150 MEN BATTLE TO SAVE CANADIAN BRIDGE

Pickets Ordered Driven From Two Steel Plants

RAIN LEAVES FIESTA WITH $1500 DEFICIT

HOWEVER, REFUNDS TO BE MADE ON TICKETS

After announcing that the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce had lost approximately $1,500 on the Fiesta rodeo, due to being rained out of an attendance on both nights, W. B. Weathered, general fiesta chairman, stated last night that refunds will be made to all patrons holding tickets from the Friday night performance.

"An unofficial check-up late Saturday afternoon showed that we are about $1,500 short of meeting expenses on the rodeo," Mr. Weathered said.

"However, we are ready to refund money to any ticket holders who will bring their tickets to the Chamber of Commerce office in City hall any time this week."

Mr. Weathered pointed out that ticket holders must come in person to the Chamber of Commerce office and that phone call and mail requests cannot be handled.

Fiesta officials also asked that it be made clear that no rain insurance was collected, although the Jaycees paid $200 in premiums against loss by rain. The rain fell, but not a sufficient amount within the specified hours covered by the two-day policy.

A complete check of fiesta expenditures and receipts was not available Saturday night. All committee chairmen and others holding bills against the organization were

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 5 (AP)—Republic Steel Corp. fought in two courts today to free its plants from the grip of strikers, and the steel workers organizing committee countered with an arowal "pickets will no longer permit their lines to be broken, cost what it may."

"Sinister and bloody things are in the offing in Youngstown," declared the SWOC's chairman, Phillip Murray, as Republic obtained a court order directing pickets to permit access to its Warren and Niles plants and to give up "clubs" and other weapons.

In Chicago, scene of the strike fighting fatal to seven men last Sunday, Mayor Edward J. Kelly directed Republic to remove by Monday night the men encamped in its plant there. He said building and health regulations were being violated.

These developments came a few hours after police and sheriff's deputies, bearing rifles and tear gas, drove several hundred pickets from a bridge adjoining a Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. plant here.

The pickets had gathered when a locomotive ran a box car of food quickly into the company's grounds.

"I shall use every effort available to protect lives and property," Sheriff Ralph E. Elser declared even as a group of men were using torches to cut spur tracks over which the car had been moved.

"We feel that this action on the part of Sheriff Elser is solely that of strike-breaking," was the reply of John Mayo, SWOC director here.

"The steel union has repeatedly ordered maintenance men to both Youngstown Sheet & Tube and Republic, thereby eliminating the necessity of strike-breakers within the plants."

"The pickets will no longer permit their lines to be broken, cost what it may," he advised Gov. Martin L. Davey of Ohio, whose negotiations to end the strike apparently were stalemated.

The SWOC pressed forward its campaign to "shut off the source of supply" by calling out iron miners

CHICKEN AND BEANS TO BE MENU TUESDAY

BUSINESS MEN TO BE HONORED AT C-C LUNCHEON

A program of fun and fellowship has been arranged for the monthly Chamber of Commerce and Board of City Development luncheon next Tuesday at the First Methodist Church, J. M. Collins, president, stated yesterday.

Honored guests at the luncheon will be 48 local business men who served on committees in the 1937 membership campaign. Half of the workers will be served chicken, while others will eat beans, this being the award offered the workers in a contest announced at the opening of the campaign.

In the words of President Collins, many "wise cracks" are expected to flow back and forth between those at the chicken table and those eating beans.

All members and other interested citizens are extended the usual open invitation to the luncheon. Tickets will be available at the

KENDALL WINS MARBLE TITLE

Frank Kendall, Woodrow Wilson school marble champion, won the Top O' Texas marble tournament at Recreation park Friday afternoon, swamping Joe Cook of McLean 7 to 0.

Both boys will be given trips to the Pan American exposition at Dallas, which was the Texas Centennial exposition last year. However, Frank will be given $10 spending money. The boys will be accompanied by chaperones selected by Pampa's American Legion post and the Pampa Daily News which sponsored the tournament.

Kendall won the tournament in less than five minutes, knocking every one of the marbles out of the ten-foot circle. Paul D. Hill was chairman of the marble committee. Dan Williams was official scorer and Roy Bourland official referee.

Cooke defeated A. J. Southerland of Horace Mann 8 to 0 to enter the finals. Kendall nosed out Don Warren of Sam Houston school 7 to 5 to enter the championship match. Early Humphrey of McLean was also eliminated by Kendall. Others on the marble committee included John Crout, Frank Culberson.

The championship finals were broadcast by Monte Rosenwald of Station KPND. Moving pictures of the "short but sweet" battle were taken.

BEAVER DAM LAKE SITE PLEASES PARK CHIEF

Pleased with surface indications of Beaver Dam as the site of a proposed lake, Capt. R. O. Whiteaker, chief engineer of the Texas state parks board, Friday said that he would recommend to the board that state engineers be sent to the site to make a complete survey of the site and of the drainage area.

Effort will be made to have these engineers begin their survey about July 15. A survey by the county some time ago showed the extent of the site as 800 acres.

The site is on McClellan creek, six miles northwest of Alameda. Capt. Whiteaker's recommendation follows an inspection trip to Beaver Dam made Friday afternoon in company with A. H. Dunlap, engineer and member of the state board of water engineers. County Judge Sherman White, Commissioners John Haggard, Thomas O. Kirby, M. M. Newman, and Dr. R. A. Webb and W. C. DeCordova.

17 Intentions To Drill Filed In Plains Area

Rodeo Queen Named. Rain interfered with the ceremony planned for the coronation of the Top O' Texas Fiesta queen, at the rodeo Friday night. The coronation of Miss Mabel Grogan of McLean occurred at 9:15 p. m., as a group of Jaycees presented Miss Grogan with a gold crown, and a silver loving cup. Bouquets were presented to the other contestants. The coronation had been planned to take place in front of the grandstand, but the rain caused the plan to be altered.

BRISCOE SAYS 4-DAY FIGHT BELIEVED WON

WATER RECESSES; CREST DUE TO ARRIVE TODAY

CANADIAN, June 5 — One hundred and fifty men battling with sandbags, sand and gravel against a roaring 14-foot crest sweeping down the Canadian river from New Mexico into Texas late Saturday, believed they had won their four-day fight to save approaches to the Santa Fe Railroad bridge at Canadian.

At 10:30 o'clock last night, Supt. Briscoe announced that he believed the bridge was safe for the time being. At that hour, the expected crest of the flood had not arrived, and was not expected before tomorrow. At 6 o'clock Saturday afternoon the river was bank full, but four hours later the water had receded until sand banks were visible.

Four days and nights workmen had worked to keep the flood waters from further undermining the south approaches to the bridge.

The crest reached an all-time high at Logan, N. M.

The swollen stream on its second rampage in a week, already had claimed one life. Lawson Stevens, cowboy, drowned today as he attempted to drive horses across a stream near old Tascosa, near Vega, Oldham county. His body had not been recovered.

Traffic on highway 29, at Bluffton, near Llano, was routed by way of the Buchanan dam when flood waters of the Colorado river crossed the road.

Normal freight and passenger service was restored on the Fort Worth

BOOKIES WILL GET AXE NEXT SAYS ALLRED

AUSTIN, June 4 (AP)—Legislators will turn their swords on the horse race bookmakers and the dog track operators next week, having completed the job of outlawing certificate betting at horse race tracks.

Gov. James V. Allred had promised that as soon as repeal of the law permitting certificate wagering was out of the way he would submit legislation prohibiting dog track bets and putting teeth in the statutes against bookmaking and other forms of gambling.

The remainder of the special session likely will be an anti-climax. The chief purpose for which the lawmakers were convened nine days ago was to terminate racing under the artificial system of betting.

Legislators held different opinions concerning when the session would end. Some believed they might be able to go home one week from tonight but others felt the session would last the full 30 days.

The chief executive said he would submit disposition of the blooded jacks and stallions purchased and distributed with part to the proceeds of the repealed racing law. He added that he also might allow the legislators to consider some other matter but did not contemplate asking for passage of any other major measures.

Repeal of the wagering law was considered throughout the week but its fate was decided Thursday in the Senate. Repeated overwhelming House expressions for repeal surprised no one as the House had voted in like fashion in the long regular session which ended three days before the current session began.

The Senate beat amendments back, engrossed the repeal bill and passed it in one day. Repealists mustered an 18 to 13 vote on final passage but had a bare one-vote margin in the preliminary maneuvering and killed a move to reconsider final passage only 18 to 14.

Within two and one-half hours after convening yesterday, the House got committee action on the Senate's repeal bill, repulsed efforts to amend it, engrossed it and passed it finally by a 5 to 1 majority. The fact it was not altered meant it would reach Governor Allred's desk Monday. His approval was assured.

The effective date of repeal will depend on when the legislature adjourns. Since it did not receive a two-thirds vote in the Senate, it will not go into effect until 90 days after the session's end.

Twelve Townsend Executives Resign

CHICAGO, June 5 (AP)—Dr. Francis E. Townsend conferred with associates and refused any comment today after 12 major executives of his old age pension movement submitted their resignations.

The mass resignation of national officers was announced by J. W. Brinton, vice president and general manager of the Townsend National Recovery Plan, Inc., and of the Townsend weekly, after he and 11 other key executives had signed a formal statement criticizing the elderly California physician for carrying on "a fight against legislation proposed by the President which has no bearing on the Townsend plan."

FRD ON CRUISE
WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—President Roosevelt embarked at the navy yard today for a week-end cruise on the Potomac river. Accompanying the President on the cruise were James Roosevelt, his wife and their daughter Sara; Harry L. Hopkins, works progress administrator, and Mrs. Hopkins; Robert H. Jackson, assistant attorney general, and Mrs. Jackson, and Miss Margaret Lehand, a personal secretary. The President will return tomorrow evening.

$160,933 JUDGMENT RETURNED BY JURY AGAINST FLORENCE

DALLAS, June 5 (AP)—A judgment for $160,933.40 against Fred F. Florence and the Republic National Bank was returned today in favor of R. E. Crummer of Chicago by a jury in United States district court.

Money obtained by loan from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for holders of bonds of the Hidalgo and Comeron county water control and improvement district number nine was involved. The defendants denied in general claims of Crummer. They have 30 days in which to appeal.

Crummer alleged Florence represented to him that an R. F. C. loan of $699.90 per share was made on provision that the difference between that value and book value would be made up to certain institutions holding bonds to bolster their financial condition.

He claimed that he accepted $504.70 per bond on this understanding, but that defendants did not pay the institutions named the difference. The amount involved was $160,933.40.

He claimed that Florence had been called into conference when the water district began defaulting on certain bonds, and that the bank president said the institution had great influence with the R. F. C. and that a loan could be obtained through its aid and influence.

PECOS RIVER CREST NO MENACE TO DAM

CARLSBAD, June 5 (AP)—L. E. Foster, U. S. reclamation superintendent here, said tonight fear that McMillan dam might not hold off the crest of the Pecos river flood expected tomorrow, had been dispelled.

"We feel the amount of water now expected," said Foster, "is not a menace to the dam. We think now there is adequate protection."

Foster said the reservoirs now can handle two and one-half feet more water before it is threatened. The dam was further fortified today with sandbags.

Residents of Carlsbad and the surrounding valley, after making plans to evacuate earlier in the week for the most part were contented tonight that they were safe from an invasion of the river and made no move to flee their homes.

Thousands Pack Stands for Rodeo

Here's a cross-section of the Friday afternoon crowd at the Top O' Texas rodeo at Pampa Downs. Thousands enjoyed the thrills as cowboys from every western state rode the broncs, bull-dogged wild steers, roped calves and engaged in some trick and fancy roping for the benefit of the customers. In the smaller picture at the bottom are a cowboy and a cowgirl from the Ramsey Flying Clouds, racing back into the camera and acknowledging the cheers of the crowds after a mad dash of expert trick riding off the far end of the grandstand.

AL SMITH TALKS TO DICTATOR MUSSOLINI

ROME, June 5 (AP)—Al Smith talked to Benito Mussolini today but what they said is tentatively stored away under Al's brown derby.

The former governor of New York came from Florence to see Il Duce. They talked in English for 15 minutes.

"We banged it off fifty-fifty," Al said later. "I interviewed him half the time and he interviewed me half the time. We each had a batting average of .500."

But what Al said to Benito and vice versa is still pretty much of a secret.

"I'm going to write about that myself," Smith said. Al did say he told the Premier he still treasured the autographed photograph Mussolini sent him in 1924.

Asked whether he gave the fascist salute when he entered Il Duce's great office, Smith replied: "I don't know what I did. That escaped me."

MOON ASTRAY.
LONDON, June 5 (AP)—The moon is moving off its calculated course, no less an authority than the astronomer royal, Dr. H. Spencer Jones, announced today. Dr. Jones was addressing the annual meeting of the observatory's board of visitors. He said the moon's deflection was "a mystery" to science.

AMELIA IN BRAZIL.
FORTALEZA, Brazil, June 5 (AP)—Amelia Earhart paused at this northeast Brazil seaport today to have the control apparatus of her round-the-world monoplane adjusted. She planned to leave about 5 a. m. tomorrow on a 287-mile hop to Natal, near South America's easternmost point. If weather reports are favorable, she said, she will take off tomorrow from Natal on her 1,900-mile trans-Atlantic crossing, to Dakar, French Senegal.

LEADERS SEE ADJOURNMENT BY LABOR DAY

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—House chiefs looked over the legislative slate with President Roosevelt today and returned to the capitol with predictions that Congress probably would be in session until late summer.

Speaker Bankhead and House Majority Leader Rayburn described the President as anxious for Congress to act before adjournment on: Revamping the Supreme Court, reorganizing governmental agencies, setting wage and hour standards, planning conservation of water, soil and power resources, aiding farm tenants, building low cost dwellings, closing loopholes used by tax dodgers, and extending nuisance taxes.

"Mr. Roosevelt," Bankhead said, "didn't insist on anything being passed but urged that we try to get all these matters through as soon as possible."

"I think we'll be here until the end of August," Rayburn remarked. "I'm somewhat of a pessimist on adjournment," the speaker said, "but I certainly hope to be in Alabama on Labor day."

Planning and conservation legislation was the only addition today to a program disclosed by Senate Majority Leader Robinson after a conference at the White House Thursday night. Congressional leaders said they looked for no more major suggestions for legislation this session.

The Roosevelt proposal to add five justices to the Supreme Court unless incumbents past 70 retire remained the big hurdle in the path to adjournment. Bankhead and Rayburn said they discussed it only generally at the White House.

Bankhead said the House would take no action on it until it appeared an agreement had been reached in the Senate. He said there might be some "development" in the other branch "in the next week," but that was "just a guess."

Administration leaders in the Senate are hinting compromise, and there has been speculation that they would be willing to take two or three new judges.

ROCKEFELLER LEAVES 'ONLY' 25 MILLIONS

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., June 5 (AP)—The "relatively small" estate left by John D. Rockefeller, Sr., turned out today to be approximately $25,000,000, which may shrink to $10,000,000 by the time the tax collectors are through.

Principal beneficiaries named in the capitalist's will, which was filed here for probate, were Mrs. Margaret Strong de Cuevas, a granddaughter, and the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research.

Mr. Rockefeller explained in a codicil dated Oct. 3, 1934, that he already had made ample provision for his other heirs.

Much of the tremendous fortune he developed during the first half of his life from the Standard Oil trust, mines, railroads and numerous other enterprises had been spread over a variety of philanthropic institutions long before he died, on May 23 at Ormond Beach, Fla. The rest had been distributed among members of the family.

While neither affirming nor denying that his fortune once was well in excess of two billion dollars, his public relations counselors announced at the time of his death that his estate was "relatively small" and "very liquid."

His public benefactions totaled $530,830,000, and extended into every corner of the world.

"I have always indulged the hope," he once said, "that during my life I should be able to establish efficiency in giving, so that wealth may be of greater use to the present and future generations. If the people can be educated to help themselves, we strike at the root of many evils of the world."

The petition for the probate of his will listed his personal holdings as "over $10,000." The $25,000,000 estimate was supplied by persons familiar with his affairs.

As originally drawn on June 2, 1925, the will directed that the residuary estate be divided equally between his son, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and the Laura Spelman Rockefeller Foundation, organized in 1918 in memory of his wife.

Codicils were added on May 14, 1930, and Nov. 4, 1932, but they were of no particular importance in the light of the final codicil, which made a radical change in the disposition of the estate.

By the final codicil the entire residuary estate was left in trust to Mrs. De Cuevas and her children. The three trustees, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Bertram Cutler, a corporation director, and Thomas M. Debevoise, attorney, were empowered in their discretion to pay the income to Mrs. De Cuevas, to her children, or to the Rockefeller Institute for medical research.

On the death of Mrs. De Cuevas the trust is to be divided among her descendants and in turn, passed on in principal to her grandchildren, with the proviso that if there are no descendants living it is to revert to the Rockefeller Institute.

In explaining the bequest, Mr. Rockefeller wrote: I am setting up this trust for the benefit of my granddaughter Margaret and her descendants because when the time came that I felt administering substantial sums and for that purpose made large gifts to or for them, my oldest daughter Bessie, the mother of my grand-daughter Margaret, was not living."

Bessie Rockefeller Strong died on Nov. 4, 1906. Her husband, Dr. Charles Augustus Strong, former professor of psychology at the University of Chicago, now lives in Fiesole, Italy.

Their daughter was married Aug. 3, 1927 to George de Cuevas, a Spanish marquis. They maintain a home at Lakewood, N. J., but spend most of their time abroad. They are traveling there now with their two daughters, Elizabeth and John.

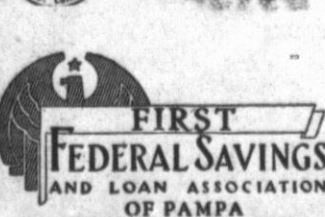

Internal Revenue officials in Washington estimated the maximum taxes on the estate, if it amounts to $25,000,000, would be $15,112,600. A little less than one-third, or about $4,350,000 of this, would go to New York State.

A "sweet" sweet clover is being developed by department of agriculture forage experts.

land and Lewis of Washington hit home runs today when Johnny Whitehead shut out the Philadelphia Athletics 2 to 0 on nine hits. Zeke Bonura's eighth home run, at the start of the sixth inning, cracked George Caster's scoreless duel with Whitehead.

While a crowd of nearly 2,000 looked on and alternately cheered and groaned, horse racing was introduced to Pampa yesterday afternoon at Recreation park by the Pampa Downs Jockey club.

Racing fans were treated to the spectacle of hairline finishes, arrival of outsiders first under the wire and sensational riding especially by R. Connor, apprentice jockey, who brought three horses home in first place, two in second position and one third in his eight rides of the day.

A newcomer to this section was Jockey W. Boner, one of America's outstanding jockeys. Boner was injured several months ago at St. Louis and is here to get in shape before returning to the big time. Boner piloted three horses opening day but brought only one home in the money.

Horse Leaves Track.
The thrill of the day was in the seventh race when Cross Fire 2nd decided to head for the stables rounding the turn into the home stretch. With Jockey D. Fulcher fighting furiously, Cross Fire 2nd left the track, jumped the guard rail and slid down an embankment. The jockey clung to his horse and managed to get him under control and back on the track.

The veteran Bill Wade, owned by J. Palmore, was claimed for $200 in the seventh race. The new owner is G. S. Landes of Missouri. Bill Wade placed second in the race.

Nearly $10,000 was wagered on the races.

Daily Double Large.
When Sis Pace drove home ahead in the second race to pay $10.10 for a $2 ticket, daily double holders collected $92.60. Jolly Pilot took the opening race, paying $32.90 to win.

Oleman Sunshine broke in front in the opening race with Jesse James second but Billy Kahn fessed to the front about the halfway mark. Making the last turn, Jolly Pilot made his big bid and came from fourth place to win by a neck from Jesse James. Billy Kahn nosed out Mere Wave for show.

Jockey Connor brought Sis Pace from third position to win the second race in a driving finish. Bay Arnold was a close second with Eagle Feathers taking show position from Nigrescent.

The third race saw Jesse Dean and Buddy Nile battle down the home stretch with the lady taking the wire first. Annie Centennial pulled up third, shaking off Compton 2.

Another longshot came to the fore on the final turn in the fourth race when Dave T jumped in front and held off Sally Lou. Prompt Return, heavily backed, placed third, defeating Ervase who finished strong.

Close Finishes.
The third lady of the day took the fifth event when Miss St. Joe nosed out The Judge in a driving finish with Marvetime a close third in front of Weedidit, a C. N. Brewer horse.

S. Landis' well backed Finger Wave came home front in the sixth race with Olepal a close second and Solable driving in third. Port Andy showed a clear pair of heels to the field for the first half of the distance but failed to hold the pace and finished fifth as Milandra came through on the stretch.

Easter Bob upset the dope in the seventh event when he stretched under the wire a nose ahead of Bill Wade who made a comeback after losing stride when Cross Fire 2nd left the track. Donald K was in third position.

Genevieve piloted by Jockey Lasswell, came from behind on the turn to take the eighth race from Empress Pelota who put up a magnificent battle. Reported to be a bad actor at the gate, the Empress behaved like a lady and broke fast. Joe Kreiger, the favorite, faltered on the home stretch and was passed.

Ben D. with Jockey Maskrid at the helm, raced to victory in the nightcap, nosing out Twinkling Eye, a favorite. St. Richard came up strong to place third ahead of Silver Grand.

Next Races Monday.
There will be no racing today, Monday the meet will be resumed with eight races. Some of the best horses in the southwest will be entered. Yesterday's feature races were the fifth and sixth when horses that have been winners on major tracks participated. Both races were run in the same time.

Officials of the Pampa Downs Jockey club are Dr. M. C. Overton Jr., Dr. R. M. Bellamy, and John Roby. Meet officers are Alex Schneider, presiding steward; John Morrissey, Port Worth, state steward; Steve Brodie, assistant steward and racing secretary; J. B. Parker, starter; J. McKown, clerk of scales; G. Thompson, paddock judge; H. B. Gooch, mutual manager; C. Lowe, concession manager.

Representatives of the Texas Racing commission is DeWitt Morse, who has seven assistants here with him.

DIZZY WINS ANOTHER.

PHILADELPHIA, June 5 (AP)—Dizzy Dean, suspended for three days for "popping off," returned to action today and, although he struck out three times, pitched the St. Louis Cardinals to a 3 to 1 victory over the Phillies. It was his seventh victory of the season against four defeats.

Dizzy complained of a sore arm before the game, but it must have been his left one because he yielded only six hits, issued only one base on balls and struck out seven. In the sixth when Scharein singled and Chuck Klein doubled with only one out, Dizzy, complained of the heat and called time while he sat down on the pitcher's mound to cool off.

LOUIS WOULD FIGHT GERMAN IN SEPTEMBER

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, June 5 (AP)—If Joe Louis beats James J. Braddock for the world's heavyweight title in Chicago June 22, the bomber will make his first title defense against Max Schmeling here in September.

This was decided today when the Schmeling board of strategy accepted a challenge signed by Louis and Julian Black, one of his managers, received a few hours before Max sailed on the liner Hamburg.

Louis said that if he beats Braddock he stands ready to meet Schmeling in a 15-round battle with the title involved. The only stipulations are the bout must be held in the United States in September of this year, with Mike Jacobs as the promoter.

Schmeling at first denied he had received the challenge, but Manager Joe Jacobs and Trainer Max Machon said he was only stalling and that he had agreed to terms with Jacobs a few hours earlier.

"It is a matter of pride with Max," said Jacobs. "He doesn't want to announce acceptance until the challenge has appeared in the papers. He wants the American people to know that Louis came to him."

Jacobs, who plans to stage the bout either in the Yankee stadium or Polo grounds, said Max held out for and was promised 30 per cent of the net gate. Louis has agreed to work for a similar amount.

This is unusual since the champion usually insists on 42½ per cent, with the challenger drawing down 12½.

Schmeling also insisted on a say in who shall get the radio and motion picture rights.

If Braddock retains his title in Chicago, Jacobs plans to try to pit him against Max.

COACH TO ASK BAUGH TO EXPLAIN 'JOBS'

FORT WORTH, June 5 (AP)—In quest for "what's what" information, Leo (Dutch) Meyer, football coach at Texas Christian university, will interview Sam Baugh, his freshman coach in Wichita Falls tomorrow.

The Frogs' gridiron head man has announced he must learn definitely whether the Slinger is going to join his coaching staff or live up to his recently signed contract to play professional football for the Washington Redskins.

Baugh is in Wichita Falls playing baseball with a Pampa semi-pro club.

Betty Jameson Defeats Miley In Golf Finals

SAN ANTONIO, June 5 (AP)—Betty Jameson, 18-year-old Betty Jameson plowed under two Curtis Cup stars, one the defending titleholder, today, and marched into the finals of the women's Trans-Mississippi golf tournament with her teen age pal, Patty Berg.

Mechanically the Texas champion smothered Miss Marion Miley of Lexington, Ky., champion the last two years, in a semi-final match, 5 and 3, that followed her one-up triumph over Mrs. Opal S. Hill, Kansas City veteran and four times winner of the "trans" title.

Tomorrow the two high school seniors go the 36-hole route for the crown topped from Miss Miley's head by the husky Texan.

Miss Jameson, who only six weeks ago walked still another Curtis Cup team member, Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite of Fort Worth, in the final of the Texas championship, was given women's par in her parade to the finals today.

Miss Jameson's conquest of Miss Miley turned into a rout after they left the first green. Winner of the first hole with a par four when she buried a six foot putt, she played without error and matched men's par in winning six of the first seven holes.

Miss Miley won a hole back at the eighth when she laid Miss Jameson a stylike and they turned the nine with Miss Jameson five up. At the 181-yard par three tenth Miss Miley hooked her tee shot out of bounds and went six down again.

The Kentucky youngster, far off her game, started a rally when six down and six to play, winning the 482-yard thirteenth with a birdie four and picking up the fourteenth with a par. Miss Jameson, however, squelched the threat by slamming in a 15-footer for a birdie three at the fifteenth.

Earlier Miss Jameson had won a see-saw battle from Mrs. Hill at the home hole after leading from the eighth tee. One down after the seventeenth hole, Miss Jameson birdied seven and eight and nursed her lead through the finish.

KING BEATS CITIES SERVICE AS PHILLIPS LOSES 2-1 TILT

Two extra inning games featured play in the Industrial Softball league Friday evening when King Oil defeated Cities Service 5 to 2 in nine innings and Stanolind outlasted Phillips to win 2 to 1, also in nine innings. Danciger downed Coltex 8 to 2 in the other game reported.

Poe and Campbell tangled in a pitching duel with Campbell allowing two hits, which coupled a pair of errors in the ninth, gave King Oil the winning runs. Both hurlers settled down in the clinches. Sheridan and Dord were opposing receivers.

Not an earned run was registered in the Stanolind-Phillips battle which saw another hurling duel between Chisum of Stanolind and J. Dewey of Phillips. Worley caught Chisum with R. Dewey receiving for his brother.

Danciger collected 11 hits off Witherspoon as Patrick hurled five-hit ball. Leake, a new receiver, was behind the plate for Danciger. Maxey caught Witherspoon.

Stanolind won a 4 to 2 game from Coltex in a postponed game Thursday evening to jump at the league lead.

Although temperature extremes in the British Isles are not so great as in the United States, the British are showing widespread interest in air-conditioning.

OILERS BEAT WICHITA-LOSE TO CEMENTERS

A loss in Duncan, Okla., Friday night and a lopsided victory in Wichita Falls yesterday afternoon gave the Pampa Oilers an even break on their road trip this week-end. The Oilers will play in Wichita Falls again this afternoon.

Duncan's hard-hitting Halliburton Cementers downed the Oilers 9 to 5 in a well-played game Friday night. A home run by Cliff, former House of David star, put the Cementers in front.

The Oilers downed Wichita Falls 21 to 1 yesterday afternoon with Lefty Cox bagging home runs and Sain, Summers and McLarry getting one each. Cox and Summers hit two doubles each and Hutton and Sain one each.

Score by innings; Friday night game:

Pampa 001 200 011—5 8 2
Duncan 010 010 034—9 11 1

Score by innings, yesterday afternoon game:

Pampa 322 141 323—21 19 1
Wichita Falls 001 000 000—1 4 4

Batteries: Hutton and Sain; Mann, Ellison, Lewis and Graham.

BRADDOCK WILL BE 31 YEARS OLD TOMORROW

GRAND BEACH, Mich., June 5 (AP)—Heavyweight champion Jim Braddock started celebrating today what he says will be the happiest birthday anniversary of his life.

The "Cinderella man of boxing," who only a few years ago was a number one on the New Jersey relief rolls, will be 31 years old Monday, record books which say he will be 32 notwithstanding.

Before him—on the night of June 22 at Chicago—is a million dollar "gate" bout with Joe Louis. And next fall, take it from him, he'll be battling none other than Max Schmeling for another piece of real money.

The titleholder, who says quietly he is "in 100 per cent better shape now than when I beat Max Baer two years ago," was in a happy mood to-night when he cut loose against five sparrows, using his left almost continually. The champion gave Max Roach of Dallas a pummeling for two rounds.

The record books say the champion will be 32 Monday. Manager Gould said when Braddock was 20 he intentionally added a year to his age to permit him to fight 10 round bouts in New York, which requires boxers going that distance to be 21 or more.

A law passed in 1931 forbids Pennsylvania auctioneers from handing out free drinks to speed up the bidding.

WAR ADMIRAL WINS $50,000 BELMONT RACE

NEW YORK, June 5 (AP)—War Admiral, the mighty little son of Man O'War flashed a record-smashing display of speed today to capture the classic Belmont stakes with ease and become the fourth three-year-old in thoroughbred history to wear the prized "triple crown."

Despite an injury to his right forequarter at the very start, where the odds-on-favorite in the seven-horse field kicked himself and nearly went down, War Admiral spurred quickly to the front, kept full command all the way.

The sensational Samuel D. Riddle colt galloped home four good lengths in front of Maxwell Hill, a 1937 Scenicrider, with the long-shot Bamosee in third place, ten lengths further back, and the highly-rated Pompoon a badly whipped sixth. Pompoon, which had chased War Admiral home in the Kentucky derby and Preakness this spring, never was a contender.

Although under no pressure at any stage and not touched once by Jockey Charley Kursinger's whip, War Admiral equalled the American record and knocked a fifth-second of his daddy's track record by stepping the mile and a half in 2:28 3-5. Handy Mandy, carrying 109, set that mark in 1927.

A crowd of 35,000, one of the greatest in Belmont history acclaimed the three-year-old king. War Admiral went to the post the 9 to 10 choice but won like a 1 to 10 shot. The victory added $38,000 to the colt's rapidly mounting earnings now totalling $144,620 for this season and $159,420 for two years of racing.

COCHRANE LEAVES HOSPITAL

NEW YORK, June 5 (AP)—Mickey Cochrane, injured manager of the Detroit Tigers, started home tonight to complete his recovery from a triple skull fracture in a Detroit hospital. The star backstop, who suffered the fracture when "beamed" by Irvin (Bump) Hadley of the Yankees May 25, was taken from St. Elizabeth's hospital here and placed in a special car aboard "The Detroit" due to reach Detroit tomorrow morning.

HURT BY PITCHED BALL

NEW YORK, June 5 (AP)—Fred Schulte, Pittsburgh Pirates' utility outfielder, was injured by a pitched ball in today's game with the Giants, but physicians said tonight x-ray examinations showed no sign of a fracture. One of rookie Cliff Melton's slants hit Schulte high on the head and knocked him unconscious in the eighth inning of the game. He was carried to the clubhouse, where he regained consciousness, and afterward was taken to Polyclinic hospital.

LINDY PRAISES ROCKET IDEAS OF PROFESSOR

WORCESTER, Mass., June 5 (AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh today saw in the rocket experiments of a publicity-shy Massachusetts university professor a possible answer to aviation's hope for a new high speed in transportation.

The aviator-scientist lauded the experimental work of Professor Robert H. Goddard of Clark University in a letter read at the Clark commencement exercises.

Colonel Lindbergh compared Goddard's research with the aeronautical pioneering of Langley and Wright 41 years ago.

"From the standpoint of commerce," Lindbergh wrote, "we must look to the rocket if we hope to attain speeds of transport above a few hundred miles an hour."

"As the airplane gave man freedom from the earth the rocket offers him freedom from the air."

The rocket offers the only known possibility of sending instruments to altitudes above those reached by sounding balloons.

His letter was written from England to President Wallace W. Atwood of Clark and brought an immediate response from figures prominent in the annals of experimental aeronautics.

Such eminent aeronautical scientists as Professor Alexander Klemm of the Daniel Guggenheim School of Aeronautics at New York University and Fred W. Kessler of New York, a rocket enthusiast who set off the first rocket flight carrying U. S. mail, hailed Lindbergh's views with satisfaction.

All had words of praise for the unassuming Clark professor, who for 30 years has experimented with power rockets.

Goddard's researches began in the vicinity of Worcester and what is now Fort Devens, near Ayer, Mass. In 1930, he took his experiments to the open stretches of New Mexico.

The Worcester professor first perfected methods of propulsion and control of rockets and then sought a vehicle that would pierce the mysteries of the stratosphere. Ultimately, his powerful cylinders attained a speed of 700 miles per hour.

Goddard's experimental rockets resemble very closely on a large scale the Fourth-of-July variety of sky-rockets. They are approximately a foot in diameter and about twelve feet long, with pointed noses and four fins at their tails.

in Minnesota and Michigan. Workers at two plants were idle because Republic was unable to unload shipments at its mills.

With the strike in its 11th day, Republic, Sheet & Tube and the Inland Steel Co. showed no signs of retreat from their stand that signing of a contract with the SWOC would lead to "a closed shop and the check-off." Nor did the union relinquish its insistence that signed contracts were necessary to send 73,000 men, idle in seven states, back to work.

Tension grew in Ohio's Mahoning Valley, where more than 30,000 men are idle. Hot words flew across the barred gates of steel plants.

The order issued by Judge Lynn B. Griffith of the state common pleas court at nearby Warren, directed pickets and union leaders to refrain from interfering with the free access of employees and their "free return to their homes."

The alternative writ ordered the defendants to comply or show cause next Thursday why an injunction should not be granted.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, June 5. (AP)—Quiet demand for farm implement shares and specialties helped to keep today's stock market on balance.

But profit selling made its appearance after an early forward tilt and extreme advances were pared or cancelled in many instances. Small fractional gains were in the majority at the finish.

The gold problem continued to hold the attention of Wall Street, but yesterday's assurance of the President regarding maintenance of the price of the yellow metal seemed to have buoyed both speculative and investment sentiment to some extent.

At the same time stock traders showed little inclination to resume the buying move which swept the list upward late Friday. Many cashed in following the opening on the theory the belated rally may have been a flash in the pan due to the protracted decline and the drying up of offerings.

It was the slowest Saturday session in a month, transfers totaling $42,440 shares. The Associated Press average of 60 issues managed to emerge .1 of a point higher at 67.5.

Sporadic strikes in plants of General Motors and Chrysler were settled, but the former's stock was off .4 at 55 1/2, and the latter's yielded .3 at 118 1/2.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, June 5. (AP)—Cotton fluctuated narrowly today and although weather and crop advice were favorable final prices were unchanged to 5 points up compared with the previous close.

Trading was limited to evening-up for the week-end and when liquidation developed was absorbed by shorts covering and a little trade buying.

July contracts closed at 12.63, Oct. at 12.68, Dec. at 12.75, Jan. at 12.79, March at 12.83 and May at 12.85. Spots were unchanged with middling selling at 13.04.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 5. (AP)—Violent downward plunges of wheat prices today, 4 1/2 cents a bushel in some cases, resulted largely from hurried liquidating sales on the part of holders.

Decided improvement of 1937 wheat crop prospects in the United States appeared to be the principal underlying factor. Besides, heavy beneficial rains fell in domestic spring wheat areas, and the weekly forecast indicated helpful cool clear weather throughout the winter wheat region.

An unexpected drop in Liverpool quotations due much to start today's selling stampede. With unofficial predictions current too that the domestic winter wheat yield would approximate 700,000,000 bushels, an amount 50,000,000 bushels more than recently forecast, wheat prices here reached the lowest level touched in the last six months, about 23 cents a bushel under the season's peak made early in April.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were around the day's bottom figures, 3 to 4 1/2 cents below yesterday's finish, July 1.06 1/2, Sept. 1.06 1/2, Oct. 1.09, 1.09 1/2, corn 1 1/2, 2 1/2 off, July 1.19 1/2, Sept. 1.06 1/2, Dec. 77-77 1/2, oats 1 1/2, 2 1/2 down, July 39 1/2, and rye showing 3-3 1/2 setback, July 88 1/2. The outcome in provisions was unchanged to 12 cents lower.

CATTLEMAN'S FLOAT.

The name of Henry Coffee of Pampa, who rode on the Early Pampa handle Cattleman's float, was unintentionally omitted from the list published in Friday's issue. Those riding on the Early Cattleman's float in the Fiesta parades were J. S. Wynne, Henry Coffee, John Arnot, Claude Brummett, H. H. Ingerton, Ed Brainerd, and H. J. Lippold.

H.D. CLUBS
ARE BUSY
IN SUMMER

Summer programs of Home Demonstration clubs and girls' 4-H clubs are starting this month, and will be preliminary to a series of achievement day meetings early in July, and trips to the annual state short course at College Station later next month.

Mrs. Julia E. Kelley, county agent, is visiting in the homes of all 4-H club girls. She visited 44 girls last week, and has about that number of others yet to see. Individual help is being given on the girls' projects.

Next week she will meet with two groups of women to discuss organization of new clubs. Both groups are wives of Cabot company employees, and plans for the meetings have been made with the assistance of Ben Guill, personnel director for that company. Cabot club houses will be the meeting places for women at the carbon plant Tuesday at 2:30, and those at Kingsmill Thursday at 9:30 a. m.

Demonstrations this month are on the subject, "Gardens for Prosperity, Health, and Convenience." Each club at its alternate meeting in June will discuss, labor-saving devices for the kitchen, preparing for Kitchen Achievement day in July.

YOUR

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

There is no greater brain exerciser in the world than questions and answers in any form whatsoever.

There are riddles, "ask-me-another," cross-word puzzles and pictures to guess, as well as the cartoons for children containing hidden objects in the intricate lines.

Any and every one of these are not only brain developers and thought provokers, but their hold on interest makes them invaluable.

Children are always interested in the regulation I. Q. questionnaires used by schools for grading purposes. Anything they have to guess gives a fillip to imagination and elevates pride no end when they get the right answer.

There is a game that grown-ups play occasionally when a party begins to die on their hands. This is to describe a simple object in a room, not too apparent, and make the others guess. Astonishing, really, how unobservant most people are.

One mother deliberately set a bait to get her teen-age children to read some of the classics in the library.

She related a plot, and added that the first child to read that story and identify it, could take a trip with her later on. She was fair and named a dozen authors, but those three read assiduously much of Shakespeare, Scott and Mark Twain, as well as other notables in literature, before Mary discovered that "David Elsmore" was the answer. Don't feel too badly for the others, because this is a versatile woman, and the losers were given other chances.

Children love to guess, however, regardless of reward.

On a rainy day, it takes no time at all to outline a few questions that are fair to all the children, regardless of age, based on school lessons past and present.

Make Games Family Affairs

Furthermore, it doesn't hurt to make it a family affair and show up father. Or, if dad makes up the list, to give mother a chance to go to the foot of the class while Johnny stalks up to bed glowing with pride because he made 90.

After all, we cannot call such games "guessing." They are based on knowledge, on observation and deduction.

Children love to use their wits, yes. They adore spelling bees, of course.

Watch eyes shine and spirits pick up when there is something interesting to work on. The idle mind, the bored brain, is fertile ground for complaint and discontent. When a parent brings out some kind of a "jungle-gym" for mental muscles to do acrobatics on, almost at once the air clears and all is well again.

Fiesta Queen

A Gray county girl, Miss Mabel Grogan of McLean, was winner of the Top O' Texas Fiesta queen contest. She was awarded a crown and a silver loving cup by the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce at the rodeo Friday night.

Her Wedding Will Be on Thursday

A June bride-elect is Miss Lillian Mullinax, above, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Mullinax. Her marriage to James H. Baldwin of Borger will be solemnized Thursday at her parents' home here. Miss Mullinax has been a teacher in Sam Houston school, and the faculty here complimented her with a luncheon before the term ended recently.

GARDEN CLUB WILL VIEW YARDS FRIDAY

Garden club members, looking forward to their annual yard tour, hope for a fair June morning Friday. If the weather permits, they will breakfast at Central park at 7:30, then start their trip to beautiful gardens.

Mrs. Lee Waggoner is chairman of the garden tour committee, with Mmes. Ray J. Hagan, Earle Scheig, W. C. Landrum, and B. C. Fahy as other members.

This group is making plans for the breakfast and also is mapping an itinerary for the trip. It has not been completed yet, and will depend to some extent upon the weather, but it will include a number of interesting garden spots in the city and perhaps to some homes outside the city limits.

Class Gives Tea
As Courtesy for
Mrs. J. A. Meek

A tea given by Dorcas class of First Baptist Sunday school in the home of Mrs. Bonnie Rose Wednesday afternoon honored Mrs. J. A. Meek, teacher of the class for a number of years. A variety of summer flowers decorated the room.

Iced tea and wafers were served the guests as they arrived. A program included a vocal solo, "Cradle Song," Brahms, by Mrs. H. W. Miner; readings, "Baby," McDonald, and "Sing Me to Sleep," Bond, by Mrs. Tom Duvall; and a piano solo by Miss Elsie Lane.

Mrs. Earl Ellis sang "When My Dream Boat Comes In," as little Charlotte Miner and Margery Lancaster presented a pink and blue boat loaded with gifts to Mrs. Meek. Guests were Mmes. W. A. Breining, W. M. Voyles, E. L. Anderson, R. W. Tucker, Claude Lard, L. H. Anderson, L. P. Ward, V. L. Dickinson, Robert F. Hodge, S. C. McFarlane, Cecil Lunsford, A. C. Post, C. E. Lancaster, Meek, Miss Kate Anderson, and those on program.

The hostess committee included Mmes. Rose, S. O. Garner, Dee Campbell, and Bo Barrett.

Kingsmill Women
Talk of Gardens

Planting a wide variety of vegetables in the garden gives a greater choice for well-balanced meals later in the summer. Kingsmill Home Demonstration club members were told at a recent meeting. Members reported that their gardens are now furnishing fresh foods, and promise an abundance for canning.

Refreshments were served to 11 members and two visitors, Mrs. B. F. McCarley and Mrs. Amos Walker.

At another recent meeting, 16 members were present to hear a talk by Mrs. Julia E. Kelley, county agent, on "Lightening Household Tasks." She showed pictures demonstrating postures best for various types of work, adding that least energy is spent when reclining.

She advised housewives to do as much of their work as possible while seated, and to arrange equipment for a minimum of bending and walking. One suggestion for saving energy was use of a basket set high on wheels to carry clothes while hanging the wash.

Church to Mark
Anniversary of Pastor's Coming

Today marks the beginning of the Rev. John O. Scott's third year as pastor of Central Baptist church, and members plan large attendance at services to honor the anniversary. The goal is 250 in Sunday school and 150 in training classes.

Mr. Scott came to the church as pastor May 26, 1935, when Sunday school attendance was 84 and the offering $17.74. The average attendance during May of this year was 207, offering, $83.

All members of the church are urged by W. W. Ernest, education director, to attend all meetings today, and visitors are invited.

BRIDE'S COLOR SCHEME SHOULD BE CAREFULLY PLANNED

Every bride should plan her wedding with the complete scheme around the altar in mind. The maid of honor and other attendants should be dressed in colors which will harmonize perfectly when the girls are standing in a semicircle. Right now, it's smart to put the maid of honor in a light, pastel shade which provides very little contrast to the white wedding gown, then to dress the maids in deeper shades. One wedding gown expert recommends pale shell pink for the matron of honor, yellow, gold, pale orange and warm, creamy beige for each of the four maids, and, of course, white for the bride.

MATCHING PASTELS

NEW YORK (AP)—Pastel sweaters and tweed costumes in matching gold, pale orange and warm, creamy beige are popular for sports wear. Several shops offer tweeds dyed to match the sweaters. Others match skirts of wool to pastel skirts for the home knitter.

Mrs. H. H. Keahey had as guests at her home south of Pampa her father and sister, C. C. Branch and Miss Sara Branch of Miami. They will leave tomorrow for Cut Bank, Mont., to spend the summer with Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Branch.

GRASSHOPPER POISON IS DUE IN CITY NOW

Supplies of bran, poison, and blackstrap molasses, ordered by Gray county farmers to be used in eliminating grasshoppers, were due to arrive this week-end. A shipment of bran, poison and molasses was to be in Pampa yesterday while a shipment of poison was due in McLean by Monday or Tuesday.

These shipments follow agreements made at meetings of Gray county farmers at McLean Thursday and at Pampa Friday. The McLean meeting was attended by 40 farmers who agreed to purchase 2,000 pounds of bran and 50 of poison. At the Pampa meeting, held in the county courtroom, and attended by 30 farmers, it was decided to buy 3,700 pounds of bran and 148 pounds of poison, and one and one-half barrels of blackstrap molasses.

At the McLean meeting, the farmers elected F. Howard to determine the cost of the articles to be used in making the anti-grasshopper mixture, while those at the Pampa meeting selected Ira Spearman to act in a similar position.

White arsenic is the poison that will be used in the mixture and is obtainable at 12½ cents a pound, a considerable saving, as contrasted with the 40 and 50 cents a pound that is the regular price. Price of molasses was estimated at 25 cents a gallon, and bran at $1.80 a hundred pounds, at Pampa. These prices are actual cost. M. J. Simms, assistant in agricultural conservation, emphasized.

The supply of poison will be handled in Pampa by the City Drug store, bran and molasses by the Gray County Wheat Growers, Inc., while McLean feed store will handle the shipments to that city.

Gray County District Court

Four civil suits, in all of which C. L. Vandover is the plaintiff, were filed in county court this week, the last on Wednesday, the others on Thursday.

Cause of action in the suit filed Wednesday was debt, against L. T. Davis.

Garishment was listed as the cause of action in each of the three other suits, filed against Ryan Consolidated Petroleum Corporation, M. P. Downs Insurance company, and E. W. Means.

$145,000 Paid to Policy Holders of Pampa During 1936

Residents of Pampa received cash life insurance payments in 1936 equivalent to $14.50 per capita, according to an estimate made by The Lincoln National Life Insurance Co. of Fort Wayne, Ind.

Total payments to policy owners and beneficiaries of Pampa were $145,000. This amount paid here included money to living policy owners as well as to beneficiaries as death claims. In 1936, life insurance companies put $2,829,300,138 into circulation in the United States and Canada, or in other words, paid out money at the rate of approximately one-third of a million dollars an hour.

Life payments for Texas in 1936 were $67,800,000.

Housing Legislation Waits While Heads Of Treasury Make Up Minds

By RODNEY DUTCHER,
Pampa Daily News Washington Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The New Deal has spent $200,000,000 on its experiments with housing.

Much of this money will be returned. But you would think that by this time it might have evolved some sort of a policy under which to proceed in accordance with the President's promises to do something about the third of the population which he has often said is "ill-housed."

Housing legislation is still stalled. It is stalled while Chairman Henry Stagg of the House Banking Currency Committee, waits for the President to make up his mind, and while Roosevelt waits for Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau to make up his.

Among those supporting the Wagner bill are officials of PWA and Resettlement Administration, who are in a position to profit by their own errors. Federal Housing Administration, HOLC, the A. F. of L., the C. I. O., the National Association of Housing Officials, and the new American Federation of Housing Authorities.

New Bill Cooked Up.
But Morgenthau's men recently disregarded all that and cooked up a bill involving capital grants, federal subsidy in the form of relief labor, and a transfer of most of the cost of the cost to municipalities. In effect this went back to the PWA housing system, which has been shown to be incapable of reaching the low income groups for which federal housing efforts supposedly are aimed. Local housing officials summoned to comment on the treasury bill promised that it would result in no housing at all. The treasury still frets.

Chairman Hugo Black of the Senate Education and Labor committee, will probably report out the Wagner bill soon. But the Stagg committee hasn't even had hearings. The Wagner bill calls for a billion dollars in federal construction loans to local housing authorities in the next four years and $50,000,000 in rental subsidies. Senator Wagner says it would provide decent housing for families with incomes of between $700 and $1,000 annually, and that by keeping within that low range it would both help those who need housing most and avoid competing with private real estate interests.

Twenty-eight states with 70 per cent of the population have now passed public housing authority laws and are all geared up for action under the Wagner bill.

60 Per Cent On Relief.
Here in Washington is the Hopkins Place development, created by the local Alley Dwelling Authority. Housing experts agree it has done a fine job in building cheap dwellings. But rents are about $7 a room, $28 a month and $338 a year for the average unit, which means the project is suitable for families with in-

First archbishop of Detroit and immediate superior of Father Charles E. Coughlin, is Archbishop Edward Mooney, above, elevated to the high post by order of Pope Pius. comes of $1,600. The project is not subsidized.

John Ihlder, executive officer of the authority, says that this represents an "economic rent" and that "if the earned income of a family is not adequate to pay an economic rent, that family should be aided by a relief agency."

The interesting angle to that is the fact that the median income of urban families is $1,272. Which means, under Ihlder's reasoning, that 60 per cent of city families should be on relief.

Many administration policies are being worked out with a weather eye to the next depression—or recession, if you prefer. One claim made for the Connery-Black wages and hours measure is that it will be a great stabilizer of wages and purchasing power when bad times come. A counter-claim is that the measure will stimulate use of labor-saving devices and shove a lot more people out of work, especially in any period of decline.

"But industry can't possibly install labor-saving devices any faster than it has been," reply administration economists. "There has been a rise of 16 per cent in productivity per man hour since 1929. That means virtually an industrial revolution and it's a big factor in the continued unemployment."

Furthermore, these experts add, the process of displacing men by machines shows no sign of abating. (Copyright, 1937, NEA Service, Inc.)

PAMPA AND WHEELER BOYS GIVEN WATCHES

Two students from the Top O' Texas area were among three winning honors which were awarded during commencement exercises at the Agricultural & Mechanical College of Texas. The list was announced Friday night.

E. H. Hamlett of Pampa was one of the two freshmen who were awarded watches as prizes for their proficiency in mathematics.

H. E. Nicholson, Jr. of Wheeler, is among the 12 honor military graduates of the college.

There were 449 degrees conferred in the sixty-first annual commencement exercises of the college held Friday night. This is the largest class of record at the college.

Three students from the Top O' Texas, two of them from Gray county, were among the graduates. L. E. Breeding of McLean received a bachelor of science degree in agricultural education. S. M. Kirby of Kingsmill was awarded a bachelor of arts degree from the school of arts and sciences. R. N. Craig of Pampa received a bachelor of science degree in agricultural engineering.

The school of agriculture led in graduates with 209. Arts and science graduates numbered 52.

KPDN At The Top O' Texas

Action on the Air!

Last Sunday in this space, the Staff of KPDN promised their listeners the best of entertainment, and a complete variety of interesting programs.

KPDN has attempted to fulfill its promise. During the past week, the week of the TOP O' TEXAS FIESTA, wherever you went, if there was something of interest in progress, there you saw KPDN's microphones on the job. At the Old Timers' Dances, both night and day, broadcasting to the outside world, a vivid description of the fun being had by all who attended. The registration of the Old Timers at the High School Gymnasium was brought to the air by progressive business establishments through KPDN's facilities, on both mornings of the Fiesta. KPDN's announcing staff was on the job during the Rodeo, both day and night, with an action-filled word-picture of what was taking place. Another effort to bring to the listener an interesting event, direct from the "scene of action." Even the Marble Tournament was broadcast, and the winners were put on the air following this eventful affair. Just another event brought to the air by leading business firms and again using the facilities of KPDN.

The above are just a few of the many "special events" broadcast by KPDN. This is only one instance of many, and there will be a lot more to come. It is the desire of KPDN now, and at all times to furnish to the listeners of the Panhandle-Plains area nothing but the finest in entertainment, and the most exciting news, broadcast direct from the scene of action. Another of the many better KPDN features are the News Broadcasts, four of them daily, interspersed throughout the day's programs, in an effort to bring last minute news bulletins to all of the many thousands of KPDN listeners.

It's true, that if your dials are pointing to KPDN, you are heading for better entertainment!

COMP COMPTON'S BOYS

The Range Ramblers, pictured here with "Competent" Comp Compton, are aired each Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 12:15 noon, and are sponsored by Comp Compton's Service Station.

The boys, Smokey and Bashful, came to Pampa from KMAC, in San Antonio, Texas. Prior to their engagement here, they were featured entertainers with the "Rambling Cowboys," and did radio work on the old WDAG and KGRS in Amarillo. More recently, they were heard on KMOX, in St. Louis; KASA, Elk City, Oklahoma, and KONO, in San Antonio. They were also featured for several months on XEPN, in Piedras Negras, Coahuila, Mexico.

Smokey and Bashful feature in their style of music, the popular Mexican way of playing. They sing many different types of songs, both in English and Spanish. Their repertoire includes Cowboy ballads, and songs of the range, as well as Lill-Billy and late popular dance tunes.

Comp Compton, center, is the sponsor of the program, and is heard regularly with Smokey and Bashful. Comp is known particularly for his suave style of delivery of speech when he is assisting the station announcer with his commercials. You'll always know it's Compton, when he says, "Speak long and loud, and speak nothing but the truth."

You'll enjoy hearing this program each Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 12:15 when the Range Ramblers, Smokey and Bashful, together with their genial sponsor, Comp Compton, take the air on KPDN. Listen for them, and send in your requests. Their service in filling requests is as good as Comp's, when he's filling your car with Mobilgas at the corner of Atchison and Cuyler, at the sign of the Flying Red Horse.

"POWER OF THE PRESS"

Edward C. Krauss had a very timely article in the Los Angeles Times recently on the power of the press. He very wisely raises the question whether the press ever did have any power.

He says it had influence but not power. One often hears the expression that the press molds public opinion. This certainly is not true. The press is more like a gardener than a potter. It is dealing with live things. It, like the gardener, can bring light and ideas to people just as the gardener can get the proper elements in combination and nature does the rest.

Mr. Krauss says that the constitutional convention had no mandate to draw up a new constitution and that the American press is responsible for the constitution. If this be true, it was very great service to humanity.

Mr. Krauss also says, "And throughout the history of the United States, the press has been the principle instrument of adult education. It still is."

He continued by saying, "There is no other factor so much responsible for the continued improvement in the American standard of living as the information in the news and advertising columns of American newspapers."

"The press has kept the public abreast of progress, created new wants and new desires—and pointed the way to how to satisfy them."

If it is true that the press is the principal instrument in adult education, then the press has plenty to answer for because undoubtedly our present economic condition is due to lack of proper adult education. As the adults are educated, so will the children be educated.

We believe the press is guilty of very serious offenses of helping mis-educate the adults. Their policy has largely been for temporary profits, without regard whatsoever for a long time view as to the general effects of catering to the mass. The newspapers of course cannot lead any faster in education than the intelligence of the masses will permit, but it seems some large newspapers have been very big factors in selling class hatred, envy and special privilege principles.

We admit the press should be one of the very strongest influences in adult education; especially is this true, if the intelligent leaders of the community will take an interest and use it as a vehicle to help enlighten the people as a whole.

That's why the Pampa Daily NEWS would like to have more open letters from community leaders—letters for publication.

STREAMLINED SELLING

A few years ago the railroads began to go back to first principles in merchandising. Their passenger business was off; they decided to get it back by offering better service at cheaper rates.

How this sort of thing is succeeding is shown by a recent report from the Milwaukee road. Its streamlined train, the Hiawatha, has to date carried 550,000 passengers for a gross revenue exceeding $2,600,000. It shows a net profit, too; some statistician has figured out that every time the Hiawatha passes a mile post—which it does every minute—it turns in a net gain of $2.94.

In other words, it is paying its way and paying handsomely. And it all goes to vindicate one of the oldest principles of business—that better service and lower rates are the best salesmen that ever existed.

WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON—The Supreme Court is unfair to organized chiseling and has doubled the hazard of jockeying railroads out of part of the fare between Washington and New York.

For long years the railroads have run week-end excursions between the two cities. The round trip excursion fare is $3.75 for the 225-mile trip. That is nearly a dollar less than one way fare even under the two-cent-a-mile rates. It is less than half the first class one way fare.

Thousands of Washingtonians flock to the trains late Saturday night for the privilege of a few hours in the great Empire City. We have heard also, though can't prove, that a few New Yorkers boldly cross the Hudson each week-end for the thrill of a Sunday in the desert wilds of Washington.

It is a short excursion either way. You leave at midnight Saturday and must be on the train by Sunday midnight to return. But all that procedure is above board and honest.

The racket lies here. Certain smart porters and general hangers-on around the railroad stations discovered that many people bought the round trip tickets intending to go only one way, since even that meant a saving from the regular one-way fare.

So a passenger bound from Washington to New York would be accosted in the New York depot with an offer of 50 cents for his return stub. That was gravy for the passenger, since he didn't intend using it anyway. In turn, these stubs would be sold to passengers back

TEX'S TOPICS

Probably nothing is more appropriate than that this column be started off today with a bouquet—a bouquet to Dick Hughes, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and to W. B. Weathered and their Top O' Texas Fiesta committees which ended a big two-day celebration for all the people at the Top of Texas in a blaze of glory in spite of Friday night's rain-out.

Comparisons may be odious to some, but if we are not to grow and get bigger and bigger from year to year, then we, necessarily, are standing still, or going backwards. . . . For that reason we have the word of many to back up the statement that this year's annual celebration was by far the biggest and best of any yet staged. . . . Old timers and visitors from other towns are the ones who say that, and that's why Pampans are willing to agree with neutral critics.

To the parade committee, headed by Charlie Maisel and Claude Motley, should be tossed another bouquet for the very excellent parades they staged on both days of the Fiesta. . . . Behind the parades was just a load of hard work on the part of the parade chairmen and their committeemen. . . . And to every single member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the other persons who toiled days and nights on the thousand and one details that go to make up such a successful celebration as this Fiesta—is due the thanks of a grateful community.

Everybody had a good time, the programs were excellent and the feature attractions were top-notch. . . . It was no half-way show. . . . Everything was of the best. . . . That, one suspects, is the secret of the Fiesta just ended. . . . At any rate the Junior Chamber of Commerce and General Chairman Weathered have given the Fiesta planners for 1938 a goal to shoot at. . . . However, the fiesta was not the work of any one person, and only the splendid cooperation of the Jaycees as a whole and the cooperating organizations could possibly have made the celebration the outstanding success that it was.

Rain threatened to put a crimp in things on the evening of the first day, but the weatherman finally switched over to the side of the Jaycees and when Friday dawned with its bright sunshine, everything was "in the bag" from there on out. . . . The insurance men quit worrying about the rain insurance, and fiesta officials were happy to think that they no longer needed it. . . . That is, they quit worrying until late Friday evening, when "the bugaboo" began all over again.

Strange things come up out of the ground after a rain. . . . Take Bob Castle, for instance. . . . He went out to the Fairgrounds to announce the rodeo broadcast the other afternoon, with his four-gallon head under a ten-gallon hat, and was mistaken for one of the clowns.

Miss Ina Mae Dean, Pampa's No. 1 beauty, is in Fort Worth today competing with a hundred girls for the title of Texas Sweetheart No. 1. . . . With her is Miss De Ann Heiskell, another Pampa beauty. . . . They are representing Pampa as the choice of judges in a contest recently conducted by the Chamber of Commerce. . . . Cowboy hats and boots, their fiesta service done with, were going back into moth balls today.

With the fiesta over the dam, Junior Chamber of Commerce officials today began casting an eye to the calendar for preparations on the annual Santa Day observance in December. . . . And persons looking for additional entertainment were brushing up for the second day of the Pampa Downs race meet tomorrow. . . . Personally, we never bet on a race until we have talked the matter over with the horses.

Yesteryear In Pampa

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY.

Judge C. C. Small of Wellington opened the Gray county term of the district court in LeFors, substituting for Judge Newton P. Willis, who was away on business.

C. H. Fisher resigned as city secretary, after a new salary schedule was adopted by the city council for all municipal employees.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY.

F. P. Reid, former mayor of Pampa and good roads enthusiast, died of a paralytic stroke at his home here.

Tom Blair arrived in Pampa to manage the Griffith theaters.

In Washington. The price was $1.50 or $2, again a neat saving for the passenger and a nice profit of two or three hundred per cent for the handler.

The business developed to handsome proportions and "dealers" set themselves up in New York and Washington hotels ready to do business. But along came the law.

One such alleged dealer in Washington was arrested. She wasn't accused of depriving the railroad of its rightful revenue. Instead she was charged with selling second hand property without a license. Moreover, she was convicted.

She appealed the case on the ground she had been denied a jury trial, and by that means it came to the Supreme Court. The Supreme Court held that for such minor crimes as selling second-hand goods without a license it was all right to refuse the expensive jury trial. However, the case was sent back to the lower courts on technical grounds for re-trial. But such publicity was given the case that many of the old ticket dealers are scared out—at least for the time.

NEW YORK — This may annoy you, but there is one river in the vicinity of New York—despite recurrent references in the papers to the Hudson river, East river, Harlem river, etc.

Actually, I am a wee bit skeptical; the Hudson becomes a river only beyond Albany, the state capital. . . . Between Albany and Manhattan it is affected by the ocean tides and so is a part of the Atlantic.

Then the East River is merely a channel connecting Long Island sound and New York bay. . . . And the Harlem is, properly, the Harlem ship canal. . . . So that leaves only one river the Bronx, which originates in the hills of Westchester and continues through the Bronx until it empties into East river. . . . Such a lot of silly disturbance over nothing at all!

There's a magic company in New York which has been in existence since 1869. . . . The company carries 4,000 gadgets with which the magician may astound their audiences—everything from rabbits and tall hats to miniature ladies' ears.

Ex-President Hoover has always been fascinated by magicians. . . . Tricks involving money leave him spellbound. . . . The late President Coolidge, and the former King Edward VIII are numbered among those entranced by feats of magic.

This might be a tropic island if one considered the birds sold here—more than a million canaries are retailed every three months. . . . And there are plenty of parrots, but they run into money. . . . A bird that is edging in on the canary's popularity, however, is the imported finch. . . . Many varieties are imported, and they say this little fellow is a better songster than the canary. . . . About $3 will get you a nice pair of them, if you're at all finch-minded.

Styles in canine pets, like hats or frills, change at the moment are having their inning. Two seasons ago it was Scotties, and before that, wirehairs. . . . Sheep dogs are coming in now, however, and other varieties of long-haired woolly hounds which are huge but docile.

My favorite of all dogs is the setter, although it is almost a sin to keep one in the metropolitan area. . . . These fellows need plenty of ground to range about in, and I think nothing is so sad as a fine, strapping hunting dog being led down these baked cement streets, tethered to some dangle by a fancy, colored leash.

There used to be a girl here who led a duck about the streets, but I haven't encountered her in over a year. . . . You never see organ grinders with monkeys in New York any more, either. . . . City ordinances against street musicians have erased that picturesque phase of island life.

FATHER'S SAFETY DEVICE BRINGS DEATH TO SON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—When he was director of public works, Timothy A. Reardon had a traffic "island" of concrete erected near the entrance to Golden Gate park. Recently a car hurtled into the obstruction, killing its two occupants. Reardon's own son Louis and a girl companion.

Reardon later appeared before the traffic advisory board and urged elimination of the "island," calling it a mistake and a traffic hazard.

People You Know

By ARCHER FULLINGIM

In the hustle and excitement of Fiesta crowds surging up and down Pampa streets Friday the visit of Captain R. O. Whitaker, chief engineer of the Texas State Park Board, was not forgotten, but it was not played up as it might have been otherwise.

Capt. Whitaker was induced to come to Pampa by Ivy Duncan and others to see the site of the proposed lake on McClellan creek, but he will not have to be persuaded to visit Beaver Dam again. He took a good look at it and announced he would be back in July. He may have come skeptical but he went away with a strong conviction in his mind that the county should build a lake at Beaver Dam and develop a park. The gift of his recreation was that it is the best dam and lake site in the Panhandle. He said as he left, "If you people don't go ahead, somebody else will!" He looked in amazement at the rolling landscape, dotted with cottonwood trees, and became an enthusiastic believer in the possibilities of the site.

AROUND HOLLYWOOD

DOLORES DEL RIO (Writes a "Guest Letter to Robin Coons")

Dear Robin Coons: Where shall I start?

Ah, I have it! I know a little story about Greta Garbo. I hope she'll not mind my telling—I think more people should know of her grand sense of humor. It seems that one of her countrymen, an old friend and a very fine artist, was visiting Hollywood for the first time. He walked into the studio front office, stated he had a luncheon engagement with Miss Garbo.

The young person at the information desk decided to smile patiently while mentally working out this "dangerous case." The little Swedish gentleman waited calmly for several minutes, then as plainly as his broken English would permit, again asked, "Will you please tell Miss Garbo I am here to lunch with her?"

"Tanks! She's hungry!" Now this was really too much for the astonished boy, to whom the Garbo name was sacred. But suddenly the phone rang. It was Greta Garbo herself, asking if her guest had arrived. "I am waiting for him so long," she said, "and I am hungry!" I hear the emotions shown by the boy were so obvious he almost won a screen test!

Did you know that Constance Bennett has the smartest dog in Hollywood? I was having tea with her when her brown cocker spaniel padded quietly into the room. Connie had just begun to tell me of plans for riding horseback that afternoon. She stopped suddenly as the dog walked in, and began spelling c-a-r and r-i-d-e instead of saying the words. She explained that Sandy understands everything and the minute he hears "riding" or "car" he is determined to go with her!

Green Stockings I'll close with a style note—something new! Lovely Ray Way is one of the courageous crusaders of the mode. We met at luncheon the other day, and she was wearing hose of the loveliest vivid green shade, smart accompaniment to a striking green and white ensemble. Since, I've seen both Ginger Rogers and Loretta

CHRONIC ILLNESSES

Approximately one in every hundred of the general population in the United States is disabled by chronic illness. And these afflicted ones do not fall in the aged and infirm group.

In a census of the chronically ill made by Miss Mary C. Jarrett for the Welfare Council of New York City, it was found that nearly half of all the chronically ill persons were under 40 years of age, about one-third were children under 16, chiefly afflicted with orthopedic disorders, and nearly one-fourth of these children were under the age of six. Only one-fifth of the whole number were over 70.

The outlook for recovery was favorable in one-fourth of the children, and in one-tenth of the adults under 60.

The problem of chronic illness, however, is not one of recovery. A patient may never be cured, but he need not necessarily be incapacitated for work and enjoyment of life.

Among children, chronic disease is overwhelmingly caused by the late results of infantile paralysis and by tuberculosis of the bones and joints. Among adults, the most frequent causes are disease of the circulatory system and of the nervous system, chronic rheumatism, cancer and diseases of the bones and joints.

The chronically ill patient is not invariably bed-ridden. In the New York census it was found that the majority of the patients could get about. Only 30 per cent of the adults and 15 per cent of the children were confined to bed or wheel chair.

The problem of chronic illness is little appreciated by the public, and adequate facilities for dealing with it are not available. The acutely ill patient will find many resources for treatment. The chronically ill person, unless he is in good economic circumstances, will find few facilities available to him for treatment.

The present neglect of patients in the early stages of chronic disease and the haphazard care provided are wasteful and inefficient, both from the standpoint of human values and of actual financial cost to the community.

Although many of these chronic diseases cannot be prevented, it is possible today to prevent much of the disability caused by chronic disease.

DRUNKEN PEDESTRIAN IS LATEST ROAD MENACE

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The drunken pedestrian is becoming as great a problem as the drunken driver, according to the safety department of the California State Automobile Association.

Association officials say that since 1929 drivers who had been drinking prior to accidents increased four times while the number of injured drunken pedestrians increased five times.

UPS AND DOWNS AT TAHITI SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A few miles from Tahiti the ocean is more than 10,000 feet deep while a few miles inland the crest of Orohena mountain is more than 7,000 feet above the surf.

Young in hosiery of bright yellow and red, respectively. Girls will love to try it. I'm sure. It's a try, but they should be sure the ensemble is an informal one, and that the colors are really right!

With which I bid you adios, Robin Coons, and gracias for letting me "try my hand."

This, That and Everything

BY WILLIAM HUSLEY CLARK

Travelers in England who love the sea should not pass up the opportunity of visiting the Scilly Islands. These little islands, composed largely of granite, lie only 25 miles southwest of Land's End, near the entrance of the English channel. Only five of these islands are inhabited. Hugh Town located on St. Mary's is the capital. About 1,700 people live on these islands. The subtropical gardens on one of these islands is the only one of its kind in the British Isles. Production of flowers and vegetables and fishing constitute the principal industry.

One of the most interesting sights connected with these islands is the noted lighthouse called Bishop Light. This famous lighthouse was erected in 1858, and was rebuilt several years later when it was practically destroyed by the severe storms that frequently beat against it. An expert in the field of lighthouse operations has said that this one on Bishop Rock is perhaps more exposed than any other lighthouse that has ever been built. In the vicinity of the Scilly Islands, the sea is very dangerous when rough. It is stated by a local proverb that for every man who dies a natural death on the islands, the sea kills nine.

BOOK A DAY

By BRUCE CATTON

Old Captain Kidd was hanged in chains as a pirate some 230-odd years ago. Even so, he had the last laugh on his executioners. For he really did leave a "pirate treasure" buried on a lonely south sea island in the best romantic tradition.

So, at any rate, says Harold T. Wilkins in "Captain Kidd and His Skeleton Island" (Liveright, $3). Mr. Wilkins has re-examined the whole Kidd story. In his researches he came across divers old chests once owned by Kidd. Secret drawers in these chests yielded mysterious charts, locating the treasure island.

The island, says Mr. Wilkins, has no name and is not on any modern chart. It is off in the western Pacific somewhere, and Mr. Wilkins is so confident that he is on the right track that he is presently going out there with a party to dig it up.

Captain Kidd was long exonerated as one of the worst pirates. Then a reaction came, and he was pictured as an innocent man who was wrongly executed. Mr. Wilkins, examining his career in minute detail, takes a middle course.

Kidd was railroaded to the gibbet, he says. There had to be a scapegoat to pacify the Great Mogul of India, and Kidd was elected. But he was no dainty-fingered Puritan. He had done his share of seizing, robbing and despoiling, and although his trial was shockingly unfair, he had, for all that, taken his share. And Mr. Wilkins believes that he knows where that "share" is hidden today.

Chapter IX

Pats and Don drove out the Boston Post road in the late afternoon sunshine. She kept telling herself, "I'm sitting beside my husband and he loves me," but the words failed to click in her benumbed brain. She and Don were lovers; nothing counted against that. They loved and the world was lost in unthinking rapture.

"You look so sweet," he said huskily. "I think of you every minute of the day and you fill my dreams at night, but when I see you I realize all over again how lovely you are."

"Don—The name slipped out for a moment. You can't mean that. Why—I might be anybody."

"You are my whole life now. It doesn't matter who you used to be. You see," he went on gently. "I have never been in love before and I'm taking it rather hard."

"It can't be love."

"It is love and I'm this much in earnest. Tomorrow I shall tell Patricia, and very soon, in a few days I think I shall be free again."

"But why should you think I want you to be free?"

"I only know that I must be free. I want the right to make you love me, to protect you. Every fibre in Pats' being yearned toward him. Don thought she needed protection. Even with her identity shrouded in mystery he wanted her for his wife. It had all been simpler than her maddest hopes. Half inclined to tell him the truth, she hesitated.

It seemed so flat, so ridiculous to say, "I am your wife. Don. Such an anti-climax, so demanding of a thousand explanations. A little nagging fear warned her that the perfection of the moment might be shattered by such a revelation. So she drifted on the blissful tide.

"They had tea before a blazing fire in a small white cottage. Sitting side by side on an old Duncan Phyfe sofa they drank tea from exquisite Spode cups. A withered, soft-spoken gentleman served them. Twilight fell and still they lingered, caught in the mystery and magic of newly awakened love. Alone in the charming room, Don took Pats in his arms.

"Darling," he breathed, "I love you." And blindly she raised her face fiercely she clung to him while the crimson world rocked and spun.

"I've kissed so many women," he said, half laughing, his hand lean cheek pressed close to hers. "And I've really never kissed anyone before."

"Dearest," Pats whispered.

Later, driving slowly homeward Don said, "I promised not to ask questions, but—won't you trust me sweetheart?"

Pats nodded dreamily. "With my life. Tomorrow—"

Vaguely she wanted time in which to choose the words of her confession. Suppose his love turned to mere regard for his wife Patricia, when he learned that he had been the victim of a bold feminine trick.

At Pats' request Don left her at the imposing entrance of the Goddard Hotel. He was to see Anderson, his lawyer before going home. He, too, might have news on the morrow.

In parting he whispered, "I love you, dear—tomorrow."

Pats quickly crossed the crowded lobby. She saw a man near the stairs stare at her and knew he followed as she left by a side entrance. She was even half sure that his taxi followed hers as she drove out Fifth avenue. But riotous thought claimed her and she forgot the incident.

After breakfast the next morning Don brought the subject of their marriage contract. He told Pats that he loved someone very dearly, that she was in trouble and that he must be free to protect her with his name. Pats calmly accepted his sincere thanks for her many kindnesses and the convenient marriage of Don Monterey, with a few hours, to be ended.

Pats took a walk in the park to think things over. She walked slowly, trying to outline the story she must tell Don. As proof of her astounding news he would produce the wig and glasses. Step by step she rehearsed her lines. All the time a little dread tugged in the back of her mind. Could she convince Don of her love? And might not his love turn to weary indifference with the realization that he had been duped? In a state of conflicting emotions she went back to the hotel. In the lobby, the manager asked if he might see her privately for a few moments.

His grievance was Rosie. He apologetically explained that her account was getting out of hand. He had spoken to her repeatedly and she had definitely given him the impression that she was Mr. Monterey's guest. Quite obviously the manager believed that Rosie had been "putting something over" on Don Monterey's wife, also that he felt certain of getting the bill paid by appealing to Mr. Monterey. Naturally she would allow no breath of scandal to touch her famous husband.

Pats explained that Mr. Monterey was in no way responsible for Miss Akers, but signified her willingness to settle the account providing Rosie spent not another night in the hotel. The manager agreed and Pats opened her check book. The amount was rather staggering but she wrote the check. To be rid of Rosie was cheap at any price.

"Thank you for bringing this to my attention," she said. "Men in Mr. Monterey's position are—what shall I say—victimized?"

Going up to the suite, Pats learned from Sims that Don was lunching with his lawyer and that he might not return for dinner. She dismissed the secretary for the day and warned Sims that no one was to be admitted. If she knew Rosie the fur would be flying and it should not be long before she or her. On the morrow they would face Rosie together.

She fell to dreaming of Don. His production manager had been pleading for his return to Hollywood. Perhaps they would go at once. It would be a new life, a new world, the outside world. Safe in California, no one would marvel that Mrs. Monterey had changed like a chameleon over night.

At 3:30 Pats, leaving the hotel, was a witness to Rosie's eviction. Her bags were carried out and arranged neatly on the sidewalk and Rosie, scarlet-cheeked and raging, flounced out after them. Pats near enough to touch her, but Rosie showed not the slightest sign of recognition. No one could have possibly associated the slimy elegant Pats with the brown-skinned, red-haired woman.

But a hard-eyed man, lounging near the entrance, became suddenly active. As Pats stepped into a cab he signaled another, gave a curt order to the driver, and leaned forward, his eyes never losing sight of the taxi in which Pats rode. When she alighted on Fifth avenue he was close behind.

He stood near her in a flower shop and looked with apparent indifference into her gazing purse while the attendant pinned an orchid on the soft fur at Pats' throat. What he saw in the purse was a brown and tinted spectacle. These items were to be the convincing proof for Don.

Pats walked along the avenue. It was when she had almost reached the Coronet that she suddenly realized she was being followed. Unconsciously she had been aware of the shadow in the flower shop had several times caught the same reflection in the shop windows. She hastened her steps. Soon she would be safe with Don. It was alarming, even in broad daylight, to be followed this way. About to enter the tea garden the shadow slid between her and the door.

"Just a minute," he said courteously enough.

Pats raised her chin and narrowed her eyes. She looked through him and attempted to reach the entrance.

The man was short and stout, his clothes were sadly in need of pressing. His hat was pulled well over his eyes. He stopped Pats with a hand on her arm. She faced him with blazing eyes.

"If you're smart you won't raise any fuss," he said in a low voice.

"How dare you speak to me?" She was angry and at the same time desperately frightened. Her eyes searched the street for Don's car. At a signal from the cold-eyed man a taxi drew up to the curb.

He motioned in the direction of the cab. "Step right in," he advised.

"You and I have a little business to transact." As Pats struggled to break away he opened his coat and her startled eyes fell on a badge, obviously the insignia of the law. "You are making a dreadful mistake," she said furiously.

"We'll let the district attorney decide about that. If I'm making a mistake you have nothing to fear." With a firm hand he propelled her into the cab. Pats leaned to the window, frantic eyes on the disappearing tea garden.

"What is the meaning of this outrage?" she demanded. Quite suddenly she knew. This detective believed her to be the blond diamond thief. For a fleeting instant she thought it funny, then terror swept over her.

On Capitol Hill

By HARRELL E. LEE

AUSTIN, June 5 (AP)—Robert W. Calvert, 32 year old speaker of the House, and Mrs. Calvert received much praise in addition to many gifts the closing day of the regular session of the 45th legislature.

Colleagues predicted Calvert, who was reared in an orphan's home, would go higher in politics. They pointed to him as a future attorney general or, perhaps, governor.

Taking cognizance of statements which have been made that his success so far was due to his own efforts, Calvert modestly attributed it to the loyalty of his friends.

The "gentleman from Hill" has not announced what office he will seek next year. Some have said it would be attorney general and others lieutenant governor. If he should run for the latter office one of his opponents might be Rep. Coke Stevenson of Junction, who defeated him for speaker two years ago.

Among those mentioned to succeed Calvert as speaker are Bob Alexander of Childress, serving his third term. Al Roark of Saratoga, chairman of the House revenue and taxation committee, Fred Mauritz of Ganado, Charles H. Tenneyson of Wichita Falls, Homer Leonard of McAllen, and R. Emmett Morse of Houston.

Leonard and Morse were candidates this year until it became apparent Calvert would win. Morse has been in the legislature more than ten years and is well-liked by his colleagues but has the disadvantage of being from a large city.

The speakership often is a stepping stone to something better politically. Robert Lee Bobbitt, chairman of the highway commission, was speaker ten years ago. Sam Rayburn of Bonham, now majority leader in the national House, once was speaker of the Texas House.

A stirring State Senate race may be in the making in far South Texas. Jim Neal, bronzed Webb county ranchman who unseated Archie Parr in 1934, possibly will run into stiff opposition.

There is talk that Augustine Celaya of Brownsville or Homer Leonard may run. Both are from the lower Rio Grande valley, which contains a large percentage of the district's population and both have been active in the House. Leonard is serving his fourth term and Celaya his third in the lower chamber.

The U. A. W. A. called its mass meeting in Baby Creek park today to protest against the beating and election of union members who tried to distribute handbills at gates of the Ford company's River Rouge plant May 26.

Also assembled in Detroit were delegates from U. A. W. A. locals in General Motors plants throughout the country, meeting to frame demands for revision of the union's agreement with that corporation.

The agreement has been in effect since a widespread strike ended Feb. 11, and no move for revision can be made before June 11.

Pampa received one-hundredth of an inch rain in Friday night's brief electrical storm, which passed over almost as quickly as it came up.

The storm, which broke from heavy black clouds in the northwest shortly after 8 o'clock sent between 6,000 and 7,000 persons scurrying from the Pampa fairgrounds where they had arrived to attend the last performance of the Top O' Texas rodeo.

Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce officials labeled it a $3,000 rain. The crowd never came back, and left the Jaycees holding the "rodeo bag" to the tune of an estimated $1,500 deficit.

FINANCE SYSTEM OF SALVATION ARMY DISCUSSED BY LAMBRECHT

(This is one of a series of articles written by Capt. Herman Lambrecht of the Salvation Army. In this one, Captain Lambrecht discusses the Salvation Army finance system.)

There is no one subject having to do with the Salvation Army concerning which there has been more misinformation circulated than the subject of Salvation Army finance.

As has been said in a previous article the Salvation Army owes much of its late development to the World War. Just as the general program of the organization became known through its program among the soldiers so has the business methods of the Salvation Army become better known with the advent of yearly maintenance drives known as Home Service Appeals and the forming of Community Chests in many of the larger and quite a few smaller communities.

The annual home service appeal for contributions from the general public is the Army's major source of financial support. Virtually all of the activities are either entirely or partially dependent upon these funds.

There are other sources of income, but their total is far from sufficient to meet the annual budgets and to provide for necessary extensions.

The Home Service appeal is the annual presentation of the Army's aggregate budget to the people of a given community. It is held at different times in different parts of the country, and for varying amounts, according to conditions and the volume of work in the communities served. It is usually raised by Army executive working in co-operation, in systematically planned campaigns, with groups of citizens affiliated with the local Citizens' Advisory board. The exception to this plan is found in cities where the Army is a member of a Community Chest and in several places where friends of the organization have made special arrangements for its support.

Without exception or contradiction let it be said that all monies received by the Salvation Army are spent for the purpose for which they were raised or solicited.

Annual reports, certified by disinterested auditors, show, among other things, that no Home Service funds, or any gifts of money from the general public, are sent out of the United States. The Army in this country enjoys the advice and counsel of the International Headquarters without any corresponding obligations to share financial resources or responsibilities. The only levy upon funds raised in local communities is a small percentage for the
