Men sector of the city began shortly before noon. It was the latest outbreak of the hostilities which started last Wednesday midnight when Japanese troops on secret maneuvers clashed with the Chinese guard at the Marco Polo bridge over the Yung-Ting river, 10 miles west of Peiping.

Markets Rushed With Products

(By The Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY, July 13—Farmers sold $2,000,000 worth of livestock here today at the highest price levels in seven or eight years. Checks for that amount will be in the mail tonight, going to growers in Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, Oklahoma, Texas, and Nebraska.

All but $135,000 of the totals sales involved cattle, the remainder involving calves, hogs, and sheep. Cattle receipts today, estimated at 18,000 head, were the largest of the season and second largest this year. Peak of the cattle marketing season usually comes later in the summer.

KANSAS CITY, July 13 (AP) — Another record breaking flood of wheat shipments surged into the market here today, virtually swamping grain men who worked all last week to cope with the heaviest wheat traffic in years.

A total of 3,090 cars arrived here over the week-end, setting a new record for any two-day period. The record volume of 3,366 cars received last week-end was a 3-day accumulation.

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, July 13 (AP) — Unfavorable Liverpool cables were responsible for an opening loss of 1 to 3 points in the cotton market here today.

Trading was practically non-existent with only two sales being made in the first 30 minutes of trading, both at the initial figures. October opened at 12.37, Dec. at 12.37, Jan. at 12.38, March at 12.41 and May at 12.43.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, July 13 (AP) — Cotton futures opened steady, 1 to 2 lower, under far eastern selling and favorable weather, July 12.27; Oct. 12.37; Dec. 12.27; Jan. 12.27; March 12.30; May 12.35.

Trading was quiet. Part of the foreign selling in distant positions was credited to nervousness over the China-Japanese situation. There was a little southern hedging and scattered liquidation promoted by a favorable view of the eastern belt weather.

October rallied from 12.36 to 12.42. Shortly after the first half hour it sold at 12.41, with prices generally 4 to 5 points net higher. Business continued small and there was a disposition to await developments.

At Liverpool operators held off awaiting reports on the progress of the new crop. Prices tended to ease owing to favorable weather advices.

Gain Recorded In Last Year

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 13 — Increased income tax payments during the last 11 months constituted a greater proportion of internal revenue collections than in the preceding year.

Income taxes accounted for 46 per cent of all receipts treasury officials said. This was 6 per cent gain.

Interval revenue collections from all sources increased $1,132,295,000 over the previous year to $4,652,504,000, the treasury announced. Income taxes represented $2,148,381,000 of the total, an increase of $736,442,000.

Liquor taxes increased $66,877,000, reaching $592,301,000; excess profits increased $10,487,000 to $24,987,000 and miscellaneous levies rose $124,407,000 to $1,620,000,000.

Helen Wills Moody Moves To Reno; Divorce Is Hinted

RENO, Nev. July 3 (AP) — Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, former women's tennis champion of the world, established herself today at a Nevada vacation retreat and conferred here with an attorney who said she may "later on" seek a divorce from Frederick S. Moody, jr.

When the former Wimbledon and national tennis champion arrived at Glennbrook, Lake Tahoe resort on the Nevada shore, she said she planned merely to "rest."

Later, she drove here and conferred with Attorney Robert M. Price, who announced the court star would consider divorce action against Moody, her non-tennis-playing husband, who is a San Francisco oil executive.

Five Sentenced To Prison For Harboring Karpis Gangsters

CLEVELAND, July 13 (AP) — Judge Paul Jones sentenced three men and two women to prison terms today for harboring Alvin Karpis gangsters following the Bremer kidnaping in St. Paul.

Sentenced today were Theodore and Bert Angus, brothers, two years and 10 months; Mr. and Mrs. Edward McGraw, and Edith Barry, Toledo rooming house proprietors, two years.

Third Term Talk Around Capitol

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, July 13—Much of the talk about the Capitol lately has concerned the possibility that Gov. Allred may become the first Texas chief executive to ask the voters for a third full term.

Secretary of State Edward Clark, first lieutenant in the Allred organization, made the speculation widespread with his statement the closing day of the special session of the legislature that many persons were urging his chief to stand for re-election and he believed the governor would be responsive to the wishes of the people.

Waiting For Public Reaction

Questioned a few days later, Allred did not deny the possibilities in Clark's statement, but some of his interrogators got the impression he was awaiting the reaction of the public.

If the governor should decide to try for a third term, and many around Austin will lay odds he won't, he would have to clear some high hurdles to reach his goal.

Friends of Attorney General William McCraw and Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson say those officials have contemplated the race for some time and have many pledges of support. The givers of the pledges will work for them regardless of whether Allred gets in, these persons say.

World Of Difference Cited

Allred was renominated last summer without the necessity of a runoff but political observers say there is a world of difference between running for a second and a third term.

The governor is credited with having made friends by his advocacy of state regulation of public utilities, restriction of old age pensions to the needy, repeal of race track betting, and higher taxes on corporation franchises and natural resources, but also has made enemies.

Others Decline Comment

Thompson and McCraw so far have declined comment on the Allred third term possibility. Friends of the attorney general insisted, however, that whatever the governor did would have no effect on McCraw's plans. Opinion was divided as to what Thompson would do in event Allred decided to make the race.

Some experienced observers don't believe Allred is seriously considering an attempt for re-election. They think he has something in mind in letting the speculation remain alive but don't know what it is.

It is not the first time in recent Texas history that reports have arisen that a governor might seek a third term.

Former Gov. James E. Ferguson sought a comeback in 1918 after being impeached early in his second term but was defeated. Elisha M. Pease was appointed governor under martial law during Reconstruction days after being chief executive for two terms before the war between the states.

Ford Employes To Get Cash

(By The Associated Press)

DETROIT, July 13 — The Ford Motor Co. announced today that $400,000 will be paid to 20,000 employes within a few days, representing the semi-annual returns on savings in the Ford Investment plan. Employes are permitted to invest a maximum of one-third of their wages under the plan, which has been in operation since 1920.

Today's announcement said that savings aggregated $13,300,000 on July 1 and that the savings and returns, which increased 20 per cent during the year, are the largest since 1932. The present rate of return is seven per cent annually.

Ford employes in the Rouge plant also benefitted by a wage increase of five cents an hour two weeks ago. There was no formal announcement of the increase.

Letters Sent To Committeemen

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 13—President Roosevelt dispatched identical letters to the chairmen of the house and senate agriculture committees today urging "sympathetic consideration" for the administration's farm stablization program.

Asserting that existing laws were not adequate to guarantee crop stability the chief executive asked congress to integrate a three-point program as follows:

"First, to the continuation of the present agricultural conservation program as the foundation of the long time plan.

Second, for the assurance of abundance for consumers by storage of substantial reserves of food for use in years of crop failure.

"Third, for protection of farm prices and farm income."

The president said the problem of crop stability has not been solved, although much progress has been made.

Nagging, Worry And Strain May Cause Teeth To Decay

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 13—Naggins, worry and the modern strain of living may cause teeth to decay, Dr. I. L. McGonigle of Freehold, N. J., told the American Dental society today.

High emotions seem to upset the thyroid gland, he said and consequently the teeth sometimes don't get the calcium needed to maintain their strength against invasion of bacteria.

Children nagged by neurotic parents, ferquently develop tooth cavities, and sometimes the nervous irritability of the parents themselves is caused by lack of calcium.

"When the calcium and phosphorous ratio is out of proportion," said Dr. McGonigle, "changes take place not only in the teeth, but also in the soft tissues. May not emotional conditions throw this calcium out of balance?

"We often observe that when worry, fear and other similar conditions touch a man he is unable to sleep well or eat well—and sometimes unable to eat at all. If he tries to do so he will become nauseated. From this we have evidence that these conditions do upset the body, and cause the body to be thrown out of balance."

Dr. McGonigle cited as an example to prove his point—the case of a 27-year-old man who had "perfect teeth." Shortly afterward the subject's wife became ill and hovered between life and death for three weeks. She finally recovered and six weeks later the man complained to Dr. McGonigle about his teeth. Examination showed nine cavities.

Maybe It Isn't Art---Nor Tennis---But It's Comedy When Groucho Plays It

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., July 13 (AP)—It won't go down in history as one of the greatest tennis matches of all time but it should be recorded as one of the most hilarious—the straight-set victory of Charles Chaplin and Fred Perry over Ellsworth Vines and Groucho Marx.

As scores of film colony celebrities rocked with laughter over comedian Groucho's verbal backhand shots, the Chaplin-Perry combination won 6-1, 9-7.

Later Vines and Perry won a hard-fought doubles match over Francis X. Shields and Sidney B. Wood, 3-6, 6-4, 8-6.

The matches featured the formal opening of the club yesterday.

As the umpire, old-time Davis Cup star Fred Alexander, announced it was a titular affair, five out of nine sets, Groucho cut in:

"With time out for lunch," and opened a suitcase and served sandwiches and coffee to his companions.

Perry served to Groucho. It was an ace; then another. "I'll never get to Wimbledon this way," said Marx.

Vines took a hard one off Perry's racquet, smashing it into the net and losing the point. "I can't do it singlehanded," Groucho complained.

In a hectic Vines-Perry exchange, Groucho sat atop his racquet and asked Chaplin casually across the net:

"Doing anything tonight, Charlie; I wonder why they call this a doubles match?"

Convicts Believed Successful In Slip

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 13 (AP)—Ray (Pete) Traxler, one-time Oklahoma desperado, and his two companions, who escaped from a Huntsville, Texas, prison farm last week, apparently were successful tonight in their dash for freedom which led them across nothern Texas and southern Oklahoma.

Meager reports that the trio had been seen in southeastern Oklahoma proved of little help to officers seeking to determine the whereabouts of the convicts.

The Hunt was concentrated in Caddo county after officers received two reports Traxler had been seen there, although one of the reports proved erroneous and led to the arrest of a man believed at first to be Traxler.

Residents at Verden, on the Grady-Caddo county line, reported they saw Traxler and a woman with whom he had been associating for several years at noon yesterday.

Traxler, son of a Garvin county farmer, grew up in the vicinity of Verden.

College Keeps Tab On Grads

The division of home economics at Texas Technological college keeps tab on its graduates with bright headed pins.

When a girl receives her degree from the school, she "earns her pin," the color indicating employment she obtains. The pin is stuck into a large map in the hall of the home economics building. Each year the map is carefully revised and pins moved.

Sometimes Changes Color

Many times the pin remains in the same place but changes color." There is an increasing number of white pins, the color of the homemakers. Bright red is for dietitians, of whom there are 15 in Texas. Eighty green headed ones indicate graduates teaching home economics in the United States; there are 15 home demonstration agents with pink pins indicating their locations, and 10 yellow ones show positions in the field of home economics. Blue pins show 10 girls are teaching subjects other than those in home economics. There is only one black pin on the map and its significance is "other positions."

If another home economics graduate is employed in some capacity in Lubbock county, the map will have to be made larger, for Lubbock county is "filled with pins." Most of the others are in the western and north central parts of the state. There is a sprinkling of pins, however, on the Gulf coast and in eastern Texas.

In each lower corner of the large Texas map is a map of the world and one of the United States. A white pin in Korea shows a homemaker lives there, and there is a homemaker in each of the following states: Maryland, New York, Tennessee, Ohio, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Louisiana, and California. One bright red pin shines in Washington, two in Illinois. Oklahoma has a yellow, New Mexico a yellow and a green pin.

Flame Trail

long moment. Then he dropped on his knees, and placed a hand over Ted's heart.

A grunt of disappointment escaped him as he detected a faint beat. But after examining the wound that gaped in the fallen man's chest, a grim smile of satisfaction flickered for a moment on his lips.

"Reckon a good enough job's been done on you, after all," he observed callously. He rose to his feet and stooped down to pull some grass to wipe the blood off his hands.

"Scrap Johnson's saved me some trouble there, all right."

He scanned the ground carefully, walking back and forth in an ever widening semi-circle around the wounded man. "Looks like he got a shot from ambush," he mused aloud, as he failed to find any traces of footprints or trampled grass.

"Hello! What's this?" He stopped short and bent down to examine a large flat stone, that harbored a strange dark spot on its rough gray surface.

Josh Hastings experimentally stuck his finger in it, and exploded into an oath as he pulled it back, covered with a sticky red stain.

"Begins to look more like a duel!"

He leaned down close, and found several more dark spots, leading away from the stone. Following them, he came to some trampled grass and, with growing excitement, followed in the vague tracks.

After going 50 feet or so, he came at last on the object of his search. A dark form lay in the underbrush by the edge of the grassy spot, and this time as Josh Hastings leaned close to identify this second victim, he saw the man he had expected to find in the first place.

A brief examination showed him to be far less seriously wounded than Ted Gaynor. He had evidently fainted from loss of blood from a flesh wound in his arm, but his pulse and his heart both seemed strong.

An ugly look twisted Josh Hastings' mouth, as he stood looking down at the man he had pursued with such ruthless intent for vengeance. A cunning gleam came into his eyes as he glanced back to where Ted Gaynor lay.

It was easy enough to reconstruct what had happened. Scrap Johnson had undoubtedly won the draw and fired first, and Gaynor's shot had gone wild, first catching by chance the fleshy part of Johnson's arm.

There wasn't a doubt in Josh Hastings' mind that Ted Gaynor was done for, but just in case he might, by some miracle, pull through, why not frame him, so that the suspicion of what he was about to do would be forever pinned on this hateful enemy of his?

He now had the chance to fix things so that no question would ever be raised about how Scrap Johnson met his end. Dead or alive, Ted Gaynor would be held responsible.

Working his dastardly plot out step by step, Josh Hastings took off his bandanna and wrapped it carefully about his hand. Then he went swiftly back to where Ted Gaynor lay.

Nearly dead, Ted finds sanctuary, tomorrow.

Relieve Dizzy Spells Or Money Back

She gives wonderful advice to women passing thru those 40 to 50 "critical years."

Mrs. L. B. writes: "I'm going thru change of life and been having hot flashes, blood rushing to head. Also such sweats, perspiration would run from my body. After first few days of taking Kruschen I noticed a difference in my head, after I finished the first bottle, the flashes were getting further apart and the night sweats less. I and my friends swear by Kruschen."

If you want to help avoid headaches, dizziness, smothering spells, weakness, fits of depression—if you want to keep feeling more healthy and happy—up and about your work—take a third teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water first thing every morning.

Kruschen is a superb blend of 6 mineral salts, each with its own special work to do—kidneys, liver, gall bladder and bowels are helped keep functioning normally and when important body organs are working properly you may be sure there will be less constitutional agitation. It costs but little and if it doesn't help you wonderfully in a month—money back.—Adv.

First Visit To Spur Since 1890 Is Made By Former Foreman Of Big Ranch

SPUR, July 12 (Special) — First visit here by Bud Campbell of Ballinger since he resigned as foreman of the Spur ranch in 1890 was made recently. He visited friends with whom he rode the range 40 to 50 years ago.

Campbell is the brother of H. H. Campbell, former manager of the Matador ranch. He was one of the organizers of the Espuela Land and Cattle company of Fort Worth.

He was 86 years old July 4. Friends he visited here included Bill Stafford, Bill Ellis, Bill Hyatt, Scotch Bill Elliot and Ell Harkey.

Campbell, reputed to have been one of the best ropers in the country, started the Triangle brand, which was used as the Spur ranch horse brand until the company was sold to the Swenson interests.
