School For Adults May Be Started Here

A school for unemployed adults in the Loraine territory may be started here in the near future if enough adults will register for the courses.

If enough people are secured to justify it the Civil Works Administration will employ a teacher who is now unemployed to teach these classes which will be held either at night or in the day. Those who attend this school will have the opportunity to take a varied course which may include writing, business course, others.

C. Of C. To Meet Next Tuesday Night

Next Tuesday night is regular meeting time for the Loraine Chamber of Commerce. Every member is urged to be present. The meeting will be held at the city hall at 7:45.

PRESIDENT PLANS TO REMOVE ALL EMPLOYABLE PEOPLE FROM RELIEF

Washington, President Roosevelt's plan for taking 4,000,000 men off public relief rolls through out the country at the earliest possible moment depends upon the rapidity with which local governments find the work to be done. Stress has been laid on the fact that in no case will contracts be let for any of the work, which is not to be of the type handled by the Public Works Administration.

The plan required the creation of a Civil Works Administration, but it involves no delay whatever in Washington. Federal Emergency Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins was named Director, and at once he notified relief organizations in all States, cities, and counties that the same Nation-wide machinery would be used which has been functioning in relief distribution. "The big factor," he said, "is to find projects that will put people to work at once."

The President said of the plan, "It is designed to remove from relief all employable persons. Those hired will benefit by an immediate increase in income over their former relief allowances." It is the purpose to increase to full time before the end of November the present part-time work of 2,000,000 men now on relief rolls and drawing about $20 per month. The President laid down the principle of a 30-hour week and at the hourly rate prevailing for similar work. An additional 2,000,000 are to be given work on the same self-sustaining basis by December 15.

Statistics show that there are now approximately 3,000,000 families on public relief rolls throughout the country, a reduction of 1,000,000 families since April last. During September 250,000 families, representing 1,000,000 persons, were removed through reemployment under the NRA. The President believes that full-time employment of 4,000,000 will be of vast benefit. These provisions for work and jobs will not interfere with immediate distribution of food and clothing for the destitute by the Federal Emergency Relief Administration.

This greatest employment program ever devised is intended to cover not only the type on which relief work has been given but also a wide range of employment in activities bordering on but not covered in the province of the Public Works Administration. The latter necessarily had to depend upon the results of elections for bond issues and legislation by States. "This extended field," the White House statement concluded, "will enable local civil works divisions to undertake considerably more construction and to use greater quantities of construction materials. Work relief has been limited almost entirely to work involving a minimum of materials since expenditure of emergency relief funds under this method was necessarily confined to relief allowances."

In addition to suggestions advanced by State, city, and county officials at a conference called by Director Hopkins this week, many other types of local projects have been developed by Federal engineers. The work of establishing a "Civil Works Division" in every State is progressing rapidly.

The Chamber of Commerce is again offering free entertainment for those who visit Loraine Saturday afternoon.

COTTON THIEVES BUSY

Cotton thieves were busy in the Loraine territory Monday night, according to reports. Jess Brown who lives on the W. O. Mr. Brown said he trailed the vehicle to the Inadale road.

Mitchell County Gets Allotment Of Cutter Cows

Under the allotment plan adopted by the Texas division of the National Emergency Relief Agency Mitchell County has been given allotment of 66 cutter cows. Under this plan the cattle purchased in this district will be purchased at Abilene when accompanied by a permit from the county agent from which cattle are shipped. It will be necessary for the persons having fat cutter cows for sale to this N. E. R. A. to register their name and the number of cows they wish to sell with their county agent and then at a later date they will be notified the number that they receive permit to sell. The number each stockman will be allowed to ship will be based on the allotment basis—their proportionate part of the county's allotment. Every stockman should register his desired sales with the county agent by 5 p. m., Wednesday, December 6, 1933. The seller will have to deliver the cows at Abilene. There will be no commission charges. The F. E. R. A. buyers reserve the right to turn down cows carrying insufficient flesh, or crippled and diseased animals. Prices will be based on Ft. Worth market prices with a minimum of $1.75 per 100 being paid.

Twenty-five % of the cotton from District 3, Red Land and Plains, this week was White Middling and Strict Low Middling. Fifty-three % of the cotton was classed as equivalent to the Spotted Standards. Ninety % was 7 to 31-32 inch in staple length. Approximately 10% was untenderable on futures contracts. Eight % was shorter than 7/8 inch.

SUITS ARE FILED BY COMMISSIONERS IN CONDEMNATION RIGHT OF WAY ON HIWAY 101

Condemnation suits against 4 property owners through whose lands proposed right-of-way for Highway 101 is to pass have been filed in county court.

No trial date for the cases had been set pending transfer of the land in dispute to the State.

With exception of the properties affected right-of-way from the northern city limits of Colorado to the Scurry County line has been obtained by the county. Engineers have completed surveys and obtained official approval by the State Highway Commission. Contracts for grading and drainage structures are expected to be advertised for as soon as the title to right-of-way is cleared.

POULTRY PRODUCTS CODE IS UNDER CONSIDERATION

Washington, —To benefit both producers and consumers of poultry products, a master code of fair competition, for wholesale groups engaged in procuring and distributing poultry and eggs is being formulated through discussions with officials of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. The proposed code applies to the marketing division of the industry. Where its provisions were inadequate to deal with regional problems, it has been suggested, according to an announcement from the AAA, that regional or supplementary codes could meet local problems. The code is designed to remove unfair practices and wastes in marketing poultry and eggs thus increasing returns to producers and assure maximum results in grading and standardizing poultry products, in behalf of consumers as well as protecting farmers with high quality products. A code applied to 6,000 commercial hatcheries has already received a public hearing.

THIRD QUARTER EARNINGS SHOW RECOVERY TREND

Washington, —Earnings reports covering 9 months operations provide eloquent testimony to industry's recuperative power during the first stage of recovery, according to the Standard Statistics Co. of New York. The summary adds: "Combined earnings of 89 industrial companies for the period were $191,000,

The recently appointed relief committee for the county met Monday afternoon and perfected its organization after it had been approved by the State Board. C. C. Thompson was confirmed as chairman, P. K. Mackey vice chairman and J. W. King secretary.

Registration of men for employment has been under way this week and more than 500 have signed up for employment in the county. 137 of this number signed up in Loraine Tuesday and several have signed up since then.

Nothing more than registering men for employment can be done until some projects are approved in Austin. A total of five projects have been approved here and sent to Austin. Three of the projects are road improvement in various parts of the county, one is a gymnasium for "Loraine" and the other is graving of several blocks of streets in Colorado. Approval of at least a part of the projects is expected from Austin at any time, and when it is received work will start immediately. One of the road projects is graving of the road in the Landers Community.

TEXANS WILL BE GIVEN CHANCE TO SIGN HOG CONTRACTS

College Station —Grain sorghums, now the chief feed crop in Texas are not classed as corn in the corn-hog adjustment program according to advice received from the Agricultural Administration by E. M. Regenbrecht, hog specialist of the Extension Service, Texas A and M College. This means, he says, that Texas hog farmers may sign corn-hog contracts without having to reduce their acreages of grain sorghums, though they may not increase them.

The new corn-hog plan calls for a 20% cut in the corn acreage below the three-year average, with payments of 30 cents per bushel paid cooperating farmers for the average three-year production of the retired acres. The contracting farmer also agrees to reduce his market hogs by 25% under the previous two-year average, in return for which he will be paid $5 per head for the remaining 75% of his hogs raised.

A farmer who grows corn but not hogs may sign a contract and get the corn benefits. In the same way a man who raises hogs but not corn may sign a contract and receive the hog benefits. The first man, however, would not be allowed to go into the hog business during the time of the contract, and the second man would not be permitted to start raising corn or other feed stuffs in excess of his former acreages. Although the corn-hog program is designed especially for the Corn Belt, Texas farmers desiring to sign contracts will have the chance, Mr. Regenbrecht says.

Just received a nice assortment of Christmas cards at The News office. Call and see them.

000 as compared with $73,000,000 for corresponding 9 months of 1932, a gain of 160.4 percent. Five railroads earned $35,222,000, an increase of 60.3 percent. Utilities on the other hand showed decline of 11.3 percent. Even more remarkable are results registered during the third quarter. The identical 89 industrials reported aggregate earnings of $85,970,000 virtually an 11-fold gain over the similar 1932 3 months ending September 30. Practically every industrial division improved its position. Railroads scored a 90-percent increase, but utilities continued to run behind. Virtually all industrial companies succeeded in curtailing operating expenses apart from labor costs. The bulk of gross income expansion occurred in the last 3 months reported, in many cases permitting earlier 1933 losses to be canceled.

MITCHELL COUNTY FARM NOTES

Attention of all farmers is called to some information in regards to the processing tax that has just been received by the county agent. This new interpretation of the processing tax will have its effect upon all farmers that market a portion of their fresh pork locally in the form of sausage, spare-ribs and backbone during the winter months. Under the present ruling anyone slaughtering hogs and marketing any portion or all of the carcass is subject to the payment of a processing tax on that portion of the carcass for the month of November 50 cents per 100 pounds; for December, $1.00 per 100 pounds; January, $1.50 per 100 pounds; and for any month thereafter $2.00 per 100 pounds. This tax is based on the live weight in all cases. The following explanations will clear up several points in regard to this Federal Law:

1. Everyone who slaughters hogs processing tax. The party who owns the hog at the time it is slaughtered is the one to pay the tax.

2. A man may kill a hog produced by himself and consume it within his own household and not be subject to the tax.

3. If the farmer in case 2 sells a portion of this hog he must pay a processing tax on that portion he sells. In this case he must fill out the necessary forms for the entire hog and claim exemption on that part he consumes at home.

4. A restaurant or hotel that slaughters its own hogs and feeds the pork to the boarders must pay a processing tax because the boarders cannot be construed as being a part of the household of that individual.

Attention is also called to the processing tax on corn.

Corn can be sold or traded as much as you please without being subject to the processing tax. It can be shucked, shelled, cleaned and ground into coarse corn chops or cracked corn without being subject to the tax. When corn is ground into meal or flour suitable for human consumption it is subject to the tax, regardless of whether it is fed to human beings or animals, but that portion consumed by the household of the individual is exempt. In this latter case it is necessary for the individual to make out the form but he claims the exemption from tax in the place provided for same on the

And as we go to the corn field, able by the party owning the corn at the time it is processed.

A BACHELOR'S PRAYER

Backward, turn backward, O Time, in your flight!
Give us a maiden with skirts not so tight!
Give us a girl whose charms, many or few,
Are not so exposed by much peek-aboo.

Give us a maiden, no matter what age, who won't use the streets for a vaudeville stage;
Give us a girl not so happy in view; Dress her in skirts that the sun won't shine through.

Then give the dances of days long gone by;
With plenty of clothes and steps not so high;
Oust turkey-trot capers and buttermilk glide,
The hurdy-gurdy twist and the wiggletail slide.

Then let us feast our optics once more On a genuine woman as sweet as of yore.

Yes, Time, please turn backward and grant our request For God's richest blessing—but not one undressed.

COMMON COLDS ARE DANGEROUS IF NOT TREATED

Austin, Texas, Nov. 27, "Beware of the common colds," Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer, in a statement issued here today, cautioned the people of the State of Texas. "This is the season of the year when colds are most prevalent, and their consequences more far reaching. The organism causing the disease is not known, but every individual is acquainted with its effects."

Not a little of the susceptibility of catching colds can be overcome by a gradual acclimating to lowering temperatures and inclement outdoor weather. This hardening should begin now, and consist of regular exercise—walking is good—to be continued throughout the winter, in weather of every kind. Some things to avoid are wet stockings, drying on one's feet; over-heavy clothing; overheated rooms.

There are two broad principles to observe in the treatment and prevention of colds. The first says: "Let the patient keep to himself, and keep his oral and nasal discharges to himself." This includes indiscriminate spitting, kissing, and other forms of contact.

The second principle requires doing away with coddling and overprotection of the body against the elements.

"The cold is a common disease," Dr. Brown said. "But every cold is important enough to justify careful attention and treatment or its immediate cure. Death-dealing pneumonia and tuberculosis may begin with colds that did not receive care and attention."

"Over-indulgence of devitalizing stimulants, such as alcohol, tobacco, tea and coffee do much to lower the resistance to colds."

TAX ADDS LITTLE TO COTTON GOODS COST

The processing tax of 4.2 cents per pound of the net weight of raw cotton going into manufactured commodities accounts for only a small percentage of the cost of finished cotton goods.

Investigations in 10 major cities throughout the country, made under the direction of Dr. Fred C. Howe, Consumers' Counsel of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, indicate that clerks in some retail stores are still explaining price increases on cotton goods by citing the processing tax as the only, or at least as an important cause.

"That the processing tax is a negligible factor in the price mark-ups on cotton goods has been proved beyond quibble," said Dr. Howe in discussing the question. "Those who attribute an undue share of price increases to the tax are badly informed."

On a sheet, which usually contains a little less than two pounds of cotton the tax amounts to just under 8 cents. On ordinary work shirts, the tax is about 3 1/2 cents. The same proportion holds for other cotton goods, depending upon the weight of raw cotton used in manufacturing.

Other costs than the processing tax contribute to price increases. Where operating and other costs have increased, they are adding to the selling price. The processing tax itself however remains a minor factor.

77 were in Sunday school Sunday morning. Let's make it a greater number next Sunday by insisting on someone else coming, not only a greater number but a better Sunday school by studying God's Word more. There was almost a full house for the preaching service. Bro. Baldere brought a great message on "Counting the cost of being a Christian or sinner" using Luke 14-28 for his text. There were three additions to the church, two by letter and one for baptism.

Just remember our preaching services are every second and fourth Sunday. Sunday school every Sunday at 10 o'clock. B. T. S. at 6:30. So come worship with us.

Reporter.

We should count our blessings and see what God has done for us during the year. 17 teachers out of 19 were in their places Sunday. 208 were present. That is good, but let's make a goal for 300 and reach it.

Rev. Meador brought a great message at both morning and evening hours Sunday. His subject for the morning hour was: "He shall direct our faith." Text was the fifth and sixth verses of the third chapter of Proverbs. There was one addition to the church by vows. The subject for the morning hour was Lord teach us to pray. Mrs. W. R. MITCHELL COUNTY

FARM NOTES

Attention of all farmers is called to some information in regards to the processing tax that has just been received by the county agent. This new interpretation of the processing tax will have its effect upon all farmers that market a portion of their fresh pork locally in the form of sausage, spare-ribs and backbone during the winter months. Under the present ruling anyone slaughtering hogs and marketing any portion or all of the carcass is subject to the payment of a processing tax on that portion of the carcass for the month of November 50 cents per 100 pounds; for December, $1.00 per 100 pounds; January, $1.50 per 100 pounds; and for any month thereafter $2.00 per 100 pounds. This tax is based on the live weight in all cases. The following explanations will clear up several points in regard to this Federal Law; and sells the meat must pay the tax.

1. Everyone who slaughters hogs for processing tax. The party who owns the hog at the time it is slaughtered is the one to pay the tax.

2. A man may kill a hog produced by himself and consume it within his own household and not be subject to the tax.

3. If the farmer in case 2 sells a portion of this hog he must pay a processing tax on that portion he sells. In this case he must fill out the necessary forms for the entire hog and claim exemption on that part he consumes at home.

4. A restaurant or hotel that slaughters its own hogs and feeds the pork to the boarders must pay a processing tax because the boarders cannot be construed as being a part of the household of that individual.

Attention is also called to the processing tax on corn.

Corn can be sold or traded as much as you please without being subject to the processing tax. It can be shucked, shelled, cleaned and ground into coarse corn chops or cracked corn without being subject to the tax. When corn is ground into meal or flour suitable for human consumption it is subject to the tax, regardless of whether it is fed to human beings or animals, but that portion consumed by the household of the individual is exempt. In this latter case it is necessary for the individual to make out the form but he claims the exemption from tax in the place provided for same on the

and at the time it is processed.

COMMON COLDS ARE DANGEROUS IF NOT TREATED

Austin, Texas, Nov. 27, "Beware of the common colds," Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer, in a statement issued here today, cautioned the people of the State of Texas. "This is the season of the year when colds are most prevalent, and their consequences more far reaching. The organism causing the disease is not known, but every individual is acquainted with its effects."

Not a little of the susceptibility of catching colds can be overcome by a gradual acclimating to lowering temperatures and inclement outdoor weather. NOT A DEAD TOWN.

Now days you hear about a lot of the little towns being dead. Perhaps a great many citizens in Mitchell county have heard the remark, and perchance, agreed that Loraine is one of these supposedly passing Texas towns. But brother, you are wrong. Loraine is not dead. In fact it is coming back faster than Colorado, or Sweetwater, or many larger towns. That community, seated in the heart of the finest farming country in West Texas, is getting back to normal faster than you think. A new gin was built there this fall, two new business buildings are now being erected by H. Ohlenbush, that shrewd farmer-business man of more or less Dutch descent. Two other business buildings have been remodelled. A new hardware store, new grocery, and other new business institutions are really doing the business, and the older concerns are enjoying a good business. Of course they may not think they are doing enough business, but that town is coming back and The Times is certain it is going to continue to grow. Colorado could do well to watch this neighboring town. Because, it might be the case of the tortoise and the hare. It doesn't pay to sleep too long. For instance, look what Sweetwater and Big Spring have already done towards gathering the business from Mitchell county. Several Colorado business men told The Times this week that they find a great number of their checks in payment of merchandise are given on Roscoe and Sweetwater banks, and by people who live in Colorado and nearby. In most cases people do most of their shopping where they do their banking business. If that is true too much business is going to those towns from Colorado's trade area. Loraine is not sitting still. That town is progressing some right now. Watch her prosper when President Roosevelt's prosperity train gets moving fast.

Well said Mr. Reid. Loraine lacks quite a lot of being dead although she has been sleeping on the job for several years. Her merchants are beginning to wake up to the fact that all the business will not leave the home town if they are wide awake and do all they can to keep it at home. Loraine will be here a long time if they continue as they are now.

Colorado merchants are sleeping on their rights now. Some of these days they will wake up to the fact that other towns can and will get business that should go to Colorado.

Current Comment
From Washington

To the average reader, Russia still remains Russia, although technically she is the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics. She is both Asiatic and European, and embraces in her area a territory that stretches from the northern part of the Pacific Ocean to the Baltic Sea. Her population, about 147 million, is about equal to that of the United States. By measures of comparatively recent origin, approximately a billion acres of land have been taken from large landholders and distributed to the actual tillers of the soil.

Such, broadly considered, is status of the nation whose representative is now in this country, seeking recognition. It is obvious that, considered from the standpoint of mere size, Russia is not to be overlooked in the family of nations. The United States has claims amounting to about a billion dollars against the Soviet government. That is something which perhaps might be permitted to rest for the present, if there were nothing else to consider. Similar obligations remain unpaid, and the creditor is not saying much about it.

Mr. Hitler, condemned in many quarters as the wild man of Europe, has made at least one sound move. He has arrested a citizen who failed to vote. The plan might be followed with profit in this country. Something should be done with the man who is too engrossed with his private affairs, or too big in his own estimation, to get out to the polls with his fellows.

Repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment seems assured, and the papers give some space to the fashions whiskey glasses that are likely to prevail. There is still considerable legislation to be done on the liquor question, and the dyes, although temporarily in the background, may figure out some sort of a legislative Tantalus cup before all is finished, it being recalled that Tantalus, although provided with a cup, had one of such construction that although it could be filled, emptied itself before it reached the drinker's lips.

Inflation promises to receive the early consideration of Congress, with pointed views expressed on both sides. Years ago, a prominent politician who had acquired more property than he could account for was faced by the question: "How did he get it?" With plenty of money afloat, the man not deeply versed in the money question will not ask how the government got it. With most of us, the old query will remain: "How are we going to get it?"

FARM INCOME AND PAYROLLS GO HAND IN HAND SAYS WALLACE

"It is becoming more and more apparent that farmers cannot climb out of theirs," declared laboring men at the same time climb out of theirs," declared Secretary of Agriculture Wallace in his Des Moines speech recently. "The job of agriculture is to increase its gross income from 5 billion dollars to 11 billion dollars within the next two years. And strange to say, the problem before the workers in the factories is exactly the same thing; namely to increase their total payrolls from 5 billion dollars to 11 billion dollars in the next two years."

"Since 1924, the incomes year by year of these two groups have been almost exactly the same in dollars. As I studied this extraordinary relationship between payrolls and agriculture, I have reached the conclusion that the acres of grain and cotton tend to influence the payrolls, which in turn influence the consumption of livestock, dairy and poultry products. In other words, agriculture is to some extent a cause and to some extent a result of the total payroll situation. They both act, interact, and react on each other, and I think it is foolish for either laboring men or farmers to claim that they are the all important class. The really important thing to remember is that both of them have been hit a terrible wallop and that neither one can go very far in recovery without the other."

Under the Agricultural Adjustment Act the Secretary of Agriculture is directed to restore farm product prices to fair exchange value at the earliest feasible moment. This is to be done by adjusting production to market requirements, and by paying benefits to farmers who cooperate in such adjustment. Farmer's income will be increased by the combination of benefit payments and the higher prices to result from a properly adjusted supply."

ON TEXAS FARMS
By W. H. Darrow, Extension Service Editor

"We used to eat dry stuff all winter and were sick a lot. I weighed 116 pounds and was taking medicine all the time. Now I weigh 136 and haven't taken medicine in months. I think it's all due to the better diet we have now," declares Mrs. W. O. Fish, 4-H pantry demonstrator of the Vivian Home Demonstration Club in Ford county. She has canned 1250 quarts of food for her family of five.

State certified cotton seed made 5.1 bales of cotton on 7 acres for Richard Weischwill of Garfield, DeWitt county, reports the county agent. He stored the seed separately until after ginning season and then ginned it clean for next year's seed.

Canned products and eggs, butter and fresh vegetables are paying the board of Edith Simmons, Huffman 4-H club girl in Harris county, while going to school this winter in Humble. Her schooling is due to her 4-H demonstrations, she says.

Pecan grown on cultivated land produce from 10 per cent to 15 per cent more than trees in pasture. J. M. Blackburn of Navarro county tells the county agent. Twenty-five acres of pecans in a cotton field plowed up are bearing a much heavier crop than trees on uncultivated land, he states.

Minerals fed sows by 4-H club boys in Wheeler county are proving wonders to the dads according to the county agent who reports 179 farm boys raising club pigs.

Because she made and sold 250 cakes this year in the Home Demonstration Club Market in Sulphur Springs, Mrs. Roy Matthews has been able to purchase a new oil range.

FROM THE EDITOR OF THE AMERICAN BOY

In wild Mongolia, Roy Chapman Andrews, famous scientist-explorer, digs up the bones of monsters dead millions of years. In the Zululand of Africa, Carl Von Hoffman, Russian adventurer, sets a trap for a lion. The gripping experiences of famous men will be part of the reading diet in store for boys in 1934, according to word just received from the editor of The American Boy—Youth's Companion.

The issues of 1934 will be crowded with adventure. With Connie Moran in the Arctic, with Douglas Renfrew of the Royal Canadian Mounted, with Jim Tierney, the retired detective who can't stay retired, the American Boy subscriber will enjoy the new experiences of his favorite fiction characters.

Stories that help prepare a boy for college and for business, helpful articles on hobbies and sports and interviews with famous men, will help round out a record-breaking year for the magazine's readers.

The American Boy—Youth's Companion costs just $2.00 a year. Until January 1, 1934, you may obtain a three-year subscription for $3.00, a saving of $3.00 over the one-year rate for three years. If you wish to take advantage of the saving, be sure to get your three-year subscription in before January 1.
